'Quake Damage High

One Killed; Destruction $1 Million

EUREKA, Calif., Dec. 22 — UP — Damage from an earthquake that killed one person and injured at least 25 others passed the $1 million mark Wednesday.

The blast-like shock struck this quiet coastal town of 2,000 in northwestern California shortly before noon Tuesday. It was also felt in southern Oregon and northwestern Nevada, but was strongest in Eureka and its neighboring towns of Fortuna, Arcata, Ferndale, Fernbridge and Scotia.

As residents began cleaning up the debris, police warned that aftershocks might topple one or more structures already weakened by the quake.

Aftershock Reported
One aftershock was reported at 8:55 p.m. Tuesday, but apparently caused no further damage.

Wreckage from the quake was so widespread in downtown Eureka that Police Chief C. E. Emahiser roped off six central blocks and placed them out of bounds for persons without special business there. The 75-year-old Humboldt county courthouse was evacuated as unsafe.

"There's hardly a chimney left in the city," said a reporter on the Humboldt Standard.

The disaster came swiftly, catching local inhabitants in personal dramas.

Mrs. James Walsh, a dentist's wife, had just given birth to a baby in St. Joseph's hospital when the quake struck. Her delivery table rolled across the floor in one direction, while the baby's wheeled bassinets went shooting off toward the opposite wall.

Trapped in Elevator
Iola Kennedy, an elevator operator, was trapped for more than an hour between two floors in Eureka's commercial building.

Hot lead stopped over in the composing room of the Humboldt Standard, burning two printers.

Christmas trees toppled in virtually every home in Eureka.

At least 50 stores in Eureka were forced to close because of broken plate glass windows and damaged goods. Individual stores reported damage from $5,000 to $10,000 each. One liquor dealer estimated $8,000 worth of whisky was smashed and spilled. Grocery and drug stores were among the hardest hit.

The lone fatality was identified as Carl Wilkerson, 42, of Arcata. A falling timber pile knocked him from a wharf where he was eating lunch into Humboldt Bay.

The shock measured 6.5 on the Richter scale of 10. It was the hardest in the Eureka area since June 6, 1932, when one woman was killed and three were hurt.

Prophet Was 'In The Know'

CHICAGO, Dec. 22 — UP — Dr. Charles Laughhead, whose predicted tidal wave didn't show up, closed up shop as a prophet Wednesday and went looking for a job.

Laughhead credited an 11th hour reprieve by the "general" in outer space with saving Chicago from the tidal wave that was supposed to engulf it Tuesday. He said he would have "nothing specific" to forecast henceforth.

Laughhead was reluctant to claim that the earthquake that hit California Tuesday confirmed his forecast of "cataclysmic" events to accompany the Chicago tidal wave.

However, Mrs. Dorothy Martin who claims to be in contact with other world informants, said she had been told that "seismic disturbances would accompany world-wide destruction."

Mrs. Martin, in whose home Laughhead has been a guest since his ouster by Michigan State, said the West Coast earthquake "bore out" her prediction.

SOME BLUES MUSIC MIGHT SET THE SCENE BETTER

SAN ANTONIO — UP — There was no Christmas music in the Bexar County district attorney's office Tuesday.

The DA's secretaries thought it would be nice if they spread a little cheer Monday among an unusually gloomy group of waiting citizens. They hooked up a record player, loaded with Christmas tunes, to an amplifier.

It did no good. The secretaries stopped the music after 45 minutes when they learned most of the glum women were waiting to see district attorneys to complain about having been beaten up by the husbands over the week end.

U.S. Airliner Fired Upon

TOKYO, Dec. 22 — UP — Three shells burst near a Northwest Airlines plane Wednesday shortly after it left Taipei, Formosa, on a regular run to Tokyo.

The plane was over the northern tip of Formosa and heading out to sea when the shells exploded. None of the shells struck the plane.

Veteran pilot Walter Bullock of Lakeville, Minn., said the nearest shell exploded "one mile to the right" of the airliner. The explosions took place within 14 minutes.

The plane landed at Tokyo at 7:40 p.m. (4:40 a.m. est) after a brief stopover at Okinawa. The flight had originated in Hong Kong.

Bullock said the first shell exploded "five miles ahead of us, the next one one mile to the right of us and the third and last five miles to the rear."

"We weren't in immediate danger, but I'd like to know what they were shooting at," he said.

Bullock said the shells "definitely came from below," although there was a heavy mist and the crew could not see who was firing.

Mystery over the source of the firing gave rise to speculation that the shells might have come from Nationalist artillery in training.

Bullock said there was a U.S. Air Force C-47 in the vicinity of his plane at the time of the incident, but that when he talked to the C-47's crew over the radio they told him they had seen nothing.

Wreck Victim Still In Coma

Mrs. Erna Lea Southworth, the Amarillo woman who was injured in an automobile accident early Sunday morning was still unconscious in Highland General Hospital this morning, but her physician said her physical condition appears somewhat improved.

It is not unusual for victims of severe concussions to remain in comas for lengthy periods, a hospital official explained this morning.

Other victims of the accident were improving, the hospital reported. They are Mrs. Southworth's husband, Bill, who suffered a broken arm and a broken leg and Joe Bob Lambert who received a broken pelvis.

Adlai's Theme Is To Be Or Not To Be

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 — UP — Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate in 1952, said Wednesday "it is either co-existence or no existence in the atomic-hydrogen age."

Stevenson's statement was contained in a series of predictions for 1955 collected from national and world leaders by Look Magazine. "Co-existence" was the subject of many of the predictions.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles made the prediction that: "Under the wise guidance of President Eisenhower, the Department of State will press forward to consolidate the gains made in the last 12 months and to assure the opportunity to enjoy, in peace, the blessings of liberty."

French Premier Pierre Mendes-France, saw a year of opportunities "to strengthen the ties among free nations," thus helping "to overcome our fears, to be ready for, and to seek each concrete opportunity for world understanding.

Defense Prepares New Trial Motion

CLEVELAND, Dec. 22 — UP — Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard awoke behind prison bars Wednesday, and his wife-murder jury clamored up about the tumultuous 102 hours during which they decided to keep him there for life.

The defendant in one of the most celebrated trials in a generation had expected to be home for Christmas with his son, Sam (Chip) Jr., 7.

The jury thought otherwise, Tuesday the five housewives and seven husbands, near the end of five days of argument punctuated by many ballots, found him guilty of second-degree murder.

One woman juror was reported to have held out for a time for a first-degree murder verdict that would have sent the handsome, brawny Dr. Sam to the electric chair. Others were reported to have held out for acquittal for a while.

Make No Statement
But the jurors had agreed to make no statement "in all fairness to both sides" pending hearing of a new trial motion by the defense.

Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin within four minutes after getting the verdict on a printed form from Juror No. 9, Foreman James C. Bird, called the defendant before the bench and sentenced him to life imprisonment in the Ohio penitentiary. The sentence was mandatory. In 10 years he could be paroled.

Defense attorney William J. Corrigan, after the jury was dismissed at 3:46 p.m., got a stay of execution. That stayed transfer of the prisoner to the penitentiary until the new trial motion can be argued Dec. 30.

It meant he not only will spend Christmas, but his 31st birthday Dec. 29, in his bare-walled little cell No. 1B on the fourth floor of the county jail. Jurors know him as a model prisoner who never complains.

Had Doubts at Start
Juror No. 1, Howard L. Barrish, 28, a Republic Steel time-keeper said: "I had my doubts when I went in, and so did everybody else. I'd rather not talk about it now, though. But I will be able to say something after the hearing on a new trial."

Barrish says that almost the entire first day of deliberation was confined to taking stock of the evidence — 70 witnesses and 214 exhibits. The first ballot was taken late that day, he said.

The evidence that convinced the jury Dr. Sam was guilty of purposely and maliciously bludgeoning his pregnant wife Marilyn, 31, to death in her bed last July 4, was largely circumstantial. The heavily circumstantial nature of the case necessitated care by the jurors which helped cause the delay in a verdict, Barrish said.

4 Killed In Liberty Wreck

LIBERTY, Tex., Dec. 22 — UP — Loyola University Tennis Coach Bob Hanberg and three other persons were killed Wednesday when their car smashed into a bridge while driving in heavy fog.

The victims were Hanberg, 21, Whittier, Calif.; and three New Orleans women: Mrs. Joseph Nunez, 49, and her two daughters, Joyce, 27, and Sylvia Ann, 21.

Hanberg, the only Loyola athlete ever to win four letters in both basketball and tennis, was accompanying Mrs. Nunez and her two daughters to Las Vegas where he planned to hitch-hike on to his home at Whittier for the holidays.

Highway Patrolman D. W. Dugan said he understood Hanberg and Sylvia Nunez were planning to get married.

Mississippi To Act On Segregation

JACKSON Miss., Dec. 22 — UP — Gov. Hugh White Wednesday summoned Mississippi legislators to meet Jan. 11 to enact legislation, approved by voters Tuesday to preserve segregation in Mississippi schools.

In a special referendum Mississippi voters, by a two-to-one majority, ratified a "last resort" amendment permitting abolition of public schools, if necessary, to maintain school segregation.

White said he would fulfill immediately his pledge that if the amendment passed, he would call a special legislative session for Jan. 11 to consider adoption of a long-range school building program to bring institutions for Negroes up to the level of white schools.

Returns from 1,078 of the state's 1,805 precincts showed a vote of 78,665 for the amendment to 35,465 against. The vote was considered a heavy one for an election which came in the midst of the Christmas shopping season and which had no statewide candidacies at stake.

Mississippi thus has become, with Georgia and South Carolina, the third southern state to prepare legal machinery for abolishing public schools and setting up private schools, if necessary, to sidestep a possible U.S. Supreme Court order forbidding public school segregation.

The amendment permits the legislature to abolish public schools on a state-wide basis by a two-thirds vote of its members, or by districts on a simple majority vote, and authorizes a state-supported private school system in which it was believed Negroes and whites could legally be educated separately.

Swiss Demand Envoy Ouster

BERN, Switzerland, Dec. 22 — UP — Neutral Switzerland demanded Wednesday that Czechoslovakia recall two military attaches and a diplomatic clerk immediately.

A terse Swiss government announcement charged the three Communist representatives with "activities on Swiss soil which are incompatible with diplomatic customs."

The Swiss press has charged repeatedly that "over-size" Communist legations are maintained in Switzerland as nests for spies, (Adv)

ZAVALA, Tex., Dec. 22-UP - Three men were killed and another critically injured and burned early Tuesday when two trucks smashed head-on five miles south of Zavala on U.S. Highway 69.

The dead were identified as Merle Smith and Ralph Perkins of Nacogdoches and Aubrey Gaiser of Tyler.

The bodies of Smith and Gaiser were pinned in the wreckage which burst into flames after the smash-up and it took several hours to extricate them.

Army Maneuver Plans Snarled By Trespass Rights Grants

FORT HOOD, Tex., Dec. 22-UP - Army spokesmen said Tuesday the reluctance of land owners to permit troops to cross their land threatened plans to hold maneuvers to room 30,000 men next month.

Officers at Third Corps headquarters on Fort Hood said the atomic age "has brought new techniques in ground warfare, which call for the testing of new equipment and new tactical concepts."

The Army sought the right to use three million acres in 13 central Texas counties. But thus far it had been able to obtain trespass rights to less than one million acres.

A spokesman said nearly all of the landowners involved have been contacted. He said top officials were "greatly disturbed" about the difficulties the Army was meeting.

Wheat Surplus To Be Whittled

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 - UP - Agriculture Department officials are happy that next year's wheat crop may not be large enough to meet anticipated domestic and export demand.

They're not happy over a shortage. There will be no shortage because the government has in storage 400 million bushels of old-crop surplus wheat on hand enough to meet a full year's needs all alone. But they are pleased the 1955 wheat crop may be small enough to require using up some of the surplus. It would be the first time in five years that a wheat crop hasn't added to the surplus.

Three days before Christmas and all through the streets the shoppers were busy hunting for treats.

Their minds were all full of things they had to do. For Christmas was upon them and soon the Year New!

It seems as though everyone has the old-fashioned Yule spirit doesn't it? There are only two things missing—snow and the Merry Christmas greetings to even strangers on the street.

Oh, but didn't those last two days of school drag by! But teens have from now 'til Jan. 3 to go to parties, parties and more parties.

'Most Wanted' Con Captured In Arkansas

FORT SMITH, Ark., Dec. 22—UP—One of the nation's 10 most wanted criminals left his hideout Tuesday to do his Christmas shopping and was arrested by a pair of policemen who followed his impulse to drink a cup of coffee.

John Harry Allen had been hiding out in the Cookson Hills of eastern Oklahoma, where bandits have fled for 100 years to evade capture. He is accused of taking some $20,000 in a half-dozen grocery store holdups since he escaped from the Lansing, Kan., state prison last March 25.

Allen, 44, offered no resistance when patrolmen Arthur Emmert and Earl Withers arrested him while he was drinking coffee at the Square Deal Cafe. Chief Jones Floyd said Emmert and Withers had stepped in for a cup themselves when they recognized Allen from an FBI wanted poster.

"He didn't have a chance to fight," said Floyd. "Our boys knew who he was and they grabbed him."

The FBI notice said Allen was known to be armed and "should be considered extremely dangerous."

Allen, a native of Carroll county, Tennessee, has been in prison in Idaho, Tennessee, Alabama and North Dakota. He was serving a 21-year sentence for robbery when he escaped from the Kansas penitentiary.

Armed robbery charges have been filed against him at Bartlesville, Ponca City, Tulsa and Miami, all in northeastern Oklahoma, and Coffeyville and Topeka, Kan., as a result of holdups this summer and fall.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Comedian Jackie Gleason and the Buick division of General Motors have agreed on a contract that will pay Gleason $11 million for producing and starring in a half-hour television show for three years.

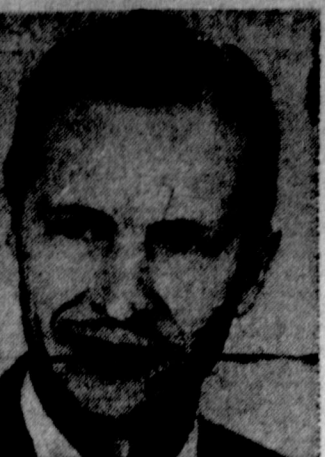

By ROBERT ZIMMERMAN NEW YORK, Dec. 22—UP—For a man who just shook hands on an $11 million business deal, Jackie Gleason did not look happy.

Harassed by the details of keeping his "Jackie Gleason Enterprises" afloat, and facing a monotonous diet of hamburger sandwiches, the rotund comedian

Seems Unimpressed

Traffic Keeps Police Busy

The heavy volume of traffic in Pampa has been consuming almost all of the time of the local police force, according to Chief Jim Conner.

TOP MAN

Earl N. Clement, 1825 Duncan, has been named "man of the month" by State Reserve Life Insurance Company, Fort Worth.

Comedian Doesn't Know How Much Pact Is Worth To Him

seemed less impressed than anyone by his fabulous new contract.

How much of that $11 million will wind up in the Gleason bank account? "I really don't know," he said as if he meant it.

If anything, according to his friends, his father earnings will allow him to live in the style in which he has been living all these years.

Whatever is left over for Gleason, 44.5 per cent of it will go to his wife and two daughters under a separation agreement reached and a reported "hopeless" romance with Marilyn Taylor, a dancer on his show, are among the reasons Gleason is known as one of the most chronically unhappy showmen.

Marriage Troubles

Gleason and his wife, Genevieve, are Roman Catholics and their church forbids a second marriage.

Meanwhile he is paunch-deep in his booming recording business and the production of his hour-long TV show. He sleeps four hours a night ("I get as much sleep as I need") and performs such mental feats as memorizing an entire script in three hours each Saturday morning.

Ike May Discover Dems Compatible

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22—UP—It is an open question right now whether President Eisenhower will have more trouble in the 84th Congress with Democrats or with the right wing of his own Republican party.

It could be that he will have serious trouble with both. If so, Mr. Eisenhower will be a bruised and angry man before the end of the congressional session which begins next Jan. 5.

Teamed, the right wingers of his own party and the vote-minded Democratic opposition could give the President such a drubbing as none has taken since 1931-32 when Congress undertook to make Herbert Hoover the goal for all the ills since creation.

Has Hole Card

Mr. Eisenhower has a hole card, however, which Hoover did not have when the 72nd Congress convened mid-way in his White House term. His card is the ace of prosperity.

The first thing Mr. Eisenhower did after his party was licked in last November's election was to take back some of the hard things he had said about the Democrats.

Moreover, the President hammers away at his favorite political theme—that the Republican party must be a party of moderate-minded men and women, considerably to the left of the old-line Republican leadership symbolized by such men as the late Robert A. Taft, Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr., and perhaps, Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland.

There is small comfort for the conservative elements of the Republican party in Mr. Eisenhower's determined effort to shape up a 1955 legislative program with which a considerable number of Democrats might go along.

The President can get along with out them provided a substantial number of Democrats stay hitched.

But the Democrats are up against the political facts of life. These include the fact that the Democrats will need in 1956 a program of their own about which to brag in urging voters to return a Democrat to the White House.

If Mr. Eisenhower should run again, it would be embarrassing for Democrats to oppose him if during the 84th Congress they had been whooping it up and enacting a Republican president's legislative program.

In 1951-52 when Democrats were intent on destroying Mr. Hoover, they simply pigeon-holed his recommendations and produced a program of their own. That strategy obtained the election of a Democratic president after two years and kept the party in power for 24

Wrecks Cause $700 Damage

Two car accidents Tuesday resulted in over $700 damage. There was no one injured, according to police records.

Principally damaged in a three-car wreck at the intersection of Cuyler and Tuke was a 1949 Buick, driven by Kenneth Troy York, 32, of 333 Canadian. Damage to his car was estimated at $350. Some $150 in damage resulted to a car driven by John Strickland, 54, of 708 E. Scott. Strickland was given a ticket for failure to grant the right-of-way, according to Police Chief Jim Conner.

The other accident occurred at the intersection of Alcock and Banks. David Cooper, 22, of Star Pt. 2, whose car was damaged to the extent of $150, was given a ticket for driving through a red light, according to police records.

The driver of the other car was Inez H. Rudd, 25, of 131 Nelson.

Burn Victim Not Killed

FORT STOCKTON, Tex., Dec. 22—UP—Authorities said Wednesday that B. B. (Buster) Black, 55, of Kermit, Tex., whose burned body was found Tuesday in his automobile, did not meet with foul play.

District Attorney Connell Ashley said an autopsy by L. R. Heranberger, a San Angelo pathologist, showed that Black died either from a heart attack or carbon monoxide poisoning.

He said there were no bruises on the body nor any sign of concussion of the brain. He said death occurred sometime Saturday or Sunday but it was impossible to establish the exact time.

Ashley said Justice of the Peace Oscar T. Jernigan will withhold a verdict until he sends a report to Alstin.

Black, a driller, had been missing from Kermit since last Wednesday. His body, badly burned, although not badly enough to delay identification, was found in his car parked in a pasture 200 feet off the highway.

Dulles Tells Soviets U.S. Not Infirm

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22—UP—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has warned the Communist world that the administration's decision to reduce the size of the armed forces is no sign of weakness.

It is instead, an indication of the United States' growing strength in powerful new weapons, Dulles said. The more destructive our weapons, the less we need to depend on large forces of military manpower he argued.

Dulles said if the administration decision "is looked upon as weakness, that is a completely false judgement of the situation." And he emphasized no troops will be pulled out of West Europe which he described as a "prize of unique value" that must be heavily defended.

But Dulles' warning to the Communists did not stem the controversy over the proposed manpower cutbacks in this country. A growing number of Democrats were questioning the President's plan to trim the armed forces by 408,000 men within the next 18 months.

Remember when you used to roam up and down the aisles of the die store, sometimes for a whole afternoon, in a quarter of half dollar clutched in a tight fist, looking for something that would please Mommy? Hasn't been too long ago, either.

Man, oh man! Doesn't it look terrific to see all the college kids home for the holidays. Several of them came out to the high school for the assembly Monday afternoon. Among them were Gail Finkelstein, Dale Hensell, David Whitley and so many more that the names have "gone with the wind."

Phillip McGuire is home from the Air Force, visiting school both Monday and Tuesday. And last night at the basketball game, saw Bunky Fannon, Dwayne Kuntz, David Fatheree, Su Stone, Terry Forester, Walter Colwell, Bill Willis, Buddy and Joyce Cockrell, Macy Fitzgerald, Teddy Koenig, Alton Flynn and on and on and on. Sure looks good.

Now that there is so little time left before THE DAY, don't let yourself get so completely lost in the rush of presentation dances, parties, gift buying and wrapping, and hurrying, hurrying, hurrying that you forget the beginning of Christmas, and the real significance of the season. Remember the little Christ Child, and thank God.

May all of you have a real good Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year that will prove to be the most.

ALTHOUGH IT IS getting close to Christmas, maybe you haven't all your Christmas cooking done... or maybe you're still looking for something different to serve Christmas Eve or Christmas Day. Here are a few suggestions from the Quaker Quotes bulletin.

A POT POURRI OF CAKES is featured here. One for breakfast, one for dinner and one for visitors Christmas Eve. The first, a deluxe Caramel Coffee Cake, is a corn meal spiral covered with a rich caramel frosting. The second, Coconut Christmas Tree, is an excellent dessert for the supper following a tree trim party. Third, delight the carolers who come to call by serving cake made just for them, Carolers' Christmas Cakes, they're called because of their gay decorations.

CARAMEL COFFEE CAKE
1 package of 1 cake dry or compressed yeast
1/2 cup warm water
1/4 cup scalded milk
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup sugar
3 teaspoons salt
1-3 cup cold water
4 cups sifted enriched flour
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup corn meal

Soften yeast in warm water (use lukewarm water for compressed yeast). Pour scalded milk over butter, sugar and salt; stir occasionally until butter melts. Add water and cool to lukewarm. Stir in 2 cups of flour and the eggs; add softened yeast. Add the corn meal. Stir in enough flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead until soft, about 10 minutes. Round dough into ball; place in greased bowl and brush lightly with melted shortening. Cover and let rise in a warm place until double in bulk, about 1 hour. Punch down; let rise 10 minutes.

Divide dough in half. Roll each part out to form a long rectangle 7 x 30 inches. Spread with filling (see below). Roll up starting at the short end; place in two greased loaf pans (1 lb. size). Let rise until double in bulk. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 40 to 45 min. Pour frosting (see below) over tops of loaves; sprinkle with chopped pecans. Makes two coffee cakes.

Filling: Combine 1/2 cup soft butter or margarine, 1 cup brown sugar, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind and 3 cups ground or finely chopped pecans.

Frosting: Melt 1/2 pound caramels with 1/2 cup hot water in top of double boiler; stir until smooth.

COCONUT CHRISTMAS TREE
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon almond extract
1/2 cup pancake mix
1/2 cup coconut

Grease sides and bottoms of two Christmas tree-shaped cake pans (or two 8-inch round layers); line with waxed paper and grease again; dust with flour. Add salt to eggs; beat until thick and lemon colored. Add sugar gradually, beating well. Add flouring and pancake mix; stir lightly until batter is smooth. Stir in coconut. Spread in pans. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 20 min. or until lightly browned. Turn out; turn right side up and cool. Place one layer of cake on serving plate; spread with whipped cream filling (see below). Sprinkle with chopped candied cherries. Top with other layer of cake; frost with remaining whipped cream. Sprinkle cake with green coconut, tinted green. Decorate with candied fruits and nuts. Store in refrigerator. Makes 8 servings.

Filling and Frosting: Soften 1 envelope unflavored gelatin in 3 tablespoons cold water in custard cup; set in a pan of hot water to dissolve. Cool slightly. Whip 1 pint heavy cream until stiff; fold in gelatin and 1 cup sifted confectionery sugar.

CAROLERS' CHRISTMAS CAKES
1 cup sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening, soft
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1 cup brown sugar
3 eggs
1 cup oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
1 cup chopped nuts
1 cup chopped dates
1/2 cup chopped candied orange peel

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt into bowl. Add shortening, sugars and eggs. Beat until smooth, about 2 minutes. Blend in remaining ingredients. Spread in two greased 7 x 11-inch pans. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Cut into bars while warm; cool and remove from pans. Frost with chocolate confectioners' sugar frosting. Decorate with carolers' faces, book and musical notes. Makes 18 little cakes.

Reduction Granted In Phone Dispute

HOUSTON, Dec. 22 — UP — A compromise telephone rate cut will go into effect Dec. 26 and Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. will begin refunds immediately of $2.3 million in overcharges made since Nov. 11, 1963.

Reduction in the rates charged was ordered Monday by District Judge Wilmer T. Hunt as a condition for continuing a company-asked injunction against the city's 1949 rate schedule.

David T. Searis, company attorney, said Tuesday that Southwestern Bell has decided to comply immediately with the judge's order while still seeking a summary judgment for a permanent injunction.

Searis estimated that the refund to all "live" accounts will be completed in 60 days but a longer time may be needed to locate persons whose phones have been disconnected, he said.

The refunds will be made check rather than by adjustment of bills, he said.

The city wants to keep telephone rates at the 1949 figure, which the city council ordered restored last year. The telephone company claims those rates amount to confiscation of its property and has asked for higher rates.

Southwestern Bell put new rates ranging from increases of 75 cents to $1.50 into effect under bond Nov. 11, 1963.

Hunt said he could not fix a definite rate so long as the city council, the rate-fixing body, was functioning, but acted on "equitable" authority to prevent confiscation of telephone company property as provided by law.

The judge said that since the original injunction was imposed "much evidence has been presented and equity now requires a reduction in that bonded rate."

"I will not undertake to define the rate that should be collected," Judge Hunt said, "but I will require as a condition for continuing the injunction in force, that new rates be set midway between the present bonded rate and the rate suggested by the master."

Master-in-Chancery Jack Binion recommended lower telephone rates several months ago after completing a survey of evidence presented by both sides in the dispute.

Master-in-Chancery Jack Binion recommended lower telephone rates several months ago after completing a survey of evidence presented by both sides in the dispute.

Binion recommended that the rate on business phones be cut from $17 a month to $16; on PBX trunks from $25.50 to $24; on one-party private lines from $6.50 to $5.25; on two-party lines from $5.50 to $4.25, and four-party lines from $4.50 to $3.25.

Navajo Council Seeks Okay Of Colorado River Project

* GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., Dec. 22 — UP — The Navajo Indian tribal council representing 75,000 members in Utah, New Mexico and Arizona, joined forces with the "Aquilantes" Tuesday in a drive to push congressional approval of the billion-dollar upper Colorado River storage project.

Navajo tribal Chief Sam Akeah of Window Rock, Ariz., sealed the bargain for his tribe's participation in the promotion campaign by the grass roots committee of the Upper Colorado River Commission by pledging $10,000. The pledge is the same amount already contributed by the upper basin states of Colorado, Wyoming, New Mexico and Utah.

The Aquilantes consist primarily of Chambers of Commerce representatives of the four upper basin states to back a program "to educate the people of the upper basin and congressmen" concerning the need for adoption of the upper Colorado storage project.

The Aquilantes will end a two-day meeting here Tuesday which was called to organize a drive to enlist 100,000 members through the sale of special badges. Proceeds will finance a war chest to promote the giant, far-flung water storage and hydroelectric project.

California was reported to have spent more than $100,000 in Washington last year to block congressional passage of the multi-phase development.

Meantime, the state was set Monday for possible internal controversy between water officials of the four upper basin states over a demand by Colorado Gov.-elect Edwin C. Johnson.

Retiring U. S. Sen. Johnson said Colorado "must insist" on authorization of 42 reservoirs surveyed in the high country of his state simultaneously with the upper Colorado River project.

The announcement threw the Aquilante meeting into an uproar. Most water leaders viewed Johnson's statement with reservations until Johnson "explained himself further."

But, New Mexico State Engineer John Erickson said flatly it "would have a very serious effect on the whole project."

"He's not considering the rest of us... the storage program should come first of all," Erickson said.

The Aquilantes will hold their next meeting Jan. 17 at Window Rock, Ariz., tribal council headquarters for the Navajo, to make final plans for the promotion program for the storage project.

LOCKPORT, N. Y. — UP — Brought into court when his automobile rammed through a guard rail and a passenger was injured, motorist Robert J. Martin, 32, admitted he had lacked an operator's license since 1952 because he kept "putting it off."

GLANCING BACKWARD

(From the Files of The Pampa Daily News)

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY
The Pampa Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America went Christmas caroling to Pampa shut-ins.

The Food Basket project, to provide Christmas dinner to some 70 needy Pampa families, experienced a "gratifying success," according to Joe Tooley, of the Pampa Lions Club.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY
Paul West, Pampa theater manager, announced the purchase of a site for Pampa's second drive-in theater, four blocks north of Highland General Hospital on the proposed route of State Hwy. 70. Construction was scheduled to begin as soon as weather would permit.

Christmas seal sales reached $2,094.75, according to Mrs. G. F. Branson, president of the county tuberculosis association.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY
Outgoing Christmas mail was decreasing steadily at the Pampa Post Office after a peak of 38,000 letters, but incoming mail was mounting, according to Postmaster W. E. Weathered.

Jack Baker, Jr., midshipman at the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., was in Pampa to spend the Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Baker Sr.

10-Year-Old Faces Second Family Loss

FORT WORTH, Dec. 22 — UP — A 10-year-old boy Tuesday faced Christmas as an orphan after violent death had struck his family for the second time in his short life.

His mother, Mrs. Ruth Ann Hollan Schuler, 30, was dead, the victim of a traffic accident Monday a few hours before she was to have joined fellow workers in a Christmas party.

His father, First Lt. Edwin E. Hollan, a C-47 pilot, didn't live to see Edwin. The lieutenant was fatally burned in an aircraft accident in France Nov. 26, 1945.

The boy Tuesday was with an aunt of his mother, Mrs. G. Fred Taylor. Mrs. Taylor reared Mrs. Schuler. And the little boy and his mother had lived with Mrs. Taylor most of the lad's life.

Mrs. Schuler, a secretary for Pitney-Bowes, Inc., left her office Monday afternoon to have her hair dressed and change clothes for a company Christmas party in the Hilton hotel.

A short time later her car crashed into the rear of a street sweeper in the 4400 block on the west freeway.

She was pinned behind the car's steering wheel. Miller ambulance attendants freed her body only after cutting the steering column with a hacksaw.

Harley Frank Willis, driver of the sweeper, was knocked to the pavement. He was treated for cuts and bruises in a doctor's office.

Citrus Crop Not Hurt By Cold Air

LAKELAND, Fla., Dec. 22 — UP — A huge mass of frigid air plunged temperatures to 20 degrees in north Florida and below freezing throughout the rest of the state Tuesday but damage was expected to be light.

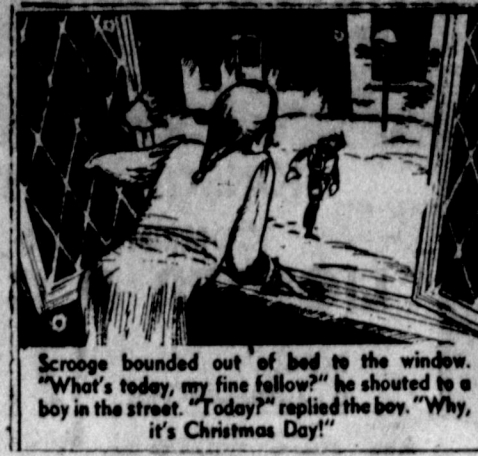

Forecaster Warren O. Johnson of the front warning service said here that little if any citrus was damaged by the cold weather. The weather did not stay below freezing long enough to damage the millions of boxes of oranges and grapefruit hanging on the trees.

"There undoubtedly was some damage to tender truck that was not protected," Johnson said. "But there is little tender truck left that was not killed by the heavy frosts on the mornings of Dec. 4 and Dec. 11."

Johnson said temperatures ranged from 20 to 27 degrees in north Florida to 22 to 34 in central Florida to 30 to 35 on the west coast and 20 to 28 on the lower east coast. Ice was reported in the colder low pockets south to the suburbs of Miami. Almost the entire state had either heavy or scattered frost.

SALEM, Ore. — UP — You can't shoot craps with a parking lot attendant in Oregon and then collect damages for injuries resulting in an ensuing fist fight there, the Oregon Supreme Court ruled in a case involving these elements. Business on a parking lot consists of parking a car.

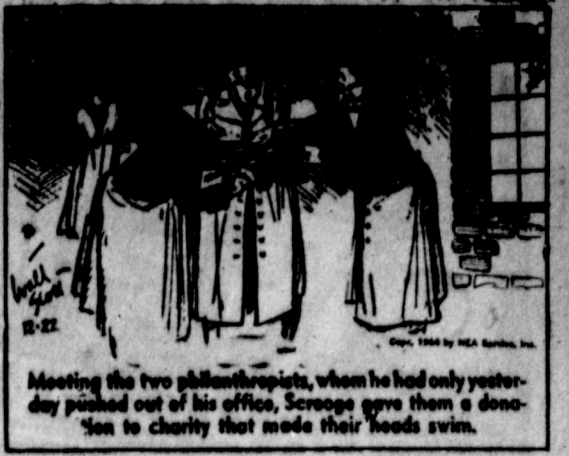

A CHRISTMAS CAROL

Scrooge bounded out of bed to the window. "What's today, my fine fellow?" he shouted to a boy in the street. "Today," replied the boy, "it's Christmas Day!"

Scrooge ordered the biggest turkey in history sent to Bob Cratchit's house.

Meeting the two philanthropists, whom he had only yesterday pushed out of his office, Scrooge gave them a donation to charity that made their heads swim.

Heavy Note Barrage Coming From Reds

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst

Russia is setting a record in sending out notes of protest in connection with the arming of Western Germany and the Allied defense set-up in Europe in general.

Within the last five days, Russia has dispatched something like 18 notes, some threatening, some complaining, to 18 different countries.

Two of the notes, to France and Great Britain, threatened to denounce friendship treaties concluded during World War II if the treaties to arm Western Germany are ratified.

Two more, to the United States and Britain, protested bitterly against a statement by an American Air Force general who implied strongly, if he did not actually say, that his Britain-based planes could carry an atomic bombing attack to the Soviet Union.

Protest Rejections
Fourteen countries in all, it is indicated, got notes complaining because they turned down the Kremlin's recent invitation to attend an "all-European security" conference in Moscow. This conference was intended to sabotage German armament plans.

In addition to all this, Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, Russia's foremost soldier, loosed a blast accusing Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery of wartime treachery.

This stemmed from Churchill's statement that at end of World War II he ordered Montgomery to stack captured German arms in case German aid was needed in stopping the westward sweep of the Red army through Europe. Churchill later said he wasn't sure he issued the order, but Montgomery insisted he did.

What the notes add up to is that the Soviet government is almost desperately alarmed at the prospect that West Germany will be armed — and that the Western Allies will be able to launch an atomic bomb attack from European bases if Russia's rulers start a new world war.

The Kremlin led off last Thursday with a note threatening to cancel the 1944 French-Russian treaty of friendship and mutual aid if France ratified the German arms treaties.

Statement Protested
Then came the notes to the United States and Britain on the atomic bomb statement by Brig. Gen. John D. Stevenson, commanding the UN 49th air division based in Britain.

Friday night Moscow started sending out its notes complaining

HE'D GET A PAT ON THE BACK FROM SOME QUARTERS

SAN FRANCISCO — UP — Postman Charles W. O'Brien of San Jose was placed on one-year probation recently for failing to deliver unaddressed third class mail which he termed "junk."

"Maybe he was performing a public service," the judge said.

New Orthodoxy

There is considerable impassioned bleating these days about the danger of rampant conservatism. The entrenched left, hoisting its pennant of shocking pink, thumps its chest vigorously and declares that it is the last vestige of free thought. It waits that those who favor the old-fashioned virtues of honor, integrity, individualism, self-control, and the absence of statism are in fact, reactionaries who are opposed to free thought. Those who favor the taste of crimson in their political diet even go so far as to state that orthodoxy, per se, is evil.

This last statement is dependent, of course, on the peculiarly twisted lexicon which is the hall-mark of the collective. They say that if a man is suspected of being a Communist . . . this suspicion is orthodoxy. That if a man believes in God, this belief is orthodoxy. That if a man believes in a God, and a traitor, all rolled into a single person, is dismissed from government employ, then this dismissal, too, is the ugly head of orthodoxy rearing itself upon a stiff-neck over a terrified populace. Never did the myth-makers create a more fabulous dragon.

The truth of the matter is simply that socialism has become the new orthodoxy. Those who favor it look with horror upon any person with freedom of thought and speech who would challenge its right to immortality. According to them we must protect the Communist, merely because he should be free to wreck this country. We must protect the Atheist, because we must be docile to his pragmatic ravings that there are no fixed values and certainly no God, and finally, no matter what evil a person does, we must condone it, because to interfere with his freedom to be evil would place us in that uncomfortable category of defending the status-quo. All of this emphasis on personal liberty would be intriguing were it not that the whole thing is a sham, spouting up out of the artesian wells of hate, belonging to all those who wish to make the world over in the image of the proletariat.

The falsity of this claim to liberalism is apparent, when we learn that those of us who do not like Communists must not be left free to say so. The Communist must be free, but the anti-Communist is a danger to freedom. McCarthy, screams the left, is a menace, but only because he threatens the left. If McCarthy opposed the conservative right, he would quickly be forgiven and adored. We must protect the atheist because he believes in nothing . . . and therefore is the very symbol of free thought. But those who exercise free thought to point where they believe in fixed values, among them the Divine Source, they must be scourged from our midst, since it is conceivable that the belief in God is the new heresy to the new orthodoxy. And, finally, those who practice personal perversion, dishonesty and treason are exercising their natural prerogatives to be free men. Those who oppose this flagrant abuse of nature and trust, are not to be condoned for a minute.

It seems to us that the time has come to delineate the difference between Liberty and License, for it is apparent that wide confusion exists. Liberty, of course, consists of three things; License, only two. Where Liberty pertains, a person is free to choose and to act upon his choice. But also, he must, of necessity, accept the responsibility for his choices and actions. Where responsibility is self-imposed, there is no danger to Liberty. In fact this becomes the essence of the Golden Rule. But where license abounds, freedom of choice will still remain. So also, freedom to act upon one's choice. But responsibility has vanished. The politically aggressive Left, equates liberty with license, and seeks to relegate responsibility for all choices and actions to the state. This by large acceptance has become orthodox. But the Libertarian, daring to be free, and daring to believe in man's fundamental goodness, practices freedom of thought, for which he is branded as an orthodox, an enemy of the people.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

A Lady has recently written to ask for a discussion on two few white blood cells, the cause of this condition and the medical term for it. Others have asked similar questions, especially on the possible relation of the low number of white blood cells to the disease known as leukemia. This is a somewhat bewildering subject. In reading this discussion I hope all will realize that it can be discussed only in the most general terms and that many highly trained investigators are spending much of their lives studying the human blood and how it behaves.

GRANULOCYTOPENIA is the tongue twisting name usually used to describe the condition in which the white cells of the blood (leucocytes) are fewer than normal. There is also a disease known as agranulocytosis in which one of the symptoms also consist of a lessening in the number of leucocytes in the blood.

Everyone has white cells in the blood where they exert an important function, particularly in combating infection. There are several kinds of white cells; the numbers can be counted and the kinds studied, the latter by measuring a small amount of smeared a glass slide, staining blood and looking at the smear under a microscope. Normally, there are about 7,500 white cells per cubic millimeter of blood and a fairly constant relation between the different kinds of cells. IN THE PRESENCE of infecting germs the number of white cells is usually increased and counting them is often, therefore, an aid in diagnosis—in appendicitis for example. This increase is called leucocytosis.

Many cases of granulocytopenia have resulted from drugs or medicines. This is a puzzling thing because it is only the occasional person who gets such a reaction but it does seem to be a sort of individual poisoning. Recovery usually takes place. Agranulocytosis is also a condition in which the number of white cells is lessened and this is usually lowered in with a sore throat.

SO FAR AS IS KNOWN neither granulocytopenia or agranulocytosis is related to leukemia. In the latter some of the white cells grow wild; they are generally increased in number—sometimes enormously—and they appear in the blood in immature and abnormal forms. The acuteness of the process and the special kinds of cells present determine the particular name attached to the leukemia and influence to some extent the outlook.

Although much is known concerning the behavior of the leucocytes of the body there are many gaps in such knowledge. Probably time will reveal much that we do not know concerning the cause of the changes which develop.

Educational Brain-Washing In Public Schools

I want to quote from a chapter in Mortimer Smith's new book "The Diminished Mind" under the heading of "Educational Brain-Washing, Democratic Style."

Mr. Smith names such outstanding leaders in pragmatism in the public schools as Harold Rugg, John L. Childs, Goodwin Watson, Sidney Hook, Norman Woziles, Jesse H. Newlin, and to a lesser extent, William H. Kilpatrick. He quotes Kilpatrick as saying: "A fundamental remaking of our economic system seems necessary so that men shall no longer be compelled to work against each other but may rather be permitted and encouraged—and if a recalcitrant minority requires it, be compelled—to cooperate for the common good."

These "educators" are trying to change our way of living by way of the children in the public schools.

Smith states: "Social reconstruction in education is still with us. It is considerably less fashionable than it used to be and its advocates are no longer inclined to indulge in frank evangelizing in the open marketplace, but it is far from being moribund."

Then he discusses two books which are widely used in teacher training institutions. One of these is the combined labor of three professors of education, B. Othanel-Smith, William O. Stanley, and Harold Shover—all of the University of Illinois. It is entitled "Fundamentals of Curriculum Development." The other by Theodore Brameld, professor of educational philosophy at New York University, is called "Patterns of Educational Philosophy."

The first book is about the same as the second, but since I do not have space to quote the first, I want to quote from "Patterns of Educational Philosophy" by Brameld. Smith remarks that Professor Brameld is not one to leave ideas unarticulated or dangling in a vague fashion, but he tells us what are some of the rules which will be deemed necessary in our reconstructed society. For instance, if indoctrination is to be successful, children must go to school much earlier than they do now. Mr. Brameld writes: "When both parents assume some form of out-of-the-house responsibility (as we should expect the vast majority to do with the coming of the new society), attendance of children after the first twelve months is expected for two or more hours daily, depending upon parental schedules and home supervision.

"Where the mother remains full-time with her children (believing that she is thus realizing herself fully) attendance is optional until the age of about three and one-half years; while from that age until six the average child must attend a minimum of three hours daily. The assumption here is that a combination of home and school experience for very small children is desirable—that, while the mother's care is ordinarily needed also, this should be supplemented by expert guidance in habit-formation, for example, during these crucially formative years."

Then Mr. Smith remarks: "Mr. Brameld believes that in a collectivist society education cannot be left to the whims of private individuals or local communities. He advocates the formation of a Federal Education Authority which would be charged with carrying out the following minimum blueprint:

"An educational system (a) supported heavily by federal taxation, supplemented by local resources, and controlled by the service state; (b) offering completely free universal education from the nursery school through the university and adult levels; (c) teaching curricula, teaching, guidance, and administration to the purpose of the economy of abundance, service, state, scientific society, and esthetic order; (d) bringing newspapers, radio chains, and other instruments of public enlightenment into direct cooperation with education and under similar controls."

"Mr. Brameld has a lot of other future-oriented goals for our 'culture-oriented' schools which he says only the radically democratic minority now support but which it is the duty of the schools to sell to the majority. It is a long list and if you want to read it I refer you to page 498, 499, and 500 in his book but there is a partial list of some of the things he thinks the schools ought to be advocating: guaranteed income for all sufficient to meet experimental standards of shelter, dress, medical care, education, and recreation; nationalization of all natural resources and enterprises of monopolistic tendency; subsidization of scientists and artists; not only complete security for old people but 'rich companionship'; tax-supported music, movies, drama, and painting; a world democracy dedicated to applying all these 'principles' on an international scale."

Remember this book by Professor Brameld is used extensively in colleges preparing pupils to become teachers in the public schools of the United States.

And why not try to do all these things if there are no moral principles—that is, if the majority in each community has a moral right to force the minority to pay for books and schooling that they think are immoral, why not have "free" medicine, "free" housing and "free" art for everyone? "Free" music and "free" art certainly would not be as bad as "free education" that poisons the minds of the children into believ-

Maybe Censure Won't Hurt McCarthy With Home Voters

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Senator Joseph R. McCarthy's friends may extract some comfort from the study of the Hiram Bingham affair that has been made by a veteran Connecticut editor. It is relevant and timely because the former Senator from Connecticut and McCarthy are the only two members of Congress to have been "condemned" officially by their Capitol Hill peers in modern history.

Bingham was "condemned" — and the use of that word in his case led to "condemning" instead of "censuring" the man from Connecticut. A national scandal, it is relevant and timely because the former Senator from Connecticut and McCarthy are the only two members of Congress to have been "condemned" officially by their Capitol Hill peers in modern history.

Senate Democrats and Progressives, then trying to tear down Herbert Hoover, ballooned the incident into a national scandal. They accused Bingham of acting as a "stooge" for the high-tariff lobby. As a matter of fact, the Tariff Bill eventually enacted bore no evidence that Bingham and the manufacturers' agent had influenced its provisions.

Democratic Senators seeking to safeguard sectional interests and products combined with the Republicans to block proposed reductions of tariff rates as a means to stave off a world-wide depression resulting from the 1929 Wall Street crash. But Bingham got the blame from his political opponents.

In spite of how Wisconsin voters will react to McCarthy's disciplining in the 1954 election, numerous political observers have attributed Bingham's 1932 defeat to the Senate "Condemnation." Ergo, they figure that Senator McCarthy is headed for oblivion. He may be, but the Connecticut episode furnishes no sure precedent.

Bingham lost to the late Augustin Lonergan, an extremely popular member of the House, by only 4,185 votes out of a total vote of 380,162. But, although Hoover carried the state over F.D.R., Connecticut felt the effects of the national Democratic landslide. Wilbur L. Cross, Democrat, won the governorship by 10,780.

Bingham's cold and arrogant personality operated against him. So did his seeming contempt for the people of Connecticut, as he demonstrated upon becoming governor in 1924. Elected to that office on Nov. 8, 1924, he ran for a Senate vacancy in a special election only a month later. After his victory, he served as Governor for only one day, resigning immediately so that he might go to Washington.

Connecticut voters, according to the inquiring editor, were not scandalized by Bingham's Capitol Hill misconduct. He writes: "Aside from the usual and to-be-expected screaming from Democrats, there was no real reaction. The state is superior to the individual and his master rather than his servant. Every individual who wants to know what is going on in our Karl Marx, tax-supported schools can find no better book to buy than this 150-page book, prepared with great care and well documented, 'The Diminished Mind' by Mortimer Smith.

Fair Enough Tax-Free Foundations Have Rights Denied Individuals

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The fact that tax-exempt foundations are allowed to spend their tax-exempt American income on "projects" in India, the near east and other sovereignties outside the United States should excite the people of this nation to wild alarm over our subjugation by Money Power. The same power is held and exercised by some of the individual big unions and, of course, by the A. F. of L. and C. I. O. as a result of the unionists. It is a terrible imposition on us but we have been "conditioned," as the jargon has it, by years of impudence, bribery, threats of persecution through business boycott and the internal revenue and sneering disfavor.

I may be very sorry for some scabby fanatic in dispersing, acquitting, and writing a check for $100 to buy him soap, dandruff, a toothbrush and a strip of 50 tickets for the local bathtub. But if so, I have to pay income tax on the money in the United States and thus may raise the cost of my generous impulse by as much as 100 per cent.

It does me no good with internal revenue to point out that, damn it, man, I am trying to urinate one member of the lesser breeds so that the silly fool won't go Communist and put us to the great expense of cooking up a hydrogen bomb to blow him and all his kith and seed to hell.

My private generosity, even to my own dependents, are taxable beyond certain purely nominal limits. Gifts of money to parties or "sovereigns" overseas are not deductible at all.

But a foundation or union can scatter millions on futile wastefulness, providing, by the way, soft jobs and interesting travel for professional parasites of a craft who increase in numbers and arrogance. The income which provides this money is excused from taxes. This means that my income taxes, and yours, must be the higher to defray the general public expense. In short, we pay the income taxes which the foundations and union treasuries don't have to pay.

I hope I do not confuse in your mind the foundation and the union. They have traits in common but of course are dissimilar in many important ways. But if you and I can't elect favored individuals at home or abroad to subsidize with deductible personal gifts of money, by what possible reasoning can Congress fairly decide that Henry Ford II or Dave Dubinsky can do that very thing?

Ford has a "foundation" of $300,000,000 and a little change-pocket "fund" of $15,000,000 with which to manifest his abundant love of the human race — and advertise an excellent, competitive automobile business. Dubinsky has a treasury of $180,000,000 from which, we are reliably given to suspect, he apportions undeclared bundles of money to maintain a state department of his own in many foreign lands under the principal guidance of two old-time, inveterate and regenerate communists, Jake Lovestone and Irving Brown. He works in cahoots with Eisenhower's State Department and Ike's Department of Labor.

There is a mass of money and a mass of power in these foundations greater by far than any irresponsible aggregation of alert, aggressive private money and power in the history of finance. This great thing grew up unsuspected. The big foundations in the first place were philanthropic in their sweet understanding of that word. Now they are politically aggressive and operated to a major degree by Reds and fellow-travelers, and they have used "education," once a legitimate function of the philanthropic funds, to discredit the American Constitution and impair the firmness of our sovereignty.

Unions received our approval because they whined that the Common Man alone was no match for Corporate Wealth and required massive power to drive his bargains. They did not claim nor did we foresee that they would acquire by sheer assumption a power to levy payroll taxes on industry for political funds hostile to the political rights of all of us, including their own members.

Who the devil are these people that they think they have a special mission to civilize the heathen, plant groves of olive trees and citrus, slip together pretty villages and build colleges for millions of strangers far away, thus relieving them of their taxes and their governments of that expense, all at our expense?

The Ford Foundation is not the government of the United States, neither is the New York Herald Tribune, another notable beneficiary of such tax-exemption. Neither is the Garment Workers' Union. And, if it comes to that, the very government of the United States, itself, has no legal right, but only a power illegally assumed, to tax George Spivlin, American, to the end that the income tax of the Man In The Street of Hartlepool, Marseilles or Tel Aviv may be diminished and his calories increased.

FIGHT FANS WHO LIKE boxing at its best can't go wrong by attending tomorrow night's Pampa-Clovie interstate matches at the Top of Texas Sportman's Club arena.

Two of the most prominent amateur boxers in the Panhandle, our own Bobby Wilhelm and Wellington's Dugie Jameson will be seen in action on tomorrow night's card.

When Bobby trekked off to college at far-away Wisconsin last fall, many Pampa fans figured they had seen the fabulous Bobby fight for the last time.

But Bobby is home for the Christmas Holidays and would like to get in a fight or two while he's home.

And Bobby is in fight form. He's been working out with the Wisconsin freshman boxing team for the past couple months or so.

Wilhelm is on a four-year boxing scholarship at Wisconsin.

Jameson has just finished a tour of duty with the Wellington High School football team. He's already switched his training routine to boxing and he is also anxious to get in a few matches.

Jameson, you'll recall, walked off with the state Golden Gloves bantamweight title last winter at Fort Worth after winning the District GG tourney here and the Regional GG tourney at Amarillo.

Wilhelm also won his way into the state tournament last winter. Bobby advanced to the semi-finals before losing to the state-champion-to-be, Melvin Gragg of San Antonio.

With these two fine mittmen on the same card, it will put a brilliant climax to Pampa's boxing festivities for 1954. There's a possibility that still another card will be arranged soon after Christmas but it is indefinite at present.

THE MOST AMAZING FEAT by any one player in District 1 AAAA the past football season was

Auburn Returning To 'Big Time'

AUBURN, Ala., Dec. 22—UP—Auburn fans who suffered but remained loyal through years of mediocre football teams are waiting for Dec. 31 to prove their point—Auburn is back in the football big-time.

That's the date the Plainsmen make their second consecutive appearance in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.

The 1954 Gator Bowl game, when Auburn lost to Texas Tech 35 to 13, was just one of those things, the fans say. Against Baylor this year they are sure things will be different.

If the Gator Bowl time is different this year, a lot of credit will go to a versatile, sturdy young man named Bobby Freeman.

As quarterback in the Auburn split-T formation, Freeman could wind hands down in a straw poll to determine the "most indispensable man" on the campus.

Freeman, a 195 pound senior, heads a backfield that Coach Ralph (Shug) Jordan calls the best ever assembled at the Plains.

Among his supporting cast are such capable men as Joe Childress, a line-busting fullback, and halfbacks Fob James Jr., and Dave (Hoppy) Middleton.

This combination accounted for nearly 3,000 yards of total offense this season, and Baylor coaches are certain to give the coaches heavy consideration.

Freeman alone took the Southeastern Conference total offense honors with 1,132 yards. His season's record demonstrates his all-round ability.

A top-flight passer with a great receiver in end Jim Pyburn, Freeman made a lot of his yards by running the "option play," a maneuver that makes a quarterback look very good, or very bad.

Freeman nearly always looked good since he moves about with both speed and power.

He can also take a bow as one of the conference's most dependable ball-handlers. With Freeman handling the ball on nearly all possession plays, Auburn lost possession only once by a fumble during the stretch drive that brought the Plainsmen a six-game winning streak and the Gator Bowl bid.

Freeman and four other Auburn starters will be playing their last college game at Jacksonville. All indications point to a state of mental and physical readiness for the clash. There are no serious injuries in the team.

West Texas, H-SU Enter Tourney Finals

By UNITED PRESS
Hardin-Simmons and West Texas State hosted Border Conference games last night as they turned in sound thrashings of Peppertine and Texas A&M in both ends of the Canyon holiday doubleheader.

West Texas was expected to win, but Peppertine had indicated it would be too strong for a Hardin-Simmons outfit that had won only one game so far this season.

West Texas State trimmed the Texas Aggies 22 to 87, while HSU downed Peppertine 22 to 67. West Texas more than doubled the Aggies' output in the first half, building up a 50 to 24 lead.

The four clubs play again Wednesday night with West Texas matched against Hardin-Simmons and Peppertine playing Texas A&M, which has yet to win a game this season.

In the only other Border Conference action Tuesday night, Arizona was no match for Stanford's touring Indians and dropped a 66 to 56 decision to the Pacific Coast five.

Texas Western helps close out the pre-holiday schedule tonight with a game against Murray State on the Kentucky team's home court.

Baseball Meet On Tap Tonight

Records Fall As PHS 5 Wins, 72-58

Griffin Dunks In 37 Points For New Mark

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

Records fell by the wayside at Harvester Fieldhouse last night as the Huskies' Harvester basketball team extended their winning streak to 65 with a stirring 72-58 decision over the Childress Bobcats.

Center Gary Griffin of the Harvesters set an all-time single game scoring record for a Pampa High School basketball player by pouring 37 points through the hoops. The previous record was 34 set by Jimmy Bonds during the 1952-53 season.

Griffin's 17 field goals was also a new record for a Harvester player. These two marks are also Harvester Fieldhouse records.

Still another record was set last night by a Childress player. Derrick Nippert of the visitors lived up to advance notices with a 32-point performance, highest scoring performance by any player to oppose a Harvester team.

Nippert earned 11 field goals and hit 10 of 11 free throw attempts.

The Bobcats put the pressure on the Green and Golders throughout the first period. Led by Nippert, the visitors jumped into an 18-13 first quarter lead. Nippert dropped in 12 of the 18 points in the quarter for Childress.

Harvesters Rally

But the Harvesters were not to be denied, they came back strong in the second period to take the lead in less than two minutes time and went on to a 39-28 halftime lead.

The Harvesters poured 14 points in during the second quarter before Childress was able to score again. The first 12 points came in just two minutes of the second period as the Harvesters jumped ahead, 25-18.

Then the Harvesters made it 27-18 before Nippert got a tip-in at 3:30 minute mark for the first Childress points in the second period.

Griffin and E. Jay McIlvain led the 26-point second quarter Harvester attack with 12 and eight points respectively.

McIlvain was the runnerup high scorer for the Harvesters with 21 points coming on seven field goals and seven gratis tosses.

With a last-second tip-in by Nippert the Bobcats narrowed the gap 31-41 after three quarters of play. Childress pulled to within eight points of catching up in on a couple occasions in the final quarter but the Harvesters refused to let the Cats come closer.

Despite a cold first and third quarter, the Harvesters wound up with a 38.3 shooting average for the night, hitting 28 field goals out of 73 shots. The Harvesters hit only six of 19 in the first quarter, and four of 16 in the third.

The best quarter for the Green and Gold was in the second when they connected on 10 of 18.

Childress hit 20 of 58 field goal attempts for 34.5.

The Pampa B team Shockers won their ninth game in 10 starters with a 47-41 win over Childress. B in a preliminary game. Dickie Mauldlin paced the Shockers with 18 points.

Next on tap for the Harvesters will be a return game at Childress, Dec. 28.

All 11 Matches On City Card Go Limit

The eleven bouts scheduled on last night's intra-city boxing card at the Top of Texas Sportman's Club arena went the three-round limit, there being no knockouts or TKOs.

Most of the fights last night involved boys who hadn't been in the ring previously this season.

In the feature match, Gary Wilhelm of Citizen's Bank punched out a decision over Charles Snyder of the Spokesman.

Results of last night's card were as follows:

55 pounds — Gary Johnson, Pampa News, dec. Ronnie Valentine, Pampa News.

75 pounds — George Valentine, Pampa News, dec. John Valentine, Pampa News.

65 pounds — Paul Edwards, Pampa News, dec. James Matthews, Spokesman.

70 pounds — Sammie McPherson, Pampa News, dec. Johnny Winborne, Spokesman.

X-Rays Show No Fracture
NEW YORK, Dec. 22—UP—X-Rays taken at a local hospital Tuesday showed no fracture in the right hand or wrist of boxer Jimmy Martinez of Phoenix, Ariz. Martinez, who lost a 10-round decision to Pete Adams of Newark, N.J., at the St. Nicholas arena, Monday night, attributed his defeat to an injury to his right wrist.

'No Rest For The Weary,' Says Eagles' Twyman Ash

ABILENE, Tex., Dec. 22—UP—Twyman Ash, star Abilene high school end, apparently hadn't figured on playing football right up to Christmas, but the Eagles entered the playoffs and last Saturday won the Class AAAA state championship.

It was Ash who caught a 29-yard pass for the touchdown that defeated Houston Stephen F. Austin 14 to 7.

Bruised and battered, Ash nonetheless showed up at the high school gymnasium at 6 a.m. Monday to practice basketball solo. He also is a co-captain of the Abilene high game team.

"He got his Dad out of bed to bring him to school," reports Coach Nat Gleaton, "then rustled up the janitor to unlock the gym."

"I asked him why he came down so early and he said, 'Coach I had to get down there, I'm already behind on my basketball!'"

'Foreigners' Gain All-College Finals

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 22—UP—The teams that came the farthest, San Francisco and George Washington University, square off Wednesday night in the championship game of the 19th annual All-College Basketball Tournament.

San Francisco won its second straight game by a lopsided margin, beating host Oklahoma City University 75 to 51, while George Washington's Colonials squeezed past Tulsa 66 to 61.

The championship was scheduled at 9:30 p.m., est, after consolation bracket games between Houston and Oklahoma A&M (72 p.m.), Wichita and Wyoming (4 p.m.) and Oklahoma City and Tulsa (7:30 p.m.).

Tulsa and George Washington traded the lead in the first half, but the Capital City quintet moved in front in the second half and led by a narrow margin until the final gun.

Bob Patterson of Tulsa led the scoring with 28 points, while center Joe Holup led the Colonials with 17.

San Francisco, which opened with a 94 to 75 win over unbeaten Wichita, took things easy again in the Oklahoma City game. The Dons took a 22 to 9 lead in the first few minutes, and Coach Phil Woolpert pulled his starters after they built up a 63-29 margin.

Center Bill Russell of San Francisco led the scoring with 25 points while Lyndon Lee tallied 19 for Oklahoma City.

Wyoming beat Oklahoma A&M 52 to 50 and Wichita took Houston, 98 to 87, in the afternoon consolation games.

SWC 5s Suffer Three Losses

By UNITED PRESS
Southwest Conference basketball teams wind up their pre-tournament play tonight with three games.

Texas A&M takes on Peppertine in the consolation bracket of the Canyon, Tex., tourney. Southern Methodist meets Bradley at Peoria, Ill., and Texas Christian is at home to Austin College.

All three quintets in action last night lost—and by whopping margins. Southern Methodist scored the most of any, but still absorbed an 89-72 licking at the hands of Minnesota in Minneapolis.

Illinois, the nation's No. 1 team, beat Rice in Houston, 86 to 54, in the Owls' first defeat on their home court in 18 games, and West Texas State humbled Texas A&M, 82 to 57, for the Aggies' fifth loss without a win this year.

Rice stayed close to Illinois during the first half, but the Illini opened up after the intermission. The visitors' Bruce Brothers and Bill Ridley each netted 16 points, while Terry Telligman hit 12 for Rice before fouling out in the second half.

Southern Methodist led only twice in the first half and never in the second against Minnesota. Guard Chuck Mencil of the Gophers led the scoring with 24 points, while Jim Krebs' 17 were high for SMU.

Kentucky Wins 500th Under Rupp; Topples Utah, 70-65

Coach Adolph Rupp, delighted with the 500th victory of his career by a 70-65 score over Utah, sends his mighty Kentucky team Wednesday night after a win he wants as much as any of the 500 against La Salle in the final round of Kentucky's own holiday tournament.

The fabulous "baron of the bluegrass" was presented with his milestone triumph when his wildcats broke out of a 65-65 tie with two minutes to go in Tuesday night's opening round at Lexington, Ky.

La Salle, defending NCAA champion, won the other first-round 49-38 over Southern California to move into the finale, which now shapes up as the biggest game so far in this young basketball season. And La Salle is a team that Rupp would especially like to beat.

An Old Grudge

A major upset Tuesday night saw California hand Ohio State, ranked No. 7 nationally, its first loss of the year, 74-63 at Berkeley, Calif. California led almost all the way despite 23 points by State's Robin Freeman, the nation's top scorer. The same two teams meet again Wednesday night.

Other Favorites Win

Five other nationally-ranked teams, including top-ranked Illinois, came through with victories. Illinois set the pace by drubbing Rice 86-54 at Houston as Bruce Brothers and Bill Ridley had 16 points each.

North Carolina State (No. 5) was forced into overtime to beat St. John's 76-75 at Madison Square Garden. Dayton (No. 6) ran its record to 7-0 by whipping Oregon 71-55. UCLA (No. 11) had a close call before beating Colorado 65-62. And Holy Cross (No. 18) crushed Boston College 81-79.

Mexico Denies Outbreak Of
Stock Disease

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 22—UP—The Mexican agriculture ministry has denied reports that hoof and mouth disease had broken out in cattle lands along the Pacific Coast. A ministry spokesman said Monday agriculture agents checked reports the malady appeared among livestock in Guerrero state but found no trace of the hoof and mouth virus. Some animals were found sick with symptoms similar to those of hoof and mouth disease but laboratory tests proved it was not "aftosa," as the malady is called in Mexico. A reappearance of aftosa would have delayed the opening of the U.S. border to Mexican cattle imports. The United States has had a quarantine on Mexican beef most of the time since 1948, when the disease attained epidemic proportions. "If there is no change in the situation, the border will be opened to Mexican cattle on Dec. 31," a spokesman for the joint Mexican-American aftosa commission said.

Color Film
Processing
To Be Shared

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22—UP—Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. announced Tuesday that the Eastman Kodak Co. has agreed to let independent competitors process Eastman's color film. He made the announcement simultaneously with the filing, in Federal District Court at Buffalo, N. Y., of a civil anti-trust suit charging Eastman Kodak with attempting to monopolize the color film processing industry. Eastman's agreement to let competitors process color film if manufacture was contained in a consent decree filed with the Buffalo court along with the anti-trust suit. If accepted by the court, the consent decree would have the effect of automatically terminating the suit. The Justice Department said the dual action was in line with the policy of its anti-trust division, by which companies accused of violating the anti-trust laws are given a chance to negotiate an agreement to end alleged illegal practices without a long court trial. A full-sized electric eel — eight feet long and thick as a man's leg — built up a 600-volt charge and released almost 1,000 watts of power for a split second, the National Geographic Society says.

THE MARQUEE
BY DICK KLEINER

The Record Shop: Far and away the most exciting event in the record business this year has been the success story of a song called "Let Me Go, Lover," an unknown named Joan Weber made the record for Columbia, and it was featured in a disc jockey drama on CBS-TV's "Studio One."

Apparently this debut of a song on a major television show was just what the stockholders ordered. The song caught hold immediately. The Weber record sold 750,000 the first 10 days, a record record pace. Other companies recorded the number with singers like Patti Page, Teresa Brewer, and Sunny Gale: It's the hottest thing in music since Nero's big fiddle concert.

Jimmy Boyd, who two years ago made a magnificent contribution to the world's culture by singing "I Saw Mommy Kissing Santa Claus," hopes to do it again this year, in a lower register. Jimmy's voice is gradually changing, as it must with all adolescents. It isn't fully changed; he still talks soprano, but he coughs baritone. And his new record, "I Saw Mommy Doing the Mambo With You-Know-Who," is he says, six tones lower than the big selling record of two years back.

Growing pains have set in on Jimmy Boyd in other ways, too. He was wearing a coat that only reached about to his knees, and his wrists dangled out of the sleeves. He's now 15, and stands 5'6". He still has a big friendly grin and a shock of red hair and an assortment of freckles, but he isn't a little boy any more. He's in that awkward age, physically as well as vocally.

So it's high time for him to be thinking about his future. And he has. He wants to sing, if the voice that emerges from these trying days is good enough. And he wants to sing love songs. Like Frank Sinatra and Perry Como. Mitch Miller, his boss at Columbia records, is encouraging him. "Mr. Miller says he'll let me sing older songs pretty soon," Jimmy says. "As I get older, I can sing older songs."

Meanwhile, he's still singing about what Mommy does around the Christmas tree, and similar adventures in higher music. But the money keeps coming in, so why not? Speaking of money, Jimmy doesn't see too much of the profits. "Half of what I make goes into a trust fund which I'll get when I'm 21," he says. "The other half goes to my agents. I get a buck or two when I want to go to a picture show." On that glorious day when he turns 21, there'll be no big spending spree. At least, it's not scheduled yet. Jimmy figures to let the money sit there, which is a pretty wise decision for a 15-year-old. He may touch it for a few things if he's still making some then, otherwise it stays put. Which is more than can be said for his voice.

In five years, says Connie Haines, there'll be a shortage of girl singers. Coming from Connie, one of the shortest gal singers around, this is profound. She says the coming scarcity will stem from a lack of bands, which she says are the big training ground for singers. "How else can a girl develop her singing style?" Connie says.

What, no more showers either?

Dick's Picks: Dean Martin and Nat "King" Cole have teamed up in a dilly, on Capitol, called "Open Up the Doghouse." Others: "I've Gotta Crow" (Mary Martin and Kathy Nolan, RCA); "Lovesy Dovey" (Ella Mae Morse, Capitol); "If You Don't I Know Who Will" (Ella Fitzgerald, Decca); "Good Night, Mrs. Jones" (Vaughn Monroe, RCA); "Brothers" (Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey, Bell); "My Son, My Son" (Margaret Whiting, Capitol); "Some Day" (Mario Lanza, RCA).

Jimmy Boyd and Connie Haines

The fascinating, lively film, "Carmen Jones," makes a fascinating, lively record album via RCA. An unfascinating Broadway revival, "On Your Toes," still has a tuneful Rodgers and Hart score, via Decca.

RCA has another volume of "Arias Sung and Acted," with fine actors reciting an aria before fine singers sing it. Makes the whole business understandable. Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra do a skillful job with the melodic "Scheherazade" of Rimsky-Korsakov.

Dangerous Reading
FRESNO, Calif. —UP—A little learning, in the case of Henry J. Poe of Fresno, proved to be a dangerous thing. Poe, now serving a term in San Quentin state prison for safecracking, said that before "pulling off the last few jobs," he spent several hours in a library studying how to use explosives.

Texas Leads
Nation In TV,
Radio Outlets

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22—UP—The Federal Communications Commission Tuesday said Texas leads all states in the total number of radio and television stations operating and authorized.

FCC figures show Texas has 281 AM, FM and TV authorizations. California ranks second with 245 and Pennsylvania third with 218. Texas has the most TV authorizations and also leads the AM or standard radio station list. But California has the most FM authorizations.

All states now have TV stations operating or authorized, with 48 in Texas, followed by 39 in California, 38 in Pennsylvania, and 37 in New York.

New York leads in the educational TV field, with seven non-commercial stations authorized. Among cities, the FCC said, Los Angeles has the most TV stations, with nine. New York and Chicago have the most standard radio stations, with 15 each, and New York tops the FM radio list with 14 stations.

Swindling Laid
To Texas Pair

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 22—UP—Federal Judge Herbert W. Christenberry has ordered the arrest of two men, one from McAllen, Tex., who are charged with swindling a Florida woman out of $108,000. The arrest of Edward Thomas Freeman of McAllen, and Richard Monroe Smith of Long Beach, Calif., was ordered after they failed to appear in court.

A third defendant, Gerald Milton Bracewell of New Orleans, appeared but his case was continued. The three are accused of bilking Mrs. Frances L. Welch of St. Petersburg, Fla., under fraudulent pretenses in connection with a race horse pool.

New bonds were set at $100,000 for Smith and $50,000 for Freeman. Bonds totaling $30,000 against Smith and $20,000 against Freeman were ordered forfeited.
