Rotarians Initiate New Member at Meet
Thomas W. Dowell yesterday was initiated in simple ceremonies into the Pampa Rotary Club during the weekly meeting held in the Palm Room City Hall.

The new member was given his pin and button by Ray Evans, club president, and introduced by Travis Lively, member of the Rotary Information Committee.

Several papers on attendance were read by Roy Lewis and Ray Webster of the Attendance Committee.

Entertainment was furnished by Mrs. Mack Hiatt, singing two solos. The clear melodious voices of Dr. Ralph Bellamy, R. L. Edmondson, and Paul Chambers rang out with "Jingle Bells." The three were entered, but modestly refused to return to the stage.

Harry Kelly, manager of the Spearman C. Co., extended a pre-welcome from Spearman to those making Pampa's booster trip prior to the Top of Texas Rodeo.

Club singing was in charge of Virgil Moss. Steve Matthews served as program chairman and Ray Evans presided over the business session.

Pilot Makes Forced Landing in Field
FORT WORTH—(AP)—After running out of fuel, a Navy Corsair fighter plane, en route from San Diego, Calif., to Jacksonville, Fla., made a wheels-up forced landing on a plowed field nine miles south of Arlington yesterday.

The pilot, Ensign Duane A. Dittman of Walden, N. Y., was uninjured.

Dittman had stopped off at El Paso for fuel and was en route to Grand Prairie, another fueling point.

The Moscow regime credit for foreseeing that another general war was brewing. This war would provide the chaos which would be favorable to the inauguration of the would drive for the expansion of Communism under direction of the Communists in Moscow.

Well, the war came. Russia and Germany signed their non-aggression pact and, with this in his pocket, Hitler lashed out. Then he attacked the Soviet Union—which wasn't according to Hoyle. However, although Russia suffered grievously herself, with Allied aid she emerged strong enough to undertake a wholesale expansion of her sphere of influence. This has resulted in the establishment of Communist controlled governments throughout Eastern Europe—and the expansion continues.

Naturally all Moscow's activities have been dominated by the central idea of spreading Communism and thereby strengthening Russia's own position. You see that in the methods employed in establishing domination over the countries of Eastern Europe, and in the obstructions created in the United Nations and in the various European conferences. You see it in Moscow's refusal to cooperate in the economic rehabilitation of Europe.

So the greatest problem of the United States and the other democracies is to deal with this Red world revolution. One method is to put weak nations on their feet so that they can withstand the political attack, and that is the immediate objective in Europe.

However, the revolution isn't confined to Europe, though that's where we notice it most. Its tentacles reach around the globe, and anyone can see with half an eye if he looks about him.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh
Sam Helps with the Dishwashing

Dropped in at the Abernathy's just the other evening—and there was Sam, out in the kitchen with an apron on, helping his missus wash the supper dishes. (And then I learned later he'd helped cook the supper, too.)

Of course, Sam could have settled into his favorite chair, enjoyed his evening glass of beer, and left all the messy kitchenwork to Dixie. But he kind of likes her company—and she in turn certainly appreciates his help.

In fact, sharing the housework and the mealtime chores is sort of a bond between them... like sharing that friendly glass of beer together, when the work is done. It's one of those little all-important things in marriage.

From where I sit, the time that a man and wife can spend with each other in this busy world today is all too precious. And the more things they can do together, the better.

Make-Up Problems Acute in Summer Heat

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer
Does your skin balk at your efforts to look fresh-faced during sultry weather?

A soap-lather mask for instance, makes a better face freshener than suds whisked on and off. Try using a mask in two layers. Let one layer dry before applying the second.

If you use a cleansing cream, don't stop filming your face until the last sheet of tissue is spotless. Using a liquid skin freshener or mild astringent as a follow-up is important for removing all traces of oil.

If hot weather brings out a shine on your face, you can keep it under better control by using a non-oily make-up base. If perspiration causes your powder to darken, switch to a pink shade. Pink is less apt to be affected by perspiration than certain yellow shades.

Please Keep Your Shoulders Square

NEW YORK—(AP)—Paid your hips if you like, squeeze your waistline if you must, but lady, please keep your shoulders square.

Such is the plea of Maurice Rentner, who issued a ringing defense of the "American Look" along with his fan collection and predicted the U. S. women will not surrender without a fight to the round-shoulder, wide-hipped silhouette which some designers seek to hoist upon them.

"The American woman, solely for the purpose of change, will not adopt a fashion that is not becoming—I definitely believe that the elimination of the padded shoulder would constitute a sacrifice—it would be detrimental to her looks and figure. By the same token, most women would not look well in the predicted lengths or widths."

WE, THE WOMEN

Do Women Love Clubs... It's a Question

It would be interesting to take a secret poll of the membership in every woman's club in a representative town and find out just how many women join clubs out of fear rather than choice.

How many women have kept their names on a bridge club membership list through the years because they joined when they were strangers in the town and were afraid to offend by declining?

How many women are bullied and squirm through the meetings of culture clubs because they are afraid they'll be marked as stay-at-homes?

How many women are reluctant members of some auxiliary group of their husband's professional organization simply because they are afraid that if they refuse to join they will hurt their husbands?

Only an assumption because an overwhelming number of American women belong to an impressive number of women's clubs it is assumed that they LOVE women's clubs.

Of course, if a woman belongs to half a dozen—then she is a dyed-in-the-wool club-woman who wouldn't know what to do if it weren't for her club memberships that make her feel important.

Death Rate From Childbirth Drops 2-Thirds in U. S.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—The United States now has one of the best records in the world in safeguarding maternity, according to the statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. In little more than a decade the shame of being among the backward nations in this respect has been wiped out.

Prior to the early 1930's the statisticians report, the yearly maternal death rate fluctuated between six and seven per 1,000 live births; by 1945 the rate had declined to 2.1, and the present rate is estimated to be less than two per 1,000 live births.

In essentially parallel trend the number of stillbirths per 1,000 live births has dropped from about 40 for the years prior to 1929 to 27 per 1,000 in 1944, and is believed to be still falling.

The outstanding factors in bringing about the reduction in children under one year of age is even more striking, namely from 71.7 per 1,000 live births in 1928 to 38.2 in 1945.

"The expansion of insurance plans has been an inducement to mothers to seek hospital and prenatal care," the statisticians point out.

"The number of expectant mothers seeking hospital care has more than doubled in the past ten years."

DEATH OF A DOLL

By Hilda Lawrence
© by Hilda Lawrence, Distributed by NEA-SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Ruth Miller, a stranger at Blackman's department store, has been looking forward to meeting into an attractive residence club for girls. But the evening she arrives, she sees nothing in the lobby that terrifies her. She decides to leave next day. But next day she is forced to attend the weekly Sunday afternoon tea. Rag doll costumes are distributed for a party and the girls ask to see the masks themselves. Minnie May Handy helps Ruth with hers. Ruth is scared stiff by now.

VII
WHEN the mask was finished, Minnie May yawned and stood up. "Got to go. Got to make a phone call. See you some more." She strolled across the room, bowed demurely to Mrs. Marshall-Gill, and ducked through the door. Two more people came in, Lillian Harris and the girl who had asked for a tray the night before. Then three more, then five. They all looked as if they didn't see her. No one approached her chair. She sat erect, her fingers locked over the mask. She saw Moke and Poke over by the piano, Kitty Brice in a corner talking to a square, heavy woman in black with keys hanging from her belt. The housekeeper, Miss Plummer, she looked for Miss Plummer but she wasn't there. Taking the board so Kitty could come to the party, that would be it. Miss Plummer knew how to work the board. If the doctor's call came, Miss Plummer would tell her. Miss Plummer was reliable. Someone held out a cup of tea. It was Miss Small. Ruth took it in both hands but the hot liquid, thick with cream, spilled into her lap.

"What a shame," Miss Small grieved, "and it's a new suit, isn't it? But you mustn't worry, it'll clean." She talked easily, quietly. "Now tell me how you're making out. If there's anything you don't understand, you must ask me. That's what I'm here for." "I'm all right," Ruth said.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Note Book

By HAL BOYLE
LAKE SUCCESS—(P)—Watching the Security Council try to pick a world police force for the United Nations is like listening to a bad phonograph record. The music comes out pretty as you please until a certain point. Then the needle sticks, and all you hear is a grinding noise—"U-r-r-r-uh, u-r-r-r-uh, u-r-r-r-uh." The Security Council has been stuck at the same point since last April 30. It gets stuck whenever the council starts to take up the question of what size military or police force the United Nations should have or how much each country should contribute. This is pretty much as if an apartment house roof caught fire, and the tenants began quarreling over which fire station to call and how many firemen to ask for. The more they quarrel the closer the fire spreads toward their own apartments. It took fifteen months for the Military Staff Committee—made up of the chiefs-of-staff of the five big powers—to bring out a report of any kind on setting up a United Nations police force. The report came then only after strong British pressure. Russia promptly took exception to a third of the report's forty-one sections. And since that report was handed up the Security Council has been unable to reach agreement on a single point disputed by Russia. Here is the point where the needle sticks. Basically, Russia wants the United Nations Navy, Airforce and Army made up on a principle of equality—that is, each country would contribute the same number of ships, planes, tanks and foot soldiers. The United States and the other leading powers think this is military screwball, as all countries don't have the same kind of fighting equipment. China, for example, could contribute plenty of Infantrymen but couldn't dig up an aircraft carrier. Andrei Gromyko's answer to this is that such "variations" could be considered and worked out later. The other countries think it would be better to start out with the idea of each country contributing proportionately more or less of each kind of weapon, depending on the quantity it has. So there the matter rests. But the Security Council is still trying to play the record through. Like this: The British delegate proposes that the Military Staff Committee go ahead and determine how large an overall United Nations force will be necessary, thus postponing the question of its makeup until later. "No," says Gromyko. The French delegate, Alexandre Parodi, tries another compromise. Let the Military Staff Committee take the smallest United Nations force hypothetically possible, he says, and see if it is possible to make up such a force along the lines of the Russian proposal—that is, each country contributing ship for ship, tank for tank, plane for plane. "No!" says Gromyko. He wants no hypothetical problems. He just wants the Security Council to agree on his "equality principle" first, then work it out later. Thus the United Nations, two years after its founding in San Francisco, couldn't defend itself against a pack of angry March hares. For as yet the Military Staff Committee doesn't command even a single-barreled shotgun.

Compromise Offered On Appropriations Bill

WASHINGTON—(P)—A compromise has been submitted to Congressional conferees on the Southern Power Administration in an effort to break a deadlock, a conference committee member said today. The committee is considering differences between the House and Senate over items in the Interior Appropriations Bill. Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) disclosed yesterday that thus far the conferees had been unable to settle a dispute over Southern Power funds. The House allowed about $1,271,000 for construction and maintenance. The Senate eliminated all construction funds and voted $125,000 for maintenance only. The Senate conferees have declined to yield, as have the House members. The compromise proposal, suggested by one of the conferees, would allow SPA to use all of the $7,500,000 appropriated last year that might be necessary to carry out contracts already entered into but for which the money has not yet been paid out. In addition some of the $7,500,000 from last year could be used to pay "incidental costs" incurred in constructing a line from Norfolk to Denison Dams. "But the Senate conferees, as far as I know, will insist that SPA be given no new funds for construction purposes for this fiscal year," one member told a reporter. The United States contains two widows for ever widower. government figures show. Baikal is the largest lake in Asia, having an area of 13,500 square miles.

"You don't look it," Miss Small insisted softly. "You say I'm paid a very good salary for the work I do here, and my girls don't bring me their little problems I'm very unhappy. I tell myself that I've failed somewhere. You understand, don't you?"

RUTH nodded. At the other end of the room Moke and Poke left the piano and walked slowly toward her, stopping at other groups on the way. "Hurry, she begged silently, hurry, don't stop again. I'm afraid I'll say something, I'm afraid I'll give myself away." Miss Small's soft voice went on. "We've had all sorts of girls here, from all sorts of homes, and we've managed to make them happy. Not at first, perhaps, but always in the end. Confidence is the thing that does it." Miss Small's voice dropped to a whisper. "I'm like a doctor, Ruth, you can't talk to me and I never tell the things I hear, never. I want you to think about that. Think about it tonight." Her hand touched Ruth's lightly. "People are looking at us, but we don't mind that, do we? Now I must run off and do something. You'll be back, won't you? I'll be thinking about you and worrying." Ruth sat with bent head, staring at the dark stain on the blue, hardly remembering how it had come there, not caring. I didn't give myself away, she said over and over; I didn't tell her anything. She wanted me to talk, but I didn't. It isn't safe to talk, not even one word, not even a lie. Moke and Poke came up and sat on the arms of her chair. "Listen," Moke said, "we dreamed up some funny business. You'll die. You know there's a prize for the girl that guesses the most other girls, a double strand of pink pearls—" "Simulated," said Poke. "Phony," agreed Moke, "but pink. Listen. If you embroider a

State Employees Are Recognized

AUSTIN—(P)—Certificates in recognition and appreciation of "many years of faithful state service" have been presented state employees of 30 years service or more. Acting Governor Allan Shivers presented the certificates yesterday in ceremonies at the Governor's office. "Fine service for sound government means more to the future than to the present," Shivers told the workers. Three veterans of more than 50 years service were given special recognition. They were L. K. Smoot of the Supreme Court who has served 52 years; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Huffman of the State hospital, 50 years each. Two Negro porters, Jim Jackson, Senate Porter and Harry White, education department porter, were on the list with 31 years and 36 years service respectively. Citations also went to these veterans of 30 or more years of state service (figures denote number of years of service): D. W. Preece, Austin State Hospital, 35; Dr. William Thomas, Mexia State School, 42; Dr. Bruce Allison, Abilene State Hospital, 41; Dr. C. W. Castner, Austin State School, 32; J. A. McCutcheon, Confederate Home, Austin, 47; O. D. Boyd, Abilene State Hospital, 31; H. L. Clamp, Supreme Court, 46. Richard W. Orr, State Orphans Home, Corsicana, 30; A. J. Edington, Corsicana Home, 42; T. E. Heskew, State Tuberculosis Hospital, 35; J. E. Bale, Terrell State Hospital, 33; Mrs. Alice Miller, State Board of Control, 31; Charles H. Coker, Land Office, 37; Tom Allee, Land Office, 31; J. P. Clark, Land Office, 30; Mrs. Ethel Wood Roberdeau, Land Office, 30. T. H. Johnson, Health Department, 36; V. M. Ehlers, Health Department, 32; J. W. Puckett, Highway Department, 30; Mrs. Vance Stockton, Highway Department, 32; Miss Bessie Bergstrom, Highway Department, 30; Percy McDannell, Industrial Accident Board, 36; Capt. R. W. Aldrich, Department of Public Safety, 30. Others with 30 years and more service, but for whom the exact number of years was not known, were: J. P. Moulden, Comptroller's Department; A. C. Mitchell, Health Department; J. C. Kirby, Insurance Department; Olin Pinger, Court of Criminal Appeals; J. P. Byrne, Miss Mary Maguire, Max Bickler, all of the Supreme Court; Miss Elizabeth Byrne, Court of Civil Appeals.

Texas Cities Paying Highest Mexican Wages

SAN ANTONIO—(P)—Allen laborers in the San Antonio, Port Worth, Corpus Christi, Houston and Dallas area will be paid 37 cents an hour, higher pay than workers in either workers in either the lower Rio Grande Valley or the Winter Garden areas. John W. Holland, operating officer of the U. S. Bureau of Naturalization and Immigration Office, attributed the increased pay scale to the greater distances from the border. Workers in the lower Rio Grande Valley receive 25 cents an hour and Winter Garden workers 30 cents an hour, Holland said.

Youth Injured

DALHART—(P)—A former Dalhart high school football player was hurt yesterday when a gasoline truck he was driving hit a culvert and overturned 15 miles from here on U. S. Hwy. 87. He was Frank Milliken, 18, now a resident of Trinidad, Colo.

Amarillo Furr Food Opens Modern Store

Approximately 5,000 people attended the opening of the remodeled Furr Food Store No. 1 at 10th and Plimmore, Amarillo, Wednesday evening. Pampa store officials said today.

Russ Rogers and his orchestra were engaged for the occasion and souvenirs and prizes were given away. But no groceries were sold during the entertainment presented from 6 to 10 p. m.

This store is now one of the most modern in the Panhandle and features self service from paneled shelves, an inclosed glass cutting room in the meat department, and completely new equipment throughout.

The entire staff of the Pampa Furr Food attended this opening as well as officials from Dallas and competitive stores. Plans are being made to remodel the Pampa store in the same manner as soon as the materials are available.

Jane Wyman Discovers Type Casting in Movies

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD—(P)—Jane Wyman is discovering the way type casting works in Hollywood. As the result of her next job as Mia Baxter in "The Yearling," all her film offers are for mother roles.

Jane was penciled in for the role of a 12-year-old's mother in "Christopher Blake," but she has asked Warners to excuse her from it. She does not want to be pigeonholed in maternal parts. Instead, she would like to go ahead with "Johnny Belinda," in which she would play a deaf mute until the final moments of the picture—a "Spiral Staircase."

Glehn Davis temporarily an actor-tells me he doesn't know how long his Army service will be. "I might find out I like it and want to stay in," said the football star.

Groucho Marx is apparently contented about his debut as a single in "Copabana." He has made it known he's available for more appearances without his brothers. A sure indication of his intent is the fact that he has hired a press agent.

Maureen O'Hara's plans to appear in "Out of All Time" for RKO in England have hit a snag. The British have indicated they want either the leading man or director to be an Englishman. Clark Gable is back in town and he must be happy over the way "The Hucksters" turned out. Clark wants to charter a boat for a fishing trip down Mexico way. He starts work on "Homecoming" Aug. 15.

Van Johnson offers an interesting note about social life in Hollywood. He has worked at MOM for several years but has never met his fellow employee, Wally Beery. It may be a small world, but it's a big studio.

Jack Carson is getting to be known as "Available Carson" around Warner's. After "Romance in High C" he'll do "Barbary Host," a story of 1910 San Francisco (what—no earthquake?). Then "Forever and Always." Although his contract calls for three years, Jack doesn't mind the extra work. The bonus dough giddens his heart.

The average length of life of U.S. residents set a new high record of 66 years in 1945.

Gracie Reports

By GRACIE ALLEN
Well, I see that an educator says that children will be much happier in the schools of the future because musical chimes will take the place of classroom bells and all the furniture and walls will be done in beautiful colors. Personally I think the children would be even happier if they just did away with schools.

I can see only one difference that would be made by a handsome futuristic education factory. Instead of dreaming about the little red schoolhouse burning down, children would dream about the big

Ambassador Welcomes Goodwill Delegation

MEXICO CITY—(P)—One hundred and fifteen Houston businessmen on a goodwill tour of Mexico were entertained yesterday by U. S. Ambassador Walter Thurston in the Embassy here.

The Texans were introduced to five members of President Aleman's cabinet and heard a program of songs by U. S. contractor Winifred Heidt, who is appearing with the National Opera Company here.

Texas Today

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff
Signs of the times: The president of the Yellow and Checker Cab companies in Houston says as far as taxicab business is concerned, the buyers' market is back.

"If anybody doesn't believe it, just let them call a cab and see how quickly we get it to them," said C. A. Bass.

He also said that courtesy is being emphasized. Drivers are urged to wear uniforms, and customers will get a free copy of the company's new paper, the check-off.

In San Angelo something even more drastic was reported. A man drove down a main street with a sign on the hood of his car: "apartment for rent—furnished."

On the sides of the car were other signs telling the world that he also had rooms for rent.

Stranger than the appearance of the sign was the fact that while he was driving slowly about, nobody tried to stop him.

In Amarillo, the tactless Texan columnist in the Amarillo Globe-News is inaugurating his first annual no-week. He said it will last four weeks and that the mayor will issue a proclamation.

He said soliciting of any kind will be banned and busy men busy at their jobs will be protected against all those interested in movements and such things.

The Male Comfort Club, already a going concern in Fort Worth and Corpus Christi (where it is aggressively sponsored by newsmen), has entered new fields.

Sherman now proposes such a club, urges men to protect their coats and ties during the summer heat.

The slogan: "Who Cares. Anyway?"

Corpus Christi is growing a lot faster than Congress is appropriating money for mail delivery.

One result is regular batteries of rural mail boxes, perched like honeycombs at intersections. At Alameda Park, for example, a few poles hold 51 mail boxes which receive mail for 80 families.

Not only that, but people are moving in faster than they can buy mail boxes.

At Hillsboro, the Retail Merchants Association and the Junior Chamber of Commerce are planning their Christmas program.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Note Book

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—There wasn't any Russian sphere in Pilsen the day we pulled in just before peace broke out.

There weren't any Russians there at all—or beer either. Bombs had ruined the famous brewery as well as the Skoda works.

We were going through Czechoslovakia one way, and the Russians were sweeping the Germans toward us from the other side like a piled up snowplow.

In the capital at Prague 55 miles away, the Czech patriots decided they had earned a crack at the Germans after seven years, so they began attacking the armored columns as they muscled through the streets.

"The Americans will get here in a few hours to help us," said the leaders, so all Prague pitched in against the Nazis.

They tore up the streets with bare hands and made barriers with stones. They shot at the German army tanks with shotguns, and threw bottles of gasoline.

It was one fight; the Nazis SS column wasn't looking for. The panicky Germans wanted only to get through the city to give up to the Americans and avoid capture by the Russians.

But they had to fight. They smashed one group of Czech patriots in the Prague City Hall with tank fire that burned the centuries-old building to the ground. And they tied screaming women and children on their tanks so the Czech civilians would hold their sniping fire.

Helpless against the stronger German firepower, the Czech patriots sent delegations after delegation to Pilsen to urge the American Third Army to hurry into Prague to save them. They met a surprising answer.

"We cannot move beyond Pilsen." Under a high level Allied agreement American forces were under unalterable orders to halt there and wait for the Russians to link up with them. This was to avoid any accidental collision between the two armies.

The Czech liaison messengers pleaded with tear-filled eyes for help. Doughboys and tankmen of the American Second Infantry Division volunteered to form a rescue expedition to Prague. Their commander reluctantly forbade it.

The next morning Gy Peterman of the Philadelphia Inquirer and I set out in a jeep for Prague on the main road. We drove 55 miles past a solid mass of retreating rully armed German troops.

The last Nazi tanks were trundling out of Prague as we entered. The city was wild with joy. Cheering Czechs danced around the bloody street barriers.

Bodies still lay in the streets and German collaborators were being fiercely beaten by maddened civilians.

Half an hour later as we stood at a downtown street intersection, the Soviet vanguard entered on motorcycles. A Russian lieutenant who never had seen an American uniform started to shoot us down, but Czech civilians stopped him. Then the Russian armor began wheeling in, and Prague erupted in red banners and American flags.

But the question the Czechs asked over and over was:

"Why didn't you Americans come first to save us?"

And all the high level explanations didn't satisfy them at all. They knew only that their capital had been at stake, and we didn't come—and the Russians did.

That's a day Czechoslovakia remembers as she moves deeper into the Soviet political and economic orbit.

Poll Shows Women Believe Manual Labor Better Than Office Work

American women believe boys starting off on careers these days have a better chance doing manual labor than in office work, provided they have no special talents, according to a nation-wide poll of readers of the Woman's Home Companion.

Fifty percent of the magazine's panel representing 2,700,000 women preferred manual work, 31 percent for office work, and 19 percent had no answer to the question: "If a boy, without special talents, had a choice of an office job or a manual job at the same salary, which would you advise him to take? Why?"

Reasons why expressed the idea that a man with a trade stands a better chance for happiness and advancement these days than a white-collar worker. But from women who voted for office work came the opinion that white collar jobs are regarded as having more dignity and prestige.

The poll, results of which appear in the August issue of the Woman's Home Companion, also concerned the selection of specific careers for boys and girls with special talents who are now planning their futures. Engineering and medicine won first approval as occupations for boys.

Engineering received 17 percent of the vote, medicine, 15 percent. Artisan craftsmen (mechanic, carpenter, construction) and technical (science, research, chemistry, etc.) came next with a vote of nine percent each. Five percent voted for law. Aviation received a vote of only four percent exactly equal to farming. The Army, Navy and Civil Services were suggested by only one percent.

Nursing heads the list of recommended occupations for girls with a 31 percent vote. Teaching was next in line with 15 percent and business was voted for by 14 percent of the women. Creative jobs (artist), housekeeping and home economics, next on the list, were suggested by about eight percent, with miscellaneous careers such as merchandising, journalism, social work

$500 in Trust 'For Art of Self-Defense'

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The grandson of the late Morris Altman is going to know how to defend himself—with his fists.

In his will, Altman left $500 in trust for the physical training of my grandson, John A. Burrison, from the time he reaches his 12th birthday until he reaches college, due emphasis to be given to the manly art of self-defense.

Eighth Inning Rally Gives Oilers 7-4 Win

CLOVIS—A 5-run rally in the eighth inning brought Pampa's Oilers from behind and gave them a 7-4 win over the Clovis Pioneers here last night. It was the 11th consecutive loss for the Oilers. For awhile it appeared that Clovis would take the last of the three game series with the Oilers for they had been pecking away at the offerings of Alberto Matos, one-time Pioneer right hander, while the Oilers weren't doing much with husky Harold Smith.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
NEW YORK—(AP)—The Cubs' Charley Grimm (definitely not jolly despite his occasional antics on the coaching lines) manages a chuckle when he thinks of what the National League pennant race will be about Sept. 15. "By that time it will be a heck of a race among four or five clubs," says Grimm. "We'll be in there, though not winning anything but in there swinging." Grimm, incidentally, has a simple explanation for the Cubs' slump: "When we get some good pitching, we ain't getting no good hitting." . . . and, of course, vice versa.

DASHED CONFUSING
Allan Lawler's sprinting performance for the Texas track team this spring recall to Texas fans his 66-yard touchdown run against Colorado U. in that 76-0 football walkover last fall. . . the customers already were stiff-necked from watching the Longhorn lopers when Lawler broke loose on a play that deceived even the Colorado coaches. . . on the bench, backfield coach Frank Prentner grabbed the phone and asked end coach Paul Bradley. In the pressbox, "what the heck happened there?" replied Bradley. "I dunno. All I can tell you is he went thataway."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
Mike Yaremko, New York U. football captain, was chief blocker for the Randolph Field team when Glenn Dobbs, Dippy Evans and Bill Dudley did the running and passing. Mike figures if N.Y.U. had them he wouldn't have to block this year. . . when Michigan dropped the annual dual meet with Illinois from its track schedule because as Coach Ken Doherty explained, "we didn't have room for Illinois." Michigan State stepped in to fill the breach on the Illinois slate. . . could that mean that the Spartans hope to replace Michigan as a major Midwest track school? . . . Plato Andros, big Oklahoma tackle who recently decided to sign with the Chicago Cardinals, explains it this way: "I'm getting older. In the old days I could practice hard all afternoon and feel fresh now after each practice I'm ready to hit the sack."

CLEANING THE CUFF
Look for the Frank Parker-Ted Schroeder tennis " feud," which started on the Davis Cup tour last winter, to bust loose again during the Eastern grass court season next month. . . Joe Lapchick besides assembling a new crew of basketballers for the New York Knickerbockers, is spending the summer outdoors as athletic director at a Yonkers, N. Y. play field. . . "Bull" Hopp, youngest of the celebrated family of athletes from Hastings, Neb., is doing a hard job in the outfield for the Hastings Sultans. Small and fast like brother Johnny of the Braves Bull may follow him into the big league some day.

We must be blunt, but not disrespectful in our relations with the Soviet Union. We must make no threats which we are not able to carry through.

No One Profits From Tough Night In Texas Circuit

(By The Associated Press)
It was a tough night on the Texas League leaders but no one profited by it.

That's the way it has been all season—the Houston Buffs have a tantalizing way of winning when necessary.

Last night they lost to Tulsa 6-4 but Fort Worth couldn't gain on them because the second-placers also were beaten, Beaumont taking care of the Cats 7-1.

Shreveport edged up by clipping Dallas 8-5 but the Spurs still are seven games out of first place.

Dallas, barely holding onto the fourth spot, found its margin over fifth-place Tulsa reduced to a game.

Tulsa got six runs before Houston could spike the pan and coasted in as John Vernon Stone, Giant Oilier pitcher, held the Buffs away from third base until the seventh.

Beaumont's Exporters salvaged the last of a three-game series, pounded Eddie Chevrolet for eight hits and seven runs before Gene Costello took over in the eighth.

Rocky Graziano Grabs Middleweight Title

CHICAGO—(AP)—Rocky Graziano, tough, tousled-haired youngster from the streets of New York who looks just like he had sneaked out of an alley, reigned today as middleweight boxing champion of the world.

The 25-year-old Graziano, fighting to redeem himself from the stigma of suspension in New York State, battered the 33-year-old titleholder Tony Zale to pitiful helplessness in the Chicago Stadium last night.

Zale, himself previously on a verge of a knockout, was declared the winner on a technical knockout 2 minutes 10 seconds after the start of the sixth round.

The savagely-fought battle, scheduled for 15 rounds, was witnessed by a sweltering, howling crowd of 18,547 which established an all-time indoor gate by paying $422,918.

Zale, champion since 1940, came to the end of his trail with tragic suddenness. Up to the end of the fifth round, two judges and referee Johnny Behr had voted him leading on points by a safe margin for carrying the attack to the challenger.

Lyman Lirde notched his tenth victory for Oklahoma City as he held San Antonio's cellar-dwelling Missions to six hits. After the first inning only two Missions got as far as second base.

In the fourth, Graziano drove a terrific right to Zale's body—a devastating punch that started Zale to his finish.

Good Hunting for Texans Depends On the Weather

AUSTIN—(AP)—Whether or not Texans will have good hunting this fall—and something good to hunt—today seemed to depend on something most Texans seldom depend on: the weather.

State Game, Fish and Oyster Commission officials reported there has been a generally good hatch of young quail and turkey, and a fine fawn crop, but that there must be general rains soon to assure good flesh for the fall hunting season.

W. C. Glazner, the commission's director of wildlife restoration, said that reports from field men indicate the quail hatch was varied from good to excellent where weather conditions have been favorable.

Generally north of a line drawn from Waco to San Angelo, he said, the quail hatch was tops. In Central Texas South of that line, there has been a sharp recent decline because of excessively hot and dry weather.

Warren Spahn, rapidly forging to third as the number one left-hander in the Majors, hurled his 13th win and his fourth shutout when he pitched the Braves to a 3-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in a night game in Boston.

The Chicago Cubs 6-3 in an afternoon game at the Polo Grounds. The Philadelphia Phils, behind the three-hit pitching of Dutch Leonard, defeated the Cincinnati Reds 4-1 in Philadelphia.

The Yankees, concurrent with Henrich's sizzling stickwork, have won their last 17 games for a new club mark, surpassing the old standard of 16 set in 1906. They need only two more wins to equal the league record of 19 established by the Chicago White Sox of 1906.

Girl All-Stars Take Game 16-2

Playing their first game of the season, the Pampa Senior Girls All-Star team met the Bunnavista All Stars last night and defeated them 16-2. Avis Kelly was on the mound for the Pampans and blanked the Bunnavista Girls five innings out of the seven played. Juanita Vaughn started with the hurling duties for the visitors but when her talents failed to halt the Pampa attack, they resorted to Monett Mitchell, who took over in the fifth inning and pitched the rest of the game.

The Pampa Girls got off to a good start scoring five runs in the first frame and they quickly followed these with four more plate crossings in the second. They talked once more in the third and then ran wild in the sixth where they scored their last six runs.

The only real home run of the game, came when Janice Doggett, Pampa first sacker, blasted one far over the left fielders head in the sixth inning but unfortunately no one was on base. Reba Bain, able Pampa catcher, rounds all four four sacks on an error by the left fielder allowing the ball to go over her head.

The locals will meet the Borger girls next Friday evening and then they will journey to Bunnavista at 8:30 next Tuesday evening for a return engagement.

Bears Protect Big State Lead

(By The Associated Press)

Texarkana's Bears are doing a good job of protecting their Big State League lead.

Last night the Bruins made it two in a row on runner-up Greenville by edging the Majors 10-9 and increasing their lead to a game and a half.

Wichita Falls pulled within a game of Greenville by licking Waco in a double-header 3-2 and 10-6.

Paris downed Sherman-Denison 11-6 to slip past Gainesville into fourth place.

Six thousand fans turned out at Texarkana to see Johnny Wood, Texarkana pitcher, married in a pre-game ceremony. Greenville then drove Wood from the box in the second inning and three more Texarkana pitchers had to be used. Conk Meriwether's pinch single in the ninth broke up the ball game.

Gary Grisham pitched a five-hitter in giving Wichita Falls its first victory over Waco. In the nightcap good relief hurling put the Spad-ers over.

Paris exploded for six runs in the fifth to lick Sherman-Denison. Southpaw John McPartland won a pitcher's duel for Austin, allowing eight hits while John Herr of the visitors gave up six.

The clubs play the same tonight with Sherman at Paris, Gainesville at Austin, Wichita Falls at Waco and Greenville at Texarkana.

Champs Expected For Tyler Meet

TYLER—(P)—Every champion is expected to be here on Aug. 1-3 to defend his title in the National AAU Men's Senior Swimming and Diving championships, according to information received by meet officials today.

In addition, three 1947 indoor titlists have announced their intentions to compete.

James McLane, high point man of the 1945 Nationals at San Diego, Calif., heads the list of defending champions. The 16-year-old Aquatic ace from Andover, Mass., will defend his 400, 800 and 1500-meters free style titles.

Runnerup Bill Smith, Jr., big Hawaiian star now representing Ohio State University, also is scheduled to be here. He won the 100 and 200-meter free style races last year.

Other 1946 champions expected here are Harry Holiday of the University of Michigan, back stroke and individual medley titlist; Joe Verduer of Philadelphia, breast-stroke; Bruce Haclan of Ohio State, three-meter springboard dive; and Dr. Sammy Lee of Los Angeles, platform dive.

The Ohio State medley relay team and Hawaii University 800-meter free style relay team, both last year's champions, also are to participate.

Indoor champions due here are Miller Anderson, back-stroke, and Robert Detroit, three-meter dive, both from Ohio State, and Walter Riis of Chicago, 100-yard free style.

Qualifying Rounds In Tourney Progress

KILGORE — (P) — Qualifying rounds are now being shot in the twelfth annual Meadowbrook Golf and Country Club Invitation Tournament with match play to start Saturday.

A field of more than 100 including Earl Stewart of Dallas, top Texas amateur, and defending champion Gerald Joyce of Palestine is expected.

Midland Is Moving Up on Big Spring

(By The Associated Press)

Big Spring's leadership in the Longhorn League was far from secure today.

Midland walloped Vernon 28-3 last night to move within a game and a half of the top club which lost to Ballinger 14-9.

Midland pounded five homers among its 27 hits.

In the other game of the night Sweetwater edged Odessa 16-15. Thirty-one hits pounded off bats of the two clubs.

Jaycees Defeated by Furr Food Nine, 19-4

The Furr Food nine won over Jaycee aggregation 19-4 last night in an Industrial League tilt played at the Skellytown field.

Keel and Rogers formed the winning battery; Barr and Altregui, losing.

More than 825,000 fires that could have been prevented occurred last year in this country. Sixty percent were put out when they were only small blazes.

Assault Working Out For Gold Cup Race

NEW YORK—(P)—The attention of the international horse set—diverted momentarily by spectacular workouts of the two South American candidates for Saturday's $100,000 Gold Cup race—turned back to the Texas-bred Assault today.

In recent days, the challengers from the Argentine and Brazil have taken the eyes of the railbirds at the Belmont Park training track as they turned in sparkling trials.

The fact that the King Ranch Comet was sent out for a serious workout yesterday indicated the respect trainer Max Hirsch has for the South American five-year-olds, Endeavour and Ensigno. It was thought that the son of Bold Ven-

HOW BUSINESS WORKS

In the late 1890's a young bicycle repairman tinkered after hours with a horseless carriage. It was a screwball idea—a smoky, sputtery contraption that couldn't work, everyone said.

But a few of his friends figured maybe the thing could work—and if it did, a lot of them could be sold and money could be made. So they took a chance and loaned the young tinkerer a few dollars to get going. And that was the beginning of a huge industry—the automobile industry—which today gives employment to some seven million workers.

America was built that way—by men willing to take a chance—willing to invest their savings—a thousand dollars or more—in some new product, some new business.

Some of them never panned out. Many lost their money—and their shirts. But the opportunity for making money was there. It was worth the gamble.

Small business grew to big ones... The oil established businesses had to keep on their toes to meet the competition of the young ones coming up.

And the people were the real winners... not only in more jobs and opportunities, but in better quality of products and more real earnings. (For instance, the average factory worker now is making 160% more money in items of things he can buy for an hour's work than his father did in 1900.)

Today it's a different story. The little guy with big ideas can't get people who have money to invest to take a chance on him. Because of huge taxes, the odds are stacked against the investors in new products. And without new investment—continuous investment—everything bogs down.

For when investment drops, production drops. When production drops, prices go up, wages go down, and jobs fly out the window.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON
By RAY TUCKER

"SENTIMENT" The most exciting and disturbing record of the recent political powwows which Democratic bosses from a score of states have held with President Truman and other party bigwigs has been the anti-Truman movement—perhaps "sentiment" would be a more accurate word—which James Roosevelt, California State Chairman, seems to be nursing along the Pacific Coast.

The Truman-for-1948 men talked of nothing except the Roosevelt and Wallace maneuvers as they appear to endanger unanimous renomination of Mr. Truman next June. For it is generally agreed that it would damage the President's chances of re-election if he had to stage even a rear-guard action to obtain approval of his record by acclamation.

CALL—The latest Roosevelt move to upset the Trumanites is his extraordinary call for a July 26-27 meeting of the State Central Committee at Los Angeles to consider the "statement of policy" which a committee of California Democrats framed at his request. In its references to foreign policy, the statement inclined toward the Wallace viewpoint that the President has been unnecessarily harsh toward Russia.

If the forthcoming meeting approves the original document, it will be submitted to the state convention in September. And if that body should accept it, this anti-Truman document would be just the weapon Mr. Wallace wants when it is submitted to the Democratic national convention next year. It might enable him to collect enough ballots on the remaining call to tarnish a Truman triumph.

DEFENSIVE—Although the Truman faction here and in California is fighting the Roosevelt-Wallace group quietly, skillfully and vigorously, it will not open up biggest guns until after the July 26-27 meeting at Los Angeles. The Trumanites hope that Russia's sabotage of the Marshall plan and the Paris conference will bring Son James into line with the Administration.

Conditions have changed considerably since the original "statement of policy" was written. Secretary Marshall shrewdly enlarged the original Truman doctrine of aid to Europe to include the Soviet Union, thereby throwing both Stalin and Wallace on the defensive.

The Kremlin has shown its teeth by deliberately splitting Europe into two blocs, forcing nations which wanted to attend the Paris restoration conference to refuse an invitation.

In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD—The Magnificent Jerk and the Beautiful Hunk of Man, who once pitched a tent opposite the Fox studio and lived in it for three days as a protest to his non-employment by film studios, wants to be known now as just plain Victor Mature, actor.

"It was great publicity when I needed it," Mature said. "I did jerk things on purpose to attract attention. It worked. Now I want to forget it."
"You can go on acting in pictures as long as you've got money in the bank and don't have to beg for parts. And I've got it, brother, the second nickel I ever earned. I'm probably the tightest actor in America."

Victor's studio wanted to put him back in more "jerk musicals" when he got out of the Coast Guard. "I was a song and dance man but I couldn't sing (Ben Gage dubbed his voice) and I couldn't dance. So I turned 'em down and just sat and waited to see what would happen. Something did happen."

Director John Ford was looking for an actor to play the consumptive gunman, Doc Holliday, in "My Darling Clementine." No one seemed to suit, Ford and finally an assistant said: "You'll probably wind up making a consumptive out of Vic Mature."

"It's an idea," said Ford. "Let's test him."
So they tested Vic for the part and he got it. Then he played a titled Englishman in "Moss Rose" and now he's a convict in "Kiss of Death."

"Those roles," says Vic, "got me out of the jerk department, and I'm going to stay out of it from now on."

A LULU, LASKY! "Miracle of the Bells" has this description in one passage: "If you had given him a second glance, which you would not, you would have described him as insignificant. The thin, undersized body was topped by a small head, for which the prominent nose and ears were too large, and the chin was not strong enough for the nose." For this Jesse L. Lasky announced the casting of Frank Sinatra. It's the description of Father Paul in the book.

Giving-you're-all-for-you-art dept. William Tracy had his shaved just to test for the role of an 18-year-old boy who is electrocuted in the film "Rebel Without a Cause."

Ann Dvorak and the boy friend, dancer Igor Deca, were telling friends that they'll wed as soon as her divorce is final.

A lot of Hollywoodites are paying repeat visits to the Coronet Theater for Jane Wyatt's performance in "Skin of Our Teeth."

G. B. SHAW "COLLABORATES" Frankie Carter, the orchestra leader who writes music on the side ("Sunrise Serenade"), has a new and surprising collaborator—George Bernard Shaw. Only Shaw doesn't know it yet.

"And when he finds out," says Carter, "I don't know what's going to happen."
Always looking for something new, Frankie found a short poem Shaw wrote in 1941 about going to Ireland and not finding any music in the glens nor purple in the bogs, and ending with, "My Irish daddy said, but the dear old humbug lied."

So Frankie set the words to music and will introduce the song to the bandstands and airwaves if Shaw gives permission. Agents in London are working on it now.

around, sometimes needlessly. He hobnobbed with radical writers, radio people and propagandists. He was warned, time and again, against his policies and behavior, but he did not believe that Truman would dare to fire such a liberal as he proclaimed himself to be around Washington.

There were many other reasons for his humbling at the hands of the man in the White House, but this is one of the chief factors. The incident is principally important because it reveals that Mr. Truman, through Messrs. Paulsen, Sullivan and Hannegan, together with any other politically powerful Californians he may be able to muster, will fight hard for renomination and re-election even against F. D. R.'s favorite Vice-President and Son.

Common Ground

By R. C. HOILES
Struggle For Freedom

The book by Sterling E. Edmunds entitled "Struggle For Freedom" gives quite a history of how our laws were developed. In fact, it has a lot to say as shown by quotations from Supreme Court decisions on what really happened.

A quotation from Chief Justice Matthews written in 1884 describes how the Constitution established the law of the land and made a no man's land:

"Law is something more than mere will exerted as an act of power. It must not be a special rule for a particular person or a particular case, but, in the language of Mr. Webster, in his familiar definition, 'the general law, a law which bears before it conditions, which proceeds upon inquiry, and reverses judgment after trial,' so, 'that every citizen shall hold his life, liberty, property and immunities under' the protection of the general rule which governs society, and thus excluding as not due process of law, acts of attainder, bills of pains and penalties, acts of confiscation, bills reversing judgment, and decrees and other similar special, partial and arbitrary exercises of power under the forms of legislation. Arbitrary power, enforcing edicts to seize upon the property and rights of its subjects, is not law, whether manifested as a decree of a personal monarch or of an impersonal multitude. And the limitations imposed by our constitutional law upon the action of governments, both State and National, are essential to the preservation of public and private rights, notwithstanding the representative character of our political institutions. The enforcement of these limitations by judicial process is the device of self-governing communities to protect the rights of individuals and minorities, as well as against the violence of numbers as against the violence of public agency transcending the limits of lawful authority, even though the majority be composed of the force of government."

The author contends and furnishes the best of evidence to prove his contention that our idea of government really changed on April 12, 1937 just a little over ten years ago. Before that, one decision after another by the Supreme Court limited the power of the Federal government and the power of the state governments. Before that, the National Labor Relations act had been declared unconstitutional. The agricultural act had been declared unconstitutional. The Cuffey-Snyder Coal act had been declared unconstitutional. After these decisions, Roosevelt tried to enlarge the Supreme Court to 15 members. He failed in this attempt.

After these laws had been declared unconstitutional, several of the Justices died or resigned. Then new laws were passed slightly changing the number of Justices on the National Labor Relations Act, commonly known as the Wagner law, was passed permitting the government to establish boards regulating interstate commerce.

"The National Labor Relations act in effect over-ruled and reversed the applicable principles upheld by a unanimous court just two years before in the Schecter Poultry case. 'If,' said the Chief Justice in that case, 'the federal government may determine wages and hours of employees in the states, because of the indirect effect upon interstate commerce, then it would seem that a similar control might be exerted over other elements of cost, such as the number of employees, advertising, methods of doing business, etc.' All the processes that center into production and distribution could likewise be controlled. This is the whole form of course of the decision in the National Labor Relations Act case."

In 1935 the administration submitted, secured and adopted what is known as the "National Security Act. Then, the Wage and Hour Bill was passed in 1938, better known as the Fair Labor Standards Act. The object of these bills have been overruled by the Supreme Court in previous cases.

On April 12, 1937, the Wagner Law was declared constitutional. From then on the whole form of American government was changed. Liberty meant something different after these laws were passed than it did before.

We now have a government of men instead of a rule of law. Our idea of government now as expressed by the Supreme Court is entirely different from what it was before April 12, 1937.

Market Briefs

WALL STREET STOCKS
NEW YORK, July 16.—Stocks generally closed at moderate lower levels during the greater part of the day's market although a little late short covering and investment demand stiffened trends in virtually all departments.

Leaders inclined to slip from the start in quiet dealings. Motors did better approaching the final hour and extreme declines returning to a point or so elsewhere were reduced or converted into modest advances.

Transfers topped the million-share mark for the eleventh successive session.

Registering highs for the year were Chrysler, Bendix Homes Appliances and Telen Oil.

Stumblers included Douglas Aircraft, International Harvester, Pacific Western Oil, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, J. C. Penney, American Can, Missouri Corp., International Paper, American Telephone and Westinghouse.

Bonds were uneven. Cotton futures hit a peak since 1920 and, toward the finish, were up $2.10 to $5.25 a bale.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 16.—Wheat futures advanced about 5 cents a bushel at times today under buying and short covering, but there were occasional recessions from the highs due to weakness in corn.

Commission houses and commercial interests bought wheat.

Corn was depressed more than 22 cents a bushel at times under selling influence, somewhat by favorable weather and crop reports.

Outs, slumped with corn. Soybeans showed independent strength.

NEW ORLEANS, July 16.—(AP)—Cotton futures advanced over $8 a bale here today on trade and speculative buying before profit-taking caused much of the gain.

Closing prices were steady, $1.40 to $1.75 a bale higher. The advance resulted from small supplies with prediction of heavy consumption and exports next season, claims of heavy boll-weevil infestation in the eastern belt, and inflation talk.

Four Men Are Charged With Felony Gambling

DALLAS.—(AP)—Four men, one a hotel manager, were charged yesterday with felony gambling, the first such complaints filed here in a decade.

District Attorney Will Wilson filed formal charges of keeping a gaming house against Sherman F. Little, James F. Worsham and Merrill Well.

Maurice G. Hymes, the hotel manager, was charged with "knowingly permitting premises to be used for gaming."

The men were released on $2,500 bonds each. The charges said the offenses occurred in 1944.

Houston Probing Fact That Grads Fail in College

HOUSTON.—(AP)—Educators here here intend to do something about the fact that numerous graduates of Houston high schools are making low grades in college.

In one instance, said Dr. Henry A. Peterson, members and former president of the City Board of Education, 35 percent of Houston students failed at an eastern college.

Moreover, he said, Houston businessmen have complained to the board that high school graduates are not well enough prepared in fundamentals to be trained for jobs.

The report of the condition was made to the board by Peterson and after he was heard the members instructed Dr. W. F. Moreland, school superintendent, to present detailed recommendations on proposed changes.

Moreland's proposals include: 1. A basic course of English, history, science and mathematics, with each pupil required to take four years of each subject.

2. Branching out within each of these fields the last two years of high school.

3. Raising of credits required for graduation to 20 units, or giving fractional credit for certain subjects if the number of credits required remains at 18.

"I want to go ahead with this as fast as possible," Peterson told the board. "I'm not worried about whether we require 18 units for graduation. I want each child to have a good day's work in school with solid content."

The board expressed hope the new curriculum would be ready in September.
