MRS. RUFÉ JORDAN ... civic worker

'Must Be Active,' Says Mrs. Jordan

By JANE KADINGO. Pampa News Women's Editor. "One of the nicest things that ever happened to me was being chosen Woman of the Year," reminisced Mrs. Rufe Jordan, wife of Gray County's amiable sheriff. This honor was bestowed upon her in 1933 by Beta Sigma Phi sorority...

sheriff and the deputies were all out chasing the Erick, Okla., bandits. When asked what she would have done if there had been a call about some trouble, she laughed and said: "I don't know. I guess I would have tried to talk them out of it."

Yarborough To Speak Here

Judge Ralph Yarborough, Democratic candidate in the two-man runoff primary for governor Aug. 23, is scheduled Tuesday to come to Pampa.

His plans will arrive at 1:15 p.m. at Perry LeFors Field, according to Jimmy Thompson, GOP county chairman. Some 30 of Yarborough's supporters will be on hand to meet the Democrat hopefully and escort him into Pampa.

Cotton Estimates For '54 Reported

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 -UP- The Agriculture Department Monday estimated farmers will produce a 12,680,000 bale cotton crop under a rigid federal control program this year, down 23 per cent from last year's harvest.

Pampa Has Cool Days

Pampa had one of the coolest days of the summer Sunday, following a 1.33-inch rainfall Saturday night that postponed the final Top o' Texas Rodeo performance.

Congress Behind In Work

Adjournment Date Is Expected To Be Pushed Back Again

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 -UP- Democrats and Republicans were already debating the accomplishments of the 83rd Congress Monday even though the Senate faces a heavy workload before the lawmakers can call it quits.

Senate Republican leaders aimed at a legislative cleanup by Saturday while the House did little more than mark time. But the backlog of unfinished business indicated adjournment already postponed from July 31 to Aug. 7 to Aug. 14 - may be pushed back again.

House Democratic leader John W. McCormack (Mass.) and Chairman Leo Allen (R-Ill.) of the House Rules committee engaged in a spirited warmup Sunday. McCormack said the current Congress will be known as the "give-away Congress."

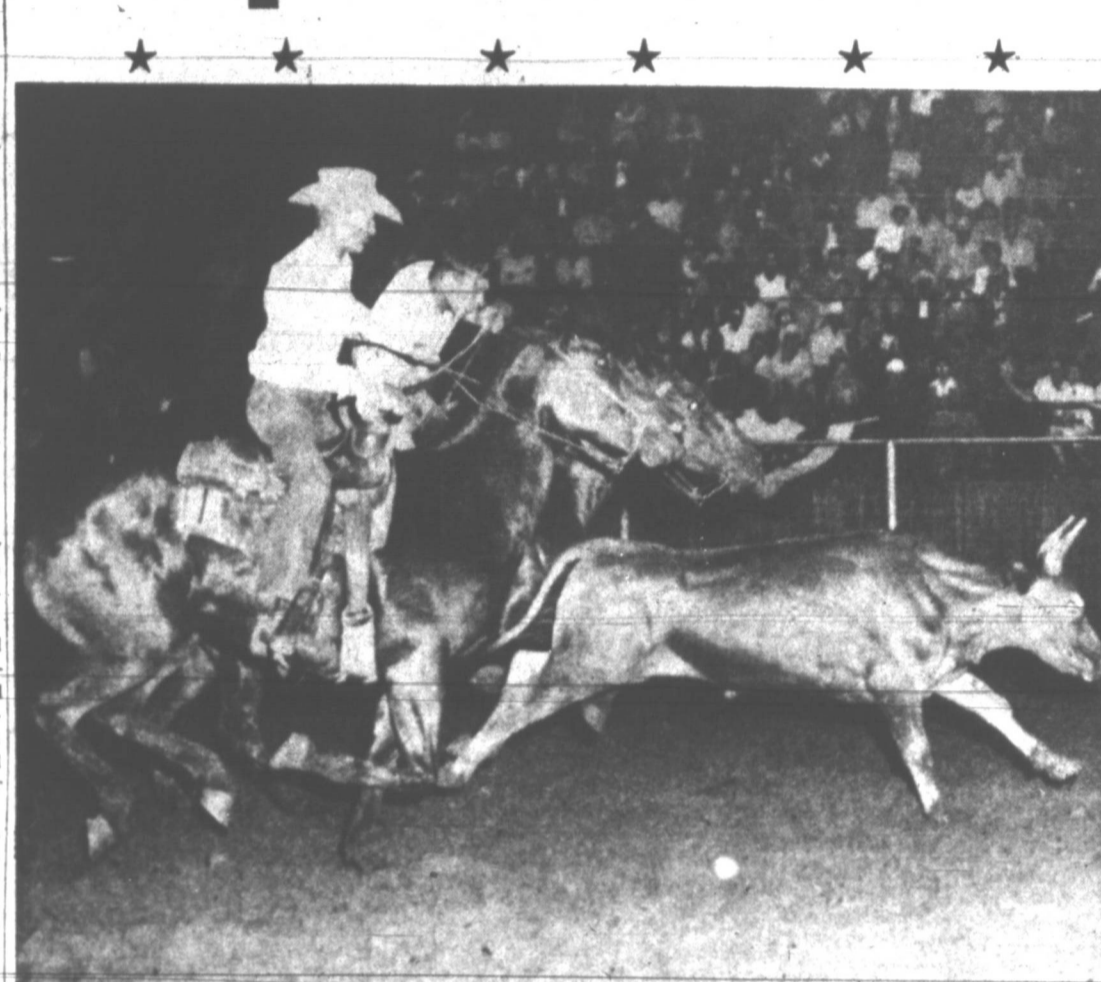

Azores Crash Kills Thirty

ANGRA DO HEROISMO, The Azores, Aug. 9 -UP- A Colombian airliner, climbing on take-off through thick fog over the Azores, crashed into a mountain Monday and exploded, killing all 30 persons aboard.

Caravan To Boost North Plains Fair

PERRYTON - (Special) - Booster trips advertising the North Plains Fair will leave Perryton Wednesday and Thursday mornings at 7:30 to visit Kansas, Oklahoma and northern Panhandle communities.

Abilene 'Poke Named Top Rodeo Performer

ALL-ROUND COWBOY - Bill Barton (in the background) makes a last try at bulldogging Sunday night at the Rodeo grounds, scant hours before he was named best all-around cowboy of the 1954 rodeo.

Daythene Vineyard Is 'Best' Cowgirl

Bill Barton, 34, of Abilene, who has been rodeoing for 20 years, early this morning was named best all-around cowboy in the 1954 Top o' Texas Rodeo and given a Stetson hat and a silver belt buckle.

WEDGEWORTH EXITS FAST

E. O. (Red) Wedgeworth, Top o' Texas Rodeo Association secretary and Pampa Chamber of Commerce manager, got out of Pampa - quick.

Paul Crouch, president of the Top o' Texas Rodeo Association, also presented Barton with three other silver buckles in ceremonies in City Hall about 1:15 a.m. today.

Glen Taylor Tries Political Comeback

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 -UP- A comeback bid by former Democratic Sen. Glen H. Taylor in Idaho and a Republican senatorial free-for-all in Nebraska highlight primary contests Tuesday.

Emilie Dionne Laid To Rest

CORBELL, Ont., Aug. 9 -UP- Emilie Dionne, one of Canada's 20-year-old quintuplets whose famous birth was followed by riches and sadness, was buried Monday in a tiny bushing cemetery near the graves of her long-dead grandparents.

Shamrock Oil Observes 25th Birthday

A success story typical of free enterprise working in a competitive environment is being celebrated today as The Shamrock Oil and Gas Corporation observes its 25th anniversary.

Born in 1929 in the early boom-and-bust days of the Texas Panhandle field, Shamrock struggled to survive through the economic depression until its reorganization in 1935. Since its reorganization in 1935, Shamrock has grown in 25 years to one of the nation's leading independent petroleum companies. At the end of 1954, Shamrock's investment in plants, properties and equipment will exceed $6 million dollars.

CAT CRACKER — Shamrock's cracking plant, part of which is shown here, has been a landmark in the Texas Panhandle since its completion in 1951.

Airman Admits Jewel Theft

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 9 — A Randolph Air Force Base airman who said he was depressed and needed money to get married was charged Monday with a $10,000 jewelry robbery.

Airman Robert Sanders, 20, a link-trainer instructor from Charleroi, Pa., admitted taking the jewelry from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted James in the fashionable Terrell Hills section, authorities said Monday. James is vice president of the Pioneer Flour Mills.

Sanders was arrested after employees at the air base post exchange tipped authorities the airman had brought some unset diamonds in to be appraised.

The diamonds came from rings and brooches taken in the burglary last week of the home of Mr. and Mrs. James while the family was in Hawaii. The burglar broke into a safe but took only a few pieces, however.

Sheriff's investigator Dean Jones said Sanders admitted the burglary and told officers he was afraid to take so much jewelry, so left most of it on the floor.

PERFORMER

Smith (35.8), first; Pete Hess (36.6) second; John Burrus (41.3), third; and H. B. Taylor Jr. (42.4), fourth.

For the second go-round, the Friday night and Sunday night performances, these were the winners:

It was Bill Barton, Tommy Riley, Don Wortman, Riley Miller and Rusty Welch (Miller and Welch tied for fourth) in the saddle bronc riding; John Farris, David Rushing, Bill Barton and Sidney Johnson (Rushing and Barton tied for second) in bareback riding; and Gene Frasier, Spike West, Melvin McGarrough, Peeler Henning and Sonny Mayo (last three tied for third) in bull riding.

Also Gene Frasier, Freddy Cordell, Dick Barton and Doug Wallace, in bull doggin; Tommy Bacon, John Burrus, Bill Symons and Dick Fox, in calf roping; and Clifton Smith, Wesley Matterson, Jimmy Bird and John Burrus, in double muggin.

For the cowgirls, Daythene Vineyard placed first in the first go-round and tied for first with Miss Phillis Ferguson in the second go-round. Misses Jean Hassell, Helen Harrison and Phillis Ferguson split second and third places in the first go-round and Miss Betty Osborne took third in the second go-round.

The Sunday night performance understandably lacked some of the spark of Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Bobby Williamson and his orchestra and the Sahawee Indian dancers were absent and only part of the Amarillo Air Force Band was present. But the part of the band on hand provided the "life" of the show. Fortis Sims and his Liberty ponies made their last appearance, though one of the ponies got away from the ring.

Fast Times in Mud

Though the rodeo arena was muddy Sunday night, there were some fast times recorded. In calf roping Jimmy Bird, 18.1 seconds, Bill Barton 14.1 and Bill Stockstill, 14.9. Cowgirls going around the barrels got 13.4 seconds (Martha Ann Butler), 12.7 (Janie Avery) and 12.5 (Jean Hassell). Dick Barton had 12.5 seconds in the bull doggin and Doug Wallace got 12.8.

Joe Smith had a relatively easy time in the wild mare race but the other three contestants never got their broncs saddled. All five cowpokes who came out on saddle broncs rode them required eight seconds. One of the biggest rounds of applause came to Bill Hogan, of Clinton Okla., who made a special unannounced bull ride.

The 1954 rodeo season was somewhat on the way out Sunday night, even before the final performance began. At 7:45 p.m., 45 minutes before the show, crews around town were hauling down the red-white-and-blue bunting that had flapped over the arena. The horses looked forlorn standing in three tiers of mud. And even the water in the judges stand was no good — someone had put soap in it.

Indo-Chinese Commies Kill 40 Civilians

SAIGON, Aug. 9 — French authorities announced Monday that 40 civilians were killed when a Communist mob stormed a French Union post 25 miles northwest of Saigon.

The French announcement said 40 civilians in the mob were killed and many others wounded when French forces were forced to fire on the mob after pleas to disperse had been ignored.

It was the most grave civilian disorder organized to date by Red Viet Minh agents in south Viet Nam.

The dead brought to a total of 63 the number slain in a series of incidents within a week.

The cease-fire for this area of Viet Nam is only two days away. But already Communist administrative cadres have appeared openly in towns and villages in the rice country around Saigon.

They are proclaiming publicly that south Viet Nam, which was to remain free of Communist domination under terms of the Geneva cease-fire agreement, will be in the hands of the Reds within six months.

Water Use Drop Noted

Pampans weren't very thirsty Sunday and neither were their lawns.

Only 1,760,000 gallons of water were consumed in the 24 hours ending at 7:30 a.m. today. A total production for the period of 1,890,000 gallons, boosted storage gains to 120,000 gallons.

A gain in water storage was also recorded for the 24-hour period ending at 7:30 a.m. Sunday, but the production and consumption were more than usual. 5,087,000 gallons produced and 4,927,000 rations consumed.

The total production for month now stands at 40,956,625 gallons.

Pampan's Mother Dies in Oklahoma

Mrs. Eula Lee Troop, 81, mother of A. C. Troop, manager of the Fox Rig and Lumber Company, Pampa, died at 4:30 a.m. Sunday in Ardmore, Okla.

A long-time resident of Ardmore, Mrs. Troop had been an active member of the Missionary Baptist Church for 50 years.

Funeral services were to be held at 4 p.m. today in the Bettis Funeral Home, Ardmore, and burial was to be in the Rose Hill Cemetery there.

She loves music and likes good literature. "I don't read enough," she pointed out, "but I like to be more active — cooking or planning something. I find the same enjoyment in people others find in books."

Tris New Endeavor

Since her daughter Ann has been married, Mrs. Jordan has been taking piano lessons. She used to enjoy her daughter's playing but has now decided to try it herself. "I used to play some," she said "but I've forgotten everything I knew."

When speaking of Ann Mrs. Jordan naturally brings up the subject of her new son-in-law, Wayne McMurtry of Silverton. "The family's complete now," she stated. "He and Rufe like the same things and he just fits in so nicely." The Jordans were especially interested in the rodeo this year as Wayne was competing in some of the events.

Mainly About People

Dr. and Mrs. Nicholas Kadings, 414 N. Somerville, left over the week end for a two-week vacation in Menominee, Mich.

C. A. (Lefty) Huff, Canadian River Municipal Water Authority president, and E. D. Robison, Pampa member on the authority board, were to be in Plainview at 10 a.m. today for the monthly board of directors meeting.

Mrs. James W. Hart, of Pampa, is to be presented a Silver Star at 7:30 p.m. today in the Army Reserve Armory, 208 W. Brown, for gallantry in action in Korea. President Eisenhower directed the award be made.

Mrs. Libby Shotwell, executive director of the Pampa Red Cross, said that despite the cool weather 180 students attended the morning classes of the water safety program, and that overall attendance has been excellent.

Pampa city commissioners late this morning faced only two items on their 9 a.m. Tuesday meeting.

Lions Show On TV Today

A half-hour program on the Texas Lions Club Crippled Children's Home in Kerrville will be shown at 7:30 p.m. today over Television Station KGNC-TV, Channel 4.

Aaron Sturgeon, Pampa Lions Club president, late this morning said the show is called "Texas in Review." Wives of Pampa-Lions, 663 with an additional $1,719 for recently-made dozens of scarfs for use by the children in the camp.

Gas Station Ransacked

The Henderson Wilson Service Station on N. Hobart was ransacked Saturday night, according to Police Chief Jim Conner.

The burglars gained entrance after breaking a rear window, Conner said.

Only peanuts, cheese crackers and $4 in small change were taken.

Guard Unit Off To Camp This Week

The advance detachment of the 474th Field Artillery Observation Bn. is due to leave Pampa for Ft. Sill, Okla., Thursday at 7:30 a.m., according to Lt. Robert A. Smith, commanding officer.

Five enlisted men and CWO William Leonard along with guard men from Dumas, Dalhart and Shamrock, will make up the advance detachment.

Preparation of the campsite will be the major job of the detachment. The remainder of the Headquarters Battalion, 17 officers and 94 enlisted men will hold drills Wednesday and Friday as partial preparation for the two-week encampment, and depart in military vehicles Sunday.

The first week of camp will be classroom instruction, while the second week will find the troops in the field on maneuvers.

Area Scouters To Attend Camp

Seventy-five junior Scout leaders from Pampa and the 15 counties in the Adobe Walls Council are scheduled to attend Junior Leader Training Camp at Camp Ki-o-wah Aug. 22 through 27, according to Paul Beisenherz, council scout executive.

The purpose of the camp is to train patrol leaders and other troop officers in planning troop programs and improving leadership abilities, he said.

Muri Howard of Phillips will be camp director and instructor. Howard received his training at Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico, the national training center of the Boy Scouts of America. He has been connected with scouting 10 years.

County Absentee Voting Begins

Four Gray County voters had cast absentee ballots by late this morning in the office of County Clerk Charlie Thut.

And, first thing this morning, Thut filed 21 ballot requests. Absentee voting ends Aug. 24. Deadlines for candidates to file campaign expense reports are Friday and Aug. 25.

Yarborough Charges Rangers Pulled From Pair Bailiwick

Texas Gov. Allan Shivers and the man who wants his job, Ralph Yarborough, were making the dust fly Monday as they began a schedule that will take the two men all over the state before the week ends.

Although the showdown comes in the Democratic gubernatorial runoff voting Aug. 28, voting actually began Monday. The first absentee ballots went out, and indications from scattered parts of the state showed a heavy absentee vote would be recorded. Absentee ballots must be in by midnight, Tuesday, Aug. 24.

Yarborough and Shivers, who held a torrid pace until the last minute prior to the July 24 primary, when the governor beat the Austin attorney in vote-getting, were settling just as hot a pace this week, with the vote still three weeks hence.

Many a hand will be grasped and pumped before voting day, and many a speech will be made. If the two men can keep their present pace, they should be seen or heard by almost everyone in Texas before the polls open.

Charges and counter-charges an attorney and Edward A. Dorsek, a Lincoln insurance executive.

Taylor, a guitar-strumming singer of cowboy songs, was the vice presidential running mate of Henry A. Wallace on the Progressive ticket in 1948. He is making a bid for the Democratic nomination to return to the Senate where he served from 1945 to 1951.

Taylor's opponents in the Democratic primary are Claude J. Burtshaw, a political science professor who beat him in 1950 and Alvin V. McCormack, a northern Idaho farmer.

On the Republican ticket incumbent, Sen. Henry C. Dworshak is opposed by Les Lambson, a high school art teacher who spiced his campaign with a 48-hour hunger strike on the state capitol steps at Boise. Lambson said it was a protest against a "smear" campaign concerning his membership in the United World Federalists which his opponents labeled as subversive.

were hurled back and forth over the weekend.

Among the charges was one by Yarborough that Shivers had pulled all of the Texas Rangers out of the bailiwick of George Parr in South Texas.

He asked what kind of a "deal" had been made in the area. Shivers lost to Yarborough in the voting in Duval county.

Both Shivers and the Rangers denied they had been ordered to "under cover of darkness" as Yarborough said. Texas Ranger Capt. Alfred Altes said at Carriazo Springs that several Rangers in the Alice-San Diego area are on vacation, but said they hadn't pulled out, and that two are on duty in the area.

Amos' Son Has Polio

MIDLAND, Tex., Aug. 9 — Two well-known West Texans Monday were receiving benefits of polio equipment purchased with funds they helped to raise.

Mrs. Gloria Isell, former West Texas women's golf champion, and Freeman Gosden Jr., son of "Amos" of "Amos 'n' Andy" fame, both are confined to Midland Memorial hospital's polio ward.

Gosden, an independent oil operator, and Mrs. Isell both worked for a benefit show last May to raise money to purchase a Hubbard hydrotherapy tank to be used in the hospital's polio ward. Gosden danced in the show and Mrs. Isell pushed ticket sales.

Now both are in the polio ward, and are using the hydrotherapy tank their efforts helped to buy.

Theft Reported At Rodeo Grounds

One theft was reported at the Rodeo Grounds during the 19th Annual Top Gun Texas Rodeo.

Dean Rae, Bushland, reported the loss of four wire-wheel hub cars was parked on the west side of the arena.

The breaking of a car window was the only other incident reported to police according to Police Chief Jim Conner.

New Air Combat Technique Now Outdates Chasing Tails

PURSUIT-STYLE AERIAL COMBAT, in which pilot sneaked up on enemy's tail, started with World War I. Except for speed of modern jets like this, it stayed in style in World War II and Korea.

NEW CONCEPT OF AERIAL BATTLE is "lead collision course firing." Attacker comes in at right angles, firing 2600-feet-per-second rockets from plane traveling 900 feet per second.

By NEA Service
YUMA, Ariz. — (NEA) — Every high school struggler with the rigors of geometry remembers early in the book this hypothesis: "Two straight lines can intersect at only one point."

Here at the Yuma Weapons Training Center, the Air Defense Command is continuing teaching along the same lines — but it is a whole new philosophy of combat called "lead collision course firing."

It involves application of the old geometric axiom to targets moving from 200 to 450 miles an hour, and planes that go 900 feet per second which launch rockets that close at 2600 feet per second.

There is no time for blackboard pondering.

Col. Robert F. Worley, of Chautauque, Kan., has converted Yuma to rockets in less than a year, and the USAF has just run its first rocketry competition in history here. As commander of the Weapons Training Center, Col. Worley explains "lead collision course" this way:

"It's the same basic idea as that employed by the third baseman when he catches a hard hit ball and makes the play to first," he says. "He throws to the bag because he knows the first baseman will be there when the ball arrives."

Gone are the days of old when the intrepid aviator sneaked in on the tail of his enemy, and made a Swiss cheese out of him from an easy rearward position.

Now, the pet approach is from right angles to the course of the target, which protects the attacker by providing a bare minimum of exposure to the weapons of his target.

The switch came about to meet the requirements for all-weather and day-or-night fighter-interception, as the U.S. has become more and more concerned with the over-the-North Pole highway route available to the Soviet Union and pointed painfully into the vitals of this country.

Knowing that the attack might come at any time, and from any angle, and that every minute would have to count to get at it before it reached the bomb release line, every possible electronics and mechanical contrivance has been tied to a team of specialists in the Air Defense Command units.

Developments have gone so far now that radar controllers on the ground lead planes to targets, lock them on, and the rockets are fired automatically.

In most cases the pilot of the plane never sees his target. He just finds out how he did over the phone from the radar man — and in Yuma they have been doing very well.

The 2.75 rocket, a slightly bloated, yard-long gas-pipe pointed at one end and fanned at the other, is the weapon. A hit from one of these will destroy any aircraft in the world. It has the blast equivalent of a 75-millimeter artillery piece, and is referred to in the barely sub-sonic world of its employment as the "Mighty Mouse." Maj. James Jabara, the world's first jet ace and No. 3 MIG-killer in Korea, is on the staff of the Yuma Weapons Center and remembers his geometry days in Wichita, Kan., high school as something like pure torture.

"I never could see much reason to get excited about where two straight lines would intersect on the blackboard in school," he says. "But, brother, when they intersect out here at some point — there's no doubt about the point because it's really a blast."

It may be a little startling to mathematics teachers the world over to learn that the men who study some of its application here get up at 3:30 a.m. to go to class and can't seem to wait to get aloft to prove the age-old geometrical contention about collision.

Army Private Likes To Live Dangerously

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 —UP— The Army reports it has a private who prefers to live dangerously.

He is a Britisher, now stationed at Fort Dix, N.J., who alleges the hair of our American women looks like the wool of the sheep.

It should be explained without delay that Sidney Morris is a professional hair-doe in private life and learned his trade in jolly old England from his pappy. At Fort Dix he is a cook and dishes up such things as spaghetti, which, come to think of it, looks something like a hair-fix.

The soldier, when he isn't cooking up something else, cooks up cute little digs to say about the hair of the female American.

"American women," this soldier said, "want to be smart. English and French women want to be reserved."

Sneaks Neck Out
The hair-stylist paused there for effect, which likely will be forthcoming without delay from American gals. Then he stuck his masculine neck out where it is accessible to the axe.

(Private Morris is all man, muscular and about a yard wide, by the way.)

Said he: "Continental women want to be individualists with their hair-fixes. American women want to look mass-produced, which they succeed in doing. With their hair they look like sheep. They want what ever is worn in the magazines or

74 Congress Seats 'Given' Democrats

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 —UP— The Republicans have conceded at least 74 of the 435 seats in the House of Representatives to the Democrats at the outset of this year's congressional election battle.

An unofficial tally recently shows that many districts in which Democratic candidates will face no Republican opposition in November. All but six of these districts are in the traditionally Democratic "Solid South."

Although Republican candidates are virtually assured of victory in some states such as Maine and Vermont, where the GOP tradition is as strong as the Democratic tradition in the South, the Democrats are making at least a token fight for every seat.

"As far as we know now, we will have a candidate in every one of the 435 districts in this fall's election," a spokesman for the Democratic Congressional committee said.

At this point in the 1954 campaign with more than half of the

GLANCING BACKWARD

(From the Files of The Pampa Daily News)

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY
 The National All-American Soap Box Derby was run in Akron, Ohio. Pampa's champ, Leon Cox, came in third in the sixth heat of the first round.

Dean Ward, Pampa cowboy who was trampled by a Brahms bull in the ninth annual Top of Texas Rodeo, was reported in "good" condition.

Delbert Patterson was named Airman of the Week.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY
 Pampa firemen staged a chuck wagon dinner for their families.

Mrs. Carl J. Wright, secretary-treasurer of the Community Concert Association, announced that the concert schedule for the 1949-50 season was complete.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY
 First Lieut. George B. Cree, Jr., was announced to have been promoted from second lieutenant. He was a pilot in the southwest Pacific.

The speaker at the Chamber of Commerce banquet, Dr. Homer Price Rainey, president of the University of Texas, said that a junior college for Pampa would be practical.

Jane Talk

By JANE KADINGO

Pampa News Women's Editor

WHEN YOU READ this column, Nick and I should be in my hometown, Menominee, Michigan... way, way up here in that cold country. It was suggested, before I left, that I write to tell you of the type of homes we have up there. Due to the weather and regional influences, the houses are very different from those in Pampa.

In the newer sections of town, you will find the one-story ranch type homes we have in Pampa, but the majority of the houses are the old-fashioned kind—several stories, built more "up" than "out." We don't have the space here that you find in Texas. Most of the homes, even the newer ones, have basements. This is due to the severe winters and the fact that most people burn coal. A basement is almost a necessity as a spot to put a furnace and coal bin. In my home, we have partitioned what was once (about 80 some years ago) a large rambling basement. We now have a coal bin, a furnace room, laundry, a storage room for canned goods and homemade jams and jellies. We also have a large recreation room, where we have a ping-pong table, an old wind-up victrola, where, as teenagers, we had many a party without inconveniencing the whole family.

I've often thought that idea might be used today. If there is an extra bedroom—large or not—some other seldom used room in the house, why not put in a record player and turn the teenagers loose. The family can then enjoy TV in the living room and no one need worry about the damage to the furniture. You could leave the room "rugless," or cover it with linoleum to lessen damage from spilled soft drinks, etc.

My home, and many others here, has a "sunporch" where the family practically lives during the summer. We also have a screened porch in the back with a table and benches where we eat during warm weather. For us, it takes the place of an outdoor barbecue, which some people have. However, since this is great mosquito country, it makes outdoor eating not so pleasant.

We also have an attic, which was also partitioned to give us, in addition to storage room, a large bedroom and a smaller sleeping alcove. It's wonderful if you like to sleep late—you can't hear a thing up there. It was also a nice place to put us kids when company came and our bedrooms were needed.

I keep trying to think of something which might give you an idea you can use. One thing my mother did, was to renovate an old fashioned, tall bookcase with glass doors that was sitting in the attic. She had it refinished—it's beautiful cherry wood and we now use it in the dining room for the family crystal, silver coffee service and china. It makes a wonderful place to display your "company" china and it's handy, too, when you want to use them.

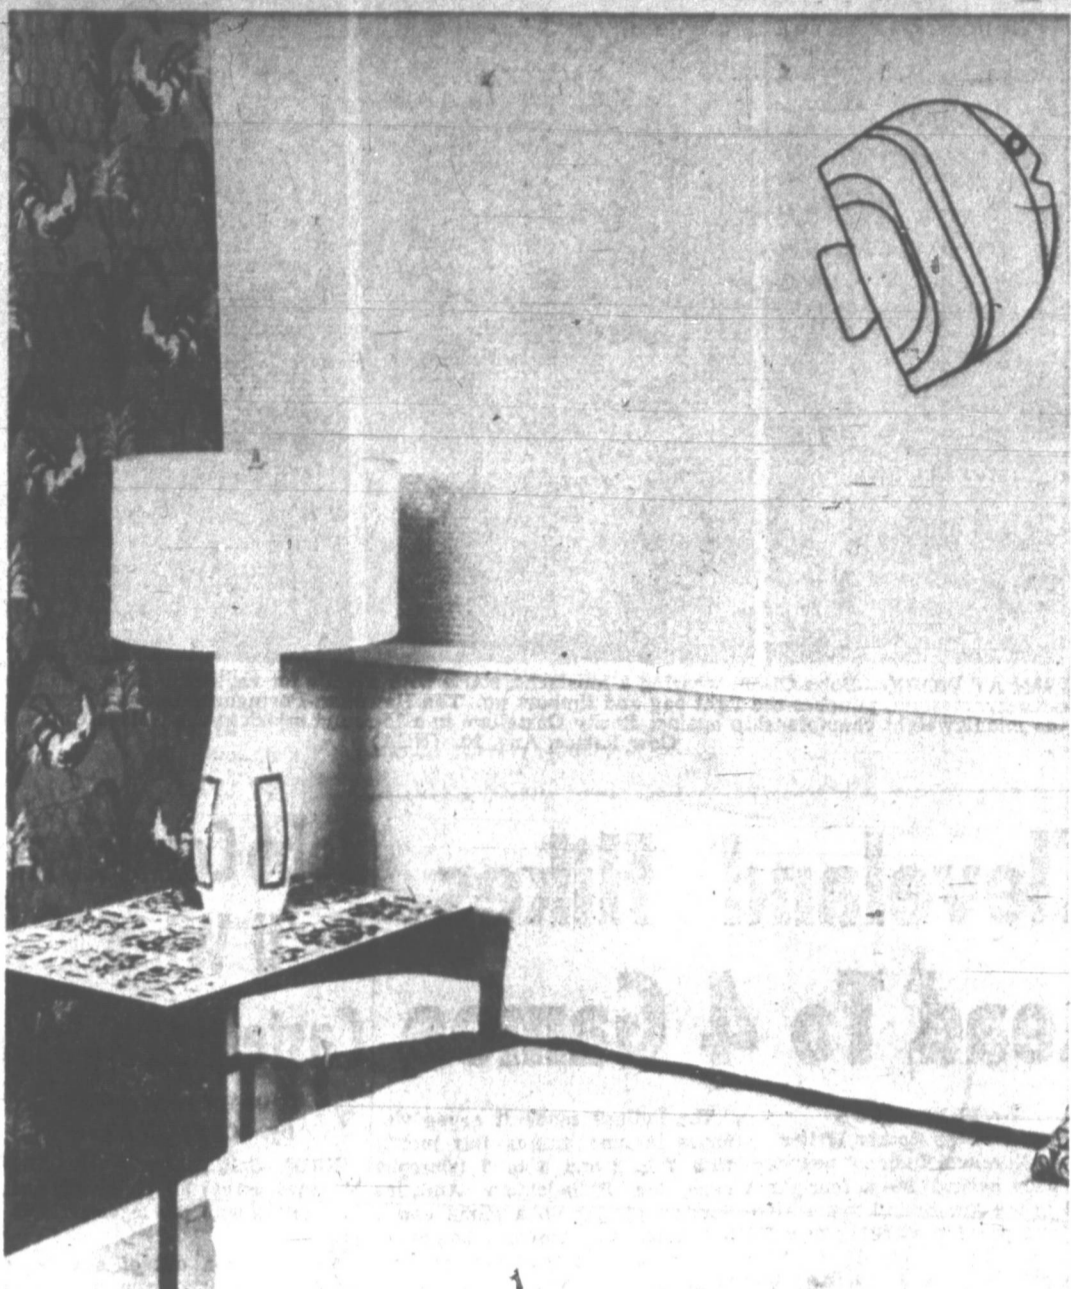

Mother also took an antique chair—one of those with the low seat and high back, and had the wood refinished. She then spent years making needle-point for it, with which it is now upholstered. It is really beautiful.

I GUESS my idea for a playroom for teenagers is not so old fashioned. I just discovered this news release on just that subject. "A room that's easy to clean and comfortable isn't always a pretty room. But this playroom for teenagers and adults is colorful and charming, and still everything in it is easy to care for."

"The room takes its tone and color from the wallpaper on the wall to the left (see picture) with its background color a fiery 'burnyard' red. The design shows lively, crowing roosters etched in shades of red, light green and black, with chicken wire fencing in a still darker red tone. Tall stalks of corn with wide green leaves and husks of sunburned corn shoot upward over the wall, giving the room a colorful, country air. The plain wall has a textured wallpaper with the soft look of loosely woven fabric. Its color an echo of the light greens on the left wall."

"Black is repeated in the tiled topped end table of black and white. No trouble at all to whiz this clean. The lamp has a clean, easy base of loosely woven light beige material with a washable plastic shade in white. "The sturdy, practical sofa has a white plastic covering and it takes a second look to learn that it isn't covered with real leather. A few wipes with a damp cloth will take care of any spills."

"Most of today's wallpapers are water-and-lighthead too and help to make any room practical as well as comfortable and colorful."

CLEAN-EASY PLAYROOM—A playroom for the teenagers, colorful and easy to care for, will delight the whole family. The adult members of the household might even want to use it occasionally. In the room shown above, all colors are carefully blended to complement each other and to make the room bright and cheery.

Let Mirrors Add Charm to Home

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

If you're dissatisfied with the appearance of an unframed mirror in a traditional setting, dress it up with a pretty frame. You can make one easily and at little cost. Fabric frames, for example, can soften its outline and bring a mirror into more decorative unity with a dressing table. A friend of mine who framed her bedroom mirror with a hood which slips easily over the side edge of the mirror. If the fabric is thinner than chintz, or you want to give the frame extra body, pad the hoods. You can also pad and quilt the frame.

To make a new, unframed round mirror look more appropriate in a maple-furnished guest room, my friend used a strip of gay yellow-and-red provincial print for a gathered frame. The strip is about twice the circumference of the mirror. This frame is simply hemmed on both edges and gathered on strips of elastic slightly less in circumference than the mirror. This treatment also produces a charming effect with organdy, eyelid or sheer materials which are gathered very full to give the effect of an airy ruffle around the mirror.

Some wallpaper motifs and striped border trims also may be used for easily made inexpensive frames. Instead of encircling the mirror edge with motifs cut out and pasted down, try two or three cut-outs or strips to accent one corner or two sides. Such an arrangement is often more effective than attempting to fake an entire "frame."

ESA To Raise Money For Polio Fund By Coffees And Parties

CANADIAN (Special)—Mrs. Lillie Jackson was hostess to the E.S.A. Sorority Thursday meeting in her home at 1000 Main Street. During business meeting president Gwen Tipps read a letter at Loveland, Colo., asking each chapter to help raise money for polio. The group plans to collect money at the local ball games, and each of the fifteen members is to have a coffee or bridge party this month, to which eight people will be invited and asked to bring $1.00 for the polio fund.

Take Care In Selection Of Carpeting To Save Money, Insure Longer Wear

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

Unrolling a new rug will be more feasible this fall for homemakers with young ideas and limited budgets. Prices in general haven't changed much. But the selection of patterns and colors in lower-priced weaves is more varied. It's likely you can find the rug you want at a price within reason.

In the new Axminster weaves, for example, I've flipped through dozens of contemporary patterns, tweeds, informal homespuns and more traditional-minded floral designs that look like grosgrain—and classic leaf motifs. Other new carpets make use of the new, tufted construction, which gives a luxurious pile for a sensible price. Besides cotton-tufted rugs, you'll see more wool, rayon and nylon tufting.

Mixtures of wool or cotton with rayon, nylon or saran are calculated to combine the best traits of each fiber. Incidentally, all-nylon carpeting is on deck for serious consideration by those who can afford about $15 per square yard. I can remember not long ago when all-nylon was more than twice that price. This newcomer is available in several shades including a lovely copper tone and an off-white.

Neutral tones of beige, gray, nutria, cocoa, sandalwood and charcoal are well-represented this fall in the budget brigade. So are aqua, turquoise, brick red and gold. And I needn't remind you that good, old green never seems to lose its rating as a carpet color.

When you shop for a rug, take your time to make a careful decision. You have every right to expect a rug to last for years. Consider the color, the general appearance, the type of furniture you have, the life you lead.

BARBECUED YOUNG TURKEY with baked potatoes and corn on the cob, is a feast for a hungry crowd.

Planning A Summer Party? Try This Barbecued Turkey

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

For a hungry crowd who likes to eat outdoors, why not barbecue small turkeys? They are amazingly delicious and not at all difficult to do. Our Chicago friend, Kathryn E. Niles, showed us how she does it and she is a turkey cooking expert.

With a simple barbecue set up, or 4 bricks, an oven rack and fuel for the fire, your picnic site can be wherever fancy finds you.

Slow cooking is necessary for good results, so keep the fire low. You don't need fancy food accompaniments either, corn and potatoes roasted in the fire, slices of melon and a favorite beverage should please everyone.

Choose a turkey 4 to 5 pounds ready-to-cook weight. Have it split in halves or quarters. If your favorite barbecue sauce is thick, thin it with water to "dabbling" consistency.

When the fire has burned down to glowing embers, the turkey, well-brushed with the sauce, should

Double Duty Bedding

'Grown Up' In Design

Dual purpose bedding, "grown up" in design, is likely to be one of the best selling items at Home Furnishing Markets throughout the country this June. An increasingly popular household item that meets the needs of the smaller, more compact home of today, the latest double duty bedding is better styled and better upholstered in better cover fabrics.

Past the awkward, "adolescent" stage, a studio couch or sofa bed is no longer a little too wide for sitting comfort nor too obviously a disguised bed to look well in the living room. Double duty couches, love seats, chairs, and even ottomans in period, contemporary, and modern are now well-designed pieces that enhance any decor.

Trim, tapered backs make them comfortable to sit on; while slim, sleek lines belie the fact that they may be transformed to provide sleeping luxury with just a twist of the write. Types and sizes vary to fit almost any space and are available in either innerspring or foam rubber construction.

Oilers, Abilene In Twinbill Here Tonight

Locals Put 7-Game Win Streak On Line

The Oilers and Abilene Blue Sox will try again tonight to play off their two-game series at Oiler Park. Sunday night's game was postponed because of wet grounds that resulted from the one inch plus rain Saturday night.

A doubleheader is on tap tonight at Oiler Park with the first game set for 7:15. The Oilers are expected to go with Albert Clark and Jose Valesquez in the twinbill.

The Oilers will be looking for their first win of the year over the Blue Sox in games played between the two clubs at Oiler Park. Abilene has swept all six games played here thus far.

At Abilene, however, the Oilers have won five out of nine games from the Blue Sox.

Tonight's doubleheader will wind up the current Oiler homestand. The Oilers will have two off days after tonight's games since they were scheduled to face the now defunct Berger Gassers tomorrow and Wednesday. The Martinmen will go to Amarillo Thursday and Friday before returning home.

The Oilers retained their league lead, of course, after Sunday's results were in since second place Clovis was idle along with the Oilers and Blue Sox. The Oilers are one game out front of the Plainsers.

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

TONIGHT'S DOUBLEHEADER WITH the Abilene Blue Sox will be the 15th twinbill for the Oilers this season. And the Pampa club will be putting two streaks on the line, one losing streak and a winning streak.

The losing streak is that the Oilers haven't won a game this season from the Blue Sox at Oiler Park. The Blue Sox have played here six times and have walked off with the bacon every time.

The winning streak, of course, is the current victory streak of the Oilers which has now reached seven. And the Oilers have still another streak that might be added, that of having swept three consecutive doubleheaders.

One of the above streaks will be broken tonight. We hope it's the "Oiler Park jinx" the Blue Sox hold on the Oilers that is broken.

Of the 14 previous doubleheaders the Oilers have played this season, the Oilers have chalked up an amazing nine sweeps while losing only one. The other four were split.

Don't guess there's another team in organized ball this season who owns a better mark in doubleheaders than the Oilers possess.

With the Oilers on top of the standings in the West Texas-New Mexico League race and with the Top of Texas Rodeo now being in full swing, the Oilers were jailed after the ruckus but only for protection. Mr. Jackie Sullivan and Tom Curley of Plainview were taken to the city jail here but were released immediately after the game was over.

The ruckus started when pitcher Cecil Davis of Plainview threw some dust-off pitches at Lubbock's Bobby Fernandez, Fernandez following him to the dustoff pitcher, threw his bat swinging at a pitch toward the mound but missing Davis.

When Fernandez went out to get his bat, Curley came over from his third base position and took a swing at Fernandez, which brought out the entire squads from both benches. Several fist fights ensued.

Three players were banned, Fernandez of Lubbock and Sullivan and Curley of Plainview.

Fists Fly As Hubs Clip Ponies, 12-5

The Amarillo Gold Sox and Lubbock Hubbers advanced a half game in the West Texas-New Mexico League standings Sunday, while the Plainsers were held to a draw in a game scheduled between Abilene and Pampa. Clovis drew an open date.

The Gold Sox scored freely to romp Albuquerque 12 to 3. Fred Locke went the distance for Amarillo, holding the Dukes to eight hits spaced hits. Amarillo scored a single run in the first inning, then rested three innings before really cutting loose. In the fourth the Sox picked up another single tally, then added three in the fifth. The sixth was their big inning—counting four runs.

A ruckus lasting 10 minutes broke out in the Lubbock-Plainview tilt. Two players, both of

Cleveland Hikes Lead To 4 Games

The Indians made it seven victories in nine games this month with 7 to 2 and 5 to 2 triumphs over the Philadelphia Athletics Sunday, picking up a game and a half when the Yankees bowed 10 to 8 for their second straight loss to the Detroit Tigers. It was a bitter blow to the Yankees, who went West two weeks ago only a game and a half off the pace.

Sunday's sweep also sent the Indians back over the .700 mark in win-and-loss percentage. Their current percentage of .704 is only 10 points behind the American League record of .714 set by the 1927 Yankees.

Bob Lemon hit a two-run homer and pitched a seven-hitter to score his 15th victory for the Indians in the opener while Art Houtteman gained his 11th triumph with a six-hitter in the nightcap. Larry Doby sent the Indians off to a 3 to 0 lead in the first inning of the second game with his 26th homer of the campaign—tops in the league.

The Tigers beat the Yankees for the second straight day when Jim Delsing, a former New Yorker, hit a two-run pinch homer in the 10th inning. The blow handed Johnny Sain his fourth loss and ended a three-hour and 20-minute struggle during which Mickey Mantle, Gil McDougald and Ray Boone also homered.

It was a day of heavy hitting all over the majors and it reached its peak when the Brooklyn Dodgers poured 13 runs over the plate in the eighth inning to rout the Cincinnati Redlegs 20 to 7. Nine teen batters went to the plate in the big inning which gave Carl Erskine his 14th win and enabled the Dodgers to move within three games of the first-place New York Giants in the National League.

The Giants' losing streak mounted to four games when the red-hot Milwaukee Braves swept the three-game set with a 5 to 2 triumph behind the six-hit pitching of Warren Spahn. The Braves rallied to win their 14th division game.

The White Sox, still hoping to catch the Indians and Yankees, rebounded from a 7 to 4 loss to beat the Washington Senators 3 to 0 and split their doubleheader. Roy Sievers hit his 20th and 21st homers for the Senators in the opener, the second one in the ninth inning to win the game.

Bobo Confident He'll Whip Castellani

By FRED DOWN

The Cleveland Indians' near-record pace opened up a four-game lead in the American League Monday and posed a startling new $64 question: Is it the New York Yankees who are folding this time?

It's been the Indians who were charged with sagging in the stretch in the past, with the Yankees coming on to win World Series. But the Indians actually have been stepping up their amazing pace this year and they're traveling faster than ever this month with a .778 percentage.

Coach School Starts Today

DALLAS, Aug. 9.—UP—The world's largest coaching school got away to a bustling start Monday with head coaches and assistants from virtually every city and hamlet in Texas and sizeable batch of outsiders from 45 other states crowding through the registration lines.

A conflicting convention in the hotel headquarters forced the Texas High School Coaches Association registration headquarters to the 17th floor Terrace Room of the Hotel Baker and the elevator traffic jam was tremendous as the early arrivals signed up for the week-long lecture series on their favorite sports—be it football, basketball, baseball or track.

By the middle of the week when the last stragglers show up, the attendance total was expected to push the 2,000 mark, well ahead of the previous record high of 1,860 set in 1952 at Fort Worth.

While the coaches crowded the hotel lobbies and registration headquarters, the athletes who will participate in Friday night's all-star basketball game at Dal-Hi gym hit the practice courts under the benevolent eye of the rival coaches—Eddie Hickey of St. Louis and Duddy Moore of Duquesne.

Hickey had his South squad minus one of its star performers on the Perkins gymnasium court at Southern Methodist University at 7 a. m. Moore called his initial workout at 8:30 a. m. on the same court.

The South team lost forward J. C. Smith of Buna, an all-stater from last year's Class A third place team, because he failed to pass his physical examination. A replacement was to be announced Monday.

Barber Wins Tam O'Shanter

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—UP—The field was half-way home in Tam O'Shanter's double barreled golf tournament Monday, with veteran Jerry Barber of La Canada, Calif., richer by $3,430. But the big payoff was still to come.

Barber, a 33-year-old who hadn't won a tournament since the Wilmington open last year, engineered a three under par 69 on his final round Sunday to come home with 277. 11 under par, in the final round of the "All American" Open and pick up the top tab.

But Barber, and all the rest of the field, would have been more willing to settle for the top award, which could reach $150,000, in the "World" event which will open Thursday with virtually the same field.

The victor in that 72-hole tangle will get $50,000 cash, and a contract for 100 exhibitions at $1,000 per show.

Barber triumphed for the preliminary award with a come-from-behind round. He started the day two strokes behind the leader, Peter Thomson, the British Open champion from Australia.

But after nine holes had been completed it was Gene Littler, a rookie from Palm Springs, Calif., in front, and Barber on his trail.

Barber moved ahead on the 19th. Littler took second money of $2,560 with a 72 for 278, while Thomson gained third with a 73 for 278.

The win gave Barber earnings of $14,567 for the year, among the top five on the tourney tour.

Babe Zaharias, Chicago, won her fifth women's pro title. She had a one under par 73 on the final day for a 294 total, the record for the "All American," but one stroke higher than the 293 she registered in winning the "World" event in 1951. Her prize was $1,000.

Patty Retains Title

HAMBURG, Germany, Aug. 9.—UP—Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Paris retained the men's singles title Sunday at the German International tennis championships by defeating Sven Davidson of Sweden, 5-1, 8-1, 7-5. Patty and Goddard Von Cramm of Germany won the men's doubles crown, defeating Davidson and Lennart Bergelin, 9-7, 6-4, 6-2.

Little LEAGUERS

Cabot-Hoffman Open LL Playoffs Today; Kists - Pill Rollers In Crucial PONY Tilt

It's playoff time in the Pampa Little League. Cabot and Hoffman Oil clash today in the first of a best two-out-of-three game series for the Eastern League title. Today's game will start at 4 p.m.

While Cabot and Hoffman will be battling for the Eastern LL crown, Joe Fortin's Spokesman nine, winners of both halves of the Western LL, will be sitting idly by awaiting the winner of the Eastern play-off.

Winner of the Cabot and Hoffman series will tangle with the Spokesman for the Pampa Little League title.

Cabot won the first half in the Eastern League while Hoffman took the crown in the second half. Garry Hill of Cabot and John Campbell of Hoffman were due to be the opposing moundsmen in today's playoff tilt.

The two teams will play their second game tomorrow and if a third game is necessary, it will be played Thursday. All games will start at 4 p.m.

The PONY League race heads down the final two-days of the second half race with three teams deadlocked for the league lead. Two of the co-leaders, Kists and Pampa Druggists, meet today with the looser to be eliminated from the title running. The third team tied for the lead in First National Bank. The Bankers will meet Elmer's Super Market tomorrow in the final second half scheduled game.

Giardello Hurt In Auto Crash

LONG BRANCH, N.J., Aug. 9.—UP—Welterweight contender Joey Giardello suffered only cuts and contusions, but one of two passengers riding in his car was reported in "critical condition" with a fractured skull Monday as a result of an accident on the Garden State Parkway.

Parkway police said Giardello's car turned over three times after swerving off the road approximately seven miles north of Easton, N.J., Sunday.

Listed as critical at Monmouth Memorial Hospital here was Vincent Di Filippo, 30, of Philadelphia. The car's second passenger, Robert Patrone, 20, also of Philadelphia, was admitted to the hospital for observation with abrasions and contusions, but was discharged.

Parkway police said that Giardello, 24-year-old Philadelphia, currently ranked third among the contenders for the world middleweight championship, was driving the car.

Rematch Seen For Bannister, Landy

VANCOUVER, B.C., Aug. 9.—UP—Roger Bannister and John Landy, whose dramatic "mile of the century" duel brought the British Empire Games to a brilliant climax Saturday, may meet in a rematch in Switzerland later this month.

That possibility arose Monday even as the track world was hailing Saturday's race, won by Bannister in 3:58.8, as the greatest mile race of all time.

The chance of a re-match came in an announcement from the organizers of the European Games at Bern, Switzerland, Aug. 25-29, that they "will try to arrange another 'mile of the century' in an open post-championship meet somewhere in Switzerland."

Bannister already is entered in the European Games and is the favorite in the "metric mile," a 1,500 meter run. Landy, an Australian, isn't eligible to compete but plans to attend the games in the 1,500 meter mark, was lined up to run in that distance—more than a second faster than the existing world record.

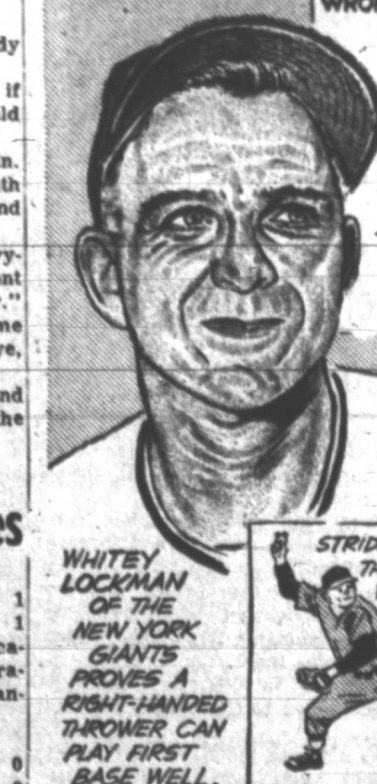

Bannister disclosed that, after competing in the European Games, he plans to do very little competitive running at all. The newly-graduated English doctor said he is scheduled to start his internship in a London hospital soon and added, "There won't be much time for running."

Landy, on the other hand, plans to keep on running but doesn't plan any more European or American trips.

"I shall be doing most of my running in the future in Australia," he said. "He also plans to try two miles and three miles because he thinks he has 'reached my peak' as a miller."

Bannister's 3:58.8 mile clocking Saturday narrowly missed Landy's 1,500 meter run. Landy, as an Australian, isn't eligible to compete but plans to attend the games in the 1,500 meter mark, was lined up to run in that distance—more than a second faster than the existing world record.

INSIDE BASEBALL for Little Leaguers

WRONG—INFELDERS SHOULDN'T TURN THEIR BACKS TO THE INFIELD AS THEY PIVOT TO MAKE THROWS.

RIGHT—RIGHT-HANDED FIRST BASEMEN SHOULD TURN IN TOWARD THE INFIELD AS THEY THROW TO OTHER BASES.

WHITEY LOCKMAN OF THE NEW YORK GIANTS PROVES A RIGHT-HANDED THROWER CAN PLAY FIRST BASE WELL.

There are rare exceptions to all rules, but infielders should try to keep the infield in view as they make every play.

Infielders have spun around with their backs to the infield in making throws to a base, only to find that the base-runner has fallen down or changed direction and there was no play at that sack.

Other fielders, by properly keeping the infield in their line of vision, have been able to spot base-runners taking too big a turn around a base when the runners didn't expect a play to be made on them.

Eddie Stanky made an art of snuffing out runners at third base when they expected him to throw to first in normal double-play situations. You can be alert only when you are able to see plays developing, and you can't do this if your back is turned toward the infield.

Armed Robbery Suspect Nabbed

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 9—UP—Mississippi officers were expected to arrive here Monday to return a suspect in a $3,000 armed robbery at Biloxi, Miss., last July 18.

The suspect, John Hensley Childress, 23, of San Antonio, was arrested in an Oklahoma City hotel room Saturday night along with three companions.

Police said the other three apparently knew nothing of the charges against Childress. They were booked on charges of occupying a room for immoral purposes.

Biloxi Police Chief Herbert McDonnell said Childress is charged with the $3,000 holdup of the Biloxi Western Union office.

Childress waived extradition to Mississippi. He said he arrived here last week to seek a job. He was traced to the hotel by Oklahoma City police through a car rental agency.

Tri-State Ag Jobs Increase

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 9—UP—The U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics in the South reported Saturday the number of persons at work in non-agricultural establishments in Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana rose seasonally to 3,773,000 in June.

Regional Director Bagdon Brunswick said the May-June increase of 22,800 was slightly more than half that of last year when employment in the region increased by 40,000.

Each of the major industries shared in the gain except retail trade, which was relatively unchanged, and government, which declined, Brunswick said.

Arkansas was the only state of the four that experienced over-the-month loss. Its non-agricultural payrolls carried 3,100 fewer employees. Establishments in Texas added an estimated 21,000 workers

NEW BYPASS TO BYPASS BYPASS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 9—UP—Highway officials Saturday had under consideration another bypass to bypass the bypass that bypasses Lafayette, Ind.

Carl Vogelzang, chief engineer, said the U.S. 32 bypass now is so congested that a survey will be conducted to determine the feasibility of building another bypass east and parallel to the present bypass.

In June, Oklahoma employers required 2,900 more employees, while more than 2,000 more persons were at work in June in Louisiana.

Employment in the four states, compared with last year, has declined by approximately 41,600 persons, Brunswick said. Establishments in Arkansas and Texas each employed some 15,500 persons in June, 1954, than during June, 1953.

At least one-half of the net loss in Arkansas occurred in the construction industry, while the major loss in Texas was in the manufacturing industries.

The Story of the Shamrock

Today, August 9, 1954, The Shamrock Oil and Gas Corporation is 25 years old. To commemorate that 25 years there is presented here a brief history of the company written by the Southwestern historian, J. Everts Haley.

The Story of the Shamrock is essentially the saga of the Southwest during the last quarter of a century. In a way it is the story of the frontier of America in modern setting and brief compass, the chronicle of this region's progress in capsule form, the panorama of a period taken with a telescopic lens.

It is a chapter characteristic of the land The Shamrock Oil and Gas Corporation so proudly serves. It is typical of the growing industrial life of the West, and closely attuned to the country life the land sustains. It is part and parcel of the rugged traditions that have made America.

It is especially the story of working men; ambitious men fired with hope; imaginative men possessed of purpose; ingenious men struggling with the elemental problems of the earth and the market-place; stable and durable men who would not quit short of success; and loyal men in love with their jobs and eternally challenged by the tough problems of competition and of business.

Though it is the story of oil and gas, it is not a story of easy success. Rather it is the story of survival in one of the most fiercely competitive and hence one of the most productive and efficient phases of American enterprise. All the elements of venture, of risk, of loss and eventually of gain and success—those elements of freedom that guarantee the strength and the stature of this country—are wrapped up in the brief Story of the Shamrock.

Fifty years ago the sharp eyes of a pioneer geologist observed a structure exposed by the steep-cut banks of the Canadian River north of Amarillo, Texas. Thirteen years later he came back to retrace its course and suggest its meaning to a group of Amarillo investors. This action launched the assault of bold and enterprising men upon that great underground frontier of oil indicated by the tell-tale structure in the red banks of the river—the Alibates dolomite.

From the initial discovery of gas on the Master-son Ranch in 1918, eager men pushed the horizons of production to oil on the 6666 Ranch to the east. From 1925 to 1929, in a spree that set the region on fire, they spread their exploration in wild and disorderly fashion to open vast oil fields and the greatest reservoir of gas in the world.

The life of the upper Plains of Texas changed almost overnight. The potent economic and industrial influences implicit in that dynamic change flowed out with the supply of natural gas profoundly to affect our national life, all the way from the material welfare of the coal miners of West Virginia to distorted interpretations of the interstate commerce clause of the Constitution.

Into the mad-house of feverish activity which made up the Panhandle oil boom stepped the confident figure of John J. Sheerin, a born promoter with a truly prophetic vision of the utility and the value of the natural gas that nobody then wanted. Buoyantly optimistic, in the irrefragable spirit of the Irish, he and his associates confidently operated on the cuff, put together some valuable properties, and bravely planted the lucky symbol of the Shamrock in a field all but dominated by "the majors."

While Shamrock's potential was good, and its gas reserves were great, the over-production of the East Texas field, combined with lack of outlets in the Panhandle and the problems of the depression to bring Shamrock to the verge of bankruptcy. Upon failing to refinance on Wall Street, Sheerin and his associates redeemed their shaky venture at Pittsburgh in 1929, just before the business of the country skidded into the shambles. Thereby they brought to Shamrock the saving financial reserves, the rugged stability and the tested ingenuity of the Fownes and Morrison families—great and pioneer figures in Pittsburgh Steel.

These interests carried Shamrock through the depression and the long period of waiting for a market. They guided the Company's transition from wild promotion and exploration into economical production and efficient processing. They backed it in acquisition of impressive mineral reserves, installed its skilled and aggressive management, saw its veritable maze of tubes, globes and towers rise—fantastic as a Plains mirage—to form its great plant at McKee, and then pushed its branded Shamrock products to the ultimate consumer through the highly competitive channels of trade. For fourteen years they carried it without a profit.

Then when the black ink replaced the red on the ledger, the rugged Fownes family, whose mettle had been tested at the fires of the steel hearths in Pittsburgh, sold their controlling interests. Soon thereafter, The Shamrock Oil and Gas Corporation became a publicly owned concern, with no individual or financial institution holding more than five per cent of its common stock—stock which has climbed from two to nearly fifty dollars a share in less than twenty years.

Its financial stability and future promise is readily backed by the Mellon interests in Pittsburgh and other conservative capital on Wall Street. But it is subject to no remote control and is run by men sitting at the scene of its operations, integrating its activities reaching all the way from underground reservoir to gasoline pump.

From its first service station in the village of Sunray, Texas, its territory now includes eight states reaching from Oklahoma to Arizona, on the west, and from the southern Plains of Texas to the mountains of Wyoming and the Sand Hills of Nebraska, on the north. By pipeline, truck and rail, the Company pours the finished products of "Shamrock—A Mighty Good Brand" on any range, into the tanks of every motorized activity that powers the life of this dynamic region. This simply suggests the record of its first twenty-five years. But the spirit of its organization, in keeping with that of the West, indicates that this is only the beginning.

Emilie's Death May Change Dionne Quints' Way Of Life

Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of two stories on the Dionne quintuplets. The second will deal with the fight their father put up to gain control of the children and how his intense determination to shelter them affected their lives.

By RAYMOND TIMSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

The death of Emilie may change the whole way of life for the other four Dionne girls.

It may lead to marriage, to jobs and a happier, more normal life for Marie, Yvonne, Cecile and Annette. At 20, none of them had a boy friend or known the gaiety and first independence of teenagers.

"I don't think the quints will ever be the same again now that Emilie's gone forever," a close friend of the family said. "This is the first year the girls have been separated. I noticed a change in them even then."

With Emilie's death the ring is broken. For so long as there were five, the quints were a close-bound unit even when apart and it affected their outlook and plans for the future.

Now Perhaps Marriage
Now it may be different. Yvonne may go ahead in earnest with a career in art which she has been studying in Montreal. Cecile and Annette are studying domestic science at Nicolet, Que. Perhaps they will marry — a wish their quiet mother expressed for her daughters shortly after they were born.

Marie is more of a question mark. She left a convent in July in ill health after eight months with the sisters of the Order of the Servants of the Blessed Sacrament. She has said she still may become a nun.

But whatever the future, it will be far different from the life the girls knew in their youth.

Wards of the state, they lived apart from their parents the first seven years. They were cared for by Dr. Allan Roy DeFoe, who delivered them and kept them alive. DeFoe and their father, Oliva, quarrelled and in 1941, the Ontario Legislature amended the "Quintuplets Act" and they went to live with their parents and eight other brothers and sisters.

The four surviving quints probably will never have to work for

Prize Guest Of Hollywood Is Bullfighter

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 9.—UP—The current prize guest in Hollywood is a handsome bullfighter who loves parties but who's confused by "romances" filmsters put him in.

Luis Dominguin, the 1954 discovery of Ava Gardner, hopped to Hollywood four weeks ago from Spain on the heels of his beautiful lady love.

He escorted her around Paris, Rome and Madrid, he admitted, and recently visited her at Lake Tahoe where she established residence to divorce Frank Sinatra. But he claims that now, at least, he is only a "friend" not only of Ava but other beauties the gossips have linked him with.

Triple Trouble

DENVER, Aug. 9.—UP—Police said Monday Richard F. Kaymer, 25, of Los Angeles, was going to stay in jail until they found out why he introduced himself to two officers in a bar as Sgt. John DeBetta of the Los Angeles police department, but carried the identification papers of Ralph Gentry.

"Some people said I would not marry Ava because she has had three husbands. I never said that. We are just good friends," he said, somewhat sadly.

"I came to Hollywood because I have many friends here. I know Humphrey Bogart from Rome. There are so many invitations to parties I have no time for romances."

Hollywood hostesses put Dominguin on their party list and he is rapidly joining the ranks of Aliy Khan, Porfirio Rubirosa and other foreign charmers who have been flattered over by movieowners. There is something uneducated about an American speaking bad Spanish, but a Spaniard speaking bad "American" is romantic and glamorous.

The slender, cat-like bullfighter even was offered movie roles, but he turned them down.

"Some day I could be in movies, but I am not actor," he said softly. "I need to speak more English. Besides, I could not begin with little things in pictures. Perhaps, later, after I know more English—"

Handsome Dominguin was a Matador at 14. A year and a half ago, at 20, he retired from the ring "because you have to give everything, and if you don't feel this in your heart, it is much better you stop."

Now he runs dog races in Europe. Hollywood legend has it he is loaded, as they say, but Luis smiled. "I am not rich. My wants are simple. I am rich inside."

After two more weeks of Hollywood parties and English lessons, Luis takes off to hunt tigers in Venezuela with his friends screenwriter Peter Viertel and author Ernest Hemingway. Then he and Hemingway plan to fish in Cuba and hunt in Africa.

"I am not afraid to fly with Hemingway, of any, what you say, jinx," he said.

He is less afraid of Hemingway's airplanes, he added, than of the Hollywood gossips.

"I think I should have fewer words with women here," he said. "I must speak with men only and then people say fewer things about me."
