'Pachuco' Gang Search On At Lackland AFB

Commander Orders Trainees Checked

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 26 — UP — The spotlight of an Air Force investigation into vicious "Pachuco" gangs turned Thursday to giant Lackland Air Force Base. Maj. Gen. John H. McCormick, commander of Lackland, ordered squadron commanders to check the 25,000 trainees for the Pachuco tattoo, a figure resembling a cross usually inked into the skin on the back of the hand between thumb and forefinger.

Top Jet Ace Killed In Flight

EDWARDS AFB, Calif., Aug. 26 — UP — Capt. Joseph McConnell Jr., the world's top jet ace, fell to his death in a seat ejected from a Sabrejet because he was flying too low to give his parachute time to open, the Air Force believed Thursday.

Orders Shakedown General McCormick ordered a shakedown of all training squadrons for illegal gangs among "shivs." Many of the suspected gang members at Lackland were court-martialed for carrying the weapons, and the Pachuco pledge calls on members to carry some sort of weapon at all times. McCormick said there was no evidence of a cohesive Pachuco organization at Lackland, but he pointed out most Air Force recruits from the West Coast got their first training at the big San Antonio base.

Cafe Intent On Forming New Cabinet

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 26 — UP — President Jose Cafe Jr. pressed efforts to organize a "reconciliation" cabinet Thursday in a city which military security measures had transformed into a virtual armed camp. Cafe worked to put together a coalition government which he hoped would bridge the crisis that drove President Getulio Vargas to suicide two days ago.

U.S. Scraps Plans To Cut Seventh Fleet

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 — UP — The Navy said Thursday that plans for cutting the size of the U.S. Seventh Fleet have been scrapped because of Red China's threat to invade Formosa.

The conservation and irrigation tour will meet at Hobart Street Park, where empty stomachs will be settled with a cup of coffee at 8:30 a. m. prior to a 9 a. m. start of Gray County ranches and farms. The party, expected to number some 200 people under the lead of Jim Brown of the Soil Conservation Department and Ralph Thomas. Lewis suffered a crushed head and injured eyes June 1 when he got caught between the levers and another part of a Stansford oil well pump, some 100 yards east of the Kingsmill Camp, the suit says. The boy, in the person of his "next friend," L. L. Gibson, is asking $5,000 from Stansford in the person of A. W. Bounds, the company's agent in Houston.

But a naval spokesman said plans for a gradual reduction were set aside because of the "touchy situation" regarding Formosa. The Seventh Fleet will be kept strong as long as it is needed to guard Formosa, he said. The Seventh Fleet, built around four carriers, presently has the duty of defending Formosa and the nearby Pescadore Islands against any Communist invasion — something the Reds have been threatening in increasingly belligerent tones in recent weeks. Discussions are presently going on within the administration over whether to extend U. S. commitment to some of the offshore islands still held by the Chinese Nationalist forces.

State Department officials, too, were happy. Although gloomy over prospects for French ratification of the treaty to create a six-nation European army, they said the Stevenson letter should be helpful.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty immediately said President Eisenhower "is delighted" with Stevenson's action.

The 1952 Democratic presidential candidate announced Wednesday that he had sent a letter to French Premier Pierre Mendes-France because he had become alarmed by developments in France. Stevenson said he was in favor of the EDC treaty and assured the French premier that the issue was not a partisan one in the United States.

Port Arthur Plays Big Election Role

By UNITED PRESS The long retail strike at Port Arthur played a bigger and bigger role Thursday in the gubernatorial runoff as Gov. Allan Shivers and Ralph W. Yarborough headed down the stretch toward Saturday's primary decision by an expected record number of voters. Shivers, opening Thursday's campaigning with a statewide broadcast from Waco, charged Yarborough's pledge to end the strike within 30 days involved "appointing one of those red-hot agitators who caused the trouble as labor commissioner." Yarborough, in a speech Wednesday night at Tyler, repeated that he would restore "peace and order and dignity" in Port Arthur within a month after he takes office. He said Shivers hadn't taken any action "because this is an election year and because Port Arthur is a political football he can kick from border to border." To Speak at Mexia Following the Waco speech, Shivers planned a speech at Mexia and a short, non-political speech at the Freestone county fair in Fairfield. He will close the day at a barbecue in Henderson, flying to Houston for the night.

Minor Sues Oil Company

A minor, Lewis Dewayne Gibson, who lives in the Kingsmill Camp, is the plaintiff in a suit filed Wednesday afternoon in 31st District Court against Stansford Oil and Gas Co. Lewis suffered a crushed head and injured eyes June 1 when he got caught between the levers and another part of a Stansford oil well pump, some 100 yards east of the Kingsmill Camp, the suit says. The boy, in the person of his "next friend," L. L. Gibson, is asking $5,000 from Stansford in the person of A. W. Bounds, the company's agent in Houston. For two years before the mishap, the suit continues, Lewis and youngsters from approximately 17 other homes in the camp had been playing in the vicinity of the pump, which has had no fence, guard or other protection. The children, the suit continues, were (See MINOR, Page 2)

Absentee Vote Total Increases

The absentee vote for Saturday's Democratic runoff primary rose to 345 today with the receipt of three more mailed-in ballots. Only 15 mailed ballots are still outstanding, County Clerk Charlie Thut reported late this morning. If they are postmarked before midnight last Tuesday and are received by Thut by 1 p. m. Saturday, they will be counted. The 345 is the highest absentee vote total ever tallied in Gray County.

Those Without Sin May Step Up And Cast The First Stone

RIPLEY, Tenn., Aug. 26 — UP — Three frightened Negro boys stood before Judge J. R. Lewis to learn the penalty for their sins. Their crime: Stealing watermelons. The judge looked at the boys sternly; then his expression softened and he instructed the courtroom crowd: "I want everybody who has never stolen a watermelon to hold up their hands." Not a hand was raised in an audience that included Sheriff Willard Norvell, County Attorney John Stanford and three state troopers. "Case dismissed," said the judge. Yes, the judge admitted he once was just as guilty as the defendants before him. "I snitched a lot of 'em when I was a youngster," he confided to a reporter. "But then I don't call snitching a watermelon stealing."

Expert Economists See Business Gains

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 — UP — Government economists expect business to hold steady at about present levels for the next six weeks or so and then to pick up. But some non-government economists and union leaders say that the pickup may fall short of the levels necessary for a growing and expanding national economy with full employment. They contend the Eisenhower administration should be spending more, on public works and defense, and taxing less. President Eisenhower recently said the business decline has been halted and that an upswing appears in prospect. "Latest Commerce Department reports reveal a promising picture of the economy," Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks told the United Press. "Business confidence is evident throughout the nation. The fall outlook certainly appears good." Walter Reuther, president of the CIO, said in a statement for the United Press. "Business confidence has not done enough to insure prosperity. "Since the spring of last year our country's ability to produce has outrun its ability to consume under present economic conditions," Reuther said. "The key fact about our economy is that it must expand and grow, or it faces the danger of stagnation and an eventual downward spiral. So far, our administration in Washington has not taken the steps that will assure a full production economy of abundance."

THREE FRIGHTENED SINNERS

Team At Work On Underpass

A field party, headed by Marvin Tidrick, is now at work on a survey of the proposed Hobart Street underpass project. Resident highway engineers late this morning said Tidrick and his three-man crew had been at work for the last day or so. What the survey team must do is establish a center line, make a topographical survey in which literally everything will be included, run a profile and take a cross-section.

Pampan Ends Duty Near Latin Cauldron

"When the Communists started shipping arms into Guatemala from Poland, it got us wondering what would happen in the Latin American Republic," T. Sgt. DeWitt Henry remarked in an interview with The News Wednesday. One Redeeming Feature "But it didn't affect the internal situation in the Canal Zone very much, because as it finally turned out the revolution only involved the Guatemalan people. Had any outsiders been implicated in the struggle within the country it would have been a different story." Henry returned to Pampa last week after a three-year tour of duty in the Panama Canal Zone, and was moving around Gray County visiting his mother, Mrs. Hattie Matheson, 1217 Garland, and his wife's relatives in Lefors. The sergeant, winding up fourteen years in the army, was an enlistee in the Army Air Corps back in the early days of World War II, serving in the Pacific area with a stint at some "tight" duty on Saipan. "Security hasn't been our only major problem recently in the Canal Zone," he said. Texas To Rescue "Contractor's Hill, one of the solid rock obstacles to Goethals and his engineers in the building of the canal, is about to split wide open, pouring thousands of rock into one of the large natural waterways." "It would certainly raise a bit of havoc with passage across the isthmus, but," Henry said proudly, "one of our good Texas engineering firms out of Dallas is down trying to get things in shape." Henry's family was with him in the Canal Zone. His wife, Nita, and their two sons will be pushing on to his new tour of duty at (See PAMPAN, Page 3)

Churchmen Severe Critics

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 26 — UP — The World Council of Churches criticized western capitalism as too materialistic and communism as too Godless. The twin issues at Wednesday's session overshadowed the election of six new presidents of the international organization. The voting took place after controversy over whether a lay delegate should be included in the slate. The new presidents are the Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, Protestant Episcopal bishop from New York; Archbishop Michael of the Eastern Orthodox Church; the Very Rev. John Baillie of the Church of Scotland; Methodist Bishop Sante Uberto Barberi of Buenos Aires, Argentina; Mar Thomas Juanon, of the Mar Thoma Syrian Church and of Malabar, South India; and German Evangelical Bishop F. K. Otto Dibelius of Berlin.

Raving Yank Called Fraud

ESCHEDE, Holland, Aug. 26 — UP — A Dutch psychiatrist indicated Thursday that a mystery man who claimed to be Capt. David Samuel Rolling of the U.S. Air Force was a fraud. The mystery man was picked up by Eschede police about two weeks ago and placed in a hospital. He said his name was Rollins and that he was a native of New London, Conn., a former U.S. bomber pilot shot down in World War II. He said his back was tattooed in Germany while a prisoner with the phrase: "So far all U.S. fire-murderers and gangster pilots." Archie Grele & Lawson air-coolers, Joe Hawkins, 848 W. Foster.

Dugout Creek Bridge Accepted

The West Dugout Creek Bridge, part of the Canadian River Bridge project, has been accepted by James G. Lott, Amarillo, district highway engineer.
 Bell, Braden, Barker and Gilvin, Inc., Amarillo, had the contract for $141,764.73 on it, but it took $150,783.50 before the bridge was completed, according to resident highway engineers.
 Reason for the increased cost was the "over-running" of the 16-inch steel piling, the concrete rip-rap and the overhaul on dirt.
 Meanwhile, work on the main bridge itself has started up again with the driving of Bent No. 15. Bridgemen are working backward, from Bent No. 10 to Bent No. 1. A bent is a row of piling.

PORT ARTHUR

 shaking in San Antonio Thursday, capped with a statewide telecast at night. He had a far-flung program Wednesday, with speeches at Bryan and Wichita Falls preceding the Tyler rally.
 Shivers talked Thursday morning about the "Port Arthur story."
 "Port Arthur is, or was, a thriving industrial city and seaport in the far southeast corner of Texas where I finished high school and where my mother still lives," said Shivers. "Port Arthur today is a strife-torn, divided and bitter city."
 "Testing Ground"
 "Port Arthur was the testing ground selected by a Communist-dominated union to try out a Communist-inspired plot to paralyze Texas business and industry."
 He said he knew how Yarborough would settle the strike.
 "He would turn his back on the people down there who are waging such a valiant fight by appointing one of those red-hot agitators who caused the trouble as labor commissioner," Shivers said.
 "He has promised the CIO he would name one of those people as labor commissioner of Texas," he said.
 Yarborough, in his Tyler speech, said he would go personally to Port Arthur, "when I am elected governor," and stay as long as necessary to settle the strike. He said Shivers had "failed to redeem Port Arthur from fear and terror."
 He said Shivers had hired "slander teams to distort the Port Arthur story."
 "They've even got a booklet out with faked photographs," Yarborough said. "Professional photographers have been super-imposed."
 He said that was "propaganda straight out of Goebbels, translated into English."
 In another political development, U.S. Sen. Price Daniel took Yarborough to task for saying at Houston that the tidelands were "weasel-worded" and "ineptly drawn."
 Yarborough said the law was a poor one because it didn't define the extent of Texas' seaward boundary exactly.
 "I consider this a personal affront to both Sen. (Lyndon) Johnson and myself," Daniel said. "The cases we were co-authors of this bill. Also, it was supported by the entire Texas delegation in Congress."

 The victim was Irene Eguia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Eguia. Her parents reported her missing on Galveston beach shortly before 8 o'clock Wednesday night.
 The Galveston fire department flooded sections of the beach with lights and Irene's body was found in shallow water after about an hour's search.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE
Learn Fine Points Of Penalty Doubles

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
"In my recently published book 'What's New in Bridge,' I devote a rather long chapter to penalty doubles. 'Most bridge players,' I pointed out in this book, 'throw away thousands of points each year on the sort of hand in which both sides have fair strength and distribution.'" make a decision. He had sound values for his overall of one spade and he had fair defensive strength in clubs.

If his partner likewise had defensive strength, his partner would either double five diamonds or even allow the opponents to play the contract undoubled. If North had very little defensive strength, North would know so by merely looking at his own hand, and North could then go on to five spades as a sacrifice.
When the hand was actually played, South foolishly and unnecessarily decided that there was no defense against the vulnerable opponents. He therefore bid five

Hoboes Pick King, Queen At Convention

BRITT, Iowa, Aug. 26—UP—Box Car Betty Link, a cigar-puffing lady from New York, and 82-year-old Scoop Shovel McDougal were elected queen and king of the nation's hoboes Tuesday night.
About 20,000 persons cheered as gentlemen of the road attending annual Hobo Day crowned their new rulers.
Box Car Betty had been favored to unseat Sylvia Davis from the hobo queen's throne. She won despite her complaint that her living quarters in the city jail were a little drafty.
McDougal, believed to be one of the nation's oldest "Knights of the Road," won his crown through an upset. The early favorite was Hobo Ben Benson, a roving reporter for the Hobo News.
Benson maintained he wasn't a candidate this year, but had strong support from the East, West, North and South his territory.
Hoboes have crowded this small north central Iowa town for their annual get-together for 54 years. They and their guests consumed 400 gallons of "alumgallon stew" at the coronation.

spades, was promptly doubled, and went down three tricks without much trouble.
North was justifiably disgusted with this result. He had intended to double five diamonds, if only that bid had come around to him.
His side would easily win a diamond, a club and a heart, if not more, for a plus score of 200 points instead of a minus score of 500 points.
The South player would have profited from reading the three rules in my book, applying to this situation:
1. With unusual distributional strength, bid again. The more freakish your hand, the better it is for offense and the worse for defense. Moreover, your own distribution warns you that the enemy may have similar freakish distribution, in which case you may not beat them.
2. With defensive strength and balanced distribution, double the opponents. Don't leave it up to your partner to make a decision when you know what you want to do.
3. With no clear reason to bid again or double, avoid making a decision. When possible, pass the decision to your partner.

"... But what can one person do?"

This is a complaint often heard when someone is objecting to a set of circumstances and feels that the scope of the problem is too big for him to accomplish anything all by himself.

The demonstration of what one person can do has been made by Capt. D. W. Ledbetter, one of the senior pilots for American Air Lines, who doesn't like the idea of missing his pay check because the union bosses tell him he must.

Capt. Ledbetter first of all sat down and wrote a letter. But he wasn't content with merely writing the letter. He had it mimeographed and sent out approximately 1200 copies to all the American Air Lines pilots affiliated with the AFL union colling the strike that brought the air line operation to a screaming halt and resulted in tremendous losses to the company and its employees — not just the pilots.

In his letter he blasts through a lot of union propaganda that has been carried in various news items concerning the issue at point — which is the maintaining of an eight-hour day regardless of circumstances.

Pointing out that the strike was costing the pilots themselves more than a million dollars a month, Capt. Ledbetter went on to point out:

"Yes, we also want to preserve the 'historic eight hour law!' This law may be historic but it also is antiquated and if you don't think so, listen to this — by this law a pilot can and may be scheduled to fly up and down the coast (or anywhere else for that matter) for seven hours and 59 minutes and make as many as six or eight instrument landings and take-offs and still remain within the safe fatigue range and protect 'the public interest.' But that same pilot would collapse with fatigue if he were called upon to fly a DC-6 over eight hours coast to coast, making one take-off and one landing in a pressurized cabin complete with a First Officer, a Flight Engineer, automatic pilot and two stewardesses to serve him coffee when he wants it.

"Now, aside from this altruism and imaginary fatigue, this eight hour rule was put into effect in the early 1930's during the days of poor radio facilities, inadequate weather reports, and short range aircraft. If it is true that eight hours is the limit of safe flights, then all of the advancements in radio navigation and operating conditions have been made in vain. The stupid scientists were just spinning their wheels."

Capt. Ledbetter then made a plea for the employees of the line other than pilots and then ended his letter this way: "Everybody is entitled to make a mistake now and then; but the crime is in not admitting it. We are not hurt too bad up to now. The pilots who wanted the strike have had one — now let's get on with the show."

HENRY McEMORE

Three Cats, Two Women, One Dog And A 3,000 Mile Auto Trip

I wish I could catch a nice, comfortable ailment that would bed me down for a week or two. Unless I am able to manage this I am going to have to take a 3,000-mile automobile trip accompanied by two women, three cats and a bulldog.

That's a task Hera would not have washed upon Hercules, but I see no way out of it. There's always the chance, of course, that I'll go out of my mind just thinking about it, and even women, cats, and bulldogs won't ride with a glassy-eyed, mumbling fellow at the wheel.

Just think of lading the car for such a trip, even if you weren't going to drive out of the garage. Where does the bulldog go? My car doesn't have a bulldog rack, so Dilly'll have to sit either in the front with me, or in the back with the cats, all of whom he hates with a passion, and all of whom hate him with all twelve paws.

And where do Mary and her sister, Jean, sit?

I have drawn a dozen seating arrangements, and none seems to work out.

Mary up front with me, with the bulldog in between, is no dice. Dilly has to have his head out the window, front legs resting on a door, and 3,000 miles with half a hundredweight of bulldog leaning across you, licking your face with a tongue the size of a canoe paddle, is no go.

The two girls and all the animals on the back seat is impracticable. Not only would the cats and the dog fight all the time, but I would have nothing but howl I had all the room, and how they, the girls, were going crazy. And if you have ever driven as far as five miles with a woman when she doesn't think the get-in-her share of elbow and leg room, you know that loading plan won't succeed.

The girls and Dilly in the back, and Sam, Fred and Zuli up front with me, might work if Zuli, the Stames, didn't despise Sam and Fred, and if Fred (the subject of a column a week or so ago) didn't think he could fly. Someone will have to hold Fred by the leg all the time to keep him from trying to take off like a jet. Either that, or crank up all the windows in which case we'd smother.

But say by some unlucky miracle I do get the car packed and we get off. How many miles do you figure we'll make in a day? Leave early and drive until well after dark. There is the matter of feeding and exercising the animals, plus the innumerable calls for a halt always made by girls. Who will round up the animals when they are released? Catching one cat, one dog, one bulldog, one cat, one dog, but corralling four sounds impossible.

Smuggling the cats and the dog into a hotel or motel is going to be a trick, too. Motels don't mind one pet as a rule, but they are likely to frown when what resembles a circus act drives up.

Just how to smuggle in a bulldog that is half the size of a baby hippo is sure to present a problem. Dilly won't fit under a sport shirt, or in a shopping bag. And I don't have the savoir faire necessary to register while carrying a barking steamer trunk. If you have any helpful suggestions, please send them along.

The United States sank more than two billion dollars in India, China, and the American taxpayer supplied more than 65 percent of the cost of that defeat. We spent more billions buying ourselves another defeat in Korea. And still more billions in NATO (the North American Treaty Organization). NATO couldn't even slow up a Russian invasion of Western Europe. I doubt if it would even reduce the French premier wants to reduce its military budget to produce more civilian goods. Belgium is reducing her period of required military service from 21 to 18 months. Holland from 20 to 18 months. Norway considers 16 months sufficient as does Denmark. But THE UNITED STATES CITIZEN CONTINUES TO SERVE FOR TWENTY-FOUR MONTHS. Yet the administration is requesting three and a half billion dollars for foreign aid, including 800 million for the Indo-China war, which is now over. We are not buying security. And we are not buying safety for ourselves or anyone else. We are squandering the money we should be spending on ourselves. And we are more isolated than if we were "isolationist."

BROKEN PROMISES: The epithet of the United States of America is likely to be written in the broken promises of its Federal administrations. Consider this pledge from the Republican Party Platform adopted at the Chicago convention in 1952:

"We shall see to it that no treaty or agreement with other countries deprives our citizens of the rights guaranteed them by the Federal Constitution."

Now consider the NATO Status of Forces Treaty which our Senate ratified on July 15, 1953, under pressure from President Eisenhower and his advisers. This treaty provides that American troops serving abroad are to be tried in foreign civil courts, under foreign laws, without the protection of our Constitution and our American laws. Did Mr. Eisenhower, whether he is a Republican, a Democrat, or just an internationalist, fail to read the platform on which he campaigned—or are his promises worthless?

By what and whose authority does our federal government conscript our young men for military duty anywhere in the world, whether we are at war or not, and then revoke their citizenship by depriving them of the rights and protection guaranteed them by our Constitution? This despicable crime against our servicemen is being committed through the force of treaties and executive agreements.

RIGHTS DENIED: In his article, "Treaties to Destroy America," published in the July issue of Task Force (210 E. 42nd St., Room 320, New York 17, N.Y.), Bryson Reinhardt discusses the NATO treaty under which our sons, deprived of constitutional protection, may lose their liberty or even their lives at the sadistic whim of some foreign court.

"This," says Reinhardt, "is the story of how American GI's are today being subjected to laws and customs built around a culture strange and foreign to the American way of life. . . . In spite of the fact that about 750,000 American GI's were sent overseas with an Army manual which assured them that they were subject to American law, and had the protection of the Constitution of the United States."

They have that protection no more. Under the NATO Status of Forces Treaty, any American boy—yours, for instance—could lose his right hand for the theft of a chicken. Under Islamic law he could be punished for theft by cutting off the offender's right hand, and today many American servicemen are stationed in countries where Islamic law applies.

"Others are stationed where other legal systems, strange and foreign to our way of thinking, control their daily lives. . . . Under treaty law you don't need a crime to make an arrest. All you need is an accusation — by anyone."

NO PROTECTION: Reinhardt continues, "A communist conspirator (in NATO countries) can arrest by just accusing him. This American can be 'questioned' by any method they care to use. He can be held in prison for an indefinite period awaiting trial, (and) he can be tried in secret (with) no protection against cruel and inhuman punishment. . . . Over 400 of them were brought into foreign courts to face varying degrees of foreign 'justice' during 1953 alone." Pvt. Richard Krefe, for instance, Keefe and another GI stationed in France got too much to drink and swiped a French taxi cab for a joy ride, drawing a French sentence of five years in solitary confinement for an offense which ikey would have got them no more than six months or a year in this country. Under French law it could have been a life sentence.

Suppose these two young GI's had committed their offense in a Moslem country and the judge had decreed that their right hands be cut off? Or suppose they had been stationed in some country where their "crime" was punishable by death?

EPITAPH: It would do no good to ask these questions of the 72 s-nators who sacrificed our servicemen on the altar of internationalism; they like treaties. Nor would it do any good to ask our internationalist President; he likes treaties, too—remember his fight against the Bricker amendment.

Under our present one-party internationalism, we are at the mercy of what Bryson Reinhardt calls a "new invention" — treaty law. "This new invention can destroy the protection of the Constitution for you — just as easily as it did for our servicemen). Treaty law can destroy the protection of the Constitution for every living American. Which means — in one sentence: treaty law can destroy America."

Reinhardt's Task Force article, touched only briefly here, presents a true and graphic picture of what treaties do to us. The Defendants of the American Constitution (publishers of Task Force) are fighting for the preservation of our Constitution and for repeal of the NATO Status of Forces Treaty.

National Whirligig Dems Figure To Capitalize On Ike's Veteran Policy

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—Democratic Congressional candidates figure that they have a valuable asset for the November campaign because of the neglect which the Eisenhower Administration and the Republican-controlled 83rd Congress showed toward millions of war veterans. Not in years have they fared so badly on Capitol Hill.

Every measure on their behalf was opposed by the Budget Bureau and the Veterans' Administration, which, of course, voted the White House viewpoint. In accord with these Presidential directives, House Majority Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana and the Rules Committee tried to battle up and block all pro-veterans legislation.

They would have succeeded, had it not been for the courage and determination of Representative Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts, Chairman of the House Committee on Veterans' Affairs. Defying the leadership, she obtained enactment under privileged procedure rarely used, of a bill increasing pensions by 5 per cent.

When she finally got her proposal to the floor, it passed by a vote of 399 to 0, showing how the Congress felt. It was promptly accepted by the Senate, and this was the only major measure on behalf of the veterans to be adopted.

Although an orthodox Republican, Mrs. Rogers has difficulty in concealing her irritation toward the Administration's attitude on veterans. In fact, she may have contributed to the adoption of an extremely critical resolution by the Veterans of Foreign Wars at their recent national convention.

The American Legion, which holds its national convention here next week, is expected to denounce the Eisenhower Administration's indifference to the veterans.

When the VFW invited Mrs. Rogers to address their gathering, she replied that she could not accept because she had to remain at Washington to fight for their interests. Partially as a result of her suggestive declination, the VFW endorsed a bitter, anti-Administration "proclamation of policy."

The Veterans of Foreign Wars at their 86th National Annual Encampment "noted with grave concern the growing and cynical disregard by the Administration and the Congress of the United States for the traditional consideration for the welfare of those who have borne the battle, and for their widows and orphans, while dealing generously with foreign na-

Fair Enough Col. House Of Texas Hatched Scheme To Corrupt Republic

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—The plot thickens. During all these years since 1911 or 1912, by the secret evil design of one man, the government of this great republic has been corrupted and transformed into fascism, which that man invented long before Benito Mussolini was heard of outside his native village. At that time Adolf Hitler was just another country boy in Austria. Both Mussolini and Hitler became the "instruments" of a brutal scheme hatched by Col. Edward Mandell House, of Texas. In the United States, Woodrow Wilson, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman furthered the plot. The ringleader, however, was Joseph P. Kamp, perhaps more because of honest ignorance than for sinister reasons, continues the work. However, regarding Eisenhower, it is well to wonder whether he is naive, clever or the unwitting agent of unscrupulous political managers in his attempt to amalgamate both the Republican and Democratic parties and create a one-party government. Certainly, he has been most cordial to Roosevelt-Truman Democrats and absolutely cynical opportunist who have no political principles and are utterly unprincipled. And he has been equally cool to true Republicans whose devotion to the Constitution is absolute and who fiercely reject the United Nations as their sovereign.

Effectively suppressed since it was first published in 1932, the stupidly amateurish novel, "Philip Dru: Administrator," has become a literary rarity. Dr. J. B. Matthews, author of "The Whistleblower," notes in collaboration with his wife, Ruth, have established a treasure of information, had to pay $40 for a copy of "Philip Dru" a few days ago. I thought I had located a copy but it disappeared. Now I have a promise of a copy from a man who has studied the conspiracy for more than 25 years. He paid $37.50 for it 15 years ago. He found it in the stock of a Chicago dealer in rare books who said he had a standing order of $55 for the copies he could lay his hands on. My friend topped that by $2.50 and got the book.

Another informant has told me that he, too, was told that "they" were buying up all the stray copies they could find. He suspected that "their" purpose was to suppress "Philip Dru" and prevent an expose such as I am now trying to present. I agree with that suspicion for several reasons. One reason is that, as literature, the story isn't worth the white paper. It is unbelievably awful "writing." House was so crude and so little concerned with his reputation in his obsession with his plot that in two instances he applied the wrong last name to one of the two sawdust females who infest his scenario.

House was a king-maker. He had elected a couple of governors in Texas by manipulating machine politics and issues in the same cold-blooded way that a few gifted mountebanks of the New Deal manipulated the stockmarket. Having tested and proved his system to his satisfaction in Texas, House decided to elect a president. This is not speculation or divination. It is his own statement in his "First Papers of Colonel House," edited by Charles Seymour, a professor of history at Yale and later president of the university.

At first, House thought Mayor William J. Gaynor of New York would be his man. He discarded Gaynor, however, and hit upon Woodrow Wilson, instead. Wilson was then governor of New Jersey. House came to New York, put up at the Gotham Hotel and sent for Wilson, who obediently came right up to see him. House writes that he offered Wilson the presidency provided Wilson would obey his orders. He emphasized this servility as "party regularity." Wilson promised to be "regular" and House accepted him. I am not going to argue whether House individually caused Wilson's election. He outlined his ambition to make a president after some halting experience making Texas governor. Wilson was elected after House decided that Wilson was his man, and thereafter almost to his last hour, he was Wilson's "alter ego." That was Wilson's own term for House.

House also boasts that he picked most of Wilson's cabinet. He said he selected Louis D. Brandeis and James C. McReynolds for attorney general. McReynolds got the job, but two years later Brandeis handed on the Supreme Court. At this point let us remind ourselves that in his recent memoir, "The End of Innocence," Jonathan Daniels said that in 1916, three years before Wilson's inauguration, Brandeis wrote: "If only there were a Democratic Party, what havoc could be wrought!"

Why did Brandeis want to wreck havoc? Did Wilson and House know that this was his mission in this republic? Of course, they did because, until he was close to his end, Brandeis was a politician of radical stripe, even on the Supreme Court. He was also a congenial intimate of Benito Laski, the English Communist who was similarly intimate and congenial with Felix Frankfurter, who also, like Brandeis, had a web of machine of appointments, including Alger Hiss and Lee Pressman, among other Communists. Jonathan Daniels writes further that in 1932, persons not named persuaded Wilson that he could not "name so radical a man as Brandeis as Secretary of Commerce." Nevertheless he made the Supreme Court two years later when he was no less radical.

Daniels already has told us in his intimate biography of Harry Truman that Max Lowenthal, the arch-enemy of the FBI, picked Truman for vice president long before anyone else did, and led him out to Brandeis's house for indoctrination. In this great pretense, Truman sat as pupil at the feet of a super-inductor. Brandeis presided over the ceremony by Joseph P. Kamp, confidential secretary to President Truman. However, Harold Ickes tells us in his diaries that Brandeis burned alarmingly conservative and that he, Ickes, began to snub the justice after Brandeis joined in the "horse and buggy decision which outlawed" the masterpiece of Roosevelt fascism, the NRA.

Ickes openly embraces House's "policy" to destroy the Supreme Court in his function as defender of the Constitution against laws which violate the Constitution. House's "Philip Dru" did this by passing a law depriving the court of this power. Ickes went in the same goal by a slightly different scheme. He held it outrageous that the court could frustrate the "will" of Roosevelt's early cardboard Congress and wanted a law permitting Congress to pass unconstitutional laws over the court's veto. By the way, even McReynolds, who later reached the court, became, like the radical Brandeis, in his last phase, a "reactionary" and was high on the list of the contemptible "nine old men."

"I will continue this."

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

Eternal vigilance must be the watchword when it comes to considering the venereal diseases — syphilis and gonorrhea. In one sense there is reason to be pleased with the progress of the battle against these diseases and in another we can be better satisfied.

On the favorable side the following figures can be mentioned: There has been a steady decline in the deaths from syphilis from 11.1 per cent per 100,000 population in 1939 to 3.7 per cent in 1953; there has been a decline in infant deaths from syphilis from 0.57 per 1000 live births in 1939 to 0.02 per 1000 live births in 1952.

FIRST ADMISSIONS to mental hospitals due to syphilis have dropped from 6.6 per 100,000 population in 1939 to 2.1 in 1951. The number of reported cases of congenital syphilis has gone down from 17,600 in 1941 to 9,021 in 1953.

Finally the rates for reported primary and secondary syphilis have dropped from 75.68 per 100,000 population in 1947 to 6.27 per 100,000 population in 1953.

So much for the favorable aspects of the campaign against syphilis. But this as a disease of youth with the risk greatest in the age group of 15 to 24, and in one study of early syphilis in this age group in a large city the rate was found actually higher in 1950 than in 1940.

FURTHERMORE, in the list of reportable communicable diseases (catching diseases) gonorrhea ranks second and syphilis third — not a very satisfactory record.

It is estimated that at this time in the United States there are two million persons who need treatment for syphilis and approximately 91,000 civilians who acquired that disease last year.

It is a costly disease because of the risks from the disabling effects of late syphilis.

The annual cost of maintaining the syphilitic blind is estimated at $12,500,000. In 1950 it was estimated that the loss of income from persons dying of syphilis was $138,000,000.

By ERNEST JOHNSON

NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Excitively Yours: Ed Gardner, who brought Archie and Duffy's Tavern to radio, then to motion and television, has slipped makeup on his face for the last time. Leaving for a two-month European vacation with his wife after completing the 26th Duffy's Tavern half-hour telefilm, Ed said me:

"I'm quitting as an actor and comedian. I've had it. Fifteen years is long enough to be a clown. I'm going back to my original racket — writing, producing and directing."

Before playing Archie, Ed was a top producer and writer of popular radio shows like MGM's Good News and the Rudy Vallee Hour. There are no plans, he says, for additional Duffy's Tavern telefilms with another actor playing Archie, a character he owns, "unless I could get Art Carney. But we haven't even talked about it."

There will be new fuel on the Don Crawford - Stealing Hayden Road City when she hears his opinion of "Johnny Guitar," the movie in which they co-starred.

"I usually don't like any of my pictures," he told me on the set of Ivan Tors' "Operation Air Rescue," a helicopter thriller. "But 'Johnny Guitar' I hated. It was awful. But look at the box office figures. It's making money."

Hayden's only comment on the divorce suit he filed against his wife:

"That's the way it stands. We're working out the technicalities."

You'll match 'em off at the Hitchcock courtroom as Jimmy, immobile with a broken leg, solves a murder from his apartment window.

Fals say that Dale Robertson's case of nerves — he walked out on a role in "White Feather" — stems from whopping losses he's taken on business ventures.

Gene Tierney, who would talk about Aly Khan at the drop of a turban a few months back, has now clammed up on the subject of Rita Hayworth's ex-hubby.

The second marriage of Jane Fonda — she's Jackie Cooper's ex — is on the shaky side. Jane Barker's fevered brow is being soothed by Yvonne Dowdy, a beauty.

THE 11 KIDS from Spain, Los Chavales de Espana are packing the Coconut Grove these nights with stirring Spanish songs and music worthy of the concert stage. Imported to the U. S. two years ago, the sensational musical group is 100 per cent Spanish except for sexy Trini Reyes, who lives up to her billing as "one of the world's greatest Flamenco dancers."

Trini's a native New Yorker who looks and sounds like Shirley Winters and who says, "I'm the only foreigner in the group."

Is there a big difference between entertaining in U. S. night clubs and Spanish bistros? Pepe Lara, a featured warbler, laughed:

"Spanish music in Spain? They hate it. Glenn Miller and Tommy Dorsey type music is what they want — and that's what we give them."

Terry Moore's incorporated herself as Terry Moore Enterprises. Maybe THAT dress is headed for shop windows.

Nothing political about Loretta Young's dress designer, Helga. She whips up duds for Mamie Eisenhower AND Boss Truman.

Cafes have non-alcoholic cocktails called "Shirley Temples" for the kids — and the A. A.'s have "Bumbogeas" at a valley cafe. None on the menu ready?

"Don't drink either but still want to be sociable? Try our non-alcoholic cocktail Bumbogin. It looks like a drink, smells like a drink, tastes like a drink. But there's not one drop of spirits in it."

October Draft Call Is 1,122

AUGUST, Aug. 26-UP—An October draft call for 1,122 Tennessees was announced Wednesday by Brig. Gen. Paul L. Whitfield, state director of selective service.

The October quota is a slight increase from the September figure of 1,088 men and represents Tennessee's share of a national call for 21,000 draftees.

"More men are being inducted because the armed services need to replace more men getting out during the present fiscal year," Whitfield explained.

"Free distribution of seeds and the collection of statistical information accounted for much of the money spent by the Department of Agriculture in its early years."

Lefors School Remodeling Will Not Delay Registering

Lefors public school students will register and begin attending classes the first week of September, even though the remodeling of the elementary and high school buildings will not be completed.

Lefors Schools Supt. Archie Roberts late this morning said elementary school students would register Sept. 7 and junior high and high school pupils, Sept. 23. The general faculty meeting is slated for 8 a.m. Sept. 3. All students will begin classes the morning of Sept. 7.

The laying of walks in the schools vicinity has been begun, Roberts reported. The decorations in the auditorium and the high school floors have been completed, along with the re-lighting of the elementary school, except for the hanging of fixtures.

The new furniture has been moved in, the superintendent continued, and about one-half of the elementary school inside paint job has been done.

The new cabinets and steel storm sashes arrived Wednesday and will be installed during the week, Roberts said.

J. W. Marsh, Amarillo contractor, has the $24,707.95 contract. Between 50 and 75 per cent of the highest mountain in the northeastern United States is New Hampshire's Mt. Washington.

'PAMPA'S MOST COMPLETE DRUG SERVICE'

Jane Talk

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

NICK AND I had a wonderful vacation up in Michigan, but it is good to be back again with you all. While traveling around, I did pick up some good kitchen hints, though.

A friend of mine in Michigan has an answer to the high price of coffee for heavy drinkers of that beverage. It's not a substitute — it's a conservation — makes your coffee go farther.

HER SOLUTION is to break up egg shells and put them in with the coffee grounds. When you do this, you only use 1/4 as much coffee as you normally would. When the coffee foams a little in the spout, change to low heat and let it percolate for about 10 minutes. It takes longer, but it's worth it, considering the coffee it saves.

WHILE VISITING with Iris Ragsdale the other day, she pointed out a special feature of her kitchen, which, I believe, is quite unique. At least, I haven't seen it before. Around her sink and working area, the wall, instead of being solid, is made of glass bricks. It's about two bricks high, and makes it all so light. No shadows from overhead cabinets.

THIS FRIEND of mine in Michigan has a kitchen gimmick for keeping the burners of her gas stove clean and new-looking. Don't know how it would work on an electric stove, but it sure is nice for gas stoves.

Remove the top part of the burner — where the pan sits — and place aluminum foil around the stationary part of the burner — where all the food and drippings fall. You can trace the shape or just make the indentation on the foil by running your finger around it. Then you cut the foil to fit and place it on the burner. The foil should be changed about every six weeks. The bottom of the oven can be lined with foil, too, to save a large (at least I think so) cleaning problem.

MAYBE I'M behind the times, but I just learned about frozen french fried potatoes while on my vacation. All that has to be done, is to stick them in the oven and heat them. These aren't even defrosting required. It sure is handy for a quick meal or snack.

"You can add vitamin C to gelatin salads by making them with citrus juices. Try grapefruit juice with nuts and pineapple, or orange juice with chopped celery and green pepper.

"When you cook beets, leave on the skin and an inch or more of the stem so they will keep their bright color."

RUTH MILLET

boss, speaking to a group of women attending a convention of the National Secretaries Association, advised them that they should occasionally ask the boss — "Is there anything more I can do?"

It would have been better advice if he had told them to ask themselves that question — instead of putting it to the boss — and if the word "could" had been substituted for "should."

When we ask another person if there is anything we can do or if there is anything MORE we can do, the answer is rarely in constructive suggestion.

Yet by offering to do something or to do something more we feel might be pleased with ourselves. After all, we've offered; we've showed our willingness to be more helpful. What more can we be expected to do?

But if instead of asking someone else, "What can I do?" or "What more can I do?" we ask the question of ourselves, we can usually come up with more than one constructive answer.

For we can see what needs to be done. We know what we haven't done that we could do and we better than anyone else, know what our capabilities are.

So whether you want to be more useful to a boss, more helpful to a friend, or a better wife — the question should be "Is there anything more I COULD be doing?"

But you don't put the question to your boss, or to your friend, or to your husband. You put it to yourself, if you really want an answer instead of the reassurance that nothing more is needed from you.

Use a pastry brush to remove food particles from strainers.

You prevent waste of flour if you use a large salt shaker for dusting it into meats, fish or poultry.

DELICIOUS SWEET ROLLS — Mrs. Archie Maness, 431 N. Sumner, puts icing on the cinnamon rolls she has just made. Using a basic roll recipe, she varies it to make several kinds of breakfast rolls. (News photo)

This Is My Dish Varying Basic Recipe Gives Breakfast Rolls

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Woman's Editor

"I guess you'd say one of my hobbies is cooking," stated Mrs. Archie Maness, 431 N. Sumner, one of Pampa's young cooks. Her other hobby is textile painting, which she says she just "picked up."

Mrs. Maness learned to cook partly from her mother, Mrs. Joe Key, 1810 Hamilton, and had three years training in home economics in high school.

"And after you're married, you have to learn to cook," she laughed.

Mrs. Maness moved to Pampa in 1945 from Vernon and attended Pampa High School here. She was married in 1948 and now has two children, a boy "almost three" years old and a girl, 7 months. Her husband is a tool dresser and farmer.

In addition to taking care of her children and cooking for her family, Mrs. Maness, with help from her husband, raises beans, peas, tomatoes and peppers in her garden. She is also an active member of the Merten-Home Demonstration Club.

One of her favorite recipes is for cinnamon rolls or breakfast rolls. She starts with a basic roll recipe and alters it slightly for the cinnamon rolls, butterscotch rolls, and apricot rolls.

BASIC ROLL RECIPE

Cake of yeast
1-3 C. sugar
2 C. milk, scalded and cooled
6 C. flour
2 eggs
4 tbs. fat
2 tsp. salt

Dissolve yeast and sugar in lukewarm milk. Add 1 1/2 cups flour and beat until smooth. Add the beaten eggs, fat, salt and remainder of flour — or enough flour to make moderately firm dough. Knead lightly using a little flour on the board as possible. Place in well-greased bowl. Cover and let rise in a warm place until double in bulk — about 2 hours. Shape into small rolls. Place in well-greased pans, set in warm place and let rise 1/2 hour. Bake in a hot oven at 450 degrees for about 10 minutes. Makes 24 rolls.

For better success with the rolls, Mrs. Maness recommends not letting the dough rise in a draft. She also uses dry yeast. If you do this, you should add the dry yeast and the sugar to 1/4 cup water and let set until "real bubbly." Mrs. Maness says she has no luck with the dry yeast if she doesn't add the sugar to the water with the yeast.

For the breakfast rolls, Mrs. Maness doubles the amount of sugar called for in the basic recipe and adds 1 tbs. more fat.

Freezer-Held Food Is At Record High

It looks as though homemakers have nothing to worry about so far as the effects of the drought on major food supplies. This can be seen from the regular monthly report on cold storage stocks made up by the Agricultural Marketing Service.

By July 31, freezer-held food stocks had jumped to 2.7 billion pounds — an all time record high. About 98 million pounds of this food moved into freezer space during July. Frozen fruits, vegetables and creamery butter accounted for most of this increase.

During July, 116 million pounds of frozen fruits moved into storage, bringing the grand total to 238 million pounds by the end of the month. AMS said these stocks were the largest on record for July 31 since 1947 and the third largest in history for this time of year. Biggest increases came from cherries, strawberries and raspberries.

For the cinnamon, butterscotch and apricot variations, she says the dough may be divided into thirds. For just the cinnamon rolls, double the portions mentioned below.

CINNAMON ROLLS

Roll out dough until it is about 1/4 inch thick. Spread with melted butter. Add cinnamon until the dough is black — about 3 tbs. Sprinkle 1/4 cup sugar and 1-3 cup raisins over the dough. Chopped nuts may also be used, if desired. Roll up like jelly roll and slice, 1/2 to 3/4 inch thick. Place in greased pan or on cookie sheet and let rise until double in size — about 45 minutes. Bake at 425-450 degrees for 15 minutes.

After baking, when the rolls are still warm, ice with mixture of powdered sugar, butter, and crushed pineapple. She mixes the icing by hand or with electric beater.

BUTTERSOTCH ROLLS

Roll out dough until it is about 1/4 inch thick. Spread with melted butter. Add 1/2 cup brown sugar, chopped pecans and a little cinnamon. Roll up like jelly roll and proceed as with cinnamon rolls.

A variation of this is to mix brown sugar, cinnamon, pecans and melted butter in bottom of a pan. Set rolls on this mixture. When baked, turn rolls over and serve.

APRICOT ROLLS

When rolls are nearly done rising, "mash down" tops, making indentation or "hole." Add dried apricots, prunes or peaches, already cooked, and let rolls rise 10 minutes more. Bake as indicated for other variations.

For all the rolls, Mrs. Maness advised leaving "a lot of room between them." This means the rolls will spread outward more, rather than upward.

WALNUT-WINE SQUARES

Walnuts and wine make a new dessert from a long-time favorite — fig bars. Crumble fig bars to make one quart. Add 1-2 cup chopped walnuts and one-fourth cup muscatel wine. Fold in 1 cup heavy cream, whipped. Pour into a square pan; chill for several hours. Serve in squares.

The sauce is poured over the layers and the dish baked at 400 degrees F. for 15 minutes.

Make Quick Dishes From Smoked Ham

A handy cut of meat in your market for these summer days is a smoked picnic. For when cooked, then closely wrapped and stored in your refrigerator you have the "makings" for many a quick and easy dish.

To add a hearty touch to your breakfast, cut the meat into cubes and scramble with eggs. Serve with toast, toasted English muffins or blueberry muffins and it's a meal to awaken lazy appetites. At lunch time the smoked picnic turns any salad into a main dish. Cube the chilled meat and toss with a fruit combination and lettuce or with a crisp vegetable salad. Add potato chips if you like, and a hot bread and your menu is complete. Slices may be reheated over baked beans or scalloped potatoes, over lima bean casserole, not to mention their appeal on a cold meat tray arrangement.

To cook smoked picnic choose one of these methods, says home economist Reba Staggs. Simmer in water to cover or roast. If cooking by the moist heat method, place smoked picnic in a deep heavy utensil, then completely cover the pan and slowly simmer for 35 to 45 minutes per pound. In roasting, place fat side up on a rack in open roasting pan. Leave uncovered and cook in a slow oven 300 degrees F. for 30 to 35 minutes per pound. Or the meat may be cooked in liquid until almost done, then removed to a roasting pan, covered with a glaze and roasted 30 minutes in a 350 degree F. oven.

Serve Juicy Pear For Easy Dessert

Another old French custom is fast catching on here — serving a big juicy pear for dessert. No wonder homemakers have taken to this idea, for there's no preparation. Nature has done all the work.

And what's more, there are so few calories in a pear that on one need worry about counting them.

Bring the fresh pears to the table after they have been washed and thoroughly chilled. Since pears need not be peeled, they can be eaten without silverware.

With pears so plentiful this season, the Agricultural Marketing Service comes up with some more tips on how to make good use of this popular fruit.

For that special occasion, cut up fresh pears into bite sizes. Sprinkle with brown sugar or confectioner's sugar. Then prepare a syrup of one part lime juice to one part honey. Spoon this over the pears and let them chill in the refrigerator overnight. Just before serving, top the dish with whipped cream.

For cooked dishes, pears may need a little extra sweetening. Substitute corn sirup, honey or molasses for sugar, measure for measure. Or add sweetness with a stuffed center of dates, raisins or pineapple when baking pears.

Try glazing pears. Give them a bright surface by quartering the fruit, baking with a little water until partially cooked and then spreading with bright-colored jelly. Continue baking until the fruit is tender.

Here's What New Tax Bill Will Mean To The Individual

(First of two installments.)
By Washington NEA Bureau
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The tax revision bill just signed into law by President Eisenhower is the biggest piece of legislation enacted by this Congress. It is so big that it took more than two weeks from the time the House and Senate passed the bill to get it printed and into shape to send to the President.

In size, it looks like a Manhattan-telephone directory. Inside its covers are all the Federal internal revenue laws, including the income tax provisions. The sections have been re-arranged, much obsolete material has been deleted, and much of the language has been changed in an effort to bring more simplicity into the Federal revenue laws.

In addition, the bill makes hundreds of changes in the old tax law. The changes affecting individual taxpayers are designed to remove injustices, or inequities in special situations. For example, some working mothers will get a deduction for the expenses of caring for their children. Retired persons and taxpayers with heavy medical expenses get a tax break.

However, there is no change in the income tax rates. For this reason, your take home pay for the rest of this year will not be affected by the bill just signed by the President, even though it will generally apply to all of 1954.

But when you fill out your tax return for 1954, the changes will have some meaning. For one thing, you will have until April 15 to file your return instead of March 15, as it has been in the past. And millions of taxpayers will be entitled to additional exemptions, deductions, and credits on the new tax form.

The new law still gives you a choice of itemizing your deductions or taking the standard deduction of about 10 per cent of your income. Many of you who found in the past that the standard deduction gave you a lower tax will find that the new bill increases your deductions so that it is cheaper to itemize your deductions for 1954.

Since the law still requires taxpayers who itemize deductions to keep reasonable records or nota-

NEW TAX BILL IN A CAPSULE:
1 — It DOES NOT change the income tax rates; your take home pay for the rest of the year will not be affected.
2 — It DOES allow additional deductions for (among others) working mothers, medical expenses, installment interest.
3 — It DOES give a new tax break on dividend income, retirement income, sickness pay, and rules of dependency.

of the amounts claimed, it is important that you begin now to gather and keep information on your deductions if you are one of those who will save money by itemizing.

Don't wait until next year when you fill out your 1954 tax return. It's too easy to forget or overlook a legal deduction which could reduce your tax bill.

The new law, generally speaking, keeps all the deductions in the old law and allows additional deductions (1) to many people who have to pay for care of their children while they work, (2) for medical expenses, (3) for interest on installment purchases, and (4) for contributions.

NEA Service's annual Income Tax Primer, your easy-to-understand guide for filling out tax returns will be published in The Pampa Daily News early next year in time to help you with detailed explanations of your deductions under the new tax law. In the meantime, the following brief explanations will help you decide whether it might pay you to itemize your deductions for 1954:

If you are a woman or a widower (including a man who is divorced or legally separated under a decree and has not remarried) there is allowed a deduction not to exceed $600 for your expenses during 1954 for the care of one or more dependents if such care is for the purpose of enabling you to be gainfully employed.

For this purpose, the term "dependent" is limited to (1) your child or stepchild under 12 years of age, or (2) a person who is physically or mentally incapable of caring for himself regardless of age. You cannot include in the deduction amounts paid to an individual who is also your dependent.

If you are a married woman, the deduction is not allowed unless you file a joint return with your husband and, furthermore, the deduction is reduced by amount (if any) by which your joint adjusted gross income exceeds $4500. However, if your husband is incapable of self-support, these last two limitations do not apply.

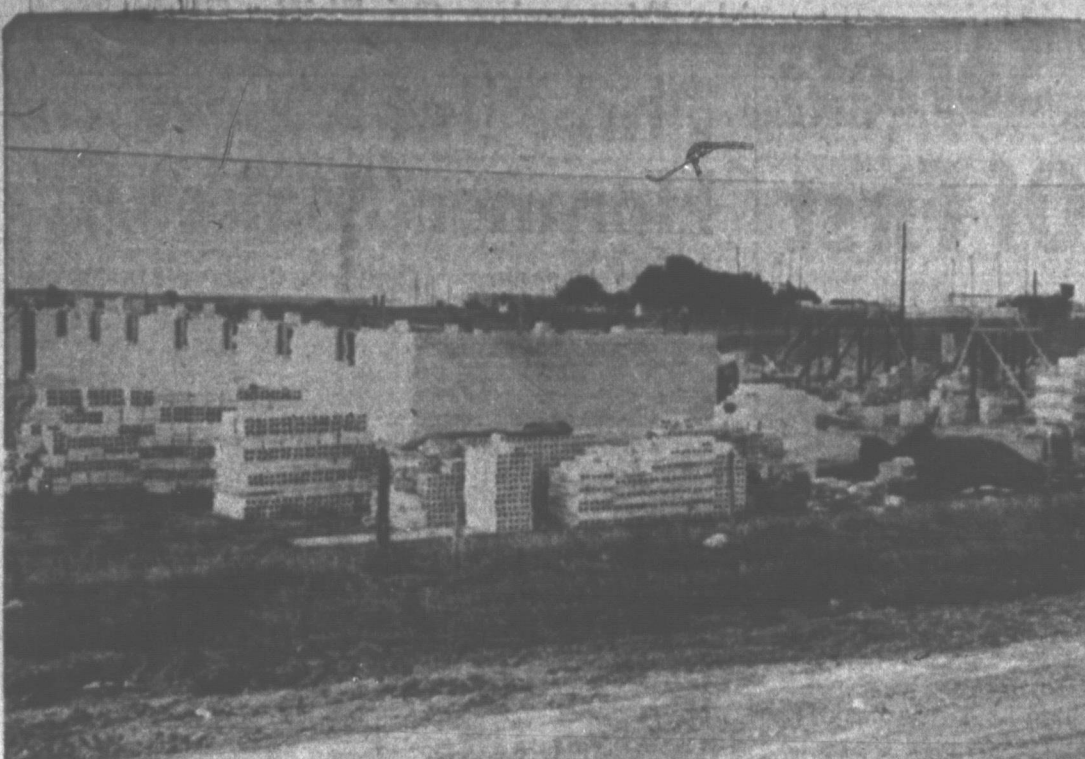

It is estimated that about 8,500,000 taxpayers will benefit from increased deductions for medical expenses allowed under the new law.

The old law permitted you to deduct only those medical expenses which exceeded five per cent of your income. The new law permits you to deduct those 1954 medical expenses which exceed three per cent of your income. However, in figuring the expenses, the amount paid for medicine and drugs may be taken into account only to the extent it exceeds one per cent of your income.

There is another very helpful change for those taxpayers with large medical expenses in one year. Under the old law, the maximum medical deduction was $1250 each for yourself and dependents with a maximum of $5000 for a family. The new law doubles the maximum deductions to $2500 per person and $10,000 for a family.

About 1,500,000 taxpayers will benefit from a new provision in the law which allows a deduction for all interest on installment purchases even though interest is not stated separately in the purchase agreement. Under the old law, you got no interest deduction in such a case. Under the new law, you may deduct six per cent of the average unpaid balance of your bill during the year.

628-Mile Oil Pipeline Planned

TULSA, Aug. 26 —UP— Service Pipe Line Co. announced Wednesday it would begin construction Sept. 20 of a 628-mile common carrier pipeline for crude oil between Fort Laramie, Wyo., and Freeman, Mo.

The eastern portion of the pipeline will be laid by O. R. Burden Construction Corp. of Tulsa, with H. B. Sachry Co. of San Antonio laying the western portion.

It will connect with Service Pipe Line's Wyoming system at Fort Laramie to transport crude from that state. It will serve the Denver-Jewsbury basin, as well as move oil from Service's present system in western Kansas.

The line will range in size from 20 to 24 inches and have an initial capacity of 160,000 barrels a day. With additional pumping equipment, the pipeline will deliver more than 200,000 barrels daily to Freeman.

A tip to Peepersites: there is a very strong possibility that the plot line for Mr. Peepers (Wally Cox) and his bride, Nancy (Patricia Bennett) for next season will include the arrival of a small Peepers late in the spring.

In case anybody's worried that this new bundle will change the show into a run-of-the-Hollywood-mill family show, lay aside your fears. The present proprietors of the show are very aware of this dangerous possibility, and will fight it with every dollar the sponsor cares to contribute.

The NBC-TV "One Man's Family" series is bowing deeply from its collective waist these days. Since Eva Marie Saint made the big time in "On the Waterfront," there's another name in lights among the program's graduates. Miss Saint joint a string of beauties who went from the Barbour family to bigger and better things — Mary Sinclair, Ann Francis, Rita Gam, Pat Crowley, Grace Kelly and others too unimportant to mention.

Just goes to show you — one man's family is another man's talent incubator.

Not being a gossip-type columnist, I shut my ears tight when Ernie Kovacs began talking about

Edith Adams. Miss Adams is a very beautiful, very charming blonde who sings on Ernie's Dumont TV program, and the two are an item. (That's gossip-columnist talk, meaning they go out together.)

"She's a wonderful girl," Ernie began, his big brown cigar steaming away merrily. I tried to steer the conversation away, onto the bright new panel show, "One Minute Please," which he's doing.

"That's a great show," Ernie said. "We have to speak for a minute on a subject that we get on the air. That's what makes it so much fun — we don't know what the subject is ahead of time. Honest. It'd spoil it if we knew; it would be disastrous. But back to Edie."

A quick change of subject. Marmosets. Marmosets are small monkeys and are a far cry from matrimony.

"I have two marmosets," Ernie said. "Right now one is at the vet's and I'm worried about him. He's very dependent on me. I carry him on my shoulder under my jacket. Get my jackets extra large for just that purpose. I don't carry Edie under my jacket, though. She's—"

Mr. Kovacs. Back to your professional duties, if you please.

"I have hopes that my night-time show will go on the full Dumont network sometime in August," he said. His late night show is one of the best around, but it's currently only seen in New York, alas. "That's what I understand, anyway. It should be a lot of fun to do. Speaking of fun, Edie—"

Don't you have any hobbies we could talk about? Hobbies are safe.

"Poker. I like poker. My secretary keeps three address books — one for business, one for social, one for poker players. Say, do you play poker? She gets on the phone to round up a game and she's all business. It's really very funny. But enough of this nonsense. Let's talk about Edie."

OK. They're going to get married someday. Satisfied?

Giovanni Martinelli, host on Dumont's "Opera Cameos," tells his vacation plans in this bit of conversational antipasto: "I go to Italy this summer to discover singers. Italy is the only country where La Boheme is mixed with the pabulum."

In this age of electronic miracles, it helps if a guy can read lips. At least, that ability came in handy for Harry Sosnik, conducting on ABC-TV's "Melody Tour." His earphones went dead while Nancy Kenyon was singing. He couldn't hear a litting word, yet he had to lead the orchestra and accompany her precisely.

Fortunately, he's pretty good at reading lips, so he managed to lead her through one entire number until his earphones were fixed. And they finished in a dead heat.

Woodward Residents See 'Saucer'

WOODWARD, Okla., Aug. 26 —UP— A mysterious object, white, and "round like a saucer," flew over northwestern Oklahoma Wednesday and drew an audience of 1,500 neck-stretching persons in downtown Woodward.

The "thing" hung in the air south of Woodward from about 11:30 a.m. until noon, and then moved west against the wind — said Bob Rives, news editor of the Woodward Daily Press.

Rives said the wife of a radio operator at the Civil Aeronautics Administration station at Gage, Okla., 25 miles west of here, watched the object through binoculars and reported it appeared to be in two sections, joined together.

Weather stations at Gage and Oklahoma City said it wasn't any of their balloons.

"The CAA at Gage says they think it's a balloon, but they're baffled because it's traveling against the wind," Rives said.

He estimated the size as "maybe 80 feet in diameter."

"From the ground it appeared about as large as the unsharpened end of a pencil," he said, "but that doesn't mean much because we don't know how high it was."

"No one knows what it was," said Rives, "but it had everybody in downtown Woodward looking at it."

Of course, you don't know the name of the gentleman who holds the title to this beautiful automobile.

We can't tell you ourselves who he is. We don't know his name, or his occupation, or the mission that brought him to this particular spot.

And yet, we feel—as you undoubtedly do—that we know a great deal about him!

We would surmise, for instance, that he is a well-known and widely respected member of his community—and a prominent figure in his daily profession.

We would guess, with reasonable certainty, that he is a person of sound judgment and excellent taste.

We would be willing to venture that he places great value on the comfort and safety and well-being of his family and his friends.

And we would feel safe in saying that he is the sort of person you would like to know.

For anyone who has enjoyed the privilege of daily contact with Cadillac owners—as we have—understands that the vast majority of the men and women who drive this distinguished car share a great common bond in all these respects.

Owners, the world over, will testify that the wonderful things a Cadillac says about you constitute one of the finest rewards of Cadillac ownership. But it is important to remember that Cadillac's elegance is essentially a by-product of Cadillac's quality.

And this quality has never before been so manifest as in the Cadillac creation currently in our showroom. It is beautiful . . . and distinguished . . . and luxurious . . . and fine in performance—to a degree unprecedented, even for the "Standard of the World".

THE WEST TEXAS - NEW MEXICO LEAGUE was strengthened yesterday when the league fathers voted El Paso into the circuit but any further strengthening was blocked by Tony Dowlin, co-owner of the Amarillo Gold Sox franchise.

Several members of the league, including newcomer El Paso, presented their plans for a season ticket drive at yesterday's meeting in Plainview for next season which the said members were going to sell the season tickets for a distinct bargain.

El Paso was all set to start a season ticket drive immediately at a low price of $12.50 per season ticket. Clovis and Abilene officials voiced their plans that they intended to ask $25 for their season tickets.

Clovis, in fact, had already had their tickets printed up at this price for next season in hopes that the league heads would approve of the price at yesterday's meeting.

Wednesday's Stars
Stan Musial, Cards, for his three hits in his team's 13 to 0 win over the Pirates.

A new oil well is brought into production every 21 minutes in the United States.

The American Beauty rose is the flower of District of Columbia.

Well, Dowlin, although he heard continued pleas by Clovis, Abilene and El Paso to the league heads to get permission to go ahead with their planned ticket drives, stated emphatically that he was going to vote against it.

Although it was moved and seconded to let the said clubs go ahead with their ticket drives, the motion was never voted on because Dowlin, during the discussion of the matter, said he definitely would vote against it and one negative vote would kill the motion.

By killing the motion, it may mean the difference of these clubs being around next season (if there is a next season.) El Paso of course, being new to the league, will probably be around regardless but both Clovis and Abilene officials stated that their status for next season was in doubt.

And these proposed season ticket drives was believed to be the solution of saving the clubs.

Dowlin never really gave a good reason why he opposed the ticket prices. Some believed that he was trying to force Clovis out of the league. Could be.

The Gold Sox owner brought up a matter that was frowned upon by every club present, that of each club putting up a $20,000 bond before the season starts as an assurance the clubs would operate the full season.

If the club operated the full year, then the $20,000 would be returned. If the club folded during the season, then its $20,000 bond would be equally divided among the other seven members.

Well, all of the clubs agreed that maybe a bond would be a good idea but not the nonstrous figure of 20 grand.

As one official stated, "If I had $20,000 I would get out of baseball."

Dowlin made a motion on the above but it was tabled for lack of a second.

Contrary to what some of our "friends" have been saying, there was nothing said definitely in yesterday's meeting to oust Clovis and Pampa from the league. The only thing we noted on this matter in the meeting was Amarillo's refusal to let Clovis go ahead with its ticket drive at $25 per season ticket.

But, despite the fact that there wasn't anything said about the ouster of Pampa or Clovis, Murray Warner, on his sports review over KPDA-TV last night, kept up the Pampa-Clovis ouster rumor. And he wasn't even at the meeting yesterday.

In reply to Hank Brown's comment over his sports program over KGNC-TV the other night, I believe if he'll check back that I went on record as voicing my thanks to Amarillo for the part she took in keeping Pampa High School in District 1-AAAA.

But, why should she slap us on the back one minute and then turn right around and cut our throats?

Stranahan In 11th Try For Amateur Title

By LLOYD NORTHRARD
GROSSE POINTE, Mich., Aug. 26 —UP— Muscular Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, took off in the fifth round of the U. S. Amateur golf tournament Thursday thinking this might be his year to win the one major amateur title that has escaped him.

The 32-year-old Stranahan is trying for the 11th time to win this big one. He came close in 1952 when he carried Sam Ursetta 39 holes in the championship round before bowing. But that was the only time he reached the finals.

One of 16 survivors of two torrid rounds Wednesday in which favorites Harvey Ward Jr. and Billy Joe Patton both were ousted, Stranahan faced recent all-American Amateur winner Arnold Palmer of Wickliffe, Ohio, in an 18-hole test Thursday morning.

Besides the Stranahan - Palmer match, other man-to-man encounters in the top bracket set Jimmy McGonigill of Shreveport against crooner Don Cherry of Wichita Falls, Tex., Edward Meister Jr. of Willoughby, Ohio, against Glenn Johnson of Grosse Ile, Mich., and Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., against Edward Martin of Winchester, Mass.

In the lower bracket, Davis Love of El Dorado, Ark., met Wilson Barnes of Chappaqua, N. Y.; John Culp Jr. of Kendallville, Ind., faced Dr. Ted Lenczyk of Newton, Conn.; Dale Morey of Indianapolis, Ind., opposed Ray Taylor of Greensboro, N. C., and Edward Merrins of Meridian, Miss., tested Robert Sweeney of Port Washington, N. Y.

At stake were berths in Thursday afternoon's 18-hole quarter-finals. The semi-finals Friday and Saturday's finals are scheduled for 26 holes.

Aside from Stranahan, the most prominent names among the "sweet sixteen" in action Thursday belonged to Mory, the 1953 runner-up; Campbell, who finished second in both the British and Canadian Amateur this year; Cherry, the reigning night club singer who won the 1953 Canadian Amateur; and Sweeney, a former British Amateur champion.

Cherry rolled past Claude Wright of Englewood, Colo., 1-up, and tripped Earl Larson of Minneapolis, Minn., 4 and 3.

Oilers Sweep Hub Series; Only 1/2 Game Out Of First

Locals Leave On Six-Day Road Jaunt

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

The Oilers left town today two games closer to first place than they were when they opened their brief two-game homestand Tuesday as they racked up their second straight win over the Lubbock Hubbers last night, 4-3, at Otter Park.

The win, coupled with Clovis' second straight loss to the Albuquerque Dukes, pulled the Oilers to within one-half game of the top rung in the first place battle.

Pampa has played one more game than the Pioneers as both teams have won the same number — 69 — while the Oilers have dropped 51 to Clovis' 50.

The Oilers will open a two-game series tonight at Lubbock as they start their final tour of the southern end of the WT-NM circuit. Following the Hub series, the Oilers will go to Abilene for a pair and to Plainview for a pair before returning home to open their final homestand of the year Sept. 1.

Oiler manager Hershel Martin said before the team departed for Lubbock that John Coddington will hurt against the Hubbers tonight if Jack Isenhardt pitches for Lubbock. "If someone else pitches then we'll go with either Jose Valdez or Sam Williams," Martin said.

Gaines Tough In Clutches
Gaines, pitching brilliantly in the clutches, rang up his 14th victory of the season last night by hurling the Oilers to their close victory over the Hubbers.

The crafty southpaw was in trouble in almost every inning but he bore down in the clutches to work himself out of the predicaments.

After getting off to a bad start which saw Lubbock score twice in first inning on three hits, Gaines didn't allow an earned run rest of the way. Gaines left 12 Lubbock base runners stranded. He helped his own cause with some fine defensive play, handling eight chances without a bobble, two putouts and six assists.

And if he hadn't done enough already, Gaines batted in the winning run in the seventh. With the score tied at 3-3 in the stretch frame, Gaines hit a slow roller down third base way that went for a base hit, scoring Slick Johnson from third with the winning run.

Tanner, Hardaway Homer
Rudy Tanner and Curtis Hardaway slammed home runs for the Oilers, both coming with the bases empty. It was Tanner's first round tripper since joining the Oilers while Hardaway's blast was his 33rd of the season.

Doug Lewis chipped in with three hits in four trips to lead the seventh-inning Oilers attack off Milt Ardrey.

The Oilers outthrew the Oilers, 10-7, but the aforementioned clutch pitching of Gaines proved to be the difference.

Bench Warmers Star For Tribe

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer
The Cleveland "bench" is fixing things so that the Yankees' pennant chances are hardly worth a wooden nickel any more.

"I can't praise the fellows on our bench enough," Manager Al Lopez of the Indians declared Thursday. "They've done a wonderful job all season and without 'em, we might have been sunk."

There's no question that the Indians would have been sunk Wednesday night had their bench reserves failed them against the Athletics.

But Bill Glynn, who went in to play first base in the eighth inning, drew a walk off southpaw Al Sima to open the 10th and then, after two were out, reserve catcher Hal Naragon, who also had entered the game in the eighth and had appeared in only 38 contests previously this season, tripled to drive in Glynn and give the Tribe an uphill 4 to 3 victory over Philadelphia.

Cleveland Keeps Lead
The victory, Bob Lemon's 19th of the year, kept Cleveland 4 1/2 games ahead of the Yankees, who defeated the Orioles 5 to 1.

Three Yankee homers, plus a three-hit pitching effort by Ed Lopat, combined to hand the Orioles their 14th setback in a row. Yogi Berra hit his 17th homer and Hank Bauer and Irv Noren each hit his 10th to account for all but one of the Yankees' runs. Bobby Young's fourth-inning homer was the only run allowed by Lopat, who achieved his 11th conquest.

Southpaw Billy Pierce, out most of the season with an ailing arm, gained his seventh victory while hurling the White Sox to a 7 to 2 triumph over the Senators. The White Sox gave Pierce a seven-run working margin in the first two innings.

The Red Sox, scoring all their runs in the fifth inning, overcame a three-run deficit to beat the Tigers 5 to 3 and climb within one percentage point of fourth place. Doubles by Billy Consolo, Ted Williams and Jackie Jensen were the big blows in the five-run fifth. Willard Nixon gained his 10th victory while Steve Gromek was charged with his 14th setback.

A volley of five homers by the Dodgers buried the Redlegs under a 13 to 2 count and enabled them to meet within 3 1/2 games of the National League lead. Rain postponed the game between the pace-setting Giants and Cubs.

Gil Hodges and Rube Walker each hit two homers for Brooklyn while Carl Furillo hit one. In addition to raising his home run total to 34, only three less than Willie Mays of the Giants, leader in that department, Hodges also drove in three runs to increase his total to 100 RBIs.

Stan Musial, with three hits in five trips, took over the league batting lead with a .347 average as the Cardinals took over fourth place by one percentage point with a lopsided 13 to 0 victory over the Pirates. Rookie Gordon Jones hurled a five-hitter for his second victory while his teammates collected 16 hits, including Joe Cunningham's ninth homer.

No Dissension On Philly Club Phil Pilot Moore, Hamner 'Make Up'

By FRED PARKER
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 26 —UP— Terry Moore, rookie manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, and his all-star second baseman, Graney Hamner, shook hands and made up Thursday in the aftermath of a rift which threatened to split the ball club.

The Phillies were unusually quiet at the club-house before Wednesday night's scheduled game with Milwaukee, sitting straight in their chairs, and talking little to each other.

But both Moore and Hamner said everything was settled and there was no further dissension in the ball club.

Hamner started in his usual spot at second base for the Phillies in their game against the Milwaukee Braves.

"I said a couple of things I shouldn't have said," Hamner said, "and I didn't think they would come out. But they did and I'm willing to realize my mistake. I don't deny saying them, but I shouldn't have."

Moore earlier in the day had threatened to fine Hamner for saying the Phillies management was treating the players like "a bunch of high-school kids." The Phillies manager, however, changed his mind after a talk with Hamner.

"We have reached a good understanding and there will be no disciplinary action," Moore said.

Hamner criticized Moore for saying he did not intend to reveal the news he had agreed to be manager for the Phillies in 1955 because he wanted to sit quietly and see which players were hustling.

"Yes, I told him I only expected to be temporary manager, but I haven't actually signed for next year," Moore said. "Although I have talked to Mr. (Robert) Carpenter and Mr. (Roy) Hamey."

Moore told the United Press earlier this week that he was spying on his team members while letting them operate under the impression that he was merely a stop-gap manager and would not be back next year. He wanted to learn which players would play for him. He even hinted that there would be some changes made as a result of the trick.

Moore had said he was "shocked by some of the things the players had done in his presence. Some of them come right out in the open and drink hard liquor," he said.

Kearsage, site of two new Hampshire state parks, was seen by the first explorers of the Merrimack Valley wilderness and recorded under the name of "Carasaga" in 1638 on Garner's Survey Map authorized by the Massachusetts General Court.

U.S. Olympic Dominance Is In Danger, Templeton Says

By HAL WOOD
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26 —UP— Unless there is a great rekindling of spirit in the American track and field ranks, United States will lose its world dominance in the Olympic games—possibly in 1956, but no later than 1960.

So says famed Dink Templeton, head coach of the San Francisco Olympic Club, former Stanford coach and now a radio sports commentator.

"Constantin Adrianov of Russia comes pretty close to hitting the nail right on the head when he said that the U.S. world superiority in track and field is a thing of the past," said Templeton.

"If we continue on our present lethargic way, we will be a cinch to lose in the 1960 Olympics. I said that after watching the Russians perform in the 1952 Olympics at Helsinki.

Newest Rules Released For Waterfowl Hunting

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 —UP— Acting Secretary of Interior Fred G. Arandahl Wednesday issued hunting regulations governing the shooting of migratory waterfowl during the 1954-55 season.

The regulations contain the bag and possession limits of ducks, geese, mallards, woodcock, and snipe in the Atlantic, Mississippi, Central, and Pacific states flyways, as well as dates of the seasons and shooting hours which were selected by various state game administrators.

The general framework hunting season extends from Oct. 1, 1954, to Jan. 10, 1955. An option, however, is permitted in all flyways extending the season as late as Jan. 20. States choosing closing dates later than Jan. 10 were required to apply a penalty of two days for every one day the season was extended.

Georgia Takes Option
Georgia was the only state to accept the option. It set a closing date of Jan. 15.

Atlantic and Central flyway states were given the choice of a continuous season of 60 days or two periods of 27 days. Mississippi flyway states were offered a straight 55-day season or two split seasons of 28 days each. States in the Pacific flyway could choose an 80-day consecutive season or two split seasons of 28 days each.

In the Atlantic flyway, Delaware and Maine selected split seasons or 27 days each.

Louisiana Differs
In the Mississippi flyway, all states except Louisiana took the straight 55-day season.

Shooting hours for waterfowl and coot in Alabama, Arkansas, Illinois, Iowa, Mississippi, Missouri, and Tennessee will be one-half hour before sunrise to one hour before sunset, except that on the first day of the season, or the first day of each split season, shooting will not begin until noon.

Shooting until sunset will prevail in Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio, and Wisconsin.

In the Central flyway, all states selected the 60-day straight season. Shooting hours will be the same as last year — one-half hour before sunrise to sunset, except on the opening day of the season when shooting begins at noon.

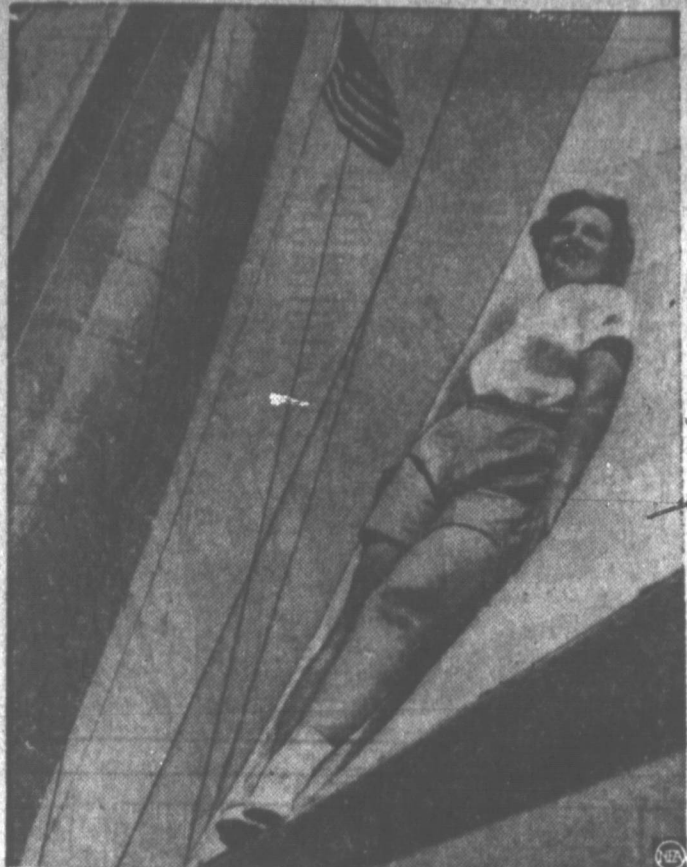

In the Pacific flyway, California will have a split season Oct. 3 to Nov. 13 and Dec. 6 to Jan. 10, except a small portion adjacent to the Colorado River where the season will conform to the dates selected by Arizona, Oct. 23 to Jan. 10. The area in Nevada generally consisting of Lake Mendocino will have the same waterfowl season as Arizona.

Moses Ward Wins 'Disputed' TKO

By JACK CUDDY
NEW YORK, Aug. 26 —UP— A match with top-ranking Joey Giardello awaited middleweight Moses Ward Thursday, although his victory over Tuzo (Kid) Portugez Wednesday night was de-glamorized by muddled mercy.

Had there been any fans in Madison Square Garden, they would have roared the roof off when Referee Ray Miller gave young Ward of Detroit a gooly TKO victory over Portugez of Costa Rica at 1:23 of the fifth round; but the "jerk" was nearly empty.

The kayo was so technical that no one in the Garden except Miller and Dr. Vincent Nardiello knew why the nationally televised bout had been stopped so abruptly. Portugez, the most surprised man in the punch emporium, still was on his feet and apparently well able to continue. He stomped furiously about the ring.

Unranked Ward, fighting as a substitute for third-ranking Holy Mims of Washington, weighed 161 pounds to unranked Portugez' 157½. Ward is 22 years old.

A 2 to 1 underdog, Portugez lost the first round by a slight margin, suffered a severe battering in the second, but made the third close and fought on even terms in the fourth. A right uppercut to the chin set Tuzo back on his heels in the fifth and a straight right to the chin sent him lurching backwards half-way across the ring into the ropes. It was then that Miller, former lightweight contender, stopped the bout. Tuzo suffered his sixth kayo in 75 professional fights.

Miller explained that Dr. Nardiello of the boxing commission's staff had told him at the end of the second round, to stop the bout whenever Portugez suffered any solid head blows.

Nardiello confirmed Miller's statement. The doctor said: "I examined Portugez in his corner at the end of the second. His eyes were so glazed from the beating he took in that round, I feared that further head punishment might cause permanent injury. And I told Miller to stop it just as soon as Portugez suffered any solid head blows."

Texas Team To See Action Tonight In Semi-Pro Tourney

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 26 —UP— Six more teams will see action Thursday night on a three-game National Baseball Congress Tournament program with the featured contest pitting the Christiansted (Virgin Islands) Commandos meeting the Cherokee, Okla., Chiefs.

Other semi-pro games send the Vanceburg, Ky., Merchants against the Richmond, Va., Glendales in an elimination contest and the Sinton, Tex., Plymouth Oilers against the Smithfield, Ky., Leafs.

Two of three games played Wednesday night were close with the Dubuque, Iowa, Star Brewers, Casa Grande, Ariz., Cotton Kings and Columbus, Ohio, Beulah Park Jockey Club winning first round tests.

Dubuque dumped the Louisville, Ala., Tigers 3 to 1 behind the ninth hit hurling of Tom Breitbach; Casa Grande, Ariz., defeated the Orleans, Mass., Sparklers 3 to 2 with six-hit pitching from 20-year-old Don Lee; and Columbus, Ohio, beat the New Orleans Holsum Sunbeams 10 to 2.

Playing-Manager Bud McBryde of Casa Grande hit the tourney's sixth home run to break a 3-all deadlock in the featured game Wednesday night, but the Cotton Kings needed a seventh-inning run garnered on a single and a double to keep their lead intact.

George Sisler, Pittsburgh Pirates director of scouts, termed the marathon double-elimination meet a wide-open race Wednesday in which any one of 10 or 12 "town teams" could be crowned champions.

Sisler, who doubles as NBC commissioner, pointed out there was a marked difference between the "town teams" dominating the field this year and those town clubs that had their day before World War II. Army teams dominated the tourney through the war and early post-war years.

"The town teams are better balanced this year than back in the pre-war days," Sisler said. "The good ones are not quite as good but then there are not so many weak ones either."

Man Admits Globe Slaying

SILVER CITY, N. M., Aug. 26 —UP— Clarence Curtis (Jack) Armstrong, 49, Tuesday night signed a statement saying he beat a 20-year-old Globe, Ariz., woman to death Saturday night, then buried her body in a shallow grave on the Walking X Ranch south of here.
District Attorney Thomas Foy said he would file murder charges against Armstrong, a former Globe resident himself, during the day.
In his statement, Armstrong said he and Mrs. Ruby Carbenas, who had been staying with him in a trailer home here, had quarreled following a drinking party at a Lordsburg tavern, police said.
He said when they returned to the trailer, she attacked him with her fists and fingernails and later with a knife. He said he "beat and kicked" her in self defense, put her to bed when she fainted, then went to sleep himself.
He said when he awoke about daybreak, he discovered she was dead. He said he loaded her body into the pickup, drove to the desolate, arroyo-laced ranch and buried her in a two-foot deep grave.
The body was found Sunday by a rancher who saw the pickup tracks and followed them to the grave thinking some rustlers might be at work on his ranch.

House Renting In Hollywood Takes Savvy

By ELENA VERDUGO
Written for United Press
HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 26 —UP— Eight years ago, when my husband, Charles Marion, and I were married, we began looking to buy our little gray—or even pink stucco—home in the West.
We were caught up in the mad, crazy whirl of house-hunting. We're still renting.
Visitors to California, or even seasoned residents, should take heed. Certain pitfalls must be avoided.

Before you start wandering through a dreary succession of neo-Spanish bungalows, you should be aware of magic terms used to advertise Hollywood houses.

I compiled a glossary of such phrases, complete with translation:
Secluded—Inaccessible, no roads.
Regency modern—Remodeled 50-year-old house with black shutters.
Breezeway—A long hall.
Ideal for artist—777 steps to front door.
Close in—Next door to an all-night supermarket.
Not near town, but charming and suburban—in Portland, Oregon.
Small beach house—Shack on condemned beach.
Rancho—Room for one head of cocker spaniel.
Lovely breeze at night—Owner forced to sell due to heat prostration.
Former home of movie star—Warner Oland lived here.
Movie star's representative's home—Mae Busch's maid lived here.
Sacrifice (as in "hilltop mansion, must sacrifice, owner going abroad")—We can't stand it up here a minute longer.

Shamrock School Budget Approved

SHAMROCK — (Special) — The budget for the 1954-55 school year of the Shamrock public schools has been set at $251,000. The tentative budget was given approval after careful study by the board of trustees.
Of the approved $251,000, the district will furnish approximately $91,800, or 36 1/2 per cent from local taxes with the balance being furnished by the state through various forms of financial aid. The increase over the past year is due to the salary increase of $402 per teacher granted by the recent special session of the Texas Legislature. The new budget compares with a budget of $235,000 for the term just ended.

Moody Daughter To Head Vast Financial Empire

GALVESTON, Aug. 26 —UP— Mrs. Mary Moody Northern has been elected head of all major parts of the $400 million financial empire built by her father, the late W. L. Moody Jr.
Moody, 89, died last July 21 after an attack of pneumonia. His will left $250,000 to Mrs. Northern, $200,000 to another daughter, Mrs. Clark W. Thompson, and cut his son, W. L. III, off with $1.
The bulk of the huge estate was left to the Moody Foundation, and a trust indenture filed Tuesday described it as "for religious purposes in (Texas)...to establish, support and maintain hospitals, homes and institutions...and to promote health, science and education."
It was announced Tuesday night Mrs. Northern had been elected president of the American National Insurance Co., Moody National Bank, News Publishing Co., American Printing Co., and W. L. Moody and Co., investment bankers, all of Galveston, and Commonwealth Life and Accident Insurance Co., St. Louis, Mo.
