City Has Big Gain In Water Storage

"We're in a lot better shape than we were two days ago," said City Mgr. Fred Brook today, pointing out that for two straight days, there has been a gain in the amount of city water in storage. In the 48-hour period ending at 7:30 a.m. today, a total of 1,308,700 gallons of water had been gained in storage. Before that period, Pampanians had been using an average of 500,000 gallons per day from the storage tanks. Pampanians, however, were cautioned by Brook and city officials this morning to continue conserving and not wasting their water. "It's looking pretty good," he said, "but we will want to conserve as long as there is hot weather and no rain."

A production of 7,000,300 gallons in the 24-hour period ending at 7:30 a.m. today brought the July total to 107,572,000 gallons. In the same period, 4,467,750 gallons of water were consumed. The gain in storage was 528,450 gallons. The city, Brook continued, will not use water till the situation is completely under control. The schools will water part of the Harvard Park area in piecemeal fashion — part one night, skip a night, then part another night. The cemetery will be done the same way. The country club will continue to use its own well, was nothing wrong in watering lawns. But "sprinkle it, don't flood it," he asked. Real solution to the watering problem is not to have everyone using water at the same time. Once again, Brook praised the cooperation of Pampanians in their self-rationalizing.

CITY WATER USE STATISTICS. CITY WATER USE STATISTICS. 7:30 a. m. Thurs.—7:30 a. m. Today. TOTAL PRODUCTION 7,000,300 gallons. WATER USE 4,467,750 gallons. GAIN IN STORAGE 2,532,550 gallons.

2 Nights Net 300 At Pool

Almost 300 persons have used the municipal swimming pool in the first two nights it has been opened in two years. Only 136 showed up Thursday night, down 48 from the night before, according to Reuben Murray, pool manager. "It was just not a good swimming day at all yesterday," he commented late this morning. The pool was opened from 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. Wednesday to see if Pampanians would use it. Its regular hours of 1 p. m. to 6 p. m. each day are being maintained, too. City Mgr. Fred Brook today figured it cost — at a rough guess — $20 or $25 each two-hour period at night the pool is used. Admissions are 50 cents for adults over 12 and 25 cents for those 12 and under. Brooks' estimate takes into consideration salaries of pool personnel, maintenance, pumping and chlorination. An attempt was made in 1952 to use the pool at night, city officials recalled this morning. It was tried for several days one week. But, as only 15-20 persons showed up, the practice was discontinued.

Fire Razes Warehouse In Dallas

DALLAS, July 15 —UP—A five-alarm fire Thursday night destroyed the Sunset Motor Lines warehouse, office building and 20 large vans, some of them loaded. Fire Chief C. N. Penn estimated the loss at $250,000. Six trucks and one automobile were destroyed besides the vans. The fire was caused by a drum of chemicals that exploded. About 40 workers were loading freight from the crowded docks when the blast occurred only a few feet away but none of them was injured. Many windows in buildings within a block of the warehouse, near the intersection of Cockrell and Lamar streets, were shattered by the explosion. One fireman was injured. He was C. A. Allen, 31, who fell from the roof of a small cottage nearby. Neither firemen nor officials of the truck line knew what was in the five 55-gallon metal drums which first exploded. They speculated the explosion was caused by the heat. A number of tanks loaded with acetylene welding gas cracked nearby blew up after the fire started from the first explosion.

A-BOMB ATTACK ALARM SYSTEM SOUGHT FOR AMERICAN HOMES. WASHINGTON, July 16 — UP — The United States is trying to perfect some simple device for installation in homes that would alert every family of a target city that an enemy A-bomb or H-bomb attack was imminent. That was disclosed by civil defense administrator Val Peterson in testimony before a House appropriations subcommittee May 10. The testimony was made public Friday. Advent of the H-bomb, he said, makes it necessary to try to get all the people possible out of target cities — if they can be warned in time. One alerting device that has been proposed, he said, would be an instrument which would trigger an alarm — in the bedroom, say — when the appropriate impulse was sent over the regular electric system serving homes.

Knowland Blocks Boston Red Probe

WASHINGTON, July 16 —UP—Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland Friday blocked Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's plan to hold hearings in Boston Saturday on alleged Communist infiltration in defense plants. Knowland told the Senate that McCarthy has agreed to hold no hearings outside Washington. Francis P. Carr, staff director of McCarthy's investigating subcommittee, told newsmen that Knowland's request the group will hold no out-of-town hearings in the closing weeks of Congress. Carr said the Boston hearing would be transferred to Washington next Tuesday morning. Some of the same witnesses who were to have been heard in Boston will testify here. Meanwhile Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich.) vowed he will continue his fight to fire McCarthy's top staff members even though his first attempt was blocked. Potter introduced a dismissal motion at a stormy secret meeting of the subcommittee late Thursday but McCarthy prevented any action by rejecting the proxy vote of Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) who was absent. For three hours the group wrangled over the issue with McCarthy charging the Democrats with playing politics and the Democrats accusing the Wisconsin Republican of stalling. Finally, the session was recessed until Tuesday to get a new proxy from McClellan. When the subcommittee reconvenes, Potter said he will demand action on his motion to fire all members of the group's staff on July 31 unless they have been approved individually by a majority vote before that date. In Arkansas where he is campaigning for re-election, McClellan declared Thursday night he is drafting a "positive and exact"

Public Aid Sought In Farm Plan Fight

WASHINGTON, July 16 —UP—Senate foes of President Eisenhower's farm program sought to win consumer support Friday for the present system of rigid high price supports. Eight members of the Senate Agriculture committee were scheduled to file a majority report attacking the administration's lower flexible farm price support proposals in a prelude to the coming showdown in the Senate over the farm issue. Sen. Milton R. Young (R-N.D.), one of their leaders, said the report would argue that farmers would suffer a devastating economic blow and that consumers would not benefit from the administration's program. "Seriously injured" But Chairman George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) and six other committee members said in a minority report Thursday that continuation of the present program would "seriously injure" consumers and a majority of farmers. The Senate will begin debate on the issue next week, when the committee's bill is called up for action. Aiken and his minority group argued that three "highly objectionable" features in the measure for attack: Continuation of 90 per cent supports of five basic crops — cotton, corn, wheat, rice and peanuts; raising dairy price supports to 85 per cent of parity; from 75 per cent and extending mandatory, higher supports to "small" feed grains — oats, barley, grain sorghums and rye. Other congressional news: HOUSE: Senate investigators threatened to recall William J. Levitt, the nation's largest home builder, if he continues to insist that he did not make a $5 million "windfall" profit on the construction of Levittown, N. Y. They also planned to expose other builders who parlayed small investments into huge profits on government insured loans for apartment projects. SENATE: Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich.) promised to continue his fight for a "housecleaning" of the staff of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's Permanent Investigating subcommittee. Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.) said up consideration of the atomic energy bill will seek to delay a vote on firing counsel Roy M. Cohn and staff director Francis P. Carr until the group gets a summary of Army-McCarthy hearing testimony about them. SUBVERSIVES Sen. Homer E. Ferguson (R-Mich.) appealed for speedy congressional action to get rid of alleged subversives in defense plants. A Defense Department official said a "fairly large number" of subversives are working in plants with defense contracts. But the House Judiciary committee tabled an administration-backed bill for authority to fire the suspects. TAXES Senate House tax writers hoped to complete work on the compromise tax revision bill Friday, but final agreement could be delayed by sharp differences over proposed tax relief for persons receiving stock dividends. ATOMIC Some Democratic senators speculated that President Eisenhower might defer his order to buy private power for the Tennessee Valley Authority in an effort to speed Senate passage of the atomic energy revision bill.

Maryland Factory Made Munitions

CHESTERTOWN, Md., July 16 —UP—A fireworks plant with government munitions contracts was demolished by explosions Friday which sent up an "atomic-like" cloud over this little community. Some 200 to 300 persons are employed in the plant. State police at Easton, Md., said loss of life "probably was high." The plant was operated by the Kent Manufacturing Co., a fireworks firm which held government defense contracts. First reports said there were explosions followed by "very hot fires" in three buildings and that another, possibly more terrific blast was feared imminent in a fourth building. Fire Reported Spreading. Windows were shattered in Chestertown, and there were reports that fire was spreading to the town. One source said it might be necessary to evacuate Chestertown. A state of emergency was set up in Chestertown, a town of about 3,000. Telephone operators declined to put through outside calls except on an emergency basis. State police reported the first explosion occurred about 8:33 a. m. local. They said that after the first explosion there were several smaller blasts. "Nothing was left standing," they said. The plant was located on the edge of town. J. V. Matt, commercial manager for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. in the Chestertown area, said an "atomic-like cloud" from the explosions hovered over the town. Fire fighting equipment and ambulances were dispatched from the Army's Aberdeen, Md., proving ground "from the Bainbridge, Md., naval station, Easton Md., and other communities. The Red Cross started canteen equipment to the scene to serve fire fighters and refugees. Early reports said some injured were being treated at Queen Anne's hospital in Chestertown. The Red Cross reported, however, that the hospital did not immediately need new supplies of blood for transfusions.

165 Die In Heat Wave

By UNITED PRESS. The nation's worst heat wave in years hung on in the South Friday, sending temperatures towards the 100 mark for the sixth straight day. The heat wave, which earlier covered practically the entire country, has been blamed for at least 165 deaths. The heat claimed the most victims in Missouri. Forty-five died in St. Louis, 33 in Kansas City and seven elsewhere in the state. In Kansas 41 persons died, 18 of them in mental hospitals. There were 30 dead in Oklahoma, four in Illinois, two in Iowa and Kentucky and one in Tennessee. A massive cold front from Canada pushed back the blistering blanket as far east as the Atlantic Coast and as far south as Kansas and Oklahoma. But temperatures in the 90s and 100s still covered most of the nation's southern half. Thursday's highs included 107 at Little Rock, Ark. and 102 at Springfield, Mo., and Fort Worth, Tex. A return to normal was indicated when the nation's hottest temperatures were once again reported from the desert Southwest. El Centro, Calif., led the parade with a blazing 117. The heat wave also continued in Southern California and Los Angeles was warned to expect a high of 98. Three persons collapsed and lifeguards rescued 16 persons at the beaches. New Charges Made In Governor Race

By RICHARD L. TAYLOR
United Press Staff Correspondent

The Texas gubernatorial campaign, just a week away from the decisive Democratic primary, picked up a few new charges and promises Friday.

Gov. Allan Shivers, battling for a third term, hit hard on the state's rights and public school segregation in East Texas speeches Thursday.

Ralph Yarborough, traveling the same territory, blasted Shivers on the Communist question and challenged the governor to "joint debate" after the manner of Webster and Haynes.

A third candidate, J. J. Holmes of Austin, accused both his opponents of "selling Texas down the river" - Shivers to the Republicans in 1952 and Yarborough to "the gut of state labor unions."

Yarborough came up with a new campaign promise - a bonus for Texas veterans, financed by a state bond issue. He said it would "prime the pump and stimulate business as well as discharge a just obligation to the veterans who were in peril."

Holmes also had a new idea - going away with the State Welfare Department's bureaucracy.

He said the "old folks are the helpless victims" of the bureaucrats, who have "a perfectly stupendous 'grave train' carrying one of the largest payrolls in the nation."

"Out Army of Caseworkers" - "It's going to take a lot of doing to rig Texas down the river," Shivers said, "but somehow, it's got to be done, and with your help I can do it."

Shivers, in a speech at Palestine, asked Yarborough whether he favored federal or state control of water resources. He said he thought soil and water conservation was Texas "No. 1 problem."

"Isn't it true that you want Texas water resources controlled by the federal government rather than by Texans?" Shivers asked.

Mae West Back To Footlights

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD, July 16—UP—Mae West, the original sweeter girl, returns to show business in a nightclub debut in two weeks with some "spicy songs guaranteed to curl the chips at Las Vegas."

The sultry queen of humorous sex will make her first big-time appearance in many years when she opens at the Hotel Sahara in the gambling city July 27.

One ditty ends with Mae doing her famous eye roll and hip shake as she murmurs, "I wonder what Liberace is doing tonight?"

But the veteran star of stage, screen and jokes said Friday she isn't worried her routines will frighten away the family trade.

"Why, the children love to see me. They get a laugh out of my movements, y'ase," said Mae in that husky voice.

Miss West will be backed in her act by a squadron of handsome youths, including muscle king Dick Dubois, Mr. America of 1954. But she will not try to out-do Marlene Dietrich and Terry Moors with a daring gown.

"I don't have to do it with clothes," she said. "I'll outfit them all in another way — with my own particular style, my brand of sex. I kid sex. That's why women like me. Some people make sex so tragic or serious it's laughable."

Miss West has turned down nightclub and motion picture offers, including a top musical, "Pal Joey," for years because "I was waiting for the right thing for the new generation that hasn't seen me." The last two years, after finishing a tour of a play, she wrote her third novel.

When I asked her age, Mae laughed, "I'm in my '40s." She still has that hourglass figure. She keeps it in shape by crawling out of bed every morning at 4 for a five-mile walk.

Mae lives alone in an old-fashioned apartment in the heart of Hollywood. Everything in her home, including the occupant, fits the Mae West legend.

It was 5 p. m. when she received me, but she wore a white nightgown, low-cut, and lace bedjacket. Her mirrored apartment is all in white — walls, furniture, rug, canopy bed, even a white piano. In the living room are paintings and a statue of Miss West in the nude.

Mae confidently thinks none of the younger glamour girls come near her field, except for sultry singer Sarah Kati. She shrugged off Marilyn Monroe and Jane Russell.

"This Kitt woman has something," she said. "But I'm champion till they break my records all over the world. And I did it alone. Marilyn and the others don't bother me. I'm not worrying. Nobody else has my style."

Suffocates in Chest

SAN DIEGO, Calif., July 16—UP—San Diego police Thursday added cedar chests to abandoned iceboxes as dangerous playthings for youngsters after a seven-year-old boy suffocated in a chest in his home. Richard David Jorgensen crawled into the chest Thursday and the lock snapped shut and could only be opened from the outside.

Texas High Court To Rule On Votes

AUSTIN, July 16—UP—The Texas Supreme Court agreed this week to rule on whether votes cast for Gov. Allan Shivers in both the Democratic and Republican columns in 1952 should be counted in determining Democratic convention delegate strength.

The high court granted an application for writ of error sought by Joe W. Holland in a suit filed in Jefferson county seeking to force the Jefferson county Democratic Executive committee to count votes in both columns, in line with executive committee.

The Jefferson County Democratic Executive committee flouted the state committee's ruling.

The trial court and Court of Civil Appeals both refused Holland's request for an injunction against the Jefferson County Democratic Executive committee.

The appeal by Holland was made on four points, all of which the Supreme Court agreed to review.

Church News

"When the Church Worships Christ" will be the sermon topic of Rev. Woodrow Adcock, pastor of the FIRST METHODIST CHURCH, at the 10:55 a.m. service Sunday. For the 7:30 p.m. service, he will speak on "Minding Your Own Business." The sanctuary of the church is now air-conditioned. The public is invited to worship.

Sixteen intermediates and six adults from the church attended the intermediate camp at the Methodist Campground, Ceta Canyon, during the past week. Adults attending were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stallings, Richard Hughes, Eugene Bonny and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Johnson. The young people attending were Carol McLannan, Lynda Bonny, Jene Teed, Dwayne Smith, Nancy Goodnight, Mary Puralay, Wanda Goodnight, Patricia Jones, Linda Steele, Don Nellis, Sydna Morris, Mary Bullard, Winton Ed Rowntree, Gary Mackie, Jo Ann Jones and Nina Yoder.

Taking the children to camp were Mr. and Mrs. I. T. Goodnight, Mrs. Clifford Jones, Euck Seitz, and Mrs. A. M. Teed. Those bringing them home were Mrs. D. L. Mackie, Mrs. Clifford Jones, Mrs. A. M. Teed and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. McLannan.

In cooperation with the Pampa Ministerial Alliance, the church will receive an offering Sunday which will be presented to the "Christian Rural Overseas Relief Program" headed by Mrs. J. C. Carter who has recently contributed to this program and Irvin Cole has donated $60. Others will have an opportunity to participate in the program Sunday.

The Youth Council of the senior department met Wednesday night to make plans for Youth Activity Week, to be observed July 25 to Aug. 1.

The First Christian Church will hold an all-church picnic at 6 p.m. today in Hobart Street Park. Those attending are requested to bring a basket lunch. The 11th Annual Texas Youth Convention of the church will be held Wednesday through Saturday on the campus of Texas Christian University, Fort Worth.

Coming events for members of the FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH include youth night, scheduled for July 25; a church supper, which has been postponed, will be held at a joint meeting with the Methodist church, July 28; and Dr. E. Douglas Scarver's 12th anniversary and homecoming, Aug. 1.

Anniversary goals of the church are 1200 in Sunday School and 400 in training union. All who have been baptized by Dr. Carver during these twelve years will be special guests at the morning and evening services.

In the absence of Dr. Carver, who is on vacation, a guest preacher, Rev. O. C. Curtis, will be in the pulpit for both services Sunday. He is a missionary for District 10, which includes this area.

The young people of the church will have a joint fellowship period with the young people of the Central Baptist church, in their church, following the Sunday evening service.

All boys, 13-16 years of age, who are going to the Panfork Encampment near Wellington next week will leave at 10 a.m. Monday. Bob Allford Jr. is the sponsor.

Man's heritage as the child of an eternally good God assures him of an abundant and joyous existence, according to the CHRISTIAN SCIENCE lesson-sermon, entitled "Life," to be read at services Sunday.

The verses from the Bible will be included: "The lines are fallen unto me in pleasant places; yes, I have a goodly heritage. I have not seen death, because the Lord is at my right hand, I shall not be moved. . . Thou wilt shew me the path of life; in thy presence is fulness of life; at thy right hand there are pleasures for evermore." (Psalm 16, 8, 11.)

Referring to Christ Jesus' teachings, Mary Baker Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian Science, has written these words

Women In The Church

Mrs. Julia A. Woodward, of Kansas City, who recently retired as a missionary of the Gospel Missionary Union, has been honored by the American Bible Society for her part in translating the New Testament into the little-known and difficult language spoken by more than 1,000,000 Indians living in the mountain area of Ecuador. She has been named an honorary member of the Society. Mrs. Woodward began translating the New Testament into the Ecuadorian Quechua soon after she began her missionary assignment in Ecuador forty years ago. She started with the gospel of St. John, which she finished in 1917. She completed the translation in 1933 and it is being published this year.

In the British-protected state of Sarawak — on the island of Borneo, formerly famous as a headhunter's paradise — the Methodist Church has mission churches, schools, and social service among Dyak and Chinese inhabitants. With enlargement of schools and the enrollment of many new pupils, the Women's Division of Christian Service of Methodist Board of Missions, is calling for young women to enlist as teachers (young English) of high school subjects, music, religious education, home economics, and others skilled in directing recreation, club work, and group singing.

Miss Elsa Peter, a missionary of the Church of England in Canada, has been pioneering in developing industrial pursuits for refugee women in Pakistan. The Women's Work of Technical Services Association was started with four refugee women, who had never held a needle or a pair of scissors. They are now from seventy to one hundred who earn a steady income doing fine needlework. Their visits to the centers have given them much more than employment; the daily contacts afford opportunity for religious training, and the impact of Christian influence, missionaries report. Miss Peter is seeking markets in the U.S.A. and Canada for the needlework.

HOLLYWOOD TODAY

MOVIES - TV - RADIO
by Erskine Johnson

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Hollywood on TV: Television has a problem electronic engineers have overlooked, and home viewers are waiting that it's worse than fussy reception, used car salesmen and panel shows.

A reader writes: "Have you ever watched a movie on TV for an hour and 20 minutes and then missed the ending because of a telephone call? Or been caught answering the doorbell just as your favorite private eye revealed the killer in a 30-minute whodunit? It's driving me crazy."

I can't say it's driving me crazy, but I've been considering the problem. Don't take an axe to the doorbell or the telephone until you hear from me, because I'm working on Johnson's Interruption Free TV Viewing Service.

Signs for front doors reading "NO Admittance - Temporary Interruption Free TV Viewing Service" would be comparatively simple. But a telephone interception service, with the operator saying, "Sorry, but the person you are calling requests you call back in 20 minutes," may be more complicated.

Maybe we'll just have to chop up the TV sets and get back to normal.

For the first time since I can remember, Bob Hope is on the pan.

The latest is a sizzling barbecue of Robert in a TV Guide editorial, which says viewers are enjoying a "vacation from him."

The magazine labels his TV shows as "embarrassing, vulgar, crude and in bad taste."

I can't agree on all counts, but I'll go along with "embarrassing." The scripts have been bad and the jokes untimely. Where there's hope, there should be faith in his writers. Something better happen next season or they'll all be on charity.

"Life With Father" switches to film in the fall, along with "My Friend Irma." Five of Jimmy Durante's 20 shows next season also will be on celluloid. . . . Bette Davis has green lighted her report that she's ready for an occasional TV drama. . . . Zippy Shores North heads the Summer Comedy Hour on NBC July 11.

There's a pretty cute explanation for the increased use of animated characters in TV commercials. Just another way to eliminate people. Cartoon characters don't ask additional payments for reuse. Walt Disney learned that a long time ago. . . . Also, Disney learned that if you get mad at a character, you just tear him up.

Disney's big ABC-TV show, by the way, probably will be placed opposite Arthur Godfrey on Wednesday night. To the tune of "Goodnight, Irene," we will now all sing, "Goodnight, Arthur."

Lux Video Theater switches to NBC and one hour "Versions of movies on Aug. 24. "To Each His Own," starring Dorothy McGuire, kicks off the new format and network.

Aside to Tony Martin: Better watch your "Valentine. It's bulging on my screen.

There were dire predictions last September, but "I Love Lucy" again was the most viewed TV program of 1953-54 season, according to the American Research Bureau's national audience report.

Last Of Army's Mounts Retired At Fort Riley

PORT RILEY, Kan. — (UP) — When the end came to more than a century of glory at Fort Riley, it came quietly with the single-file tramp of 14 aging horses into the rimrock hills just off the military reservation.

With the passing of the government-owned mounts from the Army, where the band of hoofbeats no longer has a place, there were few to remember the glory of another day when horses like Comanche, Milwood, Lady Balbec, and Dakota carried famous riders, Custer, Wainwright, Grimes, and Patton.

Col. Ford F. Thompson watched the horses walk off to a life of ease on the rimrock ranch of retired Col. John Wofford. Thompson remembered his wasn't overly sentimental, but he talked.

He remembered how he brought Rascal, now 18 years old, home from Germany, trained him and showed him all across the United States and through Europe. He rode Rascal in the Olympic Games.

"Rascal has won half the silver in our house," Thompson said.

A GI remarked, but Thompson didn't hear, or pretended not to hear.

"I'll bet the only horse he (Thompson) ever rode was on a merry-go-round."

The GI wasn't old enough to know that Thompson is the only four-time member of the U.S. Army Olympic equestrian team and once was a high-goal polo player.

The horses include Milwood, favorite mount of the late Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, hero of Bataan. Milwood is 26, Dakota, an Olympic jumper, is 24.

Master Sgt. Charles (Kay) Brown watched the horses leave. He is a farrier for the veterinary detachment who has shod more than 40,000 cavalry horses in his day.

He said he was sorry to see the horses go, "but they're going to a good home—and they deserve the best."

And so they went. They held their heads up as they walked behind a little monster called a jeep.

The Balance Sheet U.S. Faces New Asia Situation

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst

The week's balance sheet between the good and bad news in the hot and cold wars:

THE GOOD

1. The United States frankly by the radically altered situation in Southeast Asia. The Defense Department announced approval of a big new military aid program for Thailand, Thailand is a valuable ally. Unlike Indo-China, it is a free country. It showed in Korea its willingness to fight against Communist aggression. It will be a new bastion of the Allied defense alignment in Southeast Asia. On the diplomatic side, Prime Minister Winston Churchill firmly backed President Eisenhower's stand that Red China must not be admitted to the United Nations at this time.
2. Great Britain and Egypt prepared to start final negotiations on the Suez Canal zone. Under a new British proposal, British troops would evacuate the zone. Egypt would maintain it as a military base. In the event of a Soviet Russian attack on any Middle Eastern country, the base would be made available to the Allies.
3. Italy took the first step toward ratification of the European Defense Community Treaty. The finance and treasury committee of the chamber of deputies approved ratification. Other committees still must act before the ratification bill is debated in parliament. But, with a settlement of the Trieste dispute in sight, there was hope that Italy would ratify the pact within two months. It had held off largely because of the Trieste issue.

THE BAD

1. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles patched up an agreement with French Premier Pierre Mendès-France on terms for an "honorable" peace in Indo-China. But it was obvious that any peace agreement would be a major defeat for the West. As Prime Minister Churchill put it in a speech, Red China "is at this moment going to achieve a resounding triumph" in the Indo-China war "in which it has played so great a part."
2. Nationalist terrorists spread death and destruction throughout Tunisia in French North Africa. The situation was developing into one of open rebellion. French Resident General Pierre Voizard issued an emergency proclamation announcing that terrorism would be tried by military courts.

Six Plan Raft Trip

VENTURA, Calif., July 16 — Six men Friday tied together 100 automobile inner tubes which they will inflate and attempt to ride some 70 miles through choppy seas to Catalina Island on a "poor man's Kon-Tiki" expedition.

The six adventurous Venturans, assembling their weird seagoing contraption to be called "Rubber Bomb Slinky," confidently boasted as they worked amid skeptical onlookers, "who can go wrong with 100 life preservers?"

The raft is designed to be about 15 by 31 feet, featuring a small tent "to keep the sun off us and keep the beer cool." There will be a 12-foot mast with a board sail and a 15-horsepower outboard motor for an emergency. The raft is scheduled to embark Sunday.

New Interest In Divinity Of Hirohito

TOKYO — (UP) — A growing movement to restore belief in the divinity of Emperor Hirohito is indicated in reports from throughout Japan.

There is increased interest in the rehabilitation of shrines and temples and in the construction of monuments in honor of Japan's World War II dead.

At Ise Shrine, where the emperor reports to his ancestors on important national events, the number of worshippers jumped from $80,000 in 1947 to 3,500,000 in 1952, nearly $2,000,000 last year.

Shortly after the war, Emperor Hirohito renounced the centuries-long belief that the imperial family descended from the gods.

Vets' Groups Formed

But the Asahi Evening News reported that in one private school in Akita prefecture the emperor's picture was placed in a "peace pavilion" remarkably like the pre-war "hoanden" — a fireplace building for keeping the imperial picture.

The principal of the school, Asahi said, has written a book on "educational guidance" which contains such pre-war emperor phrases as "Supremely August Being" and "Sacred Son of Heaven."

In five-of-the-possibilities in Tokyo, householders earmarked about 25 per cent of their donations for Shinto ceremonies, while one ward apportioned half of its donations for the rehabilitation of two shrines.

Some Japanese writers believe the current trend toward emperor and ancestor worship can be blamed on political scandals and on the increased activity of ultrarightist groups.

As an indication of rightist influences, groups of former Japanese servicemen now are trying to form national veterans' organizations and officer associations.

Largest Industry

Larger than either the steel or automobile manufacturing industries is the dairy industry of the United States. Most of the profits are obtained from cheese, ice cream, and other by-products.

American Troops Give Aid To Austrian Flood Victims

LONDON, July 16 — U.S. Armed Forces abroad may be denounced by the Communists as agents of "imperialism" but they were fighting again Thursday on the side of stricken humanity.

In Austria American troops were sweating side by side with native villagers to shore up levees against the flooding Danube.

When wind-whipped tidal waves broke the dikes of little Holland and smashed down the sea walls of eastern England in February, 1953, the U. S. Armed Forces sent $1 million worth of supplies and equipment to aid the work.

Floods, earthquakes, avalanches, epidemics, all have brought aid, sometimes in massive proportions, from the U. S. Army, Navy and Air Force overseas.

Contribute to the relief of flood victims.

When floods raged through southern Japan a year ago U. S. planes airlifted supplies to 17 isolated areas. Supplies were parachuted to marooned villagers. Air Force res-

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

JESUS THE WONDERFUL

In the prophecy of Isaiah in the 9th chapter and the 6th verse, we have the following scripture: "For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given, and the government shall be upon his shoulders; and his name shall be called wonderful, counselor, The Mighty God, The Everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace.

Everything pertaining to Jesus is indeed wonderful. Jesus was wonderful in prophecy: Many of the old Testament writers foretell the coming of our Savior, and Isaiah reaches a high peak here in our scripture in portraying the coming of the prince of peace.

Jesus was wonderful at birth: The Angels sang the first Christmas carols to the sleeping shepherds on the Judean hills, "Fear not for behold we bring you good tidings of great joy which shall be to all people."

Jesus was wonderful in sacrifice and suffering: His enemies placed the crown of thorns on his brow, lashed Him with Roman scourge, nailed Him to the cross, and in the throes of awful anguish and death, He pray to the Father, "Forgive them for they know not what they do."

Jesus is wonderful in his power to redeem. Heb. 7:15: "Wherefore He is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by Him, seeing He ever liveth to make intercession for them."

Stuff Subjects

By and large, the American people are probably less concerned with what is lumped as "foreign policy" and "fiscal policy" than any two other general topics they hear about.

But, by and large, there is nothing of any greater importance to individual Americans in the conduct of their every-day lives. For it is in these two fields that momentous and often terrible things happen to people who don't realize what is happening until it is too late.

The American family that has a grave of a soldier in Korea has a real and terrible problem. A son has been lost — a life snuffed out. In anguish parents cry out "Why did it have to be our son?"

To talk to such people of foreign or fiscal policy seems a little remote.

"That stuff's over my head" is a popular answer. "Let the government worry about it."

But when it is pointed out that a son has been lost because "government" sent him into battle and that there is a direct connection between the loss of a son and what "the government" does in regard to foreign policy and fiscal policy, there often is a quickening of the interest of those who were inclined to let the government worry.

But these are extreme cases, no matter how true they may be. Most Americans did not lose a son. Most of us are truly sorry for those who did, but we are less touched by this fact than we are by something of more immediate relationship.

Few Americans are in the position of wanting nothing more, either for themselves or for their children and grandchildren. The phrase "if we could afford..." probably occurs in most American homes as often as any, regardless of the circumstances.

Because such things are relative, the wants and desires of individuals and individual families are likely to be almost as divergent as the number of families. What is "just getting by" for one family may be relative affluence and security for another...

Are you supporting a wife and two children? Then glance at a few of these figures and see if they are important to you. If you made $3,000 a year in 1939 your income this year will have to be $6,577 for you to just break even — not get ahead.

Supposing that someone in 1939 had said "From now on, each year, every dollar you earn will be worth five cents less than its remaining value." It wouldn't take you long to figure out that even if you lost only five cents out of each dollar every year, let alone five cents out of what was its remaining value, to realize that "something's wrong" about such a dollar.

We'll discuss this again in additional detail and see if we can bring home the point that it is your bread and butter and possibly the life of your son or daughter that is under discussion when "the big wheels" of government get together to talk about foreign policy and fiscal policy. If we can get this point across, we are confident that there will be changes in both these fields, changes that will help us all.

Let's Get Out Of The UN

Here is the final part of Congressman Usher L. Burdick's address before the House of Representatives on the question "The Great Conspiracy to Destroy the United States."

"Do we need further proof that the real and only purpose of the builders of the United Nations was to fashion a world government and to make our citizens subject to that world government, and to strip from them the protection guaranteed them under the Constitution of the United States?"

"If this is not treason, then I do not understand the provision of the Constitution defining it. Section 3 of article III of the Constitution says: 'Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort.'"

"The United Nations set up an organization known as UNESCO—the United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization—for the purpose of spreading universal learning, which the promoters contended would bring the people of the world more quickly to a mutual understanding than anything else would."

"There was no objection to this proposal—at least on the face of it. But it turned out to be the most dangerous, the most dastardly undertaking of all that the United Nations had theretofore conceived. Its purpose was not what its promoters said it was. It was a deliberate plan to create public opinion for the coming world government."

"The first step was to train teachers at Columbia University, at the expense of the United Nations—principally at the expense of the taxpayers of this country—to teach our children ways by which they could become world citizens, and that a strong national spirit interferes with this world venture. The birthdays of our great leaders, like Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, and Lincoln were not to be celebrated in honor of these leaders, but the day of celebration should be devoted to propagandizing these children on the benefits of this future world government. They made it exceedingly plain that love for the United States and its institutions prevented our participation in such a world government."

"Printed matter, radio and television were used night and day to carry on the cultivation propaganda, and to root out the love of country from these United States. This program is still being carried on, and the worst part of it is that the people who will eventually be stripped of the protection of our Constitution will pay the price of its destruction in taxes. It should now be proven overwhelmingly that the United Nations was organized to destroy the Constitution of the United States. This is all done in the name of world peace—but who wants to substitute world peace for the liberty and freedom we have? Who wants to surrender the sovereignty of this great republic to an organization which has been assiduously at work from its very beginning to abolish our Constitution?"

"Two very important sessions of the world government advocates have been held in London, and in the proceedings it is made plain that the machinery for world government is already set up in the Charter of the United Nations, and all that is necessary is to make a few amendments to that charter. Many 'travellers' of the United Nations have now come out openly for this world government. Some very influential men in public life say that we can afford to give up some of our sovereignty to obtain world peace. The propaganda for a world government has flourished in many quarters. I am here to tell you that we cannot afford to give up any of our national sovereignty for any cause."

"We have the only government on earth where the people themselves rule. The government here exists for the people, and the people do not exist for the government. For over 150 years we have gone on our way with our own concept of government, and we know what freedom means. Are we foolish enough to abandon our rights and listen to the alien songs of those whose design it is to destroy this great Government, and fit it into a new world government with a heterogeneous collection of nations whose ideas of the purpose of government conflict with our own? Instead of destroying our national spirit it should be increased. If other nations want to follow our example, let them do it; but to let any foreign combination direct the affairs of this Government would be intolerable and will never be permitted. It could not be done by force. And if the American people are alert and prize freedom and liberty as much as I think they do, this false, insidious, and conspiratorial scheme to subvert us will never prevail."

"The world government proposes a world congress where members are elected according to the population of the member nations. This means that Soviet Russia and Red China and their enslaved comrades will control that government. 'After examining this record, can anyone doubt that the United Nations was purposely set up to do to this country what could not be done by force of arms, but through the blandishments of Communists, fellow travelers, and dupes, get us to surrender our liberty without firing a shot?'

Lawyers Out To Get Tax Commissioner Andrews

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Many lawyers are so anxious to clean up" on interpreting the 1954 Revenue Act for bewildered clients that they have behind-the-scenes movement to oust T. Coleman Andrews as Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

The distinguished Virginia Republican in Washington and elsewhere are those which specialize in tax matters. Tax authorities will study every paragraph, every proviso, every exception, every comma and semicolon, and be able to advise individuals and corporations on how to take advantage of every honest or tricky loophole. That is their job, and the most profitable law firms in Washington and elsewhere are those which specialize in tax matters.

Naturally, the lawyers want to reserve this rich new field to themselves against the encroachment of certified public accountants, former Internal Revenue officials and agents and other nonlegal experts in this realm. Many of these men advise and help to prepare the March 15 income tax returns for fees ranging from $25 to $50, as this writer knows from experience.

In the June issue of its Journal, the American Bar Association published its brief for the lawyers, with a heavy sideswipe at Commissioner Andrews because he is not one of them. It expressed alarm over prospective revision of Treasury Circular 228, which has been a golden asylum for lawyers in the tax field for many, many years.

Treasury Circular 230 contains this clause: "Nothing in the regulations in this part shall be construed as authorizing persons not members of the bar to practice law" before the Treasury Department. In citing this prohibition, the authors of the editorial are Wife — Where's Joe?

Hubby — Well, if he knows as much about sailboats as he says he does he's out sailing. But if he knows as little as I think he does, then he's out swimming!

Man — Then, man alive, be thankful you aren't one of the creditors.

Nations was purposely set up to do to this country what could not be done by force of arms, but through the blandishments of Communists, fellow travelers, and dupes, get us to surrender our liberty without firing a shot? 'There are some questions that should be answered. One of them is, 'Why does this government permit the recognition of Soviet Russia, when it is known by all, including all the administration leaders, that from the Russian Embassy here in Washington there is a constant flow to all parts of the country of propaganda that is inimical to the United States?' The next question is: 'Why do we remain in the United Nations when we can plainly see that the whole scheme is directed to our destruction?'

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

"Is it possible to cure athlete's foot?" writes Mrs. M. "I have had a condition on my foot for about a year and have used salves and powders with no relief."

In answer to this question I can say that there are a number of excellent treatments for athlete's foot. But Mrs. M. is jumping to conclusions if she assumes that anything on the foot is that disease. Perhaps she has something else.

Furthermore it is risky to treat one's self and here is a good example where self treatment has failed. Some of my skin specialist friends, for example, have told me that they have had more trouble treating the skin of those who had worked on themselves than they did those with the disease.

"Athlete's foot" is not a disease of athletes alone nor is it confined to the foot. The same condition is also called ringworm—but it isn't caused by a worm nor does it often appear in the shape of a ring. The correct name is dermatophytosis, if you can remember it.

This disease is caused by fungi, which are considered to belong to the plant world.

These fungi grow best in the damp and dark. They will last for some time on damp towels or wet floors.

Hence there is more likely to be trouble with them in warm weather when more people use locker rooms and engage in athletics.

If one would avoid infection the feet should be kept clean and dry, the socks and shoes dried and aired frequently, and towels should be completely dry and never shared.

A dusting powder consisting of 10 per cent boric acid in powdering talc to be used on the feet twice a day has also been recommended. This could be used in the groin, too.

Even with precautions, however, it seems unlikely that this disease will disappear. Usually, it produces some itching and scaling, cracking, or some other peculiar appearance of the skin.

Sensationalism Attacked In Murder Case Reports

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — Francis Leary, the attorney for Mrs. Lorraine Eaton Clark of Amesbury, Mass., accused of murdering her husband, has just made some charges against the press coverage of this case.

"It will be remembered, I think that when this young woman was arrested a wave of sensational, scandalous stories went out across the country concerning an alleged fad, among an undefined group of young married couples, of swapping spouses for the night at drinking-parties. The reports were circumstantial and unsubstantiated, but they left me with an impression that they had been released or leaked to reporters by some person connected with the police authority or the prosecuting authority. Certainly the defense would have no reason to issue this stuff."

Altogether, this shocking publicity drenched the public which reads the newspapers with propaganda which certainly must have convinced millions that the accused young woman was utterly wicked and that she had murdered her husband in cold blood to be rid of him so that she could somehow have freedom to carry on with an unidentified male of the hypothetical circle. However, this man seemed to have a wife so the plot is open at one end.

Now this is the sort of preposterous propaganda against a defendant which Frank Hogan, District Attorney of New York County, and Louis Waldman, a distinguished New York lawyer who has specialized in union matters but is to the neglect of criminal practice, have been opposing to their considerable pain of late. Hogan has been accused of violating first amendment concerning freedom of the press in withholding prejudicial material from papers which would have no decent, ethical excuse to print it. And Mr. Waldman has had to take abuse on the same general propositions because he advocated a professional canon which would punish lawyers on either side for fomenting publicity favorable to their respective causes before trial.

Although I read the scandalous stories about the Clark case with perhaps a more observing eye than most of the lately published, I discovered that I was misled myself. I was given to suspect that Hugh A. Clegg, the district attorney, had failed to guard an accused person from prejudicial publicity. The publicity did point to him or his office.

Mr. Leary, however, although he is opposed to Mr. Clegg, with a life at stake, goes beyond the ordinary ethical formality of one lawyer discussing his adversary in such circumstances. Mr. Leary says positively that Mr. Clegg has had no part in this propaganda. He, on the contrary, has contradicted some statements attributed to him which might have caused prejudice against Mrs. Clark.

He gave me a telephone number at which, ordinarily, Mr. Clegg could be reached, but a state trooper at that office said Clegg was enroute somewhere and out of touch. Mean while, here we have the defense attorney aggressively attacking his opponent. I discovered in the forefront of this wild hurricane of scandal unsupported by a single word of any official record and aggressively blaming the press which he flatteringly accuses of which, ordinarily, Mr. Clegg could be reached, but a state trooper at that office said Clegg was enroute somewhere and out of touch. Mean while, here we have the defense attorney aggressively attacking his opponent.

RUTH MILLET

A small group of congenial women were considering prospects for filling a vacancy in their club. When Joan's name came up it was turned down on just one point—everyone agreed that Joan talked too much. "No one else would ever get a chance to get a word in edgewise" the members decided. Everyone admitted that Mary was a nice person but her name, too, was turned down. The reason? Margaret has a better one and is insistent that others accept her plans.

BABY

The play pen is indispensable for both Baby and mother since it keeps him safe but allows him to be active with mother's constant attention. You can make one by fencing off a corner of one room but generally, a play pen that you can move is better since it allows for more flexibility. Cover the floor with a washable pad that lies to the corners by tapes. But don't leave Baby alone in it for long stretches; check on him from time to time to be sure he's all right.

By the time he's four months, Baby will be able to hold a rattle for a few minutes, to wave his arms, to hit at toys which you can string across his crib. This is the beginning of play. He'll amuse himself for stretches, watching his fingers and trying to grab at his feet. But toys won't hold his interest for long since he likes many things to play with. Later on, he'll start throwing things, from crib or pen or high chair. This is because he first developed ability to hold objects, then to let them go. But don't hand his toys back at once or he'll start throwing them regularly for you to retrieve.

You'll find that Baby will lose a little weight for some days after he's born because he won't be taking much food. But don't let this weight loss worry you. It's natural. He'll soon begin to gain and then he'll grow much faster in weight than in height. While he'll double his birth weight within a few months, it will take Baby about four years to double his length. Don't count on his gaining a certain number of ounces from month to month. It's far more important to see that he gains steadily rather than that he gain a certain amount.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

When Helen's piano teacher advanced her prices, her mother discontinued her lessons. Shortly after, the mother of one of Helen's schoolmates offered to teach her. As her prices were lower than anyone else's in town, Helen's mother accepted.

Helen is not enjoying her lessons. The time she spends at Mrs. M.'s house begins and ends uncomfortably.

Mrs. M. keeps wanting to know why Helen's mother doesn't put her on a reducing diet. She wants to know if her uncle is going to lend his summer cottage to her parents again this season. She often criticizes Helen's clothes as too "childish."

But when Helen complains of Mrs. M.'s odd behavior, her mother either ignores her or says, "Don't be silly. You only imagine that Mrs. M. is mean to you."

Now if we have an hallucinated child who believes she's been mistreated when she hasn't, she has one kind of problem. If we have one who has been mistreated in fact, she has another kind. In neither case, are we entitled to ignore her problem.

We tell her that she only "imagines" she has one for any number of reasons.

Like Helen's mother who wished to retain cheap piano lessons, we may want to ignore our child's problems because to admit their existence would interfere with our plans.

Or we may fear to express our own aggressiveness toward her and be pleased when she suffers it from somebody else.

Or when the somebody else is another adult, we may feel that our child will be unmanfully to resist grownup attack.

And often we will tell her that she only "imagines" she's being mistreated because we ourselves accept other people's aggressive curiosity and are irritated by our child's resistance to what we resentfully put up with.

It is, of course, a pretty silly thing to endure. It can be handled quite simply as soon as we realize that submission to such curiosity is hangover from childhood's fear of demanding privacy.

To the child who is struggling with aggressive curiosity like Mrs. M.'s, we say:

"People who attack us never want to know why they want to hurt us. So when we ask them why they want to do it, they usually stop hurting us."

"So next time Mrs. M. asks why I don't put you on a reducing diet or why Daddy didn't come home last weekend, you say, 'Why do you want to know why Mother doesn't put me on a diet? Why do you want to know why Daddy wasn't at home last weekend?'"

Queen Contest At Oiler Park Tonight

It will be "bathing beauty" night at Oiler Park tonight as nine Pampa girls will appear before tonight's Oiler-Borger game for the first of a two-night contest.

Blue Sox Trip Leading Clovis

The Abilene Blue Sox sent 13 batters to the plate to score nine runs in the seventh inning against the Clovis Pioneers Thursday night for a 14 to 9 victory that cut Clovis' West Texas-New Mexico League lead to two games over Pampa.

Winner of the contest will join the other seven winners from the league cities in a tour around the West Texas-New Mexico League. After the tour of the league, each city will cast votes for their top choice of the eight candidates with the one polling the most votes to be crowned "Miss West Texas-New Mexico League."

The league queen will then qualify for the national baseball queen title in December.

Entries in the "Miss Pampa Oiler" contest and their sponsors are as follows: Glenda Dudley, Chamber of Commerce; Carol Foster, KPND; Marjorie Hall, V.F.W.; Shirley Olsen, Rotary Club; Leta Inman, Jaycees; Judy Nance, Lions Club; Sue Stewart, Top of Texas Road Association; Mary Ann Gubrie, Kiwanis Club; Shirley Kee, Pampa Daily News; Tonight's contest will start at 7:30.

Locals Only Two Games Out Of 1st

The Oilers return home tonight for a six-day home stand after sweeping a two-game series from the Amarillo Gold Sox last night at Amarillo, 9-7.

Hershel Martin, the newly appointed manager of the Oilers, will make his first appearance at Oiler Park in an Oiler uniform.

Martin, who took over the Oiler reins on the first day of the just completed four-day road jaunt, is bringing the Oilers back one game closer to first place than they were when he took over.

Last night's Oiler win, coupled with Abilene's 14-9 win over leading Clovis, moved the Oilers to within two games of the top rung. The Oilers won three of the four games on the road jaunt, splitting a two-game series with Borger and sweeping a pair from Amarillo.

Borger will furnish the opposition tonight and tomorrow as the Oilers open a new home stand. Clovis will follow Sunday and Monday and Amarillo Tuesday and Wednesday.

Queen Contest Tonight Feature attraction of the home stand series openers will be the "Miss Pampa Oiler" contest. The girls will appear both tonight and tomorrow with the winner to be announced tomorrow.

In tonight's game, Jose Valezquez will likely draw the starting pitching assignment for the Oilers. Valezquez will be looking for his ninth win of the season.

Baxter Meets Schumacher In Third Round Of Trans.-Miss.

DENVER, July 16—UP—Golfer Jimmy Jackson, a 26-year-old paper salesman from Kirkwood, Mo., chipped his way into the third round of the Trans-Mississippi tournament today, something it had lacked—an outstanding darkhorse.

The Missouri amateur champion and 1953 Walker Cupper fired the best round of the day over the Cherry Hills Country Club layout, a 2-under-par 68, but needed it to eliminate Bob Vickers, the last of the golfing Vickers of Wichita, Kan., 2-up.

Carlings Tourney Full Of Surprises

WILLOUGHBY, Ohio, July 16—UP—The $25,000 Carlings Open golf tournament looked like a sure bet to go down in the record books as a tourney of surprises Friday as three upsets events already had taken place after only one day's play.

Top eyebrow raiser after completion of the first 18 holes was the disqualification of Jimmy Clark of Huntington Beach, Calif. He toured the par 72 layout with a 66 and had headed for home before it was discovered there had been an error in his scorecard—an error that automatically forced him out of competition.

The second surprise was the showing of veteran pro Benny Shute of nearby Akron. He matched Clark's opening round in one of his rare tournament appearances. Shute, 49 and a grandfather, has restricted his links activities to teaching at his home course the past dozen years.

The final starter occurred before the event even got underway. Defending champion Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., angrily withdrew over an undisclosed dispute with tournament officials.

Although Shute, a sentimental favorite, won the gallery's applause with his 31-35 tour of the hilly, woods-speckled course, it was Clark who won their sympathy and respect. Rules of the Professional Golfers' Association state that if a player benefits from an erroneous score on any single hole, he is automatically disqualified.

Close on Shute's heels after the first 18 holes was New Orleans' Fred Haas Jr., who shot the course record of 63 here a year ago. He finished strong to come in a stroke off the lead with a 35-67.

'Granny' Rice Was Loved By Everyone

By OSCAR FREALEY NEW YORK, July 16—UP—How do you say goodbye to a friend like "Granny" Rice? They buried Granddaddy Rice Friday. But I couldn't go. I had to remember him as he was through the years I have known and loved him on the sports beat. You don't think of a man as actually loving another. Yet everybody who knew him loved "Granny," a soft-speaking, ruddy-faced man not as big at 73 as he used to be but with that burring Tennessee drawl still in his speech.

WOOD TO WAX — Willie Mays, who makes himself heard with his bat, tries his hand, or should it be voice, in his first recording. The Giants' phenomenal center fielder makes his wax bow with "Say Hey," his nickname, by the way, a ditty composed by Richard Kleiner, NEA entertainment columnist. (NEA)

Yanks, Indians Win

There was one big reason. Granny was a kindly man who exuded an honest friendliness. He proved it to me when I first came to the big town, just as he had for countless others, and nothing was too much trouble to help you get your feet on the ground.

Giants Stretch Lead To 6 1/2 Tilts

Favorites Bow In Publix

DALLAS, July 16—UP—There wasn't a tournament we contend for left among the four survivors Friday as the 29th National Public Links golf tournament hit the tortuous 36-hole semifinals.

Two gruelling rounds of match play Thursday—the fifth and sixth rounds since match play started last Monday—left a couple of novices and two guys who've never been able to win over a match or two in previous National Public Links meets in the running.

Medalist Ernie Yonker of Fort Worth didn't have much of a double with Ron Moore, 2-and-1, and was expected to sail into the lower bracket quarterfinals over Howie Johnson, Houston.

Two other former champions and lounge salesman from Pacific Palisades, Calif., and Jack Zimmerman, a 26-year-old Dayton, Ohio, mechanical engineer.

Zimmerman, a four-year golfer at the University of Dayton from 1947-50, drew the assignment of trying to stop the hulking, 225-pound Scarborough Friday.

The other match pitted the confident Evans, who has come closest to matching Scarborough's par-conquering performances, against Andrews, a quiet former Texan who has played just good enough to win whether it be par golf or worse.

This year's tournament marks the first time for either Andrews or Scarborough to compete in a national.

BORGER, Tex., July 16—UP—A spokesman for the Borger Gassers of the West Texas-New Mexico League announced the sale of the club's star-Tom Umphlett of the Washington Senators, who drove in three runs in a 3 to 2 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Favorites Bow In Publix

DALLAS, July 16—UP—There wasn't a tournament we contend for left among the four survivors Friday as the 29th National Public Links golf tournament hit the tortuous 36-hole semifinals.

Two gruelling rounds of match play Thursday—the fifth and sixth rounds since match play started last Monday—left a couple of novices and two guys who've never been able to win over a match or two in previous National Public Links meets in the running.

And one of the novices—36-year-old William C. (Bill) Scarborough Jr. of Jacksonville, Fla., Naval Air Station, appeared to be the man to beat in the battle to find a successor to 1933 champion Sid Richards of Santa Monica, Calif., who did not compete this year.

Medalist Ernie Yonker of Fort Worth didn't have much of a double with Ron Moore, 2-and-1, and was expected to sail into the lower bracket quarterfinals over Howie Johnson, Houston.

Two other former champions and lounge salesman from Pacific Palisades, Calif., and Jack Zimmerman, a 26-year-old Dayton, Ohio, mechanical engineer.

Zimmerman, a four-year golfer at the University of Dayton from 1947-50, drew the assignment of trying to stop the hulking, 225-pound Scarborough Friday.

The other match pitted the confident Evans, who has come closest to matching Scarborough's par-conquering performances, against Andrews, a quiet former Texan who has played just good enough to win whether it be par golf or worse.

This year's tournament marks the first time for either Andrews or Scarborough to compete in a national.

RED DEER ADDITION TO THE CITY OF PAMPA

This is a map of the Red Deer Addition, all of which is now a part of the city. The parallelogram formed by Lowry, Harvester, Red Deer and the line parallel to Harvester was brought into the city Tuesday by the city commission. Remainder of the area bounded by Browning, Lowry, Harvester and Red Deer, a part of the Pampa Municipal Airport, was already part of the city, though unplatted. C. P. Buckler, of the White Deer Land Co., and A. H. Doucette, county surveyor, prepared the plat for commissioners.

Valley Farmers Hit Operation Wetback

By THOMAS MACCARE
 McALLEN, Tex., July 16—UP—Some Lower Rio Grande Valley farmers charged Friday they were being "driven to the poorhouse" by the U. S. Border Patrol's "Operation Wetback."

"More than 5,000 illegal aliens were picked up Thursday, when border patrolmen began their drive to send all but legal contract workers or braceros back across the Rio Grande."

Border Patrol Chief Harlon Carter, taking personal charge of "Operation Wetback," told the disheartened farmers there were plenty of legal workers to harvest the Valley's bumper cotton crop.

Braceros Carry Papers
 Planes swooped low over farms in the fertile valley, spotting groups of workers. They radioed the locations to border patrolmen in jeeps, who hurried up to sort out the aliens.

Braceros carry papers to show they are in the country legally, and U. S. citizens of Mexican descent usually have either birth certificates or naturalization papers to prove their status.

The wetbacks, after picking up their belongings and claiming their wages, were taken to a barbed wire detention camp near McAllen.

Most were held there no longer than overnight, and Carter said more than 1,000 of those captured Thursday were sent before nightfall in a bus convoy to El Paso, Tex., 750 miles northwest, where they will be returned to Mexico.

Although most farmers who talked with newsmen grumbled about the roundup, similar to one the Border Patrol held in Arizona and California last month, few wanted to be quoted by name.

Farmers Very Resentful
 "We're being driven to the poorhouse," said one farmer, who explained he had lived in the same place for 30 years. "How do they expect us to get our crop in?"

C. B. Ray, manager of the Valley Farm Bureau, was even more critical.

"The bracero program is inadequate and worthless," said Ray. "I think an awful lot of farmers who have signed the contract will be sick of it before it's over."

Jim Griffin of Mission, a former president of the Mission Farm Bureau, said some "farmers are very resentful."

"They have their wetbacks and they don't like to have their farms disrupted," Griffin said. "But at least they knew it was coming. It was just one of those things."

Bribed Officials
 Miss G. L. Marrs, who runs a citrus nursery and also grows cotton, pointed out that a gin near her place was "busy 24 hours a day until the drive started, but now it stands idle a lot of the time. This has almost brought this area to a halt."

"This is accomplishing nothing but hurting the U. S. taxpayer," Miss Marrs said. "The cotton crop means life and death to the valley at this time."

She said Mexican workers on her farm had told her they sometimes had to pay $10 to $75 bribes to Mexican officials in order to be certified as braceros. They said farmhands had no choice but to become wetbacks, if they couldn't afford the bribes, Miss Marrs said.

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 16—UP—Sen. Robert S. Kerr's report to the State Election Board showed Friday his campaign expenses were $5,478. Kerr said he spent $940 for travel, $720 for meals, $585 for miscellaneous and $423 for communications.

BULFUR, Okla., July 16—UP—State Sen. Joe Bailey Cobb lost five votes in a recount and conceded his defeat for renomination Friday to State Rep. Bruce Frazier. Cobb has been in the Senate for 12 years, while Frazier served two terms in the House.

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 16—UP—The Oklahoma Gas & Electric Co., which serves 219 Oklahoma cities and 22 in Arkansas, reported Friday that the heat wave had pushed the demand for power almost to capacity. The peak load thus far was nearly 500,000 kilowatts, compared with 1933's highest load of 420,000. Air conditioning by refrigeration was given credit for the increased demand.

STANTON, Tex., July 16—UP—James McMorris, former Martin county judge, was indicted Thursday night on 41 counts of felony. McMorris resigned July 8, after the county was unable to meet this bi-weekly payroll.

ALPINE, Tex., July 16—UP—Brien Montague of Sanderson testified Thursday that closing a Southern Pacific Railroad freight terminal in his town would mean a 40 per cent decrease in the economy. The SP wants to close the terminal and establish one at Alpine.

Kerr Status To Be Decided

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 16—UP—The State Supreme Court will decide next Monday whether Sen. Robert S. Kerr will have an opponent in the July 27 Democratic runoff primary.

Former Gov. Roy J. Turner, who ran second to Kerr by 33,000 votes in the July 6 primary, dropped out of the runoff Monday night.

The third man, David C. Shapard of Oklahoma City, promptly asked the State Election Board to put him on the ballot in place of Turner, but was turned down. Shapard then asked the Supreme Court to force the board to put him in the runoff.

Justice W. H. Blackbird, who will hear the case, said election board officials reported they would have time to print the ballots for the runoff, if the high court makes a decision Monday.

Shapard got 11,071 votes July 6 to Kerr's 228,643.

Alpine Railroad Hearing Recesses

ALPINE, Tex., July 16—UP—A Railroad Commission hearing on the Southern Pacific's plans to establish a new freight terminal at Alpine was in recess Friday.

Opponents of the SP's plan said closing a subterminal at Sanderson would cripple that town. Postmaster Clyde Griffith said the railroad accounted for 40 per cent of Sanderson's economy.

The opponents asked that hearing be resumed in Sanderson. Examiner Charles Pettit said the motion would be presented to the full Railroad Commission.

The railroad's only rebuttal testimony was on a recent change in its operation in Nevada, where it was granted new divisions of 242 and 307 miles. The opposition charged that the distance from El Paso to Alpine and from Dal Rio to Alpine would be too great.

90,000 Mexican Workers To Replace The Wetbacks

WASHINGTON, July 16—UP—Some 90,000 additional Mexicans will be recruited this year for American farm work to replace "illegal" Mexican immigrants—or wetbacks, the Labor Department reports.

Robert C. Goodwin, director of employment security, made the disclosure in testimony presented to a House Appropriations subcommittee July 1 and made public Thursday night.

He said the department's program now calls for recruiting 250,000 Mexican farm hands this year instead of the 260,000 planned originally. He asked for a supplemental $300,000 appropriation to finance the expansion.

Need Replacements
 "Numerous employers who formerly used illegal labor have advised our reception centers they will need legal labor to replace wetbacks," Goodwin testified.

Workers recruited under the Labor Department program are guaranteed prevailing wages and other benefits. The illegal immigrants, or so-called "wetbacks," work for whatever wages they can get.

Goodwin said the increased demand for legal labor is evidence of the "effectiveness" of the stepped-up drive by the Immigration and Naturalization Service to round up and deport wetbacks.

Further Expansion
 Immigration Commissioner J. M. Swing appeared before the subcommittee on July 2, five days earlier, and appealed for an additional $3 million to finance a further expansion in the deportation drive.

The request included funds for hiring 300 additional patrolmen and buying three additional airplanes, 25 trucks, 20 sedans, four buses, 25 house trailers, 87 two-way radios and 30 handie-talkie radios. Swing estimated it would take four months to recruit the expanded staff.

A Timely Warning To Insurance Buyers

During recent months there have appeared in the news details of the failure and bankruptcy of 14 different fire and casualty insurance concerns doing business in Texas.

These failures left many thousands of policy holders without coverage; they left unpaid millions of dollars in just claims; many more millions in unearned premiums can never be recovered.

WHY DO YOU BUY INSURANCE? To protect your home, your furniture, your automobile from loss or damage. When an insurance company from whom you have bought a policy fails, you are left entirely without protection. You suffer a double loss: in lack of protection you were entitled to, and cost of a new policy you must buy.

HOW CAN YOU PROTECT YOURSELF? There is one sure way to see that you get the protection you pay for . . .

In case you're nourishing a secret desire to be an actor (or actress, as the case might be) you might be interested in what Bob Sterling has to say. Bob's the star of the TV series, "Topper," and it's his considered opinion that words with "s" in them are the most troublesome. Hard to say, hard to hear.

That being the case, he practices with the following sentences. Just for laughs, try them:
Six little thistle sticks. Fleesh of freshly fried fish. Yonder stands a slight, slick, slim, slender sapling. She stood at the door of Mrs. Smith's fish-sauce shop.
And that should keep your tang tounded.

After considerable upheaval, involving cats, dogs and children, Barry Sullivan is comfortably established in court in "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial." He had the rough job of following Henry Fonda, who created the role of the defense counsel in the hit play, and he's doing it admirably.

"Fonda played it one way. I play it another," says Sullivan. "That's what makes horse races." In this particular horse race, however, Sullivan was an outsider. Fonda had made the role his own. Everyone felt that Sullivan, a fine actor, would naturally be compared with Fonda and finish second. But Sullivan outsmarted them. He didn't try to copy Fonda. He plays it as Sullivan. And those who've seen both say his interpretation is just as exciting, in its way, as Fonda's.

This bears out Sullivan's theory that it's the play, not the cast, that makes "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial" great.
"Ten years from now," is the way he says it, "a group of actors we've never heard of could do this play, do it differently, do it great."

Lions President Describes National Convention By Letter

"Far below and around lay the city like a ragged purple dream, the wonderful, cruel, enchanting, bewildering, fatal, great city."
Boss Lion A. A. Sturgeon quotes O. Henry on the American city when discussing his trip to the Lions International convention in New York City in a report handed out to club members Thursday noon.

Madison Square Garden was the place where Lions gathered July 6-10 for their business sessions. The one disappointing thing was the rain which marred the traditional parade. Sturgeon did not march; but Boyd Meador, McLean, did.
Gets Around
In his written report, Sturgeon mentions reports at the convention by Dr. Walter Judd (R-Minn.) and Rep. Joe Martin (R-Mass.); attending productions of "Pennsylvania Night" and "Oan Oan"; a visit to Rockefeller Center; a boat trip around New York harbor; New York's hospitals and churches; the Empire State Building; Grand Central Station; and major league baseball games in Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds.
"One of the motivating causes of my going to the convention was for the change and rest," Sturgeon wrote. "The taxi drivers got my change, and the hotel, the rest."

Homer Craig, director of the Pampa summer recreation program, provided the program at the weekly luncheon, including a display of arts and crafts work and a 20-minute film shown by Earl McConnell. Metal, ceramics and leather work were displayed along one wall of the basement of the First Methodist Church. The film was on the 1955 program. McConnell will take more pictures of this year's program before it concludes July 30.
Either Mayor Tom Ross or City

Mgr. Fred Brook will present certificates to the best all-round boy and girl at each city playground. Craig told the club. Presentation will be made at 1 p.m., July 30, the day the program is finished.
Lion Cliff Whitney told the club of a letter he had received from the Lions Crippled Children's Home in Kerrville, thanking Pampa Lions and particularly their wives, for neckerchiefs that had been sent there.
Among the 30 guests were Miss Judy Vance, former Long Club sweetheart and the club's entry in tonight's Miss Pampa Oiler contest, and Miss Carol Paxson, club
