WASHINGTON, June 2 -- UP - President Eisenhower said Wednesday he has by no means reached a decision to ask Congress for authority to intervene in the Indo-China war

Mr. Eisenhower said that staff talks starting here Thursday among high ranking military officials of the United States, Britain, France, Australia and New Zealand will be confined to military matters only. They will not go into the question of diplomatic policy on the Indo-China conflict.

Southern Neighbors

There is the one about the man in the restaurant who was so busy watching his hat that somebody swiped his pants. And that is just about what is happening to us.

Here we are --- big, strong and dumb as they come. Our foreign policy has consisted of General Marshall's theory that store-bought love is as good as any kind; and, loaded with compliments, kisses and yangui dollars extracted from the taxpayers, we set out to buy the caresses of every faded trollop in Europe.

We even slopped over into Asia where it was strictly a case of the Rover Boys caught sight-seeing in a bagnio; and while we were sympathizing with the dames, their boy friends stole our ear drums.

It was pitiful. We were had in forty-seven languages and in every fashion known to the science of thievery. They took us in Great Britain, France, Spain, Italy, Belgium, Korea, China . . . and, oh well, you know.

It was part of the daft Marshall notion that we were going to be menaced by armed hordes from Moscow, coming here direct and with no lay-overs for refueling.

We threw our money into all the socialistic countries of two continents across two oceans. They devoured our wealth like pigs at the corn trough and looked down their noses at our lack of culture and whined endlessly that we were trying to interfere with the internal affairs of their poor, hungry little countries.

It was a real good laugh --- on us.

And while we were forcing our substance on the old harridans of the Old World, we were treating the South American republics like they were idiot cousins who can be hid down cellar when company comes, and whacked on the rear if they get sassy.

There were a few goofy attempts to set up a phony atmosphere of "good neighborliness" and "hemispheric solidarity" but mostly the good neighbors wondered when the Great White Sucker of the Universe was going to

way of explaining ideas that would be useful to mankind. With this idea in mind, the Freedom Newspapers have bought from The Devin Adair Company the right to run serially Frank Chodorov's new book "The Income Tax Root of All Evil.' I am under great obligation to

Frank Chodorov because in personal correspondence he has straightened me out on some of my errors. He made me contradict myself, and believing as I do that one moral principle is always in agreement with every other moral principal, I was obliged to admit that I was advocating something that was a violation of moral law -- it was a contradiction of terms. And since Chodorov was able to help me better understand the principles on which this government was established and the ideologies of the Jewish and Christian religions, I am glad to give up the space in my column for a month or so to publish serially Frank Chodorov's new book, "The Income Tax, Root of all Evil." I think the title of his book is a little misleading, but it probably was necessary in order to get a short title which summarized the contents of the book. Had Mr. Cho dorov said "The Sixteenth Amendment, Root of All Evil' many readers would not have known what he was talking about. They are beginning to understand what the income tax is. I also think he abbreviated somewhat when he said "Root of All Evil." I think it should have read "Root of all Political Evil." I am of the opinion that the root of all evil is coveting. And if men did not covet, we would not have the income tax. So the real evil is in the minds of men and that results in such injustice as a graduated income tax, which is bound to lead on and on if it cannot be repealed to a more tyrannical and despotic government that will greatly retard human progress. Interesting Obapters

Here are the titles of the different chapters in this book: "Solomon's Yoke" "Politically Speaking, What Is Evil ?"

"Yours Is Not Your Own" "How It Came Upon Us" "The Revolution of 1913" . "Soak The Poor"

"Corruption and Corruption" "A Possible Way Out" "Competition in Government" Inion Foreve "For Freedom's Sake" One of the things that this book pointed out to me that I had never thought of is that if it had not been for the Sixteenth Amendment we could not have had "social security." And "social security" is bound to bring on such large taxes that the only way our grandchildren will reduce the yoke of taxation will be to pay the recipients of the pensions in pieces of paper that buy practically nothing so ed income tax most certainly do. What Can You Co? I have often heard people ask

They waited for signs of real neighborliness; but mostly they got some old airplanes, bribes and patronizing gestures such as rich old uncles are accustomed to bestowing on their poor kinfolks.

And meantime, the Commies began the classic pattern which was set in type by Lenin, the Burn of Burns, and practiced by the assassin who ruled Russia after him.

While our back was turned toward the Old World, the Commies began agitating. They sent their feelers, their agents and their bagmen into South America; but it wasn't until the Guatemala Communists stole the banana trees off United Fruit Company that anybody was able to raise a cry loud enough to be heard in Washinaton.

And now it looks like Hondurans are not as goodneighborly as you might like to think; and although he is of a competing brand of socialism, nobody would want Peron as a political baby-sitter either.

Mexico hasn't been ignored by the Ruskis, you can bet. For a long time we have had rumblings of trouble in Mexico. There was something daft about the recent devaluation of the peso and when the big bankers and El Présidente himself took the trouble to explain what a stroke of genius it was, we got the impression the lady doth protest too much.

Meantime, certain groups continue to hammer away at the "wetback" thing; blowing a simple fact of economics into the proportions of a race-plot. They are aided and abetted in this endeavor by what we hope to gosh is simply the ignorance of certain professional Latin-Americans and Big Labor groups, because we would hate to think it is intentional.

All of these things add up to a sort of pattern. And when it becomes known gun-running is going on again, we begin to wonder just how far along this thing has come.

We have reason to think that there is something of real danger brewing in the republics and pseudo-republics of South America. We believe also that we are more vulnerable to unfriendly neighbors than to unfriendly people across the oceans.

The fault is largely our own. We have been asleep of the switch.

The peoples of South America have no background in Communism and no disposition for it. They are not hasbeens like the European and Asiatic aristos. They are coming up, fast. All that is required is our real friendship, not our patronage.

They are the company we should be keeping. Our community of interest and intent lies with these people who are in all things but physical wealth our equals. We should turn to them rather than to the purchased consorts of other continents.

A RIGHT TO SING THE BLUES-Stephen Rasmussen, left, seems to be doing it, too, as his sister, Joyce, 10, and brother Royce, nine, right, are more cheerful in Chicago. Although the three of them are of different ages, they all have the same birth date. Perhaps Stephen didn't want to share his with the others.

SAYING A PRAYER-Three Capuchin monks gaze up at the decorations on Rome's St. Mary Major, where they came to attend a special Mass in celebration of the Marian Year. The Eternal City expects many visitors from everywhere this year.

NAZI RELIC-The Nazi submarine U-508, in foreground, was pushed by tug as she started from the Naval Yard in Portsmouth, N. H., to Chicago to be exhibited at the Museum of Science and Industry. The 505 was towed through the St. Lawrence River, the Welland Canal and Great Lakes to Chicago. Captured off the coast of French West Africa, June 4, 1944, the U-505 was the first warship captured on the high seas by the U.S. Navy since the War of 1812.

A WHIRL OF FUN-They're called "carrousel" in Paris, and merry-go-round in the U. S., but both spell FUN in any coun-try. A Parisian lad, top photo, is maneuvering his scale model tractor through carrousel traffic as another boy, below, is seemingly content to board an ocean-going craft while he nibbles a bit of taffy. Grown-ups remember what the kids are doing.

A STITCH IN TIME-An establishment in Paris which caters particularly to bacnelors is doing terrific business. As this gentleman waits behind a curtain, his pants are being mended. The company cleans' clothes, sews on missing buttons, and darns socks while customers stand by. It's no wonder that bachelors realize their good luck and patronize the place.

STYLE FOR SUN--- A German teen-ager is sunning herself in a brilliantly printed linen costume designed in Berlin by Suzanne Erichsen, Miss Germany of 1950. Included in the former beauty queen's collections of fashions, the two-piece ensemble features a brief fitted sunsuit with matching whirl skirt.

BEER BARREL POKER-Actor Orson Welles took a hammer in hand to tap a brand new barrel of Bavarian beer as he prepared to partake of supper after a day before the camera in Munich, Germany. These tiny barrels are the newest attraction in the local bear cellars and greatly similared by tourists.

HEADS TOGETHER Students in Rome put on pelican-billed hats and paraded through the city streets to celebrate their graduation from various universities. The recert parading was highlighted by singing and dancing to the accompaniment of their own band.

IN THE MIDDLE—That five-foot King snake is on a spot as Speedy, a cat, takes over the job of teasing that Daisy, a dog, has shied away from in Jacksonville Beach. Fla. Bonnie Smith, Jr., is trying to bolster up Daisy's courage and even Speedy seems hostile to this friendly snake that kills rattlesnakes, field rats and other undesirable pests. Marine Same
