Commies Release 2 Yanks

Nabbed In Korea After Armistice

PANMUNJOM, Korea, Oct. 6 —UP— The Communists Wednesday released an American Marine lieutenant colonel and an Army private who were captured by the Reds after the Korean armistice.

Eighth Army headquarters identified the men as Marine pilot Lt. Col. Herbert A. Peters, Seattle, Wash., who was assigned to the First Marine Air Wing in Korea, and Pfc. Charles Julius, Orlando, Fla., member of A Battery, 196th Field Artillery Battalion.

The marine pilot was captured when he landed on a North Korean airstrip last Feb. 5 after "losing his bearings," the Communists said. He was flying a L-19 liaison plane which also was returned Wednesday.

The soldier stepped on a land mine May 23 near the demilitarized zone and was picked up by Red troops.

Both men appeared to be in good physical condition when they walked to freedom in this historic truce village at 2:30 p.m.

They were wearing the same style blue Communist uniforms that American war prisoners wear when they were freed by the Reds during "Operation Big Switch" immediately after the armistice.

The soldier apparently had recovered from injuries suffered when he stepped on the land mine.

The Communists a U.P. said United Nations officials earlier Wednesday at a meeting when they announced they would release the two men. The officer and private had been accused by the Reds of being spies.

The two men were flown from Panmunjom to Eighth Army headquarters in Seoul shortly after they were released.

School 'Strikers' Losing Incentive

Absenteeism Said Ended In Capital

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 —UP— School officials in Washington and Baltimore expected a "back to school" movement Wednesday which they hope will mark the end of demonstrations against the end of segregation in classrooms.

Although police in both cities stood by, school authorities were hopeful that the demonstrations and absenteeism that began Monday in Washington and last week in Baltimore had about run their course.

In the nation's capital, student leaders sparked a movement to get "striking" students back to classes. About 2,000 were out Tuesday. Baltimore authorities reported a relaxing of tensions and a more normal atmosphere.

Schedule Mass Meeting Students at Washington's Anacostia high school, where picketing first broke out Monday, scheduled a mass meeting Wednesday to "air their grievances" with Principal Eugene D. Griffith. At McKinley high school, Principal Charles E. Bish called a meeting of the student body to introduce a co-racial student committee set up to receive grievances.

"I feel we're going to lick this thing," Bish declared. In nearby Baltimore, Principal John H. Schwatka of Southern high school "anticipates" normal attendance Wednesday. He said attendance Tuesday at Southern, chief trouble spot in Baltimore, doubled that of the day before.

Tension Is Relaxed "Tension has relaxed," Schwatka said. "You can tell by the fact that the students are laughing in the halls and in general by their whole attitude which has changed."

He said he had obtained "very good results" by "neighborhood talks with students. He said some told him their parents had ordered them not to attend school, some for fear of their children's safety. But authorities brushed a big-strike policy at the stay-at-homes. Baltimore school chief John Fletcher warned that prolonged and inexcusable absence would result in "suspension or final expulsion."

The Baltimore situation took a sudden turn for the better Tuesday after police adopted a get-tough policy. Anyone interfering with a student attempting to attend school was threatened with prompt arrest under an old city law. No picketing or disorders were reported.

Blow Whips Up In Caribbean MIAMI, Oct. 6 —UP— A hurricane with winds of 85 miles per hour raged into the Caribbean Sea with increasing intensity Wednesday on a course aimed toward the Dominican Republic and Haiti.

The whirling, eighth major tropical storm of the year, headed into open sea from waters of the Windward Islands in the eastern Caribbean at about 15 miles per hour.

A Navy hurricane-hunter plane from San Juan, P.R., kept a night-long radar vigil on Hurricane Hazel, named for the eighth letter of the alphabet.

The weather bureau at San Juan estimated its location at about 460 miles south-southeast of San Juan and said it was traveling a west-northwest course.

The weather bureau predicted the hurricane would maintain its course at about this speed for the next 12 hours, probably increasing slightly in intensity and size.

Ives Is Target Of Ripe Tomatoes WATERTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 6 —UP— Four overripe tomatoes were hurled at Sen. Irving M. Ives as he addressed an outdoor party rally Tuesday night in his campaign for governor of New York.

The missiles missed Ives but the Republican nominee's wife and state Rep. Ogden S. Wilcox were splattered when one struck the railing atop the speaker's platform.

The angered senator immediately launched a tirade against Tammany Hall and the Democratic opposition.

Fast taking shape is the Canadian River Bridge, 30 miles north of Pampa on Hwy. 70, which will serve as the connecting artery north to Perryton, Liberal and Wichita, Kans. Completion is expected sometime in late April.

Boyd Accepts Post On Water Authority

Lynn Boyd, Pampa lumber dealer who was appointed Tuesday by the Pampa City Commission to be a director on the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority, late this morning said he had accepted the post.

A new appointment became necessary when C. A. (Lefty) Huff, slightly president and one of Pampa's two directors on the board, notified the city commission of his resignation, effective Tuesday.

However, Boyd said he would be unable to attend the next meeting scheduled for Monday in Plainview as he had to be out of town on business.

Boyd's appointment means that Pampa's complement on the authority's board of directors has undergone a complete change in the last two months. B. D. Robinson was appointed to fill the position of Fred Thompson, who also resigned.

Short Dock Strike Ends NEW YORK, Oct. 6 —UP— The shortest dock strike in New York history ended Wednesday when the International Longshoremen's Association accepted a compromise retroactive wage offer negotiated by federal and city mediators.

The agreement was reached less than 24 hours after the strike began at 12:01 a. m. Tuesday. The strike had curtailed loading and unloading operations of such ships as the Cunard Line Queen Mary and the French Line's Ile de France.

Port officials said losses caused by the strike probably would amount to $1 million. The shutdown forced passengers of many luxury liners to trundle their own trunks and other baggage to and from their staterooms and sent the steamship lines' office workers scurrying to quays to tie up ocean liners.

Prison Guards Out On Strike MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Oct. 6 —UP— Guards at the Indiana state prison went on strike Wednesday and crack National Guardsmen were poised to take over the policing of 2,300 maximum security convicts.

The strike started ahead of schedule early Wednesday as the night shift came off duty.

Union leaders said prison officials demanded that the guards sign cards pledging their loyalty "to the state of Indiana." Those who refused were fired, union officials said, and the strike got underway.

Guards had originally planned to strike later Wednesday to back up demands that the state recognize their union and discuss wages, hours and working conditions.

About 20 pickets began marching around the big gray prison and state police were rushed to prevent any outbreak.

Inside the prison walls the union kept about 35 men on duty to prevent a convict attempt at a break. About an equal number of guards had signed the "loyalty" cards and stayed on duty, a union spokesman said.

The guards have warned that the "lifers" would riot if National Guardsmen enter the walls. Nevertheless, 50 handpicked guardsmen were on duty at the Gary, Ind., armory, only 20 miles away, ready to rush to Michigan City if they are needed.

API Meet Draws 150

An estimated 125-150 persons were on hand Tuesday night in the Palm Room of City Hall for the first meeting of the season for the Panhandle chapter of the American Petroleum Institute.

W. G. Bearden, Tulsa, Okla., a Stanolind research engineer, was the featured speaker and he discussed the application of shutting off bottomhole water.

Clayton Husted gave those present a run-down on the activities planned for Oil Progress Week.

Next meeting of the chapter — there are generally six during the year — is scheduled for early in November.

United Fund Drive Over Third Of Goal

Pledges and cash for the 1954 Pampa community United Fund drive late this morning totaled a little more than one-third of the goal.

Mrs. Emmett Gee, fund associate, reported that a total of $16,843.50 in pledges and cash was on hand this morning. That figure includes receipts of both the advance drive and the first day of the general drive. Goal is $45,150.

The second of three "report coffees" is scheduled for 4 p.m. today in the City Commission Room in City Hall. The third and last will be held at the same time Thursday.

Johnny Campbell, drive chairman, has made 6 p.m. Thursday the deadline for the receipt of all cards whether the names on them have been contacted or not.

The hundreds of volunteer workers today were making an endeavor to contact the five persons on each of their cards. The drive is strictly a business and industrial one, as there is no house-to-house canvass. Over the last few months, Mrs. Gee prepared the names and addresses on the cards.

Heavy Rains Cover Texas

By UNITED PRESS

The sky opened over wide sections of Texas Wednesday and arid Monahans reported a 19-hour cloudburst of more than eight inches — the "biggest rain that anybody can remember."

Another two and one-half inches of rain was dumped on flooded Brownsville at the tip of Texas, a city still fighting effects of an eight-inch deluge Monday and intermittent rain ever since.

"The ground in this area is soaking," said John Hagan, chief of the Brownsville weather bureau. "It will take much less to cause flooding now than earlier."

Heavy Showers in West Texas Heavy, scattered showers — West Texas that started Tuesday apparently were the result of thunderstorm activity ahead of a new Canadian cold front which blew into the Panhandle. The front spread rapidly over the northern half of the state Wednesday. It has dropped temperatures in some instances by 15 degrees.

The deluge at Monahans poured down 2.10 inches by 6:30 p.m. Tuesday night, an additional 2.60 inches between 6:30 and 10:45 p.m. and still another 2.60 inches up to 6:30 a.m. Wednesday.

C-119 Crashes At Pope AFB

FORT BRAGG, N. C., Oct. 6 —UP— A C-119 "Flying Boxcar" crashed on takeoff from Pope Air Force Base Wednesday and smashed into a new division barracks area. The flaming plane missed all the buildings and workmen.

The plane carried six passengers and a crew of five. An officer said "there were survivors."

Witnesses said an engine of the plane was afire as it banked and dived through power lines.

There were no troops stationed in the crash area, officers said. Last March 30 a "Flying Boxcar" smashed into a mess hall in a troop area here killing seven men, including two soldiers in the mess hall.

On Nov. 17, 1953, a Flying Boxcar with a load of paratroopers smashed through a mass paratroop drop here and crashed, killing 15 men.

It Can Happen Here

Scientists Discuss 'Ifs' Of Russ Assault On The U.S.

Editor's Note: The world has had the possibility of atomic war since the Russians exploded a test A-bomb in 1949. It has had the possibility of hydrogen warfare since the Russians tested an H-bomb in 1953. What does this mean to Americans? This, the first of three dispatches, discusses the threat.

By JOSEPH L. MYLER WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 —UP— It can happen — a massive atomic assault that could mortally wound a hundred American cities.

Atomic Commissioner Thomas E. Murray said recently that when this can figure the number of H-bombs "needed for total world catastrophe."

It also is possible to calculate what Russia could do to the United States with a sneak A-bomb. H-bomb attack. The calculations have been made. They indicate: Smashing blows at vital of the U. S. Strategic Air Command, the chief instrument of this country's "massive retaliation" policy. Jugular lunges at 92 cities in 70 "critical target areas" — mainly centers of American industry. Lesser assaults on an additional 123 target areas worthy of atomic attack.

Then Return Attacks Followup attacks, less heavy than the first, on all targets of the initial blow.

Perhaps 20 million Americans killed, as many hurt. Many more wracked by fear, hunger, thirst, grief. These are the "assumptions" based upon what is known of Soviet weapons, intentions and potentialities — on which U. S. civil defense planners operate.

Russia has exploded at least eight atomic devices, at least one of them a test H-bomb. She is believed to have translated these test models into enough deliverable weapons to hit every U. S. city assumed to be a ripe target. It has been estimated unofficially that the Soviet stockpile contains more than 500 atomic weapons, including a number of H-bombs. No American official knows when or whether Russia will try for an atomic knockout of the United States. All that the planners feel certain of is that she can. (See SCIENTISTS, Page 3)

What Will Germany Do With Her Army?

EDITORS NOTE: West Germany is to raise a new 500,000-man army under the London agreement. What will she do with her new military force? Will she march again on a glory road to conquest? United Press Manager for Germany Joseph W. Grigg asked these and similar questions of Germany's nfin-in-the-street. In the following dispatch he tells what the average German thinks.

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
BONN, Germany, Oct. 6.—West Germany is set to step back into the big power ranks, but not along the glory road to conquest. "That is the way the German 'man-in-the-street,' the average man in 50 million West Germans, has it figured out.

Around the beerhall, in the railroad trains and in the privacy of his home you hear him tell the same story: "Naturally, Germany soon will be a great power again. That's something natural, but wars, brass-bands, goose-stepping, conquest? No. We've had enough of that twice in a lifetime."

Water Group Takes Stand

AUSTIN, Oct. 6.—UP—The Texas Water Conservation Association has gone on record against "ill-advised" competition between federal agencies engaged in developing water resources in Texas.

The association, in a resolution adopted at closing sessions of the group's 10th annual meeting Monday, said:

"Certain federal agencies concerning themselves with water development in Texas are not co-ordinating their water development program with responsible state authorities and, by not doing so, are causing deep concern because of the possible effects that such programs, in periods of prolonged drought, can have on municipal water supplies, and on agricultural and industrial water users operating on the basis of prior appropriations."

Court Orders Candidate's Name Be Allowed On Ballot

AUSTIN, Oct. 6-UP-The state Supreme Court Wednesday ordered the name of Gerald Weatherly, Rio Grande City lawyer, placed on the general election ballot as an independent candidate for district attorney of South Texas' turbulent 79th District.

The action was announced from the bench by Chief Justice J. E. Hickman. An opinion was scheduled to be handed down later in the week, a court spokesman said.

The court ordered Secretary of State C. E. Fulgham to place Weatherly's name on the Nov. 2 general election ballot in the four-county district. The action came in the form of a mandamus sought by Weatherly, and followed 90-minute arguments before the high tribunal Tuesday.

Weatherly argued personally before the court, assisted by Austin attorney John Cofer. The Rio Grande City attorney contended Fulgham's action was illegal and that the secretary of state is not a "judicial officer" capable of taking such action.

Fulgham struck Weatherly's name from the ballot on Sept. 30, when he said certification of Weatherly's candidacy would "make a farce out of the purity of the Texas ballot."

Weatherly's name will appear on the general election ballot against Sam Burris, Jim Wells county attorney who defeated incumbent Reaburn Norris in the Democratic primary this summer.

Shivers Says South 'Ignored' By Parties

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 6-UP-Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas said Tuesday night both major political parties have ignored the South for too long, and promised a fight to win "proper recognition."

But the Texas governor, a staunchly conservative Democrat, denied any ambitions to start a third party and said it was the South's "desire to work through existing parties."

Shivers spoke at a banquet honoring Gov. Robert Kennon of Louisiana, recently-elected chairman of the National Governors Conference. Both Shivers and Kennon backed Republican Dwight Eisenhower in 1952, and Kennon in 1953 said he thought Shivers would make a good president.

The Texan said Tuesday night the national Democratic leadership had "too long ignored the South, while the Republicans had forgotten it too quickly."

Too Long a Whipping Boy

The South has too long been "the whipping boy," said Shivers. "In each instance in which a fundamental change in the American system of freedom has been proposed."

"For too long," he said, "we have been denied our rightful recognition in the high councils of this nation. For too long, we have been handed the baubles of meaningless political patronage and denied the jewels of honorable and equal participation in policy decisions. For too long, we have been fed the pap of political handouts while the meat of our own natural resources has been taken from us."

"For too long, we have been—as a region—insulted and degraded by the national parties and their leaders," Shivers said. "For too long—and I say for the last time—the legally chosen officials and representatives of Southern states have been forced to crawl in humiliating submission before the national conventions and justify their rights to sit as equals among the delegates of other states."

"This cannot continue. Judge Goodrich said he would pick up Dist. Judge Luther Grible in Wellington this afternoon and drive to Fort Worth. They will return to the Panhandle Saturday night or Sunday.

More than 100 judges are expected to register for the three-day conference which opens at 9 a.m. Thursday in the Hotel Texas. Dist. Judge W. L. Jack Thornton, Dallas, will preside over the sessions. Featured speakers will include R. N. Gresham, San Antonio, president of the State Bar of Texas; John Ben Shepperd, Austin, state attorney general; and Everett L. Looney, Austin attorney.

White Deer Gets More Phone Lines

WHITE DEER — (Special) — Installation of additional telephone lines and cables began this week to relieve the congested areas in White Deer, it was announced by Mrs. Mabel Cotton, local operator for the General Telephone Company.

Burl Dillard is foreman of a construction crew of 15 here from Throckmorton to do the work. The crew will be here from six weeks to two months until the work has been completed.

The new lines and cables will permit the company to provide service for all new subscribers who want to have telephones installed, according to Mrs. Cotton. Persons wishing to have telephones installed may make application at the local telephone office now.

"The South, henceforward, is unlikely to commit its support without demanding the full measure of recognition and participation to which it is entitled," Shivers warned.

"We feel no obligation to support our own demise, and we hold no further willingness to accept passing favors as the price for surrender," he said. "The conscience of the South speaks out against such a compromise."

Wants Proper Recognition

On the third-party question, Shivers said:

"We recognize that our two-party system is an essential part of the stability of our nation. We have no desire to abandon that system; rather it is our desire to work through existing parties to win proper recognition for our region, to restore to proper emphasis the division of powers among levels of government, and to bring to an end the present cynical and self-serving exploitation of class, color and creed interests which characterizes both parties."

"In the future, as in the past," Shivers said, "we shall go on building our state governments stronger. We shall, within those frameworks, fill the needs of the people."

HIGH THERE!—When popular singer Connie Russell did a bit of exercising to keep in shape in Las Vegas, Nev., she got some willing and able assistance from the strong arms of Glen Matlin. The pair put on a show of gymnastics at a hotel swimming pool where Connie was appearing in a night club act. The day performance was obviously pretty good, too.

Draft Official Quits Over Batchelor's Severe Sentence

BIG SPRING, Tex., Oct. 6-UP—H. W. Wright said Wednesday he quit as chairman of Big Spring's draft board because he thought Cpl. Claude J. Batchelor got too severe a sentence for collaborating with the Communists as a POW.

"My conscience wouldn't let me be a part of drafting young men who might later be subject to the severe punishment Batchelor got," said Wright.

Batchelor, 22, of Kermit, Tex., was sentenced last week to life in prison at hard labor because he helped the Communists and squealed on other American POWs during the 38 months he spent as a prisoner of war in Korea.

"I just felt like the punishment was too severe, considering Batchelor's age when he was taken prisoner," said Wright. "He was just a kid. I don't believe the trial court gave that enough consideration. That was my reason for resigning from the board."

Wright said he was a Navy veteran and served in the Pacific during World War II. He had been draft board chairman at Big Spring for 30 months until he mailed his resignation to Gen. Paul Wakefield, selective service director for Texas, Tuesday.

He said he had never met Batchelor, but thought a sentence of "five or 10 years or something like that" would have been more reasonable.

If she wishes, make the attempt. In the early years after 1949 when Russia exploded her first atomic weapon, U. S. defense planning was keyed to the destructive power of the so-called "nominal" A-bomb—a weapon yielding the violence of 20,000 tons of TNT and capable of destroying a city area one mile in diameter.

Now the plans are tied to the H-bomb. It makes little difference to a target city whether it is hit by one H-bomb or several A-bombs. But planners have what might be called a "nominal" H-bomb. This is a superbomb powerful enough to wipe out everything in a region eight miles across.

That is about the destructive range of the hydrogen device tested by the United States last March 1 at Bikini. The planners assume Russia can deliver H-weapons at least that devastating.

It has been reported that Russia is maintaining swarms of atomic bombers in the Soviet far north on the logical trans-polar airway route to the United States.

Defense planners assume that the first massive knockout attempt, if there is one, will come by air across the Arctic. But Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson has said Russia also could launch atomic attack from submarines off the U. S. coast, with bombs hidden in the holds of steamships in U. S. ports, with weapons smuggled into this country by Soviet agents, and later perhaps by guided missiles carrying atomic warheads.

Peterson believes that as of now 50 to 60 per cent of an enemy bombing fleet could get through U. S. defenses to their targets. But suppose only one bomber carrying only one "nominal" H-bomb should manage to survive plane and missile interception and launch its deadly egg on Manhattan Island.

In a split second, instant, a flash brighter than hundreds of suns—so bright it would blind forever anyone who looked directly at it—would scorch the city and countryside as far from the burst as Morristown, N. J.—25 miles away.

Eight Miles Demolished

A second or so later the bomb's blasting power would have demolished everything in a circle eight miles across, and structural damage would be felt in what was left of a metropolitan area 32 miles across.

As the mushroom cloud soared some 25 miles above cratered and burning Manhattan, carrying a sinister cargo of radioactive dust, the pitiable ones would not be the quickly killed.

They would be those with severed arteries and maimed flesh, victims of flying glass and other random missiles propelled by the blast; those with seared skin and sightless eyes; the millions transformed by chaos into helpless animals without food or drink or shelter; the widely fleeing masses and those, outside the bomb's reach, who got in their way.

Woman Describes Weeks Of Torture By Husband

FORT SCOTT, Kan., Oct. 6-UP—A weak and terrified mother of five children told sheriff's officers here Tuesday of two months of torture by her husband, during which she said he broke the stock of two large guns over her back, chained her to himself nightly and beat her while their children watched.

Mrs. Doris Blackmore, 28, the wife of Cecil Blackmore, was so weakened by the sadistic treatment she could only sign her statement with an X, officers said.

Sheriff L. L. Queen said she was improved Wednesday after numerous blood transfusions and he believed she would recover.

The situation at the couple's farm home southwest of here came to light, he said, when the woman's two brothers visited the farm Sunday and reported it.

Mrs. Blackmore said she had remained silent because her 33-year-old husband threatened to kill her if she sent him to jail.

Blackmore, in jail under $5,000 bond, admitted beating his wife with a rubber hose but pleaded innocent to a charge of assault at his arraignment in a justice of the peace court Tuesday. County Attorney Daniel O. Lardner said he would be arraigned in district court Friday on the same charge. Maximum penalty is 10 years imprisonment.

The sheriff said two shattered guns, a .410 shotgun and a .22 caliber rifle, were found at the home. He said the stocks were broken.

June Talk

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

BECAUSE THIS IS National Fire Prevention Week, I thought today I'd devote part of my column to this subject. Most fires are caused by carelessness and every year takes a costly toll of lives. So let's all be more alert, not just this week, but throughout the year, to prevent disaster from striking our homes.

HERE IS a portion of a news release I received, that tells what can be done at home if a fire should get started.

CEASE FIRE! How well do you remember the clang of the fire bell, old Dobbin pulling the fire wagon, and all bucket brigade dousing a burning building with pails of water? Fire fighting techniques have improved considerably since our grandfathers' day, but even so, 5,200 people die annually in home fires.

Many of these fires could have been prevented if proper precautions had been taken, and if a basic knowledge of fire fighting had been known. National Fire Prevention Week — October 3rd through 9th — is a good time to brush up on your knowledge of fire prevention — its causes and cures. Here are some simple steps you can take to guard against fires in your home.

There's an old adage: "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" — and of course, the best one way to put out a fire is to be sure one never does flare up. But, no matter how careful you are, what if a small fire does ignite? Do you know how to stop it in its beginning stages, before it becomes a raging menace? Is your home equipped with proper fire fighting equipment? Do you and your family know how to use this equipment?

What if some grease on the range should ignite — kitchen curtains, pot holders and many other flammables may catch alight unless the grease fire is quickly doused. Water thrown on a blaze of this type would spread the fire. Flour may cause an explosion and then you'll really be in serious trouble. But handfuls of baking soda thrown on the burning grease will quickly and effectively extinguish any fire of this type, won't damage food and will be easy to clean off your range. Baking soda, which is pure sodium bicarbonate, is recommended by the National Board of Fire Underwriters as a fire fighting agent. Baking soda, when heated by a fire, creates carbon dioxide, which is heavier than air so it settles around a fire, cutting off its supply of oxygen necessary for combustion. Baking soda will also smuff out fires in paint, oil, varnish and other liquids flammables. It's a good idea to keep several boxes conveniently located, so when a small fire does flare up you can stop it before it gets started.

Each principal announced when their school Halloween parties would be held. Horace Mann will hold a carnival and dinner Oct. 22; Sam Houston's program is also scheduled for that day with a dinner and visitation planned; Baker School will present a carnival Oct. 28; Woodrow Wilson will have a carnival that day also with each child in costume; and Lamar plans a dinner and visitation Oct. 28.

The program on legislation was presented by Mrs. Boosa. She announced that October is the month to study this subject and a legislation workshop will be held at 9:30 a.m. Thursday in the Horace Mann School, 610 N. Buchanan, Amarillo. Thirteen Pampans plan to attend.

During the workshop, the group will make a study of legislation of the state platform and how to get it before the people. Mrs. Boosa advised. One proposal is jury service for women and another is welfare for children and youth. The workshop will give each delegate planning to attend the PTA State Convention in Corpus Christi a chance to familiarize himself with items to be voted on and on how to vote, she pointed out.

Attending the event were Mmes. James Lewis, Tony Smith, Vernon Hall, Ott Shewmaker, W. E. Thomas, Elmore Darnell, M. F. Ludeman, Shirley Nickols, Cecil W. Dalton, Clifford F. Jones, L. D. Milliken, Warren Woodard, Paul Sublett, Howard Brown, Jack P. Foster, Forrest Ward, Floyd Barrett, M. B. Warden Siler Hopkins and R. A. Mack; and Messrs. McHenry Lane, J. Aaron Meek and John Evans.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in McConnell Hall of the church. The service table was covered with a white linen cloth over green, with an over-skirt of green net over yellow organza. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with three wedding bells.

Miss Pat Theimer, co-worker in migrant ministry with the bride, registered the guests. Mrs. James Gamble of Phoenix, Ariz., sister of the bridegroom, served the cake, and Mrs. Morlan Shuman presided at the coffee service. Punch was served by Miss Louise Bashford, director of the Colorado migrant ministry.

For the honeymoon trip to points in New Mexico, the bride wore a navy blue suit with red and white accessories. Her corsage was of white roses from her bridal bouquet. The couple will be at home in Casa Grande, Ariz.

The bride was graduated from Colorado Women's College, Pampa University and McCormick Theological Seminary. She has been a

B&PW Week Plans Revealed By Board

Mrs. Charles P. Ford was chosen general chairman of Business and Professional Women's Week, to begin Monday, at an executive board meeting Tuesday noon. Activities for the week were also set up. Members of the B&PW club will attend the League of Women Voters' luncheon Monday at which Miss Marie McCutcheon, president-elect of the Texas Federation of B&PW Clubs Inc., will speak on jury service for women.

Baking Soda Good For Fires In Cars

All the elements of a dangerous fire are contained in your car — high temperatures, electric sparks, and extremely combustible gasoline. When these elements combine outside the motor, you are in trouble. Most automobile fires are especially vicious because the driver is unprepared and far from expert aid. One of the simplest and easiest helps for car fires is a pound box of baking soda. Scattered on a fire, soda releases carbon dioxide gas, snuffing out flames instantly. Soda is effective on grease, oil or electrical fires, unlike water, which spreads oil fires and conducts dangerous electrical shocks. Baking soda can be purchased in any grocery store. Carried in the glove compartment or other quickly accessible spots, it can stop a fire before it really gets started.

Bell HD Club Plans Achievement Day

Auxiliary Of Legion Will Meet Thursday

The American Legion Auxiliary will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the home of Mrs. Diana Wood, 504 Yeager.

MANNERS MAKE FRIENDS

No matter how pleased one is to meet another person, it is never correct to say "Pleased to meet you." The correct thing to say is "How do you do" or "I'm so glad to know you."

PTA Council Given Legislation Speech

The Parent-Teachers' Association City Council met at 9 a.m. Tuesday in the office of Dr. Ruth Lova, Junior High School.

During the business session, led by Mrs. W. L. Boosa, president a letter of resignation by Mrs. Willard Henderson, treasurer, was read and accepted. Mrs. M. F. Ludeman was nominated and elected by acclamation to fill the position.

Each principal announced when their school Halloween parties would be held. Horace Mann will hold a carnival and dinner Oct. 22; Sam Houston's program is also scheduled for that day with a dinner and visitation planned; Baker School will present a carnival Oct. 28; Woodrow Wilson will have a carnival that day also with each child in costume; and Lamar plans a dinner and visitation Oct. 28.

For the honeymoon trip to points in New Mexico, the bride wore a navy blue suit with red and white accessories. Her corsage was of white roses from her bridal bouquet. The couple will be at home in Casa Grande, Ariz.

The bride was graduated from Colorado Women's College, Pampa University and McCormick Theological Seminary. She has been a social worker in the Migrant Ministry of the National Council of Churches in Arizona for two years. The bridegroom, who farms in Casa Grande, Ariz., attended the University of Arizona where he was a member of Pi Kappa Alpha, social fraternity. He served 30 months with the U. S. Air Force.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Shuman of White Deer, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude H. Wells of Casa Grande, Ariz.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of tulle and lace over satin. The fitted lace bodice had tulle yoke and was fashioned with a Queen Elizabeth collar. The long fitted sleeves of lace came to petal points over her hands. The bouffant skirt of tulle over satin was floor-length. Her waist-length veil of illusion fell from a headband of tulle, decorated with flowers fashioned from pearls. She carried a cascade of white roses and feathered chrysanthemums. Her jewelry was a rhinestone and pearl necklace with matching earrings, a gift from the bridegroom.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Herndon Sloan of Lefors. She wore a gown of copper silk capri, fashioned with a fitted bodice and bouffant ballerina-length skirt. She carried a colonial bouquet of light bronze pompon mums.

Bridesmaids were Miss Mina Seipel of San Angelo and Miss Betty Whitaker of San Diego, Calif. They wore gowns identical to the matron of honor, with Miss Seipel in limestone and Miss Whitaker in emerald. Both carried colonial bouquet of light bronze pompon mums.

Organist was Miss Joyce Dittbarner, who played a prelude of nuptial music, which included "Perfect Love," "Because," and "I Love Thee." Prior to the ceremony, the bridegroom sang "The Pledge" to the bride, and during the ceremony Miss Sharon Dickens sang "The Lord's Prayer." The traditional wedding marches were used for the processional and recessional.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in McConnell Hall of the church. The service table was covered with a white linen cloth over green, with an over-skirt of green net over yellow organza. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with three wedding bells.

Tips For Fire Safety

ITHACA, N. Y. — UP — Homeowners can do much to prevent fires this winter, Cornell University researchers say. Fires due to bad chimneys, faulty stoves and stove pipes, careless and improper storage of combustible materials can be avoided in any home, they point out, if proper precautions are taken. Here are some suggestions. Check the heating system thoroughly. Gas and heat leaks, especially in sectional furnaces, should be checked with iron cement. Chimneys should be cleaned and inspected for loose bricks and mortar. Clean and tighten all stove pipes. They should be located a safe distance from combustible materials and protected by collars or metal shields; this is particularly true where the pipes pass through a partition or floor. Clean stoves and furnaces, too. An eighth of an inch of soot, cuts down the efficiency of heat transfer by 10 per cent.

Soonerland 'Scalpers' Making Hay

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 6 — UP — "Scalpers" have been selling hay to Oklahoma farmers at prices of $40 and $50 per ton, but a new slash in freight rates is going to end the practice, agriculture officials said Tuesday. Payne county farm agent Myrl Gray said "opportunists" have been peddling alfalfa hay in the Stillwater area for $50 a ton. Fain Caesar, of the Oklahoma Department of Agriculture's marketing service, said he had suspected such operations for some time and knew of one case where a farmer paid $40 per ton for prairie hay. Both Gray and Caesar blamed the "scalping" on "itinerant truckers." "A trucker is here today and gone tomorrow and is more apt to charge a price that's out of line," Caesar said.

Gray said that a farmer should be able to buy hay under the federal drought emergency program for $26 a ton at Stillwater under the new freight rates. The price was about $30 formerly. This is believed to be close to the average for the state. But he said at least four truckers had been selling hay in Payne county for $50 per ton. "Here's what they do," Gray said of the scalpers. "They go up north and buy small bales of hay that figure about 40 bales to the ton. They don't bring an affidavit with the. They tell the local farmer that the farmer up north would not sign it."

Malone, Raymond Driskill, Buddy Smith, Judy Rhodes and Sharon Dickens. Mr. Hobart McDonald is sponsor.

ARDMORE, Okla. — UP — Police arrested a man here because they were suspicious of his working hours. Officers said the man was holding snuff from door to door at 6 a.m.

Nevada Demos Plan All-Out Voting Fight

RENO, Oct. 6 — UP — Democrats planned to fight back in court Tuesday against a Republican attempt to keep Nevada voters from choosing the successor to the late Sen. Pat McCarran before November, 1956. Led by State Chairman Keith Lee, Nevada Democratic officials were expected to appear before District Judge A. J. Maestretti to wage a vigorous legal battle against the Republican move. The GOP strategy was spearheaded by Reno attorney Clef Georgetta, who Monday asked Maestretti to order the county clerk not to list the names of Republican and Democratic candidates for McCarran's post on the Nov. 2 ballot.

Seeks Restraining Order Georgetta asked for a temporary restraining order, to be followed by a permanent injunction. If he succeeds in his attempt, it will leave newly appointed Sen. Ernest S. Brown, an "Eisenhower Republican," in office until Dec. 31, 1956. But if he does not succeed, Brown will have to hold his post in the Nov. 2 election. His Democratic opponent would be Alan Bible, 45-year-old former attorney general and McCarran protege.

Democrats are eager to have the issue decided in an election. They are confident they can win it. Losers to Appeal Whatever Maestretti's decision, the losing side will immediately appeal to the Nevada Supreme Court. The outcome of the controversy could affect control of the upper House. McCarran's sudden death last week left the Senate with 48 Republicans, 46 Democrats and one independent.

Nevada Democrats charged the Republicans with trying to "disenfranchise" the state's 102,242 registered voters in the selection of McCarran's successor.

Headon Crash Kills Couple MINEOLA, Tex., Oct. 6 — UP — A head-on collision eight miles east of Mineola Sunday night killed a father and his daughter and injured five other persons, including a Navy flier and his wife. The victims were R. D. Meadows and his daughter, Merriann, 18 months old, both Negroes. Three other Negroes in the car with them were critically injured. The Navy flier was Lt. Richard Bilgen of Tampa, Fla. He suffered a broken leg. His wife, Evelyn suffered a fractured right arm and lacerations. They were in serious condition and were transferred from Mineola hospital to Barksdale Air Force Base hospital at Shreveport. The two automobiles were demolished.

SUSPECT By Hugh Lawrence Nelson

AT first, Jim thought he had entered a huge underground cavern. A second look showed that Mrs. Oswald's studio had been set up in what must once have been the ballroom of the original stone structure. The old woman herself was perched on a high stool beside a 20-foot-long worktable. She looked up when the two entered, glanced at her watch and then went on methodically with the work at hand. Because he had seen it before, in a more pleasing shape, Jim was able to recognize the trout even though it was now turned inside out. The table itself, and every available space on the walls, was filled with samples of Mrs. Oswald's taxidermy. A peculiar odor of both preservation and decay filled the whole room. At the far end of the table from the old woman, a great horned owl grabbed frantically and lopsidedly at a paper-mache stump with twisted and misshapen talons. Mrs. Oswald dropped her brush, pushed aside the fish skin. Apparently she had followed the direction of Jim's glance because she went on, "Not one of my better efforts, that owl. In the first place I didn't give the inside of the skin a thick coating of potter's clay." She sighed. "But then, it wouldn't have mattered. I tried to get fancy instead of using Graves' mixture of arsenic and alum."

She put a sudden and unaccustomed quaver in her voice. "I'm an old, old woman and I wouldn't know about such things, Sheriff."

"Well, you're the official. What're you going to do about it?" There was an understanding between these two women which went beyond the usual, far beyond the relationship of an elective officer in the presence of the power that is. MRS. OSWALD deigned to notice him again. "What are you doing here? Why aren't you out threatening other old women with a spanking?" She made the cackling sound which passed with her as a laugh. "He's a private detective," Agnes said. Mrs. Oswald's shrewd eyes probed. "So," Mrs. Oswald said. She turned again to Agnes. "Kit?" she asked. "Yes. She hired him. And his wife." "Still worried about that California business, is she?" "You can be impersonal about suspicion," Jim said, "until it touches you yourself." Mrs. Oswald demanded. She lifted her hooded eyelids for a clearer view. "Agnes, tell Mrs. Hilton I think she's a fool." "Yes, Mrs. Oswald." Jim did not see how the two remarks followed each other. "But never mind. I suppose Philip has told you what we all were doing while my granddaughter died?" "Yes," Agnes said again and this time in her official voice. "Do you corroborate his story?" There was that harsh cackle again. "Of course I do. Didn't I tell him what to say? And for your benefit, Mr. Dunn, it's the truth." Sheriff Agnes said, "Could you think of any reason why anyone would want to kill Angelica?"

THE old woman waved a gnarled hand. "You don't have to be obvious with me. Of course I see it. Another body wouldn't look so good for your client. I hear Miss Wister has the Carlson temper? Who would have expected it of her?" Jim gave up trying to direct the conversation. "What relation is Miss Wister to you?" Mrs. Oswald cackled. "From what I've been told the relationship could be purely murderous. Angelica saw Miss Wister occasionally. Sneaked off to see her, just as she sneaked away to marry that Jones man. After we had a suitable marriage arranged for her too!" "If she hadn't sneaked away to marry, would you have let her?" "That's none of your business. The important thing is that Angelica may have seen Miss Wister once too often."

There it was, out in the open. An accident, or suspicion directed toward Miss Wister. (To Be Continued)

O'Dwyer To Testify

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 6 — UP — William O'Dwyer, former U.S. ambassador to Mexico, said Monday he would testify next week in Los Angeles before a congressional committee investigating Communist aggression in the Western Hemisphere.

O'Dwyer, who was mayor of New York before becoming ambassador, said he accepted an invitation by Rep. Patrick Hillings (R-Calif.) to testify "at once."

"That is an important inquiry," O'Dwyer said, "and I'll offer whatever cooperation I can give."

While O'Dwyer was ambassador and as a private lawyer, since he left the diplomatic service, he has maintained very close contact with a number of Mexican businessmen and government officials. He is considered well informed on practically all facets of current Mexican life.

Batchelor Not Sorry He Decided To Desert Reds

ODESSA, Tex., Oct. 6 — UP — Mrs. Clara Batchelor, whose son was sentenced to life at hard labor for collaborating with the Communists, says he doesn't regret coming home. But Mrs. Batchelor said Monday she was bitter about the sentence and felt it was "harsh and unjust." She said she thought it would be reduced.

Mrs. Batchelor said her son Cpl. Claude Batchelor, who gave up plans to become a "peace fighter" for communism to accept repatriation last Jan. 1, "realized how dangerous it (communism) was and was willing to make the personal sacrifice to tell his story."

Batchelor was convicted last Thursday after a month-long trial of collaboration and informing on fellow Americans in order to get better treatment for himself during 38 months as a POW. His life sentence was the stiffest possible, since the Army had ruled out the death penalty.

His mother said she thought the 22-year-old corporal got a fair trial, so far as the procedure was concerned. But she said she didn't think the eight officers on the court considered "all the evidence in the verdict, nor was the verdict in accordance with the evidence."

Leaks Eyed In Downfall Of Fortress

PARIS, Oct. 6—UP—The French military tribunal investigating the nation's spy scandal sought Tuesday to learn whether leaks of defense secrets to Communists contributed to the fall of the Indo-China fortress of Dien Bien Phu.

The tribunal secretly questioned Rene Plevin, who was defense minister at the time the French suffered a crippling defeat at Dien Bien Phu.

The inquiry has established that at least some top secret decisions of the national defense council were leaked to the Communist Viet Minh in Indo-China.

A number of other top French officials who served in the government at that time also were called in for questioning Tuesday.

JayCees Taken On Tour Of Pampa Fire Department

CHIEF AND AIDE

"FIRE!" yells McLean Elementary School Fire Chief Kelly McClelland and his assistant, Sara Coleman. Both are first graders and are emphasizing Fire Prevention Week participation in McLean schools. (Photo by J. M. Payne)

"A fire makes you mad and being a fireman kinda gets in your blood."

Fire Chief Ernest Winborne early Tuesday afternoon then told Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce members that "a fire is the next thing to a funeral, you don't want to be there when the people come back to their burned-out home."

The JayCees' program Tuesday was to visit the Pampa Fire Station which is holding open house all week during Fire Prevention Week.

Demonstrates Equipment

Capt. James Pirkle, following Winborne's brief introductory talk, demonstrated the department's resuscitator and portable lung. The resuscitator was procured from the firemen's "kitty" and contributing oil companies after a child died some time ago and firemen thought he might have been saved if there had been such equipment on hand.

Winborne then took the group of JayCees upstairs to the firemen's living quarters where he explained entertainment is all-important to the fireman who must be on call 24 hours a day. Each of the seven men on duty has a separate room; there are seven men on and seven off duty at any one moment. Firemen have bought all their own furniture in their quarters.

Before they left upstairs, each JayCee — reporters included — slid down the pole that firemen use when an alarm is sounded.

Winborne had a special guest, "who taught me most of what I know about fire." It was Doc Bynum, a field instructor for the Texas A&M extension fire service. Bynum comes to Pampa on occasion and Winborne said he was particularly pleased that he was on hand during Fire Prevention Week.

JayCee President J. C. Hopkins, during the Tuesday noon luncheon, told club members of the civic club golf tournament, scheduled for 12:30 p.m. Sunday at the Pampa Country Club. Each player will have a handicap, he said, and prizes will be awarded on particular holes.

There were eight guests present for lunch: Mrs. Gladys Jaynes, Sept., "courteous clerk"; Mrs. Edward Eaton, the mystic shop per; and Tom McBride, James McGroff, Doc Riggs, Dr. Harold Meador, Allan Berry and Mrs. Bill Carter.

'Mistake' Sentence Reviewed

AUSTIN, Oct. 6 —UP— Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles may decide within the next week or 10 days the case of Kenneth Massey, who is serving 15 years for a hold up another man has confessed.

The board Monday held a hearing to consider Massey's plea for release, based on a confession by William Karston, 28-year-old murderer under sentence to die in Iowa.

Karston confessed last July, the day before he was convicted of murder, that he held up the El Paso drugstore for which Massey was sentenced to prison in Texas.

Pardon Board Chairman T. B. White said the board had received a letter from George W. Bush, who was held up. He said Bush "thought he was right" in his identification of Massey, but he "could see a similarity" between Massey and Karston.

Bush said Karston's confession and the details of the robbery were "very much alike."

"We're still investigating," White said. "We've got to convince ourselves that the confession Karston made was genuine."

Grandmother Would Think New Wrinkles Are Swell

By GAY PAULEY
NEW YORK — UP—What would our grandmothers think! Popcorn now pops without a popper, stuffed turkeys no longer need trussing, oatmeal is made instantly — and even floors are scrubbed without the housewife lifting her hand.

These are among the new labor-savings on the market. Easy corn popping is the idea of one manufacturing (Taylor-Reed Corp., Glenbrook, Conn.), who packages the pre-seasoned corn in aluminum foil. The container is used to pop the corn and then discarded. Turn on a gas or electric burner, bend back the cardboard covering the package to form a handle, and shake the corn over heat. The foil cover is designed to expand as the corn pops, which takes only a few minutes.

New Turkey Method
The old-fashioned trussing of turkeys is eliminated in a new packing process (by Swift and Co.). The packer will have on the market by holiday time the regular and small or Beltsville-style birds frozen and "tucked."

The turkeys' legs are pulled into and held by an opening produced by a horizontal cut below the breastbone. After the turkey is thawed, the legs can be pulled from the slit, and the bird is ready for stuffing. Once stuffed, tuck the turkey legs back to their original position and no additional trussing is needed.

The oatmeal is made instantly by adding hot water and stirring well. Five seconds, and the porridge is ready for the bowl, (Best Foods, Inc.).

More Frozen Foods
Also new for the breakfast table is an instant version of a coffee flavored cereal beverage (From General Foods).

The list of frozen foods continues to grow. Latest additions are frozen, finger-length sticks of turkey with onion and rich sauce; a complete dinner of beef roast and vegetables; and frozen cherry and apples pies.

(C. A. Swanson and Sons.)
Now, about the floor scrubbing.
