GRIND IT FINE

Here's New Idea On Saving Coffee

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30 — UP — A prominent food specialist claimed Saturday he had a system for making coffee that will save the housewives of America from the current "liquid gold" crisis.

"I've a workable plan that will reduce from 35 to 40 per cent the amount of grounds needed to make just as good coffee as you're drinking right now," Carl Riets said.

"It's ridiculously simple but it's unqualifiedly effective and I'm convinced it'll save my eye teeth the high cost of coffee."

Riets, an instructor in international cuisine at nearby Mills Women's College, said the first step was to get the finest ground coffee available.

"Or, if you have the grocer grind the coffee for you have him reduce it to the minutest form possible," he said.

"One of the greatest wastes in coffee is due to the fact that the bean is not ground as fine as it should be and consequently the water is not able to penetrate deep enough. Everytime you throw out the grounds you're discarding good, useable coffee."

Riets advised housewives who use a glass coffee maker to put in three-fourths of a tablespoon instead of a full spoon for each cup but to use the full amount of water.

Cat-'Nip'

This cat, belonging to Louis H. Williams, of Houston, knows what he's after—especially when there's milk around. If Tabby finds some milk in the bottom of a glass, he'll shrewdly dump the liquid on the floor. Instead, he dips his paw into the glass and then relays the milk to his mouth.

Into the glass goes the paw...

...and out comes some milk.

Rig Blowout Hurts Eight

ANDREWS, Tex., Jan. 30 — UP — An oilwell 10 miles southwest of Andrews blew out with a roar Saturday, shot flames 40 feet high and injured eight oilfield workers from Odessa, Tex.

The fire still raged out of control late Saturday night. It caused $100,000 damage to rig and equipment, said a spokesman for the Driller, Parker Drilling Co. of Odessa.

But for a thick "drilling mud" which oilmen use to cool their drilling bits and "clean out" wells, the eight injured men might have been burned to death or more seriously hurt.

J. L. Owens, toolpusher from Midland, Tex., said when the gas blew out, it sprayed mud "everywhere" and the workmen were covered by the thick goo. It protected them from white-hot flames.

Owens, who was on the ground by a pipe rack, escaped injury. He said, "It sounded like a terrific explosion, and mud started spraying everywhere." Those hurt were burned about the head and face.

Bob Adams, oil editor for the Odessa American, said flames were still raging "fiercely" Saturday night, but were nearly to the bottom height. He said the blow was being carefully guarded by firefighters, and an attempt was being planned to run "mud" into the well to suffocate the flames.

The blow out occurred as workmen were pulling casing out of the hole to reset a tool. Gas blew out from the shallow Yates formation with "terrible force." A casing crew was on the platform as was the morning tower of a drilling crew which had just gone to work.

Several hours after the fire, the rig was pulled down at a complete loss to prevent it from collapsing on other equipment. Workers were able to salvage the heavy diesel drilling motor and two big mud pumps because a stiff wind fanned the heat away from them.

Auto Plates Go On Sale

Those 1954 license plates are slated to go on sale at 9:30 a. m. Monday when the county tax office on the first floor of the Court House opens.

The first one of the 15,400 plates that have been issued to Gray County is expected to be sold within seconds after the doors open, according to County Tax Assessor-Collector Jack Back.

More than two-thirds — 10,900 — of the total number of plates are for private automobiles. Back said, pointing out that his office will still be in the 1953-plate business.

Non-residents and those with new cars who buy plates before April 1 will have to purchase 1953 plates, the county official continued. The 1953 plates, however, will be sold on a "pro-rata" basis — that is, if a person buys plates March 1, he'll only have to pay for one month's worth of 1953 plates.

Of course, residents who already have 1953 plates on their autos will just purchase the 1954 ones and put them on April 1, the date that law enforcement officers can begin picking up motorists with 1953 plates.

British Children Die On Thin Ice

LONDON, Jan. 30 — UP — Fifteen school children drowned in skating mishaps in England Saturday as sub-freezing temperatures gripped Europe from the Arctic circle to the Mediterranean Sea for the sixth straight day.

All 15 deaths occurred in Lancashire county when holidaying children rushed out to take advantage of the first ice of the winter. Police said a number of other children were rescued after plunging through thin ice.

A police official said "tragedy is happening all over the country." "It's a thing which is phenomenal," he said. "We have never known anything like it."

Four brothers between the ages of nine and 13 drowned in a pond at Hindley in the worst of the accidents.

The cold resulted in several freak incidents. A soldier was found frozen in standing position in a telephone booth at Cardigan but was revived.

Wild ponies in the Pembroke Mountains were reported frozen to death on their feet.

Airplanes flew food supplies to 25,000 East Frisian Islanders iced off from the outside world as forecasters predicted no break in Europe's "deep freeze" this week end.

The Frisian Islands off Germany's North sea coast have been cut off from the mainland for the past week by heavy ice flows. Aircraft flew in food items in scarce supply.

More than 90 colliers were laid up in Britain's north eastern ports but a national coal spokesman said there was "no immediate danger" of a coal shortage. But many British schools have been forced to close down because of fuel difficulties.

Six inches of snow and 50-mile-an-hour winds isolated the Missano area south of Modena, which has been threatened by a landslide. Rescue squads were unable to reach the area with food or blankets for evacuated peasants.

Negro Confesses To Dallas Murder

DALLAS, Jan. 30 — UP — A 19-year-old Negro filling station attendant confessed Saturday that he murdered pretty Mrs. H. G. Parker, 29, last Sept. 30 but he did not confess raping her.

"I will have to check into it further before I accept the confession at face value," Capt. Will Fritz of the police department's homicide detail said.

The murder of Mrs. Parker, who whispered before she died that "a Negro took me under the bridge and cut me"—turned Dallas into an armed camp.

Vigilante squads roamed parks and vacant lots and householders lined up to buy pistols because of a nude prowler. A spokesman said Mrs. Parker climaxed a series of rapes and appearances by a nude prowler with a long knife.

Thelma Parish, 24, a nurse at Bradford memorial children's hospital, complained Friday night of a nude prowler. It was the first such report since Mrs. Parker was murdered.

Miss Parish said the prowler she saw Friday night was brown-skinned. She saw a nude prowler on the hospital grounds last September and she said it was not the same man she saw Friday night.

A post mortem examination showed that Mrs. Parker was raped. Her death was caused by the single thrust of a knife through the carotid artery in her throat. No where in the confession did he admit raping the woman, Fritz said. The Negro was arrested Friday night at his North Dallas home. Fritz said he had been under surveillance some time.

The Negro told this story of the killing which touched off a wave of hysteria in Dallas and led many persons to buy guns and other weapons.

He said he was working in a service station in the 8,000 block of Denton Drive. He said he caught a bus and rode to Love Field, took another bus and rode to Lemmon Avenue and got off just before a bridge near Northwest Highway.

"I took $5 from her purse and ran," he said. Afterwards, he said he caught a bus and left the scene.

Visitors Scoff At Temperature

Pampans may think the Panhandle gets cold, but Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bertelsen, Parshall, N. D., who are visiting their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Welker, 425 Carr, don't agree.

The Bertelsens received a Minot, N. D., newspaper one day last week a paper which stated that the temperature was 46 degrees — BELOW zero.

"We don't think much about it," Bertelsen said, with an eye toward the Panhandle temperature which gets near zero once in a while. "We get it (weather troubles) in the winter, you get it in the summer."

It's been 50 below zero at times, the North Dakotan said, adding philosophically: "You can put more and more clothes on, but you can take off just so many."

White House Sent Copy Of Measure

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 — UP — Sen. John W. Bricker (R-O.) has tentatively agreed to accept a watered-down substitute for his controversial amendment to limit the President's treaty-making powers, informed sources said Saturday.

They said his acceptance was conditioned on the White House also going along with it. President Eisenhower has declared his "unalterable opposition" to Bricker's original amendment.

The still-secret substitute, hammered out Friday in a long conference of GOP and Democratic leaders with Bricker present, was sent to the White House for study over the weekend.

Administration opposition to the original Bricker amendment centered on two clauses. One would have required action by both houses of Congress and all 48 state legislatures to put some kinds of treaties into effect as domestic law. The other would have given Congress the power to regulate all executive agreements made by the President with foreign nations.

Informants said the proposed substitute would eliminate the first of these clauses and modify the second, while leaving in the amendment provisions stating that no treaty or executive agreement may override the Constitution.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland said he expected to get an answer from the White House Monday. He was "still encouraged by the prospects of working something out."

If the White House voices no objections — which would amount to a tacit okay — the GOP leaders are expected to introduce the proposal Monday with both Democratic and Republican sponsors, including Bricker.

Atoms-Peace Meet Termed 'Amiable'

BERLIN, Jan. 30 — UP — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Soviet Foreign Minister V.M. Molotov held an "amiable" meeting Saturday night on means of pushing ahead President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace plan.

They agreed to meet again on the subject before the current Big Four foreign ministers conference ends, an indication they were making progress. A spokesman said the meeting, first on the Eisenhower plan at such a high diplomatic level, was "amiable."

Dulles and Molotov, accompanied by a few aides, conferred for 40 minutes in an ante-room of the Big Four conference building after the Big Four session ended with what one Western spokesman described as "a serious and useful" discussion of Germany.

Next Meeting Monday
The next Big Four meeting will be held Monday in the Soviet sector of Berlin.

Before they met in private session Dulles challenged Russia at Saturday's meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers to reach agreement with the West on Germany as a test "whether or not we are really qualified to work together for peace."

Dulles' challenge came as the East and West joined battle for the first time in six meetings on the future of Germany. The West won one round when the Soviets agreed to drop their demand for East-West German representation at the conference.

Dulles and Molotov met in an antechamber of the former Allied Control Authority building in a meeting they agreed to over caviar and champagne and one the world hopes may lead to permanent peace through useful application of atomic energy.

Later, other interested nations including Great Britain, France and Canada will participate in the atomic talks. At a still later date other countries also might be brought in.

Train Kills 28 Persons

KAFR EL ZAYAT, Egypt, Jan. 30 — UP — A train plowed into a crowd massed on the tracks to greet Egyptian President Mohamed Naguib Saturday and the interior ministry announced 28 persons were killed and five injured. Police earlier put the death toll at 45.

The ministry communique said an investigation has been ordered into the tragedy and that the persons responsible would be "severely punished."

Officials said the accident was the worst rail disaster of the century in Egypt.

The president was in a train standing in the station at this Nile-side city on the main rail line between Cairo and Alexandria being cheered by the crowd when tragedy struck.

A diesel-engine train enroute from Alexandria rammed into the demonstrators, grinding a number to death beneath its wheels and hurling others through the air to die by the right-of-way.

Poll Taxes Total 5,555

A total of 5,555 residents of Gray County had either paid their poll taxes or received their exemptions when County Tax Assessor-Collector Jack Back closed the doors of the county tax office shortly after 5 p. m. Saturday.

The break-down was 4,548 poll taxes and 1,007 exemptions.

Back had kept his office open for five hours past the usual closing time so that last-minute payments could be made.

Roughly 600 poll taxes and 100 exemptions were handed by Back and his deputy tax collectors in the last day, just about what Back had estimated.

Poll taxes for 1953 elections were an estimated 4,300. And in the 1952 presidential election year, some 3,000 residents of the county had paid the poll tax. Back figures there are about 10,000 residents who could have paid their poll taxes for the 1954 elections.

It was the deadline Saturday, too, for all city, school and county-state tax payments.

Probably 90 per cent of the $725,537.18 on the county-state tax roll had been paid by deadline time, Back said.

In the city tax office, collections were just about the same percentage — 88.4 per cent — as they were in the county tax office. Collections were $324,018.85 of the $362,447.21 on the rolls.

The school business office had collected an estimated $690,700 of a required $732,575.57 on its rolls.

Rosenberg Lawyer Has Fatal Attack

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 — UP — Emanuel H. Bloch, attorney for executed atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg who faced disbarment for charging President Eisenhower with the couple's "murder" was found dead Saturday in a bathtub filled with scalding hot water, police reported.

Bloch's body was found in his apartment in a converted Greenwich Village brownstone house by a woman lawyer with whom he had been associated professionally. Police said he apparently had suffered a heart attack.

Miss Gloria Agrin went to the apartment to investigate after 53-year-old Bloch had failed to keep a business appointment with her, police said.

Detectives said Bloch was clad in pajamas when he toppled into the tub. His left hand, neck and part of his face were submerged in the hot water and had been burned, they said.

Marshall Gals Again Refuse To Collect Workers' Taxes

MARSHALL, Tex., Jan. 30 — UP — Marshall's rebellious housewives brought up by the spirited housekeepers. A spokesman said they had been given "a judicial run-around" to collect Social Security taxes from their domestic help and, for the first time, left themselves wide open to possible government charges.

It was their first public stand since the United States Supreme Court refused to consider the case.

Guatemala Charges Plot For Invasion

GUATEMALA CITY, Jan. 30 — UP — Guatemala's leftist-government charges neighboring nations are supporting a plot to invade this country, with the encouragement of the U. S.-owned United Fruit Company and an unidentified "government in the North."

An official statement handed out Friday said the conspiracy calls for attacks on this country from Nicaragua and Honduras by columns led by Guatemalan refugees. The statement said Panamanian officials are aiding the plot, and included photostatic copies of letters and documents purporting to link El Salvador, the Dominican Republic and Venezuela with the "invasion."

It said opposition politicians in this country are to aid the attack, and implied that the dozen or so prominent Guatemalans arrested this week were members of such a "fifth column."

Ten Best-Dressed Women In Pampa

By FRANCES HOPFESS
Pampa News Society Editor

For the last 13 years the New York Dress Institute annually has counted more than 1,000 ballots in an international poll and gravely announced the results: names of the world's best-dressed women!

In spite of or maybe because of the grimmer aspects of life today this list of smartly-styled women attracts much attention throughout the fashion-conscious world.

For women, perhaps the interest stems from an inherent love of beauty, especially when applied to themselves individually. With the men, the general feeling seems to be that anything that makes a pretty woman prettier is great!

It seems also (luckily for us women) that everyone's conception of beauty is different.

Texas was represented in the international poll by the selection of Houston's Cyeta Culp Hobbs as No. 4 in the lineup. Mary Pampam made the international Top Ten roster but we don't intend to let the many fashionable-dressed women of our city go unnoticed and have compiled a list of 10 best-dressed women of Pampa. The selections reflect the consensus of Pampa dress shop owners and a number of club women well qualified to know about fashions in dress. All ages and types are represented, and the women listed are not named in the order of preference.

Here they are — the 10 Pampa women whose discrimination and sense of style make them outstanding examples of good taste in dress.

Mrs. BEN BROOKNER, wife of the retired store manager — This tall, sophisticated type who wears her hair in a Grecian style. She often wears black, brown or gold. Her accessories are few and correct.

Mrs. HASKELL MAGUIRE, wife of the sports writer — Described as "neat as a pin." Chooses a wardrobe suitable to her age and type. Most of her clothes are tailored and often in shades of blue and red with just the right amount of color accent.

Mrs. GEORGE SNELL, wife of the Pampa doctor — Her wardrobe is thoroughly ladylike, her suits softly tailored; feminine but never fussy. Her shoes are simply styled and her jewelry dainty.

Mrs. W. M. CASTLEBERRY, wife of the retired farmer — "Always looks nice, even in a house dress." A grandmother with shining white hair, she always consults her husband who has definite ideas on the subject of dress. Soft blues and grays are most becoming to her.

Mrs. RAYMOND HARRAH, wife of the rancher and oil man — Her dress reflects an innate sense of color harmony, she buys basically classic things, often in browns and blacks and highlighted with one sparkling color. Yellow, particularly in linen and organza, is becoming. Plain colors are her preference in hats.

Mrs. HOMER DOCKERY, wife of the oil company representative — Her luxuriant black hair is worn in a bun high on the head and is often adorned with an imaginative piece of jewelry. Her jewelry is dramatic and her bags are big. Colors like emerald green, gold or white complement her dark beauty.

Mrs. BOB CURRY, wife of the industrial salesman — Her proud carriage and impeccable grooming lend an "air" to any costume. Might be called the elegant type. She is seen most frequently in grays and blacks and whites, often with a touch of turquoise and prefers a something of pale pink or white at the neckline.

Mrs. VIOLET MEAFKE, women's apparel saleswoman — An "ideal career woman" who is always neat and correct in every detail. Browns and blacks are her favorites for dresses and suits worn without a blouse as a dress. Her simply styled dress is always becoming.

Mrs. JOHN HANKINS, wife of the retired farmer — Looks smart in a handsome, deliberately casual type of costume as she does in furs and stunning hats. Her hats come with labels from the nation's top designers.

Mrs. JAKE GARMAN Jr., wife of the retired businessman — Hattie Carnegie's sophisticated tailored suits are her favorites. She prefers small hats and keys colors to her silvery hair, such as the silver-blue mink wrap she wears with suits.

Depletion Law Remains Same

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30—UP—There will be no changes in the 27 1/2 per cent oil and gas depletion tax law this year, although some Democrats may try to make it a hot political issue.

This became evident Saturday on the basis of statements by President Eisenhower, Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey and Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-N. Y.) of the tax-writing House Ways & Means committee.

The law allows a 27 1/2 per cent deduction from gross income on the premise that oil and gas taken from the ground can not be replaced.

Humphrey said "depletion has no place in the Treasury's current tax revision plans, whose committee is pondering out a revision bill, took the same stand. Mr. Eisenhower, in his budget message, cited the "special problems" of the oil and mining industries which "require further study before any recommendations or changes can be properly made."

Wants Incentive Programs Instead of more punitive taxes, the President called for general revisions to give business a better break—what he termed "incentive" programs for expanded production and more jobs.

Reed's committee followed this up quickly with new depreciation, research, and "stop-loss" proposals which, on top of the depletion allowance, can save the oil and gas industries more millions of dollars.

A note of opposition was sounded meanwhile by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), who may have the support of Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.). In a senate speech Humphrey pleaded once again for adoption of his 1952 tax "loophole" closing program. He said it would bring in $4 billion more revenue and end a $750 million-a-year "subsidy" to oil and gas producers by slashing the depletion allowance.

A spokesman for Douglas said he may have something to say about depletion after he discusses it "with other interested parties," presumably Humphrey.

Lt. Gen. Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, told Reed's committee last year that the allowance is the life-blood of oil and gas. He said that if it were killed or scaled down the industries would have to close up shop.

No Revision This Year The President, Humphrey and Reed apparently saw some sense in this, Humphrey said "we do not intend to initiate any revision of the law this year."

After his committee adopted new stop-loss and depreciation planks in the impending tax bill, Reed said, "We want to encourage ventures looking toward exploration and development of our natural resources, not discourage them."

Mr. Eisenhower repeated his incentive theme in his economic message Thursday. He told Congress that "modification of the tax structure was among the government's arsenal of weapons" for maintaining economic stability. He pledged again that taxes will be cut further when spending can be reduced.

AEC Tells Location Of Top Secret Lab

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30—UP—The Atomic Energy Commission has a super secret laboratory at weapons program" and had "participated in both overseas and continental test operations."

Its existence was reported officially for the first time in Atomic Energy Commission's 15th semi-annual report to Congress.

The lab was set up in June, 1952, at the suggestion of the House Senate Atomic Energy committee which felt it was needed to speed super bomb development. Up to then the whole burden of nuclear weapons development had been borne by the AEC's Los Alamos and Sandia laboratories in New Mexico.

Although the installation has been operating about a year and a half, and some 1,500 persons work there, the AEC had never mentioned its existence.

Even Saturday it referred to Livermore only as a "weapons" laboratory, although its primary function is known to be super bomb research.

The lab is operated by the University of California. Scientists of the university's radiation laboratory at Berkeley had been helping the AEC in "certain phases of the weapons program" and had "participated in both overseas and continental test operations."

One of the country's most distinguished atomic scientists, Dr. Edward Teller, performed some of his most distinguished work at Livermore. About four months after he moved his operations there, his work bore fruit Nov. 1, 1952, in the world's first giant hydrogen explosion.

Teller, one of the first champions of the H-Bomb, is still at Livermore. His ideas will get another workout this spring in new H-Bomb tests at the AEC's Eniwetok-Bikini proving ground in the Pacific. A task force is now preparing for these.

The lab is under jurisdiction of the commission's Santa Fe operations office which also supervises other phases of the weapons program.

Bible Prices To Extremes

CHICAGO, Jan. 30—UP—The world's cheapest book is also its most expensive.

The book is the Bible — the greatest seller ever printed.

The price ranges from 70 cents to as much as $500,000. And the top cost will possibly double as the years pass.

For those who want a Bible but can't spare the 70 cents, there are many organizations that will give a copy free.

The Rev. Don Norman, who has devoted a good part of his life to the study and purchase of Bibles, said the rare editions of the good book will become scarcer and more expensive as more and more of them are picked up by public and private collections.

"The day may come when a Gutenberg original will cost as much as $1 million and it will be worth it," he said.

The high price of Bibles was demonstrated recently when the two-volume Gutenberg "schuchberg copy" was offered for sale at an asking price of $200,000. A wealthy eastern collector finally purchased it for an undisclosed sum.

The Library of Congress possesses the most expensive Bible in the United States — a three-volume Gutenberg printed on vellum valued at $500,000.

Norman, who is executive secretary of the Chicago Bible Society, pointed out that a Bible must be one of the 48 first copies of the Gutenberg version to draw a six-figure price tag.

That's because these few volumes are the first books ever printed with movable type in the western world.

However, most Christians are more interested in a modernized version of the traditional family Bible, Norman said.

The days of the massive Bible that rested on a center table in the front parlor are passing, although such editions can still be obtained for around $35.

Instead, modern readers prefer a smaller book costing between $10 and $15 which includes the traditional pages for recording the deaths, births and marriages of a family, Norman said.

"You'll still find the family Bible in a prominent place generally on the living room lamp table," Norman said. "So I guess things haven't changed so much, after all."

This Drunk Was Cold Sober FORT WORTH, Jan. 30—UP—Salesman Wendie D. Wheeler of Dallas, nursed a hang-over Saturday as he gave police details of a robbery. Wheeler said he picked up two hitchhikers who pointed a knife at him and forced him to down a pint of whiskey. He awoke to find his car, watch, ring and $15 missing.

Would Brand Reds As Conspirators

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30—UP—The House Un-American Activities committee urged Congress Saturday to brand as conspirators all Communist party members who seek to overthrow the government by force and violence.

The proposal, if adopted, would open the door to prosecution of all party members under the Smith Act. The maximum penalty on conviction is a $10,000 fine and imprisonment for 10 years.

It was among nine recommendations submitted to the House in advance of the committee's annual report on investigations and hearings during the past year.

Recommendation Withheld The committee withheld one recommendation it has made in the past — to outlaw the Communist party as an international conspiracy.

It noted that the subversive activities control board's finding that the party is "subversive" is subject to court review, and said it is holding up a specific recommendation pending a Supreme Court decision.

The "Communists-are-conspirators" proposal would make it easier to prosecute party members for seeking to teach and advocate overthrow of the government by force and violence.

It would amend the Smith Act to make "proof of membership" in the party evidence, per se, that the law has been violated. The government now must prove that a person was aware of the Communist conspiracy when he joined the party and that he "wittingly" engaged in an overt act to further the party's aims.

Burdett Shifted Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) said the proposal would "shift the burden of proof" from the government to defendants. Instead of the government trying to prove he engaged in a conspiracy, the defendant would have to prove that he did not.

The committee said there is "ever-increasing evidence of the clear and present danger" from the worldwide Communist conspiracy and Congress should seriously consider if outlawing the party is "the ultimate solution."

All men who enjoy horseback riding are invited to attend. Sheriff Gus Dorman who has been contacting local riders said, "All men of the Shamrock area who like to ride are urged to meet with us and help us get organized." Primary purpose of the Sheriff's Posse will be the promotion of interest in riding and roping, said Dorman, but it is also contemplates the organization may be called on occasionally for more serious business. "We are especially anxious to get organized in time to participate in the St. Patrick's Day parade," he said.

Boys Club Boxing Coach Former Wrestling Aspirant

By ED NASH
Pampa News Staff Writer

T. J. Watt, head roustabout for Stanolind Oil and Gas Company, has been making a round trip between Skellytown and Pampa a good part of the days of the week for the last five years.

But it's had nothing to do with his job. And he's not been paid a cent for the traveling.

For the slender, blue-eyed oilman is the coach for some 30 kids who work out with the Pampa Boys Club boxing team.

"I've always liked to mess with it," Watt said Saturday, lounging against the ropes around the ring in the Boys Club's new home at 215 S. DuPuy.

The brown-stone front and the white entrance door that needs a paint job belie what is inside and what Watt has been doing.

Indeed, what he has been doing resulted in nine Pampa members of the club being entered Saturday night in Amarillo's regional Golden Gloves finals.

THE NAMES of the finalists and their weights were: Tommy Luna (105), Jerry Lamar and Raul (Rabbit) Ramirez (both 112), Jesse Ring (126), Don Fagan (135), Bobby Wilhelm (147), J. N. Wright (155), Tommy Richardson (160) and Bob Prigmore (175 and above).

Several of the younger kids in the Pampa fight game gathered around as Watt, who is 38 and came here in the 1923 oil boom days, talked about his past experience in boxing, some of the places he'd had to coach the kids in the last five years and the present make-up of the Boys Club.

Pushing his red leather cap back on his head, Watt stated he'd done some fighting in the past, when he was attending Skellytown, White Deer and Pampa schools (he was graduated from Pampa High School).

"I fought in high school and couple of years afterward," he recalled. All of it was amateur.

But the only reason he ever got into the boxing game was that wrestling "kinds died down" in these parts. Proof of his wrestling days is in his two "cauliflower" ears. "I had 'em fixed by the time I was 17."

NOW HE'S GOT his two sons interested in boxing. Matter of fact, one of them, Gary, 15, "must have about eight trophies," Watt says. "He's been boxing since he was 8. He got started a little late. Watt said, because of a tumor in his neck. His other boxing son is Carson, aged 5. He's been at it a while."

Formerly he was the old Pampa Daily News building at Foster and Somerville. But a couple of buildings back, they used to hold club in Venus Colton's garage. There "were too many kids," he recalled. "Had a pretty good year, though," Watt added.

The club's boxing coach lives two miles west and three miles north of Skellytown in the Stanolind camp and thinks nothing of making the trip back and forth to Pampa. Early in the season he made it five times a week, now maybe a little less often.

Either Ollie Wilhelm or J. T. Ring, both of whom had sons entered in Amarillo Saturday night, can be on hand and Watt doesn't have to be present. The two are his assistants.

BUT ACTUALLY everyone in the club — the directors, that is — is an assistant and helps out when needed, the coach pointed out. On the board of directors are Joe Donaldson (president), Ham Luna (treasurer), Warren Hassel, Dean James (the keeper of the statistics), Bill Cooper, Coy Palmer, Wilhelm, Ring, John Campbell (vice president and secretary), Watt, A. L. (Red) Weathered and Jack Vaughn.

Each of them has a job to do, Watt continued, adding that when the club was incorporated it was made strictly a non-profit organization. "We've taken it easy and tried to make sure it (the club) is being built up right."

The year 1953 was the first year that Pampa businessmen really seemed to get behind the project, the coach went on. And, indeed, three of the club members went to the state Golden Gloves tourney in Fort Worth. They and their weights were Elmo Bams (115), Jimmy Thompson (118) and Dick Murray (175). It was the first time that anyone had gone to state from Pampa.

"WE HOPE to send some to state this year," Watt said Saturday with an eye toward that night's regional GG finals. Hundreds of Pampans witnessed the district GG tourney in Pampa a few weeks back and many of them have been over in Amarillo for the regional this last week.

The Pampa club has had some 14 or 15 young boxers in the Amarillo meet. Any of them making the state GG tourney will be in Fort Worth Feb. 17-22. From there it's Chicago and the national GG meet, slated about March 1.

No sooner do the Pampa clubbers get finished fighting in Amarillo, though, than they get started preparing for the tourney with the Roswell (N. M.) Military Institute, scheduled Saturday in Pampa.

Though Watt himself is interested mainly in boxing, he can see — in the future — lots of other activities for the Pampa Boys Club.

Among them are a television set and ping-pong tables in the club's new quarters — and some baseball.

TV STAGE RADIO RECORDS PEOPLE

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Steady viewer's complaint: TV hucksters peddle bear lip-stick that will never smear; Ways to cut your income tax; how to keep things bright with wax; Cereals that murmur low; pills that help your blood to flow; Machines that wash and some that dry; devices that will roast and fry; Cigarettes that cut your coughin' — but why must they be on so often?

William Bendix is in "The Life of Riley," but don't ever accuse him of leading it. Bill debunked that idea, as he magically made a slice of roast beef (rare) vanish in three bites.

"Look," he said, "we film two shows a week, three days to a show. That's six days working straight through from eight to six. We do that for eight or nine weeks, then we take two weeks off."

During those weeks of solid work, Bill has to go to bed punctually at 8:30 every night, something not included in the usual life of Riley.

"It kills our social life," said Tess Bendix, Bill's charming wife. "It nearly kills me." Bill groaned, "but I gotta do it."

During the two weeks off, does the life of Bendix improve?

"Ha," said Bill. "You know what I do then? I just collapse and sleep. Two weeks of nothing but collapsing and sleeping."

"Ha, yourself," said Tess. "You know what he does? He goes to the studio anyway. He works."

"No more," said Bill. "Next time nothing but sleep."

"I've heard that before," said Tess.

"This time I mean it," said Bill. As you can see, this is one of Hollywood's happiest couples, despite Bill's delight in an old joke. He tells everyone that he and Tess made a pact, when they were first married.

"I told her," Bill said, deadpan, "that I'd make all the big decisions and she could make all the small decisions. Only trouble is, in 35 years, we haven't had any big decisions yet."

Groucho Marx admires the adaptability of his brother Harpo.

"He's the best adjusted man in the world," Groucho says. "If a flood comes, he'll be riding houses like he's never done anything in his life but ride houses."

"The Caine Mutiny Court Martial" is off to a long Broadway run to the accompaniment of some of the wildest raves the New York critics have ever unleashed. These are the all-out adjectives the first-nighters used — Atkinson (Times); Shattering, Chapman (News); Taut, terse; Kerr (Herald & Tribune); Thrilling; Coleman (Mirror); Magnificent; Hawkins (World & Telegram & Sun); Brilliantly exciting; Waits (Post); Powerful, impressive; McClain (Journal-American); Magnificent.

Stars Henry Fonda, Lloyd Nolan and John Hodiak shared about equally in the praise. Fonda was called superb, artful, moving, explosive. Nolan rated words like masterly, tremendous, astute, immense. Arthur Herman Weisk's script was called great.

Final verdict: "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial," and its stars, should corner most of the prizes this year. It'll be around a long time.

Broadway's going soft. The Morosco, a legitimate theater, is installing divans in place of regular seats in its first seven rows. This will make it the second theater so equipped. They're two-seaters, like love seats.

They'll cost you $7.50 a ticket, or $15.00 per two, which isn't a bad price for a couple of hours out of a love seat.

But only one row back, the regular, hard seats go for $4.50, so $3 is the difference between sofa and suffer.

PICTURE NEWS

AROUND THE WORLD

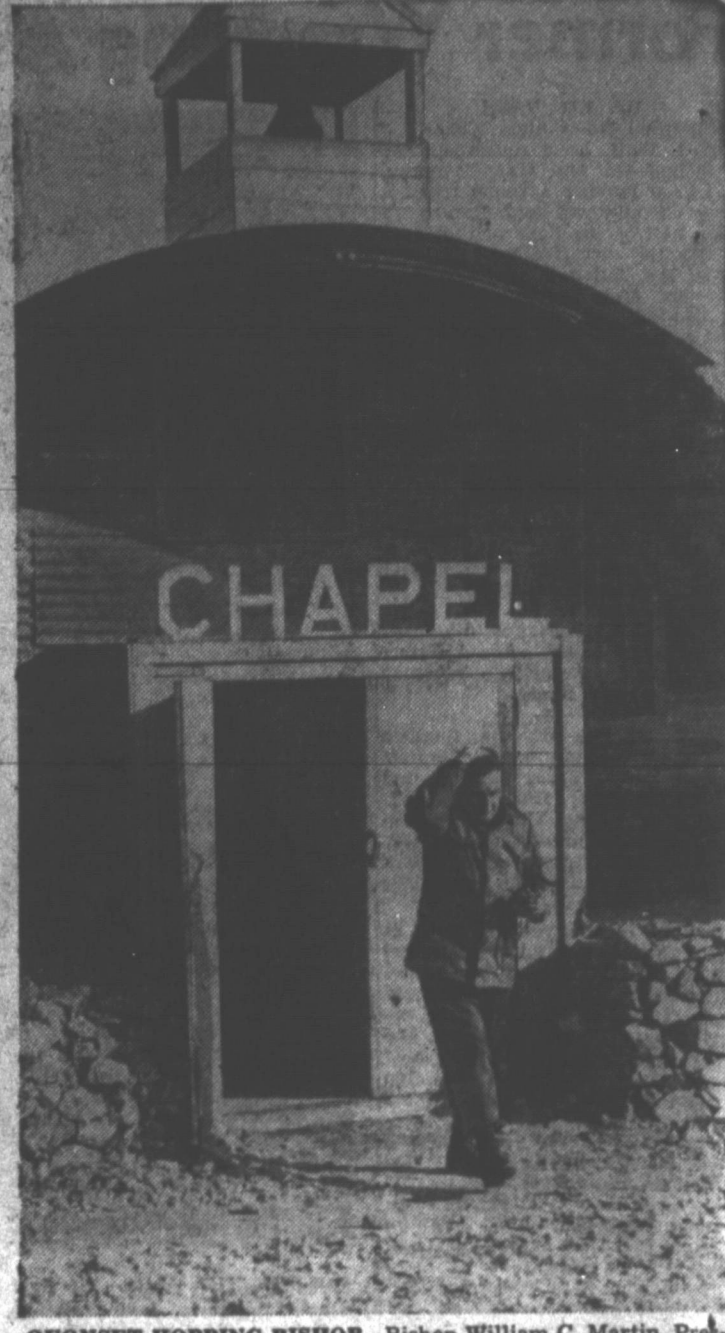

SHIPS "AT SEA"—Two ships, one listing to port and the other to starboard, were left high and almost dry after running aground. The Dutch vessel Berend-N beached when a cargo of china clay shifted while she was en route to Holland, top photo. With the aid of tugs, she finally made it to Southampton, England. Below, tugs strain against five-inch cables to free the stranded Greek tanker Leros after it grounded in the German North Sea. Both ships were victims of a storm which blasted Europe for a week.

HOLD TIGHT!—Three little "Alices" have apparently stepped laughingly through the "looking glass" to give chase to a "dormouse" at a Mad Hatter's Tea Party in London. Dancer Anita Landa is the dormouse in question and she and members of a dance troupe entertained a group of youngsters.

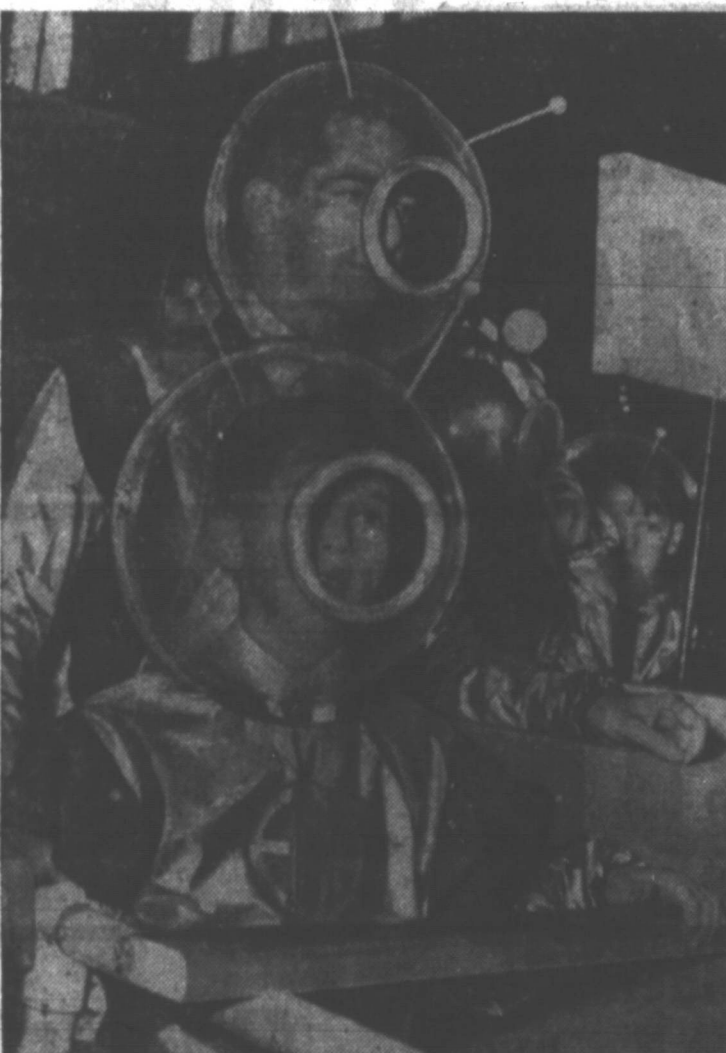

IT'S COLD INSIDE, TOO—Icicles hang from clothing in a store that was destroyed by fire in Duluth, Minn. Freezing weather turned fire hose water to ice soon after it was poured into the building and this was the result. The blaze consumed four buildings and a photo studio before being controlled.

QUONSET-HOPPING BISHOP—Bishop William C. Martin, President of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in America, is hurrying out of a chapel in Korea to rush to another service. Bishop Martin, from Dallas, Tex., is visiting GIs and preaching his way across the Korean peninsula. He's on a tour of all service installations and is shown leaving the 43rd Division Chapel.

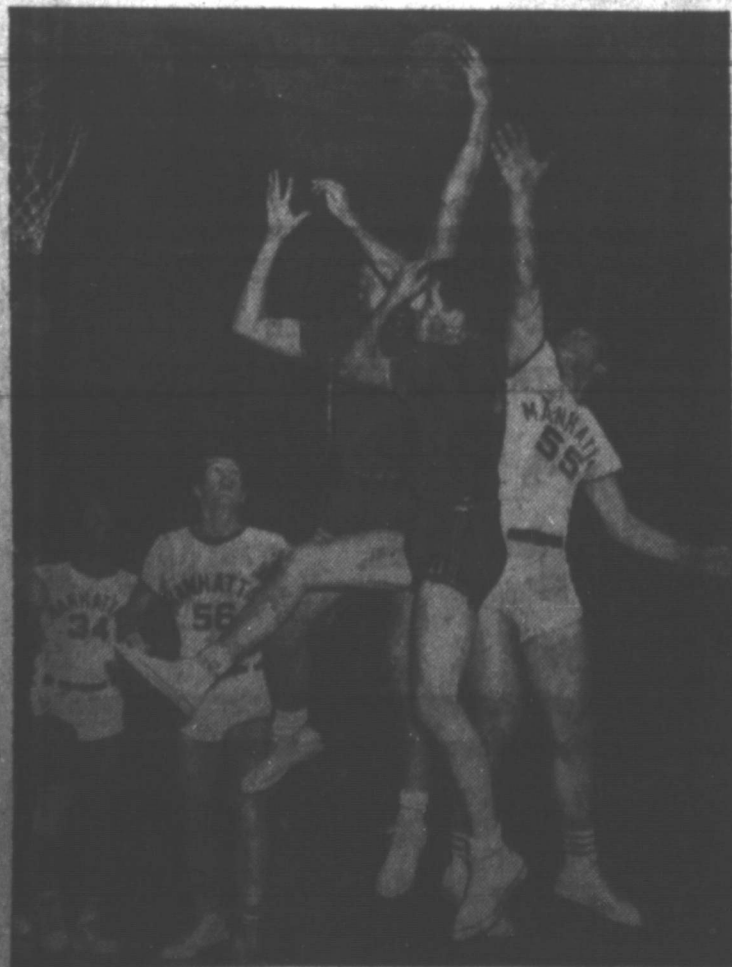

HAPPY HUNTING!—Carl Reimann is showing Josnne, his eight-year-old daughter, the carcass of a 317-pound bear he shot while on a rabbit-hunting expedition in Wisconsin. Reimann, whose home is in Chicago, killed the bear at 75 yards with a .25-caliber rifle. He intends to have a rug made out of the animal's remains, which he couldn't have done with one of those rabbits.

ROYALTY AT PLAY—Ex-King Peter of Yugoslavia and his eight-year-old son, Prince Alexander, left, are wearing futuristic suits with antennas atop plastic helmets as they visit an exhibition in London. In Athens, Greece, Her Royal Highness Princess Irene, 11, right, is as happy as can be as she visits a circus and holds a baby tiger. Her sister, Princess Sophia, 15, is at left.

CANINE GRATITUDE—Six-year-old Ronald Terry paid heavily in Los Angeles for his dash into the street to save Blackie, a dog, from getting run over. The lad got a broken leg and fractured skull for his pains. A visit to the hospital by Blackie, and Ronald's mother, Lois, assured the boy, however, that things were all right with everyone else and his efforts were not in vain.

ANYBODY'S BALL—Going after a rebound in the second quarter of a game between Manhattan College and La Salle are the latter's Charles Greenberg, in black uniform facing camera, Tom Gola, and Manhattan's Willard Doren (53). Coming up in the background are Manhattan's Jim Lake (34) and Jack Pascal (56). La Salle Explorers won the Madison Square Garden game, 69-60.

NEW LESSONS—Receiving instructions from his teacher via a miniature ultra-short-wave radio, a partially deaf and dumb boy writes on his slate in Cologne, Germany. The miniature receiver allows for individual adjustment in volume, and each pupil can regulate it to his own degree of deafness. This may be an undisguised blessing.

SHOOTING EACH OTHER—Ernst Elsigan, a newsreel cameraman, is shooting a target's eye view of this hand-guided missile act for a movie in Hamburg, Germany. In these days of 3-D, swords, knives and other things must be thrown at the customer and Elsigan takes the customers' place during the actual filming.

SHE'S GOT IT—It isn't difficult for singing star Mary McCarty to show she has other things beside talent to offer an admiring public. Mary proves here that she can hold her own in the cheesecake department, too. She's shown as she appears in a new Hollywood picture in which she's Jane Russell's singing pal.

GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS—At the NBC studios in New York, Milton Berle and his guest star, Gloria Swanson, realized that all work and no play is just too much for anybody. Nevertheless, very little play is possible during a rehearsal, and Berle and the ever-glorious Gloria were lucky to get a moment's rest.

Lions Club Looking Forward To Its Annual Minstrel Show

By WALT SWITZER
Pampa News Staff Writer

With the time rapidly approaching for the annual Lions Club Minstrel, officials of the show recall many of the highlights and personalities of past performances down through the years since its inception in 1932.

This year's performance will be held Feb. 25-26 in the Junior High School auditorium under the direction of Bunny Shultz, with Ed Myatt serving as business manager.

MINSTREL OFFICIALS — Rehearsals will get underway Monday at 7:30 p.m. for the 1954 edition of the annual Lions Club Minstrel, which will be presented on the nights of Feb. 25-26 in the Junior High School auditorium. Two of the officials of the show who are shown above, left to right, are Bunny Shultz, director, and Ed Myatt, business manager. (News Photos)

Officials recall that the first director of the show was the late John Sturgeon. Other directors have included Ken Bennett, E. O. Wedgeworth and others. An out-of-town director was used two years, but show officials decided to discontinue this practice and returned to local talent. Shultz has directed two previous shows.

The popular show has presented such prominent Pampa personalities as Carl Benfield, Art Teed and Wedgeworth as interlocutors and such outstanding and men as Harry Kelley and Harold Payne.

Also there have been such stars as Roy Bourland, Aaron Sturgeon, John Hesse, the late Dr. H. L. Wilder, Jimmy McCune (alias Larry May Flowers), Phil Harvey (alias Bones R. Akin), Shultz and Dr. Malcolm Brown (alias Slinky Stinkum Good).

Then there were men such as Ham Luna and Paul Brown who performed backstage duties, while Charlie Thut and Bob Thompson have always been available for duty in the ticket selling department, along with the late Dr. Roy Webb, the officials recalled.

They pointed out that they couldn't forget the Dixieland Jazz bands of the past, with such performers as Bennett, piano; Jerry Thomas, drums, Mack Hiatt, clarinet; Wesley Geiger, alto saxophone; Emmett Lane, tenor saxophone; H. C. Hudson and Wedgeworth, trombones; Prozy Sims, bass; Tommy Atkins, guitar and banjo; Earl Wilbur and Lowell Stark, trumpet; Irvin Schwartz, saxophone, and Ann Jordan and Ed Holland, piano. The appearance of these bands has annually been one of the highlights of the show. Elaborate stage scenes have been used each year, with such as Luna and B. L. Parker playing a big part in the preparation of these scenes.

One of the unforgettable performances in recent years was that of Don McFall, who "wowed" the audience with his "hot banjo" and his boutonniere, which glittered with the use of a battery-flash light apparatus.

The officials said that another part of the show that will be long remembered was the act in which Early May Flowers (McCune) was literally hauled off the stage by the trash man (Clarence Kennedy) for telling risqué stories.

For the past several years the performance of the dancing feet of Dapper Dan the Minstrel Man (Max Presnell) has been one of the outstanding features and is expected to be included in this year's show.

Other acts to be remembered were Dr. Brown's alligator story, Chick Hickman singing "Carolina in the Morning," Dr. Wilder's rendition of "Lil Lisa Jane," and Pappy Branson's "Mighty Lak a Rose," which "brought tears to the eyes of those in the audience."

Others who have played an important part in the minstrel are Dr. N. L. Nicholl, who has been in charge of lighting and curtain, the Capertites, dancing girls from Texas State College for Women in Denton, Irma Francis Warren, who played the part of Sweet Georgia Brown; Jackie Dunham, the Mississippi Mud Gals (Jo Dee Hardin, Dorothy Meers and Charlotte Alston) and the original Melody Menders (Knox Bartee, Red Payne, Curly Minniear and Dr. Calvin Jones).

There have been many others, too numerous to mention, who have had a big part in making the show the popular success into which it has grown in its 22-year history, officials said.

They are looking forward to an even greater show this year.

Southwest Men Declared Dead

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 — UP — Thirteen men from the Southwest were declared officially dead by the Army Saturday after being missing in action in Korea for more than a year.

The Army said evidence exists that the men are no longer alive. They were:

Arkansas — Cpl. Dale Robinson Garrison, son of Mrs. Mary E. Garrison, Route 4, Springdale, and Cpl. Henry Franklin Johnson, son of Mrs. Alice Johnson, Blackwell.

Kansas — Lt. Col. James Pella Hill, husband of Mrs. Doris C. Hill, c/o Frank Roeser, 605 Avenue B, Dodge City, and Cpl. James Milford Liggett, son of Mrs. S. J. Liggett, Peabody.

Bug Indicator Is Accurate

WEST RICHFIELD, Ohio, Jan. 30 — UP — Six more weeks of winter remain, but already the Bangs corner bug barometer and its interpreter, Miss Eunice Merton, have proved their weather predictions accurate.

The semi-annual reading by Miss Merton last fall called for a lighter winter. "Though an unusually beautiful autumn is in store this year," she said, "it will betray its promise and claw you from stem to stern with one of the wildest-swinging winters you will ever have to suffer through."

And so it has been. Blizzard has followed on zero weather, leaving much of the nation rocking on its heels awaiting the next blow.

"But don't judge till the winter is over," Miss Merton warned. "There's six weeks still to go. Now that the year is at its end, it is a time for peace, not predicting."

Her fall forecast read the width of black stripes on woolly caterpillars, the color of the berries on the shrubs and the call of the birds to gain insight. All omens pointed to a severe winter.

"Now in the very deep of winter," she said, "it is time to sit close to the fire and braid old woolens, then sew the pigtail into thick warm rugs for the morning step from bed."

"The boys at work in the barn these days, feeding, cleaning and repairing. The manure must be spread on the frozen fields. The pens must be ready for lambing coming soon."

But nature was not all in hibernation awaiting spring.

"Across the gien," Miss Merton said, "we watch the possum pursue her prehistoric way. Prints like baby hands in the snow show where the raccoon came to the door last night."

Harvesters Breeze Past Bobcats For 47th Win In Row, 77-51

Win Keeps PHS In I-AAAA Lead

San Angelo's Bobcats became the 47th straight victim of the Huslin Harvesters last night when the San Angeloans dropped a 77-51 decision to the Green and Golders at Harvesters Fieldhouse.

The win was the 19th in as many starts for the Harvesters this year including a 9-4 record in District I-AAAA play. The McNeely team remained one game ahead of Amarillo who fanned Midland last night for their eighth win in nine district outings.

The Harvesters were never in trouble last night after jumping ahead 11-4 midway through the first period. The Pampans went on to hold quarterly leads of 24-10, 46-23 and 64-29.

Gary Griffin, junior forward, led the Harvesters attack with 20 tallies although he was only in the game for about three quarters. E. Jay McVain pumped 17 points through the nets. Jimmy Bond 15 and Harold Lewis 10 to aid the Harvesters cause.

Milton Nickle paced the Bobcats with 14 points, all coming in the final quarter. Nickle, the Bobcat high scorer, drew a blank while starting guard Kenny Hinkle of the Harvesters was guarding him through the first three periods.

Hinkle, however, was lifted at the start of the fourth quarter and Nickle ran wild against the reserves, hitting five from the floor and four from the grating line.

San Angelo led on two occasions last night, both times in the first 3:30 minutes of play. Bobby Joe Walker gave the Bobcats a 2-4 lead after one minute of play and after Hinkle hit a long one hand set shot and Griffin added a free toss for a 3-2 Harvesters lead. Don Tammen put the Bobcats in the lead, 4-3, for the last time.

The Harvesters went ahead for good on a field goal by George Depee after 1:40 minutes of playing time, 5-4. Three rapid fire field goals by Griffin, one by McVain and another by Griffin gave the Harvesters a 15-4 lead with three minutes left in the initial quarter. After that the ultimate outcome was never in doubt.

The Green and Golders enjoyed a good night on their shooting, hitting 21 out of 28 tries for 44 per cent. San Angelo also had a fair night with 44.7 per cent, connecting on 21 of 47 shots. The Bobcats made 80 per cent of their shots in the first quarter, shooting five times and making four. The best quarter for the Harvesters was at the three quarter stage when the winners led by 35 points, 44-9. With reserves sprinkling the lineup throughout the fourth, the Bobcats closed the gap but it was far too late.

The 51 points scored by the Bobcats in last night's tilt was only the third time this season that a Harvesters foe has gone over the 50 mark. The other two were Amarillo and Borger.

The Harvesters will be at home again next week when they host the Midland Bulldogs Friday night and the Odessa Broncs Saturday night.

Sandstorm Rolls Past Midland

MIDLAND, Jan. 30 — (Special) — Amarillo's Sandies kept close on the heels of the Pampa Harvesters here Saturday night with a resounding 74-60 victory over the hapless Midland Bulldogs in a District I-AAAA tilt.

It was the eighth win in nine starts for the Sandies in 1-1A play. For Midland it was their eighth consecutive loss in conference action.

Kenneth Hutto led the Sandies here Saturday night with 20 points. Bob Farrell was next in line for the winners with 12.

Tom Dyer with 11 and Joe Nicholson with 10 were leading Bulldog scorers.

Amarillo was in command all the way. They led quarterly, 20-10, 35-25, 55-38 and 74-60.

The Sandies shot 55 times and made 31 for 56 per cent while Midland made only 14 of 42 for 33 per cent.

Amarillo thus made a clean sweep over the weekend, the Sandies having won Odessa Friday night, 48-31.

Sarazen Captures PGA Tournament

DUNDEEN, Fla., Jan. 30 — (UP) — Gentleman Gene Sarazen from Germantown, N. Y., fired a birdie on the 14th hole Saturday to capture the $5,000 senior PGA tournament with a 54-hole total of 214.

It was the eighth win in nine starts for the Sarazens in 1-1A play. For Sarazen it was his eighth consecutive win in conference action.

But the knicker-dressed veteran had to save off the last minute surge of Al Watrous of Birmingham, Mich., and Perry Del Vecchio of Pittsburgh. They shot a 74 and 75 respectively for a total of 219 each and a second place tie.

Sarazen, who shot a 75 Saturday, scored his birdie after Watrous had double-bogeyed the par-four 14th hole. The birdie gave him his final two stroke advantage. First place was worth $1,000 in cash for Sarazen and an all-expense paid trip to England to meet the British senior champion.

Baylor Quintet Clips OCU, 63-55

WACO, Tex., Jan. 30 — (UP) — Baylor outshouted a fast-breaking Oklahoma University team Saturday night to wind up on top, 63 to 55 in a non-conference game. The Bears went ahead 9 to 7 to stay early in the first quarter on a long run by forward Murray Bailey.

The Sooners' speedy floor game held the Bears to a 17 to 11 first-period margin. In the second quarter, Bailey's bucket from far out and a jump shot by Jerry Jordan ignited a Baylor scoring spree. The Bears hit from all angles and raced to a 36 to 23 halftime score.

Oklahoma maintained a full-court press over the Baptists during the entire second half, but it was to no avail. At one time in the middle of the third quarter, Baylor held a 15 point margin.

All of the Sooners' last 19 points were made by the free-throw route. Coach Bill Henderson alternated Dan Dickson, Louis Estes, and Fred Gottlieb at the center spot with all of them turning in a creditable performance.

Although Bailey fouled out with five minutes remaining in the contest, he managed to score 14 points. Gottlieb got 10, while Captain Tommy Sammons bucketed eight. Bob Walker netted 13 for Oklahoma.

Haas, Winger Tied After 3 Rounds At Palm Springs

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Jan. 30 — (UP) — Fred Haas Jr., the slim New Orleans shot maker, fired a five-under-par 68 Saturday to pull into a tie with longshot Bo Winger of Oklahoma at the three-quarter mark of the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational golf tournament.

Haas added his 68 to earlier rounds of 65 and 66 for a total of 199. Winger, who had a 69 and a 70, had a total of 200.

Winger, who had a 69 and a 70, had a total of 200.

Harrison Withdraws With Injured Back

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Jan. 30 — (UP) — E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, pro leader at the halfway mark, withdrew from the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational golf tournament Saturday with an injured back that may keep him out of the game for months.

As the 35 remaining professionals battled to overtake Bo Winger, the other pro leader, Harrison barked in the sun. He announced he would pass up the Phoenix, Ariz., open next week and possibly all tournaments between now and the Masters at Augusta, Ga., on the rich tournament of champions at Las Vegas, Nev., in April.

Meanwhile, the rest of the field started slashing into Winger's lead. At the end of five holes today, Jim Ferrier had gained two strokes to tie for the leadership.

Among the early finishers, Ed (Porky) Oliver had the best score, finishing with a 68. However, he was 15 strokes off the pace before Saturday's round started. Julius Horne had a 69 and Ed Dudley a 67 and both were out of contention.

The decision to quit the tournament was a tough one for Harrison to make. The Ardmore, Okla., pro had won $5,075 already during the month of January and stood a good chance to annex this one. He had knocked over five money in the Bing Crosby tournament and the San Diego open.

Joe Chisum Gets First Local Ace

Joe Chisum, junior student at Pampa High School, carded the first hole-in-one in the Pampa Country Club course for 1954 Friday afternoon.

(Chisum aced the 155-yard No. 16 hole. The Harvesters gotter used a six iron for his eagle one.)

Playing with Chisum at the time of his ace were Sammy Housh, Jerry Boston, Jr., and Bill McLeod.

Lane Throws Verbal Blast At Stengel

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 — (UP) — Frank Lane of the White Sox bluntly told Casey Stengel to "mind his own business" Saturday while angrily blasting back at the Yankee manager for "trying to run Chicago's affairs."

Stengel stirred the embers of a long smoldering Yankee-White Sox feud after accepting a Sports Magazine plaque as man of the year in sports Friday. He criticized Lane for failure to develop young players and for his alleged reference to "Yankee luck."

"I'm glad Stengel has time to run as well as his own," Lane sagged once to Stengel. "I'd be glad to see him get a thick-headed guy."

Paying the Yankees their due, Lane admitted they have "a splendid five-year record. But," he added, "the next five years may not be so splendid."

Turning to his own ball club, Lane, outpoken Lane, who is recognized as one of the most capable front office men in baseball, said that the White Sox have "an excellent chance" of ending the Yankee domination this year.

Cards To 'Restudy' Game Broadcasts

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 — (UP) — The St. Louis Cardinals agreed Saturday to "reconsider" their plan for an extended network of radio and television broadcasts into minor league territory after George Trautman, head of the minors, protested vigorously that "you are hastening our doom."

Dick Meyer, general manager of the Cardinals, met with Trautman to explore the matter further, although "I don't know if we can change our plans."

Trautman, who said he was prompted mainly by the Cardinal action, appeared before a joint meeting of the major leagues and minor league territory with broad-casts and telecasts of major league games.

Highlight of Meet — That was the highlight of the major league meetings in which member of the special pension committee, stated that "the club owners at no time have harbored any thoughts of stopping the pension plan, and that there was no serious disagreement with the players on any phase of it."

Greenberg and John Galbreath of Pittsburgh, the other member of the committee, reported to the meeting in Cleveland of their policy in which the player representatives, Alis Reynolds and Ralph Kiser, presented a number of proposals to change the plan.

"It was a friendly meeting in which we realized we had mutual interests," he said.

Wilmington Decisions Defending Champ

AMARILLO, Jan. 30 — (Special) — The Odessa Broncs surprised the Lubbock Westerners here Saturday night in a District I-AAAA cage contest, 62-50.

Carl Schlemeyer led the Broncs with 22 points, 16 of them coming from the free throw line. Roy Davis tossed in 15 points for the Broncs.

Dale Ball led the Westerners with 19 points, 11 of which were free throws. Six-eight Lyle Harger had 15 for the losers.

The game was rough and tumble affair throughout. Fifty-six fouls were called in the game, 29 against Lubbock and 27 against Odessa. Each team lost three players via the personal foul route.

Odessa led after one quarter of play, 22-16, but the Westerners retaliated to go ahead at halftime, 34-32. The Broncs, however, regained the lead at the three-quarter mark, 46-42, and then hung on for the victory.

The loss was the first for the Westerners in their last six starts. Lubbock downed Midland Friday night, 72-40, for their fifth straight win.

Frogs Upset SMU, 85-84

DALLAS, Jan. 30 — (UP) — Texas Christian held its own over the Southern Methodist Mustangs Saturday night, upsetting the Methodists 85 to 84 and pouring cold water on SMU's chances of catching conference-leading Texas.

It was the seventh straight win for TCU over SMU in as many encounters. The Frogs came from behind a 43 to 41 half-time score for their victory Saturday night.

Hank Ohlen, TCU's dynamic center, led the way with 34 points.

SMU got hold of the ball in the last second of the game, but was unable to tie the score or go ahead. Ronnie Morris counted 23 for the Methodists. Derrell Murphy, SMU stalwart, played only three minutes because of an injury received previous to the game.

Until Saturday night, the Mustangs held a 2-1 record over the Frogs. After TCU's upset victory the Mustangs stood little chance of Southwestern conference with four wins and no losses.

The victory gives defending conference champion TCU a 3-2 mark.

Tulsa Jolts Bills, 75-71

TULSA, Jan. 30 — (UP) — The Hurricane upset St. Louis University 75 to 71 before a crowd of 3,400 Saturday night with rebounding and magnificent defensive play by sophomore forward J. C. Duncan.

Duncan, assigned to the Billings star forward, Dick Boushka, held the ace scorer to one point in the first period and blanked him in the third.

Boushka, just returned to the lineup after an illness, escaped foul out after scoring three in the fourth for a game total of 15.

Tulsa led all the way, taking a 20-7 first period advantage. Boushka's one spree made it a close 34-31 at the half, but Tulsa was on top by a cozy 57 to 44 after the third.

Bob Patterson hit 21 points for the Hurricane. Dick Courter added 15, and Dick Nunneley added 15 for account for most of the winners' total.

The loss all but knocked St. Louis out of the Missouri Valley Conference race, giving it a 2-2 record. It was Tulsa's first league conquest in four starts.

Points 65-47

— (Special) — The Odessa Broncs downed the Lubbock Westerners here Saturday night in a District I-AAAA cage contest, 65-47.

Carl Schlemeyer led the Broncs with 22 points, 16 of them coming from the free throw line. Roy Davis tossed in 15 points for the Broncs.

Dale Ball led the Westerners with 19 points, 11 of which were free throws. Six-eight Lyle Harger had 15 for the losers.

MAKING IT OFFICIAL — Doug Lewis, with pen, is showing 1954 managerial contract for the Pampa Oilers at the Schneider Hotel Saturday while business manager Jimmy Hamilton looks on. Lewis To Manage 1954 Pamp Oilers

Doug Lewis, popular first baseman for the Pampa Oilers last year, has been named the other manager for the 1954 season, business manager Jimmy Hamilton revealed Saturday.

Lewis, who has been working out of Amarillo during the off season, will be managing the Oilers in the East-West All-Star game in mid-season.

Lewis will begin his duties with the Oilers this year around March 10th. He will attend the spring drills of the Oklahoma Oilers a couple of weeks before the Oilers in the East-West All-Star game.

The Oilers will hold spring training at home this year. Lewis will be in charge of the Oilers on March 25 and the Oilers will play their first game on April 1.

The Oilers already have spring exhibition games with still more to be played this spring. Lewis will be against the Amarillo Oilers Park.

Then the Oilers will play in the East-West All-Star game, April 7, at Amarillo, and then return home to Lubbock, April 13, and Clovis, April 16-17.

Some games with Bob Williams will be added to the spring schedule. Amarillo, Clovis will also hold spring training at home this year.

A Texas League exhibit will be played at Oiler Park, between the Oklahoma Oilers and Dallas Easterners. Lewis will be in charge of the Oilers in the exhibit.

Three Oilers who finished the season here last year have been added to the roster. They are Ed Williams, who pitched for the Oilers last year, and pitcher Max Melberg, third baseman Manny Torres and outfielder Eddie Krewell is in the Oilers.

Woldt, is still the property of the Oilers but the Decker may play this season due to his injury. Woldt is the base coach at Pampa High School. He will be able to report until the end of the season.

Stops Dub Woolbright and Robertson, who divided time in the field at the end of last year, are expected to be in the Oilers this season. Robertson is due to report to the Oilers for a year of seasoning.

Manager Hamilton said ticket books will be available in about a week or two.

Going to put on a pre-ket selling drive in order to help the Oilers. Hamilton said.

Lewis will be sold for book which contains one for each home game. A will be transferable, said.

Lewis will have one of fellows both on and off the field. I'm sure the Pampans will get behind Doug in this coming season," said.

Lewis has been a popular leader in the league. He spent with Amarillo before he came to the Oilers. He played in the Class League, Lewis spent a half with the Oilers bought Doug's middle of the 1952 season. Lewis played every game of the Oilers' 142-100 record last year.

Lewis has the 400 batting average of the Oilers. He was a late season star but a late season slump hit him down to a still .387 figure. The big element of Lewis for a new league record.

Haas, Winger Tied After 3 Rounds At Palm Springs

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Jan. 30 — (UP) — Fred Haas Jr., the slim New Orleans shot maker, fired a five-under-par 68 Saturday to pull into a tie with longshot Bo Winger of Oklahoma at the three-quarter mark of the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational golf tournament.

Haas added his 68 to earlier rounds of 65 and 66 for a total of 199. Winger, who had a 69 and a 70, had a total of 200.

Winger, who had a 69 and a 70, had a total of 200.

Harrison Withdraws With Injured Back

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Jan. 30 — (UP) — E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, pro leader at the halfway mark, withdrew from the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational golf tournament Saturday with an injured back that may keep him out of the game for months.

As the 35 remaining professionals battled to overtake Bo Winger, the other pro leader, Harrison barked in the sun. He announced he would pass up the Phoenix, Ariz., open next week and possibly all tournaments between now and the Masters at Augusta, Ga., on the rich tournament of champions at Las Vegas, Nev., in April.

Meanwhile, the rest of the field started slashing into Winger's lead. At the end of five holes today, Jim Ferrier had gained two strokes to tie for the leadership.

Among the early finishers, Ed (Porky) Oliver had the best score, finishing with a 68. However, he was 15 strokes off the pace before Saturday's round started. Julius Horne had a 69 and Ed Dudley a 67 and both were out of contention.

The decision to quit the tournament was a tough one for Harrison to make. The Ardmore, Okla., pro had won $5,075 already during the month of January and stood a good chance to annex this one. He had knocked over five money in the Bing Crosby tournament and the San Diego open.

Joe Chisum Gets First Local Ace

Joe Chisum, junior student at Pampa High School, carded the first hole-in-one in the Pampa Country Club course for 1954 Friday afternoon.

(Chisum aced the 155-yard No. 16 hole. The Harvesters gotter used a six iron for his eagle one.)

Playing with Chisum at the time of his ace were Sammy Housh, Jerry Boston, Jr., and Bill McLeod.

Lane Throws Verbal Blast At Stengel

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 — (UP) — Frank Lane of the White Sox bluntly told Casey Stengel to "mind his own business" Saturday while angrily blasting back at the Yankee manager for "trying to run Chicago's affairs."

Stengel stirred the embers of a long smoldering Yankee-White Sox feud after accepting a Sports Magazine plaque as man of the year in sports Friday. He criticized Lane for failure to develop young players and for his alleged reference to "Yankee luck."

"I'm glad Stengel has time to run as well as his own," Lane sagged once to Stengel. "I'd be glad to see him get a thick-headed guy."

Paying the Yankees their due, Lane admitted they have "a splendid five-year record. But," he added, "the next five years may not be so splendid."

Turning to his own ball club, Lane, outpoken Lane, who is recognized as one of the most capable front office men in baseball, said that the White Sox have "an excellent chance" of ending the Yankee domination this year.

Cards To 'Restudy' Game Broadcasts

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 — (UP) — The St. Louis Cardinals agreed Saturday to "reconsider" their plan for an extended network of radio and television broadcasts into minor league territory after George Trautman, head of the minors, protested vigorously that "you are hastening our doom."

Dick Meyer, general manager of the Cardinals, met with Trautman to explore the matter further, although "I don't know if we can change our plans."

Trautman, who said he was prompted mainly by the Cardinal action, appeared before a joint meeting of the major leagues and minor league territory with broad-casts and telecasts of major league games.

Highlight of Meet — That was the highlight of the major league meetings in which member of the special pension committee, stated that "the club owners at no time have harbored any thoughts of stopping the pension plan, and that there was no serious disagreement with the players on any phase of it."

Greenberg and John Galbreath of Pittsburgh, the other member of the committee, reported to the meeting in Cleveland of their policy in which the player representatives, Alis Reynolds and Ralph Kiser, presented a number of proposals to change the plan.

"It was a friendly meeting in which we realized we had mutual interests," he said.

The loss was the first for the Westerners in their last six starts. Lubbock downed Midland Friday night, 72-40, for their fifth straight win.

Problems To Be Resolved

Greenberg said, "I hope that very soon we will be able to sit down again and discuss matters further. It is our hope that you are hastening our doom."

Trautman spoke before a joint session of the two leagues which had been called by Commissioner Ford Frick expressly to hear him.

"What prompted me to come here was the declaration of war by the Cardinals to go into the territory of the other leagues, the Cardinals, and Houston, along with a number of other clubs, with broadcasts of their games," Trautman said. "These broadcasts are in direct competition with minor league games being played at the same time."

NFL Still At 'War' With Canadians

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 30—UP—The National Football League, dripping harmony, ended its short winter meeting in history Saturday at peace with the government and itself, but still at war with Canada.

The four day meeting, with total of less than 40 hours actually dedicated to league business, included the 15 hour player draft session, closed out with nothing more momentous than an announcement that league games, with the exception of the first weeks of the season, would be played Sundays.

The Canadian question, ignored for the most part during the meeting beyond a report from Bob Snyder, the NFL propagandist without portfolio, still smoldered, however.

That it was ready to burst into flames was shown by Commissioner Bert Bell's statement, "We are not at peace with Canada."

"Bell said, 'In fact, there's a lot of feeling there. Some of teams are ready to deal with Canadian players, and I mean native born Canadians, not American boys who went north.'"

A fast poll of the owners showed some were interested and some were non-committal. Detroit, San Francisco and Los Angeles indicated they "might take a look" at some of the Canadians. Others doubted if many of the northern league players could make the NFL grade.

3 More Dodgers Sign Contracts For '54 Season

BROOKLYN, Jan. 30—Pitchers Clem Labine, Ed Roebuck and Hampton Coleman signed their 1954 contracts with Brooklyn Saturday, bringing the total of Dodger players who have agreed to terms for the coming season to 14.

Of the three, only Labine was with the club last year. He wound up as the top relief pitcher, and compiled the lowest earned-run mark on the staff with 2.78 while winning 11 games and losing six. In relief, he won 10 and lost only four. Coleman won eight and lost four with Montreal last season while Roebuck, with the same club won 15 and lost 14.

Everybody Can Bowl Alley Space Helps To Pick Up Spares

(Tenth of 12 articles written for NEA Service)

By MARION LADEWIG
Four-Time Women's Champion
Concentrating on strikes is something all bowlers like to do.

The trouble is that too many do this to such an extent that they forget picking up spares is still the surest way to score well consistently.

The average bowler misses so many easy spares because he or she doesn't know just which way to shoot to make one. There may be several ways, but one is always better than any other.

Joe Williams, who taught me a great deal about bowling, tells me the three rules for shooting spares are:

1. For a spare on the left side of the alley, roll your ball from the right side.
2. For a spare on the right side, roll your ball from the left side.
3. For a spare in the center of the alley, roll your ball from the center, or as you would in rolling for a strike.

Joe's point is that you should always give yourself plenty of alley space. His rules provide enough. Face the target. Walk toward the target. Follow through to the target.

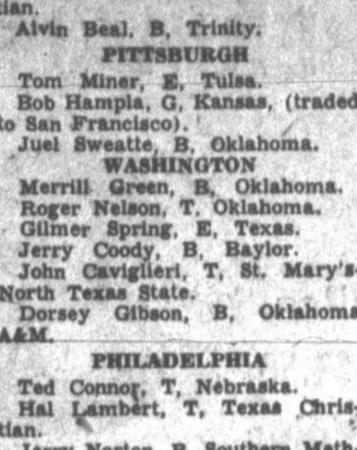

If you expect to build up your scoring, you'll have to learn to pick up spares consistently. The best method is to practice picking up spares which are most difficult for you.

Spend an hour each week, if you can, shooting at nothing but spares.

NEXT: Practice habits.

Tech, Buffs Clash Tuesday At Canyon

LUBBOCK, Jan. 30 — Texas Tech's hopes for its first Border Conference championship since a 1938 rest largely upon the outcome of the Red Raiders' game with West Texas State in Canyon Tuesday night.

Tech holds one non-conference win over the Buffaloes, by a slim 62-61 margin in the West Texas Doubleheaders a month ago.

Recent comparative scores are just as indecisive, more victory to Tech has beaten last year's co-champion, Hardin-Simmons — West Texas by 64-62, Tech by 78-66 over a more crippled Cowboy quintet, West Texas holds two wins over New Mexico A&M, 84-48 and 67-60. Tech's lone win over the New Mexico team was by 80-51 in Lubbock.

West Texas State's other conference game was a 60-52 victory over Texas Western in El Paso. Tech has taken the measure of Arizona State 93-82 and co-champion Arizona 78-62 on the road.

Since Jim Reed, Tech's sophomore forward from Pine Bluff, Ark., regularly draws the other team's top player, he'll probably be assigned the unenviable task of guarding the Buff's Troy Burris, leading scorer in the Border Conference with better than a 20-point average. Reed, third in the conference, is Tech's best scorer with 14.3 per game.

In the December contest, Reed barely outscored the Buff's All-American candidate, 19 to 17.

Besides Reed, Coach Robison's starters will be chosen from among Eugene Carpenter of Big Spring, Carl Ince of Lubbock, Durward Bolding of Mansfield, Jim Sexton of Lubbock, Esten Blackmon of Abertathy, and DuWayne Blackshear of Mountain, N. M.

Tech needs one more victory to equal its number of wins for each of the past four seasons. The Raiders have a 13-2 record with nine games to go. Gus Miller's Buffaloes, now riding a five-game winning streak, have a 9-4 mark.

Schwinger Top SWC Scorer, Averaging 23.6 Per Game

DALLAS, Jan. 30 —UP—Gene Schwinger, Rice's blond scoring ace, leads the Southwest Conference in scoring by a wide margin, but Southern Methodist sophomore Ronnie Morris has the best field goal average; official statistics through Jan. 27 show.

Schwinger has set a terrific scoring pace of 378 points and 23.6 points per game over the full season and 132 points and 22.0 points in loop play. He has taken 309 shots from the court and has averaged 11 rebounds per game in conference contests.

Morris has the best field goal average, having hit 52.6 per cent of his shots from the floor. Schwinger's teammate, Don Lance, leads in free throw accuracy with 82.9 per cent. These figures cover the full season.

Schwinger doesn't rank among the dozen at the foul line, but his field goal average is a healthy 48.9 per cent, third in rank behind Morris' 54.1 and Fred Saunders' 49.4. Fred Saunders, the tall Texas star, also has a 48.3 average.

In conference play, Morris also leads from the court with a 57.1 average with Saunders second at 54.3. Jim King of SMU and Terry Brumby of Rice also have hit 50 per cent or better.

Lance also tops the free throw column in loop play with an amazing 91 per cent — 28 out of 30 — and is led by Tommy Straubinger of Baylor at 88.9. Monte Robicheaux of Rice at 84.6 and Buddy Brumby of TCU at 82.4.

SMU led the team scoring pace in loop play with an average of 33.3 and 33.7 points per game, respectively, followed by Rice with 31.3 and 31.8. Defensively, Texas A&M leads with per game averages of 50.7 and 49.0. Texas has hit 48.9 per cent of its field goal shots to lead over the full season, while SMU is tops in league play with 48.2 per cent. SMU's 72.2 per cent accuracy at the foul line is tops over the full campaign, while Arkansas sets the pace in league play with 69.5.

Johnson Not Ready To Vie For Moore's Title — Slade Says

NEW YORK, Jan. 30—UP—Jimmy Slade, who lost a split decision to highly touted Harold Johnson, said Saturday the top light heavyweight contender was not ready for a title bout with Champion Archie Moore.

And the 1,664 fans who jeeringly watched reluctant Harold in his return 16-round waltz with Slade Friday night at St. Nicholas arena, apparently agreed with Jimmy—justly.

Johnson's split verdict and his reluctance to throw punches certainly did not help the Philadelphia contender's campaign to force Moore, Moore is so much better, there's no comparison," Jimmy said a decision to Moore on Feb. 27, 1952.

Muscular Johnson, 25, who had won impressively over Slade in their previous bout on Jan. 16, 1953, said he thought he won by a fair margin Friday night. But he admitted, "I was slow at 178½ pounds. That was the heaviest I ever weighed for a fight. I do best at about 174 or 175." The lightweight limit is 175.

Slade too was unusually heavy also at 182.

Slade's aggressiveness won the vote of Judge Harold Barnes Friday night. Barnes favored him on rounds 5-4-1. But Judge Joe Eppy had Johnson ahead, 7-3; likewise Referee Al Berl, 5-4-1. The United Press favored Johnson, 7-3.

Collins Becomes 16th Yank To Sign

NEW YORK, Jan. 30—UP—Joe Collins, one of 18 first basemen employed since Casey Stengel became manager of the Yankees, signed his 1954 contract Saturday, becoming the 16th player on the club to accept terms.

Collins, regarded the number one candidate for the Yankee first base job this year, batted .289 in 127 games and smashed 17 home runs last season. Among his competitors for the job will be Eddie Robinson, acquired from the Athletics, Frank Leja, 18-year-old bonus player, and Bill Skowron, who is on the Kansas City roster but will accompany the Yankees to spring training.

Trautman Blasts Cards For Expanding Radio Broadcast

By CARL LUNDQUIST
NEW YORK, Jan. 30—UP—George Trautman, president of the minor leagues, was expected to take the St. Louis Cardinals to task Saturday for expanding their radio network further into minor league territory.

Trautman, who long has contended that big league radio broadcasts do far more damage to minor league attendance than television, asked Commissioner Ford Frick to call a special joint session of the majors Saturday so that he could state his latest case against the Cardinals' current move.

Not only the Cardinals but other clubs have increased their network broadcasts for the 1954 season. The Cardinals are beaming their games directly into their own farm club territory—Rochester in the International League, Columbus in the American Association, Houston in the Texas League and Omaha in the Western League.

Night Games Irksome
What particularly irks Trautman is that most of the Cardinal games are at night when they are in direct conflict with minor league games. And although Cardinal farm officials operating their clubs do not object, the other teams in the leagues do because they feel they will lose a share of visiting gate receipts.

The American League also will meet briefly Saturday and hear a report from Hank Greenberg, its representative on the committee named to investigate the player position plan Greenberg and John Galbraith of the National League met last month with the two players' representatives, Alie Reynolds and Red Kump, and discussed the player demands for increased benefits.

The principal request of the players is to receive a specific two-thirds share of the World Series and all-star game radio and TV money each year. NL Already Met.

The National League owners met Friday to revise their bylaws and announced no other accomplishments from that day long session.

Both major and minor league officials charged on the town for the St. Louis move Saturday when Writers' Union Sunday night when Commissioner Frick is expected to make an important speech to the nature of which he would not disclose.

The Cardinals will present "Buy Cards" with the St. Louis Mercantile award to Paul Krueger, the Yankees' out Paul Krueger will be the St. Louis mercantile award for "big and meritorious service to baseball."

11 Pirates In Fold For 1954

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 30—UP—The Pittsburgh Pirates "contented" list rose to 11 Saturday with the receipt of signed contracts from an outfielder and three rookie pitchers.

Brandy Davis, who played in the 1952 and 1953 seasons, expressed satisfaction with his terms. He lives in Newark, Del.

Davis saw his first major league action as a Pirate in 1952, but was sent to Waco, Tex., for more experience. Last season he was optioned to New Orleans after limited service with the Pirates in the spring.

New Gopher Coach, Warmth To Employ Split-T Formation

STARKVILLE, Miss., Jan. 30—UP—Murray Warmth, plucked from Dixieland to Coach Minnesota in the "cold weather country," said Friday he would take the Split-T formation and his love for fundamentals to his new job.

Warmth, preparing for a trip to Minneapolis to check facilities and meet the Gopher team and school officials, said that beyond that he was as much in the dark as anyone else.

He was named head coach at Minnesota Friday under a four-year contract calling for $15,000 annually.

"We'll use the Split-T, just like we used here at Mississippi State," Warmth said. "I don't know anything yet about the Minnesota material but I plan to meet our players early next week."

Warmth, a 41-year-old ex-pupil of Gen. Bob Neyland at Tennessee, said he wouldn't stick his neck out with a comparison of midwestern and Southeastern Conference football.

Warmth was also an assistant to Col. Red Blaik at Army and the Cadets faced three formidable midwestern teams during the 1949-51 era.

Warmth said he would make plans for spring practice at Minnesota during his visit. He added that announcements of his assistants would be made by Minnesota officials.

THREE PAMPANS — are completing their AF basic airman indoctrination courses at Lackland Air Force Base, the "Gateway to the Air Force." Left to right, they are Rodney Dale Howe, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Howe; Huey Burns, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Burns; and Avron L. Steele, son of Mrs. Janie Steele.

In the Far East aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Oriskany is Billie L. Church, yeoman seaman, U.S. Navy, and Mrs. Leroy H. Church of 1410 W. Aleock st., Pampa.

While in port for routine maintenance, the Oriskany was boarded by a host of movie-land notables. They were aboard to film the movie version of James Mitchener's current novel, "The Bridges at Toko-Ri." Paramount Director Mark Robson brought a cast composed of William Holden, Mickey Rooney, and Earl Holliman aboard the Oriskany to shoot scenes for the forthcoming movie.

Hundreds of Oriskany personnel appeared in many of the scenes throughout the movie.

IN ILLINOIS — Lefors — (Special) — A. C. Walter O. Emert, formerly of Lefors is now stationed at Scott Air Force Base in Illinois. He is the son of Mrs. W. J. Hamilton of Dalhart, Emert volunteered for service in September and took his basic training in San Antonio, Texas.

Church Celebrates Educational Unit

Pampa's Calvary Baptist Church will celebrate the completion of its new education unit today during its morning, afternoon and evening services.

Four former pastors will be on hand for the event, three of whom will lead the services. Rev. E. M. Dunsworth will present the morning message, Rev. Collins Webb will give the inspirational address at the 2 p.m. service, and Rev. John L. King will present the sermon at the 7:30 p.m. service. Lunch will be served at the church at 12 noon.

Present pastor of the church is Rev. Truett Sovall. During his pastorate there have been 122 additions to the church.

Too Convincing

CHEIFLEY, Fla. —UP— Archie Arnold, 7, is almost too good at imitating wild turkeys. Arnold hid in underbrush to "yelp up" some birds for members of his hunting party. Another group of nimrods appeared on the scene, heard Arnold's convincing squawks, and blasted away. Arnold got a load of birdshot in his legs and one hand.

Short Subject Specialist Plans To Quit Feature Films

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 30 — UP— Short subjects are due for a boom, veteran shorts producer Pete Smith predicted Saturday. But yet he is quitting the picture business and won't be around to make them.

The producer of those famed "Pete Smith Specialties" is quitting because, he said, "I have had a single decent vacation in 10 years."

"It's not because shorts aren't the way out," he explained, "actually the trend is stronger towards them. Double features, that almost killed short subjects, are disappearing."

"Now they make big quality fe-

tures and they'll need two or three short subjects to go with them."

Hardly a popcorn-eater lives who hasn't seen the Smith shorts that he shot silent and then narrated in his dry, wise-cracking manner. They were usually a trick bowler who could hit strikes in two lanes at once, a fancy billiard shooter or motorist who pined up safety lesson by not getting in the way of pedestrians.

His shorts won so many academy awards "I can't remember how many."

Smith was MGM publicity director in 1931 when he was asked to narrate a comedy short. The witty man had been court jester at the studio, playing toastmaster when Chief L. B. Mayer made speeches.

His narration of the film was so successful he quit publicity and began making his famous series.

Most of his ideas he picked up by reading newspapers and magazines. But in a sandlot near the studio he found Johnny Decca, who could hit a baseball while hanging from his ankles. After a short subject on him appeared, Decca went on to play for major clubs.

But he won his biggest acclaim for presenting the first 3-D movies. Despite the current "new" fad, Smith's 3-D debut was in 1935. Today 3-D is dying, and Smith smiled he predicted it would.

Lefors Man Elects To Lay Out Fine

A Lefors man has elected to spend the next several days in jail, rather than pay a fine assessed against him for driving while intoxicated.

Appearing Friday before County Judge B. Maguire, Jr., Gordon Patton entered a plea of guilty to charges and was fined $125 and costs.

He was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Shirley Nichols Thursday night after the car he was driving ran off the Lefors highway about three miles south of Pampa and crashed through a fence.

Commissioners Due To Discuss 'Money'

Money — for buying a precinct barn and for paying the monthly bills — will be the major topic of discussion at the first meeting of the new month for the Gray County Commissioners' Court.

Commissioners this weekend are studying the 10 different sets of bids and specifications submitted by four area concerns for the job of constructing a precinct barn in Recreation Park for Commissioner W. E. Bill Jarvis.

Bids were opened at 10 a.m. Thursday in a special session of the court.

County Judge J. B. Maguire Jr. Saturday said that a decision on those bids tentatively scheduled to be made at 10 a.m. Monday, the customary meeting date of the court.

Paying bills is the only item definitely scheduled on the court's agenda, Maguire said.

School Board's Meet Uncertain

Pampa school board officials Saturday were undecided about when the next meeting of the board would be held.

Board President Raeburn Thompson said he didn't know of anything particular that is scheduled to come up.

Schools Superintendent Knox Kinard, though out of town Saturday, said earlier in the week that a session might well be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Regular meeting dates of the board are the second and fourth Mondays of the month — that would make the next meeting Feb. 8.

ADULT EDUCATION

AMERICAN EDUCATION IS A CONTINUING program through public libraries of adult community discussion on the American Heritage and its contemporary application. The discussions are planned with readings as a core; a source of information and ideas for critical examination, and a focus for the subject of discussion. The long-range objective of the project is the development of an increasingly well-informed citizenry, whose loyalty to the democratic processes is intellectual as well as emotional. The discussion groups in libraries are open to all adults. There are no educational pre-requisites, no fees, no obligations other than intention to share ideas within the framework of the project's aims. The general areas of discussion are developed by the librarian with suggestions from the persons who join. Groups are assured the leadership of persons with special qualifications of encouraging free and frank expression of opinion; in this case Dr. Douglas Nelson, left foreground, back to camera. Above,

Dr. Nelson is shown leading a discussion group. Others pictured, left to right around the table, are Mrs. W. R. Ewing, Mrs. P. H. Gates, Mrs. Bob Anders, John H. Harnly, Mrs. Lillian Snow, Mrs. W. A. Spoonemore, Mrs. John Harnly, Mrs. C. M. Heflin, Mrs. Doyle Hopper, Evelyn Clayton, Billie Pulliam, Mrs. J. N. McKean, and Rev. Porter Brooks.

spent several years in South America, is well qualified to lead the group. Both beginners and advanced students, some thirty of them, attend. Foster is assisted by his 11-year-old daughter, Sue.

Pampans, along with thousands of people all over the country, are going back to school. Twice a month about 65 enrolled members of the Adult Education program — some of them on this page — meet in the City Hall for informal discussion. The 'school' has no real teachers, but leaders or moderators. The Adult Education program is based on the premise that education consists of a lifetime of growing in understanding and insight and that this growing requires mature soil. It was established by the American Library Association and is financed by the Ford Foundation.

The Adult Education program in Pampa began with a class January 4 in American Heritage, which meets on the first and third Mondays of the month and is led by Dr. Douglas Nelson. Spanish, led by Jack Foster, and the Great Books class, led by Cliff Braly, John Bradley and Dr. R. H. Hampton, meet on second and fourth Thursdays.

THE METHOD OF GROUP discussion may seem a slow way in which to meet a crisis. Indeed, totalitarian countries have discarded it as "dangerous." But in a democracy, where not uniformity, but the intelligent, independent voice of each person counts, discussion has been the only secure method of meeting critical issues. Pictured here are leaders talking over how best to conduct a group discussion, left to right, are Orace Johnson, Oklahoma City, representing the Great Books Foundation, who is shown with Dr. R. H. Hampton, John Bradley and Cliff Braly.

Capacity Crowd Hears Cal Farley Speak On Delinquency At Joint PTA Meeting

The Junior High School Auditorium was filled Thursday night when Cal Farley spoke at the joint Parent-Teacher Association meeting. Farley, who has been a frequent speaker at the PTA meetings, was introduced by Mrs. L. N. Aitchison, who told the audience of a typical day at the ranch, has lived there for the past nine years. He said that Cal Farley who has cared for 700 other boys in the last 15 years, is "the best man on earth." He said that a day at the ranch starts at 6 o'clock when the boys shine their shoes, and comb their hair for a check-up before breakfast. After breakfast, they do chores, make beds, wash dishes and milk cows. They are ready for school by nine. They have one hour at noon for lunch and return to school until three. After school the boys clean up the school for the next day. After supper at five they play checkers and other games and watch TV until nine when they all clean up and go to bed.

Mr. Farley says that the first sign of delinquency is skipping school. The boy meets up with the wrong kind of a boy who isn't attending school. From then on, he goes from bad to worse, unless someone takes him in and shows him some love and interest. He closed with the opinion that the delinquency in children is caused by lack of love and understanding and confidence between parents and children.

Gavel Club Holds Dinner Meeting

The Gavel Club held its first monthly meeting in the home of Mrs. Otto Rice at 409 N. Somerville, with Mrs. W. S. Kiser and Mrs. G. C. Crocker as co-hostesses. The next meeting will be in the Episcopal Parish Hall February 25 at 6:30 p.m., with Mrs. Earl Casey, Mrs. W. B. Murphy, and Mrs. Aubrey Jones as hostesses.

The following members were present: Mmes. W. C. Alexander, Artie Reber, Oscar Shearer, Earl Casey, W. M. Murphy, Clara S. Mealer, J. S. Fuqua, Ed Rallsback, Katie Vincent, Clem Davis, Roy Sewell, W. R. Morrison, W. B. Murphy, O. A. Wagner, Dennis Stilwell, Hal Suttie, Leslie Hale, and J. G. Crinklaw, and visitors, Mrs. Earl Rice and Mrs. Dee Price of Clayton, N. M.

Mrs. Pernel Scoggin Hostess To Deborah Sunday School Class

Mrs. Pernel Scoggin was hostess to the Deborah Sunday School class of the First Baptist Church at the regular business meeting. Mrs. Scoggin opened the meeting with prayer and Mrs. Harvey Downs gave the devotional on the 23rd Psalm. The class planned a party for their husbands to be given Feb. 9 at the Cities Service Hall. Refreshments were served to Mmes. Mike Shepic, Wayne Denney, Harvey Downs, Leonard Husted, Orville Lewis, Pernel Scoggin and Walter Roush.

"Snips And Snails" Reviewed For 20th Century Forum

Officers for the coming year were elected when members of the Twentieth Century Forum Club met with Mrs. J. B. McCreary Tuesday afternoon in her home at 1311 Christine. The new president will be Mrs. Eiben D. Warner Jr. Other officers are Mmes. Aubrey Steele, vice president; Mrs. C. V. Wilkinson, secretary; Mrs. Homer Johnson, treasurer; Mrs. J. R. Holloway, parliamentarian; and Mrs. Bruce Pratt, reporter.

Plans were made for the club's annual guest day which will be held March 23. The program for the afternoon was a review of Louise Baker's popular novel, "Snips and Snails," presented by Mrs. M. McDaniel. "Snips and Snails," makes a delightful reading, said Mrs. McDaniel. "It is the delectable and tenderly witty story of the sole female teacher at a private boys' school in Arizona. The writer understands little boys and her varied experiences not only as a teacher but also as a zoo keeper, town marshal and substitute mother are told with warmth and great good humor."

All members were present with the exception of Mrs. Raymond Laycock.

Begin Now To Trim Thighs For Summer

By ALICIA HART, NEA Beauty Editor. Teen-agers, if you have noticed that your thighs have a tendency to be heavy, don't wait until they are really a problem to do something about it. The flesh that forms in that area usually becomes very solid and therefore difficult to reduce. Check that tendency now and you'll be proud of your foresight when bathing-suit time again is with us. Here are a few exercises that will help you:

1. Sit on the floor, putting hands behind for balance. Raise one leg and slap it on the floor, hard; then slap down the other. Repeat each leg about 30 times.
 2. Lie flat on your bed and bend the left knee, bringing it up slowly and rhythmically to meet your bent right elbow. Switch to right knee and left elbow. Do up to 15 times.
 3. Again lying flat on bed, raise legs straight up, one at a time, and alternately do the bicycle exercise up to 12 times.
- To encourage yourself to exercise, notice women when they are sitting. You'll be surprised to see that many of them, even when wearing heavy dresses, reveal thighs that are awkward with weight.

Tax Check—BOSTON—UP—A door-to-door canvass for federal income tax delinquents in Massachusetts has produced $1,338,773 since last July. During November, for example, revenue agents found that 1,170 or 14.1 per cent, of the 8,279 taxpayers interviewed had failed to file one or more of the required forms.

Mamie Shows Brilliant Record For Her First Year As Lady Of The White House

By RUTH GMEINER. WASHINGTON—UP—Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower ends her first year as the White House's first lady with a record of high spirits, undiminished and with a record of enterprising devotion to her job as First Lady. But the job has not been without its compromises. Mrs. Eisenhower still breakfasts in bed but now forgoes a leisurely second cup of coffee in order to plan her day's schedule. She keeps up her voluminous private correspondence with far-flung friends, but the letters are dictated to a secretary and no longer written in her own clear hand. She is better dressed than a year ago but bargain-hunting expeditions to downtown shops are a thing of the past. She orders her clothes by mail or telephone from newspaper advertisements.

TOO FEW FRIENDS IN—As White House hostess she has been able to indulge her liking for people. She shook hands with 16,000 White House guests (plus a few thousand more at outside affairs) last spring and, after a summer-time lull, is well on her way to a second 16,000 this winter. But most of her guests are "official" or strangers, and too few are her old friends. But the White House has made changes in Mamie Eisenhower, it can also be said that she has made changes in the White House. She has a real talent for interior decorating and even with the government's Fine Arts Commission peering over her shoulder, has managed to leave her touch in almost every room. In private second-floor living quarters, she has moved furniture, swapped drapes, had a few walls repainted and introduced prized family possessions that make the Eisenhowers feel at home wherever they live. Washington old timers are singing Mrs. Eisenhower's praises as White House hostess. They compare her hospitality with that of Grace Coolidge.

WHITE HOUSE IS GAY—She and President Eisenhower revived Easter egg rolling on the White House lawn for the first time since before World War II, and for well at parties where she must shake hands with several thousand guests. She hasn't yet had to treat her hands to a whirlpool bath, as Mrs. Harry Truman often did. The First Lady also became a style leader in her first year. Mamie bangs now are standard style for women of all ages. She started a fad by matching her gloves to her shoes or dress. It remains to be seen whether her decision to keep her skirts at 13 and one-half inches will be imitated, despite Dior's decree for shorter hemlines. If one year as First Lady has brought any new gray hairs, no one can detect them. Mrs. Eisenhower looks far younger than her 57 years.

Soup Rates As Best Buy

PRICE-WISE is the homemaker who buys canned soups for many of the hundreds of meals since in the New Year. Research experts have just announced that since 1940, prices for soups have increased less than half as much as for all other foods. That's one of the good reasons for the noticeable rise in sales of canned soups. Since 1940, the number of cans of soup sold has more than doubled. Check your grocery bills and see what a reasonable price tag is on soup. This is a good time to take stock... and stock up on it for many winter meals. When the family comes home to lunch, sit them down to steaming bowls of clam chowder with grilled cheese sandwiches. Cold night? Give everyone a warm welcome home with fragrant tomato soup, frank on bun, and orange-grapefruit salad. Fit for your best guests too are pleasant, informal soup suppers. Hand around brimming bowls of vegetable soup to eat with juicy burgers on buns. Sometimes you can give a new twist to the vegetable soup. Mix it with browned ground beef plus bean with bacon soup. Then the meal is complete with toasted cheese bread and relishes. Here are exact instructions for this Vega-Beef Soup.

Vega-Beef Soup
 1/2 pound ground beef
 1/2 cup onion, chopped
 1/2 cup celery, chopped
 1/2 cup carrot, chopped
 1 can (1 1/2 cups) condensed vegetable soup
 1 can (1 1/2 cups) condensed bean soup with bacon
 1 soup can water

Combine spaghetti with dried beef: Plan supper around cans of spaghetti on the night when your family seems "bellow to the toes." With the spaghetti, mix dried beef and green beans. That's elegant eating. First cook 2-ounces of sliced dried beef in 1 tablespoon shortening in a skillet; cook slightly, just until edges curl. Stir in 1 can of spaghetti in tomato sauce; add 1 cup drained cooked green beans (unsalted) and 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Heat well. This makes 2 servings; you'll probably want to double it.

Bride-To-Be Feted With Shower

Miss Shirley Gist, bride-elect of Tommie Clark, was honored with a bridal shower recently in the home of Mrs. J. H. Reeves, 1900 E. Kingsmill. Hostesses were Mrs. J. H. Reeves, Miss Barbara O'Rear and Miss Doris Jean Qualls. Miss Gist was presented with a corsage of white carnations tied with blue ribbon. The mother of the bride-elect, and the mother of the prospective bridegroom were presented with similar corsages. "Tommie" was written in icing across the blue and white decorated cake. The cake was served with nuts and punch to Mmes. C. O. Ammons, Mary Ann McPeak, Betty Joan Burns, J. N. Sackett, J. D. O'Rear, Marion Roberts, Earl Ammons, Wyley Fosse, E. T. Clark, Ray King, Roberta Wood, Gus Brown, Perry Galt, G. C. Stark, Roy Priest, Harriet Dean, E. B. McClure, Roy Guthrie, Ina Patton, F. D. Boddy, Violet Brown, O. T. Gist, V. F. Vandenberg, Ora. Mae Hedrick and the Misses Shirley Coffey, Mary Ann Guthrie and Billie Jean Clark.

Peg O' Pampa

A BIG WEEK! Mothers gallantly marching against polio Friday . . . 500 of them. Mrs. Gene Fatheree was in the group. . . do you ever hear of a really worthwhile project that she's not right in the middle of? Rufe Jordan and John McFall "done noble" for the March of Dimes, too, when they consumed 20 hotcakes among other things Wednesday at Johnson's Cafe, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Behrman, (Bunny and Leah) entertained marching mothers from their district with cake coffee and warm hospitality in their lovely home when the mothers returned triumphantly with their March of Dimes contributions. Bunny headed his district for the March.

BOY'S RANCH AND CAL FARLEY can be proud of Bobby Price and David Ash, Bobby, who has been a Boy's Ranch resident for nine years, gave a touching tribute to Cal when he told of his life at the Ranch at the joint PTA meeting Thursday night at the Junior High School. Freckle-faced David Ash is a cutie, too. . . loaded with personality. Made Mr. Peg wish some bright Amarillo citizen would put the boys on a weekly TV program. 'Twould be inspiring as well as entertaining. Thank you, Cal, for coming to see us and bringing your boys.

WHILE ON THE SUBJECT OF TV. Mr. Peg tells an amusing incident. We were downtown rather late one night hunting a new who dunnit at the news stand. Mr. Peg, bless his patient heart, chose his book with his usual dispatch and went to the car to wait for the rest of us. The car was parked in front of a store window where a TV program was on for the benefit of passers-by. . . but . . . there were two boxes on the sidewalk placed so that they blocked his view. He jumped out to move the obstacles and discovered that they were box seats for the show. Two little boys were comfortably settled inside, absorbed in the program. Real cold night it was, too!

GIRL SCOUTS are becoming increasingly active in civic affairs (or Peg is becoming increasingly aware of it). The Girl Scouts who made the lovely Christmas window at the home of their leader, Mrs. Bob Andis, were presented with their awards (first in the religious group of district 5) at the Business and Professional Women's meeting last Tuesday night. Mrs. Lorene Locke, that busy visitor (she greets many new Pampans every month), represented the B&PW and the Chamber of Commerce who sponsored the contest. The window, you remember, had a group of angels silhouetted with a light from behind. Virginia Hopkins, Patty Frick, Norma Fatheree, Melinda Tooley, Sherry Rhoten, and Bobby Lee Andis are the girls. Senior Girl Scout program aide, Donna Hegwer, helped.

INTERESTED SPECTATORS at the Harlem-Globetrotter cage performance Wednesday included Pampa's Hustlin' Harvesters. The Harvesters no doubt got some "pointers" from the famed Trotters. Everyone enjoyed the Trotters' appearance here. Nearly one-half of the crowd of approximately 1,500 appeared to be women fans.

PEOPLE ARE STILL TALKING about the Beta Sigma Phi table setting contest. It was the Altar Society of the Holy Souls Church that used all the wonderful brass, by the way. Mrs. Lynn Boyd's, I understand. Did you know that the black goblets used on one of the tables had been painted? Verdie Denton and Leone Davies were responsible for the charming garden table. They reproduced a tiny realistic garden with neat rows of "vegetables" and tiny flowers and had a little scarecrow guarding it. The Twentieth Century Cotillion Club with Mrs. Horton Russell as chairman, used a simple contemporary arrangement. . . a long polished driftwood piece with an oak blood candle at one end formed a graceful curve among gilded stones. Judy's mother's handmade square copper plates were used on the green burlap cloth. Treble Clef's stunning table had a real dolphin for a centerpiece. Such gorgeous blues and greens. It looked like a fabulous piece of porcelain. The antique dishes came from Mrs. Bob McCoy's collection. Sea shells were used as bone dishes. Mrs. John Hankins was in charge of the decorating. Twenty-five Homemaking girls came over from Lefors to see the display. Next year some of the men's clubs say they'll have entries!

IT'S A GREAT TIME to be alive, these 1950's. When else could a person see the prima ballerina of the world, (Margot Fonteyn, no less) one evening and the world's champion ice skater the next? . . . And all without leaving the livingroom of a modest home in a small town many miles from the "culture centers."

SOMEONE SAID at Adult Education class Thursday night (was it Mrs. Lillian Snow?)—that there've been no great thinkers since the Greek philosophers. Well gee, I wouldn't know, but if so it's easy to explain. Everyone's too busy to bother with thinking. Do you ever hear anyone say they're not "rushed to death"? "Would progress be halted if we all lived a little more leisurely? It's like this says Thomas L. Mason in "When I Get Time":

When I get time—
I'll cut the leaves of all my books
And read them through and through,
When I get time—
I'll write some letters then
That I have owed for weeks and weeks
To many, many men.
When I get time—
I'll pay those calls I owe,
And with those bills, those countless bills,
I will not be so slow.
When I get time—
I'll regulate my life
In such a way that I may get Acquainted with my wife
When I get time—
Oh glorious dream of bliss!
A month, a year, ten years from now—
But I can't finish this—
I've no more time.

SEEN IN PASSING—Lula Kuhn in her flashy new red car. . . Ellen Haley, wearing her customary scrubbed and polished look. . . Judge Ewing's charming widow. . . she's an enthusiastic Adult Education member. . . Ruth Hutchins, a busy career gal who's finding time to decorate at home. . . quiet voiced Dorothy Whitsell, Houston's gift to Pampa. . . lovely Mrs. C. F. Farmer. . . Mrs. R. J. Sailor Jr., a bright member of the younger set. . . Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lindsey, who always seem to enjoy each other's company so much. . . love to see Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith together. . . there must be lots of laughter in that home. . . Mrs. Knox Kinard in neat tweeds. Have heard several people remark about her lovely expressive hands. . . Doris McClure—Mrs. — that is, who plans to help Jeanne Willingham with her new youngster's ballroom class. . . Dwight Hobart who must not be more than 11 years old is in the class. . .

NO WONDER kids seem to like school better these days. Girls like Frances Huff, Frances Fatheree, Mrs. Terry Cully and Myrl Selmon are a far cry from the somber, life-is-real-life-is-earnest horrors we can remember.

HOW IT CAN BE TOLD—
BARBECUE CHICKEN A LA JEANNE COOK
Cut a fryer into pieces and fry in deep fat in a black iron skillet (don't ask why but the iron skillet is important) until golden brown. Pour off drippings. Place chicken back in skillet and cover with sauce (given below) and cook in oven for one hour.
1-3 bottle catsup
1-3 bottle Worcestershire sauce
1-2 cup water
1 bottle Haas's barbecue sauce.
Jeans can do wonderful things to a bird. . . Try it if you don't believe it. Just writing this prize of Jeanne's brings to mind a whole book of 'em. Gerdie Clark's potato salad is the best 'cause she marinates her hot boiled potatoes in Tarragon vinegar and uses only Julia rillab, chopped boiled eggs and chopped celery with egg yolk grated on top; tempting fare. Her pickled beets are tops too. Peg has that recipe if you're interested. Let me know if you'd like it. . . would love to hear from you all anyway. . .

Bye Now, It's been fun,

New Shampoo Serves As Rinse Too

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor
Leading cosmetic houses have of late been concentrating their efforts on formulating plans of complete beauty care to accommodate the busiest women. Shortcuts to beauty are now being offered in everything from creams to pressed powders.
One of the newest of the products aimed at speeding up mi-lady's grooming ritual is a shampoo designed to eliminate the need for a special rinse; a vegetable rinse is built right in.

This shampoo, which is supposed to highlight one's natural color or lend an evenness to the shade of chemically-colored hair, comes in gray, red, blonde, platinum and brunette. It will not change the color of one's hair regardless of the shade that is used, the maker claims.
In addition to hastening the hair-care process, the new shampoo, the company points out, will also eliminate the messiness sometimes associated with hair color-

U. S. May Resume Korea Peace Talks

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 —UP— The United States is expected to offer next week to resume the stalled Korean peace talks if insulting charges by Red negotiators are withdrawn, informed sources said Saturday.

Diplomats said, however, that the U. S. reply to a Communist bid to reopen the talks would be sent "too late" for the Monday resumption date set by the North Korean and Chinese Communists in a letter to special envoy Arthur H. Dean.

The Allied-Communist talks on arranging a Korean peace conference were recessed indefinitely last Dec. 12 when Dean walked out of the conference because the Reds accused the United States of "perfidy."

Details of the American reply to the Red letter have been worked out with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who is attending the Big Four conference in Berlin.

The answer is expected to offer an early date for resumption of the talks without backing down on the previous stand that the "perfidy" charge must be withdrawn. The reply, informants said, would interpret the Red offer of talks as a general agreement to withdraw the insulting charge.

Should the Communists refuse to accept this interpretation, authorities said, the burden for refusing to start the talks would be placed squarely on Communist shoulders.

All indications from North Korea and Red China are that the Reds are not in a mood to back down on the "perfidy" charge.

Charges Ike's Housing Plan Leaves Congress 'Holding Bag'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 —UP— An influential Republican congressional leader said Saturday that President Eisenhower's housing program leaves Congress "holding the bag."

This leader, who will play a big role in handling housing legislation, said the President's program, instead of getting the government out of the housing business, as claimed by the administration, eventually will cost the taxpayers $10 billion.

He described it as "impractical" and said the President's "new theories" on housing would not work.

He insisted on remaining anonymous.

Congress Gets Blame
"These recommendations make the President look like a hero," he said, "but they will leave us holding the bag." He added that Congress and the Republican leadership will be blamed if Mr. Eisenhower's recommendations are not carried out.

The administration has not yet sent Congress a suggested draft of a bill to carry out the President's proposal, and the GOP leader said it would be "very difficult" if not impossible to write.

His criticism was the first major opposition voiced in Congress to the President's program. Democrats and Republicans alike have received the proposals favorably.

Commenting on this the GOP leader said:

"I'm all for everybody living in a nice house, too. But just talking about it and wishing it, isn't going to provide them with nice houses."

He centered his opposition on what he called the failure of the President and his advisers to consider the financial backing needed for such a program. He said the administration seemed "unaware" that someone has to pay for what the President wants built.

"They talked about getting the government out of the housing business," he said, "but the effect of this program, if carried out, would be just like the opposite."

Specifically, he criticized the President's proposal to revamp the Federal National Mortgage Association, the government's secondary mortgage market for FHA and VA loans, into an agency financed by private industry.

Many consider this secondary mortgage market the "heart" of the President's program. On its success, they say, depends the success of the program.

A Second Breath
But the GOP leader said the President "in one breath" stated that the government should get out of the secondary mortgage business — "and in the next" recommends that the new agency be allowed to borrow directly from the Treasury, in case of emergency.

"That means that the next time money gets tight, the builders will rush to Washington and ask for federal money — and they'll get it," he said.

This leader also said the President's plan to start an "experimental" program of "modest-priced" housing for low-income families would not work unless the government loaned out the money to pay for them. Private lenders would not buy the 40-year mortgages the President recommended, he said.

Pampa Women Hold Offices In Penwomen's Organization

By JANE KADINCO
Pampa News Staff Writer

Several Pampa women have exhibited their leadership qualifications by coping three offices in the Panhandle Penwomen's organization — quite an honor for a town the size of Pampa.

Mrs. Otis Nace, 7121 Williston, is in her second year as president of the organization. No other member has held the office for more than one year. Mrs. Wanda Campbell is workshop chairman and Miss Helen Huff is corresponding secretary. Mrs. Judith Taylor of Pampa is also a member.

THE PANHANDLE Penwomen's organization was founded in Amarillo in 1920 by Miss Laura V. Hamner, still an important influence in the group and a well-known writer. At the time, there were six members, all from Amarillo. The group later branched out to include the Panhandle and now even has members from New Mexico and west Kansas. The enrollment list now totals 65 names.

Membership requirements at first included the writing of 30,000 words a year in the field of fiction, poetry, drama or articles. Now, each writer must have made a sale. The group meets four times a year and holds a writing contest for each meeting. Every member is required to enter three of these contests, which have entry divisions such as mysteries, confessions and poetry. The manuscripts are submitted a month ahead of time, and the winners are announced at the meetings.

The morning sessions of each meeting are highlighted by a workshop period at which the members read some of their selections and receive constructive criticism from the group. Later, a picnic from the group. Later, a roundtable is held at which members report any sales they have made.

THE AFTERNOON sessions are highlighted by the announcement of the contest winners and the reading of the top entries. Judges for the event are always nationally known writers or editors, who also offer suggestions on the winning writings.

The group also sponsors an annual high school writing contest for the whole Panhandle area in the fields of poetry, short stories and articles.

"We always have 50 to 100 entries," Mrs. Nace stated. "We call it the Hamner contest and give about $30 worth of awards. We always write each contestant afterward to encourage them to continue writing even if they didn't win."

Another activity of the group is helping the noted American author, Louisa Grace Erdman, with her annual writer's roundup at West Texas State College, Canyon. Many noted, as well as less-known writers, attend this conference each year.

IN ADDITION to having the distinction of three officers in the Panhandle group, Pampa has its own group of women writers, called the Pampa writers club.

"We didn't have any rules for the first six months," Mrs. Nace stated. She was one of the founders of the group. Later, the Pampa women decided to limit the membership of their group to 12 active writers who must submit new material once a month.

"We meet twice a month in the members' homes at 7:30 (p.m.)," Mrs. Nace advised. "We have no set closing time. Sometimes we read and talk until midnight, and sometimes we go home at 10:30."

The women submit any type of original material. Some members present articles, others short stories or poetry. Members of the group include Mrs. Wanda Campbell, Miss Helen Huff, Mrs. Elaine Ledbetter, Mrs. Emma Ogden, Mrs. Judith Taylor, Mrs. Evelyn Stout, Mrs. Esper Stover, Mrs. Lillian Zamora and Mrs. Evelyn Nace.

DO YOU KNOW that if you live in a city of 10,000 inhabitants or more, you are not exempt from poll tax payment, you may not vote unless you have obtained a CURRENT exemption certificate? You must secure your annual exemption certificate THIS WEEK.

MRS. OTIS NACE — of Pampa, president of the Panhandle Penwomen's organization for an unprecedented second year, is also an author of short stories. Within the past few weeks, she has sold selections to the Hillman publications and the Johnson publications. Above, she is shown at her typewriter where she spends many hours a day at work. (News Photo)

MRS. NACE herself is an avid and enthusiastic writer. Her first published work was in 1937 when she won a magazine contest, for which she received $10. She had quite a few short stories published through the years and in 1948 sold a piece for $300 to a Canadian magazine, the Toronto Star Weekly.

During World War II, Mrs. Nace pretty much dropped her writing, as she took over her husband's lumber business while he was with the armed forces. "When I started, I didn't know a nail from a board," she stated.

But Mrs. Nace is now writing again and recently sold stories to the Hillman publications and the Johnson publications. She pointed out that magazines require better writing and better characterization than when she first began to write.

"It's a lot of fun, though," she added.

Mrs. Nace, in addition to being president of the Panhandle Penwomen group, is a member of the National League of American Penwomen, the Kansas Author's Club, and the Prairie Quill Club.

Seek Better Way To Keep Auto's Windshield Clean

DETROIT, Jan. 30 — UP—Think of a better way to keep windshields clean in snow and wet, and many an eye-strained motorist will beat a path to your door.

It sounds simple — like building a better mousetrap. Yet 50-odd years of car-making has not come up with anything practical to replace the wip-wagging strip of rubber that cleans only half the windshield.

Auto companies have spent millions perfecting and installing large one-piece curved windshields to give a driver maximum vision. But follow another car for six blocks down a wet street and for all practical purposes you have half a windshield. The rest is covered with mud.

That Hurried Step

And how many motorists have you seen taking a hurried swipe at the windshield between lights to clean off what the wiper left? The smear often is worse than the mud itself.

A postwar innovation has helped cure that. It is the squirter which shoots a stream of water onto the windshield to help the wiper wash off grime.

Willys came out with something new this year. The twin blades overlap in their arc so a dirty space isn't left between them. That gives an unbroken view of the road on one-piece windshield cars.

But essentially the wiper is unchanged from the first one installed on an automobile in 1904, the year when windshields first were offered as "optional" equipment.

They were hand-operated. You drove with one hand and worked the wiper with the other. The first automatic wiper was introduced in 1920 by Falbert. It was vacuum driven. Doughty Mfg. Co. came out with the first electric one in 1921.

Also a Lever

But both types had levers to operate them by hand. Apparently even the manufacturers weren't convinced they'd work all the time.

The vacuum type still doesn't. When on a steep grade it all but stops. The same things happens when the accelerator is pushed hard to pass another car or truck. It starts to drag just when you need it the most.

That is because it operates off the partial vacuum in the intake manifold of the engine. A sudden opening of the throttle temporarily disrupts the vacuum. There isn't enough left to pull the wiper from side to side.

For many years the wiper pivoted from the top of the windshield like the pendulum of a clock. That was the easiest and cheapest way to install it.

A Major Change

It also was the most inefficient. The water and dirt scraped up to the top of the windshield just drained back in front of the driver's eyes when the wiper went to the other side. It was a losing fight. Then someone thought of pivoting it at the bottom of the windshield. That pulled the dirt and water down out of the way. It was a major step in windshield wiper development.

But there is room for more. Too many drivers tell police after an accident, "I couldn't see...my windshield was dirty."

Bill Signing Fixes 1954 Cotton Quota

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 — UP—present for the signing in Mr. Eisenhower's office.

The new law, effective for 1954 cotton planting quota at 21,379,542 only — short — circulated several acres.

It was the first bill out of the Arizona, California and New Mexico current session of Congress to reach Mr. Eisenhower's desk for signature. Assistant Agriculture Secretary Earl Cook and several senators and representatives were quired by law.

Milkman Confesses To Fatal Shooting

DETROIT, Jan. 30 — UP—A jealous milkman confessed Saturday the murder of a Detroit steel company executive who was shot through the head with a deer rifle while working at his desk last Monday.

The milkman, John Lang, 53, whose nickname was the "Jack of Diamonds" in a love triangle, admitted the shooting after intensive police questioning.

He said he shot John W. Mattson, 53-year-old traffic manager for the Atlas Steel Co., because of the executive's attentions to drug store waitress Estelle Jamson.

Mattson's body was found slumped over his desk. A high-powered deer rifle bullet passed through his head and out through his eye. In his pocket was a half-finished note to the waitress saying:

"I'm not afraid of the Jack of Diamonds."

Lang, a respected milkman, said he had been keeping company with Jamson for six years. He said he discovered she was "two-timing" him with Mattson last October.

Shortly before Christmas, Lang said, he bought the deer rifle and used it on Mattson while the 51-year-old executive was working at his office. He fired through a window.

LESSONS IN GOVERNMENT MADE EASY—Rep. Craig Hosmer, Republican of California, is supposed to be the first U. S. congressman to send a cartoon report home to his constituents instead of the usual letter. After reading a committee report which he thought was too complicated he decided to turn cartoonist in order to show voters back home the way laws are made. In background are originals of two pages he mailed to 7500 people. Hosmer is now working on a series of sketches about the judicial and executive branches of government.

Court Takes Two Children

HONOLULU, Jan. 30 — UP—An American court had custody Saturday of two small children whose mother, spirited them away from French authorities in Tahiti and took them 2,500 miles to Hawaii in a leaky 50-foot schooner.

The Honolulu juvenile court is expected to rule Feb. 4 on the fate of six-year-old Kim Robin Powell and his two-year-old sister, Jeanne Anne.

Mrs. Peggy Powell, their attractive 32-year-old mother, said she smuggled the children aboard the schooner "Venturer" when French courts in Papeete delayed giving her a divorce. The children had been placed in custody of a court-appointed guardian in Papeete.

Pamper Mania Daily

Her long journey northward, in which pumps had to be manned daily to keep the schooner afloat, ended at Hilo, Hawaii, where her husband was waiting on the dock. He had flown to Hawaii to intercept her.

Sheriff Cy Carr was out of town on business the first part of the week.

Several college students from West Texas State were at home last week during the between-semester vacation — Annette Low, Gene Hodges, and Dewayne Wells were all visiting in the homes of their parents.

The Bill Abbotts spent last week visiting relatives in Amarillo.

Railroads Told To Trim Rates

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 — UP—The Interstate Commerce Commission told railroads Friday to bring rates on export grain shipped to Corpus Christi, Tex., in line with rates on shipments to Houston and Galveston.

The ICC said the railroads have been charging a higher scale of rates on grain shipped from the farm belt states to Corpus Christi for export than to the other Texas points. It said this was "unfair, prejudicial" to Corpus Christi.

The commission gave the railroads until April 28 to set rates that would remove this prejudice. An ICC spokesman said the railroads could increase rates to Galveston and Houston, reduce rates to Corpus Christi or a combination of both.

The Nueces County Navigation District, which operates the Corpus Christi terminal and Port facilities, had complained about the rates to that port.

Work Law Hits Halfway Point

AMARILLO, Tex., Jan. 30—UP—The first test of Texas' right to work law and a challenge to national union shop agreements by railroads was at the halfway point Saturday.

A 10th district court jury Friday decided 15 points of fact—13 for employees of the Santa Fe railway who don't want to join unions and two for the 18 non-operating unions. Judge E. C. Nelson said he would rule Feb. 6 on the points of law involved:

(1) Whether a 1951 amendment to the railway labor act, permitting union shop agreements, is constitutional, or

(2) Whether the Texas law, which says membership or non-membership in a union cannot be made a condition of employment, overrides the federal statute.

Amendment Specific
The 1951 amendment specifically says it shall be lawful for railroads and unions to make contracts which require union membership as a condition of employment, notwithstanding a state law to the contrary.

The employees sought a permanent injunction forbidding the Santa Fe to enter a union shop agreement with the non-operating unions. Pending his final decision, Nelson continued a temporary injunction he granted to that effect when the suit was filed last May.

Only the Santa Fe and the Atlantic Coast line, of the nation's major railroads, haven't signed union shop agreements.

The Santa Fe, named as a defendant in the civil suit, filed a cross-petition and joined the 13 suing employees as a cross-plaintiff.

Jury Out Six Hours
The jury, which deliberated almost six hours Friday after a trial which began Jan. 11, said the unions had made "every reasonable effort" to settle the union shop dispute by collective bargaining. It also said a union shop agreement would not substantially interfere with the railroad's obtaining desirable new employees.

But, among issues of fact found for the employees and railroad, the jury found:

(1) In a conference at Chicago, last May 5, the unions demanded an agreement by which all Santa Fe employees would have to join a union as a condition of continued employment.

(2) The conference ended in a deadlock, but the unions refused to abandon their position, and the Santa Fe would sign the agreement.

(3) The unions threatened to use "economic force," and the railroad thought this meant a strike.

(4) A substantial number of employees first opposed joining a union.

(5) The employees had reasonable cause to fear a strike unless the unions were restrained by an injunction.

(6) It is "reasonably probable" the Santa Fe will sign a union shop agreement if a permanent injunction isn't issued.

(7) A union shop agreement is not necessary to the existence and well being of the defendant unions.

(8) The Santa Fe made a reasonable effort to settle the dispute by collective bargaining.

May Reach Highest Court
Attorneys indicated the question would be finally settled only by an appellate court, probably the U. S. Supreme Court.

A somewhat similar case was decided Jan. 18 at Omaha, Neb., when a state court held employees could not be forced to join unions because of a union shop agreement signed by the Union Pacific Railroad.

The case was of no significance so far as non-railroad workers were concerned. The Taft-Hartley Act covering them specifically gives state laws precedence if they ban union shop agreements.

Shamrock Bank Eyes Anniversary

SHAMROCK — (Special) — The Farmers and Merchants Bank of Shamrock, which first opened its door for business on Feb. 1, 1909, will observe its 45th anniversary on Monday. A display of currency, showing money in use from the early days of our country to the present will be shown in the lobby of the bank from Monday, Feb. 1, through Saturday, Feb. 6.

"The public is cordially invited to view this display which, we feel, will prove both interesting and educational," O. T. Nicholson, president of the bank, said.

Nicholson has been an active officer in the bank since the time it was organized. He was cashier of the bank and says he will never forget the first day's business. "Around 100 people deposited a little more than $20,000 with us," he said. He became the bank's fourth president in 1936.

In the fall of 1936, the late Judge E. H. Small and Nicholson started the organization of the F.M. State Bank. The original organization consisted of the late E. L. Woodley, who was president; K. W. Norwood, vice president; Nicholson, cashier; G. P. Rusk, W. Q. Fyatt, Albert Hamby, and Judge Small, board of directors. There were 17 original stockholders.

Starting with a capital stock of $25,000.00 the group was granted a charter on January 1, 1939, and opened for business February 1, 1939. The bank became a member of the Federal Reserve System. The same year, E. L. Woodley resigned his presidency and moved away from Shamrock. K. W. Norwood, who is still living on the place he occupied in 1937, succeeded Woodley as president. Judge Small was elected to fill the vice presidency.

Two years later, Judge Small became president and held the position until the time of his death in May, 1938.

Small's death, Nicholson became acting president. He was officially elected to that position on June 2, 1938.

Present officers in addition to Nicholson are Ben A. Skidmore, vice president; B. F. Risinger, cashier; R. L. Roberts, John E. Rusk, and W. R. Cole, assistant cashiers. Members of the board of directors are O. T. Nicholson, O. A. Laycock, Ben A. Skidmore, C. F. Risinger, and A. O. Nicholson.

The bank now has a capital stock of $50,000 with a surplus of $50,000 and undivided profits and reserves of more than $45,000. In contrast to the first condensed statement printed in 1910, which showed deposits of $108,523.28, the bank now has more than $2,000,000 on deposit.

The greatly expanded federal debt is an integral part of the business and financial framework of the United States," the economist said. "The monthly business review of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas is a member of the economy which is virtually certain to endure far beyond the 'foreseeable future.'"

Green also pointed out that government securities have become the most important single class of securities in both the short-term money markets and the long-term securities of the United States.

"Similarly, a substantial proportion of the total volume of individual savings and institutional and other investment funds flows into intermediate and long-term government securities," he said.

"Because of the weight of government debt in the total debt structure and the development of a highly sensitive market in treasury issues, yields on marketable government securities constitute an anchor to which the entire structure of interest rates is tied," he said.

British Ambassador To Visit in U. S.
HOUSTON, Jan. 30 — UP — Sir Roger Makin, British ambassador to the United States, will make an official visit to Texas from March 3 through March 11, it was announced Saturday.

He will speak at a dinner in Dallas March 4 and at another dinner in Houston March 9. He also planned to hold press conferences in those two cities.

In addition, the British ambassador, accompanied by Lady Makin, will visit Austin and the city of Alamo at San Antonio. They will spend March 6 and 7 at the King Ranch in South Texas.

March 8 through 10, the ambassador will be in Houston for the visit of the HMAS Sheffield, a flying ship of the Royal Navy. He and Lady Makin will be guests of the admiral at a dinner aboard the ship.

March 11 will make the trip down the Houston ship canal to visit the battleship Texas and the San Jacinto monument.

Debt Is Part Of Economy
DALLAS, Jan. 30 — UP — The government debt of nearly $275 billion has become a built-in and relatively permanent part of the American economy, a Federal Reserve Bank economist said Saturday night.

"The greatly expanded federal debt is an integral part of the business and financial framework of the United States," the economist said. "The monthly business review of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas is a member of the economy which is virtually certain to endure far beyond the 'foreseeable future.'"

Green also pointed out that government securities have become the most important single class of securities in both the short-term money markets and the long-term securities of the United States.

"Similarly, a substantial proportion of the total volume of individual savings and institutional and other investment funds flows into intermediate and long-term government securities," he said.

CLYDE JONAS Says . . .

Selling used cars is my job at Tex Evans Buick Co. and I am proud to say that we have the kind of used cars I like to sell. Some are old; some are new. Some are just a few dollars; some are $1000. But we try to have each one do the job better for you. That policy is good for me in selling cars and good for you in buying one.

Come in and See Tex Evans Buick Co. for a Better Used Car!
