

Pioneer Texas Resident Celebrates 89th Birthday With Open House Reception

On Monday, March 22, 1954, a pioneer resident of Texas celebrated her 89th birthday. She is Mrs. J. E. Puckett, who makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. Daisy Shelton, at 509 N. Chrissy, in Pampa.

Mrs. Shelton entertained relatives and friends of her mother with an open-house reception, at which refreshments of cake, coffee, and punch were served. The serving table was decorated with a centerpiece of daffodils and carnations. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Burrell R. Hill and Mrs. Mary Hungerford and son of Amarillo. Mrs. Hill is a daughter of Mrs. Puckett, as is Mrs. Lois Griggs of Pampa, who also attended. Others attending were Mrs. Jackie Cain and Sheila Shelton, granddaughters; Mrs. Clifford Ryan, Mrs. R. W. Tucker, Mrs. Gladys Langford, Mrs. Joe R. Foster, Mrs. Lonnie S. Richardson and daughter, Cheryl, Mrs. E. L. Yeargain, Mrs. A. H. Hibbs, Mr. and Mrs. George Seitz, and Lewis Shelton.

She was a Confederate soldier, and she was named Mathena in honor of an officer in the Confederate Army. Her mother and older sisters suffered all the hardships of women left alone in war time, including a horrible experience at the hands of one of the Union raiding parties who regularly went through the country. A neighbor man, too old to go to war, was shot to death in the yard of the family home while attempting to help the women butcher a hog. His body was left for them to bury.

The family was on its way West, a part of a wave of emigration from the Carolinas which was taking place at this time. At the outbreak of the Civil War, a number of these people had stopped in Arkansas to rest and raise a crop before going on to Texas. Following the war, Thomas Reed Murray, Mrs. Puckett's father, continued his journey to Texas and settled in Collin County, where he farmed until his death, within a few days of his ninetieth birthday. Some of the favorite stories told by Mrs. Puckett to her grandchildren concern the life of this man, ranging from the romantic elopement across the river dividing North and South Carolina which began his marriage, to his unyielding allegiance to the Confederate cause which continued until his death.

Bake Sale To Be Held Tomorrow

Western Star members will hold a bake sale tomorrow morning in the lobby of the Hughes building. Proceeds from the sale are to be used to help in carpeting the Masonic Hall. Miss Corinne Landrum will be in charge of the sale.

The Intermediate Girls Auxiliary groups from the First Baptist church sang the favorite hymns of the honor. The group from the First Baptist Church was sponsored by Mrs. W. E. Franklin and consisted of Paula Anderson, Charlotte Riley, Shirley Epps, Lois Schneider, Carolyn Tague, and Delma and Zelma Franklin. The group from the Trinity Baptist, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Collins Webb, included Laura Terrell, Gloria Daniels, Maxine Uhler, Reba Daniels, Annie Lee Taylor, Peggy McPeak, Gail Mount, Dorothy Reneau, Gwen Barrett, and Paula Stevenson.

Girls were sent by Mrs. J. F. Shelton of Pampa and Mrs. Dorothy McCracken of Amarillo.

Numerous messages of congratulation were received, including a telegram from Dr. and Mrs. E. Douglas Carver, who were in Abilene.

Mrs. Puckett has lived during a fascinating period of her country's history. She was born during the closing year of the War Between the States, in Izard County, Arkansas. Her father was a Con-

Modern Beef Stew

An easy dish, yet pretty as a picture! That's the fitting description of this beef stew. Cooked the modern way — which makes old-fashioned stew even better — close watching of the meat is eliminated. Served as a platter stew, it can make a highly attractive appearance on your table.

Cooking the modern way means slow cooking of the meat. Never let the liquid reach the boiling point. By simmering the meat, rather than boiling, you actually have more meat to serve. At the same time, the meat is more juicy and tender.

When preparing a stew the beef cubes may be browned or not as you like. Many folks have a definite personal preference. If you folks like a brown stew, intensify browning by first coating the meat cubes with flour. This is easy done by placing the flour in a paper bag, adding the meat cubes and shaking the bag. They can then be removed to the lard or drippings in a deep, heavy utensil for browning.

Next comes the adding of the liquid. Completely cover the meat with water. Then place a close fitting cover on the utensil and let the meat gently simmer until it is tender. Beef cubes take from 2 to 3 hours, and lamb from 1 1/2 to 2 hours.

When it comes to combining other flavors with the beef stew, the liquid in which you cook the meat is the best place to do it. For instance, with beef you might introduce a tomato flavor through the use of tomato juice or condensed tomato soup and water. You might use liquids saved from canned vegetables — adding even extra flavor and nutritive value to the stew. However, if you want to add spices or herbs, water is your liquid.

Try These Tiny Dessert Pancakes

NEW YORK — For an attractive and easy-to-make dessert, use pancake mix according to directions on the package, but pour the batter so the pancakes come out about the size of a silver dollar. Spread raspberry jam over each baked pancake and served about five to six each.

Another variation: Bake the pancakes about six inches in diameter and spread with a blend of chopped walnuts and cooked prunes, mixed with enough honey to make a good spreading consistency. Stack the pancakes about six deep and cut into wedges to serve.

6 medium onions
6 small whole carrots
1 pound fresh or 1 12-ounce package, frozen Brussels sprouts, cooked
Dredge meat with seasoned flour and brown slowly in lard or drippings. Add only enough water to cover. Cover closely and cook slowly for 1 1/2 hours. Add onions and carrots and continue cooking about 45 minutes or until meat is tender and vegetables are done. Pour off cooking liquid and thicken for gravy. Arrange meat, onions, carrots and cooked Brussels sprouts on a warm platter. Serve with gravy. 6 servings.

HD Club Completes District Meet Plans

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — The Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. J. M. Chapin recently with club president, Mrs. J. R. McKernon, in charge.

Miss Charlotte Tompkins, home demonstration agent, gave the demonstration on family life. She explained the three cycles that a family goes through, the beginning, expansion, and the launching of a family. Each member gave a short talk on some phase of family living. Miss Tompkins gave a report on the life history of the 21 prisoners of war who gave up their country.

Mrs. McKernon announced the sale of tickets for the district meeting of Home Demonstration clubs which will be held in Panhandle on April 22. She also gave a report on the counsel meeting which she attended last week at Panhandle. Miss Tompkins gave a demonstration on the making of "Chicken Tetrazini" which the members enjoyed very much.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Harold Gonnell on April 2. The program for that meeting will be on "The Care of House Plants," Cake, Ice cream and coffee were served to Meses Buck Durning, Joe Wedge, R. E. McAllister, Ross Neugin, Willis Aulbert, Clifton Hanna, Harold Gonnell, Tillie Horton, and Miss Tompkins.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Mrs. Friend
I am very much in love with my husband but he has a trait which is destroying whatever chance for happiness we might have.

He is subject to moods. When he is gay and bright everything is all right with the world and nothing is too much to do for me and other friends and relatives. When he is morose he scowls and complains or refuses to speak at all. No one can please him, not even his mother. After he is over one of these moods he always says "I can't help it. I have always been moody. When I am low there just isn't anything I can do about it."

Do you think there is something we could do to help him?
I feel sure that there is some way if I only knew what to say or do. Will you write something that I can show him?

Martha

Dear Martha
Everyone has moods. Children show them quickly. Adults learn to hide their feelings when they are "low." To be able to control outward evidences of unhappiness is a sign of maturity.

We all have troubles to face, problems to solve. Adults appreciate this and do the best they can from day to day. They don't worry too much because they realize that there is no way to live and avoid troubles. If we don't face them ourselves, someone else must do it for us. We try to solve problems for our children and for the mentally incompetent. A truly mature person wants to face and find the solution to his own problems.

There is no excuse for the grown person who gives way to his moods and inflicts his own unhappiness on others. If he cannot control his moods, the least he can do is to keep them to himself. It is childish and selfish to force others to suffer because of his personal tribulations.

We don't run about naked so why should we run about baring our souls?

Hour Of Decision

This is the hour of decision. We are at the crossroads. We shall have to determine whether we shall take the road toward freedom, competitive capitalism, sound money and self-government or the road toward inflation, destruction of our fiscal system, bigger government, and eventually statism.

Readjustment or slack periods of economic activity are necessary to restore balance when some prices and some wages are too high and others are too low — when we have more of some things than the market will absorb and not enough of the things which the people prefer. These slack periods are necessary to direct men and capital away from industries where over-production has taken place; into industries making things the people need, want and are willing and able to pay for.

If we refuse to make these needed adjustments so that the right amount of goods and services of various kinds are produced to satisfy the people's wants in the order of their preferences and if we are determined to obscure the maladjustments by more inflation, there is little hope of returning to solvency or perpetuating our freedom and self-government.

There is every intention now, it seems, not to face the facts and make the adjustments that are required. But with an astronomical national debt of $275 billion we are spending with unlimited increase in the national debt.

For twenty-four years we have flirted with inflation, indulging in a little more of it all the time. Inflation is like a narcotic; increasing doses are necessary in order to produce the same results. If in 1954, instead of facing the music and making the needed readjustments, we resort to more inflation, we shall probably need $20 billion deficit spending to accomplish a result comparable to $2 billion a few years ago.

A few more doses in increasing proportions and we will be ready for the flight from the dollar, which marks the end of a fiscal system. We are in grave danger.

The remedy is not an artificially low interest rate which would pump more credit into the economy, nor is it deficit spending and increase of national debt. Although admittedly these things will cover up our economic illness and give us the appearance of health and prosperity once more; they will not cure the disease but will make it much worse. If we take that road now, it is doubtful if the inflationary jag on which we are already well started can be stopped before the dollar, as we know it, is destroyed.

What we need is free interest rates that will adjust in accordance with the needs of economic conditions; a sound dollar convertible into gold that will not lose its purchasing power, and a willingness to allow the necessary adjustments of wages and prices in the various industries and activities of the people to be freely made in accordance with the needs and desires of the people for the various kinds of goods and services brought to the market places. This will enable such goods and services to exchange freely one with another, the market places will be kept cleared and everyone who wants to work will find a job. On this solid basis we can go forward to continuous prosperity, freedom, self-government and an ever-rising standard of living.

Popular Fronts

The American Communist Party has received the latest "line" from Moscow. It bears out reports that the Kremlin is trying again, as it did in the late 1930's, to forge a sort of "popular front" with Socialists and other moderate leftist parties.

In the Thirties, despite the fact that the Bolshevik Revolution had occurred in 1918, the world's experience with Russian communism was still limited. The real nature of it was little understood. So the Popular Front made quite a bite, particularly in confused countries like France.

Today, there is little excuse for not understanding communism. Its performance is spread out for all to see.

But, unhappily, the gullible are still with us. Neutralist opinion in Britain and continental Europe appears not to have been seriously dampened by the fiasco of the Berlin conference.

Among certain factions in these countries a strange faith exists that Russia, the nation which never keeps faith except under the threat of force, will somehow break the pattern "the next time."

Moscow obviously imagines that this body of opinion bulks pretty large, else it would hardly trouble to resurrect the Popular Front strategy. Probably the Reds do not expect any formal internal party alliances of the kind that prevailed in the 1930's.

More likely, they hope to cast an air of reasonableness and plausibility over their operations. By this device they hope to strengthen the neutralists in their constant argument that Russia is amenable to sensible negotiation. And at the same time, they undoubtedly hope to disarm their more militant opponents.

Their new game may be sufficiently effective to compel European governments to take more political account of neutralist sentiment than they have ever yet done.

In other words, at the minimum the new Moscow line may have a considerable nuisance value.

In America, the American Labor Party of New York and the Progressive Party with some pretensions to national scope are sitting pigeons for the Popular Front idea. And if some factions of the GOP and the Democratic Party keep on along the lines they are traveling we may find them locked in the Kremlin embrace as well.

A Couple of Letters From Opponents Of Tax-Supported Schools

Readers of this column will remember that Mrs. Ellison, representing the National Education Association, wrote to some half dozen prominent American citizens inquiring as to whether they wanted to be listed as opposing tax-supported schools as reported in the Colorado Springs Gazette-Telegraph, one of Freedom Newspapers. The article listing them as being "on our side" on the tax-supported schools question was written by Thad Ashby, editor of the editorial page of our Colorado Springs paper.

Here is a letter from John Chamberlain, who was one of the half dozen prominent people listed as opposing tax-supported schools.

"Dear Mr. Hoiles: I did get a letter from Mrs. Ellison. Since I had the sort of 'stand and deliver' flavor that I always resent, I threw it away. If Mrs. Ellison wants to know what I think, she can read me. I've put my general philosophy on paper—and other things are deducible therefrom.

"Thad Ashby was perfectly within in his mentioning me in that editorial. Since I consider the business of the State is to protect the individual in his natural rights, I must, philosophically, be against the idea of tax-supported schools. But I confess to feeling that it is pretty useless to try to replace public grammar and high schools with private academies when the public school idea is so firmly ingrained in the mores. As William Graham Sumner used to teach, the mores change the way a glacier moves. As a writer with only so much energy to spare, I've considered it more important to oppose the extension of the State into economic affairs. There the mores are still on the side of private enterprise and freedom. When I've written on education, it has been to defend the existing private schools against people like Dr. Conant. Or to keep the federal government out of education. However, Ashby is quite right in his statement that it would be better if freedom could be applied to the schools, all the schools.

"You may use this letter" you wish. Sincerely, John Chamberlain"

Another Converter

Here is a letter received from Paul Leonard, who says he is a "Pasadena Guardsman," "Goslin Joe," "smell-out of communist rats in the schools" and now organizer of the International Anti-Communist Crusade, Pasadena Command Post. Then he writes: "Well, Sir, since producing a show composed of public school children for the Pasadena Girls' Club, and especially since my twin boys have gone to public school kindergarten, I am your man. I have come around to your viewpoint. I believe with you, that the public schools can't help themselves, but mold a 'statist' mentality, and that means socialism, the anti-Christ in politics. In short, the public school is not the American answer to educating our youth.

"The answer to me seems the one you propose: cooperative private enterprise schools, financed by a parents' cooperative, voluntarily entered upon, according to residential districts supplemented perhaps by more church schools.

"Last week the Pasadena School fight promised to open on another round. We simply cannot and must not accept defeat before the progressives. We must fight them with one hand while trying to build private community schools with the other. These two projects are interrelated efforts, giving each other enhanced meaning."

Concerned With Outer Shell Only

Here is another paragraph about the Pasadena situation.

"At the School Board meeting, where a 10-million-dollar bond election was tentatively approved for submission to the public, I threw down my gauntlet of battle, by asking Dr. Gilchrist (Goslin deputy) if his 'degrading' (proposal to dispense with grades) of the elementary schools is saving any money for Pasadena. I was told by Ray Untereiner (who spoils for Gilchrist) 'NO'; it was a matter of educational policy. I answered 'not political?' Then I launched into the futility of being concerned with the outer shell only, (in the building program), while underneath lay 'progressive mediocrity,' the taking away of initiative and the 'brain-washing' of our children's minds to accept the statist concept. The Board politely evaded battle, though I was a lone wolf. The hour was late and they adjourned."

The more people actually investigate how our public schools are of necessity opposing the competitive system and teaching collectivism, the more people are beginning to see the inevitable collectivistic results that are bound to come from having the pupils taught by teachers who do not believe in the competitive system — the American way of life.

International Whirligig... Increased Maximum Liability Sought For Airlines Of World

WASHINGTON — American aviation authorities are seeking an increase in the maximum sum of money for which international airlines companies are liable in the event of death or accident to passengers and damage to freight shipments. Simultaneously, there are congressional demands for uniform federal liability law, for about half the states have fixed pitifully low limits on victims of disaster within their boundaries.

In the current reopening of the Warsaw Convention, which governs these matters, the Civil Aeronautics Board wants the ceiling for recoverable damages in overseas flying lifted from the present $8,300 to $13,500. An American attempt to boost it to $25,000 was defeated last year by the International Aviation Commission with jurisdiction in this field.

Although the terms or even the existence of the Warsaw Convention are not generally understood, it has aroused current interest in the problem at Washington.

A CASE IN POINT — The most dramatic incident was the near-tragic experience of Jane Frohman, the popular television star. On her way to entertain troops late in the war, she was crippled badly in the landing of a Pan American plane at Lisbon. She returned to television only recently, but still needs braces.

Although her medical treatment, a series of operations and loss of earnings amounted to several hundred thousands of dollars, she was able to collect only $8,300. There would have been no limit to the sum if she could have proved negligence so palpable, that it might be termed willful or criminal. The Warsaw Convention provides such a loophole, but it is virtually impossible to make such a charge stick.

The other tragic accident highlighting this hazard occurred on the outskirts of Washington. Several years ago, a Bolivian army pilot crashed into an Eastern Air Lines plane over the Potomac River, killing more than a score of passengers. The legal aftermath of this disaster developed an amazing situation of which only a few air passengers have ever heard.

CEILING FIXED IN MANY STATES — More than 20 states have laws fixing a ceiling on the amount for which passengers or shippers may sue in the event of an accident. The limitations range from $5,000 to $20,000.

In the Eastern Air Lines tragedy, since it occurred over the Potomac River, the legal question was whether accident took place in Virginia or in the District of Columbia. Virginia's maximum for damage suits is $15,000, whereas there is no limit in the District. A federal court here held that the crash-occurred in the District. But Eastern Air Lines has appealed to the Supreme Court, and the victims' claims are still unsatisfied several years after the event. It is expected that the aviation lobby, a formidable interest if they ever agree on any piece of legislation, will fight proposals for a federal maximum of $50,000.

NEED FOR UPWARD REVISION — A third factor behind current concern over the problem of foreign and domestic liability totals is the tremendous increase in air travel. With so many Americans flying overseas by plane, and with $8,300 representing a relatively small sum in the United States, there is definite need for an upward revision.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

One of those questions which I have been dreading has arrived. "Is it true what is being said about smoking cigarettes?" writes W. M. "Are they more harmful than a pipe or cigar?"

This puts me right in the middle of a controversy where I would rather not be. First, it is presumed that the question on cigarettes refers to the recent reports that cigarette smoking predisposes to cancer of the lungs. The finger of suspicion has not been pointed at pipes or cigars—at least not yet.

It seems certain that there has been an increase in the amount of cancer of the lungs and that this increase has gone hand in hand with the increase in cigarette smoking. Also, some investigators are convinced that long-continued and heavy cigarette smoking definitely increases the chances of developing lung cancer.

At present most students of the subject appear to feel that cigarette smoking is not the only cause of cancer of the lung but that it is an important influence; few non-cigarette smokers acquire this disease. So far as the second question of the relative harmfulness of pipe or cigar smoking as compared with cigarettes, I think no one actually knows.

At the moment however, there are some definitely accepted facts about smoking on which nearly all are agreed. Tobacco smoke irritates the delicate mucous lining of the breathing passages and certainly tends to cause a coated tongue. Heavy smoking will also affect the throat and larynx and frequently leads to slight cough and hoarseness.

Someone who stops heavy smoking suddenly usually gains weight merely because he or she eats more. Smoking increases the acid secretions of the stomach and, therefore, is usually banned for those with ulcers of the stomach.

Fair Enough... Pegler Finds The Duke Knows Nothing About Windsor Knot

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1954, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

PALM BEACH — For all these years I have been having four-in-hand trouble in that my tie always takes a plant to the right, which is appropriate with me in political matters but awry in this sartorial detail. So being here 'mid pleasures and palaces, I bethought me that the Duke of Windsor was in town and he the inventor of the Windsor knot which has been approved by certain elements of our armed forces so why not call him up and make a date for a course, of one easy lesson in executing same? This was a great deal sooner said than done, however, for it turned out that David and Wallie were queuing at railroad Robert Young's humble crotch up the strand and that Mr. Young's number is off the record.

Well I telephoned the West Palm Beach police department, but the best the man on the desk could give me was his street address, so I plopped the self down and was about to write him a note when I wondered how you salute a man who in his time, and mine, was King-Emperor of a realm which the sun, for all its known and undisclosed powers, could not manage to set upon. Not "Majesty," nor "Your Highness" nor "Dear Sir," but I remembered then a long-forgotten discourse by some expert on such trifles who sometimes sat in for Walter Hines Page at the London embassy and on this occasion said that you couldn't go wrong calling a monarch, whether instant or erst, by the terse and simple honorific "Sir" or its diminutive, "Sir."

So I wrote, "Sir," and said as I have herein said to you about my trouble trying ties and asked for an appointment for a demonstration of this Windsor deal. The bell-captain called a bell-man, who called a cab, and the massive was on its way. I had forgotten all about it when the phone rang and Miss Kitty Delaney, of New York, at the switch board asked if I would take a call from a man who said he was the Duke of Windsor. The voice to her had said, "This is the Duke of Windsor" and Miss Kitty had said "You wouldn't kid a poor working girl, would you?" He said, "No." She said, "No jesting?" and the Duke said, "No. I really am the Duke of Windsor." So Miss Delaney said, "Well, it certainly is a pleasure to talk to you" and he said, "It is a pleasure to speak to you, too" and she plugged him through.

Now do you know what? I will tell you what. The Duke of Windsor said he had never heard of the Windsor knot. He had heard the story and the series of little demonstrative line-drawings in the papers a few days ago and hasn't been able to master it himself.

Well, I was in the market for some finery, having shipped my sports and tropical layette to Tucson on weeks ago, so I roused out old Joe Bannon, known as the royal blood of Ireland, and his old accomplice in innocent mischief, Doc Kelton, an ancient tennis player whose defiant addiction to this flouncy propensities of his youngling days on the West Side of New York was courageous above and beyond the capacity of most of the harps of his class. Another such one, Eric McCauley, having won a walking stick at a ring-the-cane pitch at a parish bazaar one night, observed three or four of the neighbors playing a game of dice called "craps" at the corner of 8th Street and Ninth Avenue and tried to hide this awful evidence of effete behavior by jabbing it up his back under his overcoat. As fate would have it, however, that nice little Fogarty girl who later married Con Kelly, who went on the cops, came strutting by with her mother so young Mr. McCauley had to leave go the stick with his right hand to tip his hat and he missed his grab with the left and the stick clattered down with a sickening sound on the sidewalk and they followed him all the way home yelling "Yoo-hoo" in high soprano.

Where was I — at? Oh, yes, Mr. Bannon and Mr. Kelton took me shopping to a place called Schurz's and introduced me to Arthur C. Roth, the manager, who gets around to Southampton, White Sulphur, Newport and all such haunts of the underprivileged and Mr. Roth got a tie off the rack and demonstrated over and over and over until I thought I had it pat. But when I crept back to my cell at the Breakers and tried to solo I got the most intricate mess of rope-tricks this side of the Royal Naval Museum in Whitehall, and it has a ban agreed that the Duke, Joe Kennedy and I are to organize a seminar with Mr. Roth as dean of studies and master the thing as a matter of principle.

I was saying to Miss Kitty Delaney that I didn't quite qualify as the toast of the Irish Isles, being one of those South Bostonians whose reflexes close upon a hypothetical half-brick at the opening strain of "Wearin' Of The Green," but that nevertheless he was fond of the Duke and spoke nothing but well of him.

Miss Delaney said well, she felt the same way about the little fellow, herself, for it was a hard life he had led with a great deal of sadness, too, and what did I think of her? I said I thought she was a nice person, carrying herself aloof and contemptuous through inspired artificial scandals and that she seemed a little more impressed by the importance of royalty than the Duke, who might profitably have given a little more weight to it himself.

One more jot in this budget of social chit-chat and I am on my way to the rude beach-comber's hut of driftwood, Hatch and did it where Ned Hutton conducts his campaign of paid ads to save the world from the editorial designs of most of the papers who publish them. I just want to add that I told the Duke I would cut him in on the deal if he would arrange to deliver Railroad Young to a luncheon with Gus Metzger, who used to be president of the New York Central. I was willing to settle for the movie and television rights, with sound, and cut it down the middle with the Duke, but it turned out that Young had put himself elsewhere when Gus came to town.

The Nation's Press

WAR BY TREATY Chicago Daily Tribune With the Bricker amendment pole axed, Secretary of State Dulles now takes the liberty to inform the American people that the president has authority under the NAT treaty to put the nation instantly into war if an enemy should bomb Paris or London. In ordering such "retaliation," Mr. Dulles said, the President need not observe the constitutional requirement that wars are to be declared only by Congress.

Mr. Dulles offered this opinion a mere six days after Mr. Eisenhower had flatly said, "There is going to be no involvement of America in war unless it is a result of the constitutional process that is placed upon Congress to declare it. Now, let us have that clear, and that is the answer."

The President of the United States speaks with great authority, but what are we to think when the secretary of state comes along in less than a week to contradict or correct him?

Apparently Mr. Eisenhower recognized the inconsistency of the position he took, and the secretary, for he issued another statement which brought him at least half way toward the Dulles conception of his powers. He asserted this time that he could take military action—immediately, without waiting for Congress to declare war, if the country were attacked by an aggressor. He said that such action should be taken "within two minutes," and that a President who failed to do so should not be impeached, but hanged.

It will be seen that Mr. Eisenhower did not go so far as Mr. Dulles contending only that he had power to act if American territory were attacked, not if foreign cities were attacked. His contribution does little to clarify the confusing views of the administration on this matter, but still, he is in substantial agreement with Dulles that Congress' constitutional powers can be ignored with impunity.

Indeed, Mr. Dulles has now made an admission which, if he had volunteered it a little earlier, would almost certainly have persuaded the senate to approve the Bricker amendment, and perhaps even to strengthen it. For the secretary's remarks show how merited were the fears of those who wanted to write into the Constitution an amendment which would make it impossible for treaties to contravene the provisions of that document.

Mr. Dulles, in his testimony last year in opposition to the amendment, contended that the protection sought by those advocating the amendment was unnecessary. Yet, by his latest statement, he shows how very necessary that protection is. He confirms what, in a more candid moment two years ago, he admitted to be the fact: that treaties "can take powers away from the Congress and give them to the President."

In asserting that the Atlantic pact carries an automatic warrant for a Presidential decision on war, Mr. Dulles evidently relies on the article of that treaty specifying that the parties agree that an armed attack against one or more of them... shall be considered an attack against them all.

Let us see what the authoritative spokesman of the Truman administration were saying in interpreting this obligation when they were busy selling the Atlantic pact to the senate in 1949. The champion to put the treaty across was led by former Sen. Tom Connally, New Deal chairman of the foreign relations committee, and the late Sen. Vandenberg, the "bipartisan" Michigan Republican.

On Feb. 14, 1949, these senators assured their colleagues that the treaty would not obligate the United States to go to war, even if one of its proposed allies was attacked. Mr. Connally said that when an attack occurred, "the United States can determine, legally, morally and constitutionally, whether our course will be under a given circumstance. That is reserved to us."

Mr. Connally continued, "I've think it is a matter with reference to which we should go to war, we can do so. If we think it is not such a matter, we will not go to war," Vandenberg agreed.

Vermont produces the finest maple sugar in the world. Sometimes it turns out some other notable sale. Senator Flanders, of that state, is reported to have said we should only worry about the Communists. OUTSIDE the United States, He's quoted as saying that the Communists INSIDE a country never did anybody any harm. Well, sir, that's one kind of thinkin'. It's the kind of thinkin' that enabled the Communists to take over Russia.

Seven Oilers On Hand As Spring Training Opens

More Due To Join Camp This Weekend

A bright sunshine greeted seven Pampa Oilers yesterday on the opening day of spring training at Oiler Park with more players and sunshine due again today.

Yesterday's arrivals consisted of two pitchers, three infielders, one outfielder and one catcher. The remainder of the pitching and catching crews were expected in today or not later than Sunday. Some are being delayed upon arrival but all pitchers and catchers are due by Sunday.

Manager Doug Lewis, on hand yesterday for the opening of the spring drills, has issued the call for pitchers and catchers only for the present but any others are invited to come in.

The entire squad is due here April 1 with the opening of the Oiler spring exhibition schedule three days later.

Business manager Jimmy Hamilton, as well as field manager Lewis, has tendered a cordial invitation to all Oiler fans to attend any of the Oiler spring workouts.

A lot of sunning and throwing occupied most of the time in yesterday's opening drill. More of the same is due today.

All Oiler workouts start at 11 a.m. and will last until 2 p.m. On the agenda for the opening day of the spring season yesterday were Bill Frady and Tom Smith, pitchers; Joe Mangone, catcher; Mutt Allen, Curtis Hardaway and Lewis infielders and Eddie Daniels outfielder.

Pitcher Don Tierney, driving by car from his home in Long Beach, Calif., encountered car trouble in California yesterday but is due to join the Oiler camp today.

Hardaway, Frady, Allen and Smith were all praised by Lewis following yesterday's opening drill.

Little League Film On Tap Tonight At 7:30 And 9:00

Pampa Little Leaguers are expected to turn out by the hundreds tonight when the film "This is Little League" will be shown in the Sam Houston Auditorium.

The film will be shown twice, at 7:30 and 9:00 p.m. The second showing was arranged to allow all boys not able to be on hand for the first performance to see the film.

The Little League entry list soared to 316 today and the sponsor list for both the Little League and Pony League reached nine. Two sponsors were added Thursday, First National Bank and C. M. Jeffries Trucking Co. The other seven sponsors already revealed are Dillie Oil and Supply, Tom Rose Ford, Sportsman's Store, Cabot, Daily Spokesman, H. E. Hoffman Oil Co. and Your Laundry.

Tonight's film is open to all Little Leaguers, Pony Leaguers, their parents and friends, potential sponsors and any other interested persons.

Joining the Little League fold since yesterday's count are as follows:

The Pony League list reached 111 today with addition of seven since yesterday. The additions are Billy Duncan, Donald Bigham, Gary Heikel, Clarence Townsend, Bobby Conlin, Billy Hubbard and Richard Conner, Gary Maher.

Business manager Jimmy Hamilton, as well as field manager Lewis, has tendered a cordial invitation to all Oiler fans to attend any of the Oiler spring workouts.

Simpson Breaks Arm Tribe Loses Pair With Fractures

TUCSON, Ariz., March 26—UP—Rightfielder Harry Simpson was sidelined with a fractured left arm until about May 10 Friday as the Cleveland Indians reeled under a second serious blow in 24 hours.

Simpson, tabbed for regular duty in right field, was injured last Tuesday in a collision at home plate with pitcher Turk Lown of the Chicago Cubs. The injury at first was believed to be only a bruise but X-rays taken Thursday disclosed the fracture.

Reserve catcher Mickey Grasso suffered a broken left ankle in the same game and will be sidelined at least three months.

Thursday that gave them a 10-5 record. The other teams training in Arizona this spring are the Cleveland Indians (7-4) and Chicago Cubs (4-13).

Bucs To Take To Airways This Year

FORT PIERCE, Fla., March 26—UP—The Pittsburgh Pirates will be "flying high" this year, no matter how low they are in the National League standings.

General Manager Branch Rickey revealed Friday that he has signed a contract with Capital Air Lines for the Pirates to travel by air for the entire season. Under the terms of the contract, the team will fly between all cities except New York and Philadelphia and Chicago and Milwaukee.

No major league team ever has made that many trips by air, although the New York Yankees planned to do so in 1947. The Yankees and the United Air Lines eventually agreed to cancel the arrangements in mid-season, however, when complaints by players and newsmen traveling with the team caused adverse publicity.

Rickey also estimated that the air travel would save the club approximately $5,000.

ROGER ALDRIDGE... Ex-Oilers bid for pitching berth on Oklahoma City Indians staff

Ex-Oilers Bidding For Spots On Oklahoma City Roster

Editor's Note: This is the first of a series devoted to prospects of Texas League baseball teams.

ROSWELL, N.M., March 26—UP—Promising but untested rookies hold the key to the Oklahoma City Indians' chances of landing in the first division of the Texas League for a third straight season.

Tommy Tatum, starting his fourth campaign as Tribal chief-in, has only three pitchers, three infielders and two outfielders who have played Class AA baseball.

The rest of the 29-man squad which broke camp at Greenview, Tex., and reached here Friday on a 16-game exhibition tour with the Dallas Eagles is composed mostly of youngsters from Class C and D leagues.

On the basis of early performances against the Eagles, some of the recruits appear to be ready for Texas League chores, but Tatum would still like to have a few more proven hands.

A Bright Side

Owner-Manager Jimmie Humphries is beating the bushes for pitching, first base and outfield help. On the bright side is the fact that the Chicago White Sox still owe the Indians a player as part of last year's deal for pitcher Al Zilinski.

Tatum's chief problem became critical when Roy Broome, obtained as part of the sale of pitcher Bill Greason and outfielder Joe Frazier to the St. Louis Cardinals, retired from baseball.

Back to knock down some more fences is old reliable Russ Burns, who smacked 29 home runs, 34 doubles and two triples while batting in 1224 runs in 1953. But only other-outfield holdover is Allan Cross, speedy utility man who hit .250 last year.

Trying to make the grade are newcomers Howard Boles, who hit .333 at Wichita Falls and who has been powdering the ball on the exhibition tour; Don Stokes, whose .423 mark at Plainview was one of the top batting averages in the nation; and Warren Green, who managed .278 at Plainview.

Some Veteran Infielders

Veteran infielders around are Joe Domato, who had a .282 year and hit well in the clutch while playing second base; Tommy Lind, who hit .245 last season, when right-handers oppose them; Bailey has shown more power this spring. Frank Baldwin and Hobe Landtrich, both of whom were with the club last season, are fighting for the No. 3 berth.

The Reds feel they have the best left-handed pitching in the league with Fred Baczewski (10-4) with the Reds last season; Kep Raffensberger (7-14); Henry Perkowski (12-11) and Joe Nuxhall (9-11).

Ags Favored For Mat Title

NORMAN, Okla., March 26—UP—Oklahoma Aggies rated as a top favorite in the 26th annual National Collegiate Athletic Association wrestling championships beginning Friday.

Pittsburgh, 1954 winner of the Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association title, also ranked as a top contender for the NCAA team crown, along with Purdue and Michigan, two Big Ten powers.

Defending champ Penn State won after taking the Eastern title a year ago.

The Oklahoma Aggies rated as the sentimental favorite, in addition to their ranking because of two former national winners and a record of 15 championships and one tie in the previous 24 meets.

Nine of the 50 coaches, who brought 177 grapplers to the biggest college wrestling meet ever held, are alumni of the Stillwater, Okla., school and learned their trade under the tutelage of the late E. C. Gallagher of Oklahoma A&M, "Mr. Collegiate Wrestling."

Ned Blase won the 191-pound championship last year for the Aggies, while Gene Nicks took the heavyweight crown in 1952.

Gophers Edge Aggies Again

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., March 26—UP—The touring Minnesota Gophers moved on to Houston Friday in search of more conquests of collegiate baseball opponents.

The Gophers won their third game in four starts against Lone Star State teams Thursday when Paul Giel checked Texas A&M with seven hits and struck out the same number in getting a 5-to-2 victory over a sweeper of the A&M series.

The Gophers split in two games with Texas.

Friday and Saturday, the invading Big Ten team meets University of Houston in the Bayou City.

Richards' Hopes High Chisox Only Contender In AL To Escape Injury Jinx

By FRED DOWN

United Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox pinned their permanent hopes on a fast game winner Friday when the greatest rash of spring injuries in history made them the only American League contender which can open the season with every regular in line.

Barring misfortune in the 19 days remaining before the season inaugurals, Manager Paul Richards will field all his first-stringers while the Cleveland Indians, New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox all will be without key regulars.

The Indians were the latest to be hit by the "injury jinx" when it was disclosed that right-fielder Harry Simpson will be sidelined until about May 10 with a fractured left arm. This news followed 24 hours after second-string catcher Mickey Grasso suffered a broken left ankle which will keep him out of action at least three months.

Two Stars Out

The world champion Yankees will open the season without spectacular center-fielder Mickey Mantle while the Red Sox will start the campaign with slugger Ted Williams watching from the bench. Mantle, recuperating with a knee ailment, is not expected to see action until May 1 while Williams, who suffered a broken collarbone early in spring training, may be sidelined until May 15.

In addition, the amazing succession of mishaps has claimed Dick Kryhoski of the Baltimore Orioles with a fractured wrist, Bobby Thomson of the Milwaukee Braves with a broken ankle, pitcher Bob Cain of the Philadelphia Athletics with a calcium deposit in his left wrist and Washington's Bob Portert, who was hit on the head by a batted ball.

The knowledge that he now has

Staley In Opener

TAMPA, Fla., March 26—UP—It's almost certain that Gerry Staley will draw Manager Eddie Stanky's opening-day pitching assignment when the St. Louis Cardinals oppose the Chicago Cubs on April 12.

Staley, who has a reputation as a fine spring pitcher, lived up to it Thursday as the Cardinals beat the Brooklyn Dodgers, 2-1. He pitched seven innings and permitted only one run and four hits. The Cardinals play the Cincinnati Redlegs Friday.

Bosox Face Sens

SARASOTA, Fla., March 26—UP—Manager Lou Boudreau of the Boston Red Sox revealed Friday he is "toying" with the idea of alternating Dick Gernert and Harry Agronski at first base.

Boudreau said he might use the right-handed-hitting Gernert when the Red Sox are at Fenway Park with its short left field fence and replace him with Agronski when the team is on the road. Gernert hit 21 home runs last season but had a .263 batting average.

The Red Sox play Friday against the Washington Senators, who Thursday defeated the Chicago White Sox 9 to 2 for their sixth straight victory.

Pierce Wild

TAMPA, Fla., March 26—UP—Left-hander Billy Pierce developed into a star with the Chicago White Sox last season but there still are days when home plate seems to be the size of a peanut.

One of these days was Thursday—when Pierce cut loose with 14 balls on his first 15 pitches and set the stage for the Washington Senators' 9 to 2 conquest of the White Sox. The Senators collected eight of their 12 hits off the White Sox ace, who won 18 games last season.

Pirates Edge A's

FORT PIERCE, Fla., March 26—UP—The Pittsburgh Pirates enjoyed a well-earned "off-day" Friday sporting an overall 10-4 Grapefruit League record and a 5-1 edge in their marathon series with the Philadelphia Athletics.

The surprising Pirates staved off a ninth-inning rally to edge out the Athletics 8 to 3 Thursday.

To Contend For Flag Redlegs In Need Of Right-Hand Hurling

Editor's Note: This is the fifth in a series on the 1954 prospects of the major league clubs.

By LEO H. PETERSEN

TAMPA, Fla., March 26—UP—Believe it or not, there is present hope in the Cincinnati Reds' camp this spring. Both General Manager Gabe Paul and Manager Birdie Tebbetts feel the team can go all the way if they come up with some right-handed pitching.

Lack of right handed pitching ruined the Reds last season when they wound up sixth, despite one of the strongest hitting arrays in the league. But their left-handed pitchers couldn't handle teams like Brooklyn and Milwaukee, who murder portlanders.

Inasmuch as they are the two teams to beat if the Reds hope to win the flag, Tebbetts knows he must find pitchers who can stop the Dodgers and Braves. So far, that search appears to be a futile one, but Paul and Tebbetts still are hopeful of swinging deals to improve the hurling department.

Three Power Hitters

In Ted Kluszcwski at first base, and outfielders Gus Bell and Jim Greengrass the Reds have three of the leading power hitters of 1953. The three hit a total of 313 runs last season—Kluszcwski 105, Bell 105, and Greengrass an even 100.

In Roy McMillan, they have the best fielding shortstop in the business but also one of the weakest hitters. Bobby Adams is a better-than-average third baseman, both in hitting and fielding. In Andy Seminick, they have a fine defensive catcher and a long ball hitter, especially when he faces left-handed pitchers.

In addition to their lack of right-handed pitching, the Reds may have trouble at second and at the third outfield post. Because McMillan is such a poor hitter, Tebbetts is hoping Johnny Temple will fill the spot at second base over Rocky Bridges. Bridges is an accomplished fielder but lacks power at the plate. Temple isn't up to Rocky in the field, but he hit 29 well-placed winter ball in Venezuela Tebbetts hopes he will fill the bill.

Counting on Post

For the third outfield spot, he is counting on Wally Post, who hit .289 at Indianapolis last season. Post is a fine defensive center-fielder and drove in 139 runs last year. If he can hit major league pitching, he will win the center-field job with Bell in right and Greengrass in left. That would leave Bob Borikowski as the No. 1 utility outfielder.

Tebbetts hopes to use Seminick behind the plate when southpaws go against the Reds, and rookie Ed Bailey, up from Tulsa where he hit .243 last season, when right-handers oppose them. Bailey has shown more power this spring. Frank Baldwin and Hobe Landtrich, both of whom were with the club last season, are fighting for the No. 3 berth.

The Reds feel they have the best left-handed pitching in the league with Fred Baczewski (10-4) with the Reds last season; Kep Raffensberger (7-14); Henry Perkowski (12-11) and Joe Nuxhall (9-11).

W-Tex Relays Start Today In Odessa

ODESSA, Tex., March 26—UP—Hundreds of schoolboy athletes open the West Texas Relays Friday with preliminaries that are expected to furnish the first of a bulky list of new records for the growing track and field meet.

While Friday's trial tests to pare down the field among the schoolboys will give some line on a favorite, it may take the final event, in Saturday's finals to determine which high school will rank alongside Texas and North Texas—heavy favorites—as a divisional champ.

Four or five schoolboy teams bring standout records here with either Amarillo or Andrews given the slight nod over such well-balanced teams as Abilene, Fort Stockton and Lubbock.

Texas' speedy sprinters were due to give the Longhorns a wide edge in the university class with Southern Methodist and Houston counted upon to battle for runner-up honors.

In the college division, North Texas' margin is expected to depend largely on how many of the Eagle squad go to San Marcos to compete in the all-college meet. Abilene Christian and Howard Payne, both strong college entries, also will divide their squads, however, between the two competitions.

A dozen or more new records were anticipated if the weatherman smiles on the contestants.

Best bets for new records in the high school class included Gene Ellis of Andrews in the high hurdles; Allison Sutton of Fort Stockton in the 220-yard dash; Stanley Pena of Marfa in the 440-yard dash; Larry Palmer of Midland in the pole vault; Clarence Miller of Crane in the high jump, and the Andrews' 440-yard relay.

Read The News Classified Ads

The first bating is being handled by Larry White, a .287 hitter at Abilene last year, and J. D. Sanders, six-foot, one-inch Negro who racked up a .330 mark with Pampa.

Catching is in the hands of 1953's one-two duo of Pat Tomkinson and Ray Cash, who posted .290 and .188 marks a year ago.

Experienced Right-Handers

Experienced pitchers available are holdovers Ernie Groth (8-8), Pete Taylor (8-10), and Jack Cardery, who was obtained from Houston when he matched Taylor's record. All are right-handers.

Southpaw Al Olsen (5-5), who was here last summer, and Rookie Marshall Long (7-3), up from St. Petersburg, will report June 1 after completing college from Houston. Of the other hopefuls, six have played pro ball, two are semi-pro graduates, one is a service returnee and the 10th has no experience.

Cuban Vincente Amor (13-13) was at St. Petersburg; Roger Ardridge (3-7) at Deland, Fla.; Ed Hughes (6-1) at Pampa; Negro Sam Williams (26-12) at Pampa and Dean Franks (17-18) at Austin. All throw right.

Of those without pro experience, Army dischargee Don Wetshoff appears to be the best. The six-foot, three-inch, 23-year-old southpaw was unbeaten in 26 service games.

Ex-Champions In Spotlight

WILMINGTON, N.C., March 26—UP—Four past champions and the tournament's leading money winner who never copped first prize led a field of 162 professionals and amateurs into the first round of the $10,000 Azalea Open golf tournament here Friday.

Lloyd Mangrum, Dutch Harrison, Jerry Barber and Jimmy Clark, four of the five previous Azalea Open winners, and ailing Cary Middlecoff who has never won but has copped more money here than any other golfer, lead off Friday over the 6,788-yard Cape Fear Country Club course.

They held the spotlight along with Johnny Palmer and Chandler Harper as the biggest field in the tournament's history began play on the often wind-swept course.

Middlecoff led Thursday that he feels he has been playing as well or better this year than at any time during his career, but his followers were concerned Friday over a blister on his left thumb that forced him to quit his final practice round after 12 holes.

The tournament winds up Sunday with 36 holes, but only the 60 leaders will be around for the showdown.

Hanes-Hosiery Ousted Wayland Reaches AAU Gal Finals

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 26—UP—The champions of the Women's AAU Basketball tournament will be decided Friday night with Hanes Hosiery of Winston-Salem, N.C., on the sidelines for the first time in four years.

The three-time defending champions were upset last night by the unseeded Kansas City Dons 44 to 41 as Wayland College of Plainview, Tex., took the other semifinal 48 to 39 from Denver, Vincer Chevrolet.

Wayland lost in last year's championship game to Hanes Hosiery 36 to 28.

Barbara Sipes, six-foot, three-inch Kansas City center, led her club to the victory over Hanes. She scored 25 points and controlled the rebounds. Lurlyn Greer Meachouse, Hanes' seven-foot center, tallied 22 points but her efforts weren't enough to overcome the lead Kansas City took in the first quarter and maintained all the way.

All-Americans Ruth Cannon and Lonetta Odum paced Wayland to its victory. Cannon tipped in 17 points, while Odum got 16.

Denver, led by Jean McAndrew's nine points, made a fight of it in the first half but the Cannon-Odom duo was too much in the second half.

The Atlanta, Ga., Tomboys beat Martin College, Pulaski, Tenn., 43 to 39 in a consolation game.

Kansas City's Midland Jewelry trimmed Topeka, Kan., Santa Fe Streamliners 50 to 24 in the other consolation semi-final. Midland Jewelry will meet the Tomboys in the consolation finals.

Friday night's schedule: 6:30 p.m.—Consolation final—Atlanta Tomboys vs. Kansas City Midland Jewelry. 8 p.m.—Third-place—Winston-Salem, N.C., Hanes-Hosiery vs. Denver Vincer Chevrolet. 9:30 p.m.—Kansas City Dons vs. Wayland College, Plainview, Tex.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

"Freedom of Worship Is Not . . .
Freedom FROM Worship"

In the preamble of the Declaration of Independence we read, "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." The first amendment to the Constitution which we call the "Bill of Rights" has to do with personal freedom, "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press, or the right of the people peaceably to assemble and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances." Jesus said, in John 8:36, "If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed." The Declaration of Independence and the First Amendment to the Constitution are both based on the teachings of the New Testament. I am afraid we, in our city and in our nation, have abused this privilege. Too many people think it means Freedom FROM Worship instead of Freedom OF Worship.

YOU MAY DRIVE ON, NOW, SIRE!

Lucille's Pop

PLEASE, POP! GIVE ME A RIDE!

STILL LIKE TO PLAY WITH YOUR POP DON'T YOU?

WHERE TO, 'ROUND THE KITCHEN!!

OKAY, POP! THAT'S ENOUGH!

YOU'RE TOO SENSITIVE, DEAR! PLEASE COME UP NOW!

MAYBE IN A COUPLE OF DAYS!

OUT OUR WAY

HERE IT IS-- FIVE YEARS AGO HE WAS RUNNING ON HIS LATHES HERE, AND HE'S NOW TH' CHIEF ENGINEER FOR ALL TH' NOT CO PLANTS!

THAT GUY-- WOW!

KNOW WHAT THEY'RE THINKIN'?' OH, IF I'D ONLY GOT OUT OF THIS DUMP BEFORE THEY TIED ME UP WITH A TIE AN' RUBBER HEELS!

THEY GOT THRU THAT TOR-TURE RES-ISTANT LATHE-- THERE'S ALWAYS SOME ONE DUMBER THAN YOU PASSIN' YOU!

HEROES ARE MADE-- NOT BORN

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

EGAD, TWIGGS! MARTHA IS IN ONE OF HER MILITANT MOODS-- SHE BRUSQUELY ORDERED ME TO MOVE THE KALORY-KILLER OUT OF THE HOUSE FOREVER!-- AND SHE WAS GERIOUS-- HER EYE PIERCED ME LIKE A CARVING FORK!

THAT SOUNDS AS FINAL AS AMEN-- MASH!-- THIS TIME SHE PROBABLY IS AS CORRECT AS A SURGEON'S STITCHES-- HAVE YOU SELECTED A CHOICE LOCATION FOR IT ON THE CITY DUMP?

DOWN COMES THE CURTAIN

Steve Canyon

HA! CANYON IS GOONIN'! HE'S GOING TO JOIN US!

THE HEROIN-LADEN INDASIA PLANE DRONES ON, CONTROLLED BY ITS AUTOMATIC PILOT...

WAKE UP, CANYON! IT'S MIGHTY BOB!-- FULL OF DREAM DUST! YOU SLEPT THROUGH THE ENTIRE FIRST ACT-- I'M MAKING LOVE TO MME. MULDOON IN MY PUNK KID FASHION!

MME. MULDOON DOESN'T THINK I'M A BIG MAN, BUT YOU KNOW IT, DON'T YOU, CHUMMY? LET'S SHOW HER HOW STRONG I AM!

Vic Flint

MORNINGS, VIC! HOW'S DA HUMAN PUNCHION?

HI, LOUIE.

HOW DO YA LIKE PAT? DIDN'T EVEN STOP TO ASK ME IF I GOT A MATCH!

'FREE TO ONE HE'S GONNA SQUARE DA SCORE WIT' PATCHES! AN' HERE I AM STUCK WIT' ALL PESTE PROGRAMS PAT GOTTA BE NUMBERED!

Little Doc

I'VE GOT THE BLUES, DOC!

CAN YOU PRESCRIBE SOMETHING THAT WILL GIVE ME A LIFT?

WHAT?

WELL, YOU GOTTA BE A LITTLE BIT MORE OPTIMISTIC!

Wash Tubbs

LATER, EASY GUY'S WIT' A NEIGHBOR OF BOBBY FRANK'S.

BOBBY SEEMED VERY APPEALING TO ME, WHAT IS HE DID LIKE?

MARVIN FRANK'S IS FROM A WEALTHY SOCIALIST FAMILY-- BUT A BIT STRANGE, ALMOST A RECLUSIVE! A HISTORIAN, LIVES IN AN HORY TOWER, AS THEY SAY.

HE'S BEEN A WIDOWER TILL RECENTLY-- FIRST WIFE DIED WHEN BOBBY WAS A BABY, THEN LAST YEAR MR. FRANK'S WENT TO BERNAUDA AND BROUGHT HOME A NEW WIFE!

WHY, VEG, I BELIEVE IT IS! ANYWAY SHE'S CONSIDERABLY YOUNGER!

HUM, SO IT WAS BOBBY'S NEW STEPMOTHER THAT I OVERHEARD A MRS. MILLBANK CHECKING-UP ON YESTERDAY IN PROWBUCK?

DOES HER NAME HAPPEN TO BE DORIS?

Boots

CAN YOU THINK OF ANYTHING ELSE, DOC?

YES! IF YOU DON'T EASY UP YOU'LL BE ALL SHOT AFORE YOUR GUESTS' EVER GET HERE!

I MUST BE ABSOLUTELY SURE ABOUT THE TIME! YES, TONIGHT, AT SEVEN O'CLOCK!

Mickey Finn

THE LADY IS PERFECTLY WILLING TO HAVE YOU AS A PARTNER IN THE HORSE, PHIL?

OH, YES, MR. TUTTLE! IN FACT I'M SURE SHE'D BE WILLING TO HAVE ME AS A PARTNER-- FOR LIFE!

MY GOODNESS, PHIL! WHAT SORT OF A WOMAN IS SHE? YOU TOLD ME SHE HAD BROKEN OFF WITH LOUIE BECAUSE SHE'D MET SOMEONE SHE LIKED BETTER THAN HIM!

WELL, DON'T YOU SEE, MR. TUTTLE, 'TIL THE MAN SHE MEANT! SHE DIDN'T SAY SO LAST NIGHT, BUT IT WAS VERY APPARENT!

HUM! AND HOW DO YOU FEEL ABOUT HER?

WELL, SPEAKING FRANKLY, MR. TUTTLE, SHE'S AN-- THE KIND OF A WOMAN I'VE ALWAYS ADMIRER-- ATTRACTIVE, INTELLIGENT, AND A VERY GOOD SPORT!

GRACIOUS PHIL! YOU MAKE IT SOUND AS IF A REAL ROMANCE-- BUT I MIGHT BE BLOOMIN' NEAKEN AT THAT!

Irreclies

SORRY, MR. ANGLIN, NOTHING THAT SENDS ME IN THIS STACK-- I'LL GIVE THAT OTHER STACK A FAST WHIRL!

ALL I'M DOING IN THIS BUSINESS IS MEETING PEOPLE-- IT WOULD BE CHEAPER FER ME TO STAY HOME.

LATER--

LISTEN, DAD, I WASTED THE WHOLE FORE-NOON IN HERE-- IF YOU CAN'T GET SOME BETTER SPINNERS, I'M GONNA GIVE MY BUSINESS TO SOMEBODY ELSE!

Susie Q. Smith

YOU REALLY HAVE TO HAND IT TO LANA.

When the opponents have five cards of a suit, it is quite reasonable to suppose that they will be divided 5-2. This is a reasonable probability, but not a dead certainty. South lost his game because in today's hand he relied too much on this probability.

LOST 20 POUNDS WITH THIS HOME RECIPE

For many of this country's 25,000,000 overweight adults, reducing diets have become a dominating influence. But the frightening fact is that many of the most popular diets are extremely dangerous.

Why not try the Barcentrate way and reduce safely, easily and without starvation diet?

Just get from your druggist a four-ounce bottle of Barcentrate — now only $1.69. Mix with grapefruit juice as directed on label. They take according to directions. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the way to reduce, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Mrs. J. W. Belshe, Box 465, Odessa, Texas, wrote us as follows: "I weighed 150 pounds when I started taking Barcentrate. I now weigh 130 — a loss of 20 pounds."

Fifth Amendment Citizens Assailed By Lions Speaker

"Anyone who refuses to answer a question about Communism has already answered the question." That remark came Thursday noon from Dr. Kenneth Copeland, president of the Downtown Lions club in San Antonio, who was guest speaker at the annual election of officers meeting of the Pampa Lions club.

The vote of club members on six new officers and three new directors was taken before Dr. Copeland's speech and the results announced afterward.

Aaron Sturgeon, Pampa attorney was selected to be the new president, succeeding County Agent Ralph Thomas.

Paul West and James Evans were named first and second vice presidents. Other officers picked were Cliff Whitney, Lion-tamer; Jimmie McCune, tail-twister; and O. K. Gaylor, secretary-treasurer.

The three new directors are Lee R. Franks, R. M. Hampton and Rufe Jordan.

Dr. Copeland took the Lions International slogan — "Liberty-Intelligence-Our Nation's Safety" — and discussed the "other side of the slogan."

"Liberty cannot exist alone," the San Antonian began. "Otherwise, it will be a curse rather than a blessing." The "twin" of liberty, he insisted, is "loyalty," especially to laws and regulations.

Discussing the liberty-loyalty aspect on a national scale, he mentioned the "pseudo-citizens," the ones who refuse — usually on the grounds of the Fifth Amendment to the U. S. Constitution — to talk about what they know of Communism. And that is where he brought up the part about already answering the question.

"I agree with Ike" that anyone who advocates the overthrow of the U. S. government should not be an American citizen, he said. But "I do not agree with McCarthy" (Sen. Joseph McCarthy, R-Wis.) in his pattern of doing something about such proceedings. Copeland said he does agree with McCarthy's "purpose," however.

Taking the "intemperate" part of the Lions' slogan, the pastor of one of the 10 largest Methodist churches in the nation said its twin was "integrity."

Quoting an oft-used Biblical saying, "The truth shall make you free," Dr. Copeland pointed out that it was taken out of context and that, actually, "the truth alone never made anybody free."

"The United States," the Methodist preacher said, "was built on character and integrity — not the intelligence — of its citizens."

Twin of "safety" is "security," Dr. Copeland went on. "We're whistling in the dark," he said, "if we think that a World War III would not strike our shores." And he added:

"Security depends on our faith in Almighty God and that's where we'd better stay." His concluding phrase was, "May God keep us awake..."

One dozen guests were on hand for the meeting, including Rotary President E. S. Williams; Knox Parr, Amarillo; Ralph Thomas, "boss"; Marvin Simms, former Gray county assistant farm agent; Miss Jackie Robertson, club pianist; and Miss Christine Pierce, March Lions sweetheart.

Miss Pierce received the traditional heart-shaped compact from Thomas in this, the last club meeting in which she was sweetheart. "The best club ever" was her comment.

April will be "identification month," Thomas reminded club members. All Lions are to wear Lions pins and display club emblems in their places of business.

Ham Luna, quoting a letter from the Amarillo Lions club convention committee, said that reservations by Pampa Lions for the District 2-T-1 convention slated April 22-24 in Amarillo must be made by Thursday. Miss Robertson, who will represent the Pampa club at the convention and whose birthday is April 23, asked all the Lions who could to be on hand.

Introducing the main speaker Thursday noon was Dr. Tom Johnston, pastor of Pampa's First Methodist church. Murray Sealey was in charge of the day's program.

OLD CONGRATULATES NEW — Ralph Thomas (left), Pampa Lions Club president, congratulates Aaron Sturgeon, elected Thursday noon at the annual election meeting to succeed him. Also named as officers were Paul West, first vice president; James Evans, second vice president; Cliff Whitney, Lion-tamer; Jimmie McCune, tail-twister; and O. K. Gaylor, secretary-treasurer. Three new directors picked by club members were Lee R. Franks, R. M. Hampton and Rufe Jordan. All of them take over April 1. Oilman's Name Pops Up During Paternity Suit

LOS ANGELES, March 26 — UP — Actress Toby Gilman's suit for support of an illegitimate son continued Friday following her denial she ever was intimate with Texas oil millionaire Glen H. McCarthy.

Miss Gilman, 29, is seeking $200 month support for her son, Michael, pending trial of her paternity suit against night club owner Jose Luis Torres, 38.

The actress denied Thursday she ever had improper relations with McCarthy when questioned by Torres' attorney.

She said a trip to Las Vegas, Nev., in June, 1951, was made with "some friends, and Glen was in the party. There was nothing improper about it at all."

Miss Gilmore testified that Torres attacked her in her mother's home in July, 1952, after he had gotten her drunk. Torres denied the charge, but indicated he was willing to pay temporary support pending trial of the paternity suit.

Agriculture Department To Finance Wind Erosion Work

WASHINGTON, March 26 — UP — The Agriculture Department announced Thursday it will loan Kansas $200,000 to underwrite wind erosion control work in dust storm areas.

The agreement is the first made since the department's March 11 offer to loan five drought states $2 million to pay for practices aimed at tending down soil.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson said he is "happy to take this action on behalf of some 10,000 drought-stricken farm families in Kansas. He pointed out that similar assistance is available to Colorado, New Mexico, Texas, and Oklahoma and said, "we do not intend to let the drought set these farm families back."

Under the Kansas agreement...

Mother, Son Wind Victims

HOUSTON, Mo., March 26 — UP — An 81-year-old woman and her 60-year-old son were found dead Thursday, apparently victims of devastating winds that shook their house apart.

The body of Mrs. Sarah Maxwell was found in a brush patch 150 yards from where the farm home, year-old son were found dead Thursday, apparently victims of devastating winds that shook their house apart.

The bodies were found by Cyrus Baty, a neighbor, who searched for them when he discovered the house, barn and other outbuildings scattered over a quarter-mile area.

Extensive damage was reported from several southwestern Missouri communities, but knocked out communications hampered collection of information from the area.

Power lines and signs were blown from their moorings in Ozark, Fordland and Rogersville, Mo. In Fordland, a warehouse was reported destroyed.

Available information indicated the winds struck first at Ozark and continued in a northeasterly direction through six southwest Missouri counties past Houston.
