Thirty-one boys who qualified for the local running of the All-American Soap Box Derby Sunday were feted at the Lions Club regular luncheon yesterday at the First Methodist Church basement. (See editorial page.)

Several special awards were presented, in addition to those won on the track before hundreds of people on the Old Miami Highway.

Lee McKinney, the winner of the local race, was presented the Dreyfus award for the city championship. He will receive a sweep-hand wrist watch at Akron, O., in August.

Dr. W. L. Wilder, who was head of the inspection committee and one of the leaders in the whole arrangement for the race, made the award to Lee for his ability and sportsmanship.

Vice President Jimmie McCune, in the absence of the president, Clarence Kennedy, announced that the Club will purchase western garb for Lee to wear when he checks in at Akron for the finals next month. It will be the Club's gift to him.

Marvin Bonner, of Skellitown, was presented the Collins & Alkman Co. two-way spotlight for having the best upholstered car, as determined by a committee of five from the club.

Gold tie clasps, with the Soap Box Derby emblem on them, went to Donald Lunsford, for the best brakes on his Car Number 12.

Bronze clasps of similar design went to Herbert Bunn for the best steering on his Car Number 14; and to Jimmy Martindale as second place winner in the Class B race.

Consolation race winner, Billie Corbett, won a bicycle, which was presented to him by Culberson Chevrolet. A second bicycle, also by Chevrolet, went to Walter Colwell as Class B winner and loser in the city championship race.

Honorable mention was made of the best 10 all-around cars: Car 1, Jarold Comer; Car 2, Marvin Bonner; Car 12, Billie Corbett; Car 3, Wallace Bruege; George Kilpatrick; Car 8, Donald Lunsford; Car 10, Lee McKinney; Car 20, Walter Colwell; Car 14, Herbert Bunn; and Car 9, Robert Patterson.

Participation prizes, donated by Friendly Men's Club, were presented to all boys who took part in the race.

Each boy received either a watch chain or a tie clasp.

The Derby—fifth for Pampa—was sponsored by The Pampa Daily News, the Lions Club, and Culberson Chevrolet in cooperation with the American Soap Box Derby, Inc., owned by Chevrolet Division of General Motors.

The finals will be held August 17 at Akron. The winner's trip is financed by The News.

End to Buying Restrictions Seen

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A return to unrestricted installment buying by Nov. 1 appears likely today with the possibility that President Truman might still continue on time payments purchases even earlier.

Compromise legislation to kill the credit buying curbs at the end of October passed the House by voice vote and was sent to the Senate. Senate action is expected to send the measure on to the White House by tomorrow night.

Meanwhile, the Federal Reserve Board predicted that Mr. Truman will lift the restrictions as he promised last June 5 to do unless Congress passed a law specifically authorizing the restrictions in peacetime. He said he wanted the curbs for a time as a safeguard against inflation.

Current controls, invoked by presidential order under special wartime powers, set the amounts of down-payments and limit the time for liquidating the balances—such as one-third down and 15 months to pay the remainder due on such things as automobiles, radios and refrigerators.

The measure is expected to send the measure on to the White House by tomorrow night.

Andrew J. May

May Sentenced To Prison Term On Bribe Charges

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Ex-Congressman Andrew J. May was sentenced today to a term of from eight months to two years in prison on charges of accepting $53,634.07 in bribes while he was wartime chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee.

The two men accused of paying May the bribes—Munitions Makers Murray and Henry Garsson—also were given prison terms with a minimum of four months and a maximum of two years.

The maximum penalty that could have been imposed on each by Judge Henry A. Schweinhaut was six years in prison and a fine of $30,000.

The sentencing was delayed for more than two hours while the defendants' lawyers pleaded for a new trial and May beseeched the court for mercy.

The 72-year-old former Kentucky Democratic Congressman insisted that he had never taken "a single dime" dishonestly during his long service in Congress.

He told Schweinhaut: "I stand before the court today with a clear, clean conscience. I never violated a law as far as I know in the 72 years of my life."

"I never received a dollar directly or indirectly that was not honestly earned or justly due."

May was convicted July 3 after an 11-week-long trial of accepting $53,634.07 in bribes from munitions makers Murray and Henry Garsson.

The Garsson brothers were found guilty of giving the bribes for favors and, like May, came into court to hear their penalty.

But May told Judge Schweinhaut: "I never got a single dime from the Garssons or anybody else."

"I stand here today on the mercy of the court. If I go to jail my grandchildren will drop out of college."

"Regardless of what has been said in the malicious press... I'm not sorry."

Newton Refused Clemency by Board of Pardons

AUSTIN—(AP)—The State Board of Pardons and Pardon today voted two to one against recommending further clemency for Dr. W. R. Newton of Cameron, convicted of assault to murder Dr. Roy Hunt of Littlefield.

Board Chairman Abner L. Lewis voted in support of recommending a full pardon. Members Walter Strong and R. A. (Smoot) Schmid voted against it.

Lewis issued a statement accompanying his announcement of the board's action, saying he "regretted" that his colleagues on the board did not join him in recommending the clemency and giving his reasons for so recommending.

Lewis said the other two board members felt the agency should "not invade the province of a jury to determine guilt or innocence."

"I have the utmost respect for the jury and the patriotic service they render to the courts and the people of Texas," Lewis said in his statement.

"Yet many times, we have been petitioned by jurors, requesting us to right the wrongs they have committed."

"Even if the doctor were guilty of the offense, which I very seriously doubt, he is worth more to the people of Milam County, alleviating suffering and distress of sick and dying in the field of surgery, than he would be incarcerated in the penitentiary."

Dr. Newton is on a 30-day emergency reprieve granted by Gov. Beauford H. Jester July 1. In granting the reprieve, Gov. Jester said it was to prevent jeopardizing the lives of the Cameron physician's patients.

The reprieve was issued after the Court of Criminal Appeals on April 23 affirmed the conviction of Dr. Newton, the second after three trials.

Court records show the shooting with which Dr. Newton was charged occurred on a road near Littlefield about midnight May 21, 1942, as Dr. Hunt was approaching a car in which Mrs. Ruth Newton, wife of Dr. Newton, was allegedly seated. In testimony before the pardon board, she said "we couldn't have been there."

Each team consisted of eight men, each having two tries at roping the calf. The best average time was made by Tince Williams, of Pampa, with an average time of 22.3 seconds. The fastest time for the evening was made by George Smith, of Pampa. He tied his calf in 19 seconds.

Republicans Concede Defeat in Fraud Probe

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A hectic 18 hour and 12 minute Senate session ended at sunrise today with Republican leaders conceding defeat in their demands for an investigation into Attorney General Clark's handling of Kansas City vote fraud charges.

Determined to carry out their plans to adjourn Congress for the year tomorrow night, GOP chieftains bowed before unbending Democratic opposition.

The decision to quit until noon (10 a. m. CST) came at 6:12 a. m. (4:12 a. m. CST).

The Republicans hours before battered down a Democratic attempt to postpone formally until January any decision on the resolution by Senator Kem (R-Mo.) demanding the Clark investigation.

Then, shortly after daybreak, the Republican leadership agreed to lay aside the Kem matter long enough to take up one of several appropriation bills that must be passed before Congress can quit for the year tomorrow night, as planned.

That measure, carrying funds for the Greek-Turkish aid program and foreign relief, was discussed only 20 minutes, however, when the weary lawmakers decided to call it quits so members could get a few hours sleep.

The earlier Republican victory on the Kem proposal was on a straight party-line vote of 45 to 30.

The GOP strategy through the early morning hours obviously was designed to try to demonstrate to the country that the Democrats had avoided a showdown on the investigation issue.

Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) of the GOP Policy Committee made repeated attempts to gain agreement for a time to vote on the pending proposal to take up the Kem resolution.

Taft had charged earlier that the Democrats were "filibustering" attempts to get action on the resolution. However, Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) carried the debate beyond the midnight hour with a lengthy speech in favor of investigating Clark's action.

Then Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) took over in the early morning hours. And he showed every intention of making a marathon of his opposition to the measure.

At one point, McCarran sought to have the clerk read a bulky record of Judiciary Committee hearings on Kem's resolution. But Republicans routed their sleeping members from cloakrooms coats and defeated this move, 41 to 30.

Only Senator Morse (R-Ore.) joined with the Democrats favoring McCarran's proposal. Later he told the Senate he thinks it ought to have taken up a pending veterans' bill.

One Injured in Wreck Involving 46 Persons

EDMOND, Okla.—Mrs. Vester McClain, 29, who, with her husband, 39, was en route to Shamrock, Tex., from Tulsa, in a covered wagon, was slightly injured in a highway accident five miles east of here Thursday night.

The accident, which finally involved 46 persons occurred when a car driven by Walter Gilbert, Oklahoma City, collided with the wagon in a heavy rain. The wagon was demolished, and Mrs. McClain received minor injuries. The two other persons were not hurt.

Within a few moments, an American Bus Lines bus topped a hill, swerved to miss the wreckage. The bus and another car sideswiped. Some 40 bus passengers and the drivers of the two machines were unhurt.

There Seems to Be Two Schools of Thought

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The House completed congressional action today on a measure to unify the nation's armed services, thus clearing one of the few remaining hurdles in the way of adjournment tomorrow.

The action, sending the bill to President Truman for anticipated quick approval, came on a voice vote in accepting a joint congressional committee's recommendations for ironing out differences between the House and Senate on the unification plan.

Final approval cleared the way for a long-postponed House show-down in another piece of major legislation—a Senate-approved bill ordering extension of wool support prices.

Before the final vote on the armed services unification, Chairman Hoffman (R-Mich) of the House Expenditures Committee asserted it had become necessary to prevent "inexcusable duplication and waste" which he said had been widespread during the war.

As now drafted, the bill grants the President wide leeway to pick top officials to supervise the armed services from either civilian or military ranks.

Although staff opposition was anticipated, supporters of the wool price support program through the end of next year, and nothing more. It was drafted after President Truman vetoed a previous measure empowering the administration to boost tariffs of six quotas if foreign wool threatened prices on the domestic market.

Two other measures, both also already approved by the Senate, had a lingering chance of approval before adjournment.

One would give permanent status to the Army's WACS and the Navy's WAVES.

The other would increase government financial help to student veterans.

RACE WITH STORK
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—(AP)—Round-the-world flyer Williams Odion of Grand Rapids was cast in a new role today as he left here by plane for Dallas with Actor David Bruce in a cross-country race with the stork.

Bruce received word that his wife, Cynthia, was due to give birth to her first child in Hollywood, but he was unable to get a plane reservation to California.

Odion, who is preparing for a solo world-circling trip, volunteered to fly the actor to the coast.

Jesse Jones Brought Into Contract Probe

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senatorial investigators hinted today at Jesse Jones as an ace witness in their efforts to prove that White House pressure forced award of a $40,000,000 wartime plane contract to Howard Hughes and Henry J. Kaiser.

The former cabinet member's possible appearance hinges, one Senator said, on whether any documentary evidence is found in the files of the late President Roosevelt.

A Senate War Investigating Subcommittee will open a hearing Monday into the contract for planes that never were delivered.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) who heads the inquiry group told a reporter he "doesn't know yet" whether Jones will be asked to testify.

Although Ferguson declined further comment, another committee member said it is likely the former Secretary of Commerce and head of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will be asked to tell what he knows about the matter if a search of the Roosevelt files proves fruitless.

Jones was represented by this member as having balked at signing the airplane contract with Hughes, millionaire Hollywood movie producer, and Kaiser, wartime ship builder, until he was given a written memo on the deal.

President Roosevelt ousted Jones from the cabinet in January, 1945, to give the commerce portfolio to Henry F. Wallace.

The Ferguson committee has been told in testimony taken behind closed doors that the Army and Navy opposed letting the Hughes-Kaiser contract for plywood planes. This contract later was replaced by a contract with Hughes for a photoreconnaissance ship.

Ferguson said he has received no documents from trustees of the Roosevelt estate in answer to a subpoena served on them.

Both Ferguson and Senator Hatch (D-Ut.) predicted that the trustees would comply with the subpoena. A New York court has ruled that the Roosevelt papers are the property of the government.

Six of Every Seven Potential Lynchings Are Being Prevented

ATLANTA, Ga.—(AP)—Six out of every seven potential lynchings are being prevented in the South today by courageous peace officers, alert public officials, and by popular reaction against mob-murder.

This is the finding of Tuskegee Institute, which has tabulated lynchings since 1882.

Tuskegee records show that in the last 10 years there have been 273 prevented lynchings, against 43 cases in which a mob succeeded in executing its version of "justice."

Seventeen lynchings were prevented in the first months of 1947, while one victim—Willie Earle of Greenville, S. C.—died at the hands of a mob.

Courage, resourcefulness and quick thinking have helped to check lynchings, as well as ceaseless appeals to public opinion by newspapers and civic leaders.

This success has been the brighter side of a problem which since 1882 has taken 4,717 lives.

Although lynching is still a problem there has been a significant decline in recent years, dropping from 28 in 1933 to six in 1946, and one in the first half of 1947. The figures are national, but a majority occurred in eight Southern states.

There have been intensive efforts to stop lynchings. The Texas Sheriff's Association, in 1942, assailed lynching as murder and urged all of the state's 254 sheriffs to aid in stamping it out. In all states, a significant contribution has been made by state patrols and state constabulary.

Four Survivors Seriously Burned

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill.—(AP)—Twenty-seven miners lost their lives in an explosion yesterday in one of the state's largest mines in the heart of the Southern Illinois coal fields.

Twenty-six of the approximately 200 miners at work in the diggings 500 feet underground were found dead at the bottom of the shaft at the main entrance to the old Ben Coal Company's No. 8 mine. One of the five seriously burned and injured in the blast died today in a hospital.

The bodies of all 26 had been brought to the surface early today by rescue squads and were placed in an emergency morgue.

Work was hampered by carbon monoxide gas and the last three bodies found were buried beneath coal and debris.

Harold L. Walker, Illinois director of mines and minerals, said many of the bodies were badly burned, indicating, he said, a fire had broken out following the explosion. The cause of the blast early today had not been determined.

The rescue teams had worked frantically to reach the men in the belief they had been trapped by rock slides and might be alive.

One of the miners at first believed among those trapped but who later was reported safe was Howard Lewis, underground superintendent and a brother of John L. Lewis, president of the AFL United Mine Workers.

Of the estimated 200 day shift workers in the diggings those who escaped fled through an auxiliary air shaft equipped with stairways for emergencies.

The blast occurred within one day of four months from the explosion last March 25 at the Centralia (Ill.) Coal Company's mine which lost the lives of 111 miners.

Yesterday's explosion ranked eighth in major Illinois coal mine disasters since 1883. Five miners were killed at the No. 8 mine in December, 1927, while 21 lost their lives in a mine accident in this city on Jan. 9, 1928.

The No. 8 mine, which employed 415 men, was one of the first sunk in the area and had a daily output of about 4,000 tons a day.

Long Sought for Transport Plane Wreckage Found

LONGMIRE, Mt. Rainier National Park—(AP)—A tattered fragment of a Marine's uniform, a weathered piece of a serviceman's health record and a few bits of wreckage ended last night the seven-month mystery over the fate of a Marine transport plane which disappeared with 32 men aboard.

Members of a party of eight Rainier National Park Rangers found the bits of evidence high up near the 10,000-foot level of Mount Rainier's treacherous South Tahoma Glacier, and Navy officers said there was no doubt about their being from the long-missing plane, which was lost from a storm-harassed formation on a San Diego-Seattle flight.

Capt. O. A. Rule, commander of the Sandpoint Naval Air Station, said the plane rangers' reports indicated that the plane exploded, scattering wreckage and personnel over a wide area.

"In view of the nature of the glacier at the foot of this mountain," he said, "little hope is entertained."

12 More Blocks Slated for Paving

Petition blanks for approximately 12 additional blocks of unpaved streets have been taken out by local residents, George Casey, assistant city secretary, revealed this morning.

Casey said he did not know the names of all of the streets that petitions were taken for, nor the names of those taking them, but added the following blocks are included in the 12 additional blocks: Finley, two blocks; Crave, one block; West Browning, one block; North Yeager, one block.

Casey explained these petitions will have to be filled out and returned on or before August 15 so that they can be included in the first ordinance, work for which will start on September 1.

This will make a total of 23 blocks so far that will be slated for the original paving on September.

Farm Agent Suggests Spray Instead of Powder to Kill Weeds

HOUSTON—(AP)—County Farm Agent Dan Clinton said yesterday that further damage to East Harris County cotton crops could be prevented if rice farmers sprayed instead of dusted with 2-4-D, a weed killer.

County agricultural workers said after an inspection of affected areas that the use of killing chemicals have caused a major loss to growing cotton crops in East Harris County.

The inspection was made after a number of complaints reached the farm agent's office.

Clinton said there was some hope late cotton which has been hit by the chemical may recover and produce a small return.

Two cotton farmers whose crops were affected said planes have been dusting with 2-4-D in the area within the last two weeks.

Some planes are equipped to spray. Clinton pointed out "by spraying it will be possible to confine the chemical to a certain area" he said.

Gracie Reports
By GRACIE ALLEN
Well, I see that a group of sailors from our good-will fleet now visiting England thought of a new and original way to spread good will. They got into a fight with some British soldiers and all hands were brought in jail.

The jail cells being very small, this resulted in bringing the two nations closer together.

Lots of people wonder why sailors always like to get into fights, but to me the reason is very simple. When they fight they let off steam, when they let off steam they naturally get slimmer, and when they get slimmer their sailor pants aren't so apt to choke them.

My brother Willy was in the Navy during the war and his great regret is that he didn't win any battle stars. When the enemy came in sight the order was given to strip for action and by the time Willy got those pants off the battle was over.

Paul Upchurch, manager of the bus station at Texarkana, says he has trouble with his public address system. Sometimes it picks up radio station KCMG.

On quiet Sunday morning, for example, he made a routine announcement: "Bus Number 47 loading for Nash, Leary, Lone Star, Red River, Camp Runnels and New Boston."

Just as he finished, the voice of a Texarkana minister came over the loud speaker: "—and may God have mercy on your soul."

They have trouble with geography in Texarkana, too. The city straddles the state line, you know. It's part in Texas and part in Arkansas. This obviously leads to complications.

Last Thanksgiving our family were discussing living conditions in Grandfather's day, when farm produce brought so little and farm work was done the hard way—yet Grandfather raised 11 children and when he died he left them a large farm. Some of us had economic explanations, but I think my father summed it up best. "From the time we kids walked, we worked," he said. "Why, I was quite a big boy before I had learned that prayers ended simply with 'Amen.' My father's after-meal prayers always ended: 'Amen-boys-hitch-up.'" —Reader's Digest.

Braids Cool Coiffure For Fashion Wise Gals

Braided hair-do such as Andrea ("My Wild Irish Rose") King wears above is a cool, easy-to-manage summer style.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer
Braid your hair for summer coolness, neatness and an easy-to-manage style.
Hollywood girls do. When they haven't enough hair of their own to braid, they use matched hair pieces which lend themselves to many trick effects.
When you wear a braided hair-do, you don't have to stop with pigtail or Gretchen plaits crossed over your head. Braids can be wound around your head to make a bun. Ribbon the same color as a dress or fabric which exactly matches it can be plaited into the braid for smart costume effects.
Hair can be brushed to one side, make a Japanese-inspired coiffure which is flattering to a nicely shaped head.
A chignon made of a single back-of-the-neck braid, which is looped under the ribbon-tied, makes a fetching and youthful-looking summer style.

Pampa Is First in Monthly Tourney Of Panhandle Women's Golf Assn.

The Pampa Country Club squad won first place in the Panhandle Women's Golf Association held its July tournament here Wednesday. Pampa's score was a net 480.
Second place went to the Ross Rogers Course of Amarillo with 507 and the Amarillo Country Club followed with 516. The Phillips Golf Club was next with 555 and the Huber Golf Club of Borger was last with 582.

Scoring is figured on the total net scores from each club. The number of scores used is determined by the club with the lowest number of golfers playing. The low number Wednesday was six players, therefore the six low net scores from each club were used.

TRUTH OF THE MATTER

A stout woman settled herself in the bus seat ahead of me and was soon joined by a friend. "Did you get a new pair of shoes?" the latter inquired.
Her friend looked puzzled, then she threw back her head and roared with laughter. "You saw me in that store?" she said in a confidential whisper that would have carried a block. "Just between the two of us. I go in there every time I'm downtown. It gives me a chance to take off my shoes. Anyone who sees me thinks I'm shopping and not just a fat old lady whose feet hurt." —Readers Digest.

"The whole wide world is a garden. Finding flowers is almost too easy for those who have a bright procession of color and bloom in their gardens. If you have no garden perhaps a neighbor will share an occasional handful of blooms. Sharing is part of the joy of gardening and 'some of the fragrance of flowers lingers in the hand that bestows them.' The foregoing is taken from a fine new book just published called "Flower Arrangement for Everyone" by those two masters of the art of arranging flowers, Dorothy Biddle and Dorothea Blom. The splendid text and 80 photographs contribute to my mind sufficient inspiration for the veriest amateur to progress to great heights of satisfaction in arranging favorite flowers in the most pleasing fashion. Table settings, what to do with the simplest of flowers, appropriate arrangements for church affairs, or combinations—five pages of drawings of the most useful containers and holders for the easiest working methods in handling flowers are only a few of the help-it-alls in this book. If you would like a copy of the book your book-store will order it for you from the publisher, McEraws and Company, New York City.

Borger Rotary Program Presented by Pampan

Members of the Pampa Rotary Club this week presented one of the finest programs the Borger Rotary has had this year when they traveled to the Carbon City for their weekly meeting there, officers of the Borger club reported here this morning.

Travis Lively's speech "Thankful America," was rated as being above excellence by Borger. Steve Matthews took the floor later and presented an attendance race challenge to Borger with the loser having to put up a 4-H barbecue dinner on the winners home grounds. The challenge was accepted and the race is on between the two civic clubs. According to local observations it won't be long until an army of Borgerites will be traveling to Pampa with their own cow in tow.

The powerful baritone voice of Virgil Mott gave several vocal solos that won a long ovation from Borger Rotarians. Chairman of the Pampan's program committee was C. P. Euckler who served as master of ceremonies in presenting the program.

Others making the Borger trip were: Ray Evans, Pampa Rotary president; Knox Kinard, superintendent of Pampa Schools; Frank Foster, Dan Gribben, Al Doucet, George Newberry and Roy Lewis.

A total of 17 American companies are producing passenger cars, 38 are turning out trucks and 17 are making buses.

Mother Seeks Details Of Son's Life in Camp

WACO—(P)—A McGregor mother today sought addresses of court martial witnesses in the proceedings in New York against a Navy signalman, accused of tipping off Japanese prison guards to an escape plot and thereby causing the death by torture of her son.

Mrs. Ralph Mills said she first learned of her son, Pvt. George Garrett, died through newspaper accounts of the trial of Chief Signalman Harold E. Hirschberg, charged with mistreating fellow prisoners held by the Japanese.

Only previous information she said, was that her son, captured on Corregidor, had died in a prison camp.

One of the pine specifications in the charge against the 29-year-old Hirschberg was that a garden hose was placed in Garrett's mouth until his stomach was filled with water, and that Japanese then stood on his abdomen, causing his death three days later, after Hirschberg had informed on Garrett.

She said she hoped witnesses in the case could provide her with information regarding her son's stay in the prison camp.

Garrett enlisted in the army at the age of 17. His brother, Billy Cecil, was held by the Japs, but was released. He now lives in Los Angeles.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Note Book

By HAL BOYLE

WASHINGTON—(AP)—During the Civil War a man in Missouri loaned a horse and wagon to the Union Army.

He now has finally decided the government ought to give him back the horse and wagon or else pay for them.

He is one of thousands of American citizens who have a direct interest in Room 345 of the House office building, which is known as "the department of human misery."

This is where a majority of the bills originate to grant relief to people who feel they have a financial claim against the United States. Most go through Walter R. Lee of Jackson, Miss., clerk of the House Judiciary Committee's subcommittee on claims.

"And it looks now like every human being wants something from the government," he said.

Most of these personal injury and damage cases are supposed to go to the federal district courts for settlement if they date from Jan. 1, 1945. But there are still from 1,000 to 2,000 private claims cluttering up the congressional calendar and distracting the attention of statesmen from major legislation.

Just as a working principle the House Judiciary Committee automatically rules out all claims prior to 1932 unless they are brought up for consideration by a two-thirds vote. This means the elderly citizen from Missouri will probably never get his Civil War horse back unless he can locate the man who borrowed it and settle the issue with him beard to beard.

All the private claim bills—one was for $32 a North Dakota farmer wanted back for filling out the wrong (and for him, more expensive) income tax blank—have to pass the House, Senate and White House, just like a major appropriation bill.

It takes an average of nine months for such a bill to go through the legislative mill.

Still outstanding are some ten thousand claims totaling two million dollars from the disastrous ammunition ship explosions at Port Chicago, Calif., on July 17, 1944.

One of the oldest was put in by a young schoolteacher who visited an Army camp and suffered considerable burns and embarrassment from a plumbing fixture that had been carelessly linked to a hot steam tank instead of a cold water pipe.

Treated in chivalry, Democrats and Republicans in both Houses gallantly voted her several thousand dollars without dissent.

Two Divorces Granted In 31st District Court

District Judge Lewis M. Goodrich this morning in 31st District Court here awarded the custody of three children and issued an order of $60 per month for their support in one of two divorce cases heard.

The support order was made to Vernon Camp who was divorced of his wife, Ruth Camp, this morning on charges of cruelty. Mrs. Camp alleged the couple were married in January, 1941, and separated in June, 1947. The plaintiff was awarded the custody of her three children.

Charges of infidelity by Ruth Elms Burrows won her a divorce from her husband Estes Burrows. The plaintiff's petition stated they were married in August, 1940, and separated in June, 1947.

A Chunk of Ice Bounces $4,000 Bill to Congress

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Let us consider that a 35-pound chunk of ice that Congress agrees should cost the American people $4,000.

It reached this inflationary level after coming forcibly into contact with citizen Harley Shores under circumstances which led him to believe the United States government was to blame. Anyway he was sure it was his fault.

The case is typical of thousands of personal claims that used to tie up Congress before the reorganization bill was passed. This bill now shuttles most such cases originating since Jan. 1, 1945, to the federal district courts for settlement.

But the "case of the high price ice" goes back further. It shows how complex a matter it is to collect from Uncle Sam for damages.

The story begins on Dec. 19, 1943, when Harley Shores was working with a Missouri-Pacific road gang near Alma, Ark. As a troop train passed by at sixty miles an hour, a 3-pound chunk of ice fell or was thrown from a kitchen car.

The ice hit the ground, bounced and hit Shores on the left knee—and his troubles with the American government began.

He suffered a fractured cartilage which required extensive hospital treatment and he said kept him from returning to his 46-cents-an-hour laboring job.

Shores first sued the Missouri-Pacific Railroad and the jury awarded him damages. But on Jan. 7, 1946, the Arkansas Supreme Court reversed this verdict, declaring that the jury had no right to hold the railroad guilty of negligence as the train was under the control of an Army officer.

So Shores and his attorney decided that same month they had better take up the matter of the bouncing ice cake with Congress.

In the 21 months since the accident, Shores informed legislators in House Bill No. 5154, his knee had got no better and he had been unable to earn only $150.

Well, I don't know what happened to House Bill No. 5154, but it might have gotten lost in the shuffle somewhere.

Shores, his knee and the 35-pound cake of ice bobbed up again last January—a year later—in House Bill Number 640, requesting $5,000 damages.

The War Department entered the case on July 3. Secretary of War Robert Patterson wrote the House Judiciary Committee that yes, he guessed the military authorities on the troop train must have been negligent.

He said the War Department had no objection to enactment of the bill if the damage award was scaled down from $5,000 to $4,000. He figured Shores had lost $2,726.78 in earnings but that from this should be deducted the $1,600 Shores had

Man Held for Murder Is Released on Bond

Jess Crawford, charged here with the July 4 shooting of his former wife, Leonard Bostick, was released late Wednesday night on $20,000 bond.

Sheriff G. H. Kyle gave final approval of bonds pre approved by sheriffs of other counties. The bonds were put up by friends and relatives of Crawford from three separate counties. Sheriff Hugh Anderson-Borger, approved one $5,000 bond while Sheriff Ted Andrews, Platteview, approved the $10,000 bond. Sheriff R. F. Younger, Dumas, approved the remaining $5,000 bond.

Gray County Sheriff's office reported this morning that Attorney Bill Spivey, Borger, has been retained as defense attorney. Crawford was reported by officials here as having left Wednesday for Dumas, his present home.

Crawford's case will be presented to the Gray County grand jury next week. The grand jury will convene at 10 a. m. Monday.

Several other cases are before the jury for deliberation on indictment.

before debating the Ken proposal. McCarran lashed back at Republican charges that Clark had "white-washed" a preliminary investigation of the Kansas City case with an assertion that the Republicans were trying "to tear down the great prestige of a great President to lead the people astray in the 1948 elections."

"That's all that's here" the silver-haired Nevadan declared. "That's all that's keeping the Senate in session at 2:30 in the morning. It's just personal ambition—the desire of someone to be a candidate for President of the United States."

Senator Capahart (R-Ind) interrupted to inquire why McCarran resisted an investigation if he felt that there was nothing wrong in Clark's actions.

The Nevada Senator replied that the Judiciary Subcommittee headed by Ferguson had made a "full and complete" inquiry into the Attorney General's handling of the Kansas City case.

As the short-tempered, stormy session wore into the morning hours, the Republicans crushed on a strictly party vote a proposal by Senator George (D-Ga) to pigeonhole Ken's resolution until January. The test actually came to a motion by Ferguson to kill George's proposal.

Fine, Costs Paid for Disturbing the Peace

Fine and costs amounting to $1415 were imposed yesterday afternoon on Wayne Harris, driver for the Yellow Cab Company here, on charges of disturbing the peace.

Harris who pleaded guilty to the charge, was arrested by Sheriff G. H. Kyle Wednesday night near the carnival grounds.

Kyle told Justice of the Peace Charles I. Hughes that Harris was "telling people where to park at the carnival grounds" and attempted to keep them away from two signs that read "Reserved for Yellow Cab Only." Kyle said that Harris later argued with him on the road about the affairs and he then picked Harris up and jailed him.

The large yellow signs were removed from the carnival grounds. They had brought several complaints from other cab operators in the city.

Houston Holds Lead With 8-2 Win Over Tribe

By The Associated Press
The Dallas Rebels, who went the home run route to lick all contenders in the stretch last year, are moving up in the same way as the Texas League campaign careers pennantward.
Two nights in a row the Rebels have unlimbered their big bats to take the decisions and move hotly toward Shreveport's third-place stand. Today Dallas is only two games away.
Houston's leading Buffs remained two and one-half games in front of Fort Worth last night by licking Oklahoma City 7-2. Fort Worth was sweeping a three-game series with Shreveport with a 1-0 victory.
Red Davis blasted a grand slam homer to spark a five-run first-inning spurge that resulted in an 8-2 decision over Beaumont as the Rebels won their eighth straight from the Exporters. The night before Gene Markland's circuit smash had edged Beaumont in the fourteenth inning.
Last night featured strong pitching. Rufe Genury gave Beaumont only three hits. Roman Brunswick twirled a six-hitter as Houston closed out the series with Oklahoma City with two victories to one. Clarence Podbielan and Ralph Hamner hooked up in a brilliant hurling duel in the Fort-Worth-Shreveport game. Podbielan allowing six blows and Hamner five.
San Antonio's game at Tulsa was postponed because of wet grounds.
Houston cut loose with four runs in the seventh to break up a close game with Oklahoma City as Bill Costa doubled to drive in two tallies and Ed Knoukough singled to score two more.
Roy Shalk's single brought in Toby Atwell with his only run of the game in Fort Worth's decision over Shreveport.
Houston moves into Dallas tonight for a double-header. San Antonio goes to Fort Worth, Beaumont to Oklahoma City and Shreveport to Tulsa.

Cards Take Overtime Tilt From Giants 3-2

(By The Associated Press)
Trace the rise in efficiency of Stan Musial with the stick, and you'll find it parallels the rise of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals from the cellar position of not so long ago to their present eminence in third place.
The darling of Donora, Pa., began his climb in June—and so did the Redbirds.
Musial really began to sizzle in July. He swatted the pill for a .325 average to bring his mark up to a current .373. Sparked by his big bat, the Cards won 15 of their 24 games during this month to sweep past the Chicago Cubs and New York Giants into third place. This is Musial's highest batting mark as well as the Cardinals' loftiest position in this season's campaign.
It was Musial's 10th inning single that drove in Red Schoendienst with the run yesterday that gave the Cards a 3-2 overtime victory over the Giants and sent them into the first place one half hour behind the second place Boston Braves.
The front running Brooklyn Dodgers zoomed to their sixth straight win by defeating the Reds in Cincinnati 6-1.
The Chicago Cubs hurled the Reds into fifth place by defeating the Braves 6-4.
Pittsburgh vacated the National League cellar and dumped the Phillies into that spot by sweeping both ends of a double header from Philadelphia 8-6 and 3-2.
"Enjoying their best hitting day of the season," the American League leading New York Yankees pounded three St. Louis hurlers for 20 hits to trounce the Browns 15-4.
The Yankees' first place margin over runner-up Detroit rose to 11 1/2 games with the Washington Senators, behind the four-hit pitching of Walter Masterson, defeated Hal Newhouse and the Tigers 3-0 at night in the Capitol city.
Despite the loss of Jack Hill and Jim Counsilman, Ohio State's swimming team is a strong favorite to win its fourth major title in one year in the National AAU outdoor meet at Tyler, Texas, next week—and to make things tougher for Coach Mike Peppé's rivals, Viler Anderson, who can give better than a third-rate boxer, has been ruled eligible for another year of college competition. Ex-middweight champion Mickey Walker has donated one of his paintings to be auctioned for the Damon Rynyon Cancer Fund at the Gus Lesnevich-Tami Mautello fight.

Two Home Runs by R. C. Oley Lead Oilers to Win Over Sox

ABILENE—Two booming home runs by R. C. Oley and the relief pitching of Dub Scott brought the Pampa Oilers a 11-6 win over the Abilene Blue Sox last night that evened the series at one all.
Oley's second fly ply came at a vital moment in the eighth inning with the score tied at 6-6 and Pitcher Foster White aboard, with two away. The Oilers then went on to score two more in the big eighth and one in the ninth, but only for good measure.
Scott, who had twirled seven innings in the series opener, entered the game in the bottom of the eighth after the first two Sox had reached base off White. Scott then passed Rheingans to lead bases with nobody down. The potential rally was stopped when Range popped to Bailey and Stubby Greer lined to O'Connell who threw to second to double Rheingans off second.
Oley's first four master came in the sixth with the hocksies empty that sent the Oilers in front 6-5. The Sox came back in the seventh by its 4-0 and then came the big Pampa eighth. Tom O'Connell sent the Oilers away to a quick 1-0 lead when he homered over the scoreboard in left center field.
The lead was short lived when Julius Greer, Sox third baseman, doubled two runs in the bottom of the first. The Oilers tied it up in the second, the Sox went ahead again in the third with one run, and the Oilers came back in the fourth to again tie it up 3-3. Stubby Greer homered in the fifth that put the hose ahead 5-3 before Oley went to work.

With Yankees; Off-Hired, Off-Fired, Hardy Newsom Struts Sitting Down

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Ballplayers are inclined to laugh at Louis Norman Newsom's showboat antics, but Old Bobo was bitten by a fox at an early age.
At 28, he is pitching nearly as well as ever at something like $18,000 a year, and is headed for a full World Series cut as a Yankee. He has talked the toughest owners into fat contracts when he really wasn't entitled to them. He appears to be able to get his release whenever he wants it, and he is in position to kick himself upstairs and into greener pastures.
No top-flight pitcher has seen as much of the country as Newsom. The Harrisville Hotshot has changed uniforms 31 times in 21 years. He has been with 21 different clubs. He did four stretches with the Senators, three with the Browns. Three outfits had him twice.
Newsom has been fired for more reasons than could be listed—four years ago to end an open player rebellion against Leo Durocher in Brooklyn. Until banned for a year by Commissioner Chandler, that was the toughest rap for Lippy Leo to laugh off.
"It took me 20 years to get to the big league," cracked Newsom, when he reported to the Yankees, with whom he always aspired to play. He wooed the New York Americans with the fervor of an ardent suitor, chatting brightly with Joe McCarthy, maintaining suitable decorum with Ed Barrow, but leaving at every opportunity the impact of his personality upon them. He almost made it, too.
Newsom was with the Browns, drawing $10,000 a year, although he insisted it was $20,000. Lefty Gome, whom the Browns wanted, had a $20,000 contract. The deal fell through, but President Barrow said later: "I'd have taken him, even if he is whacky."
Newsom had an unusual stay with the Tigers. Not only in the number of games won and lost, but in his rise to influence and subsequent collapse.
Old Bobo completely captivated the hard bitten rugged Walter O. Briggs. He had free access to the big boss' office. After one game the Detroiters needed the automobile body builder handed him a check for $5000.
The end came as Newsom lost 20 games. In the ensuing contract battle that raged at the Lakeland, Fla., camp, then general manager Jack Zeller reminded Newsom of his losses.
"So I lost 20 games, did I?" bellowed Newsom. "Well, you lost 90 ballplayers."
He stabbed deeply into one of Zeller's few weaknesses, for Commissioner Landers insisted he found something irregular with the Detroit club's business methods and declared 20 young players free agents. Newsom wound up with the Senators. Home was any place he hung his cap.
Newsom has done about everything. He pitched nine innings with a shattered knee cap, 11 with a broken thumb. He pitched an entire game after being beamed.
Newsom pitched nine hitless innings Sept. 18, 1934, allowed rings for the Browns against the scratchiest scratch hits in the 10th to lose 2-1.
After losing the opener in '40, Newsom bagged 13 straight wasn't beaten until July 28. He received credit for two victories in a day against the White Sox, Sept. 25, 1940. He equalled the league record by striking out six Yankees in succession, May 18, 1939. He led the league in winning percentage in 1940, was runner-up to the league strike-out leader in five consecutive seasons, 37 to '41. It took Bob Feller to stop him. He tied a record by pitching three complete games for the Tigers in '40.
Newsom has rare talents as an impersonator. Great right-hander as he was at one time, he was—and is—left-handed in all other respects, would have been an even better actor. He's ham clever through.
With the Yankees, Bobo Newsom struts sitting down.

Texas Antelope Hunters—Notice

AUSTIN—(P)—About 600 Texas antelope hunters are planning to go antelope hunting in October, but if they are interested in something to eat as well as to shoot at, they better stay home and pink clay pigeons.
There are those who may claim pigeons are more fun to shoot at, and just about as tasty, as antelope. Also cheaper.
The antelope graze on the trans-Pecos plains, but if you don't think they develop a taste for greenbacks come fall, follow these figures:
A permit, if you get one, will cost you $5. Hunting license, $2. Lease, $40. A place to stay, gas, grub and other refreshments, $35. Total $82. Divide that by one 80 pound antelope and it comes to about a dollar a pound.
Most antelope don't weigh 80 pounds and most hunters spend more than $35 for gas, grub and refreshments, but it can be done for less.
If your wife hasn't said no by this time, and you still want to hunt antelope or enjoy the crisp, bracing air of the Far Western Plains, hustle along with your application for a permit.
This application, with all the blanks properly filled in, must be postmarked before midnight Aug. 31, and returned to the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission Office at Austin.
If necessary, there will be a drawing. The Game Commission hasn't made its final nose count of antelope, and until this is complete, no one knows how many may be killed.
First preference, however, will be given hunters who applied for permits last year and for some reason or another did not get to hunt. Second priority goes to those who did not participate. If some permits are still available after these have been satisfied, they will go to hunters who participated last year in the hunt.
Howard Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game Commission, urged hunters who wish to stay in one party to clip their applications together. New applicants should not pair with anyone who hunted in 1940.
If you have a ranch in mind where you want to hunt, indicate it. Otherwise, the Commission will tell you where to hunt.
If there is a drawing, it will be soon after Sept. 1.
And if you're just interested in taking a chance on something, try a slot machine.

Texas Light Heavy Champ to Tour East

EL PASO—(P)—Dolph Quijano, his fourth light heavyweight crown secure once more after a technical knockout over Marvin Liddell here, will start an eastern campaign pointed at a world title match.
Quijano, eighth ranking light heavyweight in the U. S., is in line for a series of fights in Midwest and Eastern cities.
He hopes to gain a title bout with Gus Lesnevich next year.
The El Paso fighter got off the floor in his first round here Wednesday night after a left hook by Liddell had dropped him for a count of nine.
A flurry of jobs in the third round opened a gap over Liddell's failed to answer the bell for the fourth round.
The fight attracted a record crowd at the El Paso Coliseum.

Small Field Is Ready For Famed Arlington Running, Tomorrow

CHICAGO—(P)—The famed Arlington Classic, hitherto the race that usually settles the three-year-old championship of the year, will be decided tomorrow by a small field, snacking on tangy intersectional flavor.
However, none of the three year olds that raced to victory in the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes will be in the competition. Jet Pilot, the Derby winner, has retired from racing entirely. Faultless, victorious in the Preakness, is resting and Phalanx, who triumphed in Belmont, has simply avoided the issue by remaining in the east.
The race at a mile and a quarter for a gross purse of $32,800, probably will be witnessed by upwards of 30,000.
It appears as if five colts and two fillies will battle it out for the top prize, approximately $72,000.
Pervent, owned by Warren Wright's Calumet Farm, probably will go to the post as the favorite. Pervent's main challenger probably will come from one of the two fillies—the King's Ranch But Why Not? She was a handy winner in the mile Matron Handicap last Monday and her rider Warren Mehrens did not appear to extend her in her flashy run down the stretch. But Why Not was beaten by a length by Phalanx in the mile and quarter Ewyer Stakes in New York in June and she also finished second to Phalanx in the Longer Empire City Stakes, run at a mile and three sixteenths early this month.

THANKS FOR A GOOD RACE

This is a thank-you note. It is extended by The Pampa Daily News for the fine cooperation, which made a success Sunday of the annual running of the All-American Soap Box Derby.

Thanks go to more people than could be listed here. Without their help and interest, the event, this annual special event of The News, there would not have been a Soap Box Derby for boys from 11 through 15 years of age.

The Pampa Lions Club membership showed its ability in arranging and conducting a race which has been highly commented by those who saw it. Literally hundreds of persons saw it. Morris Enloe deserves a good deal of credit for his leadership as general chairman.

Thanks go to those who came as spectators and stood in very hot sunshine to see the races. Thanks go to the County Commissioners' Court, to the City Police and County Sheriff's office, to the State Highway Patrolmen—all for their aid in various ways. The sponsors of the boys deserve no small amount of credit, inasmuch as they helped the boys with the money-end of building the cars and gave encouragement.

Also a number of businessmen did little favors for the boys without receiving anything in return. The Pampa Roping Club had several members there on horseback, helping direct the traffic. Property owners on each side of the course permitted the use of their land as parking space, and even went so far as to permit the Club to take down portions of the fencing around the land. The U. S. Army Recruiting Station at Amarillo, through the local sub-station personnel, lent a sound truck which proved of invaluable help. The Guard unit here lent the use of its telephone system.

Thanks go to the parents for turning out boys who proved good sports. As was well known, there could be but one winner—the others would be losers. They were good sports, for they ran a good race. And the winner had reserve for victory, as well as understanding for those who lost. He will be a good sport when he goes into the huge race at Akron, Ohio, with at least 100,000 persons looking on.

We are looking forward to another race next year—one even bigger than this one. But even if it should not be any more outstanding, The Pampa News, Culberson Chevrolet, and Chevrolet Division are grateful for the results as they are.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

WASHINGTON By RAY TUCKER

ENDANGERED—Congressional approval of huge appropriations to finance European recovery based on the Marshall program has been seriously endangered by the Truman-Vandenberg agreement not to summon a special session of Congress in early or late autumn, in the opinion of many supporters of the proposed anti-Communism bill in Western Europe.

The behind-the-scenes story of the decision against an extra session is enlightening. The original suggestion came entirely from the White House, according to Speaker Martin and other G. O. P. leaders, and without any consultation with them.

Mr. Truman was represented as believing that new money for aid to Europe would be required long before Congress reconvened in regular session next January.

Then, without warning, Senator Vandenberg and Mr. Truman held a private huddle at which they agreed that there would be no special call. Thus, there will be no funds available for implementing the Marshall plan until next April or May. After Congress reassembles, it will take at least three months for it to reach any decision on this question.

ISOLATIONISM—Political concern over a growing spirit of a new form of isolationism throughout the country, and especially in the Middle West, was responsible for the Truman-Vandenberg pact. The two men figure that the American people and their Congressional representatives require sharper prodding on the need for fighting Moscow with material and financial resources.

The rocky road which the proposed, Greco-Turkish "loan" had to travel on Capitol Hill, although the amount involved is only $400,000,000, alarmed Mr. Truman. Although he advanced the idea on March 12 with dire warnings of the urgent need for speed, it took Congress more than four months to get some across with the cash. Advance money was obtained from the R. F. C.

The delay in acting on the more elaborate program may prove fatal. The funds which we have already granted to the anti-Russian countries will be exhausted long before January 1, according to recent diplomatic advice.

And as of today the $20,000,000,000 spent in England, France, Western Germany, Greece, Turkey and Italy since V-E Day have kept them barely alive. They have contributed so little to basic reconstruction that certain M. C.'s refer to the loans as "Operation Rathole" and question the advisability of pouring out more money.

GAMBLE—Aside from political worries over Congressional and popular reaction against another expenditure of $20,000,000,000 or more for European rehabilitation and an anti-Communism crusade, two other considerations lie behind the decision not to hold a special session.

GAIN—Federal real estate experts, however, minimize the protests lodged almost every day by members of Congress, state and municipal officials, taxation bodies, industrial business and civic groups. They admit, however, that a nationwide survey should be made as the basis for framing a definite policy on the problem.

Western States are the principal victims. Here are the percentages of land and property owned in numerous commonwealths by the U. S.: Nevada, 87; Arizona, 78; Utah, 72; Idaho, 64; Wyoming, 51; California, 46; Montana, 35. Middle Western states are more fortunate. In the following areas the government owns less than one percent: Maine, Massachusetts, New York, Connecticut, Ohio, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas. In New Jersey the figure is exactly one percent.

U. S. realtors hold local units gain more than they lose from this system. They point to revenue, employment and improvement resulting from federal activities. They say that, whereas only $91,000,000 is lost in taxes, the government makes contributions of $900,000,000 annually in one form or another.

Independence is not achieved in misery and isolation but affirmed in human co-operation and prosperity.

—Georges Bidault, French foreign minister.

DISC JOCKEY

WASHINGTON, (NEA)—Congress, which lates and despises all government press agents when they're employed by the bureaucrats, has suddenly grown public relations conscious itself in a big way.

The Senate is considering a bipartisan move to hire a $6000-a-year official photographer to make "an look prettier." And both Houses are about to give final okay on a move to set up a "Coordinator of Recording Facilities"—a disc jockey to record the Voice of Congress on immortal platters.

These two developments top the House action to set up a "Coordinator of Information." As reported in this column a few days ago, his job will be to file and digest useless information.

It has also become known that the Hon. John Taber, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee and a wartime enemy of Elmer Davis's OWL, wasn't above accepting the services of a paid press agent himself this spring, when his committee started dodging bad publicity bricks.

The deal to provide Congress with an official photographer was proposed by Senators Chavez, Kilgore, Gurney, Butler, Capehart, Brewster and Hatch. The way things are now, the news photographers take pictures to make congressmen look like what they are. Good candid camera stuff. Double clicks, flowing manes, bald patches, baggy pants and eyes.

NO MORE CANDID STUFF
But an official photographer with a studio and all expenses paid out of the contingent fund of the Senate, would really do a job. Retouch the plates, erase the wrinkles. All the prints they wanted for free, guaranteed as handsome as Clark Gable or Pat Hurley.

And the way these things usually work out, first thing you know this official photographer would be wanting a monopoly. Press cameramen would be barred from hearings. They would have to take approved prints, all alike, as handed out by the official photographer.

A still sweeter graft than this, however, is about to receive congressional approval in the Legislative Appropriation Act, setting up the Coordinator of Recording Facilities.

For the past ten years or so, Robert J. Coar and his wife, Helen, have been running a recording studio on the fifth floor of the old House Office Building. They got heat and light free from Uncle Sam. They installed their own equipment, which they represent as a $30,000 investment.

Here they cut records for congressmen who wanted to make canned speeches to send out on platters to their home-town stations. The U. S. must block her expansion to the Atlantic Ocean, the Mediterranean and to Asia. Should Molotov seek to sabotage the November election, the Foreign Ministers at Paris, the spectacle may also help in winning Congressional approval for the grandiose Truman-Marshall blueprint.

But, it is admitted on all sides that the White House, as well as the so-called internationalists who of the G. O. P., is taking a desperate gamble against time in the delay.

CONFISCATION—Although a score of bills have been introduced at the current session to force the federal government to compensate states and local communities for taxes lost on property and land taken over by Washington, the outlook for the complaints against confiscation appears dark.

The question has become acute throughout the nation, for F. D. R. and Harold L. Ickes, as Secretary of the Interior, were hand-picked by the war emergency also led to seizure of valuable real estate for military, naval and air units. And federal agencies have been extremely slow in returning these holdings, or in making proper compensation to the original owners.

A recent survey revealed that Uncle Sam now owns 24 percent of the land area of the continental United States. If the territories are included, the figure leaps to 39 percent. The list includes national parks, wildlife, havens, irrigation and power projects, Indian reservations, cantonments, docks, air fields, hospitals, prisons, tidelands, conservation and flood control areas, and mineral rights on land leased or ever sold.

The Receding Recession

by Peter Edson

BY MELCHIOR PALYI, PH.D.

This is a receding recession, long promised yet steadily postponed to the untold future," comments the mid-year Bulletin of The Cleveland Trust Company.

This is poignant, indeed, coming from the same group of very excellent forecasters who only six months ago predicted for 1947 a severe "deflation" with a 10 per cent (14 points) decline in prices.

What happened thus far has been something very different. In the first quarter of '47 wholesale prices rose by 9 points, on top of last year's 30 point rise; in April they declined about 2 points; since, they have more or less stabilized. Now, they are rising again. You may guess what they will do when the 15 per cent and up rent increases the some 30 per cent increase in coal mining labor costs, the all-round boost of wage rates, the 16 per cent average freight rate increase asked for, will permeate the price structure, to say nothing of the threatening rise of basic farm product prices.

For a year or longer, the vast majority of business forecasters have been predicting a depression. In 1945, an economist friend of mine foretold a break-down of raw material prices by the spring of 1946. He now sets the date for the spring or summer of 1948. One day he will be right, no doubt. The only question is, next year, or six years hence?

It would take a psychoanalyst rather than an economist to unearth the intellectual and emotional motivations underlying the pathetically stubborn depression expectation—in the midst of full employment, rising prices, record national income, and other symptoms of an unparalleled boom, based on an unprecedented and expanding monetary volume, and on a world-wide shortage of such basic commodities as food and fuel, fertilizers, cotton goods, steel and other metals, drugs, machines, and transport equipment.

When inventories rose to some extent of our problems. I know of no real Christian who believes that. Many of the leaders of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America undoubtedly believe it, but that is evidence that the blind are leading the blind—that is why we are in one war after another.

And what would be the result if everyone were Christian? Then we would have no covetousness, no hate, no discriminatory laws, no unemployment, no vices, no wars, and everyone would be steward of his energy, he would love his neighbor as himself. He would love his neighbor as Jesus loved him. If that would not solve all our problems, nothing would solve them.

Later on in the speech Taft talks about having constant change and the constant necessity for adapting to change.

But we have absolutely no change in moral laws. And if we obey the eternal laws of God, these adjustments to new material developments will follow as the night follows the day.

Again Jesus was evidently wrong according to Taft when He said, "In truth I tell you that until heaven and earth pass away, not the smallest letter, not a particle shall pass away from the Law, until all has taken place." Or, according to St. Luke, "And it is easier for sky and earth to pass away than for the smallest detail of the Law to lapse."

What the layman in the 24 denominations of the 27,000,000 people who belong to these churches supporting the Federal Council of Churches, could read this report of a speech made by Charles P. Taft. A few more paganistic statements like this should arouse every Christian in every church that belongs to that organization enough to demand that their organization withdraw from the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

lieve that we will not contribute another penny toward so-called rehabilitation, relief, and reconstruction abroad, notwithstanding the Hoover Program, the Truman Doctrine, and the Marshall Plan? The question is not whether we will give away more billions. The question is: what will we accomplish by doing so, and how much longer can we go on with that kind of financing without accomplishing anything much except to aggravate our shortages at home.

The question is: what will we accomplish by doing so, and how much longer can we go on with that kind of financing without accomplishing anything much except to aggravate our shortages at home.

lieve that we will not contribute another penny toward so-called rehabilitation, relief, and reconstruction abroad, notwithstanding the Hoover Program, the Truman Doctrine, and the Marshall Plan? That we would permit millions to starve and let scores of millions turn over to bolshevism? Like it or not, we are committed to giving substantial aid abroad over and above our official commitments. # DEATH of a DOLL

By Hilda Lawrence

© by Hilda Lawrence; Distributed by NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Mrs. Sutton is entertaining the elderly ladies, Bessy Perry and Miss Beulah Ford. They drop into Blackman's and Mrs. Sutton learns for the first time of Ruth Miller's death.

XIV
MARK sat at his own table at the Lafayette and his own waiter hovered. The waiter knew Mark as a species of cop whose work permitted him to eat, dress, and kill time like a gentleman. At the moment, the gentleman was smiling at his own thoughts, which undoubtedly had something to do with one of the three ladies who were joining him for lunch.

Mark was wondering what a period would do to Bessy if he told her it was only licorice water. But when they finally arrived and he saw Roberta, he decided to postpone the period. Roberta looked as if she couldn't cope. He embraced them all in Gallic fashion and compromised on vermouth cassis.

After the first drink, he said: "What are you concealing so imperfectly, Roberta?"

"Nothing," she answered. "Can't you forget your work for an hour?"

"Not when you look like this. What happened between the time you talked to me this morning and now?"

"The girl at the soap counter isn't there," Bessy said.

"Her name is Miller, and there's something nasty about it," Beulah added.

"Miller." Mark closed his eyes for an instant. "Miller. Wait. . . Is that the girl who jumped from a window?"

"There was silence before Roberta said, 'I don't know. . . Is that what she did?'"

Mark said, "If her first name was Ruth, it is."

THEN she told him all she knew, ignoring the food he had ordered until Beulah put a fork in her hand and Bessy buttered pieces of bread. Ruth Miller wasn't anybody, she told them; just a pale, quiet girl with a gentle sort of way. She'd been happy about moving to a girls' club, or something like that, because there was plenty of hot water and what she called privileges. The privilege of doing your own laundry was one and food that you didn't cook yourself was another. That was all. . . "Mark, did you say—window?"

"I can be wrong," he said. "I dimly remember reading something or other. I always read those things, you never can tell, you know, but this one looked straight enough. Poor health, maybe insomnia, and there was another contributing factor, let me think. Oh sure, they were having a party and some of the people there said she seemed depressed."

"Depressed? I don't believe it. It was probably the first party she'd had in years. All right about the poor health and insomnia, but I won't go the rest of the way. I won't believe the rest of it. My Miss Miller was preparing to live, not die."

Bessy returned a half-eaten macaroon to the tray of sweets. "Shop girls," she explained. "Turpitude. When I was young it was nurses." She selected a meringue.

"I hope that explodes in your face," Beulah said. "See? Serves you right."

"Listen Mark." It was Roberta again. "Couldn't she have fallen? You know, overheated, opened the window— You hear about those things all the time—"

"Are you going to mope about this?"

"Certainly not! I simply like things straight, that's all. And I don't feel as if—I don't believe this one is!"

"Neither do I," Beulah said. "On general principles."

"Listen, you," Mark said to Beulah. "This is a big city. It has a police force. When somebody dies violently they take the place apart. And if they say suicide, that's what it is. This isn't Crestwood, this is New York."

"New York," Beulah repeated. "Isn't that the place where they sent a man to Sing Sing because he looked like somebody else?"

There was no answer to that. His neck had been out and Beulah's aim was legendary.

"HERE you are," the library attendant said. "Just turned in."

Mark carried the newspapers back to one of the long tables and found what he was looking for.

Late last night the body of a young woman in a fancy dress was discovered in the courtyard adjoining the rear of 415 West — Street. The pedestrian who made the discovery notified the police. A he discovered was later identified as Ruth Miller, resident of 2 — Street, adjacent to the courtyard. According to the police, she jumped from a window on the seventh floor. She was known to have been in poor health.

It told him exactly nothing. He opened a second paper.

Ruth Miller, age 28, was instantly killed last night when she fell from a seventh floor window in the suitcases. A girl. Police list the death as suicide.

Mark suppressed a snort. No doctor? No background? No narrative of such-and-such, daughter of so-and-so? He opened a third paper. Nothing. A fourth. It looked better.

The body of Ruth Miller, a resident of Hope House, was discovered in the hotel courtyard shortly after midnight last night by a woman walking her dog. The position and condition of the body indicated that Miss Miller had jumped to her death earlier in the evening when there was still considerable rain. According to Dr. M. L. Kloppeit, of 310 West — Street, and Dr. Paul Myers, Medical Examiner, Miss Miller had been dead approximately three hours. She had been in poor health for some time and had attended a social function in the hotel against the advice of her friends. When found, Miss Miller was still wearing the rag-doll costume in which she had danced a few hours before. The verdict was suicide.

Mark copied names and addresses, returned the papers and left the building.

kan-situation, looks to your correspondent like a declaration of independence by the Democracies.

Wednesday's upheaval was the product of several explosions in separate meetings. One of these came in the Security Council which was considering the bitterly debated border watch along the frontiers of Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia, three Soviet satellites which are accused by Athens of aiding Communist rebellion in Greece — a charge confirmed by a majority of the U. N. Investigating Commission in the Balkans.

American Deputy Delegate Herschel V. Johnson suddenly erupted with the declaration that Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania were a menace to international peace. He said there wasn't the slightest evidence of civil liberties in these three countries, and demanded that the council warn them to leave other people's affairs alone, lest war break out in the Balkans affecting the whole world. Strong mustard, that!

Then in the U. N. Membership Committee Soviet Delegate Gromyko's chief deputy, Alexei Kravtchikov, drew hot fire when he blasted the Western Powers for their opposition to the admission of Albania and accused them of attempting to undermine the "Young People's Republic."

Britain's Valentine Lawford to his feet with the assertion that the Russian's speech was "junk."

Well, where does this declaration of independence carry us? Supposing the Western Democracies should feel compelled to take action outside the United Nations because the Soviet veto stymies effective action within the organization?

It could (and probably would) mean that chances of making the U. N. a going concern were virtually nil—a sad blow to a world which, by and large, wants peace and has been banking on this successor to the League of Nations. Still, the cold fact is that the U. N. thus far hasn't been able to get into action as a protector of peace because of the split between the Russian bloc and the Western Democracies. And one sees no signs of a break in this deadlock.

However, should worse come to worst and the two factions go their separate ways (which heaven forbid), the Western Nations would be able to achieve much which now is being held up. All of the great powers excepting Russia are in the Western bloc, as are the vast majority of the smaller nations, and they could constitute a very excellent peace organization.

Latin America needs higher living standards more than it does armaments. Without higher living standards, it will drift toward communism regardless of the repressive measures which our military equipment will enable the dictators to employ.
