

PICTURE NEWS AROUND THE WORLD

HOLDING OFF WINTER—Patrons of a hotel in Brussels, Belgium, can still enjoy an open-air terrace on the Boulevard Adolph Max. Newly installed infra-red heating units overhead keep the section warm and enable them to sit outdoors at this unusual time of the year.

EAGLE EYES—The misses Mary Qualters, left, and Jesse Nixon sort large denomination bills and spot counterfeits for a bank in Boston. The ladies have no trouble keeping their minds on their work as they sort a million dollars worth of the green stuff each day.

ONE AMONG MANY—Mara Corday adds plenty of personal charm to that array of cinnias in Las Vegas, Nev. Mara makes it very obvious that a beautiful girl is always nice to see—with or without the help of flowers.

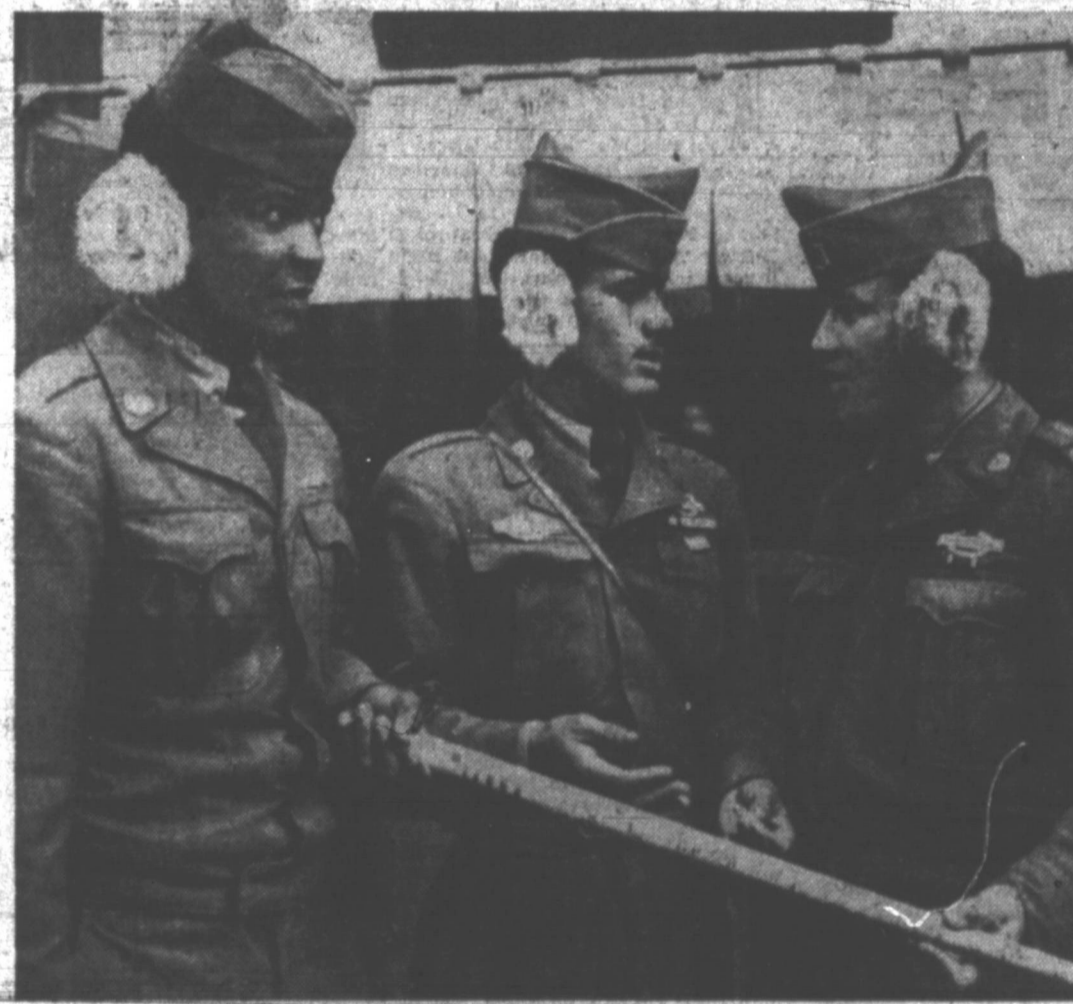

THE SPITTIN' IMAGE—Little Dinah Mitchell is amused at the reaction of her cat, Russell, at the Cranbrook Institute of Science, in Bloomfield Hills, Mich. Russell got a look at the glass model, which illustrates the various parts of a cat's body, and was not pleased.

DANGEROUS WORK—William E. Haas, owner of a serpentarium in Miami, Fla., is doing a job that few people envy; he's holding two varieties of rattlesnakes. Haas supplies snake venom to Miami University, for use in the fight against polio. The ordinary rattler on the left and the albino on the right are expressing their opinions by sticking out their tongues at Haas.

DOUBLE EXPOSURE—A tanned strip of shoulder peeps coquettishly from each side of the stand-up collar of this stand-out sheath for winter resort wear. Done in confetti-splattered navy cotton, the plunge-necked sheath is beltless and slim-skirted. Designed by Margaret Newman, the dress was introduced in Miami, Fla.

VERY BECOMING—The wearing of earmuffs may become a fashion among GIs in Tokyo and the Far East. Three U. S. soldiers from Puerto Rico were spending a few days in Japan for rest and recreation, and they seem to have become victims of the weird fad.

PRESENT FOR LORETTA—Clyde Duber, a private investigator in Los Angeles, presented actress Loretta Young with an oil painting done by an ex-convict while still in prison. The prisoner used an old Hollywood fan magazine cover as his model, but he never thought at the time Loretta would some day own his work.

JUST LIKE BIG FOLKS—Making sure that the crossed swords will remain above her head, three-year-old Elizabeth Green practices walking down the aisle of St. Paul's Church in London. Providing the bower of steel are twins, David, left, and Michael van der Woude who were pages at the same wedding. The youngsters are all getting a workout during a rehearsal.

MEN'S NEW LOOK—For town and country wear, Arthur M. Rosenberg's Norfolk jacket has interchangeable straps and belts. Radio actor Mike Wallace is shown wearing jacket with a foulard set.

TO THE RESCUE—After Herman Gerdau, a deputy fire warden of Hammonton, N. J., crashed his truck into an electric pole near Weymouth, N. J., the sheared pole caused the highway to be sprayed with sparks from the broken live wires. New Jersey State Police and passing motorists gave first aid to Gerdau before he was taken to a hospital at Atlantic City.

THE HAWAIIAN WAY—Standing back to back, two young ladies enhance the local scenery on Waikiki Beach, at Honolulu, T. H. Wearing Polynesian print swimsuits, floral leis and coconut straw hats, they've done their best to adapt themselves to local fashions as they spend their winter under the warm Hawaiian sun.

Outlook Is 'Good' At County Airport

The prospects for 1934 at Perry LeFors Field, the Gray County-owned airport, are "awfully good," M. W. Alford, airport manager, since Oct. 1, bases his prediction on statistics of the airport's use since he took over and the "good, healthy" aspect of more and more planes being used for business purposes.

M-Sgt. James Hart, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hart, 1012 Twiford, is in Pampa for the holidays on a 21-day convalescent furlough from the post hospital at Fort Hood.

Sgt. Hart and M-Sgt. Eugene Williams were Pampa's two prisoners of war released last September from Red prison camps in Korea.

Hart says that he is feeling fine now and hopes to be out of the Army by the first of next month. "I am getting an fat as a pig," he said in stating that he had gained 40 pounds since his release. He will report back to the hospital next Thursday.

When he is released from the Army, Sgt. Hart plans to return to his old job with the Texas Company.

He was recently married to Pat Miller Kersey, daughter of Harold R. Miller, 1033 Charles.

Sgt. Williams, he stated, is "doing fine" and is now stationed at Fort Hood, where he is a range sergeant, in charge of a firing range. He had been having trouble with his teeth, but this has been corrected now and he, like Hart, is gaining weight.

Sgt. Williams and his wife and two daughters now reside at 712 Stilton drive, Killeen, Tex.

Aged Traveler Drives Old Car

SHAMROCK — (Special) — A man without hands, traveling in a 1908 model Buick, spent the Christmas holidays in Shamrock. Alec Semrau, retired Minnesota treasurer and haymaker, travels over the country driving the open-air vehicle. He picks up financial support from various Buick dealers.

The accident which cost him both hands left him barely able to manipulate an artificial limb. He is now nearing 70 years of age.

The Buick is a four-cylinder job and gets about 24 miles per gallon. He changes oil every 700 to 800 miles, and rarely drives more than 35 miles an hour.

The car, which many local people probably saw parked in front of the Noel Hotel, had a top on it until two years ago when a Texas hailstorm near Lubbock perforated it.

Semrau says he has been offered brand new Cadillacs, Lincolns, Buicks and other cars for his 1908 model, but he won't trade, although it was a second-hand gift to him 27 years ago.

Erection Crew Due For County Barn

Final steps in the construction of the proposed county dual-purpose barn are scheduled to get underway the first of the week.

An erection crew from the Arco Building Corporation, Houston, is expected in Pampa Monday with the second half of the building, following the arrival of the first half last week, according to Paul Camp, representative of West-Tex Construction Company, Borger.

Camp Saturday saw no particular threat to West-Tex's making the Jan. 20 deadline for completion of the project, which will be in ample time for the two Top of Texas agricultural shows slated Jan. 25-27 in Recreation Park.

The county commissioners' court New Year's Day awarded the contract for the electrical work in the barn to Brooks Electric Company, Pampa, with a low bid of $485. West-Tex Dec. 11 was awarded the barn contract with a bid of $21,682.65. Only other expense expected is that for Wayland Meriman, consulting engineer.

The laying of the foundation and roughing-in of the plumbing was completed last week.

Housing Industry Sees Banner Year

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (AP)—Home builders, real estate operators and mortgage lenders confidently predict that 1954 will be another "banner year" for the housing industry, with construction of at least one million new homes.

The industry, hampered by a severe mortgage shortage in many areas last year, managed to produce an estimated 1.1 million homes in 1953. It was the fourth straight year of construction of more than a million units.

The U. S. Savings & Loans League, however, forecast a cut in housing construction in the year ahead. Total construction of homes would probably only reach 975,000 this year, the league said. But it conceded that government action to "liberalize" the mortgage market would increase construction and sales.

Another Million Expected

The National Association of Home Builders predicted 1954 home construction would surely total one million. The NARBS said it based this estimate on the same "base" used by the Bureau of Labor Statistics to calculate housing starts.

The NARBS said that "actually" the BLS total it had figured was probably low and that 1954 construction might be as much as 10 per cent higher — or 1.1 million homes.

The National Association of Real Estate Boards agreed with the NARBS and said there has been "no slackening in the demand for new homes."

But the NAREB said competition in the industry, already grown

Old Age Benefits Almost Doubled

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (AP)—The Social Security Administration announced Saturday that 5,970,000 persons drew old age and survivor benefits in 1953, almost double the figure in 1950 when Congress expanded the program.

It also said in a year-end report that tax contributions to the fund by employer and employee — last year were $4 billion as against $3 billion in disbursements and $50 million for administrative expenses.

Total assets of the agency's reserve fund on Dec. 31 were $14.8 billion. This included $400 million in interest on funds invested in U. S. government bonds.

Release of the figures coincided with a drive in Congress to bring 10 million more persons—farmers, self-employed and others—under coverage of the Social Security act.

Before this issue is fought out, however, Congress must decide whether the 5 per cent Social Security tax increase, which became effective on employers and employees Friday, should be postponed until next Jan. 1.

The increase raised to 2 per cent each the tax on both employer and employee. President Eisenhower wants a postponement and it is expected to be one of the first orders of business when the second session of Congress opens Jan. 6.

The Social Security Administration said that as of Dec. 31, nearly 3,350,000 retired men and women workers, aged 65 or over, were receiving monthly benefit payments. This was an increase of almost 600,000 over 1952.

More than 885,000 wives and dependent parents getting benefits totaled $68,000, an increase of $7,511,111.

For persons whose benefits were fixed under 1950 amendments to the act, based on earnings after 1950, the averages were considerably higher. These retired men and women got $63.75; the retired worker without dependents or aged wife $103.40; and widowed mother with two children, $152.50.

Widowed mothers getting payments—age does not matter—because they have children under their care totaled 252,000.

Average monthly payment to retired worker without dependents or aged wife $49; for a retired worker and his aged wife, $84.75; widowed

PROFESSIONAL MODEL — Karen Ladd, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Ladd, 792 W. Francis, was a professional model while living in Chicago. She began modeling when she was 8 while a student in a modeling school in Chicago. She moved to Pampa last June from Lubbock. (News Photo)

Young Pampa Girl Is Model At Age Of 11

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD
By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

A professional model now makes her home in Pampa. She is Karen Ladd, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Ladd, 792 W. Francis.

Karen began her modeling career at the age of nine while a student at the Patricia Stevens School of Modeling and Charm in Chicago, where she was born 13 years ago.

Her father came here last February as manager of Smith's Quality Shoes. She and her mother moved to Pampa from Lubbock last June.

Karen is extremely interested in continuing her modeling career upon completion of her school work. Also she has become interested in designing and her parents are considering sending her to a school of designing. She is now a student in the eighth grade of Pampa Junior High School.

She graduated from the modeling school in June, 1951. While a student there she modeled various types of clothing for advertisements in national publications.

Her mother, Sandy Ladd, is a former singer who was featured with the famous Clyde McCoy orchestra.

She said that many orchestras have tried to imitate McCoy's famous "Sugar Blues," but that none has come close to playing it the way he can.

Mrs. Ladd stated that many trumpet players have spent "all kinds of money" in an effort to find the right mutes to get the McCoy effect for that song. "However, she added, it isn't the mutes at all. "He has a secret way of playing it that no one else knows about."

and "The Magnificent Obsession." "Biggest Plot of 1953"

The movie, "The Bigamist," provided the year's best behind-the-scenes plot.

Dick Haymes divorced Nora and married Rita Hayworth in a Las Vegas ceremony that turned out to be the biggest publicity stunt of the year. The best man all the way was Al Freeman, press agent for the Sands Hotel.

Deborah Kerr surprised everyone with her oh-so-sexy doll emoting in "From Here to Eternity." Only Deborah wasn't surprised. She told me:

"What's all the talk about the new Deborah Kerr. That's not really true. It's just that I had a break. I was never cold, the roles were."

Lucille Ball, a hit on TV as Lucy, went back to MGM with "Destiny" to costar in a feature comedy, "The Long, Long Trail."

It was poetic justice, MGM of 1953. She starred in remakes once typed Lucille as a glamor of "The Awful Truth," "So Big," "Doll over her protests."

Nelson Eddy staged the biggest personality switch of the year, going from light opera to snappy rhythm numbers, smart sayings and a satire on his own "Shorty" "Bread" "Expensive Eddy."

"They're calling me the NEW Nelson Eddy. I had to get old to get new."

There was a new title for Jane Wyman — "Miss ReMake Queen of 1953." She starred in remakes once typed Lucille as a glamor of "The Awful Truth," "So Big," "Doll over her protests."

1954 "BROKEN"

FEELS SO LITTLE THINGS

THIS YEAR I WILL REDUCE! . . . Mrs. Howard Buckingham, 1030 Mary Ellen, is an accessory to her husband's "crime," only two days after the New Year begins. She adds that extra spoonful of luscious whipped cream on a whopping piece of cake. Well!

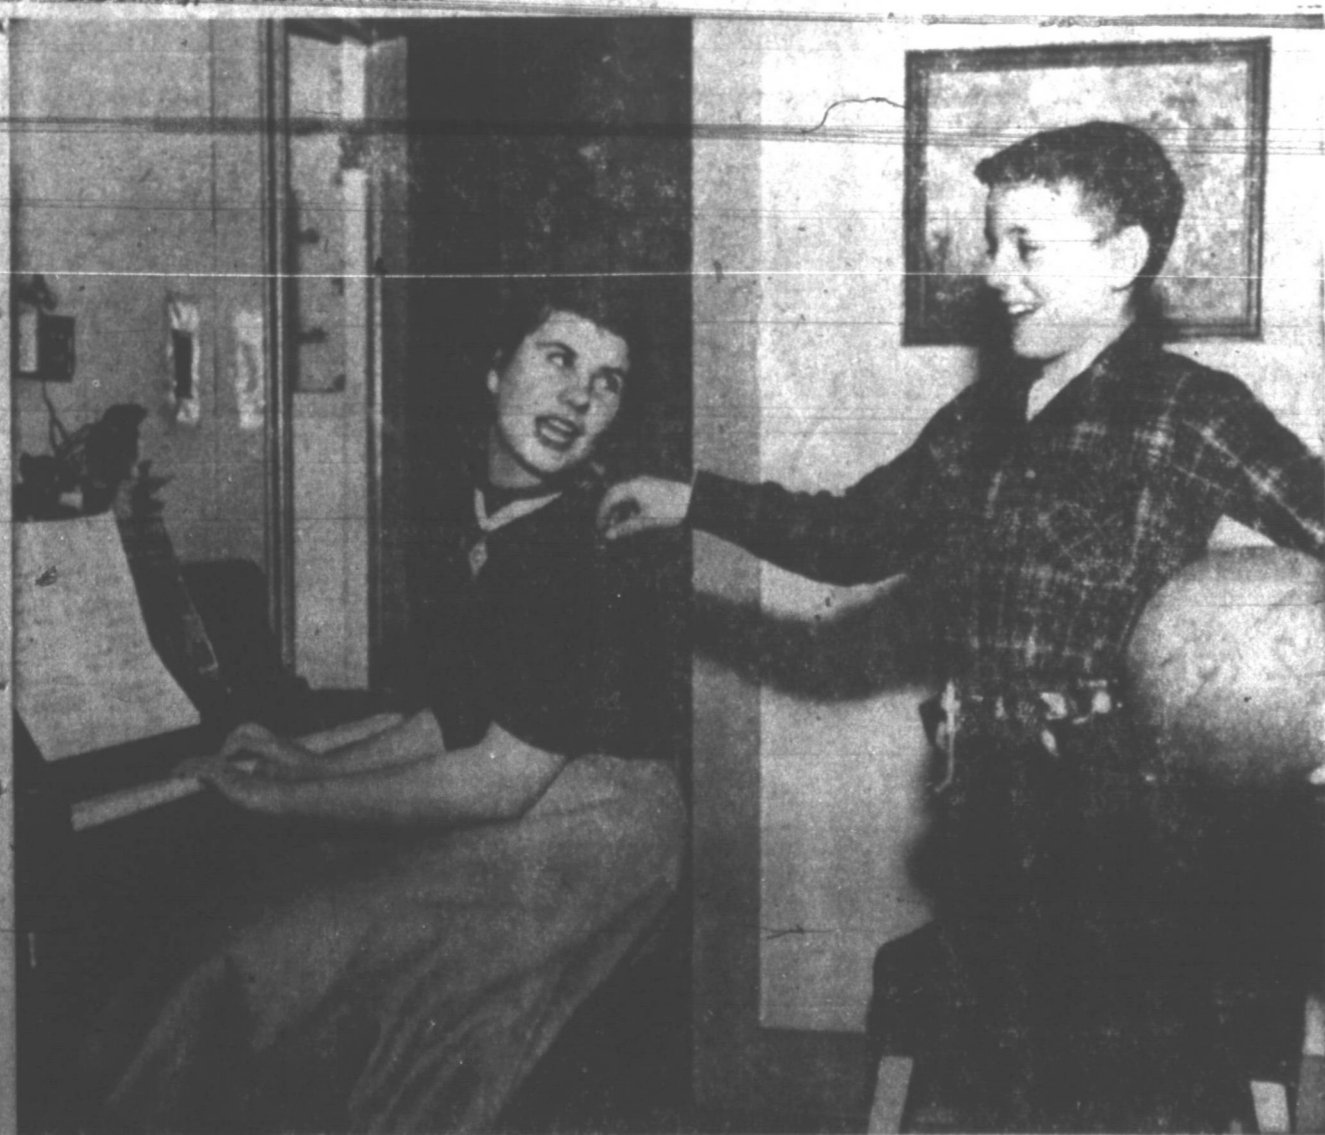

"JUST A MINUTE, DEAR!" . . . Elmer Stricklen, and even four-month-old Monica Gail, look quite doubtful about that "minute" and Mrs. Stricklen's faithfulness to her vow to be ready EARLY in 1954. The Stricklens live at 1024½ E. Browning.

TWO-TIME OFFENDERS . . . A handsome new dinner jacket (and maybe a pretty date) conspired to make high school student J. N. Wright, left, break his resolve not to go to ANY dances. This is the second year that Mrs. Ralph Gardner has exerted her charm and influence to cause Ralph, right, to break his promise to himself when he said, "No More!" J.N. is living with Mr. and Mrs. Gardner and their two sons, Richie and Jimmy, at 1237 N. Russell.

NO MORE EARLY MORNING COFFEE! . . . What fun it is to flaunt that one! Flagrant resolution breakers enjoying a cup of coffee and neighborhood gossip are, left to right, Mrs. Riley Griffin, Mrs. Frank Kelp, Mrs. Gordon H. Miller and Mrs. C. V. Tirmens. They've decided there's more to gain by breaking their resolution than there would be in discontinuing the morning confab.

"AW, COME ON . . . LET'S GO OUT!" Marilyn Steele, 12, seems to be succumbing to the idea of breaking her resolution to "practice the piano more in '54." "Temptation" is in the guise of brother, L. D. Both are the children of Mr. and Mrs. N. Dudley Steele, 908 N. Somerville.

COMPLETELY OBLIVIOUS . . . of their resolution to go to bed early from now on are Mr. Albert Kemp, left, her husband, Albert, who is holding young David, 2, and Craig, 3, who has fallen asleep watching television. Most every night finds the Kemp family "burning the midnight oil" to watch their favorite programs in their home at 620 N. Frost.

Banish Those Ugly Circles Under Eyes

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Most women are occasionally troubled with circles under the eyes. The condition may be due to lack of sleep, eyestrain, insufficient fresh air, or water.

Should circles persist despite efforts to improve your daily routine, it would be advisable to consult your doctor. However, if the circles are caused by some minor defect, there is a simple remedy.

This treatment stimulates circulation and relieves tension around the eyes. For it you will need a package of Roman camomile and a roll of three-inch gauze.

Make bags from five-inch lengths of the gauze and place one teaspoonful of the camomile in each bag. Then steep two bags in a cup of hot water.

Meantime, apply your eye cream or tissue oil and take the beauty rest position: reclining with feet higher than head.

When the bags have steeped for five minutes, remove them from the water and allow them to cool until they are comfortable to the touch. Then apply one over each eye: cover with a dry cloth and rest until the bags are cold.

Daily treatment for a week should bring excellent results. Use fresh bags each day.

Manners Make Friends

It's nice to have a neighbor drop in for a short visit in the afternoon. But nothing throws a busy housewife off her stride like having a not-so-busy neighbor drop in to say "Hello" and stay three hours.

When you say "I thought I'd drop in for a minute," for your hostess' sake don't let that minute run into more than thirty.

Women Have Best Record According To Life Insurance Co.

Women are even more conscientious than men when it comes to paying their life insurance premiums and keeping their insurance protection in effect, according to the Life Insurance Agency Management Association of Hartford. This difference holds true among men and women in every income group, whether the policies are large or small.

During the past few years the record of paying life insurance premiums has been a good one for both men and women. This has been particularly true of policies set up in such a way that their premiums are payable annually. These have a considerably higher "persistence" rate than those which are payable weekly, monthly, quarterly or twice a year.

All permanent life insurance policies contain provisions which in many cases can help a family carry on its life insurance protection if an emergency occurs. One of these is the policy loan provision, which permits the owner of a policy to borrow against the value of his policy. This can be used to continue his protection until he is able to pay his premiums again.

New Cream Is Cleaner-Lubricant

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Everyone acknowledges the primary importance of clean, clear skin to beauty. And most women devote much effort in a search for a cleansing method best suited to their skins.

Many who make no claim to scientific know-how realize that two kinds of dirt soil their faces: One can be dissolved in water; the other succumbs only to oil.

Consequently, the fastidious have taken the trouble to use both soap-and-water and an oil cleanser. Others have switched back and forth fretfully. And still others have clung to the old soap-and-water method as Nature's own.

Now there has come along an apricot-colored cleanser that, its maker says, will erase both kinds of dirt completely. In addition, the company claims the new cream will serve as a night-cream and foundation.

As a night cream, it leaves an oil residue that is supposed to continue its cleansing and softening

Agent Demonstrates Cake-Making At Meet

The Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club held its first meeting of the year Jan. 1 at the home of Mrs. Noah Cude, at 526 S. Ballard. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. J. L. Carlton, the new president. Other new officers elected for the year are Mrs. R. E. Eagle Jr., vice president; Mrs. N. B. Cude, secretary; Mrs. M. L. Robinson, reporter; Mrs. N. L. Walton, assistant reporter and Mrs. Roy Tinsley, council delegate. Members received their 1934 year books.

Mrs. Roy Tinsley, delegate, announced that the home demonstration council will meet Jan. 4 at 2 p.m. at the Home Demonstration office. Agent Helen Dunlap gave a demonstration on "Making a Good Icing a Butter Cake." At the close of the meeting, the cake was served as refreshments along with sandwiches and coffee.

Members present were Meses. Roy Tinsley, Dewey Johnson, O. A. Wagner, R. E. Eagle Jr., P. G. Turner, M. S. Robinson, J. L. Carlton, N. L. Walton, N. B. Cude, R. F. McCallif, Allen Hover, D. L. Lunsford, Ray Robertson, Miss Dunlap and guests, Meses. Geneva Tidwell, D. R. Henry and Matilda Smith.

RUTH MILLET

Mrs. R. won't be 50 for another birthday or two, and yet she is already carrying old-age happiness insurance. She hasn't taken out any policies, but she is following a policy that should pay off in a happy old age.

While they were at home she was devoted to her children and absorbed in their lives. But now that they are grown she expresses her love for them in a different way. She has turned them loose to live out their own lives, and their own problems. She isn't trying to live through them.

At the same time she has begun to share more of her husband's interests. She is free now to go when he goes, to do what he wants to do. You might not expect a woman nearing 50 to suddenly take up hunting, but Mrs. R. has, and, as she says, "Why not? George is three years older than I am, and if he isn't ready to sit in an easy chair why should I be?"

Mrs. R. is also widening her circle of women friends. For she knows how much companionship there is to be found among women who suddenly have a great deal of leisure time on their hands.

Also, Mrs. R. has quit being a slave to her house. "I'm surprised at how easy and pleasant house-keeping can be," she says, "if you just quit rushing at it in a frenzy to have everything perfectly done." Yes, Mrs. R. has taken out quite a bit of old-age happiness insurance while she is still young enough to change her ways.

And what is her policy? To quit trying to hang onto yesterday but instead to prepare for tomorrow by milking life to today's needs and opportunities.

Smart and Novel

This smart Spring suit with novelty collar, raglan sleeves and slim skirt was made by Jaunty Junior in Milliken's worsted flannel.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Mrs. Friend
I am divorced but have not received the final papers yet. As I was unhappy married for a long time before I left my husband there was no deep regret and very soon after I did leave him I met a nice man with whom I started to go out.

We have fallen in love and he has asked me to marry him as soon as I get the final decree. We both want to announce our engagement to our friends and family. Whether it would be correct to do so before the divorce is final.

Will you advise us on this matter?

Mary

Dear Mary
If you are engaged and plan to marry soon, of course you will want to tell your families and your close friends. I feel that it would be poor taste to make a public announcement of your engagement until you are divorced.

In your place I would wait until the marriage and announce it. If your parents are living have them send out wedding announcements after the wedding.

THANK YOU ALWAYS EVELYN

Dear Grace Friend
My girl friend says I am old fashioned to thank a boy for a corage when he brings one for a dance date.

Do you think it looks funny to thank him?

Puzzled

Dear Puzzled
It is never old-fashioned to thank people for gifts. On the contrary it is the very least you can do to show your appreciation of his thoughtfulness. Always say thank you and you might even tell him that you consider your corage "just right for your dress" or "Particularly lovely" or "One of the prettiest at the dance."

All About BABY

Life on the hip-front is definitely getting easier. New products, nursery aids, time-and-step-savers for mothers all help ease the task of keeping a young baby happy, well-fed and content with his growing state in life.

Baby's nursery necessities are a new mother's first concern. One good buy is ready-made cotton balls, conveniently sized for applying lotion to baby's skin. These handy cotton balls, of the finest white surgical quality cotton, sterilized and packed in nursery-white cartons, are made to order for use-once-and-throw-away jobs like cleaning baby's diaper area or wiping around baby's eyes or nose.

Plastic has invaded the nursery in a big way. Baby lotion now comes in an attractive white plastic container, prettily decorated with pink and blue flowers. The bottle, of the squeeze type, is unbreakable—good news in the realm of scolding babies.

Baby's heavy tray is a nursery attraction as well as a step-over for Mom. On it, easily assembled in one spot, are all the items needed to keep baby's skin clear, fresh and clean. Trays should include baby lotion, sterile cotton balls, a designed-for-baby soap, fine baby powder, and a soft-linted brush. The baby lotion is a pleasantly-scented complexion protector for Mom as well as baby. Used during winter months, it wards off painful chapping and roughness.

Synthetic Tires
WASHINGTON, UP—The recent increase in the percentage of synthetic rubber in the military tire has saved the taxpayer $10,000,000 and decreased the Army requirements for natural rubber which might be unavailable in wartime. The synthetic rubber content in the two-and-a-half-ton, six-by-six truck tire has increased to 87 per cent as compared with less than 25 per cent for comparable 8 x 20 commercial tires.

This Is Harmony!

LIFE

They told me that Life could be just what I made it.
Life could be fashioned and worn like a gown.
I, the designer; mine the decision
Whether to wear it with bonnet or crown.
And so I selected the prettiest pattern.
Life should be made of the roughest hue.
Something unique, and a bit out of fashion,
One that perhaps would be chosen by few.
But other folks came and they leaned o'er my shoulder;
Somebody questioned the ultimate cost;
Somebody tangled the thread I was using;
One day I found that my scissors were lost,
And somebody claimed the material faded;
Somebody said I'd be tired 'ere 'twas worn;
Somebody's fingers, too pointed and spiteful,
Snatched at the cloth, and I saw it was torn.
Oh! somebody tried to do all of the sewing,
Wanting always to advise or condone.
Here is my life, the product of many;
Where is that gown I could fashion—alone?
—Nan Terrel Reed

THE NEW YEAR. Oh what fond hopes we all have for the days to follow. There's something about the New Year that makes our most difficult dreams seem more attainable. So, with a firm grip on our hopes, prayers and resolutions, let's be off, "like a herd of turtles." That last expression is borrowed from the vernacular of one of our more articulate youngsters.

LAST WEEK'S WEATHER was good encouragement for well wishers who gathered around punch bowls all over town. Couples rushed in from the bone-chilling winds to warm hospitality and friendly chatter at the Jack Fosters—such pretty girls doing the honors at the punch bowls. Horton Russells—did ya notice the wonderful TALL antique bed in their guest room?—two nights at the J. B. Phelps' home on Mary Ellen. George and Mary Anne Perkins in the redwood home at 1918 Christine (They're another interesting couple who can tell interesting tales of their adventures in South America. . . The Bob Currys' for punch in an out-of-this-world atmosphere. That always makes Peg come home to give her humble abode very critical stars. . . the Wayne Irvins, where one of the three laden tables was effectively spotlighted from above and clusters of Christmas tree balls adorned one whole wall.

GLEANED HERE AND THERE: A white sweater top can look elegant enough for any cocktail party, as witness Katie Keys' . . . that Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Jack Foster's mother from St. Louis, is as vital and interesting as is Adrian, but several inches shorter. . . that A. L. Smalley is "Rip" to his friends. . . don't ask me why, . . . that the Dr. Carl Langs are seriously thinking of buying a new home for their lively family. . . that Bobbi Petty and blue-eyed Margie Silcott are two more to add to our happy list of courteous clerks; the kind of folks who make a shopping chore a pleasure.

WONDER IF "YOU ALL" heard the TV colored singer's rendition of "Somebody Bigger Than You and I," and if your reaction was the same. For us it brought "goose bumps."

SPEAKING OF TELEVISION, we've decided that it will make a hollywood nation of us. Wonder if the Arabians and other luxury loving peoples of the Far East don't have the right idea with their rooms that are completely barren except for many cushions to fit any type of figure, and of course a huge table laden with fruits, etc., within arms reach. Maybe we should adopt that kind of interior. . . plus a TV of course. 'Twould be good for the nerves. Who could be harried and tense padding about in soft pointed slippers or munching grapes on satin pillows? There is such a restaurant in New York, they say, or is it Hollywood?

ANOTHER REALLY WONDERFUL affair was put on by our teenagers last week. By dance time Tuesday night Kit Kat girls had brought about a truly glamorous transformation in the VFW Hall. Sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Osborne and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Clements had as much fun as the kids, "tis reported. Carlton and Jewel Nance must have been very proud, Raymond, their 8-year-old son, was adorable as the page who opened the "pages" of the big Cinderella "book" to admit each of the ten pledges. Daughter Judy is club president this year.

THE SUB DEB AND LAS CRESAS presentation balls during the holidays were lovely affairs too and gave kids home from college a chance to reunite with highschool chums. Harriet Schwartz and her house guest, Kristin Vogt and Jackie Merchant were among some of the college set who abandoned the fireside for a quick skiing trip to Santa Fe. Jan Green and her two babies came up from Fort Worth to spend the holidays with her mother and dad. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ethridge, and got together with former school chums and their newly acquired families for a happy afternoon of reminiscing. Ditto Dorothy Barrett (nee Dorothy Dixon). Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McKernan had another of their very generous dinner parties last week—this time honoring E. J. Dunigan's sister, Florence Dunigan, who is visiting in the Dunigan home.

HAVEN'T HEARD many resolutions this year? What's the matter?—did everyone give up? Heard one man resolve not to go to so many parties next Christmas—Peg resolves to read fewer novels and more word news. We're so far behind at our house that we don't realize half the time that the old world globe (in the library) is obsolete. Am going to suggest to the youngest male in the household that he slow down on the interrogations. Someone very close used to say this to questioning small fry. . .

Not knowing I cannot say
And having a pious regard for the truth—
I hesitate to reiterate,
That which I cannot substantiate,
For fear of leaving a false impression
Upon your juvenile mind.
Try that one for a different reaction. It struck the little people in our house speechless for several minutes.

THE YOUNG MEN'S BIBLE class of the First Baptist Church entertained their wives with a Mexican dinner re-ec-uy. They even had the traditional Pinatas, a huge turkey. Walter Rouch, Chuck Scott and Gordon Bayless Jr. did a wonderful job of making it. It took the ten couples quite a while to break the big paper bird (blind-folded of course) for all the candy and favors it contained. Oh yes, Chuck, Walter and Gordon prepared the fine food too.

HEARD IN A ROUND ABOUT WAY that one woman resolved to learn a little extravagance in '54. Good idea in her case too. Why on earth do we "save" the nicest family linens, the trilly negligees, the nicest china for that day in the future that never arrives? Or for another generation who will probably follow our example? Beauty is for everyday. . . Do you feel that way too? But enough of philosophy.

UNUSUAL CIRCUMSTANCE and lovely sight noted last Sunday at the First Methodist Church was the christening of three babies whose parents had all been married before the same altar not so long ago. The babies were children of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Stowers, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Sleen, . . . she's the former Jo Ella Shelton, now living at Clovis and wife of ever, . . . and Mr. and Mrs. Leon English who came up from Sherman. Dr. Tom Johnston performed the ceremony. Young Terry English wore a traditional long christening dress lovingly made by the hands of his aunt, Mrs. Jerry L. Stroup.

MRS. JAMES FREDERIC EVERETT

Betty Lou Howard, James F. Everett Wed On Anniversary Of Bride's Parents

Miss Betty Lou Howard and James Frederic Everett chose for their wedding date the silver anniversary of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Howard, 416 Louisiana. The bride and her bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Dudley Everett Sr. of Stephenville, Texas, exchanged vows at a double ring ceremony at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church Dec. 29, with the Rev. Porter H. Brooks officiating. White stock covered the altar and at the chancel there were baskets of white stock and tapers in candelabra. Mrs. Charles Duenkel sang "Oh Perfect Love," accompanied by Mrs. George Collett at the organ. Mrs. Collett played the traditional wedding music as the bride entered on the arm of her father who gave her away.

She wore a white satin ballerina length gown whose full skirt was covered with white nylon tulle. The fitted and buttoned strapless bodice was covered with a fitted jacket of rosepoint lace which had long tapered sleeves and extended over the skirt at the sides. A fingertip veil was attached to a pearl-studded crown-like tiara. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls and she wore something new, something borrowed, and something blue. She carried a white Bible covered with the same lace of her dress and topped with a white orchid surrounded by fluted-mour.

The matron of honor, Mrs. G. Dudley Everett Jr., sister-in-law of the groom from Stephenville wore a ballerina length gown of "redwood" nylon net over taffeta. The fitted bodice had a decollete neck line edged with many rows of tiny ruching which came to a point at the waist in the back. She wore a semi-hat covered with tiny rhinestone-studded buds with an attached nose veil.

Bridesmaids, Misses Frances Ann Maas, Vernon; and Johanna Stobaugh, Lorenzo, Texas, wore gowns identical to that of the matron of honor in a champagne color and carried bouquets of brown pompons with tulle.
G. Dudley Everett Jr., brother of the groom from Stephenville, served as best man and James E. Howard, brother of the bride, and James E. Gallemore, as ushers. The bride's mother was attired in ice blue lace over silk shantung. She chose black velvet accessories and wore pink camellias. The bridegroom's mother wore a cocktail length grey-blue taffeta gown embroidered with silk braid and rhinestones. She wore navy and white accessories and white gardenias.

The reception was held in the Country Club following the service. The white net covered table held a three tiered cake topped with a miniature bell. White mums and green ivy cascaded from three branch candelabra. Hot pineapple punch was silver served from a silver coffee service, arrangements of white mums were at the registry and on the entrance table. Mrs. John E. Parker presided at the guest register. Miss Shirley Hooper served punch and Mrs. James Gallemore, and Mrs. Claude Johnson, who is an aunt of the bride, served the cake.

The bride is a graduate of Pampa High School and Tarleton State College.

The bridegroom was graduated from Stephenville High School and Tarleton State College and is now a senior at Texas A. and M. College.

Out of town guests included Messrs. and Mrs. E. C. Sprague, Quincy, Illinois; G. Dudley Everett Sr., Stephenville; G. Dudley Everett Jr., Stephenville; and Misses Frances Maas, Vernon; and Johanna Stobaugh of Lorenzo.

Use Shallots For Winter Menu Pickup

What can pick-up a winter meal more than a bunch of fresh shallots? Their fine flavor enhances the taste of both vegetables and meat. And their bright green tops add color to the table.
Shallots are already coming to local markets from Louisiana. However, shipments are not expected to run as large this season as last, says the Agricultural Marketing Service, because the crop is 30 per cent less than last year and 10 per cent below average.

As a result, homemakers may find prices of shallots slightly higher than they were last January. To crisp shallots, snip off the root ends and all damaged blades, then place in a container of water with chipped ice for about an hour before serving.

There is little waste to shallots, because the tops are good too, if they are tender.
If you want to dress up scrambled eggs for a main dish, stir in a cup of finely chopped shallots and tops.
Chopped shallots and tops are also good in creamed corn, mashed potatoes and string beans.

Raisins Can Add Glamor To Ordinary Wintertime Fare

There's one popular fruit you can keep on hand all the time without risk of spoilage — raisins.

Raisins are a great boon to the homemaker who wants to dress up a commonplace dish — to make it more attractive to the eye as well as to the taste.

A few raisins on breakfast cereals, either hot or cold, make a pleasing change. And for in a nut shell, you can add raisins to most meats and to pork or poultry stuffings. Raisins are good rolled in bacon or ham slices and broiled in the oven.

Also, raisins are good in many salads and vegetable dishes. They're especially tasty with shredded cabbage or grated carrots. Bake them with sweet potatoes, apples or pears.

You may want to plump the raisins before you use them in salads. To do this, rinse the raisins in boiling water, spread out in a shallow pan, and then place in a moderately hot (375 degrees F.) oven for 10 to 15 minutes — or until "puffed."

Since raisins will not keep well with added moisture, plump only as many as can be used immediately.

Raisins are in such good supply this month that the U.S. Department of Agriculture has placed them on the plentiful foods list for this area.

Careerists: Keep An Emergency Beauty Drawer At Office

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Last-minute dates needn't send careerists into dithers. And careerists preparing for last-minute dates needn't send their bosses into tantrums.

You can keep your office supply of beauty aids to an unobtrusive minimum and still put your best face forward after five. And without stealing away from your desk for a half hour.

One portion of a side drawer should hold these nine essentials: cleanser, tissues, foundation (in small plastic bottle), powder, hair dressing, small hair-brush, clothes brush, rouge brush and an extra pair of white gloves in a plastic protector.

These items plus the beauty aids in your purse can be used effectively in 15 minutes. Of course, you will need to organize the procedure so that no time is lost between steps.

First, pin your hair back out of the way; then cleanse your face thoroughly, wiping it with facial tissues. Foundation and liquid rouge will go on in seconds. And lipstick, eyebrow pencil and mascara require about two minutes.

Perk up your hair with a good brushing after applying a bit of hair dressing, one that has a petroleum jelly base. This step requires three to five minutes.

You'll need just a few minutes to dab on perfume and to brush suede shoes, dress hat and coat. Then slip on your spotlessly white gloves and step forth refreshed and well-groomed.

MRS. LEE ROY JACKSON

Elsie Thompson, Lee R. Jackson Wed

Miss Elsie Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Thompson, and Lee Roy Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jackson of Clarendon, Texas, were married recently in the Immanuel Baptist Church at Amarillo with an evening ceremony. The Rev. E. W. Taylor officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride chose a navy blue suit with navy and white accessories. Her bridesmaid, Miss June Adams, wore a wine colored suit. Bill Allen served as best man. Traditional wedding music was played.

The bride was graduated from Pampa in '53 and is now attending Draughn's Business College. The bridegroom was graduated from Lela Lake and '50 and is now attending Amarillo College.

Mrs. R. E. McKernan Holds New Year Open House

Mrs. R. E. McKernan held a New Year's open house party at her home at 1308 Charles, Thursday. Friends came and went during the afternoon and were served refreshments from a lovely table of red and white decor. Mrs. Raymond Laycock and Mrs. V. J. Jamieson and Mrs. Bob Vail and Bob Tripphorn assisted with the serving.

Hors d'oeuvres punch and fruit cake were served from the embroidered white linen covered table. Punch was served from an antique footed silver bowl. A tall silver candelabrum with lighted tapers, held an epergne arrangement of red carnations. Sprays of holly with red berries were arranged at the base of the centerpiece. The living room was made festive with tall potted poinsettias on the coffee table and a silver and red Christmas bell made of wire and glass balls hung from the chandelier. Approximately 50 guests attended.

Mrs. Edmundson Honors Mother

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Edmundson entertained with a New Year's party Thursday evening in their home at 401 Yeager. The party honored Mrs. Edmundson's mother, Mrs. Edith Hilliard, who is visiting from St. Augustine, Florida.

The gathering of friends enjoyed a buffet dinner of fiesta foods and watched television programs until the arrival of the new year. At midnight Mrs. Edmundson served black eyed peas, chickpeas and scallions, which, according to southern tradition, is said to make one "healthy, wealthy, and wise." The eight guests voiced their resolutions for the New Year.

THE JUNGLE "GRAPEVINE" is humming with news about the new Jungle Lineup by Vanity Fair. Inspired by a startling leopard print by Brooks Cadwallader, designed especially for Vanity Fair, the entire collection accents the exotic, sleek look. All in Vanity Fair's own luxurious nylon tulle, these jungle beauties wash and dry to smooth perfection without pressing. There are fashions to flatter every type, too, from a sweeping dressing-robe piped in black velvet to the delightfully daring leopard briefs. For those who hold to the classics there is a more orthodox pajama silhouette also in this fabulous leopard print. There's also a slender petticoat with a saw-tooth finish — strictly in character. And who can predict the future while the leopard is on the prowl!

Local Reporter Dreams Up Few 'Special' Resolutions

By ED NASH
Pampa News Staff Writer

That time of year is here again. Resolutions, resolutions and more resolutions for the new year.

Broken, kept or ignored, those resolutions nevertheless turn up each year. Indeed, it's oftentimes the same ones that are "sworn" to each Jan. 1.

And Pampans, of course, are no exception.

NO ONE KNOWS, generally, what everyone else has made for resolutions. But it can be fun to guess — on even to figure out what appropriate resolutions might be.

These resolutions may or may not have been made, but — made or not — the principals involved have had two days already in which to deliberate about them, be they broken, kept or ignored.

Pampa's city manager, E. H. CRUCE, might have resolved to try and get the city commission to offer him a new vacation policy, to let him take his 14 days' vacation on 14 consecutive Tuesdays. (The commission meets at 9 a.m. each Tuesday.)

ERNEST WINBORNE, the Pampa fire chief, could have resolved to ask the city commission to put him on a 9-to-5 schedule. "None of this after-hours stuff," is the way he might put it.

A determination to spend the year tracking down a special-type comb to keep those two strands of hair down would be a natural for W. E. (BILL) JARVIS, Pampa's county commissioner.

The Gray County farm agent, RALPH THOMAS, could well decide to complete the second half of his year-long tenure as Lions Club president by resolving to welcome the monthly "sweethearts" more in the manner in which another Lions president is known to have done.

Then there's the county clerk, CHARLIE THUT, who could really have only one resolve, to continue to harbor as office employee a package of pretty girls — and what's more, not to let any of them get away to some other office.

R. E. NUCKOLS, the county schools superintendent, no doubt will resolve to take another long look at those third-grade map-drawing textbooks he can scarcely remember and re-do all the practice problems. (Austin school authorities last year insisted he draw a map of the county school bus routes and it took ages.)

Find some more of that gold! That's for BILL RAGSDALE, head of the local Texas Employment Commission office, and his son. Last summer they went over the Texas border into the Dakotas, found some of the yellow stuff and came back to the Panhandle with Texas-like tales. No reports of it since.

The mayor, TOM ROSE, has two choices. He can resolve to furnish Mrs. Anna Hutchens, 543 Campbell, with his own brand of automobile, the kind she says "always gets you there." Or he can resolve to outfit each city commissioner with that brand of car in lieu of Pampa's having a jitney service, so they can get to commission meetings.

IT'S TO THE DOGS — or rather one dog — for MRS. DOROTHY STATION. Girl Scout executive she should resolve to find some way in which she could exhibit Sinyo, her pet Pekinese, so that all who pass by on the second floor of City Hall could see. Why, Sinyo has even washed everyone's Happy New Year, and the notice outside the door to the Girl Scout office.

E. U. (SHEP) WEDGEWORTH could only resolve one thing: more and more local events in which Pampans can participate. The chamber of commerce manager, busier than most persons, never seems at odds for a new idea or two. They just keep coming and coming, local reporters know full well.

A resolution to get every single street-block in Pampa paved and out of the way during 1954 would be a natural for JAMES COWAN, city director of public works. He may resolve it, but it seems next to impossible. Signing up and paying for the paving are the road-blocks.

A BRIGHTER and flashier winter overcoat might be the resolution of JIM McCLINTOCK, head of the area Texas Railroad Commission office. But it's doubtful, City Hall sources indicate, if he could find one to beat the one he wears these cold days. That striped and checkered job!

The county attorney, BILL WATERS, could ask only that his office be moved nearer to the east-west corridor on the north side of the second floor of the Court House. It seems that no one ever gets closer to his office than that of the brumete secretary. He complains "but to go away."

G. H. READING, senior resident highway engineer, might dutifully resolve to find some way to get his office in the Court House down from the fourth floor, as it's so hot in the summertime. But, where he is, there's the advantage of being so high up that reporters wanting to know the contract bid here and the new proposed job here may think a moment before making the long trek up.

FOR THE COUNTY tax assessor-collector, JACK BACK an ideal resolution would be to find some means by which he could rattle right off the number of poll taxes paid, the number of exemptions and the exact amount to the penny of taxes collected.

A resolution never to answer another question about the Boy Scout camp at Lake Marvin, near Canadian, that's for PAUL BISHENBERG, Adobe Walls Council Scout executive, who has been waiting months to hear from the Texas Fish, Game and Oyster Commission in Austin on what will happen to the spot, deluged by rain months ago.

Gas, gas, gas. City Attorney BOB GORDON would probably like to forget that the heating substance ever existed, what with the gas hike appeal hearing now in the works with the Texas Railroad Commission in Austin. But he can't; so he'll probably just resolve to hope the whole thing works out for the best.

JIM CONNER, Pampa police chief, might well like to resolve to tear out every parking meter in town, it takes so much time and effort on the part of his department to service them. But all the money the city would lose! It can't be done.

As for the sheriff, RUFÉ JORDAN, a simple resolution to continue to take all the kidding he gets handed at the Pampa Lions Club for the whole of 1954 will suffice. There's no doubt about its continuing.

For ED NASH, local newspaper reporter, there might be a resolution to spread some of that "Massachusetts" culture around the Texas Panhandle. But he's been in Pampa a while now, and it still looks hopeless.

A resolution for Pampa-as-a-whole could well be to continue to thank the Commonwealth of Massachusetts during 1954 for 50 years — after 108 years — recognizing Pampa and the State of Texas.

Gov. Allan Shivers has already thanked Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts. Pampans should, too.

Shamrock Workers Stress Safety

SHAMROCK — (Special) — A record of 1,000 days with no loss of time due to accidents has been set by the members of the Shamrock crew of the Texas State Highway Department, J. F. Taylor, maintenance foreman, said this week. The 13 man crew has worked 96,000 man hours without an accident, or a total of 8,000 hours for each man.

The crew maintains 180 miles of paved highway in Wheeler County, working with a variety of equipment and contending with traffic hazard.

Members of the group are Virgil Kidwell, Charles (Cotton) Taylor, Bill Wilson, Rann Henry, Curtis Kidwell, Cecil Hevins, Cliff Golsou, George Pond, Tom Smith, Charley Harding and Hubert Gray. Ed Haynes, who helped set the record, recently moved to Wellington where he is maintenance foreman.

IS IT POSSIBLE? — Fire Chief Ernest Winborne stares off into space with thoughts that maybe — just a little "maybe" — that 9-to-5 schedule he wants for himself might be approved. Still, anything's possible. (News Photo)

Cockrell Brothers Planning Busy Rodeo Circuit In 1954

By JANE KADINCO
Pampa News Staff Writer

Tall and lanky, typical cowboy types, Lee and Buddy Cockrell of Pampa are looking forward to adding more laurels to past honors in 1954.

Lee, 20, and a sophomore at Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, is the leading contender for the World's Champion College Roper. Buddy, 19, a freshman at Oklahoma University, has won honors in high school football and is looking forward to entering bulldogging contests at collegiate rodeos in the Spring. He is on the football squad at the university which prevented him from entering the fall college events.

Both boys were practically "born in the saddle," learning to ride horseback at their grandfather's (O. H. Ingram) ranch, located 10 miles east of Pampa at the tender age of five. It is natural that they should be "typical cowboy types" as they spent most of their lives among cowboys — on their grandfather's ranch and at rodeos.

Lee and Buddy "got interested in" calf roping through the influence of Perry Franks, a professional roper, who worked on the ranch. Lee also gives credit for his prize-winning tricks to the tutoring of Troy Fortin, a former world's champion and to Jess Copspeed, another professional roper.

"I'd just met 'em around rodeos," he explained. "They'd hang around the amateur rodeos. They saw me rope and just paid attention to me. Most of them won't show anyone tricks that made them champions. I guess they figured I was young enough not to endanger them. By the time I got to where I'd be competing against them, I guess they figured they'd be retired."

LEE AND BUDDY COCKRELL — Look over the single stock trailer they recently purchased. Lee (left) is the top contender for the world's champion college roper. Buddy, (right) on the Oklahoma University football squad, plans to compete in bulldogging events in college rodeos this Spring. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Holly Gray, 1225 Charles and the grandsons of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Ingram, 1205 Charles. Both Lee and Buddy have won honors and set records in rodeo events.

and tying takes a great deal of practice. Lee related that before he could rope, he'd "go out in the pasture" every night after school, while Buddy was in football practice, and "work t or three

Ike's Defense Work Program Is Challenged

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Paul A. Redmond, president of the Southern States Industrial Council, announced today that he had sent the following telegram to President Eisenhower with reference to the President's stated policy on Dec. 23 channeling more government defense contracts into areas "where there has been a large amount of unemployment":

"On behalf of Southern industry I wish to protest in strongest possible terms against your order implementing the Truman administration's Manpower Policy Number Four. This politically motivated policy was rejected by Congress at the last session after a long debate and for good reason. It makes a mockery of the whole system of competitive bidding and to the extent it is applied, converts our defense production program into a sort of WPA. For this reason it has always been anathema to defense procurement authorities. We feel that this type of government intervention is utterly wrong both in principle and practice and we shall resist it to the utmost extent of our ability."

"This policy may or may not directly affect the South more than other regions," Mr. Redmond stated, "but we are not opposing it from a regional viewpoint. We believe such a policy is in violation of the spirit of American free enterprise, the preservation of which is equally important to all parts of our nation."

The council, organized in 1933, represents southern business and industry throughout the 16 states from Texas to Maryland inclusive.

hours at a time taking a calf down."

"I wore the hair off the backs of some of them," he grinned.

Lee, in true champion style, wouldn't reveal any of his secrets, but he did state that one of the major factors in calf roping is a well-trained horse. Last year he bought a "world's champion horse" for $2,000 from Doyle Ripley, champion of last year's M. I. Son Square Garden Rodeo. Taylor, the horse, was already trained and has been in the "professional circuit" for two years. Lee stated that crowds and bands often make a horse nervous, but not Taylor.

"He's been in every top rodeo in the states and he's calm anywhere," Lee pointed out, proudly.

It's also important for a horse to be able to "track" a calf and then stop suddenly and jerk the calf after it has been roped. He is also an invaluable aid to his master in backing up to keep the rope taut while the calf is being tied.

Lee entered calf roping competition at the age of 12 in amateur rodeos. He also played football in Junior High School, but became ineligible his freshman year in high school because he had started competing in professional rodeos. At 19, he was the youngest person to enter the calf roping competition at the Cheyenne Rodeo, "the world's largest outdoor show."

During his calf roping career, Lee has set many records, most recently at the McNeece State College Rodeo in Lake Charles, La., when he roped and tied a calf in 16.1 seconds, a record for that indoor building. In November, he set a record at the Hardin-Simmons Rodeo Association show by roping and tying a calf in 17 seconds, which is his best this year. In the race for the world's champion college roper, 40 points are given to the winner of each rodeo event. Lee has competed in two college rodeos and has a total of 197 points. His closest rival is last year's champion roper who has 106 points. Lee's college roommate is third with 102 points.

During January and February, Lee plans to compete in professional rodeos in Denver and Dallas to keep in shape for the college competition which has been discontinued until Spring. Then he will be in there again aiming for the championship title.

Buddy started out calf roping at the age of 11, but never turned professional so he could compete in high school football. He was a "three-year letter man" on the Pampa Harvesters football team and was co-captain his senior year. He was also "chosen all-State" his senior year. Now, a freshman at

County Leaders To Meet Monday

The Gray County Commissioners' Court is planning to hold its second meeting of the new year at 1 p. m. Monday in the county courtroom.

Commissioners Friday decided to hold the "ret-forether" for the purpose of discussing plans and specifications for proposed road and bridge projects in the county in 1954, according to County Judge J. B. Maguire Jr.

"It will not be a regular meeting," Maguire said Saturday.

The court Friday named three new hospital board members, awarded the contract for the electrical work in the proposed county dual-purpose barn, passed a motion to make Archie Hilber's cattle undeposable and okaved the hiring of deputies by various county departments.

There will be no changes in the number of county deputies and their salaries, Maguire said. The court meeting broke up at 11:30 a. m. Friday.

A monthly meeting of the court is scheduled for Jan. 11, the second Monday of the month.

Movie Censorship Studied By Court

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2—UP—The Supreme Court takes up the hot issue of movie censorship next week and will personally view two films which have been banned in some states as either immoral or anti-social.

The pictures will be the basis for "free speech" decisions, as was "The Miracle" last year. They are "M," banned in Ohio in 1952 on grounds it tends to promote crime, and "La Ronde," which New York censors branded immoral.

The nine justices will see the movies on Wednesday. Superior Films, Inc., produced "M" while Commercial Pictures Corp. made "La Ronde." They appealed to the high court after state tribunals upheld the censors.

"M" is the story of man prematurely dismissed from a mental hospital who is driven to kill small girls. The city's organized racketeers track him down.

Producer's View

Superior films contends that the picture points up inadequate facilities of mental hospitals; the risks of letting children roam unsupervised on the streets, and the possible power of a criminal syndicate. They maintain also that the film seeks to increase popular understanding of psychopaths whose condition stems from broken homes, vindictive parents and poverty.

"La Ronde" (the round) is a French-language film set in Vienna at the turn of the century. It depicts the amorous adventures of assorted characters, with one partner in each love affair becoming the principal in the next. Conceding that the theme is "illicit love," Commercial denies the film is any more immoral than other pictures involving the same subject matters which U. S. censors have passed. The film has been widely shown here and in other countries and has won prizes.

The two producers argue that the time to inflict punishment for transgressing the bounds of decency is after an offense has been committed, not by censorship before hand. They say censorship encroaches on the freedom of expression guaranteed in the Constitution.

Claim Unfair Treatment

The producers further maintain that they are not getting fair treatment under the law because movies shown on TV are uncensored. And they say that even if the court should find some types of censorship constitutionally permissible, the wording of the state statutes is too vague and indefinite a guide for movie makers.

The states, on the other hand, hold that the constitutional "free speech" guarantees are not absolute and may be restricted in the interests of the public welfare. They contend that it is especially important to protect young people from undesirable influences and that the best way to do this is to set up an agency to cull out offensive pictures before they are offered to the public.

In "The Miracle" case, the high court struck down, as an abridgment of free speech, a section of New York law that permitted censorship on grounds of sacrilege. The court made it clear, however, that the exhibition of "every motion picture of every kind at all times and all places" was not necessarily condoned.

New President Assumes Duties In Kiwanis Club

County Judge J. E. Maguire Jr. Saturday morning officially took over the reins as president of the Pampa Kiwanis Club and ran through the highlights of club objectives for 1954.

Get-together was held at 7:30 a.m. Saturday in the basement of the First Methodist Church. The club normally meets at noon Friday.

An estimated 70 Kiwanians were on hand for early session which also featured the exchange of officers' buttons, Maguire reported.

Maguire got his new president's button from 1953 President Clinton Evans, "Cree" Grady, his successor from 1953 Secretary Warren Hassel, and Mack Blatt, from 1953 Treasurer Aubrey Steele.

Club objectives for the new year were passed on by Maguire to the club members from the board of directors.

Kiwanis attendance and membership committee will be in charge of the year's second meeting, slated for noon Friday in the same location.

That get-together will feature a report on club achievement in 1953 by Evans and the commemoration of those who had perfect club attendance in 1953.

Weeks Sees Bright Business Picture

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2—UP—Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks told the nation Saturday the 1954 business outlook is bright and that even if a recession of "undesirable magnitude" develops, the Eisenhower administration is ready to cope with it.

In a year-end review of the economic situation, he conceded that "soft spots" had turned up in the business picture and that other "short run difficulties may arise." But he said the American people "should have a happy new year."

"Though 1954 may not equal the all-time record boom of 1953," he said, "known conditions and foreseeable prospects offer sound reasons for continued realistic optimism that it will be among the better years of economic history."

Prepared to Act

As to a recession, Weeks said: "Should fluctuations of undesirable magnitude arise, we may be confident that we shall not be taken by surprise and will take necessary timely action to cope with the situation."

On Tuesday President Eisenhower ordered the Defense Department and the General Services Administration, the government's chief procurement office, to channel federal contracts into areas where unemployment is serious.

Weeks listed these 1953 economic highlights, prefaced by the declaration that "inflation has been slowed almost to a stop":

A gross national product of $367 billion, the highest on record and 5 per cent larger than 1952.

Consumers bought $230 billion of goods and services, compared with $215 billion in 1952. This was an increase of 5.4 per cent in terms of slightly higher prices.

Highest Labor Force

Average unemployment of 1.5 million was lower than at any period except World War II.

Personal income was at a $284 billion annual rate, five per cent larger than 1952. It was $248 billion after payment of income taxes and other governmental liabilities.

All types of personal income, except farming which was hard hit for the second year, was up nearly 8 per cent. Farm income was at a $12 billion rate, down about $2 billion.

The government spent $52 billion for national security. This was 8 per cent more than in 1952 and the largest since World War II.

Construction High

About 1.1 million homes were built, while other construction was at a rate of $11.7 billions.

Canadian Bridge Work To Begin

That proposed Canadian River Bridge is well on its way toward becoming a reality with the start of the new year.

Kellner Jetties Company, Topeka, Kan., is scheduled to begin work Monday, according to a letter received from the company.

G. B. Raby, who will be in charge of installation, is slated to arrive in Pampa tonight and his first material is due in town the next day, the letter to resident highway engineers last week stated.

Cooper and Woodruff, Amarillo, winning bidder on construction of 8.16 miles of roadway leading up to the proposed bridge, began work early last week.

No word had been received Saturday by highway engineers on when Bell, Braden, Barker and Gilvin, Inc., Amarillo, winner of the contract for the approaches, would begin work. Included in the approaches job are grading, rip-rap protection and a West Dugout Creek bridge.

Local highway engineers are hoping that the bids for the bridge proper contract will be announced and opened in January or February.

Business spending for plants and equipment totaled nearly $28 billion, the largest ever invested in one year.

Emotions May Cause Obesity

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 2—UP—Fat women who don't like to diet, have another way to slim down, according to a food expert. What they have to do is settle their emotional problems.

So says Gloria J. Pepl of the state health department. She reported on a study conducted among overweight women at the New Haven YWCA.

It seems that many buxom ladies get that way because food is laden with emotional significance. Sorrow, nervousness or anxiety can send you running to the refrigerator faster than you can say chocolate cream pie.

One woman in the New Haven study said she always started eating when she felt her appearance wasn't up to par.

"I find that if I wear low heel shoes, ankle socks, a cotton house-dress and no girdle while doing my housework, I look a mass by 11 o'clock," she said. "Then I start eating and eating a lot."

But the woman said she had no appetite if she put on the girdle and dressed better while doing the work.

Shipping and fishing industries use half the world's rope production, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Washington, D. C., has more telephones per capita than any other city in the world; San Francisco second and Stockholm, Sweden, third.

Atomic City Enjoys Low Death Rate

CHICAGO, Jan. 2—UP—A little town born 10 years ago out of the country's atomic needs has a death rate which is one-half the average for the nation, it was disclosed Saturday.

The town is Richland, Wash., one, a semi-arid wasteland in southeastern Washington.

With a population of 24,000 and an atomic industry, Richland has a death rate of 2.3 per 1,000. The national average, at the same age distribution level, is 4.4 per 1,000.

The low death rate, according to a report by three Richland physicians in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, is the result of a special integrated medical program.

This program has provided Richland with complete medical services for its residents, the doctors said. These include public health, adequate hospital facilities, general patient care, voluntary health insurance and industrial medicine.

Program Helps

The doctors found that the industrial health program had a "pre-mendous influence" on the community's general health. The program is aimed at forestalling illness connected with employment and promoting "the physical and mental health of employees."

As a result of the advice and assistance given to workers, their absenteeism was about one-half the national average, their efficiency increased and they changed jobs less frequently, the doctors said.

Other factors in Richland's good health record, the doctors said, were its 106-bed hospital, and the coverage of approximately 90 per cent of its residents by prepaid hospital and medical-surgical insurance.

Shorter Stay

The number of patients admitted to the hospital was above the average for the state, but the time spent in the hospital was almost half the state's average, they said.

The doctors said programs such as the one at Richland are the answer for proponents of "socialized" medicine.

"American initiative and ability applied at the local level should prove far more effective in providing good health and good medicine than the centralized national program, supported by higher and higher taxes," the report said.

C-C At Shamrock Picks Directors

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Balloting by members of the Shamrock Chamber of Commerce to choose three candidates to serve on the board of directors will end Monday. Chamber of Commerce Manager Robert Laycock mailed the postpaid ballots bearing the names of 19 candidates to members several days ago.

The 19 candidates are: Harry Frys, Lyman Benson, W. H. (Perry) Dial, W. R. Ritter, Curtis Chastain, Bill Clayton, George Closs, Harold Williams, L. L. See and Sam Paken.

From these 19, three are to be named to fill vacancies to be created by the retiring directors, Dennis Ward, Billy Holmes, and Glenn Richerson.

The three new directors will serve with hold-over members: Perry Bear, Norman Patrick, I. C. Mundy, Harold Teagerstrom, Roy Scrivens, and Charles Sanders.
