Commiss Release Ohioan

'Full Redress' Due Hermann H. Field

LONDON, Oct. 25 — UP — The Communist radio said Monday Hermann H. Field, Ohioan jailed five years ago in Red Poland, has been "released and rehabilitated" because the charges against him proved "baseless."

A Warsaw broadcast said other unidentified "persons accused without foundation have been released" — a possible reference to Field's brother Noel, his sister-in-law Herta and their foster daughter Erika, all of whom disappeared at about the time he was arrested.

The broadcast, based on dispatches of the official agency PAP, said Hermann Field will receive "full redress" and promised "necessary steps will be taken against persons found guilty of exercising insufficient supervision" in his case.

The whereabouts of the reportedly released Field, whose home is in Cleveland, could not be determined immediately. A spokesman for the U.S. embassy in Warsaw said he had no information beyond the Red broadcast.

Efforts to Make Contact "We are making every effort to get in touch with him..." the embassy spokesman said. "Naturally, we will do everything in our power to help him get home."

"As he is apparently a free man, I assume he will shortly walk into the embassy."

The radio report was "wonderful" news for Field's wife Kate, who is now in London.

"I'm so happy I don't know what to say," she said. "Now at last I hope we'll see him for the first time since 1949. The boys and I are almost too happy for words."

The official report implied the United States was to blame for Field's ordeal, saying Josef Swiatlo — the former Communist secret police official who arrested him — was a "known American spy and agent provocateur."

Voices Charges Against Swiatlo "In the absence of sufficient controls, he (Swiatlo) was able to steal into the apparatus of the security police..." the broadcast said. "He succeeded in starting criminal actions with forged documents, and denounced a group of citizens... without any justification..."

A completed investigation has proved the accusation by Swiatlo against Hermann Field was false. Field has been released and rehabilitated. Accusations by a group of Polish citizens, which proved unfounded, also were withdrawn.

The official statement did not specify the charges on which Field was seized.

Lost Plane Is Sighted On Corsica

NICE, France, Oct. 25 — UP — A rescue plane searching for a U. S. Air Force plane, missing with 21 American airmen aboard, reported Monday it has sighted the wreckage of a two-engine plane on the rock-topped island of Corsica.

Other search planes converged on the island to investigate. The plane, a two-engine C-47, was being flown by a crew of officers logging flying time when it disappeared on a flight from Rome to England.

The plane's regular course would have taken it across Corsica and over the Rhone Valley of France but authorities feared a fierce storm had tossed it off course.

Headquarters of the Third U. S. Air Force disclosed the four officers in the plane's crew regularly were assigned to duties other than flying at their home base in Manston, England.

An Air Force spokesman said the officers were making the flight to meet regulations which specify that desk-bound officers must fly 100 hours a year to keep their flying status.

Adenauer Reports Germany's Position

EDITOR'S NOTE — On Saturday, 15 nations including the United States agreed to restoration of virtual sovereignty to West Germany and to German participation in the defense of Europe.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany gives the first official statement of the position of his country in the new order of things in Europe in reply to a series of questions called to him by Hugh Baillie, President of United Press.

By HUGH BAILLIE NEW YORK, Oct. 25 — UP — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said in a cabled interview Monday that the 15-nation Paris agreement restoring German sovereignty and a German army has increased the chances of uniting East and West Germany because the Russians have shown they will respect only a western world that is "united and strong."

He hopes for ratification of the Paris agreement by the parliaments of the 15 nations within "the next few months." Within two and a half years, Adenauer added, a 500,000-man German Army will be ready to stand shoulder to shoulder with the western allies against the threat of Russian aggression.

Adenauer's replies to a series of questions I called to him at the West German capital of Bonn arrived here shortly before the chancellor's departure Tuesday for an official visit to the United States.

Statement of Position It was the first authoritative statement of West Germany's position since Saturday's historic agreement at Paris. It came at a time when the German government is still in a state of transition.

All-Night Hunt Finds Crosby Children Safe

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 25 — UP — Three young sons of bandleader Bob Crosby, were found on a mountainside early Monday after a night away from home and said, "we ran away from our nurse because she runs the house."

The trio's disappearance early Sunday night led to an all-night search in which more than 90 officers and friends of the family took part. Crosby himself had joined the searchers at dawn.

The boys, Chris, 12; Robert Jr., 10; and Stephen 8, were found about a mile and a half in back of the Crosby Bel-Air home by Timmy-Wellman, 15, son of movie director William Wellman. The Wellman boy was covering the rough terrain on horseback.

"We were running away from our nurse," said Chris. "She runs the house."

Bobby told reporters: "We been wanting to get rid of her for a long time."

Steve, the youngest of the trio, spoke up, saying "we warned the family."

The Crosby father, while apparently happy and showing signs of relief that the boys were found, nevertheless took them to task sharply. He immediately marched them upstairs for a "woodshed session," and told them to get "cleaned up."

Crosby said the nurse, Teresa (See HUNT, Page 3)

First Freeze On Way In

The first freeze of the fall this morning was reported on its way to Pampa and the Top of Texas.

Snow, chilling rain and sharply colder weather were sweeping out of the Rockies eastward across the Plains and were expected to lower Upper Panhandle temperatures tonight to 26-32 degrees, according to the United Press.

If freezing weather comes to this area, it will be almost a month earlier than last year, Pampa's weather bureau, Station KPDM, reported today. Earliest freeze in 1953 was Nov. 19.

No Advance Warning Pampa temperatures Sunday and this morning however did not indicate tonight's possible freeze. High was 66 degrees and the low this morning was 53. By 9 a.m. the mercury had risen to 61. Forecast was for partly cloudy weather and colder in the Panhandle and South Plains tonight and Tuesday.

The cold front at daybreak stood on a line from Minnesota to southeastern Colorado, then across western New Mexico and into Mexico, the UP said. It was expected to move across northwestern and extreme West Texas during the day and come into North Central Texas during the night. By Tuesday it is expected to turn colder even in the northern part of South Central Texas.

Snow In West There was snow today, one to three inches deep, over much of Montana and south to Ely, Nev., where it reached a depth of five inches.

Local and area law enforcement officers in the Top of Texas, looking forward to tonight's possible freeze, cautioned motorists to beware of the thin coating of ice that can develop if moisture is present. Many times, they pointed out, the motorist can not notice it till he tries to put on his brakes.

The first freeze for this season held no horrors for agriculture circles — nature and the farmer are all ready for the siege of cold weather, County Agriculture Agent Ralph Thomas said this morning.

But there will be little or no damage to crops, Thomas said. Everything subject to frost damage has been harvested, he said, "except for a few late gardens."

More than one person was killed in at least six highway crashes, with the worst occurring in Galveston county. Five members of one family were killed.

Texas weather was said to be the cause of at least eight of the accidents. This included the plane that got lost and crashed 15 miles southwest of Paris during a storm.

The latest crash to be reported was on a farm-to-market road five miles south of Kirkland, Tex., Sunday when one man was killed, three critically injured and another seriously injured, Charles Edward Wells, 52, Coeburn, was killed in the wreck.

Five members of the Domingue Villareal family of Galveston, including the parents and three children, were killed Saturday when a tire blew out on their car and it crashed head-on into another vehicle.

GI Death Being Probed

EL PASO, Oct. 25 — UP — Military and civilian authorities opened a joint investigation Monday into the mysterious death of a New York draftee whose body was found in the desert near El Paso a week after he disappeared from Fort Bliss.

The draftee was Pvt. Moses A. Poste, 18, son of Joseph A. Poste of Brooklyn. Two civilians riding a jeep across the sand dunes near El Paso found the body Sunday.

Seven Days Remain To Sway Votes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 — UP — Republicans and Democrats trained their sights on the nation's undecided voters Monday as the 1954 election campaign rolled into its final climactic week.

The GOP national committee announced it has scheduled more than 250 speeches in 36 states in an all-out bid for votes between now and Nov. 2. The Democrats said their campaigning will be just as vigorous.

President Eisenhower, Vice President Richard M. Nixon and most of the President's cabinet will all be in action for the Republicans.

Mr. Eisenhower, now campaigning hard for GOP candidates, will deliver a nationwide "appeal to all Americans" Thursday night on behalf of the National Citizens for Eisenhower campaign committee. He also will make a "non-political" speech Monday at an industrial meeting here at 9:30 p. m. est.

House on Firing Line Adlai E. Stevenson, 1952 presidential nominee; Senate leader Lyndon B. Johnson, former House Speaker Sam Rayburn and a host of others will be in the firing line for the Democrats.

Generally, the Republicans are worried about "straws in the wind" pointing to a Democratic victory. They also are concerned about widespread public apathy which they figure will help the Democrats. The Democrats, on the other hand, are mostly fretting about possible overconfidence.

The main issues in the campaign have pretty much boiled down to unemployment, farm prices, public power, and Communists-in-government. But the debate ranged far and wide in statements and speeches over the weekend.

Nixon — Declared Sunday night in Las Vegas, Nev., that security risks fired by the administration "will all be hired back" if Adlai Stevenson has anything to do with Congress' selection. Stevenson has not changed "since he testified for Alger Hiss," Nixon said.

Forty Vote Absentee Forty persons had cast absentee ballots in the office of County Clerk Charlie Thut by late this morning.

Friday is the last day that Gray County residents can vote absentee for the Nov. 2 general election. Wednesday is the deadline for two groups of persons: (1) candidates who must file their second and last campaign expense reports; and (2) voters who have moved their residences to new voting precincts within cities of 10,000 or more population (Pampa). The candidates file with Thut; the voters, with County Tax Collector Jack Back.

Change In Lord's Prayer Is Sought NEW YORK, Oct. 25 — UP — In 1947 after 38 years of service. Since then he has been active and full-time worker in the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, an organization of Episcopal laymen.

The general, who was chief of supply for the U.S. Army in Europe from 1942 to 1945 and later commanded American forces in Italy, said he did not pretend to be a Biblical or theological scholar, but the wording of the Lord's Prayer has been bothering him for 10 years.

"Temptation is like a battle, and a good soldier doesn't ask to be led away from a battle. He asks to win it," Lee said in an interview.

His proposal to "correct and clarify" the wording of the Lord's Prayer in the Book of Common Prayer came up last week before the Episcopal Church's 26th synod, which embraces Lee's diocese in Harrisburg, Pa. The synod decided the question was "too big" and passed it on to the church's liturgical commission.

Under his proposal the words "And lead us not into temptation" would be changed to "and let us not fall when tempted."

Light Quakes Shake California SAN DIEGO, Calif., Oct. 25 — UP — No damage was reported Monday from several light earthquakes believed centered south of here off the Baja California coast. The quakes were felt in San Diego and Imperial counties Sunday for the second consecutive Sunday. Police said they received many calls from persons awakened by windows shaking and dishes rattling.

Seismologist Fred Robinson said he recorded the first shock at 3:44 a.m. (est) as an intensity of 3.44 on a scale of 12.

Sordid Cast In A Sordid Kill Drama

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of two dispatches in which NEA Correspondent Leon Dennen backgrounds, from personal observations in Rome, the political implications behind Italy's sensational "Montesi affair."

LEON DENNEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

ROME — (NEA) — The circumstances surrounding the death of Wilma Montesi have none of the "romance" — or what Italians love to call "grandeur of passions" — of a crime passionnel.

The "affair," if anything, is a sordid tale of drugs, sex and corruption enacted by a cast of smugglers, drug addicts, crooked policemen and corrupt politicians.

The thumbnail biography of "Marquis" Ugo Montagna of San Bartolomeo, one of the leading (if not the leading) actors in the Montesi drama, tells the story.

Montagna is a playboy well known in Rome's hunting set and close friend of many influential people. Among them were Tomasso Pavone, chief of police Spataro, Minister of the Interior during part of the Montesi investigation and Vice President of the Christian Democratic Party; the Pope's nephew, Piero Piccioni, son of the former Foreign Minister.

Who is the "Marquis" Ugo Montagna di San Bartolomeo?

According to a confidential report signed by Colonel Pompei, Rome commander of the tough and highly respected Carabinieri, Montagna is a former Fascist politician both under the Fascist and after the fall of Mussolini.

This was the man whose parties Christian Democrat and Catholic Action leaders attended, and whose friendship was valued by Roman society and some of Italy's highest officials.

The man who first broke the Montesi story was a 24-year-old pro-Fascist journalist named Silvano Muto, who wrote what many had been whispering for months:

1. That Wilma, besides being the sweetheart of a policeman, had also known a good number of high-ranking and fast-living men in her short life.
2. That she died not by drowning but after a drug and sex orgy.
3. That two of the men in Wilma's short life were Montagna and young Piero Piccioni.
4. Muto's article, printed in the Fascist journal Attualita in October 1953, led to his trial on a charge of "spreading false news liable to disturb the public peace."

After that date, the board would set a rate of three cents per cent, which would pay the principal and interest on the bonds and provide the agency's administrative expenses.

Would Limit State Aid

The Water Resources committee also drafted enabling legislation, in the event the constitutional amendment was submitted and adopted, providing the mechanics of issuing the bonds and setting up standards of determining the tax rate.

State aid for local water projects would be limited to not more than one-third of the total cost of the project, and not more than $5 million for any one project.

The Texas Water Commission, which would be set up by a separate act, would be required to make a finding that a project was feasible and would be a safe investment for the state, before a project could gain approval.

The committee said the legislation was designed to "encourage the construction of many 'marginal' projects that would not be built otherwise."

Farm Crops Face Further Controls

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 — UP — Next year may see more farm crops under surplus-reducing controls than ever before if present federal estimates remain unchanged.

The way Agriculture Department officials figure it, all six basket crops—corn, wheat, rice, peanuts, cotton and tobacco—will be under planting restrictions. So will sugar beets, cane sugar and, in a limited way, commercial vegetables, potatoes and beans.

If marketing quotas are proclaimed on rice, the only basic crop not now under control, it would be the first time for that food grain. Some experts believe quotas are "probable."

Rice Quotas Once Rejected

The only time the Secretary of Agriculture proclaimed rice quotas was in 1938, but the growers rejected them.

If the supply situation improves enough by the Dec. 31 quota proclamation deadline, so that quotas are not required, less stringent acreage allotments on rice are still about a "certainty." Rice growers last had acreage allotments in effect—a program over which they have no vote—in 1950.

Wheat, peanut and tobacco farmers already have approved rigid marketing quotas on next year's crops. Cotton farmers vote Dec. 14 on the second consecutive year of quota controls.

The announced 1955 wheat and cotton allotments under the quota programs will alone take 12 million acres out of production next year. This is on top of 30 million acres idled this year.

Corn allotments look certain again because feed grain supplies are near record levels. Allotments in commercial corn producing areas are required every year unless an emergency threatens. Except for this year and 1950, they have been dispensed with.

Beet sugar farmers have produced more than their statutory quota of 1.8 million tons in the past two years. As a result they face so-called "proportionate shares" next year to hold plantings in line.

Elsewhere on the farm front this week:

Outlook Conference: Beginning Monday, 140 state extension workers will settle down with federal experts to take look at 1955 federal prospects. Purpose of the 32nd annual conference will be to help get to farmers prospective general economic and individual crop conditions.

Livestock and Meat: Total marketings are expected to be maintained at this year's high levels, with a leveling out in cattle marketings and a "moderate" increase in hog output. Prices are expected to average much the same as this year for all but pork, which will stay below last spring's high levels.

Dairy: Milk production is expected to equal, or possibly exceed, this year's.

Feeds: Bearing out October forecasts, a near-record supply of feed grains and other concentrates will be available for the 1954-55 feeding season. As in the past two years, supplies vary widely by areas, ranging from ample in most of the north central region to "critically short" in large drought areas of the South where emergency program are underway.

Cotton: Unofficial indications call for 90 percent of parity price supports again on cotton in 1955, along with the 15 per cent cut-back in acreage allotments. Secretary Ezra Taft Benson proclaimed a 40 million bale quota and set an 18-113,208 acre allotment this week without any public demands for an increase from the minimum level as was the case this year.

XXXVI

Jim DUNN continued: "The killer found Angelica with the doll she had removed from the hiding place. The killer saw the money. Perhaps Angelica was defiant. The killer was used to corporal punishment, to inflicting it on others. The killer believed firmly it was easy to get away with murder. The heavy, deadly pieces of pitch were handy. One was snatched from the pile and blows were struck."

Mrs. Oswald's black eyes glittered, but she made no interruption.

"There was time then," Jim went on, "to arrange the accident. Angelica was pulled beneath the elevator, and the heavy weight was raised and dropped on her body."

"Stop it!" Agnes Argyle's voice was hoarse.

"Only one person new to us fits the requirements," Jim said. "One person delighted in inflicting corporal punishment, one person wore a bathing suit, still wet from the shower, in the creek to stop up the underwater entrance, when we all drove up from The Spires, and one of you at least is acquainted enough about 'small' things to send over word I was not to catch any of her fish."

Jim wet his lips. He switched his eyes to Philip Stoneman. "In your story, you and Mrs. Hilton had the same idea. The idea of checking to see that the boat had not been used?"

"Right," Philip said. His eyes were watchful.

"Tell me again," Jim demanded.

"I went to the boat house to check," Philip recalled. "Mrs. Hilton was there already; she had had the same idea. She touched the cars to make sure they were waiting for Mrs. Hilton. Waiting for the woman. 'Remember how I scrubbed your hand with turpentine. 'Out, out, damned spot,' we said."

Jim held his own palm up for inspection. "A part of the stain on her hand was like this one."

"Yes. The hard part to get off. What is it?"

"Pitch," Jim said.

"You—you killed my girl!" Sheriff Agnes' voice was terrible.

Mrs. Hilton backed away from her. "Keep away from me. Nothing can be proved. I want my lawyer."

Agnes laughed again. "Lawyer? You'll need no lawyer."

Mrs. Hilton turned and ran from the room, slammed the door behind her. Agnes moved quickly. Jim caught her, held her. "She won't go far," Jim said. "I've locked my car."

They made a small knot of people on the lake shore. Mrs. Hilton had rowed out 50 feet, sat in the speedboat's stern pouring gas into the tank.

"Come back," Jim called.

MRS. HILTON flung the partially emptied can over the side. "It's not fair. You have to make this an accident too. You have to. You can still do it. She shouldn't have stolen all those things of mine. Mine—they were all mine!" She waited a full minute for the reply.

Mrs. Oswald delivered the Carlson judgment, delivered it harshly. "I trust you. You tried to kill me. No. I'll not cover up for you this time."

Mrs. Hilton started the motor. Jim Dunn missed Agnes Argyle then, even before he made it over the pier across the lake. She had hurried to the cavern entrance, had gone through the short cut. She stood there on the end of the pier, her wet clothes plastered to her gaunt body, waiting for Mrs. Hilton. Waiting for the woman who had killed her child. The speedboat was fairly skimming water now. Jim saw Mrs. Hilton turn to watch them, saw her laugh.

Agnes Argyle raised her arm and aimed.

Mrs. Hilton saw the grim, waiting figure, apparently saw the gun. She swerved the boat as the gun went off with an echoing report. A tower of water leaped up with the impact of the heavy slug.

But Mrs. Hilton had turned too fast. The racer leaped from the water, flipped over, completed a reverse turn. Mrs. Hilton was thrown high in the air, came down to land heavily on the sinking craft. The sound of her landing was loud in the silence.

MRS. OSWALD came away from the phone as Jim and Nancy went through the drawing room.

"I want to know what you're going to do?"

"Report to the proper authorities," Dunn said.

"Sheriff Agnes Argyle said 'This is me. I'm the proper authority.'"

"All right," Jim agreed wearily. "So I've reported to you."

Mrs. Oswald's black eyes flashed. She pulled her withered body even more erect. "You'll hear from me, Mr. Dunn. You won't lose by my actions. Now, if you'll excuse us? There are things to be arranged."

Mrs. Oswald had her hand on Mrs. Kit's arm. "You chose wisely when you chose Mr. Dunn. Now, we must make our plans, Mrs. Peter." There was just enough hesitation to stress her use of that name.

Jim saw the pleasure, the resolution, flood over his client's face. She had reached the Carlson inner circle. From the background came a deep sigh of content from Mrs. Geltrap, Kit said, "Yes, Mrs. Oswald."

The old woman turned to face Agnes Argyle. "And you, Mrs. Toby?" She was uncertain enough to make it a question.

Agnes Argyle shrugged her bony shoulders. "I'll stand by you, Mrs. Oswald."

Einstein Associate Given AEC Post

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 — UP — President Eisenhower Saturday appointed Dr. John von Neumann, brilliant Hungarian-born mathematician, Prof. Albert Einstein.

Succeeds Zuckert

He succeeds Eugene M. Zuckert, AEC member whose term expired last June 30.

His appointment means that the AEC, for the first time in its history, will have two scientists among the five members of the governing commission.

Dr. Willard F. Libby, University of Chicago chemistry professor, was named last month to succeed Dr. Henry DeWolf Smith on the commission. Previously, Dr. Smith had been the commission's lone scientist-member.

Von Neumann is the fourth AEC member to be appointed by Mr. Eisenhower. The others, besides Dr. Libby, are Chairman Lewis L. Strauss and Joseph Campbell. The fifth member, Thomas E. Murray, was appointed by former President Truman.

The White House, in announcing the appointment, described von Neumann as a "political independent."

Senate Confirmation

He will serve under a presidential recess appointment until Congress reconvenes, at which time his nomination is subject to Senate confirmation.

Neely's Wife Gets Divorce

RENO, Nev., Oct. 25 — UP — Mrs. Dorothy Doucher Neely won a divorce in district court Saturday from Jess C. Neely, head football coach at Rice Institute at Houston.

Mrs. Neely charged her husband with "extreme cruelty," mental in nature. The couple was married Jan. 2, 1950.

Her complaints said the couple had reached agreement out of court concerning a property settlement. Mrs. Neely's maintenance and custody and support of an 18-year-old daughter, Mary Gooch Neely.

Neely did not contest the action although he submitted an affidavit denying the cruelty charge.

Neely entered the case as a "proper person" which meant he acted as his own counsel by submitting an affidavit although he never left Houston. Rice played Tekoa in a major grid contest Saturday.

Atom Cannon Work Stopped

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 — UP — The Army has quietly stopped production of atomic cannon, it was learned Saturday.

A spokesman told the United Press in answer to questions that "current requirements" for the vaunted but sometimes controversial 280 mm guns were completed several months ago.

The number produced is believed to be "more than" 50. About 30 are now stationed in Europe. Cost per unit is believed to be between $800,000 and $1 million.

Efforts to learn what prompted the decision were unavailing. Nor would officials say, on grounds of military security, the total amount invested in the gun for design, research, development, production and modifications.

A spokesman said that more of the long artillery pieces may be ordered next year, but informed quarters indicated that, if true, the number will be hardly more than a "handful."

Development of guided missiles, such as the Corporal, and free rockets such as the Honest John, both for support of troops, may have had a bearing on the decision. Perfection of missiles figured originally in some opposition to the cannon.

Property Tax Hike Proposed To Finance Water Projects

AUSTIN, Oct. 25 — UP — A state property tax of three cents per $100 valuation was recommended Saturday by the Texas Water Resources committee to support a proposed $100 million fund for aid in financing construction of water projects.

The proposal was contained in one of nine bills drafted by the committee for submission to the legislature convening in January recommending sweeping changes in Texas' water laws.

The committee proposed, as a constitutional amendment, a $100 million "Texas water development fund," raised through issuance of bonds.

The funds would be used to aid municipal subdivisions in financing construction of dams, reservoirs and other water storage projects.

Cities Would Benefit

The Texas Water Development Board created by the act would administer the fund. The board would be composed of the governor, the state treasurer and comptroller.

It would be furnished cities and local government units for water projects whose revenues would not be sufficient to finance the project through private investment.

The constitutional amendment would provide for a three-cent ad valorem tax on $100 valuation until 1960.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 — UP — The Army has quietly stopped production of atomic cannon, it was learned Saturday.

A spokesman told the United Press in answer to questions that "current requirements" for the vaunted but sometimes controversial 280 mm guns were completed several months ago.

The number produced is believed to be "more than" 50. About 30 are now stationed in Europe. Cost per unit is believed to be between $800,000 and $1 million.

Efforts to learn what prompted the decision were unavailing. Nor would officials say, on grounds of military security, the total amount invested in the gun for design, research, development, production and modifications.

A spokesman said that more of the long artillery pieces may be ordered next year, but informed quarters indicated that, if true, the number will be hardly more than a "handful."

Development of guided missiles, such as the Corporal, and free rockets such as the Honest John, both for support of troops, may have had a bearing on the decision. Perfection of missiles figured originally in some opposition to the cannon.

GULLS IN A SEA OF WHEAT

Folks around Salina, Kan., now think they've seen about everything. They'd never dreamed of seeing sea gulls flocking over the Kansas prairie. But they did, as photo above shows. Hundreds of the birds flapped around the Isaac Haley farm, next to the Shellabarger Mills, east of Salina. Haley had been planting wheat and believes that the birds were eating worms and insects turned in the operation. How birds got that far inland no one knows. Consensus is that they were just "passing through." (NEA Photo)

Rogers Impressed With U. S. Ability To Deliver Air Punch

In his weekly newsletter Rep. Walter Rogers concerns himself with how well the United States is prepared to defend itself.

"It would be impossible to draw a word picture of the unbelievable punch that could be delivered in a matter of minutes to any aggressor," Rogers says.

Rogers recently witnessed at Eglin Field, Fla., planes breaking the sound barrier. A display had been planned for 3,000 feet, but had to be taken to 10,000 to discount the possibility of the concussion breaking the spectator's ear drums.

"If Moscow thinks that this country couldn't have planes over the Kremlin in short order, she had better revise her thinking," Rogers says.

Turning to crime, Rogers points out that 1953 saw 2,159,000 major crimes committed in the United States, a rise of six per cent over the previous year. All offenses were on the rise except murder.

Remaining in the field of statistics, Rogers says that percentage-wise there has been a 2.9 increase in the number of women offenders since 1900.

Quoting figures from an article in the New York Herald Tribune (1950), Rogers shows the economic influence of womanhood on American life.

They influence 85 per cent of all consumer purchases; are the beneficiaries of 80 per cent of all life insurance policies; inherit 70 per cent of the estates left by men; own 66 per cent of all privately owned government bonds; own 90 per cent of all privately owned stock in corporations, and hold 65 per cent of all the accounts in mutual savings banks.

Texas Fair Is Biggest In The World

DALLAS, Oct. 25—UP—The State Fair of Texas held on Monday its "biggest state fair in the world" label.

The gigantic exposition closed Sunday after a 16-day run that shattered all attendance records during the 1944 year.

Sunday's attendance totaled 190,396, biggest closing day attendance in Texas since the fair's inception in 1893. Total attendance for the year totaled 2,506,463. Previous high attendance was 2,387,140 at the Texas State Fair in 1952.

The fair broke its own national attendance record for annual expositions in the United States with 1954 total attendance, reported Thad Ricks, fair publicity director.

Fair officials had hoped at least 2.5 million persons would pass through the gates of the huge fair this year, but then lost all hope when rain and drizzle cut the crowd Saturday. But, it was fair and clear Sunday, and Texans thronged the fairgrounds for their last glimpse of the 1954 exposition.

The fourth annual Religious Festival in the Cotton Bowl closed the fair with a solemn note. The principal address, a non-political, non-sectarian speech, was delivered by Dr. Walter H. Judd of Minneapolis, former medical missionary to China and now a congressman from the fifth district of Minnesota.

A mass choir composed of choirs from all the city's churches performed the music.

Persons entering the gates after 5 p.m. Sunday, were charged no admission.

A Dallas secretary, Mrs. Vernon D. Patton, 21, was the fair's record-breaking customer. She received a letter entitling her to passes to the fair and its major shows next year.

HUNT

Flynn, "is a very fine person and a good nurse." He intimated she would stay on the job.

The youngsters, appearing tired and bedraggled, said they had not heard searchers who scoured the hills around them throughout the night.

Young Wellman, who came across the boys wrapped up in sleeping bags, said they were "just beginning to stir a bit." It was cold.

The search had taken on a grim aspect when Crosby disclosed he had once received a threatening note from a "religious crank."

"I didn't think much about it at the time—it slipped my mind entirely until last night," he said.

Note from Crank

He said police discovered at the time of the incident, however, that the note — which warned him to "watch out for your kids" — was written by the crank.

Throughout the night Crosby and his wife, clung to the hope that the three youngsters simply took off into the sprawling Brentwood Hills on a Tom Sawyer prank of camping overnight.

"But it was so unlike them to go off like that without saying a word about it," Mrs. Crosby said.

Crosby expressed similar confidence that the boys were camping out.

"Oh, my boys, they're just normal little savages," he said nervously as searchers prepared to scour the hills.

GERMANY

times when West Germany is preparing to re-enter the family of nations for the first time since Adolf Hitler's armies began to march toward their own destruction in 1939.

The general tone of Adenauer's replies to my questions was optimistic.

He seemed to believe that the position of the western allies was considerably stronger than it was when I last interviewed him in 1950 at his white villa at Bonn on the banks of the Rhine. At that time he spoke thoughtfully and gravely about Russia's over-all objective which he believed to be the capture of all Europe, including an unarmaged West Germany. But, Monday, he made the first statement that "the West German population is absolutely immune to the Communist danger" from within.

I asked him for his estimate of the chances for ratification by all the 15 governments involved at the Paris agreements, including restoration of sovereignty to West Germany and establishment of a German army. He replied:

"I hope all the agreements will go into force within a few months."

About establishing the 500,000-man German army under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Brussels pact, he said:

"The planned German divisions will take about two and a half years" to form.

But even after the German army is raised and German sovereignty restored he wants American troops to continue in Germany.

"The great majority of the West German people today already regards the American troops on German soil not as an occupation army but as allies," he said.

Scout Court Postponed

The Court of Honor at which three Santa Fe District Boy Scouts were to be given Scouting's highest award, the Eagle Badge, has been postponed indefinitely, Phil Pegues, Scout Executive, announced this morning.

Pegues said conflicting programs of various units which were to attend the Court of Honor would make it impossible for a large turnout, and that it would not be large enough to give due honor to the boys.

A group of men from the Advancement Committee of the Santa Fe District will go to Carlsbad tonight to present the Eagle Badge to one of the three boys however, Pegues said.

The award will go to Larry Pinson of Canadian. Also the group will present a special award, the Scouters Award to J. C. Bernson, scoutmaster.

Pegues said there would not be another district Court of Honor until February.

The other two boys who were to receive the Eagle Badge tonight are John B. Schofield, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Schofield and Jon Estes, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton B. Estes.

Thieves Take Time In Theft

EXCELLENT WHISKY AND FINE CIGAR COST MORE THAN THAT

OAKLAND, Calif. --UP-- A nonchalant "robber of distinction" emptied the till of a liquor store early Monday and then stepped back to the customers' side of the counter.

He ordered a bottle of fine whisky and an excellent cigar -- tossed $5 on the counter and sauntered out, telling the clerk to "keep the change."

BIGGEST SQUEEZE -- "Biggest piece of machinery ever built" is the distinction claimed for this 50,000-ton press being assembled for the Aluminum Co. of America plant in Cleveland, Ohio. The 50,000 refers to pressure, not weight. The press actually will weigh 4000 tons. It extends higher in the air than a seven-story building and goes almost four stories below ground level. It is marvellously accurate. Billets of metal weighing two or three tons can be put into the dies and the press will shape them to dimensions accurate to less than 1/32 of an inch. A building which covers 12 acres of ground had to be erected to house this huge machine and another, 35,000-ton one. The entire project will cost $40,000,000.

Leonard's Conoco Specializes In Correct Automotive Care

These cold nights are fine to sleep through, if your automobile is winterized to beat off the cold. If not, you may be one of those who slip on a robe to rush out into the cold to drain water from the car radiator. Or you may be one of those who grind and grind on the starter before you drive to work in the morning. Worse yet, if you neglect your car, you may find the radiator frozen.

Bob Leonard's Conoco Station, 500 W. Foster (telephone 4-8642), can help you avoid worries and troubles by giving your automobile the care it needs.

Specializes In Care

Bring your car to Leonard's, park it in the customer's large, free parking lot while you shop or attend a downtown show. When you return Bob will have your car winterized -- ready to serve you all through a Panhandle winter -- in spite of the cold.

Bob specializes in automotive care, in preventing costly repair bills by keeping things from "going wrong." He knows the right grade of oil to keep the engine of your car well lubricated in winter as well as in summer. He knows where to put the right amount of grease to keep moving parts from over-heating, sticking. He knows tire care, how to prolong the life of your car battery.

Knows Care

Bob knows how he can clean the generator to give you a hotter spark, better service from your car's electric system. He also knows the difference a set of brushes can make to your generator.

Because Bob specializes in car care he knows whether your car needs things like new generator brushes. If it doesn't Bob doesn't recommend them.

Have Bob put a permanent type of anti-freeze in the radiator of your automobile. Now! Here, in a community protected only by a barbed wire fence from the arctic cold, car anti-freeze is a necessity. You know your car is safe if you have Bob flush out the radiator, check the hose and fill the radiator with the right proportions of a permanent anti-freeze like Prestone, Conoco or Zerex.

Only Three?

Portland, Me. -- UP -- Gloria Thurlow turned to her companion on the crowded bus and said, "Oh, dear, I wish that goodlooking man would give me his seat." Three men stood up promptly.

When you bring your car to Bob for winterization, have him tell Frank Hinds, Bob's mechanic, to give it a tune up -- to get everything running "right" for the winter. Care like that gives you longer and better car service and a higher trade in when you change cars.

And a tune up by Hinds gives you faster starts, better pick-up, smoother riding, helps you to enjoy your car more.

Frank Hinds, one of the best mechanics, doesn't do overhauling (he hasn't the time), but he does do trouble shooting, tune ups, quick repair work. His quick adjustments will save you many major repair bills because minor car adjustments prevent major repair costs.

McClure Has Car Booklet

Local car enthusiasts and prospects for new automobiles can now secure Nash Motors' new facts booklet which analyzes the facts and features involving 16 American-made automobiles on the market today.

The 20-page booklet, entitled "What's the Truth About Car Values Today?", is available at McClure Nash Co., 118 S. Frost. It compares Nash products feature by feature with competitive makes from a standpoint of safety, comfort, economy and car-performance efficiency.

Complete with pictures and easy-to-read statistical charts, the colorful booklet claims, "Five minutes with this booklet can save you hundreds of dollars when you buy your next car." Sections of the booklet include comparisons on safety, air conditioning, comfort, engine performance, styling, room and visibility, and many other topics.

According to George A. McClure, owner, this "get the facts" book is the most revealing book of its kind published in years.

"There is no question that it will be of immense benefit to anyone reading it, no matter whether they are considering purchasing a new car now or next year," he said. "We extend a cordial invitation to all to come in at their earliest convenience for a copy."

Crash Victim 'Doing Fine,' Says Hospital

GROOM -- The only survivor of a three-car collision Thursday at the intersection of U. S. Hwy. 66 and Texas Hwy. 70, west of McLean, was reported doing fine today by a physician at the Groom Osteopathic Hospital. Three persons were killed in the wreck.

Howard K. McCoy, 35, Kalamazoo, Mich., was expected to be released from the hospital within the next day or two. He suffered a fractured right collar bone and nose, and multiple cuts.

His sister-in-law, Mrs. Ralph McCoy, Kalamazoo, was said to be on her way to make funeral arrangements for Mrs. McCoy, who was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital following the crash.

Also killed in the accident were Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Johnson, Elk City, Okla.

Pilot Averts Fatal Crash

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M., Oct. 25 --UP-- An Air Force pilot was credited Monday with saving dozens of lives, including his own, when he steered his powerless jet fighter to a crash landing in a vacant lot surrounded by houses and a clinic.

The pilot, 1st Lt. B. R. Hart, 24, of the 56th Fighter Squadron at Selfridge Air Force Base near Detroit, leaped to safety with a broken leg seconds before the plane exploded into flames.

Flying from Kirtland Air Force Base, N. M., to Nellis Air Force Base, Nev., Hart picked out the vacant lot for his crash landing when the engine of his speedy jet failed.

Guatemala Teachers In Texas

DALLAS, Oct. 25 --UP-- One hundred Guatemalan school teachers spread out to five southwestern colleges Monday to study democracy on the scene for nine weeks.

The 51 men and 49 women who represent three major areas of education arrived in Dallas Sunday. They were split up into groups and dispatched to the various institutions. The courses they will pursue were designed to rid their minds of any ideas that might have been planted there by the former Guatemalan Communist regime; a sort of "brainwashing" in reverse.

The teachers represent elementary, secondary and vocational education. Arizona State Teachers College at Tempe and the University of New Mexico are the destinations of the elementary teachers; the University of Texas at Austin and the University of Arizona at Tucson, the secondary teachers; and Oklahoma A&M College at Stillwater, the vocational instructors.

The United States Foreign Operations Administration is sponsoring the courses. An FOA spokesman, William Rex, said southwestern colleges were selected because they have the greatest number of bi-lingual professors. Only a few of the Guatemalan teachers speak English.

Guatemalan President Castillo Armas pulled the names of the 100 teachers out of a barrel during a lottery which selected them. They are supposed to represent a cross-section of Guatemalan teachers.

TV Orchestra Leader Works Under Series Of Handicaps

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 --UP-- The television musical conductor has something else to worry about besides just getting the right notes out of his orchestra, according to Elliot Lawrence.

Lawrence, the young man who conducts for Red Buttons' new program on NBC Friday nights, says that the TV conductor needs two heads.

"A dance band director needs only to make sure of the quality of his music," said Lawrence, who has had plenty of experience in that capacity. "But the TV conductor has to worry not only about music, but about scripts, cameras, actors, balance and timing, lights, and, occasionally, even about an occasional sponsor or network vice president."

This giant, under the over-all supervision of David O. Selznick, movie producer making his first effort in TV, will originate in CBS television city in Hollywood to celebrate the 75th anniversary of Thomas A. Edison's invention of the electric light.

The program, estimated to cost around $1 billion will have stars galore and every type of entertainment. Heala Hayes, Joseph Cotton, Brandon De Wilde, Guy Madison, Thomas Mitchell, and Walter Brennan are some of those who will appear.

The networks' regular Sunday programs in the period will, of course, be omitted for the evening.

Other Sunday TV highlights: One of the old Dietz-Schwartz Broadway musicals, "Revenge with Music," will constitute "The Colgate Comedy Hour" on NBC. "Toast of the Town" will put Pearl Bailey and Robert Merrill before the CBS cameras. Carol Haney of "Pajama Game" will be another guest.

The plot of "Mr. Peepers" on NBC involves Wally Cox in a bid to join a secret fraternal organization.

"You are there" on CBS reconstructs the burning of Rome.

Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club Members Make Achievement Day Tour

The Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club observed its annual Achievement Day Friday, with members displaying some of the accomplishments in sewing, home improvement and foods. The women visited a few central meeting places where various members brought their work.

The tour began in the home of Mrs. O. G. Smith, newly remodeled. Besides rearranging the house, a hall, bathroom, closet and one bedroom were added. All rooms in the house were papered, and new hardwood floors were added to match the ones in the older part. Mrs. Smith showed a new home freezer filled with home-grown vegetables, baked products and fruits. Among the baked goods were pies, cakes, breads and Christmas fruit cake. In addition, she carried 144 quarts of vegetables from her garden and fruits which she bought.

Six of the women modeled dresses they made this year. Some were cotton and others blended fabrics. Mrs. J. L. Carlton, the president, wore a cotton dress made of strip feed sacks, costing one dollar. It looked like a much more expensive one, with soft blended colored stripes. Those who brought products to Mrs. Smith's home, showed additional dresses, aprons, blouses and skirts, used in learning the new method of sewing without the use of pins or basting. For some of the garments bias tape made by a new method was used, while others were made by the no-pin, no-basting method. On one table was a display of hand woven reed baskets, made by Mrs. J. L. Carlton and lamp shades covered by Mrs. Carlton and Mrs. R. E. Engle.

Last home visited, was that of Mrs. O. A. Wagner, where other members brought food samples they learned to make at demonstrations and the training schools held this year, such as jelly rolls, lemon pies and cakes. Cookies, tea and coffee were served as refreshments.

Mrs. Wagoner had on display, seven roller caps, which she crocheted of various colored cotton rug yarns, to be used for Christmas gifts. One bag showed a combination of accessories for street use.

Two members, Mrs. J. L. Carlton and Mrs. O. A. Wagner, reported having sold some of their products. Mrs. Carlton sold a number of her handmade aprons, and Mrs. Wagner sold the roller caps.

Members of the Goodwill HD Club were special guests. They were Mrs. Darrell Hogsett, Boyd Maule, Bill Cox and Bill Grundy. Worthwhile Club members attending were Mrs. M. L. Robinson, P. G. Turner, N. B. Cude, Chester Williams, G. L. Lunsford, D. L. Lunsford, Marion Roberts, G. T. Bunch, Dewey Johnson, J. L. Carlton, W. G. Kinzer, R. E. Engle, Jr., O. G. Smith, Roy Tinsley, O. A. Wagner, Miss Helen Dunlap, county home demonstration agent, was also a guest.

Next meeting will be at 2 p.m. Nov. 5, in the home of Mrs. John King, 1148 Prairie Drive.

The Worthwhile group also held a Halloween party recently in the home of Mrs. M. L. Robinson, 324 N. Sumner. Refreshments of pie, coffee and Halloween candies were served. Attending were Mrs. W. S. Brake, Mrs. G. Kinzer, F. G. Turner, J. L. Carlton; Miss Helen Dunlap; and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tinsley.

Miss Vivien Brake Feted With Shower

Miss Vivien Brake, bride-elect of L. Clyde Hollingsworth of Houston, was complimented with a miscellaneous bridal shower Sunday afternoon in the home of Mrs. A. D. McNamara, 1012 N. Somerville.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Dan Gribbon, Emil Urbanczyk, L. J. Floherty and McNamara. The honoree and her mother, Mrs. W. S. Brake, were presented corsages of white and blue baby mums. In the reception line were the honoree, her mother, and Mrs. McNamara.

The serving table was covered with a yellow organdy cloth over green. The centerpiece was an arrangement of yucca, white baby mums and ferns on white stereo-foam. At the front of the centerpiece were pipe-stem figures of a bride, bridegroom and bridesmaids. Flanking the centerpiece were white tapered silver holders.

Miss Jill Fisher presided at the silver coffee service, and Miss Alcyon Flaherty registered the guests.

Refreshments were white arabesque sandwiches, cookies, nuts, coffee and tea. From 35 to 40 persons attended the event.

Skellytown Boy Feted For Eighth Birthday

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Herd recently honored their son, David, with a party on his eighth birthday. The guests enjoyed a wiener roast in the yard and played several outdoor games. After the gifts were opened the guests were served refreshments of birthday cake and ice cream.

June Talk

By JUNE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

ALTHOUGH SPACE is usually at a minimum these days, we sometimes have a room that no one likes. It's just not a relaxing place. For those of you with this problem, I looked around and found an article that gives pointers on how to correct the situation.

"DULL WALL COLORS and uninteresting draperies are often the trouble. To create a quiet, relaxing atmosphere, re-do the walls in a far-away blue, green or gray. To add sparkle and gaiety, use deep pink, yellow, turquoise, or terra cotta.

"Interesting, new draperies also work magic. The general rule, defined by experts in fabric design and use, is to select a small print for a small room, and a large pattern for a big room. But often, they add, draperies in a large print are good in a small room, if other fabrics are in solid colors or a small all-over design.

"When furniture is nondescript, handsome drapery colors and designs work wonders. And you can get draperies at moderate prices in expensive-looking, modestly priced, cotton-and-rayon antique satin which comes in beautiful solid colors and prints and is an excellent choice, whether you make your own draperies or buy them ready-made. The florals are very decorative in patterns like popular Forsythe print, with its large clusters of peonies and hollyhocks, or the new fall Quince Blossom design of flowering branches used dramatically twice across the width. In a redecorated, demonstration room, the Quince print, with pink background, flowers in gold and multiberry shaded with rose, and leaves in green, is used for draperies and slipcover of the sofa. Walls are a matching pink, floor covering is green, and easy chairs are in gold trimmed with pink moss fringe. The formerly dingy room now has elegance and gaiety.

Sheers Create Light
"For dark rooms, sheer draperies, which create a feeling of light, are in big demand. Draperies of zephyrchrom are especially popular because of the textured surface lightly threaded with gold. With white, pink, blue or green walls, zephyrchrom draperies in a pale tint of the same color create a sunlit pastel mist.

Better Furniture Arrangement
"Once you settle on color and fabric, scrutinize the furniture arrangement. Be sure it is well-balanced, with each end of the room allotted its share of heavier pieces, and lamp tables placed near the easy chairs. In a small room, a love seat is best and easy chairs are not to be too big. In a large room, use at least one big piece—breakfront, tall bookcase, or chest set against a decorative fabric wall hanging.

"Most unpopular room err in color, fabric, or furniture arrangement. Correct the error, and they become favorite spots.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend
Is it proper for a pregnant woman to be matron of honor at a wedding?

Also what is proper to wear? It is a second marriage for both parties. Could black velvet be worn? The bride will be in navy and the wedding will be in the afternoon with the reception following.

Rose
Dear Rose
There is no reason why she shouldn't be matron of honor at a small informal wedding in a home. However it would be poor taste for her to be in the wedding wear if a large formal affair in a church unless it took place during the early months of the pregnancy.

The matron of honor should discuss her costume with the bride and should dress as the bride wishes for the wedding since the bride usually works out the colors to be emphasized in decor as well as costumes for the bridal party.

BRIDE OR CAR

Dear Grace
I was so unhappy. I am very much in love with a young man a year or two older than I. A few months ago he asked me to marry him and we set a date this winter.

I was so happy and then I realized that he is not making any serious plans for our marriage.

He is crazy about cars and although he has a very nice car a few years old he is planning now to trade it in on a new one. He spends all of his money on the car.

When I suggest we should be saving for things we will need when we are married he just changes the subject. I want my marriage to be real and I don't want to always have to work and support us while he spends his money on his hobby. I hope to quit my job in a year or two and have a family.

Do you think he will change when the time comes or will he always be like this with money for nothing but his car?

BGK Group Gives Presentation Ball

A snow-ball, snow-flake theme was used for decorations at the anniversary presentation ball of Beta Gamma Kappa Saturday evening in the Pampa Country Club.

White balloons strung on slender threads were draped around the lights and the entry was decorated with an arrangement of white balloons and candles. At the door was an arrangement of frayed white bear grass tipped with glittering white "snow flakes."

Tables were covered with white cloths and decorated with variegated white candles. Centerpieces were rectangular pieces of stereo-foam, centered with white bear grass and glittering snow flakes.

The presentation of Miss Glenda Husted, Mrs. V. G. Nelson, Mrs. Doris Mathis and Miss Sarah Parker was made at 10 p.m. The women entered through an archway of white palm trees, encircled with the white bear grass-snowflake decorations on a white mat.

Members formed an open-V line, with each woman holding a spray of yellow chrysanthemums and ferns. Six members presented their sprays to the honorees, making an arm bouquet on large tea leaves.

At the end of the line Miss Jean Chisholm, vice-president, attached a purple bow to the bouquets, which she handed to Mrs. Jack Foster, president. Mrs. Foster, in turn, handed the bouquets to the women's escorts.

For dancing, music was provided by the Mellow-Aires, with Beverly Fancher as soloist.

Farm Business Truth

Who wrote the following words . . . Franklin Roosevelt, Henry Wallace, Harry Truman, Clement Attlee, Mao Tse Tung, or Joseph Stalin? "It gives us National Socialists a special secret pleasure to see how the people about us are unaware of what is really happening to them." Wrong. It was none of these pluggers for National Socialism. It was Adolph Hitler.

No doubt every social planner from the Brain Trust of Roosevelt to the Americans for Democratic Action today and their allies in every world capital, have taken much "special secret pleasure" as they watched so many Americans, including farmers, being so "unaware of what is really happening" here.

But have you noticed the recent squalls of pain from the American Fabians as they ran into a hard core of resistance? As they tried to bend the "middle of the road" further and further to the left? It shows especially in the ABUSE of those who investigate the subversion of and by the Collectivists.

They have, to their sorrow, found that ALL THE PEOPLE were not fooled ALL OF THE TIME!

Let's cite an example. The Cattlemen of Texas and neighboring states once resisted, to the point of blood-shed, the wave of "nesters" coming to plow up the grasslands they knew would soon blow away.

And so have they resisted the political encroachments in their free markets knowing that their other freedoms would be blown from the American landscape.

After all, the Constitution and the Bill of Rights were only "walls of words" no stronger than the men who stood to defend them against political tyranny, the ancient enemy of all free men.

And so, in the cattlemen's associations we have found what we were looking for, stout leadership in the resistance movement against the new tyranny, the tyranny of collectivism whether you call it Fascism, Nazism, Communism, Fabianism, or just Social Planning in the United States Department of Agriculture.

It is political dictation of man's economic destiny.

And there is a set of agrarian values which is not mentioned in the Marxian books of hate, nor does it appear in the millions of "free pamphlets" settling like a snow storm over the landscape out of U.S.D.A.

It springs from a love of the soil and the deep sense of security and peace which possesses those who regard their family farm as something more than a mine, a quarry, a factory, a money-maker.

Thousands of those whose families left that security for the gilt and tinsel of the city are on their way back or buying one acre or ten, a quarter-section farm or a thousand-acre ranch to put hands and feet back into the soil.

These are the people the New Dealers of tomorrow's planned economies will have to face when the fraud of managed money, managed credits, managed production finally shows through the tatters of broken political promises.

And while they are nailing down the drifting soils with grass seed, they will also be re-nailing the edges of our charters of freedom which have been blown around with such abandon.

It is becoming the new truth, self-evident, that agricultural plenty of things to eat and to wear can only be produced by free men whose rewards for producing are not snatched away by the ruler's rapacious tax man.

And, "as the feller said," "Freedom must yet have one home, one plot of ground, one nation to its name though all other lands should fail her."

Why not the Land of the Pilgrim's Pride restored? That's what we're for.

THE NATION'S PRESS

THEY ASKED FOR IT

(Chicago Daily Tribune)

We commented recently on the adding of the state department which will delay publication of the department's official documentary account of the Yalta Conference until after the election next month. It was at Yalta that Mr. Roosevelt consummated what has been called, with his usual, his great "qualms" to bring Russia into good behavior by giving Stalin everything he could.

An obvious inference from the story in publishing the record of the vital conference, at which Mr. Hiss acted as an adviser to Roosevelt, is to deprive the Republicans of important talking points on the New Deal's chronic weakness toward communism. That could be set down as another step-up by a politically inept administration.

A political speech by Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas, Democratic minority leader in the house, tends to put another face on the matter. Rayburn taunts the Republicans with having a desire to liberally sidestep this whole issue.

In a national radio and television speech from Fort Worth, Rayburn remarked on the silence of the Republicans since they took power concerning the Tehran, Yalta, and Potsdam agreements.

"They ate up the agreements blood raw every morning for breakfast," he said. "Since coming into power, I presume someone in the state department read the provisions of these agreements and understood them. I have nothing about them since."

It is significant that not one responsive Republican spokesman has retorted to Rayburn's gibe. And one reason for that would appear to be that the Republican administration knows that its position in this matter has not been good.

For example, the foreign policy plank of the 1952 Republican platform on which Mr. Eisenhower was elected valiantly pledged, "the government of the United States, under Republican leadership, will repudiate all commitments contained in secret understandings such as those of Yalta which aid communist enslavement."

In his state of the Union message, shortly after taking office in 1953, Eisenhower spoke indignantly about these "secret understandings of the past."

But when it came time to deliver, there was a different story. The administration didn't want to repudiate any agreements. It merely wanted to get Congress to say that Russia "perverted" the "clear intent" of the agreements and that Congress and the President reject "any interpretation or applications" of these agreements tending "to bring about the subjection of free people."

The late Sen. Taft recognized this as an example of egregious tampering. On his motion, the administration formula was permanently sidetracked.

The White House, thru its subsequent opposition to the Bricker amendment, which would have put executive agreements under direct congressional control, inadvertently explained its inconsistency. If the Bricker amendment had gone thru, the President would have had much less of a free hand in conducting foreign relations, and that is why he said he disapproved of it. And if a resolution had been passed by Congress repudiating the executive agreements at Yalta and elsewhere, that would have signified that all such agreements are subject to the control of Congress, as the Bricker amendment was intended to establish beyond all argument.

The White House could not ask for repudiation without lending support to the Bricker amendment, and so it was compelled to quibble with the form or content of the secret New Deal Presidential agreements, but only objected to their "perversion" by the Russians.

Thus committed, the administration hamstringing itself so far as retaining the privilege to denounce the iniquity of Yalta. Its feigning approach to the publication of the record is consistent. It would sooner reserve unrestricted power for the President in the conduct of foreign relations than to avail itself of powerful ammunition to use in beating Democrats. The outcome may be that it won't beat them.

The Psychology Of Inflation.

By Elihu Root

Since the United States is going through the greatest inflation in its history as a result of the Federal Reserve System and since very few people seem to understand the real results of inflation, I want to quote from a speech made by the Honorable Elihu Root in the Senate of the United States in 1913 when the Federal Reserve System was established. This speech was quoted in the October 4 bulletin of the American Institute for Economic Research.

Here is what the Senator said: "The psychology of inflation is interesting, and it is well understood. No phenomenon exhibited by human nature has been the subject of more thorough, careful, and earnest study than that presented by the great multitudes of individuals making up the business world in any country in the process of gradual inflation. It is as constant as the fundamental qualities of humanity, and it differs in different countries only in degree, according to the hopefulness and optimism or the natural conservatism and caution of the people.

If the people of the United States have not wholly changed their nature from the nature which has been exhibited in all the financial history of England, from which many of us came; in all the financial history of France, from which many of us came; of Austria, of Italy, unless our human nature has been changed, we may confidently expect that under this proffer of easy money from a paternal Government, available for every one of us, available to send the life-blood into the enterprise of every quarter of our vast country, available to enable all the young and hopeful and energetic Americans, East and West and North and South, to embark in business ventures which will lift them up from the hard conditions of daily toil, we may confidently expect that this same process will occur that has occurred time and time again in other countries.

"That process is this: Little by little the merchant, the manufacturer, the young man starting out for himself and with a good character, enough to give him a little credit; the man with visions of great fortunes to be won; the man with ideals to be realized; the inventor, the organizer, the producer; little by little, with easy money, they get capital to begin business and to enlarge business. As the business enlarges, sales increase, and prosperity leads to the desire for growth. They all have before them spectacles of great fortunes made by the men who have grown from small beginnings to wonder success — the Wanamakers, the Marshall Fields, the great manufacturers of the Ford, I could enumerate a thousand such examples, whose phenomenal success today inspire young Americans with boundless hope. Little by little business is enlarged with easy money. With the exhaustless reservoir of the Government of the United States furnishing easy money, the sales increase, the businesses enlarge, more new enterprises are started, the spirit of optimism pervades the community.

"Bankers are not free from it. They are human. The members of the Federal Reserve Board will not be free from it. They are human. Regional bankers will not be free from it. They are human. All the world's money is growing; it is making money. Every one is growing rich. It goes up and up, the margin between cost and sales continually growing smaller as a result of the operation of inevitable laws, until finally someone whose judgment was bad, someone whose capacity was small, breaks; and as he falls he hits the next bank, in the row, and then another, and then another, and down comes the whole structure.

"That, Sir, is no dream. That is the history of every movement of inflation since the world's business began, and it is the history of many a period in our own country. That is what happened to the panic of 1837, of 1857, of 1873, of 1893, and of 1907."

of a free hand in conducting foreign relations, and that is why he said he disapproved of it. And if a resolution had been passed by Congress repudiating the executive agreements at Yalta and elsewhere, that would have signified that all such agreements are subject to the control of Congress, as the Bricker amendment was intended to establish beyond all argument.

TV Not Wreaking Havoc On Kids; It's The Adults!

By HENRY McLEMORE

I see that TV is being investigated to find out if its late afternoon and early evening programs are harming the children of America. Some believe that there is a tie-up between juvenile delinquency and the kids, bashed heads, below-the-belt kicks, and the general demonstrations of horror that kids can get by a twist of the knob.

I could offer my opinion on the matter, but I won't. The only opinion that I will offer is that this investigation should have taken second place to one aimed at finding out what TV is doing to adults.

Children are important, that's for sure, but who is to say that they are more important than grown-ups? And don't forget that the average age of the American citizen is about 20.

It is my opinion — and I don't hesitate to offer this — that TV is wreaking more havoc on adults than it is on children. To my way of thinking more people past voting age are being broken down by the magic medium than are youngsters. And what chance has a youngster got if there are no normal sane adults around? Who will the baby get his rattle? His Pabulum? How will the five-year-old get to kindergarten? Who'll bring the school books for the seven-year-old? Who will see that there is enough to cover them in winter, and who'll pay the telephone bill for the high school girl? And who'll have a wing to offer a college sophomore when he suddenly finds he doesn't know everything in the world?

Children are exposed to TV for only a few hours a day. Adults get it almost around the clock. There is no let-up — and consider what they see and hear!

A lady selling linoleum. A man wearing a turned-up sailor hat doing a jig. Loud-mouthed, brassy fellows, yelling stiletto gags, and laughing themselves sick at them. A man predicting things that are to come, and inviting you to see him in person at a supermarket next Wednesday.

People giving away cars if you will only call a certain number, establish your credit, and bring along your left arm as payment. Demonstrations of sewing machines, deodorants, dog candy, eye drops, and cake mixes.

Dramas in which no one ever finds a second of happiness, and ones which are filled with blindness, amputations, amnesia, unfaithfulness on the parts of wives, husbands, and second cousins. People getting rewards for knowing tea is not a fruit, that Rome is in Italy, and Churchill's first name is Winston.

A fish doctor talking about a pill that will help arthritis, salves that will clear the complexion and slim the calves, dried-up powders that need only water to make a tastier dish than Mother ever made, sound tracks that provide laughter when you don't feel like hearing laughter, and well — just sit and look and listen for a day and finish the next three thousand words yourself.

It's a wonder to me that the American adult of taste and sensitivity hasn't long gone off into the hills, howling as he left.

The children are lucky. Just a small portion of TV is aimed at them. Wait'll they grow up and become the prime target.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

A mother writes that her teenage son who is a senior in high school has trouble with pimples on his face, arms, chest and back which has so embarrassed him that he does not want to go out. This is typical of thousands, perhaps hundreds of thousands, and is fully as important because of its psychological and emotional effect on the sensitive adolescent as because of the physical ailment.

Furthermore acne or adolescent pimples generally comes at a time when youngsters are at the peak of their sensitivity concerning personal appearance. The attitude of friends of the same age, and particularly those of the opposite sex, is terrifically important and it is a shrinking from social contacts which severe acne so often brings greatly adds to the difficulty of normal development and social ease.

Only a small proportion of those afflicted with acne develop permanent scarring but the fear is always present. Not only is there the usually unnecessary fear of permanent scarring of the face, but the pimples themselves produce an excessive shyness and self-consciousness. Some develop a permanent inferiority complex as a result of acne.

Acne prefers the face, neck, upper part of the chest and shoulders. The pimple usually starts as a redish lump which is slightly tender to touch. It often develops into "white head" which actually consists of a mixture of pus, germs, skin oil, and destroyed tissue cells.

In the milder cases, the pimples are spaced rather widely apart and are near the surface. In more severe cases they are closer together, break out more frequently and burrow deeper into the skin. When a white head breaks the top of the pustule finally forms open, the pus escapes, a crust forms and healing takes place. If the pustule has been large and deep a permanent scar may be left, though this is fortunately the exception.

Infection alone almost certainly does not explain the development of acne. Diet almost certainly plays a part.

A lot of readers of this column have asked if writing letters to Washington does any good. Seems like it does. I have a communication from Thurston B. Morton, Assistant Secretary of State, and says John Foster Dulles receives AND DIGESTS about four thousand letters from the public every week. Of course, he has to have somebody bolt 'em down for him. Bill the Secretary considers these polls very important and has the results cabled to him whenever he's out of the country. So your voice isn't ignored.

Former Police Chaplain Writes More On N.Y. Cops

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — This is the second instalment of an article on the calling and the character of New York policemen by the Rt. Rev. Joseph A. McCaffrey, pastor of the Catholic Church of the Holy Cross on West 42d Street, in the very heart of a neighborhood gone vicious with salacious theatrical posters, filthy books and "sex" pamphlets, low saloons and prostitution.

Monsignor McCaffrey served 30 years as a chaplain in the police department.

He wrote this discussion at my request, made at a time when the morale of the New York cops was very low and the people had almost lost confidence in the cop's ability to protect them from murderers, violators of unsecured women and children of both sexes, and bandits.

In the interim, that situation has improved after a turbulent shake-down period at the beginning of the administration of Francis W. H. Adams, the present commissioner.

I KNOW POLICEMEN

By the Rt. Rev. Joseph A. McCaffrey

From time to time a hue and cry is raised about police brutality. It is necessary at times for force to be used in effecting an arrest. There are people who look upon kindness as weakness; consideration as indecision and hesitation as a fear of reprisal or punishment. Charges of police brutality have been acted upon summarily and sometimes too summarily — in the department and in the courts. It certainly does not promote efficiency in a policeman to know that unjustified accusations of brutality are considered seriously and that he is apt to be punished by suspension or fine if he is found guilty in a court, where he is made to become the accused rather than the accuser.

Such cases have happened, are known to the public, and cause the young teenage thugs to lose all respect for the policeman and his authority. We quote from the remarks of a teenage hoodlum to the police: "The trouble is you guys are too easy on us. Those night-sticks of yours could teach us an awful lot of discipline and we need. Several times I was caught by policemen and what happened? Why, they treated us with kid gloves. Maybe if you guys smacked us across the butt a few times we might learn a lesson or two."

It is impossible to believe that these men who are so careful of children at school crossings, so solicitous of the aged and infirm at traffic points, so courteous and helpful to law-abiding citizens, would become wild swinging, club-wielding brutal men, wantonly beating innocent peaceful citizens, without provocation.

From my association of thirty years with these men, I know it just isn't so.

The policeman is a home loving man in whose life religion plays a great part. One of the greatest motivating ambitions of his life is the training and education of his children. He will make any sacrifice to put his children through school — high school, college, and if necessary, through professional school. The discipline and example of his home is far above average. If it is true that juvenile delinquency begins in the home, then that very rarely is a child of a policeman arrested for juvenile delinquency. And it can be concluded that if there were more fathers like the New York policemen, there would be far fewer juvenile delinquents.

Moreover, religion plays a part in his home. It would be interesting to know, if such knowledge were possible to obtain, how many priests, brothers and nuns have come from the families of policemen. Certainly a much higher ratio than come from the homes of a similar number of men in any other walk of life. And those who enter religious life are not products of broken families, careless parents or riotous homes.

The policemen are, personally, God-fearing, religious men.

Consider the enrollment of men in the religious societies in the department; 11,000 in the Catholic Holy Name Society. There are 3,500 in the St. George Society — Protestant, and 2,000 in the Shomrim Society — Jewish.

Witness their religious processing to the annual Communion Mass at St. Patrick's Cathedral — 5,500 strong; their participation in the religious demonstration in Boston — 2,500 men; or in Detroit — 1,200 men — on their own time and at their own expense. And then tell me where there can be found a body of men in which there is such a large percentage who are enrolled in religious societies and publicly profess their faith in God as the New York policemen.

The New York policeman is courteous and clean-spoken. I recall a well-deserved rebuke I received in the backroom of a station house when I mentioned the use of bad language to the men. One of the policemen spoke up forcefully, saying: "Don't worry about that, father, we don't allow bad language,

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

REMAINDERS: Gypsy Rose Lee, the educated, cultured, air-mails from Sydney a photograph of herself and four young women in the act she is unveiling for the Australians. It shows Miss Lee, fully clothed, wearing a white fur ribbon which winds around her arms and across her back like an ermine cape. The picture also shows four suitcases, a country road and a highly polished Rolls-Royce. Artfully stacked among these material objects are four girls who seem to be wearing autumn leaves which, fortunately, blew their way just before the camera clicked. It's a little difficult to decode the symbolism hidden in this notable photograph unless it is that Miss Lee is on the road again. The symbol of the Rolls would be that when she travels she travels classy. As for the four shocked girls and the discarded leaves, they probably indicate that Miss Lee is back at the old business of proving that there is no quicker way to sell a theatre ticket than to people the stage with girls who don't blush while naked.

A Cosmic Problem

New York drama critics, recently described as hatched by their British confreres that means lads with the same cushy jobs, currently are tossing cold glances and hot words at each other. It is common legend on Broadway that critics get together at the sidewalk café at intermissions of each new show and forthwith decide whether to like or hate the show. The fact is most of the boys are on the least speaking terms, hatch each other in print, never discuss the show, in question while hobnobbing lily on the sidewalk and, at the moment, are engaged in a walrus-hunt on each other concerning the proper time for an Opening Night curtain — that which were could not possibly be a less cosmic problem. Some want it at 8 o'clock, the time now customary for Opening Nights, one wants it at 8:30, so he can finish "a decent dinner," and still another has come out for the 5 p.m. curtain, saying that this gives time for a cocktail, a canape and a taxi ride, to be followed by a full dinner at 9 p.m., after theatre. It is still somewhat of a mystery why the 8:30 champion can't start his decent dinner at 6:30, arriving at the theatre at 8 p.m., but that's his crusade and he's glued with it. The fact, amidst all the pious nonsense, is that no one has recalled that Jose Ferrer had the courage to open a new show at 2:30 p.m., as a notice, that he trapped elegant matinee, no one screamed, gazed or bit, the critics had all night long from 5:30 on to dine or hang themselves, as the case might be, and the show, "Stalag 17," was an immediate hit and ran for months. Furthermore, it had the usual Opening Night audience of some - droppers, theatrical law-fans, assorted agents, idle women and recently hair-cutted men. Nothing bizarre happened except that it was daylight when the show was over. A great show can haul up its curtain at any time. Any other kind of show has no business being produced at today's prices, anyway. Actually, since most people eat three times a day, it would be difficult to choose a time that did not interfere with meals. See yuh at 9 o'clock, fellas.

Buckeyes, UCLA Rose Bowl Bound

By JOHN GRIFFIN, United Press Sports Writer

It's another day of headaches and hangers Monday for several of the nation's highest-ranked football teams, but the beginning of another bright and shiny new week for those rapidly rising grid titans Ohio State, UCLA, and Army.

Those three were the biggest winners of an upset-ridden weekend that saw no less than 25 teams blasted from the perfect record list, including four members of the country's "top 10" — and Colorado.

A total of 51 teams still are unbeaten and untied, including just nine major teams.

Ohio State came through with one of the weekend's most important triumphs by rising out of its No. 4 national ranking to upset second-ranked Wisconsin, 31-14, and move a long stride nearer a Rose Bowl berth.

UCLA Blasts Stanford

Third-ranked UCLA, which last week handed Stanford its worst beating in history, 72-0, followed up by handing Oregon State the worst beating in its history, 61-0, and moved a long stride nearer the other berth in the Rose Bowl. The Bruins rolled up nine touchdowns, starting 2 1/2 minutes after the opening whistle.

Army, ranked ninth, gave Columbia one of the worst lickings in the Lions' history, 67-12, and thus improved strongly its chances in the race for the Lambert Trophy, emblematic of eastern gridiron supremacy, Boston University, which led the Lambert balloting last week, was one of the major upset victims, bowing to Holy Cross, 14-13, in a televised game.

Mississippi, ranked fifth, was upended by Arkansas, 6-0, when the Razorbacks scored with three minutes to play on a 66-yard pass play from Buddy Benson to Preston Carpenter. The game was counted as a Southeastern Conference game for Mississippi, by special permission of the league to fill out the Rebels' schedule, and the loss cost them their leadership of the league.

Minnesota Crashed

Minnesota, ranked sixth, was crushed by an aroused Michigan squad, 34-0, as injured Tony Braxton came off the bench to spark the Wolverine attack and score one TD. The stunning win catapulted Michigan into the Rose Bowl picture with a 3-0-0 Big Ten record compared to pace-making Ohio State's 4-0-0.

Colorado, ranked 10th, was dealt a 20-6 beating by Nebraska that cost the Buffaloes the lead in the Big Seven race.

Oklahoma, the nation's No. 1 team, punched stolidly in a 21-0 decision over Kansas, adding little luster but showing some mercy by sticking mostly to ground plays and staying on the road to an unbeaten season.

First place in just about every major conference will be at stake during the coming weekend, but there'll be some top-notch inter-sectional games, as well, like Duke-Georgia Tech and Army-Virginia, plus some "old rivalry" battles like Penn-Penn State and Pitt-West Virginia.

Among the outstanding stars of the weekend were:

Bob Clemens of Georgia, who tallied the only touchdown as Georgia downed Tulane, 7-0; Al Doggett of Louisiana State, who scored one touchdown and set up two more in 20-7 victory over Florida; Howard Cassidy, whose 88-yard touchdown run after a pass interception sparked Ohio State to its win over Wisconsin; Dick Mogle of Rice, who scored one touchdown and rushed 105 yards in a 13-7 win over Texas; Billy Hooper of Baylor, who passed to three TD's in 20-7 victory over Texas A&M; Willie Greenlaw of Nebraska, who scored two touchdowns in 20-6 win over Colorado; and one of the most brilliant although in defeat, 29-27 by Southern California, — Paul Larson of California, who completed 14 of 18 passes, scored one touchdown, ran back a kickoff 84 yards and kicked three extra points.

51 Remain Unbeaten In College Ranks

Fifty-one colleges, led by rugged UCLA, remained on football's undefeated and untied list Monday in the aftermath of a wild weekend which claimed 25 teams from the perfect record category.

UCLA, with six victories in as many games this season, paced all the perfect record teams with a total of 265 points scored. Other major colleges on the list included Oklahoma, Ohio State, Arkansas, West Virginia, Bucknell, Miami (Fla.) and Miami (Ohio).

Minnesota, Colorado, Wisconsin, Mississippi, Colgate and Yale were among those who fell by the wayside over the weekend. Michigan beat Minnesota, 34-0; Nebraska beat Colorado, 31-0; Ohio State defeated Wisconsin, 31-14; Arkansas beat Mississippi, 6-0, and Colgate and Yale ruined their spotless records by playing to a 13-13 tie.

One of the best records was piled up by Southeastern (La.) College, which has won five straight this season, amassing 200 points in the five games while allowing its five opponents only seven points between them.

Also undefeated in five starts this season is Trinity University of San Antonio, Tex.

Porkers Now Test Lowly Texas A&M

By ED FITE, United Press Sports Writer

Arkansas' amazing Southwestern Conference leadership, embellished by a sterling inter-sectional victory over Mississippi, becomes the target of the off-beaten but not hopeless Texas Aggies this week in a game the experts once said would settle a loop cellar argument.

With the league campaign in high gear and Arkansas halfway through its conference schedule without yet tasting defeat, the experts are only half right.

The Aggies are in the cellar, which they share surprisingly with a Texas team that was supposed to be rooting on the roof in place of Arkansas, but they've shown signs of being capable of smiting down some unwary foe.

There's a couple of other crucial conference games on this week's slate in addition to Rice's return to inter-sectional warfare against Vanderbilt at Houston, but most interest will be centered on College Station Saturday night.

Southern Methodist, another pre-season second division outfit that's astounded the experts, renews its bitter rivalry with Texas at Austin with high hopes of keeping its 1-0 loop record unblemished.

And, Baylor and Texas Christian — each boasting 1-1 records and facing title elimination with another defeat — meet at Fort Worth in a critical showdown battle.

Only Texas and the Aggies are out of the running at this stage with two defeats apiece.

Rice administered the coup to Texas by a 13-7 tune at Houston last Saturday, while Baylor knocked the Aggies out of contention — if they had ever really been in that position — with four previous losses in five starts — 20 to 7 at Waco.

Meanwhile, the other three teams were making a clean sweep over inter-sectional foes — Arkansas 6 to 0 over Mississippi, TCU 20 to 7 over Penn State, and SMU 36 to 18 over Kansas.

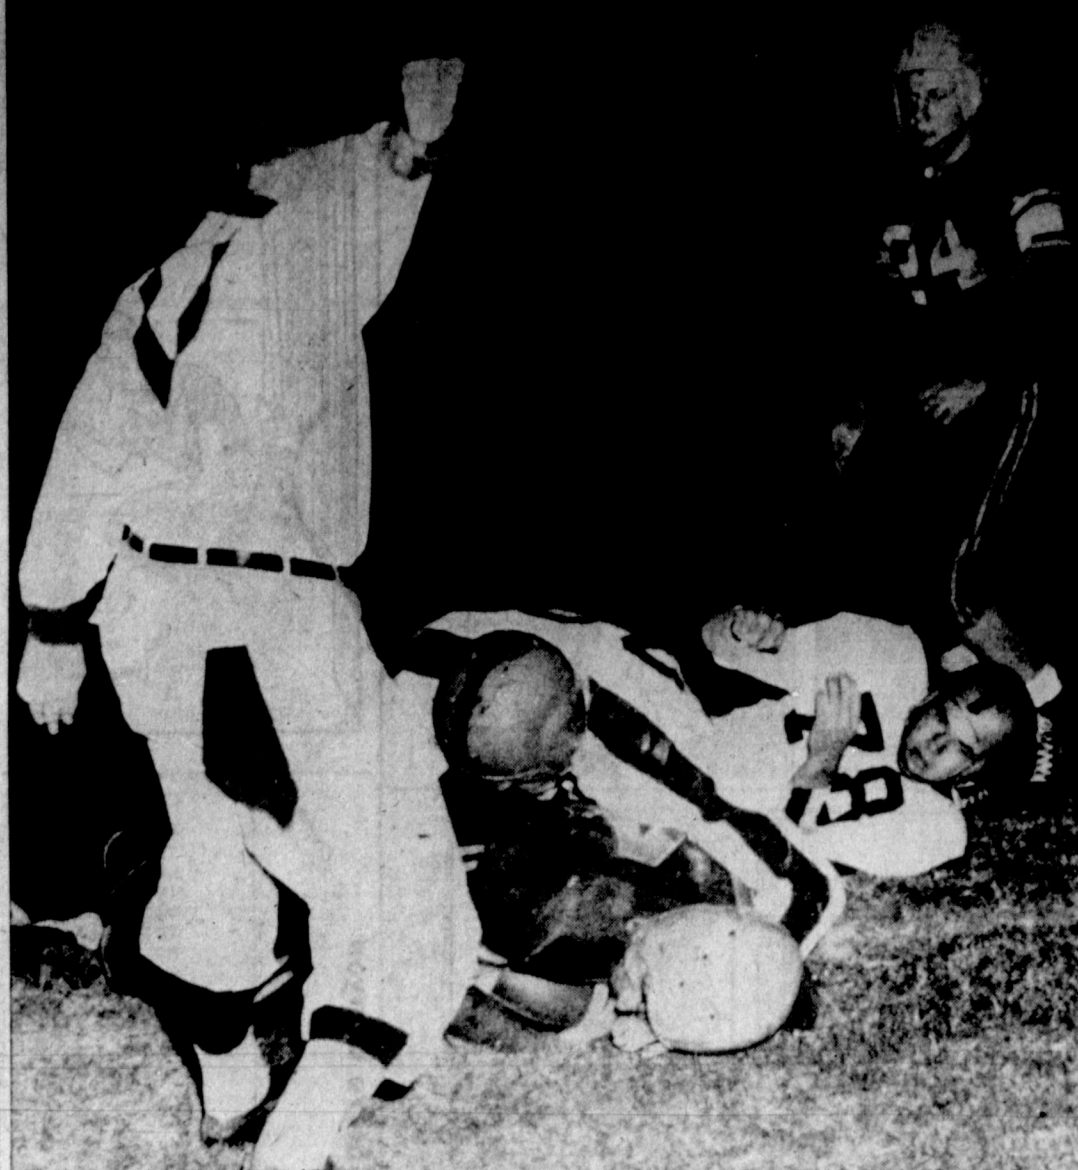

On the basis of play to date, Arkansas should rate a strong nod over the Aggies, SMU slight edge over Texas and the Baylor-TCU game should be an action-cramped loss. Rice will be a heavy favorite to whip Vanderbilt.

Arkansas and the Aggies have put on the wildest offensive shows

High School Grid Player, 16, Dies

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 25 — Robert Lampron, 16-year-old North High School football player died Saturday at city hospital of injuries suffered in a football game Friday.

The boy suffered a head injury in the final quarter of a North High vs. Commerce High game. Dr. Augustine Desjardins, game physician, had the youth taken immediately to city hospital where doctors performed emergency surgery Friday night.

PHS Points For Another 1-4A Toughie -- Midland

The Fighting Harvesters will take on another District 1-AAAA toughie Friday night when they host the Midland Bulldogs at Harvester Stadium.

The Eagles last week met and were defeated by a strong Abilene Eagle team, 41-7, at Abilene.

While the Eagles were disposing of the Harvesters to keep their District 1-4A record clean, Midland was doing the same to Lubbock, 28-13.

Both Abilene and Midland are undefeated in three District 1-4A contests.

Abilene faces Amarillo at Amarillo Saturday afternoon this weekend.

In other games last week, Odessa handed Amarillo a 34-13 licking and San Angelo dumped Borger, 35-2.

The Harvesters came out Friday's game with no additional injuries. Fullback Harold Lewis, who entered the game weakened with illness, sprained an ankle early in the game Friday and never could get going.

Ed Strickland left the game Friday with an injury but is reported to be recovered this morning.

Guard Jerry Neef, who didn't make the trip to Abilene Friday due to a virus infection, is expected to return to action against Midland Friday night.

Elsewhere on the 1-4A front this week, San Angelo goes to Lubbock and Odessa to Borger, both games Friday night.

Showdown Games Friday In 4A Ranks

By UNITED PRESS

Showdown battles come up all along the line in Class AAAA this week with a clash of the unbeaten between Port Arthur and Galveston headlining the schoolboy football slate.

The game erupted into a showdown affair after Galveston pulled surprise of the season last week in dumping mighty Baytown 7 to 0, leaving the Tors and Port Arthur sharing the District 1 lead. The game will be played at Port Arthur.

But, the rest of the AAAA unbeaten list, which includes one-tied Tyler, also has its work cut out for it in decisive district games.

Midland may be the exception, since the Bulldogs play off-beaten Pampa and the big game with Abilene is yet to come in District 1.

But, Dallas Foster's perfect record is in serious danger against a slowly improving Dallas Sunset team that has only a narrow loss to Tyler against its record. This game will come up on Saturday.

Aside from Big Spring, most of the others appear to have fairly comfortable assignments this week. Breckenridge plays Lamesa, Garland meets Mount Pleasant, Pharr-San Juan - Alamo confronts Kingville and McAllen plays Hartlingen. The latter two games could hold a surprise, however.

A's Papers Ready For Inspection

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25 — The papers transferring ownership of the Philadelphia Athletics to the new group of eight Philadelphia businessmen were all signed Monday and ready for inspection by the American League.

One of the Mack family's attorneys was scheduled to take the papers to Chicago Monday to place them before league President William Harridge. The actual transfer of the purchase money from the syndicate to the Macks was expected to take place late Monday.

Part-owner Roy Mack completed the signing of the papers at about 12:05 a. m. est when he added his signature. The other Macks, and all eight members of the syndicate, had signed Sunday to wind up a week's work on the papers by attorneys for both the syndicate and the Macks.

Although the Macks' intention to sell their stock to the group, which will keep the club in Philadelphia, was announced last Sunday, official league approval of the action has so far been withheld. Harridge explained on Friday this was because Roy told him "the proper time" had not yet arrived.

Hooper Revives Memories Of Burk, Isbell In Baylor Camp

By UNITED PRESS

Baylor's Billy Hooper is reviving memories of former passing greats Adrian Burk and Larry Isbell at the Baptist school as he begins to make himself felt more and more in the Southwest Conference statistical charts.

The Sweetwater slinger misfired on a couple of passes against the Texas Aggies last Saturday, then hit 11 in a row for 128 yards and three touchdowns, making six touchdowns and 370 yards gained in his last two games.

He widened the gap over the rest of the field as the top passer with 519 yards on 34 completions out of 55 attempts — a fine .618 average and pulled within 41 yards of the total offense lead owned by Elwood Kettler of the Texas Aggies.

Kettler, who has gained 306 yards on the ground and 282 yards with his passes, has 587 yards to his credit.

On a per game basis, however, perhaps the top performance in both divisions belongs to SMU's Duane Nutt, who has 584 yards passing and 34 running for 618

UNLESS SOMETHING UNFORESEEN happens down the way, the Abilene Eagles will capture the District 1-AAAA crown and will likely carry District 1-AAAA colors into the state finals for the fourth straight year.

The Eagles impressed everyone attending Friday night's game with the Fighting Harvesters. It's true that Pampa was far from top physical condition Friday but even so the Eagles certainly convinced us they've got a championship ball club.

The Eagles may not have the best 11 boys in the district but their best 25 or 30 boys are better than the best 25 or 30 on any other 1-AAAA squad.

In other words, if coach Chuck Moser can't beat you with his starting eleven, he can beat you with his bench.

The Eagles have the best one-two punch in the ball carrying department in Jimmy Miller and Henry Colwell. And the Warbirds have a fine quarterback in H. P. Hawkins.

Then, of course, the entire forward wall of the Warbirds is the best we've seen this year.

The Eagles, as Coach Aubra Nooncaster said before last week's game, have an ideal sized ball club — a line averaging better than 180 pounds and a backfield at 185 pounds per.

You'll recall that we picked the Harvesters to upset the Eagles last week.

Well, we were basing this prediction on the fact that the Eagles would be "down" for the game following their all-important 21-7 win over Odessa the previous week and that the Harvesters would be "up."

Then, too, we didn't allow for any other physical deficiencies on the part of the Harvesters.

As it turned out, the Eagles were "higher" for the game than the Harvesters.

We haven't seen Midland play but if they have a better ball club

49ers Stop Lions' Win Streak At 16

By FRED DOWN, United Press Sports Writer

The most devastating ground attack the National Football League has known in more than a decade enabled the San Francisco Forty Niners to take over first place in the western division Monday and take a giant stride toward ending the three-year reign of the world champion Detroit Lions.

With Hugh McElhenny, Joe Perry and John Henry Johnson tearing the massive Detroit line virtually to ribbons, the Forty Niners downed the Lions, 27-31. Sunday and remained the league's only undefeated team. The victory was San Francisco's 18th in a row and marked the end of Detroit's string of 16 straight games without a loss.

The Forty Niners' trio of 200-pound line-smashers gained a total of 260 yards in 31 tries for an amazing average of 8.4 yards per crack at Detroit's 245-pound defensive line, to offset the Lions 349-187 yard advantage in passing.

McElhenny, who sparked a 37-point first period with a 60-yard touchdown dash, gained 126 yards in seven tries. Perry picked up 51 yards in 13 carries and Johnson

Tech Bows To COP, 20-7

By UNITED PRESS

There'll be one less co-leader in the Border Conference after this week.

Two of the clubs unbeaten in league action — Tempe State (2-0) and Hardin-Simmons (1-0) meet each other at Abilene Saturday night with one of them due to fall.

Texas Tech, the other 2-0 team, will be idle, but Arizona (1-0) takes on West Texas at Tucson Saturday night and should have little trouble staying unbeaten.

In the only other loop game, Texas Western plays the New Mexico Aggies at Las Cruces, in a game between clubs yet to chalk up a league victory.

Texas Tech lost its second in a row to an outside foe last week as College of Pacific beat the Raiders 20 to 7, and the hapless Aggies lost their sixth straight, 23 to 7, to the San Diego Marines.

But, Arizona whipped New Mexico 41 to 7, Hardin-Simmons upset Oklahoma, A&M 13 to 7 and Texas Western surprised North Texas 6 to 0 more than offset those two losses.

In the only loop game last week, Tempe State beat West Texas 21 to 14.

Ed Furgol Named 'Golf Of Year'

CHICAGO, Oct. 25 — U.S. Open winner Ed Furgol who made himself a golf champion despite a crippled left arm has been named 1954 professional golfer of the year.

Furgol, of St. Louis, beat out young Bob Toski, the year's leading money winner, 417 1-2 to 387 1-2 in voting by 902 of the nation's pro golfers, newsmen and golf officials. The Professional Golfers Association announced the results Sunday.

The honor went to Furgol largely on his victory in this year's open, the climax of a long career of following the PGA tournament circuit.
