County Stock Show Slated Saturday

Some 18 fat calves and 9 pigs will be entered in the Gray county 4-H Club Livestock Show, to be held Saturday at Recreation Park, according to Jerry Mobly, assistant county agent.

Judging of the animals will get under way at 2 p.m. with John Nallasa, Blinnett, Hutchinson county agent, doing the judging.

This show will precede the Top of Texas Livestock Show and Sale, which is scheduled for Monday through Wednesday.

Mobly pointed out that this is here in several years. The annual Top of Texas Junior Livestock Show, which is a part of the Fat Stock Show and Sale, started out as a county show, but now has grown into a five-county event, he said.

Sitting Party Sat For MOD

Pampa's March of Dimes Skating party is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. today at the Pampa Skating Club, 123 N. Ward. Price of tickets is 50 cents, 42 cents of which will go to the March of Dimes, according to M. W. Holmes, rink owner.

Plans are now under way for Pampa merchants to spot the Pampa Harvesters 10 cents for every dollar spent on the next two home business days, Jan. 29 and 30. Ed Hyatt, who is working with Wagon House on the project, stated that six merchants have already agreed to participate. All proceeds will go to the March of Dimes.

The men began to contact the merchants Wednesday afternoon and hope to recruit more participants by the end of next week.

Pump Station Fence Now Being Erected

Personnel from the city's street and park departments this week have been working on the installation and erection of a fence around the pump station, located southeast of the Santa Fe tracks and Hobart Street.

This city commission a month or so ago purchased the fence from the Cyclone Fence Company, Lubbock, but decided to have Pampa city personnel do the actual putting-up.

James Cowan, city director of public works, late this morning pointed out that the enclosed area around the pump station would be for water works equipment, supply and allied facilities.

Damage Suit Is Filed Here

A damage suit, arising from a Pampa automobile accident seven months ago, was on file this morning in the office of District Clerk Helen Moser Sprinkle.

The suit is G. C. Williams vs. Harold Rinehart. And Williams is asking $44,600 of Rinehart.

Williams was riding June 7 in a car owned and operated by Rinehart, the suit charges, and the car was going at a rate "far" exceeding the legal limit when it whipped into and over a curb into a light pole in the 900-block of East Browning.

Charging the defendant with "heedlessness and reckless disregard," plaintiff in the suit says he was permanently and totally disabled, having been in the hospital for 23 days and a wheel chair for three months.

Plaintiff breaks down his monetary request into three parts: $23,600, actual damages; $10,000, exemplary damages; and $10,000, doctor and hospital bills.

Poll Tax Booths Open Till Saturday

If Pampans want to pay their poll taxes at either of the two banks, instead of going over to the county tax office in the Court House, they have to do it by the end of the week.

For Saturday noon will be the last time that poll tax booths will be maintained by the Pampa League of Women Voters, according to Mrs. H. H. Hahn, league president.

However, County Tax Assessor Collector Jack Back and his deputies will be selling poll tax receipts all a next week. Effective deadline is Jan. 30, one week from Saturday.

Wednesday league members maintained booths in the banks and in four grocery stores, but the stores part of the deal was discontinued this morning. That was "stamp" day, Mrs. Hahn explained.

Leaguers are also talking before various groups on why residents should pay their poll taxes. Wednesday there was a four-member panel discussion for the First Christian Church's women's society, Mrs. Hahn pointed out.

Tonight, Mrs. Jim Finell will talk a few minutes before the joint meeting of Pampa's Parent-Teacher's Association, Friday a leaguer will talk before the Pampa Kiwanis Club.

Shamrock Woman's Funeral Pending

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Funeral services are pending with the Richardson Funeral Home, Shamrock, for Mrs. Abbie Mundy, 84, who died in the Shamrock Hospital at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday following a long illness.

Mrs. Mundy came to Shamrock with her husband, the late H. P. Mundy Sr., in 1928. Mr. Mundy, who preceded his wife in death by several years, was active in county affairs while in Shamrock. The couple moved to Colorado in the 1920's and Mrs. Mundy returned to Shamrock during the past year.

Mrs. Mundy is survived by two sons, Irvy Mundy of Colorado Springs, Colo.; and H. H. Mundy of Pampa, Okla.; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. H. P. Mundy Jr., of Shamrock, who nursed her during her final illness; six grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Sixteen Aliens Registered Here

With ten days left before the deadline, only 16 Pampa aliens have returned the necessary address report cards, according to Pampa Postmaster W. B. Weathered.

According to the new Immigration and Nationality Act, aliens in the United States and those temporarily here for more than 29 days, must file an address report card no later than Jan. 31. The necessary forms may be obtained at the Pampa Post Office, and should be returned to the Post Office after being filled in.

If naturalization papers have been applied for but not yet received, an address report card must be filed at the Post Office. Any change of address must be reported within ten days after moving. Any alien temporarily in the United States must file a report every three months whether or not his address has changed.

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 21 —UP— A 19-year-old youth was held Thursday for the rape of a 61-year-old woman bed-ridden with pneumonia.

Neighbors of the woman were aroused by her screams and chased the suspect with clubs and hot handles for several blocks before he was trapped in the brush.

Mrs. Maria Gonzalez, 28, said the youth entered her home just a few minutes before the attack on the elderly woman, but fled when she ran screaming into the street.

The man was reported to live in the other half of the duplex occupied by the victim.

North Texas Rigs Increase

DALLAS, Jan. 21 —UP—Rig activity in all fields of the United States and Canada for the week ended Jan. 18 was little changed from a week ago except in North Texas where an increase was noted. A total of 2,681 rigs were active for the week ended Jan. 18 compared with 2,660 for the week ended Jan. 11. An increase of 27 in North Texas, 12 in West Texas and New Mexico and 10 in Kansas was offset by decreases in other areas. Rig activity for a comparable week in 1953 was 2,832, only one well more than for the current period. The report was made to the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors by Hughes Tool Co.

Famous Show Due On TV

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 21 —UP—"Breakfast in Hollywood," radio's most famous show, is being revived for television and glamour lead with a swimming pool, take sunshine and movie stars. The old program had the late Tom Breneman visiting crowds of housewives who got up at the crack of dawn to stand in line outside a restaurant to be on the show. Now, as progress marches on "Breakfast in Hollywood" has gone Hollywood. It's neither breakfast nor in Hollywood. The television version originates far from Hollywood Blvd. and Vine St., by the pool of the elegant Ambassador Hotel. Tourists don't have to get up early to be on the show. "Breakfast" is lunch. Although the program is released at 7 a.m. across the country by NBC it's filmed at the unbreakfast hour of 1 p.m. Instead of sitting in restaurant seats, the guests lounge under the palm trees in patio chairs. And, allegedly by coincidence, the camera switches to the pool where movie stars just happen to be taking a morning dip. The day I watched the proceedings, actor Aldo Ray and actress Jeff Donnell were featured. Just why Aldo and Jeff were supposed to have left their apartments to drive many miles to swim shivering in the Ambassador pool at 7 a.m. could not be explained. Master of Ceremonies Jack McElroy said Breneman's wishing ring and "good neighbor" routines have been kept for the new show.

'Feet Falsies' Now In Style

AKRON, Ohio —UP—First came "falsies" of the well-publicized variety, but now a new type has been added. Ralph K. Nourse, of the KCo Plastics Co. noticed the need for the "new" falsies and went to work with gusto. He found that girls were stuffing all sorts of objects into the tops of their "snuggler" socks—a latter-day development of the "bobby" socks, to make the cuffs appear fuller. This fad was tailor-made for Nourse. He came up with a sponge rubber cylinder which can be slipped over the sock to a point far enough from the top to permit the cuff to be turned down over it, forming a bulky collar, considered elegant by the teen set.

Winter Business Considered Good

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 —UP—The Commerce Department reported in a survey that business has been good this winter in spite of some "letdowns" and a rise in unemployment. In its monthly economic survey, the department said government and business spending, and retail sales continued "at close to peak volumes" during November and December. It said, however, that industrial production fell off 5 per cent compared with May-July records, contributing to a 1 per cent drop in business and personal earnings during the third quarter. The production of TV sets, freezers and dishwashers declined but the output of room air conditioners, dryers and garbage disposal units increased.

"Oh, come now, Pat! You know I don't get paid until next week!"

Americans Ponder Trade With Reds

By PHIL NEWSOM
 United Press Foreign Analyst
 Whether the United States likes it or not, its Allies steadily are building up their trade with Russia and Red China.
 American businessmen, too, are getting restless over the fact that a market of more than 700 million people is lying fallow. Which, no doubt, was at least partially responsible for President Eisenhower's assertion last week that his administration is reviewing the whole question of trade with Communist countries.
 A Minnesota businessman's proposal to "barter surplus United States butter and cottonseed oil for Russian goods was one example of attempts to find legitimate avenues of trade with the Reds.
 Auto Industry Interested
 Also interested is the American automobile industry. The British board of trade already has okayed sales of light cars to Red China. In no case has there been a suggestion that the ban on the sale of strategic-war-making goods—to the Reds be lifted, but rather that the list of strategic goods might be revised in the light of events.
 Two and perhaps three elements are immediately obvious in the gradual shift of opinion toward trade with the Reds.
 One is the easing of world tensions generally. Another is the change in the Soviet approach which no longer demands strategic goods such as oil tankers and machine tools but instead is willing to take consumer goods.

 And a third is a build-up in the world competitive situation as West Germany and Japan battle to regain their positions in world trade and nations generally produce more than at any time in their history.
 London's Financial Times recently compiled official figures illustrating the scope of the race for trade with Red China.
 Trade Increases
 The figures showed that exports to Red China from 13 countries jumped by more than 50 per cent during the first eight to 10 months of 1953 over the year before. Imports from Red China increased by more than one-third.
 Ceylon topped the list, with Switzerland, Germany, France and Britain next.
 The United States showed no exports but in the first eight months imported $4.8 million from Red China and $9 million through Hong Kong.
 Meanwhile, Russia has entered the fiercely competitive market. Short of feeding the Communist war machine, the Western nations don't want to miss out on a world market, particularly a rich one. The Communist reasons are more obscure.

Average Girl Oughta Forget Hopes For A Chinchilla Coat

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 —UP— You men now can buy your lady love a chinchilla coat on the installment plan.

All you need is a $1500 down payment on a pair of the fluffy little refugees from the Andes.

For immediate delivery of a coat or a stole, it isn't a good investment. Chances are mama or even daughter never will wear the richest coat in the world. But it could be willed to the grandkids and the great-grand kids.

The facts about chinchillas came out just before the opening of a chinchilla show, which starts here Thursday. The furry critters will make wonderful coats, which last a long time, but you'll have to wait a long time before you get one. Growing a coat is possible if you have a hide-bound will.

Three Costs

As of now, there are said to be only three chinchilla coats on the shoulders of lovely ladies in the United States. They are insured up into five digits, and were custom made.

One is worn by Lily Pons, the singer; another by skater Sonja Henie; Bob Hope's wife sports a stole.

The chinchilla, which looks like a cross between a rabbit and a rat, once roamed the mountains of South America in great numbers. Chinas a bad winter long ago down that way and the natives, not realizing they had a gold mine in fur got hungry and ate up most of the profits—meaning the little animals.

Until that time, the United States imported some of the pelts and a few coats were made. The chinchilla suddenly became almost extinct.

Then somebody brought six pairs to the United States. That was 20 years ago.

Now there are three-quarters of a million of the little animals here, all being used for breeding purposes. One male can service three or four females and the lady chinchillas produce an average of three litters a year, on a two at a time basis.

The fur is light. According to the people gathered for this show, a square yard of chinchilla pelts weighs about the same as a square yard of silk.

Get Into Gear

The coat business is going to get in high gear—or let's correct that.

'Kiss And Tell' Version Slated In Murder Case

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 20 —UP— Susie James L. Cooper, on trial charged with murdering her wife, was expected Wednesday to give his version of a "kiss and tell confession" he allegedly made to a flame-haired undercover girl.

The wealthy playboy, a former Army intelligence officer, was expected to testify that he knew all along the woman, identified as former strip-dancer Yvonne Evers, 25, was working for the police.

In her testimony as the state's final and star witness Tuesday the blue-eyed woman said her cat-and-mouse game won Cooper's indirect admission that he strangled his 22-year-old ex-debutante wife, Diddie.

The shapely witness said that during their whirlwind round of dates and nocturnal tete-a-tetes in his French Quarter apartment Cooper began to suspect her mission and slapped and choked her.

Before an overflowing throng of court room spectators she testified Cooper threw her upon the bed, "tore the pajama tops I had on" and "dug his thumbs against my windpipe" before she could break his grasp.

"He was quite drunk," she said. The four-times married stripper said she broke the stranghold by using judo she learned from a policeman assigned to investigate the murder. She married the policeman.

But when defense attorney Richard Dowling asked whether Cooper had ever admitted he killed his wife, she answered:

"No—not in those words."

The fiery witness said Cooper confessed the night of last April 27 about a month after she started her undercover operations when he found her searching his pockets for a key to the apartment in which his estranged wife was slain.

Thrifty Buyer

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 20 —UP— A local housewife recently ordered a book from a Washington, D. C. firm. She enclosed Canadian bills in payment.

The company promptly rejected the Canadian money and suggested that if she wanted the book she should send U.S. currency.

The lady replied she would be delighted since the Canadian dollar is worth more than the American and meant a saving of about a dime to her.

The name of the book was "How to Manage Money."

Frank Fata Speaks At 20th Century Allegro Meeting

The Twentieth Century Allegro Club met in the F. M. Culbertson home, 2008 Charles, at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, with Mrs. Don Cain and Mrs. Charles Hickman, Jr. presiding.

After the roll call the president, Mrs. James Leverich, introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Frank Fata, who spoke on "What Insurance Means to You." He pointed out the importance of making an insurance program, stating that this program should be analyzed every few years as income and number of children changed. According to the speaker, "60 per cent of money paid by insurance companies is paid to living policyholders." He recommended that a man's income be projected five years into the future when considering the amount of life insurance to buy. "Life insurance proceeds are not taxable for income tax purposes," he continued.

During the business meeting a letter was read from Mrs. H. L. Rinehart asking that she be placed on the inactive list since she and her family will be moving from the city.

New officers for the coming year were elected as follows: president, Mrs. F. Crockett; secretary, Mrs. George Cree, Jr.; treasurer, Mrs. H. C. Crady, Jr.; reporter, Mrs. Jimmy Thompson; parliamentarian, Mrs. John R. Quick; critic, Mrs. Billy B. Davis; and corresponding secretary, Mrs. James O. Evans. Refreshments were served to nineteen members.

Mrs. R. N. Brandon Demonstrates Cookie Making

Mrs. R. N. Brandon, a food demonstrator for the Martin Home Demonstration Club, made white sugar, brown sugar and whole wheat nut cookies at a meeting Tuesday in her home southeast of town. She suggested the use of pastry canvas and rolling pin cover in making sugar cookies. This eliminates the need for surplus flour. In order to avoid crumbling of whole wheat nut cookies, she said to roll the dough in waxed paper and store in the refrigerator overnight. The cookies were served with coffee to club members.

Mrs. John Brandon, president of the club, presided over the business meeting. Mrs. L. F. Watt gave the council report. All members were asked to bring two pies to the old Sales Arena for sale at the Livestock show, Wednesday, January 27.

A new member, Mrs. Elmo Hudgins was accepted. Members present were Mrs. R. N. Brandon, John Brandon, George Dick, Volney Day, J. O. Hollar, D. A. Rife, Archie Maness, L. F. Watt, V. Smith, J. D. Skaggs, Elmo Hudgins and six children. The next meeting is to be held in the home of Mrs. George Dick, February 2.

Grace Friend

My Dear Grace Friend

I have thought of writing to you for a long time. I live with my mother and I work while she takes care of my two children. I am divorced.

I have been divorced since my younger child was a small baby which is five years ago now.

All of these years I have never so much as looked at a man but recently I met a very nice man through my work. He is divorced and has a little older than my children who are five and seven. I am sure that he is really interested in me although he hasn't asked me to marry him.

My problem is that my mother is very upset about the whole thing. She says that she has given up all of these years to taking care of my children and now I am going out with a man and probably planning to marry him. She seems very bitter. It isn't as if she could get by on her own because she has ample money to live on.

I admit that she has been simply wonderful and that she has really kept our home together and never complained at devoting hours and hours of the day to my children. She has the run of the house and cooked and made things very easy for me in what otherwise would have been a hard row.

I hate to think that if I should marry this man (and the truth is I love him) she would be hurt and mad about the whole thing. She has made it plain that she wouldn't want to forgive me.

It has created a problem I would like to have you help me with. After she has given so many years to my happiness, should I leave her and marry this man if he asks me? Or do I owe it to her to stay with her and forget the man?

Manners Make Friends

A great big party where host and hostess are too busy saying "Hello" and "Goodby" to guests to pay any one guest particular attention is no time to invite a newcomer who doesn't know a soul.

He'd feel less lonely at home by himself than in the middle of a sea of strange faces trying not to look as miserable as he feels.

Your Daydreams Can Wear You Out If You Don't Wake Up To Reality

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Some time ago, an attractive woman of 34 came to see me. First, she told me she feared the effects of her growing discontent on her little girl. Then she said: "I'm bored. Let's face it. After eight years of marriage, my husband bores me. Oh, he's kind enough. But if my future holds nothing but cooking food, clearing it up and watching my husband digest it while he reads the paper, I couldn't take it. Do you think that I need a psychiatrist?"

I said I didn't know. So she made up her own mind and got one. He is, I am sure, trying to release her from the cocoon spun about her by romantic claims on life.

How was it spun? By a thousand suggestions of future glory so gossamer light she never knew they had touched her. By childhood fancies of her looks, brains and genetic assets she didn't have to work for, by too much pride in her social successes, by morning against Saturday morning housework.

By it all beginning to add up to the promise that special things were due her, until in adolescence the Daydream could take her over. It was easy for the Daydream. All the past evasions of dirty jobs in mother's kitchen made it simple for the Daydream. And while she sat in theaters, movies and penthouse love, it lightened its deadly web.

So we mustn't be surprised that now, cleaning up in her own kitchen, she finds life boring. Why wouldn't it be? It can't possibly compete with the Daydream of two mortals living on eternal peaks of dramatic sensations.

Reader Finds Method Of Combatting Her Husband's Procrastination

By RUTH MILLETT

Now and then one reader of this column offers advice to another reader who has aired some problem. Here is such a letter:

"Not long ago you published a letter from a wife who said that every time she asked her husband to do something around the house she would get the same old run-around. 'Does it have to be done NOW?'"

"I had the same problem, and I finally hit on a solution that works in our house. I discovered that I could never get my husband going on a job that didn't have to be finished by a certain time, because he is a natural-born putter-off. But if there was a reason why a thing had to be done by a certain day, he would manage to get it done."

"So here's my strategy — and it usually works. I always find a excuse to be able to set a deadline for a job. The lawn has to be mowed by Saturday night because we're having guests for dinner."

"The screen door has to be repaired before next Thursday, because my church circle is meeting at our house."

"This way I'm not nagging about a job that he can put off with the promise that he'll get around to it one of these days."

"Instead, I'm asking him to get a job done by a certain time for a certain reason, and somehow it seems to work. It may work for this other wife, too. That's why I'm passing it along."

"Well, there's the tip. And any wife with a husband who has a 'can't - it - wait - a - minute' attitude toward home repairs is welcome to try it."

Forum Discussion Presented For 20th Century Cottions

Twentieth Century Cottions members participated in a forum type program on juvenile delinquency Tuesday afternoon when the group met in the Martin Stubbie home at 1718 Hamilton.

Following the business meeting, leaders for the program presented a brief discussion summarizing the causes of juvenile delinquency.

Mrs. Horton Russell, the first speaker, pointed out numerous delinquents to a child's feeling of security, among them parental rejection, overprotection, broken homes and social isolation. Mrs. W. D. Cameron discussed national domination, jealousy between the children, and a failure to attain social standing with classmates.

The two leaders concluded the program with a discussion question and answer period.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. R. A. Thompson, John Campbell, Ralph McKinney, Kenneth Meador, R. J. Saylor, Jr., Leo Moore, Jr., J. B. Maguire, Horton Russell, W. D. Cameron and the hostess.

Pastels Spark Your Winter Wardrobe

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

No season drags quite so much as winter. By January and February, women feel as if they had been wearing the same old things for years.

One way to perk up a weary wardrobe is to retire your dark accessories in favor of pastel ones. But if you are past 60, don't make the mistake so many women do of changing their hair and not changing their make-up.

When wearing pastel pink or blue near her face, the gray-haired woman with fair skin should wear a pinkish face powder over a base that matches her skin tone. Her lipstick should also be a clear pink.

If her skin is dusky, she should wear a light creamy-toned face powder over a base that matches her skin tone. A mauve lipstick should be her choice.

Pastels in green or blue should be worn by the red-haired woman whose skin is pink-toned. With either of these shades, she should wear an ivory face powder over skin-toned base, Russet rouge and lipstick are right for her.

The woman who has black hair and fair skin would look well in pastel shades of yellow, pink and green. Ivory face powder and a ripe red lipstick would best complement her color scheme.

The silver-haired whose skin is pale and creamy looks well in all pastel shades except yellow. She should wear a rosy cream face powder and a clear red lipstick.

For the woman with red-gold hair and brilliant skin, pastel green and blue are best. A light creamy powder and a red lipstick with brownish orange tone should be her choice.

The woman who has the typical American coloring, light to dark brown hair and fair skin can wear both pastel pink and blue. Her powder should be a light creamy shade and she should wear a true red lipstick.

Let Children Choose Toys To Share

CHICAGO, — UP — Parents can help their youngsters learn an important lesson in giving old toys to welfare agencies.

This is the suggestion of child psychologists working with Kay Stanley, president of one of the country's largest manufacturing firms.

Many community groups now are taking in games and toys to be distributed to needy children, and many parents are disposing of the items their children have outgrown.

But parents should not "clean house" arbitrarily without consulting their children, guidance counselors said. Instead, children should be told that they are sharing their playthings with other boys and girls who otherwise would not receive such gifts.

"Children learn to choose by having the right to choose," Miss Stanley said. "It is of great value to a child to know personally that he is sharing with someone else through his own choice."

Soviets Emphasize Agriculture Plans

EDITOR'S NOTE: When Georgi Malenkov became premier of the Soviet Union, Russia's agricultural production was not being produced in necessary quantity; ambitious peasant resettlement programs had bred a passive but dangerous farm reaction. In the following dispatch, the fourth of five, veteran Moscow reporter, United Press staff correspondent Henry Shapiro tells what Malenkov and his lieutenants have done to meet this crisis.

The Malenkov regime acted in the nick of time to avert an agricultural crisis which had been developing for several years. Soviet economy had become top-heavy and lop-sided. It was producing 38 million tons of steel and 300-million tons of coal a year, but not enough meat, milk and potatoes. Gross production of heavy industry had more than doubled since 1940. But the number of cows and horses had fallen below the level of 1916.

As the lot of the urban population slowly improved with higher wages, lower prices and improved distribution of consumer goods, the lot of the peasants had grown worse. The peasant had been neglected, but not forgotten. In his haste to see "communism in my lifetime," Stalin in 1949 launched an abortive campaign to turn collective farmers into semi-urbanized agricultural workers. Millions of peasant households in small villages were told to be ready to move, pack, stock and barrel, into agrotowns, where they eventually were to have all the amenities of modern civilization, including running water and television.

Peasant resistance made itself felt immediately. Agricultural production declined still further. Severe dislocations developed. The agrotown project had to be shelved. But peasant morale continued to decline.

Now the new "collective" Soviet leadership admits the errors of the previous regime. It is treating the peasants like grown-ups and talking to them realistically. In down-to-earth language, it is saying to the collective farmers something like this: "You are not producing enough, and we don't blame you. We have mistakenly neglected your interests. We have taken too much and given too little. But that now is a thing of the past."

The development of an agricultural crisis had been evident in Moscow for several years as inexplicable shortages of food products occurred. Calves were being slaughtered to avoid punitive taxes for ownership of more than one cow. There was little or no milk or meat in state shops.

Peasants Exploited Malenkov and Khrushchev now admit a variety of methods had been used to exploit the peasants. For example: Taxes in kind were based on estimated crops. If drought or flood ruined crops in the field, the farmer still had to meet previously fixed quotas for compulsory delivery. Unreasonable and inflexible quotas for meat delivery forced peasants to kill off stock needed for breeding. The more productive farms were penalized by local officials who increased their quotas to make up for regional deficiencies.

An exodus from village to town resulted. The countryside already had been largely depopulated of men by the war. As a new generation of men grew up, many deserted the farm for the greater opportunities of industrial towns. Now urbanized ex-peasants are returning flocking back to the land to take advantage of the "new opportunities" in agriculture.

By next spring, Khrushchev has promised to send 6,000 newly-trained engineers and 100,000 schooled agricultural specialists to supervise the expansion of scientific farming, man the machine-tractor stations and build barns, stables and cowsheds. His current drive demands not only "a cow in every shed" but "a shed for every cow."

Ike Requests Project Funds

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—President Eisenhower asked Congress Thursday for appropriate sums for construction of Bureau of Reclamation projects in Colorado, New Mexico, and Wyoming.

He proposed far less for Oklahoma and Texas, which are among the 37 states affected by the basic reclamation law.

Mr. Eisenhower allocated $780,000 to the Colorado-Big Thompson project. The money will provide for the virtual completion of all storage, carriage, and power generation work on the Estes Park-footfalls power system, Boulder supply canal, and continuation of work in project substitution.

Panel Makes Study Of Labor Rackets

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—The House Government Operations committee voted Wednesday to make a nationwide investigation of alleged labor racketeering and other "unfair and improper labor practices."

The committee, by a 19 to 1 vote, directed that the investigation be led by Rep. George H. Bender (R-Ohio).

Bender said his first inquiry will involve "reports of a juke box labor racket being run in my home town of Cleveland."

Committee Chairman Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich.) had asked authority to make the investigation himself. He already has had a staff of investigators, including two former FBI men, working in half a dozen major cities on alleged labor rackets.

Hoffman told reporters the committee action puts him out of the investigation.

"There wasn't any question of it," he said, "they don't want me to do it."

Printed Warning

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—Pentagon workers may look with distrust on their families and friends Wednesday after taking a look at the new napkins distributed in all Pentagon cafeterias.

The napkins picture a mother and two children and two men and a woman.

A printed warning says: These are not "authorized persons" to hear secrets.

Lobsters, which were once thought to do little ocean traveling, drift hundreds of miles as tiny spiderlike lobsterlings before settling down to the sea bottom.

Dickey, Terry Are Named To Hall Of Fame

By FRED DOWN
NEW YORK, Jan. 21—Bill Dickey said Thursday he was "greatly pleased" over his election to baseball's Hall of Fame but Bill Terry shrugged off a similar honor and went fishing.
 "I've wanted to get into the Hall of Fame for a long time and finally made it," Dickey, former New York Yankee catcher catching who retired in 1945, said. "I'm sure happy about it."
 But Terry, who carried on a bitter feud with New York writers for some 25 years, did not express his feelings.
 "I have nothing at all to say," the former first baseman and manager of the New York Giants said. "I have found that when some body in my position says something it's usually the wrong thing."
 Dickey and Terry were elected to the baseball shrine at Cooperstown, N.Y., along with the late Rabbit Maraville, whose magnetic personality and defensive brilliance made him one of the game's great shortstops. Maraville died on Jan. 8—while the 10-year veterans of the Baseball Writers' Association were voting him into the Hall of Fame—but his widow issued the following statement from a sick bed:
 "I am very, very thankful for the nomination and want to thank all the baseball writers who participated in the voting," Mrs. Maraville said. "I treasure the fact that I will treasure for the rest of my life."
 Maraville, a member of the 1914 "miracle Braves" and a big leaguer for 25 years although his lifetime batting average was only .259, led the voting with 99 of a possible 223 votes. Dickey was second with 302 and Terry next with 195—only six more than the required three-quarters total.
 Ted Lyons, former Chicago White Sox pitcher, ranked next with 170 votes followed by Dazy Vance, one-time pitcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and Gabby Hartnett, former catcher and manager of the Chicago Cubs. Vance received 158 votes and Hartnett, 151.
A Little Man
 Maraville, who died at 61, weighed only about 140 pounds and stood about five-feet, five-inches during his prime. Although a low-average hitter, he was regarded as a dangerous "clutch hitter."
 Dickey was a completely polished batsman and also one of the most dangerous hitters of his time. The 48-year-old Yankee coach had a lifetime batting average of .310 and once hit as high as .562.
 Terry, a great defensive first baseman, reached his peak when he hit .401 in 1929 and owned a brilliant 14-year big league average of .341. An independent and outspoken individual, Terry picked the Giants to sign for the 1933, 1936 and 1937 before being succeeded by Mel Ott.

Everybody Can Bowl Don't Overdo That Backswing

Fourth of 13 articles written for NEA Service
By MARION LADEWIG
Four-Time Women's Champion
 One of the more common mistakes beginners make is an exaggerated backswing. They feel they can now pins down with sheer power, so try to add extra speed with a high backswing.
 This is completely wrong. The longer a person bowls, the more he or she will realize it.
 My backswing is no higher than my shoulder. This is true of almost every star.
 If the ball is brought back any higher, it tends to pull your body around and out of line with the target. My body is still facing forward, even though by backswing is at its peak.
 Keep the motion a smooth, flowing one.
 Don't force or rush the backswing at any time.
 Once the ball reaches its peak in its arc, the entire approach and delivery of the ball must be coordinated movements.
 This is particularly true of the backswing.
NEXT: Timing.

Two District 1-AAAA Grid Stars On All-America Team

Two District 1-AAAA football stars were among the 77 gridderes named on the 1953 All-America high school football team picked by Scholastic Magazine, according to the United Press.
 Carl Schlemmer, Odessa's great passer, and Bobby Jack Oliver, Abilene tackle, were among the four Texans picked on the squad. Also there were two players from Oklahoma.
 California with six players and Illinois with five paced the list, while Oregon also placed four players on the honor team, which had only one repeater—halfback Aubrey Lewis of Montclair, N. J.
 Among the outstanding performers was Kenneth Hall of Sugar Land, Tex., who scored an astonishing 381 points during the season, breaking the Texas— and probably national— record of 318 set by Dick Todd of Crowell, Tex., in 1934.
 Others on the squad included:
ENDS
 Larry Fischer, Pratt, Kan.
 Donald Stiller, Shawnee, Okla.
TACKLES
 Benton Ladd, Oklahoma City Capital Hill
 Bobby Jack Oliver, Abilene, Tex.
GUARDS
 Stuart Perry, Little Rock, Ark.
QUARTERBACKS

Norkus Floors Nardico Seven Times To Gain TKO Victory

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 21—UP—Danny Nardico called his stunning technical knockout at the hands of Charley Norkus "just one of those things" Thursday and said he wanted to fight the Jersey City slugger again to prove it.
 Nardico, who almost landed a bout with heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano recently, suffered one of the year's biggest upsets Wednesday night when the hard-punching Norkus floored him seven times before the referee intervened at 2:15 of the ninth round. The bout was scheduled for 10 rounds.
 Nardico, 181-17, insisted he wanted to demonstrate his superiority over Norkus in a return televised bout, but he had a difficult time convincing listeners, Norkus, who weighed 197, swarmed all over the Tampa, Fla., boxer and simply had too many games.
 The powerful puncher floored Nardico once in the second round, three times in the third, once in the seventh and twice in the ninth before the referee called a halt to the slaughter with Danny hanging helplessly on the ropes unable to avoid the blows. It was only the third time Nardico had been stopped in 83 professional bouts.
 The loss—Nardico entered the ring at odds ranging from 6-1 to 10-1—ended Danny's hopes of obtaining a heavyweight title bout at any time in the near future. Nardico had been so close to acquiring the plum recently that many in the fight game thought the match had been closed.
 American Skiers in Austria
SALZBURG, Austria, Jan. 20—UP—The American Alpine ski world championship team arrived here by plane Tuesday and then immediately left for Kitzbuehel where the squad will compete in the international ski week from Jan. 21-25. The team will later leave for Aare, Sweden, to participate in the Alpine ski world championships next month.
 In New York, Concoran said that he was quitting because he was paid by funds provided by the national golf foundation and that those funds no longer were available.
 Concoran said that the foundation, which is composed of golf club manufacturers, gave no reason for withdrawing its financial support from both the ladies' and the men's PGA.

Question: What are the differences between college and professional rules?
Answer: The professional permit six personal fouls and disqualification, the college player allowed in the pro game. The pro has some defenses. The pro is not have the colleges I would rule on foul shooting and in the final three minutes the colleges get two shots on every foul. The pro teams have been experimenting with some method of counting down the amount of fouling done in the last two minutes.

American Chances Hurt
KITZBUHEL, Austria, Jan. 21—UP—United States' chances for victory in the international ski week suffered another blow Thursday when Bill Beck of Kingston, R.I., became sidelined with a broken ankle. Beck suffered the injury in Wednesday's workout just after Pepi Gabl, Austrian coach of the U.S. team, announced the Americans would not compete in the downhill events because they might prove too strenuous after their long trip here.
GREENWICH, Conn., UP—Election officials had some untangling to do after Rocco Strazza won as a write-in candidate. Two persons with that name live in the same voting district on the same street.

Furman Star Leads NCAA

NEW YORK, Jan. 21—UP—Sixteen years ago—the first year that the center jump was abandoned all over the country—the major college basketball teams averaged 38.2 points a game; now, Furman's Frank Selvy is averaging 38.1 all by himself.
 The nation's major college individual scoring leader was idle last week, NCAA service bureau statistics for games through Tuesday night showed Thursday, but some of his rivals weren't and three other players are above the 30-point level in the season half over. The best anyone has done for a full year is the 39.5 Selvy posted as champion last year.
 Bob Pettit, the LSU big man, has 34.4, Oklahoma City's Arnold Shott 30.5 and Villanova's Bob Schaffer 30.8. There's a big gap to fifth place, where Virginia's Buzz Wilkinson has 28.5.
 Selvy resumes action Saturday and has 47 games left on his schedule. He also has a chance to break Clyde Lovellette's record for points scored in three seasons and has a good crack at the four-year mark held by Jim Lacy of Loyola of Baltimore. He's 178 behind Lovellette, 444 behind Lacy.
 Keeping first place like Selvy, are Oklahoma A&M's Bob Matlock in shooting accuracy (88.3 per cent) and George Washington's Walt Devlin in foul shooting (90.3 per cent).
 But the rebounding column has a new leader—Charlie Black of Marshall college. Black pulled down 45 against Toledo last week, single-game high for the season, and lifted his average to 24.8 a game.
Ellis Leads Field In Laredo Tourney
LAREDO, Jan. 21—UP—Wesley Ellis of San Antonio held a one-stroke lead as second round play opened Thursday in the Fourth Annual International Amateur golf tournament.
 Ellis turned in a 34-34—68 for the first 18 holes Wednesday, closely trailed by a 36-34—70 by Rex Baxter of the University of Houston. Jimmy McAdams, another Houston student, was in third place with a 34-35—69.
 Laredo's Pepe Palacios and San Antonio's Lynn Spurgeon were tied for fourth with 75's. Palacios, Monterey amateur champ, had a 38 on the first nine holes but finished with a 34.
 In the women's division, favorite Beanna Brunt took the lead with a 38-39—77. Miss Brunt celebrated the 14th birthday recently.

Simmons Looking Forward To A Good Season With Phillies

By UNITED PRESS
PHILADELPHIA—Curt Simmons, the Philadelphia Phillies' new left-hander, reported his injured left toe "fully recovered" Thursday and looked forward "to a good season."
 Simmons, who had a 16-18 record last season, refused to predict a 20-game campaign but pointed out he could have won 20 in 1953 except for four weeks of inactivity after a portion of his right big toe was sliced off in a lawn mower accident.
 "There's no pain or stiffness in the toe," Curt said after signing for an estimated $20,000. "I made up my mind to sign soon before Robbie got all the money."
 "Robbie," of course, is Robin Roberts, who like Simmons, turned down the first contract offered to him by the Phillies. Simmons' signing produced speculation that Roberts is about to follow.
 Third-baseman Eddie Mathews, meanwhile, was scheduled to get together with General Manager John Quinn of the Milwaukee Braves to discuss salary terms late Thursday or Friday. Mathews, who received about $12,000 last season, said he didn't expect any trouble.
 The Cleveland Indians and Washington Senators traded catchers—the Indians acquiring Mickey Graas and the Senators obtaining Joe Tipton. Graas hit .309 last season while Tipton hit .316. Both are second-stringers.
 The Boston Red Sox announced the signing of catcher Del Wilber, coaches Del Baker, George Sussie and Paul Schreiber, veteran pitching mentor.
 Outfielder Pat Mullin, a .288-hitter in 1953, signed with the Detroit Tigers; Sherman Lollar, who compiled a .277 batting mark and a league-leading .994 fielding average, signed with the Chicago White Sox and the Philadelphia Athletics bought Wilmer Shanis, brother of Bobby.
 In the National League, Cincinnati increased its satisfied list to 23 with the signing of outfielders Wally Pate and Bob Borkowski; Howie Pollet and pitcher Bob Hartlig came to terms with the Chicago Cubs and Braves' President Len Perini joined the "hate the Yankees club" with the remark the Milwaukee team hoped to win a pennant before "the Yankees get too loopy."
Top Racers Named
CHEICAGO, Jan. 21—Four of 1953's top race horses—Native Dancer, Sickle's Image, Portehouse and Iceberg II—were among the 131 nominees announced Wednesday for the 1954 running of the Washington Park Handicap, which has a prize of $170,000. The list of nominees included most of the leading stables, all of the top 1953 three-year-olds and juveniles (A-1) 10 of the 13 thoroughbreds who ran in the 1953 edition.

Invents Alarm For Air Raid

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—UP—Norman Saunders got his idea for an air-raid alarm when somebody rapped on his door in Honolulu the morning of Pearl Harbor.

Spanish Group Gains Success In Hollywood

By ALINE MOBBY
HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 20—UP—"Hamlet" is a success here, but this Shakespeare comes out strictly in Spanish by some "unknown" players in a theater off the beaten path.

Yet to the Spanish-speaking population of this area, Ulloa is mightier than Tyrone Power.

"We even get some people in the audience who can't understand Spanish but they seem to enjoy the plays, anyway," Ulloa said.

"This is the first time in 24 years Spain has sent an actors' company to your country."

Ulloa's group is but one part of the Spanish language entertainment that is a big but unsung business in the hometown of the movies.

When dancers such as Jose Greco appear in town the concert hall rafters shake with "ole" and "bravo."

Frank Fouse, who books Spanish language films and plays here, imported 20 Mexican and Spanish film stars on personal appearance tours last year.

After he died, 10,000 mourners filed past his coffin in the first two hours, and not even Rudolph Valentino's funeral can equal that record.

One doctor who attended Negrete said "I've cared for many big Hollywood stars but I've never seen anything like the interest in Negrete. Why, his fans called us every five minutes, even from South America."

Okay Compromise For Teachers Pay

AUSTIN, Jan. 21—UP—A 25-member committee named jointly by Gov. Allan Shivers and the Texas State Teachers Association Wednesday approved a compromise teacher pay proposal calling for a $402-a-year salary boost.

"This, I believe, is a solution," State Sen. A. M. Alkin Jr., of Paris, member of a six-member subcommittee, told the main committee.

The report was adopted by the committee on a voice vote, with all 25 members in attendance. Shivers has said one of the conditions of calling a special session of the legislature to deal with the teacher pay issue would be agreement by a substantial majority of the committee on the compromise.

Four Points Offered
After adopting the report, the committee instructed members of the committee who are legislators to go to work immediately on drafting a bill. They were to report back to the committee at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The compromise plan centered around four points:
"1. A $402 annual salary increase in the state minimum salary schedule for all positions in the foundation school program.

"2. Determining the state total of funds to be assigned as the local contribution to the foundation program on the basis of 20 per cent of the state total foundation program cost.

"3. Continuing the present method of determining each district's local fund assignment by application of the economic index.

"4. Allowing a building credit of $100 for each professional unit (teacher) of eligibility under the foundation program."

The plan would alter the present formula whereby local school districts contribute a flat $45 million a year to the minimum foundation school fund. In place of that amount, local districts would pay 20 per cent of the cost, and the state would pay 80 per cent.

State Sen. Otis Lock of Lutkin said the $402-a-year pay raise proposal met the requirement that the amount be "substantial but practical."

H. W. Stillwell, Texarkana superintendent and member of the subcommittee, told the 25-member group, "I don't think anybody compromised any principle."

"It was the fairest compromise proposal that possibly could be made," Stillwell said.

Bats In Belfry

ROCKFORD, Ill., Jan. 20—UP—C. M. Linder Wednesday blamed "bats in the belfry" for his poor television reception.

After being assured by a local station that the picture was leaving the studio all right Linder went to the attic to look at his antenna.

He found a bat perched on top of it.

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 16—UP—The Baltimore Colts of the National Football League Saturday signed Roscoe Hansen, former Philadelphia Eagles tackle, to a 1954 contract.

Court Sustains Sapet Sentence

AUSTIN, Jan. 21—UP—A 52-year prison sentence assessed Mario (El Turco) Sapet in connection with the gunboat slaying of Jacob S. Floyd Jr., was sustained by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Sapet was tried for the offense of "accomplice to murder with malice."

The high court, in an opinion by Judge Harry Graves, wrote: "This case has been carefully and painstakingly tried under the doctrine of a conspiracy and is free from material errors, due to a large extent to the trial judge who evidenced prudence and caution as well as legal knowledge at this trial."

Young Floyd, a University of Texas student, was shot down Sept. 8, 1952, in the driveway of his father's home at Alice. The elder Floyd, long prominent in turbulent South Texas politics, was believed by many to have been the intended victim of the assassin's bullet.

Nego Alanis, South Texas attorney, was charged in connection with the slaying but his case is awaiting trial.

Sapet, a San Antonio tavern operator, was tried in Brown county under a change of venue for the offense of "accomplice to murder with malice."

The high court, in a 14-page opinion, overruled all defense objections.

The name of a third alleged conspirator, Alfredo Cervantes, entered Sapet's trial.

Cervantes has never been apprehended.

All but one contested testimony by the elder Floyd relating to details of a conversation with Alanis in which the Alice attorney warned Floyd that he would be killed.
