HELD IN CANADA Ambush Witness Returns To U. S.

DETROIT, Jan. 13—UP—Donald Ritchie, key witness in the ambush shooting of union leader Walter Reuther six years ago, agreed Wednesday to return to the United States shortly after returning to Canadian police. Police Inspector Paul Slack announced Wednesday, Ritchie, who fled "protective custody" in Detroit last Friday gave himself up at an all-night barbecue on the main street of Preston, Ontario, shortly after Canadian authorities arrested his common-law wife, Betty, apparently following the couple's "getaway" rendezvous.

BOY, YOU'LL BE SPOILED - Carl Dean Bright, born last month to Mr. and Mrs. William E. Bright, Jr., of Memphis, Tenn., is starting 1954 off with real distinction. There are five living generations on his mother's side of the family and four on his father's side. His father, a 19-year-old clerk, eloped with Mrs. Bright when she was in junior high school.

Police Seek Rapist Here

A 21-year-old Pampa woman was beaten and raped in her home here early today, according to Chief of Police Jim Conner.

The woman told police that at about 2:30 a.m. she heard a knock at the front door of her modest three-room home in the 500 block of S. Faulkner. She said she told the man to go away, but that when she heard the knock a second time she told him that she was going to call the police if he didn't go away.

Conner said that as the woman tried to call the police the man broke through the door and entered the house. She stated her attacker, wore what she thought was some kind of sack over his head, came into her bedroom. She tried to fight him off, but he kept beating, scratching and choking

President Sticks By His Guns On Farm Price Plan

Defends Program Despite Protests

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—UP—President Eisenhower Wednesday defended his farm program against charges that it is not politically feasible and left it up to Congress to decide whether government-conducted secret strike votes should be held before or during a strike.

Mr. Eisenhower devoted much of a news conference to a discussion of his 1954 legislative program. Generally speaking, he said, his messages to Congress tried to set forth principles rather than to diagram the exact manner in which Congress should go about achieving these goals.

Negotiators Will Resume Peace Talks

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—UP—The Communists agreed Wednesday to put the stalled Korean peace conference machinery in motion again but accused the Allies of "threatening the peace."

Red authorities accepted an Allied invitation to bring liaison officers of both sides together at 11 a.m. Thursday (8 p.m. est Wednesday) to arrange a reopening of negotiations.

U. S. State Department Far East spokesman Arthur H. Dean said the Communists had agreed to meet Thursday to "agree to a date" for resuming the talks which UN negotiator Arthur H. Dean broke off on Dec. 31.

FLAYS RIGID PROPS Benson Supports Farm Price Plan

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Jan. 13—UP—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson said Wednesday the present farm program has had "every possible chance to prove itself" but has demonstrated "it does not have the answer to agriculture's problems."

In a strong appeal for the flexible farm price support plan recommended by President Eisenhower, Benson said the "real defects" of the rigid, high price props on basic farm commodities are just now beginning to show up.

U.S. TO BASE DEFENSE ON SURPRISE WARFARE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—UP—President Eisenhower said Wednesday this country's new defense plan of swift retaliation against aggression is based on surprise warfare—hitting back when and where the enemy does not expect it.

Actually, Mr. Eisenhower told a news conference, there is really nothing very new about the concept, outlined by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in a speech Tuesday night before the Council on Foreign Affairs in New York.

Cold Spell Relief Seen

Some slight relief from the cold weather that has prevailed here for the past few days apparently is in sight, according to the weather forecast for the Pampa area.

Fight Stalls Cotton Bills

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—UP—A dispute between House and Senate conferees Wednesday threatened to stall final congressional approval of legislation to relax government curbs in this year's cotton plantings.

The Senate voted late Tuesday to boost the 1954 national allotment to 21,379,842 acres, more than a million acres less than the House approved last year in a bill calling for a 22.5 million acre allotment. The differences must be resolved by a House-Senate conference committee.

State Thaws Out After Bitter Cold

Rain or freezing rain fell over much of Central and South Texas Wednesday but forecasters said the state will begin warming during the day and the rains should end by Wednesday night.

At mid-morning freezing rain was reported at Fort Worth, Dallas, Abilene, Wichita Falls, Waco and Midland. Temperature was above freezing and rain was falling over most of the state south of those places.

LONG BEACH, Calif., Jan. 12—UP—A father and his infant son lay near death Wednesday with critical burns suffered when an F-86 Sabrejet screamed out of leaden skies, smashed through four houses and killed six persons.

Predict Approval Of Seaway Project

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (UP)—The Senate Wednesday took up the controversial St. Lawrence seaway bill and a Republican leader cautiously predicted the measure would at long last be approved. Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland called up the bill for debate and said "I would think it will have enough votes to pass." He predicted the Senate debate would last "five days to a week" but said this was only a guess.

The measure is designed to open Great Lakes ports to ocean-going vessels at an estimated cost of $105 million. The measure is opposed by east and gulf port spokesmen, coal groups and railroads. The way was cleared for consideration of the seaway bill late Tuesday when the Senate approved legislation to boost this year's national cotton allotment by about 3.5 million acres. The cotton measure, which goes to a House-Senate conference committee, was the first major bill to clear either House during the new session.

Other congressional developments included: The House Ways and Means committee went to work on a tax revision bill which Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.) said would eliminate "inequities and unnecessary hardships" for all classes of taxpayers. The measure would provide $1.5 billion in tax relief.

Weather Hampers Barn Construction

The county dual-purpose barn, now being built in Recreation Park, is still scheduled to be finished this week despite recent snows which have hampered work on the job.

Paul Camp, representative of Wee-Tex Construction Company, contractor for the job, late this morning said Arno Steen, contractor, Houston, the subcontractor, was right "on schedule."

Deadline on the job is Jan. 20, exactly one week from today. But Camp has said in the past they'd make it "easy."

James Cowan, city director of public works, this morning said that E. S. Lowry, water and sewer superintendent, and his crew were currently installing a water and sewer line to service the barn and would finish prior to the top of Texas livestock shows, slated Jan. 25-27 at that site.

The sewer line will be 1,750 feet long. The water line will be a short cut. Part of the deal between the City of Pampa and Gray County was that the city would put in those two services.

Work on the job, Cowan said, has been slowed somewhat by the weather and the city's ditching machine, but "we'll make it."

Ex-Commie On Stand

EL PASO, Tex., Jan. 13 (UP)—An admitted ex-Communist was called back to the stand Wednesday as the government continued its efforts to prove labor leader Clinton E. Jencks lied when he signed an affidavit in 1940 that he was a Communist.

Jencks, 35, an international representative of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union (I.M.S.W.U.), was charged with false swearing in the Taft-Hartley affidavit he filed while he was president of the Mine-Mill local at Bayard, N.M.

The former Red was Edward James Currie, a Denver, Colo., printer. He testified Tuesday that Jencks was a member of the Communist party with him in 1946. Currie said they attended several Communist party meetings that year in the home of Arthur Barry, who he identified as Communist chairman for Colorado.

Currie's testimony was attacked by Jencks' attorney, John McTernan of Los Angeles. He said it was outlawed by the statute of limitations.

"If Jencks was a party member (then)," said McTernan, "it has nothing to do with the charges now pending since his alleged membership occurred in 1946. Many other persons were in the party then, since it was the trend of the times, but they have since left."

Currie said he joined the Communist party in 1938, dropped out in 1943 when he went into the Army and rejoined briefly in 1946. He said he now worked for the Denver Catholic Register and has "completely dropped" his communist membership and affiliations.

The printer said Jencks was chairman of the Denver chapter of the American Veterans Committee, and the meetings dealt with Red plans to infiltrate veterans organizations.

"Eight or nine known Communists were at the meeting in Barry's home in April, 1946," he testified. Barry delivered a report that it was essential for World War II veterans to get into other veterans organizations to further the aims of the Communist party.

Chief Conner said that no clues have been found that would lead to the identity of the man.

Improvement Seen In Job Situation

Though the wind was howling outside his office today, the American Dairy Association's employment commission manager, could see the bright side of the Pampa employment situation.

"It's better than it has been," he said, pointing out that those who do "professional odd jobs" and short-term outside labor are better off this winter than last—the weather got worse later this time.

No doubt about it, Ragdale said, the cold weather "has a very definite effect on outside work." But, taking a look ahead toward spring, the local TEC manager could see two or three construction jobs coming up.

"If these get started, we'll be pretty fair off." An estimated 10 jobs were on tap in Ragdale's office late this morning, just about the number that was processed last week. The number of claims being handled, though increasing for a while, is now "levelling off," the TEC chief commented.

Andrews Seeking His Third Term

Justice of the Peace John V. Andrews, late this morning announced that he would seek a third term of office.

Before taking his present post as Justice of the Peace, Andrews had been county Democratic chairman, Pampa police chief, city tax assessor, collector, streets superintendent, even city marshal (police chief before Pampa had the city commission form of government).

"I defy anyone to say that I have not tended to my office—day and night," Andrews said this morning, pointing out that he would make formal announcement of his candidacy and would file at a later date.

A resident of Gray County since 1915, Andrews worked on a ranch north of town before entering politics. He lives at 907 E. Browning, is married and has a daughter, Mrs. Anita Hight, Denver, Colo., and a grandson, Harry Lee, who will be 3 in April.

And he's "done more barbecues" in Gray County than any other two men.

Business Off In Nightclubs

By HAROLD FOREMAN
DENVER, Jan. 13.—UP—The nightclub business is off 35 per cent from a year ago, and Billboard, the authority for that statement, hints that the situation is likely to get worse before it gets better.

Billboard, long the bible of vaudeville and nightclub performers, blames the skidding situation on television, the wide movie screen, and the fact that "people who made a buck the easy way during the war" are now finding they need their money for every day living expenses.

But Billboard admits that "big names" are drawing higher salaries than ever before, and adds that the bulk of the nightclubs around the nation still in business are featuring strip acts.

Put together a "big name" and a strip act then and it should add up to business for both the nightclub and the stripper.

It does, according to stripper Evelyn West, whose audience gets a generous view of her 30 1/2 inch bosom which made her a "big name" in the nightclub business.

"You can say for me," Evelyn said, "that I've never had it so good since the advent of television and the wide movie screen. People still want to see what's forbidden on TV and in the movies. I'm packing them in wherever I go." Denver nightclub owner Warren St. Thomas agreed with Miss West. St. Thomas employs 30 girls, three of them strippers, and even his scantily-clad waitresses outdo the attractions at many a nightclub.

"When I bring in a big name stripper, the place is packed. I'll have big name strippers in here most of the time," he said.

Billboard injected one note of optimism in the nightclub situation: "It is quite possible that, as the wide-screen use becomes general, competition will be evened out and performers in the flesh will again be in demand." That is, performers who leave their clothes on.

Right now, at least in Denver and other cities of the West and Southwest, the scantily-clad gal with the "big name" seems to be the one in demand in nightclubs. Even Mariene Dietrich is doing a modified strip in Las Vegas—at $50,000 a week.

NFIP Will Select Counties For Tests

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—UP—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said Wednesday it has made no decision yet as to which of the nation's counties will be selected for a test of the new polio vaccine this year.

A foundation spokesman said names of the counties would be made public as soon as possible after their selection. An advisory committee has received recommendations from state health officers, who will be responsible for administration of the "validity trial" of the vaccine.

The committee is still studying scientific data to insure that the 500,000 to 1,000,000 second-graders involved will represent a proper scientific sample for the test.

Five Requirements
Five criteria have been set up for selection of the sample, which is expected to include children in every state of the union. They are:

1. That the county show a high polio incidence rate in the five years 1948-1952.
2. That the county had a high epidemic rate during those years in the June to September period.
3. That it showed a high attack rate in the second grade age group — six to eight.
4. Adequate health facilities within the county to handle the inoculations.
5. Social and economic conditions, population by age, urban or rural economy and geographical location to provide a significant cross-section of the general population.

A foundation spokesman said it was not possible to say how many counties would be selected since the sample sought is figured. Dr. Hart Van Riper, medical director of the foundation, said geographic area. As estimates of the selection of a sample which would provide "significant results" in the test, and it must be the "first consideration" was expected they would include in deciding which counties will be selected.

"Since the validity trials are the culmination of long years of research," Van Riper said, "they must be conducted according to the most objective scientific standards."

"To do otherwise would destroy their purpose and break faith with the scientists and the American people, who have made them possible."

Methodists Hold Workers' School

Pampa's First Methodist Church will hold a general church school workers' covered dish supper at 7 p.m. today in the Fellowship Hall. Main speaker of the evening will be Rev. Charles Lutrick, executive secretary of the North-west Texas Conference Board of Education, who will present information on new literature and new organization in the Methodist Church.

Joe L. Wells, general church school superintendent, will be in charge of the event. In addition to the guest speaker, several church school divisional heads will give short talks on plans for the church attendance crusade which began this month and will last until Easter.

Cold Water Plan

PARIS, Jan. 13.—UP—The National Economic Council was shocked Wednesday by a doctor's charge that the average Frenchman drinks nearly 12 gallons of pure alcohol a year.

Dr. Etienne May, in a "five year plan against alcoholism," suggested, among other remedies, that more cold water be made available and that no liquor be sold to minors before 10 in the morning.

The production of starch from cereal grains was described by Marcus Porcius Cato in 184 B.C.

Christian Science Lecture Scheduled

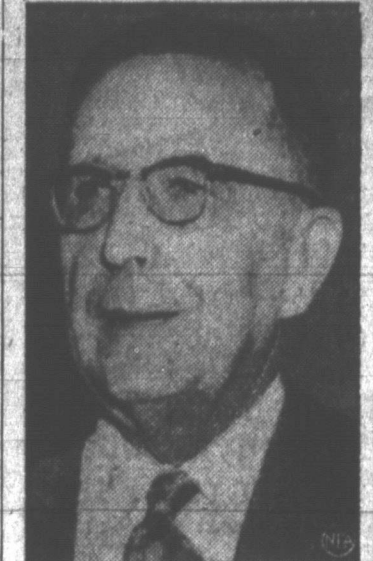

The solving of individual and collective problems through the understanding and application of God's spiritual laws will be the topic of a public lecture on Christian Science to be delivered in Pampa, Jan. 17, by Grace Jane Noe of Chicago.

Mrs. Noe withdrew from business life in 1927 to devote herself to the practice of Christian Science healing. Prior to that time, she was head of a large food brokerage business in Chicago.

During her business career, she served as the first president of the Altruism Club, an international organization of professional and executive business women.

MOD Auction Set Sunday

Fred Neelage and W. B. (Red) Weathered will be the featured auctioneers for the Gray County March of Dimes radio auction over station KPDM Sunday. The event will begin at 2 p.m. and continue until there is nothing left to be auctioned, stated Leslie Hart, county chairman.

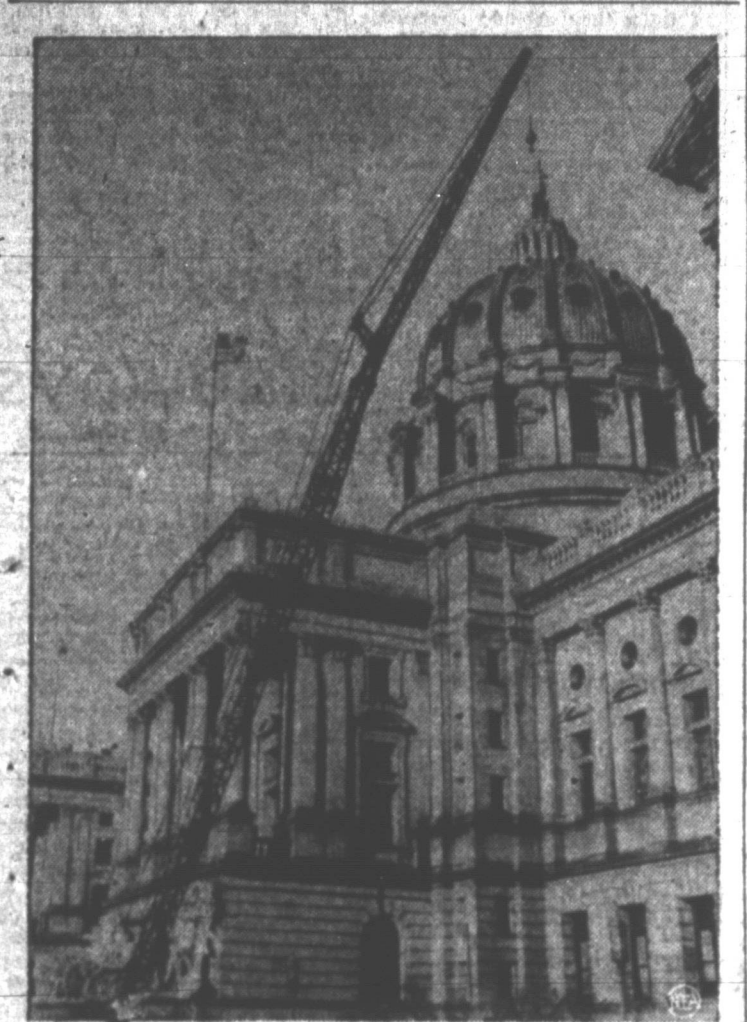

National Guard radio-controlled jeeps and trucks will aid with the pick up and delivery of the auction items. Pampa area wholesale gas and oil companies have offered to contribute the gasoline used by the vehicles, advised Fred Brook, city chairman.

Representatives from Pampa civic clubs will accompany Guard drivers to help collect articles to be auctioned and to deliver those sold. Fred Brook will work as a dispatcher and Aubrey Jones will act as bookkeeper, recording the items and the price for which they were sold.

Anyone with articles or pastries to be auctioned are requested to phone Fred Brook at the city engineer's office or radio station KPDM. All calls Sunday should be made to the radio station.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend Not so long ago I had made plans to go to a movie with my girl friends and then a boy I have liked quite a bit for several months called me and asked for a date. He had never asked me before and I didn't want to turn him down for fear he wouldn't call again so I accepted the date. Then I cancelled my date with my girl friends.

One of them said that I had behaved very badly and that a date with girls for some purpose is just as binding as with a boy. She said that I was wrong to have treated them that way. I felt that the girls could go ahead and go to the movie without me and that my not going with them didn't really change their plans any. She said this doesn't matter. I think it does. Would you write something about the matter for us?

Dear Jean Some girls feel one way about the matter, some another - just as you and your friend disagree on it. It does seem that you have some justice on your side. Often a boy is discouraged by a refusal the first time he asks for a date and isn't very apt to call again. Naturally if the girl is interested she doesn't want this to happen. So it seems that when accepting the boy's date doesn't change the plans of the girls she has planned to be with, that it would be all right to do so. However it would be wise to make it a rule of your particular group so that all of the girls would feel the same way about it. You shouldn't feel that you can change plans when your friends feel that it would be wrong for her to. Discuss it with your girl friends and have an agreement on the matter.

Any time that you accept an invitation from a group of girls and your breaking of the date later would cause all of the plans to be upset, you should continue your original plan. There is no reason why you can't explain to the boy that you have a previous engagement with some friends. Perhaps it will only increase his interest. Surely it will give him confidence that you won't break a date with him if something better should come along.

TRY IT before you buy it!

CARTOONIST-ENTERTAINER BOB WOOD, left, of Studio City, California, kept his young audience howling with his antics during Sam Houston School's assembly program yesterday. Cartoonist Bob Wood 'Chalk Talks' For Sam Houston Assembly Program

Cartoonist Bob Wood, who is sponsored by Southern School Assemblies, entertained Sam Houston School children yesterday with his swift dramatized chalk talks. To the accompaniment of appropriate music and a running commentary on his characters and songs, he sketched George Washington, Abe the Rail splitter, and Uncle Sam, Wood, who received his art training at Chicago Art Institute and Los Angeles Art Center wrote words upside down and backwards as quickly as students called them out. A special feature of his program was the drawing of different types of students and then,

"Doctor's Invention Snowballs"

Dr. Henry Turkel, widely known in the medical profession for his research into allergies and his inventions of medical instruments had a problem. He thought his young daughter should study her ABC's instead of playing with a deck of cards. So Mrs. Turkel suggested that the inventive doctor make some cards with the letters of the alphabet on them to amuse - and educate - the youngster. The doctor did, and his invention has grown into a new national craze that is rapidly supplanting the old-fashioned Rummy - and its variations.

The new game, Word Bummy, is simple to play and as interesting to adults as it is to children. The deck has fifty-two cards printed in four colors, each card having two letters and a Morse Code symbol on its face - with a number system for the color blind. The cards have been widely approved by recognized educational associations as an aid to teaching children to spell and are in use in large numbers of schools and colleges around the country.

The doctor's idea has grown from a project to teach his own little girl, into a game that is sweeping the country. In his office on the 13th floor of the Industrial Bank Building in Detroit, he looked with mingled pleasure and wonder at the pile of orders for cards that was spilling over onto a table loaded with research apparatus. "It is a privilege to be able to ease pain and help those that are sick," he said. "It's also a pleasure to have developed a game that is giving so many people enjoyment. I am fortunate that I have the satisfaction of doing both."

Semi-Finals In Tourney Tonight

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

One of the best card's in Pampa's boxing history was unveiled last night at the Junior High Gym for the second night of action in the District Golden Gloves tournament.

And it was a big night for the 600 fans who braved sub-freezing temperatures to witness last night's matches. All local spectators, who are the top fighters on the Pampa squad, recorded wins over fighters from Amarillo.

The winners included Bobby Wilhelm, J. N. Wright, Don Fagan, Bob Prigmore, Dugie Jameson, Kenneth Wood, Fred Blackwell and Jesse Ring, all top notch gloves.

All matches last night were exciting affairs. Kenneth Wood of Shamrock and Charles Harrington of the Amarillo Air Base hooped up in a good fight with Wood finishing strong to take the match. Wood recorded a knockout in the first round with a straight left to Harrington's face but Harrington recovered and stayed on his feet the rest of the way.

J. N. Wright of the Boys Club won a popular decision over John Winters of the Amarillo Air Base. Winters stayed on defense most of the time but Wright managed to get in several good blows and win the match handily.

In the night's only heavyweight scrap, Shamrock's Bob Prigmore outpointed Dan Jameson of Wellington. Prigmore wound up strong in the third round and had Jameson groggy at the finish.

In preliminary matches in the Pee Wee Division, Carson Watt defeated Chico Ramirez. Dickie Jameson defeated Dickie Willis; and Benny Dickerson defeated Bernice Derryberry, all of whom are members of the Pampa Boys Club team.

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS
70 pounds — Carson Watt, Pampa Boys Club, vs. Dickie Jameson, Pampa Boys Club.
80 pounds — Benny Dickerson, Pampa Boys Club, vs. Bernice Derryberry, Pampa Boys Club.
90 pounds — Don Fagan, Amarillo Air Base, vs. Jesse Ring, Pampa Boys Club.
100 pounds — Bob Prigmore, Shamrock, vs. Dan Jameson, Wellington.

160 pounds — John Meek, Pampa Boys Club, vs. Dale Byrd, Shamrock.
175 pounds — Russell Morrow, Pampa Boys Club, vs. Fred Blackwell, LeFlore.
180 pounds — Don Houe, Borger, vs. Gary Braden, Borger.

Terry did get in one good blow in the first round that staggered Jameson but the Wellington lad came back to win going away.

The third TKO was achieved by Fred Blackwell of LeFlore vs. Cooper of the Amarillo Air Base. Blackwell was the aggressor all the way and then floored the Air Force lad three times in the third round.

Blackwell was awarded a TKO in 1:27 minutes of the third round. In one of the most action-packed fights of the evening was Don Fagan's bout with Tom Roach of the Amarillo Air Force. Fagan, ex-Harvester, fought hard and won the match by a close decision.

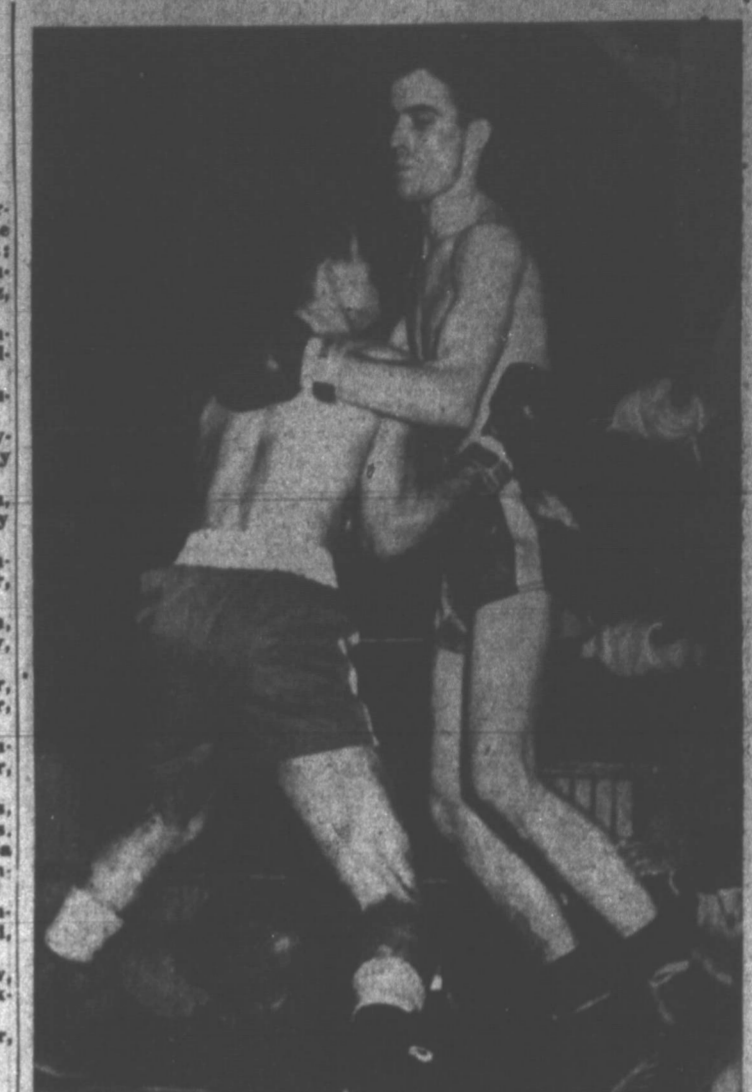

Coming close to the Fagan-Roach match in displaying a lot of action was the fight between Russell Morrow and Kenneth Wood-Charles Harrington matches.

Ring held a slight edge through the first two rounds but Morrow came back in the third with a run and staggered Ring two or three times but it was too late.

TONIGHT'S PAIRINGS

Charles Meels Satterfield In 10 Rounds

CHICAGO, Jan. 13 — UP — Heavyweights Eard Charles and Bob Satterfield will battle each other andistic oblivion Wednesday night in a 10-round television feature bout from the Chicago Stadium.

Charles, 32, and Satterfield, 31, each need a victory to retain any hope of a future title shot before their age forces retirement.

Charles, who once won the world heavyweight crown from Jersey Joe Walcott and then lost it to the same fighter, admitted frankly that time was "running out" on him. But he was a decided favorite, despite defeats in two of his last three scraps, to whip the often-beaten Satterfield.

Satterfield, who has never had a title shot, agreed that the odds favored Charles, but he said he would be "shooting with everything I've got, and the smart bet will be that that ends in a knockout."

Charles, a Cincinnati ring veteran, rarely has been knocked out or even down, while Satterfield has borne the label of "class jaw" since his first year of professional boxing, 1945.

Satterfield, though, has an acknowledged power punch to accompany his weak chin and has tallied 25 knockouts in winning 32 and losing 15 pro battles.

In Charles, he will meet a foe who features the same kind of two fast attack, a punching style the ex-champion developed only after he had lost to both Nino Valdes and Harold Johnson. His new method paid off with a 10th round knockout of Cole Wallace in Charles' last start.

Jimmy Bond Is Abed With Flu

Jimmy Bond, the Harvesters' all-star center, missed yesterday's cage practice because of illness and it's doubtful whether he'll be able to play in this week's games at San Angelo and Abilene.

Bond became ill following basketball practice Monday and was in bed all day yesterday and was still in bed today. His case has been diagnosed as intestinal influenza.

Jimmy's mother, Mrs. Joe Bond, reported this morning that her son was feeling much better and that he "fighling" hard to get back in shape so he can make the trip south with the Harvesters this weekend.

Jimmy wasn't able to hold anything on his stomach yesterday but Mrs. Bond said that he ate a good breakfast this morning which stayed down.

The Harvesters are due to leave tomorrow morning for the tilt at San Angelo and Abilene. The Harvesters meet San Angelo Friday and Abilene Saturday. The game at San Angelo will pit the only two unbeaten teams in conference play and the winner will take sole possession of first place in the 1-A standings.

Two other Harvesters also have been slowed down with a possible attack of influenza, guards Ken Sinkle and Harold Lewis. But both were out for practice yesterday and it's likely they'll be ready to go in this week's games.

Bond Takes Commanding Scoring Lead

Jimmy Bond of the Pampa Harvesters has taken a long lead in the District 1-AAAA scoring race after the first week of conference action.

Bond tallied 34 against Lubbock in the opener and 27 against Amarillo in the second tilt.

Milton Gillespie of Odessa is second in individual scoring but he is 28 points back of Bond, with 35 points in two district games. Mike Kelly of Borger and Roy Davis of Odessa followed Gillespie by one point, each with 34 tallies.

Tempe State Cager Leads BC Scorers

Dick Daugherty, Arizona Tempe's scoring ace, set the scoring pace in Border Conference basketball through games of Jan. 10, latest statistics disclosed.

Daugherty led in both scoring and free throws. In 11 games, he scored 178 points for an average of 16.2 points per game, while his free throw average amounted to a stellar 83.3 per cent.

Jim Reed of Texas Tech, second to Daugherty in scoring, led in field goal shooting, hitting 45.4 per cent of his shots.

In team statistics, Tempe boasted the best field goal shooting mark, hitting on 38.5 per cent of its tries. Hardin-Simmons, which has made 43.7 per cent of its free throws, topped the league in this department.

Texas Won Four Titles In 1953

AUSTIN, Jan. 13 — UP — University of Texas, champions in four sports and runners-up in four others, will be honored Wednesday night at the 19th annual athletic banquet sponsored by the students' association.

In 1953, Texas teams shared foot ball and baseball crowns, swept tennis honors and won four first places in the Southwest Conference track and field meet.

Deacons Knock Duke From Unbeaten Cage List, 96-89

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 — UP — A record-breaking scoring spree by the brilliant Dickie Hamrick knocked Duke out of first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference Wednesday, but Texas went to the front in the Southwest Conference in a game George Washington remained atop the Southern Hemisphere, out of action for a week with an injured foot, returned Tuesday night to score 34 points and lead Wake Forest to a 94 to 89 victory over Duke.

Duke, who had gone into the game tied with Wake Forest for Carolina for the ACC lead with a 2-0 league record.

Texas, which had been tied with Wake Forest for the top spot in the Southwest Conference, took over sole possession of the lead by scoring 44 points, 46 to 35 on the Aggies' court. That victory set Texas' record at 2-0 in conference play.

Rice, the pre-season title favorite in the Southwest loop moved its record to 2-1 with a 69 to 43 rout of Texas Christian at Houston. Gene Schwingler, star Rice center, topped all scorers with 17 points and thus ran his seasonal output to 322, tops for all players in his loop.

George Washington, the nation's top scoring team, saw its point output fall off but preserved its perfect record in the Southern Conference with a 68 to 50 victory over Virginia Military.

Tuesday night's top games saw the Oklahoma Aggies, ranked fourth nationally, whip the seventh-ranked Kansas Jayhawks, 64 to 50, at Stillwater, Okla. It was the 10th straight victory for the Aggies, who have lost only to Minnesota in 15 starts and it was the third loss in nine games.

Frank Bigham led the Aggies with 15 points, but the key of the game was perhaps at center where Aggie star Bob Mottick outscored Kansas' H. Horn, 14-7.

Unbeaten Holy Cross, the nation's 10th-ranked team, ran its record to 11-0 with an 85 to 87 victory over Boston College in All-America candidate, Tony Palazzi scored 29 points, and 12th-ranked La Salle had to fight from behind to beat Manhattan 69 to 61 because the Jesuits held La Salle ace Tom Gola to 12 points.

Bich-ranked Western Kentucky, which has a perfect 14-0 record, matched only by Duquesne among major colleges, shoots for No. 15 Wednesday night against dangerous Dayton, while 15th-ranked Oklahoma City faces Houston.

3rd SWC Win In Row For UT Longhorns' Rally Edges Ags, 49-46

By UNITED PRESS
The Texas Longhorns won their third straight close game Tuesday night to move into the Southwest Conference basketball lead as Rice made it a four-team race with its second victory in three starts.

Texas had to come from behind at College Station to trim Texas A&M 49 to 46, but Rice had things pretty much its own way at Houston and chalked up a 69 to 62 win over Texas Christian.

Southern Methodist also is undefeated, but has played only two games, and Baylor shares Rice's 2-1 record to tie for third. Each of the teams lost to Southern Methodist last week. None of the other teams have won, with Arkansas and TCU each having two defeats and the Aggies three.

Two Off Nights
Wednesday and Thursday nights are off nights, but Texas Christian and Texas A&M will end some-body's losing streak Friday night, and Rice and Texas will settle their differences Saturday night.

The third quarter was another show one, but in the fourth Schwingler tallied eight points and Ray (Shag) Warren hit 10 for TCU as the teams combined for a total of 47 points.

Schwingler rang up a total of 17 points to bring his seasonal production to 322, or an average of nearly 25 per game.

Texas Quint Has Tallest Team In School's History

AUSTIN, Jan. 13 — UP — Texas bids for a 1964 Southwest Conference basketball crown with its tallest lineup in history, a sharp-shooting outfit reflecting a change of pace from the school's speedy "mighty mite" teams of the past.

The Longhorns, whose starting five averages six-foot, five-inch to six-foot, seven-inch tall, will face their strongest test at the early season Friday night on home ground when they meet Rice, a pre-season favorite.

In his 1954 aggregation, Coach Thurman (Slue) Hull lacks the speed of teams of years gone by, sparked by their seven-inch Fred Bobby Moore, Slater Martin, now in the professional ranks, Al Madden and last year's Leon Black.

Losses Offset
However, to offset losses in that department, Hull has a lineup built around six-foot, seven-inch Fred Saunders and Bob Waggener, six-foot, four-inch Gib Ford and Billy Powell, and six-foot, one-inch John Schmid.

Saunders, whom Hull says is one of the best hook-shot artists he's seen, has dropped in 44 per cent of his field goal attempts thus far while averaging 15.3 points per game, and 108 for the season.

Ford, with 118 points, has hit a 47 per cent average from the field, while Powell has dropped in 114 points for a 37 per cent average.

Waggener, a defensive standout who has polished up his shooting talents, has sunk 85 points for a 41 per cent average on field goal efforts. Schmid with 40 points has a 33 per cent mark.

Good at Rebounds
To combat its loss of speed, Texas' taller team of 1954 is outstanding in opposition in taking rebounds off the backboards, and Waggener is becoming a specialist in that category. He has averaged 11 per game, while Powell averages six per contest.

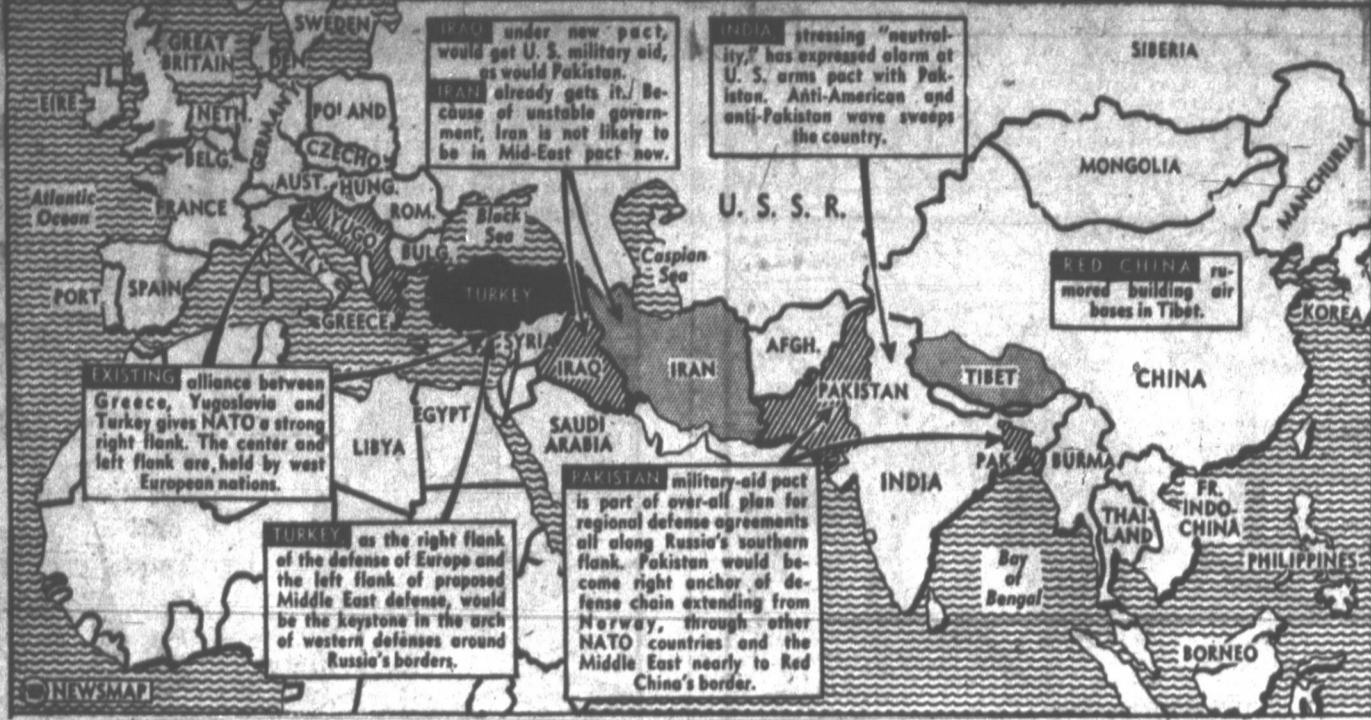

With the Southwest Conference race apparently even tighter than usual, Hull will be counting on four seniors — Waggener, Powell, Ford and Saunders — for experience and leadership. The fifth starter, Schmid, is a sophomore.

SEEK TO CLOSE GAP IN FREE WORLD'S FRONT—With terms of the U. S. arms aid alliance with Pakistan practically agreed upon, U. S. diplomats are seeking similar mutual defense pacts with Turkey, Iran, Saudi Arabia, Lebanon and Syria. Aim is to build up strong defenses along Russia's strategic southern frontier. Iran and Turkey are already receiving U. S. military aid. The existing Greece-Yugoslavia-Turkey alliance bolsters the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's right flank in Europe and protects the Mediterranean Sea. As map above shows, the sought-for Pakistan-Middle East project could do the same for the Middle East, Suez, the Red Sea and the Indian Ocean. The proposed regional mutual defense pacts, with American military aid, would close the long, dangerously open gap in the free world's defense against aggressive Soviet expansion.

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—The Laugh Parade: Johnny Weismuller told it on the set of "Jungle Man-Eaters."
During filming of "Mogambo" in Africa, Clark Gable, Ava Gardner and members of the MGM troupe had a big party one night, with dancing, singing and lots of bubble water. The sounds of the revelry reached the ears of an African native, who it is said, turned to a fellow savage, jangled his nose ring nervously, and whispered:
"The WHITES are restless to-night."

Dolores Costello's recent appearance on a TV show reminded me of the time she was handed a huge bottle of christening champagne to break across the bow of hubby John Barrymore's new yacht.
Dolores protested: "But John, it's too heavy. I'm afraid I can't do it."
"Go ahead," urged John, "just imagine you're hitting me."
Later Barrymore winced: "She imagined all right. She darn near wrecked the boat."

While in England, Lou Costello discovered there's nothing more loyal than British audiences. Once the British take a performer to their hearts, they never forget him as long as he lives. In a British music hall, Lou heard an old agent wheezy singing inspire deafening applause.
"But he's not very good," Lou whispered to a British friend.
"I know," said the friend. "But you should have heard him 20 years ago."
Costly Toppers
During shooting of a Burns and Allen tele comedy, Bea Benaderet called George's attention to a front-page news item stating that Soviet women were complaining about the styles of state-made hats.
"I'd like to see any government make my hats," said Gracie, who is Hollywood's champion bonnet buyer and thinks nothing of paying $50 and upwards for a fancy lid.
"I'd like to see any government pay your hat bill, too," snorted George.

An indignant starlet rushed into fur designer Al Teitelbaum's Beverly Hills salon.
"I'm checking up on my boy friend," she said. "Tell me, is there any such thing as a bald mink?"
"Never heard of it," shrugged Al.
"I'll fix him," roared the starlet. "I'll throw that suede coat he gave me right back in his face."
A boat was needed for a hunting scene in "The Kiss and the Sword" and Prop Man Ernie Graber was stumped. "Where in the world," he said, "can I find a stuffed boat?"
Director Bill Castle shrugged. "That's easy. On the program at any testimonial dinner."

Film writer to producer: "Can I sell you a plot?"
Producer: "Don't be silly. I've had a plot for years."

Behind Scene TV Planning Complicated

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—UP—It looks simple. Just put the President of the United States in front of a couple of TV cameras, then yank a switch. You have the big man in the living room.
It isn't that easy.
The TV network people tell me that what goes on behind the scenes not only costs a pretty penny, but takes an awful lot of man hours.
"Take the 15-minute talk Dwight D. Eisenhower made before Congress reconvened. The date was set a fortnight in advance. The networks got busy and cancelled all shows at that appointed hour. That cost the networks a lot of long green on commercials."

The networks agreed that NBC cameras and technical crews could handle the pickup from the White House, feeding the other networks through the telephone company.
Jiggle Schedules
This meant that WNBC, the NBC outlet, had to jiggle work schedules to cut loose cameramen and technicians from local program duties on that date.
There were other problems.
The President himself was down in Augusta, Ga., working on speeches and shooting golf. So the technical experts went to the White House to smoke out what was smokable. Would Mr. Ike broadcast from his office, or from the radio and television room? Would he sit on his pants, or would he stand? Would he memorize his speech, or would he look at cards? All of these things were important to the lighting and camera experts.

Nobody eating turkey at the White House could answer the questions. They were telegraphed to Press Secretary James C. Hagerty in Augusta. Jim wired the answers back the next day.
It turned out the TV show was to be held in the White House radio and television room. Lights were put in place. Robert Montgomery, TV producer and actor who hopes he never will be president, sat in as a "dummy" president to see how things would go.

JayCeers Requested To Renew Project On Community Center

Rusty Ward got up to speak at the weekly meeting of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce—and everyone got up to go, ave.
But it was all in fun.
For Ward, a past member of the JayCeers, was on hand to kick off National JayCee Week (Jan. 14-21) with a discussion of the proposed Pampa community center, a long-time JayCee project.
Another—more immediate—project for local JayCeers during the week, JayCee President J. C. Hopkins announced, will be the holding of a dance in the Pampa Country Club from 8:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. Jan. 21. The Melio-Aires, a local combo, will play for the semi-formal affair.
It was the proposed community center, however, that took up most of Tuesday noon's program. Better yet, said Ward, "call it a youth center."

Pointing out that the Pampa JayCeers had some $2,600 in the till that they've collected over the years for that express purpose, Ward suggested using the money to buy a location for the proposed structure, "something to start on."
The former JayCee ran through a bit of the history of the thing, showing that the idea was conceived in 1946 and was put on paper in 1947 when Local Engineer Waldon Moore drew up a three-dimension drawing of a proposed such building. It now hangs in City Hall.
It was to revitalize the idea that Ward was talking to the JayCeers. Asserting that "it's always been a pretty popular idea," Ward urged JayCeers to get behind it again and illustrated his talk with charts showing that 12 other Panhandle-Plains communities have such structures with an average monthly cost of $38.50.
"In Pampa at the Top of Texas" is the way one chart read and the question that Ward asked. Ward indicated that such an edifice would be used by youth and those older alike. Service and welfare groups plus women's clubs could use it, he said.
Once, he said, there were plans to have even a library and a gymnasium in the community center. But now the Lovett estate is building a library and the National Guard is well on its way toward having an armory, where gym facilities might be used by civilians.
Prior to Ward's talk, a new member—Sioland Blundell—was admitted as a member of the club. Texas JayCee President Tommy Cook will be in Pampa in the near

Father Injured

GALVESTON, Tex., Jan. 12—UP—Seven-year-old George P. Doherly Jr. was rushed to a hospital Monday after he was struck by a car while riding his bicycle.
When his father, George P. Doherly Sr., a fireman, learned of the accident, he jumped in his car and started to the hospital. His car collided with another automobile.
The father received emergency treatment, then rushed to his son, who was confined with more serious injuries.

Women, Please Note
WICASHETT, Me. — (UP) — Lincoln County Jury Commissioner J. Burton Reed of Boothbay Harbor was unworried when the county drew its first women for grand jury duty. "I've got a lot of confidence in level-minded women," Burton said. "Been married to me for nearly 50 years."

Comedian Feels Like Most Fathers As Daughter Weds

By ALINE MOBBY
HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 12 — UP— How does a father feel when his only child telephones she's getting married? Jack Benny said today, "you hate to see them grow up. Everybody does. It seems like yesterday she was a little kid."

The comedian watched his pretty adopted daughter as she posed for photographers in the Benny living room with New York stock broker Seth Baker, 28. They decided to marry after they met Christmas Eve at a New York wedding.

"Just before they met, I asked Joanne if, with all her friends going married, was she thinking about it," said Mrs. Benny, Mary Livingstone, with an anxious laugh.

"She said, 'Oh, no, she was having too much fun, and she wanted to finish school at Stanford.'"

Jack and Mary were in Palm Springs when Joan telephoned from Greenwich, Conn., last week.

"She said, 'are you standing up? Well, sit down.' We thought maybe she already was married," said Benny. "I wasn't surprised she picked a stock broker. She never was crazy about show business."

"We never have interfered with her life. She's almost 20, she's old enough. Some marriages where they've known each other for years don't work, and some where they've just met work fine."

Young Baker admitted he was "scared" when he walked into the Benny mansion to meet Jack and Mary. He didn't even know until his second date with Joan in New York that her father was the comedian.

"I thought her name was Joan Benny when we met," he grinned. Jack said, "Mary felt worse about their living in New York than I did."

He was silent a moment.

"Well, after all, it's a good reason to go to New York more often," he said. "When they live in the same city as the parents you don't see them very often, anyway."

He was silent again.

"Well, after all, she's been away at Stanford. Being married will be just the same," he said, a little louder.

Jack looked around his formal living room.

"I wish we had two more children hanging around," he said. "This is an awfully big house for just the two of us. Maybe we'll move to a smaller one."

Scientist Sees Automatic Lawnmowers, Plastic Homes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 — UP— I'm looking forward to the future.

According to a scientific friend of mine, one day we will have an automatic lawn-mower which will clip away while we sit on the front stoop and read instructions about how to miss the trees, hedges, and petunias.

Also, says John E. Haines, in another decade we may have homes made partly of plastic. Not to mention flying machines that will fly around the world non-stop in 28 hours and guided missiles that will reach the moon.

Haines isn't kidding. He is vice president of Minneapolis Honeywell, and mostly is interested in plastics and electronics. We had a club sandwich together here while he was between planes.

He's Not Talking
How about the automatic lawn-mowers?

"We scientists don't have to tell everything we know, do we?" he answered. "But there is an automatic lawn-mower in the works. It will be smart enough to skip the flowers on the lawn and cut down the grass instead. All by electronics."

Haines also said it would be a good idea to look out for sewer pipes made out of plastic, walls, windows—and even the roof over your head.

"We are entering an automatic world where electronics will do things for us we cannot now imagine," he said. "The engineer is coming into his own."

The engineer, Haines said, is going to be the man of the hour. He is going to improve our standard of living, our health and our comfort.

Haines predicted that individual and two-family homes will increase commercial buildings, hospitals, schools and highways.

No More Heat
Furthermore, Haines said, looking into his electrically-controlled crystal ball, nobody in this country a few years from now — he didn't say how long — need fret about the heat of summer.

"Everything will be air-cooled," he said. "Even picnic grounds, maybe."

That may be.

Brother Haines can fiddle around with the trees on the picnic ground, but he'd better have his facts straight on that automatic lawn-mower.

If there is anything worse than a hand-pushing or even a motor-driven lawn-mower, it's a man who talks about an automatic one and doesn't produce it.

Bangs Man Dies Of Suffocation

BROWNWOOD, Tex., Jan. 12 — UP— Authorities said Tuesday they believed Oral H. Barnes, 55-year-old Bangs, Tex., farmer, suffocated after fainting and falling from his tractor as he plowed.

Barnes' body was found Monday night by his wife. Deputy Sheriff W. A. Middleton said he was caught by a disc and carried about 150 feet, but there were no wounds serious enough to have caused his death.

Adams Feted By President On Birthday

By MERRIMAN SMITH
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 — UP—

Backstairs at the White House: Slyly, President Eisenhower gathered the White House staff together in the cabinet room last Friday morning. Some one brought in a big white cake and put it down on the cabinet table where government leaders often doodle in billions.

Then Tom Stephens, the President's appointment secretary, raced dramatically into the office of Sherman Adams, the assistant to the President.

"Come to the cabinet room right away," Stephens told Adams in end-of-the-world tones. "The boss wants you."

Adams hustled down the long hall to the cabinet room, threw open the door and was greeted with loud applause and cries of "happy birthday."

The former governor of New Hampshire had forgotten completely about it being his 58th birthday.

Strange thing about "Mama's cabin" at the Augusta national golf club where the President likes to spend at least two holidays a year: The "cabin," a seven-bathroom place that cost, according to Augusta rumor, close to $150,000, was built last year and occupied by the Eisenhowers for the first time last Thanksgiving.

The Eisenhowers graciously showed White House reporters through the house at Thanksgiving, but they made the tour only under the promise to the White House press office that not a word would be written about the interior.

Again on Christmas, reporters traveling with the President were invited to the "cabin," and under the same promise not to write a line about the interior.

So, what happens? Helen Worden Erskine comes up this week in Collier's magazine with a highly detailed description of the interior, including the cost of the locks on the doors, and a large diagram showing the layout of the three-floor structure.

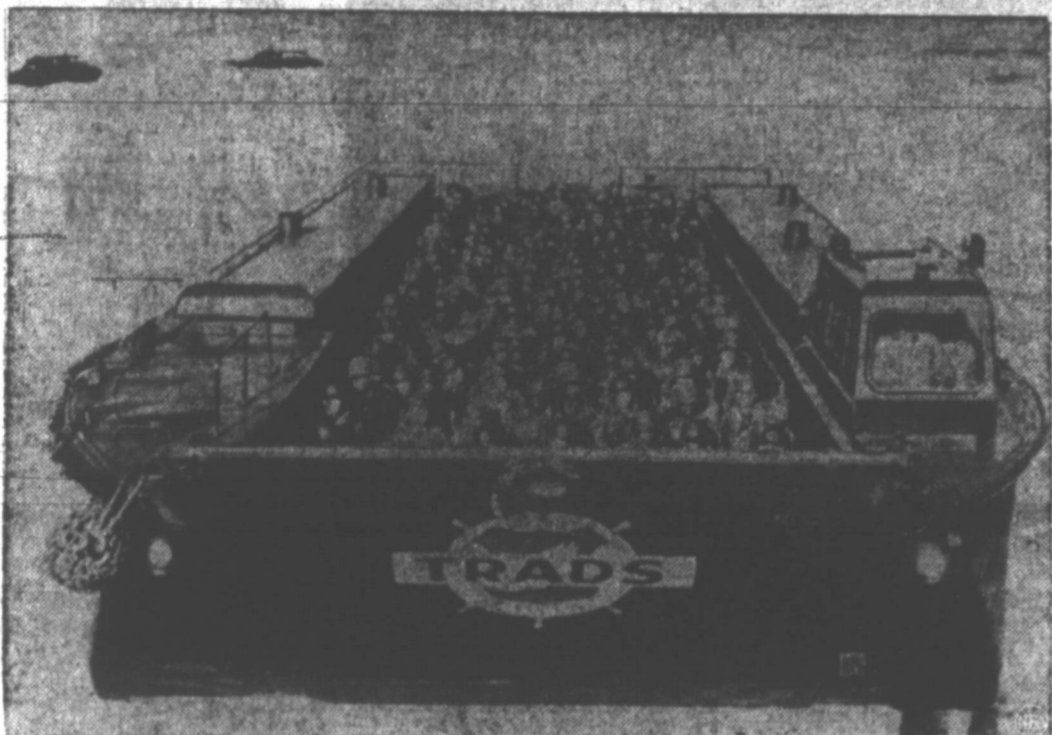

Reporters went clamoring to Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, asking to be released from their Augusta promise. But he was adamant. He said as far as the White House was concerned, the promise still held.

This is not the first tour of White House duty for Robert Montgomery, the movie and television figure who is handling Mr. Eisenhower's makeup and lighting for TV appearances. Montgomery, as a lieutenant commander in the Navy, was on duty in the map room of the White House during World War II under the late President Roosevelt.

F. D. R. refused to use makeup for his camera appearances and as the lines increased in his face, his staff sought to make him look better for the newscasts by judicious use of colored lights.

Mr. Eisenhower gets off some of his most informal cracks while he is posing for news pictures. In his office the other day, a lensman asked him to move slightly because reflected light from a picture was interfering with a picture of Gen. Robert E. Lee of the Confederate army.

The President moved with the observation, "That's the first time I ever heard of General Lee getting in the way."

"BARC" WITH LOTS OF BITE—The Army Transportation Corps' 60-ton amphibious vehicle named the "BARC" carries 203 field-equipped troops during a test run at Ft. Story, Va. Primarily designed to carry heavy equipment such as tanks, cranes and locomotives, it is also being considered as a potential troop carrier.
