Kissinger Flies Home To See Nixon Calls Talk 'Useful'

WATER WINGS — That's the impression many people left as they crossed low spots in the roads around the city where water from the melting snow collected Saturday afternoon as a warm spell thawed the coldness that had lingered over the city for about a week. After contending with the snow and ice, motorists — and pedestrians — found themselves dealing with the water and mud. Warm weather is still in the forecast, giving time for the land to dry out again — hopefully. (Photo by John Ebling)

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger closed out six days of peace talks with Hanoi's Le Duc Tho and flew to Florida Saturday to report to President Nixon. He called the talks useful and the North Vietnamese said progress had been made. But neither indicated how near an agreement might be.

Kissinger, Nixon's top foreign policy aide, said it now is up to the President "to decide what next step should be taken to speed a peace of justice and conciliation."

Kissinger summoned a U.S. Embassy photographer to the meeting in an American-owned villa in suburban St. Nom la Breteche, leading to speculation that an official photograph of the final session may have been taken. Other photographers and newsmen were barred from the villa, on the edge of an ice-bound golf course. The embassy photographer was ordered to say nothing about what he saw or did in the villa.

Kissinger's return was announced by the Florida White House. Nixon's press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, refused to indicate whether the talks had made any progress but he stressed the unusual length of the sessions last week.

In a departure statement at Orly Airport, Kissinger said he will remain in close touch "through our usual channel" with the North Vietnamese Politburo member who heads the Hanoi negotiating team.

"In the meantime," he added, "Ambassador Sullivan is Golda Ignores Student Anger"

PARIS (AP) — Golda Meir of Israel ignored French government anger and student demonstrators who burned her in effigy Saturday and attended a heavily guarded meeting of Socialist leaders in Paris.

As the 74-year-old premier met with Socialist party chiefs from 18 countries at the Palais du Luxembourg, pro-Arab demonstrators in the nearby Latin Quarter paraded through the streets shouting, "Golda murderer!"

The students clashed briefly with police a few blocks from the Palais du Luxembourg, headquarters of the French Senate. Steel-helmeted riot police made baton charges against the stone-throwing students and prevented them from approaching the Senate building.

Afterwards, Briscoe and Hobby will shake hands with as many Texans as possible in a public reception in the Capitol rotunda.

staying here to continue his negotiations with Vice Minister Nguyen Co Thach on technical matters. Special adviser Le Duc Tho is also remaining in Paris.

The Florida White House, where Nixon was spending the weekend, said William Sullivan, deputy assistant secretary of state, will resume the nuts-and-bolts, technical talks Monday in Paris.

But spokesmen declined to say when — or whether — Tho and Kissinger might resume their direct top-level negotiations.

Kissinger refused to answer questions. His brief departure statement recalled to observers in Paris the one he made here a month ago, when the earlier round of secret talks was suspended.

That suspension led within a few days to the massive and unprecedented American bombing raids against the North Vietnamese heartland, including its capital of Hanoi and its chief port of Haiphong.

The North Vietnamese also refused to elaborate on their statement that the negotiations "have made progress." The statement added only that the technical experts would take up their work Monday in a Communist-owned villa in suburban Gif sur Yvette.

The villa also has been the site for some of last week's 35 hours of bargaining between Tho and Kissinger. The two top negotiators held their longest and largest session Saturday in what speculation had billed as an approaching climax to their four-year-old search for an end to the Vietnam war.

Kissinger, Tho, and an unusually large number of their aides conferred for 7½ hours in the Saturday session.

3-2 VOTE

County Narrowly Adopts Its Budget

Members of the Gray County Commissioners Court Friday adopted the proposed budget of $1,317,470 by a vote of three to two.

Commissioners James McCracken and Don Hinton opposed the proposal.

Chief objections to the plan for 1973 spending seemed to center around the basic concept of revenue sharing and how these funds would be spent according to the proposed budget.

Revenue sharing monies would go to pay 11-12% of the operation of the sheriff's department and the tax department. Such a move as proposed by County Auditor Ray Wilson should put the county "in the black" financially at the end of 1973.

Prior to revenue sharing such a financial condition was calculated at two years, possibly more away.

Commissioners Hinton and McCracken felt money going into revenue sharing should have been used in other areas by the federal government.

Chief objection to the allocation of such funds in the proposed budget centered around the idea that the need for capital improvements was greater. However, spending the money on capital improvements offered no hope of overcoming the deficit and showing a surplus at the end of the year.

At the time of the recent hearings on a tax rate increase, Hinton and McCracken stated the county could tighten its belt and do without any capital improvements until the county was once again in the black.

Of the $125 tax unit, the 80-cent constitutional limitation funds would break down this way:

Jury fund, 0.02; road and bridge fund, 0.15; general fund, 0.61; farm-to-market and lateral road fund, 0.30; hospital interest and sinking fund, 0.13 and the airport interest and sinking fund, 0.04.

Based on the proposed budget (which will require some normal adjustments), it is estimated that the general fund would be left with a balance of $95,000 at the end of 1973, against a deficit of more than one hundred thousand dollars in sight at the time of the tax rate increase.

The overall balance in the black at the end of the year would be $243,000-plus.

Once the business of the budget had been decided, the panel turned to other items on the agenda and quickly approved the budget for Highland General and McLean-Gray County hospitals.

Commissioners also approved a resolution requested by District Judge Granger McIlhenny to ask the legislature for an amendment creating two six-month terms of court in the 31st District instead of the present one six-month and two three-month terms.

Also granted was a request for authority by Genesis House, Inc. to seek a grant from the Criminal Justice Council through the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission.

Bomb Explodes

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — a bomb exploded without warning Saturday night in a Belfast tavern crowded with Roman Catholics. Police said 25 persons were injured, some in serious condition after being trapped in the wreckage.

Priests from the nearby Clonard Monastery rushed to aid screaming victims of the blast at Clarkin's Bar in the busy Springfield Road.

City Mothers To March For Annual Fund Drive

By RAY BAXTER

More than 500 Pampa women will fan out through the city Monday for the annual "Mothers' March" against birth defects and poliomyelitis.

Beginning shortly after 5 p.m. and continuing most of the evening, mothers bearing the credentials of the March of Dimes will be knocking on doors to give residents the opportunity to give money that will be used for research and medical services sponsored by the National Foundation, March of Dimes, at medical centers and teaching hospitals throughout the nation.

The March each year at this time commemorates a famous victim and victory over polio that struck him down.

Franklin D. Roosevelt ran successfully for the presidency in a wheelchair. He instigated and inspired the March of Dimes concept and the National Foundation that has accepted the responsibility of administering the concern of citizens expressed by their contributions.

It was these funds that sparked the research that led to the Salk vaccine which drastically cut the incidence of polio in the nation. The dread disease is still with us, but victims are fewer. However, as long as one person is crippled by it, there is a need to continue research and treatment.

When immunization began to hold polio at bay, the foundation and the warm-hearted people across the nation that support it were not content to rest on their laurels. So, the attack on birth defects was launched.

At the time it seemed almost as futile as the fight against polio, but science is making new inroads, thanks to funds available through the March of Dimes each year.

In fact, medical authorities are calling the decision to move into field of birth defects fortuitous, what with the growing incidence of the mutation of genes caused by drug abuse.

Not all birth defects are the stigma of drugs; they just add to the toll and the responsibility. Some 2,500 babies are born in the U.S. each year with some birth defect. The Gray County Chapter of the National Foundation, March of Dimes, aided four of these this year along with four victims of polio. The cost averaged about $200 per month.

Then there was not enough to supply all the help needed nor pay all the bills that accrued to these afflictions.

The Gray County Chapter has Programs are also available for civic clubs for the remainder of the month. Clubs wishing to schedule such programs should contact Al Bassett, Pampa News, 669-7252.

"Please help when a member of the Mothers' March knocks at your door," Mrs. Howard urged. "Birth defects are forever unless you do help."

State Sen. Max Sherman of Amarillo will be the speaker when Pampa plays host to the quarterly meeting of Region II of the Texas Municipal League here next Thursday.

More than 150 league members and their wives from over the Texas Panhandle are expected to attend the affair which starts with a social hour at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in the M. K. Brown Memorial Auditorium and Civic Center.

The dinner meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. and will be presided over by Mayor John Colquitt of Dalhart, regional TML president.

Pampa's mayor, city manager and city commissioners will act as hosts. Mayor Milo Carlson will give the address of welcome and the response will be by Dalhart Mayor Colquitt.

Sen. Sherman will be introduced by Pampa city manager Mack Wofford and visiting delegations will be introduced by David DeWold manager of the Amarillo Civic Center.

The senator is expected to discuss major legislation affecting municipalities to be introduced in the current session of the Texas Legislature.

A brief business session is scheduled during the dinner hour. The social hour will be in the auditorium lobby and the dinner will be served in the Heritage Room.

IN STATE CAPITAL Operations Ready To Change Guard

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas gets a new look in state government Tuesday with the inauguration of Gov.-elect Dolph Briscoe and Lt. Gov.-elect Bill Hobby.

And what trend the new administration plans to take will be revealed Wednesday when Briscoe makes his first address to the new legislature.

Gone will be the controversial four-year administrations of Gov. Preston Smith and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, who were never directly connected to Speaker Gus Mutscher and the insurance stock scandal, but who suffered political defeat by association.

The changing of the guard has already occurred in the Texas House where Rep. Price Daniel Jr., who ran a reform campaign designed to wipe out all Mutscher influences, was elected speaker. A number of rule changes he advocated already have been adopted.

Daniel's committee assignments Friday generally placed House power in new hands.

Senate committees will not be assigned until after Hobby takes office.

Inaugural festivities begin Monday night at a "Democratic Inaugural Dinner" honoring Briscoe and Hobby in Austin Municipal Auditorium. Dinner will cost $25 a plate with proceeds earmarked for the state Democratic party deficit. One of the main speakers will be Robert Strauss, Dallas, recently named chairman of the national Democratic party.

Inaugural day opens with a 7:30 a.m. prayer breakfast. Coach Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys will be the speaker.

The inaugural ceremony begins at noon Tuesday on the south steps of the Capitol with officials seated in long rows on a special wooden platform draped with flags and bunting.

After the swearing-in ceremony: Gov. and Mrs. Briscoe, and their immediate family, will observe an old tradition by taking their first meal in the executive mansion—a lunch prepared and left for them by the outgoing governor and Mrs. Smith.

The inaugural parade will be held from 3 to 4:30 p.m. down Congress Avenue with Briscoe and Hobby in the reviewing stand.

Afterwards, Briscoe and Hobby will shake hands with as many Texans as possible in a public reception in the Capitol rotunda.

Frankie Bransford, a native of Oklahoma, is the author of a book of poetry, "The Treasured Key." Poems in the book represent her positive philosophy of life based on her beliefs in the concepts of free choice and in the immorality of the soul.

Board Sets Referendum To Consider Expansion

Members of the Pampa school board, in regular session Friday night, voted to go the referendum route in deciding whether to expand board membership to seven.

April 7 was designated as the day citizens would ballot for a seven-man board or to retain the status quo of a five-man panel.

If the referendum favors the additional two members, an election will be held one year later to make up the complement.

Members of the panel designated the February meeting for a vote on the quarterly system of conducting classes.

The remainder of the regular session was concerned with routine reports and actions relative to the conduct of school business.

Following the meeting, the board, in executive session, extended the contracts of Supt. James Malone, Athletic Director Ed Lehnick and Coach Buddy Williams for one year. There were no increases in salary.

The board met Friday night instead of the usual Wednesday night to accommodate a board member who could not be present on the regular night.

Shooting Occurs

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A University of Texas graduate student was hospitalized Saturday with a chest wound, and an office mate was in jail, following a shooting in the University of Texas geology building.

Eric Swanson, 26, was listed in fair condition after the Friday shooting. Alan Blaxland, 25, a native of England, was jailed in lieu of $5,000 bond on charges of assault with intent to murder.

A third man, Richard Paul Keizer, 25, Swanson's roommate, was treated at a hospital for a gunshot wound in his right hand and released.

Agricultural Production Keeping Up, Agent Says

There is no more surplus of agricultural products and price controls are being automatically 'dry up' the supply.

These were the words of Gray County Agriculture Agent Foster Whaley before the Pampa Rotary Club at their regular weekly meeting this week.

Whaley said in the past the farmer had been concerned about what the government could do for him but now he is greatly concerned about what it might do to him.

He pointed out that in just two decades the U.S. farmer, by efficient production methods, had increased his output 70 per cent. In 1956 he produced enough food for himself and 13 other people in 1971; he produced enough for himself and 48 others.

Bringing it down to local interest through a reference to beef production, Whaley noted that farmers comprise only six per cent of the population of the U.S. but produce two and a half times as much beef as they did 20 years ago.

He credited this to the increase in feedlots and the increase in cattle production in the eastern states.

Even so, beef production just barely stayed ahead of the consumption increase in 1971.

Osorio Trial Set To Begin

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — The trial of John Osorio and two others is scheduled to begin here Monday — as far removed as possible in Texas from the centers of the Shurston scandal which spanned the court action.

Osorio, Sam E. Stock and Donald S. Akin are charged with misapplying funds of the National Bankers Life Insurance Co.'s employee retirement fund.

Osorio, former Texas insurance commissioner, has other trials ahead of him after this one is disposed of. All the other trials also include more than one defendant.

The trial grew out of a Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) civil investigation into the Shurston scandal of Houston.

The SEC said Frank Sharp of Houston, who controlled the bank and the insurance company, offered questionable loans to state officials so they could buy National Bankers Life Insurance (NBL) stock.

The stock then was manipulated so that the state officials could make large, quick profits, alleged the SEC.

Aim of Sharp, the SEC contends, was to influence state banking legislation which would remove some federal controls from his bank.

The legislation breezed through the legislature only to run into a veto by Gov. Preston Smith, who himself made $62,500 out of the deals.

Almost all the state officials who took part in the deals or even were rumored to have had a hand in them were defeated in the 1972 Democratic primaries.

Kiwanis Sees MOD Movie

A film tracing history of the March of Dimes movement since its founding following the inauguration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1933 was shown at Friday's luncheon of the Pampa Kiwanis Club.

Camper Marsh, principal of Travis Elementary School, presented the program and said the Gray County Chapter of the March of Dimes Foundation hopes to collect approximately $4,500 during the January March of Dimes collection campaign.

Attention was called to the Mothers March, which will be made house-to-house in Pampa tomorrow night and the Bucket Brigade collections scheduled for Saturday, Jan. 20.

March said 25 per cent of the Gray County collections will go to the National Foundation for research and one-half of the remainder is retained in Gray County for use there.

Kiwanis Club members will be among civic club members who will assist in the Bucket Brigade campaign.

Contributions are needed to fight polio and birth defects.

Community Concert Campaign Moves Into Initial Operations

By TEX DEWEESE
 The Pampa Community Concert Association's membership campaign for the 1973-74 season moved into its initial planning stage Saturday forenoon with a coffee for division chairmen and team captains in the home of Mrs. Maxine Rose, 505 N. Gray, assistant chairman of the annual drive.

The coffee followed a Friday afternoon meeting of the association's 25-member board of directors with Mrs. Marguerite Maddox, New York representative of Columbia Artists Management, Inc.

The membership campaign will open with two renewal weeks, March 4-18, when current members will have first opportunity to renew memberships.

Memberships not renewed will be thrown open to the public Monday, March 18, and remain open until the seating capacity of the M.K. Brown Memorial Auditorium is sold out.

A third attraction was selected for the new concert season. The Canadian Opera Co. will appear in Pampa Feb. 23, 1974, to present a comic opera in English.

Two other concerts already have been booked. Guy Lombardo and His Royal Canadianians in mid-October and the Rumanian Ballet on March 14, 1974.

A fourth concert will be selected when the board meets again at the close of this year's membership campaign.

Membership fees, covering all four concerts, will be $6 for students and $12 for adults for the entire season. No single admission tickets will be available.

Mrs. Josephine Lawson was elected to the concert association board to fill a vacancy.

The board set Sunday, March 4, for the annual workers tea and Monday, March 19, for the membership campaign kickoff dinner.

Holders of current concert association memberships were urged to make their renewals starting March 4 in order to insure reservations for the 1973-74 seasons and avoid the early sell-out last year that left several hundred persons unable to obtain memberships.

Three more concerts remain in the current concert season. Prula, spectacular Yugoslavian Dance Production, is scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 15, William Walker, leading baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Co., Tuesday, March 20, and Whittemore and Lowe, duo pianists, Saturday, April 21.

Officers of the Pampa Community Concert Association are — Mrs. Calvin Jones, president; Joe Cree, first vice president; Mrs. Bob Curry, second vice president and presentation chairman; Mrs. Hugh Burdette, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Kirk Duncan, membership secretary and Mrs. Tex DeWeweese, treasurer.

Dick Stowers is chairman of the 1973-74 membership campaign and Mrs. Rex Rose, assistant chairman.

Divisional chairmen for the drive are Mrs. Jim Hughes, Mrs. Lydia Galchrest, Mrs. Linnie Richardson and Mrs. E. E. Shelhamer. Mrs. Bruce Rehart is area chairman.

Cattle Loss Estimated At 100,000

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Agriculture Commissioner John White has estimated that as many as 100,000 cattle died in Texas because of the past week's severe weather.

By Saturday, temperatures had risen to moderate levels and snow was melting, in dictating further losses would not be expected.

Another estimate of 100,000 came from Orville Howard of the Amarillo Globe-Times and News who keeps a close watch on events in the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas.

Howard's estimate covered the area north of a line from Childress in the southeast Panhandle to the Lubbock area in the South Plains, and included the two and a half months this winter which have been unusually cold, cloudy and wet.

Commissioner White said the loss from deaths perhaps was $25 million, with another $25 million in damages from cattle losing weight in the bad weather and the inability of stockmen to meet market demands.

White said the cold spell may cost farmers and stockmen as much as $50 million to $100 million, a part of the loss from inability to get some cotton out of the fields and loss of quality from the moisture.

About 1.6 million cattle are on feed at most times in the Panhandle and parts of the South Plains. Some are on pasture on young wheat while the others are in feed lots where they are fed intensively for market.

Howard said native stock stood up better under the cold, wet weather than young cattle weighing 250-300 pounds brought in daily from the Deep South by scores of trucks for final "finishing" in the feed lots throughout the area.

Most of the cattle from the South are called "Southern selects" and are prized because they gain weight rapidly in the feed lots. Thousands arrive daily to take the place of other cattle shipped out to packers.

Student May Face University Discipline

PROVO, Utah (AP) — Brigham Young University officials say that Thomas J. Gregory, an honor student and key prosecution witness in the Watergate trial in Washington, may face university discipline, including suspension or expulsion.

Gregory has testified that he was paid by a former White House aide to spy on two Democratic presidential candidates last summer.

"Violation of a principle of the code of honor may result in university discipline, including suspension or expulsion," said Dallin Oaks, president of the private school operated by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon).

He added: "I am satisfied that no Brigham Young University teacher or official had any knowledge of the alleged spying. If the spying took place, we deplore it."

In the meantime, Oaks said he would have to "wait for the facts to be developed in the judicial proceedings, and then take whatever action seems appropriate."

Gregory testified Wednesday that E. Howard Hunt Jr., a former White House aide who has pleaded guilty to all six charges against him in the case stemming from a break-in at Democratic National Headquarters in Washington's Watergate complex, induced him to work in Sen. Edmund Muskie's campaign office and then for Sen. George McGovern.

Gregory said he was paid $175 a week by Hunt in return for information about the candidates' headquarters and campaign plans.

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS
The 1973 Texas Legislature opened the past week, and we can expect a multitude of bills to begin taking shape as a result of the hearings held by interim committees of the Legislature during 1972.

Thursday, the Texas Board of Water Development held a meeting on surface subsidence. The meeting and conference was requested by a delegation from Baytown, down in the Houston area. This area of Texas, like a number of other metropolitan areas of the nation, has a problem that must be met and solved. The depth to the underground water is slight when compared to the depth to the water in the Panhandle.

In most areas of Gray and Carson Counties, the depth to the underground water reservoir is more than 250 feet. With the construction of large buildings over a large area along the Coast, the sheer weight of the buildings on the surface of the ground causes the surface to sink when the water is pumped from the underground water reservoir.

In some areas, dikes have been built to keep the water from the Gulf of Mexico from coming inland and turning the building sites into marsh land.

The Baytown group requested that the Water Development Board render whatever assistance it had to offer. It now becomes apparent that there will be some sort of legislation passed to control the withdrawal of underground water in such quantities as to cause subsidence.

Chairman John Allen of the Natural Resources Committee and Billy Clayton, a member of the Committee, both attended the Water Development Board meeting looking for recommendations.

The Marine Resources Committee of the Legislature has already recommended that the Texas Water Rights Commission be given more authority by the Legislature in delineating underground reservoirs where there is some critical need. Recommendations have also been made that local underground water conservation districts be given stronger powers to handle such situations.

The Texas Farm Bureau has adopted a resolution supporting more control for local underground/water conservation districts.

The Texas Farmers Union, in its legislative platform has strongly recommended that surface owners retain ownership of groundwater and of the surface water which falls on the land. The Farmers Union also recommends that a farmer have the right to impound up to Local livestock people lauded the move this week to suspend dipping of cattle in the 34 Panhandle counties under theseabies quarantine.

The Texas Animal Health Commission's move came just in time to save placing animals in jeopardy dipping them and forcing them to stand wet in the prevailing weather of the past few days. This is the opinion of Gray County Agriculture Agent Foster Whaley.

Suspended was the requirement that all animals be dipped prior to any intended movement. The quarantine is still in effect and all animals to be moved must still be inspected before they are loaded.

The one exception to this requirement are those animals to be moved directly to a livestock market. These are inspected there immediately upon their arrival.

200 acre feet for irrigation without a State permit.

The current law is: "Article 7520 makes it a misdemeanor subject to continuing fine, and or, imprisonment for any person to wilfully take, divert, or appropriate any of the water of the State of Texas, or use such water for any purpose without first obtaining a permit to appropriate such water; except only that a person may construct on a non-navigable stream on his own property a dam or reservoir impounding not more than 200 acre-feet of water, provided that such water is used for domestic and livestock purposes."

The Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District held an election in three of its director's precincts Tuesday of the past week to elect a director for each for a term of two years. The three current directors, Fred S. Vanderburg from director's precinct no. 4, Raymond C. Blodgett from precinct no. 3, and James B. McCray from precinct no. 2, were all reelected.

Vanderburg is the current President of the Board of Directors. Blodgett is the Secretary, and McCray is the Vice-President. Vanderburg is the lone member of the Board of Directors who has been with the Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District No. 3 since it was voted into being Jan. 23, 1956. The other two members of the board are John Spearman of Gray County and Nolan Potote of Carson County.

Felix W. Ryals has been with the District as Manager since May 1, 1967, and is the only full-time Manager the District has ever had.)

Tech Expert Gives Picture Of Viet Agri-Economics

EDITOR'S NOTE: — For years the news spotlight on Viet Nam has focused on the military, the political, the economic. The story of agriculture has been very limited in relation to the number of years Americans have been involved with that country. Now there is information and from someone close to life from the land here in the Texas Panhandle.

LUBBOCK — Dr. T. Richard Owens, a member of Texas Tech University's faculty in agricultural economics, is on leave as an expert serving the South Vietnam government through the U.S. Agency for International Development, but he denies his unofficial title.

"There are no experts in Vietnam," he said. "There are only varying degrees of ignorance."

There are reasons for his view. Massive changes are taking place in the war-torn country and the rate of change is rapid.

Dr. Owens' primary job as a consultant is to make an economic analysis and proposals for improving marketing methods for rice, feed grains and oil seeds, such as peanuts and soybeans.

The difficulty with this task, he said, is the inability to measure what needs to be done before sound conclusions can be reached.

There also is the conflict between the economic stabilization the government wants in its wartime economy and the development needed for future stabilization.

Development at this time, said Owens, tends to disturb what stabilization can be maintained. Yet development is the only thing that can lead to a stabilization of the economy when the war ends.

To construct a rice mill now, for instance, could cost the price of the mill plus 25 per cent annual interest with the principal due in five to seven years, he explained.

To construct storage facilities for rice would involve similar capital investment, but there would be the added problem of farmers' attitudes.

"The farmers are used to dealing with commodities and cash, and not with banks or with government agencies," the economist said.

In Vietnam the farmers store their own rice, and as a consequence the market is not responsive to changes in demand. If the demand increases, for example, the buyer must locate the farmer on his own land and persuade him to sell his commodity at the current market price. This takes time that is saved in situations, like those in the United States, where farmers use central storage facilities.

Sometimes the best advice Dr. Owens can give is to advise against certain investments. Study of the economic factors involved might, for instance, rule out the value of erecting an oil mill where at first glance such a development might appear economically useful.

Some developments on the other hand are quite simple but very good, Owens said. As an illustration he pointed out a new double cropping procedure developed in the western part of the Mekong Delta.

In that region a red rice—used mostly for livestock—traditionally is grown in the waters which rise from May and June, when the rains start, to a peak water level in October. The rice has an ability to grow just faster than the water rises.

As the flood waters recede, the rice is hand harvested; the land is cleared, and the farmers wait for the next planting season.

Now the rice heads are harvested. The cropland is fertilized, and the matted rice stalks are left. Grain sorghum seed is broadcast among the matted stems. The sorghum flourishes in the dry period which begins about December. The grain can be harvested before rice planting time in late May or early June.

There are about 300,000 hectares of rice annually in the area, Dr. Owens said, and the goal for this year is to harvest a total of 20,000 hectares of grain sorghum before the rice is planted.

Hog Numbers Decline... Wheat Seeding Increases... Citrus Blackfly Survey Continues... March 1 is Deadline...

Fewer hogs and pigs are reported in Texas compared to a year ago, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes.

In Texas, the number of hogs and pigs total 1,264,000. This is a decrease of 10 percent from a year earlier.

Reports based on farmers' intentions indicate that during the period now through May, 124,000 sows will farrow in Texas, four percent above a year earlier. The average value of all hogs in Texas is $35 per head, giving a total inventory of $44,240,000.

Nationwide, hogs and pigs total 61,500,000, two percent less than a year ago. Hogs and pigs kept for breeding are estimated at 9,000,000, an increase of six percent.

WINTER wheat seeding for harvest is estimated at 4,400,000 acres which is a nine percent increase over a year ago and is a fourth larger than 1971.

A crop of 70,400,000 bushels is now expected in Texas. This compared with 44,000,000 bushels produced in 1972.

Wheat seeding for all practical purposes is completed with bad weather causing some delays.

Nationwide, the 1973 prospective winter wheat crop is a record 1,278,000,000 bushels. This would be eight percent more than the 1972 crop and 12 percent more than in 1971.

Generally, condition of the crop is mostly good to excellent. Estimated yield is 29.9 bushels per acre, just slightly below the 1971 record yield per acre.

Indications are now that 88 percent of the seeded acreage will be harvested for grain. If realized, this would be the highest percentage since 1966 when 90.3 percent was harvested.

SURVEYS of the citrus blackfly continue in the Rio Grande Valley. A new infestation has been found in the San Benito and Harlingen areas. The blackfly can cause great economic damage in commercial citrus. Even infestations of short duration may reduce crop yields by as much as 50 percent.

Personnel of the Texas Department of Agriculture are cooperating with U. S. Department of Agriculture specialists in combating the fly. The survey will provide a specific picture of the extent of the problem.

Federal-state crews will survey the Valley once each month for six months, examining more than 100,000 points. Entomologists said the survey is sensitive enough to detect infestations as low as one infested tree in 33,000.

After the survey is complete, federal and state officials will decide on appropriate courses of action.

MARCH 1 is deadline for submitting your ideas on proposed changes in the Packers and Stockyards Act as it relates to bonding regulations.

Proposed changes would include recovery under bonds, bond equivalents, termination of bond, and separate coverage for selling and buying activities.

Anyone wishing to submit comments should write the Hearing Clerk, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250. Copies of the amendments may be obtained by writing Information Officer, Packers and Stockyards Administration, USDA, Washington, D. C.

Large Increase Marks Nation's Welfare Rolls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another 81,000 persons joined the nation's welfare rolls last August—the largest increase in five months, the government announced this week.

The cost of medical care for the poor rose $66 million, for a total of $747.2 million, while cash payments declined $368,000 to $918.5 million, officials said.

Of the 15.1 million welfare recipients during August, the latest month for which statistics are available, nearly three out of four were receiving Aid for Families with Dependent Children, the officials said.

They said AFDC accounted for 65,000 new relievers, followed by 11,000 more disabled and 2,000 more elderly poor.

The nonfederal general assistance program also showed a gain of 3,000 persons, the first in five months, the officials said.

Nine states and two jurisdictions reported lower AFDC payments, led by New York with a 14.7-per-cent decrease.

Fund Started For Victims' Families

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A wealthy banker has started a fund for the families of three policemen killed in the New Orleans snipings.

Louis Roussel presented a check for $5,000 Thursday to Irvin Magri, head of the Patrolman's Association of New Orleans, with instructions that it be shared among the families of Deputy Police Supt. Louis Sirgo and Patrolmen Phillip Coleman and Paul A. Persigo.

Roussel said he hoped other organizations would follow suit in offering relief to the families of the men who died during a sniping attack at the Downtown Howard Johnson's hotel.

Three other persons were killed and 17 were injured.

The policemen's families also are in line for benefits from various police benevolent funds. The amount each will receive is based on a formula of how many such funds they contributed to and how long their husbands were on the force.

Separate funerals were held earlier in the week for each of the officers. Uniformed policemen from several major cities, some of them on their own time, joined scores of off duty New Orleans policemen for the services.

Each astronaut would be supplied with 1,800 meals on the 251-day round trip to Mars envisioned in the 1980s.

PAMPA'S FINEST DEPARTMENT STORE

Ex-Drug Addicts Seek Beef Donations

Four former drug abusers will be visiting in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico from now through Feb. 20 contacting cattlemen to procure beef necessary to feed young men and women who live in Synanon, the drug rehabilitation center which has grown in 14 years from a small group of addicts to a unified community with centers in five California cities and in Michigan.

The four are Roy Gewant, Les Hart, Arlene Heede, and Don Thornton. They are expected in Pampa early this week.

Gewant used heroin and other drugs for 15 years, served time in many state and federal institutions, and was considered incurable when he arrived at Synanon's door five years ago.

Roy is an example of what can happen at Synanon for those declared "incurable"—he has remained free of drugs for five years now, and is a role model for newer residents of Synanon.

Roy, 36, is now married and he and his wife live in Synanon's ranch community near Tomales Bay in Northern California.

Hart is from Gruver, Tex., where his father, Don Hart, operates feedlots.

In 1971, two Synanon representatives were in the Gruver area, contacting local cattle feeders. They met Don Hart and told him about Synanon's program for drug rehabilitation and reeducation.

Don asked them to talk to his son, Les, who was using pills and psychedelics and had found other "cure" tries totally unsuccessful. The Synanon representatives talked to Les, and four days later he came to Synanon, where he has been successfully rebuilding his life for almost two years.

Arlene Heede, 25, began smoking marijuana in College, then went on to pills and finally heroin. Three years ago she came to Synanon, after spending time in hospitals and jails trying to end her addiction.

Now she's one of the team members for Synanon's Supply Department, the department with the responsibility of seeing that Synanon obtains the food and other needs to keep it operating.

Thornton is 38. He started using pot and pills when he was in his teens, and after he got out of the Army began with heroin. For the next eight years he was in and out of jails and hospitals because of his heroin addiction.

Then he came to Synanon in 1965 and he's been completely free of drugs ever since, able now to offer a helping hand to others still caught up in the drug scene.

Roy, Les, Arlene and Don personify the clean-cut, personable, healthy young men and women produced by Synanon, where the emphasis is on hard, rewarding work, wholesome socializing, self-reliance, honesty, and personal responsibility.

While in the three states, the four Synanon people will be available to local youths who may be in need of Synanon's environment. They will speak publicly or privately to individuals or groups requesting their appearance.

From a storefront operation in 1958, founded by Chuck Dederick, an ex-alcoholic, and subsidized by his $33 unemployment check, Synanon has become in 1972 the oasis for nearly 2,000 men, women, and children from every corner of the United States.

Syananon is responsible for the pioneering and development of the self-help concept of drug addict rehabilitation, an approach that is now widely accepted as being, by far, the most effective.

In late 1971, Synanon turned its energies toward the lost generation—America's teenagers. At no charge, with no federal or state welfare aid, Synanon welcomed 500 addicts, mostly teenagers, juvenile delinquents, some Vietnam war veterans.

One of the facilities Synanon operates is a factory building encompassing one square city block in San Francisco, a gift from NL Industries (Dutch Boy Paints). This additional space will enable another group of addicts to enter Synanon this year.

Another unprecedented change has taken place at Synanon, allowing it to accept more new residents. Two full-scale ranches have been acquired in California.

There young people are developing character, getting in top physical and mental condition in the clean country air, and gaining their self-respect in Synanon's drug-free, alcohol-free, crime-free, violence-free and tobacco-free community.

Roy Gewant, Les Hart, Arlene Heede and Don Thornton have three purposes in their current Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico trip:

To thank the cattle industry for the tremendous support it has given Synanon in the past.

To impart the need for continued support of Synanon in its efforts to reshape the lives of the many additional troubled individuals who are seeking help.

And to provide information to anyone who may wish Synanon's help in solving their own problems of drug addiction, alcoholism, alienation, or other character disorder.

Cattlemen and persons with drug problems wishing to contact the Synanon group before its members arrive in Pampa this week, may do so by calling Don Thornton of the Synanon Foundation, Inc., during the evenings at the Holiday Inn West in Amarillo.

Thornton and the other three members of his party are making their headquarters there while visiting cities on the High Plains.

It takes 400 head of cattle a year to feed the Synanon population, and organizations like the National Livestock Feeders' Association, Texas Cattle Feeders Association, Kansas Livestock Association, Nebraska Livestock Feeders' Association, Colorado Cattle Feeders Association, Arizona and California Cattle Feeders, and Iowa Livestock Feeders Association and Iowa Beef Producers Association have given Synanon their full support.

LOT OF BIRDS IN LONDON

LONDON (AP)—For every 100 men in Greater London there are 106 women — two more than the national average — according to provisional figures from the 1971 census published here.

The female-male ratio is lowest — at 102 — in the West Midlands industrial area of Britain.

In the country as a whole, 38 per cent of women in the 15-25 age group are married, the figures showed.

Boston, Mass., is often called the "Athens of America" because of its many cultural institutions.

Fire Hits Jet

DALLAS (AP)—An executive jet suffered $500,000 damage and a man working on it was burned on the face and back when a flash fire broke out at a hangar belonging to Southwest Airmotive at Love Field Tuesday night.

Maxey Thompson 33, of Irving was servicing the plane's oxygen system. The blaze was controlled by the hangar sprinkler system until fire units arrived.

DO-IT-YOURSELF Steps to Take with Ladders

By MR. FIX

House painting gets easier, but it never gets safer.

Paint may go on easier, dry faster and brushes can be cleaned with little trouble. These facts coupled with higher labor costs mean that more people are painting their own houses or are tempted to.

Don't be in too much of a hurry. Look over your equipment. Check it. Figure out how to use it, how much of the job you can do yourself.

If there is a flaw in your paint brush it is no great disaster. If there is a flaw in your ladder it can be a great disaster.

Never mind that you have used the ladder frequently, that it has been in the family for years. Wooden ladders dry out or rot even if they don't break.

But ladders do break. Check for splits and cracks as well as rot. The supports under the rungs may have weakened and need tightening or repairing.

Never paint a ladder. Paint can cover a crack. Protect the wood and keep it in good condition by coating it with linseed oil. Treat a wooden scaffold or plank the same way, checking it often for cracks.

Metal ladders should be checked for loosened nuts and bolts, for bent rungs. Check carefully for rough spots, sharp edges and burrs. File these before they injure you.

Learn and maintain good safety practices in using a ladder.

Don't climb a ladder in a high wind. It's smarter to wait for another time, even another day.

Know the right angle at which to place a ladder. Too close to the house and it could fall. Too far and it might break under your weight. The foot of the ladder should be placed a distance from the house that is about a quarter of its length.

Keep the foot of the ladder on firm ground. Soft earth or asphalt require metal cleats on the base of the ladder. Loosely filled sandbags at the foot of a ladder will keep it from slipping. So will a board staked across the foot.

An arm's length without stretching is far enough to reach from a ladder. If you have to let go or lift one foot off, you are reaching too far.

Face the ladder when you climb up and down. Don't stand on the top step of a ladder and never try to work from the very top. Don't extend an extension ladder to its limit.

Keep metal ladders away from wires. Keep any ladder away from a hornet's nest. Don't put a ladder in front of a door. If you can't avoid it, make certain the door is locked.

Former Russian Citizen Slates Speech In Pampa

Mrs. Katharyn Iwanowski, a naturalized American citizen who suffered under both Communism and Nazism, will deliver an address entitled "God Bless This Country" in Pampa on Jan. 22 at 7:30 p.m. in the Cornado Inn Starlight Room. The meeting, to which the public is invited, will be sponsored by the Pampa TRAIN Committee.

MRS. KATHARYN IWANOWSKI

TRAIN (To Restore American Independence Now) is part of a nationwide network of local committees formed for the purpose of restoring traditional American principles to the conduct of foreign affairs.

Tickets for the engagement can be obtained by contacting Jack Skelly, or by writing to the TRAIN at P.O. Box 1356 Pampa, Texas 79065 or at the door the night of the speech. Tickets will also be on sale at B & B Pharmacy and Hi-Land Pharmacy.

Born in the rich farming area of Byelorussia, Mrs. Iwanowski watched the Communists create a terrible famine in her former homeland.

"Millions of people were starved to death when the government took our food away," she recalls. She survived however and, during World War II, she again found herself a victim of tyranny when she was imprisoned in a German war camp.

In 1952, her dream to come to America came true. Ever since she became a citizen in 1958, she has spoken out about her love for America and her fear of the threats facing our country.

"America is wonderful," says Mrs. Iwanowski, "and being an American citizen is the greatest thing that has ever happened to me. Just to be here, to enjoy freedom under God, and to leave the fear of the secret police behind is like a dream come true."

"But, Americans do not seem to appreciate the wonderful gift of freedom," she adds, "nor are they aware that many signs of tyranny are beginning to appear here."

As a uniquely qualified American, Mrs. Iwanowski is currently on an extended speaking tour. She hopes to reawaken her fellow citizens to the fact that "America is wonderful."

This program is one in a continuing series of lectures sponsored by the TRAIN.

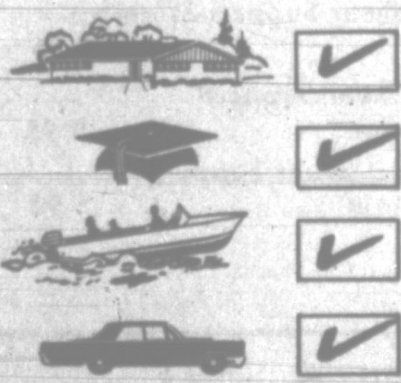

Bill Introduced To Compensate Study Survivors

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill has been introduced in the Senate to compensate the survivors and families of the men who died during a federal study of untreated syphilis.

The bill is sponsored by Democratic Sens. James B. Allen and John J. Sparkman, both of Alabama. The measure, introduced this week, would authorize payment up to $25,000 for each person who participated in the 48-year Tuskegee Study.

The study began in 1932 in Macon County, Ala., with more than 430 black men with syphilis who were denied treatment to U.S. Public Health Service doctors could study the damage syphilis does to the human body.

At least 28 men died as a direct result of the experiment while many others have suffered some central nervous system and heart damage and insanity—all possible side effects

Jewels Stolen

NEW YORK (AP) — Thieves who were apparently hiding in the church have stolen two diamond-encrusted gold crowns and other jewels valued at $350,000 from an altar mural in a Roman Catholic shrine in Brooklyn.

The same crown were stolen in 1952 but were mysteriously returned eight days later. Police said then that reputed Mafia leader Carlo Gambino, who attends the church, let it be known he wanted them back.

UT Furnaces Shut Off

AUSTIN (AP) — All furnaces in 31 campus buildings of the University of Texas were shut down Monday night as a result of Austin's latest gas shortage crisis.

The university is in holiday recess until Jan. 15.

James Colvin, UT-Austin vice president for business affairs, said the heat cutoff would affect only the 31 buildings and heat would not be turned off in university dormitories or other buildings that require temperature control.

Waiting Period Reduced

The new social security law will reduce the 6-month waiting period for disability benefits to 5 months, effective in January, according to Howard L. Weatherly, social security branch manager in Pampa.

The first benefit will be payable for the 6th month of disability, rather than for the 7th month of disability as under the present law.

For example, Weatherly said, "a worker disabled on Jan. 15, 1973, can begin getting benefits for July 1973, with the check for July delivered in early August. Previously his benefits would begin for August with the check delivered in September."

The new provision will also affect disabled widows and dependent widowers who are eligible for benefits on the basis of disability.

In 1973, the new law will mean $108 million in additional benefits to 950,000 disabled workers and their families, according to Weatherly.

"Reducing the waiting period by one month will help to relieve some of the financial hardships faced by disabled people who have little or no savings or other resources to fall back on," Weatherly said.

Social security pays monthly benefits to eligible workers and their families if the worker is severely disabled and expected to be unable to work for a year or more.

More than 1.7 million disabled workers and 1.3 million dependents get $389 million a month in social security benefits.

didn't have a call Christmas Day, so we must have done a good job.

I am sure that we did and we are so happy to work in a town where organizations can work together. Mrs. Georgia Mack and Mrs. Jess Hatcher, co-ordinators for the Welfare Index, reported 170 baskets and fruit remembrances to the shut-ins were given by churches, and organizations in Pampa.

This makes for a happy Christmas for all of us.

We have received word that the Red Cross Chapters have again surpassed the Shop Early quota for 1972. Over 31,000 ditty bags were filled and shipped to our servicemen and women serving in South East Asia alone and without their families at Christmas time. Our chapter filled and shipped 40 bags this year to our servicemen.

We pray that next year we can use our finances in another way at Christmas time.

SPE Lecturer To Give Talk To Local Chapter

MARTIN G. HUBBARD
...guest speaker

Martin G. Hubbard, assistant to the president of Baker Oil Tools, Inc., in Los Angeles and a distinguished lecturer of the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME, will be the guest speaker at the January meeting of the Panhandle Section of SPE.

The meeting is scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 18, at 6:30 p.m. at the Coronado Inn in Pampa.

Hubbard's speech, entitled "Oil and Gas Production Automation," will attempt to answer two basic questions about oilfield automation: (1) What is automation? and (2) Why automate?

Both of these questions will be discussed in the context of specific automation case histories that encompass a wide range of field types, environments and geographic locations.

In his presentation, Hubbard will emphasize the total automation program rather than the electronics or instrumentation details involved.

Hubbard has been with Baker since 1969, when he joined Baker Automation Systems as a vice-president. Prior to that time he had served as a reservoir engineer with Ohio Oil Co., as an independent consulting engineer, and as an instructor and then as an assistant professor at the University of Houston.

He assumed his present position in August, 1972.

Hubbard is a graduate of the U. of Houston and holds BS degrees in both petroleum engineering and mathematics, plus an MS degree in petroleum engineering and a PhD degree in chemical engineering.

Orange Crop Damaged

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — About 20 per cent of the 1972 California orange crop was damaged by last month's heavy freeze in northern and central California, officials estimate.

Charles B. Christensen, state agriculture director, said California citrus growers were heading for a bumper harvest until a cold snap Dec. 8-12 caused a total crop loss of $51 million in the state. Of that, $42.7 million was in citrus, he said.

Popular Girl Facing Slow Death

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — A few months ago, Angela Sapp was a 9-year-old who had abruptly changed from honor student to failure.

Today she is something of a symbol. Strangers call Angela's family to offer aid. Church groups sponsor projects in her name.

An Angela Sapp trust fund established by two neighbors has swelled by $5 and $10 donations to over $10,000.

Angela Sapp's name is as familiar in some parts of Texas as was Shirley Temple's in the '30's. Unlike the movie star, however, Angela's story can only end in tragedy.

Angela, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Sapp of Denton, is dying. She suffers from Dawson's encephalitis, an incurable disease so rare that only a few cases are reported a year.

Physicians believe the disease was contracted last July. All is known is that Angela, a top student and highly popular at Newton Rayzor Elementary School, suddenly had trouble remembering. Her usual high grades toppled.

"We were baffled," said Angela's mother, Mrs. Shirley Sapp.

"I talked to her teacher, who was also worried. First we decided to see if anything was physically wrong."

That was in September. It was October before full facts were in. And by that time, the child was a bed patient and lapsing into comas.

The news came at a financially bad time. The father had changed jobs, going from a salary to commissions.

The new job offered more money in the long run, but it also cut the family from a sure $1,000 per month to a possible $500.

All income went to support eight dependents, for Angela has two brothers and three sisters. And the father hadn't been on the job long enough for full group insurance benefits.

Medical bills mounted and the family had trouble placing Angela in the proper hospital.

"One place wouldn't accept Angela because her case is terminal," Mrs. Sapp said.

"There were too many children they could help to provide space for one they couldn't."

At this stage two friends, Mrs. Tom Manie and Mrs. Bill Baird, both of Denton, began trying to ease the family's plight.

First the two had the Angela Sapp story published in the Denton Record-Chronicle and then established a trust fund in

Refineries Opened
VERACRUZ, Mexico (AP) — Mexican army troops Wednesday reopened two more sugar refineries shut down for nearly two months by sugar cane growers who blocked the mill entrances.

Soldiers removed striking growers from two other mills Tuesday. The San Cristobal plant, the nation's largest, and two other major facilities remained idle.

Angel's name at the University State Bank.

The fund exceeded all expectations.

"I never dreamed we would have anything like this kind of response," said Mrs. Baird.

Within 24 hours, $600 had accumulated from small donations.

The fund has long ceased to be a completely local project.

Donations have come in from as far away as Lubbock and Seguin. Contributions from nearby Dallas and Fort Worth are commonplace.

"I don't know how they even heard of Angela," said Mrs. Baird.

Angela fares worse physically. Student nurses donate time, and professional nurses, when available, are retained.

"I know I'm not the only mother with troubles," said Mrs. Sapp. "But I want to keep Angela as long as I can."

The family insists that all funds be placed in Angela's name and that all donations go to medical expenses. Any surplus will go to another family in need.

The other Sapp children, ages 3 to 15, are helping the best they can.

"Their holiday was mostly a hug and a kiss," said a neighbor.

Fluid is the word for the matte jersey shirt and bias skirt (left) designed by Rodrigues from the Peter Clement collection for spring. Belle Saunders of Abe Schrader makes you look lovely coming and going (right). She designs the gentle polyester suit of Trevira, edges it in ribbon. Destined to be this year's winner.

Everything moves... and the shapes are classics.

Belle Saunders of Abe Schrader designs a navy background print with gold, green and orange in silk jacket dress (left). A sense of the classic for spring '73 is the Davidow two-part daytime costume (right) in red/navy/white diced cotton plaid. Dress is sleeveless and belted to fall from beneath semifitted jacket piped in blue.

Newlyweds, Study Mortgage Carefully

In planning their new life together, newlyweds should be vigilant in keeping debts to a minimum.

The first step may be to buy or rent a home that they can afford. Many are not doing that.

A large number of newly married people are seeking 90 per cent mortgages on expensive homes, commented one bank officer. He fears "the going will be a little rough" for those who are accepted. But they are turning down many young people for mortgages in the 80 to 90 per cent bracket, he says.

Couples signing up for 30-year mortgages on an expensive house may be taking a

HE FELL 23 FEET, BROKE ONE UITENHAGE, South Africa (AP) — Veteran steep-walker Gary Pike, 12, dreamed he was taking part in a gym exercise, fell 23 feet from a window without waking and knocked on the front door still asleep. He woke up as his fractured heel and two broken toes were being tended.

SOUTH AFRICA HAS AIRLINE FOR BLACKS CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Kei Air Services has been organized as the first airline exclusively for the use of black passengers flying between tribal homelands and cities in Cape Province.

status step they cannot afford. And they aren't seriously considering their future, bank men say. While it is true the real estate market is still up, bankers felt it would peak long ago. Things could change at any time.

The reasoning by young people who have assumed the large financial burden of an expensive house has been shaky but has paid off for many, he says. Those who have bought houses in good locations have managed to sell them at substantial profit and move on to another house where the debt can be reduced by the profits. This is a great plan if you manage to make it work, but he considers it risky unless one has guarantees of bigger income in the future.

A 20-year mortgage is a far better risk. Just about the time the first child is ready to go to college, the mortgage is ready for burning, and the debt can be diverted. This has been especially fortuitous for the family with two or three children in college at the same time.

But a 30-year mortgage means a young couple might still be paying the mortgage when their children are ready to start college.

At 7 1/4 per cent, a $30,000 mortgage for 30 years means monthly payments of $204.66. The 25-year mortgage payment would be $216.85 and the 20-year mortgage payment would be $237.12.

Why then do young couples take a 30-year mortgage when the difference is only about $10 a week to pay it off 10 years sooner. For $5 a week more they could pay it off five years sooner.

It makes sense when you realize that those few dollars make such a difference to the young house buyer, this banker comments. It is one reason he thinks current buying habits are so risky. In many instances young people are relying on the wife's salary to carry them through the early years.

The answer may be to start off with a smaller house and lower mortgage payments that may be paid off in a short time. If real estate continues to climb, the little house could be sold at a profit and the family could move to something better using the profit for a good down payment. Meanwhile they won't be tortured meeting monthly mortgage payments.

Before looking for a house, decide how much money you can afford comfortably each month. Take your time looking for a house or apartment in a good community that falls within the money bracket you have set for yourself. A wife's earnings shouldn't really figure in a mortgage payment plan. You may never be able to do without it, if it is a sizable amount. A far better plan is to save this money, using it as a cushion to provide a down payment on a first house in the future. Or a second house. Many far-sighted young people do plan that way, and have found it a good feeling to know they have emergency money available.

Don't envy people with status props. There are people with swimming pools they can't maintain and people with boats who cannot afford to take them out of port. It is far better to have those things you can afford to enjoy and a balanced account book.

MET RUSH TICKETS FOR SENIORS

NEW YORK (AP) — The Metropolitan Opera has extended its rush-ticket service to include senior citizens.

Upon presentation of the identification card used for the subways and buses, one half hour before curtain time, senior citizens may purchase any un-sold seats for $4 each.

At the beginning of the season, the Met inaugurated a rush-ticket policy for students. More than 1,000 have taken advantage of it.

New York City's 1970 census recorded 7,895,563 people.

Preceptor Chi Members Tour Holy Land Via Film

The Preceptor Chi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met on Jan. 8 in the home of Mrs. Joe Fischer. The business meeting included plans for the upcoming Bridge Benefit which has now been scheduled for Saturday Jan. 20 at the M.K. Brown Memorial Auditorium. This is the Beta Sigma Phi City Council project and the proceeds are for the high school scholarship, which Beta Sigma Phi has given for the past several years to a Pampa High School graduate. The program was given by Mrs. James Poole, a former member of Preceptor Chi Chapter. Mrs. Poole showed slides which were taken during her trip to the Holy Land. There were approximately thirty people in the group with Mrs. Poole. From Cairo and on to the Island of Cyprus, the group flew to Tel Aviv. In Tel Aviv they boarded a bus for the 32 mile trip to Jerusalem, a city that is 3,250 feet above sea level which is about the same as the city of Pampa. The hotel where the group stayed was located in new Jerusalem and from here they took bus trips to old Jerusalem, outlying towns and the countryside.

Try Traditional Navajo Cooking

NEW YORK — By custom, traditional Navajo Indian foods like golden moist spoonbread, savory lamb stew, spicy tacos and flat round frybread are cooked over open fires. But they can be made on an indoor range, and when a national magazine visited Arizona's Many Farms High School, where 750 Navajo boys and girls attend classes, members of the Future Homemakers of America volunteered their recipes. The Navajo Golden Spoon Bread below, often served with lamb stew, is just as "nijona" (good) at breakfast, lunch or snacks. NAVAJO GOLDEN SPOON BREAD
1 Cup Milk
1/2 Cup Cornmeal
1/4 Teaspoon Salt
3 Tablespoons Butter
3 Eggs, separated
In medium saucepan heat milk over moderate heat until small bubbles form around the side of pan (do not boil). Slowly pour in the cornmeal, stirring constantly until mixture is thick and smooth (all the milk will be absorbed). Add salt and butter, stir until butter melts. Remove from heat. Add egg yolks one at a time, beating well after each addition. Beat egg whites until stiff peaks form. Mix a spoonful of beaten whites into cooked mixture, fold in the rest until no white streaks remain. Pour into lightly greased nine-inch cake pan and bake at 375 degrees F. thirty-five minutes or until top is golden brown and center is firm. Spoon, directly from baking dish and serve hot with butter. Makes about eight servings. Note: For variety you can also make cheese spoon bread. Add one-half cup shredded cheddar cheese to mixture before folding in egg whites, then complete recipe.

'Century Of Fashion' Shows Off At Museum During Firemen's Ball

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
You can really have a ball in a museum.

It may even be the best place to have such an event, said Charlotte Ford as she tied up some loose ends of a Firemen's Ball which highlighted a "Century of New York Fashion" at the Museum of the City of New York. Miss Ford is on the museum's board of directors.

"People feel closer to museums than other things, and it really is fairly easy to plan a fund-raising function in one—once you get it off the ground." In planning a museum party choose a ball theme with built-in museum backgrounds that provide charm, nostalgia or whatever, she advises. Their ball would have significance because the museum has a great display of old fire equipment. It also would provide the color scheme—ladies were asked to wear red, black, white and men were to carry red handkerchiefs.

It helps if you begin such a party with a fashion show tied into the museum, she said. Their show, "A Century of Fashion" interspersed old costumes with new gowns designed by top designers. Du Pont staged the show and underwrote the cost of the gowns, and everyone connected with the show, even the professional models who wore the old costumes, volunteered their services.

Her dress for the show complemented her peaches-and-cream complexion and red-gold hair. The brilliant green, orange, white, blue and yellow abstract print of Qiana the fiber that resembles silk, was chosen because it represented the newest as against the oldest fabrics start of the evening "so we will not have to leave the tables to do it." The committee doesn't like to model anyway. When they are asked to do it, they all say "no, I'm too nervous," but I tell them "everybody is nervous." It is only by devotion to the museum that I am doing it."

She is a shy type, Miss Ford explained, one who prefers to sit in back of a room. She doesn't enjoy the small talk one must indulge in at cocktail parties — she doesn't drink anyway — so she avoids them as well as the typical society fund-raising party. Her sister, Ann Uzielli, Mrs. Peter Duchin and Betsy Bloomington were among those who modeled the new fashions. The old costumes included the stylish garments worn at the turn of the century by Carnegies, Vanderbilts and Astors.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

SUNDAY, JAN. 14

Your birthday today: Social contacts widen, include many unfamiliar types, require care and selectivity. Today's natives invariably seek abstract truth in preference to pragmatic adjustments.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Break out of your habitual grooves, seek an amusement area for talks with loved ones, family reconciliations where needed.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Be up and about early so as to carry your fair share in community customs. It promises to be a mildly interesting Sunday.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Make all the rounds, catch up on all the news, being very selective about what you add to the local history.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: If you have the facility, move those you care for out of the usual Sunday schedule and into a special one-day vacation.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Your appearance and participation count in the affairs of the community about you, for mutual benefit. Take a good lazy break.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Put the recent past out of your mind, pursue fresh interests, hobbies. Rest is likely what you most need, help yourself.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: It seems you are continuously on the go, right in the middle of local action with all significant expression visible to all.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Now, while close associates and loved ones are in a good humor, move on with your plans, get everybody involved and interested.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: There are strong ties pulling you toward home and those you care about. Turn aside from business.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Recent developments offer reasons for adjusting personal habits. Have a care for the thoughts of others as you go.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Some formality must be fulfilled. This is one of those times when the least you can do is the best, but with precision.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Gather good friends and loved ones about you for a quietly active Sunday. Conversation builds, includes plenty of wild stories.

MONDAY, JAN. 15

Your birthday today: Much of what you have been doing up until now seems insular; much of what you must begin doing from now on is unfamiliar. Today's natives are peacefully disposed, interested in spiritual involvement.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Temper is out of place in the negotiations now necessary. Special advantage, for friends can't be promoted or promised.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Concentrate on getting something done. Being in the right spot at the right time brings you brief advance notice.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: It's high tide in your monthly business-career cycle, with somewhat more distraction, dispersion of energy than usual.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Advance along the lines of your plans rather than impulse on what is tempting. Stay in touch with your family.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Express your ideals in action rather than words. Where you find a cause worthy of support, do what is indicated.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: In trying to enforce what seems like common sense responses, you may upset others who don't have your experience and awareness.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: If you are not really enthusiastic about new commitments, skip them. Review your financial status, make minor changes.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: The extra deals added to regular business operations are sensitive—if it has to be kept secret, it's not a good idea.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Get technical advice or let a more experienced associate show you the workings of anything unfamiliar.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Pay no attention to wild stories. Discipline yourself to affirmative action in a chosen field of personal interest.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Look at what happens to others who embark on the sort of activity you are considering, and learn from their experience.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Explain what you must in the simplest possible terms, promptly, but stop when the point at issue is made.

Trials And Information

In discussing freedom of information and fair trial for accused persons as illustrated by the jailing of a newsman recently, we mentioned that the two institutions exist independently in our society.

Let us consider them as two separate circles, each revolving independently of the other. Each has its proper function, and each has some influence over the other, but not properly such influence that would interfere with the basic purpose of the other.

In the case of a fair trial for accused persons, rational men would certainly agree that when a member of the community is accused of wrong doing, he should be judged on the evidence against him and have the opportunity to answer the charges without undue pressure from outside influence.

The belief that jurors should presume a man innocent until proven guilty places great burden on the judge to safeguard not only the accused but the "state" as well. As a branch of political government the judicial system has developed to such a refined stage, that a trial seems more concerned with form and procedure than with facts and justice.

Officers of the law may bring a man before a court, his pockets bulging with stolen loot and with witnesses to his crime. There may even be a confession and a lengthy record of prior convictions. Yet, if the man were not "advised of his rights" at the time of arrest, a court may set him free.

When Jack Ruby shot and killed Lee Harvey Oswald in Dallas before the eyes of hundreds of police, newsmen and others plus a television audience of millions, there could not possibly be a question of guilt or innocence. Yet his conviction was overturned by the Supreme Court of Texas.

When Sirhan Sirhan shot Bobby Kennedy in Los Angeles, witnesses were plentiful, some of whom grappled with the slayer and took away his weapon.

Great care was exercised in Sirhan's trial, not so much to insure justice, but to make certain no loopholes, no technicalities were overlooked which would overturn a verdict at some later date.

These two extreme cases may cause people to consider the operation of the judicial system somewhat ridiculous. Yet there are defenses for such procedures frequently voiced by members of the law profession.

In any event, this is the circle

Each year we are impressed anew by the vigor of the Mothers' March, a fund-raising event aimed at prevention and treatment of birth defects.

Tomorrow night, with undiminished enthusiasm, the mothers will march again. They ask us all to help overcome the threat which inflicts physical or mental damage to some 250,000 babies each year.

Productivity In Japan Up 10% A Year

By RAY CROMLEY. WASHINGTON (NEA) — If President Nixon wants to meet foreign competition at home, sell more abroad, achieve a favorable trade balance, raise national income and cut employment, there's one key Japanese statistic he should study most carefully.

In Japan, national productivity in real terms has gone up an average 10 per cent a year for the past decade.

In the United States productivity has increased 2.6 to 2.7 per cent a year in that same period.

In the decade, wages in Japanese factories have improved 15.2 per cent a year—well over two times the advance in American wages during that period.

Thus, however low Japanese factory worker earnings were in the early 1960s, they have been growing steadily, less competitively. Cheap labor is not the key to Japanese gains.

A number of studies now suggest the rapid growth in Japanese productivity is due to five programs:

—A heavy import of scientific and technical knowledge from all over the world.

—A first-class series of laboratories which adapt these U.S. and other foreign technical discoveries to Japanese industry.

—A vigorous program of original Japanese scientific and technical research.

—Energetic government bureaus and trade associations which make certain that Japanese firms are acquainted with major technical developments.

—Strong government inducements for major manufacturing companies to adopt the most profitable of the discoveries.

As a result, in real terms Japan's economic growth has averaged 11.3 per cent a year in the past 10 years, double the U.S. rate. Per capita income is now over $2,500.

Unemployment (in part due to the fact that employs seldom change employers) is down to less than 1.5 per cent.

The increasing Japanese interest in science applied to industry contrasts with the slowdown in the growth of U.S. federal research and the personal frustration of some able men connected with the program.

This problem was brought out dramatically recently with the resignation of Dr. Edward E. David Jr., the president's highly respected science adviser.

Readers should not come to the conclusion that all is rosy in Japan. Inflation continues at a hefty pace. Consumer prices have increased an average 5.7 per cent a year these past 10 years. Pollution is serious.

One elemental fact remains. The Japanese are perhaps making more thorough use of science and technology at a more rapid pace of late than perhaps any other country in the world. The United States could profit by that example.

We have advocated repeatedly support for the police at all levels, local, state and national. Community commendation of outstanding police work is one way of showing our gratitude to our friends and neighbors, the police. Many other avenues of support are open, such as marking one's own property for later identification in case it is stolen.

Information on suspicious persons and motor vehicles should be passed on to the authorities immediately. Newspaper and magazine recognition of outstanding police work should be urged by all citizens.

A friendly word of greeting to the officer on the beat lets him know that you support him and appreciate the work he is doing. Since Law-Aid was started, citizens all over the country have come up with their own programs of support. This column certainly encourages this.

War Fund Cut-off?

Sees No 'Mandate' To the Democrats

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The word "mandate" is getting pretty badly kicked around these days, and gentle-spirited Sen. Mike Mansfield, Democratic Senate Leader, just gave it another boot by claiming that this party gained one in the new 93rd Congress.

He was applying the mandate idea in the specific context of new congressional efforts to cut off funds for the Vietnam war. It would be interesting to know where he thinks he finds support for that notion.

Certainly—the 1972 election results produced no general mandate for the Democrats in Congress to proceed with sweeping new programs of their own. Nor can the outcome be fairly interpreted as strict instruction from the voters specifically to cut off war funds.

H. L. Hunt Writes

LAW ENFORCEMENT, 1973

New Year's resolutions usually are made in great sincerity and then broken in moments of temptation and compromise. It is human frailty that leads all of us astray from noble resolve experienced around the first of the year.

In one matter, however, we must not waiver. That is a new determination to support the law enforcement men and women of the nation. Their dedication, is, of necessity, a 24 hours-a-day, 12 months-a-year proposition and it has to be that way because of the vital role they play in our society.

Without the first line of defense against lawlessness these brave people provide, we would be in a state of anarchy.

Concussion Is a Violent Shock

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Please comment on how a person can receive a brain concussion, what the symptoms are, and what the treatment should be. I suffered much confusion, dizzy spells, and general illness for several months after a severe fall which stunned me momentarily.

Dear Reader — You've done a pretty good job of describing some of the symptoms yourself. A concussion literally means a violent jar or shock, and if you're talking about a concussion of the brain, it means a violent jar or shock to the brain. Obviously, you can get one from any type of blow to the head, or in some instances, if the head were jerked violently. Perhaps the most prominent symptom is loss of consciousness, or at least being stunned at the time of the injury. Dizzy spells are a common result of brain concussions.

Most of the symptoms really depend on what kind of injury results from the blow, and where it's located. The brain is very well cushioned inside the skull and can withstand very severe blows—without having any permanent damage. Nevertheless, tearing or shearing of structures around the brain, including rupture of a blood vessel, can cause a variety of symptoms. If a blood vessel or blood sinus is ruptured, the hemorrhage that results from it can cause unconsciousness and even death if the condition isn't diagnosed and treated properly.

In other instances a blow to the head may cause localized swelling and irritation to structures around the brain or in the brain itself. These are often treated only symptomatically, relieving such problems as associated headache, and nature usually does the rest.

The kind of treatment varies from simple, symptomatic treatment to major surgery, depending on how much, if any, damage has occurred. The symptoms vary from momentary loss of consciousness to those which are severe and disabling. In most instances of minor concussion without significant brain damage such as caused from hemorrhage or from an actual skull fracture and laceration of the brain, the individual recovers with no evidence of the past injury.

Here's a note for any of you people who may have overly sensitive teeth. A science release states that over 90 per cent of U.S. dentists recommend that patients can often treat themselves for this problem. When the teeth become overly sensitive to hot and cold or sweet drinks or other procedures, including tooth brushing, they can be desensitized to make life a great deal more comfortable. All you have to do is brush your teeth with a product called Sensodyn which contains stromium chloride. The stromium chloride desensitizes the teeth.

Rearview Mirror By TEX DEWEESE Editor Of The News

THE ECONOMY of Pampa and the Texas Panhandle area continues to hold good as a topic for conversation when ranchers, farmers, business and industrial men get together.

Much of the talk goes back to those interesting year-end bank deposit figures revealed by Pampa's two banks and savings and loan association.

Bank deposits (and they're still growing) always comprise one of the best barometers of any community's economic stability.

In case you missed it, combined deposits in Pampa's two banks as of last Dec. 31 showed a healthy increase of approximately $4.5 million.

Accounting for that increase was First National Bank, up $3,621,234, and Citizens Bank & Trust Co., up $873,000, compared to one year ago.

Savings figures for Security Federal Savings & Loan Assn., which includes both Pampa and Amarillo depositories, showed an increase of approximately $10 million for both cities. Security Federal does not have a breakdown for its Pampa and Amarillo branches.

In other words—what we're trying to say here is that Pampa's economic outlook for 1973, with bank deposits as the indicator, is a bright one right in line with other Texas cities and better than many.

There's no news like good news—and Pampa's bank deposits certainly fall into that category as we continue to move forward in the new year.

ACTION OF THE Pampa City Commission in granting the full request of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. for a rate increase in Pampa has stirred up quite a bit of controversial comment.

That was especially true last Wednesday when the news hit town that the Amarillo City Commission had turned down the telephone company's request for a rate increase there and approved what commissioners termed a "compromise" hike in rates.

Our telephone began to buzz with inquiries as to why Pampa didn't hold out as they did in Amarillo. We do not have a convincing answer to the questions. At least the decision was not unanimous in Pampa. The vote was 3 to 1.

All we know is what we read in the newspaper and what information can be wangled out of the City Hall Cat.

We do know that City Commissioner R.D. Wilkerson tried to get other Pampa commissioners to go along with him on a "compromise" offer but didn't get enough support after the company looked it over and said "no."

Other city officials said they felt they didn't have sufficient grounds to turn down the phone company's request and win a court battle that would be likely to ensue.

One of our phone callers said he thought Pampa commissioners should have tried harder to get the issue to the court-house door.

IT MUST also be remembered that there is a possibility the compromise rate schedule granted by the Amarillo City Commission last week is not final.

Southwestern Bell officials said they were "stunned" by the council's action and in such a "state of shock" they would have to go into a huddle to see what future action the company would take.

That's the way the thing stood in Amarillo as this was written. It could go into court.

The compromise rate granted by the Amarillo Commission gave the telephone company an overall basic increase of 11.31 per cent. The company had asked a 19.6 per cent hike: The rate granted by the Pampa Commission was 16.9 per cent overall. That was exactly what the company asked here.

The Amarillo Commission approved the following rates for telephone users there: One party business flat rate, $13.50; business extension station, $1.50; one party residence, $5.60; two-party residence, $4 and residential extension, $1.35.

The Pampa City Commission, one day earlier, approved Bell's request for this comparable rate schedule: One party business flat rate, $13.50; business extension, $1.75; one party residence, $6.25; two party residence, $4.90 and residence extension, $1.25.

Checking back through the above figures you will find Pampa telephone users are paying 65 cents more for one party residence and 90 cents more for two-party residence phones. The business extension phone also costs 25 cents more in Pampa. The residential extension phone in Pampa is $1.25, ten cents cheaper.

Most of those who have directed questions in our direction want to know why Pampans should have to pay more to use the telephone than the folks over in Amarillo.

We don't know. So, as the man says—don't call us. If necessary, we'll call you.

IT WAS good to see the sun again Thursday morning and listen to the forecasters say no more snow was in sight, at least for a few days.

Just about everyone you meet tells you he has had it as far as winter is concerned. It all started last Oct. 31 with an ice storm and there had been very little let-up in the snow and cold since then.

When you go back into weather statistics and find that each winter for the past 82 years has averaged only four days of snow in the Texas Panhandle and then find we've already had 26 days of snow THIS winter—there is good reason to be fed up with the 1972-73 crop of the white stuff.

Cushing Stars As Film Fiend

HORROR FILM KING — Peter Cushing displays three of the portrayals that have made him one of the most popular screen terrors in recent years. He stars as the risen Grimadyke, left, in "Tales From the Crypt"; as the desperate Mr. Smith, center, in "Asylum," and as a victimized Philip, right, in "The House That Dripped Blood."

By PHIL THOMAS
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Carefully pulling a white glove onto his left hand before lighting a cigarette, actor Peter Cushing explains, "It's to keep nicotine off my fingers. I think the stains look so ugly in color films."

A thoughtful gesture, since many horror films are in color and Cushing has appeared in some 40 of these, often as the fiendish Frankenstein (seven times), or "the chap who's always trying to drive a stake through Dracula's vampire heart," or, perhaps for a change of pace, a hanged man who emerges from the grave to destroy the men who put him there.

A gentle, soft-spoken Englishman, Cushing's latest sally into horror is in a film called "Asylum," advertised with the warning "You have nothing to lose but your mind." Usually talkative, the 59-year-old Cushing only will say about his part in this movie that "I'm rather an impetuous gentleman with the wonderful name of Mr. Smith who goes to a tailor to get a suit made and that's all I can tell you."

Cushing, a widower who has occupied his idle hours painting, bird watching, and making models, began as an actor when he was 22, doing repertory work. Acting in horror films was not to appear in his career until 1956 when he was seen acting on television and "I was approached to do Frankenstein. That's how it all started and I never dreamed then how the fantasy showball (he prefers fantasy to horror) would start rolling and never melt. "I didn't set out to make this kind of picture. It just came my way. But it's been going on for me for 16 years now and it's wonderful for an actor to be able to work consistently. There seems to be an insatiable audience for this type of film."

Cushing, who has appeared in such movies as "Dr. Terror's House of Horrors," "Tales From the Crypt," "The House That Dripped Blood," and "Scream and Scream Again," says he thinks such films are popular because "the audiences like them. They take the viewer away from his worries and anxieties. He knows he is going to see fantasy and not reality and thus he is entertained."

"Since the purpose of all actors is to entertain I appear frequently in the kind of film that does just that — entertain."

Cushing notes that in the past 18 months he has made 11 films — "not always playing the leading part of course. I literally haven't stopped acting and it's been absolutely wonderful." His next job he says is playing his usual role as Dracula's pursuer (for a fifth time) in a film called "Dracula Is Dead... But Well and Living in London."

As to the future, he says, not cryptically, "when I signed my contract for 'Frankenstein Must Be Destroyed,' I wrote next to my signature 'Over My Dead Body.'"

The saber-toothed tiger, which existed only in prehistoric times, had two fanglike teeth that were as long as eight inches.

Current Oil, Gas Shortages Could Be Just A Start

HOUSTON (AP) — The rash of oil and gas shortages now being reported across the nation could be only the beginning.

A recently completed three-year study of the nation's energy outlook says the domestic supply situation will only worsen in the years ahead unless corrective actions are taken.

The National Petroleum Council study reports that authoritative estimates indicate domestic reserves remaining to be discovered exceed 300 billion barrels of oil and 1,100 trillion cubic feet of gas.

With corrective actions, the study projects, domestic petroleum liquids production could be increased to 15.5 million barrels a day in 1985 compared with 11.3 million in 1970 and that natural gas output could climb to 30.6 trillion cubic feet a year compared with 22.3 trillion in 1970.

Should current adverse trends in domestic explorations continue, however, the projections indicate oil production will decline to 10.4 million barrels a day and gas production to 15 trillion cubic feet a year by 1985.

The reference to adverse trends in domestic explorations can be traced to a June 7, 1954, Supreme Court ruling in a 5-4 decision that the Federal Power Commission was obligated under the National Gas Act to regulate interstate sales by natural gas producers.

The FPC wrangled with the problem more than a decade before adopting an area formula for controlling the well-head prices of gas sold into interstate commerce.

Two industry-backed bills clarifying the FPC's authority got as far as the White House only to be vetoed. President Harry S. Truman vetoed a 1950 bill designed to head off a Supreme Court case, saying it was not to the nation's interest. President Dwight D. Eisenhower favored a 1956 bill but vetoed it with an explanation there had been arrogant lobbying by a small segment of the gas industry.

The industry still is trying to recover from a prolonged drilling and exploration slump that began shortly after the 1954 court ruling. A record 58,160 wells were drilled in 1956 but only 27,835 were drilled in 1971.

A preliminary estimate of 27,900 for 1972 would give the industry only its fifth 12-month increase since 1956.

Domestic oil production in 1957 exceeded additions to reserves the first time since the end of World War II.

The Petroleum Council, an advisory body to the Interior Department, does not trace the background of federal controls but states that "federal regulation has substantially reduced exploration incentives and encouraged artificial expansion of natural gas demand."

"Despite its superior characteristics, natural gas currently is priced less than alternative fuels," the study states.

"This results in a paradoxical situation. At the wellhead, domestic natural gas prices are held to a fraction of substitute fuel prices in the face of present and prospective major supply shortages."

The proper solution to the problem, the study contends, would be to permit the normal interplay of economic forces in the marketplace to establish proper value.

"The Federal Power Commission has now apparently recognized the fallacy of holding the field prices of natural gas at artificially low levels," the study states.

"Permitting market forces to work is certainly a better solution than to continue the counter-productive regulation of natural gas prices and thereby the arbitrary allocation of supplies," states the Petroleum Council study.

Liberalized Deduction Rules This Year

By RAY DE CRANE
(Fifth in a Series.)

Greatly liberalized rules for deductions permit you to claim on your income tax return this year a standard deduction of 15 per cent of your adjusted gross income — up to a maximum of $2,000. Where married persons are filing separate returns their maximum is $1,000.

Where you have relatively few deductions to list, selecting the 15 per cent option not only will save you money, it will greatly simplify the chore of completing your return.

But it would be foolhardy to elect the standard deduction for the sole reason that it is easier this way. If in doubt about which method will save you more money, take the time carefully to itemize every possible deduction. Compare this total with what you can get under the 15 per cent rule with its maximum of $2,000 and elect the one best for you.

Better yet, now that the standard deduction is so generous, try to develop a system whereby you can take

ADJUSTED GROSS INCOME	TOTAL DEDUCTIONS	THEN USE
Below $8,667	Less than $1,300	1040A
Below $8,667	More than $1,300	Itemize on 1040
$8,667 to $13,333	Less than 15 per cent	1040A
$8,667 to $13,333	More than 15 per cent	Itemize on 1040
$13,334 and higher	More than $2,000	Itemize on 1040

will take the standard deduction, you will have no real estate taxes to pay.

When this alternating years' program is refined to its ultimate, you will be able to find opportunities in every deductible category — medical, taxes, contributions, interest and miscellaneous — to go heavy one year and ease off in the following year.

With the return of the Short Form 1040A return and the option to itemize or to take the standard deduction on Form 1040, taxpayers may tend to be confused as to what is best in their individual case.

Use the accompanying chart as your guide. Find your own income and deduction situation in it and then follow the advice it offers.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Virginia is a sex tragedy. But she succumbed to what Dr. Fiumara at Boston calls the dangerous "3 P's." Be sure you discuss this case in hygiene classes at school. And remember that religion is still the best deterrent of unwed pregnancy!

CASE V-595: Virginia R., aged 20, is a sex victim. "Dr. Crane," her college physician informed me, "she grew up in this modern, permissive society."

"Her parents belonged to the Country Club but were not active in a local church. "So Virginia missed the moral training that youth leaders of the church and YWCA would have offered to supplement her lack of proper home tutelage."

"When she got to college, she thought the 'Pill' would prevent any pregnancy worries, so she became promiscuous. "Now she has syphilis and gonorrhea, both!"

"So will you please warn your millions of young readers that morality is far superior to the 'Pill' as a guarantee for happy romance?"

As a result, infective organisms then can grow and flourish more easily.

Many modern innovations thus seem beneficial in one respect but may upset previous hygienic and health processes.

For example, the "Pill" may figuratively throw a "monkey wrench" into the chemical ecology of the internal glands.

Its use has been so recent that medicals don't know what its longtime dangers may be. Like DDT, which was greeted with such fervor in 1945 and now is banned, so the "Pill" may later be proved of far more danger than its effect on blood clots.

Morality is still the safest way to avoid unwed pregnancy, as well as the zooming venereal ailments.

For when mankind upsets ecology, it may take a generation or even 50 years to witness all the side effects.

Farmers are now being warned against giving sex hormones to cattle to tenderize their meat.

Same is true of poultry growers, for the sex hormones may ultimately exert a partial chemical-castration of human beings who eat such beef and chicken.

For the social pendulum swings back and forth, ranging from the rigorous Blue Laws of the New England pioneers through the flagrant sexuality of Sodom and Gomorrah.

"It's just 3 generations from shirt sleeves to shirt sleeves," is another example of this same swing of the pendulum. So send for my booklet "Sex Problems of Young People," enclosing a long stamped return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of my booklets.)

Wedding Bells & Bagpipes Mix with Nostalgia

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

This year, 1972, is the year two rock superstars decided to make beautiful music together, a bagpipe band had a hit record, the Newport Jazz Festival was in New York, the first woman was named country entertainer of the year, the 1950s came back and soul came on strong. James Taylor, a new gold wedding ring shining, announced at a Nov. 3 concert in New York's Radio City Music Hall that earlier that day he and Carly Simon had been married. The Royal Scots Dragon Guards' 48-member pipe band had a record hit with "Amazing Grace," the same hymn Judy Collins had a hit with in 1970. The Newport Jazz Festival, which ended its 18th annual session in Newport, R.I., in a riot in 1971, in 1972 was in New York City, for nine days, with 37 events and 600 musicians taking part. More than 100,000 persons spent more than $500,000 attending. Miles Davis complained that not enough experimental programming was done and withdrew from playing. There was a big upsurge in live jazz in New York all year and jazz record sales were up. Loretta Lynn was named entertainer of the year in annual awards given by the Country Music Assn. Nine miles east of Nashville, the 369-acre $30 million Opryland U.S.A., new home of the Grand Ole Opry, opened in May. The week of Nov. 4, the best-selling record chart had the Moody Blues' "Nights in White Satin," which had first come out as a single in 1968, No. 1. No. 2, 3 and 4 spots were held by stars from the '50s, Elvis Presley, with "Burning Love," Chuck Berry with "Ding-A-Ling" and Rick Nelson with "Garden Party." It was the first million seller for Chuck Berry, who had inspired the Beatles, among others, and his first top 10 single since 1964, "No Particular Place To Go." His first was in 1955, "Maybelline."

Elvis Presley's last top 10 hit had been in 1971, "You Don't Have To Say You Love Me," his first, in 1966, "Heartbreak Hotel." Rick Nelson was in the top 10 for the first time since "For You" in 1964. His first was "Be Bop Baby" in 1957. Cashbox Magazine published a disc jockey poll July 1 of the "most programmed artists." Two of the top three male vocalists, Al Green, Isaac Hayes and Donny Osmond, are soul. Isaac Hayes won the Oscar for his theme from "Shaft." It's the first soul-oriented selection to win an Academy Award and Hayes is the first black composer to win. The Rolling Stones had a much-publicized tour of the United States. They went 5,000 miles, hit 32 cities in seven weeks and had three-quarters of a million fans jumping up and down. The final concert was in New York on Mick Jagger's 29th birthday. Elvis Presley toured, playing in New York for the first time in a 17-

April because audiences had ripped seats, broken down doors and attacked the ushers. Carole King cleaned up on Grammy Awards, record of the year ("It's Too Late Baby"), album of the year ("Tapestry"), song of the year ("You've Got a Friend"), and best female vocal pop performance ("Tapestry"). James Taylor won best male vocalist with her "You've Got a Friend" and Quincy Jones won for best instrumental performance with her "Smackwater Jack." Carly Simon won best new artist of the year. Helen Reddy had the first No. 1 women's lib song, "I Am Woman," and had a baby, Diana Ross, an original member of the Supremes, starred in "Lady Sings the Blues" and was hailed by some as the biggest movie superstar since Barbara Streisand. Roberta Flack was No. 1 female singer in the Downbeat poll. Nina Van Pallandt, 36, who had gone to Mexico with Clifford Irving, opened a singing engagement at a New York nightclub while she was still in the news. The best-selling chart included some first-timers, Don McLean's "American Pie," "A Horse with No Name," by America; "Alone Again (Naturally)," by Gilbert O'Sullivan; "Looking Glass," by Brandy; "Go All the Way," by the Raspberries; "Big Bambo," a comedy record by Cheech and Chong; "Fragile" by the Yes.

There also were perennials, like Sly and the Family Stone, Al Green, Chicago, Led Zeppelin, the Carpenters, the Osmonds, Paul Simon on his own, Nilsson, the Staple Singers, Jethro Tull, Wayne Newton, Elton John, Cat Stevens, the Temptations. Among those who died this year are Mahalia Jackson, queen of the gospel singers, who died of heart failure at 60. She had been born in New Orleans, grandchild of slaves. Jimmy Rushing, blues singer with the Count Basie band from 1935 to 1950 and after that on his own, died of cancer at 68. New Orleans-born jazz clarinetist Tony Parenti died, age 71. Clyde McPhatter, 41, rhythm and blues singer in the early days of rock, and lead singer with the Dominoes and the Drifters, died of a heart attack. Berry Oakley, 28, died in a motorcycle crash. Rudolf Friml, 82, composer of "Donkey Serenade," "Indian Love Call" and "Only a Rose," died. The Downbeat poll named saxophonist-composer Ornette Coleman jazzman of the year, the Thad Jones-Mel Lewis band as band of the year, Duke Ellington as composer, and John McLaughlin's "Mahavishnu Orchestra: Inner Mounting Flame" as both best jazz album of the year and pop album of the year. Kris Kristofferson won the Grammy for best country song, "Help Me Make It Through the Night." The Country Music Assn.'s best country song award went to "Easy Loving" by Freddie Hart.

AT AGE 75, this 1937 Daimler is pretty sprightly in the annual London-to-Brighton antique car run. Driver is J. V. Murcott of the Royal Automobile Club. The 53-mile run was finished in the allotted time by 230 antique gas buggies.

WORLD OF WORK Maybe You Can Lose Your Job Over Debt

By SECRETARY OF LABOR
JAMES D. HODGSON

L. G. of Boston, Mass., writes: I fell behind in my rent and my landlord got a court order to garnish my wages. My boss said he doesn't want debtors working for him and fired me. Is this legal?

Dear L. G.: It may be. The federal wage garnishment law prohibits the discharge of an employee if his wages have been garnished for only one debt. Contact the Boston office of the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour Division at 38 Chancery Street for more information.

P. C. of Rochester, N.Y., writes: I work for a government contractor and will need to take maternity leave soon. My boss says he can't guarantee my job will be waiting when I come back. Is this legal?

Dear P. C.: It certainly is not. Sex Discrimination Guidelines issued by the Office of Federal Contract Compliance prohibit federal contractors from penalizing women employees who take maternity leave. If you take a reasonable amount of leave for childbearing, and return to work, your employer must reinstate you in your original job or one of similar status and pay.

Wayne D., St. Louis, Mo., writes: I'm an employer and I'd like an opportunity to raise a question on this equal pay thing. Am I required under this law to give all of my employees the same fringe benefits?

Dear Wayne: Let's put it this way: When an employer makes contributions to certain fringe benefit funds for or in behalf of his employees these contributions are treated as part of the person's wages and must, therefore, be compared under the Equal Pay Act. If you want more detailed information our Wage and Hour Division people there in St. Louis will be happy to meet with you.

Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 recordkeeping requirements?

Dear R. W.: Recordable injuries are those that result in fatality, lost workdays or nonfatal injuries without lost workdays that lead to transfer, termination of employment, medical (not first aid) treatment, loss of consciousness or restriction of work or motion.

D. R. of Lincoln, Neb., asks: How do I appeal a citation that alleges I violated a standard under the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970?

Dear D. R.: You must notify in writing the office that issued the citation within 15 working days of receipt of the notice, that you wish to contest the citation. Within 10 days of that office's receipt of your contest notice, you will be sent a formal Labor Department complaint. Your answer to that complaint must be sent to the Occupational Safety and Health Review Commission within 10 days and you must notify all affected parties, including the Labor Department and your employees, of your answer. If you comply with these procedures, you will be given an opportunity for a hearing before an examiner of the Review Commission. Orders of the Review Commission affirming, modifying or vacating the citation may be reviewed in a U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Editor's note: If you have a question regarding job training and placement, labor-management relations, job health and safety, equal employment opportunity, wages and hours, employment and unemployment, prices and earnings and other matters involving the U.S. Department of Labor, send it to:

Publishers Get Boost in Canada

TORONTO (AP) — The Canada Council has announced a $1,092,500 program to help Canadian book publishing industry provide translation of Canadian books and buy books for distribution in Canada and abroad. The council said grants worth $377,500 would be made to 49 publishers to support their 1972 publishing programs. Another $215,000 will be given to publishers for translation of Canadian books into English from French or into French from English. The remaining $500,000 will be used to buy Canadian books for free distribution in Canada and in embassies, foreign universities and cultural centres abroad. Purpose of the program, outlined under the federal book publishing policy last February, is to "support and encourage the publication and translation of more Canadian books, providing authors with a better market for their work and the public with greater access to books written by Canadians," the council said in a news release.

Half-Male Auto-Deaths Among Young LONDON (AP) — Road accidents cut a year from the life expectancy of males, compared with only a month for all infectious diseases, says Dr. John Havard, undersecretary of the British Medical Association. He told a Royal Society of Health congress that nearly half the male deaths in countries where the auto is common were among drivers in the 15 to 24 age group.

Youth Judge Tempers Justice With Humor

JUDGE LINDSAY G. ARTHUR
By JOHN LUNDQUIST
Associated Press Writer
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Some people get the idea judges aren't supposed to make mistakes. So it will be refreshing for them to know that the judge of juvenile court in Hennepin County has a comic strip taped to his office door. The beagle dog in a "Peanuts" strip is weary of a day full of "decisions, decisions, decisions," and concludes: "I made 120 decisions today — all of them wrong."

It probably wouldn't worry Judge Lindsay G. Arthur too much if he made a bum call along the way, because he won't admit to an aura of perfection. But some colleagues would say he comes close to making the right decision practically all the time. The cartoon, and a slogan passed down from his late businessman-father years ago and hanging on a wall, help to temper the setting of his chambers. The apothegm reads, "I'm trying to practice the Golden Rule but I'm not very bright, so please lend a hand." Behind the good humor and willingness to poke fun at himself, social workers and other judges find a wealth of common sense in this 55-year-old head of the juvenile court system centering on Minneapolis and its suburbs. He is apt to argue in his public speeches that the juvenile court is more important than all other levels of the judiciary — that it deals not with crossed ties and dabbled in, or with civil suit squabbles over money, but with the future generations of the nation. Fellow jurists recently elect-

PERSONAL FINANCE When Ax Falls, Join the Club

By CARLTON SMITH
If the ax falls, and you find yourself looking for a job — join a club. There are at least a dozen methods of job-hunting, and naturally, some are better than others. A couple are hardly worth bothering with at all — and one is the best. That is the conclusion, at least, emerging from a study of an out-of-work group of managers and engineers on the West Coast. Lee D. Dyer, who teaches industrial relations at Cornell University, found that a "Forty Plus Club" was more than twice as effective as the next best method in finding jobs for members.

They were men whose salaries had averaged $18,000 before their jobs were wiped out. Their mean age was just under 51 and the average time out of work was 31 weeks. Dyer identified 11 "formal methods of job seeking" used by the men, plus six miscellaneous methods that didn't fit into one of those categories. By far the most productive was the "Forty Plus Club," a voluntary, self-

Business Out, Weaving Is In

TORONTO (AP) — Three years ago advertising executive Ray Senior decided enough was ENOUGH. He opted out of the rat race and became a weaver. In Toronto for the opening of a new craft boutique where his woven wallhangings are sold, Senior now calls himself an "environmentalist." As president of the J. Walter Thompson Advertising Co., he said his life was a combination of high-priced decisions and elegant dinner parties. "I told the people at the office I was going to be an environmentalist," he said. "They told me I was crazy." He moved to Hudson, Que., made a country home into a studio and then got to work with the weaver's loom and potter's wheel. "I think it was hard at first for my wife to adjust from the life of an executive's wife to the life of an artist, but now she's into the artistic thing herself," he said. Senior said he probably works harder now than he did as an advertising man. His big problem now, he said, is not to get carried away with his success so that he's producing art work the way he once churned out executive decisions in the advertising world.

help organization with chapters in a number of major cities. The club placed 37 per cent of the group in new jobs. In what was almost a three-way tie for second place came jobs found through friends and relatives (17 per cent), through business acquaintances (16 per cent) and through newspaper ads (15 per cent).

The productive newspaper ads were of the "help wanted" type. None of the men who ran "position wanted" ads got jobs through them, though several had offers — evidently not good enough to accept. "Of the least efficient and effective methods, two stood out: private employment agencies, including executive placement firms, and the state employment service," said Dyer, reporting on the study in the Monthly Labor Review.

He guessed that employment agencies came in so low (2 per cent) because they "typically make placements at salaries below those applicants would like to get," at managerial levels. The executive search firms, or "headhunters," were of little help because they generally "concentrate on recruiting employed managers from one job to another," or swiping a man from one company and selling him to another. An unemployed manager isn't very glamorous in their view.

Nearly two-thirds of the group used the state employment service (California's), but 65 per cent of those, drew complete blanks — no contacts — and only one finally got his job through it. "Few managerial jobs on file," Dyer noted. Among the methods used were mailing unsolicited resumes and making direct calls to firms where the applicant's skills or experience might be appropriate. Mailing resumes proved to be not very effective. Both methods "resulted in a disproportionate share of placements in relatively low-paying jobs." Salaries of jobs obtained through unsolicited resumes averaged $12,640, while the remainder of the group averaged $15,532 in their new jobs.

The group as a whole experienced an average 15 per cent salary drop in their new jobs suggesting that the best thing of all is not to lose your job. But if you do, the next best thing, obviously, is to join the club.

There are 25,556 mothers between 12-14 years of age. Census officials said these unusual figures were not due to a lack of vanity. They said many Turkish peasants do not know their exact age and simply give the nearest round figure when asked. Marriage statistics show the old Moslem custom of taking more than one wife has not died, although polygamy is against the law. There are 7,121,720 males listed as married and 7,384,391 females indicating 262,671 women are married to men with more than one wife. Some marriages didn't get much of a chance: Six males and 18 females under 14 years old are listed as divorced. Turkey's literacy program showed steady if not spectacular progress. In 1960, the literate percentage of the total population over 6 years old was 39.5 per cent. In 1965 the figure was 48.7 per cent. According to 1970 census figures, literacy had climbed to 54.1 per cent. Women continued to be discriminated against in education. But their relative situation is improving slowly. In 1960, 35.3 per cent of women and 33.5 per cent of men over 6 were literate. Ten years later 69 per cent of men and 40 per cent of women could read and write. In 10 years the percentage of economically active persons 15 and over in agriculture has dropped from 75 per cent to 66 per cent of the total, reflecting the process of urbanization. Of the 5.5 million households, 2.3 million are without kitchens, 1.5 million are without toilets, 3.5 million are without baths, 3.3 million lack electricity and 3.6 million have no running water. Only 1.4 million are centrally heated while nearly 600,000 are heated by dried dung. Of 28,000 mothers who are graduates of universities, 17,000 have one child or none and only 1,430 — five per cent — have more than three children. Of the 6.3 million illiterate mothers, 3.7 million — 60 per cent — have more than three children. There are 25,556 mothers between 12-14 years of age.

There also were perennials, like Sly and the Family Stone, Al Green, Chicago, Led Zeppelin, the Carpenters, the Osmonds, Paul Simon on his own, Nilsson, the Staple Singers, Jethro Tull, Wayne Newton, Elton John, Cat Stevens, the Temptations.

Among those who died this year are Mahalia Jackson, queen of the gospel singers, who died of heart failure at 60. She had been born in New Orleans, grandchild of slaves. Jimmy Rushing, blues singer with the Count Basie band from 1935 to 1950 and after that on his own, died of cancer at 68. New Orleans-born jazz clarinetist Tony Parenti died, age 71. Clyde McPhatter, 41, rhythm and blues singer in the early days of rock, and lead singer with the Dominoes and the Drifters, died of a heart attack. Berry Oakley, 28, died in a motorcycle crash. Rudolf Friml, 82, composer of "Donkey Serenade," "Indian Love Call" and "Only a Rose," died. The Downbeat poll named saxophonist-composer Ornette Coleman jazzman of the year, the Thad Jones-Mel Lewis band as band of the year, Duke Ellington as composer, and John McLaughlin's "Mahavishnu Orchestra: Inner Mounting Flame" as both best jazz album of the year and pop album of the year. Kris Kristofferson won the Grammy for best country song, "Help Me Make It Through the Night." The Country Music Assn.'s best country song award went to "Easy Loving" by Freddie Hart.

Census Shows Literacy Climb In Turkey

By NICK LUDINGTON
ANKARA (AP) — According to recently released statistics from the 1970 census, 11,720 Turkish women said they were 29. More than five times as many — 576,138 — said they were 30. Only 101,515 women said they were 39 while 503,654 gave 40 as their age. There were 44,132 49-year-olds listed and eight times as many — 333,202 — listed at 50. Census officials said these unusual figures were not due to a lack of vanity. They said many Turkish peasants do not know their exact age and simply give the nearest round figure when asked. Bonds Supported HOUSTON (AP) — Mayor Louie Welch says a recent survey shows Houstonians are aware of the needs of city government and will support a bond issue if it is properly presented. (AP) — Allen Thrower, 24, wanted on a warrant charging him with the murder of Columbus Ohio, policeman Joseph Andrew Edwards Aug. 28, surrendered to FBI agents here and was taken before U.S. Magistrate Charles Ruth Thursday. Edwards was accused of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. Only state in the Union with counties divided into areas called "hundreds" is Delaware. The northern Adriatic region has subsided 70 to 120 inches since Roman times. Simultaneously, the world's oceans rise as the ice masses melt. Victim of this double play, Venice has slipped two inches closer to oblivion every decade.
