TRUCE CALLED PENDING TALK TO END STRIKE

Conferences Open Monday

Plants To Be Evacuated, Negotiations For Settlement Fixed

DETROIT, Jan. 15 (AP)—A truce arranged before dawn today pointed the way to peace in the country-wide General Motors automotive strikes.

By Monday morning "sit-down" strikers whose two-week occupation of several General Motors plants has brought rioting and bloodshed, will march out.

Representatives of the corporation and of the United Automobile Workers of America will open negotiations looking toward a permanent settlement of their dispute at Detroit at 11 a. m. Monday.

Unless final agreement is reached sooner, the negotiations will continue for 15 days. Lacking a settlement at the end of that time, Homer Martin, U.A.W.A. president, said, "we will come back to the governor's office."

The armistice in the far-flung struggle of the union against the giant automobile concern terminated a 17-hour conference between representatives of each, meeting for the first time at the request of Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan.

Representatives of each revealed their agreement in statements to Gov. Frank Murphy, who made them public. Strikes called by the union have made more than 114,000 General Motors workers idle and led to rioting at Flint, Mich., in which 27 persons were injured.

The evacuation of sit-down strikers will be effected as soon as practicable and before Monday morning," the union said. General Motors has stipulated ever since Gov. Murphy began more than a week ago to arrange a peace parley that such a move must precede the opening of conferences for collective bargaining.

"The union will in good faith endeavor to arrive at a speedy settlement," its letter to the governor said.

The statement from General Motors executives said the negotiations "will be conducted frankly and without prejudice to anyone." It added there will be "no discrimination against any employe of union affiliation."

Cost Of Strikes Put At Nearly 10 Million

DETROIT, Jan. 15 (AP)—The "sit down" strikes affecting General Motors plants have cost the automobile company and its employes close to $10,000,000 a day, an unofficial survey indicated today.

Shut-downs and curtailment of operations in related industries, principally steel, flat glass and transportation, have added several million dollars to this estimate of business losses.

An Associated Press compilation, based on the number of idle employes, working days lost in each plant and the company's report of $7 as its average daily wage, shows that General Motors workers have lost $6,156,861, including today.

TOOLS ARE STOLEN FROM CITY STREET MAINTAINER

Thieves broke into the tool box of a city street maintainer Thursday night and made away with a quantity of tools, grease guns and other appliances, police reported today. The thieves also broke the lock to the gasoline tank.

Gerhart of Abilene, who will read the Gospel.

Dellegates from affiliated churches in a territory extending from Pampa to San Angelo are expected in Big Spring this week-end for the 27th annual convocation of the Episcopal district of North Texas. The convocation will open at 10:30 Sunday morning at St. Mary's Episcopal church, with the service of Holy Communion for which Bishop E. Cecil Seaman of Amarillo will be celebrant.

Convocation Opens Sunday

Many Delegates Expected Here For Annual Episcopal Meetings

Dellegates from affiliated churches in a territory extending from Pampa to San Angelo are expected in Big Spring this week-end for the 27th annual convocation of the Episcopal district of North Texas. The convocation will open at 10:30 Sunday morning at St. Mary's Episcopal church, with the service of Holy Communion for which Bishop E. Cecil Seaman of Amarillo will be celebrant.

Other features of the convocation will include a dinner at the Settles hotel following the Sunday morning service; a tea in the afternoon, and an evening service at the church.

As the Sunday morning Communion service, Rev. Willis P. Gerhart of Abilene will read the Gospel; Rev. F. A. Foster of Amarillo will read the Epistle; and Rev. Hodge Alves of Lubbock will deliver the sermon.

Bishop Seaman will be the principal speaker at the dinner program to be held at the hotel. Members of the local church are selling tickets for the affair. In the afternoon, at 5 o'clock, there will be a tea honoring Bishop and Mrs. Seaman at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Woolen.

Mrs. L. W. Hollis of Abilene will be the speaker for the evening service, starting at 7:30 o'clock.

In connection with the convocation there will be a meeting of the district auxiliary. Mrs. Hollis is president and Mrs. C. S. Blomshield of Big Spring is vice-president. The Corporate Communion of the auxiliary will be held at 7:30 Monday morning with Rev. F. Walter Henckell of St. Mary's as celebrant. Immediately following the service breakfast will be served in the parish house.

The North Texas district includes 80 counties, and delegates are expected from many churches throughout the area.

The local church's delegates to the convocation, chosen by the vestry, include C. S. Blomshield, Edmund Notelme, V. Van Gieson, E. V. Spence and Walter Vestine. Alternates are William Tate, Dr. Arno H. Wood and J. B. Hodges, Jr.

Blum Is Given Power Of Ban On Volunteers

Action Toward Spanish War Would Be Taken If Other Nations Join

PARIS, Jan. 15 (AP)—The French chamber of deputies responded tonight to Premier Leon Blum's plea to show a "will for peace" by unanimously voting him power to ban volunteers from Spain. The vote was 591 to 6.

Blum has promised to apply the power only in conjunction with like action by other nations, including Britain, Germany and Italy.

The quick vote followed upon his declaration the volunteer question had become one of "saving Europe from war."

French volunteers now are fighting with Russians and Britons in defense of government-held Madrid; Germans and Italians are reinforcing the fascist insurgents in Spain's "little war."

The socialist premier said France was ready to accept any kind of men-and-arms control decided upon by the international non-intervention committee on any part of French territory "without raising the question of our sovereignty."

Want Britain To Join Anti-Communist Bloc

(By the Associated Press) Hard-fought and fired Spain's south coast today. On the international scene, Italy and Germany made British entrance into an anti-communist bloc the price tag for a strict "hands off Spain" pledge.

Twenty thousand fascist fighters, pecced by a cavalry charge, advanced eastward from Estepona toward Malaga, teh Spanish government's lone important seaport on the southwestern Mediterranean shore.

They took Estepona in a furious, 48-hour battle prolonged by government air attacks on fascist warships but today, driving to the edge of Malaga, they faced a stout defense and a socialist counter-attack.

Official London looked coldly upon the anti-communist invitation. In Rome, qualified persons said Italy and Germany would be sorely tempted to help the "Spanish fascists" openly if Britain failed to enter the anti-bolshevik alliance.

RAILROADS BUYING

Purchases Bigger Than At Any Time In Six Years

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—Bigger 1937 railroad budgets for improvements were cited in financial circles today as one trend which may help Uncle Sam cut federal relief expenditures.

The carriers, after almost retiring from the equipment market in the worst depression years, have embarked upon the largest buying campaign since the close of 1929 and early 1930.

Railway Age, a trade publication, reported purchases of materials and supplies amounting in December shot up to about $120,000,000, almost twice the comparable 1935 figure and the biggest monthly total since January, 1930.

Orders accumulating on books of equipment makers, together with increased expenditures for steel and other materials, will mean many new jobs as manufacturers expand operations.

A. M. RIPPS' MOTHER CLAIMED BY DEATH

Last rites for Mrs. A. J. Ripps, mother of A. M. Ripps of this city, were held Wednesday in San Antonio, home of the family since the early days of the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Ripps were called to San Antonio last week on learning of her critical illness but returned here Monday. His mother's condition turned for the worse that afternoon and she died a few hours later.

Officers' Salary System Costs County Approximately $9,000 For Year

Decline In Fee Collections, Loss Of State Fees Factors, Survey Shows

How did Howard county fare during its first year under the salary system in 1936 as compared with the old fee system?

The situation may be summed up in the terse phrase, "not so well," but to what extent is difficult to say accurately until annual reports are made by officers in March.

Based upon figures now available and the 1935 reports, the county suffered a loss of approximately $9,000 during 1936 by virtue of being under the salary system. Around $2,000 of this figure was in decline of county fee collections,

SIX BURNED TO DEATH AS OIL LINE EXPLODES

PRYOR, Okla., Jan. 15 (AP)—Four women and two men were burned to death last night near Strang, Okla., when an oil line of the Gulf Oil and Refining company exploded while a crew of seven men was attempting to repair a leak.

Five other men were burned seriously and were brought to a hospital here.

The dead: Mr. and Mrs. Carrie Barnett Guthrie, Okla. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gilliam Stroud, Okla.

Mrs. John Estes, Avant, Okla. Mrs. John Lamb, Seminole, Okla. Injured were John Estes, Avant, fornician; Sam Lesone, Avant, Alton, Romberg, Shawnee; Joe Alton, Jenks, and John Lamb, Seminole.

Reports here said the women all of them wives of workmen, were trapped in their motor car as flames leaped up from the pipe line, enveloping their automobile.

The women had driven out to the scene of work and were preparing to return to their homes with their husbands after the work was completed.

Reports here said leaking oil became ignited from an acetylene torch being used in welding operations. Bodies of the victims had been brought to a funeral home here and injured were brought to Cottage hospital here.

All the dead and injured lived at the Gulf company pump station, seven miles southwest of Strang, Okla.

The break in the line occurred about a mile and a half north of the company's pump station.

Drivers of three ambulances were dispatched to the scene as the news of the disaster reached here.

Hospital attendants said the condition of the other four workmen still in the hospital was "satisfactory."

At the Gulf station near the scene of the blast, officials said an investigation would be made.

Mari Gist, Seminole, one of the workmen, who received a slight burn on the right hand, gave the first eye-witness account of the disaster.

"It all happened so quickly," he said, "like a flash of lightning, that no one knew exactly what happened."

"One minute these women were sitting in the automobile alive and talking.

"In the next they were a mass of flames.

"There was no move, no outcry. Death was instantaneous.

"The bodies were burned so badly that when they were taken from the wreckage they bore little resemblance to human form. They were cremated.

"The car itself looked like it had been thrust into a blast furnace. There was nothing but a melted mass of metal.

"One of the women had a little dog with her. It burned up too."

Hearst Told To Offer Men Former Jobs

Labor Board Issues Order In Seattle Newspaper Guild Dispute

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—The labor relations board ordered William Randolph Hearst and five Hearst companies today to offer Frank M. Lynch and Philip Everhart Armstrong their former positions on the Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

Discharge of these employes last summer led to a strike called by the Seattle chapter of the American Newspaper Guild and suspension of the paper's publication from August 13 to November 25, 1936.

The guild complained the discharges resulted from guild activity on the part of Lynch, a photographer, and Armstrong, dramatic critic.

"Cease Interference" After the strike was settled by agreement last November, John Boettiger, a son-in-law of President Roosevelt, was appointed publisher of the paper, and Mrs. Boettiger, the president's daughter, took a position with the paper's editorial staff.

The board's five-point order called for the paper to: (1) "Cease and desist from in any manner interfering with, restraining or coercing their employes in the exercise of their rights to self-organization x x x."

(2) "Cease and desist from in any manner discouraging membership in the American Newspaper Guild x x x."

(3) Offer re-employment to Lynch and Armstrong.

(4) Give back-pay to these employes.

(5) Post a notice in the editorial department that the board's order would be complied with.

FOUR ARE SENTENCED

Pleas Of Guilty Taken By Judge Klapproth

Four men were given sentences on pleas of guilty before Judge Charles E. Klapproth in the 70th district court Thursday afternoon. Two of the sentences were suspended.

Burnie Prevco, convicted recently in Martin county of burglary, entered a plea of guilty to felony theft in connection with a stolen car and received two years in prison. Alex Barnes, better known as "Race Horse" Barnes, three times convicted, was assessed a two year term on a charge of burglary to which he pleaded guilty.

His companion, James Edward Smith, a youth of 18 years of age, received a two year suspended term for the same offense. A five year suspended sentence was imposed against Dean Rayburn on a plea of guilty to passing a forged instrument.

JOHNSON'S WIDOW TO CARRY ON WITH MOVIE EXPLORATION

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15 (AP)—Martin Johnson's widow will carry on alone the movie explorations that earned them both renown.

Injured in the airliner crash Tuesday which cost her husband's life, Mrs. Osa Johnson announced from a hospital bed last night the career of jungle photographer they shared together is not at an end.

"We must keep Martin's camera," she told her mother, Mrs. Belle Leighty of Chanute, Kas., who hurried here after the air tragedy.

"I intend to go on with his work alone, to make further films in Borneo and the South Seas."

Cold Weather Moves South

Rising Temperatures Forecast For Tomorrow In This Area

By the Associated Press Damp, raw cold moved southward over Texas today, winter's second onslaught within a week.

Temperatures plummeted in the northern and western portions of the state. The reading at Big Spring dropped from a maximum of 58 yesterday to a frigid 26 degrees early today. The mercury slide at Abilene was from 60 to 24. Dallas residents shivered in a 25-degree fall, from 53 to 30. Palestine's temperature dropped from 66 to 38.

Borger, in the Panhandle, had 26 last night and 22 at 8 a. m.

Weather bureau observers said the chill would move into South Texas today.

The Dallas bureau forecast colder conditions in South Texas tonight and Saturday with freezing temperatures again in the north tonight. Saturday, observers said, would see slowly rising temperatures in the northern sections.

Light rains fell throughout the central portion of the state.

ELOOD THREATS

CHICAGO, Jan. 15 (AP)—Rain-swollen streams surged over their banks in the middle west and east today, flooding lowlands and menacing a wide expanse of territory from Missouri to Pennsylvania.

Torrential rains which reached cloudburst proportions caused the most acute flood conditions in years in many communities. Streams approached or reached flood stage in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Missouri and Illinois.

Forecasts of colder weather raised hopes for abatement of rains in some sections. Meanwhile, many families prepared to evacuate homes if indicated rises in river stages materialized.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Rix and Mrs. Carl L. Swanson of Lubbock will be the guests of relatives here during the Episcopal convention.

Suspect Had Been Sought By Officers

Ex-Convict, Linked In Kidnapping, Asserts He Is Innocent

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 15 (AP)—Fred Orrin Haynes, former California convict, walked into the Seattle police station today to submit to questioning in the kidnaping-slaying of Charles Mattson.

"They've got me all wrapped around this kidnaping," Haynes told Detective Captain Marshall Scraftford, "and I didn't have anything to do with it."

The former inmate of Folsom prison had been sitting unrecognized for 15 minutes on a bench in the police station before Scraftford arrived.

Since Tuesday, Folsom officers, various Washington police and federal agents have been seeking him. Early today, Washington state patrolmen were combing the territory between Seattle and Everett, Wash., for Haynes and a woman companion who they believed disappeared from a furnished cottage near Seattle Wednesday.

Undergoing Questioning Tentative identification of the cottage renter had been established by persons who saw photographs of Haynes.

Officers began seeking the couple during their intensive search of the area around Everett, near where young Mattson was found slain Monday, 15 days after he was abducted from his Tacoma home by a lone man who left a ransom note demanding $25,000.

Captain Scraftford summoned federal bureau of investigation agents and more than a hour later, the man was still in the captain's office undergoing questioning.

Haynes was the first man named doubly by officers as being sought for questioning in the case. His supposed connection with the kidnaping was not disclosed.

Clothes Found Haynes' appearance climaxed 24 hours in which officers discovered what they believed might be the clothes of the slain boy in a shack five miles from the place his body was found, investigated human blood stains on an automobile at Everett and arrested half a dozen suspects, in the northwest, California, Wyoming and Texas.

They were apparently seeking more than one person, since a "conspiracy" charge—with its indication of at least two fugitives—was included in a "John Doe" warrant issued here Wednesday.

The boy's bloodstained clothing and a sack of men's apparel were found late yesterday. The shack lay southwest of the barren chicken-ranching district where a farm youth found Charles' body.

Another Held In a solitary confinement cell of the Whatcom county jail, Lee Haskell Fowler, 36, under a long sentence for robbery, awaited another round of questioning by justice department agents, who grilled him for several hours last night.

An official source said Fowler, admitting the robbery of a milling company the night of December 17, refused to account for his whereabouts from the time of the kidnaping, December 27, until his arrest last Thursday.

The same source said federal officers' suspicions were aroused when he pleaded guilty to the robbery charge.

After justice department agents left the jail last night, taking with them the prisoner's woman companion, Fowler was placed in solitary confinement.

G-Men Silent Federal agents, leading the manhunt for the 10-year-old boy's killer, refused comment on the numerous clues, reports of arrests or any other developments in the case.

The Seattle Post-Intelligencer in a copyrighted story today told purported details of the unsuccessful negotiations to pay $25,000 for the boy's release. It said a reliable source revealed the boy wrote three letters to his family at the dictation of his kidnapers.

The last of the letters, it said, appeared six days after the boy was stolen from his Tacoma home December 27. Five days after the last note the boy's father, Dr. W. W. Mattson, made a futile attempt to contact and pay the kidnapers in response to telephoned instructions.

Told of the story, Dr. Mattson said, "There is nothing to it." Gus B. Appelman, a family spokesman, said: "Some of it is right. Most of it isn't."

BENEFIT PAYMENTS NOW OVER $100,000

Benefit payments to farmers from participation in the 1936 federal soil conservation and building program today passed the $100,000 mark with receipt of 61 additional checks for $5,725.99.

Thursday 231 checks in the amount of $27,922.21 were received, according to M. Weaver, adjustment assistant.

To date a total of 636 checks, approximately 90 per cent of the total applications, have been received here. They aggregated $107,816.41.

Farmers' Net Income Gains During 1936

Year's Figure Placed At Over Five Billion, Only 7 Pct. Under 1929

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—Federal farm experts crawled out from behind a stack of statistics today and announced that as a whole the nation's farmers showed financial gains in 1936.

Net income of farmers, after deducting $4,250,000,000 for wages, interest, taxes, rent, supplies and other production costs, was placed at $5,300,000,000.

The experts said this was 17 per cent larger than in 1935 and only seven per cent less than the comparable 1929 income of $5,869,000,000.

They said the severe drought had damaged the corn and wheat belt incomes but cotton was a bright spot in the tabulations, with both a larger crop and higher prices.

The "white gold" netted $585,000,000 compared with $37,000,000 in 1935.

Even the wheat crop, with a short spring yield, showed a gain. The farm value was estimated at $434,000,000, more than $100,000,000 above the 1935 crop.

The total value of all farm products for 1936 was three per cent larger than in 1935. Although crop volume was smaller, larger marketings of livestock and livestock products offset this.

Prepare For Inauguration

Allred, Woodul To Take New Oaths Of Office Next Tuesday

AUSTIN, Jan. 15 (AP)—Texas lawmakers began preparations today to inaugurate the governor and lieutenant governor Tuesday, preparing new bills and considering proposals submitted the first three days of the session.

The legislature adjourned yesterday for the weekend.

A joint house and senate committee worked on the inaugural program at which Supreme Court Justice John H. Sharp will administer the oaths to Gov. James V. Allred and Lieut. Gov. Walter Woodul for their second term.

The governor will make a short address at the ceremony in front of the statehouse at high noon. Mrs. R. Allred, his mother, will attend the inaugural ball and reception that night. The ball will be staged simultaneously at Gregory gymnasium of the University of Texas, the capitol and two hotels.

Legislators meanwhile concerned themselves with the governor's statement $13,000,000 in new revenue annually was needed to put the state on its feet financially.

Measures submitted included one by Rep. Jasper Reed of Texarkana for a 10 cents per barrel tax on oil, a similar proposal by Rep. Clarence Foster of the oil and higher prices. Rep. Herman Jones of Decatur to levy a 5 per cent net income franchise tax and Rep. Harry Graves' proposal to increase the levy on sulphur from $1.03 to $2 per ton.

SERVICE BIDS FOR POSTOFFICE CALLED

Postmaster Nat Shick does not anticipate a great amount of competition in bidding for gas, water and sewer, and electric service for the new federal building. Bids must be in by Monday at 2 p. m., he said.

Other bids to be in Monday are on trash hauling and wash house service.

"I went down to College Station just before Christmas with Mr. Penrose Metcalfe of this city (San Angelo), I stayed on the A. & M. campus for two days, and I never before in my life spent two more enjoyable ones. The school is really swell, and the boys are grand. I have never witnessed better cooperation and co-ordination as prevailed there. I know lots of the boys there, and we all had a swell time. I had a long talk with Mr. Sykes, the freshman coach. "I wish to thank you again for the interest which you have shown, and I'd like to repeat that I'm about sold on the idea of going there. RAZORBACK-POINY GAME HEADLINES S'WEST PLAY

MUSTANGS LEADING THE RACE

DALLAS, Jan. 15 (AP)—Two toss-up games between Arkansas' Porkers and Southern Methodist headline a Southwest conference weekend in a humpy-dumpy basketball race. On top with two straight victories, the Methodists, earlier doped for the second division, may tumble from the heights or drop Arkansas back in the rut. Surprising goal tossing accuracy, centered around eagle-eye J. D. Norton, a gangling sophomore, put the Methodists in first place but holding it against an Arkansas team humiliated by a supposedly inferior Baylor team last week is something else. The Razorbacks, dull in an opening defeat, opened up to bury Baylor in the second game.

Coach Glen Rose blamed over-confidence for the first licking and promised his towering basketballers would be in better mental shape for the Methodist series. Coach Jimmy St. Clair at S.M.U. said his boys "looked good in the Texas and Texas Christian games but will have to do better against Arkansas."

They play tonight and tomorrow night. University of Texas picked on Texas A. and M. for their first victory after losing to Texas Christian and the Methodists and believe they will have the range when Rice's untripped Owls invade Austin Saturday night. The Owls buried the Aggies in their only appearance. Baylor, by virtue of its clever defensive play against Arkansas, is favored to make it three laces in a row for the Aggies in their Waco game Saturday night.

GENE VENZKE, CUNNINGHAM TO MATCH STRIDES

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—Glenn Cunningham and Gene Venzke, perennial board track rivals who met in previous years only in the big indoor meets, will clash in one of the lesser fixtures tomorrow but only the stop watch will decide the winner. Van Mungo Wants $15,000 This Year

By EDDIE BRIEZZ NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—The Brooklyn directors may as well know it now as later: Van Mungo wants $15,000 to toss that horsehide this season—and not a dime less, gents. Billy Stevens is picking up "bang," the boxing magazine, where Eddie Borden left off last week. Any football coach wishing to get in touch with a swell prospect, just out of high school, can communicate with this col-umn. Looks like old age will catch up with Betsy Grant before he gets a well deserved chance on the Davis Cup team.

Well, well... So they're going to give the Boston Bees a regular place to eat in St. Pete this spring! The hotel where the club was quartered last year had everything but a dining room. So Prexy Bob Quinn gave each player $5 per day and told him to put on the feed bag where he pleased. Needless to report, most of the money went into slot machines. This year the Bees will move into a hotel down the block. If the anti-fight boycott goes through, Joe Jacobs will cancel Max Schmeling's Southern exhibition tour. Chuck Dresden says: "The Cubs will be weaker, the Giants no better and the rest of the league stronger"... So there you are.

Hymie Chaplin took violent exception to Wednesday night's decision against Solly Krieger to the tune of a couple of thousand words (most of them expressed with the hands). No matter who is champion of the middleweights, he'd never feel quite safe with guys like Teddy Yarosz and Fred Apostoll hanging around. Mike Jacobs is not figuring on withdrawing from the New York Hippodrome because he feels the Braddock-Schmeling boycott will react against other sports at the Hipp, but whether he renounces his lease this summer is something else again.

OIL BELT MEET IS POSTPONED

Word of a second postponement of the Oil Belt football committee meeting scheduled in Abilene for Saturday afternoon was received here yesterday by George Gentry. L. E. Dudley of Abilene, committee chairman, stated in a letter to Gentry that he thought it best to postpone the meeting until after the state executive committee meets, probably in March. Gentry said he feared the Oil Belt meeting would be postponed until all other schools had arranged their football schedules, making it difficult for teams in this sector to book games.

PRO NOTABLES START OUT IN OAKLAND OPEN

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 15 (AP)—Professional golf's notables and most of the near-greats lit out today on another lap of the winter tournament season's golden trail—the 72-hole medal play $5,000 Oakland open. Storm clouds were overhead and mushy footing underneath as more than 200 players shoved off in the first 18 holes of competition. The second round will be held tomorrow with the 60 low scorers of the first half of the tournament battling it out in Sunday's 36-hole finale.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Jan. 15 (AP)—A bevy of top-flight women golfers began firing today in the Augusta titleholders' tournament, a 54-hole medal test in which pert Patty Berg, Minneapolis school girl, is the favorite. Helen Hicks, veteran former national champion from Hewlett, L. I., was on hand with her dead shot iron. Mildred Babe Didrikson, former women's track queen, brought a reputation of being the longest hitter among the women. Both players are campaigning as businesswomen golfers, although this tournament offers no cash prizes.

Cooling Off With Baseball Hot Stovers

Tom Yawkey Quits Tossing Bankroll Around For Big Names

By SID FEDER NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—Cooling off with baseball's hot stovers: Tom Yawkey has not only quit tossing his bankroll around for big name players, but he's going to take personal pains this season to see that those already on hand forget all about "prima donna-tia" Ward from the Red Sox wigwam. Ward from the Red Sox wigwam tells that Boss Tom is working on a plan by which the temperamental members of his cast will learn to leave their temperaments in the closet at home, along with the family skeleton and last summer's straw hat.

The Pittsburgh Pirates are toying with the idea of benching Woody Jensen and letting Rookie Johnny Dickshot roam his outfield beat. Dickshot, up for his third big league tryout this spring, packed plenty of batting punch for the Buffalo International League Hissos last year, finishing with a .335 average for the pennant winners.

If he sticks this season, it will have taken Frank McGowan, the Boston Red Sox slugger prospect, 17 years of roaming around the bushes to make the big time. He's had tryouts galore, showing up at the Philadelphia Athletics' training camp as far back as 1922 and with the St. Louis Browns in 1928, but each time he barely lasted long enough for the grapefruit league windup. Meantime, he's been doing duty with such double A organizations as Milwaukee, Kansas City, Minneapolis, Baltimore, and, lately, Buffalo.

It's too bad Cincinnati and Cleveland won't be in the same league this season. A few battles between their respective freshman pitching sensations, Johnny Vandermere and Bob Feller, would be high class entertainment. Some of those who saw Vandermere perform at Durham last season say his fast ball gives off more smoke than any other left-hander in the business. Feller's stuff, of course, is hardly less long enough for the Athletics about those 17 strikeouts in one game. The Washington Senators are sure of the baritone in their clubhouse quartet for the season. Joe Casacarella, who warbles a nifty Sweet Adaline, has signed up.

Blanton Returns Pirate Contract

SHAWNEE, Okla., Jan. 15 (AP)—Cy Blanton, confined to his bed with influenza, was ready today to send back his contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates for 1937, because, he intimated, he didn't get a raise.

M-W, SPUDDERS TACK UP WINS

By HANK HART Montgomery Ward offense clicked at the expense of the Continental Pipeliners and the Westerners reaped their winning ways with a 43-25 victory over the Forsanites Thursday night in the local gym. In a clash at Forsan, Bert Crammer's Spudders strengthened their bid for second place in the Bi-County loop standings by triumphing over the Coahoma Bulldogs, 35-22, in a close battle. Vernon Wadley enjoyed another big night against the Wilsonmen. He garnered 11 field goals and a free toss to take scoring honors and with some aid from his mates, pushed the Westerners far out in front before the first two periods were over. The locals coasted in after resuming play.

FORSAN TEAM TO MEADOW FOR PAIR OF GAMES

FORSAN, Jan. 15 (Sp.)—Coach Brady Nix will take his Forsan high school Buffalo basketball team to Meadow today for games tonight and tomorrow. First and second teams will play, Nix reported. The Buffaloes have played 21 games, winning 18. Decisions were dropped in Wicket Valley, Mendon and Hamilla in the recent Colorado tournament. The Forsan first team lineup: Forwards—Parker and Adams; center—Chambers; guards—Scud-day and Loper. Forsan will enter the Hurnhart tournament next week, and the Buffs are also scheduled to play in the Big Lake and Garden City tournaments. They are dicker for games with the Big Spring Steers.

The Herald mistakenly reported the Buffaloes were playing in Meadow last night.

INTRODUCING—High School Basketball Players—Seniors Juniors

Jack Oliver, left, and Marvin House are the "scoring twins" of the high school Devil basketball team. Oliver, playing his third season as a member of the Devil squad, is very good on follow-ups under the basket. Marvin has played two years with the Calves and one with the Devils. He is a forward on the Devil squad and pivot man with the Calves.

Louis Defeat Good Thing For Boxing

Fight Game Increasing In Favor All Over Country, Foster Reports (Note: This is the ninth in a series of stories written for the Associated Press by outstanding sports leaders. They deal with 1936 developments and 1937 prospects.)

By EDWARD C. FOSTER Executive Secretary The National Boxing Association

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 15 (AP)—It seems impossible to say anything about boxing during 1936 without mentioning the greatest upset of the year, the defeat of Joe Louis by Max Schmeling. Personally, I believe it was a great thing for boxing because many people had been led to believe that Louis was invincible. Schmeling's victory proved this sport was on the level and endeavoring to produce the best men in the various classes.

Boxing is increasing in favor all over the country. It certainly seems to have earned this increasing patronage, for I believe the boxers and their handlers are doing a much better job than they have in the past three or four years. I mean the boys are well matched and in almost every instance are giving about the best of their ability. The National Boxing Association, with its 35 member states, is earnestly working now on a plan to alleviate some of the tribulations of old, broken-down boxers. It is planned to organize a fund to be earmarked for indigent boxers. We believe fans all over the country would be willing to stand perhaps a one-cent tax on each ticket to go toward this fund. However, no really definite plan has been adopted.

The heavy-weight division is certainly in a chaotic condition. There is no reason in the world why Jim Braddock should not have been compelled to defend his title within the year after he won that title, or declare publicly it was impossible for him, owing to physical disability, to continue as champion. However, there seems to be a rainbow in the sky, and 1937 no doubt will see the heavy-weight division represented by a champion who not only is capable but willing to defend his title.

One of the big disappointments to boxing fans this year was a practical rescinding of the so-called no foul-rule, which has been in effect since immediately after the Sharkey-Schmeling bout some few years ago in New York. The National Boxing Association, at its meeting in Houston, voted to keep the no-foul rule intact.

Steers Have Been Showing Improvement

Locals Play Game Number Seven Tonight Against Taylor's Charges

When the Steers take the court tonight against the San Angelo Bobcats for their seventh game of the season, the critical eyes of Big Spring basketball enthusiasts will be watching to see if the Longhorns are continuing to show improvement. Wednesday night, against a rangy and hard fighting Midland team, the Steers found the hoop in the closing minutes of the game to hang up a 28 to 20 victory. The game was marked by the unorthodox basket shooting of Pop, poor shooting from the free-throw mark, and the play of Weldon Bigony, who managed to break away on a scoring spree late in the game.

Burrus is one of Coach Brandon's most improved players. Over a period of years Big Spring basketball teams have had an edge on San Angelo Quinteta. The game tonight will start at 7:30. Admission will be 10 cents and 15 cents.

SAMMY BAUGH 'NOES THE PROS'

By FELIX McKNIGHT
 FORT WORTH, Jan. 15 (AP)—No pro football for Slingin' Sam Baugh.
 All he wants is a backfield coaching job at Texas Christian, his alma mater. And he'll get it, as sure as there's a football team.
 Pro offers have come in profusion to the tanned, rawboned 22-year-old Texan who pitched the football two miles in three seasons and who is the Horned Frogs' immortal "45."
 They offered as much as $200 per appearance, but Sammy turned thumbs down on this chance to make $3,750 a season in favor of a job that would pay less than $2,000.
 T. C. U. thinks so much of its hero that No. 45 will never figure again in a Christian triumph.

They'll skip from 44 to 46 here after while 45 hangs in Christian's hall of fame, just as old 77 worn by Red Grange at Illinois belongs to him alone.
 All told, the 6-foot-2-inch 180-pounder completed 280 out of 602 passes in three years for 39 touchdowns and a gross gain of 3,444 yards.
 He beat Santa Clara
 His passing figured in the Christian's 3-2 Sugar Bowl triumph over Louisiana State a year ago to the rescue, leaning Baugh the fare to Fort Worth—a kindness that eventually boomeranged against the rival University of Texas.

 But he wasn't a hero immediately. In his first Southwest conference game, against Arkansas, Baugh was playing safety. A punt came his way. Certain he was around the 10-yard stripe, he glanced downward, saw he was on the double-chalked goal-line and bobbled the ball away. Arkansas recovered and scored.
 T. C. U. forgot that, though, when he wrote indelible chapters in his school's football history the next two years.
 Bet Against T. C. U.
 Sammy now discloses that he bet on all the big games he played, bet against his own team, with his teammates as the takers. He laid $3 on the line—and enjoyed losing it in the 1936 Sugar Bowl game.
 As quarterback, he confided to Coach Meyer that he feared his mates believed he was hogging the spotlight. They were forever "ragging," calling him "MR." Baugh and "All-America" Baugh. Then he started calling running plays, neglecting his good right arm to the alarm of Coach Meyer, who opened up the game again with:
 "Boys, Sammy is beginning to think you believe he is the whole show. He's not that way and you know it. Let's quit kidding him so much. You know he's out there and, couple with his kicking, it sent Santa Clara into the defeated ranks in 1936 and plastered mighty Marquette, 16-6, in this year's Cotton Bowl game.

 The man Baugh wants to work for is the man who discovered him—Coach Leo (Dutch) Meyer. Meyer took a baseball team to Abilene in 1933 for a game with the natives. He came away remembering a gangling youngster who played plenty of third base for Abilene and went into a huddle with Francis Schmidt, then the Christian football maestro. "The best muscular coordination for a kid of his age I've ever seen," Meyer argued.
 Meanwhile, Baugh listened to a University of Texas alumnus. He wanted to play baseball under Uncle Billy Ditch, but there was no job for Sammy. Uncle Billy came grade up, Obie would give the kids football to play during recess, figuring that by the time they reach high school they would be thoroughly sold on the game. A similar plan was tried here in 1932 (Obie's first year) and it didn't work out. The East Ward school won the championship, if we remember correctly, but very few of the boys worked their way up to the Steer team.

THE RIDEOUTS—Wayne and Blaine went to North Texas Teachers with a less impressive record than twins Elmer and Delmer Brown, sprinters. Wayne Rideout's impressive victory over Leah in the two-mile run in 9:30.5 was the second best mark ever made by an American, and stamped the youngster as a threat in intercollegiate circles this year. The Brown twins were transfers from Abilene Christian College.

VINES, FULLY RECOVERED, TO RESUME PLAY

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15 (AP)—Fred Perry, czar of the amateur tennis ranks for three years, picked up his match tonight with Ellsworth Vines, professional champion, as the "rubber" of their national tour.
 He referred to illness which forced Vines to enter a hospital in Chicago, and said:
 "It certainly put me in a hole. "If I won from Vines, I defeated him because he was not at top form."
 "Had he won from me, fans would say that Vines, though off his game could defeat me."
 "I am glad that Vines has had this six-day rest and says that he is fully recovered. There will be no question of tonight's match."
 Vines, meanwhile, came from Chicago by train, unable to carry out his plans to fly here yesterday because of bad weather.
 The professional champion lost the first three matches of the tour in New York, Cleveland, and Chicago, before halting the campaign because of a severe cold.

DANA BIBLE HAS INSIDE TRACK FOR TEXAS JOB

AUSTIN, Jan. 15 (AP)—Athletic officials at the University of Texas maintained today there had been no change in the head football coaching situation but rumors flew that Dana Bible, Nebraska coach, definitely had the inside track.
 Known favorably in Texas for many years as a result of his long tenure at Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college, Bible was reported to be planning a conference with the athletic council at an early date, possibly this week-end. He visited briefly with them about a month ago when he was in the state on other business.
 Bible fills the specifications of H. J. Lutecher of Orange, millionaire chairman of the board of regents, who said he wanted a successful big-time coach virtually regardless of price. The talk hereabouts is that if Bible comes to Texas the price will be high.

 Wayside Beck, two-year-old pointer bitch owned by Bryan Daniel of Freeport, won the derby event yesterday. Sid's Ferris First, pointed owned by R. A. Johns of Austin, won the all-age stakes, and Reuben M., owned by Gus Mays of Corsicana, was first in the puppy stakes.

FOUR DIE IN FIRE Children Perish As Small House Is Destroyed

OGDENSBURG, N. H., Jan. 15 (AP)—Four children were burned to death and a fireman was seriously injured when flames destroyed a small frame house here yesterday. The victims were Violet, 15; Rita, 11; Jean, 7, and Martha, 3, all children of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Petrillia.
 A son, Bobby, aged 10, was rescued with night clothes and hair afire as he stood against the front door trying to escape.
 He was carried to safety by Mrs. Nina Williams, a neighbor, who discovered the flames when she let her pet cat outdoors for an early morning airing.
 The father, operator of a small restaurant and taxi business, had gone to work when the fire started. Firemen said they discovered Mrs. Petrillia, delirious, outside her home, unable to explain how she escaped.

BILLS TO REPEAL WAGERING OFFERED

AUSTIN, Jan. 15 (AP)—Both houses of the legislature have received bills proposing repeal of the law legalizing pari-mutual wagering on horse racing.
 The house bill was by Rep. J. Bryan Bradbury of Abilene and that in the senate by G. H. Nelson of Lubbock. The senate measure was sent to the committee on criminal jurisprudence.
 The measure probably will be the basis of one of the sharpest controversies of the session. Gov. Allford has said he would recommend repeal but did not mention the subject in his first message.
 Efforts to knock out the law failed two years ago but proponents of repeal said they had gained strength since.

WTCC FILMS TO BE SHOWN FOR TEXAS SCHOOL CHILDREN

STAMFORD, Jan. 15—Through an arrangement with the Visual Instruction Bureau, a division of extension for the University of Texas, school children throughout the entire state will have an opportunity to see the forty films used by the West Texas chamber of commerce last season in the All-West Texas community and resource exhibit at the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial.
 The films showing the industries, resources, educational and recreational activities of the forty West Texas towns were provided by the towns for the Centennial exhibit and were shown every day during the big Frontier show. They attracted a great deal of attention and numerous requests for their loan have come to the officers of the West Texas chamber of commerce from other sections of the state. General interest in them was so great that the West Texas chamber of commerce tendered the films to Mrs. Charles Jop Moore, chief of the Visual Instruction Bureau, who will rent them through the bureau's regular school channels.

 The West Texas chamber of commerce exhibit, which attracted many visitors at the Centennial last summer, has been held intact in anticipation of the reopening of the Centennial again this year.

Easily Made Slip Covers To Be Used As Year-Round Decoration

INEXPENSIVE REDECORATING

Furniture slip covers offer an easy way to redecorate that is likewise easy on the pocketbook.

Covers like this can be made at home. The enclosed drawings illustrate instructions given in the accompanying story.

By ELISABETH MAY BLONDEL, Prepared by McCall's Magazine For The Herald

Slip covers are no longer just things to keep the summer sun and dust off the furniture. They are now all-year-round decorations—and offer a way of redecorating very friendly to the budget.

They are no longer hard to make. The new slip cover patterns are as easy to use as a dress pattern. Clear drawings show every step and numbers show how the pieces are joined.

For instance, in one of the detail drawings, the two parts numbered "5" come together at the seam joining the inside arm piece and the inside arm piece at the top of the arm. The parts numbered "8" form the joint of the seat piece to the lower part of the inside arm piece. The extra material is pushed down between the arm and the seat—sl around the seat. Anyone who has ever sat on a skimpily fitting cover has learned the importance of a large seam allowance at this point.

How the cord finish can be inserted in the seams when the cover is being sewn together is shown in the other detail drawing. A cording foot is used on the machine—the foot can come close to the cord and sew it securely.

The variety of charming slip cover materials now in the stores is bewildering—all colors and all kinds of patterns, large and small. The beginner might best start with plain ninen or jaspé or a chintz or cretonne with a small all-over design; a fabric with large motifs has to be cut and matched carefully and needs more experience.

Smart and modern is the idea that the same material should not be used for all the slip covers in a room. Some should be figured—with flowers, for instance—and the others in solid colors matching one of the design colors. The result is an interesting combination of contrast and harmony.

St. Mary's Auxiliary Plans Entertainment For Delegates To District Convocation

Elaborate plans for the entertainment of auxiliary delegates and clergymen of the North Texas district Episcopal churches and auxiliaries who will attend the convocation here beginning Sunday, have been made by the St. Mary's Auxiliary of the local church, first of which will be the clergy breakfast at 8 o'clock Sunday morning when Mrs. V. Van Gieson, district treasurer, and Mrs. J. B. Young will be co-hostesses.

The guest list will be composed of clergymen, their wives and district officers and includes the following: Bishop and Mrs. E. Cecil Seaman of Amarillo; Rev. and Mrs. Hodge Alves of Lubbock; Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Hanson of Colorado; Rev. and Mrs. Newton Smith of Charendon; Rev. and Mrs. Phillip Kemp of San Angelo; Rev. Willis P. Gehart of Abilene; Rev. W. H. Martin of Stamford; Mr. Snell of Famp; Rev. F. Walter Henckell; Mrs. L. W. Hollis, Abilene, president; Mrs. Gray, Lubbock, secretary of life work; Miss Helen Lyle, Canyon, educational secretary; Mrs. Henry Gooch, Amarillo, chairman of program committee. Places will be laid for sightseers.

More than one hundred and fifty people are expected to call between 5 and 7 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the H. W. Wooten home for tea when the local auxiliary members will receive visitors and local Episcopalians.

Mrs. J. B. Young and Mrs. John Clarke will preside at the registration book Saturday afternoon when early arrivals will be received by a committee at the Parish House. Tea will be served during the registration hours.

Fifty clergymen and auxiliary delegates are expected to be present for the opening services that will be held at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning at St. Mary's Episcopal church. Dinners and luncheons have been planned for the guests at local hotels.

West Ward Announces Installation Of Four Radios In School At P-T.A. Business Meet

Four radios have been installed and are now in use at the West Ward school, according to report made at the Parent-Teacher association meeting, Thursday at the school. This school is the first one of the city to complete the project which has been the object of work in all associations.

In addition to the report from the radio committee, the treasurer listed expenditures during the Christmas season and announced the preparation and delivery of 25 baskets for needy families in the West Ward district.

Announcement was made of the Father's Night that will be held at 7:30 o'clock February 11 at the school for which a special program is being arranged. It was also planned that each room mother together with the room teacher would work out some means of raising money for the association's funds.

W. C. Blankenship gave an inspiring address on "Appreciation" which was a chosen topic on the P-T.A. scheduled program for the year.

Program of the afternoon was in charge of the pupils in the rooms of Mrs. Lee Baber and Mrs. R. I.

Mundt and they offered a number of readings and songs. An instrumental duet was given by Mrs. Bob Phillips and Mrs. Mundt.

Registered were Mrs. R. D. McMillan, Mrs. T. B. McGinnis, Mrs. L. S. McIntosh, Mrs. Raymond Winn, Mrs. E. C. Barron, Mrs. G. C. Potts, Mrs. A. L. Spencer, Mrs. L. R. Slaughter, Mrs. Clyde Eppler, Mrs. Pat Harrison, Mrs. E. C. Casey, Mrs. Roy Ayers, Mrs. Charles Akoy, Mrs. J. V. Murphy, Mrs. Gould Winn, Mrs. J. M. Taylor, Mrs. George R. OLD FASHIONED FLANNEL MAKES NEW ROBES Old-fashioned flannel dressed up in new guises makes robes that are as smart as they are comfortable. The coat lies at the neck and waistline and buttons down the front. It makes a practical house robe for cold winter nights.

Most no Russian, and found talking with Esmeine impossible. Hence Miss Kinel.

It is in this part of "This Is My Affair" I found most amusing, although a little irritating also. The author's personal anecdotes about Isadora and her poet are highly diverting, but it is a little incredible that so shrewd an observer should have lost all her critical sense when she saw Isadora dance. Seeing Isadora dance threw Miss Kinel into raptures, even though Isadora was fat, forty, and flabby from self-indulgence at the time.

Later Miss Kinel offended Esmeine, and finally she landed in America, where she made the acquaintance of everybody from literary agents to gangsters. And so to the end.

Thursday Luncheon Club Entertained By Mrs. Kountz

Thursday Luncheon Club members were guests of Mrs. R. P. Kountz at the Monterey Cafe for a Mexican meal before assembling in her Settles Hotel apartment for bridge games.

High scores of the afternoon were Mrs. Sam Goldman and Mrs. Lee Hubby who scored high and second high, respectively.

Attending were Mrs. Ray Lawrence, Mrs. Hubby, Mrs. Roy Combs, Mrs. Adams Talley, Mrs. Harbin Wood, Mrs. Cal Boykin, Mrs. Goldman and the hostess.

Easy-To-Make Luncheon Set

By RUTH ORR
Pattern No. 248

With apologies to Sir Walter Scott "Breathes there the woman with a soul so dead who never to herself (or her friends) hath said, 'This is my own, my handiwork?'"

If there does, now is the time for her to remedy it. For, with several balls of mercerized knitting and crocheted cotton, a crocheted hook, and a few spare moments, you can produce a luncheon set that you'll be more than proud to call your own work.

The pattern envelope contains complete, easy-to-understand illustrated directions, with diagrams to aid you, and also what crocheted hook and what material and how much you will need.

To obtain this pattern, send for No. 248 and enclose 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to cover service and postage. Address: Big Spring Herald, Needlework Dept., P. O. Box 300, Station D, New York, N. Y.

RETAIL SALES ARE UNSETTLED, WHILE WHOLESALE TRADE UP

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—Retail trade was unsettled this week but wholesale business set a fast tempo and industrial indices pointed upward, Dun & Bradstreet reported today in the weekly review.

Unseasonably warm weather restricted buying of winter merchandise in many areas, the trade agency said. On the wholesale front, however, buyers crowded in to centers holding trade shows with some cities reporting a record number for the period.

The early date of Easter this year was one factor behind the brisk forward graphs.

Upward extensions appeared in most leading industrial graphs, the review noted, an abrupt lengthening being shown by some following the usual year-end interruptions.

Electric power output, bituminous coal production and lumber production were among those showing good gains. Steel output held about even despite labor troubles in parts of the automobile industry.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Ralph have returned from Dallas where they attended the funeral services for Mrs. Ralph's mother who died in that city on January 10.

Public Has Invitation To Concert

Hatfield Presentation At Baptist Church To Be Free Of Charge

A musical entertainment that is open to the public with no admission charge will be that offered through the Music Study Club at 7:45 o'clock this evening in the auditorium of the First Baptist Church when Mrs. Ruth Hatfield, soprano, of Odessa will be presented in a concert with the assistance of Mrs. Imogene Pierce, pianist, also of Odessa, Mrs. Jeddie Draper, pianist and vocalist, of Borger, and Mrs. Valdeva Childers, violinist, of this city.

The program to be given tonight will be slightly more pretentious than the one recently given by this group in Midland which was received by more than three hundred and fifty women at a tea musicale at the Midland Country Club. Several numbers have been added to the original program for the local concert.

The Midland offering marked a reunion of the four women whose friendly dates back many years and reunited them in work which all have studied extensively under the tutelage of some of the most outstanding vocal, piano and violinists in the United States.

Although all have been prepared for concert work each has chosen a domestic career in the place of one in the professional music world.

Livestock Association On Record Against Some Government Measures

EL PASO, Jan. 15 (AP)—The American National Livestock association was on record today as vigorously opposed to certain governmental activities affecting the cattle industry.

The fortieth annual convention which closed yesterday approved resolutions against ratification of the Argentine military convention, against reduction of tariff on imported canned meats, for repeal of the reciprocal trade treaty with Canada and in favor of weekly or monthly quotas of Canadian and Mexican cattle imports to avoid "dumping" at certain seasons.

The association re-elected Albert K. Mitchell of Albert, N. M., president and selected Cheyenne, Wyo., for the 1938 convention city. F. E. Mallin of Denver was re-appointed secretary.

A resolution urging the government and stockmen to use "extreme caution" in carrying out the federal range conservation program was tabled after heated debate.

Reading And Writing

By John Selby

"This Is My Affair" is Lolo Kinel's amusing and sometimes breathless autobiography, written after due apologies for such a venture at her age. The age is somewhere in the 30's; she doesn't specify.

Miss Kinel's important life began when she was 18 and the Russian revolution impoverished her family. She was left with nothing but her wits (which are, it would seem, sharp enough) and her gift for languages. This last is almost a national Russian characteristic, so probably she takes little credit for it.

In any case, she first got herself a job with the Russian Daily News in Petrograd, one she was quite capable of filling indefinitely had not her inner self refused to accept communism. The refusal set her on the move; she has been moving ever since.

First she escaped with her sister and her grandmother to Poland, using forged passports. In Poland she acted as interpreter in a refugee camp; shortly after an Englishman to whom she was engaged arranged a transfer to Danzig, which after all was only exchanging the suffering of the way for a personal tragedy. After Danzig Miss Kinel was alone with her wits.

Quite astonishingly, she found herself very soon acting as a combination secretary and interpreter to Isadora Duncan and her man of the hour, Sergei Esmeine, who was a husky young man, a Russian peasant, and a poet. The combination pleased Isadora very much, except that she spoke almost no Russian, and found talking with Esmeine impossible. Hence Miss Kinel.

It is in this part of "This Is My Affair" I found most amusing, although a little irritating also. The author's personal anecdotes about Isadora and her poet are highly diverting, but it is a little incredible that so shrewd an observer should have lost all her critical sense when she saw Isadora dance. Auto Strike: A Picture Story Of How Trouble Developed

A PARIS FASHION
French strikers last summer adopted the practice of staying in factories after quitting work. Owners thus couldn't nullify a strike by operating the plant with substitute workers. This stay-in technique soon became known as the "sit-down" strike.

C.I.O. STARTS IN STEEL
Meanwhile in the U. S. John L. Lewis (left) had formed the Committee for Industrial Organization to push vertical unionism. With Philip Murray (right) as chief organizer, C.I.O. set out first to unionize steel workers.

MOVES TO AUTOMOBILES
Automobile workers too were largely unorganized and among them the recruiting was done by United Automobile Workers of America, a C.I.O. union headed by Homer S. Martin.

AMERICANS ALSO SIT
Actual auto labor trouble began not with the auto makers, but with parts manufacturers. Among the first strikes was that at the Bendix (brake maker) plant at South Bend, Ind., where workers adopted the sit-down technique.

GENERAL MOTORS—A TARGET
As biggest motor maker (location of its 89 plants shown on map), General Motors offered the ultimate test of any attempt to unionize auto workers. John L. Lewis said "go" when he remarked it was time for General Motors "to do a little collective bargaining."

STRIKE ONE ON G.M.
First G.M. strike occurred at Atlanta, Ga., on Nov. 18 when workers stayed overnight in a Fisher Body plant in protest against alleged attempts to discharge men for wearing union buttons. They are shown leaving the plant next morning.

WANTED:

1. A "national conference" between G.M. officials and U.A.W.A. officers "to discuss and bargain collectively . . ."
2. Abolition of all "piece work systems of pay . . ."
3. A 30-hour week, six-hour day and pay-and-a-half for overtime
4. Establishment of a "minimum rate of pay commensurate with an American standard of living."
5. Reinstatement of employees "unjustly discharged."
6. Seniority rights based upon length of service.
7. Recognition of U.A.W.A. as the "sole bargaining agency" between G.M. and its employees.
8. "Speed of production shall be mutually agreed upon by the management and a union committee . . ."

THE REAL FIGHT BEGINS
While both sides issued statements and exchanged belligerent letters, the fight was carried on in the factories. Plant after plant shut down. In some workers walked out, but in more they "sat down."

G.M. STRIKES BACK
In a statement to employees, President Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., of G.M. said the "real issue" was this: "Will a labor organization run the plants of the General Motors corporation or will the management continue to do so?"

IDLENESS MARCHES ON
Shortage of certain parts threatened to paralyze General Motors production. Department of labor conciliators and the governor of Michigan urged direct negotiations between G.M. and U.A.W.A. leaders as strikes and shutdowns spread.

Shirley Star Of New Film
Child Star In "Stowaway," To Play Here Sunday And Monday

Shirley Temple, who's kept plenty busy these days because of popular demand for her pictures, comes again to the Ritz theatre this week-end in her newest starring vehicle, "Stowaway." The picture is offered Sunday and Monday, with a midnight matinee preview Saturday.

"Stowaway" finds Shirley in China, in a delightful role in which she sings and speaks in Chinese to win a Chinese amateur contest. Robert Young and Alice Faye are featured in the supporting cast, which also includes Eugene Pallette, Helen Westley, Arthur Treacher, J. Edward Bromberg and Astrid Allwyn.

Shirley is a little American girl, orphaned by the death of missionary parents. Through a series of events, she becomes linked with Young, a young millionaire, and Miss Faye, to whom the young man is attracted, despite the fact he is engaged to marry another girl. The child becomes a stow-away on an American-bound ship, gets into trouble to be assisted by Young and Miss Faye. Then she, in turn, helps them in romantic difficulties, to make the story come out happily for all.

Shirley is given opportunity to sing several new featured songs and to offer the type of entertainment which the film public wants.

Bing Crosby's New Picture At The Ritz

'Pennies From Heaven' With Many New Songs, Booked Fri-Sat.

Bing Crosby's latest film, in which the crooner offers some of the season's most popular song numbers, comes to the Ritz theatre Friday and Saturday. It's called "Pennies From Heaven," and is a comedy romance with plenty of musical interludes.

"Pennies From Heaven" is the tale of a vagabond troubadour who is entrusted with a letter from a condemned murderer to the family of the murdered man. The minstrel finds a little girl and her impoverished grandfather, and sets about trying to earn a living for them. In doing so, he crosses trails with a pretty county welfare worker who is supposed to send the child to an orphanage and the elderly man to an old folks' home. All this is not as serious as it sounds. The problem is worked out in gay fashion, with singing, laughing and loving taking up a goodly portion of the entertainment.

The part of the welfare worker is played by beautiful Madge Evans, while Edith Fellows appears as the orphan and Donald Meek as the child's grandfather.

Music, of course, plays a prominent part in the picture. Bing's new tunes include such hits as "Pennies From Heaven," "So Do I," "One, Two, Bustin' Your Shoe," and "Let's Call It Heart a Heart."

Swing music is provided by Louis Armstrong and his band, the dusky leader singing and playing on his hot trumpet a novelty number called "Skeleton in the Closet." The songs for the picture were written by Arthur Johnson and John Burke.

NEW MEMBER FOR JUDICIAL COUNCIL

AUSTIN, Jan. 15 (AP)—Gov. All announced today the appointment of one new member and reappointment of three to the civil judicial council. Paul Bolton of Austin was named to succeed Roscoe E. Fleming, formerly of Fort Worth, who has resigned and moved out of the state. Judge R. W. Hall, chief justice of the court of civil appeals at Amarillo, Judge James W. McClendon, chief justice of the court of civil appeals at Austin, and District Judge W. R. Chapman of Abilene were re-appointed. The council is an advisory body which studies court procedure in Texas and makes recommendations to the governor and the legislature. Kansas is the nation's leading wheat producing state.

'Great Ziegfeld' To Be Feature At The Lyric Next Week

One of Hollywood's most stupendous productions of the past year, "The Great Ziegfeld," headlines the program at the Lyric theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. A large cast, many of whose members depict famed entertainers who played under Ziegfeld, is headed by William Powell as the great showman; Myrna Loy as Billie Burke; and Luise Rainer as Anna Held. Others featured are Frank Morgan, Fannie Brice, Virginia Bruce, Reginald Owen, Ray Bolger, Ernest Cossart, Joseph Cawthorne, Nat Pendleton and Harriet Hector.

In addition, many of the noted performers of Ziegfeld shows are portrayed by other actors and actresses.

The story itself dramatizes the life of the great showman, starting in 1893 when Ziegfeld became the manager of Sandow, the strong man. Events carry Ziegfeld up the ladder of fame, showing his triumphs and disappointments, and telling how he achieved fame with New York productions, only to lose his fortunes in the crash of 1929.

"The Great Ziegfeld" has many elaborate musical incidents which form the background of the story. The Ziegfeld Roof number and the spectacle built around the song, "A Pretty Girl Is Like A Melody," are outstanding sequences.

EASE

IT ALL DEPENDS ON THE Lighting!

A frown while reading . . . a tendency to hold a book or newspaper close to the eyes . . . inability to read or study for long periods, these may be the sign of poor lighting which is causing eyestrain. Scientists have proved that it is easier to study or read under a good light, and that the difference between straining to see and seeing with ease may depend entirely on the lighting.

Lamps for Easy Seeing in the Home!

To be sure that all members of your family, especially the children who read and study a great deal, have the right amount of light for safe and easy seeing, call our office and a trained lighting man will make a check with a light meter, a small device which measures light as simply as a thermometer measures heat. This service is free and places you under no obligation.

Good lighting is one of the smallest items of household expense. A few pennies a day is all it costs the average family to have plenty of light for easy and comfortable seeing.

Lounge Lamps are placed by lounges or easy chairs to provide a good light for reading comfortably.

Reading-Study Lamps are placed on tables or desks to provide a good light for studying, drawing, or other detailed eye work.

Tri-lite Floor Lamps provide a good light for reading and also a general illumination throughout the room.

TODAY'S ANNIVERSARY—The first railroad locomotive built in the United States was completed Jan. 15 1830. It was known as the "Peter Cooper," attained a speed of 5 to 18 miles per hour, pulled 23 people and developed 1.43 horsepower.

MAKE IT PLAIN

Let us hope that the legislature will have a few minutes time during the present long session to give to making clear what is gambling and what is not—and that it will not legalize any gambling to secure money for old age assistance or any other state operated function.

There is the matter of marble boards, for instance. Many counties have been agonizing over the marble boards with the result that the courts are cluttered up with injunctions and other writs and there is no solution in sight.

One official may say the boards must go and other representatives of the law may have another opinion. At any rate they do not go. Since the war on marble boards opened in some cities, some of the operators have been having the boards pay off with "tokens" instead of nickels, alleging that the tokens are not usable as cash or for the purchase of merchandise.

It would be a simple matter for the legislature to say that marble boards, whether paying nickels, tokens, grains of corn, or whatnot, are gaming devices and therefore unlawful of not gaming devices and therefore lawful.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

NEW YORK — Paul de Laboulaye is ecstatic over the skyline of New York—including the sky.

Amazement and admiration lights up his dark French face as he points to the twilight over Rockefeller Center, where his first American exhibition is being held.

There is, however, one qualifying note to this surrendered enthusiasm. We were talking, this bachelor son of a French ambassador and I, from a point 18 floors above the sidewalks, and he pointed to the lean, upward thrust of gray buildings which come seemingly from nowhere to wound the sky with gleaming arrows and polished bronze spires.

"New York—what shall I say?—is a wonderful city to paint, but if you begin at the top you never know where to stop at the bottom.

"It is very difficult. It always looks as if a piece of picture has been scissored out. A real impression of New York is so hard to get in a small canvas. Perhaps it could be done on a screen or something very big."

He meant, of course, that in panoramic sweeps the sidewalks and streets must always be obliterated by the tangled maze of skyscrapers and buildings.

"It is different in Europe," he said. "There an artist may invent and fictionalize. He may even rearrange whole landscapes for purposes of composition. But in New York one shouldn't change anything. This city has so much strength by itself, you can't leave anything out without sacrificing character. Yes, I have tried to paint your city. Once I tried from the Statue of Liberty. I am not pleased."

One looks at this well-dressed young man and concludes that he seems more of a fencing-master, or a tennis champion, than an artist. He is lean and dark, with haven hair already touched with white (a family characteristic), and he is French in thought, word, and accent, although he was educated in American universities, and has spoken English for years.

As for his painting the city from the Statue of Liberty—you could count the artists on both sides the ocean and not find one with a better right to post his easel at the hem of the august lady's skirts. For he is the grandson of the man who first conceived the idea of presenting some such statue to the United States.

Joe Glaston reports that Vincent Lopez, who bids fair to become known as the master of trick compositions, has another tune with lyrics that are calculated to drive listeners crazy. This is "How Do You Doodle?" and it relates to the drawings and meaningless scribbling done by most persons in abstract moments—such as those weird abracadabra you jot down on tablecloths, telephone pads (during calls), etc. Lopez himself is a confirmed doodler. He got the idea from "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town."

Russell Crouse writes plays for amusement and profit but he would rather dig out old murders and do books about them than anything.

France to adopt firmer diplomatic stand. Bigger and better European crises expected. Speechless congressmen amaze Washington. Robert Jackson seen as Landis' successor.

Turned Down
WASHINGTON, Jan. 15—Watch for France to adopt a new and firmer stand in European diplomacy. Until last week, she had been playing the beggar's game. She groaned constantly about poor France being menaced by Germany. In the Moroccan case she suddenly swerved, dropped her fright, and began to assert herself in somewhat the same grandstand manner as those eminent leaders of the grandstanding arts, Messrs. Hitler and Mussolini.

You may set it down as more than a semi-official guess that La Belle France henceforth will attempt to be a new woman. That probably means bigger and better weekly crises in Europe. With all the European outfielders playing to the grandstand, they are bound to bump into each other sooner or later.

Dumb
This appears to be the strangest congress ever assembled. The house had nothing to do this week, so Floor Leader Rayburn passed around an inside invitation for all members to get speeches out of their systems now. Only two accepted the invitation during the first three days. Imagine, if you can, 435 congressmen, with only two speeches in their systems. Some authorities suspected the epidemic of speechlessness might have been caused by spread of winter colds, but evidence indicates the congressmen are hale, if not hearty. Apparently, it is only an epidemic of Rooseveltitis.

The president's opening message invited action from the court rather than from congress. The budget he is presenting that few congressmen care or will speak about it. The White House reorganization message failed to awaken latent imaginations. The defect may be remedied too soon.

Exempt
The quiet exodus of the smart young men behind the big officials is continuing. Latest to go is Treasury Actuary A. S. McLeod. He is virtually unknown to the world at large but, on the inside, he is recognized as the brain of the federal estimating system. As a Hoover hold-over he had more experience than the new deal newcomers and was of great help in putting the new corporation tax system over in congress. Like the other secondary authorities who are departing, he is going into business, as an investment counsel. No excuse was offered, but it is understood McLeod sought more congenial surroundings.

Equally significant is the fact that the undersecretaryship of the treasury has been vacant for about a year. It is a joke among new dealers that Secretary Morgenthau asks everyone he meets to suggest someone, but no satisfactory man has been found who will take the job. Reports are current that Mr. Morgenthau will soon start advertising in the help wanted section. Government service apparently is not considered what it used to be.

Successor
Best bet for the new chairmanship of the securities and exchange commission is Robert Jackson, the young attorney who distinguished himself in the preparation of several government cases before the supreme court. The justice department borrowed him from internal revenue for the Associated Gas and Electric case, and then borrowed him permanently as an assistant attorney general. Present SEC Chairman Landis will become dean of Harvard Law School in September.

Dark
Congressional leaders are having a hard time keeping their public statements straight with Mr. Roosevelt. The day before Mr. Roosevelt announced his "if and when" balancing of the budget, House Appropriations Chairman Buchanan said the budget would not be balanced for four years more. The same thing happened to Speaker Bankhead and Senate Leader Robinson, who were quoted in favor of a constitutional amendment shortly before Mr. Roosevelt sent up his message against it. The incidents are accepted in the cloak-room as indications that the White House has not been telling the leaders much.

Strike
A good many labor authorities outside the C.I.O. now are saying John Lewis should not have hopped into the auto strike so soon. They believe it was premature and therefore very bad strategy, but they do not blame Lewis. He was forced into it by the auto unions. As they see it, Lewis cannot afford to lose, because failure would severely injure his chances of organizing the steel industry for another year, if not definitely.

New York Wars On Policy Racket

'Numbers' Games Brought To A Halt As Police Hold Members Of Ring

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—The lightning might strike next. Dewey described the numbers racket as the biggest source of organized crime's slush fund, with indications approximately 750,000 persons in New York City contribute to it regularly. In Harlem, where "the numbers" is played enthusiastically by a negro and Spanish-American population, they call the game the "poor man's lottery." Anybody having one cent or more can play it, and winners get 540 to one. For a nickel, you can get $27. Dewey's chief captives, held under bonds of $50,000 and $20,000 respectively, were Joe Isou and Moe Weintraub. The special prosecutor charged that Weintraub was attorney for the ring, that Isou has a partner, Alexander Pompelli, who escaped, and that the pair, both of whom are West Indian negroes, had been in the business 30 years.

Wings for Sally

by BAILEY WOLF

Chapter 33
LOVE, NOT FRIENDSHIP

"Now do you believe what I told you about your friend Giles Benton?" Philip demanded of Sally as she closed behind McDonald.

"I don't know Mr. Benton," said Sally. "It's easy to convince me. But Mr. Morris—I've known him all my life. He's not such a bad man. Surely he couldn't want to make up lies about an innocent man like McDonald. He couldn't want to see him in prison for something he didn't do."

"Morris knows nothing about McDonald," said Philip. "Except what he hears from Giles Benton. He'll take Giles' word for all this because he's hired him to find the guilty man. It's very easy to believe anything of a man you distrust, and Morris distrusts anyone who wants to better himself at Morris' expense."

"Then if Mr. Morris knew the truth he might fire Benton and put a stop to all this deceit and trickery?"

"Mr. Morris wouldn't believe the truth," said Philip. "And what about Giles. Why should he risk so much?"

"He'll get several thousand dollars out of this," said Philip. "If he finds a scapegoat for Morris. And he's found one."

"I'm having lunch with Giles tomorrow," said Sally. "I can't face him. He'll know that I've found out about him."

"I don't like your going out with the man," frowned Philip. "But you may be able to help McDonald if you keep quiet and get all you can out of Benton."

"What about the night we found McDonald in the Morris driveway?" asked Sally, suddenly remembering.

"I don't know. Of course there's a chance that McDonald isn't being square with us."

"That I don't believe," said Sally. "McDonald's honest."

"I believe that," said Philip. "That's why I mean to fight for him." He frowned, went to the window and looked out. Suddenly he turned to Sally. "There's one thing more. I've dragged you in on this affair because—well, because I wanted to. I hadn't any right to do it. I've put you in an awkward position. The Morris family are your friends, you're staying in their house as a guest, and if this thing goes on as I think it will, you may find yourself in a curious position. Now your time to get out if you want to. Pretend you know nothing of the whole affair. I won't refer to it again, or use you in any way."

"I can't do that," said Sally. "I'm in now, for good or bad. Besides I don't want to get out. It's important to me, to help find out the truth."

"Is it, Sally?" Philip's eyes searched her eagerly.

"Yes," Sally was confused by Philip's look, which caught and held her own eyes.

The Most Important Thing

"Sally," Philip began, and then stopped, as if at a loss to go on. "Sally—I must know how I feel. A moment ago, when McDonald knocked at the door, I was about to tell you what I can't seem to find words for now."

Sally knew now what he was trying to say. She clasped her hands together. She did not want him to say it. She did not want to lose this best friend. But he went on.

"I didn't know myself until I went away, how much you have come to mean to me. I could hardly wait to get back to see you again. To be able to see you every day, to have you beside me in the same office with me, seems the most important thing in the world."

"You're my best friend, Philip," said Sally steadily. "I couldn't do without you, either."

"But—you don't care for me the way I care for you," said Philip. "That's what you're trying to tell me. I know that already. I want to wait longer, to give you time. I'm a stupid fool to blurt it out. But I couldn't seem to hold back."

"You're deceiving yourself," said Sally. "What you really feel for me is what I feel for you—friendship."

"No," said Philip in a low voice. "I know—I love you."

"But you, yourself, told me that love is less important than work and friendship." She did not mean to be cruel. It was true. In her own worst moments of suffering over Terry's loss, he had helped her with his gospel of work and friendship. But Philip could not take his own prescription.

"I deserve that, Sally," he said with a very smile. "Because I'm true. I'm old enough to know that love can't be the most important thing in the world for long. But"

"I know—I love you," he said with a very smile. "Because I'm true. I'm old enough to know that love can't be the most important thing in the world for long. But"

Job Insurance, Help Offered

Commission Representative To Be In Abilene For Next Few Weeks

AUSTIN, Jan. 15.—L. Thurmond Krueger, special representative of the Texas Unemployment Compensation commission, will be stationed in Abilene to assist employers of the surrounding district during the next few weeks, Chairman Director R. B. Anderson announced today.

Krueger's headquarters will be in the Abilene chamber of commerce and all employers of that district are urged to go to Krueger for help on problems arising under the Texas Unemployment Compensation act, Anderson stated.

The district for which Abilene will be headquarters consists of the following counties: Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Kent, Stonewall, Throckmorton, Gaines, Dawson, Borden, Scurry, Fisher, Jones, Shackelford, Stephens, Eastland, Callahan, Taylor, Nolan, Mitchell, Howard, Martin, Andrews, Midland, Glasscock, Sterling, Coke, Runnels, Coleman, Upton, Reagan, Irion, Tom Green, and Comanche.

MR. AND MRS.

Philip's manner when he said goodnight, was the old friendly manner. Almost as he could convince himself that he had never said he loved her.

Sally rode home with one of the men in the outer office who was going her way.

When Sally arrived at the Morris house, neither Giles nor Mary were to be seen. As Sally prepared for bed, she listened for sounds from Mary's room, but everything was quiet. The moonlight was so bright that Sally turned off her own light and sat by her window, brushing her hair and enjoying the beauty of the night. A little breeze came to her across the lily pond, laden with the scent of flowers and dew-wet grass. The thousand insect noises of the night hummed in her ears. Sally's brush traveled in rhythmic strokes from her head to the ends of her thick fair hair, while Sally's thoughts kept pace with it.

Why couldn't she love Philip Page as she had loved Terry, who did not want her?

The door between her own room and Mary's opened, and Mary came in. She had on a long yellow dressing gown that made her look very tall.

"I hope you don't mind my coming in," said Mary. "I couldn't sleep. I was so restless. I thought I'd like to talk to you."

"It's too beautiful to go to bed," said Sally. "Look at the sharp black shadows those cedars make out on the lawn."

"It's beautiful enough," said Mary. "If you've got someone to make love to you. That's what moonlight's for."

"Is it still—Philip?" asked Sally, with a feeling of guilt.

"I guess so," said Mary. "I don't know what else is the matter with me. I'm sick of all the things I used to like to do. Sick of all the boys I played around with. Philip is the only man I know with any sense, any real purpose in life. And he despises me."

"That's not true," protested Sally. "She was shocked and touched by Mary's confession. Mary, for all she had, was somehow as unhappy as less fortunate people were."

"Maybe Philip would like me better if I had a job and supported myself, as you do," said Mary. "But why should I? I have more than enough money. Why should I take a job away from someone who needs it?"

"You can travel," said Sally. "Think—you can go anywhere on earth you want to go—see strange places—people."

"I'd like that—with Philip," said Mary. "I'd be bored to death alone, or with a lot of women. If Philip loved me, I'd do anything for him. I'd buy him a big newspaper. I'd take him for a trip around the world." Her tone changed suddenly. "You know what I think, Sally? I think Philip loves you."

Sally was glad that Mary could not see her own guilty face. Mary was only guessing. She could not be sure of anything. And this was just a mood. Tomorrow Mary would be as gay as ever.

As if to confirm this thought, Mary rose and stretched her arms above her head and laughed.

"What a cry-baby I am tonight," she said. "It's trying to go to bed early that gets me. I'm not used to it." She yawned and went toward her own room. "Don't feel too sorry for me, Sally. I mean to have Philip. He hasn't a chance if I really set my mind to getting him." She paused at the door. "You don't, by any chance, want Philip for yourself?"

"I'm not in love with Philip," said Sally slowly. She heard the door of Mary's room close behind her. She felt, somehow, that Mary's whole purpose in visiting her had been to ask that question, and she was glad to be able to answer it honestly.

ITEMS FROM MOORE

Mrs. Jack Edwards is on the sick list this week. Miss Anna Smith is teaching for her.

School was dismissed Monday evening at 3 o'clock in order that teachers and students might attend the funeral of James David Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Jackson.

The members of the senior boys basketball team and their friends were dinner guests at the teachers' on Wednesday night of this week. The group was served a delicious supper. Various games and contests were directed by Madison Smith. Those present were: Joe Lusk, Virginia Sullivan, Bill Rowland, Dollie Jones, Jim Grant, Lovada Shultz, Victor Watts, Callie Wheeler, Lawrence Adkins, Deis Ray, Eva Mae Tourney, Madison Emith, Geneva Brown, Louise Douglas, Twila Lomax, Anna Smith and Arsh Phillips.

Mrs. J. W. Phillips had the misfortune of fracturing a rib this week when she leaned from her rocking chair, crushing the rib against the arm of the chair.

School attendance for the past two weeks was sharply reduced by severe cold weather.

SEEEKS TO REINSTATE CHILDREN EXPELLED FOR NOT SALUTING

BRAZORIA, Jan. 15.—L. D. Shinn, Brazoria county tenant farmer, mapped plans today for a legal fight to force reinstatement of his children in the Brazoria school.

The children, Flora Mae, 8, and Billie Lee, 6, were expelled for failure to salute the flag.

Shinn's attorney, W. A. Combs, said he would file an injunction suit at Angleton within a week. He was notified yesterday that the school board would not revoke the expulsion.

The Shinn's are members of a religious sect which believes saluting the flag is a violation of Biblical commandments.

HONUS WAGNER BUSIEST MAN IN BASEBALL

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—Baseball's busiest man for 1937 will be J. Honus Wagner—Hans of National league fame—who will serve a double purpose this year to the national pastime—high commissioner of semi-pro baseball and coach of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

As commissioner of the semi-pro, affiliated with the National Semi-Pro Baseball Congress, sanctioning a series of 68 state tournaments, climaxed by the national finals at Wichita, Kas., in August, Wagner will do everything from being tournament manager at the convention for state commissioners at Chicago February 7, to opening the series of state tournaments, autographing trophies and finally escorting the All-American team to the Hawaiian Islands.

Wagner 62 Now

Despite his 62 years, Wagner will take time off to aid semi-pro baseball by visiting most of the state tournaments. Last year he attended 12 and he expects to double that number this year.

In addition to settling all disputes in the nationwide organization, Honus certifies each of the winners of state tournaments in the national finals.

Furthermore, Wagner has an added task this year. He will at-last his name to the all-star certificate issued by the National Semi-Pro Baseball Congress. Each tournament 25 players are being selected in the all-star team and each one of these players receives an official certificate from the commissioner.

To Attend Tournament

In the national tournament, he will have a more difficult task. He will be in attendance the entire time, selecting the board of seven who will name the 18 all-American players. Then Wagner will present each one with a certificate.

In addition, baseball's grand old man will autograph 48 state championship trophies which will be donated to the winning team in each state. His name also appears on each of the 34 trophies that are presented in the national finals.

Ardent Semi-Pro Booster

Wagner has always held a warm spot in his heart for the semi-pro. When the National Semi-Pro Baseball Congress was formed in 1935 with Ray Dumont, Wichita, as president, Wagner was unanimously selected as high commissioner. He was re-elected this year.

The National Semi-Pro Baseball Congress awards the national championship team a winner's first place cash prize of $2,000. The 1936 title is held by the Duncan (Okla.) Cementers.

During his spare time Wagner will attempt to whip the Pittsburgh Pirates into a National league pennant contender.

Jail Serves More Turkey

EUGENE, Ore. (UP)—Turkey fed prisoners in the county jail here is due to the fact that turkeys for the time being are the cheapest kind of meat.

Benny Willis has returned to his home in Los Angeles, Calif., after a visit here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Willis. Mrs. Willis accompanied him to El Paso where she will visit several days.

end of the year as compared with $14,132.26 the previous year. State fees were included both years.

The county attorney turned in fees in the amount of $1,182.10 as compared with $1,939.60 in 1935. There were no state fees in either year.

The district clerk reported fees of $789.40 for the year as compared with $2,125.10 in 1935 when $1,499.00 state fees were included.

Most expensive office during 1936 was that of sheriff, but included in his total expenditures of $10,773.82 was $1,412.93 for jail food supplies and an additional $480 for a cook. Close behind the sheriff's office was that of tax collector and assessor where expenses ran to $9,631.97. The office of county clerk was next with $7,061.26, county judge with $4,392.05, county attorney with $3,264.76, and district clerk, least expensive, with $3,071.78.

For Deputies

In the matter of disbursements for deputies, the office of tax collector and assessor led the field with $5,394.03, and this figure did not accurately reflect the real amount of pay to deputies for several who assisted in assessing were listed in the expense account. The sheriff's office required $4,380 for deputy hire (including the jail cook), the county clerk $3,936.03 and the county judge $1,200. Neither the district clerk nor the county attorney had deputies.

Smallest expense account was submitted by the district clerk with $71.78. Not far behind and with a heavier volume of business was the county clerk with $126.23. The county judge submitted expense accounts totaling $129.95, the county attorney $264.76, and the tax collector-assessor $1,037.94.

Salary Increase

Increases in salaries at the start of last year to officials when the county went under the salary system amounted to about $700 per annum. Commissioners upped their own monthly pay to the extent of $1,076 per year and in 1936 deputies cost $15,109.06 as compared to $12,352.96 in 1935, a gain of $2,756.10 during the year. Thus increased costs for salaries came near the $5,000 mark during the year.

The county saved some on jail expenses by being under the salary system. In 1935 the county paid out $3,492.00 to the sheriff's department for jail feed and care of prisoners. Cost of feeding and guarding was $1,723.52, leaving a profit of $1,768.48. This year the jail feed costs were listed as monthly expenses and totaled only $1,412.93 for the year. The cook's salary might be added to this making a total cost in excess of $1,900. The sheriff's department felt the effect of this lost revenue in reporting receipts of the officers' salary fund from the six principal

CANADA ASKED TO PROTEST HALTING OF DOMINION VESSEL

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15 (AP)—The halting of a Canadian tugboat, strictly by American maritime strikers, brought demands today that the dominion government protest to Washington.

The threat of international complications came from the stopping Wednesday night of the tugboat Prospective, outbound from Anacortes, Wash., for Vancouver, B. C., with a tow of logs.

Residents of Whidbey Island in Puget Sound and the crew of the tugboat reported she was stopped by a group of men from Everett, Wash., who refused to let the vessel proceed unless it dropped the tow.

The Vancouver Merchants Exchange, protesting the incident to the Canadian prime minister, Mackenzie King, blamed "alleged strikers or men employed by them" and said the action was "tantamount to piracy."

PARK LAND CLEARED

Gifts Of Trees Requested By Business Club

Land for the West Side park sponsored by the American Business club has been grubbed and cleared, Charles Frost, chairman of the project, told the club in its weekly meeting today.

He said that his committee was ready to plant trees on the property and urged anyone who can and will make a gift of a tree to contact him. After trees are planted, some playground equipment will be installed.

The club voted to sponsor a pre-Valentine dance on the evening of February 12 to raise additional funds for the project. Roy Reader, Howard Thomas, and J. C. Millburn were named as a committee in charge.

Pete Eshaw, vocalist, entertained the club with several selections. He was accompanied by Dorothy Demaree.

HOUSE COMMITTEE FAVORS $50,000,000 FUND

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—The house agriculture committee recommended today the enactment of a bill establishing a permanent $50,000,000 revolving fund for farm crop production and feed loans.

The bill, offered by Chairman Jones (D-Texas) would permit farmers lacking credit elsewhere to borrow up to $400 annually. Previous loan acts provided $200.

A measure similar to Jones' was passed by the last congress but was vetoed by President Roosevelt.
