DR. E. DOUGLAS CARVER ... cattle and Gospel, too

Baptist Preacher Is A Cowboy Too

By JIM DEAN Pampa News Managing Editor Last Wednesday, one of those fine rainy days, a group of cowboys was heading cattle on the John Pitts place near Pampa. The cowboys had gotten up at 4 a.m. for this day's work, and they rode their horses until noon. One of those cowboys was Doug Carver, known more officially as Rev. E. Douglas Carver, pastor of Pampa's First Baptist Church. Riding herd on a bunch of cattle is a beloved hobby of this preacher who has led the big Baptist congregation here for more than 12 years and has helped it grow and prosper in the Lord's work. And if herding cattle and preaching the Gospel seem incongruous, it is necessary only to turn back the pages in the story of this dedicated preacher to get a clear picture focused on "work."

Reared in Wheeler. Edwin Douglas Carver was born in Palo Pinto County and grew up on a farm in Wheeler County where his family moved when he was a boy of four or five. Of his family, he speaks with deep reverence and thanksgiving for the Christian home in which he grew up. Dr. Carver recalls that an early desire to "be something" to please his parents was probably the first step that eventually led him to dedicate his life to preaching. For the Church was not his first calling. Coached Football. Before he was to turn toward the pulpit there were to be months of study at Wayland College where he hoped to prepare for a Law degree, and later a session at Brownfield High School where he coached a "winning" football team and taught school before he "was old enough to vote."

Today, though the duties of the church often keep him from riding opportunities, Dr. Carver, as often as possible, gets astride his horse and works as a cowboy. And, he apparently is as good

Dies Due In Pampa Tuesday

Congressman To Speak At Banquet

Rep. Martin Dies, featured speaker at Tuesday's Oil Progress Week banquet, will arrive at Amarillo airport at 3 p.m. Tuesday and will be escorted to Pampa by Rep. Walter Rogers, Attorney Curtis Douglass and Oilman George B. Cree, Sr.

A social hour, preceding the banquet, will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Pampa Country Club, according to George Cree, Jr., chairman of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and Oil and Gas committee which has arranged the "week." Dies will speak following the banquet which will be strictly a "stag" affair.

Cree this morning also announced the prizes that will be awarded to "Top of Texas Oil Queen," to be selected Wednesday afternoon following the parade slated to get underway at 3:45 p.m.

Various Pampa concerns will help outfit her for her trip to Dallas: from Behrman's, a new fall dress; Smith's pair of shoes and matching bag; Murfee's, new fall hat; J. C. Penney, matching necklace, earrings and bracelet; Gilbert's, nightgown; Bentley's, slip; and Anthony's, box of stockings.

In Dallas the queen will see "The King and I," make a television appearance; tour the Republic Bank building; meet some of the top oilmen in Dallas; engage in a "tea or two"; and probably make a radio appearance. She will be in Dallas the week end of Oct. 22-24.

Water Board Meets In Plainview

The Canadian River Municipal Water Authority board of directors met this morning in Plainview to hear a report from a specially appointed committee which has reviewed the findings of a New York City engineering firm on the feasibility of the proposed dam-and-reservoir project.

B. D. Robison, director from Pampa, was on hand. But Lynn Boyd, the other Pampa on the board, was tied up with other business.

Parsons, Brinkerhoff, Hall and Macdonald, of New York City, Sept. 22 turned over their report to the board which, in turn, named a committee to investigate.

The board today was expected to accept the Parsons report.

Also on the agenda today was to be the matter of electing a new president of the board. C. A. (Lefty) Huff, president since the authority's inception, resigned last week with Boyd being named by the Pampa City Commission to replace him, Robert Maxey, Lubbock, is vice president.

12 London Papers Hit By Strikes

LONDON, Oct. 11-UP—Twelve London daily newspapers with a total circulation of 19 million, halted publication Monday because of a strike called in a union dispute over replacement of three printers.

All nine of the London morning newspapers, called "national dailies" because they circulate 15.6 million copies daily from plants in London, Manchester and Glasgow, stopped their presses Monday morning.

The city's three afternoon newspapers, with a circulation of 3.4 million, did not publish Monday afternoon. The shutdown was the largest countrywide blackout on news since the general strike of 1926. Some provincial newspapers were publishing.

The shutdown was caused by a dispute at the 800,000 circulation Daily Sketch where two unions claim jurisdiction over the press operators.

After two years of negotiations the unions were unable to decide which of them would provide replacement this week for three vacationing pressmen. The strike halted publication of the Daily Sketch.

Under an "all or none" agreement by the Newspaper Proprietors Association, all other London newspapers, including the Communist party's Daily Worker, stopped publication.

Chicago Flooded By Rain-Swollen River

20 Dead Counted; Loss: $10 Million

CHICAGO, Oct. 11—UP—Chicago staggered Monday from a flood that sent the Chicago River pouring into skyscrapers, forced hundreds of persons from their homes and caused partial paralysis of industry and transportation.

The flood waters, lashed by the heaviest rain in Chicago history, invaded 62 suburbs and spilled into two major Chicago railroad stations—the Union and Dearborn Street—where some of the nation's top trains were stalled.

At least 20 persons were dead in the vast area covered by the torrential rains that ranged up to nearly 10 inches. Most of them died in traffic smashups.

Damage in Chicago alone was estimated at $10 million. A light drizzle fell on the water-soaked city as dawn broke. U. S. weather forecasters predicted no rain for the rest of the day, but said some could be expected Tuesday.

Patrol in Rowboats Coast Guardsmen patrolled some suburban streets in rowboats, seeking to aid home owners marooned by the flood waters.

Illinois Gov. William Stratton alerted the National Guard, state police and highway maintenance men to be ready for flood duty.

In Hammond, Ind., across the state line, Mayor Vernon Anderson declared a state of emergency because of heavy flooding in the Robertsdale residential area. Power was off and firemen and policemen evacuated scores from their homes.

The waters interrupted suburban transportation and flooded viaducts and highways. Abandoned autos stood hood-deep under many of the viaducts and in the small lagoons left by the rains.

Disaster Centers Set Up Police stations, town halls, school buildings and fire stations in the metropolitan area were converted into emergency disaster centers. Suburban families spent the night on Army cots and were served meals by Red Cross, Salvation Army and volunteer workers.

One of the city's major newspapers, the Chicago Daily News, a Knight newspaper, was one of the flood victims. The flooded Chicago River spilled into the newspaper's basement, ruining from 200 to 300 rolls of paper, and the News used the facilities of other newspapers to get out its editions Monday.

The normally sluggish river also lapped into the basement of the 45-story Kemper (civic opera) building, into a new city garage and into two huge electrical generating plants supplying one fourth of the city's power.

The Commonwealth Edison Co. advised the Chicago area's big industrial plants they would have to cut their electric "load" Monday because of the power shortage.

A Commonwealth spokesman said the step was necessary to save the city from a possible power breakdown.

The big Ford aircraft engine division plant on the city's far South Side was all but closed down for the day following the Commonwealth statement.

Telephone service was still disrupted in the city and a Bell company official said about 4,000 phones on the city's north and south sides were still out of commission early Monday.

'Hazel' Switches, Heads For Haiti MIAMI, Oct. 11—UP—Powerful Hurricane Hazel suddenly switched its 115-mile-an-hour deadly fury Monday to a north-northeasterly course that aimed at Haiti about 120 miles away.

The big howler, that remained almost stationary the past two days changed its course early Monday from a northerly direction and picked up its forward motion to about eight miles an hour.

A 4 a. m. cat advisory said "winds are increasing along the southern coast of Haiti and should reach hurricane force in southwest Haiti Monday."

The hurricane should continue moving toward the north-northeast at about the same speed for the next six to 12 hours, the advisory said.

Chamber Installs Tonight

Dinner Meeting Scheduled At 7:30

New officers of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and the Board of City Development will be installed at the regular monthly meeting tonight at 7:30 at Poole's Steak House.

The new officers, Floyd Watson, president, Ed Myatt, vice-president and Joe Fischer, finance director, will serve until October, 1955. Outgoing officers were Clinton Evans, president, Floyd Watson, vice-president, and Ed Myatt, finance director.

"We are installing the new slate at our regular monthly meeting and not at our banquet, Oct. 19 when they will be officially presented to the public, in order to save time, according to E. O. Wedgeworth, manager of the P. of C.

"A full program is on the docket for the banquet a week from Tuesday at which time nationally-known after-dinner speaker Dr. Kenneth McFarland of the General Motors Corp., Topeka, Kan., will speak," Wedgeworth said.

Tickets for the affair are still available. The price is set at $2.50 per person. A capella choir of the High School will provide a special entertainment.

Optometry Board Lifts Ban On Ads

AUSTIN, Oct. 11—UP—Bans on advertising by Texas optometrists were removed Monday by the State Board of Optometry Examiners.

"We rescinded all rules in controversy," a board spokesman said following a brief meeting of the board.

The action was expected to end court challenges to the board authority in Austin, Beaumont and Dallas.

Hearing on a suit here had been scheduled Monday in 53rd District court.

Charles M. Babb, executive director of the optometry board, said the action was effective immediately.

The board made no reference to the pending court tests of its authority.

Babb said reasons for the board action would be covered in a "written statement later."

An order dismissing the court suits was expected to be entered in all actions, possibly Monday.

The suit, challenging authority of the board's right to ban advertising, was filed last week in court of District Judge J. Harris Gardner.

The Texas Daily Newspaper Association, the Texas Association of Broadcasters and the Texas State Optical Co., joined in contesting an earlier court ruling sustaining the board's powers.

Mrs. Roosevelt Honored At 70 HYDE PARK, N.Y., Oct. 11—UP—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt celebrated her 70th birthday here Sunday night at a dinner party attended by four of her children—two of whom are running for public office.

The former First Lady, whose actual birthday is Monday, let her children arrange the dinner at her modest Val-Kill cottage early because Monday night she will be feted in New York City by 1,000 persons attending a dinner sponsored by the American Association for the United Nations.

Dining with Mrs. Roosevelt Sunday night were her daughter, Anna, and her sons, James, John and Franklin Jr. James is a candidate for Congress from California and Franklin Jr. is the Democratic candidate for attorney general in New York.

THEY'RE CLEANING THE U. S. TREASURY, INSIDE AND OUT

If there is one thing on which the American people have an opinion, it's money. Be it on how its value keeps changing, how the government keeps pouring it down "ratholes," or even how it's made, they've always got a ready-made opinion.

That even goes for the building in which money is made.

Rep. Walter Rogers, of Pampa in Washington last week, reports that the U. S. Treasury building is having its "face lifted." It seems the outside of the structure is being "washed down, or rubbed down, or sand blasted, or whatever is necessary to clean it off."

He overheard one wag, who was standing on a street corner watching the cleaning operation: "It looks as if the Treasury is getting cleaned both inside and out."

NEW YORK EXCHANGE NAMED

Illegal Coffee Trade Charged

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—UP—The Federal Trade Commission Monday accused the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange, its officers and members with engaging in illegal trade practices in trading in coffee futures.

The commission issued a complaint that the exchange unlawfully restricted trading on the coffee futures market to coffee imported from Santos, Brazil. Coffee imported from Santos amounts to 10 per cent of the coffee consumed in this country.

The commission said use of this restrictive contract "contributed to and promoted substantial increases in the prices which the consuming public has been required to pay for coffee."

The complaint was the first result of the commission's long investigation into the sudden rise in coffee prices earlier this year.

The commission attributed the rise in an earlier report to speculation and, among other things, to the exchange's method of trading.

Beside the exchange, others named included four exchange officers, eight of its members, and the New York Coffee and Sugar Clearing Association, Inc.

The officers named, all of New York, are Gustavo Lobo Jr., of Lobo and Co., president; Leon J. West Jr., of Leon-Israel and Brothers, vice president; William Prescott of Farr and Co., treasurer, and G. W. Knauth of the New York Sugar Refg. Co., Secretary.

Those calves, they can sure get in the way. Louis E. Christian, 26, of 932 E. Gordon, was headed west on U. S. Hwy. 60 about 1 a.m. Sunday when his vehicle collided with a calf going from south to north, the highway patrol reported today.

Estimated damages to the Christian car were $100-$200. Accident occurred two-tenths of a mile east of Pampa.

Warm And Cloudy Due For Texas

By UNITED PRESS Skies were partly cloudy and temperatures were warm over Texas Monday, and forecasters said nothing is likely to change that situation at least through Tuesday.

A cold front came to a halt just north of the northern edge of the Panhandle, and meteorologists said it looks like it won't start up again.

That was the only thing that looked like even a possibility for a change in the near future.

Thundershowers may fall over widely scattered portions of the state Monday afternoon, forecasters said. There were some in East Texas and along the Gulf Coast Sunday and Sunday night.

Houston measures 25 inch. Fort Arthur 17. Tyler 15. Palacios 07. Brownsville 02 and Corpus Christi 01. Low temperatures early Monday ranged from 54 degrees at Dalhart to 80 at Galveston.

Court Appointment Awaits Ike's Return

DENVER, Oct. 11—UP—President Eisenhower is not expected to deliberate seriously upon filling the Supreme Court vacancy until he returns to Washington after this last week of his western vacation.

It was learned Sunday night that Mr. Eisenhower intends to scrutinize the qualifications of a number of high-ranking federal jurists at length and to hold long administration conferences in Washington before announcing his choice to succeed Associate Justice Robert H. Jackson, who died Saturday.

Most often mentioned in the normal speculation around the Denver White House was Judge Harold Medina of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, along with several other members of the federal bench.

Judge Medina's job-like forbearance while he presided at the marathon trial of the 11 Communist leaders in New York brought him national acclaim. And Mr. Eisenhower is known to be impressed with Medina's distinguished judicial record.

Members of the White House staff ruled out the possibility that the appointment would go to either retiring Gov. Thomas Dewey of New York or to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. And dual circumstances appeared to scotch any likelihood that attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., would receive the nomination.

President Eisenhower clearly considers Dulles to be irreplaceable, at least for the foreseeable future.

Monday was scheduled as the first business session of the fall term and the court was supposed to announce preliminary and in some instances final decisions on about 150 cases. But in view of Jackson's death it was uncertain whether this would be done.

After theology, the court planned to adjourn immediately and remain in recess until after Jackson's funeral. Funeral services for the 62-year-old justice will be held here Tuesday and burial will be at Frewsburg, N.Y., Wednesday.

Jackson, an ardent New Dealer and close friend of Franklin D. Roosevelt, died at 10:45 a. m. Saturday after suffering a heart attack while driving in Washington from his home in nearby McLean, Va.

Guatemala Voters Strong For Armas GUATEMALA CITY, Oct. 11—UP—Ninety-nine percent of Guatemala's voters endorsed President Ciriaco Castillo Armas when they went to the polls to elect delegates to a constitutional convention, it was announced Monday.

The Communist underground caused confusion in some places by distributing false ballots, but no violence was reported.

The Reds had urged their supporters to boycott the election, but the voting turnout appeared to be larger than usual. Official returns were expected later Monday.

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—Behind the Screens: "I didn't think Hollywood would want me back. I was the most surprised person in the world when a cable reached me in England to report for a movie."

That's Viveca Lindfors, her high heels back on the sound stages where she once earned the reputation of being a hard-to-handle movie queen, talking out loud about her fresh start as a film emcee in Paramount's "Run for Cover" and MGM's "Moonfleet."

Maybe Viveca stormed and talked out of turn about her movie career when Warner Bros. imported her as "another Garbo" from Sweden in the late '40s, but these days she's Miss Co-operation and Miss Eager-Beaver.

Confesses Viveca: "I had to somehow grow up a bit. There weren't any good roles for me or maybe it was all my fault. I know now that an actress should work all the time. It's up to the actress to adjust to the part."

"I didn't think that way when I first came to Hollywood. It's like it was in the old days in the theater. One night you have a great role. The next you play a small part. If you are going to wait for the great part, you may never work again."

From Venice, where Katharine Hepburn is starring in "Time of the Cuckoo," comes this new chapter in a book that might be titled, "Hepburn Vs. the Press."

La Hepburn walked into her favorite picturehouse bar one evening and spotted a photographer quaffing a glass of heavy brew. Angrily, she turned to the owner of the bar and reminded him that for five years she had been a patron.

"And if you are going to allow photographers," she is reported to have said, "I shall never come here again."

The bar owner blinked sleepily: "Miss Hepburn, this photographer is a friend of mine and has been coming here for 13 years. Do what the Hades you like."

The star stalked out.

Kefauver Hits Foreign Policy
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 11—UP—U. S. Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said Sunday he was "very disappointed" in the United States' Middle East policy of arming the Arab nations.

"We ought to insist that peace be made between Israel and the Arab nations and I am going to have something to say about it," the senator told a regional conference of the United Jewish Appeal.

Sen. Kefauver, who visited Israel this summer, said aid to the new state would be an investment in the future of the free world.

The United States, he said, is losing influence and dissipating its strength by aiding the Arabs, he said.

SUSPECT

XXIV
THAT question about who might want to kill her brought the old woman's harsh laugh. She seemed to think that was the only answer necessary.

"Did you have a talk with Miss Wister before you made your announcement after dinner last night? And by the way, I thought you worked around to the suggestion of hiring me very cleverly. Or was that rehearsed?"

"The point," Mrs. Oswald snapped, "whether or not you're accepting employment."

"I'm working for Mrs. Kit."

"That may be no hindrance," the old woman said. She plucked at the covers, pulled them higher. "You saved my life last night. You owe me something for that. You're young. You can use money, and I have plenty. I want to know! Why did you save my life if you're going to let my last years be clouded with fear and suspicion?"

"The first thing," Jim said, "is that I'll want to know the exact relationship that exists here."

Mrs. Oswald nodded. She let her eyes half close, appeared on the verge of sleep.

"Agnes Argyle is your daughter?"

"Yes. I suppose she blurted that out last night? Well, let her tell you the rest of the story then. Poor Aggie. She really went to pieces, didn't she? But I'll give orders. They'll talk to you, tell you the truth or they'll answer to me."

Jim went to the kitchen. He found Philip Stoneman puttering around with a coffee pot. Philip got a cup and filled it.

"There isn't any cream," Philip said. "And I've been a busy boy dumping out all the sugar. I've heard arsenic mixes well with sugar."

Philip sipped the black coffee. "Gregory Stoneman was a relation of yours?"

"Brother. When he died, I took over his job."

"Including Mrs. Hilton?"

Philip nodded. "If you want to put it that way."

"So now, you're almost a member of the family?"

Philip grinned. "Just on the fringe. When I'm really in, I won't have to use any self-discipline. Like the rest, I can just let myself go, show my truly sweet nature to the world at large."

"You'll develop the Carlson Conscience?" Jim demanded.

"Working on it now," Philip admitted. "Really working on it. Handy place to have your conscience, in a glass case in a summer place where you don't even have to see it 11 months out of the year."

"You think your brother was murdered?"

Philip hesitated a little on that one. "The Carlsons themselves are to blame for my suspecting one of them killed my brother. They all acted as if they had gotten away with something. Don't make any mistake about one thing, chum. The Carlson women may fight among themselves, but they keep it that way."

Jim nodded slowly. He remembered Mrs. Kit's statement she wanted evidence on Mrs. Hilton for use only "in the family circle." He knew how that his employer thought Mrs. Hilton guilty of the California murder.

Stoneman appeared to read his mind. "And don't count on Mrs. Kit, chum. She'd toss you to the wolves in a minute if you do any little thing that the Carlsons, and old Mrs. Oswald in particular, don't like."

"Like proving Angelica was murdered?"

Philip's smile was a sneer. "Now you're beginning to act like a smart little man."

Stoneman appeared to read his mind. "And don't count on Mrs. Kit, chum. She'd toss you to the wolves in a minute if you do any little thing that the Carlsons, and old Mrs. Oswald in particular, don't like."

"Like proving Angelica was murdered?"

Philip's smile was a sneer. "Now you're beginning to act like a smart little man."

Dunn asked bluntly, "Have you made up your mind now as to whether your brother was murdered?"

"Yes. I've made up my mind. I'm not too stupid about some things."

"It was you who turned the sign around the night I first came to The Spires? It was you who put the barb wire in the strategic place?"

"The sign, yes. The wire, no. Just lucky chance it was there, I guess."

"You know you might have wrecked my car by misdirecting us?"

Philip shrugged. "I couldn't care less, chum."

"Who told you to change the sign and not let us in the locked gate?"

"Angelica asked me to," Philip went on. "No matter what you think, I liked Angelica. She always had a raw deal as far as I could see. She told me she wanted to get something out of The Spires and didn't know when she'd be able to get away."

"She knew someone was coming to The Spires?"

"We all knew that, chum."

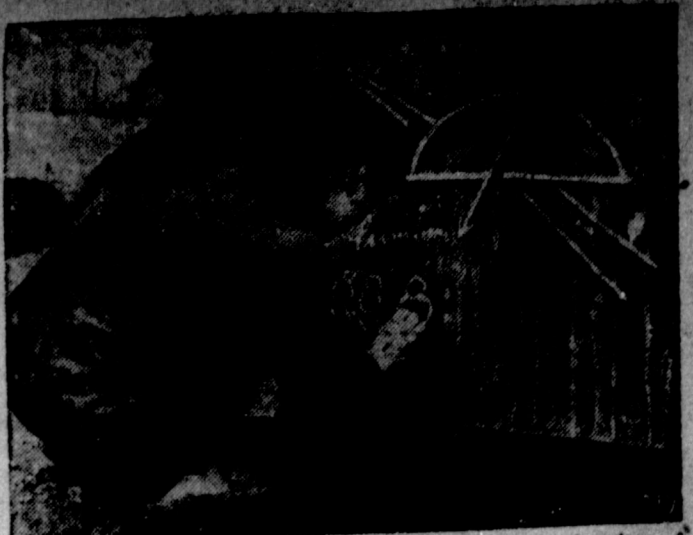

"Mrs. Oswald is going to give orders for everyone to cooperate with me."

"I'm a great little guy for taking orders."

"Why?" Jim demanded, then went on to answer his own question. "Don't tell me. Let me guess. Money. An attractive woman. An easy life."

"You're catching on, chum," Philip said, smashing his coffee cup in the sink.

Russians Offer New Disarmament Plan

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst

The Kremlin is getting alarmingly cooperative.

Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky has introduced a new Russian disarmament plan in the United Nations, including a ban on nuclear weapons.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko has backed up the plan by saying that the Kremlin now favors "effective inspection" of nuclear energy facilities to prevent any evasion of an A-bomb and H-bomb ban.

Vishinsky also has asked priority be given in the UN to discussion of President Eisenhower's plan for an international pool of nuclear energy resources for peaceful purposes.

Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov has said that Russia is now willing to discuss the holding of "free" all-German elections as part of a plan to unify West and East Germany.

It all looks as if the Kremlin is launching a new "peace offensive."

The Russian moves have come immediately after the London agreement under which West Germany is to be rearmed and given the status of a sovereign nation.

There seems no room for doubt that the Kremlin seeks merely to make another big attempt to wreck Allied unity.

When the Allies are split, as they were after France killed the European defense Community plan, the Kremlin talks tough.

Attempts to Split West
But when they are united, as at present, the Kremlin boils up a tub of soft soap and attempts to peddle it to the West in an attempt to split them again.

That apparently is what is going on now. Vishinsky, Gromyko and Molotov are being too pleasant.

It may be taken for granted that the governments of the United States, Great Britain and France will remain suspicious of any Soviet "peace" gestures.

They know too well that the Kremlin is not likely to reverse its entire national policy and permit foreigners to inspect Russian nuclear energy facilities.

Every Russian and German Communist knows that any such election would result in an anti-Red landslide.

Come to Nothing
Hence the prospect is that all the Russian gestures will come to nothing, as such gestures have in the past.

But a Soviet "peace offensive" always appeals to "neutralist" opinion in countries all over the world. It strengthens the propaganda of Communist parties in countries like France and Italy. It helps put over, among leftist elements in Western countries, including the strong left wing of the British labor party, the Kremlin's charge that United States "ruling classes" are war mongers.

The present Russian moves almost certainly will prove to be nothing more than a new attempt to split the Western alliance, undoubtedly they will fail, but they may cause trouble.

Sanity Hearing Today In Dallas

DALLAS, Oct. 11—UP—A sanity hearing was scheduled in Dallas Monday for Keith Lewis Petersen, accused of murdering his 20-year-old sweetheart.

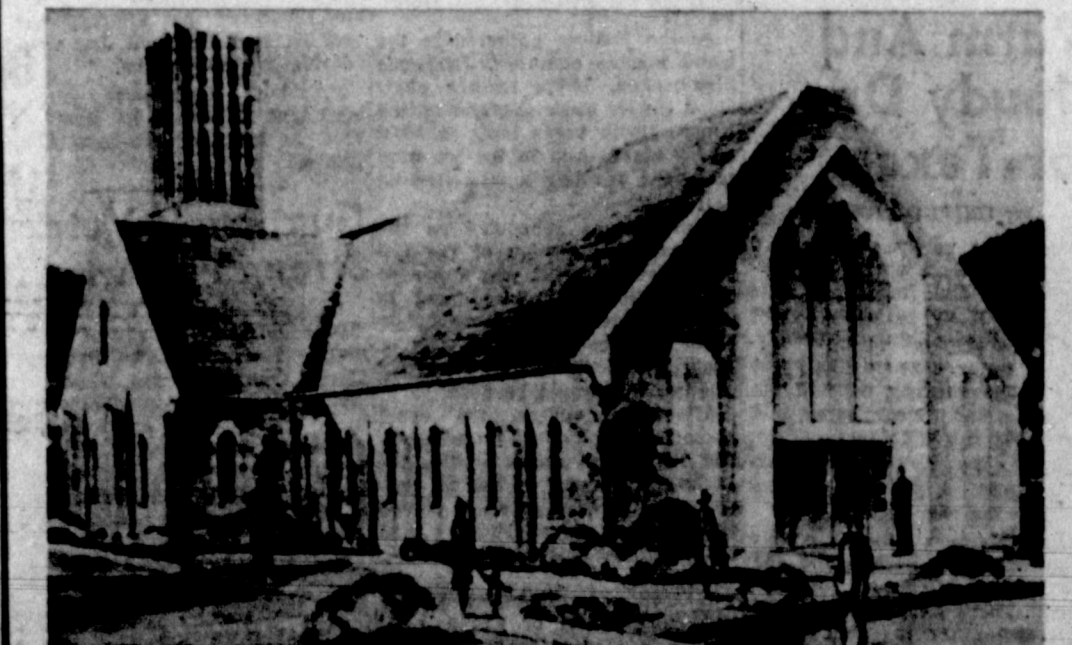

A jury adjudged Petersen was insane five years ago during his trial for the murder of Carolyn Schofield on Sept. 2, 1949, but that he was sane at the time of the slaying.

Petersen was sent to the Rusk State hospital, but was recently released and was recently pronounced sane by Supt. Charles W. Castner.

The sanity hearing is merely a preliminary to the murder trial, according to state and defense attorneys. The state said it was ready to try 26-year-old Petersen on the charge immediately.

Sinking Of Ship Is Probed

Sudden Disaster Claimed 37 Lives

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 11—UP—A three-man naval board of inquiry opens preliminary hearings Monday on the sudden sinking of the ore freighter Mormackite. The disaster caused the deaths of 37 of the ship's 48-man crew.

The 6,214-ton ship sank so suddenly last Thursday after gales from a nor'easter shifted its ore cargo that crewmen didn't have time to send an SOS or lower life boats.

Eleven survivors and 12 bodies of crewmen were brought here early Sunday by the destroyer escorts Bache and Eaton. The survivors were reported in satisfactory condition after fighting exhaustion, sunburn and sharks for more than 50 hours while clinging to make-shift rafts fashioned from floating debris.

Inquiry Board Named

The inquiry into the disaster will be heard by Capt. R. M. Hoyle, chief of the fifth naval district in Norfolk. Others on the board will be Cmdr. W. J. Conley and Lt. Cmdr. M. E. Meekins.

Most of the survivors and bodies were plucked from the sea Saturday by the little Greek ship Macedonia. The SS Maritime Trader and the Monroe Victory also picked up some survivors and transferred them to the destroyer escorts.

The U. S. Coast Guard renewed the search for other possible survivors Sunday but found no traces of the missing men. Blimps, planes and surface craft were sent out to search the waters about 150 miles southeast of Cape Henry, N. C., where the ship went down.

Helped by Gulf Stream

Dr. Frank T. Zinn, medical officer in charge at the U. S. Public Health Service hospital where the survivors were taken, said only the 80-degree warmth of the Gulf Stream water enabled the men to survive.

Three of the men were brought ashore on stretchers but the others were strong enough to walk. One of the bodies was that of a crewman whose legs almost had been amputated by a shark.

The survivors told gruesome tales of fighting the long battle for survival in the water.

John A. Davis, utility deckman, said Capt. Patrick J. McMahon, 28, Valley Stream, L. I., N. Y., stayed at his post until the ship heeled over, then was trapped and went down with the vessel.

Mainly About People

6,926 Fired For Security, U.S. Reports

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—UP—The government disclosed Monday that 6,926 federal employees had been fired or had resigned from their jobs under the administration's loyalty - security program.

The Civil Service Commission released the new figures on loyalty-security discharges. The new total compares with 2,486 reported last March as having been ousted or resigned.

The commission said that of the new totals, 2,811 employees had been fired because of security reasons and 4,115 had resigned before determination of their cases had been completed.

The commission said that of these who were fired or had resigned there was information against 1,743 indicating, in varying degrees, subversive activities, subversive associations, or membership in subversive organizations.

The commission said that in 618 cases it had information indicating sex perversion. And it said the files of some 2,272 contained information indicating conviction of felonies or misdemeanors.

The new report covers the period from May 28, 1953, through June 30, 1954.

Its release is certain to set off more Democratic - Republican political debate over how effective the Eisenhower administration program is in ridding the federal payroll of subversives and other security risks.

E. R. Gower Dies Suddenly

Word was received here today of the sudden death of Mr. E. R. Gower who was vacationing with his wife, Ethel, in Missouri.

Mr. Gower was an employee of Stanlind Oil and lived in the camp west of Pampa. He was a Deacon in the Central Baptist Church and taught the "Fishers of Men" Bible Class.

Mr. Gower, also a Mason, is survived by his wife, Ethel, one son, Thomas of Los Angeles, two daughters, Mrs. Neva Fay Ford, Berger, and Mrs. Alice Daugherty of Abilene.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday in Green Mountain, Mo.

The infant, born Oct. 9 at Highland General Hospital, lived only a few hours. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray S. Bunker, Tucson, Ariz.; two sisters, Tonja Yvonne and Renee Alice of Tucson; one uncle, Fay Bunker of Pampa grandparents, Mrs. J. J. Simmons of White Deer and Mr. and Mrs. David G. Thompson of Indianapolis, Ind.

Top Iranian Given Death

TEHRAN, Iran, Oct. 11—UP—Former Foreign Minister Hossein Fatemi, imprisoned ex - premier Mohammed Mossadegh's right-hand man, was sentenced to death Sunday night by a military court for treason against the shah.

Another of Mossadegh's former top advisers, former parliamentary deputy Shavegan Ebrahavi, 54, was sentenced to life imprisonment on the same charge.

The 37-year-old former foreign minister was charged with collaborating with Mossadegh against Shah Mohammed Riza Pahlavi and working against the country's best interests.

The charges centered on a fight for power in August, 1953, between Mossadegh's supporters and those of the present Premier Fazlollah Zahedi, who backed the shah.

On Aug. 15, 1953, the shah sent Mossadegh a decree removing him from office. But Mossadegh's supporters resisted and more than 300 persons were killed in the next four days of fighting.

Fatemi was arrested by the shah's forces, but released again by palace guards loyal to Mossadegh. When Zahedi's forces quelled the Mossadegh forces, Fatemi fled into hiding.

The 37-year-old shah was forced to flee the country when Mossadegh's forces won the upper hand in the early fighting. But when Zahedi ousted Mossadegh the shah returned and Mossadegh and Fatemi were charged with treason.

Body Found In Burning Automobile

DAVIS, Okla., Oct. 11—UP—Officers sought clues Monday leading to the identity of a charred human body found Sunday in a Texas woman's burning station wagon near Davis.

The body was burned beyond recognition and authorities could not decide whether the victim had been a man or woman.

But, Murray County Deputy Sheriff Newt King said there definitely was evidence of foul play and the smoldering 1953 Ford station wagon in which the body was found had been "soaked with a combustible substance."

The vehicle was traced to Mrs. Doris Hagler of Fort Worth, Tex., who said she had loaned the car to her estranged husband, David Hagler Jr., 36, several days ago.

Hagler had not been located Monday. Authorities said he was connected with the U. S. Asphalt Corporation, operating in Texas and Louisiana.

Officers found the charred body sitting upright in the right front seat of the smoldering car. The car was parked on a dead-end road near the Oklahoma Baptist assembly grounds south of Davis.

A suitcase containing bath towels and a flashlight were found near the car, but they were the only objects that were not burned, King said.

Commissioners Okay County Bills

Gray County commissioners met shortly after 10 a. m. today in the County Courtroom and began okaying the bills.

Other items that were thought might come up during the day were the renewal of contract with Bob Knott, special assessing assistant, and renewal of contract with the City of Pampa on the use of the city's informational cards on property.

Bids on the Perry LeFors Field hangar, okayed by the airport board, will not be opened till a week from today by the county commissioners' court.

TFB Committees Meeting Today

WACO, Tex., Oct. 11—UP—Six special Texas Farm Bureau committees were scheduled to meet Monday to study problems confronting farmers and make recommendations to the TFB board of directors.

The committees represent livestock, field crops, fruits and vegetables, dairy, poultry and water interests.

The committees were set up by the TFB board in June.

Among subjects to be discussed are the drought relief program and the diverted-acre program under the crop allotment restrictions. The water committee will hear a report on the findings of the Texas Water Resources committee.

Recommendations of the committees will be studied by the TFB board meeting here.

Army Has Nerve Gas

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—UP—The Army Monday disclosed the terrifying effect of powerful new "nerve gases" which can paralyze and kill a person in a matter of minutes.

The effect of the gases, far more deadly than any was gas ever produced, is to damage the central nervous system, rendering the victim helpless to control his muscles or organs.

The symptoms and defensive measures against nerve gases are reported officially for the first time in a new Army - Air Force field manual on "defense against CBR (chemical, biological and radiological) attack."

The manual says in "low concentrations," the gases cause a runny nose, tightness of the chest and dimness of vision. The pupils of the eye contract and there is dimmed vision for one to three days from "a minimum amount of vapor exposure."

These first symptoms in more severe exposure are followed by difficulty in breathing, excessive perspiration, nausea, vomiting, abdominal pains, twitching, jerking and staggering and finally headaches, confusion, drowsiness, convulsions, coma and death.

The booklet makes it plain there are only limited defenses against the gases and that speed is essential.

20 Jobs Open At TEC Office

An estimated 20 jobs were on tap at mid-morning today in the Pampa office of the Texas Employment Commission.

Bill Ragsdale, office manager, said the jobs available included farm jobs, construction, waitress, brush salesman, maid, insurance salesman, clerical positions, bookkeeper with auto dealership experience and a ranch couple.

"Things are picking up, now that the rain's gone," Ragsdale pointed out. The job situation is about normal for this time of year, one of the two "peaks" during the year.

Road Work Delay To Be 3 Weeks

It will be three weeks until Cooper and Woodruff, Amarillo, begins work on the proposed Farm-to-Market Road bridge near Bowers City.

The firm is working on the improvement of U. S. Hwy. 60, from its junction with Texas Hwy. 152 to the Roberts County line, highway engineers reported late this morning. And it will be three weeks before the firm is able to leave that job.

X-Ray Unit Here Until Thursday

Pampa has just 2 1/2 days in which to get their free chest X-rays in the American Legion-Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall.

The Texas Health Department mobile unit will be operating from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. Tuesday and Wednesday and from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. Thursday, according to Johnny Campbell, drive chairman for the Gray County chapter of the National Tuberculosis Association.

A total of 2,071 persons has already had X-rays and the Pampa goal is 3,500. High school students are scheduled to get X-rays Tuesday during their study hall hours, Campbell said.

Burglary Nets 'About $2.00'

Sometime Saturday night the DeLuxe Dry Cleaners plant at 215 W. Kingsmill was broken into through the roof entry, but all the burglars got for their efforts was "about two dollars in change," Police Chief Jim Conner, said Monday.

Nickels were taken from the Coca Cola vending machine and about 50 or so pennies from both the gum ball machine and the cash register according to Morris Enloe, proprietor.

"At attempt was made to crack the safe with my drill," Enloe said, "but they failed to do so."

He left a thriving church in Harlingen for the Abilene church which was in need of equipment and supplies and was "generally run down."

Dr. Carver's 16 months there were highly successful. The church added 800 new members during that period.

In July, 1942, he came to Pampa to serve as pastor of the First Baptist Church. And here, as in his previous pastorates, he has surrounded himself with assistants and laymen who have the same devotion to duty and work which has guided his life as a preacher.

His daughter, Gwendolyn, was born here March 31, 1945.

Built Two Missions

The church has grown and it has fostered two mission churches in the city which have prospered. Besides his church calling, Dr. Carver believes it is his duty to be a part of the community, and he has served there too, working with Boy Scouts, the Chamber of Commerce and various civic undertakings.

And, when a distressed cattleman issues a call for help, you're likely to find Doug Carver reaching for his spurs if he can work it into his schedule.

The March Of Crime

J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, points out the following trends in the semi-annual Uniform Crime Reports for the first six months of 1954:

An estimated 1,136,140 major crimes were committed during the first six months of 1954. This represents an increase of 88,850, or 8.5 per cent, over a similar period last year. If this trend continues, major crimes will reach an all-time high during 1954.

A major crime was committed every 13.8 seconds.

Each day during the first six months of 1954, it is estimated that an average of 35 people were feloniously slain and 252 other felonious rapes were committed; 608 cars were stolen; 197 robberies and 1,454 burglaries were committed.

It is estimated that during the period from January to June, 1954, a crime of murder, manslaughter, criminal assault, or assault to kill was committed every 4.3 minutes.

The timetable for crime during the first half of 1954 is as follows: 1 murder or negligent manslaughter every 40.9 minutes, 1 criminal assault every 29.8 minutes, 1 robbery every 7.3 minutes, 1 aggravated assault every 5.7 minutes, 1 burglary every 59 seconds, 1 larceny every 23.5 seconds, 1 auto theft every 2.4 minutes.

Robbery jumped 20.4 per cent while burglaries rose 13.2 per cent and larceny 9 per cent during the first six months of 1954.

Estimated murder figures rose 0.9 per cent and aggravated assaults showed no change. Criminal assault offenses declined 1.2 per cent and auto theft and negligent manslaughter were down 2.3 and 3.9 per cent, respectively.

Urban crime rose 7.2 per cent. Urban robberies increased by 22.6 per cent, while burglaries and larcenies in urban areas increase by 11.8 and 7.1 per cent, respectively. Urban murders decreased 2.1 per cent, and negligent manslaughter declined 6.4 per cent. Auto thefts in the cities decreased 2.7 per cent, while aggravated assaults in urban areas declined by only 0.5 per cent. Urban criminal assault increased 0.6 per cent.

Rural crime increased 11.9 per cent in the period from January to June, 1954. Burglaries and larcenies in rural areas increased 16.7 per cent and 13.6 per cent, respectively. Robberies were up by 10.8 per cent in the rural areas, while murders increased 5.8 per cent. Rural aggravated assaults increased 1.8 per cent, but criminal assault declined 3.5 per cent. Both negligent manslaughter and auto thefts showed declines of 0.6 per cent and 0.8 per cent, respectively, in rural areas.

Although a decrease is noted over the first six months of 1954, auto theft continues as a major criminal problem in the United States. During the first six months of 1954, an estimated 110,060 cars were stolen as compared with 112,600 in the same period last year.

Victims or killers in the United States totaled 6,380, while more than 54,000 other individuals were feloniously assaulted by potential killers. Robbers jeopardized the lives of 35,650 victims.

These are startling statistics. The odds in the first half of this year that you wouldn't be directly affected by a criminal act were only 150 to one — a long shot in a horse race, perhaps, but not a very comfortable margin in trying to live a peaceful life.

The answer doesn't particularly lie in increased police protection. It lies in the hearts and minds of people. A civilization where respect for life and property is declining cannot long endure.

We need in this country a revival of personal integrity and individual morality. A people who believe in God, who hold to the principle of a Divine Order of reward or punishment in observance of the Ten Commandments will not need a policeman at every street corner.

THE NATION'S PRESS

THE REPUBLICAN REBELLION

(Flemington (N. J.) Democrat)

Those who are not warning up to Clifford Case for the United States Senate are being called "die-hards" and "reactionaries" and "members of the Old Guard." But it so happens that the most active group is made up of young people — under thirty — who are looking over the record of the so-called "liberals" and "progressives" and finding that it has been a failure. In college classrooms embarrassing questions are being asked of "liberal" professors who are now in or past middle age. They helped to sell America big-government inflation, "one world," and "give away" foreign aid programs. They sold the United Nations under high pressure.

"What do we have to show for all this?" the students and the young people who went to war once, some of them twice, are asking.

Two years ago these under-middle-age young people got aboard the Republican wagon, thinking that there would be a reversal of the trend. A good many of them thought there would be drastic changes in foreign policy and certainly a very different approach on the question of Communism and fellow-travelers in Government. They had so many of the same old problems pursued with bigger hands in countries which, the more they absorb of our resources the more they think of America and do in the cause of heading off Communism.

They find the Executive Department following the same course that is taken under Roosevelt and Truman in hounding Congressional committees who seriously seek to remove Reds from positions in government and reduce the prestige of those who permitted Communists to take over and hold posts where they could endanger the nation's security.

In nominating a candidate who has gone down the road with the group that has made this record, the Republican Party in New Jersey has put itself on the defensive. It will have to do a major job of selling to change the opinion of thousands of solid citizens of the conservative element who questioned these policies in the first place and thousands more of young people in the under-thirty age group who are now asking: "Where has all this gotten America? Are we not trading constitutional liberties for a mess of socialist porridge of a kind that has bankrupt and corrupted Europe and will do the same for America? If the Republican Party is going to be just a 'me-too' Democratic Party, what choice do we have? Why should we vote at all? Why can't we have two parties dedicated to different principles rather than two parties dedicated to the same objective — state socialism?"

Bigger And Bigger Government

I want to quote further from the pamphlet "The Lengthening Shadow of Government," issued by The Foundation for Economic Education, Inc. It is written by Rev. Edmund A. Opitz.

Under the heading of "A Velvet Glove" he explains how most people do not realize that government is force. He explains it in this way:

"Neither is the word violence used in any vague sense when it is said that all political action or government intervention is violent. The violence in government is always implicit, only rarely explicit and overt; the mailed fist usually wears a velvet glove."

"What is more, the mailed fist of government seems to be our own clenched hand. When the political structure is republican in form; it is only natural for us to assume the innocence of political action. After all, is not political ourselves; and can we be accused of violating ourselves?"

A Rationalization

"The first form taken by the rationalization is that which says: 'We are the government.' Even if this statement corresponded to the facts, it would not speak on either side of the contention that all political action is implicitly violent. If 'we' are the government, then it follows that political action has no ethical sanction for actions that would be ethically wrong when performed by 'us' as individuals. It is generally regarded as wrong for any of us to injure any other of us — whether the injury be directed at body, mind, or estate — unless the injury be the unavoidable result of legitimate self-defense. Therefore, if 'we' are the government, it is also wrong for government to undertake action which injures any one in any way, except when the injury is an unavoidable by-product of an effort to restrain the aggressive person who is attempting to impose his will upon other peaceful persons."

"When once it is understood that political action cannot take place otherwise than in an atmosphere of covert violence, then this first form of rationalization must accept one or the other of two alternatives: It must frankly condone overt violence whenever anyone is in the mood for it, or else it must condemn any political action which would be a wrong use of violence if we as individuals undertook it."

"The second form of rationalization admits the distinction between government and people. The political agency, it recognizes, is a group of several million elected and appointed individuals in more or less permanent control of the instruments of government. It is observed that, in practice, the use that will be made of the political agency is determined by the weight that pressure groups can bring to bear on it at strategic points. The line along which government will move is the resultant of the forces applied in different directions by conflicting groups in society. In this view, politics is the art of mustering interest groups and lobbying to gain privileges for them."

"This is a sophisticated and widely held point of view. It is the view generally held by those who want to use government to provide better housing, more adequate diet, finer education, greater medical care, increased social security, and so on, naming the entire list of objectives which taken together comprise the welfare state."

Good Objectives

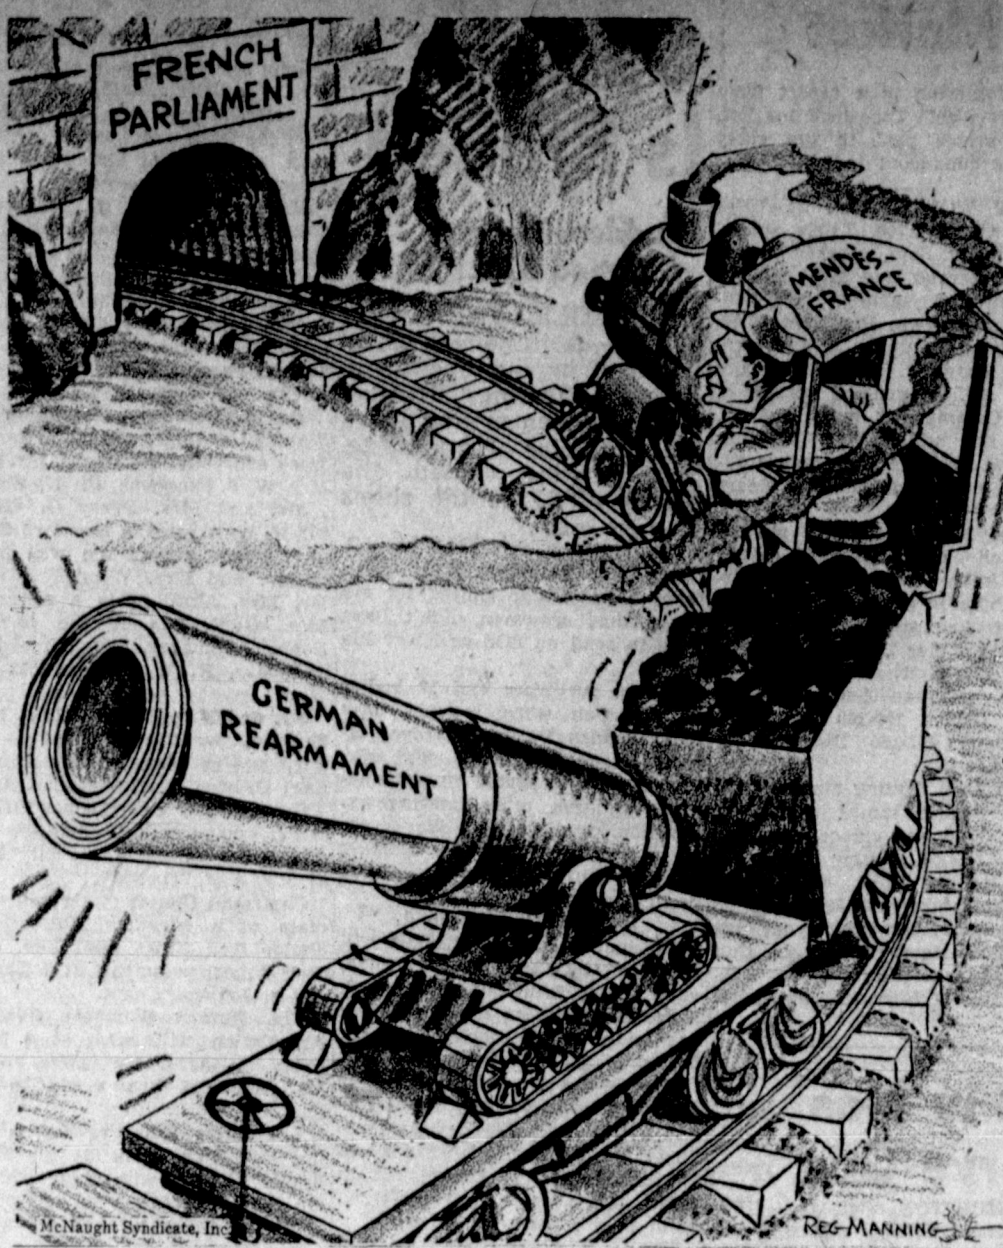

"Over these objectives, it may be said, there can be little dispute. All men of good will want to see all other persons better off economically. Thus there is little or no debate as to the objectives of the welfare state. But there is a serious question about the means employed to realize them, because means determine ends."

"Granted that the ends of better housing, education, and health are desirable, what means shall be used to attain these ends? The collectivist or welfare-state advocates the use of political action as the method for obtaining these objectives. The libertarian, on the other hand, believes that the nature of political action makes it an unfit means for productive tasks. He would rely instead on the release of the creative energies of men and women working cooperatively and competitively, with government acting only to curb predation such as murder and fraud."

"It is important to note that the collectivist or welfare-state-

Failure To Grant Air Line Certificate Is Puzzling

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's failure to grant a certificate to an American air freight line for service to Europe and the Middle East puzzles military and aviation experts. His inaction is the most bewildering because he approved a rival British line's application for this freight route nine months ago, and without any delay.

The American firm involved is the Seaboard Western Airlines, Inc., which is owned by the Norden brothers of New York City. It first sought a certificate as far back as 1947, but its application was denied by the Civil Aeronautics Board in 1952.

CAB ruled that the Defense Department has not said that an air merchant marine was essential to national defense. The case was reopened after a "missing" letter from the late Stephen Early, then Deputy Defense Secretary, turned up. He informed CAB that the Department favored an all-cargo service for military reasons. The State Department also wants development of American air freight routes around the world.

Opposition from two commercial air lines, even though they have never engaged in hauling freight in an extensive way, continued to block CAB approval during the Truman Administration. They are the Pan American World Airways and Trans World Airlines.

Last June, however, CAB approved Seaboard's application on the recommendation of its examiner and counsel. The vote was 3-2. But Eisenhower has withheld his affirmation, despite his prompt okay of British Airwork Ltd.'s request for a 10-year contract.

In urging favorable action on Seaboard's application, CAB Examinee Herbert K. Brown declared that it would be embarrassing for the Board — or the White House — to defend denial of Seaboard's petition, if it granted the British company's application. He said:

"The Board will have to assume the anomalous position of finding that public interest factors require a permit for a foreign carrier, while finding that similar conditions do not require a certificate for a domestic carrier to provide like service."

In this connection, it has been pointed out that Seaboard, unlike its commercial opponents, enjoys no government subsidies, and will receive none even if given a certificate. It must stand on its own feet. Moreover, Seaboard pays heavy Federal taxes, whereas the luxury passenger lines' taxes are paid by the Treasury, with "windfalls" added.

As a result of the White House while he tests the objectives by moral principles, does not apply moral judgments to his means. Actually, his ends are prefigured in the means he adopts. When pressed, he usually admits the covert-violence implicit in political action; but he justifies his use of it by claiming that the people he hopes to help now are the innocent victims of political action of a previous era."

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

Not so many years ago almost all victims of severe diabetes either died of the disease or fell into complications which at that time could not be prevented. Today, thanks to the discovery of insulin and better knowledge of how to treat the disease, the outlook is much better.

But there are still problems: There are believed to be nearly a million people with diabetes who do not know they have it and therefore are not receiving the benefits of modern treatment, and human nature being what it is, there are far too many diabetic patients who do not follow directions and are therefore, taking chances with their lives.

Diabetes is a curable disease. Heredity and excess fat play a part in its development but the exact cause still remains to be discovered. The place where the trouble originates is in the pancreas, which is a small gland lying in the upper portion of the abdomen. The gland, among other functions, normally produces a hormone which is emptied into the blood and is known as insulin.

Insulin is necessary to enable the tissues to burn and use sugar; if it is absent or deficient in quantity some of the sugar will spill over into the urine. The body thus does not get enough nourishment and wasting may occur if it goes too long unchecked.

The principal aim of the attack on diabetes is to improve the use of the sugar and prevent its wastage through the urine. One method of doing this is by eating foods which do not contain much starches or sugars. In mild cases this may be enough.

It should be mentioned too that the severity of the diabetes may change from time to time so that it is necessary to alter the treatment. Also, a diet which is satisfactory at one time may have to be changed later.

Ambassador Dubs Mrs. R. First Lady Of Universe

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

WASHINGTON — It was just my luck, which gets worse and worse, to be right here in our nation's capital but ignorant of the fact that the First Lady of the world was receiving from senator Roberto Heurtematte, the ambassador of Panama, an enameled bottlecap called the order of Vasco Nunez De Balboa for services ambiguously described as "her contribution to the intellectual, cultural and political world."

Caught flatfooted, I had to start out the next day to try to run down the facts with a not exactly brooding suspicion. I suspected that Senator Bobbo, as they call him in the diplomatic corps, referred to the lack of education which My Leader's relict has set forth in her memoirs; the marital and fiscal-conduct of her barms, and her personal infliction of bubblehead Wallace on our country with a winking.

I wittily entertained a wicked thought that Senator Bobbo was fetching La Boca a sly Latin dig in the slats with this generalization about her influence on the intellectual, cultural and political trend of these times. I can still dream, for the issue remains unsettled after serious efforts to put the question to Bobbo. I phoned a little after three next day and a nice voice said "This is the answering service; May I take a message?"

I said no, I had to speak to Senator Ambassador on a matter of state. Do you think I misrepresented? I must take it up with my pastor because this is a borderline case. After all, I did want to ask questions for my constituents, who are noted for the vehemence of their opinions on this lady. I guess everyone's opinion of her record as an exemplar of American motherhood is vehement one way or another. I wanted to ask Bobbo first whether this was a rib. And who thought it up? And how many of these baubles were outstanding in the young life of this own glorious Republic? To what other gringos had they been given? Paul Robeson, perhaps? Paul Draper? Lucille Ball? Vito Marcantonio? Harry Bridges? Anybody named Flanders?

It didn't even occur to me that Senator Bobbo could have been serious. I have been brain-washed by Wall Street and fascist-minded propagandists, so the thought never occurred that he could have been less, senator Bobbo. But don't worry. You made a lot of American friends for Panama. At half-past four, I phoned again.

Again the answer-girl said they weren't open yet.

All right, to heck with it. Nobody can say I didn't try. And as long as I can't know the contrary—I can dwell in my own fool's heaven.

Bookies Tab Bonnie Prince As Underdog In First Bout

By HENRY McLEMORE

A moment after I read that Bonnie Prince Charles of England was going to fight Stephen Rutter, son of an American diplomat, at a boxing academy in London, I had to go for a chunk on Rutter. I have been watching British fighters for quite a few years, and the great majority of them inherit a glass chin just as unfailingly as they inherit a love for tea, unpressed flannels, and jellied eels.

This is particularly true of the heavyweights. Remember fainting Phil Scott, Bombardier Wells, and Jack Doyle, the Irish thrush via England? Stalwart men, all they had hearts as big as the cliffs of Dover, fine left jabs, strong rights, and ballet footwork. But their chins were as fragile as the finest glass ever spun. From mouth to neck they were pure cossack. Let a punch graze his cossack territory and they fell, never to rise for combat again.

I am betting on Stephen Rutter, aged 6, to chill Bonnie Prince Charles, aged 5, because I suspect the future crown wearer can't take it. I don't know this. All the communications I have had from Buckingham palace have been invitations to dinner, to levees, to dances, and the like. None has mentioned the Prince as a fighter. He may have a chin like Gibraltar, but the chances are he has one like an earlier British champion, Joe Beckett, who used to fly an airport wind sock over his house. If the breeze was over three miles an hour he didn't go out for fear of being flattened.

To check on my bet, I called Gene Fowler, and to my amazement Gene said he had already put down a good share of his goes into extra innings today so he can recuperate from the coverage in the Washington Post.

The Post had a picture of La Boca three columns wide (and she is over a column wide herself, these days, even in profile) and a boss-head on the society page. It read "a great lady decorated." The author of this, a Mrs. McNair, represented by a slightly melancholy thumbnail at the top of her copy, was playing it straight.

Mrs. McNair said: "A great lady was decorated yesterday by the Panama ambassador. She's Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, widow of our president," as if we didn't know that. Mrs. McNair! Only we called him Our Leader.

But to return to Mrs. McNair's interpretation of a diplomatic double entendre: "As she stood with Ambassador Roberto Heurtematte in the F. Street Club's drawing room yesterday, old friends looked at her and said: 'She's like French wine; she improves with age.'"

Oh! So Bobbo didn't hold the do at his embassy, hey? That certainly seems peculiar, pitching a do for the first lady of the world at a semi-public club where there may be three or four clam-bakes going on all at once and close enough to jab each other with oyster forks. Like the time Joe McCarthy twisted Drew Pearson's arm in a so-called rest room when the guy in the white coat came running with yells of "Hey, mistake senator: You didn't drop no dime!"

But that was another club. Nevertheless, what is the idea, anyway, Senator Bobbo? Isn't the first lady of the world good enough to set foot in your embassy? You might bear in mind that this great lady's Uncle Ted, the brother of Elliott the Lush who was her daddy, tore your noble little Republic out of Colombia and set it up as Panama so as to control the canal. Yet you take his niece to a club to hang this badge on her.

I suppose it was the maid's day out. A likely story, Bobbo. A swell diplomat you are. And a hell of a humorist, too!

Do you want to follow Joe E. Lewis into the cop?

Then Mrs. McNair said Mrs. Bobbo wasn't there because she wasn't able to pack in time to leave Newport. Wars have blazed, republics have been wiped out over less, senator Bobbo. But don't worry. You made a lot of American friends for Panama. At half-past four, I phoned again.

Again the answer-girl said they weren't open yet.

All right, to heck with it. Nobody can say I didn't try. And as long as I can't know the contrary—I can dwell in my own fool's heaven.

MANY MORE VOTES have come in over the weekend for our "Pampa's Most Distinguished Man" contest. Dr. M. C. Overton is in the lead, with Dr. E. Douglas Carver in second, one vote ahead of F. E. Inel. Dr. R. M. Bellamy is fourth, and Ed Myatt fifth.

Just the votes mailed before midnight Sunday will be counted today, and the winner announced tomorrow. It has been a close race all the way along. So keep watching to see who wins. It could be any of the top contenders, depending how the "last minute" votes go.

HERE'S SOME interesting news about leather furniture which, I understand, is available at one of our local stores. "What do country Provincial and more formal 18th Century furniture have in common? It's leather. This is the theme that runs through a versatile collection of furniture steeped in tradition but with applications for modern living by Heritage-Henredon.

"For leather, that favored furniture ingredient since the ancients, is back in a big way. New finishes that make leather washable, that make it the most resistant of all upholstery materials to daily scuff and strain, coupled with fresh new textures and bright and subtle colors are giving this material new decorative and functional importance.

"In the collection, you'll find leather upholstering tall aristocratic wing chairs and occasional, side and pull-up chairs, and you'll see how leather richly enhances the tops of desks and game and occasional tables. "The walnut, cherry, and mahogany are set off discreetly or vividly by dull-gloss leather in such important new shades as Dior blue, cantaloupe, mustard, terra cotta, Navajo turquoise, cardinal red, green olive, antique white, and natural saddle. Black pin seal is an elegant choice for desks and table tops, and there is a wealth of rich, more familiar hues, such as Bing cherry red, walnut brown, and cedar green.

"This leather-embellished furniture collection includes Mediterranean, an informal country series inspired by the native arts and crafts of the countries bordering on the Mediterranean. The group embodies the warmth of Provincial in many intriguing occasional pieces that could effectively accent the decor of modern as well as traditional settings.

"The echoes of the past and modern effect are smartly combined, for example, in two Mediterranean pieces that mate pale parchment finish mahogany with rich black pin seal leather. One of these is a fluted top, this slim table has an inlaid checkerboard and backgammon well, revealed when the leather panels are reversed. Effective with it is a small, rounded pull-up chair trimmed with verdigris-finished nailheads.

"Leather is the link with the past and the present that makes an extensive group of chairs at home in a wide variety of settings. The color choice of the leather can determine whether one of these chairs will give a modern or traditional aura.

"In this group leather is stretched smooth or button tufted in a variety of upholstered arm, open arm, and armless chair styles, all outlined with nailheads. Most striking, perhaps, is the Carstairs wing chair, its back over 35 inches high. This handsome "portrait" chair is a precise reproduction of the spoon-tufted original that now resides in the Philadelphia Museum. One of the most generally useful is the button tufted Grosvenor, which gracefully serves as an occasional or desk chair.

"The Bible study was presented by Mrs. Chester O'Brien, and the meeting was closed with prayer. Eight members were present.

Bill Fulenwider Lost For Remainder Of Season

PHS Halfback Suffers Broken Foot

Ole Man Injury has struck the Pampa Harvester grid team again, half back Bill Fulenwider being the latest victim.

Fulenwider suffered a broken foot in Friday's 35-24 loss to Amarillo and will likely be lost for the remainder of the season.

The fractured foot is the second such injury in the Harvester ranks this season. Tackle Ben Sturgeon suffered a broken foot in a pre-season workout this fall and hasn't played a down this season.

Sturgeon and Fulenwider comprise two of the five lettermen the Harvesters had returning this season.

Sturgeon is expected to return to action before the season ends. He will definitely miss the San Angelo game Friday, according to team physician, but may get into the Abilene game next week.

Fulenwider, the second leading Harvester ground-gainer before his injury, was considered the top defensive back on the Harvester roster. Fulenwider also had handled all of the Harvester punting duties before his injury.

Fulenwider had scored a touchdown in each of the first four Harvester games that included the first touchdown in Friday's game at Amarillo. His 24 points is second in the Harvester ranks.

Head coach Aubra Nooncaester revealed this morning that the team physician reports that Fulenwider may possibly get into the last game or two on the Harvester schedule but it is doubtful.

Sophomore Dickie Mauldin will take over Fulenwider's halfback slot. Mauldin performed well in Friday's game, reeling off a 64-yard touchdown scamper and catching a pass for another.

Other than Fulenwider's injury, no other serious injuries were reported on the Harvester squad following Friday night's game — just the usual sprains, scratches and bruises.

District I-AAAA teams will swing into the second week of action Friday night. Abilene, Odessa, Midland joined Amarillo in the winner's circle in the opening games Friday.

The four unbeaten teams will meet each other in this week's headlines. Abilene goes to Odessa and Amarillo to Midland.

The Harvesters will host the San Angelo Bobcats Friday while Lubbock goes to Borger to round out the I-AAAA schedule.

It's been eight years since Rice has beaten SMU at Houston although the Owls often have been the top-heavy favorites. On the strength of their showing in losing to Wisconsin 13 to 7 in only the last minute of play, the Owls are sure to be on the long end of the odds again this time.

TCU, another sophomore sprinkled outfit that created a national upset last week by knocking off the nation's eighth-ranked team, Southern California, will be out to bounce back at the expense of the Aggies, who have looked good and bad so far this season.

The Aggies bowed to Houston 10 to 7 last Saturday night, but the clock caught them on the one-yard line with first down. TCU ran Southern Cal ragged in posting its 20-7 victory.

Texas was not as much of a match for Oklahoma, the nation's No. 1 team, as the 14-to-7 score indicated, while Arkansas had to squeeze out a last-quarter field goal to nip Baylor 21 to 20.

SMU got its offense clicking around the goal lines against Missouri and took home a 25-to-6 verdict.

IT LOOKS LIKE THE INJURY JINX isn't going to let up on the Fighting Harvesters.

With only five lettermen returning this season, to start with, this list has been cut to three since two of the vets are out with broken feet.

The loss of Bill Fulenwider in Friday's game at Amarillo will be keenly felt.

The other broken foot casualty, of course, is tackle Ben Sturgeon who hasn't played a down this season since he broke his foot in a pre-season workout.

The fracture wasn't discovered until X-rays were taken Saturday. This kind of spirit prevails throughout the Harvester squad which is the reason the Green and Golders are able to give a good account of themselves on the field. Soon the odds are stacked against them.

Didn't get to see the Sandie Harvester game on TV yesterday. Was out at the Country Club dishing my way around the links.

But talked to several that did see the TV account and most of 'em said a little editing must have been done on the movie before it was run — particularly on a certain play.

Well, maybe the movie taken by Pampa High School will bring out this play more. It will be shown at the Quarterback Club tomorrow night.

DON'T FORGET THE WRESTLING program tonight at the mat arena.

The crowds are gradually picking up for the mat shows but they could still be better.

The proceeds of the weekly wrestling shows go to a good cause. The Pampa Shrine Club, sponsor of the program, uses the proceeds to help defray the expenses of sending any crippled Pampa child to the Crippled Children's Hospital in Dallas.

The wrestling shows are held each Monday night, and there's always a good show in the offing.

Loop Tilts Feature 4A, 3A Divisions

District games begin to dominate the schedule in the AAAA-AAA divisions of Texas schoolboy football this week with 32 title games packed into the week end program.

Although not one matches unbeaten teams against each other, the standout contests are Abilene vs. Odessa, Amarillo vs. Midland and Dallas Hillcrest vs. Dallas Sunset in AAAA and Lubbock vs. Texas A&M vs. Vernon and McAllen vs. Rice in AAA.

All are district games and Hillcrest, Lubbock, Big Spring and McAllen are among the state's undefeated units.

Other contests involving teams from the perfect record list (unbeaten teams named first) include: Dallas Forest vs. Dallas Adamson, San Antonio Brackenridge vs. Houston Davis, Baytown vs. Galena Park, Galveston vs. Beaumont and Port Arthur vs. Orange in AAAA. Big Spring vs. Plainview, Garland vs. Brownwood and Pharr-San Juan-Alamo vs. San Benito in AAA.

Nacogdoches and Austin McCallum among the AAA unbeaten ranks will be idle.

Port Neches, the defending AAA champion upset by AA Nederland last week, plays Lake Charles, La., while Houston Lamar, the AAAA champ which lost its second contest of the year to Waco last week, meets Houston St. Thomas, a strong parochial power.

Picked to Win Race — NEW YORK, Oct. 11 — UP — Pet Bull, despite a staggering 134-pound impost, was favored to lead home a 15-horse field Monday in the $20,000 added Vonsburg Handicap at Belmont Park. His strongest rivals appeared to be First Glance (122) and Duc De Fer (119).

But it took a substitute sophomore quarterback named Jimmy Harris to win that Texas game for the Sooners. Stepping into the shoes of injured all-America candidate Gene Calame, Harris kept Texas off balance with the best passing Oklahoma has shown against the Longhorns in 10 years, the Sooners completing six out of nine passes for 127 yards.

Among the weekend's other top heroes were: Billy Toss, who ran 77 yards for a TD and gained 51 more in five more tries as Georgia Tech downed Louisiana State 30-20; Preston Carpenter, whose fourth-period field goal gave Arkansas a 21-20 upset of Baylor and the only unbeaten record in the Southwest Conference; Cory Taylor, who scored with three minutes left to give Nebraska a 7-3 win over Kansas State; passing ace Duane Nutt and John Roach of SMU who clicked for 12 out of 18 to beat Missouri, 25-6; Verle Cray, whose field goal with four minutes left gave Houston a 10-7 win over Texas A&M; and 221-pound John Bayuk of Colorado, who gained 185 rushing and scored four touchdowns in a 40-18 victory over Arizona.

To begin with, four of the top 10 are matches against each other with Purdue facing Wisconsin and Iowa meeting 10th-ranked Ohio State. Duke has to come right back against a fired-up Army team that showed its true caliber by crushing Dartmouth, 60-6. UCLA must face a Stanford team that will be burning to avenge a 25-0 beating by Navy.

Ninth-ranked Notre Dame, after bounding back to its Purdue defeat to swamp Pittsburgh, 33-0, Oklahoma fumbled six times and just managed to nip Texas, 14-7. Second-ranked UCLA was only an extra point better, than Washington, 21-20. And fourth-ranked Wisconsin, watched by a national television audience, needed Alan Ameche's touchdown with 50 seconds left to turn almost certain defeat into a 13-7 win over Rice.

Detroit Dims LA Rams Hopes With 21-3 Win

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press Sports Writer

With the champion Detroit Lions looking better than ever and the Cleveland Browns showing some of their old punch, it looked like the same old story Monday in the National Football League.

Coach Buddy Parker's Lions humiliated the high-scoring Los Angeles Rams Sunday, 21-3. Brilliant defensive play held the Rams, ranked as one of the top threats to Detroit's bid for a record third straight championship, without a touchdown for the first time in 35 games.

Cleveland, defending Eastern Division champion which took a 28-10 whipping from the Philadelphia Eagles in its first start, crushed the Chicago Cardinals, 31-7. The Cardinals are one of the league's weakest teams but the Browns, with Otto Graham completing 14 of 18 passes for 266 yards and three TDs, won the rain-lashed game with surprising ease.

Y. A. Tittle, San Francisco's injured quarterback, came off the bench to lead the Forty Niners to a 23-17 victory over the Green Bay Packers; Charley Conerly threw four touchdown passes to lead the New York Giants to a 51-21 victory over the Washington Redskins and the Chicago Bears scored a 28-9 triumph over the Baltimore Colts in other Sunday games.

The Philadelphia Eagles look undisputed first place in the Eastern race Saturday night with a 24-0 record by rallying for a 24-22 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Detroit (2-0) and San Francisco (2-0-1) are tied for the Western lead by the Forty Niners, have played one more game than the Lions and have "lost" it in the tie column, which does not count in the standings.

Detroit's defensive line, anchored on 250-pound middle guard Les Engstrom, limited the Ram run-backs to 63 yards. The Lion secondary, led by rookie Bill Stits and Carl Karilvacz, halted Norm Van Brocklin's passes when it counted.

The Lions practically insulted the Ram defensive unit by starting Tom Dubsinski instead of regular quarterback Bobby Layne. Dubsinski played the entire first half on offense and collected all the points the Lions were to need when he plunged a yard to end an 83-yard first period march. Stits stole a Ram pass and lateraled to Karilvacz for another TD in the third period and halfback Lew Carpenter raced 60 yards in the final minute for the last TD. Les Richter's 31-yard first period field goal provided the only Ram points.

Unbeaten Trinity Eyes Miner Tilt

Trinity University's potent Tigers seek to keep their 4-0 season record unblemished this week at the expense of Texas Western in the feature game of the Gulf Coast Conference.

The Tigers, who noted out East Texas 6 to 0 for victory No. 4 last week, will play the Border Conference eleven in El Paso Saturday night.

At the same time, North Texas will meet Chattanooga on the latter's field and Midwestern will stay at its Wichita Falls base to entertain Tempe State of the Border Conference.

Last week, North Texas disposed of Hardin-Simmons 20 to 7. Trinity won over East Texas and Midwestern bowed to McMurry 14 to 7 in a mild upset.

TC Teams Have Won 10 Of 12 Starts

By UNITED PRESS
Texas Conference football teams, which have won 10 out of 12 games against outside foes, go after their second straight week-end sweep next Saturday.

The quality of the opposition probably will be a bit tougher than last week, but the conference still should come out ahead.

Howard Payne, the top championship contender, travels to Ruston, La., against Louisiana Tech; Eastern New Mexico stays at home at Portales, N. M., against College of Idaho in a day game; and McMurry collides with its cross-town rival, Abilene Christian.

Last week, Howard Payne breezed to its fourth straight triumph with a 34 to 7 verdict over New Mexico A&M; Eastern New Mexico also won its fourth in a row, 37 to 6 at the expense of Adams (Colo.) State; and McMurry upset Midwestern 14 to 7 for its second win in four starts.

Kiwanis Club Wins Golf Title Again

The Kiwanis Club continued as the Pampa Civic Club golf champions yesterday in the annual tournament held on the Pampa Country Club course.

Paced by the city champion, Dr. J. F. Elder, the Kiwanians compiled a low net average of 73.

The JayCees placed second with 74; the Lions Club third with 74.5; and the Rotary Club fourth with 75. The Optimist Club, fifth Pampa Civic Club, did not enter this year's tourney.

Dr. Elder of the champion Kiwanis team won the trophy for the low gross of the day with a 76. The high gross trophy went to Bill Garrett of the JayCees with 130.

Also winning trophies were Jack Miller of the Rotary Club with a high net of 79 and Bill Carter of JayCees with 68 for low net.

A two-way tie resulted in the race for the putting trophy between Joe Black and Dr. Harold Meador.

Jack Miller won a dozen golf balls for hitting most balls in the lake during yesterday's tourney. Russell Hollowell won a pair of cuff links and the clasp for coming closest to the pin from the tee box on No. 3, his shot coming to rest eight feet away from a cup.

D. L. Parker won a golf shirt with the Pampa Country Club monogram for coming closest to the pin from the tee box on No. 14.

Fifty-six golfers entered yesterday's tournament. The tourney prizes will be awarded Wednesday night at a banquet in the Country Club ball room.

88 College 11s Unbeaten

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 — UP — Eighty-eight college football teams, ranging from Peru (Neb.) State to such powers as Oklahoma of the Big Seven, and the Big Ten's Wisconsin, Ohio State and Minnesota, take perfect records into this week's drills, a United Press survey showed Monday.

Peru tops the list of undefeated teams with five victories. The little powerhouse has a 26-victory string extending over a three-year period.

Oklahoma, the nation's top team, has a 3-0 1954 record and a string of 12 triumphs extending into 1953. Cincinnati, with a 4-0 record this season, also has won 12 in a row. The 12-game string are the longest victory streaks currently boasted among the 18 major undefeated — untied schools.

Whitish, Colorado, O.C.L.A., Mississippi and Montana State are the other major teams with 4-0 records in 1954; Boston University, Minnesota, Ohio State, Arkansas, Princeton, Wisconsin, Boston College, Yale, Colgate and Penn State have 3-0 marks. West Virginia, the other perfect record major power, has won two games.

Whitish tops the perfect record teams in scoring with 177 points while allowing its four opponents a total of 33.

Reeves On Spot In Staying In TL President's Seat

FORT WORTH, Oct. 11 — UP — Texas League President John Reeves apparently was on the spot again at the annual fall meeting here Monday, but a move to oust him was belittled to have lost momentum.

Reeves' differences with Dick Burnett of Dallas and Art Routzong of Houston appeared to have him behind the eight-ball prior to the last meeting when reports circulated that Burnett had enough votes to oust him.

But Burnett announced shortly before the meeting that he would make no effort to expel Reeves. The get-together proceeded harmoniously after Reeves reportedly apologized to Routzong for saying the Houston park was inadequate. Porkers Point For Steers Saturday

By UNITED PRESS
The pace-setting Arkansas Razorbacks, already successfully through third of their Southwest Conference schedule before most their rivals have taken a dip, go after the big one this week as they collide with title-favored Texas in the feature game.

Riding an all-winning crest that must be surprising even to their most optimistic supporters, Coach Bowden Wyatt's Porkers could shake the conference from top to bottom if they manage to make the Longhorns victim No. 3.

The Texas-Arkansas game at Austin is only one of three title tilts on the program, however, as the teams turn from a rather mediocre intersectional season to the job of moulding a champion.

Rice, which was impressive even in defeat last week as the Owls suffered their first loss of the season, takes on Southern Methodist at Houston in another tell-tale encounter, while Texas Christian and the Texas Aggies meet at College Station.

Lonc Intersectional Game — Baylor figures in the lone intersectional game of the week, entertaining Washington at Waco.

Arkansas hasn't won a game at Austin in so long most fans can't even remember the date (1938), but the sophomore-studded Razorbacks already have shattered a jinx that had kept them from a triumph on Lone Star State soil for many years. Now, even a victory at Austin won't seem out of the question for the brass youngsters who have cashed in on the breaks to upset TCU and Baylor on successive Saturdays.

It's been eight years since Rice has beaten SMU at Houston although the Owls often have been the top-heavy favorites. On the strength of their showing in losing to Wisconsin 13 to 7 in only the last minute of play, the Owls are sure to be on the long end of the odds again this time.

OVERCOME

Fireman, overcome by smoke and near collapse, is carried from blazing restaurant on Chicago's west side Thursday. Ten firemen were injured and a deputy battalion chief was trapped and presumed dead when floor of restaurant caved in.

(NEA TELEPHOTO)

Martha Wright, the beautiful singer, comes from a farm in Duval, Wash. Her grandmother, a pianist, taught her to sing and she used to practice her scales and such while milking the cows. One day her grandfather told her, "Honey, some of the cows are giving sour milk. Couldn't you sing while feeding the chickens instead?"

Robert Anderson's second play to hit Broadway, "All Summer Long," won't rouse as much enthusiasm as last season's "Tea and Sympathy," but in its way it's a better job. There isn't as much plot, no real gripping climax, but Anderson has perfected his bright knack of characterization.

John Kerr and young Clay Hall—and the entire cast—make Anderson's people real people. And real people are welcome visitors to the stage.

Herva Nell, soprano, is one of Arturo Toscanini's proteges and friends. He calls on her for almost all of his opera work, and he calls her in the middle of the night when he can't sleep and they talk for an hour or so.

But Miss Nell would rather talk about Nicola Palumbo than Arturo Toscanini.

"Toscanini has his millions," says Herva Nell. "Palumbo doesn't." Palumbo is her coach, and she says she owes everything to him. "Everything" is a fine career, a Met contract, a contact with Toscanini that brought her opera recordings like "Otello," the new "Falstaff" and the coming "Masked Ball," and phone calls in the middle of the night.

She first met him when she sang at an opera company in Brooklyn. She was a native of Italy, but grew up in Pittsburgh and then came to New York to study. To support herself, she was a glass cutter for five years at $18 a week. Palumbo played the viola in the pit orchestra at the Brooklyn theater.

"I noticed this little man looking up at me," she recalls. "Then one night he stopped me backstage and said I was singing wrong. He said he wanted to be a coach, and when he did get to be a coach he would like to help me. Two years later Licia Albanese set him up in business, and I began to take lessons from him. I go every day at two o'clock, every day, except when I'm singing at the Met."

Herva Nell learned from him how to take care of her voice. Or, as she calls it, impersonally, "the voice."

"The voice was tired after the summer," she'll say. "So many concerts. So I gave it 10 days rest."

No singing at all. Then I sang and the voice was so pure—like a virgin voice. The air in New York is not good for the voice. Too much moisture in the air.

Miss Nell is rather upset because some of the reviews of the new "Falstaff" recording were not too flattering. Not the reviews of her, so much, but the recording as a whole.

"Maestro," she said, referring to Toscanini, "thinks this was the most perfect recording he's ever made, and the critics don't like it. When he finds out what they wrote he will be very mad."

Sidney Resnick, a staff writer on CBS-TV's "The Morning Show," is the author of a book called "How to Write Jokes." Among the orders was one from a Michigan prison. A few weeks later came a repeat order, with a letter saying, "Your book helps keep the prisoners' minds off other things."

Here's one performer you can't insult by calling her a ham. That's her name.

Mary Mayo, the singing star with Mike Wallace on CBS-Radio's upcoming "On a Sunday Afternoon," is married to Al Ham, which makes her a Ham in name only.

Capehart To Support Joe

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—UP—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy drew the all-out public support of Sen. Homer E. Capehart Monday in his campaign to prevent his censure by the Senate next month. But Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla.), a member of the Senate's powerful southern Democratic bloc, predicted anew that a "substantial majority" of the Senate will vote for McCarthy's censure. Capehart declared that he not only will vote against the censure motion when it comes up but will defend McCarthy on the Senate floor. "We will prove before we are through," Capehart said, that the subcommittee which investigated McCarthy's finances was "not duly constituted." Questioned about his use of the word "negotiation," the Indiana Republican amended his statement to "I will talk" on McCarthy's behalf. Smathers said that after a "thorough study" of the report issued by the six-man Senate committee that investigated the censure charges that he is "prepared to vote to support this committee." He lauded the group's "splendidly judicial and painstakingly thorough" inquiry.

Dems, GOP Both Claim Helping Ike

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—UP—The 1954 election campaign rolled into the final three weeks Monday with the Republicans and Democrats arguing furiously over who has done more to help President Eisenhower. Adlai Stevenson, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, and the chairmen of the GOP and Democratic national committees all clashed over the issue in weekend statements and speeches. Stevenson, titular head of the Democratic party, said in Phoenix, Ariz., Sunday that the most important issue at debate in the 83rd Congress was the Democratic defense of the President "against an irresponsible Republican majority." And he said this defense was considerable. Nixon lashed back as he moved his campaign into his home territory of California. He told reporters Stevenson is guilty of "destructive criticism" and that he, "like other Democratic leaders, had no constructive suggestions to offer." Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican national committee, said Sunday night that President Eisenhower must have a Republican Congress to help carry out the rest of his legislative program. He said the Democrats had

Letters From 'Dead' Son Feared Hoax

KNOX CITY, Tex., Oct. 11—UP—A school caretaker Monday was hoping letters signed with the name of his son, reported dead in the Korean war, were genuine. But the caretaker, H. C. Lusk, feared they were a cruel hoax. Lusk said the letters appeared to be in a woman's handwriting. The second letter explained that a friend was writing because Lusk's son had injured his hand. DO-IT-YOURSELF HOUSING—The "do-it-yourself" craze is creating a better life for thousands of Puerto Ricans now living in slum-type homes. The Commonwealth's government relocates slum dwellers on nearby subdivisions where water, lights and streets are provided. Each family gets a 300-square-meter lot. Then they move their modest homes onto the free plot of ground and in their spare time with the help of neighbors and local government, they build an entirely new one. For $15 down, a family can start building its own $300 "casita"—a small, reinforced concrete home. The government contributes up to $150 of the cost of materials and supplies. Above, George Conception, 31, puts a few finishing touches on his new casita in Dorado, while his wife sweeps the porch. Their new home is a far cry from the shack, left, the family formerly occupied.

'The Body' Asks Children's Custody HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 9—UP—Actress Marie (The Body) McDonald, 29, has begun superior court action to get custody of her two adopted children, Miss McDonald and her estranged husband, Harry Karl, filed a petition in Santa Monica after announcing they have reached an amicable pre-divorce settlement under which Karl would pay $500 monthly child support for their children, Denise, 4, and Harrison, 4.

Weaver Brothers Service Will Winterize Your Car

THEY PROTECT YOUR CAR — Clyde Weaver (left) and Jake Weaver protect your automobile or truck by the care they take in lubricating, washing and other servicing. Operators of Weaver Brothers' Texaco Station, 600 W. Foster (4-5581), they stress conscientious maintenance, "extras" and service.

Your automobile or truck will shiver in the cold winter winds and snow if you don't protect it. The best way to protect a car is to let Weaver Brothers' Service Station, 600 W. Foster, telephone 4-5581, winterize it. And when your car's winterized by Weaver Brothers' adds miles of life to your car, more pleasure to your driving and more pep to your car. All that in addition to the fact you will know the cold can't damage your car.

You can select your antifreeze from such high quality products as Texaco PT, Zerex and Prestone. Use of one of these can prevent serious damage to your car, especially in one of the sudden changes in temperature which hit the Panhandle.

Careful Lubrication
Clyde and Jake Weaver, who personally do all lubricating work, give you the benefit of their years of automobile experience and study. The brothers bought their Skellytown Service Station 10 years ago and moved to 600 W. Foster this year.

Before they bought their station they worked with other Top of Texas automobile men. Both Clyde and Jake are specialists in maintaining hydraulic transmissions and have studied automobile service training schools.

Weaver Brothers' lubrication job includes checking grease packing in wheels, lubricating the U joint, checking the transmission and differential lubricants.

Drive into Weaver Brothers' for a grease job. Notice the Weaver extras. As the Weaver Brothers grease a car they look at the under parts of the vehicle, they notice whether any parts are loose or damaged or showing wear. Such extra interest pays off for motorists by preventing accidents and high repair bills.

Powerful Petrol
Drive into Weaver Brothers' for a tank of high powered Texaco Sky Chief Petrol Gasoline, a fuel Texaco developed only after years and years of research and experimentation, and a fuel for which Texaco built a new refinery to produce.

Millions of miles of test runs by all makes of cars and in all climates have proved this new gasoline actually lengthens the life of an automobile; of the spark plugs, rings and other parts. This new gasoline has a lubricating quality that protects many moving parts. It also has a cleansing quality that keeps carbon deposits at a minimum. Petrol, the all new fuel, means more and better automobile service for owners.

Weaver Brothers' Service Station, of course, also has the powerful Texaco Fire Chief Gasoline, the favorite of motorists for several years. Fire Chief Gasoline, like other Texaco products, is being improved constantly, and now gives motorists more miles of travel per gallon than ever.

Convenient Hours
Drive into Weaver Brothers' on Sunday, have your automobile or truck serviced at your leisure. For your extra convenience Weaver Brothers keep their station open Sundays from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m., and weekdays from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m.

You will enjoy your auto more if you have it cleaned before driving. Have it washed by Weaver Brothers. They completely vacuum out the interior to get it as clean as they get the exterior, and they clean the underside of the car as well as the parts you normally look at.

UNASKED-FOR ASSISTANCE—Operators of this Niles, Mich., hardware store didn't count on any assistance when they hung up their "Going Out of Business" sign. Police say the company's safe was forced open after an attempt to blow it open with dynamite failed. Some $200 was stolen. Police officer Vernon Larson holds one of the prying tools used in "dracking" the safe.

There also are Kodak, Brownie, Argus, other Anaco and Iloca cameras. You will like the 3-D stereo cameras, and the 3-D still and motion picture cameras.

Other suggestions for Christmas layaway and other occasions include bill folds, pipes, coffee makers, Sunbeam electric frying pans, lazy susans, lamps and hundreds more.

Come in, shop B & B Pharmacy, the friendly downtown drug store with the thousands of ideas.

Secret Talks On Pacific Defense Open

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 — UP — The United States, Australia and New Zealand opened secret talks Monday on tightening the Allied defense lines in southeast Asia and the western Pacific.

There was particular emphasis on plans for improving economic and social progress in the region as a means to undercut communism. But the talks were described as "informal" and no final decisions were slated to be written.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles met with Australian Minister for External Affairs Richard G. Casey and New Zealand Ambassador Leslie Knox Munro. They formed a council which meets from time to time to discuss defense progress under the Australia-New Zealand-U. S. defense treaty (ANZUS).

The top-off that economic rather than military matters headed the ANZUS problems was seen in Casey's visit here following the Asian economic conference in Ottawa. Also no military leaders were invited to the talks at the State Department.

Harold E. Stassen, U. S. foreign aid chief, told the Ottawa conference the United States is prepared to give greater economic help in Asia. This is possible because of decreased U. S. aid commitments in Europe and the end of heavy expenses for arms in Indo-China.

Adlai Claims Dems Have Shown Fitness

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 11 — UP — Adlai Stevenson, Democratic party standard bearer, believes that Democrats in the past two years have demonstrated their "fitness to govern again."

The titular head of the Democratic party spoke Sunday at a fund-raising lunch for Ernest McFarland, Democratic nominee for Arizona governor, and the state's two Democratic congressional candidates.

Stevenson cited his party's record in the 82d Congress, saying the Democrats' record is "impressive when contrasted with the record Republicans of the previous 20 years made under the rule of Democrats."

He said the administration's tax bill was a much-needed measure, but it gave corporations and high incomes the lion's share. The Republicans, he said, voted solidly against the $600 exemption to ordinary taxpayers.

The Democrats, he said, opposed cuts in the Army structure and also "fought to take out the monopoly features" of the atomic energy bill.

Stevenson said that in touring the nation he had heard "agreeable Democratic sounds." He said he heard many complaints of unemployment, high farm prices, high cost of living and foreign affairs problems.

The former Illinois governor, in a speech at Hollywood Bowl in Los Angeles Saturday night, charged the GOP "is sadly divided" and has given the nation only "20 months of bluff and bluster, confusion and contradiction."

Something Must Be Done
DECATUR, Ill., Oct. 9 — UP — The president of the American Farm Bureau Federation says a "something has to be done" about the price "squeeze" pressing the American farmer. Allan B. Kline told the Illinois Press Assn. that the cost of things farmers buy has dropped about 3 per cent since World War II years while prices of things they sell are down nearly 20 per cent.

O'Dwyer Ducks Reporters Enroute To Red Hearing

EL CENTRO, Calif., Oct. 11 — UP — William O'Dwyer, former American ambassador to Mexico, ducked out of sight below the Mexican border Monday en route to the United States to testify on communism.

The former New York mayor, when his plane from Mexico City landed at Tijuana, Mex., late Sunday, unexpectedly jumped into a car driven by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank O'Dwyer.

Tijuana airport officials said they understood O'Dwyer and his sister-in-law were headed for El Centro, via Mexicali, Mex., to the home of O'Dwyer's brother, Frank, a wealthy Imperial Valley rancher.

However, border officials at Mexicali reported several hours later that to the best of their knowledge the O'Dwyer car had not yet crossed the border.

The former American ambassador is scheduled to spend a day or two with his brother before going to Los Angeles Tuesday on Wednesday to testify before a congressional committee investigating Communist infiltration into the western hemisphere.

Before boarding the Mexican airline plane in Mexico City Sunday, O'Dwyer jokingly told reporters he hoped the committee "wouldn't try to blame me for world communism."

Rep. Patrick Hillings (R-Cal.), whose House subcommittee is conducting the probe, said he invited O'Dwyer to testify because he felt the former ambassador "could make a real contribution to our efforts at exploring Soviet penetration of this hemisphere."

O'Dwyer said he could not dis-
