Commons Approves 'Crisis Powers' Legislation

Churchill Terms Bill 'Blank Check'

LONDON—P—Britain's Socialist-dominated House of Commons approved today the government's sweeping "crisis powers" bill, described by Winston Churchill as "a blank check for totalitarian government."

The House gave the bill a second reading—approving it in principle—without a record vote. The government hoped to push the measure through all remaining parliamentary stages before the Commons' scheduled adjournment next Wednesday.

An amendment to reject the measure was defeated 251 to 148.

The Socialist government says the bill is necessary for effective dealing with the British economic crisis. It would empower the government to tell men and women where they must work and to take over the management of firms considered to be operating inefficiently.

Youth Dies Result Burns Received In Butane Blaze

GREENVILLE—P—Billy Gene McDonald, 16, of Concord, Texas, died in a Greenville hospital early today from burns received when flames from a blazing butane gas truck trapped him and four other persons in their cars last night two miles south of here.

In a critical condition was Mrs. Geneva Casey, 29, of Houston.

Suffering lesser burns were W. C. McDonald, 60, and Billy James Sims, 15, both of Concord, and Mrs. E. C. Young, about 55, of Lone Oak, Texas. Driver of the truck, Lee Morris, 24, escaped without injuries.

Morris said lines to the butane tank came loose when the vehicle hit a bump in the road and shortly afterwards the truck caught fire.

Two passenger cars stopped near the truck, Morris said, and he warned of them that escaping vapor might ignite.

Road flares erected along the highway where repairs were being made ignited the fumes, according to Greenville Fire Chief Harvey Peyton.

Traffic was blocked for hours after the flames engulfed the two cars. Firemen from here shot holes into the tank in an effort to reduce the hazard. Morris said the tank was carrying 1,024 gallons of butane gas, and was owned by the Crittenden Butane Gas Company of Bonham.

Among the first to arrive at the scene of the accident, which occurred on Highway 69 in front of Forest Park Cemetery, was Conrad Manley of the Baton Rouge Associated Press Bureau, who was stopping at Greenville on vacation.

He said flames shot 25 to 30 feet into the air.

"I could hear the women screaming," Manley said.

Morris said he was driving the truck north toward Greenville while the two passenger cars were traveling south.

He said he first heard vapor coming out of the truck while the truck was still in motion. He said he put the engine into second gear and leaped out of the cab while the vehicle was still moving.

When the truck came to a stop, Morris said he shut off some of the valves, but the escaping fumes later caught fire.

Local Postal Receipts Showing Steady Rise

Postal receipts last month totaled $11,126.54 compared with $10,651.20 for the month of July in 1946, local postal officials announced yesterday.

Total receipts for the first six months of this year were $58,719.25 compared to a total of $57,477.69 received during the same period in 1946.

Every month this year has shown an increase in postal business except the month of February which fell a few dollars short of last year's mark.

Postal rates for the past two years have been the same.

Last Prisoners of War Leaving States

NEW YORK—P—Three German prisoners who will sail from New York for Bremerhaven within the next few days are the last, except for fugitives and the sick, of 430,353 German and Italian war prisoners brought to this country. The Army port of embarkation reports show.

Classes Are Full At McLean School

One of the first County Vocational Schools to get started in the Texas Panhandle is the Gray County School at McLean, which began classes several weeks ago.

Offering courses in practical agriculture, stress is placed on methods applicable to farming in this area. O. J. Dukes, classes are held in the McLean High School Agriculture Department each Tuesday and Thursday night.

At the present time 20 students are taking the courses and seven more have made application for the formation of a new class that will be organized as quickly as a quota of 16 students is reached.

All 20 of the students now attending the school are veterans and are taking the schooling under the GI Bill. In addition to the classes they must do a certain amount of practical work on the farm, practicing methods taught in the school.

Enrollment is not restricted to veterans. Anyone interested in taking the courses is invited to contact O. J. Dukes at McLean.

Wanna Meet the Queen? You Can Tomorrow Morning

The general public has been invited to a free cup of coffee in the Palm Room, City Hall, beginning at 10 tomorrow morning. It was announced today by a spokesman for the Rotary Club, which will sponsor the event.

The occasion is set in order that the public in general may have a chance to meet Queen Helen (of Queen for a Day) and her husband.

E. O. Wedgeworth, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, had a nice word for the Queen and her husband today. Said he: "We could not have had a better Queen, and her husband is equally as good a sport."

All Controls On Installment Buying Killed

WASHINGTON—P—President Truman today signed legislation killing all controls on installment buying November 1, 1947.

The President said he regretted that Congress did not follow the recommendation of the Federal Reserve Board and of the Council of Economic Advisors by enacting legislation to provide for continuing as long as necessary regulation of consumer credit as a means of helping to promote economic stability.

Mr. Truman had asked for specific legislative authority to regulate the American institution known as the "easy payment plan" as a bulwark against inflationary tendencies.

But Congress, instead, sent him a bill intended to force an end to the credit curbs in three months.

In a statement criticizing the legislation the President said: "It is unfortunate that the Congress did not provide for restraints on over-expansion of installment credit in order to diminish inflationary pressures arising from this source."

Mr. Truman observed that continuation of present controls for the next three months has been "permitted and implied by the Congress," and he added that "this is preferable to immediate abandonment of these restraints."

He said it would be "far better to reduce prices rather than to relax terms in seeking new customers."

The restraints on installment buying were instituted in wartime under economic control authority within the trading-with-the-enemy act. The President said that under the circumstances he felt there should be specific peacetime authority from Congress, if the curbs were to be continued.

Existing controls, which continue until Nov. 1, require one-third down payment, with the installments running no longer than 15 months, on automobiles, stoves, mechanical dish washers, ironers, refrigerators, washing machines, radios and some other goods.

A 20 percent down payment, with installments limited to 15 months, is required for furniture and rugs.

Under the new legislation, the President could restore the controls after Nov. 1, in the event he declared a new national emergency or in time of war.

QUEEN AND TWO KINGS nod their approval of a John Snider barbecue held in the City Park Wednesday night. Joe Heaver, the Queen's King, smiles his approval as Barbecue King John Snider tells how he prepared the Western meal "fit for a Queen." Mrs. Heaver looked at the loaded plate of barbecue and then at her husband as he said, "This plate is as big as the Western Plains." Mrs. Heaver was crowned "Queen of the Top of Texas Rodeo and Horse Show" Wednesday night following the barbecue. She was selected as "Queen for a Day" in Hollywood last week.

1st Go-Round Rodeo Competition Finished

A crowd of 6,000, the same number witnessing the first performance of the Top of Texas Rodeo, attended last night's performance of the second largest amateur rodeo in the U. S. The rodeo fans were offered a full evening of thrills and spills as the cowboys and cowgirls completed their first go-round of competition.

As a grand finale to the Jaycee sponsored Top of Texas and Western Week, Jim Armit, manager of the Plains Finance Co., was judged to have the best crop of whiskers, amongst the field of 29 contestants. Judging was done by Queen Helen and three local barbers, William McWright, W. H. Vandenberg and Vernon Stucky. The judging took place at the Western dance held in the Junior High School Gym.

Following the beard contest, Queen Helen and King Joe, lead the grand march of the cowgirl sponsors ball held in the American Legion Hall. Music for the dance was by R. E. Smith and his orchestra.

Today the Queen has been scheduled for a full day, at 9 o'clock, she was to have breakfast with the House Cafe, as a guest of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority. After breakfast, Her Majesty and party will make a tour of the Cabot Shops, returning at noon, to be the honored guest of the Kiwanis Club, at their weekly luncheon. The Queen will be attended by approximately 40 cowgirl sponsors, representing towns and ranches of the area. After lunch, the Queen will again tour, this time, to the Cuyines, Shamrock, and Neal Collier, Wichita Falls, and Neal Collier, Wichita Falls, 4th, Clyde Bonner, Iowa Park.

Texas Production Cotton Set Over 2 Billion Bales

WASHINGTON—P—The Agriculture Department today forecast this year's production at 11,844,000 bales of 500 pound gross weight.

This estimate, based on conditions of Aug. 1, compares with last year's abnormally small crop of 8,640,000 bales and with a ten-year (1936-45) average of 12,390,000 bales.

Condition of the crop as of Aug. 1 was reported at 78 percent of normal compared with 72 a year ago and 76 for the ten-year average.

The indicated yield of lint cotton per acre was reported at 270.3 pounds compared with 235.3 last year and 256.6 for the ten-year average.

Cotton from this year's crop ginned prior to Aug. 1 was reported by the census bureau in an accompanying statement at 193,144 bales. Ginnings to the same date last year totaled 171,641 and 132,737 for 1945.

The condition of the cotton crop per acre and the indicated production, respectively, by states included:

Mississippi, 76 percent; 324 pounds per acre and production 1,600,000; Arkansas, 73; 587 and 1,640,000; Louisiana, 74; 293 and 525,000; Oklahoma, 72; 142 and 300,000; Texas, 83; 188 and 3,200,000; New Mexico, 87; 480 and 150,000.

The indicated yield per acre of American was reported at 422 Egyptian pounds compared with 394 last year. Production was estimated at 1,100 bales compared with 2,500 last year.

National Quarter Horse Show Opens

The official National Quarter Horse Show, which is being held in connection with the Top of Texas Rodeo and Horse Show, was scheduled to get under way at 1 p. m. today. Show officials reported this morning that most of the outstanding quarter horses of the entire Southwest were entered in the competition.

"At-Halter Shows" for horse colts and fillies foaled in 1946, both racing and ranch type, were to be judged this afternoon. Foals born this year show tomorrow beginning at 8 a. m.

"Performance Contests" in all divisions and classes will be held tomorrow afternoon beginning at 1, in the main arena.

Officials of the National Show indicated this morning that their show stressed the fact that the entrants be performers. They work on the theory that the quarter horse is a "working horse" and that he must be able to work under saddle to be a winner.

All quarter horses foaled in 1945 or before must show in performance groups under saddle, and since conformation will earn only a maximum of 25 percent for any entry, no distinction is made between ranch and racing types.

Jaycee President on International Tour

DALLAS—P—John Ben Shepherd, Gladewater, Texas, newly elected president of the National Junior Chamber of Commerce, will speak at Walla Walla, Wash. today in his first stop on an international Jaycee tour.

United States May Have to Accept 2-World Concept

Civil wars in Europe and Asia, bloody reprisals in Palestine and other areas, as well as the Eastern and Western blocs, are among the factors that may force the United States to accept a two-world concept when we have been working for a one-world plan.

About that time Attorney General Tom Clark delivered into the subject in a speech at the International Sunday School Convention at Des Moines. He said the clear problem posed before mankind is this: Can the peoples of this earth live in world brotherhood? If they can, then the teachings and accomplishments of the last 2,000 years will be for naught. Our civilization will disappear in a series of atomic explosions.

Why is the world divided against itself? Clark answered that bluntly: "The time has passed when we can dismiss the spread of atheistic communism as a phenomenon of the lunatic fringe. No longer do we visualize the destroyers of democracy and Christianity as a bomb-carrying, bewhiskered man in heavy boots. Today he is streamlined in all kinds of guises, sometimes behind a democratic front.

"That being the situation, where do we go from here?"

Attorney General Clark said: "To put it in the language of our day—we must accept and practice the teachings of the Nazarene—or else."

Many men of many lands are thinking along the same line. President Truman in a message the other day to the Baptist World Congress in Copenhagen, urged spiritual cooperation among nations to achieve a peaceful world community.

Former Governor Harold Stassen of Minnesota, who also participated in the Des Moines Sunday School Convention, told a press conference that there has been a strong resurgence of religion in Europe since the war. He recently made an extensive tour abroad. I also noted this in numerous countries during my last European tour.

Upon this trend many statesmen and observers are pinning their hopes of solving our present difficulties and arriving at one world.

Texans Demand 'Clear and Definite' Picture of Tideland From Clark

AUSTIN—P—A demand for a "clear and definite" statement to the people of Texas telling how he stands in regard to ownership of tidelands, came from Attorney General Tom Clark here today.

Clark was coming here to be honored at ceremonies tonight inaugurating the new Tom Clark Chapter of an honorary legal fraternity at the University of Texas.

The demand for the tidelands declaration came from Bascom Giles, commissioner of the Texas Land Office, who said in a formal statement that apparently Clark has been "talking one way for Texas consumption and another way for Washington."

Giles and other state officials are in the midst of a campaign to heart what they say is a threat to Texas title to its tidelands, growing out of the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the California case. Clark argued the federal government's side in that litigation, in which California lost ownership of tidelands it had claimed.

Giles' statement said in part: "Clark said he does not believe that his victory against California in the tidelands case will cure Texas to lose its submerged lands. The press release quotes Attorney General Clark as saying that upon annexation Texas retained all of the land within its boundaries, including the marginal sea.

"If this quotation is correct, then it is obvious that Attorney General Clark is talking one way for Texas consumption and another way for Washington consumption. He says one thing before the home folks and the opposite before the Supreme Court of the United States.

"Of course, here in Texas we believe that Texas has a special claim that should prevail, and we are glad to read statements by Mr. Clark in Texas newspapers that he thinks so. However, these general statements mean nothing when the Attorney General of the United States follows a contrary argument before the Supreme Court and with federal departments which, this very day, are planning to lease Texas submerged lands the same as the other coastal states, with the approval of Attorney General Clark."

Pampans to Present Gifts to Rodeo Queen

All residents of Pampa are being given an opportunity to show their appreciation of Queen Helen for her stay in Pampa by contributing to the gift box which will be presented to her at the final performance of the Top of Texas Rodeo tomorrow night.

Anyone wishing to do so, should take the gift, properly wrapped, to the Chamber of Commerce office in the City Hall by tomorrow noon.

The appearance of the Queen at the rodeo will be her final public appearance during her visit to Pampa. Queen Helen and her husband, Joe, will depart for their home in El Monte, California, Sunday.

Queen Is Crowned at Lions Weekly Meeting

Mrs. Helen Heaver, Queen of the Top of Texas, was crowned at the Lions Club meeting held yesterday noon in the First Methodist Church basement.

The ceremony was witnessed by all of the entrants in the Sponsored Cowgirls Contest, a large number of other guests and the club membership.

The group was entertained by a group of musicians from the Harmonious Cowboy Band, under the direction of Marion B. McClure.

Vocalist Johnny Sedwich sang "My Adobe Hacienda" and "Gal in Calico."

Other entertainment featured Johnny Reason, the band's whip and rope artist, who performed a series of tricks displaying his marksmanship with the whip and deftness with the rope.

Band of Pirates Hold Up Steamer

Meyer Sought for More Testimony

WASHINGTON—P—Howard Hughes agreed today to make available to the Senate War Investigating Committee his private papers which Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich.) had ordered seized under subpoena.

The millionaire plane builder announced his readiness to produce the papers when the committee met this afternoon after a luncheon recess.

In a forenoon session of the committee's hearings on his $40,000,000 warplane contracts, Hughes had steadfastly insisted he would turn over only such papers as his attorney advised should be surrendered.

As Hughes strode into the committee room in shirt sleeves, carrying his coat over his arm, for the beginning of the afternoon session of testimony, both committee officials and Hughes' attorneys said they had been unable to locate Johnny Meyer.

Meyer, pudgy free-spending publicity man for Hughes, failed to appear at the hearing today and Ferguson issued a subpoena for him.

As Hughes walked into the room, accompanied by his lawyer, Thomas Slack, there was a burst of applause from the spectators.

"We'll have quiet in the room," Ferguson, thumping the committee table with a glass ash tray, said.

Slack told a reporter that the agreement on the papers was this: William P. Rogers, committee counsel, will go over Hughes' private papers with Noah Dietrich, head of the Hughes Tool Company, and the committee wants will be made available.

Slack said he has "no idea" where Meyer is. The latter was released from subpoena last night, when the previous subpoena expired, and Ferguson said he had promised to be on hand today.

"We trusted him and we shouldn't have," the chairman said.

Flanagan said that committee investigators were hunting Meyer in an attempt to serve the second subpoena on the publicity agent.

T. A. Slack, Hughes attorney, said: "I have no idea where Meyer is. In one of the stormiest scenes of the inquiry into Hughes' $40,000,000 wartime airplane contracts, Hughes today charged that Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich.) was trying to get him and Meyer on the stand at the same time to "grab publicity."

"Now just a minute, Mr. Hughes," Ferguson shouted.

Hughes said he would not produce Meyer because Meyer twice had been brought before the committee.

Grinly Ferguson asked Hughes to repeat that.

Of the expenditures recording of the proceedings.

Meyer, publicity man for Hughes, has testified to spending $164,000 in promotion of Hughes' ventures, including airplane contracts. His detailed list of expenditures included many items of entertainment for Army officers, government officials and others.

Man Picked Up In Saddle Thefts

Hunted for several weeks by sheriffs of surrounding counties and Texas Rangers, Harold Hanning, Mobeetie, was picked up Wednesday night at Recreation Park, by Sheriff G. H. Kyle.

Hanning was charged with theft in connection with the theft of at least 12 saddles, two of them from Gray County, sheriff's department officials reported this morning. The thefts were reported to have been in various counties throughout the Panhandle area.

Advised of his description and license number, Kyle spotted Hanning's car at the rodeo grounds Wednesday night and tracked him down.

Hanning yesterday afternoon signed statements for at least three sheriffs and one Texas Ranger. The Rangers moved Hanning last night to an unannounced destination, face other charges of theft of saddles.

The saddles reported stolen from this area were taken several weeks before the rodeo began and not on the rodeo grounds, informed sources stated.

In the meantime Deputy Sheriff C. M. Tucker apprehended another man, Frank Hooker, also sought after by other peace officers, and charged him with the theft of a truck. Further details on Hooker's case were unavailable this morning.

Harold L. Maberry, charged with a series of forgeries on the bank account of Miss Billie Hollingshead, was set free under $3,000 appearance bond this morning. Maberry will be recalled before the Grand Jury when it convenes on call.

COALS TO NEWCASTLE

For nobody knows how long, the phrase "Carrying coals to Newcastle" has been the classic description of superfluity added to abundance. Yet coals are actually being carried to Newcastle and the rest of socialized England today.

Coal-rich England, long an exporter, has been forced to import a cargo of fuel from the United States to tide them over a period of critical emergency. The Minister of Fuel and Power, Emanuel Shinwell, has apologized to the country for what must surely be considered a failure on the part of the Labor government and its nationalized mining industry.

Britain has huge coal deposits, and a force of 700,000 miners as compared with America's 400,000. Yet American miners are expected to dig some 900,000,000 tons of coal this year, while it appears that no amount of speed-up will permit Britain to reach her minimum requirement of 200,000,000 tons.

Part of this difference is due to the fact that British mining is much less mechanized than ours. Part of it is probably due to the new five-day week, which Mr. Shinwell says he has no thought of changing. Part of it may also be due to a continuing war weariness. But all these apparent reasons fail to add up to a convincing explanation of the drastic drop in British coal production.

British miners are getting more pay than ever before. They get extra allotments of food. Their working conditions are improved. They are now employed by a government for which a majority of them voted, and which certainly has the workingman's interests at heart. Yet they aren't digging enough coal—and coal, if possible, is even more vital to Britain's life than it is to ours.

Why? A likely explanation might be found in the methods of the Labor government and their effect on the miners state of mind. First of all, the miner is still a member of a "restricted industry," which means that he can't quit his job if he doesn't like it.

No one can be ungracious enough to gloat over the United Kingdom's plight. This is particularly true when one thinks that another severe winter on top of the present coal shortage might bring even greater suffering and economic paralysis than were experienced last year. But at the same time this plight raises another question as to the virtue of socialism and government control.

Socialism and communism, in actual operation, seem to consist largely of present hardship and glowing promises for the future. The British government has not yet come to the point of making five-year plans, but its goals and predictions so far have been beyond its actual accomplishments.

The government, to all appearances, hasn't even raised the morale of its supporters. Although it is made up of members of a workingman's party, it always seems to be on the outs with some union or other, and strikes are not noticeably fewer than they were before.

All of which leads to the conclusion, often expressed before, that the system of government is less important than the people who operate it. Socialism and communism may sound fine in theory. But the American system of private capitalism, for all its shortcomings, seems to bring home more bacon for more people and to spread the butter thicker on more pieces of bread.

Common Ground

By R. C. BOILES

Churches and Strikes

As we see strikes used more and more to exploit the consumer I am at more and more of a loss to understand how the Protestant church people who belong to the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America can continue to belong to the federation that endorses strikes. I have before me the biennial report of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America for 1946. On page 118 is says:

"We re-affirm labor's right to strike, and we recognize the long term benefits which the acknowledgment of this right has brought both to labor and to the public. But we urge the moral obligation that rests upon labor and management always to enter into and carry on collective bargaining in good faith, and to utilize fully such methods of settlement as conciliation, mediation, and arbitration. Furthermore, added democratic procedures should be established whereby the essential interests of labor, management, investors and consumers may be better safeguarded."

A part of the above is very definite and the other part is very incomprehensible and vague. The part which gives labor the right to simultaneously quit is very definite. The only purpose of simultaneously quitting is to get a non-competitive wage, a non-competitive reward for the services rendered by the strikers. To strike is incompatible with the Ten Commandments, the Sermon on the Mount and the Declaration of Independence. It is an attempt to deny certain parts of society their equal right to help establish what is in short an attempt to establish the caste system; to put certain people over and above other human beings; to give certain people the right to do certain jobs that are regarded as more of those now doing them. It is no right to do without the consent of a complete denial of the competitive Christian system. It is an attempt to decide things collectively instead of individually. It is, in fact, a complete denial of man's right to use his conscience.

Every strike is based upon some form of fraud. It is majority rule over-riding the will of the minority. There can be no collective bargaining and individual bargaining when the entire group attempts to determine what each individual must receive for a service. It is the very antithesis of Christianity.

And the vague part of the recommendations of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America is "added democratic procedures" should be established whereby the essential interests of labor, management, investors and consumers may be better safeguarded. The members of this council cannot set down an unchangeable interpretation of what they mean by this statement. If they would attempt to do it, they would deny some individual's inherent rights; they would deny the right of jobs being interchangeable for equal ability. Would they establish some democratic process to determine what a buyer should pay for a loaf of bread or a gallon of gas or a yard of cloth or any other service? If they would, they are advocating a planned economy by some bureaucrat. When people advocate democratic procedures to settle labor disputes, they are really advocating a planned economy for all exchanges of goods and services. This is true because men do not buy labor, they only buy the products of labor.

And when they are advocating some democratic procedure, they are denying individual responsibility.

In this same report, the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America says, "On the international level, economic justice and brotherhood are essential to world peace and order. It is always easier to state these principles than it is to find the public response to implement them."

But this council has never stated these principles. It is advocating initiating force rather than voluntary agreement. This council judges as one of the greatest Senators in United States history. After all, who but students know who was President when giants like Webster, Calhoun and Clay were in Congress?

STRATEGY—The present strategy of the Taft forces and the favorite crowd is to smoke out Dewey and to hector him into delivering addresses on national and international problems. So far the canny Governor of the Empire State has told his fire. New shouts of "speech, speech" are not likely to pry open his lips if he still thinks it shrewd to keep mum.

Dewey has the faculty of learning from his own and another's mistakes. His brash amateurism and lack of political know-how lost him the G.O.P. nomination in 1940. He corrected his system of campaigning and won the chance to slug it out with F.D.R. in 1944. As "titular leader" of the party in the off years, custom required him to initiate and defend Republican programs. But the Governor saw how much Congress resented Wiltkie's advice when Wendell was "titular leader."

Calvin Coolidge used to remark, "What you don't say doesn't hurt you half as much as what you do say." Dewey isn't that cautious but he is wary of being typed too early as a "Conservative," "Internationalist," or "New Deal me-tooer" on the basis of a couple of radio addresses.

Well, just when I'd decided to forgive the British for all the trouble they caused George Washington and Paul Revere up they come with a fiendish act that makes me want to get out on Hollywood Boulevard and scream.

"The Redcoats are coming!" They're going to fine every American actress who goes over there to work and refuses to give her correct age.

"It's every woman's right to lie about her age just as it's every man's right to lie about his golf scores. If governments start fooling around with sacred things like that, pretty soon they'll be fining us for making up the clever remarks that our children are supposed to have made."

Anyway, I'm glad that I live in America where a woman can still tell the about her age if she wants to because when I pass my 21st birthday I'll probably want to.

ing from its vague and incomprehensible statements, seems not even to understand them. If it understood these principles, its leaders would be glad to answer questions for nothing let alone for $1,000 which they refuse to do.

Then in the next paragraph the council contends that "other questions press upon the Christian conscience calling for earnest study. Among them are these: the role of government in maintaining economic and industrial stability; the problems of preserving a maximum of economic freedom while guaranteeing a 'floor' of economic security; the ever-recurring question whether the pursuit of profit, in the sense of a reward beyond compensation for work done, can be reconciled with Christian principles; the extent to which wage determination properly involves assumptions concerning profit and price levels; the merits of organized labor's demand for union security; and ways in which conflict between economic groups can be kept within manageable limits without curtailing essential freedoms."

Of course we cannot put a "floor" of economic security under anything without taking away from someone his freedom. We cannot eat a cake and have it. The council does not seem to understand these simple axiomatic principles.

It is little wonder we have such booms and busts, so many world wars when so many of the Protestant church leaders have for nearly 40 years been advocating that men have a moral right to strike. It is truly a case of the blind leading the blind. I would that every member of the 25 denominations would read this bulletin and really find out how far the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America is taking them away from the principles taught by Jesus.

So They Say

Production and only production which creates a balance of supply and demand is the only sure cure for the increasing wage and price spiral.—George M. Humphrey, Pittsburgh coal and steel executive.

The toughest thing about success is that you've got to keep on being a success. Talent is only a starting point in business. You've got to keep working that talent.—Irving Berlin, song writer.

We keep the iron curtain down on how much we don't know, which is practically everything.—Charles F. Kettering, General Motors engineer.

It is time to serve notice that Operation Zeppelin is at an end. If European nations are more interested in Red fascism than in rehabilitation, that is their concern.—Rep. Everett Dirksen (R) of Illinois.

The United States should halt most of its aid to Europe because Western Europe is to a large extent finished. No amount of money can restore the economic conditions that formerly prevailed in Western Europe.—Robert E. Wood, board chairman of Sears, Roebuck & Co.

The most rapidly increasing type of crime is that perpetrated by degenerate politicians.—J. Edgar Hoover, director, F.B.I.

It is a woman's business to get married as soon as possible, and a man's to keep unmarried as long as he can.—George Bernard Shaw, British playwright.

Hughes

"I questioned the item concerning Mr. Jones," the witness said...

WHY GET UP NIGHTS DUE TO KIDNEYS?

Definitely," Dietrich replied. He said the expense item already had been paid at the time it came to his attention...

He testified that Birdwell had made the affidavit that the account was incorrect in listing the name of Jones because he had put down the name of everyone he contacted in Washington...

Brewster, voluntarily dropping his rights as a senator, appeared as a witness under oath to deny each of the accusations hurled at him by Hughes.

There were other charges and denials—among them that the committee wanted to shoot Elliott Roosevelt "with a cannon."

The bawling exchanges—with Hughes and Ferguson also frequently at sharp odds—threatened to keep the committee in session far into last night.

But as the dinner hour neared, Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), who had indicated an attitude of friendliness toward Hughes by questions suddenly proposed that "this issue stand on the record as it now is."

Less than an hour later, Brewster contended in a "nationwide smear campaign" by Carl Byoir, Hughes' public relations counselor.

The senator said the intent of the campaign was "to coerce me into dropping" the current investigation. There was no immediate comment from Hughes or Byoir.

There is quite a little opinion in Congress that the American people will not go on indefinitely spending their money for the relief of other nations without getting some tax relief themselves.

Odom Completes Third of Flight

CAIRO —(AP)—Pilot William P. Odom, a third of the way along on his effort to set a new solo record around the world, left Cairo today at 6:30 p.m. (10:59 a.m. Central Standard Time) for Karachi, India.

The former British Ferry Command airman, now living in Roslyn, N. Y., was only 22 hours and 46 minutes out of Chicago, his starting point, as he headed down the 2,200-mile leg to Karachi.

He was trying to cut to 90 hours or less the 186-hour record for a solo flight around the world set by Wiley Post in 1933.

Odom spent only 55 minutes refueling. He arrived from Paris at 8:44 p.m., and said he had averaged about 350 miles an hour on the hop from France in perfect weather.

Tail winds were promised to help on the India leg.

The 6 foot 2 inch flier, 27 years old, left Paris at 11:39 a.m., Cairo time (3:39 a.m. Central Standard Time) after a stop of 91 minutes to take on 2,000 gallons of gasoline.

His flying time to Cairo was 19 hours and 20 minutes. The trip here covered about 6,500 miles of the 19,600-mile route he charted around the world. He flew around the world last April in 78 hours 55 1/2 minutes—but not alone. Milton Reynolds, Chicago manufacturer, and T. Carroll Salee, accompanied him then in the same plane.

Cleaning of the interior of St. Paul's cathedral, London, occupied eight men more than two and one-half years.

British

(Continued From Page 1) to Fuel Minister Emmanuel Shinwell's speech several weeks ago in which he was reported to have said "we do not give a tinkers' cuss about non-labor people in Britain."

He took the floor after Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison said the powers sought under Prime Minister Attlee's emergency program were "appropriate and necessary" and not "a deep dark plot to conduct a social revolution."

Swinging from an attack on the government-requested legislation to one on the government itself, the wartime Prime Minister asserted: "The main cause of at least half our difficulties has arisen from the partisan policies and administrative incompetence" of the Attlee regime.

"Life under the Socialist government is worse, far worse, for the country than it ever was under the full blast and severity of war," Churchill continued.

"Except for bloodshed, all the evils war and worse are going on in our country today. Do you deny that?" he cried.

Shouts of denial rose from the government front benches, but Churchill declared that Conservatives have no confidence in the government's ability.

"We find it difficult to trust their sense of fair play," he said.
