WEATHER

WEST TEXAS — Generally fair Monday night and Tuesday. Except widely scattered thunderstorms Del Rio-El Paso area early Monday night. Cooler Monday night.

In general, the art of government consists in taking as much money as possible from one part of the citizens to give it to another. It is difficult to free fools from the chains they revere.

Stevens Said To Have Offered Schine A Job

Defense Points Fall Communists Seize Two French Posts

HANOI, June 7 — UP — Communist Indo-Chinese rebels seized two more outposts in the Red River Delta Monday in a sudden outbreak of fighting. The French high command said Dong Lay, in the delta's western part near Son Tay of about 25 miles west of Hanoi, fell to the Reds after the garrison of 40 men was subjected to a merciless mortar barrage. They took 10 miles north of the American supply point at Hai Phong, was captured, but two other outposts in the area successfully resisted Communist attacks, the high command said. French Union patrols fought running skirmishes along main delta roads, sniping out from Hanoi, killing 27 rebels seven miles east of Hanoi on the Hanoi-Hai Phong road and rail lines. Authorities said the Reds made several attempts Sunday night to derail trains bringing American war supplies from Hai Phong to Hanoi. Some 200 rebel mines were seized in a cache between the road and rail line. The high command reported arrival from France of the first reinforcements for defense of the delta but refused to say whether they were airlifted by Americans or came by troopship. A French Union patrol crossed the Da River near Phu Ly for the first time in many months and chased a band of fleeing Communist rebels.

Yarborough Also Called As Witness

AUSTIN, June 7 — UP — gubernatorial candidate Ralph Yarborough Monday answered a summons calling him as a witness in an insurance fraud case as Gov. Allan Shivers and his major opponent braced for new rounds in what may become the major issue of the coming campaign. Both Shivers and Yarborough were called as state witnesses, but Attorney General John B. E. Shappert announced neither would be expected to appear Monday. Yarborough said he failed to get the word, but added it wouldn't have made any difference, anyway. The two candidates were called in connection with the state's fight for a permanent injunction against the defunct Lloyd's of North America, a Houston insurance firm. "A subpoena is an order of the court. An order of the court takes priority over a newspaper release," Yarborough snapped. Earlier, the Austin attorney angrily accused his political opponent of using a court summons as an attempt to scuttle his campaign opening, scheduled for Monday night at Dallas.

Fred Hobart Will Confer With Benson

Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Hobart, of Pampa, will leave Tuesday morning by plane from Amarillo for Washington where he will confer with Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson, chief of Agriculture department officials, and possibly President Eisenhower. Hobart recently returned from a 41-day fact-finding tour of Asia-Pacific countries and the Philippines as a member of a 10-man team seeking to stimulate trade relations with those countries. The Pampa man represented the beef industry on the tour, while each of the nine others represented other branches of agriculture. While in Washington he will make his official report to Benson and the Agriculture department, which sponsored the tour. The Hobarts are expected to return to Pampa in about a week, he said.

Rapists Face 7 Murder Counts

NEW YORK, June 7 — UP — Two rapists, who between them have admitted killing at least seven persons in separate crimes, faced murder charges Monday. One was John Francis Roche, 27, a tall, swarthy plumber with criminal record dating back 10 years. His fourth victim, pretty Dorothy Westwater, 14, a high school freshman, died late Sunday. Norman Royce, 18, was arrested Sunday by police, who saw him looking on as they examined the body of the third woman he had raped, robbed and strangled since last Jan. 2.

Georgia Governor Threatens To Abolish School System

WASHINGTON, June 7 — UP — Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia has threatened that if a showdown is forced the state will abolish its public school system rather than provide unsegregated schools. He said Georgia will not provide unsegregated facilities regardless of what the Supreme Court or the federal government say or do. Georgia will not "cede from the Union" and won't "call any troops," except to uphold the law as long as it is the law. Talmadge said in a television interview Sunday night. But he said Georgia's constitution and laws provide for separate Negro and white public schools and they will be kept "come what may."

Wanted To 'Use' Private's Ability

WASHINGTON, June 7 — UP — Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens last October promised Pvt. G. David Schine an Army job that would put his investigative ability to good use, sources close to Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy said Monday. They also reported that the secretary once told Roy M. Cohn in a monitored telephone call that he, Cohn, had been "100 per cent cooperative" with the Army. Cohn, McCarthy's youthful chief counsel, told newsmen that all his monitored talks with Stevens were "great disappointments" to his opponents in the Army — McCarthy hearings. He said they do "just the opposite" of supporting the Army's charge that he used "improper pressure" to get favors for Schine, his close friend and former aide.

Korea Unity Talks Stalled By British

GENEVA, June 7 — UP — British Minister of State for Foreign Affairs, Selwyn Lloyd, said Monday that the Geneva conference on Korean unity talks is stalled by the British. He said the British delegation and annoyed the United States by asking for more time to work out a proposal. Lloyd said the British proposal is not a permanent one, but a temporary one, and that the British are not ready to accept the United States' proposal for a permanent one.

Parr Wants Venue Change

SAN DIEGO, Tex., June 7 — UP — South Texas political boss George Parr was expected to ask for a change of venue Monday when he goes before Judge A. S. Broadfoot in connection with a charge of assault to murder. The judge was expected to set a date for the trial. The millionaire attorney was indicted Friday on charges of assaulting Cristobal Ybanez, hitting him over the head with a rifle, Aug. 17, 1953. Parr has been free on $2,500 bond.

Atom Experts Quitting Jobs

CHICAGO, June 7 — UP — A group of atomic scientists has charged that "roughly a dozen" top scientists are quitting their posts at the Fort Monmouth, N. J., radar laboratories because of security charges against their colleagues. The group, the Indo-China Scientists of Chicago, said Thursday night that the resignations were a "serious repercussion" of recent investigations of Fort Monmouth. The investigations were started by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and have figured prominently in the current Army — McCarthy hearings.

Anti's List Seen By Joe

SAUK CITY, Wis., June 7 — UP — Leroy Gore, on the verge of revealing whether his "Joe Hunt" campaign has succeeded, says he is "virtually certain" Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy has had a look at a list of anti-McCarthy contributors. Gore said Sunday night he is sure that Sen. McCarthy's attorney, Harold Kelley, has succeeded in showing McCarthy a list of 2,600 financial contributors to the campaign. Kelley said at Baraboo, Wis., that Gore's charge is "an absolute lie."

Duster Coats Pampa Area

Pampans were busy today cleaning up after Sunday's dust storm that settled over the area. The dust, observers said, was not blowing from local land but came in from Southeastern Colorado, preceding a mild cool front, which was expected to lower temperatures in the area slightly. It was another hot day here Sunday, with the high temperature reading being 88 degrees, according to Radio Station KPDM. The low Sunday night was 67, while at 10 a. m. today the mercury stood at 68 degrees.

Gas Rates Subject To FPC Rules

WASHINGTON, June 7 — UP — The Supreme Court ruled Monday that the rates of some 2,300 natural gas producers who sell to interstate pipelines are subject to Federal Power Commission regulation. "Protection of consumers against exploitation at the hands of natural-gas companies was the primary aim of the natural gas act," Justice Sherman Minton held for a 5 to 3 majority.

Solon Differs With Lawyer

Rep. Walter Rogers, of Pampa, disagrees with U. S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell that the recent segregation decision of the U. S. Supreme Court was a complete answer to Communist propaganda criticizing racial segregation in the United States. The American people, Rogers says in his weekly newsletter to the Texas 18th Congressional District, should spend their time telling the world about the shortcomings and viciousness of Communism, rather than trying to answer some false criticism thought up by some expert Red propaganda speaker. If propaganda is the weapon that is going to be used, the congressman says, "it is time that we got on the offensive with it," rather than being on the defensive. Puerto Rico can have its independence if Puerto Rico wants it, Rogers continues, discussing the current trial in Washington of the

Eisenhower Faces Possible Rebuff On Farm Prop Vote

WASHINGTON, June 7 — UP — President Eisenhower faced an almost certain rebuff Monday as the House Agriculture committee met to vote on the future level of government price guarantees for farmers. The administration wants to put into operation next year a flexible plan under which price supports could be lowered for wheat, cotton, corn, peanuts and rice. But backers of this plan conceded they were hopelessly outnumbered in the committee. Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland said Sunday that he didn't see "any indication" of the committee approving a bill along administration lines. "If it is in a form not acceptable to the administration," he continued, "there is just not apt to be any new law in the flexible provisions of existing law would go into effect."

Danger Of Russian A-Attack Is Cited

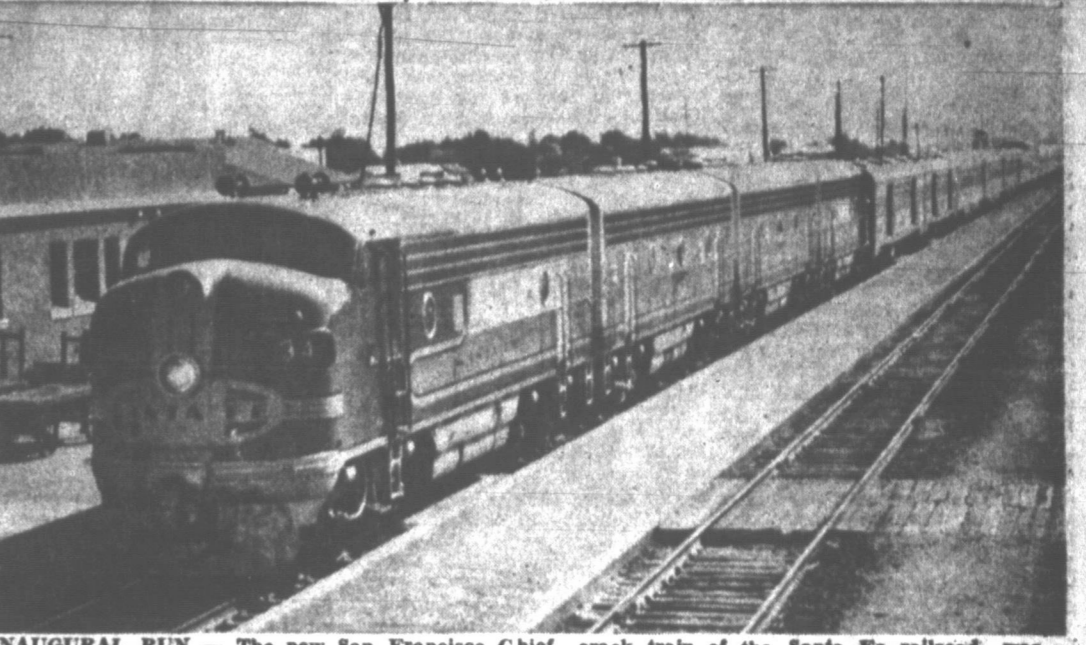

WASHINGTON, June 7 — UP — Civil defense planners believe that if Russia launched an atomic attack on the United States it would attempt to "substantially" wipe out 92 principal cities. The Civil Defense Administration, in its "planned assumptions" for the year, also said any atomic attack might be backed up by biological, chemical and psychological warfare. The civil defense agency indicated it does not believe Russia now has a large stockpile of hydrogen bombs. It said stockpile super bombs

Houston Nears Million Mark

HOUSTON, June 7 — UP — The Houston Chamber of Commerce population committee went on record Monday with a confident prediction that Houston will have 1 million residents by July 3. The chamber estimated as of Saturday that Houston, the South's largest city, had a population of 994,550. So, using utility service applications as a basis, the chamber picked July 3 as "M Day" and has planned accordingly. Ellington Field will send a squadron of planes over the city, and merchants will decorate their stores. The chamber hasn't announced what action it will take to recognize the one-millionth resident.

James, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Vernon, Tex., will become editor of the Baptist Standard, newspaper of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, in November. He will succeed Dr. David M. INAUGURAL RUN — The new San Francisco Chief, crack train of the Santa Fe railroad, was making its inaugural run from Chicago to San Francisco today. The train is pictured above as it stopped in Pampa at 8:50 a. m. today to discharge passengers. Santa Fe officials have notified the Pampa Chamber of Commerce that the train would make no stops here on its west-east run, but would make conditional stops on the westward runs. A group of local business men was scheduled to meet with officials of the railroad at a luncheon meeting at noon today in the Schneller hotel to discuss the problem. (News Photo)

Oppenheimer May Appeal

WASHINGTON, June 7 — UP — Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer was expected to file a formal appeal with the Atomic Energy Commission Monday against a special security board decision denying him access to atomic secrets. A special AEC security board unanimously found the prominent atomic physicist a "loyal citizen" in findings made public last Tuesday. But it voted 2-1 against reinstating his clearance for atomic secrets, partly because of his associations and partly because he was not "enthusiastic" about development of the hydrogen bomb. The decision provoked a storm of controversy, with scientific organizations coming to Oppenheimer's defense. The Federation of American Scientists appealed to President Eisenhower Sunday night for a "review" of the security system under which Oppenheimer was "purged" from the ranks of American scientists.

Dope Ring Quiz Slated

HOUSTON, June 7 — UP — A Houston county federal grand jury meets Monday and may get first crack at investigating a narcotics scandal that has rocked the Houston police department. The Harris county grand jury has a session scheduled for Tuesday. City Attorney Will Seal's and Houston Police Chief L. D. Morrison conferred at length Saturday in what was believed to be a meeting concerned with the impending investigation. The narcotics scandal became public Thursday when a vice squad officer, M. A. Bus Driver Strike Affects Service Here

Bus services will be limited here slightly by the Continental Trailways System bus drivers strike according to John Gilliam, local terminal manager.

Service from here to Amarillo has been cut by the strike from six to four schedules daily. Runs to Oklahoma City have been reduced from six to two.

The strike, which started Saturday in Texas over a disputed raise in wages for drivers, has affected Texas and eight other central and western states.

"There are very few spots a traveler can't reach, though," Gilliam said. "The other lines are still working."

Only three regular drivers in the Pampa area have been put on the "extra board," which makes them available for part time and charter work. Local drivers are working longer hours under harder working conditions.

"I can't believe the strike will last long. It could possibly end before the week end because only a quarter cent difference separates the company and the drivers' demands," he concluded.

A test load on the test piling on the Canadian River Bridge, between Pampa and Perryton, should be made Friday, it was reported. Work will shut down till July, resident highway engineers reported late this morning.

Ike, Missus Eager To Get Farm Ready

By JOHN L. CUTLER

WASHINGTON, June 7 — UP — Backstairs at the White House, President and Mrs. Eisenhower are as eager as a couple of newlyweds to get their farm home near Gettysburg, Pa., ready for occupancy. In addition to visits during weekends at nearby Camp David, they have made at least one unannounced quick Sunday trip to see how the work is coming along.

Despite their eagerness, however, it probably will be late summer or early fall before the restoration of the ancient house on their 150-acre farm on the edge of the Gettysburg battlefield is finished.

When completed, the Eisenhowers will have for the first time in their nearly 40 years of married life a home they really can call their own. Most of their married life has been spent in quarters on military posts. Even after the end of military service they have lived in furnished homes—in New York while Mr. Eisenhower was president of Columbia University; in France when he went back to lead NATO forces; and finally the White House itself.

During those years the Eisenhowers have accumulated some favorite pieces of furniture, most of which now are in storage. Another recent acquisition, made specifically for their new home, is a colonial-style maple chest presented last week by the people of tiny Beecher Falls, Vt. The chest is the 11 millionth piece of furniture turned out by the plant which is the main industry of the village. Mr. Eisenhower said it would "look fine" in the new house.

After all those years of improving with rented and furnished houses to which she invariably added personal warm touches, Mrs. Eisenhower anticipates a real job in starting from scratch to fix up the farm home. She recently told reporters that the interior would be done by "Mamie Eisenhower, local decorator." She assumed the President will have "a finger in the pie" but his primary interest so far has been in a man-made lake and the livestock on the premises.

Mrs. Eisenhower also said she isn't making many decisions at this stage of the game because she can't understand blueprints and wants to wait until she sees the actual site of the rooms and the locations of openings like windows and doors.

One color certain to be used is a soft grey-green which is the first lady's favorite. She finds it restful and has used it before in re-doing some of the rented quarters they have occupied.

Each of the three boards of equalization is a separate entity and operates independently. The city and school boards are meeting in the same place and at the same time for the convenience of the public.

Introduces Atom Pool Plan

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A research cannot develop such use. The practical development of electric power from atomic energy is closer than many people realize. Fourteen months ago the Atomic Energy Commission initiated its program of industrial power development by private industry. The original goal was to get this development within 10 years.

But United Nations conference on disarmament and atomic weapons control, now going on in London, are supposed to have under active consideration the possible diversion of atomic energy materials to peaceful uses. So the Eisenhower plan may not be completely dead.

For anyone who may wonder what the chemical manufacturers are doing in atomic energy matters, it must be recognized that chemistry plays a big part in the separation and purification of atomic energy materials.

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Guya and Dolls: It may come as a blow to fans who flip over Judy Holliday's trained Brooklynness, but the Oscar winner is speaking in English in her new Columbia flicker, "Phffft."

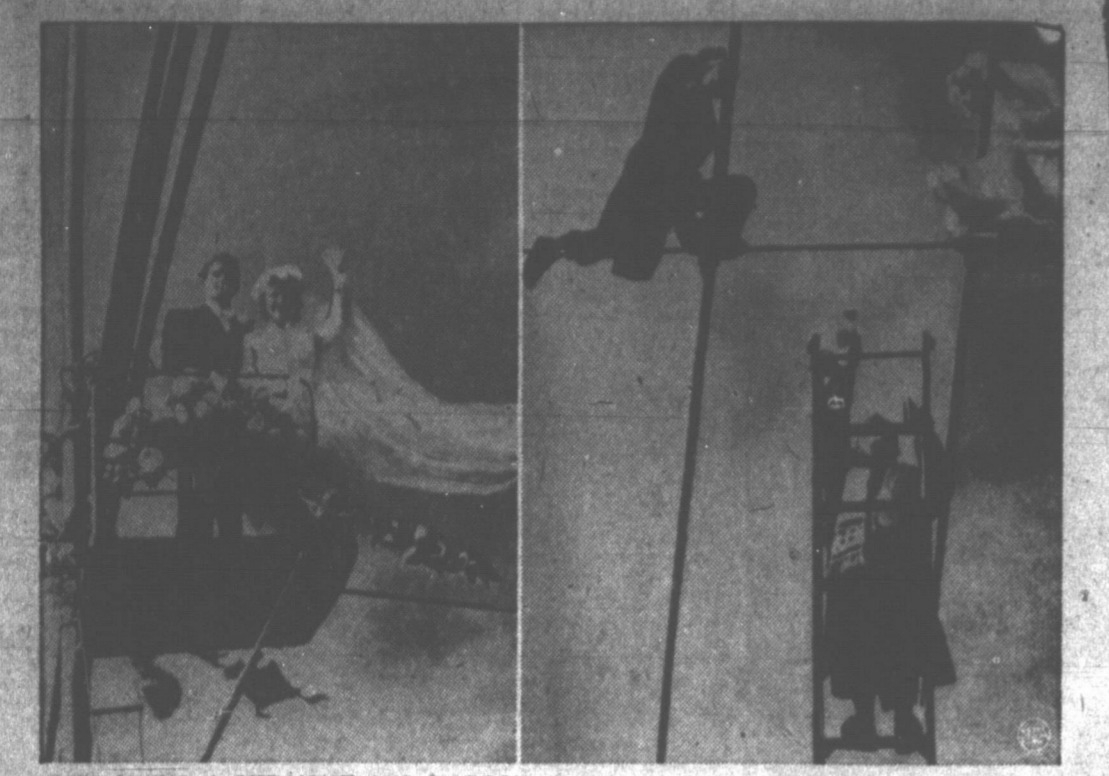

What's more, she's a society lass from the right side of the tracks in her switchover, and she's saying: "This girl is a more legitimate person than Billie Dawn of 'Born Yesterday' and all the variations of Billie I've played.

Cornel Wilde's Fox contract nixed television, but his smoldering in "A Woman's World" ends the pact. He'll try the home screens with "an idea I have for a different kind of dramatic series."

Currently playing opposite Yvonne de Carlo in "Where the Wind Dies," Cornel says he's had talks with C. B. DeMille about Joshua in "The Ten Commandments" and that he's editing the completed screenplay of "Lord Byron."

The words of that "Commandments" may be DeMille's latest movie, but Cornel doesn't believe it. He says: "DeMille's the youngest fellow I know. I walked six blocks with him the other day and I almost had to run to keep up with him. He'll be making pictures 50 years from now."

Hollywood's big 1954 spectacle are glorifying the rugged, swash-buckling male, but at least one dramatic queen is sticking it out in Movietown until the tide turns in favor of the female of the species.

FOLLOWING A STRAIGHT AND NARROW PATH—It's often said that the road to a successful marriage is a straight and narrow path. But few will be straighter or narrower than the one started by acrobats Roger Desjouis and Berthe Omankowski in Toulouse, France. After exchanging vows in a church, Roger, 25, and Berthe, 21, waved to the crowd of over 20,000 at left. Then the couple walked out on a tightwire 60 feet above the street where Abbe Simon, perched on a fireman's ladder, right, gave them his blessing.

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON, June 7—UP—Gomer W. Bailey and I fell to chinning about safe driving since he just got the American Trucking Association's "driver of the year" award.

I had to admit that I am a kind man at heart and that all I ever kill are mosquitoes and flies.

"Well, I did," said Fern, "Gomer plows a straight furrow on the highway, but I shoot a gun straight. I got a young buck last season. Got him from 300 yards."

"What do you do with a deer after you've shot him? First you drain the carcass, cut it up, wrap the cuts you want in cheese cloth, and stow them in a locker for freezing.

"Remember to slice the venison thin," Fern advised. "Then roll the slices in flour and use plenty of salt and pepper. Add then fry them like pork chops. Fry it as long as you like; sometimes 20 minutes, sometimes half an hour or more. Do it the way we do in the hills, and you will like it."

"Best thing we like at our house," she said, "are deer ribs roasts. Once you have the venison properly cured and aged you can cook it just like you would beef."

Has $100,000,

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD, June 7—UP—

Anna Maria Alberghetti, once the child opera singer from Italy, is a grown-up 18 in lipstick and low-cut necklines with $100,000 in the bank—but she sighed Monday she hasn't had a date yet.

During her years at Paramount studio, Anna Maria was a sober-faced singer with long hair and little-girl dresses.

Since she left the film factory a year ago for free-lance movies, nightclubs and concert tours, Anna Marie has changed into a young beauty. But she still has to convince "my strict parents" she's old enough to go out with men.

"I keep telling my father that even in Italy girls go out now at 15," she pouted.

"Now Pier Angeli and I have a plot. She is going to get me a date with Eddie Fisher," she confided.

Inquired if the singer knows anything about this female conspiracy.

"No, but he asked me out once last year. I had to lie and tell him I had other plans. I felt like a jerk to say I couldn't go out," said Anna Maria, who speaks American now, too.

"Parents are stricter in Italy, but I want the middle way. I think some girls are a bit too free in this country."

Anna Maria also turned down dates with Vic Damone and Dick Contino because of the curfew at home.

But at least she cut a campaign to wear lipstick, cut her hair and buy her own grown-up clothes. She even sang "Ricochet Romance" in her Las Vegas act, causing some opera lovers to wonder if she were giving them up.

"Those songs are artistic if you do them right," she said. "My father says they won't hurt my voice if I do them at the end of the program."

"Some people in Italy didn't understand my nightclub work, because they don't have nice clubs like in Las Vegas. But I still plan to keep on with concerts and eventually to opera."

The girl who hasn't had a date yet is one of the wealthiest stars in the plaster city. She has her Paramount salary, a trust for her in bonds, plus that $100,000-cash—to buy an apartment house as soon as her citizenship papers allow her to own property.

"I made $150,000 last year, working only 17 weeks. I could work 50 weeks of the year. But why? I'd just have to give all the money to the government," laughed Anna Maria, who is becoming more Americanized by the minute.

Settle Strike

DALLAS, June 7—UP—The federal mediation service Monday is trying to get negotiations under way in a strike which has interrupted bus service in 12 states served by Continental Trailways.

The strike involves three divisions of Continental stretching from Illinois to California. The company maintained that negotiations should be conducted in each division separately, but said the union wants contract talks to include all three as a unit.

Federal mediator Walter C. White said he would attempt to get the two sides to meet Monday.

T. S. Reece, vice president and general manager of Continental, said in Dallas the three divisions have been certified as separate lines by the National Labor Relations Board.

The other two divisions are the central, which covers an area from Chicago to Albuquerque, N.M., and the western, which includes the area from Albuquerque to San Francisco, with headquarters in Los Angeles.

States the lines serve are Texas, Illinois, Missouri, California, Colorado, Arizona, Utah, New Mexico, Kansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska and Louisiana.

The walkout began in Texas where drivers members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen walked off their jobs last Monday night. It spread to the central and western divisions Friday night, affecting some 737 drivers.

Houston also lived in Houston, and both men were stationed at Fort Bliss, El Paso. McCarley died en route to the Army hospital at El Paso, 19 miles from the accident scene.

The New Mexico highway patrol said the car, driven by Houston, failed to make a curve, spun around and overturned.

McCarthy Methods

The weekly publication "America" of the Jesuit order of the Roman Catholic Church has taken the position that the "methods" of Senator Joseph McCarthy are posing a "grave constitutional crisis" and that he may do "great harm to United States policy."

The tenor of a published editorial — at least to us — is that some superior quality attaches itself to the presidency which places the acts of the incumbency beyond reproach of individuals and particularly the Wisconsin senator and the inference is produced that the people must wait for the regular four-year election period to express judgment on the chief executive.

This is without doubt undiluted nonsense although the sentiment that the Tenant of the White House is the unquestioned leader of the United States and the Congress is merely in Washington to enact laws to carry out his will is becoming a strongly entrenched form of American gospel — and a dangerous one it is. The imposition of the "leadership" complex upon our society is one of the major influences in destroying the fundamental purpose of our Republic — the development of responsible individual freedom.

Senator McCarthy's critical surveys of the activities of the executive branch of government have been one of the ways in which the American people have been given to examine what their bureaus and bureaucrats are doing.

The Jesuit magazine asserts that the McCarthy methods are an illustration of "rule of men" to defy the "rule of law." We would make the point that if the Chief Executive is permitted to operate without critical attention from the Congress and from the citizens there is a much greater danger in that direction from the "rule of men" than from the "rule of law" which is nothing less than a return to the process of monarchical decree.

No President of the United States operates by Divine Right. He occupies his seat of power by the will of a plurality of the voters in any given election, and to make a mathematical point, no President has ever received any more than 34,000,000 ballots in a nation which claims 160,000,000 souls. Indeed, Mr. Eisenhower who received the most votes of any presidential aspirant — 33,936,252 — was not the leadership choice of another 27,314,992 voters who, on the record, preferred Adlai Stevenson.

We recognize the constitutional cleavage of powers between the Congress and the presidency but we also want to point out that there is an expressed intent in our Constitution that the Congress keep an eye on the Executive since it lies within the powers of the House to impeach a President and within the authority of the Senate to pass judgment on the impeachment charges.

"America" magazine declares, "McCarthy seems to think that all the operations of the government boil down to one: eliminating people he judges subversive." This is making the same judgment upon McCarthy that the magazine accuses the Wisconsin senator of making against others. We don't think McCarthy enjoys any such eliminative power but we do think that he has contributed materially to the cause of curtailing the influence of actual subversives as well as those who are equally obnoxious in our eyes — the left wing element who advocate the same goals as the downright Communists.

We feel that the element of the Republican party which has made the persecution of Joe McCarthy one of its major campaigns, is going to receive an unpleasant surprise when it tallies the votes this coming November. The anti-McCarthy movement stems from a desire to placate the left-wing segment of our population and we hold that the bulk of our people are not going to support such a movement.

Same Principle

John wants to hire a teacher for his children. John thinks that his friend Paul who has hired a different teacher is wrong.

John says: "Look Paul, I don't like your teacher and I don't want your teacher to teach my children."

Paul answers: "All right, John, I'm taking care of my children; you hire whatever teacher you want for yours."

Suppose John then pulls a gun, aims it at his friend and says:

"I'm going to start my own school. You have a duty to help teach my children. I'm going to force you to help pay for the teacher I want! This will increase your freedom. If my children grew up to be as ignorant as Chinese coolies, then where would you be? They might take your money by force unless you educate them now."

Paul answers: "But you are taking my money by force now."

John: "That all right; it's for a good cause. Now pay up, or I'll shoot you."

Most people would agree that John, as an individual, has no right to force Paul to support his (John's) school.

Well, then, suppose there are eight other Johns who join with our first John to set up a school. Suppose all nine Johns surround Paul and say to him in unison: "You have to support our school because we are in the majority. You believe in majority rule, don't you? If you don't, we'll pull the trigger."

You probably agreed that as an individual John had no special right to force Paul to support his (John's) school.

But do nine Johns have any better right to force the lone Paul to support John's school? Isn't nine-times zero — zero?

Or do mathematics and morals change in principle by the addition of more units?

The Income Tax, Root Of All Evil

By FRANK CHODOKOV

Copyrighted by Frank Chodorov, Published by the Devin-Adair Co., New York

INSTALLMENT FOUR

The basic tenet of communism is the vesting of all property rights in the state. Already nearly one third of our national income is being taxed away from us. (This estimate is based on figures published by the United States Treasury. It includes local, state, and federal taxes. Exactness of computation is made difficult by the method of arriving at the "national income." The government figure includes income of all kinds, that earned by the worker or the corporation and that paid to the government official. The latter's salary is of course paid out of taxes taken from producers and is therefore a duplication. This is the same as computing the family's income by adding to the breadwinner's wages the amount he gives his wife for household expenses. The official "national income" includes the subsidies paid to the farmer and the taxes paid by the farmer to make these subsidies possible. If government handouts and government salaries were deducted from this official figure, and only income from production were included, the "national income" would be far less than the official figure, and the percentage taken by taxes would be greater.) One or two more national "emergencies" can well bring about the confiscation of the other two thirds, and thus effect the final transition to communism. We could either into it quite without being aware of it.

Any effort to reverse the trend must begin with the reestablishment in the American culture of the inviolability of private property. If Americans were again to put that right at the pinnacle of their values, the repeal of the Sixteenth Amendment would follow as a matter of course. Therefore, it is necessary that we digress in this inquiry for a moment to consider the philosophic support of the axiom—that the individual has an inalienable right to his property.

Even a thief will justify his way of life. The human being must have a moral code of some kind to ease the difficulty of living with himself. And there is no difficulty in making up a code to fit any given condition, language being as rich as it is, it can hit on an axiom as a basis; an axiom needs no proof.

The axiom of socialism is that the individual has no inherent rights. The privileges and prerogatives that the individual enjoys are grants from society, acting through its management committee, the government. That is the condition the individual must accept for the benefit of being a member of society. Hence, the socialists (including many who do not so name themselves) reject the statement of rights in the Declaration of Independence, calling it a fiction of the eighteenth century.

In support of his denial of natural rights, the socialist points out that there is no positive proof in favor of that doctrine. Where is the documentary evidence? Did God hand man a signed statement endorsing him with the rights he claims for himself, but denies to the birds and beasts who also inhabit the earth? If in answer to these questions you bring in the soul idea, you are right back to where you were in the beginning: how can you prove that man has a soul?

Those who accept the axiom of natural rights are backed against the wall by that kind of reasoning, until they examine the opposite axiom, that all rights are grants or loans from government. Where did government get the rights which it dispenses? If it is said that its fund of rights is collected from individuals, as the condition for their membership in society, the question arises, where did the individual get the rights that he gave up? He cannot give up what he never had in the first place, which is what the socialist maintains.

What is this thing called government, which can grant a right and take away rights? There are all sorts of answers to that question, but all the answers will agree on one point, that government is a social instrument enjoying a monopoly of coercion. The socialist says that the monopoly of coercion is vested in the government in order that it may bring about an ideal social and economic order; others say that the government must have a monopoly of coercion in order to prevent individuals from using coercion on one another. In short, the essential characteristic of government is power. If, then, we say that our rights stem from government, on a loan basis, we admit that whoever gets control of the power vested in government is the author of rights. And simply because he has the power to enforce his will. Thus, the basic axiom of socialism, in all its forms, is that might is right.

And that means that power is all that counts in morality, if I am bigger and stronger than you, and you have no way of defending yourself, then it is right if I thrash you; the fact that I did thrash you is proof that I had the right to do so. On the other hand, if you can intimidate me with a gun, then right returns to your side. All of which comes to mere nonsense. And a social order based on the socialist axiom — which makes the government the final judge of all morality — is a nonsensical society. It is a society in which the highest value is the acquisition of power — as exemplified in a Hitler

National Whirligig... Negroes Of South Fare Better Than Those In NYC's Harlem

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Chief Justice Earl Warren's outlawing of segregation in public schools and federal housing projects may be a Republican wind that will blow good for the Democrats of North and South, now sharply divided on this issue. It should eventually remove the racial problem from the realm of partisan politics.

At the moment, many Southern communities and politicians are indignant over the ruling and are threatening to escape its implications in one way or another. But the fact is that this unanimous opinion has been accepted in Dixie with amazing moderation and hard common sense, save for a few political hotshots like Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia. He will probably use the issue to try to win himself a Senate seat.

RACIAL RELATIONS IN SOUTH — The South, however, which has managed to make so many social and economic readjustments since 1865, will meet this new challenge in its own way. It will, sooner or later, comply with the Supreme Court's decision in accord with local needs and customs. The South has made greater progress in the field of racial relations than many other sections of the country, where the question is raised only at election time by so-called "liberals" seeking the vote of the colored people. The Negro is better treated, better housed, better fed and more respected below the Mason and Dixon Line than he is in Democratic Harlem, supposedly the New Dealer's heaven.

QUESTION OF YEARS — It may take years for the South to answer the Supreme Court's question of how it intends to implement the ruling on segregation. That will also apply to many northern communities. It is doubtful if the surrounding difficulties can be solved before the 1956 election.

But solved it will be eventually, and all the bitter disagreements between Northern and Southern Democrats will disappear. There will then be no reason why such brilliant statesmen as Byrd of Virginia, Russell of Georgia and McClellan of Arkansas, or

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

Gamma globulin is a substance obtained from the blood. It can be prepared in a form which is safe given to human beings. It has known value at certain stages of measles and infectious hepatitis.

Beginning about three years ago, studies were conducted on gamma globulin as a possible means of preventing the paralytic effect of polio. During the first two years the studies suggested that gamma globulin could reduce, though not entirely eliminate, paralysis from polio in children.

Apparently the gamma globulin was most effective in preventing paralysis between the second and fifth week following the injection. Obviously this would not answer the polio question, since it was by no means a sure preventive. Its effect was not considered lasting, and there simply would not be enough gamma globulin to go around.

During the past year the studies with gamma globulin have been continued with somewhat more discouraging results. As the situation stands now gamma globulin must be considered at best to have only limited usefulness as a preventive measure for the paralytic forms of polio.

CHURCHILL'S CHANGED IDEAS — Prime Minister Churchill's recent suggestions that he may resign soon have been welcomed at Washington, although it would be indiscreet for any high public official to admit it. Both President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles believe that they could get along better with Anthony Eden as British boss.

Like F.D.R. at Yalta, Churchill is showing signs of stress. In his ambition to close his situation and faded career as world peace-maker, he counsels agreements with Russia which he condemned as "appeasement" in pre-1939 days. He is making it hard for "Is."

Fair Enough... Mary Pickford Takes To Air In Defense Of Charlie Chaplin

By WESTBROOK PUGGER (Copyright, 1954, King Features Syndicate, Inc.) NEW YORK — Mary Pickford, an elderly actress, in a statement to the public of today, has gone political in a surprising way as a defender of Charlie Chaplin. She says today she will not be a Communist. A chance "Is" has some very interesting things to say about the actress who once was the "Nine Little Girls" of United Artists.

Pickford since 1941, when she wrote me from California that she was my "devoted reader." "After the defeat of yesterday," her letter said, "I wakened in the lowest possible spirits this morning, ready to give up the struggle for decent government."

"But when I turned to the Los Angeles Examiner and found that you were still there, battling away, it gave me fresh courage and hope. Keep up the good work. Sincerely yours, Mary Pickford."

"P.S. I do believe I have written my first fan letter." The "defeat of yesterday" was Roosevelt's election to his fourth term. "Not knowing Miss Pickford, I have no way of estimating the influence of the purse on her political emotions, her interests and her opinions are interesting, but I might err in suspecting that she has the profit motive in mind."

In July, 1933, Miss Pickford appeared on a small-time local New York broadcast which sometimes seems to try to offend anti-Communists. As "guest" in that show, Mary made some remarks about Chaplin which seemed so inconsistent with the political purposes of the show, that I wrote her a letter in 1941 that I wrote, inquiring what she really had said. She replied that she would have to get a copy of the broadcast or answering. Receiving no answer after some time, I wrote her again in 1942. Then she responded in a letter in terms which assured me that I had a transcript of the broadcast.

This radio feature is one of those non-stop deals which the principals get the guest to and with questions. The main character said Mary Pickford in 1944 was residing in America on the island and principles which come "dit and 'un Americans have been selling out."

The wife character then said: "Case in point, the case of Charlie Chaplin." Mary then said: "I am an anti-Communist, any group, community, man without his day before the proper tribunal."

Chaplin has not been denied his day. He simply took it on the lam from the United States where he would be welcome before the appropriate tribunals. Mary continued: "And I'm a Red or even slightly pink and he'll answer to me in court, I'll see them for every last penny they have. I am not a Communist, but I don't think that anybody, including Charlie Chaplin, should be condemned without his day in court."

South Leaders Gather For First Segregation Confab

RICHMOND, Va., June 7—UP—Top officials of 15 states meet here Thursday for the South's first segregation strategy conference—the thorniest problem to face Dixie since reconstruction days. The meeting was suggested by Gov. Thomas B. Stanley of Virginia shortly after the U.S. Supreme Court ruled May 17 that segregation in the nation's public schools is unconstitutional. Reaction to the high court's ruling has ranged from intentions of defiance in Georgia, South Carolina and Mississippi to preparations for compliance in southern border states. Seven states have legalized segregation.

Closed Session
Thursday's session will be closed, Stanley said, to insure a thorough exchange of information between the executives. The Virginia governor said he called the meeting "simply to exchange information and views, without contemplating any organization or adopting any group plan." It precedes by only a month the National Governors' Conference, however, at which Dixie leaders will hold their own caucus to again take up the segregation issue. Then in the fall, the Supreme Court meets again to hear further arguments as to how and when its decision shall be enforced.

Most Outspoken
The three most outspoken opponents of the court ruling—Govs. Herman E. Talmadge of Georgia, Hugh White of Mississippi and James P. Byrnes of South Carolina—plan to attend the meeting here. Other governors expected are Gordon Persons of Alabama, Francis Cherry of Arkansas, William B. Umstead of North Carolina, Allan Shivers of Texas, William C. C.

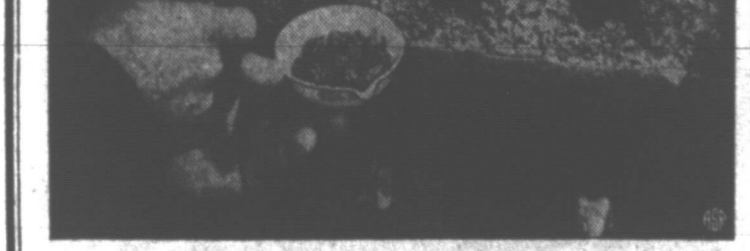

Clarkson to Give up Command
WASHINGTON, June 5—UP—The Army announced Saturday that Maj. Gen. Percy W. Clarkson will relinquish this month his post as deputy commanding general of the United States Army in Pacific with headquarters at Fort Shafter, Hawaii. Clarkson will continue to command Joint Task Force Seven with headquarters in Washington.

Bovard Charges to be Aired
WASHINGTON, June 5—UP—Neglect-of-duty charges against Burton C. Bovard, general counsel of the Federal Housing Administration, will be aired in a public hearing June 14, the FHA has announced.

Spanish Conquistadors
Hernando Cortes not only explored most of Mexico and much of the Southwest United States nearly a century before the Pilgrims landed in New England, but his captains also discovered some of the loneliest islands in the world—the Revilla Gígedo group and the isolated atoll now named Clipperton Island far off the west coast of Mexico.

Remove Antifreeze For Summer Driving

Poor cooling system care which permitted excessive rust, scale and residues to collect has ruined this automobile engine. If you have been in the habit of leaving the winter coolant in your car all summer, don't do it, chemical companies who manufacture antifreeze are advising this spring. You may be building up rust, corrosion and harmful residues in the engine block and cylinder head which can cause you engine trouble later, these companies advise. Such engine troubles as preignition, sticking valve lifters and increased wear are frequently due to improper cooling system care, Research Engineer H. W. Loper, of The Dow Chemical Company, points out in a recent announcement. Where winter antifreezes and a winter thermostat remain in use during summer months, the octane requirements will increase as much as 6 points, a recent SAE study has shown. This means that a 96 octane gasoline, for example, behaves like a 90 rated fuel. Antifreezes are designed for freeze protection during winter months, whereas water is more desirable as a coolant for summer use. Water is frequently corrosive, however, and a suitable rust inhibitor should be added. Make certain that the old antifreeze is drained; flush the cooling system thoroughly and add clean water containing a suitable rust inhibitor. Government authorities, oil companies and automobile manufacturers are supporting this educational program on good engine cooling system care.

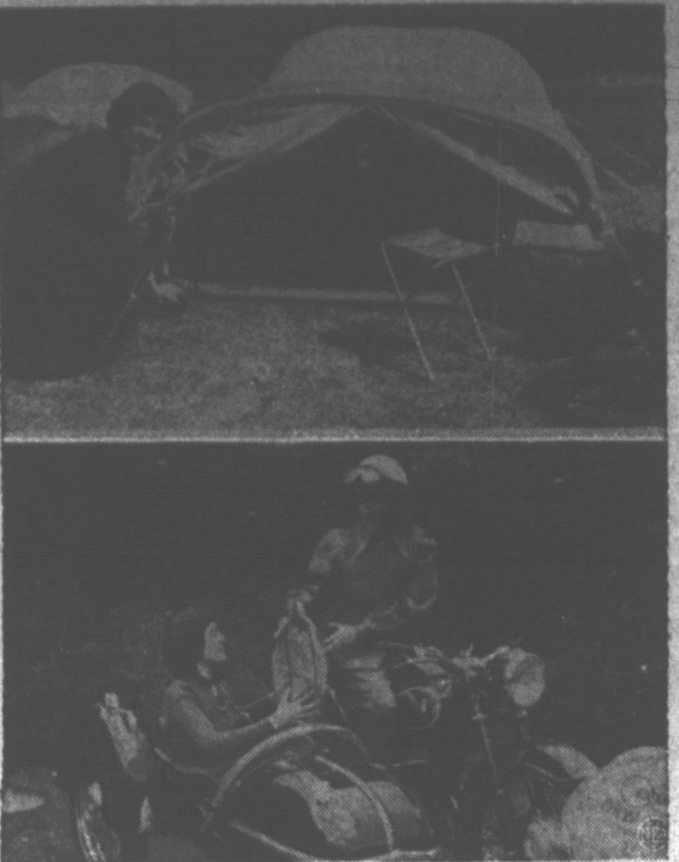

Father, Two Sons Drown

GRAPEVINE, Tex., June 7—UP—A fishing excursion ended in tragedy Sunday as a Dallas father and his two sons drowned when their boat overturned in the rough waters of Grapevine Lake. The victims were Rufus Savage, 42, of Dallas, Bill, 16, and Mike, 9. They left the widowed mother as sole survivor in the family. Savage and his two sons went to Grapevine Lake, northwest of Dallas, to try fishing in the reservoir, which recently opened to anglers. About 10 m.p.h., witnesses said a gust of wind apparently overturned the rented boat. R. E. Ramsey, a co-pilot for Braniff Airways, was nearby in a cabin cruiser. He and his companion tried to rescue the father and sons, but watched them sink before they could get a grip on them. Other boats tried to help in the rescue attempt, but rough water prevented any effective try. The corps of engineers said a red warning flag was flying at the lake, warning fishermen of danger from strong winds, but that many persons ignored it. Winds in gusts up to 60 miles an hour were reported on the lake.

Two Texans Charged In Sheriff Death

MANSFIELD, La., June 7—UP—Two Texans Monday were under charges of murder growing out of the slaying of DeSoto Parish Deputy Sheriff James W. Gamble last May 14. Sheriff Harmon Burgess identified the suspects as Donald Self, 35, who was arrested in a Houston apartment, and Darwin Crabbe, 29. Both men live in Houston. Self was apprehended May 27. Crabbe was arrested last Friday. Both have been identified by three Shreveport motorists as the men whose car they helped pull from a ditch near Mansfield just following the shooting. The witnesses did not know at that time that Gamble had been slain and another officer, Ralph Shelton, wounded by two men. Shelton is still in a Shreveport hospital recovering from wounds. Crabbe was charged Sunday with murder after a long questioning session. Sheriff Burgess said a special session of the DeSoto parish grand jury may be called to consider indictments against the two suspects. Both men have denied participating in the killing.

THE MARQUEE BY DICK KLEINER

Nothing like a little success to breed a little success. A case in point is Art Carney, Jackie Gleason's right-hand laugh on his CBS-TV show and generally accepted as TV's top supporting comic. Art has suddenly emerged as "Most Likely to be Offered Stuff." "In the last few months," Art says, "people have been coming to me with all kinds of offers. Recording offers, vaudeville offers, Broadway offers, summer stock offers. They offered me the Ralph Bellamy part in 'Detective Story' in a summer theater in Maryland. I turned it down regretfully. "You could make a lot of money in this business if you wanted to knock yourself out." You could clean up. But what's the point? Taxes take it all, and anyhow there's no point in knocking yourself out. He did succumb to the record offers, however. One, anyway. Columbia has issued his first record ("The Song of the Sewer" and "Va-Va-Va-Voom"). Art has also made some as-yet-unreleased kiddie records for Columbia. He started in show business singing and doing impersonations with Horace Heidt. "But I had no musical training," he says. "You can tell that if you hear the record." Actually, the record is good. Funny, of course, but musical as well. He's no Jussi Bjorling, but there are worse voices on record. When the Gleason show goes off for the summer, Art and his family will head for the Connecticut countryside. He's turned down all summer bids to spend his vacation relaxing. There'll be two or three TV plays, but no steady work. That's Carney for you. And for me, too. "The past may be recaptured briefly in July, when the Dorsey Brothers trot out a new TV show on CBS. It'll be called "Stage Show." It isn't certain yet, but there's a good chance that brother Jimmy's ace vocal duet in the old days—Helen O'Connell and Bob Eberle—may be with them for a few shows. Here's one request for the original version of "Green Eyes." John Cameron Swayze, the well-dressed newscaster (NBC-TV), is now a big game inventor. No, he hasn't perfected a new wild beast, he's invented a game called, for some strange reason, "Swayze." John and I played a round of "Swayze" and it's fun. It's a news quiz, and the object is to think of a news event that the other players can't identify in a certain number of questions. There's a little more to it than that, but you get the idea. It's a direct descendant, John says, of a game he and his family used to play on long trips. He'd say, "I'm thinking of an event," and the whole clan would ask questions and guess. The new game has a board with the map of the world and lots of little doo-hickies, without which a game isn't a game any more. Incidentally, John played dirty. He thought of some dusty event that happened in darkest Kashmir, and nobody could guess. I've switched to purchase, until I find a pasty who never heard of George Washington. "They'd be married," Joe Ames said, "fifty days." The Ames Brothers were talking about a Hollywood visit, and said they observed two stars celebrating their Golden Wedding anniversary. "They'd be married," Joe Ames said, "fifty days." One result of the Army-McCarthy hearings is that America's amateur songwriters have become inspired. Harry Sosnik, producer and musical director of the Treasury Department's "Guest Star" radio show, says he's been flooded with songs pegged on the big show in Washington. Some of the titles: "Attaboy Roy"; "They said Nein to Schine"; "Down You Go, Joe"; "This Is the Army, Mr. Cohn"; and "Now You're Even, Stevens."

A Joke's A Joke, But!

WILLIAM R. KNOX, (above), Boston, Mass., today was named president of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston at the annual meeting of the church attended by Christian Scientists from many parts of the world. BARNBLEY, England, June 7—UP—Harry Hull enjoys a joke as much as anyone, but he said Monday he wasn't amused Saturday when he came home and found: 1. Workmen piling 7,000 bricks on his front lawn. 2. More workmen unloading four tons of potatoes and spreading them in neat rows alongside his garage. 3. Two trucks banking five tons of sand and gravel, a load of drain pipes, a large asbestos sheet and a consignment of used automobile tires. 4. A line of trucks waiting to unload three tons of coal, several tons of sand and gravel, a load of drain pipes, a large asbestos sheet and a consignment of used automobile tires. 5. A scrap metal dealer who said he had come to collect two tons of old railroad tracks and a man waiting to collect two used cars. Hull said the final straw was the appearance of an undertaker to "prepare the body for cremation." The undertaker was so shocked to see the "body" trying to deal with the milling crowd of trades people, Hull said, he needed a shot of brandy to avoid collapsing.
