UF Drive Officials To Meet

The preliminaries for the 1954 Pampa community United Fund drive will be kicked off tonight at a meeting of the various fund drive chairmen. Session is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. today in the United Fund office in City Hall. John Campbell, overall drive co-chairman, announced late this morning. On hand are expected to be Campbell; Ed Myall, co-chairman of the drive; Charles Cook, advance drive chairman; Warren Hasse, general drive chairman; and Irvin Cole, rural drive chairman. No one has yet been selected to handle the industrial drive and, Campbell said, it is hoped a man can be picked tonight. The drive will be held Oct. 5 with the advance drive scheduled for Sept. 28. Letters have already been mailed out to prospective participants in the advance drive. Campbell continued, adding that the sooner contributors sent their donations the easier it would be on fund officials. United Fund associates this year, the drive chairman went on, are urging all contributors to use bank drafts as it is less work for all those concerned. The goal this year is the same as in 1953 — $45,150. There are eight participating agencies in the United Fund: Red Cross, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Milk Fund, Cancer Society, Heart Fund, Salvation Army and United Service Organization.

AMARILLO, Sept. 9 — UP — Sheriff Paul Galther was short one deputy Thursday, after firing Alex Perez because the former wrestler was "too handy with his fists." The sheriff said Perez picked up four Mexicans on charges of drunkenness and was questioning them about a knife found in their car, when he was called an obscene name.

Lack Of Enlistees Forces 'Airlift Recruit' Cancellation

Pampa's "Airlift Recruit," scheduled for today, was grounded, according to T-Sgt. Bill Neal, Air Force recruiter. "Air operations at the Amarillo Air Force Base decided to raise the minimum number of men required for the operation from eight to a full plane complement of 18, before we could fly new recruits from Perry LeFors Field to the training area near San Antonio," Neal said. "Even with a required 10 men we would have fallen short, since we had only seven men enlisted from the Pampa-Borger area," said Neal. Neal said he had six days to prepare for the airlift, and with one of these days a holiday, little time was left to recruit extensively. "Within the next month though, I am expecting to get an 'Airlift Recruit' contingent on its way to San Antonio," Neal said.

Telephone Firm Sets Open House

New equipment of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. here will be shown at an open house Sept. 22 to 24, according to George Newberry, manager. "Everyone is invited to see our new dial equipment, and toll boards," Newberry said. Open house hours are from 1 to 3 in the afternoon, and from 8 to 9 in the evenings. Refreshments will be served. During the week of Sept. 13 groups and organizations will tour the telephone company plant. The Ministerial Alliance is scheduled to visit the new installations Wednesday at 11 a.m. Gray County Bar Association and the Classroom Teachers Association are expected on the tour some evening next week, but no exact time has been set.

Griffin Leads Race For Talmadge Post

ATLANTA, Sept. 9 — UP — Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin Thursday piled up an apparently unbeatable lead over eight opponents seeking to succeed Gov. Herman Talmadge. A Griffin victory was a triumph for Talmadge's plan to abolish public schools, if necessary, to preserve racial segregation in Georgia schools. Griffin was the only candidate fully to endorse the idea, and Talmadge forces took his showing as an indication that the plan will be ratified by the state's voters. Former acting Gov. M. E. Thompson, running second in Wednesday's Democratic primary, refused to concede defeat. He retired about midnight still believing late returns from the cities would shove him into a runoff against Griffin. United Press returns from 1,416 of the state's 1,895 precincts gave Griffin a possible 298 county unit

Hurricane Veers North

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 9 — Hurricane Edna lumbered out of Bahama waters and aimed its 115-mile-per-hour winds at the Carolina Capes Thursday. Radar planes watched hopefully for a shift toward the open Atlantic. The mighty tempest, fifth tropical whirler of the season, left scant reported damage from its brush with the Bahama Islands and apparently spared the Florida and Georgia coasts in veering into its present northerly course.

PANMUNJOM, Sept. 9 — UP — Russian-built trucks brought 300 bodies across the Korean cease fire line Wednesday, increasing to 1,000 the number of slain Americans returned in the first week of an exchange of war dead.

Dulles, Chiang Discuss Growing Red Threat

Sought Only Evidence

McCarthy Denies Soliciting Secrets

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 — UP — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy Thursday denied that he issued a whole-sale invitation to government workers to give him official U.S. secrets — basis for one of the major charges filed against him. The Wisconsin Republican insisted that he only asked federal employees to give him evidence of "graft, corruption, communism or treason." He took his position as he went before the Senate committee to begin the second day of testimony against charges that his conduct as a senator should be condemned. McCarthy's attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, said the testimony would deal first with the charge that McCarthy encouraged federal employees "to violate the law and their oaths of office or executive orders" to give him secret and other data. This is one of the five general charges made against the senator.

To Deny Charge

McCarthy told newsmen in advance that he would deny he issued any general call for secrets when he made the now-famous appeal for information during the Army-McCarthy hearings. "I have called only for evidence of wrongdoing, not general classified documents or FBI reports," he said. "Just evidence of graft, corruption, communism or treason." The Senate committee heard evidence last week designed to back up the charge involving the

Scores Injured During Packed Catholic Rally

CHICAGO, Sept. 9 — UP — A crowd estimated as high as 260,000 persons jammed Soldier Field and its environs for a Roman Catholic rally Wednesday night and at least 125 were given medical aid when they were overcome or hurt in the throng. The crowd jammed the huge lakefront stadium for an impressive tribute to the Virgin Mary at which Samuel Cardinal Stritch celebrated the Midwest's first outdoor evening mass. Park District Police Chief George Lewis estimated the crowd at 260,000, including thousands who were unable to get into the stadium and milled around outside listening to the ceremony over loud speakers. Dr. Herman H. Bunnemann, president of the board of health, said most of those requiring medical attention suffered from shock, exhaustion or hysteria or were bruised in the crush when gates to the stadium were closed. Police and firemen bearing stretchers struggled through the press of humanity to carry the victims to two first aid stations at the stadium, manned by 55 nurses, doctors and ambulance attendants. An additional 40 nurses in the vast throng volunteered their services.

City Meter Take $800

City parking-meter revenue was $800 last week, according to Hank Taylor, policeman in charge of collection. At this rate the meters produce more than twice as much revenue as all city court fines. The total income for parking meters last year amounted to $37,953, an average of $749 per week. The total collected thus far this year amounts to $24,075 for an average of $669 per week. The average to date is $80 per week lower than last year, Taylor stated. Total fines during August for overtime parking amounted to a sizeable $188, according to Police Chief Jim Conner.

Redistricting Issue Dead

Realignment of Pampa's four city wards and Gray County's 18 voting precincts is apparently a dead issue for this year. The state has ruled that redistricting should be done so that wards and voting precincts coincide, but it must be done in the months of July and August.

Ex-Royal Figure Linked To Scandal

ROME, Sept. 9 — UP — Police Thursday linked a young member of Italy's deposed royal family with death as "due to drowning while treating a case of eczema in the surf." Silvano Muto, a Roman magazine editor, charged she was murdered, exploding Italy's "scandal of the century." The government brought Muto to trial for "disturbing the public order" last spring but abruptly ended the trial and ordered a thorough new investigation which now apparently is nearing its climax. Informed sources said chief investigator Raffaele Sepe has concluded Muto's murder was not known by whom. If it comes from a hardware store we have H. Lewis Hardware, says her arrival.

TESTIFIES — Maj. Gen. Kirke B. Lawton, former commander at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., testified for Sen. Joseph McCarthy before special Senate censure committee Wednesday. The Defense Dept. announced that "no gag... muzzle" had been placed on Gen. Lawton.

Stevenson Opens Demo Fall Drive

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 9 — UP — Adlai E. Stevenson ripped into the Eisenhower administration's policies — foreign and domestic — Wednesday night, even paraphrasing Shakespeare, in the Democrats' opening drive to regain control of Congress. The 1952 presidential aspirant told 3,000 guests at a $100 a plate dinner here that the Republicans have given the nation slogan policies instead of foreign policies. "Dulles sound and Knowland furnish nothing and accomplishing less." The quote is a paraphrase of MacBeth's famous line that life... "is a tale told by an idiot, full of sound and fury, signifying nothing." Stevenson said the most important part of the Democratic party's job this fall is to "give direction again to a foreign policy which wallows aimlessly and dangerously while a bunch of bickering belshemen quarrel at the wheel — I mean the full time and part time secretaries of state." The former Illinois governor asked if it is "the Knowland foreign policy we are to support — or the Dulles foreign policy — or the Nixon foreign policy — or is there a White House policy. If there is," he added, "you can be sure it will need Democratic support, like most White House policies." Stevenson said the President first will have to gain the initiative in his own party "before the United States can regain from the Communists any of the initiative lost, or from our allies any of the confidence lost during the last two years."

We Shall Not Be 'Bluffed' -- Dulles

TAIPEH, Formosa, Sept. 9 — UP — American and Nationalist Chinese jet fighter planes escorted Secretary of State John Foster Dulles through dangerous skies Thursday to a meeting with Chiang Kai-shek. Dulles' plane landed at noon (10 p.m. est Wednesday) and, before going to lunch and a conference with the generalissimo, Dulles said the United States would not be intimidated by Red Chinese threats to Formosa. As Dulles reached Taipei from the historic SEATO conference at Manila, officials said Nationalist Chinese planes had attacked the Chinese mainland opposite the threatened island of Quemoy for the fourth straight day. Warships Join Assault. Nationalist warships joined the assault for the third straight day and claimed six large Chinese junks had been sunk, 20 damaged and three captured. An American embassy official at Manila said F-86 Sabrejets from Clark Field escorted Dulles' Constellation to the south tip of Formosa and that Nationalist Chinese F-84 Thunderjets and F-47 propeller-driven Thunderbolts joined the protective shield south of the island. Dulles said the U. S. Seventh Fleet is under orders to protect Formosa from the Communists. "Red China has now intensified its military propaganda activity against free China," Dulles said. "But we shall not be intimidated. 'Orders Continue Firm'." "Orders to our Seventh Fleet... continue firm under the Eisenhower administration. The United States is prepared to stand with those who have passed through so many trials."

Hundreds Killed In 'Quake' City Of 20,000 Is Ripped Apart

ORLEANSVILLE, Algiers, Sept. 9 — UP — The worst earthquake in modern North African history ripped apart this city of 20,000 early Thursday in 12 nightmarish seconds of collapsing buildings and jack-knifing streets. French authorities said the official toll of bodies recovered by noon (5 a.m. est) was 100, but that it was feared the death toll throughout the Chelif valley would reach 1,000. Authorities said that at least 800 bodies still lay trapped in the smoking ruins of this city, 100 miles southwest of Algiers. Uncounted thousands were injured, many with fractured skulls. All of Algeria was mobilized to rush help to 50,000 citizens in the Orleansville area. Half of Orleansville itself was destroyed. Airlift Ordered. French authorities immediately ordered an airlift to speed doctors and emergency supplies into the battered area. Requisitioned planes hauled loads of injured residents of Orleansville to Algiers hospitals. The earthquake, described as the worst in modern North Africa history shook Orleansville at 1 a.m. (8 p.m. est Wednesday) while most of the city was asleep. "We were asleep when suddenly we found ourselves falling down with the roof and the whole house on top of us," one evacuee with bad head wounds said. "It was like a nightmare. 'Terrible Shrieks, Screaming'." "There were terrible shrieks and screaming," he said. "When I fought my way out of the ruins, I saw people running everywhere up and down the streets."

Ike Summons Defense Chiefs

DENVER, Sept. 9 — UP — President Eisenhower prepared to lay extensive plans for opposing Red aggression at home and abroad in meetings Sunday with 11 top officials of the government. The President planned to confer first with J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and Attorney General Herbert Brownell. The three will then hear reports from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles who is en route to Washington from the southeast Asia treaty conference in Manila where he signed a United States-inspired mutual security pact. Later the same day Mr. Eisenhower will hold a history-making session of the National Security Council and confer with other government heads. The meeting will also be attended. (See IKE, Page 2)

B-I-E Day Moved Back To Sept. 27

Business - Industry - Education committees of the Chamber of Commerce met in joint session Wednesday and decided to change BIE Day from Oct. 12 to Sept. 27 in order to prevent a conflict with the State School Administrators Conference in Austin. Invitations to teacher groups in neighboring towns were also extended by the committee. It is not known whether those invited to participate in the program — LeFors, Hopkins, Grandview, White Deer, Skellytown, and Miami — will attend. Last year 31 businesses joined in the program, and more are expected this year," according to E. O. "Red" Wedgeworth, manager of the Chamber of Commerce. Each firm will be host at lunch to the teachers in their individual groups. E. J. Williams Dies In McLean

McLEAN — (Special) — Services are pending at Claborn Funeral Home for Ernest Jerome Williams, 80, who was found dead at his home here Monday. The coroner said he died Sunday of natural causes.

Williams was born May 22, 1874, and came to McLean in 1933 from Detroit. He had done farm work in the area.

Survivors include his wife, Annie, Detroit; three daughters, Mrs. F. W. Stringer, DeKalb, Mrs. H. T. Copeland, Fairfax, Va., and Mrs. Clyde Winters, Amarillo; four sons, Casey, DeKalb; Russell A., with the Air Force in France; E. J., Jr., Nashville, Tenn., and John M. Arlington; a brother Tom, and two sisters, Inez and Kate, all of Rome, Ga., and nine grandchildren.

But he slapped the witness table and his voice rose sharply when he repeated his February charge that Zwicker "was not fit to wear the uniform of a general." He called Zwicker "one of the most arrogant, most evasive... and most irritating" witnesses he ever had.

It was learned the committee questioned Zwicker secretly after Wednesday's hearings in connection, it was presumed, with McCarthy's cross-examination. It also was possible the general might be called as a witness.

The committee also is trying to decide what to do about Maj. Gen. Kirke B. Lawton, retired Army commander at Fort Monmouth, N.J., who Wednesday cited a presidential order in refusing to testify regarding a conversation he had with Zwicker about McCarthy last fall. McCarthy said Thursday that he, for one, is not trying to force Lawton's testimony "because it would put him in a difficult position" with the administration.

The secretary of state was due to arrive in Denver Sunday, from the SEATO conference which brought about the eight-nation pact binding the free east and west together against further Red aggression in southeast Asia.

HOMeward BOUND—Brazilian beauty Martha Rocha, runner-up in the recent Miss Universe contest, tears up her movie contract and announces that she's going home. Martha says the $150-a-week offer she got from a Hollywood studio wasn't enough and besides she's homesick.

Beginning Sept. 17, Dumont's "Chance of a Lifetime," starring Dennis James, will be sponsored by a big perfume company (Lentheric). This is, as far as anybody knows the first time a perfume purveyor has ventured into major television. And now the contestants will be competing for dollars and cents.

Actually, it represents something of a major risk for a perfume company to turn TV producer. If the show turns out to be a flop, there'll be the very obvious gag — both the show and the sponsor's product smells.

Too bad Lentheric didn't decide to sponsor some heavy dramatic show — then you could call it a melodrama.

"I just want to get married and have children."

Thus spoke Dotty Mack, a tall and lovely brunette who is a star (of medium magnitude) in spite of herself. This is a gal who never sought fame and fortune, but fame and fortune (of medium magnitude) sought her.

She was a Cincinnati model when she was spotted by a TV executive. He was looking for talent for a new Cincinnati TV station. "I told him I couldn't do anything," she says, quite frankly. But they made her a gal Friday for Paul Dixon, who was pioneering the business of pantomiming records. She started pantomiming herself, and one pantomime led to another, and now she has her own show over ABC-TV, plus a local Cincinnati show. She still operates in Cincinnati and is very happy there.

"My family is there and everything," she says. "I never want to be a star at all. I just want a family. After all, what good is fame and money if you don't have happiness? I'm happy in Cincinnati, so I've turned down all the chances to go to Hollywood or come here to New York."

While she speaks disparagingly of her own talent, it is considerable. The ability to move your lips exactly in synchronization with a recorded voice may seem simple, but try it some dark night. It's tough. And, between her local and network shows, she tackles upwards of 60 songs a week.

"Obviously," Dotty says, "you can't memorize that many songs. We work with a dead mike, and I have a man with a megaphone who calls out the lines. As I'm doing one line, he tells me the next. I actually sing aloud, too. I've found that makes it much easier to do."

And so this pantomimist — she says that's the only thing she can think of to call herself — is a big-time performer in spite of lack of ambition. She sports a big diamond ring ("I gave it to myself on my 21st birthday") and a fancy gold bracelet ("That's just a copy — cost $2") and generally is enjoying the fruits of her reluctant stardom.

"On an impulse," she said, "I just bought a mink coat."

Stardom is nice — if you're the impulsive type.

Frank Sinatra has scheduled a trip to Korea after he finishes shooting his next movie, "Not As a Stranger." He'll entertain the GIs.

Frankie should be a natural in Korea — he's built a lot like the 38th parallel.

When Walter Cronkite left CBS-TV's "The Morning Show," on which he was replaced by Jack Parr, he got a mess of letters from his fans. One of them, expressing regret that he was leaving, was from Mrs. Howard Parr of Indianapolis. She's Jack's mother.

A GI from Tokyo reports on a tour he took through the city. One of the points of interest, of course, was the Imperial Palace. The guide, in broken English, told how the grounds of the Palace are only opened to the general public twice a year.

"But big shots can come other times," he said, with a grin. "Big shots like Eisenhower and McCarthy."

Boiler Stalls Courthouse Repair Work

It may still be summertime in Pampa, but that does not keep Jerry Keith, of Borger, from worrying about when he is to get the new boiler for the Gray County Courthouse.

Keith has the contract for the mechanical repair of the Courthouse and, so far, he is stymied—no boiler. He has been waiting for it for weeks and still it has not arrived from the factory.

Associates of his company late this morning said it would not take much work to complete the mechanical repair job, once the boiler arrived. Just a few pipe fittings and the like.

Associates of Brooks Electric Company, Pampa, which holds the contract for electrical repair, reported that aspect is just about completed. The power was shut off in the building Saturday afternoon while some last-minute connections and tests were made, they said.

County commissioners awarded Keith an $8,382 contract and Borger, one for $3,277.

'Nye' Bevan Expected To Give Good Account Of Red China

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst
Aneurin Bevan will be back home in Britain soon, to tell his fellow Laborites with even more conviction that the Communists are really not such bad people after all.

If only the United States and its Allies would put a little faith in the sincerity of the Reds instead of strengthening their defenses, one can hear him say, this would be a better world.

'Nye' Bevan, the left wing British Labor leader, was a member of the Laborite delegation which has just visited Red China.

It was annoying of course, that shortly before the Laborites got to Peiping Chinese Red planes happened to shoot down a British air liner, killing 10 persons.

This incident, however, was not permitted to spoil the visit.

Good Time by All
Bevan and the other members of the British delegation exchanged toasts with Mao Tse-Tung and Chou En-Lai and a good time was had by all.

'Nye' came out of Red China with an even clearer view of the way to fix up the world situation.

In Tokyo, for instance, he said that peaceful co-existence with the Iron Curtain countries was the way to settle Asian issues.

He frowned on the southeast Asia conference in Manila. He is opposed, he said, to alliances in any area which "exclude other nations or blocs of nations."

Presumably he wanted the Manila conference to invite the Communists to a conference called to oppose Red aggression.

Bevan told a meeting of Japanese Socialists that Communist China and Soviet Russia would not resort to any further aggression in Asia.

"It is wrong to consider that the Communists will invade other countries," Bevan said. "They propose peaceful co-existence of the East and West camps."

'No Russian Dictator'
Finally, he made the surprising statement that there is now no dictator in Russia. There probably will be no more dictators there, he added.

Arriving in Hong Kong from Tokyo, Bevan said the Western Allies must believe that the Communists are "as sincere as ourselves" in the desire for peaceful co-existence.

Bevan will be all set to advance these arguments with his usual vigor when the Labor party holds its annual policy-making conference at Scarborough Sept. 27.

Nobody would dispute Bevan on the desirability of peaceful co-existence between East and West. But the Western Allies are unable to forgive that as things are now the free countries could "co-exist" only by peacefully accepting Red encroachment.

Pair Charged For Bilking Gls' Parents
SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 9—UP—Henry Barbachano, 40, of Tijuana, Mex., and James B. Hanover, 21, an American, were held by the FBI Wednesday on charges of attempting to shake down the parents of U. S. servicemen.

Barbachano is Tijuana marriage counselor and member of a prominent Mexican family, while Hanover is the son of Myron K. Hanover, superintendent of the Division of Veterans Affairs, Illinois Department of Public Welfare, Mason City, Ill.

Both suspects, arrested when they crossed the border from Mexico into the United States, face charges of using interstate communications with intent to defraud.

A third suspect, Joseph Richard Irving, 23, of Fitchburg, Mass., is being held by Mexican authorities.

Gallen Willis, FBI agent in charge of the San Diego office, said Nicholas Fookoy of Utica, N. Y., father of a Camp Pendleton (Calif.) Marine, called his son's commanding officer after receiving a telegram asking him to wire $200 to Barbachano to secure his son's release from the Tijuana jail.

An investigation showed that the Marine never had been in jail. Barbachano and Hanover were held in $5,000 bond each.

Flour Prices Higher Despite Wheat Surplus

Today's surplus wheat stocks, largely government controlled, equal an entire year's crop! Yet American bakers and housewives are getting less for wheat than they were in January 1920.

This fact is pointed out by E. E. Kelley, Jr., President of the American Bakers Association, commenting on a statement by Congressman Clifford Hope of Kansas that the price of bread has gone up although farmers are getting less for wheat than they were in January 1920.

Pointing out that there is more to the figures than meets the eye, Kelley said: "That January 1920 price was the highest in 24 years and it lasted less than a month. It is interesting to note that the carryover of wheat into the new crop in 1948 was less than 200-million bushels. None of it was government controlled."

This year the carryover was near 500-million bushels of which all but 50-million was government-controlled. Beginning in 1949, the carryover has climbed steadily and government-controlled supply has increased, Kelley said.

"It should be rather obvious that farmers would get more for wheat today if the market were not burdened with the surplus supply encouraged by the support program," Kelley declared.

In reply to the comment on the price of bread, the American Bakers Association's President pointed out that the baking company profits averaged near three cents out of every dollar in 1953. This was after taxes and this rate has prevailed for some time. He stated that reports the first half of this year indicate a decline of one third in percentage of earnings.

In addition to increased distribution costs, Kelley said that the rate of pay for bakery workers has increased as much as 150 per cent, while living costs have increased only 54 per cent.

"We are told that planting of wheat is shifting to varieties with a high yield per acre without regard to baking quality," Kelley said. "Millers claim they have trouble finding the quality of grain they need, as a result, what is shifting to varieties with a high yield per acre without regard to baking quality."

Predicting that next year's wheat carryover will be greater than this year's Kelley said that as long as conditions described exist, "the farmer may get less but does not follow the miller can pay less."

Ex-POWs Charge A 'Buddy' Snatched

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 9 — UP—Two former prisoners of war charged at turn-about Cpl. Claude Batchelor's trial Wednesday that a POW told the Chinese Communists that he had a motion picture camera and was filming atrocities under the very noses of the Chinese.

As a result of this treachery, they said, they were hauled before the commandant of prison camp No. 5, at Pyokdang, North Korea, a man known among the POW's as "the screaming skull." He sent them both to solitary confinement.

The witnesses were John J. Megysi, 28, of Farrell, Pa., a former Army private and POW who said he is not working now, and Lt. Walter L. Mayo, 29, of Fort Devens, Mass. His hometown is Norwell, Mass.

Everybody Suffering

Mayo, in full uniform with two-and-a-half rows of ribbons and a combat infantry badge gleaming dully on his chest, was asked what he wanted with the camera.

"To take pictures of trains of dead going out of the camp," he said. "The death rate was 30 to 35 a day. Everybody was suffering. Most of the prisoners had either wet or dry beri-beri."

Neither he nor Megysi would identify Batchelor as the man who informed on them. One of the specifications in the collaboration charges against Batchelor is informing the Chinese Communists that Megysi had a camera, to get better treatment for himself.

Megysi said he had a 16 mm movie camera, a British prisoner named "Bucky" wanted, so he could pass it along to Mayo. Megysi said he had no further use for the camera, because he had run out of film, taking pictures of atrocities. He found out that Mayo did have film.

Knew of Camera

He said that somehow the Chinese found out about the camera and that at 2:30 p.m. Aug. 31, 1951, he was taken before "the screaming skull."

He said he refused to talk, but the Chinese seemed to know all about the camera and threw him in to the "hole," a place without heat or light. He was left there two months and eight days.

Mayo said he had the camera two-and-a-half months before he was called before "the skull." He had been taking pictures of the atrocities while eight other officers acted as lookouts.

He said he was questioned for nine weeks and spent the time between interrogation sessions in solitary.

"The Chinese told me all about my transaction with Bucky and repeated all the conversations," he said.

Hates and Fears Reds

He said he did not know where the camera is now and was not asked whether the atrocity film ever got to this country.

Before the first two witnesses testified Wednesday the last part of a 148-page statement by Batchelor was read into the record.

Batchelor said that he began smoking marijuana when he found out the Reds had made a dupe of him. He said he both hates and fears the Reds.

Independent Thinkers

Is it disloyal to your college to want to improve it by requesting that Reds and pro-Reds be fired? Apparently.

Colleges, while supposedly educating the young to approach problems calmly with objective reasoning, actually seem to instill an irrational faith in the dogma that: Your college can do no wrong. Attack all criticism. Throw a cat fit if anybody questions anything the faculty does.

We saw an example of this when the Denver newspapers with an aggregate wealth of millions of dollars combined with the tax-supported University of Colorado to gang up on Dwight "David" Murphey, a lonely C. U. student who had the courage to speak out against the pro-Red textbooks still being used at C. U.

Presumably the Denver newspapermen who foamed at the mouth in their effort to nail Murphey, attended some similar leftwing college and thus were bitten by the virus which causes otherwise sane people to chant: "Our college professors can do no wrong."

Objectivity and reasonable thinking were butchered in the process—the documented evidence offered by Murphey from the hearings of congressional committees was ignored, while both the ROCKY MOUNTAIN NEWS and the DENVER POST shrieked in touching unison: "Murphey is intellectually dishonest."

Murphey's crime was to want to improve his alma mater by cleaning up the tax-supported, pro-Red propaganda handed out by Lawrence K. Rosinger, who refused to answer when asked if he were now a member of the Communist Party. His grounds? The Fifth Amendment—that an honest answer might tend to incriminate him!

We have seen the same reaction closer to home. Friends of ours who claim to be anti-Communist nevertheless felt compelled to join the Goliaths in their frantic effort to get the lone David who merely offered some documented facts.

What obscured the truth? The fact that they had been to the leftwing university themselves caused them to attack Murphey as a "crackpot" without bothering to find out whether he had the goods or not.

A Yale man recently defended a notorious left-winger, who still holds forth in Yale's law school on grounds that the man "is an independent thinker."

The professor believes in socialism, worships the memory of F. D. R., and would like to see the United States follow England into the quick-sand of public ownership of business.

Independent thinking? Why, the vast majority of pseudo-intellectuals agree with this professor. Socialism is a popular, herd, mob, mass philosophy.

How can a Socialist or Communist be an independent thinker when he is endorsing any degree of generic collectivism? Collectivism is the most widespread mass political philosophy practiced in the world.

Those who oppose collectivism are in the tiny minority—and THEY are the true independent thinkers. The great mass of "educated" pseudo-intellectuals will attack a truly independent thinker.

'Helpful' People Always Seem To Have The Answers
By HENRY McLEMORE

By J. P. McEVROY
Even people who mean well and want to help you think that everything can be divided into two neat piles labeled: "Solve Now" and "Solve Later."

I had a secretary once who left me after several years and when I was trying to find things in the files I ran across one huge folder. In it she had put everything he couldn't figure out what to do about and he had labeled it with engaging simplicity: "God Knows How."

Change that to "God Knows How" and you can file away in it a lot of the problems that everyone finds on his desk or just lying around the house. Of course, many of these will solve themselves if you just leave them alone—if you treat them with a kind of magnificent neglect.

In New York City they were always tearing up and repaving Sixth Avenue. Finally some wag put up a sign: "It Will Never Get Better If You Pick It."

And some things you just can't get at all. During the war a great industrial genius was put in charge of setting all the guns, ships, and so on. One day he was talking to a gum that we and our Allies needed. A Congressional Committee called him on the carpet and asked him not for hurry—

"We have appropriated all these billions of dollars," they said, "and we've given you carte blanche to get the best brains you can get. Where are the guns? Where are the ships? Where is the bubble gum?"

"The great industrial genius replied: 'Gentlemen, in spite of all the strides that science has made and the technical skills and knowledge of our greatest medical specialists, it still takes nine months to make a baby.'"

Of course, there are some problems in life that can't be solved at all. There are just no solutions for them—no how. My old friend Eddie Guest wrote a poem which everyone knows and which starts: "Everyone said that it couldn't be done . . ." and then goes on to say "But the fellow lacked the thing that couldn't be done—and he did it."

But with all due respect to Eddie I heard another version of this poem which I somehow prefer, and if my memory serves me, it goes something like this:

"Everyone said that it couldn't be done,
But he with a chuckle replied;
That maybe it couldn't, but he would be one
Who wouldn't say no till he tried.

"So he waded right in with a confident grin,
Where everyone said that he shouldn't;
And he tackled the thing that couldn't be done,
And it couldn't."

But if that's too long I respectfully submit a wall motto which hangs behind the desk of another old friend of mine and greets the visitors with this inspiring message:

EVERYONE SAID THAT IT COULDN'T BE DONE — SO I TACKLED WITH IT.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

"America In Danger"
A couple of readers have mailed to me a copy of the Defender Magazine containing an address made by Dr. Nicholas Nyaradi on the subject of "America In Danger" and asked me to reprint it. The address was made in Milwaukee under the auspices of the Lutheran Men in America. Since I believe that too many people do not realize the danger from within that America faces, I want to reproduce in a couple of issues a part of what Dr. Nyaradi had to say on this subject:

"A few months ago, while I was on a speaking tour, my car suddenly developed engine trouble. It was late at night and the rain was pouring. I stood there on the edge of the road, and on the edge of despair, when suddenly one of those huge interstate trucks drove by, stopped and the driver climbed out to give me a helping hand. While he was working on my engine we started a conversation. It didn't take him more than 25 seconds to find out that I did not have a midwestern accent. He looked at me and said, 'By the way, Buddy, what are you doing in the United States?'

"I told him that I'm traveling across this great land of yours to tell you the happy, comfortable American how terrible life is behind the Iron Curtain. I also said I am writing articles for magazines and newspapers and in addition I have published a book about it. Then I told him I am also a college professor. Hearing this, Buddy looked at me and said, with obvious disgust, 'Oh, isn't that too bad. I thought you were a traveling salesman.'"

"The more I think about my conversation with Buddy, the more I feel that he was right, because, after all, you can call me a traveling salesman, although my merchandise is very difficult to sell, because it is bitter and cruel and interferes with your easy-going, comfortable, wonderful, American way of life. I am the traveling salesman of truth, of horrible, deadly and cruel truth as I saw it during the four difficult and dangerous years of postwar history.

Meeting With Stalin and Molotov
"As the secretary of the treasury of the Republic of Hungary, I fought a desperate and losing battle against the encroachment of Soviet communism over my native land. I'm the traveling salesman of truth as I saw it in Moscow, in the Kremlin, where for seven months, day after day and night after night, I sat across the conference table with Stalin and Molotov and their henchmen in the Politburo, trying desperately to whittle down an outrageous claim of two hundred million dollars against my country—a claim which threatened my native Hungary with immediate economic collapse and a claim which was based on the stipulation of the unforgotten Potsdam agreement.

"After seven months of hickering, I succeeded in reducing this claim to forty-five million and so I think that very probably today I must be about the only man in Milwaukee who has actually taken one hundred and fifty-five million dollars from Stalin's pocket. I have to admit that this did not do me too much good, because a few months later, when I had to flee Hungary for my life, Stalin took back the entire sum together with the whole of Hungary."

"You are doomed to death, destruction, slavery, hunger, murder, starvation and to concentration camps, exactly as are those unfortunate people who live today behind the Iron Curtain under the iron rule of the Kremlin.

"Whether or not this horrible death hits you, your children and your country depends exclusively and only upon you—what you as American citizens, what you as Christians and what you as free human beings are willing to do about it."

America Betrays Hungary
"Perhaps the saddest surprise of life was to see to what an extent you, the American people, and the government of the United States have actually helped the growth of this Frankenstein monster of the Soviet Union, to what extent you, economic and military concessions and gifts helped Stalin to build up those positions from which today his successors can threaten the world, your future and the future of your children.

"We in Hungary always had a tremendous love and esteem for your great country. In our love and admiration for America we erected a statue of George Washington in one of the most beautiful parks in the lovely capital city of Budapest. I happened to be the last member of the Hungarian government to put a wreath under this statue, on July 4, 1948.

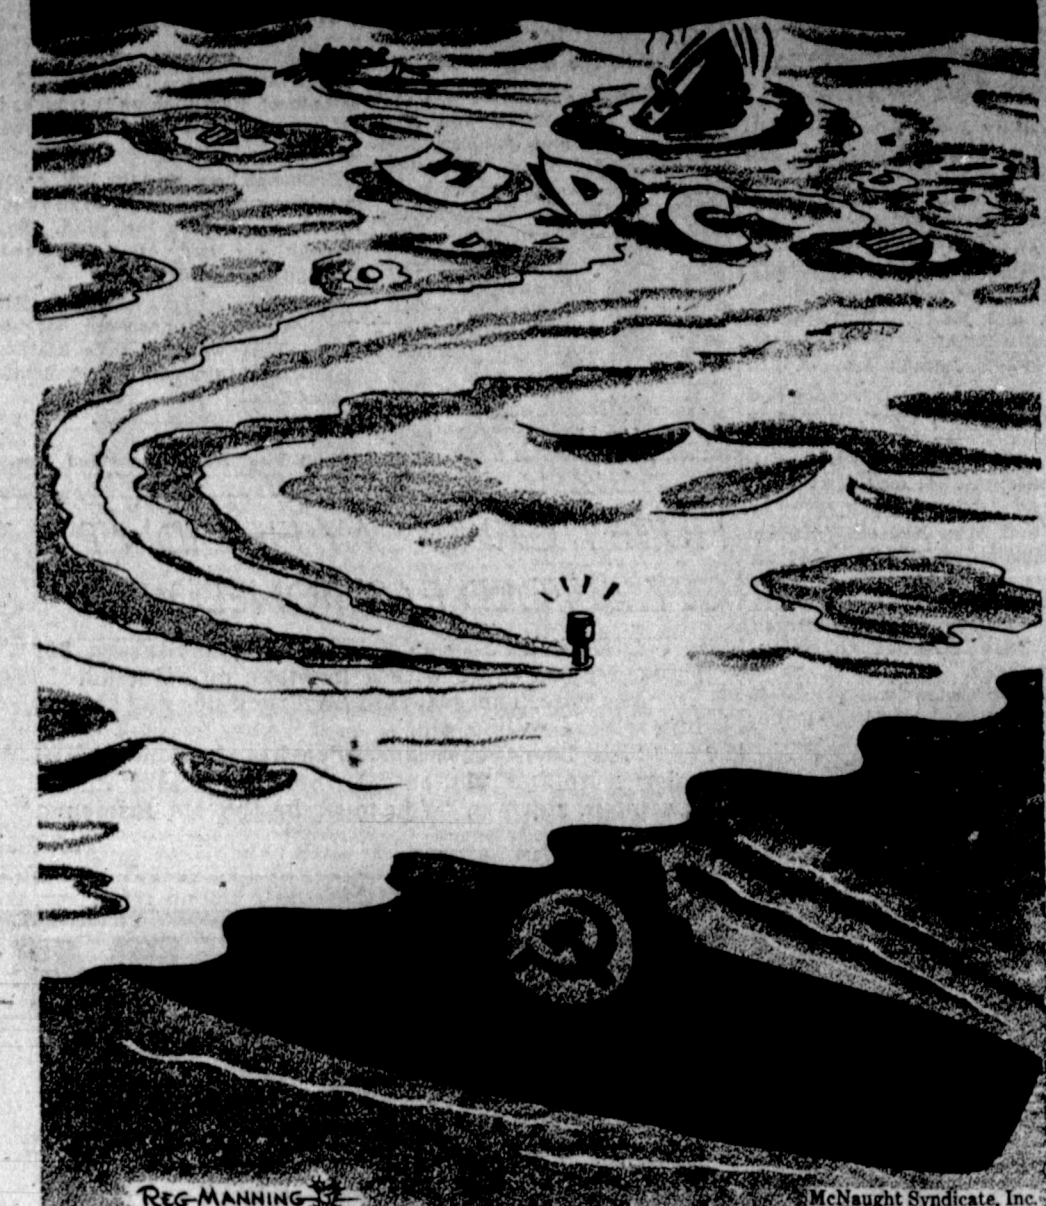

"Today that statue isn't there any more. It was removed by the new Communist Hungarian government, its metal was melted and God forbid, one day you might see it back in the form of bullets and grenades, killing good, clean American soldiers on battlefields.

"But there was a time when we Hungarians didn't understand you. This was in the final winter of 1945, when my native country, together with the rest of Europe, was still groaning under the Nazi occupation. This was the time when Hungarian patriots in their hiding places listened over their dim prewar radios to a broadcast which called itself the Voice of America.

"The Voice of America told us that we were going to liberate from Nazi occupation by your great friends and our noble allies, the Red Army. The Voice of America told us that we should greet the Red Army as if it were you, because they would bring us in your name, freedom, democracy and independence.

"We didn't understand this. We

Readers Of Small Town Papers Watch News Closely

(While Ray Tucker is on vacation there will be guest columns by several prominent newspaper editors. Today's column is by James H. March, Editor and Publisher of The News-Tribune of Beaver Falls, Pa.)

By JAMES H. MARCH
Do small town newspaper readers love the trend of events at Metropolitan centers? Yes; we would say even more so, for it is in the grass roots of the nation that the strong bulwark of national heritage still prevails.

What are we thinking about—talking about in our home-town forums discussions?
Now that the 83rd Congress has just concluded its business; we feel it did a very commendable job of legislation for the general benefit of the people of the nation. One outstanding feature of the work of this Congress was the coordination and co-operation of the members, both Republican and Democratic in enacting badly needed national laws. Party politics in many instances was forgotten when the chips were down. This is a good sign. We extend our praise to the leaders on both sides—may the good work continue.

The Atomic Legislation enacted by the 83rd Congress held high interest locally, for we are now getting ready to break ground formally for the first Atomic Energy Electric plant to be built in the United States. This plant is to be located a short distance from Beaver Falls and, when completed, will furnish power to both local industry and to Beaver county homes.

The day may not be too far distant when we in this section of the country will be the first to have Atomic Energy heat for our homes. This huge new plant to cost more than $52,000,000 is being constructed by the Duquesne Light Company in co-operation with the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company.

When it is in operation, it is difficult to understand how it was possible that the greatest, most noble nation in the world, the United States of America, should call the Russian Communists its noble allies and its great friends. But we said we must be mistaken. Our eyes have changed, or communism isn't the same as it used to be. So we decided to wait, and to see. We waited, and we saw.

"We saw the barbarian hordes of the Red Army roll down from the slopes of the Carpathian Mountains, robbing, raping, killing, burning everything in its way. "Wherever and whenever a Russian army truck stopped before a peaceful Hungarian house to loot the last miserable belongings from those poor people and then to take them to a concentration camp, you could be sure the Soviet army truck was either a Dodge, Ford or Chevrolet.

"And whenever the Russian soldiers were chasing down the streets after screaming Hungarian girls and women, you could be sure they were riding in an American-made command car or an American-made jeep, the generous gift of the United States of America, in the form of lend-lease, to what they called 'our great, noble Soviet allies.'"

City People Retreat From Connecticut For More Funds

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—This is the season when the City People retreat from Connecticut to lick their wounds and gather the physical, temperamental and financial resources for the next year's invasion.

These invasions have been recurring for many years. I remember some writing of Irvin S. Cobb's on the subject as far back as 40 years ago. Mr. Cobb recouped by writing about his experience, but most other city people have been less fortunate.

In a graphic way, Connecticut is like China, which also has been invaded many times but, also, like Connecticut, either absorbs the alien hosts or tolerates them and remains unchanged herself. The Connecticut people, whom the city people refer to as the natives, remain as they were from generation to generation and their attitude toward the city people never changes.

Nobody can estimate how much the city people have spent buying Connecticut farmhouses, barns and ruins, and rebuilding or restoring them, often in simulation of the old sail-box or revolutionary tavern.

Of course, the city people must have plumbing and oil-burners. Of late, they have run out of ruins and are building from scratch. This may seem cheaper but it isn't. There is no way of doing it cheaper in Connecticut.

On the average, most construction must be done three times. The first and second times it is done wrong. The slant of the roof will be too little and rain will soak through. The plaster in the rooms will billow and come down. The plumbing will freeze, and it will be necessary to rip up floors and do it all over because the original plumber forgot to pitch the pipes so that the water would drain back down.

By that time, the original contractor has gone to Florida to get his out of the new building boom. Now a consultant will be called in, recommended by the Shackelfords, who have had good luck all the way because they are a hoosier, which is a kind of native, able to understand Connecticut natives.

The consultant will have a consulting manner. Don't take him for a hick. He went to college, he served two terms in the legislature at Hartford, and his eldest daughter works for the state department in Paris.

He won't come right out with any unelaborate comments about a colleague but he will wag his head at the mention of the contractor who has gone to Florida. If you only had come to him in the first place! You would have saved much money and trouble.

Then he will say, "well, if you want the job done right—" with a firm emphasis on the word "right." That means you are dealing with a strictly high-class, responsible man. And, of course, you have to pay well for the best. So you get the job done right.

The handyman is an experience. It is always coming to the door to report that the pump of the artesian well is broke. Or, the lawn mower is broke. Or the clutch in the second-hand utility wagon used for shopping and little incidental hauling is wore out.

He is gregarious so he likes an assistant for company. He also likes the title of "superintendent" and he can't be "superintendent" without a subordinate to superintend. They will get cockeyed at the tavern on Friday night and run your car up a pole but it is best not to be too severe about such things because they might quit. Then what would you do?

Although I did say Connecticut and the natives remain unchanged, obviously that can't be altogether true. All things change. Connecticut is practically out of the old ruins after all these waves of bright, vigorous young city people who pounced on such wrecks with a lunatic gleam in their eyes, exclaiming, "we can do wonders with that!" They would use old, grey, weathered barn siding for their interior panels, because it was so soft and— you know— rustic. They would wag their heads at those goofy natives who had plastered up the wonderful, quaint, old fireplaces

There are several theories as to what causes stuttering, but it certainly seems to be a nervous or emotional disorder. Stuttering is not inherited, but some children are born with a tendency to it, probably because their nervous systems are particularly susceptible to this speech difficulty. Stuttering appears to develop in two stages. It is much easier to treat during the first stage before the child has developed feelings of inferiority and anxiety. For this reason the earliest possible attention by stammering is recommended. Every preschool child who shows early signs of stuttering should receive immediate treatment.

A stuttering child should never be punished with a hope of breaking the habit. The child can't help it. At this stage treatment is aimed largely at providing as calm a life as possible. Games or amusements which are too exciting, and family quarrels and the like are not inherited, but some children are born with a tendency to it, probably because their nervous systems are particularly susceptible to this speech difficulty.

have been wasting abroad could then be put to the use at home. Home-town people would be more than willing to share their portion of the costs of the aforementioned major improvements—so badly needed in many communities across our great country.

One of my own community interests is that of advancing and stimulating interest in more and better highways, particularly the designing and construction of cross state turnpikes. Since Pennsylvania built the first state turnpike, a great impetus has been given similar construction in other states, notably Ohio, New York, New Jersey, Indiana and West Virginia.

As marvelous as these highways are, one feature of national importance is missing—no consideration has been given to making these turnpikes available for emergency landing of airplanes.

Most of the super-highways have a 24-foot concrete roadway, wide enough for a commercial or military plane to land. It is our suggestion that for every 25 miles of highway, there should be a two-mile plane landing area. This is both feasible and practical—and deserving of careful thought. It might be asked: Who is going to pay for this? Well, right now we are paying out billions for questionable results and we cannot help but think that a little charity at home will do a lot more good.

A more realistic attitude should be adopted toward foreign aid, with the U.S. helping those who are willing to help themselves. Let us keep off the purely charitable attitude of aiding nations. Very few, if any, of the nations are so destitute that they in some measure cannot help themselves.

A great part of the money we hope will never happen. This plan is both feasible and practical—and deserving of careful thought. It might be asked: Who is going to pay for this? Well, right now we are paying out billions for questionable results and we cannot help but think that a little charity at home will do a lot more good.

He is gregarious so he likes an assistant for company. He also likes the title of "superintendent" and he can't be "superintendent" without a subordinate to superintend. They will get cockeyed at the tavern on Friday night and run your car up a pole but it is best not to be too severe about such things because they might quit. Then what would you do?

Although I did say Connecticut and the natives remain unchanged, obviously that can't be altogether true. All things change. Connecticut is practically out of the old ruins after all these waves of bright, vigorous young city people who pounced on such wrecks with a lunatic gleam in their eyes, exclaiming, "we can do wonders with that!" They would use old, grey, weathered barn siding for their interior panels, because it was so soft and— you know— rustic. They would wag their heads at those goofy natives who had plastered up the wonderful, quaint, old fireplaces

There are several theories as to what causes stuttering, but it certainly seems to be a nervous or emotional disorder. Stuttering is not inherited, but some children are born with a tendency to it, probably because their nervous systems are particularly susceptible to this speech difficulty. Stuttering appears to develop in two stages. It is much easier to treat during the first stage before the child has developed feelings of inferiority and anxiety. For this reason the earliest possible attention by stammering is recommended. Every preschool child who shows early signs of stuttering should receive immediate treatment.

A stuttering child should never be punished with a hope of breaking the habit. The child can't help it. At this stage treatment is aimed largely at providing as calm a life as possible. Games or amusements which are too exciting, and family quarrels and the like are not inherited, but some children are born with a tendency to it, probably because their nervous systems are particularly susceptible to this speech difficulty.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

ABOUT one or two out of every one hundred persons has a speech defect known as stuttering. This always begins early in childhood and is about four times as common among boys as among girls. It is not restricted to any level of society, and afflicts the poor as much as the rich. Essentially, stuttering is a disturbance in the rhythm of speech. There are spasms of repeating sounds or blocking of the speech sounds for a few moments.

There are several theories as to what causes stuttering, but it certainly seems to be a nervous or emotional disorder. HOLLYWOOD. —(NEA)—Behind the Screens: Irving Berlin picked another fabulous offer to film his life story—this time it was Joseph M. Schenck with a $1,000,000 check as bait.

The explanation was the same one Irving gave me a few weeks ago—"I don't want my life done as a motion picture."

But coming up this fall is a two-hour TV cavalcade of his songs and parts of his life story as the background.

Latest definition of a movie producer: A man who goes around with a worried look on his assistant's face.

Is there a trend away from fresh, new faces to reliable players who know the movie ropes and who can be pushed into important stardom with careful career strategy?

That's what many Hollywood actors read in Fox's recent grab of Robert Stack and Richard Egan—two flawless profile boys who are at least 10 years older in age and experience than the striplings who have been occupying the "Marked for Stardom" bench in the past two years.

Says the studio casting director, Lou Schreiber:

"We will still sign young people whom we consider potential stars if and when they show up. We will take them on and develop them as we have Robert Wagner and Debra Paget. But of late we have not seen much of this young material."

MERLE OBERON, of all people, does a torrid flamenco with famed dancer Antonio in her Spanish film, "Everything Can Happen in Grenada." . . . Something for the gendarmes to worry about: MGM. . . . The moviemakers gave the Nobel prize winner for literature the idea for the tome.

First call on the movie rights to William Faulkner's new novel, "The Fable," goes to producer Bill Bacher and Director Henry Hathaway. The moviemakers gave the Nobel prize winner for literature the idea for the tome.

Since her Las Vegas night-club clinic, Mae West says she's had a couple of movie offers.

On wide screen of course.

Adv. in a movie trade paper: "Errol Flynn offers his lovely hill-top estate for rent or lease." Apparently Errol's never coming home to live as lavishly as he once did.

DINAH SHORE has been awarded hundreds of plaques for her singing, but there's only one trophy displayed on the mantel of her home—a small cup for second place in a recent tennis tournament!

Richard ("The Robe") Burton didn't sign that seven-year contract with Fox—one film a year—until a few weeks ago. Big question Hollywood scribes are waiting to ask the British star:

Did he really say of his movie-film star that "I enjoyed every dollar of it?"

You wouldn't think that the recent death in London of Lord Richard Henry Brinsley Norton had any connection with flicker matters. But he's the man who coined the word "cleavage" years back in a battle with the Earl of Hays over considerable footage in a British film, imported to the U.S.

A foreign babe—not Zsa Zsa Gabor—was asked for her telephone number by Porfirio Rubirosa and got this answer:

"What's the point in it? I wouldn't date an actor!"

ACTOR: MERVYN JOHNS, a character actor in "Moby Dick," the new Gregory Peck starrer, is the papa of husky-voiced British star Glynis Johns.

Claude Boissol, the screenwriter who's cooing French love words in to Yvonne de Carlo's shell-pink, wants her to star in his "Marie of the Islands."

Symbolic note? In "New York Confidential," a gangland get-away car careens into a store, demolishing the display windows. A shoe store? No. A clothing store? No. A television shop?

Ousted Employee Accuses Mayor

HOUSTON, Sept. 9.—UP—A suspended city employee, charged with a fee shortage, Wednesday accused Mayor Roy Hofheinz of evading a fee exceeding by 400 per cent the shortage charged against him.

R. I. McClanahan, an electrical inspector currently involved in a grand jury investigation, called charges brought against him by the mayor "ridiculous" and, in a statement directed to Hofheinz, said:

"Mr. Mayor, do you realize that the evasion of payment of the city electrical inspection fee for installation, done in 1953 at your residence exceeds by 400 per cent the total shortage charged against me?"

McClanahan said no inspection was ever made at the mayor's home.

Dentist Said Sane

IONA, Mich., Sept. 6—UP—Society dentist Kenneth B. Small was ordered released from the state hospital for the criminally insane Wednesday.

The order came after Dr. Perry C. Robertson, head of the state hospital, said that Small is "sane and of sound mind" and wouldn't be a menace to society if set free.

Robertson, testifying at a hearing to determine if the Detroit dentist who killed his wife New York lover should be released from the hospital, reported exhaustive tests conducted through him showed Small sane.

The hearing was conducted by Circuit Judge Morris K. Davis to determine whether Small was being held illegally in the hospital. Small, found innocent by reason of insanity in the slaying of Jules Lack, 45, has been confined to the hospital "for the rest of his life" or until he regains his sanity.

Small shot and killed Lack, a wealthy New York air conditioning executive, in a luxurious summer villa overlooking Lake Michigan May 29.

STORED IN MY MIND, along with a confusing hodge-podge of other ideas and thoughts, is a way to make an apron. The idea came from a friend of my mother who presented me with this type of apron as a gift. It makes a wonderful present or is nice to make for just yourself, and easy, too!

YOU BEGIN with a basic item—a medium-sized bath towel. Along one side of the towel you sew a band of brightly colored cotton material. The band should be long enough to make a waist band and tie around the waist. You then take three or four different colors of rick rack that harmonize with the towel and the waist band and sew them in rows along the other side of the towel. That's it—a very attractive apron! If you desire, you can make a pocket from the same material as the waist band with the same rick rack used around the bottom of the apron. I especially liked this type of apron as it is so easy to wipe your hands on, instead of always having to grab for a towel. It's also easy to wash and doesn't require ironing.

While talking with MRS. JOHN HESSEY, 311 N. Ward, yesterday, she gave me a recipe for an easy "meal-in-itself" dish. It is made mostly from vegetables, and doesn't even need a salad with it. Mrs. Hessey stated, "What goes best with it, she advised, is lemon pie."

It's called a "new-fashioned hot and cold dinner." The ingredients are:
4 scraped carrots
3 stalks celery, cut in 1" pieces
8 small onions
2 large potatoes, quartered minced parsley
1 can corned beef cut in thick slices
2 tsp. mustard
1/4 cup chili sauce or catsup
1/4 cup water
1/4 tsp. salt

Method: Arrange vegetables in layers in pressure-cooker. Top with corned beef cut in thick slices. Spread with mustard. Combine chili sauce or catsup with water and salt. Pour over meat. Cook at 15 lbs. pressure for 8 minutes. Reduce pressure instantly. Serve with chopped parsley. Makes four servings.

Thank you, Mrs. Hessey, I, for one, certainly plan to try it. I'm always looking for easy recipes that require a minimum of time and fuss.

Below are a few tips on cooking, shopping, and cleaning gathered from all over the country by the United Press.

MAKE OWN DUSTCLOTHS
LINCOLN, Neb. — UP—Housewives can fashion their own old-dampened dust cloths in a jiffy and at little expense, says Mrs. Clara N. Leopold, home manager.

RUTH MILLET
There is plenty of evidence in the letters that come to this column that women the country over are getting fed to the teeth with advice on how to hold their husbands.

They claim their men read the advice out loud to them or Scotch-laps it onto their dressing-table mirrors or just toss them the article with, "Here's something YOU ought to read."
Then, these same men, lean back in their easy chairs convinced that their wives are lucky to have them and that whatever is wrong with the marriage is the wife's fault. Women who report that this is the way their husbands react to any and all "how-to-hold-your-man" advice, really light in and let the men have it.

Their suggestions of what men could do to be better husbands and help to make marriage happier for both partners would fill a book.
But in spite of the variety of complaints there are several that crop up in letter after letter.
Here they are—and if this column gets taped up anywhere it will be on the mirror the man of the house uses to shave.

The men, say the women, have to be picked up after like two-year-olds. And in spite of their own sloppy habits they expect their houses to look neat and orderly.

They aren't considerate about letting their wives know when they are going to be late to dinner, and act as though the wife has no right to ask any questions regarding their lives away from home.

They spend evening after evening watching TV, never wanting to take their wives out, or even to talk to them at home.
They are extravagant about the money they spend for the things they want, but can never afford the things their wives consider important.

According to a lot of wives the American husband could well profit by some "how-to-hold-your-wife" advice.

Teammate Earl Torgeson (9), about to take batter's stance, waves Morgan a greeting on the run as Brooklyn catcher Roy Campanella maneuvers to glove the incoming throw.

DIFFERENT SIZES—Actress Terry Moore, left, came out on the short end of a measuring match with Joan Van at the Hotel Flamingo in Las Vegas, Nev. Miss Van, who is almost six feet tall, was recently named Queen of the Tip-Toppers at the International Convention of Tall People in Palo Alto, Calif. She's from Chicago. Terry was doing a night club act at hotel.

GLOVER'S LEAP—Pittsburgh's Curt Roberts, left, races into first as New York first baseman Bob Hofman leaps to snare the high throw from shortstop Al Dark in the first inning at the Polo Grounds in New York. Roberts was safe on the error by Dark, but a strenuous time was had by all.

Mrs. John B. Hesse Devises Own Recipes

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Woman's Editor

"I love to cook good things to eat," stated Mrs. John Hesse, 311 N. Ward. "It's one of my main hobbies." And Mrs. Hesse's many friends will testify to the fine quality of her cooking, as she has often been known to "drop in" with something she just baked.

Mrs. Hesse learned to cook when she was 11 years old. When her mother was ill for six months, Mrs. Hesse stated she had to "take the bull by the horns," and learn to cook, as the oldest of four children. Her father taught her a great deal as did her mother.

A native Texan, Mrs. Hesse has lived in Pampa since 1928. She taught school in the primary grades for many years and is now teaching in a local kindergarten. Her husband is district supervisor for the State, Department of Public Welfare.

Two of her favorite recipes are for homemade ice cream and sherbet. The ice cream recipe originated with her. "I just experimented until I got it as smooth and nice as I like it," she explained. The sherbet recipe came from a friend, but Mrs. Hesse has varied it to her liking also. Both recipes make one gallon.

Into 2 quarts milk, dissolve 4 cups sugar with 1/2 tsp. salt. Freeze until "stiff mush." Take lid off freezer and pour in juice of 8 lemons. Freeze until hard.

Mrs. Hesse says to be sure to not add the lemon juice until the first mixture is like a "stiff mush," or the milk will curdle.

Each year about two million young Americans become available for employment, while roughly 1.5 million workers die or retire because of age or disability.

Meat leaves mean good eating any time. But they make an especially good choice for Autumn days. Reba Staggs, home economist, has five suggestions for varying meat leaves with little effort.

- 1) Prepare a sauce topped loaf. In the bottom of the loaf pan spread catchup, a barbecue sauce, or mustard sauce. Then mold the meat mixture over it and bake. When unmolded you have a ready-made sauce.
- 2) Or make a design in the bottom of the pan using olive slices, pickles, hard-cooked eggs, pimiento or green pepper. Mold the meat mixture over the design and bake.
- 3) Look to your cupboard for different pans in which to bake the loaf — a square pan, allowing for square servings of the meat loaf. Or a ring mold, serving the center filled with creamed peas or succotash. Or bake meat mixture in individual muffin pans or shape into individual loaves and bake in a shallow pan for a crisp crust.
- 4) Prepare a plain meat loaf and serve with a sauce. Suggested are cheese, olive, tomato, horseradish, mustard and pimiento sauces.
- 5) Use different combinations of meat for your loaf such as ground beef and pork or ham; beef, veal and ham; veal and pork; ham and pork.

If you're making whipped cream from evaporated milk, be sure that the boxing bowl, milk and beaters are cold. Chill the milk in advance by pouring it into a freezing tray and let stand until it's about ready to solidify. Then whip.

The nesting places of the cattle egret have not yet been located in South America although the bird appeared on the continent more than 20 years ago, says the National Geographic Society. Flocks have spread from British Guiana to Surinam, Venezuela, and Colombia. They are also new migrants to the east coast of the United States.

MEAT COOKERY Quiz

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Beef heel of round.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?
A: It is a boneless, wedge-shaped cut from the lower part of the round and weighs from 4 to 8 pounds.

Q. How is it prepared?
A. By braising. The meat is browned thoroughly in lard or drippings. A small amount of liquid is added, the meat covered closely and allowed to simmer until tender—3 to 4 hours.

VANILLA ICE CREAM
Beat 10 eggs, unseparated, until they will stand up. Beat in 2 cups sugar until dissolved. Add 1 pint whipping or heavy cream, 2 tall cans milk, 1 1/2 quarts milk, 1/2 tsp. salt, and 1 tsp. vanilla. Pour into freezer and freeze until it is smooth and stands up.

Mrs. Hesse says you can add bananas if you like (it takes about 6 of them) or peaches, (about 2 cups, mashed and sweetened). You can also use any other flavoring desired in place of the vanilla.

LEMON SHERBET

Here Are Recipes For Peach Canning

PEACH PECAN CONSERVE
11 large peaches
4 oranges
4 pints sugar
1/2 pound coarsely chopped pecans
2 slices crystallized pineapple cut in small pieces
1/4 pound crystallized cherries cut in small pieces

Peel the peaches and cut into small pieces. Add the sugar, pulp of oranges, and about 1/4 of the grated orange peel. Cook together for 45 minutes. Add the nuts and the crystallized fruits and cook ten minutes longer. This makes about 10 or 12 glasses.

PEACH MARMALADE
Let the peaches be clear stones, if possible, and thoroughly ripe and sound. Pare, stone, slice fine and weigh. Put in porcelain kettle, with teaspoonful of water loosely covered, over slow fire. Cook until free from lumps, stirring with wooden spoon. Now add 1/4 pound sugar to each pound of peaches and half-dozens blanched peach kernels. Cook briskly for an hour or two, stirring constantly, being careful there is no sticking or burning at bottom. When thick enough, seal hot in pint jars. A grated pineapple is a great addition.

STUFFED PEACH PICKLE
10 freestone peaches, peeled
6 tablespoons minced onion
2 teaspoons minced sweet red pepper
2 teaspoons cinnamon
5 cups sugar
1 1/2 cups water
1 cup white vinegar
12 whole cloves

Cooking time: ten minutes
Yield: Two quarts.
Remove the peach stone from the stem end, leaving the peach whole. Combine the onion, pepper and cinnamon; fill the centers. In a kettle stir in the sugar, water, vinegar and cloves together; bring to a boil. Add the peaches; simmer until pierceable. Remove the cloves, pack the peaches into hot sterile jars; fill almost to the top with the boiling syrup; seal as for canned fruit.

This—Is—A Pretty Skillet Of Fish

Eaten between a frankfurter bun, freshly caught fish is not only the best of eating but also the easiest.

It's about as pretty a skillet of fish as a sportsman could put his hand to for frying—these three big perch sizzling over the camp fire. Proof that some of the best ones were landed is in the eating—and eating the easy way—as a fishburger. Place the serving of fish between a frankfurter bun which is ideally shaped for this purpose. Appetizing buns and crisp, flaky, hot fish are good companions.

A camp fire fish fry sets the stage for masculine skills. A bed of glowing wood coals is the most even heat for frying. Our member of the stag group heats the skillet slowly. He heats the fat to the exact point where the first smoke fumes appear—no more—then adds the cleaned fish which he has rolled either in bread crumbs or in corn meal. These, he occasionally turns until they are cooked to perfect brownness.

Corn on the cob roasted in the husks, sliced tomatoes, and pickles are foods to a man's liking. He also finds that bakers' cookies and cupcakes are easy to carry and satisfy the desire for a sweet dessert.

Shore Fish Fry
Clean perch, roll in either bread crumbs or corn meal. Pan fry in small amount of hot fat in skillet, turning fish so that both sides brown evenly. When done, remove bones and place fish file; between split-buttered frankfurter buns. Warm the buns—add home—in a pan near the hot coals. Serve with tomatoes, dill pickles, tartar sauce and Roast Corn.

Roast Corn On Cob
(6 unhusked ears of corn)
Remove silk from corn by laying husks back, then returning them to their original position. Fasten husks in place with fine wire at center and near tip of cob. Roast on outdoor grill rack for about ten minutes, turning them often so that all surfaces are exposed to the heat. Snap the wires with wire cutter, husk the ears, with gloves, and serve.

Peach Recipes, Old-Fashioned And Modern, Rated High For Popularity

The peach has a long and interesting history. Ancient Chinese literature, prior to 2000 B. C., praises the "Tao," Chinese for peach, where it became a symbol for long life. Even though the Latin name means Persia and the scientific name "Prunus Persica" suggests Persian origin, the fruit is not mentioned in early Hebrew literature.

Not until more than 300 years B. C. do Persian records include the fruit, at which time it is also included in Greek writings. From Greece it must have gone to Rome, Virgil being the first to name it in Roman literature. There were those who believed the oval fruit to contain deadly poison; but some resourceful Romans instilled the idea that when transplanted, the peach lost its deadly poison, and in the first century A. D. Roman peach eaters are said to have paid as much as $4.50 for a single peach!

Then the fruit found its way into Southern Europe, and through Spanish explorers came to the New World. By the sixteenth century there were three types of peaches in Mexico. The early colonists all planted peaches with the establishment of their settlements.

Just when the earliest peach appeared in the Carolinas is not known, but in 1670 a leader of the English Colony which later settled permanently at Charleston, spoke of "seeing on St. Helena Island many peach trees."

While the peach crop may be somewhat short this year because of dry weather, this plump, golden fruit is pouring into the market now and can be found in ample and superlative form at your local grocery store.

With the foregoing in mind, we think it is timely to feature the peach and pass along to you some peach recipes, which are but a drop in the bucket to the thousands of delightful things that can be done with the peach.

PEACH ICE CREAM
Let's begin with one of the most delicious uses of this succulent fruit, and try peach ice cream made in an old-fashioned hand-turned freezer. Those of you who grew up on a farm; probably still have that fresh peach ice cream taste in your mouth—made from the fruit picked right off the trees

Mustard Gives Tang To Salad

A shimmering gelatin salad does wonderful things for any meal—especially when it's chock full of refreshing fresh peaches and plump sweet prunes. The mustard spiked gelatin makes this "Peachy Prune Gelatin Salad" a real appetite rouser!

PEACHY PRUNE GELATIN SALAD
1 cup cooked prunes
1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
1 1/2 cups hot water
Few drops hot sauce
4 teaspoons prepared mustard
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup fresh peach slices
Salad greens

Cut prunes from pits into pieces. Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add hot sauce and chill until slightly thickened. Blend mustard into mayonnaise. Dice peaches and fold into thickened gelatin with prunes and mayonnaise. Turn into oiled mold and chill until firm. Unmold onto garnished salad plate.

Serves 4.

BLUEBERRY SAUCE GOOD
2 cups fresh blueberries
2-3 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1-16 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice

Mash blueberries. Combine sugar, cornstarch, salt, and lemon juice, and add to crushed blueberries. Cook only until clear and slightly thickened (1 to 2 minutes). Chill. Serve over plain cake, ice cream or custard desserts. Yield: 2 cups.

Meat Cut Ideas For Only Two
With a wise selection of meat, homemakers who cook for two can easily plan interesting menus without fear of mealtime monotony. Here are some meat suggestions made by the meat expert Reba Staggs.

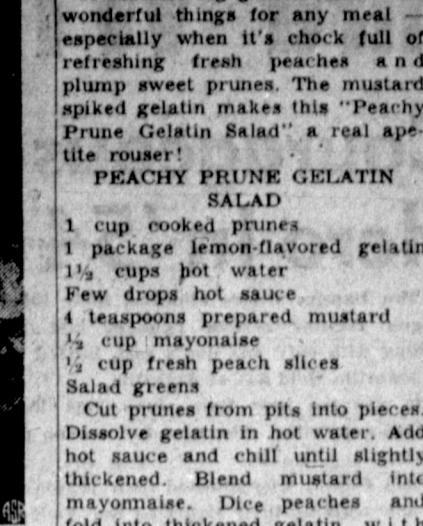

First, choose a pork loin roast for preparing two meals. When you purchase the roast, ask your meat retailer to loosen the chine bone from the rib side and remove. With this bone loosened, chops for the first meal can be easily cut from one end, leaving a nice roast for the second meal.

A thick arm bone pot-roast is another good buy when cooking for two. For one meal, cut cubes from the round end for a summer one-dish stew. Then divide the remaining portion in half. Use one section for braising as a pot-roast. The other half may be cut into individual servings for Swiss or country-fried steak.

and heat to luke warm, stirring so the sugar will be well ended. Add lemon juice. Then add the dissolved junket tablets, and mix well. Pour instantly into freezer churn and let stand 20 to 30 minutes, undisturbed, until the junket has set. Turn in the freezer until the mixture begins freezing slightly. Open the freezer and add the mashed peaches, continue turning until frozen. (This adding the peaches after the ice cream begins freezing eliminates any possibility of the milk and peaches curdling—there are some theories that this isn't necessary, but it is always safe if there's any doubt.)

Use quick-cooking tapioca instead of flour for thickening the milk base of a cheese souffle to keep the souffle high and light in weight.

Ham With a Tang For Picnics

To enjoy ham at its best for summer picnics or cold-cut feasts, take a tip from our pioneering forefathers. They had some clever ideas about cooking, many of which had been all but forgotten. A recent biography of Senator Henry Clay revived this favorite recipe used by the great Kentuckian when he entertained in the nation's capital. His constituent and close friend, Dr. James Crow, was responsible for the unusual ingredient which gave the ham a tang and in some mysterious way made carving easier.

For the perfect picnic meat... served hot or sliced cold... in the historic summer tradition, try this tangy recipe on your family and friends.

Glazed Picnic Ham
10-12 pound ham
1 cup Old Crow Bourbon
1 cup brown sugar
Whole cloves
Maraschino cherries

To bake, wrap the ham loosely in heavy waxed paper or aluminum foil (this is a modern improvement!) and place it on a rack in a shallow pan. Be sure to set the fat side up. Set oven to moderate heat of 325°F. (this temperature control is another modern improvement), for 3 1/2 hours (proportionately shorter for lighter weights, and 2 hours for pre-cooked ham).

After 2 1/2 hours, remove the foil from the ham. Using a small sharp paring knife, slit the rind and remove it, then slash the fat criss-cross.

Decorate the ham with maraschino cherry halves and cloves. Then mix the glaze syrup of brown sugar and bourbon, and baste the ham before returning it to the oven. Then baste it with pan drippings, and return to oven. Baste at ten-minute intervals until the ham is finished, using the remainder of the "Crow syrup glaze" and pan drippings.

Banana Tarts Are An Easy Dessert

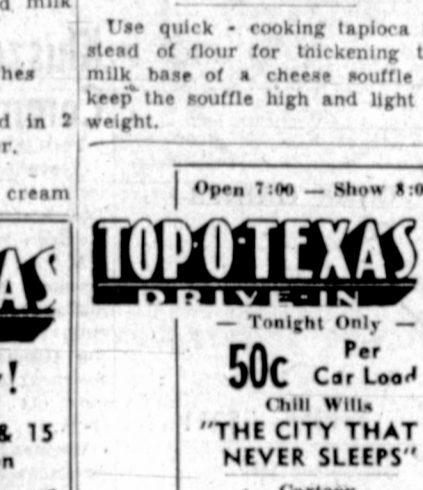

It's all owing to packaged pie mix that a half-dozen delightful chocolate banana tarts can be made for a party or a family dessert without the homemaker spending time she can ill afford to spare in their preparation.

Smooth, glossy chocolate pudding plus the pungent flavor of fully ripened bananas are placed spoon by spoon, and slice by slice, into crisp tart shells which have been baked at some previous time and stored in the refrigerator (or bakery bought at the last minute).

Just before serving, the tarts are prettily garnished with sweetened whipped cream—and behold!—a dessert fit for the connoisseur or for your hungry children.

CHOCOLATE BANANA CREAM TARTS
1 package chocolate-flavored pudding and pie filling mix
2 cups milk
Banana slices
1/2 cup whipping cream
Combine pie filling mix and milk in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat. Cool only about 5 minutes, stirring once or twice. Cover bottom of tart shells with pudding, add banana slices, and cover with remaining pudding. Whip cream, sweetening to taste. Garnish tarts with whipped cream.

MAKE FRIENDS MANNERS

The Joneses go on theory that it is too much trouble to try to teach their children to take care of furniture, and say they'll wait until the children are older to get anything "good." Meantime, their children treat others' furniture as roughly as they treat their own's.

Anyone who goes by the Joneses' theory should keep their children at home.

Oilers Clinch Third WT-NM League Straight Season Flag

Press Box Views

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

CONGRATULATIONS ARE IN ORDER TODAY to the Pampa Oilers for nailing down the West Texas-New Mexico League straight-away season pennant for the third time in history last night in Amarillo.

Although the Oilers will not be benefitted (financially) over winning the full season flag, it is quite an honor to outdistance all other teams in the league over the full season route.

It's a shame that the straight-season champ isn't considered the "official" league champion. Winner of the Shaughnessy Playoffs is considered the official champ.

We have never figured out why a pool isn't made from a portion of the gate receipts during the year to present the straight-season champion at the end of the year. Even if one cent out of every paid admission during the year was taken out for this pool, it would amount to quite a pot for the first-place team over the regular season route.

As it is, the full season winner doesn't realize a penny for their accomplishment.

We have heard many fans ask "why do they have a playoff at the end of the season?" Well, the answer is that it's the only way the minor leagues can survive. If the battle for first place in

Courageous Gaines Hero In '54 Finale

The Pampa Oilers clinched their third West Texas-New Mexico League regular season pennant last night when Jonas Gaines, pitching with only one day's rest, hurled the Oilers to a 2-5 win over the Amarillo Gold Sox at Amarillo.

It was the first time since 1950 that the Oilers had won the straight-away flag. The first full season pennant for the Oilers came in 1946.

The Oilers, who finished their regular season schedule last night, are now training their sights on the Abilene Blue Sox who will be the first Oiler foe in the Shaughnessy Playoffs. The playoffs will get underway Saturday night at Oiler Park.

The other opening playoff series will send Amarillo to Clovis Saturday night.

Pampa and Clovis will host the first two games of the best-out-of-seven series. The series will switch to Abilene and Amarillo for games No. 3, 4 and 5 (if necessary). Then, if the series still isn't decided by the fifth game, the series will switch back to Pampa and Clovis for the remainder of the series.

Winner of the two series will claim in another seven-game set for the official 1954 WT-NM championship.

The Oilers have won only one playoff previously. The Pampanos won the 1946 playoffs and then won the Little Dixie Series with the East Texas League champions. The Little Dixie Series, however, no longer exists since the East Texas loop is now disbanded.

Gaines and first baseman Doug Lewis were the Oiler heroes in last night's victory at Amarillo. While Gaines was going the route to pick up his 16th win of the season, Lewis furnished the big bat with a grand slam homer in the second inning that gave the Oilers the lead they never lost.

Amarillo, who had taken a 3-1 lead in the first inning, kept threatening to catch up throughout the remainder of the tilt but Gaines thwarted their efforts with some fine clutch pitching.

It was the second win for Gaines in three nights. He had defeated Plainview Monday night in the first game of a doubleheader.

The Oilers are 1 1/2 games ahead of second place Clovis. The Oilers are idle Thursday and Friday nights—the final two days of the season—and beyond the reach of the Pioneers even if they win

Howie Boles, a slugger, and Karl Spooner, a southpaw strike-out artist, were the toast of their respective Oklahoma City and Fort Worth ball clubs Thursday in the wake of the opening round playoff games in the Texas League.

Boles, slugged three home runs and drove in five as Oklahoma City knocked off Houston 9 to 5, while Spooner hurled a four-hit, 12-inning masterpiece and fanned 13 as the Cats trimmed Shreveport 3 to 2.

A crowd of 9,281 fans saw the game at Houston and 7,122 turned out at Shreveport. Second games will be played at Shreveport and Houston Thursday night before the games switch to Oklahoma City and Fort Worth.

Fort Worth broke a 2-all deadlock in the top of the 12th to give Spooner, a 21-game winner during the season, a well-deserved victory.

Kluszewski Takes Commanding Lead

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9—UP—Seventeen homers in 30 days—that's the fantastic rate at which Ted Kluszewski of the Cincinnati Redlegs is slugging 'em.

Muscular Ted, the major leagues' home run leader, began his spree on Aug. 10 with a circuit clout off Johnny Antonelli of the Giants and followed that up the next day with a pair of wallops off Warren Hacker of the Cubs.

Wednesday night he tagged Murry Dickson of the Phillies for his 45th homer of the season. He now leads runner-up Willie Mays of the Giants by six blows in the race for the homer championship.

GROOM TIGERS—Shown above is the 1954 edition of the Groom Tigers of District 1-B. The young and inexperienced Tigers have played one game already, losing to Farwell, 25-6. The Tiger chance of a win over Farwell was dimmed when their starting quarterback was injured on the third offensive play of the game. The Groom squad, from left to right, is:

and Robert Hermesmeier, student manager. THIRD ROW—Head coach Weldon (Doc) Bates, Max Reno, Jimmie Eschle, Gerald Hermesmeier, Frank Neil and Ernest Weller and assistant coach W. H. Groom Tigers Believed To Be Youngest Schoolboy Eleven

The other lettermen returning from last year's team that compiled a very respectable 4-3 record are Donnie Black, Kenneth Friemel, Gerald Hermesmeier, Ronald Homer, Bobby Husted, Glen Morrill, Leon Schaeffer and Doug Whatley.

Bates, who played football at West Texas State four years (1946-50) says his '54 team has a lot of spirit and desire but is shy on experience. "But I believe the kids will do all right this season even though they are lacking the experience," Bates added.

Bates believes Leon Anglin is the brightest prospect he has ever coached. Anglin is only a freshman and has already gained a starting berth. Anglin is a 180-pound end.

The four sophomores on the starting lineup for the Tigers are tackle Ernest Weller; end Kenneth Friemel; quarterback Gerald Hermesmeier; and fullback Allen Babcock.

The four juniors on the starting eleven are guard Donnie Black and Glen Morrill; center Bobby Husted; tackle Ronald Homer; halfback Austin Burgin and wing back Jimmy Eschle are the two seniors on the starting 11.

Groom is represented by a good majority of its male students on the football field. Only 41 boys are registered at Groom High School, but 30 are out for football, three are serving as managers and two more are ineligible to play.

Assisting Bates this season is Cuby Kitchens, former coach of White Deer, Kitchens, a graduate of West Texas State, is just returning to the coaching field after two years in the service.

Livingston Signs Beaumont Contract

BEAUMONT, Sept. 7—UP—Manager Mickey Livingston was set Tuesday for another year at the helm of the Beaumont Exporters.

Livingston signed his 1955 contract at home plate between games of Monday night's season-ending doubleheader against Shreveport.

The former major league catcher managed at Shreveport last season but was fired last winter by Sport owner Bonneau Peters because he refused to give up his interest in a Shreveport tavern.

Tommy Byrne, whose pitching and hitting gave him his first major league win of the year, and helped the Yankees to an 8 to 2 victory over the Orioles.

Wynn Wins 20th As Tribe Holds On

By MILTON RICHMAN

United Press Sports Writer

The Indians set a new all-time victory mark for Cleveland clubs Thursday, and kept threatening one of the Yankees' most frustrating years.

Early Wynn defeated the Athletics 5 to 2 Wednesday night to protect the Tribe's 4-1-2 game lead and become a 20-game winner for the third time in his career. He thus joined teammate Bob Lemon in the elite 20-game set.

The victory was Cleveland's 99th of the season, one more triumph than the previous Indian high-water mark compiled by the Tribe's 1920 team and two more victories than the 1948 world champion Indians were able to register.

Near Percentage Record

In beating the Athletics with the aid of Vic Wertz' 13th homer, Cleveland increased its percentage to .712, only two points off the league's highest total compiled by the Yankees' famed "Murderers Row" in 1927. Under the late Miller Huggins, the Yankees won 100 games and lost but 44 that year for a .714 percentage.

Under Al Lopez, who was barely beginning to learn the baseball ropes with Jacksonville, Fla., in 1927, the Indians have lost only 40 games so far this season.

Cleveland has 15 more games left and should the Indians win 12 of them, the Yankees' all-time American League record will go by the boards.

The Yankees, who still nurse a faint hope of overtaking the Tribe, defeated Baltimore 8 to 2 with the help of an old flame-thrower, southpaw Tommy Byrne, purchased from the Pacific Coast League only Saturday. Byrne, famed for his wildness in his previous tenure with the Yankees, walked only four and contributed a triple and a double with the bases full.

Morris Martin limited Washington to two hits for 1-3 innings but needed Don Johnson's aid in the ninth to gain a 2 to 1 victory for the White Sox.

The Red Sox knocked out Steve Gromek with a three-run burst in the first inning and went on to defeat the Tigers 5 to 3. Frank

Durocher Pulling For Indians To Win American Loop Flag

By MILTON RICHMAN
NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—UP—They say in the dugouts: "What's this about southpaws beginning to give Ted Williams trouble?"

Fact remains Ted has homered off only one left-hander this year—Chicago's Billy Pierce on Aug. 4.

Giant Manager Leo Durocher can't wait for Cleveland to clinch. He believes he can "read" the Indian pitchers' deliveries from seeing 'em so often in spring exhibitions the past few years.

Opposing pitchers agree Willie Mays isn't pulling the fast ball as well as he did in June and July but he merely laughs about it and says, "I never wanted to be strictly a pull hitter."

A couple of Cleveland players have challenged Marion Fricano of the Athletics to a bout any time or any place he wants.

Some hitters who have watched him throw batting practice insist that Frank Bauman, who recently joined the Red Sox, will be the American League's rookie of the year in 1955.

Pittsburgh second baseman Curt Roberts is hailed as "the best in the league at charging slow hit balls." His short, chunky legs give Roberts a natural advantage, they say.

Bob Feller's capsule comparison between the current Indians and the Cleveland club that won the World Series in 1948:

"Ours is a much better pitching club than that one but the 1948 club was a far better hitting club."

You can't convince Duke Snider of the Dodgers that home plate is located in the proper place in the Polo Grounds.

"I don't know what it is," he says, "but I'd swear it ain't where it's supposed to be."

The Cardinals' pitching had been so bad until recently that one St. Louis reserve used to stick his head out of the dugout 15 minutes before game-time, take a quick look and comment: "I just wanna see who I'm gon-

Midland and Roswell held 2-1 leads in games Thursday in their best-of-seven playoff series against Artesia and Carlsbad in the Longhorn League.

The Rockets blasted Carlsbad 21 to 12 Wednesday night as big Joe Bauman, pro baseball's new home run leader, slammed his first homer in the playoffs but his third of the season.

Frank Pickens of Midland hurled five-hit ball as the Indians downed Artesia 8 to 1 before 1,500 fans at Midland.

The four games will be played at Midland and Roswell Thursday night. Hank Williams is slated for mound duty for Carlsbad against Ray Faust for Roswell, and Wayne Goodell, Artesia's 19-year-old rookie with an 18-6 regular season's mark is scheduled against Romo Soto (13-6) at Midland.

8th Player Quits Aggies But Bear Denies Any Dissension

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Sept. 9.—UP—Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant, hired from Kentucky on a six-year, $90,000 contract to rebuild Texas A&M's football fortunes, was going ahead Thursday with apparent confidence despite the fact eight players have quit within a week.

Bryant can ill afford to lose players. The Texas Aggie squad is one of the slimmest in years. But Bryant, a hard taskmaster when it comes to conditioning, may be making it into one of the toughest.

The eight players who quit refused to admit there was any disharmony on the team. They gave various reasons for giving up their athletic scholarships, and some gave no reason at all.

Jack Finney, a school director who was instrumental in hiring Bryant away from Kentucky where he had built a series of powerhouse teams, said he still had confidence in the former Alabama star.

"I feel sure that in time, he will have the Aggies back on a par with the South (Southwest) Conference schools," Finney said.

Another close observer of the Aggie football squad said it appeared Bryant was "attempting to build that team and refuses to concede anybody his berth on the team. Those who aren't quitting don't think he's too hard a taskmaster."

But Bryant has already lost some of the men expected to be key players this fall. Fred Broussard, rugged 225-pound junior center from Dequincy, La., and the only experienced pivot man on the squad, was the latest to quit. Bryant announced that Broussard "decided to play no more football. That's all there is to it. We parted on agreeable terms."

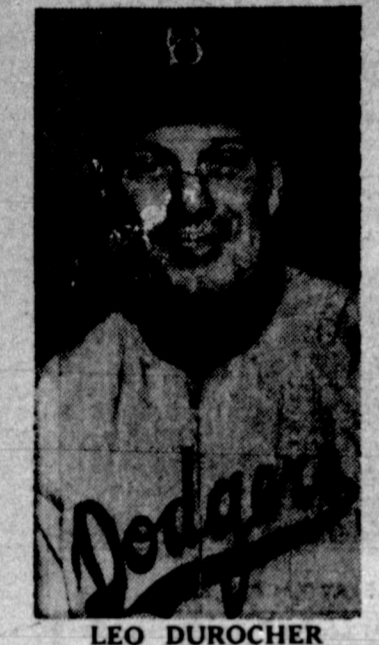

Those who have quit the squad and given up their football scholarships are Joe Boring, two-letter-man halfback; Ivan Greenhaw, reserve center from Dallas; Dave Smith, reserve quarterback from Lockhart, Tex.; sophomore center Barton Griffith of Humble, Tex.; sophomore tackle Charles Moore of Texarkana, Tex.; sophomore quarterback Charles Ritchey of Lafayette, La., and junior letterman tackle Foster Teague of Bossier City, La.

Patricia McCormick, shown here in 1952 working bull into position for "kill", suffered serious pelvic injuries after a 1,350-pound bull gored her in the groin as she turned her back on him to accept cheers of crowd during fight in Ciudad Acuna, Mexico, arena Sunday.

Shivers Serves Warning On National Democratic Party

AUSTIN, Sept. 9—UP—Gov. Allan Shivers served defiant warning Wednesday that if the national Democratic party wants help from Texas in 1956, National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell must be replaced by a "strong, middle-of-the-road man."

"I think then there would be opportunity to secure a presidential nominee acceptable to the South and Southwest," he told a press conference.

Shivers, sporting pearl-handled six-shooter cuff links, met newsmen in his first formal press conference since his run-off election victory.

He said his nomination to an unprecedented third term by Texas Democrats "represents a re-statement of independence on behalf of the Texas electorate."

"I was particularly gratified at the affirmative answer given the speech I made in San Antonio in which I said the future of Allan Shivers was unimportant — but it was important that future office holders could place the interest of the state above politics."

"That's what I did in 1952," the governor added. That was the year when Shivers supported Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican nominee, after Adlai Stevenson refused to back Texas' claim to the tidelands.

"When you scrape off the barnacles and side issues, the campaign boiled down that," he added.

The governor smilingly brushed off a statement by Republican National Committeeman H. J. (Jack) Porter that the GOP vote in Texas turned the tide for Shivers in the run-off election.

"That puts him in the same bucket with Yarborough and Jack Kroll. They all said the same thing," Shivers commented.

Kroll is a CIO leader. Austin attorney Ralph Yarborough was Shivers' unsuccessful primary opponent for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Votes accorded Yarborough, the governor said, were "votes against Allan Shivers — not for Texas. They were just using Yarborough as a means toward an attempted end."

He expressed belief "90 per cent of the votes in Texas are Democratic of one shade or another." Texas, he added, will probably stay Democratic "for years to come."

Shivers made it clear he intends to run the coming state Democratic convention at Mineral Wells — including a hand-picked selection of the State Democratic Executive committee.

District caucus nominations for places on the 62-member committee will be accepted, he said, "except from unfriendly districts."

"You mean you want to look at them (the nominees)?" the governor was asked.

"You bet your boots," he answered.

The convention, if it chose to, could name a successor to national Adlai Stevenson in 1952, was purged by the national committee.

THIS JOKER LACKED MANNERS OF A SIR FRANCIS DRAKE

SAN RAFAEL, Calif., Sept. 9—UP—Marit county police Tuesday sought the "wise guy" who put a detour sign on the Sir Francis Drake highway over the weekend steering holiday traffic through an abandoned railroad tunnel.

State Harvesting In Final Stages

AUSTIN, Sept. 9—UP—Harvest of mature crops moved rapidly over most of Texas last week as hot, open weather depleted needed moisture from earlier scattered showers, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported Wednesday.

Wheat seeding in some areas has been delayed as farmers hope for more showers.

However, in the northern counties of the High Plains, some early plantings were up to a stand, and considerable volunteer acreage will be kept for early pasture, the USDA said.

In central and eastern counties, where winter pasture is "desperately needed," additional oats were dusted in.

The cotton harvest was active throughout South, Central and East Texas. The harvest was virtually completed in the Valley and coastal bend, while growers in the upper coastal counties made good progress in harvesting the crop. With continued open weather, the USDA predicted the job should be completed "in another couple of weeks."

Condition of dryland sorghums remained good in northern high plains. However, additional rains were needed for the late crop throughout that area. The harvest remained active in the low rolling plains, but mostly completed elsewhere, the USDA reported.

The corn harvest neared completion in Central and East Texas. Harvest of peanuts was underway in North Central Texas, and a "very light harvest" started in East Texas.

Conditions were favorable in most fall and early commercial vegetable areas, the USDA said. All crops growing in these areas are under irrigation. Cooler night temperatures and open weather hastened growth and allowed active cultivation.

Dry range and pasture feed reserves were getting progressively shorter over most of Texas, the USDA warned.

AF Sergeant Held In Series Of Attacks

TITUSVILLE, Fla., Sept. 9—UP—A 28-year-old Air Force sergeant from Texas, who said he is the father of four children, was held in county jail here Wednesday on charges of raping a teen-aged girl.

Sgt. Herbert Donald Denny of Devine, Tex., stationed at Orlando Air Force Base, was identified as the man suspected of attacking several women in north and central Florida.

He was arrested in Tallahassee Sunday on a traffic charge and turned over to Brevard county officials Tuesday. Sheriff Bill Joyce at Tallahassee said the airman's auto led officers to investigate after Denny was first arrested.

Joyce said that the 19-year-old Titusville girl identified the soldier as her attacker and that a Tallahassee woman and a Madison, Fla., woman also picked Denny out of a police line-up as the man who molested them over the weekend.

Denny would not talk about the charges against him, Joyce said. The airman claimed he had just taken his wife and four children to his Texas home and was returning to Orlando when picked up for the traffic violation.

Murder's Okay, but No Fishing

When Private Detective Jimi Dunn went fishing he was told by a young man in a speedboat that the fish belonged to a lady who didn't want them caught. And then Dunn finds that this woman was certain someone in her family had gotten away with murder. And another murder followed, but Dunn made it a point to see that the guilty party didn't get away.

Vote Fraud Probe Asked

HOUSTON, Sept. 9—UP—District Attorney Ewing Werlein Wednesday said he may put a special investigator to work on charges of vote fraud involving Precinct 251 at Crosby.

The precinct, which lists 282 qualified voters, returned 324 votes for Ralph Yarborough and none for Gov. Allan Shivers in the Aug. 28 runoff election.

J. W. Bush, who was listed as having cast a ballot, gave Werlein a sworn statement saying he was in Oklahoma getting married, when he was supposed to have voted.

Werlein said "this is something that should be looked into."

Duo Indicted In Extortion Plot Against Jewish Families

DALLAS, Sept. 9—UP—A federal grand jury Tuesday indicted two brothers for a $200,000 extortion attempt against 20 prominent Dallas Jewish families last spring.

The brothers, James Hollis Jones, 49, of Dallas, and Ralph Franklin Jones, 42, of Houston, will be tried during the September term of court.

The indictments charged James with mailing a threatening letter and assaulting a federal agent, and Ralph as an accessory.

The government said they mailed threats to such persons as Stanley Marcus, president of Nieman-Marcus specialty store, and Julius Schepps, 57, liquor dealer and civic leader.

James Jones was arrested May 10 in East Dallas after the FBI set a trap. A package supposedly containing the $20,000 demanded in extortion letters was tossed from a car. He was nabbed as he scrambled down a bank after the package. During the struggle, a pistol he was carrying fired, resulting in the assault charge. Ralph Jones was arrested at a Dallas motel a short time later.
