Second Woman On Best-Dressed List Says Women Wear Skirts Too Long

By GAY PAULEY
NEW YORK—Mrs. Winston Guest, famous for her fashion know-how, also has definite ideas about makeup and figure care. A beauty as well as a fashion plate, Mrs. Guest says women eat too much, drink too much, wear their skirts too long, and are swayed too much by fads. Mrs. Guest, wife of the socially prominent polo player and aviator figure, is blonde and willowy. She is five feet, six and one-half inches tall, and weighs 118 pounds. She keeps her figure by one routine—plenty of outdoor exercise and little of the fattening and rich foods.

A Women Keenly Observes Husband-And-Wife Nature

By RUTH MILLETT
A woman observes: If a woman doesn't get along with one of her neighbors, maybe her neighbor is at fault. But if she doesn't get along with two or more of her neighbors, don't buy the house next door to her. The kind of woman to go shopping with is the one who can be counted on to glance at the price tag before agreeing with the saleswoman that you simply must have a certain dress or hat. When a husband tells his wife not to go to any trouble for guests he really means, "Be sure to have everything under control before I get home from work." A man is lucky if his wife buys the $29.95 dress she can afford instead of the $69.95 dress she yearned for. But he's even luckier if she doesn't even tell him about the one she couldn't afford. The safest husband is the one who is used to hearing at home that he is wonderful. A man may take good housekeeping for granted, but he never takes poor housekeeping in the same spirit. It's a terrible thing for a woman to get so angry at her husband she refuses to speak to him. It's so hard on her. A man whose wife doesn't comment on his haircut feels just as neglected as the woman whose husband doesn't notice that she is wearing a new hat. The best homemakers aren't the ones who save the best of everything for company. It always annoys a woman to have her husband guess another woman's age as younger than she is.

DANCE DATE

Dear Grace
I am 18 and a senior in high school but my father will not let me drive our family car. He says that he can't afford the extra insurance.
My problem is that I want to ask a girl to go to a dance with me. I wonder if I should do it when I don't have any way to drive her. As a matter of fact she doesn't live very far away from the place the dance will be but I don't think it looks right for a boy my age to ask her to walk.
I thought maybe you would have a good solution.
Jack
Surely you have a friend who has a car with whom you could go to the dance. Check around and find out which friend has a date for the dance and ask if he would mind picking you and your date up to.
To repay him when it comes time to buy refreshments on the way home, pick up the check.
If you don't find a friend, ask her anyhow and explain that she may have to walk the few blocks. I imagine she would rather walk to the dance than stay home and miss it altogether. Most girls are good sports when they understand the situation and I am sure yours will be too.

Harvesters Choke Off Borger, 59-50

Overtime Session Decides Thriller

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

BORGER, Jan. 27 — Borger's Bulldogs put up a game scrap to snap the Harvesters' long winning streak here last night but the Greens and Golders from Pampa choked off their efforts, and thus registered their 45th straight victory in an overtime thriller, 59-50.

The win gave the Harvesters a clean sweep of the first round of play in the District I-AAAA schedule, Pampa thus retained its district lead with a 7-0 record, followed by Amarillo with 6-1 and Borger with 5-2.

For the season, the Harvesters racked up their 17th win in as many starts.

The Bulldogs threw a tremendous score into the Harvesters in the overtime session when they rallied in the last second of play in the regulation play to tie the game up at 52-52. Little Johnny Baskin, reserve guard, intercepted a bad Harvester pass with five seconds to go and dribbled the full length of the court for a crisp shot to deadlock the count and send the game into overtime. The buzzer sounded to end the game as the ball dropped through the net.

But Coach Clifton McNeely's charges pulled themselves together in the overtime session and were never held pressed during the three-minute extra session. E. Jay McVain put the Harvesters ahead for good in the opening 10 seconds of the overtime with a field goal.

Griffin Boasts Lead

Borger failed to score after bringing the ball in as Gary Griffin boosted the Harvester lead to four points halfway through the extra period with a pair of gratis tosses. Then seconds later, McVain was awarded two free tosses and made them both for a 58-52 Harvester lead which served up the contest.

Leon Williamson and Allen Simpson each hit two free shots for Borger to conclude the Bulldog scoring. Ken Hinkle added the 59th point for the Harvesters with a free shot that gave the PHSIans 59-54 lead at the time.

Simpson was the game's leading scorer with 19 points. Simpson scored 11 points in the first quarter when he hit his first five field goal attempts. But Simpson cooled down in the first period to add two points in the second quarter and after getting six in the third, he was held scoreless in the final period when the going got rough.

The Harvester scoring was equally divided. Griffin was the top scorer for the winners with 16 points followed by McVain with 14 and Jimmy Bond with 12. Bond, although cold in his shooting, was a thorn in Borger's side with his rebound play.

Ken Hinkle, junior guard for the Harvesters, turned in his best game since the season with a 10-point performance. George Depepe, also playing a fine game, tossed in seven points to round out the Harvester scoring.

Coach Clifton McNeely of the Harvesters used the above boys throughout the game. Three Harvesters, McVain, Griffin, and Bond were on the verge of fouling out, each charged with four personal fouls.

Borger gave the capacity house a lot to cheer about in first quarter when they jumped into a 6-1 lead at the outset. The Bulldogs later went ahead 14-8 but the Harvesters closed the gap to 16-12 at the first quarter mark.

The Harvesters then hit their stride in the second period to outscore the Bulldogs 17-9 and take a 29-25 halftime lead. The Greens and Golders led 29-23 late in the second period but the Bulldogs cut it to 29-25 on a long one hander by Gerald Myers.

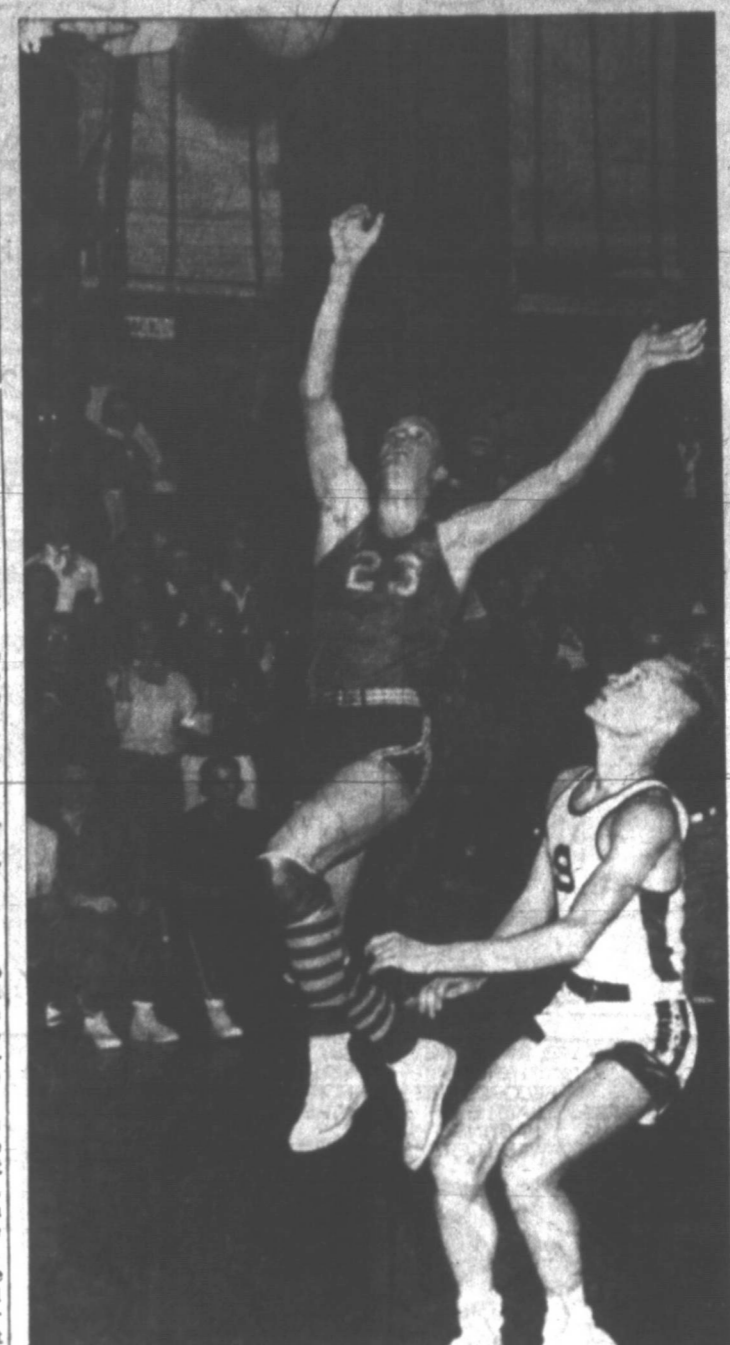

Borger passed the Harvesters briefly in the third, 35-37, but once again the Harvesters came right back and assumed the lead, 36-35, on two free tosses by McVain and a field goal by Griffin, as the third quarter ended.

Borger never caught up with the Harvesters again until the final second when they dribbled under for a crisp to knot the score at 52-52. The Harvesters led 51-46 with a minute left but the Bulldogs rallied to draw even.

However, the screaming through was silenced during the overtime period except for the 100-student cheering section from Pampa as the Harvesters controlled the entire overtime period.

The Harvesters hit 18 of 36 field goal attempts for 50 per cent while Borger made 20 of 54 for 37 per cent.

The Harvesters will meet Abilene Friday night and San Angelo Saturday night, both games at Harvester Fieldhouse, in their next action.

'Siki' Sikes Named Coach At East Texas

COMMERCE, Tex., Jan. 27—J. V. (Siki) Sikes will come back to Texas next Monday to become head football coach at East Texas State, where he was the longest current unbeaten string in college football.

Sikes, who quit as head coach at Kansas University at the end of the 1952 season, accepted the East Texas coaching post Tuesday. He replaces Milburn (Cattfish) Smith, who stepped down after three years to Coach Longview, Tex., high school.

Under Smith, the East Texas Lions rolled up a string of 29 straight wins. That streak was broken by a 7-7 tie with Arkansas State on the Tangerine Bowl Jan. 1.

It will be Sikes' second coaching stint at East Texas, for he was basketball mentor and football line coach here from 1931 to 1934.

Sikes was offered the East Texas job when college officials located him in Dallas, enroute to College Station, Tex., where he was to be interviewed for the coaching vacancy at his alma mater, Texas A&M College.

He accepted immediately and asked that Texas A&M officials not consider his application any further for that job.

Sikes' six-year tenure at Kansas produced 35 victories and 25 defeats, but he had only one losing season. He drew alumni fire, however, because his teams never won the Big Seven Conference football title.

Two Pampanos Fight, Lose, In Regional GG Opener

By WALT SWITZER
Pampa News Staff Writer

AMARILLO, Jan. 27 — "A good beginning makes for a good ending," the old story goes.

Pampa Golden Gloves officials are hoping that holds true in the current regional tournament now being held in the Fair Grounds coliseum in Amarillo.

Only two Pampanos, Gary Wilhelm and Russell Morrow, fought on Tuesday night's opening card. Another Gray County lad, Arthur Vineyard, McLean, also saw action. All three lost their matches.

The majority of the huge crowd that saw the fights voiced their objection to the decision following the McLean lad's bout with Tommy Crutchfield, Amarillo, in no uncertain terms.

At the opening bell Vineyard charged at his opponent, throwing rights and lefts that hit their mark consistently throughout the initial round. Both boys came back in the second stanza and battled on fairly equal terms, but in the third round, in this writer's opinion, Vineyard held the edge over Crutchfield. However, the judges and referee thought otherwise.

The opening bout on the 21-fight card saw Wilhelm of the Pampa Boys Club drop a decision to Leroy Hernandez, Amarillo. This was in the 105-pound division.

In the 145-pound class, Jerry Argovitz, Borger, won a decision over Russell Morrow, Pampa, decision.

Tommy Crutchfield, Amarillo, over Arthur Vineyard, McLean, decision.

TWINBILL SET AT 7:15 Trotters Make Second Pampa Appearance At Fieldhouse

Fans attending the huge basketball show at Harvester Fieldhouse tonight when the fabulous Harlem Globetrotters appear with the House of David, Kansas City Monarchs and Hawaiian Surf Riders, know they are in for a dazzling exhibition of comedy as well as playing finesse by the professional wisards.

The mirth-provoking stunts, along with the brilliant ball handling and passing of the Trotters, has come to be an integral part of their appearances, and are, in a large way, responsible for the team's tremendous drawing power.

More by accident than design came these comedy diodes.

Back in the early days, the Globetrotters carried only five players, in contrast to their present large squad. Owner-Coach Abe Saperstein accompanied the team in the varied role of owner, coach, business manager, trainer and general handy man. In addition, he served as the team's lone substitute.

Playing games against strong, rugged home squads eager for an upset victory over the famed quintet, plus the arduous schedule calling for games every night (sometimes twice in a day) and traveling through blustery winter weather, began to wear down the Globetrotter players too early in their season.

Saperstein, in an attempt to slow down the pace of play in a game, started injecting more ball-handling and the comedy antics once a good Trotter lead was established. The move was highly successful. Not only were the Harlemites given a "breather," but the fans got a terrific kick out of the proceedings and even the opposing teams slowed down to watch the fun.

The new ingredients remained with the Globetrotters through the years as their trademark of "the team that's different."

NCAA May Bar Kentucky Five

LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 27 — UP — The University of Kentucky sought anxiously Wednesday for an official NCAA ruling as to whether the three top basketball stars of the team can compete in the NCAA's post-season title tournament.

The three — Cliff Hagan, Frank Ramsey, and Lou Tioropoulos — are threatened by an NCAA rule which says that a player is not eligible to play in the tournament if he has finished sufficient work for a degree.

The six-foot, five-inch Tioropoulos received his degree last August after taking a summer course.

Hagan and Ramsey are now taking examinations and passing them would give them all the credits they need for degrees.

But all three still have eligibility left under Southeastern Conference rules, which say only that an athlete can compete no more than four years within a five-year period.

In Philadelphia, executive secretary Walt Byers of the NCAA would not comment on the situation except to say that "the eligibility committee will check on all players before the tournament."

Byers' statement was interpreted by some to mean that the NCAA won't look into the situation at all unless and until Kentucky qualifies for the NCAA tournament by first winning the Southeastern Conference championship.

Two of the three stars could be a death blow to coach Adolph Rupp's hopes of winning the NCAA championship in retribution for that suspension.

Moore Risks Title Against Joey Maxim

By JACK CUDDY
MIAMI, Jan. 27 — UP — Light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore, menaced by age and beset by wife-trouble, again risks his crown against dangerous Joey Maxim Wednesday night at Miami Stadium.

Their third title fight was expected to attract more than 20,000 fans and $100,000 because the bout "really caught on" during the past week, according to co-promoters Jim Norris and Maj. W. H. Peeples.

Bill Introduced To Outlaw Reserve Clause

ALBANY, N.Y., Jan. 27 — UP — A bill designed to outlaw the reserve clause in baseball and foot ball contracts was introduced in the state legislature Wednesday by Democratic Sen. Alfred E. Santangelo and Julius A. Archibald.

The lawmakers charged that the current general business law has resulted in a state of peonage being foisted on the backs of the professional ball players because an employer can junk a player but an athlete cannot junk an employer when he desires to do so.

"Players have the choice of either working for an unco-operative employer or retiring from their vocation and trade," the senators said.

Orioles Release Satchel Paige

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 27 — UP — The ancient, fabulous Leroy (Satchel) Paige apparently came to the end of the major-league trail view of his long service to baseball with the Baltimore Orioles of the American League.

Paige "doesn't fit into our plans of rebuilding a young ball club," General Manager Art Ebers of the Orioles announced regretfully. "We decided to release him outright in view of his long service to baseball in order to give him an opportunity to play elsewhere."

Baseball men, however, expressed strong doubts that the venerable Negro star, whose age is strictly anybody's guess, but is reckoned to be about 47, will be able to latch on with another major-league team.

Smokes Is Gone

For one thing, the smoke was gone from the famous right-hander's "fast one" last season as he worked only 117 innings and lost three times as many games as he won — winning three and losing nine. For another, Paige would command a mighty high salary for a man with only three wins last year — his 1953 pay was estimated at $25,000.

Paige was not immediately available for comment on his future plans. His family in Kansas City said he was "off in Missouri for Kansas somewhere" and wasn't expected back for some time. But Paige said recently, if he couldn't stay in the majors, he didn't want to go to the minors.

Paige's overall major-league record, compiled in the fading years of his long and brilliant career, stands at 28 victories and 13 defeats. In 1948 he had a 6-1 record and a 2.47 earned run average. In 1949, he had a 4-7 record and went back to the Negro leagues in 1950. In 1951, he joined the St. Louis Browns, had a 7-4 record that year and 12-10 in 1952.

On other fronts:

The Philadelphia Phillies announced the signing of pitchers Murry Dickson and Tom Casagrande bringing their contented list to 14. Dickson, obtained in a recent deal with the Pittsburgh Pirates, had a 10-19 record in 1953 but is expected to be the Phillies' fourth starting pitcher. Casagrande had a 16-7 record with Schenectady.

Judo Popular In Washington

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—UP—A popular sport in the nation's capital now is judo. That's legalized mayhem, barefoot.
A check reveals that no member of the flabby set in Congress is active in this throw-'em-over-your-shoulder sport, or members of the diplomatic corps either. But the tough and young seem to be going for it.
The other night at the Jewish Community Center the strong and ready went for the sport in a rather large way in an amateur tournament sponsored by the district AAU committee.
The Amateur Judo Association of the United States, describes judo like this: "An exercise, a sport, a system of self-defense, a physical, moral and ethical code. It has for its object health, spiritual, mental and physical training. It develops poise; co-ordination substitutes for brute strength. It is a system of sound psychology, based on the assumption that the whole body thinks."
And it's gentle.
"We ought to remind the unthinking public that judo also means 'the gentle way.'"
The prime promoter in the capital section, it seems, is Marine Maj. Donn Draeger, who works presently at the Pentagon with the Inter-Pan-American defense board.
The major is a native of Milwaukee where as a kid of eight he bumped a Japanese. The Japanese bumped him back, judo-style. His new friend taught him judo.
Draeger grew up to teach the sport himself. Presently, on his own time he teaches seven classes a week, without pay. Most of them are kids, 10 and 11.
"Judo," he says, "is more than throwing another fellow around and busting his neck or back—although this can be done in the heat of war, legally. We don't teach the kids that sort of stuff, though. We look upon judo as a combined training of mind and body."
Draeger says that a trained judo man could lick a professional wrestler any time.
"We know how to fall, too," he says.
I'll have to disagree that the "whole body thinks" and that judo means "the gentle way."
Some time back I went to Marine headquarters here to take a judo lesson. No part of my body was thinking and nothing about the sport was gentle.
First they dressed me in something that crossed between granddad's nightgown and a kimono. Our session was on a soft-ball field.
"Ready?"
"Ready." I guessed I was. We were standing at home base. He had promised to take it easy for pictures. Next thing I knew, I was over his shoulder (he was a little guy) and finally landed like a drag bunt, somewhere, near third base. Maj. Draeger is an honest man. He doesn't believe that judo ever will replace baseball or even beanbag tossing as a national sport.

South Texas Jury May Call Sheriff

ALICE, Tex., Jan. 27.—UP—A Jim Wells county grand jury investigating the latest incident involving the Parr family was expected to call Duval county Sheriff Archer Parr for testimony Wednesday.
The panel was closed for 40 minutes Tuesday with the sheriff's uncle, the widely known and wealthy "Duke of Duval," political boss George Parr.
In the meantime, it appeared that George Parr had picked up surprise support in his contention that it was a pair of binoculars and not a pistol he brandished at a meeting of the anti-Parr "Freedom Party" a week ago last Saturday.

Reds' Threat Of Bloc Seen

By PHIL NEWBOM
United Press Foreign Analyst
Russian Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov talks indeed with a forked tongue.
The first day of the Berlin four-power foreign ministers' conference provided several noteworthy examples of the Communists' ability to call black white and white black. But a classic was Molotov's threat that United States and West European insistence on a European army "may lead" to creation of an Eastern military bloc.
Such a bloc has, in fact, long been in existence.
It was steadily building Communist military might and insolence which finally led to the North Atlantic Treaty.
Steady Building
It was the knowledge that Russia steadily is building the military strength of its European satellites that led Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther to warn recently there is no prize for second place in the grim tug of war between Communists and the free nations.
U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles gave it the final line when he told the foreign ministers in answer to Molotov that Korea proved the United Nations charter "did not constitute any absolute guarantee against armed aggression."
"The free nations realized," he said, "their insecurity if they remained disarmed and disunited in the face of a powerful military bloc combining the resources of 800 million people."
It was a direct reference to Russia and Red China.
Here is a general outline of what the West knows about the Eastern military bloc which Molotov says Russia might have to "create" but which already is in existence.
Russia has a closely knit network of political and military treaties with Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria, Albania, and, to a lesser extent, with East Germany.
Satellite armies are trained according to Russian army rules, in many cases are commanded by Soviet officers and receive much of their equipment from Moscow.
A Top Commander
For example, Poland's armies are controlled by Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, who, next to Marshal Grigori Zhukov, was rated the Soviet Union's most brilliant general in World War II.
Polish airmen are as familiar with the Russian MIG jet fighter as are Soviet pilots.
Hundreds of young military student officers from Czechoslovakia, Romania and Poland walk the streets of Moscow.
Soviet control is increased further by the presence of Russian troops in the Balkan nations between the Soviet Union and occupied Austria.
Western sources place the number of men in the satellite armies of Eastern Europe at between 1.2 million and 1.5 million organized in between 80 and 90 divisions. They have been reorganized in recent months and are steadily equipped with more up to date weapons, including jet fighters and tanks of Soviet make.

First Aid Class To Meet Tonight

The advanced first aid class, sponsored by Pampa's Red Cross chapter, will meet at 7 p.m. today in the Red Cross office for its second meeting, according to Mrs. F. W. Showell, chapter secretary.
Miss Jane Lightfoot is teaching the class which will meet each Monday and Wednesday evening for three weeks. The course is to prepare persons for the first aid instructors' course which will be taught the first week in March. Anyone interested in becoming a first aid instructor and who has a standard first aid certificate may join this evening's class, Mrs. Showell advised. However, the course will be closed from then on.
Those who enrolled in Monday's class include Mrs. R. D. Morris, Mrs. Bob Andia, Mrs. Ben Graham, S. J. Meador and C. R. Tooker, all of Pampa; and Larry Fuller from McLean.

Doctor Collects Pet Peeves

NEWARK, N. J.—UP—Dr. Milton Bell collects the "pet peeves" husbands and wives harbor against each other the way some people collect Stradivarius violins.
Bell, a resident of Teaneck, N. J., has found that there apparently are more "Strads" (about 70) than there are gripes about marital harmony.
Bell is a founder of the Husbands' Protective Association which observes its first anniversary this month. One of the organization's first protective measures was to set up a Wives Protective Association among spouses of its members.
Only 37 Gripes?
Bell and his colleagues set out to collect all the husband-wife pet peeves they could find with the idea of eventually publishing them.
A booklet, they felt, would point up the petty matters that cause family rifts and would start folks laughing at their own shortcomings. They figured on at least 200 gripes. But so far, they've been able to unearth only 37.
Some of the peeves on record include:
1. Husband's cigar ashes on the living room floor.
2. Wife's knack of hiding her husband's important papers just when he needs them most.
3. Husband's ability to disappear whenever there is work to be done around the house.
4. Father's aversion to baby-sitting.
5. Husbandly objections to having the mother-in-law over to spend the summer.
Member Is Victim
To kick off the campaign to collect the peeves, Dr. Bell appeared as a guest on three network radio shows and enlisted several top entertainers into the husbands' group.
Later the distasteful side was represented on one of these shows by Mrs. Thelma Specter, a founder of the wives' organization.
A few weeks ago, Joan Davis, screen and television star, enlisted her TV show associate, Jim Backus, into the husbands' group.
And Harold Gold, charter member of the men's group, reinforced his own membership by losing in another pet peeve. He couldn't find any copies of the 37 peeves to give to a reporter. His wife cleaned out his desk recently.

Easy Life Ahead... Hank Would Like To Swap His Head For A Thinking Machine

By HENRY McLEMORE
To swap: One head, 1954 model, standard equipment, one owner, roomy interior, for an electronic thinking machine, size 6 and 3/4ths.
I'm likely to run such an ad in the Classifieds if Dr. Vannevar Bush is right in his belief that it won't be too long before machines will be doing all the run-of-the-mill thinking for human beings.
And Dr. Bush, just about the smartest man in the country, usually is as right as a hug on a honeymoon—and apt in a pin. He says we already have machines which can do almost anything, including remember and learn by experience.
Naturally, I'd hate to part with my head. It's been sitting up there on top of my neck for as long as I can remember, and together we have had a lot of fun. But a lot of grief, too. All things considered, I am not too sure that most men wouldn't be better off without a head.
When I look back on the misery my head has gotten me into, it's a wonder I ever bought it a hat to wear in the winter, or combed its hair so it would look better. I'm surprised I just haven't let it get rained and snowed upon or go about looking like an untidy mop.
It has been getting me into trouble all my life. It was my head, not me, which insisted on smoking a cigar when the two of us were only four, and it was to blame for the placing of sneeze and itch powder in the grammar school hot air vents, thus setting back my education a full year.
I could go on in this unhappy vein for pages, but that's enough to show that by swapping it for a thinking machine I wouldn't be too ungrateful.
Just think of how nice it would be to have a machine to do all your thinking about all the things that a man has to think about today. (A quick check shows that the preceding broke the American record for thinks in one paragraph.) The high cost of living, for one. All you'd have to do would be to get up in the morning, squirt a few drops of oil in what serves the machine for ears, plug it in, and start feeding it—memos marked
