JayCee Revue Shaping Up

"Broadway - Butterflies" and "Butter and Egg Men" will gather at 7 p.m. today in Palm Room of City Hall for a pre-dress rehearsal of "You Can't Beat Fun" a musical play being sponsored — and acted in — by the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Curtain will go up for two performances at 8:15 p.m. Thursday and Friday in the Pampa Junior High School auditorium.

A dress rehearsal for the entire cast will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the junior high auditorium, according to Miss Virginia Wellman, Long Beach, Calif., who is helping JayCees put on the show.

A small portion of the show — a skit — will be put on at 9:40 a.m. Wednesday in the Pampa High School auditorium during regular school assembly, Miss Wellman continued.

Purpose of the show, JayCee President J. C. Hopkins has said, is to get more funds for the proposed community center for Pampa youth, long a JayCee project.

JayCees have several thousand dollars in the bank already for that purpose.

Featured in the show will be many a specialty number, including a fashion show, a coped wedding, a quiz program and a baby contest.

Three Wrecks Over Weekend

Traffic accidents in Pampa seem to run in cycles.

The Pampa Police department had not received any reports of accidents for a period of several days, but on Sunday three wrecks were reported.

The first was at 1:30 a.m. when an automobile, driven by John M. Moore, 33, 1035 S. Nelson, hit a parked car near the intersection of S. Cuyler and Tying streets, causing about $200 damage to the parked car, which was owned by Walter W. Anderson, 112 S. Stark weather, and about $100 to the Moore vehicle.

The second accident occurred at about 1:50 p.m. on W. Browning near Frost. An automobile, driven by Billy James Culpepper, 17, 712 N. Gray, was being backed from its parking place at the curb and was hit by another car, driven by Garding W. McBroom, 29, 1128 S. Nelson. Damage to the Culpepper car was estimated at $150 and that to the other was set at $250.

Damage was estimated at $300 in the third collision, which occurred about 3 p.m. at the intersection of Wilks and S. Hobart streets. A car driven by Mrs. Betty M. Talton, 23, 1058 S. Hobart, had stopped on Hobart to wait for a signal light to change. When it changed she started the car in motion, but when the car reached the center of the intersection, it was hit by another car, driven east on Wilks by Duane H. Dunn, 25, Dublin, Calif. Damage to the Talton automobile amounted to $250, while that to the Dunn car was set at $100. Dunn was given a citation for running a red light.

W. V. Hix Announces Candidacy For Lefors JP Post

W. V. Hix, a Lefors grocer, late this morning announced he would be a candidate in the July 24 Democratic primary for justice of the peace in Precinct One (Lefors).

His action brings a candidate into each of the four justice of the peace races in Gray county. Precinct One Incumbent E. A. Vance has not yet announced whether he will seek another term on office.

A resident of Lefors for the last 10 years, Hix is a checker in a Lefors grocery store. For one four-year period he was in the grocery business for himself. He ran against Vance in 1952.

Born in Missouri, Hix came to the Indian Territory (Oklahoma) in 1936 and was reared in Duncan. Hix said he would file his papers of formal candidacy at a later date. He and all other candidates will file May 3 to 5.

He is 68, married and has four daughters and two sons. They are Mrs. R. C. McCurley, Kermit; Mrs. Floyd Walker, Pampa; Mrs. C. A. Hammond, Moab, Utah; Mrs. Edna Dunn, Lefors; J. O. Hix, Duncan; and Ralph Hix, Eldorado, Ark.

One other justice of the peace race is uncontested — in McLean where J. C. Claborn has announced for re-election. Mrs. Crystal Hankhouse has announced for the post of justice of the Peace D. R. Henning and George Setts has announced for the job of Justice of Peace John Andrews. Both incumbents have announced for re-election.

Barges Will Carry Gas

TULSA, March 22 — Gulf Coast natural gas soon will be moving to Chicago by a new method — on river barges — the Oil and Gas Journal said Monday.

The gas will serve a double purpose of heating homes and factories and providing refrigeration for cold storage of meat.

The Journal said the gas will be moved in a liquid state up the Mississippi and Illinois rivers to the Chicago market.

There it will be vaporized for transfer to regular pipelines. Since gas cools when it changes from liquid to vapor, it will furnish tremendous refrigeration, the Journal said.

The Journal said eight special barges are under construction at Pascagoula, Miss., for W. L. Morrison and Assoc., Lake Forest, Ill. The barges will operate on 11-to-14-day round trips between Louisiana gas fields and Chicago. They will transport 18 million cubic feet per day.

First Lady Best-Dressed Say Designers

NEW YORK, March 22 — Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower was named the best-dressed woman in public life Monday by the Fashion Academy, a school that teaches fashion design and illustration.

The first lady, who was dropped this year from the ten-best-dressed-women list put out by the New York Dress Institute, won the nomination for the Academy's list for the second straight year because of her fashion awareness at the many international gatherings she attends with the President.

Others on the list representing various fields of business, entertainment and public life include the Duchess of Windsor, chosen as the best-dressed woman in international society; Oveeta Cully, Hobbs, mysteriously cited as "all American," and Elizabeth Taylor, chosen the best-dressed screen actress.

Knox Kinard, Pampa school superintendent, late this morning said there would probably not be a meeting of Pampa School board tonight, the regular meeting date. A special session was held last week, the second meeting of the month. The board meets regularly the second and fourth Mondays of each month.

CRMWA Picks Three Firms

A five-member committee of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority late this morning was selecting the authority's board of directors its first three choices on engineering firms to make a "feasibility report" on the proposed dam-and-reservoir project.

CRMWA directors were meeting in special session this morning in Plainville to make the final decision on which engineering firm will do the job.

Fred Thompson, authority director from Pampa, told the Pampa Daily News this morning that the committee, of which he is chairman, had met Sunday afternoon for four hours and had picked a 1-2-3 on the engineering firms for the task. He said he thought the directors would come to a decision near today.

A total of 10 engineering firms from the Southwest earlier had submitted estimates on what such a survey would cost. Estimates ranged from $4,450 to $90,000, with most of them in $25,000-$50,000 bracket, Thompson recalled.

New Gas Rates On April Bill

Those gas bills that Pampan receive April 1 will reflect the compromise decision handed down by the Texas Railroad Commission, effective Feb. 15.

Erwin Thompson, manager of the local Empire Southern Gas Company, late this morning said that the new rates would be in effect at least till May 10 when case of Empire vs. the City of Pampa and the TRRC will be heard in 12th District Court, Austin.

The new rate will be in effect from now on, "unless they're raised" by court action, Thompson said.

Gas meters are read between the 17th and 20th of each month and "it takes us from then till the first of the month to get the bills ready," the manager continued. So the bills that come up this time will take meters from just about the date the TRRC made its ruling effective.

In the compromise decision, the TRRC ordered a flat rate of $1.50 on the first 3,000 cubic feet of natural gas use. The agency set a rate of 40 cents per 1,000 cubic feet on the next 12,000; 35 cents per 1,000 on the next 15,000; 25 cents per 1,000 on the next 170,000; and 20 cents on each additional 1,000 after that.

Rats Cause Island Famine

LAMBAYANG, P. I., March 22 — Mayor Jose Guerrero frantically pleaded Monday for an "army" of rat fighters to help rid this town of a famine that is killing three to five citizens daily.

"Last year we had four or five deaths a year from disease," Guerrero said. "This year we have three to five a day. Three funerals went by the house Sunday."

Guerrero said that rats destroyed the area's rice crop last fall, causing a famine.

"The people will eat the ground and wait for what comes," the mayor said. They are beginning to doubt his advice.

Guerrero said thousands of persons have left the area but at least 40,000 remained in Lambayang and other communities because they did not have transportation fare or were too weak to walk.

Bible Class Is Postponed

The Adult Bible class of the First Presbyterian church, previously scheduled for 7:30 p.m. today, has been cancelled, according to Dr. Douglas Nelson, church pastor and class instructor.

The group meets the second and fourth Mondays of each month. The next class session will be April 12, when the study of the book of Genesis will be continued.

Jorgensen Rites Are Pending Here

Funeral arrangements are pending with Duendel-Carmichael Funeral home for Mrs. Ida Belle Jorgensen, who died of a heart attack at 9:30 p.m. Sunday in her home at 732 Sion.

Born June 23, 1902, in Farnell, Mo., Mrs. Jorgensen moved to Pampa with her husband in March 1953. She attended school at Farnell and moved to Winner, S. D., at the age of 16, where she lived until moving to Pampa.

She is survived by her husband, Alfred Jorgensen of Pampa; three sisters, Mrs. Nellie Hazzard of Wilmington, Ill., Mrs. Esther Jorgensen of Pampa, and Mrs. Blanche Blosier of Temple City, Calif.; three brothers, George Beardsley of Winner, S. D., Fay Beardsley of Rockford, Ill., and Kenneth Beardsley of Hot Springs, S. D.

NEVER THOUGHT IT WOULD HAPPEN—Jeweler Leonard Trank, of Los Angeles, Calif., didn't think of the potentialities when he refused to take a customer's check for $168.89. The unnamed customer went to the bank and drew out the amount in pennies. The bewildered jeweler is shown above with the money—16,889 pennies.

Haver Denies She'll Marry MacMurray

HOLLYWOOD, March 22 — Film stars Jane Haver and Fred MacMurray denied Monday they plan to be married, but MacMurray indicated such a step might be taken in the future.

"If we ever do get married," he said, "we certainly won't elope."

The veteran actor referred to a rumor that started while they were in Panama City last week, reporting they had eloped.

The couple returned home Sunday night with other Hollywood celebrities from South America where they attended film festivals.

MacMurray, who stood arm-in-arm with the blonde actress as they awaited customs clearance at Los Angeles airport, said he guessed the elopement rumor, reported to have been started by actress Joan Fontaine, was "all a gag."

"All it did was spoil a couple of days for us—what with telephone calls from London, New York and Hollywood," he said.

Miss Haver, who entered a contract last year to become a nun, but left after several months, merely laughed and shook her head when asked about the report.

Friends of the couple say Miss Haver, 27, and MacMurray, 45, are "very serious" in their reported romance and have been frequent partners at recent filmland social gatherings.

But the dainty blonde actress will have to overcome certain religious objections before she can re-marry in the Catholic church, according to friends. She was married briefly to a childhood sweetheart in 1947.

Two filed for divorce about four months later and subsequently filed for an ecclesiastical annulment of the union.

The actress surprised all Hollywood in February, 1953 when she gave up a $3,500 movie salary to enter convent near Leavenworth, Kan. She gave up the idea of being a nun six months later and returned to the film capital.

McCarthy Denounced From Pulpit

NEW YORK, March 22 — U.P.—Two leading Episcopal churchmen Sunday denounced Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy from pulpits in New York and Washington calling his methods "grave abuses" and Mr. McCarthy "another of the devil's disciples."

Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre Jr., dean of the Washington Cathedral exchanged pulpits with Very Rev. Dr. James A. Pike, dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine here as part of their joint plan to preach against McCarthy.

Dean Sayre, speaking at the New York church, said the method of McCarthy is "diametrically opposed" to the mercy of God.

"If there are a few innocent that suffer McCarthy has said that it is for the common good," he said.

For the sake of 10 guilty ones he will damn an army. For the sake of 30 or 40 he will divide a nation right down to its democratic roots."

Dean Pike said many Americans have been made insensitive to the "grave abuses of Mr. McCarthy and his henchmen, unconcerned as to the hurt done fellow citizens who have been arrested no due process."

Ike's Little Prayer Is Big Symbol Of Service

Almighty God, as we stand here at this moment, my future associates in the executive branch of the Government join me in beseeching that Thou wilt make full and complete our dedication to the service of the people in this throng and their fellow citizens everywhere.

Give us, we pray, the power to discern clearly right from wrong and allow all our words and actions to be governed thereby and by the laws of this land.

Especially we pray that our concern shall be for all the people, regardless of station, race or calling. May cooperation be permitted and be the mutual aim of those who, under the concept of our Constitution, hold to differing political beliefs — so that all may work for the good of our beloved country and for Thy glory. Amen

ILLUMINATED ENGRAVING OF President's prayer is reproduced above. As award, it's framed with inaugural platform wood.

By KENNETH O. GILMORE, NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Ten thousand beautifully engraved copies of President Eisenhower's inaugural "little prayer of my own" are now being presented to Americans who have given distinguished service to the United States Savings Bonds program.

These distinctive awards, framed in wood from the platform on which he took the oath of office, haven't cost the Treasury one cent. It is a cooperative effort of individuals, associations and commercial concerns across the land.

The story of how those few and simple words, composed by the President the very morning of the inauguration, snowballed into a huge project for the betterment of the nation, is a story of generosity.

At first the Treasury Department simply arranged to keep a few planks from the inaugural stand, The Hechinger Co., of Washington, handling the salvaging, gladly gave this wood.

But a visitor from Vermont, looking for a souvenir himself, spotted the boards marked for use by the Treasury. Immediately the Vermont State Development Commission offered to process the lumber for some worthwhile cause.

Then Francis V. Keating, Jr., of San Francisco dug deep and insisted on buying the remaining 6800 feet of lumber. The Treasury accepted his gift.

Then, top men in the greeting card industry offered to make thousands of fine engravings of the prayer. Strangely their unprompted decision to do this was reached in the same hotel suite where Eisenhower had composed his prayer.

Other volunteers pitched in. Looking back, officials at Treasury are still amazed at the sequence of events that followed. As needs arose they were almost mystically fulfilled.

An outstanding Washington architect, Thomas Hill Lecraft, and a curator from the National Gallery of Art designed the simple frame. Glass arrived from the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. The Navy's model basin kiln-dried the unseasoned wood.

Local craftsmen throughout Vermont undertook to cut and shape all the boards. It wasn't easy. The southern pine planks were of low quality with nail holes — and sometimes nails — every three inches. The lumber was hauled north by the District of Columbia Trucking Association and New England affiliates. Boxes and cartons for packaging the awards were donated by Massachusetts Industries.

Vermont youth tackled one of the most difficult parts of the whole project, that of final assembly. The Burlington Boys Club devoted untold hours to this task. Ten thousand awards had to be put together. They completed roughly 6000, and now the Junior High and

TEC Has 20 Jobs On Tap

Pampa's job situation is "normal" for this time of year.

Bill Ragdale, manager of the local Texas Employment Commission office, late this morning labelled it that way, adding that it meant the rate of job increase is similar to that in 1953.

"We started from a lower base this year, though," Ragdale went on. That means there were fewer jobs available at the first of the year than there were a year ago.

An estimated 20 jobs were on tap this morning in the local TEC office. Among them — waitress, sales personnel, stock clerk, car hop, cosmetics saleswoman (house-to-house), insurance salesman, credit manager, stenographer, machinist welder, electrician and bookkeeper.

Claims for unemployment have dropped, the TEC manager continued, pointing it was a "normal" drop for this time of year.

Londoner Supplies Politicoes With Bullet-Proof Vestments

LONDON, March 22—UP—Leonard Barratt has his own way of telling when trouble begins to enter politics—he gets lots of orders for bullet-proof vests.

The other day there was a phone call from south Germany: "Rush one dozen quick." Then he got a call from a luxury hotel to hurry up and measure a foreign diplomat for one.

Meanwhile shipments were going out to the Middle East and Malaya from his establishment. And he was getting inquiries for his new extra-light weight chain mail model designed to parry knife thrusts.

Barratt is a specialist in armor for the Wilkinson Sword Co., which has been making swords since 1772 and has provided every British monarch with them ever since. Queen Elizabeth uses a small Wilkinson sword for knighting.

In the last war Barratt designed the armored flak suit worn by the American Eighth Air Force. And when the war ended Wilkinson made the classic conversion from swords to razor blades and garden clippers.

But Barratt had been working on an idea for a light-weight bullet proof vest, based on the flak suit principle. He finally perfected one which weighs only 10 to 12 pounds and costs $34.

King Farouk of Egypt, now exiled, immediately bought an outfit. "And many other famous personalities began to buy them," Barratt said. "They are worn under the shirt and are undetectable except by touch. There seem to be lots of places in the world where they are standard equipment for politicians."

Girl Loses Arm In Prop

DALLAS, March 22—UP—Sylvia Norman, 16, whose hand was taken off by the whirling propeller of her uncle's private plane at Love Field Sunday, was reported in satisfactory condition at Parkland hospital Monday.

The girl, who had been on a flight with her uncle, E. R. Rasco, climbed out on the wing of the plane and alighted at the front of the wing instead of the rear. She stumbled and the propeller sliced off her hand and mangled her arm.

Horace, Boren, Branch International Airways promotion manager, ran to her side, and with the help of the uncle and J. E. Smith, plant guard, they applied a tourniquet to the injured arm.

Salutes to Meet

FORT WORTH, March 22—UP—The 24th annual meeting of the Southwestern sales executive conference will attract some 350 sales executives from the Southwest for three days this week. The annual meeting will begin Thursday and last through Saturday.

Chiang Is Re-elected

TAIPEH, March 22—UP—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek won re-election to another six-year term as president Monday by an almost unanimous vote of the national assembly.

Chiang received 1,507 votes on the second ballot. When the results were announced, millions of firecrackers were set off in Formosa and messages of congratulations began pouring in.

Chiang's only opponent, Hsu Fu-Lin of the Democratic Socialist party, received only 48 votes.

The opposition gave Hsu 72 votes in the first balloting Saturday, enough to prevent Chiang from winning at the start. The unexpected opposition also caused celebrations scheduled for Saturday night to be postponed.

A weekend of conferences brought many of the delegates from Chiang's party, the Kuomintang, back into line and the generalissimo won easily.

Dr. Hu Shih, Princeton University Chinese scholar who came to Taipei to attend the Nationalist assembly, said Chiang's reelection would lead the way to nationalist reconquest of the China mainland.

Ike Tells Capital Visitors He Will Not Seek Re-election

WASHINGTON, March 22—UP—President Eisenhower has been telling White House visitors that one term is enough, that he does not choose to run in 1956.

The famous Eisenhower grin disappears when the subject of another term comes up. A deadly serious President explains that he would be 70 years old at the end of a second term, and that he does not intend to carry the burdens of office into those latter years.

It is fair to say that Republican politicians generally are unimpressed by Mr. Eisenhower's mid-term disavowal of second-term plans. Some of them have heard it before from other presidents. Few would doubt Mr. Eisenhower's sincerity. But they don't believe he can make it stick—nor that he really will feel that way in the spring of 1956 when he surveys the accomplishments and failures of a first term.

Several top-level Republicans have publicly predicted that Mr. Eisenhower would seek and win a second term. Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. (R-Mass.) said as much during a recent visit to his home state. Martin and others apparently are convinced that Mr. Eisenhower is the best draw the party possesses. The pressure on him to run will be terrific.

Some political realists suggest that Mr. Eisenhower overlooks a vital fact in seeking to take himself out of the presidential picture at this time. If he actually persuaded Republicans that he would not run again, Mr. Eisenhower's powers of leadership would diminish considerably. A president definitely on the way out is not in a position much to reward or to punish the party faithful.

It is the custom of presidents toward the end of a term to begin to feel that no other individual could perfect and complete the unfinished business which always accumulates during four years at the White House. A president in such a state of mind is likely to listen when the party leaders urge him to make the race again so that his program can be completed.

Serious though Mr. Eisenhower does appear to be, some politicians take a look at the record and remain unconvinced. They do not regard him as a good prophet of his political future. They recall his 1951-52 determination that he would not campaign for political office nor quit his military job in Europe to gain political ends. Events changed Mr. Eisenhower's mind then and are likely to do so again.

Asked in a recent news conference about his 1953 intentions, the President said his political managers forbade him to discuss the subject. But in private conversations he speaks right out.

Congress May Pay For Farmland Conservation

WASHINGTON, March 22—UP—Rep. Clifford R. Hope (R-Kan.) said Monday Congress will consider offering "incentive payments" to encourage farmers to take some land out of production and put it into a "soil fertility bank."

Hope, chairman of the House Agriculture committee, disclosed the proposed plan after a government crop report focused attention on loopholes in the present system for curbing surplus output.

The report, issued last Friday, indicated total cropland plantings this year may drop less than 1 percent, even though rigid controls have been imposed on wheat and cotton acreage.

It showed farmers intend to grow 47 per cent more barley, as well as more grain sorghums, oats, soybeans, and flaxseed on land forced out of wheat and cotton. This threatens to extend the surplus problem to additional crops.

President Eisenhower notified Congress last Wednesday the administration intends to try to close the loopholes. He said the administration plans to tighten its policy on the use of the so-called "diverted acres" next year and asked an additional $55 million for soil conservation subsidies to ease the problem. Most farm experts, in and out of Congress, are convinced farmers won't stop producing surpluses until some of their land is taken completely out of crop production. The problem is how to do it without too much dissatisfaction in the politically-potent farm belt. Most answers carry a price tag.

Diverted Acres Hope said his committee will devote considerable attention to the problem of diverted acres. He said he does not favor government "rental" payments to farmers for keeping land idle, but believes government payments to encourage farmers to "do something to build up the soil fertility of idle acres could be justified."

Mr. Eisenhower last week asked Congress to authorize $250 million for the agricultural conservation program in calendar 1955 compared to $185 million this year.

But he proposed that Congress stipulate that only $185 million could be spent in 1955 unless the administration imposes rules limiting what farmers can do with acres diverted from price-supported crops by control programs. Under the proposed program farmers would lose eligibility for price supports unless they followed the new rules.

The Inventive Era

Back in the thirties the New Deal government justified going into the electricity business by giving this excuse among others:

"We've got to provide rural electrification for farmers because private enterprise has failed to do the job."

Back in 1900 the government could have pointed to the infant automobile industry and said exactly the same thing:

"We've got to provide cheap automobiles for working people because private industry is not doing the job."

That was true in 1900. Automobiles were mostly for the rich.

But aren't you glad the government didn't take over the infant auto industry on that pretext or any other? By staying out of the automobile business entirely, the government put no obstacles in the industry's path.

By 1910, in ten short years, the automobile industry was beginning to provide cheap cars which almost anybody with a good steady job could afford if he wanted to.

Model T Fords sold from $600 to $900. Auburns, a pretty luxurious car, sold for as low as $800. A second-hand Model T could be had for $100. After World War I new Fords sold for as low as $400.

Is there any absolute law which says that progress is foredoomed to happen in such and such a year? The New Dealers answered:

"Yes, there's an absolute set order to progress which decrees that farmers should have cheap rural electrification by the year 1934. Private industry hasn't provided it, so government must."

They could have said the same thing about the automobile industry in 1900.

Private progress shoots ahead fastest in the years when government leaves it alone.

Our greatest era of inventiveness lasted for fifty years, from 1850 to 1900. In that period almost every invention which you use today saw the light of day: automobiles, telephones, airplanes, radio-activity, electricity, X-rays, telegraph, motion pictures, fast trains (speed records set by trains in the 1890's remain unbeaten to this day).

Television and the atomic bomb grew out of inventions in this period.

The basic invention which produced the atomic bomb, Planck's Law, was formulated in the year 1900.

This was, incidentally, the last revolutionary invention, the last invention which could radically change our way of life, which was made on earth.

In the Twentieth Century inventors have devoted most of their time to harvesting the seeds sown in the last fifty years of the 19th Century. They have not invented anything revolutionary in the sense that the above listed inventions were revolutionary.

Today, when arguments are presented as to why taxes should be raised so that the government can take over some new business, such as the St. Lawrence Sea-way Canal, or the Niagara Falls electric power development, or any business, you may oppose the idea because you don't want to pay any higher taxes.

This is a good reason. Here's a better one:

If we want to see any real progress in these fields, let them be developed by the same means that developed all the other inventions which have enriched our way of life.

Freedom Result

Writing in The Reader's Digest, Wolfgang Lange-wiesche, who has earned a unique reputation as a flying reporter, asks an answers a $64 dollar question: "Why Don't We Run Out of Oil?"

Mr. Lange-wiesche pointed out that, despite our tremendous production and consumption of oil, our proved reserves — oil which is still in the ground but is available at any time — are at an all-time record level. He described in detail the techniques used to find and produce the oil with a minimum of waste. Then, at the end, he made his point, and it is an enormously important one, in these words: "Americans have found, per square mile of their oil country, four times as much oil as the world at large has found per square mile of its oil country, 15 times as much as the Russians have found in theirs."

"The difference is not in the men but in the hitch-up under which men work. The American factor in all their oil-finding system of working without system; the non-coordinated effort, without guidance from higher levels, without master plans. It is the free play of many minds, working independently of one another and apparently against one another. This system is not fashionable just now abroad. But it sure finds oil!"

In other words, our system is based on giving the greatest possible degree of freedom and opportunity to all concerned. And it not only finds oil — it finds or makes incredible quantities of everything we need and want!

The Psychology Of Inflation

I want to quote a few more gems from "The Art of Contrary Thinking" by Humphrey B. Neill and published by The Caxton Printers, Ltd.

Under the heading of "The Psychology of Inflation" Neill writes:

"In a little book by the late Frank Parker Stockbridge (long out of print), the author refers to the 'first' inflation he encountered in his research as having been recorded in twenty-five centuries ago. Countless inflations have occurred since. It would be amusing, if results had not usually been tragic, to note that each time the government or the dictator (and there have been more dictators than free governments in history, as you doubtless are aware) attacked the inflation from the manipulative or easy-money angle rather than from the sound course of curing the cause."

"In the first inflation, Solon, who assumed supreme powers in Athens in 594 B.C., 'promulgated a plan for the relief of debtors and the redistribution of national wealth which set the pattern other governments have followed, more or less closely for over 2,500 years.'"

"As Mr. Stockbridge further wrote, the Greeks had a name for the cure of inflation. Solon called his plan 'Seisachtheia', literally, 'shaking off of burdens,' which sounds curiously like some much more recent political slogans. And the means he adopted for putting Seisachtheia into effect have likewise a familiar sound. He reduced the value of the currency and cancelled agrarian debts."

"Tracing various inflations down through history it is interesting to note how the 'time elements' have varied. That is, how inflations have differed because of the time it has taken for the inflation to take hold — to catch fire."

Imitation Of The Minority

Most people believe that we are following the will of the majority, but Mr. Neill points out that the majority follows the minority. He explains it in this manner:

"A common fallacy is the idea that the majority sets the pattern and the trends of social, economic, and religious life. History reveals quite the opposite: the majority copies or imitates, the minority and this establishes the long-run developments and socio-economic evolutions."

"If you can locate Gabriel Tarde's searching and fascinating book, 'The Laws of Imitation,' you will hold it by all means. You will discover a whole new field for ruminating over the theory of contrary opinion."

"In an introduction by Franklin H. Giddings, then professor of sociology at Columbia, we are introduced to Tarde in this fashion: "Among the phenomena that early arrested his (Tarde's) attention was imitation. From his office as magistrate he observed the large part that imitation plays in criminal conduct. Very rapidly M. Tarde's ardent mind ranged over the field of history, followed the spread of Western civilization, and reviewed the development of language, the evolution of art, of law, and of institutions. The evidence was overwhelming that in all the affairs of men, whether of good or of evil report, imitation is an ever-present factor; and to a philosophical mind the implication was obvious, that there must be psychological or sociological laws of imitation, worthy of most thorough study."

"On the question of education the author quotes the late Albert Jay Nock in his 'Memoirs of a Superfluous Man.' This is what Nock had to say about universal education:

"Our system was founded in all good faith that universal elementary education would make a citizenry more intelligent; whereas obviously it has done nothing of the kind. The general level of intelligence in our citizenry stands exactly where it stood when the system was established. The promoters of our system . . . did not know, and could not know, because the fact had not been determined, that the average age at which the development of intelligence is arrested lies somewhere between twelve and thirteen years."

NEW LAW ORDERED WRITTEN

AEC legislative blueprints, however, provoked a small riot when they were reviewed by the Joint Congressional Committee at recent executive sessions. They tried to patch up the proposed legislation, but found that impossible because of its complexities. They finally instructed their counsel to write an entirely new law."

Atomic Experts Are Unhappy With The Way AEC Functions

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Atomic experts on C. Holt Hill are seriously dissatisfied with the handling of both the military and commercial aspects of this grave problem by the Atomic Energy Commission. They are insistent upon more detailed data on both programs and on far greater control of any plan for making nuclear energy available to cities, industries and railroads as a new source of fuel, light and power.

The Joint Committee on Atomic Energy has rejected in its entirety legislation framed by AEC for peacetime application of this miracle force. No move in this direction can be taken until Congress amends the present McMahon Act, which gives the government a monopoly of fissionable facilities and materials.

Despite many millions spent in experimentation under AEC's auspices, industry will not invest the necessary billions until its role in commercial use is clearly defined by Congress. It must have full protection for its investment, including property and patent rights, the extent of federal regulation and the price structure.

BLESSINGS INSTEAD OF BOMBS

President Eisenhower hopes that the new statute can be enacted at this session, for he is anxious for a prompt start in releasing nuclear energy to private enterprise.

Several foreign nations, which do not have to spend billions of dollars to produce uranium in making A and H-weapons (they rely on us for these supplies in event of war), are showing greater progress than the U.S. in transforming atomic discoveries from bombs into blessings.

Finally, the administration aims to anticipate Russia in making harmless and denatured nuclear energy available to the world for improving living conditions everywhere. It would give us a great goodwill advantage over Moscow, especially if the suspicious men in the Kremlin reject the Eisenhower offer of an international pool of these resources.

"This makes Homo sapiens (may be translated as 'wise guy,' perhaps) an 'easy mark,' as Nock says, 'for whatever deleterious nonsense may be presented to him under the appearance of authority.'"

"So, let us employ contrary opinions in order to avoid the errors of mass 'unthinking' and then use common horse sense to arrive at decisions. In this way, you can 'beat the game' but it is you who beats it, not the theory. The theory is merely a 'way of thinking' — a way of arriving at decisions."

"The Art of Contrary Thinking" is a very stimulating book and undoubtedly will be interesting to those who want to be consistent and logical in their conclusions and acts.

Economic Favoritism Is Not Compatible With Free Country

By THURMAN SENSING
Southern States Industrial Council
Nashville, Tennessee

One of the arguments often used by advocates of price supports for various products of agriculture is that they are no different than subsidies used in commerce and industry. Therefore, if subsidies are justified, then price supports are also; that if the government is justified in supporting other economic groups, then why not the farmers?

One obvious answer, at least, is that two wrongs do not make a right. Moreover, any such argument for price supports is based on the assumption that subsidies are justified. Such an assumption is wrong, because the only reasonable justification for subsidies is to assure the supply of goods or services which are essential to the national welfare and which would not be provided without subsidies.

And the justification for subsidies is only "reasonable" in case of war or other national emergency. This might be illustrated by the case of artificial rubber during the Second World War, when its production was subsidized by the government to insure a supply of rubber even if the overseas sources were extinguished. There is no justification for subsidies, any more than there is for price supports, on any other basis. Subsidies should never be used simply to "help" some economic group.

Except in these emergency situations, it is high time we required each segment of our economy to pay its fair share of the load. To handle government "aid" in any other way is to involve ourselves in a vicious circle of government support that would eventually destroy our free economic system.

Shipping and barges, for instance, should pay a fair charge for use of the locks on our rivers.

The trucking industry should pay a fair share of the cost of maintaining our highways.

The airlines should pay a fair charge for use of airports and terminals.

Cooperatives, public power projects, and similar operations should be placed on a competitive basis with private enterprise and pay their share of the tax load. And so on down the line. There is no place in free nation for economic favoritism; it should not even be possible for anyone to say that just because one segment of our economy is getting help, then some other segment should get it, too.

Even so, advocates of price supports for agriculture should not overlook the fact that such supports are actually quite different from subsidies. Subsidies are used to guarantee that there shall be no scarcity of goods or services; price supports are used because there is an oversupply of certain products and so that the farmers may continue to produce these products and receive a price they feel is adequate.

Under the system of price supports, the consumer not only pays with his taxes for the cost of the program, he also has to pay an extra high price in the market for the product he is supporting. It is difficult to justify the use of subsidies in order to bring prices down; it is even more difficult to justify the use of price supports in order to keep prices up.

Price supports bring about a chain of evil economic action which is even worse than the loss of tax dollars, as bad as that is. Price support of wheat, for instance, keeps the inefficient farmer in operation, because he is guaranteed a price for his product which he could not get in a free market. It therefore supports inefficiency with tax dollars.

Even worse, perhaps, it keeps marginal land in production that would much better be used for something else, mainly pasture land. This is being vividly illustrated right now by the dust storms covering our western country. Grasslands were plowed up to raise wheat that would not have been left in pasture had it not been for high price supports for wheat. Now it will no doubt be necessary to use tax dollars for relief of the dust-bowl sufferers!

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

It is not likely to result in a sharp, painful rise in the migration figures of the population, but the fact is that the ballet world is being torn to shreds these early spring days over a question which all others may regard as moot: is Maria Tallchief a better prima ballerina than England's Margot Fonteyn? To lose an eye or have an ear snored from your skull, you have only to walk into any group concerned with ballet and take a side. Any side. I can only say, Eisel, dat 's wit your life.

The fact is that Miss Tallchief is technically speaking the better of the two. I don't say this because Miss Tallchief is a girl with American Indian blood in her veins and, therefore, a truly authentic American. I say it because after watching both artists over a considerable period I believe one measures the artist and not her country of origin. A ballerina can be Hottentot for all of me, so long as she is truly an artist in this difficult, exacting art form. No chauvinism moves me to the Tallchief opinion and if I thought Britain's Fonteyn had the edge I would say so in plain words: Four years ago there would have been no debate in this space: Fonteyn would have won the prize and the opinion without hesitation. But in those four years Miss Tallchief has acquired such artistry, such complete command of her dance medium that there no longer seems any possible doubt.

The present hot turmoil seems to me less than sensible and it does not vastly matter which ballerina is the better. It would seem to be enough that there are two such in the world today and that each by now may fairly be recognized as an asset. In Miss Fonteyn's case technique is flawless. It seems impossible for her to make a wrong move or an awkward one. She is trained and accomplished to unbelievable polish. She can do things so skilled that other ballerinas are awed by her. But it has to be admitted that it is mainly, indeed almost all, technical perfection. Little warmth comes through.

Miss Tallchief, with equal accomplishment in technique, imparts warmth and personality. She does not seem to be so much a machine. What she is as a woman is discernible in her work. She has humor, idealism, humanity and personal magnetism. They are evident as she works. Miss Fonteyn may have all of these virtues, too, but they are not evident. She emerges as a marvelous accomplishment, truly great ballerina with little color.

Both artists have sufficiently toured this country to make this debate more than academic. The recent Sadler's Wells tour gave Miss Fonteyn opportunity to dance in many cities of the United States. I literally millions of Americans met this outstanding talent. Miss Tallchief also has toured extensively and her own enormous talent is now known from Coast to Coast. The point at issue scarcely justifies the hysterical outcries now making association with balletomanes a trying event. If it keeps up it probably will result in knifing or worse. People's eyes bug out, their neck veins swell and they approach apoplexy in the violence of the discussion. It seems silly.

Let us get down to what really matters and say that belief is less than an international crisis. There is no wish to scratch Miss Fonteyn's impeccable, mirror-smooth art by saying that the extra bit of personality and warmth that little Miss Tallchief just that little bit farther out front, but it is the fact as I see it.

We should be proud, rather than noisy, that the world's most eminent ballerina is our own.

The Nation's Press

BE AMERICAN
(The Tulsa Tribune)

By Richard Lloyd Jones

When Washington made the word "American" a noun, citizenship was a coveted privilege. Men fought and died to establish their right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. And that was the theme of every orator in the land. It was the lesson in every school.

But since 1933, when Franklin Delano Roosevelt started to destroy the Democratic party, using it to destroy the republic, we have accustomed ourselves to the use of adjectives to define the different kinds of Americans. Our freedoms were so alluring to tax-burdened Europeans that the tide of immigration set in which brought the hyphenated Americans. We used to talk about the German-American, the Italian-American, the Irish-American, the Norwegian and Swedish-American all kinds of Americans. But after the first World War, when the arrogance of the German-American was suppressed, the emphasis on the American side of the hyphen.

As we were coming back to the old standards and inspirations of the American Revolution, the Democratic party abandoned its traditions and chose a leader with Tory forebears who would again tax Americans to support the British. Franklin Roosevelt played on emotions. He would be the great benevolent ruler who would remember the "Forgotten Man." A magnificent bit of hypocritical bunk but it worked. The gullible fell for it. And so it came to pass consistently. But the committee regards this safeguard as too important to leave to chance.

Although the committee hopes to introduce its own bill within a month, it finds it extremely difficult to open the door to a great new era in which men may live rather than die by the atom.

It's got some funny ideas about military courtesy. He flipped his lid when McCarthy, who was covering up for the honorable discharge of a Communist. But he's never done anything to correct the discourtesies to General McArthur, who licked the Communists. Sometimes the President's inconsistencies are pretty hard to understand. But, when you elect a grin, I suppose you have to bear it.

American Legion Auxiliary Members Continue Benevolent Projects

The American Legion Auxiliary lived up to its motto at a recent meeting when ladies voted to help a veteran's family who has lost all its household goods by fire. They also voted to pay a grocery bill for an unfortunate veteran's family. Under their legislation program members plan to write their congressman to vote in favor of the Joseph R. Bryson Bill No. HR 1227 which would ban liquor advertising over radio & television believing that this advertising is harmful to children.

Mrs. P. W. Shotwell, president, was in charge of the meeting. Colors were advanced by Mrs. Emily Coston and Mrs. Estelle Wheeler. The pledge of allegiance to the flag followed. Mrs. Diamis Wood led in prayer closing with a moment of silence in memory of the honored dead. All members then joined in repeating the preamble to the constitution of the Auxiliary.

Mrs. Frank Lard gave the treasurer's report, read a letter of thanks from the High School for the book "Keys to Peace" which was recently presented to them as a part of Americanism program of the Unit.

Mrs. Joe Shelton gave some suggestions for Civil Defense. One was to keep a good flashlight and an extra battery on hand. Mrs. Mary Martin gave a report on the Council of Clubs. Mrs. Dorothy Statton, reported on radio programs.

Mrs. Shotwell announced the district convention would be held in Borger in April.

A beautiful red, white and blue corsage was presented to Mrs. Shotwell.

Hostesses Mmes. Lee Harrah, Katie Vincent and Wayne Washbourne served refreshments from a red, white and blue decorated table with the Auxiliary lighted symbol surrounded with poppies in the center.

The next meeting, April 15, will be a Pan-American program on Mexico.

A Birthday Cake That Helps You To Welcome The Guests

TRADITIONALLY, birthday party delight belongs solely to the person whose birthday is being celebrated. The center of the stage, however, is usually shared by the birthday cake with its attendant cups of fragrant coffee. And for such an important occasion, it should be a home-made cake and the best coffee you know how to make.

Here is a cake that's pretty, footsome and original. It is lemon-flavored and lemon-cream filled, with a favorite white frosting. But what makes it unusual is the idea of having the cake offer tiny marzipan fruits to the guests. Each colorful little apple, pear or banana is prepared at the end of a paper streamer, to accompany the first cup of coffee, served as guests arrive. It helps to keep the party rolling until everybody is present and the guest of honor cuts the cake. Let's that a nice way to make the cake a working member of the welcoming committee!

1/4 cup shortening
1 cup very fine
1/2 cup sifted
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup water
1 egg yolk
1 egg white

1 lemon juice and
3 tablespoons
1/2 cup warm water
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg yolk
1 egg white

1/2 cup sugar
1 lemon juice and
3 tablespoons
1/2 cup warm water
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg yolk
1 egg white

Mix sugar and flour. Add water gradually; add egg yolks. Cook over hot water, stirring, until thick. Cover, cook 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Add lemon juice, grated lemon peel and butter. Mix well. Cool. Spread between cake layers.

Frosting

Prepare 1 pk. 7-minute-type frosting mix as directed. Frost top and sides of cake. Decorate with marzipan and small chocolate leaves.

GOING OVER PROGRAM PLANS prior to Hopkins' annual Girl Scout banquet in Hopkins Community Hall recently, are, left to right, the speaker, Mrs. Jack Foster, who spoke on "My Life in Venezuela"; chairman, Mrs. Howard Brown; toastmistress, Mrs. Siler Hopkins; and Pampa Girl Scout executive, Mrs. Dorothy Statton.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend:

I would like some information on a matter of California adoption law.

We have a friend whose husband has left her and their child without support or a home. There is another baby due, and since he hasn't provided for the children they already have, she wants to have this one adopted.

What we would like to know is this: Would the father have to sign release for the adoption as same as the mother?

I know the legal angle in unwed mothers, but not those who are married.

Do enjoy your column so much I always read it first thing when the paper comes.

Thanking you so very much, I remain,

T. H.

Unless the father has been gone more than a year his signature would be required on the release for adoption. If a father abandons a family and has not been heard from for a year, the mother can sign the release by herself.

I know of no legal way the mother can put her child out for adoption before the year is up.

Dear Grace

Thank you so much for locating the pauper for me. The woman who gave it to me called promptly and I want to get it today. I enjoyed meeting her and seeing her paintings.

When I told my husband I was going to write your column, he said "Why don't you pay for your ads and put it in classified?" But who would pay any attention to a request for seven inches of old paisley shawl in classified?

I feel so lucky that the right person was among your readers.

Thank you

P. R.

Mrs. Jack Foster Speaks at Hopkins Girl Scout Banquet

The second annual Hopkins Girl Scout banquet was held recently in Hopkins Community Hall with Mrs. Howard Brown chairman, presiding.

An impressive flag ceremony was given by Patrol 1 of Intermediate Girl Scout troop No. 30 under the direction of Mrs. Joe Stone, leader. Following was an invocation by Mrs. R. H. Nienstel, president of Pampa's Girl Scout Association.

Hopkins Boy Scouts served the meal prepared by scout fathers. Mrs. Siler Hopkins served as toastmistress for the program which included presentations of students of Jeanne Willingham's School of the Dance.

Speaker of the evening was Mrs. Jack Foster, public relations chairman of Pampa Girl Scout Association. Her topic was "My Life in Venezuela."

The speaker's table had as a centerpiece an arrangement of yellow gladioli. The senior table used the "chalet" as its centerpiece. The intermediate table featured flags of all nations and Brownie table used a "hands around the world" theme.

Etres Nous Club Studies Home Colors

Mrs. Crystal Hankhouse was guest speaker at a recent meeting of the Etres Nous club in the home of Mrs. D. H. Ingram, 1208 Charles. Mrs. Hankhouse, who was introduced by Mrs. Guy Farrington, spoke on "Color Harmony."

"Some color, from a bedroom's drapes," the speaker said, should be repeated in bedspread, or cornice. Antique satin and denim in browns, yellows and golds are popular. For better washability, she continued, cover seams of pleated or gathered bedspreads with braid or binding.

Mrs. Guy Farrington showed illustration of color combinations used in rooms and a color personality contest was conducted.

Besides the guests, Mrs. Hankhouse and Mrs. George Ingram, attending were Mmes. C. A. Tig nor, C. W. Bowers, J. R. Spearman, C. C. Stockstill, Guy Farrington, J. C. Farrington, Holly Gray, Boyd Brown, Norman Walberg and the hostess.

Ex-Pampa Teacher Makes Wedding Plans

Mr. and Mrs. Wylie Boyle of Paducah have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Carolyn Boyle, to Bill Carl Gunter of Littlefield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gunter of O'Donnell. The wedding date has been set for April 3, and will take place in the home of the bride-elect's parents.

Miss Boyle, who formerly taught in Pampa public schools, is a member of Sigma Alpha Iota sorority and Lubbock Allegro Music Club. She received a bachelor of arts degree in music from Texas State College for Women, Denton, and her masters degree at the University of Texas.

The prospective bridegroom is a graduate of Texas A&M College and will take place in Littlefield as soil scientist with Soil Conservation Service.

Charlotte Tompkins Leads Family Living HD Club Program

WHITE DEER — (Special) — Miss Charlotte Tompkins, Carson county home demonstration agent, led a program on "Phases in Family Living" at a recent meeting of the Busy Bee Home Demonstration Club when it met with Mrs. Tommy Townsend recently. Mrs. Gene McCormick, president, called meeting to order. Mrs. C. L. Nicholson gave a report on the recently organized White Deer Home Demonstration Club, with Mrs. Jay Phillips reporting on the pie supper which is slated for April. Mrs. Joseph Wheeler gave a report on the Council meeting held recently in Panhandle.

The group discussed the plans for Upholstery School which will be held in Skellytown during the month of May. The club received tickets for the District Council meeting to be held at Panhandle soon. Luncheon tickets will sell for $1.25 per plate, with a 25 cents registration fee.

Mrs. Richard Barnes urged members to get behind the local Red Cross Drive, which Mrs. Tompkins is now employed in Littlefield as soil scientist with Soil Conservation Service.

A refreshment plate and coffee were served. Mrs. Troy Newton won the high prize for the evening and Mrs. Jack Williams held second high.

Guests attending were Mmes. W. Lewis, Jim Reid, and J. T. Burnett. Members present were Mmes. Lester Dewey, Jack Williams, Tom Hill, Jim Hutcheson, and Troy Newton.

Soup-Sandwich Meals Set Spring Mood

As the first rainy days breeze into town, set your table in a spring mood with fresh soup and sandwich meals.

Delicate flavored soups put out a lure for appetites, whether skies turn sunny or stormy. Always complementary to the soups are sturdy sandwiches — with fillings of your family's choice.

Take note also that a goodly number of the condensed soups are meatless. These offer a double advantage for Lenten menus—being both convenient and meatless. Included among these are the following:

- MEATLESS SOUP COMBINATIONS
- Tomato-Clam Chowder
 - lean (1 1/4 cups) condensed tomato soup
 - lean (1 1/4 cups) condensed clam chowder
 - lean (1 1/4 cups) condensed tomato soup
 - lean (1 1/4 cups) condensed clam chowder
 - lean (1 1/4 cups) condensed tomato soup
 - lean (1 1/4 cups) condensed clam chowder
- Mix soups. Add water. Simmer about 5 minutes. Serve into 4 bowls.
- Celery Vegetable Soup
- lean (1 1/4 cups) condensed cream of celery soup
 - lean (1 1/4 cups) condensed vegetable soup
 - lean (1 1/4 cups) condensed cream of celery soup
 - lean (1 1/4 cups) condensed vegetable soup
- Gradually combine soups; stir in water. Heat well. Makes 4 servings.
- Another happy feature of soup meals is that they can be low calorie. Most condensed soups, while giving good nourishment, average about 200 to 300 calories per can. You can see that they fit right into menus if you want to lose weight.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Last Christmas vacation, Beth came home from college with an odd mood. In her recent holiday between semesters, her mood was even odder.

She took down an illuminated leaf of The Lord's Prayer that had been a childhood gift — and hung it in a place of honor. "It's too holy for me, mummy," she said. "Stick it in the guest room, why don't you?"

She criticized her mother's tabloids as "cultural relics." She attacked her father's politics until he exploded, roaring, "I have paid you $2000 a year to have you laugh to call me reactionary! I find another way to invest my money!"

As the final shock, she announced that she had reversed her decision to become a kindergarten teacher and would become an archeologist. Her parents felt suddenly old and tired. For a moment her mother contemplated the vision of Beth as a tropical topee pulling statues of ruins, then rose from her chair and said, "I'm going to bed." She said weakly, "I can't cope any more."

Dr. George E. Gardner of Boston's Judge Baker Guidance Center has spoken helpful words for the occasions.

"My best advice in the face of this behavior," he says, "is to try and put the child whom the ancient church, when beset by the unpredictable and seemingly uncontrollable, they comforted themselves and each other with the words, 'It will pass. It will pass.'"

My personal feeling is that it will pass when Beth has begun to earn her own living.

In the meantime, it's hard on her parents. To maintain a mutually self-respecting relationship with the grown child whom the financially support is not easy. Their situation is duplicated for thousands of other American parents, perhaps it's time that the problems were brought out into the open.

What's happening is that industry and the professions are demanding more and more prolonged and specialized study from our young people.

At ages when their grandparents were self-supporting parents, our young people are still in university classrooms. It's emotionally trying for them and for us. So long as their bills are paid by our energy, their rejection of our values is not easy to accept.

The prolonged dependence sometimes hurts for them, too. Much of the time, their impatience with us is the resentment at the years of financial apron-strings still ahead of them.

PHS Nine Opens Against Sandstorm Here Tomorrow

Harvesters In 2 Tilts With Sandstorm

Coach Deck Woldt will make his debut as the Harvester baseball coach tomorrow afternoon when he leads Green vs. Golden against the defending District 1-A champion Amarillo Sandies at Oiler park.

Although the Harvesters and Sandies are both members of District 1-A, tomorrow's game will be a District III tilt. The game, as well as the second game of the series to be played at Amarillo Friday, was arranged as warmups for the two teams for the upcoming 1-A race.

Tomorrow's tilt will start at 7:30. Amarillo has already got four wins under its belt — three of which they won. The Sandies played Frank Phillips College, 16-4, their opener and then won two of three from Lawton, Okla., before they met the Harvesters at Oiler park. Amarillo's Friday and Saturday games will be at Oiler park. The Harvesters' doubleheader, the Sandies rebounded to take the Oiler park, 7-5.

The Sandies advanced to the district final game before losing to Poly of Fort Worth, 4-1.

Woldt, who has been drilling his Harvesters for about a month, hopes to find a starting lineup during the two-game series with Amarillo on Friday. The former Oiler stand-out has picked a tentative lineup for tomorrow's game but he will only use most of the squad before the day is over.

About 25 boys have been coming to the Harvester baseball team since spring. However only 20 of these will be suited out tomorrow.

The lineup that Woldt has tentatively set is as follows:

Ray Cooper, 2b.
James Winer, 3b.
Travis Taylor, 1b.
N. Wright, cf.
Dean Franklin, lf.
Larry Larson, ss.
Bobby Conway or Hubert Luns, catcher.
John Perkins or Dale Hemsell, pitcher.

Tomorrow's game will open a game schedule for the Harvesters. The remainder of the schedule is as follows:

March 22 — Amarillo here.
March 23 — Amarillo here.
March 30 — Panhandle here.
April 10 — Plainview here (2 times).
April 19 — Amarillo here.
April 27 — Borger here (2 times).
April 28 — Lubbock here.
April 29 — Lubbock here (2 times).

Little League Sponsor List To Four With Six To Eight More Still Needed

THE TWO PROPOSED KID baseball leagues, the Little League and Pony League, had four sponsors today with at least six and possibly eight more needed.

H. E. Hoffman Oil Co. is the fourth sponsor. The other three had been previously announced. They are Kelly Oil and Supply, Tom Roy and the Sportsman's Store.

The Hoffman team will likely be known as the "Humble Oilers."

There are several other prospects here for sponsors and it looks like the goal of 10 or 12 kid baseball teams planned for this summer will be reached.

The Optimist Club, sponsors of the Little League and Pony League, invites all potential sponsors to Friday night's showing of the film "This is Little League." And, of course, any other persons interested in the Little League are also invited to witness the film.

The Little League film will be shown in the Sam Houston Auditorium, starting at 7:30 p.m.

We have had quite a few calls from boys who have already signed up for the Little League and Pony League asking when the tryouts will start.

Well, it will be a week or two before the tryouts start. If sponsors for the remaining six or eight teams can be found this week, then tryouts will likely start next week.

Clip Dodgers, 8-2 Yanks Finally End Victory Drouth

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. March 22 — UP — The New York Yankees, with their seven-game losing streak at an end, Monday learned that they probably have to open the 1954 American League season without center fielder Mickey Mantle.

Mantle's right knee, from which a cartilage was removed last November and a cyst in January, was examined Sunday by Dr. George Bennett, John Hopkins specialist. It will be at least three or four weeks before the young Yankee will be able to use it for full-time duty.

Harry Byrd, acquired from the Philadelphia Athletics during the winter, and ex-GI Tom Morgan hurled the Yankees to an 8 to 2 triumph over the Brooklyn Dodgers Sunday to end their losing streak and also stop the Dodgers' winning streak at 11.

Card Rookie Shines

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 22 — UP — The St. Louis Cardinals, greatly pleased by the hitting of $100,000 rookie first baseman Tom Alston, met the "hitless" Philadelphia Phillies Monday.

Tigers Drop 10-9 Tilt To Senators

UP — The Detroit Tigers, who've dropped eight of their 13 grapefruit league games thus far, try to improve on that record Monday when they meet the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Bucs Have Power

FT. PIERCE, Fla., March 22 — UP — The upstart Pittsburgh Pirates, who've been hitting with abandon in the grapefruit league thus far, came back to their home base Monday to tangle with a Brooklyn Dodger "B" team sprinkled with varsity players.

Wins Distance Race

PARIS, March 22 — UP — Czechoslovakia's Emil Zatopek, Olympic champion who holds virtually every record at distances of 10,000 meters and up, easily won the Communist-sponsored "humanity" cross-country race Sunday before a crowd of 20,000 in the Bois de Vincennes. Zatopek was timed in 39 minutes, 34 seconds for what the organizers described as a 10,000-meter course.

Have Overall Balance Bums Top Choice To Win NL Chase

(Editors—This is the first of a series on the 1954 prospects of the major league baseball clubs.)

By LEO H. PETERSEN
MIAMI, March 22 — UP — The Brooklyn Dodgers are out to win their third straight National League pennant and the betting is they will do it.

They are going into the race with the best hitting club in the league, the best defensive team, one of the game's top catchers in Roy Campanella, and they also may come up with the best pitching.

Mix them altogether and you can discount the fact that they are going to the post under a new manager—tall, scholarly, tactician Walter Alton.

There is no doubt about it—Alton, the freshman manager, has been given the horses. He's expected not only to win the National League pennant, but the World Series as well. After all, Chuck Dressen was let out as pilot of the Dodgers in October because he couldn't beat the Yankees in the World Series of 1952 and 1953 after winning two straight pennants.

Doesn't Appear Worried
Although he doesn't talk much, Alton does not appear worried. Neither does any one else in the Dodger family from President Walter O'Malley on down.

"I've never seen a pennant-winner with more drive than this one," said Vice President Fresno Thompson. And other Dodger brass agree.

As a club, the Dodgers are set except for their bench—and whatever players who those reserve spots, it is sure to be the strongest in the league. Those reserves probably could play regularly on most other teams in the league.

At first it will be Gil Hodges, at second Junior Gilliam, the 1953 rookie of the year; at short, Pee Wee Reese, the sparkplug of the club; at third, fancy-footing Billy Cox. In the outfield will be Jackie Robinson in left, Duke Snider in center and Carl Furillo, the major league batting champion, in right, with Campanella behind the plate and Al Walker to spell him if necessary.

Had Best Years
Most of them had their best major league years in 1953 and it could be that age will catch up with Robinson, who is 35; Reese, who is 34; Campanella, who is 33 and Furillo who is 32.

But, if it does, the Dodgers have the best crop of rookies in the majors. Fellows like third baseman Don Hoak, shortstop Don Zimmerman, outfielders Don Thompson and Dick Williams and catcher Charlie Thompson are ready to take over.

Age is no problem on the pitching staff except for Preacher Roe, who is 36. But he is a cagey, old south-paw who gives fits to contending clubs such as the Cardinals and is sure to be spotted against them and other clubs whose batting strength is left-handed. But the Preach doesn't figure in the starting rotation.

That will be big Don Newcombe, back from the service after winning 20 in 1951; Carl Erskine, the World Series all-time strikeout king who won 20 last year; Russ Meyer, 18-6, Billy Loew (14-8) and Young Johnny Podres (9-4), who probably will be the only left-hander on the staff besides Roe. A lot of knowing baseball men think that Podres, if he can overcome his back ailment, will be among one of the best in the business.

Collegiate Cage Stars In Benefit Tilt

KANSAS CITY, March 22 — UP — Some of the nation's top collegiate basketball talent was ready to take the floor to aid crippled children in a benefit game Monday night, but an eligibility ruling may keep some of them from performing in the East-West battle.

Cliff Hagan, Frank Ramsey and Lou Telfordopolous, all of Kentucky, John Kerr of Illinois and Ed Kalafat of Minnesota may be barred from the game.

All played in an all-star game against the professional Minneapolis Lakers, and that raised a question of amateur status of the group. AAU officials were reported checking to see if any of the players received money for the appearance against the Lakers.

But a capacity crowd was expected to jam municipal auditorium, which holds 10,000 fans — to see some top scorers in action in the annual East-West game sponsored by Ararat Shrine to raise money for crippled children's hospitals.

Fabulous Bevo Francis will lead his Rio Grande, Ohio, College team against Rockhurst College of Kansas City in a preliminary contest at 7:45 p.m. est.

In the East-West game, the fans will see Furman's Frank Selvy, who broke scoring records by the dozen the past season, Louisiana State's Bob Pettit, Tulsa's Dick Nunney, Kansas' B. H. Born, Oklahoma A&M's Bob Matlack, and other court stars.

Elks Park of California, coaching the West squad, indicated he would start a lineup consisting of Pettit, Paul Scheer of Wichita, Arnold Short of Oklahoma City University, Tom Fuller of Oklahoma A&M and Bob Matheny of California.

Adolph Rupp of Kentucky, who postponed a rest ordered by his doctors because he said he wanted to help crippled children by coaching the East squad, expressed confidence he would be able to use his Kentucky players in the game. He planned to start Hagan, Selvy, Tom Marshall of Western Kentucky, Bob Carney of Bradley and Gene Shue of Maryland.

Football TV Plans Mailed To Members

KANSAS CITY, March 22 — UP — The NCAA football television committee, which Sunday night "agreed on a plan to be presented to members by the group," will disclose its details until March 30 or later.

Harvey Casill, athletic director of the University of Washington and chairman of the NCAA football TV group, said the plan-for-telecasting the games must be put into "proper editorial form."

The committee, it was announced, will have "no comment" until the plan is in an approved editorial form and submitted to the membership for ratification.

Mailing to the presidents of each member institution and the executive officer of each allied conference is scheduled a week from Monday. Walt Byers, NCAA executive secretary, said the plan may be released to the press the next day, March 30.

For ratification, the TV plan must be approved by a two-thirds majority vote of members by mail ballot postmarked no later than midnight April 9.

Giles Defends Cardinal Owners

TAMPA, Fla., March 22 — UP — National League President Warren C. Giles, in one of his career, defended the new St. Louis Cardinals owners Sunday night and called "all this talk about commercial interests owning ball clubs to the detriment of baseball plain poppycock."

Although Giles mentioned no names, his blast unquestionably was aimed at Sen. Edwin C. Johnson, president of the Western League. Johnson has introduced the bill the Senate designed to make baseball teams owned by brewers or other liquor interests subject to the federal anti-trust laws.

August A. Busch Jr. of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Co., is president of the Cardinals and has faced the brunt of Sen. Johnson's attack against commercial interests in baseball.

Mayer Sinks $900 Putt Bolt-Mayer Win 4-Ball In Playoff

IAMI BEACH, March 22 — UP — Jack Mayer's steady putting under pressure and Tommy Bolt's work with a borrowed set of irons Monday during the Pines dunes, Bolt ended it with his long "money" shot.

Actually, five teams almost wound up tied for first place at the end of regulation play. Finishing with 259 scores were Sam Breadley of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Jim Ferrer of San Francisco; Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., and Johnny Palmer of Charlotte, N.C.; and Fred Haas of New Orleans and Art Wall Jr. of Peconic Manor, Pa.

Bracketed at 280 were Skip Alexander of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Cary Middlecott of Memphis, Tenn., and Tom of Livingston, N.J., and Peter Thomson of Australia. Tied at 281 were John Barnum of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Shelby Mayfield of Chicopee, Mass.; Dave Douglas of Grossinger, N.Y., and Jim Furness of Briar Cliff, N.Y.; and Herman Barron of White Plains, N.Y., and Al Besselink of Grossinger, N.Y.

One-And-One Rule Is Out

KANSAS CITY, March 22 — UP — The National Basketball committee of the United States and Canada Monday threw out the game's one-and-one rule and substituted for it a "bonus" rule.

The new rule will be in effect for the first 37 minutes of all 40-minute ball games. It provides that on a common foul, or one shot infraction, the player be given a bonus free throw if he makes his first shot. If he misses his first try, the ball goes in play. For the last three minutes, however, the rule will remain unchanged from today's in that all common fouls will be worth two shots.

The old rule, which was almost universally disliked at least in some respects, provided an extra free throw if the first try on a common foul was missed. It also was a 37-minute rule.

The new rules body said the "bonus" rule would be the only important change, since a widely-circulated questionnaire in the U.S. and Canada "indicated people are generally satisfied with the game the way it is."

The new rule was recommended by the National Association of Basketball Coaches, which ended a three-day convention here Saturday. It was "fathered" by John W. Bunn, coach of Springfield (Mass.) College and a member of the rules committee.

The new rule, with the exception that it was carried out in the experimental 40-minute game, was tried experimentally Saturday in the Southern California - Penn State consolation game in the NCAA finals. Penn State won some coaches liked it; some didn't.

H. V. Porter, Chicago, secretary and spokesman of the rules group, said the new rule was adopted "to increase the severity of the common foul penalty, and to provide a reward for the good free throw shooter."

The committee also adopted a rule dividing all 40-minute games into halves instead of the present four quarters.

Comment came along quickly after the experiment with the new bonus rule.

Only Coach Forrest B. Twogod of Southern California, whose team participated in the experimental game, said definitely:

"I hope the new rule is put into effect."

The experimental game was the Penn State-Southern California consolation contest of the NCAA championship, played Saturday night. Penn State defeated USC, 70 to 61.

The two teams played under a proposed change in the one-and-one foul rule, providing that on all common fouls for the full 40 minutes of the game, a player was given one free throw. If he missed his charity shot, the ball remained in play. If he made it, he got a second "bonus" shot from the free throw line.

The present one-and-one rule gives the fouled player a second free throw, whether or not he makes his first shot.

Peter Allen of Kansas University, a controversial basketball figure in his own right who does not hesitate to express his opinions on the game, quipped:

"New rules? Don't tell me some changes will be made—maybe the goals will be raised—for the floor lowered."

"Seriously, though," he said, "I think we should pass judgment after a fair tryout. One game hardly is enough."

USC played in the two games comparison in the NCAA tournament at Kansas City showed the Westerners realized more points from each foul in the experimental contest. Southern Cal averaged 1.174 points for each Penn State foul. Against Bradley Friday night, USC averaged 1.125 points. The percentage of fouls could add State won over a season of 28 to 30 games, it was pointed out.

Gola Unanimous LaSalle Puts Two On All-NCAA Five

KANSAS CITY, March 22 — UP — LaSalle's Explorers, who placed two men on the all-tournament team, set five of 12 new records and tied another in winning the 1954 NCAA basketball championship, looked Monday like a team to beat in 1955.

Among the eight men whose court play won the NCAA crown for the Philadelphia entry, only one will graduate this year—three-letter senior guard Frank O'Hara.

Six of the eight are sophomores. The other is one-man destroyer Tom Gola, an all-American junior whose performances against both Penn State and Bradley in last weekend's championship tournament kept sell-out crowds on their feet.

"It looks like it's going to be some time before LaSalle is knocked off its perch," one opposing coach conceded ruefully Monday.

Wonderful Year
"This has been a wonderful year. LaSalle's record was 26-4 for us," said LaSalle Coach Kenneth E. Loeffler, "and this has been a wonderful trip to Kansas City. I hope we can come again—soon."

Gola was the only unanimous selection for all-tournament team that was announced Sunday, following LaSalle's 92 to 76 final triumph over Bradley Saturday night.

The six-foot, seven-inch rebounding giant also was voted the tournament's most valuable player. Gola scored 38 points in the two

Aggs End 2nd Week Of Drills

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., March 22 — UP — Remaining Texas A&M spring football workouts will be closed to the public, with exception of the annual Maroon and White intrasquad game scheduled next Saturday night, Coach Paul Bryant said Monday.

The Aggies have completed two weeks of spring drills and will work five days this week.

The Maroon and White game scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in Kyle Field will be an A&M 15th day of the allotted 18 day period. From the original 104 candidates who reported on opening day, March 8, the squad now contains only 50 men.

Bryant also announced letterman guard Louis Capt. of Uvalde will graduate this spring, in place of taking his remaining year of eligibility. Capt's departure leaves 17 lettermen on the squad, 15 from the 1953 team; plus two who lettered in 1952.

The letter include halfback Charlie Hall of Dallas and end Billy McGowan of Silsbee. Tackle Jack Powell, a letterman from Waco, is scholastically ineligible and not currently working out.

Co-captains elected Sunday for the 1954 season include two natives of Texas, seniors Bennie Sinclair, end from Mineola, and tackle Norbert Ohlendorf of Lockhart.

You Can Have Extra Safety With A Set Of Firestone Tires

You, too, can have extra driving safety with Firestone Supreme tires. You should protect yourself and your family and friends by increasing your driving safety and too, you'll find it's more economical in the long run. Firestone Supreme tires guard against flats, blowouts and dangerous skids and that alone saves you money. And you can get these wonderful tires for just a few cents difference than a regular tire that needs a tube.

The reason for Supreme Tires' popularity is they offer the best in protection against the three big tire hazards: blowouts, punctures and skids.

The advantages of the Firestone Supreme tires are:

- A safety diaphragm that in effect is an emergency tire to hold a large volume of air in case of a blowout.
- A safety valve that closes instantly in case of a blowout.
- Puncture sealant — soft pliable rubber seals punctures instantly.
- Premium quality tread — wider, flatter, deeper with built in skid resistors and traction boosters take a firm grip on wet roads.
- Those features add up to greater driving safety. The stronger cord body has the resistance to impact breaks like those caused by hitting a sharp stone, chuck hole, or any sharp object in the road. The resistance of Supreme tires is 300 pounds per square inch greater than that of regular passenger tires.
- The safety diaphragm is mounted inside the tire. It also is built of strong, gum-dipped cord. Actually it is an emergency tire with its own built-in air chamber in the inner chamber in case of a blowout.
- The safety valve, a patented feature, acts faster than anyone can think. In the event of a blowout it closes instantly and traps two-thirds of the air in the inner chamber. Thus it prevents the Supreme tire from collapsing on rim like ordinary tires. The Firestone Supreme tire drops only an inch and a half, down to the inner emergency tire. In that way it makes any blowout harmless and enables the driver to bring his car to a safe stop.
- You can see these wonderful Firestone Supreme Tires, at the local Firestone Store, located at 117 S. Cuyler.

Mother Dog Knew Her Way To Vet

DALLAS, March 22 — UP — A tiny Japanese made her way across a six-lane expressway Sunday and walked two miles to scratch on the door of a veterinarian's office where she became the mother of the first pup in a litter of three.

The veterinarian said it was unusual for injured dogs to find their way to a veterinarian. "But this is the first time an expectant dog has ever showed up," Dr. James Conley of the J. N. Holt animal clinic said.

Suzi, the four-year-old spaniel, is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Raiberto Comini.

Comini heard scratches and whimpers outside the clinic door where he found Suzi. Before the startled veterinarian could lift Suzi onto a table, she gave birth to the first pup.

Meanwhile the Cominis had discovered their pet missing and conducted a frantic search. After two hours they gave up.

When they returned home, they heard the telephone ringing. The caller was Conley, who told them of Suzi's feat.

Comini, Dallas portrait photographer, and his wife rushed to the clinic for the dog.

On arriving home, Suzi gave birth to her second pup in the living room of the Comini home. Shortly afterward, the third arrival made its appearance.

Mrs. Comini said she had taken Suzi to the Holt animal clinic about once annually since she and her husband had acquired the dog. But she said they always made the trip by automobile.

British Have Hankering To Copy American Motels

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
 WASHINGTON, March 22 — An item in a London newspaper says the British have a hankering to copy the American style of motor courts or motels.

But the promoters have hit a snag.

The Daily Telegraph and Morning Post reports the move to turn an old mansion into a sort of motel is opposed by the local licensed trade and by private residents.

Here is the way the story in the British paper ran:

"Mr. George Graham Lyon of Royal Avenue, Chelsea, hotel proprietor, and Co. William Atkins of Bath Road, applied for the grant full publicans license (sic) for the new venture."

"The plan was eventually to let the motel thing sprout all over the British countryside. And may be attract the American tourist for good old American dollars.

"The thinkers of the idea apparently thought about the Britishers who often visit our 50,000 motels. They cost a pretty $4 billion and each year take in $1.5 billion.

"The thinkers on the other side of the picture raised their hands in protest.

"The British promoters wanted to do was to make the American tourist feel at home. Like in a place called the 'matford House,' which was to be converted into a sort of motel and was the case in point.

"A Superintendent Hutchings, according to my best informants in London, was the loudest in his objection. He said, in effect, that no American tourist would feel at home in a reconverted mansion.

"He also said Americans visiting Britain for the first time would rather stay in something more British. Like an old Inn. Motels, he said, are something they can find at home. A reconverted mansion of all of which caused quite a commotion in England.

"Reason Needs
 There were those, like a Mr. Hugh Parks, who argued that 'apart from 12 weeks in the peak of the summer season, there would be no demand for casual sleeping accommodation along the Exter by-pass (where the mansion is located).'
 "This talk of a motel is just a bait," he said. "What is wanted (in the application) is just a vast road house to attract anyone who wants a drink. A road house in that beautiful locality would destroy the amenities of the private residents."
 Maybe the objectors are shortsighted. In this country, winter or summer, the motel does pretty

She's not even disturbed over the fact that she may have to appear in a swimsuit. For the first time in 16 years, the contest will stress ability in the kitchen over beauty, which should give Mrs. Smith a lead over some of her younger foes.

NO AIRPLANE IS PERFECT BUT, ALL HAVE BOTH GOOD AND BAD QUALITIES. IF YOU MAKE THEM STRONG, THEY'RE HEAVY. IF YOU MAKE THEM LIGHT, THEY'RE FRAGILE.

TAKE THE SKYRAY, FOR EXAMPLE. BRAND NEW! RED HOT! WE THINK IT'S GOOD—BUT HOW GOOD? HOW CAN WE MAKE IT BETTER?

WE KNOW IT'S FAST, BUT IS IT SLOW ENOUGH FOR AIRCRAFT CARRIER OPERATIONS? IS IT RUGGED? CAN IT STAND THE GRUELING PUNISHMENT OF CATAPULT SHOTS AND ARRESTING GEAR LANDINGS? YOUR JOB IS TO TEST IT, TO BANG IT AROUND, TO FIND OUT.

Birk Douglas of 'Ashamed' Tax Deal

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD, March 22 — UP — Birk Douglas, back in Hollywood for 18 months out of the country, Monday he saw nothing wrong with the tax deal, saying that the actors working overseas to taxes.

Douglas is the next-to-the-last of the big-name stars to come home from the great tax trek to Europe, as left the movie colony minus any of its citizens. Alan Ladd returned last week with his family; Gregory Peck is due next month and Claudette Colbert in a recent week.

"Any time I hear about a way to avoid taxes I'm interested. I don't know who isn't," said Douglas in a dressing room at the Diney studio where he is starting in "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea," the Jules Verne classic.

"Especially in the field of acting here, you make a lot of money in a short period of time. Rome, Europe is filled with businessmen who have made millions by living overseas."

"No nobody ever hears about them," he added with a grin.

Douglas left Hollywood to star in "The Jugger" in Israel. From there he took off for other countries to appear in American films being shot on actual localities. He had to learn to speak French fluently for the French version of "Act of Love."

"But I got homesick at times and plenty tired of living out of a suitcase," he said. "I'm glad to be back."

One sad thought during his overseas stay, he went on, was that he had given up his Hollywood house.

"I had no roots," he said. "It was depressing when I was traveling and I found I had no place to go home to."

"Thought when I came back I'd live in New York. I thought I had no friends in California, nobody to come home to, I felt sorry for myself, I guess."

But his friends suggested he buy a house here, by remote control through them. Douglas spent the last days of his 18-month period traveling in Mexico, and came home in the nick of time before the picture started to move into a new house he'd never seen.

He found it completely furnished by his pals, right down to a toothbrush, steaks in the deep freeze, eggs in the refrigerator and a butler.

"The only time they went too far was a monogram on the bed," he said.

He added, "I haven't seen the bill yet, either."

Card of Thanks

Life's train sweeps along on its mission of joy and sorrow. It gliding swiftly along thru the years, bringing hopes and ambitions to their appointed time.

Which are sweetened by joys and tears.

It travels along o'er life's highway, past green fields of youth with its dream.

Which awakens the sleeper who slumbers from life's ever beautiful dream.

Life's train stops only at stations where the Master Who signals on high.

Has provided a welcome for him, whose train takes at its passage by. His hand the unseen is on the throttle.

His wisdom and compass the best. And His love is supreme as He points to those appearing in this issue. Call in immediately when you find an error.

Where only were called home before. And the headlight that pierces the darkness.

Sheds the sorrow in each weary breast.

And with glory illuminates the portals of Heaven, where the train goes by.

Then out thru the gloom, see the shining stars.

And the face of the Pilot Aboard Who has called from a happy home circle.

Our loved one to mansions above. Where where Life's storm sweeps never.

Safe in the realm of the beatific.

Thus, one by one, we are passing. Passing on as life's train goes by. And as friends remaining we offer our tribute with tear moistened eye.

Passing on as life's train goes by. He proved faithful in every test. He is worthy of life's crown eternal in life's Beautiful Station of Rest.

"I can do all things through Christ that strengtheneth me."
 —Philippians 4:13

James Harold Lunsford

We wish to express our appreciation to our many friends for their kindness and comforting words in the loss of our dear son and brother, Carroll Lunsford, who passed away peacefully on the food brought to our home. To Rev. Douglas Carver for such a nice message and also to Rev. Carroll Lunsford and Rev. Trust Stovall for assisting in the funeral services, and to Mrs. Lane and other who helped in the music. May God bless all of you.
 Mr. & Mrs. Nat Lunsford and family.

Rumor Says Princess Has New Beau

By ROSETE HARGROVE - NEA Staff Correspondent

LONDON — (NEA) — People who hobnob with royalty outside of court circles proper have noticed that Princess Margaret seems to have recovered her "joie de vivre" since the banishment of handsome Group Captain Peter Townsend.

And they are wondering whether she has fallen in love with 33-year-old Mark-Bonham Carter, grandson of the late Count Oxford and Asquith, who has been squiring her around lately to night clubs and other places of amusement.

In the same circles in Brussels, there has been much nodding of heads among members of the aristocratic "Bridle Club of Belgium."

They are watching with great interest the friendship between the dashing Air Attache Townsend and the beautiful Countess Aline Van Limburg-Stirum. Townsend too, has learned to smile again. The wisecracks quip: "Lois des yeux, lo du coeur" — far from the eyes, far from the heart.

Has the 33-year-old, blue-eyed, blonde daughter of a Dutch aristocrat and an American mother really managed to make Townsend forget Princess Margaret?

They often ride together in the Bois de la Cambre. Almost daily he exercises one of her horses. They have attended several social functions together. But that is not necessarily proof they have fallen in love.

Belgian dowagers and match-makers on the other hand, point out that there are many factors in favor of the marriage of this attractive couple. The countess is much nearer Townsend's age than Margaret, who is 15 years younger. They have many tastes in common — riding, dancing and a keen sense of humor (she also has a ready laugh, just like her "rival").

OFF TO THE RACES in England — Princess Margaret walks to the paddock with an unidentified bowler-hatted escort.

Whereas a few months ago Townsend had asked to be posted elsewhere because he complained of being an object of curiosity, there is no longer any talk of a transfer. Finally, there is no possible obstacle to the eventual marriage of a brilliant but divorced Air Attache and the daughter of a Dutch count.

While Townsend, because of his diplomatic position, could not comment, the countess recently declared: "I know that people are talking about us. Peter and I are not engaged. We are merely good friends. We both love horses and riding and that is one of the things which has brought us together."

Townsend + Margaret partisans in London point out that the Air Attache, after all, could not be expected to give up all social life and has a perfect right to be friendly with a pretty woman without it necessarily meaning a romance.

His newly-found smile? They place a totally different interpretation on it, Margaret, too, they say, is smiling again, and no longer seems to be suffering from "love sickness." And the reason for that is because Townsend has paid several visits to London, each time lunching and dining with the Royal family.

During these visits, well-informed people say, their marriage was decided. Latest rumors are that it will take place in October. Before that Peter Townsend would be given an important post and knighted "for exceptional services," easily found in his magnificent war record. The promotion would take place before official announcement of engagement, which people say will be given out when Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh return to England the latter part of May.

Meantime, Margaret is being squired by Bonham-Carter — and Townsend acquiesces the Dutch countess.

Railroads Bow To Public Demand On Train Whistles

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS - WASHINGTON, March 22 —UP

Sleepy-eyed as a kid, I used to wait for the old steam whistle of the 9:25 going through town en route from Chicago to St. Louis.

It was a jolly, that whistle. I hit the land of nod in a time. Then, after the Casey Jones of the Illinois Central, crawled down in favor of the diesels, there came a beep-beep that sounded like a bull frog hopped up a thousand times.

It woke a fellow up—sent him to find a hot chocolate or something to read for the rest of the night.

Well, in cooperation with Richard E. Townsend, a warrant officer and assistant leader of the Navy band, the railroads have recaptured the more-inducing tone of the old steam whistle.

Habit of Complaints It seems that the railroads got a hatful or more of complaints from folks like me who used to rock and roll in the sack and nod off with the old whistle. So the roads are doing something about it.

One of the big rail lines carried on 200 tests, and then called on our friend Townsend. He fiddled and his boys tooted and finally he decided that he had it.

"At length," he told me, "we had it. We played like a housewife does in the kitchen. We blended notes, instead of four and six. We blended G sharp, E, G and A at different frequencies. It added up to a major in the 7th chord. It was a soothing sound."

I listened. It sure was. I almost went to sleep in 'th musician's chair.

Substitute air whistles As a result, more than 9,000 diesels around the country now have substituted that hoppeo up beep-beep with a sweet, nostalgic sound of new air whistles.

As Townsend explained it to me: "We had a little help from the railroads before we went to work on it. The better minds among the wheels of the roads found that compressed air working on a metal, plastic or rubber diaphragm blends notes into one vibrant tone that can be heard five miles away."

The Navy band pulled out a few stops and made a couple of recordings.

It wasn't exactly the way Casey Jones would have done it, but it was soothing, anyhow. And better than noises that split the night like a chorus of giant bull frogs.

Now the engineer, thanks to the Navy band, and others, can lower his foot.

As Townsend put it: "He now sleeps 'em again, instead of wakes 'em."

NOT ONE BUT 2 GREAT NEW GASOLINES

New Blending Formula

- 1 Adds Premium Qualities to NEW SHAMROCK TRAIL MASTER—Giving Users of Regular Gasoline Extra Performance at No Extra Cost.
- 2 Makes NEW SHAMROCK CLOUD MASTER the Finest Premium Gasoline For Superior Performance in High Compression Engines

For All Motorists

The Shamrock station near you now has in its pumps two of the world's finest motor fuels. This means that regardless of the make or model of your car one of the new Shamrock gasolines will give you MORE POWER... BETTER PERFORMANCE... GREATER ECONOMY... and, for no more than you would pay for any other leading brand of gasoline. Vitrally important to the performance of your car is controlled volatility. Shamrock controls the volatility of the new gasolines with a wide range of light and heavy fractions... fractions that assure quick starts... clean burning, plus more mileage, more power and better performance. This careful control means that these new Shamrock gasolines will meet the varying requirements of your car from season to season. As a bonus... Shamrock gives you truly outstanding anti-knock qualities. Shamrock anti-knock qualities are now raised far above the requirements of the most powerful engines put in today's cars.

New TRAIL MASTER

Shamrock's New Trail Master is the performance-plus motor fuel for users of regular gasoline. It costs no more than regular gasoline yet gives the anti-knock, extra-power features you expect only in a more expensive, premium gasoline. New Trail Master offers the driver of one with lower compression engines all the performance advantages of recent gasoline improvements without requiring that he pay for a full premium gasoline. If you want the most from your car, get the best gasoline for lower compression engines... Shamrock's New Trail Master... the new, budget-wise gasoline with premium qualities.

New CLOUD MASTER

Today's powerful, high compression automobile engines make strong demands on the gasoline they use. But as a result of Shamrock's new blending formula, New Shamrock Cloud Master not only meets these requirements but far exceeds them. Shamrock Cloud Master... octane rating high enough to positively stimulate when you knock... octane rating high enough to assure the quietest starts, fastest warm-ups, the greatest power and the smoothest performance your car was designed to deliver. No matter what kind of car you drive, if the engine knocks when using Shamrock Cloud Master Premium, there is something wrong with your engine.

One of these new gasolines is exactly right for your car. A series of distillation tests carefully check the volatility of Shamrock, making certain that it meets the requirements of the new blending formula. Special knock-test engines establish definitely that the new gasoline is of such high octane rating that there is no chance of your engine knocking. Not only can an engine knock waste a portion of every tank of gasoline you use, but the effect of the knock can seriously damage the engine itself. Other tests prove the absence of gum forming copper and corrosive sulphur. These new gasolines are the result of the development of two new fuels, each to fill a specific need of the motoring public. If there is any doubt in your mind about which of the two new gasolines you should use, consult your nearby Shamrock dealer. He is there to help you get the most mileage and best performance possible from your car.
