Police Courtesy

Police throughout the nation should practice the art of being courteous at all times. That was what Howard J. Wischaup, sales and courtesy expert, told members of the Pampa Police department this morning in the City courtroom. Wischaup, who is here this week to conduct a courtesy and sales clinic through Friday at the L.A. Nara theater, is shown above as he was introduced to the group by Chief of Police Jim Conner.

St. Lawrence Seaway Bill Passage Ends 30-Year Fight

Editor's Note: After 30 years of political hickering the St. Lawrence river seaway is going to become a reality. The following dispatch tells what was behind the pro and con fight for the waterway and what proponents claim it will do economically for the United States and Canada.

By LOUIS CASPER

WASHINGTON, May 17 (UP)—Construction of the St. Lawrence seaway, which will make seaports of Chicago and several other Great Lakes cities is set to begin this summer and take seven to 10 years to complete.

Legislation authorizing U.S. participation in the long-planned project was passed by Congress this month after nearly three decades of controversy, and was signed into law by President Eisenhower this week.

Canada, which had been prepared to build the seaway alone if Congress balked again at U.S. participation, will foot the lion's share of the bill. It is expected to spend about $250 million while the U.S. Treasury will provide up to $105 million in the form of a long-term, repayable loan.

Completion of the 2,300-mile seaway will open the Great Lakes to all but the largest ocean-going vessels. Ships of up to 30,000 tons could navigate directly from the Atlantic Ocean, through the seaway, and into such inland Great Lakes ports as Chicago and Ash-tabula, Ohio. At present, ships of 2,500 tons can come through a 14-foot channel. The new seaway will have a minimum 27-foot channel, with locks to handle cargo vessels the size of World War II Victory ships.

Huge passenger ships, such as the Queen Mary, will not be able to use it. In fact, most of the traffic probably will be confined to specially built cargo carriers to bring iron ore from the steel mills of Ohio, Illinois and Indiana, and to take grain from the midwestern breadbasket to East Coast seaports.

Proponents claim the seaway will attract as much as 50 million tons of shipping a year and will pay for itself through tolls.

Construction of the seaway will be a mammoth engineering task, but will not compare in scope or difficulty with the Suez and Panama canals.

Some 30 miles of railroads and 45 miles of highways will have to be relocated on the Canadian side of the St. Lawrence. The town of Iqoquois, Ont., with 1,500 population, and several smaller villages will disappear as the river level is raised.

Flooding on the U.S. side will be less extensive. In all some 3,000 people will have to move and scores of summer cottages will be inundated.

Three dams will be built to turn the 43 miles of rapids between Ogdensburg, N.Y., and Cornwall, Ont., into an island-dotted lake.

These dams, estimated to cost $500 million over and above the cost of the seaway itself, will be the source of the hydro-electric power to be divided between New York state and Ontario. The dams will be financed separately, as power projects.

The U.S. government has designated New York state as this country's representative for the power phase of the project. But this has been challenged in court and a start on the power dams may be held up until the Supreme Court rules.

Oilman Hits Road Building Pressure Groups

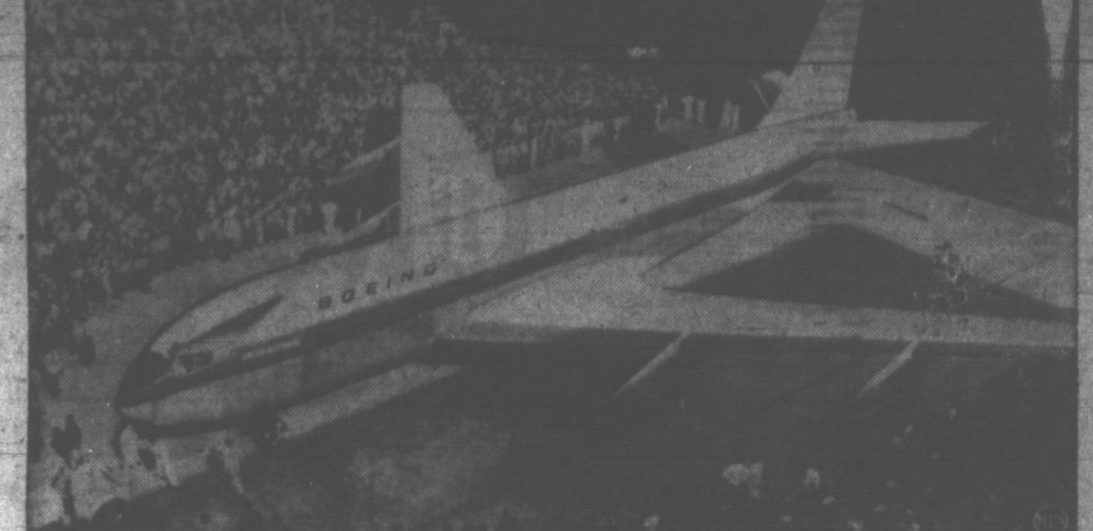

DENVER, Colo., May 17 (AP)—A plea for the use of "plain, old-fashioned common sense" in the nation's highway program was sounded here today by Lloyd F. Thannhouser, Houston, vice president and general counsel of Continental Oil company.

Speaking at the mid-year meeting of the American Petroleum Institute's marketing division, Thannhouser called for a continuance of the fight against "diversion, dispersion, dissipation and dishonesty" — the "ravenous four D's" of the highway tax dollar.

"There is constant, unrelenting pressure from all sides for the lading out of road revenues like so much gravy," he said. "Numerous pressure groups are continually clamoring to have their various pet road projects started at once. Unfortunately, many such projects are undertaken because of the noise behind them rather than because they make sense.

"All too often," he added, "the hard-working main arteries remain wholly inadequate and shamefully neglected because too large a share of available road funds is squandered on that boulevard leading to the city dump or that Appian Way serving perhaps ten cars a day."

The Conoco executive, who helped write the new highway policy adopted last November by the American Petroleum Institute, urged broadening the highway tax base. He pointed out that state and federal gasoline taxes now force the motorist to pay $1.34 for each dollar's worth of gasoline he buys.

Students To Attend Red Cross Training Camp

Bobbie Carolyn Walmer, a junior at Lefors high school, and Jerry Sloan, a member of the junior class at Pampa high school, were chosen recently by the local Junior Red Cross council to attend a 10-day training period at the Junior Red Cross camp at Pettit Jean state park at Morrilton, Ark., according to Council Chairman Homer T. Lig.

The camp will be in session June 6-16. During that time approximately 100 boys and girls from the Midwest will attend classes and share experiences that will train them in leadership for their Junior Red Cross work in the coming year.

There will be five different phases of counseling and instruction in camp program, Mrs. F. W. Shottwell, executive secretary of the Pampa chapter of the Red Cross, said today. They are: Red Cross Philosophy and Organization, Red Cross Local program, Red Cross Health and Safety program, Junior Red Cross international program, and leadership training.

Miss Walmer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Walmer of Lefors and Miss Sloan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Sloan, 711 E. Browning, Pampa.

WD Students Hear Crews At Banquet

WHITE DEER (Special)—Rev. R. W. Crews, pastor of the First Christian Church, Pampa, was speaker to the White Deer juniors, seniors, and guests at the annual banquet held recently in the Borger Hotel. Eighty two guests were present.

"Moonlight and Roses," was the theme carried out throughout the banquet. Broad streamers of blue crepe paper covered the walls and ceiling and silver stars hung around the room. In the background was a scene decorated with blue balloons and multi-colored roses. The table decorations were roses entwined with fern. Place cards and programs were decorated with a moonlight and roses design.

Supt. of Schools Huelyn Laycock gave the invocation, and Roger Barrett, junior class president, was toastmaster. Clint Freeman, president of the senior class, gave the response. A quartet of students from Frank Phillips Junior College sang several numbers, beginning with "Moonlight and Roses."

Rev. Crews gave his version of "Casey at the Bat," and an Italian boy's report of a baseball game. He also brought out a point about the different types of people on every campus.

Job Openings Tapering Off

Top-o' Texas rains have been putting a curb on the local employment situation, though in the long run they will prove beneficial.

Billy Ragade, local Texas Employment Commission manager, late this morning expressed that opinion.

"The rain is going to help us, all right; but it hasn't yet," he pointed out, adding, "it can't help, it sure does slow down the outside work."

An example is the tractor-driver's job that has been on the local TEC's books for a week, the manager said.

Other positions included in the dozen on tap this morning were an architectural draftsman, routeman, salesgirl, waitress, welder and salesman.

Pretty Pat Thompson was so excited about the big rain in drought-ridden Dallas, Tex., she went on a wading spree. She kicked off her shoes, pulled off her stockings, raised her skirt and paddled around Rockwood Park in ankle-deep water.

Scout Leaders Set Pre-Summer Round-Table Talk

Last Santa Fe District round-table before summer is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Palm Room of City Hall.

All Scouters, including Explorer leaders, are expected to be on hand. H. D. McWaters, district commissioner, reported late this morning.

The Explorer group led by J. B. Ayres, will plan the entire summer program with a short talk on field-cooking by Paul Buchanan.

The Scout group will discuss camping and have a talk on "star study" by Wade Gilbert. Jack Nichols will be in charge.

Cub men are to be headed by J. Q. Russell, who will instruct them on how to hold a kite derby and what to do until the next round-table.

The den mothers, McWaters continued, will be shown all sorts of things on their theme, "air adventure." Mrs. A. C. Brewer will lead them.

Camping and activities committees will give out advance notices, McWaters went on, adding that the organization and extension committee will help leaders check up on their three-year Scouters Award.

Coffee and crackers will be served after the session.

Two JP Votes In Precinct Two

Precinct Two voters were reminded late this morning that they actually have two votes for justice of the peace in the Democratic primary election, scheduled July 24.

For Pampa boasts two justice of the peace offices, according to JP vice, John Andrews and Asst. JP of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew and Asst. (George) Seitz.

Voters in Precinct Two, however, cannot vote for two persons in the same "place" — it must be one vote in each of the two "places."

Former Pampan Killed In Wreck

Betty Jane Taylor, formerly of Pampa, was killed Saturday in an automobile accident at Lonoke, Ark., where she lived, it was learned here today. She was 34 years old.

Surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Curtis, 1104 E. Francis, Pampa; her husband, Lloyd Taylor and six children, Sue, Geary, Patricia, Barbara, Kurt, and Rebecca, all of the home in Lonoke.

Funeral services will be Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Presbyterian church in Lonoke.

Rains Delay Street Work

Farmers are generally joyful over the recent rains—not so the city's street department.

Not much can be done till the streets dry up, Russell Cartwright, streets superintendent, said late this morning.

No graveling, no topping, no curb-and-gutter work, none of it can be done till the sun comes out long enough to do its drying duties, Cartwright continued.

Meanwhile, cars continued to get stuck on the muddy-unpaved streets. One of them even was observed late Sunday night in a ditch, right across from where Duncan ring into the new Perryton highway — it was abandoned.

'Little Harvester' To Carry 'Theme'

Pampa high school's student newspaper, "The Little Harvester," is one of hundreds of high school papers in the nation that are cooperating to focus attention on Columbia university's bicentennial theme, "Man's Right to Knowledge and the Free Use Thereof."

Sandra Burch, student editor of the paper, reports that the high school students have planned student forums based on the theme and have devoted an entire issue of the school paper to this theme.

DST Being Done On Phillips Well

Oilmen late this morning were still taking drillstem tests—"at the same interval"—on the Phillips Petroleum Company No. 1 Jackson "C", located 11 miles northeast of Pampa.

Over the week end, Panpan and Top-o' Texas were asking each other about the wildcat, wanting to know how it was going. Informed sources today said they were not drilling any deeper, just preparing for another drillstem test.

They will be Kevin Francis, accompanied by his sister, Linda; and Aileen Thornburg, accompanied by her sister, Elaine. Piano solos, duets, trios and quartets will be presented by Jimmy King, Elaine Thornburg, Carolyn Jo Russell, Jerry Dean Baxter, Ripper Thornburg, Jerry Elaine Henricher, Carroll Cole, Linda Francis, Don Cole, Judy Bingham, Michael Flaherty, Mona Cruise, Marianna Perkins, Susan Nelson, Jean Holman, Phyllis Trolinger, Judy Essary, Jayne Giddison, Sammy Giddison and Debra Vanderburg. Terry Henderson, Paula Jo Vanderburg, Gibby Shelton, Dixie Moore, James Veale, Camilla Wolford, Gayla Gray, Karen Wolford, Jeffrey Hallender, Lynn Shelton, Sandra Childress, Ricky Faye Arnold, Carolyn Francis and Johnnie Schmidt. The recitals are open to the public.

GET-ACQUAINTED PARTY - was given by the Sub Deb club recently to start off the summer sorority rush season. Freshman girls were the club's guests. Cakes and cookies were served from a table covered with a green cloth, and centered with ivy. Entertainment was provided by Cynthia Duncan, Judy Neslage, Brenda Parker, Zelma and Delma Franklin, Jan Dyer and Rhona Finklestein. Above, shown looking over the club's scrapbooks, from left to right, are Sub Deb June Smith, 1004 Oklahoma; Thelma Jo Holt, 419 N. Russell, a guest; Cynthia Duncan, Miami highway, a guest; and Patsy Ward, 918 N. Gray, club secretary. (News Photo)

Miss Leslynn Webb Of Canadian Feted With Bridal Shower By Pampa Women

Miss Leslynn Webb of Canadian, bride-elect of John Pitts Jr., of Pampa, was honored recently at a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. John Haggard, 1301 N. Russell. Hostesses were Meses. Alvin R. Bell, Paul Crouch, John Haggard, Garner Alfom and Cecil Colfum. The serving table was covered with a yellow net cloth over yellow tulle. White felt wedding bells, outlined with sequins and tied with white satin bows, were attached to the center of the cloth. Streamers, drawn from the walls to each corner, were attached to similar wedding bells. The centerpiece was an arrangement of maroon daisies, marguerites and fever-few. Buffet was centered with an arrangement of Marguerites in crystal vases, flanked by milk glass candelabra with blue tapers.

Refreshments of individual cakes with yellow icing, topped with sugar wedding bells, assorted nuts, mints and fruit punch were served. Corsages were presented to the honoree, to Mrs. Leslie Webb, Mrs. John Pitts Jr., and to Miss Anita Southard, who presided at the guest register. Out-of-town guests were Meses. H. W. Pitts, V. B. West, W. Hampton, and Urshel Books, all of Amarillo; and Mrs. Leslie Webb of Canadian.

Two Former Pupils Will Be Featured In Piano Recital Today

Teague, James Byars, Annette Holsinger, Claudette Matheny, Rita Kay Johns, Norma Jean Vaughn, Mary Pursley, Jo Ann Moxley, Clo Ann Johnson, Kay Stewart and Glenda Northcutt. Special guest performers will be James Betty Strong and Mrs. Helen Mathews, former students of Mrs. Hartfield. First part of the program will be solo numbers and the second part will be ensemble presentations.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE In the eighth grade of Paul's school was a boy named Eric, the star athlete and class president. Along with the other lesser creatures of the sixth grade, Paul regarded Eric with the hopeless admiration of the moth for the star. Thus Paul was rendered speechless one noon hour when Eric commented approvingly upon one of his marbles. "She's a honey. Where did you get her, kid?" Eric said. When speech returned to Paul, he lied: "Aw, I got a bag of them. Each one's different."

Pony Tail Hairdo Is Still Favorite

By ALICIA HART NEA Beauty Editor The carefree pony-tail hairdo that was introduced several seasons back has won the hearts of many teen-agers. In addition to being gracefully casual and cool, it rates high in adaptability, going from sports togs to formal gown with ease. But some teen-agers tend to abuse the style's adaptability. One can't expect it to make the transition without an assistance. For example, a bold plaid or check ribbon is fine to tie the tail when outdoor fun is in the offing. But when a girl slips into a date dress, she should replace the ribbon with something dressier. And it's a good idea, too, to arrange a few soft curls near the temples for less casual occasions. Another essential point is that the pony tail looks well only when it is kept trim. Otherwise its casualness soon becomes messiness. Generally, this style is most attractive when worn no longer than two inches below the collar line.

There is plenty of delicate, fine-flavored veal in the market today. For something to delight the spring appetite, try these two intriguing dishes. A friend of ours in Los Angeles, with a fine Italian heritage, taught us how to make them. Veal Scallopini (6 servings) One and one-half pounds veal steak, cut 1/2-inch thick; 1 teaspoon salt; 1 teaspoon paprika; 1/2 cup salad oil; 2 cup lemon juice; 1/2 cup vinegar; 1/2 cup mustard; 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg; 1/2 teaspoon sugar; 1/2 cup flour; 1 cup shortening; 1 medium onion, sliced thin; 1 green pepper, cut in strips; 1 can (10-ounce) chicken bouillon; 3/4 pound mushrooms; 1 tablespoon butter or margarine; 6 pimiento olives, sliced. Cut veal into serving pieces. Make sauce by combining salt, paprika, oil, lemon juice, garlic, mustard, nutmeg and sugar. Beat well, or shake in bottle to combine thoroughly. Lay veal flat in baking pan. Four saucers over veal. Turn pieces of veal to coat with sauce. Let stand 15 minutes. Remove veal. Lift veal from sauce. Dip into flour. Brown well in heated shortening in skillet. Add onion and green pepper. Combine chicken bouillon with remaining sauce and pour over veal. Cover and cook slowly until veal is tender, about 40 minutes. Clean and slice mushrooms. Brown lightly in butter or margarine. Add mushrooms and olives to veal. Cook about 5 minutes more. Serve veal with sauce poured over it. Veal Steak in Olive Sauce (4 servings) One pound veal steak, cut 1/2 inch thick; 1/2 cup flour; 2 tablespoons fat; 2 tablespoons flour; 2 tablespoons salt; 1/2 teaspoon paprika; 2 tablespoons brown sugar; 1 tablespoon lemon juice; 1 tablespoon chopped onion; 1 cup water; 1 cup chopped pimiento olives. Sprinkle 1/4 cup flour over both sides of veal steak. Brown steak well in hot fat in a skillet. Remove meat from pan. Add 1/2 cup chopped onion, 1 cup water, 1/2 cup smooth. Then add salt, paprika, brown sugar, lemon juice, onion and water. When blended, return meat to skillet, cover, and simmer in sauce until tender, about 30 minutes. Add olives and cook 5 minutes longer. Serve the steak on a hot platter. Four saucers over steak. Garnish with whole olives.

RUTH MILLET

This column recently printed a letter from a wife who said her husband embarrassed her to death by hiding waitresses and calling them "Honey." When she objected, he just accused her of being jealous. Maybe she ought to show him this letter written by a waitress in answer to the wife's published letter. "I have worked as a waitress in both large and small restaurants and have seen many people come and go. But I've yet to see a wife who seemed to really hate her husband call the waitress 'Honey.' "What the wives may not know is that the waitress is usually just as disgusted as the wife, but there is nothing the waitress can do about it. "The management gives us orders to be pleasant and to keep smiling even to these men who have nothing to do except buy coffee all day long. They sit and sit and sit over a cup of coffee and give you a lot of sweet talk and one thin dime. "Once in a while there is a silly waitress who is flattered by these coffee hounds, but even they soon get wise to these restaurant bors. "JUST HALF OF THE STORY This column has published the wife's side of the story of the man who makes a habit of hounding the waitress. Here's the waitress' side. "And now the only side left to hear is the man's. Maybe he'll tell why a man gets a kick out of flirting with a waitress while his wife sits by wondering if he is ever going to act his age. "Is it because he enjoys getting a reaction from his wife he labels as jealousy? Or is it because a little harmless flirting makes him feel like quite a fellow? Or is it because he is afraid if he never pays any attention to other women, his wife will take him too soon for granted? "Let's hear from the man now.

Summer Petticoats Need Special Care

By ALICIA HART NEA Beauty Editor Dainty petticoats that lend wide spread to summer sheers need to be added to the warm-weather blues of the girl who does her own washing and ironing. There are many available now in the miracle fabrics that thrive in sulding, shun ironing. And, because of their fast-drying qualities, it's possible to wear and wash them frequently though one's supply is limited. These petticoats in nylon, orlon, dacron or fabric combinations can be washed in the same manner as other lingerie. After sulding and rinsing, they should be hung to drip dry. Attempts to remove excess moisture will only result in wrinkling. So your can drip away without doing damage, hang it over the bath tub. Or, if this is not possible, put a suction hook on the wall in your room, tack up a protective sheet of plastic long enough to cover the floor beneath the petticoat. Then cover the area with newspapers to catch the drip. After hanging up the petticoat, smooth it carefully, especially around lace, scallops or other trim.

Farm Labor Costs

Dr. Earl L. Butz of Purdue University recently discussed the cost of farm machinery — tractors, combines, and so on. This equipment replaces human labor, and so its cost must be compared with that of labor if an accurate picture is to be gained. Thus, the dollars-and-cents cost of any given piece of machinery is not the big factor in the long run. Its cost in terms of equivalent labor is far more vital. Dr. Butz prepared a table to illustrate what has happened. During the 1935-39 period, it took the equivalent of 31.2 man-months of hired labor to buy a 2-plow tractor — in 1953 the figure was down to 14.6 months. In the former period, the value of 23.8 man-months of hired labor would buy a 5-6 foot combine — in 1953 it was down to 10.1 man-months. The situation was similar for other types of farm equipment cited. In each case, the 1953 cost of the machines, measured in this accurate fashion, was far lower than in previous times. Even that, Dr. Butz continued, doesn't tell the whole story, for two reasons. To quote him directly, "First, the machines are presently more efficient as a result of design changes. Second... the farmer makes much more efficient use of machinery today than in earlier years." Dr. Butz also observed that "The pressure of higher wage rates will continue to be an important factor in the machinery market in the period ahead." This equipment is the best and most economical source of work agriculture has ever known.

Fatter Pay Checks

The "real cost" of living — which is measured by relating commodity prices to wages and purchasing — is less now than in the allegedly good old days. The authority for that statement is Ewan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics. Mr. Clague pointed out that the government's Consumer Price Index has not quite doubled since 1939 — while weekly earnings in manufacturing have tripled. Mr. Clague also observed that consumer prices in general have been stabilized for the past year or more, and that some prices have declined from the postwar highs. What this means is that we have returned to a normal market. There are no shortages of consumer goods. In some fields there are surpluses. Consumers, as any merchant can tell you, have become choosier, with their eye out for bargains. The result is intense competition on both the manufacturing and retailing levels. When that is the case, the tendency is for the weekly pay check to go farther.

Local Spenders

When we think of taxes and government spending, the emphasis is on the federal establishment. Washington collects most of the tax money and is the center of most fiscal arguments. But do not overlook the growing tax problem of state government. In 1942, according to Thurman Sensing of the Southern States Industrial Council, total state taxes were less than $4,000,000,000. Last year they passed $10,500,000,000. It is estimated that in 1954 increases in state and local budgets will offset any decrease in federal spending. It will do little good if federal tax cuts allow us to keep a few more dollars — and then tax collectors on the lower echelons of government take them away. Waste must be outlawed and efficiency pressed on every government level.

Picture Story

Few people think of a dollar bill as a piece of paper with a message printed on it. But there is a picture story on the back side that suggests the need for keeping eternal vigilance over the union of states. Observe the unfinished pyramid and the eye above. The pyramid represents the growing of the union, and the eye, its guardian. With the national debt almost at the present legal limit, and with government spending still exceeding income, it's high time we thought seriously of guarding the union from financial chaos. And to do that we must not only demand economy in government, but must cheerfully accept the effects of economy on ourselves.

A Good Question

On completion of his "preliminary" hearings on Federal Housing Administration scandals, which cost the government an estimated half billion dollars in its rental program alone, Sen. Homer E. Capehart announced his group will start re-writing the new housing bill already approved by the House. After it's passed, he says, they'll begin "a real, honest-to-goodness 100 per cent investigation."

Maybe they can find out why the government is in the housing business anyway?

"Political Power, Essence Of Communism"

I want to continue to quote from Frank Chodorov's article "Political Power, Essence of Communism," as published in the Bombay, India magazine "Free Economic Review."

I think Mr. Chodorov has a clear vision of the functions of the state. He has recently published a new book "The Income Tax, Root of All Evil," which certainly is a masterpiece.

Unless citizens really know what communism is they cannot tell whether they are helping to promote it or helping to prevent it from spreading.

Under the heading of "Bureaucrats & Communism" Mr. Chodorov writes: "When you strip communism of its verbiage, and see it as nothing but the reincarnation of Pharosism, Neoliberalism, Socialism, all rolled into one, you begin to realize why the bureaucratic mind takes to it. And you understand why bureaucracy tends to make its inmates communist-minded, even though the predisposition did not exist in the entrance."

"Theoretically, a bureau is the functioning arm of the executive a group of servants who put his plans into operation. Theoretically, again, the President may terminate the agency when, in his opinion, the specific job has been finished. And also theoretically the Congress may kill it by financial starvation."

"In point of fact, however, the main business of a bureau, once started, is to look after its own perpetuation. It tries, in the first place, to free itself of dependence on the elected authorities by building up a vested interest in its activities; this is done by dispensing special privileges. Thus the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, established by President Hoover as temporary agency, has endeavored itself to many so-called businessmen (including its workers and services) by the simple device of helping them stay in business; with the cooperation of this privileged group, the agency has managed to wangle out of Congress twenty odd years of life."

"Social Advance" Spoon In Mouth

The second stage in this self-perpetuating operation is to present to the public the idea that the agency is essential to the welfare and well-being of the country. Every agency is born with a "social advance" spoon in its mouth, and it is to interests of the bureaucrats that this fiction be kept alive; for this purpose it conducts a "public relations" program. Some considered portion of the money appropriated to it by Congress is misappropriated to advertise the agency's good work. A good sized book could be written on the unauthorized efforts of the bureaucracy to "sell" itself to the public: taken as a whole, the agencies constitute the largest, most expensive and the bureau; the enlargement of their powers, the increase of their budgets.

"In their efforts to perpetuate themselves, and to free themselves from the constitutional creators, the agencies are aided by the 'democratic' process; since every bureau is the source of jobs for the faithful party workers, the elected authorities are loathe to see them closed up, the bureaucracy becomes the 'pork barrel' of proportions.

"In one way or another, then, the bureaucracy has become a fourth branch of the government, one never contemplated by the Founding Fathers. It is completely independent of the electorate. Far from being subservient to the President and Congress, it dominates them, not only with its propaganda methods, but also by paying close attention to the details which the elected officials are incapable of handling; writing bills, preparing tendentious reports, issuing mimeographed 'research' in favor of our purposes. The bureaucracy is on the job of running the government twenty-four hours a day. In effect it is the government.

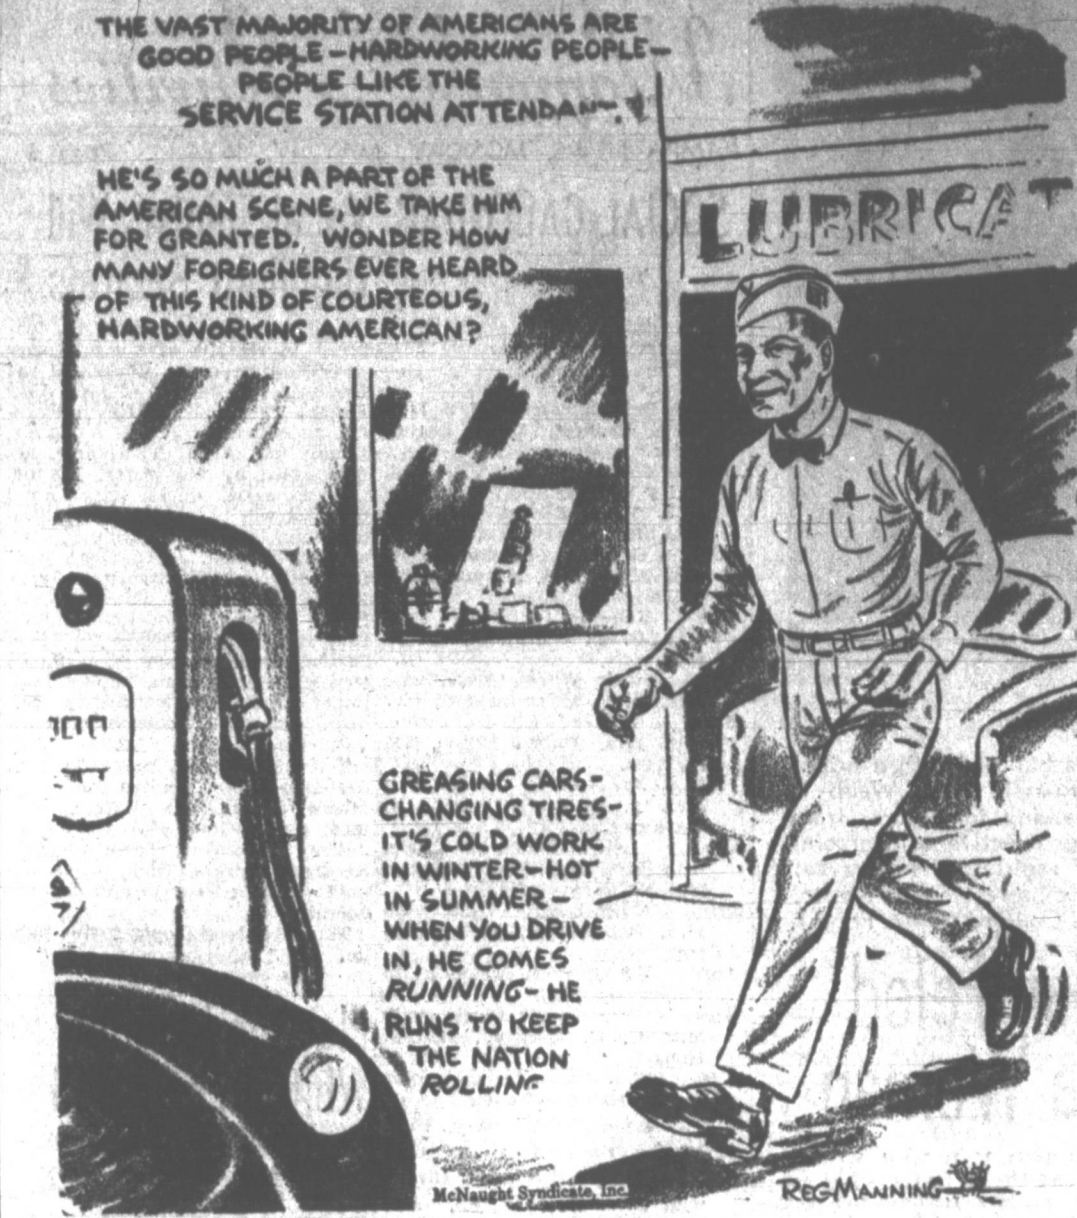

Developing Red Mentality

"The boys and girls who enter the 'service' are probably attracted to it in the first place by the pay, which is higher than private business can afford for comparable work. Then there is the 'security' inducement. Soon they learn that playing the bureaucratic game has another element; a sense of importance. Maybe conscience has something to do with it; but from the G3 (salary $2,640) to the head of a department, every government employee begins to believe that the country rests on his or her shoulder; they devour their own propaganda. They develop a communist mentality. The man who becomes a communist does so because he believes the world would be a better place to live in if communism were installed, with himself in key position. It follows that those who do not agree with him are both ignorant and sinful.

"In like manner, the bureaucracy at urging socialized medicine or nationalized education or bigger and better regulations is impressed with the stupidity and cowardice of the opposition; these are an inferior people and must be brought to toe. How? By political power. But, is not political power the essence of communism?"

"For those who are now coming out of college, or have graduated within the last twenty years, this communist mentality is not hard to acquire. They have been well insured to the thought that government can make men, healthy, wealthy and wise—given

The "Ordinary" American

National Whirligig... GOP Admits Communists Will Be An Issue In Fall Elections

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower has ordered an acceleration of the domestic drive against Communism inside and outside the government. Aside from his deep concern over their menace to internal and external security, it is the official answer to Sen. Joe McCarthy's persistent charge that conditions on this front have not improved under the Eisenhower administration.

John Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, whose recent celebration of his 30 years as a nemesis of criminals and Communists was marked by officially inspired feature articles, interviews and eulogistic outbursts on the floor of the House and Senate.

Despite assertions that Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. was dragging the FBI into partisan politics for the first time in its history, Hoover has served the GOP well in the whirlwind drama over pursuit of the Reds. He appeared before a congressional committee to support Brownell's allegations that the White House had been warned of Harry Dexter White's Communist sympathies before he was promoted to a key Treasury post by former President Truman.

Hoover probably did a great deal to discredit McCarthy in the eyes of the television audience by showing up the secret letter on alleged subversion at Fort Monmouth as a "phony." The FBI director could have noted that the material in his memo to Army Intelligence and in the McCarthy document were similar. Instead, he chose to emphasize such minor differences as the lack of an appellation and the signature.

JOB FOR PROFESSIONALS — Moreover, in all his public statements accompanying the 30-year anniversary, Hoover warned that investigation of Reds in government, defense plants and in industry — in fact, everywhere — is a task for "professionals," not amateurs. Despite their fairly close friendship, McCarthy has interpreted this remark as a slur on his activities.

Finally, in order to dramatize Hoover's role, Brownell has organized a new, separate anti-subversive unit in the Department of Justice. Thus, Hoover will ferret out the Reds, Brownell will indict them and the courts will be asked to convict.

As the AG insists, the proceedings will be conducted along judicial rather than political or emotional lines. If that is not a slap at the Wisconsin senator, and a lart comment on his Capitol Hill activities, it would be difficult to voice more severe criticism.

The United Nations is preparing many instruments that would end freedom of the press in this country. Chief of these is the treaty on "International Transmission of News and the Right of Correction" which would give the President the right of peacetime censorship in violation of the Constitution's First Amendment. It would also give foreign governments the RIGHT TO BRING AMERICAN PUBLISHERS TO TRIAL on charges of having encouraged or tolerated activities calculated to disturb "international peace or security." Under the terms of this treaty, any publisher who ever published a cartoon of Malenkov would be liable. If he'd published a cartoon of Stalin ten years ago, he'd be liable, for the treaty is retroactive. Furthermore, the publisher would be tried in the American courts before a jury. He would have no right of appeal. He'd be tried before the U.N.'s International Court of Justice and there MIGHT NOT BE AN AMERICAN MEMBER ON THAT TRIBUNAL. The American press is not watching the U.N. with any very great vigilance. But U.N. is watching the American press like a hawk — ready to pounce.

Fair Enough... Pegler Names Names To Look For With Letterhead Societies

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1954, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

NEW YORK — I have hit upon a simple, effective way to spot the kind of political apparitions that threaten our country. It is to look for the names of the men who operate from the Waldorf Tower under the plain address of 103 East 50th St. These things come into vogue being as letterheads and "press announcements" and fade away without notice or obsequies. One of the stand-by members of this wandering wind-jammer with a tired old name who makes a little living waving his arms and viewing with alarm for whatever his lecture bureau can get him across the country is Arthur J. Goldsmith. He usually spots himself in the clean-up position, third from the top and usually as "treasurer," or secretary. The other officers shuffle themselves around and the tally on the roster vary from committee or society or against this or that. The names to look for as the dead sure tip-off start with a guy named Frederick C. McKee, a chronic chairman. He is 63, lives in Pittsburgh, seems to have a lot of inherited money and was a bachelor down to the 1953 Who's Who. He states that he has been general manager of his father's business enterprises since 1913 when he got out of Princeton. He is treasurer of the National Casket Company. Most of the so-called committees in which these specimens fuss around under notorious titles exist to elect weak senators and congressmen in states of small population.

Another sure-pop name is Clark M. Eichelberger, who really makes a business of it. In fact, in Who's Who (and God knows what standards Who's Who uses in leaping such a character) he gives his occupation as "association executive." He is 58; calls himself an editor and radio commentator, which may be true, notwithstanding my absolute ignorance of anyone named Eichelberger in these activities, and was named by the Associated Press last spring as authority for his handout from the American Association for the United Nations. He has a "large Southwestern" fortune, was waging a campaign of misrepresentation against the U.N.

The fact is, of course, that Eichelberger, Goldsmith, McKee and the rest of the fortune, jumble pack with a strange variety of important money and have been sending money from big Eastern fortunes into other states, notably Nevada, to offset the franchise of their citizens in senatorial elections. You never see the names of these rich Eastern backers on the rosters of these fronts. They keep them out of sight, using the beat-up old monikers on their letterheads, and file the names of these donors only with the clerk of the House after elections. One of these is a lammister from Italy named Max Ascoli, who married a Rosenwald and set up in business as editor of a violent magazine called "The Reporter." Like Goldsmith and the rest, Ascoli has been blasting away to get P. A. McCarran out of the Senate and elect some stiff who will do as these Eastern fortunes want done about Communism and immigration. Mussolini got fed up with Max and Max went absent in a rush.

Eichelberger's handout which the AP inflicted on its trusting editors, at least one of whom fell for it, had the affrontery to say that whoever doesn't like the U.N. also hates Negroes and Jews. The vicious absurdity of that didn't deter the AP from shooting it along and, of course, it is folly ever to expect any of these lay-outs to justify their stuff.

The latest publicity on Eichelberger latches him and Eleanor Roosevelt in some political thingy list of both. Robert Eichelberger, a retired lieutenant general, says they are best buds of a distant sort. He does not boast about it. Well, then we have Edgar A. Mower, a gray spirit, who learned to love the Old World hanging around a sinking slum in Paris, but in journalism, proved to have a low ceiling and never cracked it. G. Barry Bingham is the son of the guy who left him the Louisville newspaper monopoly.

Like Mower, McKee, Goldsmith and Eichelberger, Barry is a name for the letterhead. Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde, the daughter of the old con-man who whipsawed suckers with his Biblical apels for Coral Gables for $5,000 a show, currency paid in advance, is another old reliable. Westmore Wilcox bobs up occasionally. He seems to be something in the Chase Bank with Latin-American implications, but I just phoned Susan Braden, who knows the whole Latin-American story, and he never heard of the guy.

Don't forget old Doc L. M. Birkhead, Kansas City pulp-flogger who worked with Haldeman-Julius, the professional atheist and pornographer who finally got a prison jolt for keeping his income in a tin can and was found dead in his pool. Birkhead, like Eichelberger, has made a career of this, but he now seems to be on a losing bid.

No one mentioned anybody concerned in The Hearings. No one even mentioned The Hearings. It was as though they didn't exist. There was a total and absolute indifference to them. It seemed strange to go to these gatherings and then walk out and look at headlines. It didn't match up.

BID FOR A SMILE

Heena, a six year old, recently was graduated from kindergarten. His final examination consisted of singing a song all alone. Mother — What did you sing, "God Bless America" or "It Is for Mother"? Bruce — I sang the one I knew best, it was "Some Dirty Dog Put Guts on My Beddie".

Oiler Rally Falls Short Again; Sox Win

Oilers Get 14 Hits But Bow By 12-10

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

For the second night in a row, the Abilene Blue Sox built up an early lead and then had to stave off a late rally by the Pampa Oilers before winning by a 12-10 tally to sweep the two game series at Oiler Park last night.

The game ended the Oiler homestand in which they managed only two wins in five outings. It also dropped the Oilers into a fourth place tie with Amarillo in the WT-NM standings. Both the Oilers and Gold Sox are 3 1/2 games off the pace of league leading Clovis.

The Oilers will embark on a four-day road trip tonight when they meet the Berger Gassers in the first of a two game series.

From Berger the Oilers will go to Amarillo Wednesday and Thursday night and then return home Friday to open a 6-day stand. Abilene slumped for two losses suffered at the hands of the Oilers at Abilene recently by sweeping the series here. And Big Jake Henson, who hurled one of the Oiler victories at Abilene, started last night's game but couldn't seem to get going and before being relieved in the fourth, he was touched for 10 hits and seven runs.

Vibert Clark came on in the fourth and finished up the game, allowing seven hits and five runs. The Blue Sox moved ahead 6-0 last night before the Oiler bats began to sound off. But, as a duplicate of Saturday night's series opener, the Oiler offensive attack started too late.

The Oilers got potential rallies going in every inning except the third and ninth frames but only in the eighth inning did the locals manage a big inning. The Pampa Oilers picked up six runs in the eighth to climb within two runs of catching up, 12-10, but the third Sox pitcher, Wes Ortis, retired the Oilers in order in the ninth to preserve the victory in the ninth.

The victory, however, went to James Tremmell, who had relieved starting pitcher Juan Del Toro in the fifth inning. Ortis came to Tremmell's rescue during the big eighth inning rally by the Oilers.

Five walks and three hits featured the eighth inning uprising as 11 Oilers came to bat. Manager Doug Lewis, who led the 14-hit Oiler attack with four hits in six innings, pitched in the eighth.

The Oilers had the winning run at the plate in the eighth in the person of Curtis Hardaway but the Oiler third sacker grounded out weakly pitcher to first to end the threat.

Hariston Homers
The Oilers, trailing 8-0 going into the bottom of the fourth, broke into the scoring column when Dick Hariston hit his third homer of the season with Hardaway, who had singled on base.

The Oilers picked up two more runs in the fifth on a run scoring single by Lewis and a double by Hariston that drove in another

Ted's Back But Red Sox Lose Twinner

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

Maybe even Ted Williams won't be able to get the Red Sox out of last place.

Manager Lou Boudreau said, "We'll be all right when Ted gets back."

Sunday thumper Theodore returned for his first full day since he smashed his collar bone on the opening of spring training in Florida. All he did was smack two homers, a double and five singles, batting in seven runs in nine at bats.

But all the Red Sox did was lose twice at Detroit, 7 to 6 and 9 to 1 in 14 innings. In the opener, when Williams cracked three singles, none was as vital as one by six-Red Sox Matt Batts who delivered the winning run with a pinch-hit in the eighth. Williams' two homers and other hits in the nightcap failed to dim the importance of a homer by Ray Boone which broke up the game in the 14th inning.

Indiana Pitcher Two
Mike Garcia one-hitter for the Indians in a 6 to 0 second victory after they pounded out 16 hits in a 12 to 7 opener over the Athletics. But after the Yankees made six wins in a row with a 3 to 0 triumph of Allie Reynolds' three-hitter, the Orioles rebounded for a 6 to 2 triumph on another three-hitter by Don Larsen. Bob Porterfield pitched Washington to take hit to a 1-0 over Chicago after Bob Keegan won his sixth game in the opener, 10 to 5 as Minnie Minoos paced an 11-hit White Sox attack with a homer.

In the National League, Gil Hodges hit a grand slam homer, the 10th of his career to give Brooklyn a 4 to 2 victory over Cincinnati, after which Bud Podbielniak pitched a 1-0 triumph over the Cardinals. He struck out eight of his ex-mates in a 7 to 2 triumph for the Reds. Chicago pounded out 17 hits to defeat Pittsburgh 12 to 3, but rookie Jake Thies tripped a four-hitter for his first game win in a 4 to 1 triumph over the Pirates. Milwaukee topped the Giants in 10 innings 3 to 2 as Joe Adcock drove in all three runs, then New York won a 2 to 1 decision on Johnny Antonelli pitched a seven-hitter for the win, strikeouts and no walks. St. Louis topped Philadelphia 7 to 3 when Solly Hemus hit a three-run triple for the key blow and the fact that the Cardinals suspended second game which will be completed Monday night.

Joe DeMaestri's fourth-inning game was the only hit off Garcia, who pitched only two batters. Al Rosen and Jim Hegan hit homers in the opener while Don Bolweg got one for the A's. Rosen also homered in the nightcap.

Larsen was a no-hitter for the Yankees when Andy Carey, who had homered in the opener, singled. Another single by Hank Gauer and a double by Ed Stauter in the ninth gave the Yankees the runner for Porterfield's triumph was his fourth and Pete Runnels set the pace at bat with a triple and two singles. Minoos drove in six runs in which Mickey Vernon and Roy Sievers of the Nats and Sherman Lollar of Chicago also hit homers.

Hodges' grand-slammer put him one win behind National League record holders Ralph Kiner and Rogers Hornsby who have hit 12 Preacher Roe gained his first triumph after two defeats while Podbielniak won his third game.

After Hemus smashed his big triple for two home runs, a double and a homer in the first game victory at Philadelphia, homers by Johnny Wryostek and Del Ennis put the Phils well in front in the hung-up second game.

Sunday's Star
Ted Williams of the Red Sox who came back to deliver two homers, a double and five singles but Boston still lost two to Detroit, 7-4 and 9-8 in 14 innings.

Williams May Return To Hospital Soon

DETROIT, May 17—Mighty Ted Williams, although pleased by his sensational comeback day in which he walloped eight hits, indicated Monday he may have to return to the hospital soon.

"I think I'm going to have to have this pin taken out of my shoulder," said the famed Boston Red Sox slugger. "It pained me during yesterday's doubleheader, especially when I swung and missed a pitch late in the second game."

The 35-year-old outfielder put on an astounding display at Briggs Stadium as he blasted Detroit pitchers for two home runs, a double and five singles, in his second day back in action. The Tigers won both games of the twin bill 7 to 6 and 9 to 8, but Williams was retired only once in nine at bats.

The pin Williams referred to is a metal pin inserted in his collarbone by surgeons to help that bone knit together faster after the spring training accident in which it was broken.

The doctors had told Williams he might play all season with the pin remaining in his shoulder, depending on how it felt, Sunday's doubleheader, in which Williams experienced pain, was the first severe test of the shoulder, although he batted twice in Saturday's game and had been taking batting practice.

As Marti Falter Winner's 201 Wins At Abilene

ABILENE, Tex., May 17—UP—Francis (Bo) Winger, the stocky Oklahoma, was $1,500 richer Monday after overtaking Elroy Marti on the first two holes and went on to post a 89-84-67 for a 64-hole total of 201—three strokes to the good over Marti and Bob Rosburg of Chicago.

Marti, the blond Houstonian who had led the first two rounds, matched Winger's 33 going out, but slipped badly on the back nine and wound up with a 88 for a 71 and a 204 total.

Rosburg scrambled to a 88-84-70 to tie with Marti and split $1,450 between them, while finishing a stroke ahead of Fred Hawkins of El Paso, whose final round 68 was good for 200 total and 850, Gardner Dickinson of Palm Springs, Calif., was one of four players cutting four strokes off par Monday to finish with a 66-206 that netted him $357.50 in a four-way tie for fifth place. Others at that figure included Ralph Blomquist, Glendale, Calif., Jack Mann of Temple and Iverson Martin of Fort Worth.

Bell Denies OU Charge

DALLAS, May 17—UP—Athletic Director Matly Bell of Southern Methodist University says he believes every school in the Southwest Conference thinks Oklahoma alumni are violating rules in recruiting athletes.

Bell's assertion was made after an Oklahoma sports writer charged that perhaps SMU was responsible for the NCAA inquiry into athletic recruiting methods of the University of Oklahoma.

Bell quickly denied it, and said SMU has never made a protest to the NCAA against Oklahoma or anyone else as far as he knows.

F. D. Mouson, a member of the NCAA athletic and chairman of the SMU athletic committee, said he knows nothing about the matter.

Bell said he based his assertion about the belief of Southwest Conference schools after talks with coaches and athletic directors at the conference meeting in Waco Saturday.

Sports editor John Cronley of the Oklahoma City Daily Oklahoman wrote Saturday that he was "as good a guess as any" that SMU instigated the NCAA investigation. He attributed it to jealousy on the part of Texas over Oklahoma's climb to a national football power and to the fact that SMU had a poor recruiting season.

Charles Goes Four Rounds
MONTICELLO, N.Y., May 15—UP—Ex-heavyweight champion Edward Charles, who is rapidly rounding into shape for his title fight with Rocky Marciano on June 17, sparred four blistering rounds Friday, concentrating mostly on combination punches.

Carter, Murray, Austin, Win Junior Golf Titles

Buster Carter, Tommy Murray and April Austin won divisional titles in the annual Pampa Junior Golf Tournament completed yesterday on the Pampa Country Club course.

Carter, designated Joe Chisum as the champion in the high school bracket of the tournament; Murray successfully defended his title in the junior high division; and April Austin grabbed the top prize in the grade school division.

Thus, only one of the three defending champions was able to repeat. Defending champ Joe Chisum in the senior division finished fifth this time and Jimmy Graham, the defending champ in the grade school bracket, was runner-up this time to Miss Austin.

Carter, in winning the Ham Lunks trophy as the senior champion, posted rounds of 67-67-69 for a 203 total. Carter had a seven stroke handicap for each round.

Jerry Boston Jr. was the runner-up in the senior division. Boston recorded rounds of 68-68-72 for 208, five strokes back of Carter. Boston had an 11-stroke handicap.

Murray won the junior high crown with a three round total of 207. Murray's round-by-round count was 68-68-73-207. Larry Tarvin was the runner-up among the juniors with 211. Tarvin had rounds of 69-70-72-211.

Miss Austin had an 18-hole round of 77 for tops among the grade schoolers. Defending champion Graham was runner-up with 87.

Pampa Country Club professional Johnny Austin, revealed that this year's junior tournament was the second largest field in history of the seven-year old tournament. Forty-six boys and girls took part in the tournament.

Trophies were presented to the winner and runner-up in each division. All other participants in the grade school and junior high division received medals.

A brief ceremony was held yesterday following the final rounds to present the prizes. Ham Luna, who originated the idea of the junior tournament, presented the awards.

Pioneers Cling To Lead In WT-NM

By UNITED PRESS

The Clovis Pioneers hung on to their West Texas-New Mexico League lead in a slim game Sunday after beating Borger 7 to 3 Monday.

Second place Plainview beat Lubbock 3 to 1, Amarillo won from Albuquerque 6 to 3 and Abilene outscored Pampa 12 to 10 in the only night game.

All the teams swap opponents for series openers Monday night, with Abilene at Albuquerque, Plainview at Clovis, Pampa at Borger and Lubbock at Amarillo.

Originally scheduled for Sunday afternoon, the Abilene at Pampa game was changed to a night affair because of wet grounds. That didn't stop the visitors, however, as the Blue Sox jumped on a pair of Oiler pitchers for 17 hits and 12 runs. Pampa tallied 10 runs on 14 hits from the offerings of three Abilene moundsmen.

Carroll (Red Dials) had a 28-11 record with the Pioneers last year, went the distance and scattered eight Borger hits for the 7 to 3 win.

Veteran Ed Arthur hurled the Plainview Pioneers past the Lubbock Hubbers in the fifth Hubber coming in the fifth. Although out hit 4 to 4, the Pionees timed their better.

Each team got eight hits as Amarillo dominated Albuquerque. The game was marked by erroneous play field.

Score by innings:
Amarillo 100 300 200-4 8 0
Albuquerque 002 001 000-3 8 0
Svenson, Brusa, Locke and Goff; Michael, Job and Jordan.

Roswell Drops Second In Row

By UNITED PRESS

Roswell dropped its second consecutive game Sunday, but still commanded a strong lead in the Longhorn League standings—three and a half games ahead of second-place Artesia.

The Indians succumbed to Sweetwater 4 to 3 in an 11-inning duel. Artesia gained only a half-game, since rain caused postponement of its scheduled game with Odessa.

Fourth place Carlsbad whitewashed Midland 7 to 0 to lengthen the gap between the first and second divisions to 3 1/2 games. Big Spring walloped San Angelo 5 to 2 to keep pace with Sweetwater. In the top standings, both teams nine full games off the pace.

San Angelo trails by 11 games. Monday's schedule rematches all teams—Odessa at Artesia, San Angelo at Big Spring, Carlsbad at Midland and Roswell at Sweetwater.

Rain Postpones Softball Games

The scheduled season opener in the Industrial Softball League tonight has been postponed because of wet grounds.

Slated to play tonight were Phillips against Panhandle Packing and Northern Natural Gas against Bell Telephone.

The games will be made up at a later date.

None of the week's games will go on as scheduled.

THE UMPIRE

By BRANN REARDON

Question: The rules section pertaining to the balk states that a pitcher in the box, before throwing to a base, must take a full step in the direction of the base. But, this season, I've noticed many southpaws taking a step which isn't in the direction of the base. Is this an illegal motion? — Oscar Peterson.

Answer: Strictly speaking, it is a balk. You must make a full step in the direction of the base. If you do not, you are guilty of a balk. However, most southpaws in their move to first base, take what we call an in-between step. As a rule, umpires let it go, as long as the pitcher does not balk and doesn't completely obliterate the rule. If umpires were to call every balk according to the book itself every game would take five hours to play and they wouldn't finish half of them.

Cornelius Features Chrysler -- PowerFlite Transmission

Mighty Chrysler automobile this year features another of the auto's engineering achievements, PowerFlite, the finest automatic transmission.

You can see Chrysler, and arrange for a demonstration ride at Cornelius Motor Co., 318 W. Foster, Dial 4-4639.

Cornelius Motor is the Pampa Chrysler dealer. The firm also handles Plymouth.

The smoothest, the most efficient and the most effective flow of power from the engine to the rear wheels is one of the reasons why PowerFlite, Chrysler's great, new, fully-automatic transmission is creating such a furor among engineers, the automobile industry and motorists who have driven or heard about the fine mechanism.

PowerFlite is the result of eight years of research and development and it is an engineering achievement that ranks with the famous Chrysler FirePower engine.

PowerFlite is the ideal combination of a high-performance torque converter and a simple, automatic two-speed planetary gear box—a combination which provides exceptional accelerating ability with remarkable smoothness and quietness throughout the entire power range.

The planetary gears have a 1.62 to 1 torque ratio at the lower speed, and the torque converter has a ratio of 2.6 to 1 which gives PowerFlite a torque multiplication of 4.47 to 1, when starting in the "Drive" position. This is greater than any other automatic transmission built today, which insures a "break away" performance of satisfying swiftness!

The safety-selector quadrant on the steering column has four letters, R - N - D - L, to indicate reverse, neutral, drive and low. The reason it is called the safety selector: neutral and drive shifts are on one plane and the reverse and low shifts are on another. That arrangement eliminates the possibility of accidentally shifting from forward to reverse, an act that has happened on other makes of fully-automatic transmissions.

In order to shift to reverse or low you must lift the safety-selector up and toward you. Such an arrangement enables you to make any or all the movements of the safety-selector lever with certainty and safety, without even glancing at the letters on the quadrant.

It also permits easy, quick and safe "rocking" of the car to get out of mud or gravel by alternately shifting the car from low to reverse. Yes, of course, a PowerFlite equipped car can be started by pushing. All you do is put the safety-selector lever in neutral and when a speed of about 25 miles an hour is attained shift to low.

PowerFlite was designed and perfected for the great Chrysler FirePower engine, making a perfect combination of power production and power transmission that is without equal in any car today—a fact you can easily prove to your complete satisfaction by driving the car.

Federal Daisy Chain — Cost Of Dependents

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Here's a government daisy chain to follow. It concerns the old "section 607" Federal Housing Administration scandals now being investigated by Congress, the FBI and nearly everybody else.

There was nothing illegal about any of the profits reaped by multi-unit housing developers under this law. They merely built their projects for less money than the amount they borrowed to finance the operation on a government guaranteed mortgage. They pocketed the difference as a windfall profit.

The government has no chance of getting any of this money back. But the government can collect income taxes on these profits.

If the government collects only capital gains taxes on these profits, it will get only 26 per cent of the windfall. If the government can collect straight corporation income taxes on the profits, it might get 52 per cent, or more of the windfall.

If the builders had not made these profits — now estimated at $65 million on 1149 projects — the government would not have been able to collect any taxes on them at all.

The U.S. dairy products price-support program completed a cycle of silliness the other day. That was when Department of Agriculture announced still another program to offset the bad effects of all the other programs now in effect.

As everyone knows, the government now supports dairy prices by purchasing surplus cheese, butter or butterfat and dry milk solids. These are the only forms in which perishable milk and cream can be safely stored for considerable periods of time without spoiling.

Having broken down the whole milk into these surplus by-products, with which nobody has known what to do, the government now proposes to facilitate exporting some of them for putting back together in the form of substitute whole milk.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson has given Congress some new facts on the Korean ammunition shortage, which was a major scandal in 1952.

One investigation disclosed that

Lone Star Beer Distributors Hold Sales Meeting

Mineral Wells was the scene yesterday of a regional sales meeting by the Lone Star Brewing Company and its distributors. Purpose of the meeting was to discuss the new sales and advertising campaigns of Lone Star Beer for the coming sales year.

One of a series of meetings held throughout the State, the gathering was attended by Lone Star representatives from Ft. Worth, Dallas, Mineral Wells, Breckenridge, Wichita Falls, Amarillo, Pampa, and Borger.

The program Sunday included talks by R. M. Borden, vice president of the Lone Star Brewing Company; H. C. Harrison, territorial sales manager; representatives of the advertising agency who outlined the 1954 plans for boosting sales.

The fastest growing brewery in the country, the Lone Star Brewing Company has increased its sales faster than sales of any other brand of beer in America.

Fire Burns Elderly Women

DALLAS, May 15 — UP — Mrs. Ida Whitus, 72, was critically burned on the hands, face, arms and waist Saturday when a flash fire destroyed three of the four rooms of her home in South Dallas. When she struck a match, she set off gas escaping from a jet that apparently had been accidentally turned on.

No Eating, Little Talking... Hank, Hollywood Producer Sit Out A Luncheon Meeting

By HENRY McLEMORE

I got lunch with Stanley Kramer yesterday and this is the way the conversation went:

Blank on Mr. Kramer's part, and blank on my part. This about him so I wasn't going to let him get ahead of me. After about thirty minutes of utter silence (and, in order to live up to his starkness, he demanded the table be bare of knives, forks or napery) he said: "Name."

"McLemore."

We looked at one another for another thirty minutes, then I broke the silence and asked: "Name."

He said, "My name is Kramer, but I wish it was just 'H'."

The waiter came to our table, proffered a menu, and Mr. Kramer said, "It's too long. It's a wordy menu, just put on paper what you have to offer, and I will choose from that."

This attitude toward the menu hurt me just a little bit. At a quick glance I had seen something I liked very much, short ribs of beef, but you don't dare order a four-word dish when you're dining with Mr. Kramer. So I told the waiter I didn't want anything. Mr. Kramer said he would have the same. Can you imagine a more jolly luncheon between a newspaperman and a producer? I wouldn't have put up with it if I hadn't been sitting across the table from a man with lovely talent.

I go for talent, any kind of talent — be it a man who sweeps the best street, or takes care of your lawn, or does balloon ascensions at lofty falls.

Mr. Kramer has a talent that proves he understands the world of 1954. I may not talk with him, I may starve to death at a table with him, but I wouldn't run these double risks unless I knew that I was in the presence of a man who has the true touch. Maybe not the true touch for millions, but the true touch for those who know the score. He will soon release a picture called "The Caine Mutiny." It won't be as good as the book, but it will be just as close to the book as any man in Hollywood can make it.

His next picture will be "Not As a Stranger," a medical story. No medical story ever failed. I'm quite sure that Mr. Kramer's adaptation of Morton Thompson's story will be different. Mr. Kramer is not the sort of man who goes in for nine-story hospitals and nurses who run around corners to make love to interns. Not that Mr. Kramer is against romance, but he is against wasting film footage on stories that tell nothing.

Mr. Kramer is probably my favorite producer. When he puts "Not As a Stranger" on film, it will be just about as good a hospital picture as you can see, and, at the same time, one that uses the least number of concessions to the great, magnificent general public which prefers fantasy to reality.

At this point, Mr. Kramer and myself have not yet had a bite. It is generally assumed that when a newspaperman eats with a producer in Hollywood the producer picks up the check. I was willing to pick up this one because it had nearly a thing on it. I left hungry, but I was glad to. I dined with a man who understands the realities of life — and has refused to change.
