USSR Dangles Lure Of Trade Before Allies

Russians Embarked On Plan For Hike In Consumer Goods

EDITOR'S NOTE: Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov is dangling the prospect of profitable trade behind the Iron Curtain before the West in the Berlin foreign ministers' conference. United Press staff correspondent Henry Shapiro, an expert on Soviet affairs, reports in the following dispatch, why the Soviets are eager to encourage East-West trade and how this desire may temper the Russian position at Berlin.

By HENRY SHAPIRO BERLIN, Jan. 28 —UP— Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov has extended an unusually warm invitation to the West to "normalize" East-West trade.

That is a potent lure to several western nations looking hungrily at the prospects of profitable markets east of the Iron Curtain. But it is equally true that the Soviet Union needs and wants the consumer goods of the West to enable the new regime of Premier Georgi Malenkov to make good on its promises of a more abundant life for the peoples of Russia and the restive populations of some of its satellite countries.

Importance of Bid Stressed In the lobbies of the eastern and western press headquarters here, Soviet spokesmen are emphasizing what they describe as "the extreme importance" of Molotov's bid for trade.

That out that the Russian phrase he used "dobro poshalovati" is the friendliest possible equivalent of "you are welcome" and may be taken most literally by representatives of any foreign trading organizations wishing to visit Moscow.

More is certain to be heard about East-West trade as the conference progresses. For there is no doubting the imperative necessity to the Soviet bloc of mass imports from the West.

Deeply Committed The Kremlin has committed itself so deeply to a policy of increasing the flow of consumer goods to its own people that its satellites cannot await fulfillment of domestic economic plans.

Last year, with the start of this new post-Stalin program, official reports show that Moscow imported at least $1 billion for consumer goods, one-third of which was spent in capitalist countries.

'Slasher' At Large

MONTEREAL, Jan. 28 —UP— A "phantom slasher" roamed free in this Canadian metropolis Friday and thousands of women walked in fear that they might be next to feel the sharp sting of his razor on their legs.

The will-o'-the-wisp slasher has struck 12 times in the past several days — three times Thursday — making quick sweeps of his blade across the legs of women and teenage girls at busy intersections and bus and street car stops.

One victim described him as "a crazy-looking man" with a "maniacal laugh." The entire city showed alarm at the slasher's continued freedom. Police estimated that 2,000 persons who believed they had seen the attacker telephone headquarters in a three-hour period.

At 11 p.m. Thursday night a man wisecracked on a downtown corner that he was the slasher. A girl screamed and in seconds the area was filled with police cars. The wisecracker was booked on a drunk charge.

Many schools were closing classes earlier than scheduled after a 15-year-old girl was slashed on her way home from school Wednesday.

Unlike the "Jack the Ripper" slayer who terrorized London women half a century ago, the Montreal slasher seemed content to wound rather than kill. Police believed the slasher was a sexual deviant. "We may be after more than one man," a police spokesman said. "The attacks have been occurring at widely separated points. One man may have started it, and been joined by another similarly pruned."

Wealthy Heiress Adopts Children

MARTINEVILLE, Calif., Jan. 28 —UP— Mrs. Maurine Rockefeller-McCormick Hubbard, heiress to some $40 million has set up trust funds totaling $200,000 for her two children she adopted from "poor families." The 51-year-old widow said Thursday she established the trust funds to provide for the financial future of the seven-month-old boys she adopted quietly last Tuesday. She indicated that further provisions would be made for them in her will.

GOP Leaders Hoping To Kill Treaty Curb

May Unveil New Treaty Proposal

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 —UP— Senate GOP leaders may unveil a new treaty proposal Friday which they hope will win enough Democratic and Republican votes to bury the administration-opposed Bricker amendment.

They appeared to have abandoned hope of a compromise with Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio), chief sponsor of a constitutional amendment to curb the President's treaty-making powers. Instead, their strategy now appears to be aimed at developing a bipartisan substitute which all but the die-hard backers of the Bricker proposal will support. Thus they hope to win a two-thirds vote for the substitute and defeat the Bricker amendment once and for all.

Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland was expected to introduce the new proposal as Senate debate on the issue moved into its third day. Knowland and other Republican leaders consulted Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.) and Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson on the new proposal.

George said the measure was substantially the same as a substitute he introduced earlier this week. George's proposal eliminated the key section of Bricker's amendment which would require Congress and in some cases state legislatures to pass legislation before a treaty could become law.

Bricker stood firm against any compromise that does not include this provision.

Other developments: TAIT-HARTLEY United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis said President Eisenhower's proposal eliminated the Tait-Hartley law which would remove the "discriminatory, punitive and oppressive provisions" of the act. He declined an invitation to testify on the amendments before the Senate Labor committee but outlined his views in a letter.

TAXES Treasury officials were reported to be showing increasing concern about the way tax legislation is shaping up in Congress. They are said to fear that Congress will cut some taxes on some items more than the government can afford at this time and will move too slowly on key parts of the President's own tax program.

COFFEE Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md.), chairman of a banking subcommittee named to investigate sharp increases in coffee prices, expressed hope his inquiry will result in lower prices for consumers.

PLEADS GUILTY Cattle Smuggler To Be Sentenced

AUSTIN, Jan. 28 —UP— One of three men charged with conspiring to smuggle a herd of rare French Charolais cattle into the United States from Mexico will be sentenced March 1 after he pleaded guilty.

Alphe A. Broussard, Lafayette, La., pleaded guilty Thursday to 10 counts of the indictment when arraigned before Federal Judge Ben H. Rice Jr.

A second defendant, William L. Babb of El Paso, Tex., pleaded innocent to each of the 10 counts. The third man indicted, Antonio Enrique Gilly of Alamo, Mex., is in Paris, France.

U. S. Attorney Charles F. Herling said he would ask that Babb's trial be set for Feb. 15 in Austin. He also said he would ask that extradition proceedings be instituted to get Gilly returned to the U. S.

John Cofer, Austin attorney representing Babb, asked for a bill of particulars in connection with the 10 counts in the indictment returned last November. Judge Rice instructed Cofer to present a formal motion Saturday morning.

The government estimated the value of the entire herd of Charolais cattle, whose export had been banned by the Mexican government, at more than $500,000. The government alleged the three men conspired to transport the herd, originally owned by Gilly, into this country illegally.

The indictment set out nine times in which the cattle were allegedly to have been transported illegally in either Bastrop or Travis counties, Tex. The cattle were later taken to Louisiana. They were placed under quarantine after the indictment.

DOG OWNERS WARNED FOLLOWING POISONING Dog owners of the southeastern section of the city today were warned by Chief of Police Jim Conner to keep their dogs up for the next several days.

This warning was issued following a report received by police. Several Pampa residents are expected to be in attendance on this special day.

IT'S YOUR TURN — Deputy Tax Collector Nina Howe beckons to the next Gray County resident in line in the county tax office to step up and pay his $1.75 poll tax. Late this morning a total of 3,840 poll tax receipts and 900 exemptions had been issued. Deadline for poll taxes is Saturday, County Tax Assessor-Collector Jack Back has announced that the office will be open in the afternoon for last-minute payments. Mrs. Howe lives at 314 W. Francis. State Heads Favor Meet

AUSTIN, Jan. 28 —UP— The score was 3 to 1 among Texas' top officials Friday on the wisdom of holding a special session of the Legislature in mid-March.

Lt. Gov. Ben H. Ramsey said Thursday he supported Gov. Allan Shivers' decision to have the legislators meet about March 15 to deal with the problem of a pay raise for Texas teachers.

House Speaker Reuben E. Senterfitt, San Saba, who is a gubernatorial candidate, said earlier this week he didn't think the state should "gamble" on a special session until after the U. S. Supreme Court rules on the legality of Texas' natural gas gathering tax.

The tax, which produces about $15 million a year, is expected to finance much of the pedagogues' pay raise. A compromise on the pay raise would give each teacher $400 more a year, and would cost the state some $24 million annually.

Ramsey said he thought other "sources of revenue" might be found, should the high court hold the gas tax unconstitutional. Shivers mentioned an increase in the state omnibus tax as a possibility, but Senterfitt thought it would be impossible to get a new tax through the Legislature in the 30 days to which a special session is limited.

James Roosevelt Sued By Spouse

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 28 —UP— James Roosevelt, candidate for Congress and eldest son of the late President, was charged with three counts of adultery Friday in a separate maintenance suit filed here by his wife.

Mrs. Romelle Schneider Roosevelt, 28, named three co-respondents in the suit on file in superior court. She asked for separate maintenance with $2,000 a month for herself and $1,500 a month for their three children.

County Wheat Crop Hopes High Although Moisture Is Needed

While Gray County wheat farmers would like to have more moisture in the ground, they still are not worried over wheat prospects. Jim Strawn, Gray County Soil Conservator, said today that winter wheat could stand more moisture, but that "wheat is not hurting from lack of moisture just now."

He pointed out that some of the early wheat is turning yellow, but that is not caused from lack of moisture, but from the recent extreme cold weather. This has not hurt the wheat, he added. "There is enough moisture in the

Ike Concerned Over Coffee's Price Increase

Voluntarily Talks On Steaming Issue At News Conference

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 —UP— Hotter than good coffee is the political fact that in the 10 months since President Eisenhower decontrolled the market, the retail pound price has jumped to more than a dollar.

Proof that Mr. Eisenhower is urgently aware of the significance of the foregoing is that he required no prodding at this week's news conference to speak out on coffee.

Two congressional committees also are on the ball. That they are likely to come up with a complaint against unfair prices established by coffee handlers in the United States was indicated by Mr. Eisenhower's approach to the coffee problem.

Market Skulduggery Hinted He did not give more than a hint as to what may have been turned up in the past fortnight's coffee investigation by the Federal Trade Commission. But his hint plainly suggested market skulduggery of some kind which, of course, remains to be proven. The coffee handlers have not been heard from.

Neither are figures so far available conclusive. But it might astonish the housewife confronted with $1 coffee to know that the average cost of coffee imported by the United States did not go up much in 1953. The average cost for the first quarter was 50.75 cents a pound. The average price for last November's imports was 53.75 cents. November imports actually were on the down side compared to October's 54.75 cents cost. That is what we paid the Brazilians, Colombians and other coffee producers.

These statistics are prepared by the government and the big, unsteady, is about two months behind the current date. A report shortly to be published will provide an early winter price schedule.

HUNTSMVILLE, Tex., Jan. 28 —UP— Wrecking crews Friday began digging through the charred ruins of the First Baptist Church here in search of the body of a 19-year-old college student missing since he was seen helping volunteers fight a church fire last Sunday.

There had been no previous indication that anyone perished in the $300,000 blaze which destroyed the church.

But the student, James E. Davis, Jr., an engineering student attending San Houston State College on the GI bill, had not been seen since flames saw him working with other volunteers in the blazing church.

"I told the workers the roof was getting ready to cave in and that I was leaving," J. D. Johnston, former Huntsville volunteer fire department chief, said. He said young Davis was among men in the church.

"The smoke was getting pretty thick and I couldn't see if anyone was still in there when I got out but I thought everyone was out of the building when the roof caved in."

Davis' girl friend, Wilma Jo Nuss, said she failed to appear for a date Sunday evening. His roommate, Bobby Suggs, said Davis had not returned to his room since Sunday afternoon.

A car that young Davis borrowed from a garage while his own was being repaired was still parked near the church Thursday.

His father, an insurance agent here, also had not seen his son since Sunday and said the boy had not been around to visit a letter from his mother, who lives in Chicago.

Seek Youth's Body In Charred Ruins

HUNTSMVILLE, Tex., Jan. 28 —UP— Wrecking crews Friday began digging through the charred ruins of the First Baptist Church here in search of the body of a 19-year-old college student missing since he was seen helping volunteers fight a church fire last Sunday.

There had been no previous indication that anyone perished in the $300,000 blaze which destroyed the church.

American Turncoats Wander Streets As Residents Stare

PANMUNJOM, Jan. 28 —UP— Twenty-one American friends of the Communists found a new home in Kaesong Friday, and residents stared at them with curiosity as they strolled through the dusty streets of the little North Korean town.

Some of them probably had hangers, as they were guests of honor at a big, welcoming party Thursday night around a board graced with Chinese foods and several kinds of wines and liquors.

One of the Americans, who was not identified by a Communist source, rose at the height of the celebration to thank the Reds for winning them away from America so they could "fight for peace."

Take Advantage of Sunshine Communist correspondent Alan Wilmington said the former American soldiers took advantage of the warm sunshine to roam the streets of Kaesong, six miles north of Panmunjom.

There was no indication when the Americans who renounced their home and country would leave for the North Korean capital of Pyongyang and for the Red Chinese capital of Peking, where the Reds have promised to teach them how to "fight for peace."

Letters from mothers of four Americans, begging them to come home, arrived in Panmunjom Thursday, one day after the dishonorably discharged former soldiers had gone behind the Iron Curtain.

Separate Letters Written Each of the four women also sent separate letters to Indian Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, begging him to relay their final pleas to the men before it was too late. "Pathetic things, aren't they?" Thimayya said as he ran his fingers over the envelopes. Two letters were written by the mothers of Cpl. Howard G. Adams, Corsicans, Tex., and Cpl. Arlie H. Pate, Cartersville, Ill.

GETTING IN PRACTICE — for the Mothers' March on Polio from 7 to 8 p.m. today is Mrs. Julian Key, 1236 Hamilton, as she thinks of four-year-old Michael Miller, 1033 Charles (inset), a victim of the disease. Mrs. Key will be one of 500 Pampa Women and 100 county women who will call at homes with lighted porch lights for donations. Radio station KPND will aid with the campaign by spot announcements from 7 to 7:40 p.m. reminding people to turn on the lights. Police and fire sirens will kick off the event. (News Photo)

Ike To Name Judge Posts

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 —UP— The Senate had voted to provide 39 additional judges and the House Thursday on legislation which would allow President Eisenhower to appoint 30 additional federal judges.

The measure is a compromise of differences between bills passed last year by the Senate and House.

Congress is expected to complete action on the measure next week and send it to the White House. It would give Mr. Eisenhower his first chance to fill a large number of judicial seats.

The legislation would provide 37 additional district judges, 21 permanent and six temporary, and three additional circuit judges. The 21 permanent district seats would be located as follows: two in southern New York and one each in southern California, Colorado, Delaware, Idaho, northern Indiana, southern Indiana, western Kentucky, Massachusetts, western Michigan, New Jersey, southern Florida, eastern Virginia, eastern Wisconsin, a western Michigan, northern Ohio, eastern Pennsylvania, western Pennsylvania, eastern Texas and North Dakota.

The six temporary judgeships would be located in western Pennsylvania, Nevada, New Mexico, South Dakota, middle Tennessee and Utah.

Pampa Day Set At Fort Worth

Sunday will be "Pampa and Top of Texas Day" at the Southeastern Exposition and a Pat Stock Show, which is scheduled to open this afternoon in Fort Worth.

Official representative of Pampa and the Top of Texas will be Miss June Bull, 1601 N. Russell. She was scheduled to ride in the big parade which opens the show this afternoon and she will be introduced during the rodeo performance Sunday as being representative from this area.

Several Pampa residents are expected to be in attendance on this special day.

Worker's Body Found On Shore

BAYTOWN, Tex., Jan. 28 —UP— The body of Walter Wilson Cox, 36, a refinery machinist, was found Thursday about 20 feet from the shore in Red Bay near the spot where a fellow worker earlier had found Cox's empty boat.

Justice of the Peace M. L. Langston returned a verdict of accidental death by drowning and said Cox apparently fell from his boat and was unable to swim ashore.

The man told police that he believed that the poison was placed in the garden that had been fed to his dog and that he was of the opinion that the poison was strychnine. Two other cases of dog poisoning have been reported recently to the city's dog catcher, Chief Conner stated. These were in the same residential area, he added. "If it comes from a hardware store we have H. Lewis Hardware

A royal service skit was given. "A Woman's Tool," by Mrs. Travis Winegart, and "Little Miss Pusan," by Mrs. B. L. Bennett, in closing the group sang, "Let Others See Jesus In You." Mrs. Melba Langham, WMU president, gave the closing prayer.

All Circles will meet at the Church for a Royal Service program next week.

Family Life Suffers Badly From Too Much Social Life

By RUTH MILLETT

A newspaper editor thinks we women are inclined to place too much emphasis on our obligation to entertain and to rate being entertained.

He says he feels the real need today is for people to have more time to themselves and to spend with their families.

He has a point, all right. Mothers and fathers can get so involved with entertaining and being entertained that home life suffers and children are actually neglected — not in the physical sense, but in the feeling that mom's and dad's fun is all had with other adults.

You can't leave children with a baby sitter night after night, or feed them early and rush them off to bed, without depriving them of the good, warm feeling that their parents have plenty of time for them and really enjoy their companionship.

And a home takes a hectic air when it is just a place to entertain or to rush away from for entertainment elsewhere.

The trouble is, it is hard for a woman to hit a happy medium between too much or too little social life.

In order to do it a woman has to be able to say an occasional

Miss Janis Lively Has Theatre Party

Miss Janis Lively, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Lively Jr., was honored with a theater birthday party Wednesday afternoon. Young friends gathered at her house for refreshments and gift opening. The serving table was covered with a pale green cloth and centered with a heart shaped birthday cake, which was decked with pink and green flowers. A felt draw string purse decorated with sequins and hand hearts and flowers appliques was given to each little girl for a favor.

Guests included Rogena Thompson, Candy Noblitt, Linda Andis, Linda Key, Patty Walsh, Linda Holt, and Nancy Ann Bissantz.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Miss Friend

I read your column regularly and am writing to ask you to help me, please.

My foster son is anxious to move to Colorado Springs or Denver on account of his health. He is anxious to learn whether there is a good jewelry school in either city or in that area where they would accept GI's.

He will complete his watchmaking course in March and will want to move soon after.

I will appreciate it very much if you can please give me this information.

Mrs. C. M. F.

Dear Mrs. F.

I don't know of such a school at present. If any of my readers do and will write me, I will be happy to publish the information.

MUSICAL THERAPY

Dear Grace Friend

I have enjoyed reading your column for some time, and while I am not writing to you in regard to a personal problem, I wonder if you can supply me with the following information:

Do any hospitals in this area have a program of musical therapy for their convalescent patients? Perhaps I am incorrect in calling it therapy. What I mean is a program set up in the hospital whereby a visiting pianist entertains patients who are well on the road to recovery with music somewhat on the order of dinner music.

Also would such a musician be paid or would this type of work have to be done on a voluntary basis? I would be interested in this type of work on a paid basis as I have several young children.

W. L.

Dear W. L.

Entertainers are always welcome in veterans hospitals but I am quite sure that they donate their services. At least I have never heard of their being paid for the sort of thing you mention. If you would like to give some time to playing for hospitalized veterans call the Red Cross or the American Legion Auxiliary, both of which have programs set up for entertaining in hospitals on a voluntary basis.

If you would like to do such work on a paid basis in private hospitals, I would suggest that you contact the hospital superintendent in each hospital in your vicinity and that you discuss the matter with him. It might be that you could institute such a service yourself, even if there hasn't been one in the past.

A Final Reminder

Several days ago the Pampa Kiwanis Club mailed a letter to its members which contained a story with a punch line on the value to Americans of the ballot box.

The story recalled the visit to Pampa last year of Gretchen Johansson's grandfather who came to see the German exchange student graduating in the 1933 class of Pampa High School.

The writer of the Kiwanis letter said he had asked the visiting German how Hitler managed to gain complete control of the people of his country.

"That was the year we failed to vote!" was his significant reply.

There are no Hitlers growing in power in the United States today but the moral of the story is especially pertinent in Gray County and throughout Texas since Saturday is the last day eligible voters can qualify by paying their poll taxes.

County Tax Assessor-Collector Jack Back said yesterday that approximately 5,000 of the estimated 10,000 eligible voters in the county had obtained poll tax receipts.

If you are one of the 5,000 who hasn't paid up we'd like to suggest that you plank the $1.75 on the line and exercise your voice in government by voting on all issues this year. The county tax office will remain open Saturday afternoon and the Pampa League of Women Voters will maintain a booth in Wilson's Drug Store, 300 S. Cuyler, for your convenience.

Cabinet Report

The January issue of Nation's Business, a magazine which is published by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, is unique. The uniqueness lies in the fact that it includes a signed article by each of the members of the Cabinet, concerning what has been done since the new Administration came to power and what is intended and hoped for in the future.

In summarized form, the views of these 10 Cabinet officers run about as follows:

JUSTICE: Attorney General Brownell says that there is evidence in the hands of his department, resulting from FBI investigations, which would prove espionage in certain cases "but this evidence cannot now be used because of present rules of evidence." He adds that a change in the rules will be sought so that his department may proceed in these cases.

DEFENSE: Secretary Wilson says that during the past year his department has recognized a three-pronged communist threat to American security — psychological, economic and military. "In the light of this threat," he asserts, "we are maintaining effective military forces and equipping these forces with the most modern weapons."

STATE: Secretary Dulles writes: "The Soviet rulers are on a diplomatic defense. The free world now has the diplomatic and moral initiative. We hope to keep that initiative."

INTERIOR: There has been a very marked change in policy here, particularly in the direction of home rule of natural resources. Secretary McKay says that, after 20 years of centralized federal monopoly of natural resources policy, the government is giving the states, communities, and even individual citizens a voice in resources development and planning. He urges a partnership plan for the government and private enterprise in natural resource development, particularly in the field of electric power.

POST OFFICE: Secretary Summerfield states that his department is now saving $1,000,000 a day, through more efficient management, and will reduce its annual loss by about $440,000,000.

COMMERCE: Secretary Weeks says he opposed the past philosophy of government "running too many enterprises in competition with private industry." From now on, he says, the Administration "aims to foster business rather than to spoon-feed business against its wishes."

AGRICULTURE: Secretary Benson states that the Administration has been developing farm policies and programs which will "carry us toward permanent farm prosperity." Past ideas, in his view, "are too restrictive, too defeatist."

LABOR: Secretary Mitchell's main point is that labor "is not a class apart." He writes, "The welfare of wage earners can and must be promoted with due regard for the national general interest."

HEALTH, EDUCATION AND WELFARE: Secretary Hobby praises the Administration's past achievements in this field, particularly in the matter of administrative improvement, and predicts that future development "will make news."

TREASURY: Secretary Humphrey states his philosophy in these words: "This nation, as the land of opportunity for the young... cannot long endure as such under the restrictive taxes which we inherited. They must be further reduced."

This is the way the top people in the government have put themselves on record. Only time can tell whether they will succeed or fail in their objectives. But the attitude in Washington now, in Administration circles, is one of quiet confidence.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

"The Victory Of The Intellectual Proletariat (The Lowest Class) in Education"

Here is the last installment of an article that appeared in the January issue of Faith and Freedom written by George B. DeLuzar of the kind of "education" the American people are getting. Under the sub-heading of "What Intellectuals-Should Not Do" he writes:

"The conformism of intellectual proletarians was never better illustrated than by their behavior during the second world war when the United States allied with the Soviet Union. In this crucial period intellectual proletarians failed to protest against the action of the government. They followed the White House leadership and vied with each other in depicting Soviet Russia and Stalin in a favorable light. 'But intellectuals are not supposed to follow trends and conform to prevailing notions; they are supposed to think independently and critically; they are supposed to search for and tell the truth. Did the intellectual proletarians do this; did they examine the record of Soviet Russia and the nature of communism, and did they tell the truth to the American people? Did they perform their duty of intellectual leadership and nonconformism by exposing the prevailing illusions regarding the Soviet Union? They did not. They drew not apart from the herd but led it on an ideological stampede toward the abyss—making possible the dismal American sell out to Stalin."

"It was the despised 'low brow'—The Chicago Tribune, the Hearst papers and the American Legion—which told the truth about the Soviet Union and warned the American people. The performance of the intellectual proletarians was such that they stand convicted before the bar of truth, convicted not necessarily of political treason, but of betrayal of independent thought, of the examination of facts, and of critical ability."

"It is the task of believers in freedom and education to demonstrate by example what education and culture really consist of, and to indulge in revolutionary action against the domination of the intellectual proletariat. For under such domination the man of independent thought, the quiet searcher after truth, and the lone disseminator are handicapped."

"We must enable each individual to exist as a person and not as a parrot and member of a pressure group; to be a cultured man by virtue of education acquired in the seclusion of the study and not conferred by so-called great centers of learning; to be an intellectual through the strenuous and often painful process of entertaining ideas instead of being called an intellectual by intellectual proletarians; to be a teacher by virtue of exercising the duties of the calling instead of being a demagogue; to be a student anxious to learn rather than a misfit and an agitator. Through such efforts it will be possible gradually to introduce scholarship into schools, intellectual content into intellectual life, and education into educational institutions."

The Citadel Is Vulnerable — "The citadel of intellectual and political conformity must be stormed. In its orthodoxy it is vulnerable despite all of its wealth and prestige. Because it has no faith in individual talent it is impotent and uncreative and is compelled to undertake larger and larger projects to hide its intellectual nudity. Someday its cliches will die not of disproof but of boredom. The citadel is also vulnerable because it shelters subversion; it shrieks because the voice of reason is not on its side, smears because the facts are not on its side, and lies because the truth is not on its side."

"If believers in freedom and education meet the challenge that confronts them, some day the American people will awaken to the fact that they were cheated when they were sold the current type of 'education' and 'culture.' They will also learn that matters of the mind and of the spirit cannot be bought by a large outlay of cash. Meantime, the present system of education and culture will prevail and will continue to bring forth its typical product—who is neither a scholar nor a citizen, who has no place either in the republic of ideas or in the Republic of the United States."

The Elephant Call

National Whirligig... John L. Lewis Holds Position Possessed By No Other Rival

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — John L. Lewis has begun to buy into railroads and coal mines because, as he says, "management and labor cannot mix in the same operation."

He also denies that he is financing capitalist friends' ventures in these fields. But the recent activity in these stocks of Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland industrialist and warm friend of the United Mine Workers' president, has stirred uneasy speculation in political and financial circles here and in New York.

Despite John L.'s denials, the two men's community of interest—both like to shake up management and labor moguls—is so strong that Lewis never has trouble in unionizing Eaton's employees in the latter's expanding empire. It persuaded a friendly Senate subcommittee to investigate the delay. It issued a scorching report, which condemned the SEC and ordered immediate action in freeing the coal company.

Now that it is free and under control of his friend from Cleveland, John L. will organize it and any coal mines owned by the Chesapeake & Ohio which have not signed up with his union.

TOPS RIVALS — In view of the Welshman's unusually cordial relations with the bosses of the United States Steel, which fixes the wage and working conditions for the coal industry by invariably accepting his demands, Lewis now enjoys an eminence possessed by no rival, including George L. Meany, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Walter Reuther, head of the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Lewis' current victories, including his tie-up with Eaton and the growth of his bank, are expected to lead him to seek further triumphs in the labor movement. He has been discussing mergers and alliances with Dave Beck, boss of the numerically powerful Teamsters, and with David L. McDonald, who succeeded the late Phil Murray as president of the steel workers.

If he can take them into camp, and both have grievances against the unions with which they are now affiliating, Lewis will regain the politico-economic influence he enjoyed during the early years of the Roosevelt era. And, again revealing his many-sidedness and versatility, he won New Deal favor and friendship because he knew more than Roosevelt and "Iron Pants" Hugh Johnson, NRA dictator, did about their intellectual hobby and specialty — the Napoleonic Wars: John L. admires the Little Corporal because the UMW president hates the British!

POLITICAL PALS — John L.'s strategy in these moves, like the current Eaton-to-Lewis double play, reveals the shrewdness and ingenuity which continue to make the UMW head such a power in union and political circles. It shows why he can afford to rebuff offers of Eisenhower friendship, since he has so many pals among politicians on Capitol Hill and "economic royalists."

When Securities and Exchange Commission lagged in forcing North American to dispose of its West Kentucky coal holdings, John L. was quick to take advantage.

The Nation's Press

THE EISENHOWER HEALTH MESSAGE. Chicago Daily Tribune.

President Eisenhower's message to Congress on the nation's health is primarily a recognition that good health is popular, politically and otherwise. He and his secretary, Mrs. Hobby, are of no mind to let the Democrats steal the ball from them on this issue.

The message disavows belief in socialized medicine, emphasizes the progress that has been made in pre-payment or insurance plans to cover hospital and doctor bills, reasserts the sound proposition that the best medical care will result from the patient having free choice of his doctor — and then offers some proposals that would put the foot of socialized medicine in the nation's door.

Mr. Eisenhower recognizes the real progress that has been made by voluntary health insurance plans, both nonprofit and commercial. He sensibly concludes that this is no field for government action, but then proposes that the government get into it by what he terms a reinsurance scheme started with federal capital, to be repaid later from premiums paid by the insured.

The purpose of this reinsurance would be to encourage existing plans to offer broader health coverage, but the exact manner in which the reinsurance fund would operate is left for later disclosure. It is reasonable to suspect that the scheme masks a subsidy. If so, the government's foot is in the door.

Altho most voluntary health and commercial insurance plans are honestly and ably administered, there are a lot of things wrong with them which their own administrators are the first to see. The principal defect is that at present they do not meet the primary function of insurance, which is to transfer from the individual to the group only the risks that would break him if, by ill luck, they fell to his lot.

Fair Enough... Trujillo Won't Take Guff From Unions Of Dominican Republic

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1954, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Ciudad Trujillo, Dominican Republic — We Americans have a mental and political habit of peering down our noses at nations which operate under one-party governments, but I tell you the so-called dictatorship of Juan Trujillo in this island fortress against Communism is much better than ours in one particular. I am thinking just now of the filthy rackets which operate in the guise of labor unions in the United States. Trujillo simply wouldn't stand for any such oppression of his people and waste of precious man-years of human energy and the material production thereof. Our government not only permits all these and the extortion of billions of dollars in dues, fees and other great, disguised as "welfare insurance," but takes its stand beside working people.

It is hard to guess what Trujillo would do to John L. Lewis, Walter Rutherford or Mike Quill. There is a temptation to guess that he would line them up and shoot them, but I have been surprised to hear from knowing Americans as well as Dominicans that that isn't his way at all. He even gave liberty and amnesty to a band of traitors who were caught in an armed invasion for purpose of shooting their way into power. To be sure, they said they were patriots bent on redeeming their beloved island from the clutch of a tyrant, but the fact is that Trujillo did have them in his fist and could have rubbed them out and let them go.

Sure, they have labor unions and if you pucker your nose at that in the puerile way of the American "Democrat," let me ask you it is any worse for a government to run the unions than for the unions to run the government? Yet recall that that Arthur H. Wicks, the lieutenant governor of New York who had called on Joe Fay in his singling prison cell, explained that he had to do this because the unions now constituted a government and realistic public officials had to do business with them. That was only a belated acknowledgment by the second-in-command of our largest state of a fact which I have been laboring since about 1938. Unions are a governing power, public officials do placate and appease them, and our people have absolutely no voice in the election of their officers or the writing of their constitutions.

The Declaration of Independence says governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed, but these evil institutions do not even pretend to consult their members on anything and their electoral systems are farcical even by Dominican standards. They govern but not by consent of the governed. Every time some gang of wharf rats in New York decides to start up our maritime commerce with a strike called by the fiat of some felonious bum with credentials from the Labor Relations Board of our national government, all our people pay for it in loss of earnings and in the suffering of our islands, and our people have absolutely no voice in the election of their officers or the writing of their constitutions.

There was a flurry in the papers the other day about a strike of sugar workers in protest against squallid housing and bad hygiene at one of the big mills. But the strike didn't come off and anyway it is not even listed as one of their members in the first place for the dual purpose of applying a little squeeze to certain American operators and to endorse itself further to the workers generally. I believe the working people of this country are overwhelmingly in favor of Trujillo's rule, simply that if there is any dissidence it exists among the educated and intellectual class.

But Trujillo has said repeatedly that this republic is too poor to waste its manpower on unnecessary ideological squabbles by racketeers or union politicians such as Reuther and Phil Murray with widening circles of suffering as non-production in one line causes stoppage in others.

One of the reasons why we are so short of living room in the United States is rackets in the industries which supply building materials. They rig prices and conspire with the union racketeers in so many bold but clever schemes that probably 30 per cent of the cost of building a house or an apartment is sheer waste, simply that.

Yet Eisenhower picked the president of the Plumbers' Union, which is one of the worst, for his secretary of Labor. And then along come Bob Moses, who forgets his knowledge when he gets a socialistic mood on, leaving the national Congress for refusing to appropriate more money for him to knock down old slums and slap together more of those reinforced concrete hives. These things, incidentally, are a bad mistake because the steel rods have proved to be sound conductors of the noise in a big building with several hundred tenants, a constant and almost unbearable.

Here is Moses not only befitting at Congress but conspiring with union bosses like Dave Dubinsky to invest union treasury funds in such housing. In the face of the plain fact that any union with money enough to invest in rental properties is collecting too much money from its subjects and the industry that it dominates, which means in the end, from the public. Well, Trujillo doesn't let anybody muscle in and take over any industry on a pretext of helping the workers, Moses, by the way, exclaimed to me just before I sailed on the S. S. Frances of the Bull Line for Puerto Rico and Domingo that Trujillo was one of the great men of the century. Of course, he doesn't endorse Trujillo's political methods but he does acclaim the results that he has wrought and Trujillo's opinion of Moses is the admiration of one great doer for another.

You may think I am at loss for something to write about, discussing American union rackets from the Dominican Republic. But the more I see of the simplicity, directness and economy of this system, the plainer it is to me that our union movement has become a cancer in our government. It will kill our republic if we don't cure it. It is a sub-government exactly as Wicks said, it is dictatorial and totalitarian in form and, worst of all, it has the government of the United States for its accomplice in crimes against the people and the very nation state.

Trujillo's wage level is low but he is raising it as fast as he can and anyway, these people have simpler needs than ours and hardly any of our expensive follies such as boozing and gambling and "entertainment," and they are largely vegetarian. Trujillo blames our State Department under Roosevelt for the high unemployment, to raise wages higher and build even more public works. They made it imperative to spend $4,000,000 in Brazil to buy war materials to defend himself against Communist aggression in the Caribbean.

The American Way — BEWARE OF WORD MONGERS By DR. ALFRED F. HAAKE

A recent press despatch announces the formation of a committee to oppose the Bricker Amendment, which would amend the Constitution to bring and hold the treaty-making powers of the President within the intent of the framers of the Constitution, and to prevent misuse of that power which was feared but not deemed possible in the pre-industrial, and relatively primitive eighteenth century era.

The committee includes some highly respected names along with a number of so-called left-wingers, liberals or neo-wingers. The list illustrates what has been demonstrated in recent years, the ease with which even intelligent people can be misled into supporting ideas and movements with which they are fundamentally in disagreement.

Harvesters Host Eagles Tonight; Bobcats Tomorrow

PHSians Begin 2nd Round In 1-4A Play

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

After five consecutive games away from home, the Hustlin' Harvesters return to the friendly surroundings of Harvester Fieldhouse tonight when they will take on the Abilene Eagles in a District 1-AAAA contest.

The game will start the second round of play in the double-round-robin 1-4A schedule for both teams. The Harvesters defeated each of the seven teams in the district in the first round while Abilene was picking up two wins against five defeats.

In the first game between the Harvesters and Eagles which was played at Abilene, Jan. 18, the Harvesters emerged with a 51-39 victory.

After tonight's game, the Harvesters will again be the hosts Saturday night when San Angelo invades Harvester Fieldhouse. San Angelo, like Abilene, finished with a 2-5 record at the completion of the first round of the double-round-robin district schedule.

The Harvesters downed San Angelo, 82-48, when the two teams met at San Angelo, Jan. 15.

San Angelo will be at Harvester tonight meeting the Borger Bulldogs. Then the Bobcats and Eagles will trade places for Saturday night, the Abileneans going to Borger and San Angelo coming to Pampa.

The two games here this weekend will benefit the current March of Dimes drive in the fight against polio. Various merchants and fans here are contributing 10 cents a point for every point the Harvesters make in the two ball games.

Anyone wishing to participate in this campaign may do so by contacting chairman of the drive, Ed Myatt, at Friendly Men's Wear.

Abilene and San Angelo met each other Tuesday in a "Points for Polio" game with more than $1,500 going into the Abilene March of Dimes fund. Each Abilene point was worth $30.30 (the Eagles scored 52 in defeating the Bobcats, 52-50).

Ash Top Eagle

Twyman Ash is the leading Abilene scorer in district play. Ash had scored 73 points in seven 1-AAAA tilts for a 10.4 average per game.

Jimmy Bond of the Harvesters is far out front in 1-AAAA scoring with 156 points in seven games.

Any one wishing to participate in this campaign may do so by contacting chairman of the drive, Ed Myatt, at Friendly Men's Wear.

Bo Winger Takes Lead With 11-Under

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Jan. 29 —UP—One of the greatest rounds in professional golfing history, an 11-under-par 61, gave stocky Bo Winger of Oklahoma City only a two-stroke lead over the field as the second round of the $25,000 $18,000 Palm Springs Thunderbird Invitational tournament got underway.

It may be that the course is easy, or that the golfers are taking advantage of exceptional weather conditions, but in any event, 26 out of the 32 professionals competing bettered par.

Last year 65 by Ben Hogan and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison led the tournament the first day. This year a Hogan-65 was good for a four-way tie for third place.

In second as the show started Friday was the old campaigner from Ardmore, Okla., Harrison, with a brilliant 63. Harrison won top money in the $10,000 Bing Crosby tournament at Pebble Beach and the $18,000 San Diego Open in the last two weeks.

Reaper, Guerilla Quints In Action

The Pampa B team Guerrillas and the Junior High Reapers will also see action today.

The Guerrillas, with a 9-9 record for the season, will meet Pollett at Mobeetie in the second round of the Mobeetie Invitational tournament. The Guerrillas drew a bye in the first round.

The Reapers will be at home against Sam Houston of Amarillo. It will be a Panhandle Junior High conference action.

Starting lineups for the Guerrillas in the Pollett game today will likely be Gene Brown and Melvin Romine, forwards; Gerald Clark, center; and Gary Green and Jimmy Enloe, guards.

For the Reapers, the starters were expected to be Dickie Mauldin, Bobby Dehis, Larry McWilliams, Tommy Murray, Billy Brown and Sam Condo.

Newcombe Due For Discharge Feb. 8

By UNITED PRESS

Big Don Newcombe, eager "to make up for lost time," learned Friday that he is in line for a salary raise from the Brooklyn Dodgers but he won't be able to sign his 1954 contract until Feb. 8.

The 27-year-old Newcombe, who will be discharged from the Army at Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio Feb. 8, paid a visit to the Dodgers office and was assured by vice-president Busby Bayant that Brooklyn intends to pay him more than the $90 a month he receives from Uncle Sam currently.

It is believed that Newcombe, who won 20 games for the Dodgers in 1951 before leaving for service, will receive a $5,000 raise for 1954, bringing his salary to about $32,000.

Immediately following his discussion with Bayant, there were reports that Newcombe agreed to terms but Bayant denied it.

Contract Not Discussed

"Newk and the club did nothing of the sort," Bayant said. "We didn't discuss his contract at all and we won't until he is discharged from military service. But Newk will certainly get a raise over his last year's contract with Uncle Sam."

Newcombe, down to 220 pounds, said that he will leave for Hot Springs, Ark., following his discharge so that he can take advantage of the baths there. Dodger catcher Roy Campanella also will be at Hot Springs with Newcombe.

Across town, the Giants announced the signing of four second line pitchers—Charlie Fowler, Pete Modica, Mario Picone and John (Windy) McCall. Modica posted a 9-5 state with Nashville of the Southern Association last season. The Yankee signed three young hopefuls, including outfielder-first baseman Elston Howard, first Negro player ever to accompany the world champions to spring training. First baseman-catcher Gus Brando and outfielder Bill Virden were the other two players to sign.

Howard batted .385 with Kansas City of the American Association in 1953. Tirados batted .368 at Birmingham, Ala., before being brought up by the Yankees last summer, and Virdon hit .317 at Birmingham.

Elsewhere in the majors, infielder Eddie Mikala, a .251 hitter in 142 games, became the 25th player to sign his 1954 contract with the Cubs while the Redlegs brought their total of signed players to 23 following the receipt of signed contracts from third baseman Bobby Adams and pitcher Jim Melton.

Pitcher Alex Kellner and rookie catcher Wilmer Shantz and Harry Minor agreed to terms with the Athletics; Shantz is the brother of southpaw Bobby Shantz, the Athletics ace pitcher.

BOBCAT FLASH — Milton Nickel, San Angelo guard, is setting a hot pace in scoring in District 1-AAAA action. Nickel, although tied for 8th with the Harvesters' Gary Griffin in 1-AAAA scoring, has the second best average per game. Nickel, who missed the first two Bobcat district games, has poured in 89 points in five games for a 17.8 average, second only to Jimmy Bond of the Harvesters with 22.3. Nickel will see action at Harvester Fieldhouse tomorrow night when the Bobcats contest the Harvesters.

Predict Doug Lewis To Be Next Oiler Manager; Announcement Forthcoming

WE SINCERELY HOPE THE Harvesters won't be in for a "let-down" this weekend following their spine-tingling overtime victory over arch rival Borger Tuesday night.

The Abilene Eagles and the San Angelo Bobcats, the Harvesters foes this week, cannot be taken lightly although the Harvesters won over both clubs in the first round of the district schedule.

Take Abilene for instance. They led the Amarillo Sandies last week at halftime and had the Sandies scared all the way through the final two periods. Amarillo pulled the game out of the fire in the final quarter and won, 50-41.

This should be proof enough that the Eagles will be no pushover by any means.

Coach Nat Gleason is in his first year with the Abilene eagles after several successful years coaching the Coleman Bluecats. Gleason had the misfortune of being in the same region with Bowie, who is virtually unbeaten as long as 6-10 Temple Tucker is in the fold, while at Coleman and thus was deprived of taking some of his Coleman teams to the state tournament.

Gleason's Eagles are getting stronger as the season progresses. Only last Tuesday night the Warbirds downed the San Angelo Bobcats, 52-50.

Kenneth Hinkle, 5-11, (55 points) and George Depee, 5-10, (24 points), guards.

Voss Cleaners Hog Lone Star Honors

Voss Cleaners hogged most of the honors in last night's Lone Star League bowling at Pampa Bowl.

The Cleaners blanked Cabot, 4-0, turned in the high team game and series and furnished the high individual bowler in both single game and series.

Maybelle Carlton of the Cleaners knocked down 180 pins for high game and Mildred Fuller, also of the Cleaners, put together three games for high series with 475.

In team play, Voss had 707 for high game and 2,071 for high series.

In other results last night, Malone's Pharmacy defeated Clyde's Pharmacy, 4-0; Team No. 8 downed Cabot Shops, 4-0; and C. A. Husted won over Eloise Beauty Shop, 3 1/2 to 1/2.

Hogs Take On 66ers At Bartlesville

The Arkansas Razorbacks travel to Bartlesville, Okla., for Friday night's only basketball game involving a Southwest Conference team.

The Hogs will meet the always potent amateur Phillips 66 quintet in a non-conference test.

A three-game card, including one title contest, was on tap Saturday night, however.

TCU - UCLA Game Changed

Everybody Can Bowl

Top Scorers Are Spot Shooters

(Ninth of 12 articles written for NEA Service)

By MARION LADEWIG
Four-Time Women's Champion

Nearly every top bowler has a spot on the alley for which he or she aims.

This doesn't mean that the bowler marks a big X on the hardwood, although the newer alleys have guide markings.

Spot bowling is simply knowing where and when your hook breaks and then going ahead and aiming the ball for that particular place.

If you throw a slow ball, your hook is going to break more quickly. With this, you spot—the exact place where the hooking motion will begin—is going to be closer to the foul line than that of a fast-ball bowler.

The person who throws those express train shots will find that it takes awhile for the ball to take the hook. That's because a fast ball doesn't grab the alley and begin breaking for some time.

A spot bowler takes these things into consideration and when he or she lets the ball go, it is aimed at the spot where it normally breaks—not at the pins. If you put your ball on the spot, the pins will be taken care of automatically.

There is no specific way of determining this in advance, if spot bowling is new to you.

Practice—using a bit of Kentucky windage to figure the distance from the gutter and how far down the alley your ball breaks—is the major item in gaining a good spot game.

There's no mystery to it. And it pays off in big scores when you master it.

Johnson Is 3-1 Choice Over Slade

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 —UP—Harold Johnson of Philadelphia, who seeks a spring title shot against light heavyweight champion Archie Moore, was a 3 to 1 favorite to brush Jimmy Slade from his path Friday night in a 10-round nationally televised and broadcast bout at St. Nicholas Arena.

Owning a string of nine straight triumphs, the 26-year-old Johnson must beat Slade, a "spoiler" from the Bronx, N.Y., to strengthen his claim for a championship bout with Moore.

McLean Sweeps 3 Games From Irish

McLEAN, Jan. 29 —(Special)

The McLean Tigers swept all three games from Shamrock in non-conference play here Thursday night.

The Tigers won the boys game, 46-35, into the night finale in preliminary games, the McLean girls A and B teams won over the Shamrock A and B lassies, while the Tigerette A team won, 33-27, while their "Little Sisters" won, 47-18.

Ricky Mantooth and Jim Farren shared scoring honors for the McLean boys, each with 12 points. Perkins was high for Shamrock and the game with 15.

McLean led quarterly, 14-12, 22-14, 34-24 and 46-35.

In the girls A game, the Tigerettes were paced by Mavis Medley with 17 points. Julia Hoimes was high for the Shamrock girls with seven points.

The McLean girls held slight leads at the end of each quarter, 8-7, 21-19, 27-25 and 33-27.

The Tigerettes will participate in the tournament at Mobeetie this weekend while next on tap for the boys will be Feb. 2 when they host the Lefors Pirates.

Caruthers To Phils

DALLAS, Jan. 29 —UP—Johnny Caruthers, who quit Southern Methodist to play professional baseball, has joined the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Dallas Times-Herald said Caruthers got a "fair bonus" and was signed to play with Terre Haute, Ind., in the Three-I League.
