Oil Fire Controlled

LOS ANGELES, July 20-UP-A spectacular but short-lived fire ripped through the Richfield Oil Company's Wilmington Cracking plant Monday, threatening the multi-million dollar installation before firemen controlled it in an hour-long battle.

The county fire dispatcher's of-fice reported the blaze was 'under control' at 11 a. m. Slightly more than an hour after it flared up 20 miles south of downtown Los Angeles.

Pumpers from the county and Richfield units fought the fire which sent flames 100 feet into the air and spewed black smoke over a large area. No storage tanks were threatened.

Firemen said the initial outbreak was "terrific" and in danger of spreading. No casualties were reported and company spokesmen said a damage estimate was not immediately available.

One More

The economic theories of Napoleon, Mussolini, Stalin, Hitler and many other individuals and groups in history were basically the same . . . centralized government with high taxes to pay the bills of the super-ruler or the super-state. Each says, "Take the money and the power from the citizens and let the super-man distribute the wealth, the power and leadership as he sees fit."

Of course the program is not presented so blatantly or so honestly. It is always dressed up with promises such as a "chicken in every pot"; security against unemployment, guarantees against depression, old age benefits, socialized medicine, and other gimmicks to appeal to the unwary. The public does not accept this dramatic presentation of the wolf in sheep's clothing unless the scenery is also in keeping with the appeal.

A world war or depression is a perfect setting to hide the details of the wolf. During a national or international emergency the terms "cooperation" and "working together" are used to camouflage the centralization of power and to create an appearance of unselfishness. In the emergency, man forgets his rights as an individual and surrenders them more quickly in the false hope of helping others. Any emergency situation is necessarily frought with emotions and decisions are made under pressure. The individual citizen overlooks the fact that he may forfeit his freedom to a government promisina protection and security.

Most dictators promise their citizens new wealth, ease, comfort and happiness after a period of "tightening belts" and added taxes. Actually the aim of the dictator is to prevent the individual from thinking, inventing, earning, saving, spending, producing and worshipping as a free agent in society.

When new government programs are started the collectivists always promise that the drastic measures are temporary. However, once the illusion of cradle to grave protection is created, the state cannot demobilize its activities and controls. The people are told that tax reduction will cause inflation because they will have too much money to spend and that state planning must be continued and even expanded to avoid upsetting the Americans can and do think for themselves. We must ever be alert, not to relinquish our individual freedom and not to allow the social planners and collectivist to do our thinking for us. If we do, they will wind around us one tiny strand of control after another until we shall find ourselves helpless in the spider's web. We are prone to think that one more little control won't matter, but enough threads will bind the strongest man. People do it one step at a time by the blandishments of politicians who say "one more won't hurt."

PARITY FORMULA MAKES FARMERS FEEL POOR (Chicago Daily Tribune)

The agriculture department's monthly report on farm prices shows that in June the farmers got, on the average, 2.48 times as much per bushel and per pound as in the years 1910 to 1914. To take three examples, wheat yielded the farmer $1.91 per bushel in June up from 84 cents in 1910-1914. Corn brought $1.81 a bushel compared with 64 cents in the earlier period. Cotton was 34.97 cents a pound; it was 12.4 cents in the years just before World War I.

On the face of it, farmers would seem to be doing well. However. prices are not quite as high as they have been. In June wheat fell 9 cents a bushel and corn 2 cents a bushel. Cotton went up a small fraction of a cent per pound during the 30 day period. Average prices were off 4 per cent from the month before. The complaint that farm prices are in-ordinately low is usually stated in other terms. It is said that the price of farm products has not gone up as much as the price of the things farmers buy. For 20 years the agriculture department has issued a monthly index showing the relationship between farmer selling prices and farmer buying prices. When the two sets of prices were in the same relationship as in the years 1909-1914, prices were said to be at 100 or parity. In June the parity index stood at 88, meaning that farm products brought only 88 per cent as much as in the base years 1909-1914, the lowest reading of the parity index since 1940. This would suggest that farmers are not as well off as they were 40 years ago, and flies in the face of every known fact, No farmer today would be content with the returns of 1909-14.

The true measure of farm prosperity or adversity is what can be won with an hour of labor. In the years 1910-14 the nation's wheat roduction averaged 72 million ushess, achieved thru the expenditure of an average of 767 million man hours per year. Thus a a bushel of grain per hours of work. As wheat was then worth $4 cents a bushel, a farmer earned out 80 cents each hour that he

In 1952, 1.298 957,000 bushels of at were grown with 286 million nan hours of work. That is, a ner produced about 41/4 bushels each hour of work yielded the wheat farmer $9.40. Thus in 1952 the wheat farmer realized 11 times as much per hour of work as he did in the years 1910-1914. As the cost of the things which the wheat farmer bought in 1952, including interest taxes and wages was 2.87 times as much as in the base period, wheat growers were not worse off than in 1910-1914, but nearly four times as well off. On the same basis of calculation, a corn farmer received an average of 47% cents per hour for nis efforts in the 1910-1914 period and $4.53 per hour in 1952. That was 91/2 times as much. Taking the higher costs of the things into consideration he now gets 31/2 times as much in purchasing power for an hour of work as he did in the base period.

The cotton grower produced 1.8 pounds for each hour of labor in the base period. With cotton bringing in 12.4 cents a pound then, his income e qualed 221/2 cents per hour. In 1952, production had increased to 4 pounds for each hour of labor and each pound brought the producer an average 34.6 cents, or a total of $1.38 per hour of work. This means that cotton in 1952 yielded the producer six times as much per hour of labor as it did in the base period. Allowing for the rise in the cost of received double the purchasing power per hour of labor in 1952 as he received in the years con-

Farmers in 1952, the last year for which complete figures are available, were vastly more prosperous than they were 40 years ago. They earn as much as 10 times as much money per hour of work, The greater earnings have, of course, come from the right that one cannot help other use of more and better equip people understand moral law if he ment purchased with money earned on the farm, but this plowing back of earnings has not been at the expense of farmers' living standards which have advanced in pro-

Do Tax-Supported School Teachers Have Beams In Their Eyes?

It is hard to believe that persons who will not answer certain doing do not have beams in their eyes. It will be remembered that the Great Educator had considerable to say about those who had beams in their eyes trying to pull the motes out of the eyes of other people. In the sixth chapter of Luke the Great Educator put it this way:

"Can the blind lead the blind? Shall they not both fall into the ditch?

"The disciple is not above his master: but every one that is perfect shall be as his master.

"And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but perceivest not the beam that thine own eye?

"Either how canst thou say to thy brother, Brother, let me pull out the mote that is in thine eye, when thou thyself beholdest not the beam that is in thine own eye? Thou hypocrite, cast out first, the beam out of thine own eye, and then shalt thou see clearly to pull out the mote that is in thy brother's eye.

"For a good tree briggeth not forth corrupt fruit; neither doth a corrupt tree bring forth good "For every tree is known by his own fruit. For of thorns men do not gather figs, nor of a bramble bush gather they grapes.

"A good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth that which is good; and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart bringeth forth that which is evil: for of the abundance of the heart his mouth speaketh.

The Great Beam

T) e great beam that is in the eyes of all state appointed teachers, and many others, is that they do not realize that it is a violation of the Golden Rule for them to do as agents of the majority or the State things that would be violation of the Golden Rule of done by them as individuals. In other words, they have a beam in their eye that prevents them from seeing that we cannot have two standards of right and wrongone for the state and one for the individual.

And how do I know that all taxsupported school teachers have these beams in their eyes? The reason I draw the conclusion that they have is that they will not answer certain questions about the Golden Rule, They will not answer this question: Would it be a violation of the

And another question that would embarrass them is: "If it is a violation of the Golden Rule for a minority to coerce the majority either to pay a fee or leave town, why isn't it a violation of the Golden Rule for a majority to coerce a minority to either pay a fee or leave town? I have never found a public school teacher, or even anyone who believes in tax - supported schools, who was willing to answer these questions, and thus I

Those that want to pull the beams out of their own eyes are always willing to answer all moral ques sidered par in the department's tions without evasion, But those who have beams in their eyes on moral questions are obliged to refuse to answer or evade as being less embarrassing than attempting to answer and having

DECATUR, Tex., July 20-UP-Funeral services may be held Tues-day for George (Machine Gun) Kelly, notorious kidnaper of the 1930s who died in federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan.

Kelly's body was returned to De-eatur Monday, and funeral direc-tor C. L. Christian said he was wailing for word from relatives before making any arrangements.

Kelly will be buried at Cottondale, a small community 15 miles southwest of Decatur near Paradise, Tex. It was to a farm near Paradise that Kelly took his last kidnap victim, Oklahoma City oilman Charles F. Urschel. A $200,000 ransom, a record for the time, was paid and Urschel was released. But the oilman helped federal agents pinpoint the farm's location because he recalled the time an sirplane flight crossed it, and remembered one day the plane didn't fly.

INSIDE BASEBALL for Little Leaguers

There are some easy plays in basehall which players make difficult. One is tagging the runner, On most tag plays only one base-runner is involved. Unless the base-runner is trapped between the bases, and a rundown develops, let the runner come to you. Don't go out to meet him.

There have been a number of instances when high tags have permitted runners to slide under them, such as the time Gil Hodges slid between a third-baseman's legs when the baseman made a high tag while straddling the base line.

Henry Fonda Becomes TV Announcer

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLEWOOD, July 20 -- UPHenry Fonda, one of America's top actors of stage and screen, is emoting before the cameras Tuesday in his debut as the star of a television series - but he's doing only the commercials.

The distinguished thespian studies his script diligently. He paces around the stage, rehearing his lines. Then he takes his place on a set as lavish as those for Hollywood movies.

In his impeccable tweeds, the famous star of Broadway's 'Mister Roberts' picks up a glass of beer and delivers his dialogue: 'Try this extra-dry beer, the largest selling lager beer in the

Fonda became the first actor of staturs to deliver the commercials for somebody else's program when he accepted the job of doing the blurbs for a filmed dramatic se-ries, "The Star and the Story."

His appearance stirred up a controversy among fans and critics, but the actor drawled he doesn't see anything wrong with switching from Broadway to beer

"I am an actor and this is part of acting," Fonds said. "I feel if they keep the commercials digni-fied, it's all right.

"Yes, I am being very commercial, and for commercial reasons. I am getting more money for this than I would for a movie." The task is not to be tossed of lightly, he went on.

"It's three times as much work as a movie. It's taking eight weeks to do 78 commercials. And I'm in every shot all week long. I've said more words in these commercials than I said in all of 'Mister Rob

"I just finished learning four pages of dialogue and there, no-body else to talk to, to cue me." Fonda admitted his friends were "surprised" to find out he has turned commercial announcer.

He'll receive no Oscar nomina-tions for this role. But, he pointed out, many fans congratulate him on "how interesting and painless the commercials are."

He may appear in one of the dramatic portions of "The Star and the Story". But, if so, somebody else will deliver the commercial. He frowns upon such stars as Loretta Young "stepping out of character" to deliver the spiel.

After finishing his beer guzzling, Fonda heads to Honolulu and Midway for the filming of his first movie in seven years, the film veraion of "Mister Roberts." He last appeared in "Fort Apache" in 1947.

"It isn't that I was trying to stay "It isn't that I was trying to sia away from movies," he said." just was lucky to find three wor derful play scripts that have kept me away from films."
