Victory For Science

19-Year Struggle With Leprosy Won

EDITOR'S NOTE: John Harmon runs a photography shop in the little town of Vashette, La. He is a newsmonger, and though he has been in business only a few months he has enough wits to keep him busy from dawn to dusk. He is gradually becoming an accepted member of the community. This would not be unusual except that Harmon has leprosy, and everyone in town knows it. His story is one of a victory for science and hope over superstition and despair. It is the first of a two-part series.

Crash Kills Ex-Pampans

Mr. and Mrs. George Franklin Stevens, former Pampans, were instantly killed early Sunday in a two-car collision near Cleveland, Okla. They were residents of Oklahoma City. Married only five weeks, the couple had driven Stevens' grandmother to her home in Pawnee, Okla., and were returning home when their car collided head-on with a pickup truck three and one-half miles west of Cleveland. Services for the young couple will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Mineral Wells. Stevens lived here from 1936 to 1944. Among Pampans planning to attend the services in Mineral Wells are Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wilson, 304 N. West.

Pampa Named Meeting Site For JayCees

Pampa Sunday was named as the site of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce winter bi-regional convention, according to Bob Parkinson, Pampa club member. The decision was made in Lubbock this week end at the summer bi-regional meet. Date of the convention will be decided at an upcoming meeting of the club's board of directors. At least 20 Pampans were on hand in Lubbock to get Pampa named, Parkinson said late this morning. Only opposition came from Borger which threw in the towel during the first ballot. Sheriff Rufe Jordan attended the convention in Pampa's quest for its first such convention, Parkinson continued. Voice recordings by Mayor Tom Rose, Chamber of Commerce President Clinton Evans and Chamber of Commerce Manager E. O. (Red) Wedgeworth were all played. Some 30 JayCees clubs in this district were represented at the bi-regional and Pampans took advantage of the opportunity by handing out information on the city and the Top of Texas Rodeo, scheduled Aug. 2-7. Others present for the convention included President J. C. Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hall, Duayne Darrow, Mr. and Mrs. Solon Blundell, Mr. and Mrs. John Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Vannie Ferrante, Mr. and Mrs. Calkins, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Maguire and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Gage. Parkinson said it appears that 300 persons will be in Pampa for the winter bi-regional convention.

Wetbacks' Charged For Trip Home

MCCALLEN, Tex., July 19 — UP — The Border Patrol is taking "fare" from 11,000 wetbacks it has rounded up in the Lower Rio Grande Valley to take them to El Paso, 600 miles away — for deportation. Most of the wetbacks live on the Mexican side of the Lower Rio Grande Valley, only a few miles from where they were rounded up. But the Border Patrol is taking them 600 miles to deport them and is charging them "fare" for the bus trip. One farmer told a Valley newspaper that border patrolmen took all but $1 from one wetback who was working on his farm to pay his "fare" for the 600-mile ride to El Paso. Harlon Carter, chief of the border patrol, said the law provides for charging the aliens fare. He said it is coming out of the wages they made in the United States. The Border Patrol is taking the wetbacks so far away to deport them to make it harder for them to come back. But the Mexican government announced it would take all the deported wetbacks back to their homes in Mexico at government expense. This will mean that wetbacks who live on the Mexican side of the Lower Rio Grande Valley will be taken 600 miles on the northern side of the Rio Grande for deportation, then brought back by Mexican authorities to their homes only a few miles away on the southern side. Four newspapers in the Rio Grande Valley reported they have received "dozens" of telephone calls from angry farmers who said the wetbacks were "separated" from their money. They refused to permit use of their names for fear of reprisals, the McAllen Monitor said.

Drawer-Murder Suspect Hunted

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 19 — UP — Police Monday hunted a "sweet, pretty boy type" man who stayed in the hotel room where a near-nude 15-year-old girl's body was found crumpled in a dresser drawer. Homicide Capt. Robert Reilly tabbed the man, who registered as Jack O'Shea under a phony New York city address, the "bride suspect" in the death of Dorothy Poore of Clinton, Ind.

ONE MAN'S MEAT IS ANOTHER MAN'S STOMACH TROUBLE

SACRAMENTO, Calif., July 19 — UP — Will Walton was recovering Monday from the effects of a hearty meal. Police said Walton entered a cafeteria, ordered a plate of beans and sat down next to a man eating short ribs. The short-ribs man got up to get a glass of water and returned to find Walton munching his ribs. He jabbed Walton in the stomach with a fork.

Pampan Can't See Win For French

"I don't think the French will have the support of the majority of the people," Brown, Army recruiter here for many years, has been in France for 18 months, spending the first three in Paris and since then at his post at Orleans, 90 miles south of the French capital. "I don't think the French are trying to fight communism too much at home or abroad. Of course, some Frenchmen are concerned about the problem and are trying to do something about it, but many others are as unconcerned as some Americans," Brown remarked. "Some of the French resent our troops stationed there and some don't. I think it's about 50-50. I've been some places in France where I felt resented and others where I was welcomed, like the celebration at the Normandy beachhead a few weeks ago. Double U.S. Intervention When asked whether or not he thought the U.S. would enter the fighting in Indo-China, Brown said, "I hope we don't enter Indo-China. I don't think we will go in. Double U.S. Intervention. I will take the vote of the United Nations before we fight in Indo-China, I think," was his reply. "It seems to me that the British are trying to appease communism," he concluded. "And it won't work." Husband of Patsy Brown, executive secretary of Pampa's Tuberculosis Association, Brown flew here from Orleans, arriving Sunday at 6 a.m. He must return Aug. 4 to France.

Cattle Market Eyed Warily

KANSAS CITY, July 19 — UP — Eyes of cattlemen in this area were on the skies and Washington as stock yard officials said the next days would tell the story of a potential rush to unload beef on the market. The president of the Kansas City stock yards, Cliff Kaney, said rain or passage of a government beef buying program could avert such a rush. Otherwise, "we may be in for some trouble," he said. Most cattlemen, he said, are holding on to all but low grade classes, hoping for a break in the drought or a program of government stabilization. But Kaney felt they could not hold out without one or the other much beyond the 10-day period.

Rep. Rogers Due In Pampa For Short Visit This Week

Rep. Walter Rogers, of Pampa, expects to come home from Washington, D. C., sometime this week. How long he will be able to remain in the Panhandle depends on committee and Congressional work scheduled the following week. He states in his weekly newsletter: "The Border Patrol is taking the wetbacks so far away to deport them to make it harder for them to come back. But the Mexican government announced it would take all the deported wetbacks back to their homes in Mexico at government expense. This will mean that wetbacks who live on the Mexican side of the Lower Rio Grande Valley will be taken 600 miles on the northern side of the Rio Grande for deportation, then brought back by Mexican authorities to their homes only a few miles away on the southern side. Four newspapers in the Rio Grande Valley reported they have received 'dozens' of telephone calls from angry farmers who said the wetbacks were 'separated' from their money. Wheat Men Vote Friday

Gray county wheat farmers will cast ballots Friday in a referendum election to determine whether the Department of Agriculture marketing quotas will go into effect. Miss Evelyn Mason, manager of the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation office here, today named the polling places. Voting will take place in the Gray County Courthouse, Laketon store, Grandview School and McLean City Hall. Polls will be open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m., she said. As required by law, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson has proclaimed wheat quotas, subject to a growers referendum. At least two-thirds of growers the nation who vote must approve the quotas before they can go into effect. Marketing quotas will be in effect for all farms where the wheat acreage maturing for grain is more than 15 acres if the vote is "yes." Marketing penalties will apply to all excess wheat produced on individual farms. Meanwhile, 1955 wheat allotments were put into the mail for Gray County wheat producers, Miss Mason stated. Absentee Votes Over 200 Mark

The number of absentee votes has in the office of County Clerk Charles T. Wertz over the 200-mark late this morning. There were 193 ballots that had been voted in person and 26 more sent in by mail, making a total of 221. Tuesday is the deadline for casting absentee votes. That today said he would have to forego the political rally Tuesday night in Central Park so that last-minute absentee voters could cast their ballots. Today is the deadline for Gray County candidates for paid precinct and county offices to file their fourth and final round of campaign expense reports. That said, Nixelson had done so by late this morning. Other Developments Over the weekend, there were these other developments in the all-out bid for votes. 1. Byron Skelton, of Temple, chairman of the State Democratic Executive committee a advisory council, charged that the GOP national committee was having Jack Porter, Republican national committeeman from Houston, campaign for Shivers. He charged that the Republicans the past two years "have run the Democratic party in Texas out of the law office of Alvin Lane and Wallace Savage, law partners in Dallas." Savage recently resigned as chairman of the state Democratic party and Lane was chairman of the state Republican party. "Republicans controlled both parties through Lane with approval and consent of Shivers," Skelton charged. 2. Former Gov. Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson, the only woman ever to hold the office in Texas, announced her support for Shivers, declaring "this is no time to experiment." She said "we need cool, deliberate, courageous leadership and Gov. Shivers has demonstrated that he has it." 3. Shivers again charged that (See GOVERNOR, Page 2)

McCarthy Aides Offer Resignation

WASHINGTON, July 19 — UP — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, who faces a showdown on demands that he fire certain staff members of his subcommittee, said Monday "a number have offered their resignations." McCarthy interrupted testimony at a public hearing to say, "I have been urging them not to resign." He said he did not know how successful he would be. He did not identify staff members or say how many offered to quit. McCarthy made his announcement on the eve of a showdown meeting with members of the Senate Investigating subcommittee who have demanded a staff "house-cleaning." Those wanting the clean-up are the three Democrats and one Republican. McCarthy blocked a staff shake-up last week by refusing to honor the proxy vote of Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) who was absent. But another meeting with new McClellan proxies is scheduled for noon Tuesday. McCarthy said that the resignations came from "men I consider having done most outstanding jobs." He said they offered to quit because of the "abuse their families have been receiving," and because they felt that "fantastic smear attacks" destroyed their usefulness.

Forecast Calls For Rain Here

Prospects were very good for rain here today as cloudy skies prevailed. Today's forecast called for rain. A trace of moisture fell here Sunday afternoon and night, but it was not sufficient to measure at the Radio Station KPDR rain gauge. This was the first rainfall here since June 8, when 10 inch of moisture fell. Oddly enough, on June 9 there was no rainfall in Pampa, but approximately seven inches fell at Groom, which overflows the town's lake, sending water into several nearby homes. At least three of these homes were still surrounded by water today six weeks after the deluge. Families living in these homes have been unable to move back into them and it was reported that plans are being made to move them. Sunday was another warm day in Pampa. The official high temperature reading was 94 degrees, while the low Sunday night was a cool 66. Arctic Circle & Lawson air-coolers, Joe Hawkins, 845 W. Foster. Adv.

Water Situation Is Under Control

Pampa just 160,000 gallons of water in storage Saturday, but came back Sunday to regain 120,000 gallons. Labeling the city water situation pretty much under control, City Mgr. Fred Brook late this morning repeated his call to residents to continue conserving water and not wasting it. "Use what you need, but don't flood your lawn," he said.

Gov. Hopefuls' Spirits Are Buoyed

By ELDON CORKILL, United Press Staff Correspondent. Gubernatorial candidates Ralph Yarborough and incumbent Allan Shivers were the picture of confidence Monday as they stepped up their campaign pace for the Saturday vote showdown. Shivers confidently predicted overwhelming victory over Yarborough, whom he defeated in 1952. Speaking in the Rio Grande Valley Monday, he said former Yarborough campaign men were working for his side, and he predicted some counties which voted for his opponent in 1952 would be in the Shivers column this time. Yarborough was in Austin Monday after a swing through Houston and Granger. He expressed confidence that the people of Texas would discard what he termed a scandal-ridden administration. Two other candidates, J. J. Holmes and Arlon (Cyclone) Davis, were also in the race, but most observers predicted the showdown would be between Shivers and Yarborough, with votes for the other two men possibly forcing a runoff.

Final Bid Made To Effect Truce

GENEVA, July 19 — UP — High French sources said Monday France has agreed to surrender to the Reds all northern Viet Nam above the 17th parallel — including Hanoi and eventually the port of Haiphong — in a final bid to win an Indo-China peace by Tuesday's French-imposed deadline. The reported concessions mean that France has given up all hope of holding Haiphong. Previously the Reds had demanded the 17th Parallel and the French originally insisted upon the 16th. The new French offer would cut Viet Nam in half 25 miles north of the railway center of Kang Tri, and just below the narrow waist of the state. It would hold for the French the big air base at Tourane, the only one in southeast Asia capable of handling atom bombers. French sources said the Communists are not content with the 17th Parallel offer, but that the two sides now are so near agreement that the final cease-fire agreement could be reached "in 30 minutes." These sources said that Haiphong would be retained by the French, under the latest offer, only long enough to permit safe evacuation of French and local Viet Namese who do not want to live under communism. The Reds are understood to have suggested a 230 day limit on French control of the port. The French concessions were said by a high western source to have greatly brightened prospects for agreement before the expiration of French Premier Pierre Mendes-France's "peace or resign" deadline which expires at midnight Tuesday. This highly placed informant said only two major obstacles stood in the way of a settlement and that it appeared both would be surmounted to the satisfaction (See FRANCE, Page 2)

Water Being Rationed Over Texas

By UNITED PRESS Water was being rationed all over Texas Monday as one of the worst heat waves in history continued unabated. About 5 per cent of the homes on high ground in Fort Worth had low pressure or no water at all. At Haltom City, a Fort Worth suburb, Mayor Virgil E. Goodman said the water was turned off from 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday for the entire community because there had been so many violations of a watering ordinance. The temperature reached 105 degrees Sunday afternoon at Fort Worth. Unpopular Action "As long as people keep watering their lawns illegally something must be done," he said. "It probable is going to be an unpopular thing but we'll shut off the water in the afternoons as long as it is necessary." Dallas city officials discussed an enforcement of an every-other-day lawn sprinkling ordinance if voluntary conservation methods don't keep the reservoirs high. Brady city councilmen asked residents to quit watering between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. Residents already are on an every-other-day basis for lawn sprinkling. Irving Wells Going Dry Irving found its wells going dry and officials asked that watering of lawns cease until three wells from which the city draws its water can be deepened. Mexico's city commission ordered all watering of flowers and shrubs halted after residents failed to conserve on a voluntary basis. Consumption averaged 200,000 gallons a day more than the city wells could produce.

Viet Namese Demonstrate In Hanoi

HANOI, July 19 — UP A force of 8,000 Communist troops pushed back Communist forces in the Red River delta defense pocket near Vinh Yen, 24 miles northwest of Hanoi, the French high command disclosed Monday. French infantry, supported by heavy tanks, fanned out north of route No. 2 which runs northwest from Hanoi through Phu Yen and Young Canh to Vinh Yen. A high command spokesman said the offensive third mounted against the Reds in the delta in the last week, was "progressing favorably." Other offensives had struck at the Indo-Chinese Communists in the Son Tay region west of Hanoi and around Phu Lang Thung along the northern edge of the pocket. In Hanoi, anti-Communist Indo-Chinese citizens demonstrated against any peace pact at Geneva that would partition their country between the Communists and French. Ten thousand citizens staged the demonstration without disorder or violence. Masses assembled before the Hanoi theater draped with Viet Nam, French, American, British and Indian flags, to listen to orators declaim against splitting their country into two parts.

'Tribe' To Do Folk Dances

When the Sahave Indians from Uvalde gather at 2 p.m. daily at the Top of Texas Rodeo, Aug. 4-7, to present their Indian dance performances, Pampa area residents will see one of the most interesting and colorful groups of its kind in the Southwest, according to Paul Crouch, president of the Top of Texas Rodeo association.

The group will not appear on Aug. 8 during the Kid Pony Show, Crouch added.

Although these boys are not real Indians, they present a very colorful interpretation of American folk dances, he said.

The Sahave Indian club was organized in 1950 by Joe Williams under the sponsorship of the First Methodist church in Uvalde. Later the Uvalde Kiwanis club and Chamber of Commerce joined with the club as co-sponsors.

Six boys were selected as charter members and all six of them still are in the club. It was organized to furnish a program for older boys who were interested in Indian lore, to teach boys how to get along with themselves and with other people while traveling, and, while on trips, to visit points of historical interest.

From a beginning of six boys, the club now numbers over 30 members. It is also interesting to note that 11 members have become Eagle Scouts and several others are expected to reach that rank soon.

Besides Williams, the organizer and business manager, one of the other adult leaders, P. W. (Chief) Calvert, has also devoted much time to the club. He is the only member who can boast of Indian blood. He was born in Oklahoma and attended Haskell Institute, but now makes his home in Uvalde.

Chief Calvert will be the announcer and master of ceremonies for their appearance here.

(Continued from Page One) Yarborough has not made a stand on segregation and the Supreme Court decision. Yarborough replied that he is in favor of separate but equal school facilities. Yarborough drew cheers in East Texas when he said: "I am not in favor of the forced mingling of children where they don't want to go."

4. Yarborough, hitting back at Shivers' charge that left-wingers were behind the Austin attorney's campaign, said the Legislature had passed a law allowing prosecution of Communists in Texas if they don't register within five days. He said none had registered, and none had been prosecuted.

5. Shivers charged Yarborough was supported by Negro groups, including The Infirmary. Houston Negro newspaper. Yarborough charged the governor was waging a "hate campaign" that would stir up racial trouble.

In the Lower Rio Grande Valley, Shivers was busily campaigning Monday, with stops set at Brownsville, Port Isabel, Los Fresnos, San Benito, Harlingen, LaFeria, Mercedes, Weslaco, Donna, San Juan, Pharr, Alamo and McAllen. Tuesday, he goes to Denison to address the Baptist Brotherhood at 8 p.m.

City May Approve Subdivision Plat

The plat for the Taylor subdivision, near the Green-Novoly subdivision in the southwest part of town, is expected to be approved at Tuesday's Pampa City Commission meeting.

That area is already in the city, however, according to City Mgr. Fred Brook. It encompasses just over two acres.

Among items to be discussed by commissioners are the water and sewer contract for the Red Deer Addition, future water line extensions and a T-shaped alley for the Hobart Street Baptist Church to be built.

It will be another week, Brook said, before City Director of Public Works James Cowan has the specifications ready for the letting of a contract on the city's oil well and gas for city vehicles. Library bills will also be paid at the meeting.

City Won't Mow Overgrown Lots

Pampaans who want lots next door mowed might just as well contract to have it done themselves.

For the city two years ago ceased the practice of either mowing overgrown lots or burning down the grass and weeds. City Mgr. Fred Brook explained, late this morning.

It is up to either the owner of the vacant lot or anyone nearby who wants the job taken care of, Brook said, explaining the city has stopped the practice for two reasons: (1) it takes city equipment away from keeping up the city parks and (2) the city is liable if its equipment does any damage on private property.

Most residents, he said, either do it themselves or hire someone else to do it.

Flanders Gets Two Backers

WASHINGTON, July 19 (UP)—Sen. Albert Chase Smith (R-Me.) and Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) declared Monday they will vote for Sen. Ralph E. Flanders' motion to censure Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

But Senate Republican leader Wm. F. Knowland said he will do everything possible to pigeonhole the resolution of present a pitched battle that would "wreck" the Senate's legislative timetable.

Maneuvering on the supercharge issue picked up speed as Flanders released text of the speech he formally submits his motion to the Senate.

In this, the 73-year-old Vermont Republican charged that McCarthy's career parallels Hitler's in a "weak and amateurish" way, says that his activities have blotted out the "obscure picture" of President Eisenhower, and that he has made a "major contribution" to the present "confusion in leadership."

Urges Support He urged his Senate colleagues to vote to censure McCarthy. McCarthy "from continuing his heinous damage which he has done in the past," since he was forcing a showdown, he said, he had decided to release his speech to advance so everyone would know the reasons for his action.

Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) said in a television interview Sunday night that he will vote for the Flanders resolution. He accused McCarthy of a "complete lack of any respect for the truth" and attacked his conduct as chairman of the Senate Investigating subcommittee.

Mrs. Smith, longtime McCarthy foe, and Humphrey, a liberal Democrat, told a reporter they agreed on the issue. All three said they would oppose any move to pigeonhole the issue. They were the first to hold the issue. They were the first to hold the issue. They were the first to hold the issue.

Chaplin Hobnobs With Reds

GENEVA, July 19 (UP)—Communist Chinese Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai played host Sunday night to motion picture actor Charlie Chaplin and some 50 other guests at his luxurious lakeside villa near Geneva.

The guests included Mrs. Chaplin, the former Oona O'Neill.

The Chaplins spent more than a four-hour in the rambling 22-room house during which they were served a European-style dinner and viewed a special showing of a Chinese film.

Chaplin, on leaving, told reporters he had "a lively conversation about non-political matters with Chou during the dinner." "Intelligent people," he said, "have no difficulties understanding an esoteric language."

Borger May Ban Double Parking

Borger is taking a page from Pampa's book in the matter of double-parking by commercial vehicles in the downtown area.

The Borger City Commission has been considering an ordinance to eliminate the problem by having trucks use alleys wherever possible for loading and unloading. Commercial vehicles would be defined as all semi-trailers, pick-ups, station wagons and general delivery trucks.

Pampa several months ago tried double-parking by commercial vehicles in the downtown area, but it did not work. So the Pampa City Commission banned the practice.

Borger City Mgr. Fritz Thompson has pointed out improvements that may be made to the city's alleys and one-way streets which will have to be effected.

Only two more persons by late this morning had applied in the county tax office to record their change of voting precinct so that they can vote in Saturday's Democratic and Republican primaries.

County Tax Collector Jack Beck Saturday estimated that 50 persons had applied a requirement by law today. The law requires that there be a four-day period between the end of voter moves and the actual primary.

It applies to cities of 10,000 or more population only.

Reds In Unions

How do pro-Communists and gangster elements get control of major labor unions — including unions whose members work in some of the most sensitive defense industries? The answer is found in the apathy of the vast majority of the rank and file members.

That is the startling point made by Victor Riesel in an article appearing in the June 28th issue of The Freeman. Mr. Riesel is a nationally known writer on labor matters, and authors a widely syndicated newspaper column.

He writes, "A union having, say, 20,000 members on its books may be run by the mere half-hundred men who are interested enough to turn out for meetings. It is estimated that of this country's 16,000,000 union members, only about 750,000 vote or monitor their officers' financial, industrial and political policies. As a result of this apathy, some unions have become captives of the criminal underworld or Communists."

Mr. Riesel cites some striking examples. He describes a "notorious pro-Soviet" union whose 70,000 members mine such vital metals as copper, nickel and uranium. In an election held last November, no one even opposed the pro-Soviet clique's candidate for president of the organization and less than a third of the membership voted. Moreover, a secretary-treasurer was reelected who had refused to answer this question at a Senate hearing: "Do you feel that you are innocent of any part in a conspiracy to undertake to overthrow the government by force and violence?"

He tells of another case where a strike vote was held in a plant making jet engines. One of the unions involved had some 1100 members in the plant. Only 114 showed up to vote, and 85 of these favored the walkout. "Thus," he observes, "eight per cent of the affected membership decided union policy."

In still another case, in a big plant making precision electronic mechanisms, local union policy is decided by 10 to 25 members out of a total 8,000. Mr. Riesel writes, "This disease of apathy respects no skill, no talent, no occupation."

Phoney Money

The curtain is closing on another of those tragic comic opera situations in the Old World.

It's funny, viewed from this side of the ocean. But it grew out of tragedy in Europe. Out of old people's memories of life savings spent to buy a week's supply of bread, as inflation ripped their nations.

And it's an object lesson to those political opportunists who urge the use of "let George pay for it" spending, deficit financing, rather than pay-as-you-go.

For the past two years, European government agencies have been trying to tag the operators of a private mint that has manufacturing plants in at least six European cities.

The "counterfeiters" turn out gold coins. Not imitations, but first-class, freshly-stamped versions of absolute coins: British Sovereigns, French Napoleons, Austrian Ducats, and others. Their "consumers" were poor people and rich people who didn't want their savings to shrink every time the government pumped a new dose of inflation into their deficit-financed economies.

At one time, people prized hard money so much that they'd pay as much as 35 per cent markup for the "phoney" coins. The private mint would stamp out $1,000 worth of gold coins, and sell them for $1350.

The big question was, "Which cash is the 'phoney'?" Fortunately, the European governments have been cutting down on inflation-financed projects, and their money is now almost as good as the counterfeit.

Business has been dropping off at the illegal mints. Swiss bankers estimate that the markup has dropped from 35 to 14 per cent, and that shipments are down to practically nothing.

But finance officers of European governments still blush when they think of the "counterfeit" money that is better than their official currencies, diluted with printing press money to pay for government aid plans.

THE NATION'S PRESS

THIS IS WHAT THEY CALL ECONOMY

(Chicago Daily Tribune) The national government's business year begins on July 1. Accordingly, United States treasury is in process of closing its books for 1953-54 and has opened a new set for the year which began July 1, 1954.

President Eisenhower and Congress should be ashamed of the poor record they made in the year just concluded. Evidently they feel no remorse for, unless all signs fail, they are going to have only a little less reason for shame when the books are closed a year hence.

To be sure, expenses have been reduced a little and taxes have been lowered a little, but the budget is still badly out of balance. The deficit is the more disgraceful in view of the fact that the government took more than 67 1/2 billion dollars from the pockets of the people in the year just closed, the largest sum ever collected in taxes from any nation in any year. Also the revenue reached this enormous sum, the administration still was unable, or rather, unwilling to live within it.

A great deal is going to be heard of the fiscal achievements of this administration. Let's see what they are. On the spending side, the record can begin with 1952, the last full year of the Truman administration.

BETTER JOBS

Your Brother's Keeper Belief

I was talking with a friend the other day and he contended that practically all of the preachers actually believed that you are your brother's keeper. He also thought that this belief was the primary cause of our trouble. When people believe that you are your brother's keeper, they naturally run to the government to have it help be their brother's keeper. And when church people, who are regarded as ethical people and looked up to as examples of righteousness, make this erroneous assumption that they are their brother's keeper, it is only natural for this belief to spread.

This belief undoubtedly originated from the instance of Cain killing Abel. When Jehovah asked Cain where his brother Abel was, Cain did not answer, but evaded by saying: "I know not," and asked: "Am I my brother's keeper?" Knowing full well that Jehovah would not contend that one man was the keeper of another, because a keeper must take away from the other individual part of his right to grow and develop and control the other individual.

In a recent issue of Faith and Freedom, Professor Knight of Dartmouth College expressed the idea that man is his brother's keeper in this manner. Professor Knight wrote:

"Free men stand responsible for the consequences of their choices, not only to themselves... but to their fellow men in general."

The fallacy of this belief that man is his brother's keeper was pretty well pointed out in the June issue of Faith and Freedom by Aubrey Herbert. He wrote:

"It is obvious that free men are self-responsible men; they bear the brunt of errors or unwise choices that they make, and reap gains from wise and fruitful choices. Self-responsibility stems from the basic axiom of self-ownership by every individual."

"Yet, if men are self-responsible, how can they be responsible to others? The two conditions are mutually exclusive. If the burden of A's actions is partly shifted to B, then to that extent A is relieved of his self-responsibility. Knight's projected society is thus a logical absurdity. He would have A responsible to B, C, D, E, etc. B responsible to A, C, D, etc. This would leave every man partially responsible to everyone else, and therefore no man responsible for himself. Self-responsibility is obviously destroyed where every man's burdens are borne by everyone else."

"The entire concept of 'responsibility,' as used by Knight, is a very vague one. If each person is a self-owner, as logically follows from the fact that each individual is a reasoning, unique being, then when he acts in freedom, what happens to himself and his (other) property is the consequence of his own action. In that sense, he necessarily assumes responsibility for his own person and property. In free society, each man has only one 'responsibility' to his fellow men: to respect the sphere of their ownership, and not to infringe on the person and property of others. Only then can a society of free men be attained."

"Yet Knight goes beyond this sphere of social responsibility, and extends it to saying a 'free man is his brother's keeper. The strong are responsible for protecting the weak...' In the first place, it is highly obnoxious to think of any one man as someone else's 'keeper.' Let us consider what a 'keeper' is. A keeper is a jailer, a person who keeps another man in a state of subjection; he feeds, clothes, and commands his prisoner."

"Knight does not seem to realize the profound truth in the word 'keeper.' If A must be responsible for the actions of B, it follows that responsibility cannot take place without control. A free man is responsible for his own actions precisely because he has control over his own actions. But how can A be responsible for the actions of B without insuring control over B? And yet Knight would have everybody responsible for the actions of everybody else—in his scheme no one would be a self-owner, but everyone would partially own and therefore control and direct everyone else. This is a formula for universal dictatorship, but certainly not for freedom."

"There has, incidentally, been a great deal of misunderstanding about the biblical question of Cain, 'Am I my brother's keeper?' Statistics have tended to assume that Cain erred, and that he was his brother's keeper. But God never answered in this vein in the Bible. The moral responsibility answer was given not at that point, but many years later in the form of the Ten Commandments and the libertarian Golden Rule: 'Do not do unto others what you would not have them do unto you.' Not only does this Golden Rule formulate precisely the sphere of social responsibility devolving on a free man, but it likewise contains the answer to Cain's question."

Another's Helper
This denial that a man is his brother's keeper does not mean that man is not his brother's helper or his brother's keeper. But a brother's helper does not attempt to control the party he is trying to help and take away from him his right to use his conscience and his right to learn by trial and error.

There is all the difference in the world between being a brother's helper and attempting to be your brother's keeper. One promotes character, good will, love and is in agreement with the Golden Rule. The other promotes tyranny, stagnation, and eventually a dictatorship of government.

"Coexistence" With Communism?

National Whirligig

Nehru Shifts From Neutral To Partiality Toward Reds

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru has suddenly shifted from political and philosophical neutrality in the East-West struggle to a measured partiality toward the Russo-Chinese Communists, in the unhappy opinion of Anglo-American diplomatic observers. He has been counted out of any prospective alliance against the Reds on the Asian continent.

London and Washington have long cherished hope they could win him over, largely because of his influence on the 600,000,000 people in Asia and adjacent areas, ranging from Egypt to Indonesia. The United States has advanced him almost $600,000,000 since 1949. Another grant of $104,500,000 is carried in the 1955 Foreign Aid Bill. He will accept it, but "with out any strings."

Prime Minister Churchill held off from immediate implementation of Secretary Dulles' proposed defense organization in India, China out of consideration for Nehru's sensitivities. The British statesman thereby thought he might enrage the Indian leader into a more favorable reaction. He closed his eyes completely to Mao Tse-tung's wanton attacks on South Korea and Indo-China, and to Russian aggression in Central Europe.

He refuses to learn from the facts of recent and bloody history. He accepted his blindfolded plea of "peaceful coexistence," insisting that war is the only alternative. There is also a personal factor, or idiosyncrasy, behind his new attitude. An egotistical individual, he may believe that he can deal with or outsmart both the Communist and Allied powers, thereby sparing his country the horrors of war. F.D.R. and Harry S. Truman suffered the same illusions with respect to Stalin and postwar Moscow. But disillusionment came at Tehran, Yalta, and Potsdam, as well as in Korea.

This much can be said, however, for Nehru's devious policy. India is such a massive populous, undeveloped, disorganized and poverty-stricken country that the Communist may never try to conquer or control it, figuring that it would be too indigestible. Or they would permit Nehru, as they have Mao Tse-tung, to remain relatively free and independent from the Communists.

These expected but regrettable developments obviously make more difficult the task of organizing a formidable defense line against the Reds in Southeast Asia. As will be done in view of a possible "sellout" to Ho Chi Minh by the French at Geneva, Nehru's attention may prevent the admission of Burma, Thailand, Laos, Cambodia and Indonesia. It would kill the idea of a native NATO, consisting of Asians rather than Caucasians.

In that event, prospective members would be the United States, Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand and possibly the Philippines. Such a setup would be a foreign and outside force rather than a free and willing resistance by the natives. It would enable Malenkov, Mao and Nehru to cry again—colonialism and imperialism.

Thus, it could be that Chou En-lai's post-Geneva pilgrimage to New Delhi was another major Asian diplomatic coup by the wily Reds.

Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, Mo., indignantly told the House the other day, according to the press, that "he and another man were attacked in the shadow of the Capitol" on a previous night "by a gang of teen-age hoodlums armed with rocks and clubs."

Curtis reportedly said two policemen called to the scene told him: "This happens all the time" and there was nothing they could do about it.

Congress, you know, is directly responsible for the government of the District of Columbia. Would it be unkind to suggest that Congress make the District safe for Congressmen and those who live right in the shadow of the Capitol before it decides it can look after all the 48 states — and the rest of the World besides?

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

In one recent study it was found that one child in five attending the outpatient department of a large children's hospital harbored the pesky pinworm or seatworm. Other studies also indicate that this animal parasite is widely distributed in the population, particularly among children. Certainly there are few subjects about which I am asked more often than what to do about this unwelcome invader of the lower digestive tract. Typical of the problem is a letter signed "Desperate Mother" which says that she has five children, all of whom are afflicted with pinworms. She says nothing about any apparent health injury to the children from these parasites.

ALL THIS FITS in with the generally held belief that pinworms or seatworms are extremely common but that they do not always cause symptoms of any kind.

When symptoms are caused, they consist most commonly of itching near the outlet of the bowel which may even produce nervousness, sleeplessness, and in some cases convulsions. In the eggs which are in this area become attached to the perianas, bed linen or clothing, and then are easily carried to other children.

It is this constant danger of infection from those living in close contact (and reinfection of the same person) which makes the pinworm so hard to eliminate.

CLEANLINESS AND HYGIENE measures are of course of the greatest importance in controlling the pinworm. This, however, is usually not enough and active treatment with drugs is likely to be necessary.

The first step is to identify the egg of the pinworm by means of a simple and microscopic examination. The next is to begin the simultaneous treatment of all those in the same dormitory or home who are infected.

One drug known as gentian violet has been the preferred treatment for quite a long time and has proved successful in most groups. However, there have been some failures with this.

Essayist Barnes Works Hit Globalism Theories

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — Harry Elmer Barnes, an essayist and historian who was a prominent weep-eas and bleeding-heart himself back in the days of the Roosevelt terror, has been fighting a plaintive and, I am afraid, futile, campaign against the forces which manipulate our public ignorance for dark purposes.

Barnes calls his stuff "revisionism." He is trying to revise his own old work, and he still has some chance that a comprehension of the facts of our time will deter our people from reinforcing horrible failures with further foredoomed follies. His pamphlets include "The Chickens of the Interventionist Liberals Come Home to Roost or the Bitter Fruits of Globalism," and "The Court Historians Versus Revisionism." The titles are stuffy, but the text is straight and it tells you. He also has done a book of almost 700 pages entitled "Perpetual War for Perpetual Peace," published by Caxton printers of Caldwell, Idaho.

Nowadays Harry's work regularly gets the business from the book reviewers and the book-selling industry which has a trick of shoving the Communist and Internationalist books in your face and ignoring the likes of Barnes, John F. Flynn, William Henry Chamberlain and the Communists who have turned their backs on the treason.

I had better give you his address because if you want to investigate the truth of our involvement in World War II you may have to deal direct. It is Harry Elmer Barnes, Stonewood, Cooperstown, N.Y.

One selected passage from the "chickens" tract will give you an idea. Speaking of the congressional interventionists and the Communist associations of professors and the fine-taught-in-many-colleges, often by stupid and cowardly non-Communist mediocrities, Harry says: "Even if one took the most critical view of the constitutional procedure, the evil is trivial compared to the intellectual tyranny exerted by interventionist and totalitarian-liberal professors especially in the fields of history, international relations, and the social sciences over the last 15 years. It is extremely difficult for any man or woman to obtain or retain a teaching post in these fields in the great majority of American colleges and universities if he or she holds the opinions that were characteristic of sound liberalism, say, in 1930. To be secure, such a person has been compelled to conceal any dissent from the prevailing internationalism and interventionism."

On this point I refer again to the guile of a young man at an eastern college a few years ago who had to write an important paper on unions. He wrote me for information and I sent him about a page, double-space of indisputable facts which could lead to only one conclusion: That American unionism is not only rotten with corruption and oppression but inherently hostile to the constitution.

My young friend got a fine mark. But when he showed me his paper I was enraged to see that he had discarded all my facts and slavishly followed the line of the AF of L, the CIO and the Roosevelt-Truman regime.

The next time I saw him I put it to him and the kid said he didn't believe a word of the stuff he had written and did believe my facts. But he wasn't interested in being right and he wasn't degree. He wanted passing grades and the teacher was a wild-eyed wower who, incidentally, has turned at least one important trick for the regime as executive secretary of a "presidential committee" hand-picked by David K. Niles to do a propaganda job for Truman.

Do you think you will ever hear the truth about Pierre Laval, three times premier of France, who was put to death without a trial — repeat, without a trial — as a traitor simply because he refused to place himself and France at Winston Churchill's disposal after France had been manipulated into a war for which she had absolutely no belly? In the words of Laval's daughter, Jose, he was "exclusively preoccupied with the interests of his own country," and to Churchill this conduct was "shameful."

Honor for a Frenchman, according to your definition. Jose wrote Churchill, "was to be obedient to British orders. Shame was to struggle, step-by-step, at Paris or at Vichy, so that France might continue to breathe and live."

During the occupation years the Communists in France, who had left the door unlocked so that the Germans could rush in, had a trick of knitting some of the German soldiers at night, knowing that the

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

Being neither a doctor nor a Biochemist nor anything else remotely connected with the debate, it would be foolish to take a stance in the current scientific skull-thumping going on as to whether cigarettes do or do not cause certain lamentable ailments in the respiratory tract. My job is to report what goes on around me in a certain section of New York, and—in certain sectors—called New York the picture that dolls are smoking pipes and cigars in increasing numbers these days and it's a very disturbing sight, indeed. If there is a more hapless sight available than a gorgeous girl with her pearly teeth clamped over a Havana cigar it is of a gorgeous girl with her pearly teeth clamped on the hard-rubber bit of a dufus.

Nor is the sight helped at all by gaudy little circles of laid pearls or diamonds around the shaft of the pipe. Why pipe manufacturers must have had some advance tip that the cigarette racket was coming out because for several days ahead of it their shop windows featured jeweled pipes for what they coyly call Miley. Well, brothers, let's get it on the line: I'm a modern husband and don't have too much to say around the house of an adult woman, believing what she says in the Declaration of Independence, that all are created equal, and it doesn't say anything about husbands having more right to throw their opinionated weight around than wives. It works just fine both ways. But the first time my bride stokes up a jeweled pipe after dinner and begins smoking it, you, out there in, say, Corpus Christi, Texas, are going to hear a clear, loud, defined yell. This is a girl who could have been heard by Thian if she had lived in the Tiltan times and she would look just plain dreadful with the jaws shut down tight on a hod.

The cigar routine seems just as appealing to me and I can't think of any girl I know who would look attractive while working on a stogie. My bride once went to dinner at Alfred Hitchcock's house and was intrigued by some miniature cigars by passed after dinner with the coffee. She took one, lit it and seemed so to refresh it that Hitch forthwith gave her a new box of 50 of these and I can only say that things were touch and go around our place until, some three months later, she had finished the last one. I used to bring home prints of celebrated paintings of women—Lady Hamilton, some of Titian's models, even some Lauder—just to show her that not one of these ardent admirers of feminine beauty ever painted a girl smoking a cigar.

Let it be said for her that when the 50th and last little bijou was smoked she threw the box out in the trash and said: "Well, that's that." And hasn't touched a cigar since.

It is true that in certain areas of our country women like to chew stuff, putting a small ball of wool in the pouch of a shawl and keeping it there for several hours. The effects often fray the ends of a twig and use it to swab snuff around on their teeth, but I can say in all truth that this custom has not taken hold in New York and is not likely ever to reach classical dimensions as a parlor matter.

Oilers Hike WT-NM League With 6-5 Win Over Pioneers

Gaines, Dial Duel On Tap Tonight

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

Getting maximum mileage out of their base hits, the Oilers hiked their lead in the West Texas-New Mexico League race with a hard-earned 6-5 decision over the Clovis Pioneers in the first of a two-game series at Oiler Park last night.

The Oilers got only seven hits to 14 for the Pioneers but the Oilers made good use of their bingles to outduel the Pioneers. The win increased the Oilers' hold on first place which they took over from the Pioneers Saturday night by a scant two percentage points.

Last night's victory was the 56th win for the Oilers against 25 losses for a .588 percentage. Clovis also has 59 wins but has lost 37 and is 13 percentage points back of the Oilers. In games, the Pioneers are one game back of the front running Oilers.

Highlight of last night's win over the Pioneers was the performance of rookie John Coddington whom the Oilers obtained on option from Shreveport of the Texas League. Coddington had been optioned to Berger by Shreveport but when that club folded the Oilers gained Coddington's option.

Coddington, playing the role of a fireman, took over from Jim Lemons in the fourth inning with the Oilers and Pioneers will conclude their series tonight at Oiler Park.

Jonas Gaines (9-2) is Manager Hershel Martin's choice to start for the Oilers. Red Dial is expected to get the starting assignment for the Pioneers. Game time will be 8:15.

was needed to get the Oilers rolling. Clovis led 3-0 when Coddington entered the scene but the Oilers broke loose in the middle innings, scoring twice each in the fifth, sixth and seventh to take the all-important victory.

Coddington gained credit for the victory although he needed help from the always reliable Vibert Clark. After dishing up a home run pitch to pinch-hitter Red Dial in the eighth and a walk to Donford to start the inning, Clark was summoned to the rescue.

Clark protected the 6-5 Oiler lead by getting out of the eighth with no further damage and then retired the Pioneers in order in the ninth, although Lynn Boyd led off with a lead-off double by Dub Woolbright on a double play when Dub Woolbright speared Jim Fairchild's liner and doubled Boyd off second. Clark then got John Warren on a strikeout to end the game.

Clovis huster Jack Venable had the Oilers eating out of his hand through the early innings. Venable retired the first nine Oilers to face him and going into the fifth facing the veteran right hander had blanked the Oilers on only one hit—a lead-off double by Dub Woolbright in the fourth.

Hairston Homers
But the Oilers got back in the game in the fifth when Ben Felder drove Venable's first free ticket of the night and then rode home ahead of Dick Hairston a 19th home run of the year to drive that game-carrying run to the right-center field wall—reducing the Pioneer lead to 3-2.

The home run pitch to Hairston seemed to have unnerved Venable as the Oilers came back in the third, two innings with two-run rallies to match the victory.

Venable, however, gave the Pioneers a 2-run lead in the sixth when he homered over the right field wall to tie it 4-2 for the visitors.

The Oilers tied it up in the lower half of the sixth when Woolbright scored on a passed ball and Curtis Hardaway crossed on Felder's line shot through the box that put the Oilers even 4-4.

Manager Hershel Martin's bids then won the game in the seventh with their third 2-run inning of the night. Eddie Daniels singled to start the rally with one strike and raced to third when Coddington doubled to right. Daniels scored on a sacrifice fly to right by Woolbright to break the deadlock and Coddington followed Daniels across with what proved to be the winning run when Boyd's throw to the plate was wild.

The win last night was the Oiler fifth in succession and their sixth in seven games since Martin took over as manager.

Blows 6-Hole Lead Baxter Loses In Trans-Miss. Finals

DENVER, July 19—Up—Jim lead over the three-time Missouri amateur champion. He parred the next three holes as Jackson bogeyed from the 13th hole and only two more holes all day as he relentlessly cut down the Houston Trans-Mississippi golf tournament with three holes to spare Sunday.

Nineteen-year-old Red Baxter Jr. of Amarillo, Tex., the national junior champion, was reduced from a lead of 12 under the pressure of the 21-year-old Kirkwood, Mo. text bag salesman's putter as he 36-hole final match progressed.

A sub-par golfer on the outgoing morning nine, young Baxter hit his tee shot on the par-three "birdie hole" into a trap, blasted over the green into a creek, was penalized one stroke to lift off, over-chipped the green again and then sheepishly walked over to shake Jackson's hand. Jackson got down in three to go four holes up.

Baxter's two-under-par 33 on the first nine gave him a three-hole lead over the three-time Missouri amateur champion. He parred the next three holes as Jackson bogeyed from the 13th hole and only two more holes all day as he relentlessly cut down the Houston Trans-Mississippi golf tournament with three holes to spare Sunday.

Phillies, Cardinals In Free-For-All

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

Leave it to ever-ready Earl Torgeson to touch off the third free-for-all of his career, renew a two-year-old feud and cap one of the stormiest Sundays in baseball history.

Torgeson's battle with Cardinal catcher Sam Young, a renewal of their almost forgotten July 1, 1952, fight, resulted in Umpire Babe Pinelli's forfeiture of the nightcap to the Phillies, 9-0, after the Phils also had won the opener, 11-0, in 10 innings.

To Torgeson, a meek-looking 30-year-old who wears horn-rimmed glasses but always keeps his temper and sleeves rolled up, free-for-alls are "old hat."

He figured in his first one back in April of 1948 when, while still a member of the Boston Braves, he up and popped Billy Hitchcock with a right on the whiskers during a "city series" exhibition game.

The first free-for-all occurred in quiet moments, took part in his second free-for-all on June 19, 1950 when he left Pirate pitcher Cliff Chambers had "dusted" him off.

First Trouble
The first free-for-all with Yvora occurred July 1, 1952, when Torgeson opened a deep gap over the receiver's right eye because he thought Sam had broken one of his bats. No free-for-all resulted then, however.

Sunday's skirmish packed more wallop, though, because both benches emptied. Cardinal manager Eddie Stanky threw a flying headlock on Phillies manager Terry Moore and police and ushers ran out on the field to attempt to restore order. When play was resumed Stanky walked out of the dugout to chat with Ellis Deal, the fourth pitcher he had used in less than five innings.

Pinelli, aware that the Phillies were ahead 7-1, anyway, contrived a trip as a stalling maneuver and forfeited the game to the Phils who moved into third place by one percentage point. Stanky protested the forfeiture—first in the majors since Aug. 21, 1949, when the Giants were awarded a forfeited game over the Phillies at Philadelphia—claiming that Pinelli "exceeded his authority."

Other Rhubarbs
But the Phillies and Cards supplied only part of the fireworks in the majors Sunday. There were "rhubarbs" in many other games, too.

At Washington, for example, where the Indians retained a half-game lead in the American League race by defeating the Senators, 7-4, in the nightcap after losing the opener, 8-3. Cleveland manager Al Lopez was ejected for arguing with Umpire Bill Grieve in the second game. The key blow in the second game was Bobby Avila's two-run double in the seventh, which put the Indians ahead for keeps. Eddie Yost helped Chuck Stobbs to victory in the first game with a double, triple and homer.

There were more "rhubarbs" at Yankee Stadium where the Yankees won their 13th straight game by beating Detroit, 6-0, on Harry Bard's five-hitter in the opener, then lost their temporary hold on first place by bowing, 8-5, in the nightcap. Ejected from the premises during the two-brawl were Gene Yeamans, a Boston Red Sox umpire, and Bob Nieman of the Tigers.

Eddie Joost Fumes
Eddie Joost, the Athletics' manager, fumed and fretted plenty, not only because the White Sox swept a doubleheader, 10-2 and 4-3, to stretch Philadelphia's losing streak to eight games in a row, but also because of Paul Richards' legitimate but nerve-racking methods in the nightcap. With the White Sox ahead 8-5 and the Athletics threatening in the eighth inning of the second game, Richards called in

Harry Dorish, his third pitcher in the inning. Under state curfew laws, however, the game was ended the eighth and the score reverted to the end of seven innings of play.

Milwaukee defeated Pittsburgh 4-1, on Del Crandall's two-run homer and Warren Spahn's tight pitching, but there was quite a dip in the nightcap, won by the Pirates 7-5. It all started in the second inning, a frame in which the Sox scored six runs, when Umpire A. Gore changed his decision with bases full and ruled that Pittsburgh pitcher Paul LaPalme had been hit by a pitch.

Elsewhere around major league Giants' National League lead was cut to six games as Russ Meyer hurled the Dodgers to a 12-9 decision over Chicago with the aid of home runs by Roy Campanelli, Duke Snider and Carl Furillo while the Giants split a twin-bill with Cincinnati.

Get 'Em Hilt
The Reds clubbed six pitchers for 18 hits and a 14-4 triumph in a six-game losing streak. Duane Hurtendress led a 4-1 comeback in the final, Jim Pierce and Sammy White homered off Eofoin in the opener while Ted Williams did likewise in the nightcap.

Sunday's star—Rookie Russ Kemmerer of the Red Sox, who just missed a no-hitter against Orioles in the first game of a twin bill but gained his first major league victory, anyway, 4-0.

Boros Wins Playoff For Carlings Title

WILLOUGHBY, Ohio, July 19—UP—Julius Boros, the fast-rising pro from Southern Pines, N.C., jumped to the head of the list in the Carlings title fight, winning a $15,000 prize money on a 34-37-71-73 good for a third-place tie in the first round of the Carlings Open.

Boros won the sudden-death playoff Sunday from George Fazio to take down the $5,000 first-prize money at the Carlings Open. The victory boosted his earnings for last year to $13,120, well above last year's winner, Cary Middlecoff, who has pocketed $13,833 far this year.

The overtime victory was the second straight year in which a 72-hole event had to be decided in extra holes. In 1953, Middlecoff beat Ted Kroil—who finished in a tie for 11th place Sunday—21 strokes above last year's runner-up.

Boros, in a tie for second round Sunday's play, went around 34-37-71. Fazio had a 34-38-71. Jerry Barber of La Canada, Calif., who co-held the lead at the end of 34 holes, wound up with a 39-73, good for a third-place tie with Tommy Bolt of Houston and Bo Wininger of Oklahoma City.

PONY Leaguers Overcome Odds

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

CONGRATULATIONS ARE IN ORDER today to the Pampa PONY League All-Stars who Saturday night defeated Plainview for the sub-District 1 baseball title.

Winning the sub-district title was rather surprising to most in that this is the first year that a majority of the local PONY League teams has ever played baseball.

And then, too, the young Pampa nine was playing their first night game of the season in the tournament. It was the first night baseball game for the entire crew.

The local PONY Leaguers, managed by W. A. Gibson and Ah Conway, will journey to Hobbs, N. M., this weekend for the District 1 tournament. We don't have the complete details on the district tournament but previous plans was to hold the tournament Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Competition in the PONY League tournaments will get keener, to be sure, as the touring trail progresses and the locals will have their hands full in this week's tourney.

This department extends the best of luck to the Pampa PONY Leaguers in the coming district tournament.

MOST OF YOU KNOW probably by now that Don Tierney has been purchased from Lafayette by the Plainview Ponies of our league. Tierney has gotten off to a good start with the Ponies with the willow but in his first pitching start yesterday, he was battered out of the box in the first inning by the Amarillo Gold Sox.

But Tierney stayed in the game and slammed out three home runs as the Ponies rallied for a 18-14 victory. Tierney now has four homers since joining the Ponies.

Plainview is a homerun hitters' paradise. PONY fans are setting some sort of a record in sticking greenbacks through the screen whenever a homerun is hit.

Some reports out of Plainview have it that two or three of the PONY sluggers get more money through the screen for hitting home runs than they get in salary.

Tierney's first home run at Plainview netted him 69 bills through the wire.

NOTE TO HANK BROWN, Amarillo TV sportscaster: Pampa's "unbalanced" Oiler are leading West Texas-New Mexico League while Amarillo's "balanced" Gold Sox are in fifth place and nine games back of the Oilers.

WASHINGTON, July 19 — Senate investigators Monday dug into the business operations of Clint Murchison Jr. to learn whether the son of the Texas millionaire made "wildcat" profits on government-insured housing near Army and Air Force bases.

The senators also were expected to examine other projects in which the four witnesses were involved either as partners or individually.

Chessman At Work On Second Novel

By GEORGE COFFEY
SAN QUENTIN, Calif., July 19 — UP — Convict-author Cary Chessman, who has cheated death in the gas chamber twice, Monday waited for his third date with the executioner by working on his second prison novel.

Chessman, whose book "Cell 245 Death Row" was widely acclaimed by critics and became a best seller, said his new work was about 80 per cent completed.

Chessman, who was condemned under California's "Little Lindbergh" law after his conviction on 17 counts of kidnaping, robbery and rape, has lived in a tiny gas chamber cell equipped only with a cot and toilet stool for the past six years.

Murray Rated Top Candidate

HELENA, Mont., July 19 — UP — Political observers Monday rated veteran Sen. James E. Murray a good bet to win the Democratic nomination for a fifth term in Tuesday's Montana primary.

A light turnout was expected to make the choice. A total of 285,651 persons were registered in the state's 1,051 precincts, but only half that number was expected to vote.

Murray's opponents were Ray E. Quilick, wealthy Joplin rancher, and Sen. C. Frazier, former civil service worker who gave up his Washington job to run for Senate.

On the Republican side, Rep. Wesley A. D'Ewart was expected to capture the GOP nomination from Indian Chief Robert Yellowstone. D'Ewart gave up his seat in the House to run for the Senate.
