President Accused Of Influencing Contract

Minor Changes Planned

Congress Agreed On Anti-Red Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 — UP — The Senate appeared ready to go along with the House Tuesday and approve an anti-Communist bill that does not contain a controversial provision making active membership in the party a crime. But Sen. John M. Butler (R-Md.) planned to propose six minor changes in the watered-down bill that was overwhelmingly approved, 305 to 2, in the House Monday. Senate passage of Butler's proposals would temporarily delay final congressional approval of the anti-Communist measure by sending it back to the House for a chance to accept the changes. Bill Less Drastic The House bill is far less drastic than one approved by the Senate last week. The Senate voted 85-0 to make active membership in the Communist party a crime. The House version would strip the party of its legal rights, including the privilege of entering candidates in political elections, and the right to sue in court. House Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. (R-Mass.) said the measure was acceptable to President Eisenhower and his legal advisers. They had objected to the Senate bill on grounds it would "scuttle" Communist-control bills already on the statute books. Martin said the compromise is aimed at the Communist party "as a political organization and not at Reds as individuals." One of Butler's changes would clarify the bill's language to make certain that the Communists no longer could claim to be a "political party." Another would ease requirements on the Subversive Activities Control Board in deciding whether an organization such as the Communist party should have its legal rights revoked. Butler said the Justice Department has blocked his proposals.

Packard, Studebaker Vote Merger

DETROIT, Aug. 17 — UP — Packard and Studebaker stockholders merged the automobile industry's last two independent manufacturers Tuesday in the hope the combination would weld the two struggling companies into one healthy firm. Packard stockholders approved the merger in a meeting here, while Studebaker stockholders gave their approval at Wilmington, Del. The action completed a move toward combines in the automobile field which has gradually squeezed the total number of automobile builders from 1,500 firms over the years into six. It left the industry without an independent firm for the first time in history. The new merger left the industry with a "big three" of Ford, General Motors and Chrysler Corporation and a "little three" of Studebaker-Packard, American Motors and Kaiser-Willys American Motors is the combine of Nash-Kelvinator and Hudson. The "little three" all are the result of mergers within the past 18 months, brought on by the tightening competition in the industry after the booming post-war days when the industry couldn't turn out enough cars to meet demand. The merger of Packard and Studebaker could be the most important of the three. The new firm will be just like the "big three" in one respect: It will have a "full line" — a range of models covering all price classes and trucks.

Charge Is Levelled By Steve Mitchell

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 — UP — Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland Tuesday denounced Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell for suggesting that favoritism to a friend influenced President Eisenhower's decision on a big government power contract. In a sharply worded Senate speech, Knowland charged Mitchell to back up his charge that the award of an Atomic Energy Commission power contract to the Dixon-Yates utility syndicate was "a scandal" that should be investigated. Mitchell made that charge in a speech before the American Bar Association convention in Chicago Monday. He noted that one of Mr. Eisenhower's "closest friends" later identified as famed golfer Bobby Jones — has an interest in the utility syndicate. Jones said he never spoke to Mr. Eisenhower about the power deal, and that he doubts the President knows he is a director of one of the utility companies. "Reflections, Cast" Knowland told the Senate that Mitchell's statement "appears to cast reflections and tend to break down the confidence of the country" in Mr. Eisenhower and the office of the presidency itself. Knowland said that if Mitchell "has any information that indicates the contract was in any way illegal" or that "undue influence" was exerted or that any personal relationship "with one of the President's friends played a part," Mitchell "owes it to the country and to his own party to present such information to the congressional atomic energy committee and to the Justice Department." "Under the Dixon-Yates contract, the Atomic Energy Commission was directed to buy 600,000 kilowatts annually from the Dixon-Yates combine which is to construct a power plant at West Memphis, Ark., to supply the power and funnel it into the Tennessee Valley Authority system at Memphis. Mitchell said that the TVA had offered to supply the power for $140 million less than the private combine would charge the government. Opponents also said that a majority of the AEC commissioners opposed the contract, but were overruled by a White House order. Contract Authorized The Dixon-Yates contract is specifically authorized in the atomic energy bill now nearing enactment. Jones' association with the Dixon-Yates interests was a matter of some courtroom gossip during the Senate debate, but it received only passing reference on the Senate floor. Jones in Atlanta called the charges "utterly ridiculous." He said he doubted that the President even knew he was on the board of one of the companies involved. Jones is a director of the Southern Co. of which Eugene Yates is chairman. It is one of two companies in the syndicate which Mitchell is attacking. (See PRESIDENT, Page 3)

Gulf Coast Hurricane Danger Past

By UNITED PRESS A Gulf disturbance brought rains of up to six inches in the Lower Rio Grande Valley Monday night but it went ashore in Mexico Tuesday, thus ending the danger of a hurricane, the Weather Bureau said. It also ended the possibility the low pressure area might bring rains of consequence to much of Texas. John Hagan, chief forecaster at the Brownsville weather bureau, said between six and seven inches of rain were recorded at Ranger, Tex., in Cameron county. But only 67 inch was recorded at Edinburg 27 at Mercedes and 12 at Brownsville. "Most of the heaviest showers fell south of the Rio Grande," Hagan said. Nevertheless, the Valley showers were the heaviest since June. Hagan described the Gulf disturbance as an "easterly wave," which brought the same conditions to the Gulf Monday as those that preceded the season's first hurricane. The last tropical disturbance, hurricane Barbara, blew into the northern Mexican coast and set off record-breaking floods on the Rio Grande that killed perhaps 30 persons and inflicted millions of dollars worth of damage. It never developed the closed circulation required to give birth to a hurricane however, and Hagan said it will result only in showers for the next 48 hours, growing less all the time.

Polio Workers Plan Street Solicitations

Representatives of Pampa civic organizations met Monday with county and city campaign chairmen of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to map out a street campaign for the fund's emergency drive during the last two Saturdays in August. Fund Is "Broke" "The supplementary drive is of pressing urgency," Leslie Hart, county chairman emphasized, "for at the present time the foundation is broke. Without additional funds, the vast gamma globulin vaccine program, and the tests with the new trial vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas Salk, of the University of Pittsburgh, will have to be halted." Hart and city campaign chairman, Fred Brock, met with John Clark, president of the Optimist Club; J. C. Hopkins, president of the Jaycees; Harold Miller, chairman of the local chapter of the National Foundation; Aaron Sturgeon, president of Lions Club; and Floyd Watson, Rotary. The two-Saturday street-corner campaign, Aug. 21 and 22 will find the Lions at Frost and Kingmill; Jaycees at Cuyler and Tyng; Rotary at Cuyler and Kingmill; Optimists at Cuyler and Francis. Hours Are 9 to 5 C.I.O. Oil Workers Union is expected to handle the corner of Francis and Alcock, as they have done in other charity campaigns. Armed with canisters and buckets, the groups will be seeking donations between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. Six thousand mail solicitations were sent out Friday. No tallies have yet been made, though 150 have been returned, Hart said. Canisters will be placed in cafes and stores today.

Iron Curtain Bishop Speaks Out At Rally

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 17 — UP — Bishop John Peter, a leading churchman of Communist Hungary, said Tuesday that the world's Christian churches should declare their independence "of all social systems more courageously and more resolutely than heretofore." Bishop Peter, of the Hungarian Reformed Church, spoke at a meeting of accredited visitors to the second assembly of the World Council of Churches, which is being held at Northwestern University in this Chicago suburb. United States officials had feared that 11 clergymen from Iron Curtain nations, permitted to come here under special visas from the State Department, might use the assembly as a sounding board for Communist propaganda. Travel Restricted Peter himself was severely restricted in his travels. His visa permitted him to come to Evanston only by the most direct route. He must stay here throughout the conference and then travel directly to his port of embarkation. Several meetings had to be shifted from Chicago to Evanston so that he could attend as scheduled. Dr. J. B. Matthews, former executive director for Sen. Joseph McCarthy's investigating committee charged flatly in a speech last week that Peter was coming here as a Soviet agent. However, Peter's speech Tuesday (See IRON CURTAIN, Page 3)

Nurse Steals Dope To Ease Cancer Pain

HOUSTON, Aug. 17 — UP — A 32-year-old nurse who daily helps relieve pain of cancer patients admitted to police Tuesday she stole narcotics because she herself was an incurable cancer victim. "A doctor told me I have only six months to live," she said. The woman, mother of three children, was arrested by police Monday night when she went off duty from M. D. Anderson hospital. Vice squad officers said they found a quantity of narcotics and five hypodermic needles on her. Police set the trap after hospital officials reported 30 bottles of a pain-killing drug missing and pointed the finger of suspicion at the nurse. "I have to take the shots," she said, "to kill my pain enough to let me work." Hospital officials said she had worked there six months but they were unaware she had cancer. No charges were filed immediately.

Army Reserve Adds Member

Lt. William Smith discussed "radio security" at the weekly meeting of Pampa's Army Reserve Monday night, according to M-Sgt. Conner Hicks, chief of detail. Additional men are needed to staff the artillery unit which at present has 28 men and six officers. Joining the unit Monday night was Wilbur Pitch, Pampa. Cpl. Ronald Johnson, lectured during the two-hour meeting on "servicing the 155 mm. howitzer."

Atomic Energy Bill Passage Is Expected

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 — UP — The House was expected to stamp final congressional approval on the administration's long-debated atomic energy bill Tuesday and send it to the White House for President Eisenhower's signature. The measure, which touched off the recent historic filibuster, easily cleared the recommended Senate Monday night by a 59 to 17 vote after only 17 minutes of debate. Sixteen Democrats and Sen. Wayne Morse (Ind.-Ore.) voted against the final bill. It was endorsed by 39 Republicans and 20 Democrats. As sent to the House, the bill was a compromise. It contained provisions for protection of public power interests demanded by Senate Democrats who had assailed the original bill as a "giveaway" to private concerns in speech after speech during the marathon 13-day debate. Chief compromise provisions worked out by a House-Senate conference committee included agreement to force private firms to share atomic inventions on a fee basis to other firms. The conferees put a five-year limit on the patent provision, instead of the 10 years the Senate had recommended. The compulsory patent sharing provisions was not included in an earlier compromise version — approved by the House — but which the Senate rejected and tossed back to conference again. The conferees also agreed Monday to require the Atomic Energy Commission to give public bodies "preference" on distribution of atomic power. Democratic foes of the earlier compromise bill said three words it included — "insofar as practicable" — meant the AEC could deny the long-established practice of giving public power projects, including rural electric cooperatives, first call on any atomic power sold to the public.

$2 Bills To Flood Area Next Week

Phillips Petroleum Company employees in the Pampa area will be paid $30,000 in $2 bills within the next week. Idea is for them to participate in Greater Pampa $2 Days, Aug. 30-31, a promotion being sponsored by Phillips personnel in cooperation with local Panhandle merchants to show the purchasing power of Phillips employees. The Phillips Kingmill pipeline department gets paid Thursday, E. O. Pulliam, repairman, said late this morning. Employees at the Castberry lease production department will be paid Friday and those in the gasoline and gas department of the Pampa plant, 10 miles south of town, Aug. 24. Each of Pampa's two banks will set up a teller's window and the sheriff's office will provide an armed guard to transport the money to the paying places, Pulliam said. Pulliam emphasized it is strictly a movement on the part of the employees and is backed by their union, too. The money they will receive represents 14 days of take-home pay. While the $2 bills are being sponsored by Phillips associates, the values these days are for everyone. Brown & Hinkle Inc. Plumbing, sheet metal, heating, air conditioning, 31 N. Coffee Price On Decline

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 — UP — The American housewife will pay from two to 10 cents less for a pound of coffee within the next 30 days, industry sources indicated Tuesday. The first slash in coffee prices in eight months began on the wholesale level Monday as a result of new currency regulations in Brazil. Brazil supplies half of the 2.6 billion pounds of coffee consumed in the United States each year. Brazilian officials predicted the drop in coffee prices when it announced its new currency exchange restrictions last Saturday. In futures trading Monday on the New York coffee and sugar exchange, coffee prices broke two cents a pound for Santos (Brazilian) coffee. The bill, which includes the administration's controversial flexible price support formula, seemed virtually assured of passage. Even opponents of its major provisions predicted it would pass as a House-Senate conference committee sealed a major victory for President Eisenhower Monday by reaching agreement on all details of the measure without raising government supports on dairy products. The bill gives the President most of his farm policy goals. And it offers Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson a chance to prove his contention that flexible and lower price props will reduce farm surpluses and lead eventually to the 1952 GOP campaign promise to farmers of "full parity in the market place." The most controversial section of the farm bill, approved after heavy White House pressure on both sides of Capitol Hill, shifts price supports on five "basic" crops to a flexible scale starting next year. Federal props for wheat, cotton, rice, peanuts and corn will range between 82 1/2 to 90 percent of parity. The administration settled for that range after first asking for a 75-90 per cent scale.

Flexible Farm Bill Up For Final Okay

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 — UP — A compromise farm bill stripping high rigid price supports from major crops for the first time since World War II headed for final congressional approval Tuesday. Chairman Clifford R. Hope (R-Kan.) of the House Agriculture committee planned to call the measure up for a vote soon after the House meets at noon, Senate action was expected to follow quickly. The bill, which includes the administration's controversial flexible price support formula, seemed virtually assured of passage. Even opponents of its major provisions predicted it would pass as a House-Senate conference committee sealed a major victory for President Eisenhower Monday by reaching agreement on all details of the measure without raising

KPAT Named 'Official' Broadcaster

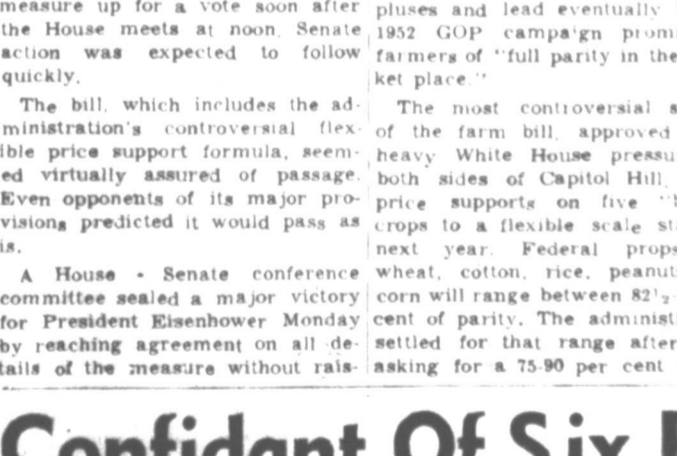

Both Pampa radio stations this fall will broadcast all Pampa Haverster home games and non-conference away games. Station KPAT this year will be the station "certified" by the Pampa school board to do the conference away games. Next year it will be KPDN. And so it will rotate. Problem Solved That was the decision Monday night of the Pampa School Board, which thereby extricated itself from a problem that has come up every year — which local station will do the broadcasting. The decision will hold for football, basketball and baseball. Both stations will be able to broadcast, too, the Pampa Guerrilla and Pampa Reaper games in those three sports. It was never made clear, however, whether both stations could do an away conference game, provided permission of the school being visited could be procured. Coy Palmer, co-owner of KPDN, and Jim Terrell and Ed Murphree, part owners of KPAT, were on hand at 8 p.m. Monday in the school business office of City Hall when the school board met — broadcasting was the only item on the agenda. Decision Approved Palmer and Terrell did the talking for their respective stations. When each had finished, the board went into a huddle. It was Board Member Rex Ross who first suggested both stations doing the broadcasting. At one point, it was even suggested that school board members sell advertising and let the advertisers pick which station they preferred. When the board announced its decision, representatives of both stations indicated their approval. Everyone seemed to agree when Board Member Gene Green, midway through the discussion, commented: "This is a bigger problem than running the schools." If it comes from a hardware store we have it. Confidant Of Six Presidents Looks Back On Eventful Life

EDITOR'S NOTE: Bernard M. Baruch has served six presidents as an adviser on problems of peace and war. He currently is tending to his private business with a vigor and enthusiasm that belie his age. He will be 84 years old Thursday, and on the occasion granted United Press an interview in his skyscraper office in Manhattan. By ROBERT ZIMMERMAN NEW YORK, Aug. 17 — UP — Bernard Baruch, who will be 84 this week, took a long backward look Tuesday at a full and fruitful life. This is what he had to say. ON PEACE — "Peace is possible, but the responsibility rests with us. I mean you and me. It depends on how much we're willing to pay, to sacrifice. Everybody wants peace but he wants it in his own image and he's willing to go to war for it. That's the trouble. It's true that experience teaches, but it's also true that nobody learns." ON DEFENSE — "I think now that the second world war was unnecessary, really. If we had started preparing for war in 1938 like we should have there wouldn't have been a world war. Hitler wouldn't have dared do what he did. It's like any town or city. The only way to keep the peace is to have a good police force." ON NATIONAL AFFAIRS — "I disagree with something they do in Washington it won't help matters any for me to say so, and I agree with what they do they don't need my opinion to buttress them. When my advice is wanted I'll be ready to give it." ON AMERICA — "We used to measure our standard of living in terms of food and clothing and shelter. But we are beyond that now. The problems today are education, hygiene, transportation and even amusement. What a man does in his leisure time is as much a part of his standard of living as what he eats." ON YOUTH — "I hope they find some way to give schoolteachers more pay. The way mothers and fathers are both working these days teachers have more responsibility, more influence on how (See BARUCH, Page 3)

'Fowl Play,' Says Rogers

Rep. Walter Rogers got the bird in his Washington home — an unmixed guest for breakfast. "Just as he was leaving the house one day last week the congressman was called back by his wife to the breakfast table, in the center of which was a live pigeon. "No one seemed to know where he came from or how," Rogers states in his weekly newsletter. "Time was too short for me to cross-examine any of the children, but I hope to have the mystery solved." It takes quite a bit of discussion with the children sometimes to get all the facts assembled and properly documented and coordinated he says, "but we usually come up with a pretty clear picture as an end result." Then he adds: "None of them has yet pleaded the Fifth Amendment."

HOLLYWOOD TODAY!

MOVIES - TV - RADIO
by Erskine Johnson

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Gays and Dolls: Julie Harris, the darling of Broadway, failed to inspire odes-and-ahs from moviegoers when she starred in the film version of her New York spotlight hit, "Member of the Wedding."

But—hold on—she, too, is a member of the audience group that didn't like the movie.

Playing a grown-up heroine in John Steinbeck's "East of Eden," Julie opined that "they photographed the stage play. It should have contained more of the material from the book to explain the little girl's loneliness against the background of the town."

"If I had been an unknown, I might have got away with playing Frankie. It wasn't bad from the waist up. But from the waist down, particularly my legs, I didn't look 12 years old."

KEEFE BRASSELLE is about to face the cameras for his first movie since "The Eddie Cantor Story." Playing the banjo-eyed star didn't boost Keefe into the Brando-Peck class as a prestige actor, but he's not "Mad at the World"—the title of his new flicker about juvenile delinquency.

"The only thing I can say," Keefe told me, "is that the Cannes picture did me a lot of good name-wise. It was a springboard. A lot of people saw me. Now I can come back as me. If I had played the picture as myself, it might have done me more good as an actor."

But it wasn't Keefe Brasselle. "If it had been, I'd be Cantor walking down the street for the rest of my life. I played it like him. And it wasn't my fault that it didn't come off in the most romantic way."

IN FULL BLOOM at the 35-year mark, Teresa Wright is playing an older woman for the second time of her career in "Track of the Cat." Now it's "Enough is enough."

"It all started," she told me, "when they asked me to test for the role of Jean Simmons' mother in 'The Actress' at MGM. They liked it, so I went ahead. By acting standards, it was the best part I ever had. But since then I've been getting offers to play the mother of everybody in Hollywood."

Her SOS to Hollywood: "Look, I don't want to make a career of it. I'm delighted at the challenge, but I'd like to get comedy roles and romantic parts in between. People are looking at me in a strange way and telling me that I look so well. I'm getting nervous about it."

The verdict of the great popcorn-eating American jury on Jose Ferrer popping up as a dancer in MGM's "Deep in My Heart" has still to come in. But the man who won an Oscar for "Cyrano de Bergerac" isn't about to give up his job to star in an all-out song-and-dance flicker.

"I'm having a field day," he beamed between one-two-three kick sessions of the picture and said that he and his wife, Rosemary Clooney, will do a musical together after their first child is born next January, "if we can find the right story."

His surprise for Hollywood: His lawyers are negotiating now for the rights to George M. Cohan's "Song and Dance Man." But, he admits, "it's a complicated deal."

BOBETTY SANDBRIDGE, long an "I'm sorry" girl when it came to showing a bit of shapely calf or a patch of bare midriff, has finally swung over to the Marilyn Monroe point of view.

Obliging the lemmings on the set of "Carmen Jones" by lifting her skirt and even slipping into bathing suits for publicity cheesecake, she told me:

"They grove for night-club actresses was one thing, but I had a boiling against cheesecake and the 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, 133, 134, 135, 136, 137, 138, 139, 140, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145, 146, 147, 148, 149, 150, 151, 152, 153, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 159, 160, 161, 162, 163, 164, 165, 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 171, 172, 173, 174, 175, 176, 177, 178, 179, 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189, 190, 191, 192, 193, 194, 195, 196, 197, 198, 199, 200, 201, 202, 203, 204, 205, 206, 207, 208, 209, 210, 211, 212, 213, 214, 215, 216, 217, 218, 219, 220, 221, 222, 223, 224, 225, 226, 227, 228, 229, 230, 231, 232, 233, 234, 235, 236, 237, 238, 239, 240, 241, 242, 243, 244, 245, 246, 247, 248, 249, 250, 251, 252, 253, 254, 255, 256, 257, 258, 259, 260, 261, 262, 263, 264, 265, 266, 267, 268, 269, 270, 271, 272, 273, 274, 275, 276, 277, 278, 279, 280, 281, 282, 283, 284, 285, 286, 287, 288, 289, 290, 291, 292, 293, 294, 295, 296, 297, 298, 299, 300, 301, 302, 303, 304, 305, 306, 307, 308, 309, 310, 311, 312, 313, 314, 315, 316, 317, 318, 319, 320, 321, 322, 323, 324, 325, 326, 327, 328, 329, 330, 331, 332, 333, 334, 335, 336, 337, 338, 339, 340, 341, 342, 343, 344, 345, 346, 347, 348, 349, 350, 351, 352, 353, 354, 355, 356, 357, 358, 359, 360, 361, 362, 363, 364, 365, 366, 367, 368, 369, 370, 371, 372, 373, 374, 375, 376, 377, 378, 379, 380, 381, 382, 383, 384, 385, 386, 387, 388, 389, 390, 391, 392, 393, 394, 395, 396, 397, 398, 399, 400, 401, 402, 403, 404, 405, 406, 407, 408, 409, 410, 411, 412, 413, 414, 415, 416, 417, 418, 419, 420, 421, 422, 423, 424, 425, 426, 427, 428, 429, 430, 431, 432, 433, 434, 435, 436, 437, 438, 439, 440, 441, 442, 443, 444, 445, 446, 447, 448, 449, 450, 451, 452, 453, 454, 455, 456, 457, 458, 459, 460, 461, 462, 463, 464, 465, 466, 467, 468, 469, 470, 471, 472, 473, 474, 475, 476, 477, 478, 479, 480, 481, 482, 483, 484, 485, 486, 487, 488, 489, 490, 491, 492, 493, 494, 495, 496, 497, 498, 499, 500, 501, 502, 503, 504, 505, 506, 507, 508, 509, 510, 511, 512, 513, 514, 515, 516, 517, 518, 519, 520, 521, 522, 523, 524, 525, 526, 527, 528, 529, 530, 531, 532, 533, 534, 535, 536, 537, 538, 539, 540, 541, 542, 543, 544, 545, 546, 547, 548, 549, 550, 551, 552, 553, 554, 555, 556, 557, 558, 559, 560, 561, 562, 563, 564, 565, 566, 567, 568, 569, 570, 571, 572, 573, 574, 575, 576, 577, 578, 579, 580, 581, 582, 583, 584, 585, 586, 587, 588, 589, 590, 591, 592, 593, 594, 595, 596, 597, 598, 599, 600, 601, 602, 603, 604, 605, 606, 607, 608, 609, 610, 611, 612, 613, 614, 615, 616, 617, 618, 619, 620, 621, 622, 623, 624, 625, 626, 627, 628, 629, 630, 631, 632, 633, 634, 635, 636, 637, 638, 639, 640, 641, 642, 643, 644, 645, 646, 647, 648, 649, 650, 651, 652, 653, 654, 655, 656, 657, 658, 659, 660, 661, 662, 663, 664, 665, 666, 667, 668, 669, 670, 671, 672, 673, 674, 675, 676, 677, 678, 679, 680, 681, 682, 683, 684, 685, 686, 687, 688, 689, 690, 691, 692, 693, 694, 695, 696, 697, 698, 699, 700, 701, 702, 703, 704, 705, 706, 707, 708, 709, 710, 711, 712, 713, 714, 715, 716, 717, 718, 719, 720, 721, 722, 723, 724, 725, 726, 727, 728, 729, 730, 731, 732, 733, 734, 735, 736, 737, 738, 739, 740, 741, 742, 743, 744, 745, 746, 747, 748, 749, 750, 751, 752, 753, 754, 755, 756, 757, 758, 759, 760, 761, 762, 763, 764, 765, 766, 767, 768, 769, 770, 771, 772, 773, 774, 775, 776, 777, 778, 779, 780, 781, 782, 783, 784, 785, 786, 787, 788, 789, 790, 791, 792, 793, 794, 795, 796, 797, 798, 799, 800, 801, 802, 803, 804, 805, 806, 807, 808, 809, 810, 811, 812, 813, 814, 815, 816, 817, 818, 819, 820, 821, 822, 823, 824, 825, 826, 827, 828, 829, 830, 831, 832, 833, 834, 835, 836, 837, 838, 839, 840, 841, 842, 843, 844, 845, 846, 847, 848, 849, 850, 851, 852, 853, 854, 855, 856, 857, 858, 859, 860, 861, 862, 863, 864, 865, 866, 867, 868, 869, 870, 871, 872, 873, 874, 875, 876, 877, 878, 879, 880, 881, 882, 883, 884, 885, 886, 887, 888, 889, 890, 891, 892, 893, 894, 895, 896, 897, 898, 899, 900, 901, 902, 903, 904, 905, 906, 907, 908, 909, 910, 911, 912, 913, 914, 915, 916, 917, 918, 919, 920, 921, 922, 923, 924, 925, 926, 927, 928, 929, 930, 931, 932, 933, 934, 935, 936, 937, 938, 939, 940, 941, 942, 943, 944, 945, 946, 947, 948, 949, 950, 951, 952, 953, 954, 955, 956, 957, 958, 959, 960, 961, 962, 963, 964, 965, 966, 967, 968, 969, 970, 971, 972, 973, 974, 975, 976, 977, 978, 979, 980, 981, 982, 983, 984, 985, 986, 987, 988, 989, 990, 991, 992, 993, 994, 995, 996, 997, 998, 999, 1000.

Landlord Helps Gals In Distress

DALLAS, Aug. 17—UP—An apartment house owner Monday offered his unemployed American Airline hostess tenants two weeks free rent to help tide them through the emergency caused by their suspension due to a pilots' strike.

Frank H. Abel, who owns a 132-unit project near Love Field, made the offer to 28 hostesses who live in one seven-unit building in the project.

Variety reported it under the title, "Pressing the Subject."

On a press junket to the "Moby Dick" location in Ireland, a theater owner, Louis Edelman, was discovered slipping an Irish-and-water amidst the newsmen. One of whom asked him: "What are you going here?"

Replied Edelman: "Forgive us our press passes as we forgive them that pass against us."

Zippiest quote of the week, from C. B. DeMille, who is preparing "The Ten Commandments":

"The best performance some stars ever give is to bad manners upon being told theirs is a small role. Their trouble is they all want to be Little Boopie."

Reduced Hay Rail Rates Asked

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—UP—Western railroads were urged Monday to cut freight rates on cattle and hay shipments to and from drought areas.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson said farmers in parts of Arkansas, Colorado, Missouri, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas and Wyoming were suffering great losses and were being forced to reduce or eliminate their herds.

He suggested the railroads cut rates on cattle shipped out of the drought-stricken areas, and on hay shipped into them.

The Senate, meanwhile, completed congressional action on a bill to let the Agriculture Department make loans, totaling $15 million, to farmers and stockmen who need emergency credit.

The bill went to the White House after the Senate accepted a House amendment that provided for a June 30, 1955, expiration date instead of the Dec. 31, 1954, date the Senate bill originally contained.

Benson also urged stockmen in drought areas to plant fall and winter grazing crops as soon as possible. He said rains in the past 10 days will make early planting possible in some areas.

Border Briefs

PAWNEE, Okla., Aug. 17—UP—Mrs. C. O. Tillman, 41, was killed Monday and her two daughters were injured when their car skidded into the engine of a Santa Fe passenger train.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 17—UP—Republican State Chairman Douglas McKeever hunted Monday for candidates for state insurance commissioner and state representative from Lincoln county.

The Republican nominees, Charles E. Day of Enid, and Robert L. Remington of Stroud, Monday formally quit the races for insurance commission and state representative, respectively.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 17—UP—The State Insurance Board will continue its hearing Tuesday on a proposed 4 1/2 per cent cut in workmen's compensation insurance rates.

The National Council on Workmen's Compensation suggested the cut, after the board's order, earlier this year, for a 20.6 per cent slash, was withdrawn after being appealed to the state Supreme Court.

No Ceremony For Matador This Time

TJUJANA, Mex., Aug. 17—UP—Spanish bullfighter Lola Miguel Dominguin, accustomed to bowing out of a bullring in graceful triumph, knew Tuesday the pangs of making a sudden and unceremonious exit in the custody of officers.

The famed matador, recent escort of actress Ava Gardner, was ousted from Mexico Monday for having entered that country illegally to see a bullfight. He did not have a visa to visit Mexico.

Dominguin was seated with French actress Annabella and other Hollywood friends at the Tijuana bull arena Sunday when he was suddenly whisked away by Mexican immigration authorities.

He was detained overnight at his hotel, given a stern lecture on Mexican immigration laws at a hearing early Monday and then ushered back across the border into the United States.

Mexico does not recognize the Franco government of Spain and Spaniards are allowed to visit Mexico only by special visa.

OH, CHUCKS—Five-year-old Bill Pecha, of Eau Claire, Wis., sits on his front porch, with his pet woodchuck, "Woodie." The Pechas got Woodie as a cub from the farm of a relative. While tiny, he was fed from a doll's milk bottle. Now three months old, he has acquired a taste for toast with jelly on it, cereals and nuts. If his water pan is empty and he wants a drink, he'll scratch on the door until he gets service.

AUSTIN, Aug. 17—UP—Gov. Allan Shivers scheduled six speeches in West Texas Tuesday, including a statewide radio and television speech from El Paso. He will appear earlier at Stamford, Winson, Roby, Rotan and Hamlin.

Monday Shivers accused his opponent, Ralph Yarborough, of breaking a state law by "peddling promises of appointments to state offices" if elected.

Library Official Visits In Pampa

William K. Peace, acting state director of library extension, was in Pampa recently to confer with Mrs. Lillian Snow, city librarian, and C. P. Buckler, trustee of the new Lovett Memorial Library.

Peace is making an extensive tour of the state's county and public libraries to evaluate library services in the different communities with a view toward bettering present standards.

The English statesman, Edmund Burke, first referred to the newspaper profession as the Fourth Estate.

Jumps to Death from Hospital

DALLAS, Aug. 17—UP—W. J. Mitchell, 62, apparently jumped to his death from the fourth floor of Methodist hospital Sunday while visiting a step-daughter, who was a patient at the hospital. Mitchell's wife said he had been "mentally upset for some time."

Senale Cites Witnesses

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 — UP — The Senate Monday voted to cite three witnesses, including wealthy New Yorker Corliss Lamont, for contempt of Congress for refusing to answer questions before Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's investigating subcommittee.

Lamont, notified of the action in New York, said he was determined to fight his case through to the Supreme Court. He said the Senate "unfortunately failed to recognize that I was correctly upholding the First Amendment and the separation of powers in refusing to answer Sen. McCarthy's improper questions."

Each of the contempt citations was opposed by Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (D-N.Y.); Sen. William Langer (R-N.D.); and Dennis Chavez (D-N.Y.) opposed the Lamont citation.

In addition to Lamont, the Senate cited Abraham Unger and Albert Shadowitz, both of New York. The cases were referred to the Justice Department for prosecution.

Lamont refused to take the oath and to answer various questions before McCarthy's subcommittee. He invoked the First Amendment to the Constitution, often called the "free speech" amendment, and proclaimed that he was a loyal American and had never been a member of the Communist party.

NO ELECTIONEERING!

The distance markers put up for the July 24 GOP and Demo primaries are still attached to poles between City Hall and the Courthouse. But political candidates in the Aug. 28 Demo runoff primary have not been taking heed of the "no electioneering" warning. Gubernatorial Candidate Ralph Yarborough, for one, stood between this sign and the polls and campaigned. But candidates have no worry—it just applies to election day. (News Photo)

Skelly Bows In State Opener

SHAMROCK, Aug. 17 — (Special) — Miami and Memphis registered wins in the opening games of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce Tournament here Monday night.

Miami downed Rushing Service Station of Shamrock in the first game, 9-5, while Memphis edged past Skelly Oilers of Pampa in the second tilt, 3-1.

Four more teams will see action for the first time tonight. Gould, Okla., will meet Cheyenne, Okla., in the first game on Tuesday's card at 7:30, to be followed by Phillips, Tex., and Canadian at 9:00.

The first round of play in the double-elimination tournament will be unreeled Wednesday night. The Wednesday card pits LaCasa and Elk City in the opener at 7:30, and K. C. Steak House of Shamrock and Bell Telephone of Pampa in the second game at 9:00.

The Green Sox, 13th team in competing in the tournament, drew a first round bye.

In Monday's Memphis - Skelly game, Memphis came from behind in the fifth inning to score all their runs to wipe out a 1-0 Skelly lead. Skelly had scored their lone run in the first inning on Chester Darnell's sacrifice and Bill Stephens' single.

Memphis' rally in the 5th came on a single, two errors, a fielder's choice and a passed ball.

Edk Anthony, Memphis pitcher, got the only hit for the winners off Skelly's Paul Patterson. Anthony's hit came during the three-run rally in the fifth.

Skelly got four hits off Anthony.

Civic Groups To Discuss Youth Community Center Plan

What Pampa thinks about a community center for its youth, an idea that has been kicking around since 1947, will be the subject of a meeting scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Pampa Boys Club, 515 S. Cuyler.

Co-sponsored by the Boys Club and the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, the session will be for the purpose of hearing the ideas of Pampa individuals and organizations on the proposed center.

All civic organizations in Pampa have been invited to the meeting, John Campbell, an official of both the Boys Club and the Jaycees, said late this morning.

Originally, it was to be just a meeting of Boys Club officials with Thomas J. Craighead, regional director of the Boys Club of America, on hand, Campbell explained.

But it was decided to "broaden the base."

The idea of a community center has cropped up now and then for the last seven or eight years. But this is the first tangible meeting in some time for deciding whether it is a feasible plan.

The Pampa Daily News several months ago carried a full-length story showing the history and prospects of such a community center.

Nine Firms Cast Water Pipe Bids

City commissioners late this morning were considering nine bids on 5,700 feet of four-inch water pipe.

Five firms bid on cast-iron pipe. Three sent bids on cement asbestos. And one included no quotation whatsoever.

Bidding identical prices — $9 cents a foot, $5,073 total — on cement asbestos pipe were Viking Supply Corp., Dallas; Morrison Supply Co., Amarillo; and Johns Manville, Houston.

These were the five bids on cast-iron pipe: American Cast Iron and Pipe, Dallas, $6,352.90; Lone Star Steel, Dallas, $5,700; National Cast Iron, Dallas, unit price of $1.09 a foot; U. S. Pipe and Foundry, Dallas, unit price of $1.05 a foot; and Clowe and Cowan, Inc., Amarillo, $6,612. Moorelane Co., Amarillo, sent no quotation.

Various bids were also included on a coupling puller to go with the pipe.

day, the first made by any of the delegates from Communist nations, appealed to the Christian church to sever itself from identification with any of the world's political or social ideologies.

"Temptation to Drift"

"Amidst the problems of secularization and social change the church has the constant temptation simply to drift along with events," Peter said.

"In order to find help in resisting this temptation we must take strong hold upon our basic Christian beliefs, proclaiming that the existence of the church is not bound up with any social system but serves independently of the changes in the social systems.

"I believe that, not only in our country (Hungary) but everywhere in the world where there are Christians, the churches ought to voice this independence of the church of all social systems more courageously and more resolutely than heretofore."

At a news conference Monday, Charles P. Taft, brother of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, said he knew of no restrictions placed on Peter by the council of the U.S. State Department on what he could say in this country.

"As to what his own government will let him say, you people will have to judge for yourself," Taft told newsmen while acting as a council spokesman.

Mitchell conceded that maybe it was only a "coincidence" and maybe Jones never talked to the President about the deal.

"But I do know this," he added. "If a Democratic president had ever done anything like this, we never would have heard the last word of cronyism and corruption."

GLANCING BACKWARD

(From the Files of The Pampa Daily News)

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY
Local draft age daddies and expectant fathers were reminded to tell local draft boards about their children.

The county commissioners were still waiting for somebody to appear at the annual public hearing on the county budget.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY
"Trooper," a small, red cocker spaniel joined the Pampa National Guard unit. He replaced the unit's first mascot, just earlier that year.

The incidence of polio increased in Pampa, with eight cases being sent to West Texas Polio Center at Plainview.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY
American armored forces were within 35 miles of Paris under the driving surge of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton.

Diplomats were granted to 15 peace officers in Pampa, marking the conclusion of one of the only two police schools held in the Panhandle. The other school was held in Amarillo.

Salvation Army Cuts Fund Goal

The Salvation Army, with a grant of $9,500 from last year's United Fund Drive, voted Monday to reduce its 1955 request for funds by $100.

A $9,400 budgetary request was prepared by the commanding officer of the local Salvation Army unit, Envoy H. C. Seago, and approved by the Army's advisory board.

Funds needed to carry on the work of the Salvation Army were estimated at $15,256 for 1955. Income will be supplemented by meeting collections, sale of publications and member contributions.

The 1955 budget calls for $2,080 as salary for Envoy Seago and his wife, $2,600 for personnel, $750 for auto maintenance, $1,577 for publications, $1,400 for family aid with $500 to aid transients, $500 for Christmas welfare, $312 for missionary work and a needed $400 for youth activities.

During the past year the Army conducted, among other activities, 53 domestic guidance classes made 581 home visits, 475 hospital visits, 702 other persons visited, distributed 933 gifts and publications, gave aid to 297 transients, 284 nights' lodging and 354 meals, in addition to paying rents, buying medical supplies, groceries for the needy and distributing garments.

Attending the luncheon meeting were Chairman Calvin Whatley; Irvin Cole; J. N. McKean; Envoy and Mrs. H. C. Seago; Cliff Whitney; A. A. Schuneman; B. R. Nuckols.

Two Fined For DWI

A Pampa man and a Shamrock man each was fined in County Court on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Lewis Peter King, 21, of Shamrock, picked up at 10:41 p.m. Saturday by city police, was fined $125 and costs. And Earl O. Eckroat, 60, of 815 E. Locust, was fined $100 and costs. Both pleaded guilty.

King was arrested in the 500-block of South Cuyler after he was reported to have collided with a car owned by Weldon R. Smith, knocking the Smith vehicle into another owned by Dan S. Henry. Eckroat was picked up at 1:40 p.m. Saturday going north in the 600- and 700-blocks of South Cuyler. He was reported to have almost collided with a parked truck.

Primary Today In Wyoming

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 17 — UP — Warm, fair weather was expected to encourage primary voting in sparsely-populated Wyoming Tuesday for hotly contested congressional and gubernatorial nominations.

Former Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, who served 19 years in Washington before being unseated by Republican Frank Barrett in 1952, was unopposed for the Democratic nomination to succeed the late Sen. Lester C. Hunt (D-Wyo.).

But Rep. William Henry Harrison (R-Wyo.) and four other Republicans were bitterly disputing the GOP nomination to run against O'Mahoney.

FORT WORTH, Aug. 17 — UP — A sprawling dive made Sunday into Eagle Mountain Lake with the intention of splashing water on children playing in a shallow area put Frank Vany 37, of suburban Forest Hill, in a hospital here with a broken neck.

Mrs. Kate Brown Dies Monday

Mrs. Kate Brown, 80, of Shamrock, died Monday in Highland General Hospital. She had been in the hospital here three days. Her body was taken to Shamrock by the Clay Funeral Home.

A member of the Methodist church, she is survived by a son, C. V. Brown, Lela.

Absentee Votes Pass 100 Mark

The absentee vote for the Aug. 28 Democratic runoff primary was over the 100-mark late this morning — with still a week left for voting.

The count was 98 votes cast in person in the office of County Clerk Charlie Thut and seven more received by mail. Still outstanding though, are 40 more ballots that have been mailed out and not yet returned.

Absentees will be counted provided they are postmarked before midnight Aug. 24 and are received in Thut's office by Aug. 28, election day.

Runoff candidates for paid county offices and below must file their second of two campaign expense reports in Thut's office between Aug. 23 and 25.

Jane Talk

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

(Editor's note: While Women's Page Editor Jane Kadingo is on vacation, this column will be written by guest authors. Today's column is by Ed Nash, Pampa News staff writer.)

WHEN THE NATTY PAMPAN STROLLS down the street this fall, he is likely to be decked out in a charcoal black sport jacket and — pink pants.

Yep, that's right, PINK pants. And his tie may have a spot or two of pink, too.

Pink and helio, the latter a pastel shade of purple, are the two big colors for men's accessories this fall, Ed Myatt, Pampa men's apparel store proprietor, says.

The trends in male clothing this fall are toward darker shades of fabric and more color in accessories. That will mean, Myatt points out, charcoal black, brown and gray tweed suits with pink and lavender socks.

Querted somewhat skeptically on whether a Panhandle man would buy a pair of pink pants, Myatt commented, "We got 24 pairs and sold out 23 of them in less than two weeks."

Sport shirts for men will follow the same general pattern of the style change. Many of them will be black and pink, or charcoal and helio, the pink being a very thin pink piping around the collar, up and down the shirt front opening, or across the top of the pocket.

This is the first radical change in men's clothing color in some years, Myatt says. But the fabric of suits, coats and pants will remain the same, that soft-wool stuff.

It will be a change for suits. A year ago Pampans were buying gray and tan flannels. The Navy blue gabardine suit that was so popular last fall will again be in vogue this year. But not the flannels.

Most male clothing will be more on the formal side this fall and winter. That goes for the sport jacket, too. One of the smart new jackets is very black with white buttons to spruce it up. Others have the crossway corduroy type of weave to them.

Some of the new sports shirts will have wider stripes and piping than usual. Half the collar of some of them will be piping and that means one-half an inch on the pocket and shirt front, also.

Fall and winter hats will "respect" the colors of suits, they will have the same tones, Myatt comments. "They don't change much."

Shoes are another standard item. But at least one company has come out this fall with a lower cut shoe. Black will be the fundamental color, not brown or tan as in the past.

The general "cut" of mens clothing will be more on the conservative side, Myatt goes on. The coat lapels will be narrower, the shoulders and sleeves will have less padding. "It will be a tapered-down look."

"Call it the Ivy League model," he says.

There will be of subdued shades in silk. Hand-embroidered designs will be in evidence, as will traces of that new helio color.

Not forgetting Pampa's youth, One In Series Of Parties Given

CANADIAN — (Special) — Mrs. Bob Ward and Mrs. Ben Parnell were hostesses to a bridge party in the L. P. Ward home, 600 Main, recently.

This was a series of coffees and bridge parties to be held by Canadian E.S.A. members to help raise money for the polo drive. Each guest is asked to bring $1.00 for the fund.

Lime sodas and cookies were served to the quiet tables preceding the bridge games. Mrs. Red Owens held high score for the evening and Mrs. John D. Glenn won second high. Traveling prize went to Mrs. Red Owens.

Guests attending were Misses Marjorie Waterfield, Logan Owens, Harry Wilbur, Jr., John D. Glenn, Lucille Wright, Bill Barlett, Cap Kelley, Dale Nix, Ruth Snyder, Virginia Ingwersen, E. S. F. Brainard, Charles Douglass, Robert Cochran, Calvin Isaacs, and the hostesses.

Birthday Party Honors Canadianite

CANADIAN — (Special) — Danny Coffey was honored by his mother, Mrs. Cleo Coffey, Jr., with a party on his third birthday Thursday morning.

Birthday cake and lemonade were served to the guests and whistles were given as favors.

Attending were Sally Hill, Tommy Hill, Jeanne Farnell, George Dillman, Bill E. Blackmore, Brenda Blackmore, Sue Lynn George, Ricky Hodges, Mary Hodges, Dale Pair, Janis Wilson, Barbara Franzworth, Cindy Franzworth and the honoree, Danny Coffey.

Sending gifts were Melissa Dickson, Jody and Bill Hobdy, Bob and Mary, Jane Hill and Debbie Morgan.

Boys' Suits Patterned After Dad's For Back-To-School Wear This Fall

The manly air is the thing in boys' suits for back-to-school wear this fall. Suits are tailored just like dad's. Young man (left) wears color-flecked avisco rayon suit that's single-breasted, two-button style. His pal (right) has rayon blend flannel suit with white yarn slub pattern. Vest is bright red rayon-and-cotton corduroy. —By GAILE DUGAS, NEA Women's Editor.

A good way to keep your wardrobe in tip-top shape is to have a week-end check without fail. Sort out the clothes that need cleaning, that are minus buttons, that need pressing, that need fresh collars and cuffs. And you'll avoid that sinking last-minute feeling you get when a survey of your closet reveals you've literally nothing to wear.

MODELING HER OWN

Miss Carolyn Anderwald, 15, of White Deer, models a dress of her own creation before Mrs. Ruby Campbell, Hemphill County home demonstration agent, judge for Monday's Gray County 4-H Club dress review. This picture was taken shortly before Miss Anderwald was declared the winner. She will compete Aug. 25 in Amarillo in the district dress review. Other winners will be announced during the Top O' Texas Livestock and Agriculture Achievement Days, Aug. 26-27. (News photo)

Looper And Bean Exchange Vows

MIAMI — (Special) — Miss Cathryn Adele Looper, daughter of Mrs. Juanita Looper, and David Ross Bean, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Bean, were married recently in a double-ring service in the First Christian Church, Miami.

Rev. Ed Bridwell read the vows before a setting of candelabra, baskets of pink mums and baskets of orange leaves.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Harrison Looper of Abilene, the bride wore a street-length dress of pink Japanese silk with a fitted bodice and full skirt. Her accessories were white. She wore a halo head-dress of pink net over pink roses. The bride carried a bouquet of pink dwarf mums surrounded by pink split carnations on a white Bible.

Mrs. Ray Carlisle, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a pink silk broad-cloth dress with navy accessories. Her corsage was pink split carnations.

Brother of the bridegroom, Jimmy Bean, was best man, Harold Greenhouse, Miami, and Richard Cowen, Pampa, were ushers.

Candle lighters were Phillip Bengt, Dalhart, cousin of the bride, and Roy Earl Bean, brother of the bridegroom.

Organist Miss Patsy Jackson played traditional wedding marches. Miss Christine Pierce, Pampa, sang "Always." "The Lord's Prayer" and "Give Me Your Hand."

Kings Entertain

CANADIAN — (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. Jack King entertained with a dinner and bridge party in their ranch home recently.

A Mexican meat dish, salad, rolls, tea and cake were served to the guests.

Following dinner, Mrs. Cleo Coffey, Jr., held high score for the evening in the bridge games, and high score prize for the men went to Dr. Roy Sanford. Traveling was won by Mrs. Gilbert Dickens.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Coffey Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Roy Sanford of Perryton, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dillman, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Dickens, and J. B. Reid Jr.

Bridge Party Given

CANADIAN — (Special) — A bridge party was held recently in the Buddy Hobdy home as one of a series of parties given by E. S. A. members to raise money for the polo drive. Mrs. Warren Hill served as co-hostess with Mrs. Hobdy.

Mrs. Gilbert Dickens was awarded the high prize for the evening and Mrs. Dorsey Tubb held second high. Traveling prize went to Mrs. Bob Dillman.

Peach parrot pie and iced tea were served to the guests, and cakes and sandwiches were served during the evening.

Present were Misses Roy Deaton, Bob Tipps, R. A. Flowers, Jr., J. C. Wyatt, Gilbert Dickens, Rev. Massey, John McMordie, Frank McMorris, Jr., Bob Dillman, Quentin Isaacs, Lawrence Teague, and Dorsey Tubb.

Girls' Auxiliary Plans September Coronation Service

A coronation ceremony, to be held in the middle of September, was planned at a recent meeting of the May Belle Taylor Girls' Auxiliary of the Hobart Street Baptist Church.

Miss Lynn Murphree, hostess for the meeting, presided over the business session.

Counselor Betty Wallace finished the book, "The Back Side of Nowhere."

Prayers were led by Mary Frances Clay and Dorothy Rose. Refreshments of soft drinks and cookies were served to Misses Mary Frances Clay, Jo Ann Moxley, Dorothy Rose, Lenore Theman, Paula Jo Vanderburg, Helen Brock, Lynn Murphree, counselor Betty Wallace and two visitors, Marilyn Hendricks and Mrs. Joe Murphree.

Radioactive Hail Hits Washington

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—UP—Some of the hail stones pelting the nation's capital were the size of tennis balls. Children sucked the stones. Only later was it discovered that the stones were radioactive.
It was "rather fortunate," reported three scientists of the Navy's hydrographic office, that the radioactivity was of "low value," and so the stone-sucking kids showed no "apparent ill effects."
Gilbert Jaffe, Walter Wittmann, and Charles C. Bates were disclosing a hitherto unknown fact of the freak storm which hit the District of Columbia on May 26, 1953.

Twenty-nine hours before atomic canon shells had been tested on the Atomic Energy Commission's proving grounds at Frenchman's Flats, Nevada, a distance from the capital of 1,990 nautical miles.
The scientists figured from weather charts that the radioactive particles flung into the sky at Frenchman's Flats should have gotten no farther east than Fort Wayne, Ind., in those 29 hours because the mean wind speed at about 18,800 feet altitude was only 85 knots.
But there was a jet stream that day and they decided it boosted the speed of the particles and got them over the District of Columbia just in time to get into a passing cold front and become the seasoning of forming hail stones.

Shoplifting Gang Exclusive

CANON CITY, Colo., Aug. 17.—UP—Police admitted Monday that a gang of shoplifters eluded their carefully contrived cordon at Royal Gorge by mingling with tourists and boarding the world's steepest incline railway.
The shoplifters were loaded with $900 worth of Indian jewelry, cameras and silverware stolen from a Royal Gorge tourist shop Saturday when they realized they had aroused suspicion.
As plain clothes police gradually worked through sightseers at the top of the dizzying incline railway to surround them, the thieves slipped aboard and rode down to freedom. No one had thought to station officers on the railway.

Police Nab 'Hot' Suspect In Murder

CONROE, Tex., Aug. 17.—UP—A 27-year-old field worker, called by officers "the hottest suspect yet," was arrested here Monday in connection with the bludgeon murder of M. D. Blackman.
Blackman, a 41-year-old Cleveland, Tex., mechanic, was found dead, his body tossed into a roadside ditch, near the Cut 'N' Shoot community Saturday. Deputy Sheriff Ed Lee said the man arrested Monday was one of the last persons to see Blackman alive Friday.
Lee and Constable Harvey Cotton picked up the suspect at his home shortly after midnight. Sheriff Will Willette said the man was "too drunk for questioning."
"We're going to wait till he sobers up," Willette said. "Then if he denies the killing, we'll take him to Austin for a lie detector test."
Willette said the suspect was seen with Blackman at Cut 'N' Shoot tavern late Friday night. Blackman's bludgeoned body was found on a farm road at 5:30 a. m. Saturday.
Willette said he apparently had been tossed from a car.

By BUCK FRANCIS Pampe News Sports Editor

WE DON'T MAKE IT A practice to advertise publications in this corner but we will make an exception to the "Panhandle Pigskin Review" published by Ray Franks at Amarillo.

This publication should be in the hands of all football fans of the Panhandle, whether Class AAAA or Class B fans.

Our space won't permit to tell you what all can be found in this book. You'll just have to see it to find out just what all the book contains.

Of local interest, the book contains the 1954 schedules and prospects of all eight District I-AAAA schools.

The book doesn't speak too highly of the Pampe Harvesters chances in next fall's I-AAAA race. All but Borger and Midland are rated above the Harvesters in the pre-season poll.

On paper that's just about as high as you could rate the Green and Golds. Only one regular plus four other lettermen is all that is returning next fall which will be the first under the head tutelage of Aubra Noncaster.

It has been reported, however, that next year's Harvesters are going all-out to make monkeys out of the pre-season doers.

What the '54 team lacks in ability, they'll make up in "hustle and fight," is the way we see it. But, it's going to take possibly more than this to offset such powers as Abilene, Odessa, Amarillo and Lubbock next fall. All of these school will have a distinct manpower advantage over the Harvesters.

McLean In 'Hot Seat' In District 1-A

There's a lot of interesting data for you District 1A and IAA fans in the Panhandle Pigskin Review, too. McLean's Tigers are picked to win the District 1A title next fall. And ranked behind them are Canadian in second place; Lefors, third; and White Deer, fourth.

We still think McLean should have represented 1-A last year in the playoffs. Actually they finished with the best conference record but through a technicality, the title went to Memphis.

Here is the way it happened: McLean won six and lost one in District 1-A play while Memphis won five, lost one and tied one. But through a "screwed" district ruling, Memphis was awarded the tie game on 20-yard penetrations which made their record read the same as McLean's, 6-1.

The two schools, McLean and Memphis, thus tied for the district championship but Memphis won the right to compete in the district play because it had beaten McLean.

vesters as has been the case the past several years.

Here is the way the I-AAAA teams are ranked for next fall and the way they finished last year:

- 1954 Forecast 1953 Finish
1. Abilene 1. Odessa
2. Odessa 2. Abilene
3. Lubbock 3. Lubbock
4. Amarillo 4. PAMPA*
5. San Angelo 5. Amarillo*
6. PAMPA 6. Borger**
7. Borger 7. San Angelo**
8. Midland 8. Midland
*—Denotes tied for 4th and 5th;
**—Denotes tied for 6th and 7th.

If the pre-season poll turns out to be correct, then only three teams will better themselves over last year. Abilene, Amarillo and San Angelo. Two other teams, Lubbock, and Midland would finish in the same spot as they did last year. Midland, you'll note, finished in the cellar last year and they're picked for that spot again next fall.

In all fairness to the team winding up with the best record, we would urge the District 1-A officials to withdraw the tie-game ruling. There would be one exception, of course. That is, if the two teams who tied for the championship also tied when they played each other, then refer to the 20-yard penetrations.

In 1-A, Phillips is picked to win the title for the umpteenth time with Perryton rated second. Rounding out the top four in 1-AA are Hereford and Dalhart in that order.

In addition to the high school roundup contained in this book, there is also a Southwest Conference roundup, a feature story on Tech and West Texas State and the football schedules of 100 colleges over the nation.

The books are on sale at any newsstand in the Panhandle area for 50 cents apiece.

MEET THE OILERS

CURTIS HARDAWAY

Curtis Hardaway, one of the most promising rookies in the West Texas-New Mexico League, came to the Oilers this year after two years with the Indianapolis Clowns.

Hardaway, who has handled the third basing duties for the Oilers in every game this year with the exception of two, only turned 23 last Friday. He was born Aug. 13 in Muscogee County, Ga.

The Oilers third sacker stands six feet and scales 189 pounds. Hardaway attended Spencer High School in Columbus and participated in baseball, basketball, football, volleyball and tennis.

Latest official averages show Hardaway leading the West Texas-New Mexico League in home runs with 30 and in runs scored with 133.

Several major league scouts have expressed interest in Hardaway this season and it's possible he will be sold before the season is over. However, Hardaway would remain with the Oilers for the rest of the year if he should be sold to a major league outfit before the end of the season.

Pony League World Series Starts Today

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 17.—UP—Some of the nation's best teen-aged baseball players take to the field Tuesday in the battle of 14 teams from throughout the country for the third annual Pony League World Series crown.

The second day of play for the 13 and 14-year-olds will be featured Tuesday night by the first-twenty doubleheader of the series.

Camden, S.C., will meet Monongahela, Pa., and Beverly Hills, Calif., will go against Greensboro, N.C., in games originally scheduled for Monday night but postponed because of a severe thunderstorm hit western Pennsylvania.

The storm struck at the end of the fifth inning of a game between San Antonio and Waltham, Mass. Although there were two innings to be played, the Texans were credited with the victory. They led Waltham 13 to 0 when the game was called.

The victory went to starting pitcher Eddie Van Dyke although he was relieved in the fourth by Melvin Corbo. The two young pitchers were aided by three big bats.

The Texans will meet Warren, Ohio, in a quarter-final game Wednesday.

Oilers-Pioneers In 'Rubber Tilt' Tonite Winner To Take Over League Lead

Very little was settled at Oiler Park last night when the Oilers and Clovis Pioneers battled to an even break in their doubleheader but the two teams will meet again tonight in a single game with the winner to take over the league leadership.

Manager Hershel Martin revealed last night he will use either Jonas Gaines (12-6) or Sad Sam Williams (11-9) in tonight's rubber game of the series with the Pioneers.

The Oilers captured the first game of the twinner last night behind Jose Valesquez, 4-2, but dropped the nightcap when Ruben Phillips tossed a two-hitter for the Pioneers to lead the visitors to a 5-1 victory.

Tonight's crucial game will be preceded by a Little League playoff game between the two league champions of the city. Hoffman Oil will be representing the Eastern League while Spokesman will be the Western League representative.

The Little League contest will start at 6 p.m. It will be the first of a three-game series to decide the city LL champion. The second game will be played Thursday at the Eastern League Park and a third game, if necessary, will be played Friday at the Western park.

There will be no change of admission prices for tonight's attraction as the regular Oiler prices will prevail.

Following tonight's "Little League Night," two more special nights are on tap on the current homestand which ends Thursday night. Amarillo moves in for the final homestand series Wednesday and Thursday with "Bucket Night" set Wednesday and "Kiwanis Night" Thursday.

Tomorrow's "Bucket Night" will allow the fans to pay only what they wish. There will be no ticket sellers at the gate but two tickets will be placed at the entrance and the fans may put whatever they so desire in the bucket as they pass through the gate.

Good pitching was the order of the night in both games of last night's vital twinnin'. Valesquez preceded Phillips' two-hitter with a five-hitter in the opener to enable the Oilers to lead the Pioneers and take a temporary league lead. Both of the Oilers' homeruns came on Bill Metzger's homerun in the second inning.

Valesquez won 12th in the 12th win of the season against six losses, struck out four and walked four. He pitched himself out of one serious jam in the sixth inning when the Pioneers loaded the bases with none away but failed to score.

The Oilers picked up single runs

ROYAL WELCOME -- Buster Baird, left, is being greeted by his team mates at home plate yesterday after just clouting one of his two home runs in leading First National Bank to a 13-10 win over Pampe Druggists in the first game of the PONY League playoffs. Watching the celebration is Lee Wagner, umpire-in-chief of the kid baseball program.

Bankers Take PONY Playoff Lead

The kid baseball attention will be focused on the opening game of the Little League playoff series tonight at Oiler Park after the PONY League got their playoff series underway last night.

First National Bank grabbed the lead in the PONY playoff with a 13-10 decision over Pampe Druggists.

Tonight's Little League playoff series, involving Hoffman Oil of the Eastern League and Spokesman of the Western, will be unreeled in Oiler Park, starting at 6 p.m.

Hoffman won the second half in the Eastern and then won the league title with two straight wins over the first half champs, Cabot, in a playoff. Spokesman won both halves in the Western with no playoff being needed.

Second game of the Little League playoff will be played at the Eastern League Park and a third game, if necessary, will be unreeled at the Western League Park.

Hoffman is managed by Lloyd Summers and Bob Bailey while Joe Fortin and Bill Garrett tutor the Spokesman nine.

Elton Mathis is expected to get the starting call for the Spokesman tonight while Hoffman will counter with either John Campbell or Lynn Boyd.

Both Hoffman and Spokesman will carry eight-game winning streaks into the playoff series.

Buster Baird was the big gun in First National's win over the Pill Rollers in the PONY League playoff opener last night. Baird pounded out two homeruns to drive in three Banker runs.

First National, managed by Dick Woltd and Jerald Sims, built up a 10-0 lead through four innings of play but the Druggists rallied to narrow the gap in the late innings. The Pill Rollers scored seven big runs in the fifth to cut the Banker lead to 10-7 but the First Nationals came right back to score three more in the bottom of the fifth to boost their lead to 13-7.

The Bankers then held on for the victory. David Marler got credit for the win while Dale Lake was charged with the loss.

The second game of the series will be played Thursday. A Banker win would give them the title while a Pill Roller victory would necessitate a third game which would be played Friday.

Abilene Clips Dukes Twice

In their WT-NM League action, Abilene swept a twinnin from Albuquerque, 5-2 abd 3-2, and Amarillo ripped Plainview, 7-6.

Manager Frank Kempa's solo homer in the 12th inning gave Amarillo a 7 to 6 win over Plainview. Lubbock was idle Monday night.

Andy Alonzo of Abilene picked up his 20th victory in the second game when Blue Sox first baseman Bob Pascal doubled home two runs in the bottom of the ninth. Alonzo came in as a relief pitcher.

In the opener, Abilene pitcher Roland Jones limited the Dukes to three hits.

Tuesday night's schedule - Albuquerque at Abilene, Clovis at Pampa and Amarillo at Plainview. Scores by innings:

Roberts Stops Bums, Saves Giants' Lead

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer
Robin Roberts owns more victories than any other pitcher in the majors today and he also owns a suspicion that the three National League contenders may not settle the pennant question until the final week of the season.

Roberts, in hurling the Phillies to a 9 to 6 triumph over the Dodgers in the only game scheduled Monday night, not only gained his 18th victory of the season but also kept Brooklyn from climbing into a virtual first-place tie with the Giants.

Had the Dodgers won, they would have been only two percentage points behind the Giants. As it is, they are one game behind New York and only 2 1/2 games ahead of red-hot third-place Milwaukee.

"The race is so close that there's no telling which team is actually in the driver's seat now," Roberts said following his triumph over the Dodgers.

"There really isn't much to choose between the Giants, Dodgers and Braves," he added. "Brooklyn has the best hitting. New York has the best pitching, and Milwaukee has the best balance and tremendous spirit."

"You can't judge the Dodgers on what they did tonight. They didn't get good pitching. For that matter, we didn't get extra special pitching ourselves."

Roberts said a mouthful. Even though he pitched his 20th complete game of the season, he was nicked for Gil Hodges' 31st home run and Pee Wee Reese's 10th, in addition to which he committed a wild pitch and walked six men. The six bases on balls represented the most Roberts yielded in a single game since the 1951 season.

Not Too Upset
While the Dodgers seemed particularly upset by the loss to the Phils, even though they had tied the score at 4-4 in the third inning and then watched Clem Labine and Preacher Roe get rapped for six singles in a five-run fifth inning.

That Gal Audrey Talks With Her Eyes

THE SPRITE IS AUDREY: In "Ondine" or anything else, when you watch Audrey Hepburn act you forget that it's Audrey.

(Second of Five)
By DICK KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Hollywood came to New York for Audrey Hepburn. She was playing in "Gigi," and had sailed through a sensational screen test. They had cast her as the Princess in "Roman Holiday," but time was wasting. It was June. The picture was to start in September.

So Paramount sent a bunch of cameramen and technicians to New York to do make-up and wardrobe tests on the new star. The crew was made up of veterans, men who had seen them all since the days of Pola Negri. They'd never seen nor heard of Audrey Hepburn, though.

After the first day, to a man they were in her camp. Paramount officials say they've never seen anything like it — these grizzled, unmovable veterans stood there with eyes glistening, staring at Hepburn in open-mouthed admiration.

"This," said one man, "is a real pro."

She's been real pro all her life. It was something born into her, like her big gray eyes. She has a way of taking advantage of her limited physical equipment and beauty that isn't there. For she isn't beautiful — her mouth is too big, her teeth irregular, her feet and hands are big, she's tall and angular, and her neck is skin-

But somehow nobody seems to notice or care. All they know is that when you're watching Audrey Hepburn act, you forget that it's Audrey Hepburn. She becomes the part — whether it's the young girl in "Gigi," the princess in "Roman Holiday," the water sprite in "Ondine" or the chauffeur's daughter in her coming movie, "Sabrina."

"People who've seen 'Sabrina' say there is one scene that shows Hepburn at her acting best. They're already talking in terms of another Oscar.

She's dancing with Humphrey Bogart. But she's thinking about William Holden. And as she dances around, not saying a word, you can tell her thoughts in her eyes — first remorse for being with the wrong man, then interest, then something more. All in the eyes.

There are many good actresses — many probably as good or better than Audrey Hepburn — and certainly there are many more beautiful than she. Why does the spotlight turn to her? What's the secret of her appeal?

"Chemistry," says a man who's worked with her for years. "The chemistry of Hepburn mixes with the chemistry of the audience. That's what makes stars."

"Her eyes," says another long-time associate. "That gal talks with her eyes. It's uncanny. It's like looking at the sun with dark glasses — you can almost feel the fire."

And then there are those who say, probably out of galloping jealousy, that what makes Hepburn successful is press agency. They say there are dozens of young actresses around who could do as well, given the same parts and equal publicity. Maybe, but Broadway's tough theatrical critics don't fall for publicity, and they unanimously think she's something way above average.

But don't try to tell Audrey Hepburn she's already a great actress. She still thinks of herself as just beginning to catch on to her trade. When anybody says something to her about an award or a big honor of any sort, she'll generally say,

"Oh, not yet — wait until I get as big as Jean Simmons."

Miss Simmons, the beautiful young English actress, is a performer. Audrey Hepburn admires tremendously. Of the veteran actresses, she stands in particular awe of Lyn Fontanne, Katherine Cornell and Vivien Leigh.

In general, Miss Hepburn feels more at home with acting people than non-performers. At least she will listen to them more attentively.

Some of the business men she, like all actors, must deal with complain privately that she will take the advice of any actor or actress on her career, while she may not listen to the word of a veteran show business executive.

There are some exceptions to that, of course, and chief among these are a few people at Paramount she has come to respect. This dates back to her screen test which still has them buzzing in the movie business.

She was signed while in England.

PAMPA NEWS, TUESDAY, AUGUST 17, 1954 Page 7

to what's called a "test-optional" deal. That meant that she was under contract, provided the screen test was judged satisfactory by the biggest brass back in Hollywood.

So she took her test in England. Conditions weren't good. The lighting somehow was very poor. So was the sound. But it was made anyhow, and shipped off to the Paramount office in New York for relaying to Hollywood.

"We ran it through once," recalls a man who saw it first, "and we got tremendously excited. She came through this amateurish test like a fireball. There was no doubt that she was a find-of-a-lifetime. But we decided not to call Hollywood and tell them."

"We decided to send it out without any comment, and let them get a bang out of that test cold."

Mine Workers Go On Strike

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 17 — UP — Some 10,000 men were thrown out of work Monday when members of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter workers went on strike against 10 Kennecott Copper plants in Utah, Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico.

Picket lines were thrown up around the Kennecott plants which produce 45 per cent of the nation's copper.

About 50 per cent of the employees who went out were members of the Independent mine-mill union and the other were members of other unions who wouldn't cross mine-mill picket lines.

Kennecott production was halted. The union is seeking a general wage increase of eight cents an hour, plus shift differentials ranging up to 12 cents per hour and an additional $2.50 per month contribution from the company for each employee to the group insurance fund.

Kennecott had offered a package increase of seven cents an hour, including a new hospital and medical plan estimated to cost 2.2 cents per hour.

The union's contract with Kennecott expired last June 30.

The strike shut down the largest metal mining operation in New Mexico. Pickets were set up at the Chino Mines division of Kennecott at Santa Rita, N. M., and the plant operation at Hurley, N. M.

The walkout brought to 4,000 the number of persons out of work in that area because of mine shutdowns. Six other lead and zinc mines around Hurley, N. M., have been closed for more than a year because of low metal prices.

Industry's Growing Use Of Water Discussed By Rogers

Rep. Walter Rogers discusses the ever-present need for water and the benefits for U. S. prisoners of war in Korea in his weekly newsletter to the 18th Congressional District.

Representatives of departments of the executive branch, the Hoover Commission and the Army Engineers met recently with the new Water Resources Subcommittee of the House Interior Committee, Rogers reports.

Few people realize that the creation and the use of mechanical devices by man, the congressman continues, has brought about demands for water far in excess of the wildest anticipation of those who were running the nation at the turn of the century. "For instance, industry uses more water than agriculture."

Growing Water Demand

The Pampan, a member of the subcommittee, points out that estimates say industry in 1975 will probably be using two-thirds of all the sweet water available in the United States.

"We in the Panhandle of Texas have long realized the need for water for industrial uses," Rogers goes on. "If we could provide an ample water supply in our section, the industrial potentialities would be limitless."

Dr. A. L. Miller, chairman of the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, told Rogers' group

Bell Nixes Union Bid

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 17 — UP — A spokesman for the CIO Communications Workers said Monday the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. has turned down all demands of the union thus far in current negotiations for a new contract.

The spokesman, Frank P. Lonergan, said wages and town reclassification are the only issues which have not been discussed in the talks that began last month. He said the union has not decided yet what wage requests will be made to the utility.

The union's contract with the six state telephone firm expires at midnight, Aug. 30. Lonergan said however, neither side has given 30 days notice of cancellation of contract and the agreement will remain in effect until expiration of such notice.

He said strike ballots sent out by the union last week are returnable by Aug. 27 when they will be tabulated at union headquarters here.

Tourist Dollar Helps Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 17 — UP — American tourists poured more than $300 million (U.S.) into the Mexican economy last year, government statisticians estimate.

They said Mexico's net income from tourists was $165,122,000 after deducting an estimated $127,185,000 which Mexicans spent while traveling in the United States and elsewhere.

Highest mountains in the United States east of the Black Hills are the Great Smokies.

Former TCU Star Injured

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 17 — UP — A former Texas Christian University football star, Morgan Williams, remained in "fair" condition at a Little Rock hospital Monday from injuries suffered in a highway accident.

The 21-year-old athlete was returning home from the Detroit Lions College All-Stars game at Chicago. He was a member of the All-Stars squad.

Williams suffered a skull fracture when the car in which he was riding overturned on Highway 67 near Little Rock.

She kept a diary of her telephone calls

HOW VALUABLE IS YOUR TELEPHONE SERVICE? Recently we asked a group of telephone customers to help answer that question by keeping a record of all the calls they made and received for a week. Like others in the group, Mrs. Felicia Littlejohn (above) was genuinely surprised at how much she depended on her telephone service and how it helped her through busy days. Altogether, Mrs. Littlejohn made and received 58 local calls in the seven days and she estimates that they covered a total of 345 miles... all for a few pennies a call.

Bring It Back

It is no secret that Franklin D. Roosevelt felt that he was some sort of a demi-god and that he never hesitated to make any sort of agreement he felt like. And the point of the recent disclosures by Winston Churchill that Winnie and FDR had made a secret agreement on atomic energy matters is not whether it was a good or bad one — but that such an agreement was possible at all. Some of the points of the agreement were just a matter of common sense that even Roosevelt couldn't ignore. On the other hand, some of the points of the agreement even today are highly questionable, one being that the pair agreed "to deal with post atomic energy on terms to be specified by both the President and the Prime Minister." Here we have, on instance of two men using the power and force of government to tell their individual countries and the world as a whole that they knew more about what should be done with this new form of energy than all the rest of the people in the world put together. Moreover, so far as we know today, the agreement still has force or power even though Roosevelt is dead and Churchill is in no position to speak for the government of Great Britain. So, in a sense, we are in a partnership with a Socialist government which has for its aims the same goals as Soviet Russia — that is, the subjugation of the rights of the individual for the power and glory of the state. In any development of atomic energy in the postwar world it would be the normal (in former times) procedure for Americans to proceed along the lines of free enterprise, letting competition and the law of supply and demand speak whatever activity might be needed. But Churchill and his Socialist England would automatically assume that such development could only come from governmental agencies so that we could "deal with post-war industrial development on terms to be specified by the President and Prime Minister."

Just where the government of the United States stands in the matter of now has not yet been disclosed — nor do we know what other secret agreements have been made down through the years as Truman followed the Roosevelt example and Eisenhower probably is following the example of the two before him. But the disclosure does serve to drive home the point that we dare not trust the judgment and motives of any President and that such protection as is provided by a measure like the Bricker Amendment is certainly due us of

Hank's Heart Not Excited Over Running 4-Minute Mile

I Wonder Department: What fight against Communism. A prettily good, but I would guess, would patch over his eye who sells shirts, be that in the event we got into comes face to face with that beard-chap who peddles quinine water? It is rather mean of a pulp. This will prove that while snob appeal advertising pays, it also can become very boring. Why two men running a mile in fewer than four minutes causes so much excitement? I watched Bannister and Gandy on TV and if I hadn't been given an artificial uplift by the announcer, I might well have switched to a station where a toothy and grinning woman was demonstrating a refrigerator with a door that opens from the right or the left. A man running at the rate of fifteen miles an hour is not an inspiring sight, and, in my book, neither would a man running 26 or 25 miles an hour. It may make his heart beat faster, but not mine. Who are the friends that the U. S. A. is always mentioning? From reading the papers, I gather that this country stands alone in its

To appease a bloc of 100 Communist in its Parliament, the government has turned twelve million people in Indo - China over to the Red terror. This is pretty sure to be followed by 11 million more, for the Reds, while they are winning, will never stop demanding. BUT WE HAVE NO REASON TO SNEER AT FRANCE. In our country, the Dewey political machine feels that it must appease the New York Leftwingers, headed by the Communists, if it is to maintain its power. For this reason it made war upon McCarthy — an act which will wage war on anyone who inside anything but a phony war on Communism. Thus the Reds win, all over the world by manipulating the little men who are always smart enough to be politicians (but are never wise enough to be statesmen). And, as far as America is concerned, it's all so unnecessary. The won his election despite this same Left Wing opposition that Dewey is now appeasing. Jonathan Yank often,

A Common Sense Means Of Fighting Communism

This is a continuation of Clarence Manion's talk over the Mutual Broadcasting Network explaining the best way for the people in the United States to combat communism. From here on Dean Manion is speaking: If we follow this Kremlin made pattern for endless, remote military intervention, we will soon be thoroughly softened for the characteristic communist kill - from the inside. But what is the alternative to this policy of containing Communism? My friends, Communism cannot be contained. Communism can only be destroyed. All the military power on earth cannot keep Communism contained inside Russia, Yugoslavia, China, Indochina, or anywhere else. The spread of Communism is like the spread of smallpox. You cannot destroy the danger of the contagion until you have cured and eradicated the disease. You can prevent the contagious spread of Communism only by destroying Communism itself. A policy of resisting only communist aggression is completely self-defeating. Communism aggression is an inescapable manifestation of the devilish communist profession. Communist aggression is like a leil on the surface of the skin. You cannot cure a case of boils by cutting them off, plastering them down or trying to hold them in. You will end the boils only by eliminating the poison from the underlying blood stream. The blood stream of world civilization is now seriously poisoned by the disease of Communism. That infection cannot be contained — it must be eliminated — and it cannot be eliminated except by treatment on and from the inside of the infected areas. Communism behind the Iron curtain must be destroyed behind the iron curtain by the people of Russia, China, Yugoslavia, Guatemala, Indochina and the Satellite countries themselves. Until this revolutionary destruction takes place, the diabolical contagion of Communism will continue to plague every nation on earth and, particularly, the United States. In the records of the Internal Security Sub-Committee of the United States Senate, there is evidence from experts showing that the revolutionary destruction of Communism is not merely possible — it is inevitable. The only question is this: Will American freedom be destroyed in America before the Russian, Chinese, and Satellite people can destroy their Communist masters? The immediate, urgent, important task, therefore, is to restore and preserve our freedom-protecting, Constitutional limitations upon all branches of American government and, particularly, upon the federal, Executive Branch! While the United States remains thus free, strong, solvent and sovereign, Communism can gain no permanent victory anywhere on earth. The fact of a free, strong, sovereign, and prosperous United States with the highest standard of living ever attained in this world gives the unequivocal lie to the Communist pretension that only in a state of materialistic slavery can people be clothed, housed, and fed. Instead of wasting our substance all over the world let us therefore conserve it. The best service we can render to all men, everywhere, is to preserve our own great country as a symbol of hope and a pattern for the freedom and therefore the prosperity of all mankind. We can render this service, first, by resolutely destroying Communism and all the germs of Communism right here in the United States — and, second, by encouraging communists enslaved peoples everywhere to destroy the gangster government that now holds them in bloody, brain-washed, bondage. We can serve both of these ends, at once, by cutting off diplomatic relations with every communist and communist satellite country, including Yugoslavia and Guatemala.

"The same good reasons that justify our refusal to recognize Red China demand a severing of relations with every other communist government that now has its diplomatically disguised secret police stationed strategically throughout the entire United States. We should clear out these communist spy nests and send these ruthless, syndicated gangster home — at once, and all together. Eight hundred million Communist-aid slaves would immediately take notice — take heart — and eventually, with God's help — and ours, too — take action.

When he worked for the Chicago American, just as a favor he flew photographers to disaster scenes of flood and fire. Once he was asked to fly a mercy mission for the paper. He delivered a rare serum to save a child's life. Then, one day, he got a call to fly an injured hunter back from the North Woods. Manly likes to help people. So he decided to fit up his pleasure plane like a Navy hospital ship, so that anyone hurt could be flown in comfort. He got a list of nurses who could fly with him at a moment's notice.

National Whirligig Speaker Predicts GOP Will Gain 15-25 Seats This Fall

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. predicts that the Republicans will gain from 15 to 25 seats in the fall elections because of what he describes as the "most progressive and constructive record of accomplishment by any Congress in many, many years." In reviewing the session now nearing the final gavel's fall, the Bay State legislator gives great credit to President Eisenhower for his co-operation with Capitol Hill. "Sitting in his office beneath the great dome, Martin summarized what he regarded as the principal achievements during the Administration's 30 months in office. In a certain sense, he was formulating the platform on which Eisenhower and members of House and Senate will seek a vote of confidence next November. He will issue a more formal statement when the House adjourns. For the purpose of this report, however, he was asked to discuss the record of Congress in general terms rather than with respect to the enactment of specific pieces of legislation. In short, he was requested to "think out loud."

"In my opinion," he began, "our greatest accomplishment has been to shift from a wartime to a peacetime economy without inflation or deflation. There were gloomy Gueses and egghead economists who forecast a severe depression or an unchecked boom. A so-called British economist, Colin Clark, pictured another 1929 crash by now, and advocated a $20 billion, bondoggling program. The Administration stopped dangerous trends, both up and down, by using the normal machinery of control over credit and finances. We did not fall for any hysteria."

"We have cut taxes and reduced the budget simultaneously, with prospect of a balanced budget next year. But at the same time, we have appropriated vast sums for health, housing, highways. We expanded the Social Security system by many millions, and increased annual benefits." On the foreign front, too, Speaker Martin believes that the Administration has lived up to its promise. He continued: "We have stopped the shooting in Korea, even though the situation in that unhappy country may not be all that we desire. We have used our great influence to prevent other spots and sources of international friction from flaring into a World War III. "NATO has been strengthened, although it needs more reinforcements, according to General Gruenther. We hope for prompt imple-

PAUSE FOR REFLECTION

...with JAMES C. INGEBRETTEN, President, Spiritual Mobilization

Whatever can stand catastrophe can be depended upon in normal circumstances. Whether this is a faith or a financial system, a dynamo part or a dinner plate, makes no difference.

Up until the turn of the century, American chinaware was almost nonexistent. But about 1894 Walter Scott Lenox began making chinaware in Trenton, New Jersey. Business was slow until 1906, when a large order from a San Francisco department store arrived there, just in time to become a casualty of the great earthquake and fire. A Lenox plate that had been decorated in green and gold was found in the ruins. The gold had melted and the green was streaked, but the plate was neither warped nor cracked by the terrific heat. The company publicized these facts and its future was made. Free enterprise has withstood catastrophe after catastrophe through thousands of years and survived. Socialist schemes of one kind and another, even under the most favorable of circumstances, have always been short-lived. That is the record. What more needs be said?

Brentano's 'Reporter' Plug Was Just Routine Matter

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — I have news for you about the circular boosting Max Ascoli's anti-anti magazine called "The Reporter" which was circulated by Brentano's "book-sellers to the world." As I reported before, when I called at Brentano's main office on Fifth Avenue, the highest authority I could corner was a pleasant young man working as a clerk on the floor. Both Nixon Griffin, the president and chairman of the board, and Leonard Schwartz, the vice president, were in Europe and a "buyer," the senior person in this country, was engaged in business which would take at least half an hour. Mr. Griffin was not in who's who, but Mr. Schwartz was and his biography said he went to London University and the new school in New York at which latter this Ascoli, a refugee from a castor oil and kerosene poussé cafe in Mussolini's Italy, served a term as teacher. My interest concerned Ascoli, his propaganda and the amount he spends on it which seems enormous and the source of this money which seems to be the Julius Rosenwald, Sears-Roebuck fortune with which he established marital relations when he married Rosenwald's daughter. Well, I then went tiptoeing and discovered that Stanton Griffis, the Wall Street broker, and certainly no red or even a faintly blushing pink, was the father of Nixon Griffin. Stanton was for some years ambassador to several European countries, the latest of them Spain. I got him on the phone and put it to him. Who were the owners of Brentano's? "Hell," Mr. Griffin said, "I own it!" I said well then how come Brentano's to plug this propaganda sheet which biases Senators McCarthy, McCarran, and Bridges and Alfred Kohlberg the anti-Communist old China hand, and in general terms, favors recognition of Red China. "Darned if I know," Mr. Griffin said. "Why don't you call on Nick? He is a nice kid."

"I did call on him, but they said he and Schwartz were in Europe." "Oh, they are back," Stanton said. "They got back yesterday." So I called again at Brentano's and walked right in on Nixon, a pleasant young fellow of about 35, although that is just a guess, and lit into the topic. Why did Brentano's send out this plug for Max Ascoli's "Reporter"? Mr. Griffin explained that this was a routine deal, common in their trade, whereby the owner of the magazine pays the cost of printing and mailing and Brentano's gets a commission on subscriptions resulting therefrom. Then sent out 80,000 of these plugs and immediately began to catch dead cats and decadent tomatoes from all directions. There were few favorable letters and they now regretted that they had not examined "The Reporter" for its political bias before lending it the prestige of an old house, established in 1853 by August Brentano, which now has three stores in New York, five in Washington, one in the Pentagon, Illinois, and four more in suburban Virginia and Maryland. However, they had no political motive, and Mr. Griffin said they were constantly watchful lest they even seem to be promoting books of the "line" and hiding anti-Communist books under the counter as some large dealers do. Somewhere in the brief visit, a small, darkish young man at another desk in the same room, entered the conversation and Nixon said, "Oh, I forgot to introduce you; this is Mr. Schwartz."

So I mentioned the facts that Harold Laaki, Felix Frankfurter's soul-mate, a notorious English Red, had been prominently identified with the school of economics of London U and that Ascoli had taught at the new school in New York. Mr. Schwartz said he studied in another college entirely apart from Laaki's school and that, at the new school, he studied theatrical subjects of "The Reporter" itself. Mr. Kohlberg reported that when he was last in Europe he found it in the library reading rooms maintained by the U.S. information service in Vienna, Berlin, Brussels, Frankfurt and Paris. He was told on good authority that many of our consulates were receiving some hundreds each for circulation among the heathen in foreign climes and among Americans sojourning abroad. In none of these libraries was Mr. Kohlberg able to find a single copy of "The Freeman or The American Mercury, both vigorous anti-Communist magazines.

This concurs with my own investigation back in 1952 when I found a lot of La Boga Grande's trips and a great deal of stuff by well-known American Communists and fellow-travelers in the Berlin, Paris, Frankfurt and Rome libraries and no Anti-Red stuff anywhere except in Rome where there were some reports of the House Committee on Un-American activities.

When Roy Cohn and Dave Schime found the same condition on their official mission of inspection they were viciously lampooned, especially in the English press which is indifferent about the treason of Communism. A little later, son of a member of the White House palace guard persuaded President Eisenhower to insert in a speech at Dartmouth an insinuation that Joe McCarthy was guilty of a Hitlerian book-burning in demanding that the U.S. government quit disseminating Communist propaganda in libraries abroad supported by our taxes.

Footnote: Adolph A. Kroch, of Laguna Beach, Calif., writes me that he bought the Chicago Branch of Brentano's a 22 years ago and that this store has no connection with Brentano's of New York. His son, Carl A. Kroch became sole owner of this store in 1953.

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

LAKE CRESCENT, WASH. — You have been on the Olympic Peninsula for a week, in and out of the Olympic National Park, to Indian fishing villages, in and out of steaming hot natural pools, to the crests and the deep snow. Six of the seven days have been brilliant with sunshine, the entire sky a solid, bright blue without even a wisp of cloud. You have seen bears lope idly and without fear across a road in front of you, have walked up to fearless, trusting does with young, spotted fawns beside them. The park is a safe haven for beasts as well as man. But it isn't all an Eden. You never find it difficult to get into conversation with a native who regrets the day that the Federal government moved in and created a National Park here. They feel that the Park Service has made a dull, pedestrian kind of place out of something that was gay and much fun. "The Lodge was wonderful up to when the Park was made just a few years back," one old native said. "It was a luxury place. It didn't change my life one way or the other, but it sure ruined things for travelers. Why, they had dances at night and tray service to the cottages whenever a family wanted to have a meal in privacy around the fireplace. They had uniformed bellboys to bring a man a drink when he wanted it. Now look at it—the same cottages, but you get a drink between fixed hours and have to get it yourself. Fixed mealmes and no tray service for anyone. You go to the dining room when they tell you or else you go hungry or go some place down the road. They employ college kids earning a vacation and a little tuition money instead of trained hotel help. And the State of Washington was doing a good job protecting the animals, too. I guess National Parks are all right and maybe in other locations have saved the area. But they sure regiment the customers and take the fling out of a vacation."

Well, yes and no. It is true that you breakfast between 7 and 9 o'clock in the morning, or you don't breakfast at all. And many a family doesn't want to get up that early while on vacation. You can have tray service, if some member of the family will get up and go to it. The staff won't bring it to you. It's easy to guess who gets up and hikes from the cottages to the dining room: the old man. Who else? The cocktail lounge is on fixed hours, too, but so are most such oases anywhere. It's open from 1 p. m. to midnight, which is eleven hours on any clock and time enough for a two-handed man to drink himself silly if that is his notion of a vacation. The cottages are scrupulously cleaned, attractively furnished and curried, and each one has its own fireplace with kindling, logs and oil-soaked sawdust to get things started easily. The dances are gone, and the old-timers say the food isn't what it was by a long shot. They claim the government "watered down the menu." One thing nothing can change, neither man nor government: the climate — cool during the day, cold at night, brisk and invigorating. The only place to get warm enough to feel it is in the hot pools. You wear flannel shirts and wool slacks and coats and even then can feel the thin touch of cold. There is no water shortage. It comes surging down from the summer snows and melting glaciers in fat rivers, cold, clear and just short of icy. Any man walking the August streets of New York, Dallas, Kansas, or almost anywhere in America but here would swap his heat-stroke lot for this cold. The Park Service may make mistakes, but I never met a man who wouldn't get up at 8 to get to breakfast in exchange for miraculous beauty and a temperature of 60 degrees in August.

FROM RINKS TO MURALS—Ice-skater and painter Norma Maxwell prepares to put the finishing touches on a mural she's completing in a New York store. Norma worked her way through art school by skating one year, studying the next.

PIN UP—This New York model is wearing a spray of vari-cut rhinestones, with just a touch of pearls, which dresses a sequined evening hat. A shower of rhinestones and pearls at the wrist is all that is necessary to complete the glitter.

DISPUTED SHRINE—A shrine known as Elijah's Cave has become the center of a dispute involving the opposing traditions of Jews and Christians in the Holy Land. Situated on Mount Carmel, the cave is sacred to Jewish worshippers, such as these women preparing for a prayer at the altar of a synagogue within. The shrine is also sacred to the Carmelite Brothers of the Roman Catholic Church, an order which traces its connection with the cave to the 11th Century.

FOWL WEATHER—With both the sun and tide out, these swans bask on the beach at Chelsea Reach in London on one of the city's first nice summer days. Cold winds, rain and fog have belied the season and disappointed the populace.

SONG PLUGGER—A group of inhabitants of the left bank of the Tiber River in Rome watch as a man puts the finishing touches on a replica of a house. Placed in the window is the figure of an elderly woman. The setting represents the popular Roman song, "My Little House on the Tiber, Home of My Mother," which was chosen as the theme song for a festival.

POOL QUEEN—Stretching her charms while lounging against a diving board, bordering the pool of the Hotel Last Frontier in Las Vegas, is Hollywood starlet Mamie Van Doren. No one asked what kind of material the bathing suit was made of, but Mamie gives it added allure.

THE MITCHELLS HAVE LANDED—Stepping from a plane at Rockcliffe, Canada, are, left to right: Flying Officer John A. Mitchell, Flight Sgt. T. E. Mitchell and Flight Officer William A. Mitchell, all members of the Canadian Air Force. The three are not related. Neither is the plane, which is also a Mitchell.

COOLING OFF—After a hard race there's nothing as refreshing as a cool shower, as New Mexico's Jim Nichols finds out. Jockey Nichols is sitting in a sink, but he doesn't find it crowded for his slight frame. He took his impromptu dousing in the Jamaica, N. Y., jockey club during the Saratoga Racing Meet.

NOT HIS DIET—Chow time aboard the U.S. cargo vessel "Pioneer Gulf," docked at Sydney, Australia, is a bit disillusioning for Willie, a member of the wombat family. It's no go as trapper Bob McKechnie offers to share his dinner and the ship's third mate, Bill Keese, kibitzes. Willie, who is on his way to New York's Bronx Zoo, favors a diet of grass, bark, roots and the like. The zoo chefs better take note.

KING-SIZE CONE—Candy Connor, Langdon Littlehale, Jr., and Andrea Littlehale, left to right, three New York City youngsters, take on the enviable task of making a gigantic four-foot ice cream cone disappear. The occasion was the golden anniversary of the American ice cream cone.

'CABINET PROBLEM'

President Eisenhower prefers the direct, frontal approach to a cold cabinet problem, while Mrs. Eisenhower nibbled away at the situation, during a cabinet meeting-picnic at the Presidential vacation retreat, Camp David, near Thurmont, Md.

Never underestimate our teenagers. They aren't as hopeless as some of us grown-ups think. The Hallmark Hall of Fame surveyed more than 20,000 of the youngsters, to see which figure in history they'd most like to see dramatized on TV. And it came out, instead of Marilyn Monroe and Hopalong Cassidy, a pretty respectable list—the top six were Albert Schweitzer, Will Rogers, Ralph Bunche, Walt Disney, Helen Keller and Ernie Pyle.

Let's see if the next 20,000 adults you talk to have even heard of Albert Schweitzer.

Spike Jones is zany only professionally. Away from his rhythmic washboard, he's a serious type. Does absolutely nothing that is strange at all. You could tell that as he ordered iced coffee and a Coke at the same time. And you were absolutely sure when he took a black tie and wrapped it around his neck once or twice. This is a very ordinary, talented guy.

He has a little difficulty describing his kind of music, though. As who doesn't. It is music, and don't let anybody kid you about it. As much, or more, work and ability go into producing one of his whacky arrangements as any other pieces of music.

"I'd call it half Dixieland," he began, "half medicine show, and half whatever you want to call it."

This music, which is comprised of three equal halves, is designed to be satirical. Jones is emphatic on that point—it isn't supposed to be corn, but to be a take-off on some existing music.

"We play 'Lover,'" he says, fingering that black tie, "and take-off on somebody like Kostelanetz. That's the song Rodgers and Hart wrote—only the way we play it, it sounds more like Roy Rogers and William S. Hart."

It took a long time for Spike Jones and his City Slickers to find their niche in life. And it took even longer for the public to find the same niche. Nobody, at first, could quite figure out what Jones was doing.

"The corny people thought we were too subtle," he says, "and the subtle people thought we were too corny."

But now everybody knows he's subtly corny, so everybody is happy. Except Spike Jones, who says he has a tough time finding musicians who can play that way. It takes, he insists, musical ability of top quality to be a City Slicker.

He says he hired a trombonist, who'd been first trombone with a top band, and the guy couldn't play his music. There are 11 City Slickers, including two men who play that almost-ancient instrument, the banjo.

"It's hard to find a banjo player," he says. "We use two banjos, which is even harder." Yep.

Anybody who can outsmart Bob Hope in a little bout of repartee is a pretty fast talker, indeed. So a woman reporter in Hollywood deserves a pat on the typewriter for this exchange. She was interviewing him, and, during the course of the discussion, she maintained that an unscrupulous reporter could make a person say anything he wished.

Bob said, in a word, phony. So she proceeded to demonstrate.

She: "Bob, are you in love with more than one woman?"

 Hope: "Certainly not."
 She: "I'll write that up like this—'Bob Hope said yesterday that he has no love for the overwhelming majority of women.'"
 Hope: "I didn't say that."
 She: "Yes, you did. But it's this one. Do you know why women should be treated as your equal?"
 Hope: "No. Why?"
 She: "That's a good lead—'Bob Hope doesn't know why women should be treated as his equal.'"
 Hope retired, but not before he got in one last crack, to salvage something. "You," he told the gal, "would make a wonderful Russian delegate to the UN."

Richardson Man is Killed

DALLAS, Aug. 17 —UP— I. H. Slovak, 34, of Richardson, Tex., was killed Sunday in a traffic accident in North Dallas. Slovak was driving a truck about 1:15 a. m. when he apparently lost control and it overturned three times, pinning him underneath.

New Hampshire was the first of the original 13 states to declare its independence of Great Britain and adopt a constitution. The date was Jan. 5, 1776, six months before the adoption of the federal Declaration of Independence.

Soft Landing
 NEW HAVEN, Conn. — UP— Twenty-month-old Candace Cronan was unhurt in a 30-foot fall because she landed in a flower bed that had been spaded only a few hours before.

The Army's expanding air program now operates 2,500 aircraft. These planes are assigned to Infantry, Artillery, Armor, Signal Corps, Corps of Engineers, Medical Corps units.

Nearly half the long distance telephone calls made in the United States last year were put through by the operator's dialing the distant points directly. Collier's 1954 Yearbook says.

Since 1930 the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild has awarded 123 university scholarships valued at $400,000 to national winners in its annual model car building competition.
