How do ex-Corporal Doe and his family start their day now?

The above scene from a typical American home pretty well describes it. Doe is still shaving and has just fifteen minutes to get out of the house and start for work. The oldest boy has to leave for school at the same time. The little kids are driving Mrs. Doe to distraction. In short, all is confusion.

Only the cat seems relaxed and enjoying his breakfast. In fact, the cat is the only one who will get much of a breakfast.

And that's the trouble. There's no doubt, according to leading nutritionists who have made studies and surveys on the sub-

Japs Prepare to Rearm

So, after three years of prodding reluctantly and with many a backward look the Japanese are on the resit to abandoning their "no war" constitution and preparing to rearm as an ally of the West. The situations that affect a defeated Japan, and a defeated Germany are entirely parallel.

The nations that suffered horror and destruction in the Nazi drive for conquest agree only reluctantly to the rebirth of German armed might. The plan to set up a German Army which would not be independent but would be independent but would be independent but would be indiasolubly linked with the European Defems Community is an attempt to guarantee the world against any fulture German aggression.

And it was after Reres that the world against any fulture German aggression.

The Pampa Baily News

One of Texas Five Most Consistent Newspapers

We believe that one truth is always consistent with another truth. We endeavor to be consistent with truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence,

Spending That Hurts

Now that the nation is talking about budgets, debtceilings, appropriations and economy, it might be a good time to mention the demand of Eugene W. Castle that the U.S. Information Agency be abolished. This, he says, would not only save the taxpayers more than 60 million dollars a year but would put us in a position where we "can once again commence to make friends among the people of other lands."

"Actually," says this former reporter, newsreel editor, world-traveller and founder of Castle Films, writing in the January 13th issue of Human Events, "the U. S. Information Agency is a very costly, high-pressure 'transmission belt' to maintain and increase giveaways for foreigners. Until it is abolished it will always serve as a loudspeaker for Washington politicians anxious to give more and more American dollars to foreigners."

Since 1948, says Mr. Castle, our global propaganda, which he calls "stupidly ineffective," has cost the taxpayers four hundred million dollars. And while expenditures have increased five-fold since 1948, "anti-Americanism abroad has increased more than onehundred fold!" And he describes as "incredible" the fact that Director Theodore C. Streibert of the USIA, "who determines all global propaganda policies for the government of the United States" is without experience as a newspaper reporter, and telies for operation of "our world-wide propaganda octopus" on his four re-gional directors who are "seasoned" Truman-Acheson-

We gather from Mr. Castle's article that actual U. S. propaganda expenditures are difficult to determine and have gotten beyond the control of Congress. He cites the propagandists' complaint that 17 millions is too low a budget for the "Voice of America," pointing out that they say nothing about the fifty millions spent abroad by our Armed Forces for "round-the-clock" broadcasting, and the 25 million dollar "supposedly private enterprise known as 'Radio Free Europe'.

All in all, Mr. Castle estimates "the good-natured American taxpayer" puts out 100 millions for overseas radio, plus four millions for overseas libraries, plus millions more for propaganda movies. As a single incident of extravagance, he cites cable charges of six millions a year for "news" wired abroad five days a week when it could just as well go air-mail, and when it is duplicated by private news agencies in every quarter of the globe.

How can this wasteful and shameful global bad-will building continue uninterrupted," asks Mr. Castle, "and in an administration that faithfully promised, only a little over a year ago, to 'clean up the mess in Wash-

A sixty-four MILLION dollar question! Maybe you ought to ask your Congressman.

Price Yardstick

A great deal of the complaint about high prices would be avoided if we related those prices to our purchasing power. To take one example, for an industrial worker the actual dollar-and-cents price of an article is not necessarily the big thing. A much more important factor is how long he has to work to earn enough money

The same thing is true in agriculture. A case in point is mechanized form equipment - the highly efficient machines that are a "must" in present-day farming. Naturally, the prices of these machines have risen along with everything else. But the value of basic farm products have risen more

For instance, in the 1935-39 period a two-plow tractor of a type in wide use cost the equivalent of 1,621 bushels of corn - in the first six months of last year it cost 1,449. In the previous period, it cost the equivalent of 63.9 hogs - in the first half of 1953 the figure was down to 51.3. In the case of most other crops and equipment, the situation is comparable. And farm equipment today is much better than that of the past. It remains a good buy.

Facts And Rumors

Every now and then it is charged that retailers are making excessive profits on some commodity or group of commodities. That recently happened in the case of meat, and the clamor was sufficient to cause a Department of Agriculture investigation.

What was found? As a CBS network news program briefed the Department's report, "The conclusion is that there is no widespread disparity between changes in the price of cattle being sold off the farm and of the meats at the local butcher shops. The Department says . . . that, on the whole, nobody has been making any unusual or abnormal profits."

When the facts are separated from the rumors, it's usually proven that profiteering is almost as rare as hen's teeth in a free, competitive system. Retailing in all its branches is a particularly good example. When all the bills are paid, typical retailers have left, as profit, only from one to three or four cents out of each dollar taken in.

If you want to know what kind of propaganda the National Council of Churches of Christ in America is responsible for, you should read the following excerpts of a book review in the January issue of Faith and Freedom. The book is called "Social Responsibilities of the Businessman" and is written by Howard R. Bowen, Proclass fessor of Economics at Williams College. This book is the third of a study series of six volumes on Christian Ethics and Economic Life." Laissez faire was a failure, in his judgment, so reforms were and continue to be instituted. The result is 'our present-day blend of free enterprise and social control' sometimes called 'welfare capitalism.' The book assumes that Americans intend to retain their present economy as founded upon the principle of individual self-determination, but altered by considerations for 'social welfare.' * * *

CHICAGO, Feb. 2 —UP—There will be fewer night games in the American League this season. The 1865 schedule, released Tugs day, listed 215 night games, 10 less than were scheduled for 1953. Most of the decrease resulted from the shift of the St. Louis Browns frunchise to Baltimore, although two other clubs. Washington and Chicago, also decreased the nuber of after-dark contests.

As usual, however, the Senatters scheduled the most might games, 46. They also will start their night game program earlier than the other leams, scheduling one against the Athletics on April 15—six days after the season opens. The Senators scheduled 30 might games last season.

and used a tape recorder and played it back, and it still didn't sound right the way Laughton suggested. Then I did it for my wife, and she said, 'You don't sound like Nolan, you sound like Laughton.'

"So, with Charlie's O.K., I went back to doing it my own way. It wouldn't have sounded right, to have Capt. Queeg talk like Capt.

Bileb."

Which must be a British way of saying as long as we don't louse it up.

Harmonicas, like everything else, wear out. Richard Hayman, one of the top mouth-organ manipulators around, says you can ruin one in a day if you play it wrong, or it can last years. Hayman used to keep about 300 of the things, but now, what with smaller apartments and all, he's down to around 100.

"That is," he said, smiling, "as
