UF Sets Goal At $45,150

Advance, General Drive Chairs Filled

United Fund's board of directors Tuesday night approved the 1954 drive goal of $45,150 and picked three of the four special drive chairmen; Drive is slated for Oct. 5 with the advance drive one week earlier — Sept. 28. One Chairman Not Named Named were Charles B. Cook, advance drive chairman; Irvin Cole, rural drive chairman; and Warren Hasse, general drive chairman. Yet to be selected is the chairman of the industrial drive, John Campbell, overall drive chairman, said late this morning. Cook is a former president of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce. Cole ran the rural drive a year ago. And Hasse has chaired the March of Dimes drive in the county. The advance, rural and general drives are all part of the Oct. 5 drive. Representatives of some of the eight participating agencies were on hand Tuesday night for the fund's board meeting. Campbell said. After 45 minutes of discussion, the recommendation of the fund's budget and admissions committee was put to a vote and passed. Survey On Now Dr. J. B. Veale, Jr., United Fund president, told the directors the survey of all Pampa business and industrial houses should be completed by the end of the week. Four Pampa women are making the rounds this week, getting information for the fund's card system whereby each employe will be solicited in the drive. There is no house-to-house canvass. No further meeting of the fund's board of directors has been scheduled, Campbell said.

Brazil Reds Lead Riots

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 25 — UP — Troops with submachine guns stood guard Wednesday on every street corner in central Rio, alert for any renewal of the mob violence that followed President Getulio Vargas' suicide. Communist-led rioters ran wild in Brazil's principal cities after Vargas killed himself Tuesday, attacking official and private U. S. offices and opposition newspapers and radio stations. At least three persons were killed and 15 injured in clashes between troops and the armed mobs that attacked American consulates in Porto Alegre and Belo Horizonte and Porto Alegre branch of the National City Bank. A cordon of 625 heavily-armed Brazilian soldiers stationed around the eight-story, all-glass U. S. embassy here had to fire into the air to disperse a mob that charged the building. U. S. Had No Part The United States had nothing to do with the crisis that led to Vargas' death, but Communist agitators seized on the occasion to whip up anti-American sentiment. Rioters swept opposition newspapers from the newsstands here and burned them in the streets. Mobs attacked the offices of the anti-government newspaper Tribuna da Imprensa and the Globo radio station. Carlos Lacerda, editor of Tribuna and target of the assassination attempt that touched off the crisis, fled with his family to Galeao air base.

TAKES LIFE — Mob violence in Rio de Janeiro follows suicide Tuesday of Brazilian President Getulio Vargas, who had ruled country for almost a quarter of a century.

Dixon-Yates Power Pact To Be Aired

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 — UP — Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell has accepted a challenge to appear before a congressional committee to back up his "scandal" charges against the proposed Dixon-Yates power contract. Mitchell told Chairman W. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.) of the House-Senate Atomic Energy committee that he would be "glad" to appear before the committee to present 10 questions he has raised against the contract. Cole urged Mitchell to testify at hearings on the contract the committee has scheduled for Sept. 2. Cole said he extended the invitation because of Mitchell's "repeated intemperate charges against President Eisenhower."

County Record Set By Absentee Vote

The deadline for absentee voting in Saturday's Democratic runoff primary passed at midnight Tuesday with the highest vote recorded for any runoff in Gray County's history. A total of 342 was registered in the office of County Clerk Charles Thut by late this morning. Of that figure, 306 had voted in person and 36 more by mail. Still out were 17 ballots that could be counted as long as they are post-marked before the midnight deadline and received in Thut's office by 1 p.m. Saturday. The Gray County absentee vote mirrors that over the state. The gubernatorial race between incumbent Allan Shivers and Challenger Ralph Yarborough is generally conceded to be pulling out the vote. But in Gray County there are two other races stimulating high interest. County Judge J. B. Maguire, Jr., is opposed by Former County Judge Bruce Parker for that office. And County Commissioner (Pct. 2) W. E. (Bill) Jarvis has G. L. (Nate) Lunsford for an opponent in his bid for a second term. Today was the deadline for those four men to file their second and final round of political expenses and all of them have done so. The reports: Maguire, $266.71; Parker, $16.71; Jarvis, $54.40; and Lunsford, $5. Most of the money, candidates reported, was for advertising and matches. The sheriff's office sometime today was to take out the "boxes" and other election supplies to the county's 18 voting precincts.

Pals Keeping News Carrier In Business

A 14-year-old Pampa youngster, who suffered a brain concussion when he was hit by an automobile, today has three of his fellow Pampa Daily News associates to thank for keeping his paper route going while he was in bed. Emmitt Calfy, a kid with a big mop of well-combed hair who lives at 913 Denver, was riding a motor scooter several weeks ago when the car hit his scooter. So three of his buddies at The News undertook to keep his paper route going and turned over the two weeks' profits to him when he got better. Young Emmitt still is not back at work, but that two weeks' profits is one thing that is making him feel better. Handling his route for him were Virgil McAnally, 727 Malone, district supervisor; Fred Thurman, 500 N. Warren, a street seller; and Gene Clark, 1216 E. Francis, another route boy. The three came into The News Tuesday afternoon, met Emmitt and turned over the money. Emmitt will be off work for another three weeks, it is reported. As far as the smiling look he had on his face Tuesday afternoon is concerned, though, he is ready now to begin again flinging his papers every afternoon. It has been a rough summer for Emmitt in more than one way. The first night of the Top of Texas Rodeo he lost his bill fold.

Korea War Dead To Be Exchanged

SEOUL, Aug. 25 — UP — United Nations and Communist officials next month will carry out the final step in the Korea truce agreement — exchange of war dead whose remains are in enemy hands. The Communists will deliver the bodies of 4,011 Allied soldiers who fell in battle or died in prison camps. The UN will return 14,000 bodies of Red Chinese and North Korean soldiers. Military scientists are setting up an elaborate system to make positive identification of the Allied bodies when the exchange, called "Operation Glory," begins Sept. 1. Even when bodies are tagged with identification by the Communists, an investigation will be made.

Texas Vote Record Looms

By UNITED PRESS A new Democratic primary voting record appeared in the making Wednesday as county clerks tallied up the number of absentee ballots cast for the second primary election coming up Saturday. The state's more populous counties reported new all-time high marks in absentee voting, indicating that the primary record of 1,384,292 set in the 1952 first primary might easily be surpassed. Figures in nearly every county were running well or far ahead of last month's first primary absentee balloting when 1,350,757 Democrats went to the polls. The previous second Democratic primary high balloting came in 1946, which also was the last time that a Texas gubernatorial race extended into the second primaries. In that election, the late Ben Buford Jester, won by almost two to one over Homer P. Rainey with 1,066,672 votes cast.

Rescuers Locate Wrecked Airliner

AMSTERDAM, Holland, Aug. 25 — UP — The wreckage of a New York to Amsterdam DC-6B Royal Dutch airliner was found in 65 feet of water off Holland's North Sea coast early Wednesday. A spokesman for the KLM Airlines said salvage vessels located the plane's shattered fuselage, found some "mortal remains" and picked up additional bits of debris including parts of the interior cabin.

Formosa Aid Being Talked

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 — UP The administration is conducting high-level discussions to decide if American protection of Formosa should be extended to a chain of islands off the Red-Chinese mainland, it was learned Wednesday. The talks, between top State and Defense Department policy planners, were prompted by repeated threats of the Communist invasion of the Nationalist-held bastion of Formosa. Although American military officials don't believe an attack on Formosa is imminent, they do foresee a possibility that the Reds may hit the string of smaller offshore islands held by Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist forces.

Turns Up In State Of Shock

Scarred, Tattooed American Puzzles Dutch, US Officials

ENSCHEDADE, Holland, Aug. 25 — UP — A scarred 31-year-old American turned up raving in a Dutch hospital Wednesday. On his neck were tattooed the words: "No befalls all U.S. fire murderers and gangster pilots." The man said his name was David Samuel Rollins and that he had been subjected to the tattooing in a German prisoner of war camp during World War II. He said he had been an American pilot. But the details he gave police were so foggy that U.S. and Dutch authorities were puzzled. Tattoo In German The tattoo on Rollins' back was in German. It said: "So ergoht es in 1941 and while there met President Eisenhower's son, John, now a major in the Army." The Army officer's serial number Rollins claimed—018785—has too many digits for a West Point number and appeared to be that of a reserve officer. Police said Rollins told them he flew World War II missions as a first lieutenant with the U.S. 36th Bomb Group stationed in Devonshire and was shot down over Holland, captured and sent to a German prisoner camp called "Stalag 17." Officials noted that "Stalag 17" was the name of a postwar Broadway play about life in prison camps.

Eastland Wins Mississippi Vote

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 25 — UP — Sen. James O. Eastland, a segregationist pledging to fight for limited Supreme Court powers, won a sweeping victory for renomination for a third term in Tuesday's Democratic primary over Lt. Gov. Carroll Gartlin. Gartlin, who had charged Eastland of "absenteeism" and siding with Republicans in Congress, conceded defeat at 9:30 p.m. (est), Tuesday night about three and a half hours after returns came pouring in from over the state. He was trailing by 80,000 votes at that point with no chances of winning.

City Youth Project Seeks Incorporators

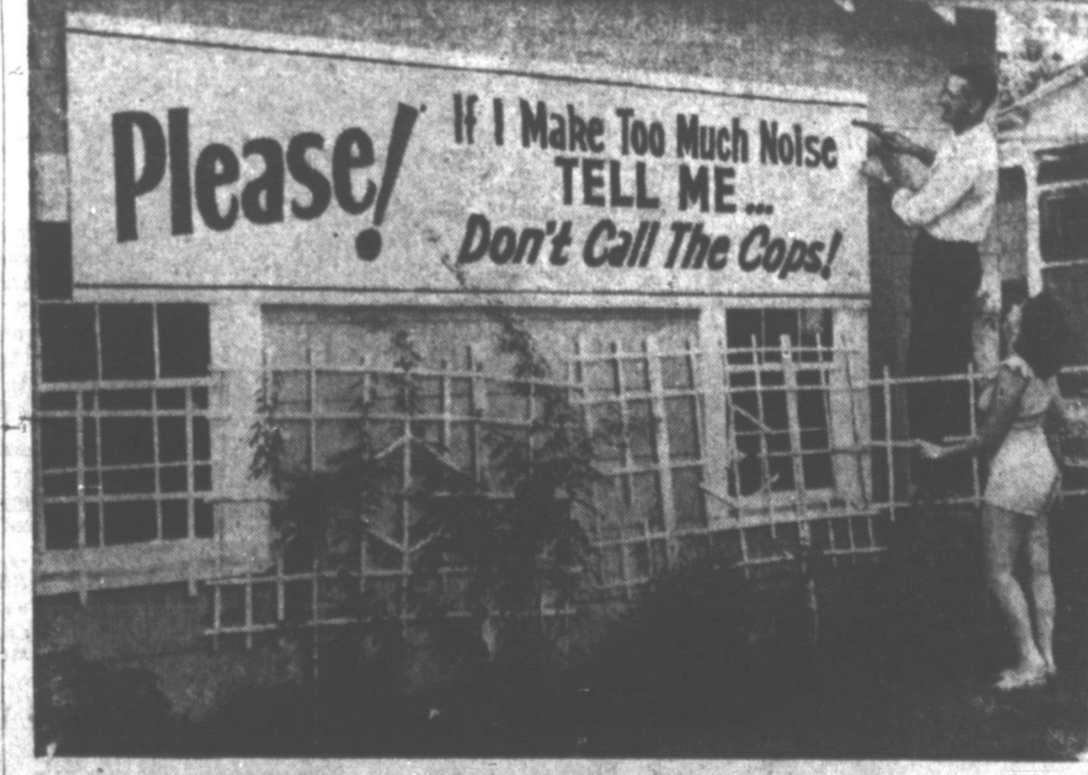

Pampa has till Tuesday to submit a list of 11 persons who will serve as a board of incorporators for the proposed Pampa youth and community center project. An estimated 40 residents were on hand Tuesday night in the Palm Room of City Hall to discuss the project and decide how to go about getting it. Aaron Sturgeon chaired the meeting and it is to him that the lists of 11 will be sent. The elected group will set up a corporation for charity purposes. Then the 11 will hold general public meetings and set up committees to determine the cost and type of the project and figure out how the funds are to be raised and maintained to be handled. Sturgeon appointed a committee to count the votes for incorporators. The 11 receiving the most votes will be elected. On the committee are Fred Neslage, Rufe Jordan, Mrs. Dorothy Statton and Frank Pata. It will be a long-term project, Sturgeon told the assembled group, after several questions had been raised regarding whether it should be a youth center or a combination youth and community center. A decision will come only after the incorporators have held an extensive investigation with various local groups. "It will not be a city or a county government project," he stated emphatically. Mayor Tom Rose, stating he was for the project as an individual. (See YOUTH, Page 3)

Noted Athlete Deserts West

BERLIN, Aug. 25 — UP — A West German track star who wouldn't run in the national championships because of an expense account feud has fled to East Germany. The Communist announced Wednesday. The East German press disclosed the defection of Erich Kruczky, former German 10,000-meter champion, who fled protesting the West's "economic need." He said he wants to "live better" in the East Zone of Germany. Kruczky was the third well-known West German to seek asylum behind the Iron Curtain in a month. The others were West German security chief Dr. Otto John and parliament member Kral Schmidt-Wittmack. Kruczky got West Germany's highest sports decoration from President Theodor Heuss two years ago, and in 1951 won the New Year's Eve international long distance event at Sao Paulo, Brazil. He was born in Dapag, now a part of Poland, 43 years ago but had lived in Hamburg, working since the war in shipyard and then as an office clerk. The Communist said he entered East Germany on Aug. 13 and asked to be "accepted in the Democratic sports movement."

U.S. Protest Is Backed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 — UP — Five nations have joined the United States in objecting to a Sovietly-negotiated pact between Saudi Arabia and Aristotle S. Onassis which gives the Greek shipping magnate unprecedented rights in transporting Arabian oil. Diplomatic and oil industry sources said Britain, Japan, Norway, Sweden and Denmark all strong maritime powers — now have protested that the deal is "monopolistic." The United States entered its protest some time ago, on the same grounds. The sources said intensive behind-the-scenes efforts are being made to have Saudi Arabia call off or modify the agreement with Onassis, owner of the fabulous Monte Carlo casino, who is currently under indictment in connection with a "get rich quick" U.S. surplus tanker deal.

TELLING 'EM OFF ARTISTICALLY — Dick Unteed, of Columbus, Ohio, would rather be dealt with directly instead of through official channels. When someone complained to police of late-night noises in the shop of his garage, Dick retaliated with this sign which says that word to him is sufficient. That's Mrs. Unteed helping with the artistic reply.

PATRON PAYS MEAL TICKET JUST EIGHT YEARS LATE

By UNITED PRESS
NEW YORK, Aug. 25 — UP — Al Newman, a partner in Rosoff's Restaurant, received a check for $1.70 in a letter from a man who said he and his brother slipped out of the restaurant eight years ago without paying their bill. "I'd like to pay off now," the man wrote, "and apologize for trying to beat you out of the check." Newman said the same two meals now would cost $5.50.

Obsolete Traffic Rules Still On Books In Many States

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 — UP — The American Automobile Association has a file of motor laws some obsolete, some still in the books. For instance, in Pennsylvania, a motorist once had to trot a horn within 100 feet of every street crossing. In some states, it was against the law to go over six miles an hour or "for a driver to stand up while operating a gasoline contrivance." An old publication called "The Horseless Carriage," in February, 1914, reported a ruling that when the highways were damaged by the "clash of two cars," the penalty was that the owners of both cars had to sign a paper saying that the road would be repaired. The law didn't say who would pay for the wreckage of either car. No Afternoon Drive. Once in Vermont, there was a bill presented to the state Legislature which forbade the "use of cars on public highways between the hours of noon and midnight." That didn't leave much time for driving. In 1902, the city clerk of Ferguson, Mo., got an inquiry on how folks felt about autos in the town. He put that right down in writing. Said he: "One auto in the country. No anti-feeling. I think everybody around here recognizes it as a coming vehicle."

Parents Plead For Convicted Killer-Son

AUSTIN, Aug. 25 — UP — Members of the Board of Pardons and Paroles here were urged to commute to life imprisonment the death sentence of Walter E. Whitaker Jr., former Air Force cadet convicted of strangling his 18-year-old Lubbock girl friend. "I hope you can find it in your heart to let God be his final judge," his mother told the three-member board. With her were young Whitaker's father; a son, Bruce, 18, and a daughter, Lynne, 16. All are of Wetherfield, Conn., a suburb of Hartford. The family was joined in the plea for clemency by two Lubbock defense attorneys, a housewife from Vernon, where the trial was held under a change of venue; a retired Episcopal clergyman from Wetherfield, and an Austin Lutheran minister who heard Young Whitaker's original oral confession of the crime. Lubbock District Attorney Travis Shelton opposed clemency and told the board, "I believe this man got a fair trial from start to finish." Board Chairman T. B. White said he did not know when the board might announce its decision on the plea. Young Whitaker, who has served a 30-day stay of execution, is scheduled to die Wednesday.

JayCees Hear Agriculture Show Praise

Farming and ranching are responsible for new products and new wealth and are of vast importance to the Panhandle area. Quentin Williams, Pampa Chamber of Commerce agriculture committee chairman, Tuesday noon made these remarks in a speech before the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce. He said that the educational and inspirational worth of such projects as the Top of Texas Agriculture and Livestock Achievement Days, slated Thursday and Friday, are immeasurable. Pampa and the area for 100 miles around have more grain sorghums and Hericots than any other similar area in the entire world, Williams pointed out. The passing-along of new ideas will result in the raising of better crops and better livestock, he insisted. One of the main reasons that agriculture and ranching are of top importance in the Panhandle, Williams said, is that most of the income derived from them stay right in this area. Other businesses pour a large percentage of their income outside the area, he added. Williams concluded his talk with a detailed run-down of this week's two-day program on agriculture and livestock achievement, first of its kind in the area. Thirteen Las Cruces Club members were present for the luncheon, guests of honor of the JayCees who had them dressed as cigarette girls in Saturday's emergency March of Dimes street drive. And there were two other guests, Roy Sparkman and Ed Eaton, the latter from Malden, Mass. JayCee President J. C. Hopkins announced there would be a JayCee-sponsored donkey baseball contest Sept. 10 in Oiler Park.

Tulsa Votes $2 Million For Museum

TULSA, Aug. 25 — UP — Tulsa taxpayers voted almost three to one Tuesday for a $2 million bond issue that will be used to keep a unique collection of Indian art in Tulsa. The collection will be turned over to the city by oilman Thomas Gilcrease, who had said he might move it out of the state if money to pay outstanding debts couldn't be obtained in Oklahoma. A state effort to find funds failed. Gilcrease, in addition to the collection itself, pledged royalties from his holdings in East Texas to retire the bonds and maintain the museum in which the $12 million collection is housed. Gilcrease's financial difficulties, stemming from an ambitious acquisition program and reverses in oil deals were disclosed earlier this year when he announced the University of Texas at Austin was interested in obtaining the collection.

Negro Cabbie Seeks To Enter Texas A & I

KINGSVILLE, Tex., Aug. 25 — UP — A Negro taxi driver said Tuesday he has applied for admission to Texas A & I College, a state-supported institution. He said he will ask the Veterans Administration to take away its approval of the college if he is denied admission. The college president, Dr. E. H. Polpel, said he had referred the application to the college board of directors because the 1920 law setting up the school said it was established "for the white youth of state." "We've had no note that has been changed," Polpel said. Polpel said the Negro, Russell Hayes, 25, an Army veteran, was the first Negro to seek admission to the school since he became president in 1948. "I laid my life on the line for my country. I just want my rights," Hayes said. Hayes said he didn't know why his application should go to the board of directors. "Are any white veterans' applications referred to the board?" he asked. The U. S. Supreme Court has ruled against segregation in schools, but it is still to amplify its ruling with specific rules. Hayes said he wanted to study business administration. After graduation, he said, he hopes to become a certified public accountant. He has driven a taxi in Kingsville since his Army discharge.

PORT O'CONNOR, Tex., Aug. 25—UP—The Coast Guard said Wednesday it had found the wreckage of a mysterious vessel bearing the name Anna Elena washed ashore on Matagorda Island. Six life preservers were floating nearby. The Coast Guard said the wreckage of the Anna Elena has been in the water more than 10 days and it "looks like an unreported sea tragedy." But Coast Guard officials said neither the motor boat registry nor the maritime registry at New Orleans carries any craft by the name of Anna Elena and the ship was not known in this area.

AF To Bolster Seventh Fleet

TOKYO, Aug. 25—UP—American Air Forces based in the western Pacific will join the Seventh Fleet in blocking Red China's threatened invasion of Formosa, an authoritative American military source disclosed Wednesday. "If the Communists really intend to conduct operations against Formosa, they are in for a terrible beating," the high official warned. He said President Eisenhower had responded to the Peiping regime's "trial balloon" on Formosa by declaring a Red invasion would have to deal with the Seventh Fleet. The source said that while the directive to defend Formosa was given to the Seventh Fleet, actually "all (U.S.) forces in position to do so would assist the Seventh Fleet in carrying out its mission."

Off-Base Salute May Return

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25—UP—The Air Force may return to the traditional military custom of hand saluting of military bases. A spokesman said top Air Force officers are now studying a proposal to have enlisted men salute officers when they meet them in public. The officers are expected to come up with a final decision and an order to all commands sometime this week. The Army on Sept. 1 will once again require off-base saluting which it dropped in 1948. The Marine Corps and the Navy officially have never abandoned the hand salute tradition. In the post World War II years, the Air Force followed the lead of the Army in dropping the saluting custom. In recent months, however, there has been a growing feeling among military leaders that less emphasis on democracy in military and more emphasis on rank and military courtesies might produce better esprit de corps and discipline.

Newman, British industrialist who married the widow of Shearn Moody, and Shearn Moody's two sons, W. L. Moody IV and Shearn Moody Jr. The indenture set out the purposes of the foundation as "for religious purposes in the state... to establish support and maintain hospitals, homes and institutions... and to promote health, science and education."

Japanese Petition Urges Atom Bomb Making Stopped

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 25—UP—A petition signed by 23,000 Japanese youths demanded Wednesday that the nations of the world "prohibit the production, use and experimentation of atomic and hydrogen bombs." The petition was to be presented to the section of international affairs at the second assembly of the World Council of Churches. Also scheduled Wednesday was the election of the WCC's six new presidents. The election had been set for Tuesday night, but a last-minute proposal that a layman be included postponed the voting. Petition Ceremony A delegation headed by the Rev. Dr. Michio Kozaki, moderator of the United Church of Christ in Japan, handed the petition to officers of the section at a ceremony in Garrett Hall on the Northwestern University campus in this Chicago suburb. The petition urged the world council to adopt a resolution asking the governments of all nations to ban nuclear weapons, impose international control on atomic energy programs, exert all efforts toward complete abolition of war and work to establish universal peace. "Every nation should prohibit the production, use, and experimentation of atomic and hydrogen bombs," the petition said. "Through international control of atomic energy, atomic power should be utilized for peace." The petition also said that "any nation which engages in the experimentation of atomic and hydrogen bombs should realize its responsibility to immediately and fully offer compensation to the injured." Delay in Election Despite the delay in electing the WCC president, the original six nominees were expected to be chosen Wednesday. They are the Very Rev. John Baillie, Edinburgh, Scotland; Bishop F. K. Otto Dibelius, Berlin, Germany; Bishop Santo Umberto Barbieri, Buenos Aires, Argentina; Metropolitan Mar Thoma Juban on, Malabar, South India; Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill of New York and Archbishop Michael of New York. The surprise motion to postpone the election came from Dr. Martin Niemoller, president of the Evangelical Church in Germany and one-time symbol of Protestant opposition to the Hitler dictatorship. The chairman of the nominating committee, Dr. J. Earl Moreland said the committee met not to propose lay nominees and decided to retain the original slate of churchmen. Moreland added that the committee had received a petition from "more than six delegates" include the name of a very prominent layman.

Ben Sturgeon, president of Pampa High School student council, said he and his fellow students would be grateful for anything U residents of Pampa decided upon. J. C. Hopkins, president of Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, the club that has been pushing the project for the last seven years, said he thought a governing body finally decided it should be "persons of positive rather than persons of personality." And he offered to use $10 of his own money set aside for the project to pay for the center charter.

Aren't people who can make such lovely things with their hands wonderful? I've always envied them terribly. About the only thing I ever made was a sweater — I had to wear the sleeves pushed up all the time as one was too long and one too short! But if you are gifted with artistic abilities, it can be used to such good advantage — for gifts of all kinds — birthdays, anniversaries, Christmas, even wedding presents, bridge prizes, and secret pal gifts.

ONE'S SUCH Pampan is Iris then trace on a design and paint it with asphalt. Acid is poured over the sheet and left on for a period of time governed by how deep an etching you desire. Iris pointed out. The asphalt paint is removed, and there is the design — smooth and shiny. For permanence, Iris then used a plastic spray on the tray.

"I enjoy working with my hands," she stated simply. Iris' hobbies started about four years ago with model airplanes when she was busy being a housewife, mother and working in the Chamber of Commerce office.

"I'd work on them in the evening after I got the children to bed," she explained. But she only does the "solid models," not the flying type.

She then bought an oil painting kit and tried that for a while. One of her paintings is hung in her living room, along with other examples of her handiwork.

"I like to keep the first of everything I try," she stated. "The rest I give away."

WOOD INLAYS
Wood inlays were next on her list — she saw them advertised in a magazine and sent for a kit. Her first, a house surrounded by trees and hills, she made according to a suggested pattern, but later did another of her own design — a deer silhouetted against a background of pines.

"You order different types of wood which give you the various colors," she pointed out. "They come in very thin pieces."

For various shapes, which fit together somewhat like a mosaic to form the picture, a jigsaw is supposed to be used. But Iris didn't have one, so whittled the pieces with an exact knife. After putting them together, she mounted the inlay on a piece of plywood. It makes a very attractive picture.

Cedar Closets Are Housecleaning Aids

Have you ever washed or painted a closet on a warm day? It's hardly a recommended form of relaxation, as any experienced hand will attest.

Yet at housecleaning and decorating time many a busy housewife finds herself in exactly that spot. Her schedule may demand that she carry out such projects whenever she can squeeze in the time. If weather man fails to cooperate by providing a nice cool day, that's just too bad. The job must be done.

Easy maintenance, of course, is merely one bonus feature of cedar closets. They are noted chiefly for their moth-repelling.

RUTH MILLET

If your husband snores it may be just a sign that he loves you, says a British physician who has not forth the theory that snoring may be "based on race memory and that statistically the male snore more than the female."

It snoring is a sign of love — it's one most women would prefer to do without.

And here are a few others most women don't appreciate: A husband's being so content with his home life that he never wants to swap his battered loafers for his dancing shoes. Wanting to stay home every night might be a sign of love but it is about in a class with snoring so far as wives are concerned.

Some even think the fact they married a woman might be proof enough they love her. But no woman is willing to settle for any final sign of love. Women want to hear often that they are loved.

Now and then there is a husband who gets it into his head that the fact that he never worries his wife with his troubles is a sign of his love. But women have no truck with such a notion. If their husbands are worried, they want to know why.

Another sign of love that is almost sure to grow irksome with the years is a man's insistence that only his wife can cook to please him. It loses its appeal as soon as it dawns on his wife that however pretty the compliment the end result is that she never gets taken out to dinner.

Along with a husband's snoring there are these and other so-called signs of love a woman would just as soon get along without.

They will dawdle interminably over making a little sister return the new pearl necklace of an older one. If the older one slips the little one, they will dawdle over the penalty she's to pay.

So I doubt whether stubborn dawdling is a new experience for Greta's mother. Though she's outgrown the tears it used to make her cry, she still sighs over it, instead of being honest about the anger it arouses in her.

North Woods Newspaper Woman Is Staff Of Paper In Log Cabin Headquarters

By GAILLE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK — As publisher of the North Woods Call, Marguerite Gahagan of Johannesburg, Mich., is undoubtedly the only newspaper editor in the country who can throw another log on the fire, turn up the record player and get out a paper. And she works without a telephone. Not only that, she's successful.

This year, she was named Michigan Headliner by the Detroit chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary journalism sorority.

When she started her weekly paper last November, Miss Gahagan swapped a boat of criminal court and recorder's court for a log cabin in the center of Michigan's hunting and fishing country.

Now, The Call is read by people from New York to California and is particularly popular with tourists and cabin owners who like to read about the woods when they must be away from a paper.

As for getting out a paper without a phone, she explains: "There just aren't any telephones in the North Woods. So I travel miles over roads. And people take news tips into my car, wherever it's parked."

The whole town (population about 300) takes a personal interest in the paper and eagerly awaits its arrival each Tuesday.

As a matter of fact, transportation looms as a far larger matter than the "phone problem. If she hears that someone has caught a prize pike, Miss Gahagan may have to drive miles over rutted roads to find out about it. Then she's quite likely to discover that Newspaperwoman turned editor, Marguerite Gahagan puts out her own paper in a log cabin deep in Michigan's North Woods. She's editorial, advertising and circulation departments combined, driving many miles daily to collect and check her material.

Gahagan has little time for anything but The Call.

FRESH SOFT-FLASHED ELBERTA peaches are the base for this wonderful South Carolina Peach Sundae shortcake—super dessert.

Try Peach Sundae Shortcake

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor
During July and August more peaches are sold than any other fresh fruit. So let's make the most of our excellent opportunity.

For a superspecial dessert, use this fresh Elberta peach sundae shortcake. I learned about it on a recent food news-gathering visit to the Piedmont section of South Carolina at the foot of the Blue Ridge Mountains. It's the largest fresh peach producing and shipping area in the United States.

Peach "Sundae" Shortcake (Serves 6)
Four to five fresh Elberta peaches, 1/2-cup sugar (depending on sweetness of peaches), 1 1/2-inch cake layer (white cake, sponge), 2 scoops ice cream (peach, lemon or vanilla).

Peel and dice peaches. Sprinkle with sugar and let stand 5 minutes. Arrange on top of cake. Place ice cream scoops in circle around center. Garnish center with a sprig of mint if desired. Serve cut in wedges with a scoop of ice cream on each piece.

Note: If desired top of cake may be spread with a thin layer of a lemon butter frosting before covering with peaches. If possible, this should be prepared ahead of serving time. Dip pieces in fresh lemon juice to prevent browning.

Here's a gala dinner: blueberry and grapefruit cup, roast broiler-fryer chicken, watercress stuffing, giblet gravy, whipping potatoes, garden peas, corn sticks, butter or margarine, romaine lettuce salad, French dressing, fresh Elberta peach sundae shortcake, coffee.

Just know the world is coming to an end! Ruth Abernathy cut her long hair. However, the poodle she now sports is quite charming. Marilyn McDaniel has a poodle, too.

Speaking of Marilyn, did you notice her white bucks at the dance last week end? Seems girls are going to take them over this year. Flashy, no?

Overheard D. I. Wilkinson and Richie Hankins talking about how easy it is to water ski. D. I. learned how on Lake Washington. This must have been just one phase of his Alaska trip. Says he got dunked the first couple of times, but after that it was a snap.

Back to cut hair again, that's what Carolyn Weinheimer has probably done to her long locks. She's in New York in modeling school, you know. Heard that models wear short hair because it doesn't detract from the clothes they model. May be seeing Carolyn on magazine covers some day.

Saw Charles Nelson dressed all in gray the other night. Looked real chic.

Good News! Pat Reynolds will be back in Pampa High this year. Missed her last year while she was in Arkansas. The halls will look more natural with Pat around again — Welcome home!

The high school faculty will be changed some this year it is said. Heard rumors that there will be a new math teacher, new home economics teacher, and that Coach Nooncaster will not only coach a "win all the way" Harvester football team (We hope, we hope, we hope), but also head the English department. Rumors have flown all summer that Robert Payne, choral director, would teach in Lubbock this year instead of PHS. That rumor has now been put down by another that he will be director of the PHS A Cappella choir and other music groups. Hope the latter rumor proves true.

Dig these crazy adults! Teenagers sort of stand around and wonder nowadays and listen with open hanging mouths at the vocabulary of our elders which is being sprinkled more and more with terms like "Yah, Dad," "Man," "real gone," "that's the most," and "that's cool, boy, cool." My goodness, do we really have that much influence? Maybe the lingo sounds just a little more startling coming from more "dignified" beings. What is this older generation coming to?

Wonder if the night-shirt dress idea is going to catch on here as it is reported to have done in California? In case you haven't seen one, they're long and full, slit up the sides just like the old fashioned night-shirts. Corners of the slits are rounded like a shirt tail. The only accessory to fitting is the belt. Haven't seen a n y hers. Perhaps haven't looked in the right places, maybe?

Mrs. Perry Gaut and Miss Evelyn Milam were having some trouble the past few weeks trying to get schedules worked out. Bet it's a job, too.

Say, have you seen Duggan and David Smith's hair? Do believe the color matches their car. Well, maybe not quite salmon pink, but almost. It's real cool — couldn't resist teasing. Saw them handing out and tacking up Shivers campaign posters the other day. Hear that Duggan asked Dr. H. H. Hicks dental assistant if he was going to operate on him (!)

Kind hearted? Yes indeed. Carol Henry, Anita Wedgeworth and Cynthia Cantrell spied a turtle in distress Monday noon in the middle of the street in front of The News office. Carol was the brave one who picked it up by the shell and removed it from the dangers of the MAD traffic on said street.

Let's hear you say "Howdy!" Might as well start practicing now, because it isn't long until that time — Student Council sponsored Howdy Week, what else? It will be needed this year, too. Have seen so very many strange faces in Pampa this summer. Wonder if they were just kids from area towns, or new students. Will find out next week.

Apparently having the time of their lives, Richie Hankins, Pat Reynolds and Charlotte Hoggatt were riding around town Monday afternoon in the back of a black pickup; And Rich was tossing hand-fuls of ice all over the place. Trying to incite an early winter, no?

THE MARQUEE

BY DICK KLEINER

Late at night, after all sane people and non-theatrical people are in bed, you may find Ernie Kovacs and Hermoine Gingold, the English comedienne, sitting in Sardi's. Smoking cigars. But Miss Gingold doesn't like Ernie's cigars — insists they're too moist. She says she likes the dry ones, the ones that crinkle when you hold them to your ears. What this country needs is a good, dusty cigar.

Leave us hope that this never happens, but you never know. A New York agent dreamed up the idea of billing a Western-style pianist as Hopalong Casadeus.

It seems like every summer something unexpected happens on television that almost makes up for all the junk. This summer it's a little item on NBC-TV called "The Marriage," starring Hume Cronyn and Jessica Tandy. And I'm happy to report that plans are definitely under way to bring it back some time next season, after the present eight-week summer run is over.

"What we'd like to do," said Cronyn, "is work out some schedule like doing it for 26 weeks, and then 26 weeks off. That way we could do other things."

Said other things include such varied activities as the stage —

Border Briefs

HOUSTON, Aug. 25 — UP — Governor candidate Ralph Yarborough scheduled a campaign tour to Bryan, Wichita Falls and Tyler Wednesday after charging in Houston Tuesday night he was fighting to save Texas' tidelands while Gov. Allan Shivers was "trying to keep horse race gambling in Texas."

He said he would continue his tidelands fight, if elected, by working with Texas congressmen to amend the 1933 law and define the exact boundary.

BROWNWOOD, Tex., Aug. 25 — UP — Gov. Allan Shivers charged Tuesday night that Ralph Yarborough, his opponent in the Aug. 28 runoff election, was "consistently inconsistent."

"I have come to the conclusion that either he's confused or he's trying to confuse the voters," Shivers said. The governor scheduled appearances Wednesday at Georgetown, Killeen, Belton, Temple and Waco.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 25 — UP — Six more counties asked Tuesday that they be given surplus food from government stocks, and a spokesman for the State Emergency Relief Board said some 30,000 persons might be included in the program.

The counties were Oklahoma, Noble, Lincoln, Payne, Oklahoma, Greer. Nine counties have been approved for food shipments, and 17 others have asked for inclusion.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 25 — UP — Sales tax collections last month were 6.34 per cent higher than a year ago, with 66 counties reporting higher revenue.

The total collection was $3,899,870, up $232,348 from July, 1953.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 25 — UP — There were hints Tuesday that William O. Coe, beaten in a runoff for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, might support Republican Reuben Sparks in the Nov. 2 general election.

Coe said Tuesday "this time it is different," a reference to 1950 when he took no part in the campaign but didn't bolt. He added he was "going to continue to listen to my friends" before making a final decision.

The Vain Sex. BINGHAMTON, N. Y. — UP — Exactly 743 persons refused to tell their ages when the New York Health Department took X-rays here. Three out of four were men.

they're doing their series of dramatic readings, "Face to Face," this fall — and radio and movies. And there's a Broadway play slated for the fall of '55, too.

"The Marriage" seems to be successful because of what Cronyn calls "that elusive commodity, charm." Charm, in this case, seems to be simply an awareness of universal problems in marriage. That's what started the whole thing.

"We simply fell," said Jessica Tandy, "that there was room on TV for a program that dealt with marriage as it really exists."

"There should be some halfway point," Cronyn elaborated, "between the horror of the front page and the comics. The same applies to TV."

So, for a period of several years, the Cronyns (Miss Tandy is Mrs. Cronyn) planned the show. They began planning even before their successful run in "The Four-Poster," a two-character play about a marriage which the Cronyns hasten to point out was definitely not the inspiration for "The Marriage."

"The only things the two have in common," Cronyn says, "is that we were the stars in both and play married people."

"But 'The Four-Poster,'" said Miss Tandy, "or Mrs. Cronyn, as you prefer, 'was successful because it was about people with problems the audience could recognize."

"Of course," said Cronyn, "How else could you account for our grosses on tour with that play — the first 30 weeks we averaged $28,000. Now, we're not the Luntz or Helen Hayes or..."

"Or Terry Moore," said Miss Tandy.

It's the same thing with "The Marriage." The humor, which is there in quantity, isn't their primary aim. It just happens. First they pick a topic which most married people face — in-laws, for example, or income taxes — and take it from there.

"Humor comes naturally," Cronyn says, "and we might even have a little, sugar-coated moral." The whole thing goes down very easily.

About the happiest of New York's night clubs is the Bon Soir, down in Greenwich Village. The management is operating under the old-fashioned notion that audiences like to enjoy themselves. So all the acts are funny. Topo is Mac Barnes, the funniest singer around. The Three Riffs and Three Flames contribute their stuff, and Jimmy Komack (who's gone to Toronto to do summer stock) rounds out the bill. Komack is one of the best of the younger comics.

Bon Soir means good evening. It is.

Navy Rejects Newswoman's Plea For Help

HONOLULU, Aug. 25 — UP — The Navy has rejected a plea by New Orleans newspaperwoman Peggy Poor to help salvage her schooner Windjammer from rocks off Easter Island, but it's doubtful much could be done anyway.

Shortly after the Navy radioed from Honolulu Tuesday it could not help Miss Poor, a "ham" radio operator in Oakland, Calif., picked up this message:

"Windjammer stove. No further hope. Thanks."

"Signed, Peggy Poor."

Officials at U. S. Pacific Fleet headquarters here pointed out regretfully that the plea was refused "because of the distance and expense involved and in view of the fact there was no danger to any person."

Easter Island is about 2,000 miles due west of Chile, off the lower South American coast.

Miss Poor's vessel has been in trouble around Easter Island for the past two weeks. It was first swept out to sea by a storm while the owner was ashore on Easter Island.

But four inexperienced crewmen aboard managed to sail the piece of craft back to the islands, only to have it pile up on the rocks. All four were rescued.

Woman Tells Of Attacks By Russians

NEW YORK, Aug. 24 — UP — A mysterious young "Madame X," testifying from behind a screen, told a House subcommittee Tuesday how seven soldiers of the "liberating" Russian army had raped her outside a Hungarian farmhouse in 1944 as her husband and parents were held inside at gunpoint.

The woman, who was described as an attractive brunette in her 30s, testified that the ravaging Russians had infected her with a disease and that she had subsequently infected her husband.

The couple escaped from Hungary by tricking border guards to let them into Austria with a truckload of apples in May, 1946. Madame X told the subcommittee, which is investigating Communist aggression.

Mme. Joli Gabor, mother of the three Hungarian glamor girls Zea Zea, Eva and Magda Gabor, was a spectator at the hearing. She told reporters about the mysterious woman's testimony:

"What Madame X experienced was nothing to what other women experienced. I know some who have been raped at least 25 times."

Jack Carson Not Typed As Idiot Any More

By JACK CARSON
Written for United Press
HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 25 — UP — It's fun not to be an idiot any more.

For years at Warner Bros. and other studios I was typed as a certain type — mainly idiot. It was the big goon who always said the wrong thing — showed up at the wrong place, etc., and to be free of this yoke has made me a young man again.

In real life I probably do and say the wrong thing at the right time, but not so often. What I'm talking about is this: After many years in show business I have achieved two things.

In "A Star Is Born" I finally play a straight part and on CBS radio I am currently doing a series on which I talk as I like to talk.

I don't have to pretend I am not a wolf about girls. I don't have to take prat-falls. Several months have gone by without a single pim on my face. All in all, I'm happy about the whole thing.

Don't misunderstand me. For years I have been paid well for being an idiot. But some time the worm had to turn.

Sid Luft, producer of "A Star Is Born" and Judy Garland's husband, called me and asked if I would play the role of the publicity man. I was a bit hesitant because in the previous version this part had been that of a real heel.

I discussed the part with George Cukor, the director. I thought it should be played as an average man who just happened to be in the publicity business.

Not a heel, but just a regular fellow whose problems with the people he handled became too big for him. Mr. Cukor agreed and I think that's what we came out with.

Now as to the radio show: I don't think it's the greatest show in the world, but it's a pleasant experience to be able to talk on the air to people about things you've wanted to talk about for years.

Runoff Campaign Has 3 Days To Go

By UNITED PRESS
Challenger Ralph Yarborough and Gov. Allan Shivers, with less than 72 hours in which to sway the undecided voters, piled new charges atop old accusations Wednesday.

Yarborough's campaign schedule called for speeches at Bryan, Wichita Falls and Tyler while Shivers was on the stump at Georgetown, Killeen, Belton, Temple and Waco. They were bidding for support in Saturday's runoff election for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Tuesday night at Houston, Yarborough claimed credit for being in the forefront of the fight to save Texas' tidelands while Shivers was a state senator and "trying to keep horse race gambling in our state."

Shivers, meanwhile, in a Brownwood speech accused Yarborough of being "consistently inconsistent" in his campaign promises and charges.

"I have come to the conclusion that either he's confused or he's trying to confuse the voters," said Shivers.

In other political developments, Shivers was likened to Gen. Robert E. Lee because each decided his first loyalty was to his state. Shivers two years ago was his state; Shivers two years ago was his state. Shivers two years ago was his state. The comparison was made by former Democratic State Chairman John C. Calhoun, in a filmed television panel discussion.

Tom Moore Jr., district attorney of McLellan county, said "somebody is lying" about ownership of the Times Publishing Co. of Mission. Attorney General John Ben Shepperd said Monday that state records showed Shivers wasn't an owner when state printing contracts were awarded, but Moore said "the public record" (sworn statements to the post office) listed the governor as a stockholder.

The deadline passed for absentee voting with records having been set in most of the state's populous counties.

Talks of Water Plans. The governor, touring drought-hit Brown, Mills and Comanche counties, developed his water conservation plank and attacked Yarborough's stand on the issue.

He said his opponent was proposing a "super-duper federal dam-building program, which means turning over our most precious resources to Washington bureaucrats."

Shivers said major dams were "of vast benefit to the cities and the farms below, but the upstream areas must be served, too." He said he was sure Texans "can and will solve this (water) problem in the Texas way, with the state supplying leadership, direction and the necessary financial assistance, and the local people retaining control."

Trainload Of Shells Catches Fire

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 25 — UP — A boxcar loaded with 900 heavy artillery shells caught fire Tuesday night in the Springfield railroad yards.

The fire, which touched off a series of explosions, was put out before midnight, but firemen watched smoldering debris through the night to prevent a flareup.

No "direct casualties" were reported to police, but one man suffered a heart attack and a small girl was injured when struck on the head by plaster which fell from the ceiling of her home.

The fire, in a car loaded with 100 mm howitzer shells, was discovered just before the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway freight was to have left for St. Louis. The burning ammunition car was pulled to an isolated section of the yards and detached from the train.

The flames were visible and the explosions heard for several miles, and persons living in a nearby residential section were advised to leave their homes. Police said several houses and automobiles were damaged by shell fragments.

We Like Shivers

The campaign for the governorship of Texas has not only the eyes of Texas on it, but also the eyes of the nation.

But before we launch into a lengthy discourse about the race, we want to say again that this newspaper favors the re-election of Allan Shivers and believes that he will be re-elected. With the issues as clear-cut as they are between the respective candidates, a newspaper failing to take an editorial stand would indict itself either for ignorance or cowardice.

Why are the eyes of the nation focused on this gubernatorial campaign? The principal reason is that Allan Shivers is looked upon nationally as the voice of the conservative Democrats.

The other leader of the Southern and conservative Democratic bloc, Gov. Jimmy Byrnes of South Carolina, is leaving office this year.

It is a political fact that the man in the governor's chair wields more influence on a national party level than a man out of office.

Came 1956 and the Democratic convention, Southern and Northern conservative Demos will now turn to Shivers for their leadership.

Shivers has ably demonstrated that he is an American first and a Democrat second. Attesting to this fact was the courage that he demonstrated during the last presidential election.

First, he gave the Democratic nominee, Adlai Stevenson, a chance to speak his mind before he made his decision. It is fact, not fancy, that he asked Stevenson how he would stand on the tidelands issue. Stevenson told the Governor that he would follow Harry Truman's policy and veto the measure if it reached his desk. Shivers told him in that event he could not and would not support him.

President Eisenhower told the Governor that he would sign the tidelands bill. The bill was passed and Eisenhower kept his word.

And now the Yarborough Democrats say that Shivers is a traitor to the National Democratic Party. We say that the National Democratic Party was a traitor to Shivers and the Democrats of Texas.

It will be remembered that hundreds of thousands of Texans were "traitors" to the traitorous New Deal, left wing Democratic Party. We Texans junked the New Deal, voted for the Republican candidate and helped elect him.

We feel sure that most Texans can find no fault with Gov. Shivers and his past administration of the state's business or his stand nationally.

We believe that the only thing that can defeat Gov. Shivers is complacency on the part of his supporters. He can and will win but that majority which favors him must go to the polls and vote.

Now, just what are some of the basic issues of this campaign?

It is a fight between those who want a strong central government, and those who seek a strong state government as provided by the Constitution.

Yarborough would subvert the state's government and the state's Democratic party. He would seek to send us back into the New Deal-controlled national Democratic Party, strangling the influence that the state might have in the next Democratic Convention.

Shivers holds, and rightly so, that the states came first and the power vested in the national government was given to it by the states. He has stated there is room for divergent views within the national party. He does not seek to kick those who disagree with him out of the party as they would do to the Conservative element.

Yarborough's opposition to Shivers has been vague and fraught with glittering generalizations without committing himself to any positive platform or program of action.

He cannot attack the Governor's actual administration of state affairs. It is well known that the financial condition of the state is top-notch. There are few governors anywhere that can boast a balanced budget.

It is generally agreed that the situation in the state hospitals, the prison system and the highway program has been improved. It will be remembered that Texas was one of the few states that did not have a rash of prison riots and violence when those incidents were moving through prisons over the nation like an epidemic.

Yarborough's bid for support of the school teachers has also been fruitless. The man considered the "teachers' best friend," State Senator A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris, has stated and re-stated his support of Gov. Shivers.

True, Shivers, unlike his opponent, has drawn the fire of the state's labor czars. He is opposed to the demands of the CIO's Political Action Committee and, of course, is opposed by that group. While on the other hand, Yarborough is wedded to the CIO-PAC.

Yarborough holds no brief with the ordinary laboring man; he only seeks the money and dictatorial support of the union labor bosses.

Those "good" Democrats who oppose Gov. Shivers because he is seeking a third term are the self-same Democrats who went down the line with Franklin Roosevelt when he sought and gained the unprecedented third term in 1940.

When you have no other choice than Yarborough, the voter must send Shivers back for a third full term.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Two Kinds Of Influence

I want to quote a piece written by Leonard Read, President of the Foundation for Economic Education on "Two Kinds of Influence." It is of the utmost importance that we learn which kind of influence is the means to get the desired results we all want — spiritual and material blessings.

From here on Leonard Read is speaking:

"Most persons have some notion of their dependence on others. Most of us realize that we cannot by ourselves build the houses in which we live, raise the foods we eat, make the cars we drive, create the opportunities constantly presented to us, originate the knowledge and ideas by which we live, garner the fuel we burn, fabricate the clothes we wear, construct the telephones over which we talk — indeed, few among us could in a thousand years produce what we consume in a single day!"

"Anyone who is aware of the extent to which he is dependent on others is, or should be, familiar with his stake in the proficiency of others. Let all others fail, and I shall perish. Let all others become increasingly creative, and I shall in all likelihood receive more in exchange for the little I can create.

"No doubt about it, most of us do concern ourselves with others. Every law is an attempt to do something to others. Wars are aimed at others, as are strikes and all coercive assaults. Sermons, lectures, schooling, pamphlets, books, statements like this — all are communications to others.

"The important question at issue is not: 'Should we have an interest in others?' Obviously we should. Instead, the vital question is: 'In what way can we best aid the millions of others upon whom we are unquestionably dependent?'"

"There are two ways, constantly in action. One commends the influencing of others by force. The other commends the influencing of others by attraction. Both are useful if understood and properly practiced.

"There isn't any doubt but that force is an effective method of influencing others. Force, however, is of two kinds. There is initiated or coercive force — aggression. It is inconceivable that this kind of force can have any moral justification among men under any circumstances. There is, though, another kind of force — defensive or repellent force. But even defensive force has only the capacity to destroy or restrain and, therefore, is the type of influence that should be limited to negating aggression or coercive force, regardless of source: all violence, all fraud, all misrepresentation, all predatory practices. To avoid the authoritarianism of each citizen being a complete law unto himself — a each person his own law — we should, in good theory, delegate the defensive function to a formal, codified, societal-wide agency called government. (When delegating only defensive functions to government, we grant no collective rights that are not the prior rights of individuals; for the collective cannot logically or morally exercise rights which are not inherent in the persons who organize.)

"Defensive force, to be used profitably, must be confined to minimizing coercive or aggressive force — that is, to securing those rights to life and honestly acquired livelihood common to all men. Force cannot, by its nature, otherwise serve us creatively. Yet, force of the coercive brand is attempted currently as a means of influencing others in tens of thousands of instances. All socialistic acts by government are cases in point — public housing, for example. How? The force of government — not defensive but coercive force — is employed to take the property of some for the benefit of others. In what manner is this aggression? The use of one's livelihood in one's own way is forcibly denied by the aggressive taking of it — effective, indeed!

"Force as a device for having others behave in ways seemingly advantageous to oneself is not intelligent attention to self-interest — except when used to restrain them from coercive acts. To aggressively force others is to thwart others. Self-interest requires that all others become more creative, not more thwarted.

"The question, then, to which self-interest demands an answer is: 'How does one influence others to become more creative?'"

National Whirligig Last Six Months Gives GOP Better Chance For Votes

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower aggravated the Democrats' November fears with his recent economic analysis, boasting that the Administration had checked the 1955-56 slump and predicting that 1956 would turn out to be the second most prosperous and productive year in history. If Ike is correct, and there are those who disagree, the GOP believes it has a good chance to regain control of both House and Senate.

Although they will not admit it for publication, minority spokesmen on Capitol Hill declare ruefully that, if the Congressional elections had been held six months ago, the Democrats would have swept both branches of the legislative body.

Unemployment was then at its peak, and in many areas there was the threat of more factory closings. Inventories were high, and the channels of production and distribution were choked with surpluses of goods.

The Senate and House "liberals" — Humphrey of Minnesota and Lehman of New York in the upper chamber, Patman of Texas and Cooper of Tennessee in the House — were taunting the Republicans on their policy of "hard money," which they blamed for the "recession."

Suddenly the Treasury and the Federal Reserve, more responsive to new conditions than those agencies have been in the past, reversed their program, and eased the money and credit situation.

Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey and Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks insist that the last quarter of 1954 will show even greater economic gains.

They do not seem to be bluffing, for they have made these predictions in recent on-the-record "bull" sessions with newspaper and radio-television correspondents at Washington. On Election Day, they forecast: "The economic atmosphere will have a Republican tinge."

If so, the Democrats admit sadly, the GOP may increase its current House margin of three to 29 or 30. And the Democrats' one-man majority in the Senate may disappear. For both Republicans and Democrats agree that the dominant issue in November will be the nation's economic health, not McCarthyism, or any other issue, nor Korea, nor Indo-China. It will be a bread-and-butter vote.

To retrieve what seemed like sagging political fortunes, Democrats plan to put on a special show in November that would be worthy of a contest for the presidency. In the hope of regaining the White House in 1956, they are determined to rebuke President Eisenhower and the first Republican Administration in 30 years.

Every prominent Democrat will be drafted for the stump — Adlai E. Stevenson, former President Harry S. Truman, the members of the Roosevelt family not engaged in election contests (possibly Representative Franklin D. Jr., in New York and James in California), Truman-Roosevelt Cabinet members, Speaker Sam Rayburn of

PAUSE FOR REFLECTION

with JAMES C. INGEBRETSEN, President, Spiritual Mobilization

"True equality springs from moral grounds which, instead of forcing people into a strait jacket, encourages every individual to make the most of himself, and the individual cannot do that except insofar as he helps others to do the same."

This quotation is from Link, and it states, I believe, a profound truth.

Change the second word in it to "liberty," and it is still true, and may express even better what the author had in mind.

The substance of it is that we are all equally at liberty — under God — to develop our potentialities for good to the full; and the way to do this is to help others — not hurt or menace them. If everyone were to live by this supreme rule of life, all strife would cease, wars would be over, law courts would never open again, and hell would never take a perpetual holiday.

But remember — all this "springing from moral grounds" and "can never be attained apart from the application (universally) of moral principles. Are you willing to be a center from which such application can radiate?"

President Eisenhower has told friends that nothing has heartened and encouraged him so much as the White House victory in the struggle over farm price supports. Although Congress did not agree to the Eisenhower-Benson request for a 75 per cent parity minimum, Ike regards the compromise as his greatest triumph. He was fighting a powerful bipartisan bloc.

But Ike's real pleasure comes from the fact that he stood behind Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson, the Utah Mormon, when so many political and agricultural interests, all Republican, were demanding Benson's scalp. There were many colonists, but not this one, who wrote that Benson would be asked to resign.

On the contrary, Ike lists the strong men of his Cabinet in this order — Humphrey, Benson, Wilson.

Who was it that got Roy Cohn and Dave Schine as punishment for showing up a precious aggregation at Fort Monmouth? What was the issue? The issue was who promoted the army dentist, Perera, in circumstances so notorious that they need no telling here again.

And who got punished for insisting on the disclosure of the guilty party's identity and his appropriate punishment by the secretary of the army? Cohn was put on the sack but survived like an innocent bird at Salem of old.

The members of the Eisenhower cabinet even spread fifty insinuations about Roy, Dave and Joe McCarthy. And yet that evil gang gave the gull to cry out against "muzzers" when traitors of the most obvious kind take the fifth amendment, knowing that McCarthy has documentary damnation on the table right before him.

I began this passage with a rhetorical question: "who was it that got Roy Cohn and Dave Schine?"

Need I tell you it was Ike, this great liberal? The same soldier who ditched General Lawton, commanding Monmouth, with a fake illness and bustled him out of the army after 37 years because he named a certain college as a source of Red filtration.

Who recruited Doc J. B. Matthews out of the job of chief investigator for McCarthy's committee on a false charge that he had condemned the Protestant clergy as Reds or fellow-travelers? The Alps of the Herald Tribune, fellow-traveler with Ike in his own improvised extension of the New Deal, let that secret out in a heargrant piece revealing that the telegram from the National Conference of Christians and Jews was a frame-up which Eisenhower welcomed. Nobody yet has had the enterprise or astuteness to take this "conference" apart and prove that it represents nobody but a few individual manipulators of opinion, fear and suspicion and certainly no substantial body of Christians and Jews.

So Doc Matthews had to go and the fight against the treason inherited from the Roosevelt-Truman regime was badly hampered to the delight of Eisenhower's personal circle in the White House, in Congress, in the bureaucracy and in New York and Boston.

Record Doesn't Show Ike To Be 'A Great Liberal'

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — On most matters I agree with David Lawrence who is toward being an elder statesman of our journalism, but he brained himself the other day when he wrote that President Eisenhower was a "truly liberal leader" and that under his "leadership" the Republican Party was "emerging as the Liberal Party of the nation."

That is the most absurd proposition that any savant ever tried to prove and though we score him "A" in effort, Dave gets a turkey on net results, because look...

Who threw Dean Pat Manion out of an important national position for what reason? Why this great liberal leader did, Ike not only hired Manion for his integrity and intellect but fired him for the very same qualities when Manion's integrity and his great mind compelled him to support the Bricker Amendment which would forbid the President of the United States to revoke the whole Constitution absolutely by executive agreements with the executives of foreign countries.

Eisenhower is not an intellectual man. He was an ordinary barracks soldier until Roosevelt chose him to command the American army in the European phase of a world war that we had no right to take part in. He took on two personal career press-agents, the one a Washington lobbyist by name Harry Butcher, who somehow wangled a commission as a four-striper in the Navy, the other called Jack Lawrence, who couldn't be more typical of Hollywood, and came out of the thing as a full colonel. The outrages done to morally respectable rank in that war were ghastly. Butcher and Lawrence gave Ike a cheese-cake build-up and the same nation that fell for Frank Sinatra howled "I like Ike!"

Of course, Ike did make his landings and win his war, only to let a pool-ball sport from Kansas City surrender it all to Russia. Any intelligent sergeant could have known that pulling back from Berlin and the line of the Elbe after the civilized tribes had fought their way that far was a horrible betrayal of the dead. But when Truman said "pull back" Ike said "yes, sir," and put us in the fix we are in today. By the same token, Ike demands absolute submission, even servility, from men who certainly are at least as wise as he, and that is why he can't abide real Republicans around him who would stand him down on New Deal propositions.

That is why he fired Pat Manion and whoever can reconcile that paltry exhibition of toadying to the Dewey — International monstrosity with wisdom and moral courage will have to resort to bone-fix powder, bichu and branch-water. It can't be done with facts or logic.

"Liberal" is he?

Who was it that got Roy Cohn and Dave Schine as punishment for showing up a precious aggregation at Fort Monmouth? What was the issue? The issue was who promoted the army dentist, Perera, in circumstances so notorious that they need no telling here again.

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

It seems a great pity, as well as a dirty trick, to blow the whistle on a pair of flourishing roscinances of the theatre, but the picture too is a part of the picture of New York. It is not all tall buildings and teeming streets and huddled masses and docks and taxicabs. Some of it is girls.

They came out to the box, 2 in other week-end. Two of them. They are attractive, each has played an important role or more on Broadway, each is kept busy and economically sound by television. Until two months ago when they were cast as sisters in the same TV show, they scarcely knew each other. They met on that show on a basis that has led to a close, understanding friendship. And, I'm afraid, two worthy young men are being hornswoggled. Our girls haven't the ethics of a desert rat.

What happened was that the young producer, who cares nothing at all about home life and dines out nightly, fell in love with a girl who loves to cook and is expert at it... and the young director fell in love with a girl who only vaguely is able to comprehend the mechanics of bringing water to a boil. And the young director loves home life, including a pretty maid at the stove. This is where the whistle blowing comes in: the girls recognize that the boys are experiencing marriage-type love and ruthlessly, deliberately, cold-bloodedly are evading the truth. They are without remorse being in each case exactly what the boy wants even though it is a nature and talent.

They were talking about it, with some joy, while sitting on the terrace and watching the water of Long Island Sound.

"I may want to drown myself in shame out there," one said, "but meanwhile I'll have married my lad."

"Just give me the beginning, not the squarid ending," I said. "How did this soulless coupling begin?"

"Well," said Joan, "as you know I am probably the best cook in the American theatre, Alfred Lang and his kitchen patterning notwithstanding. I'm not only expert, I have it. And since some Joe who counts that day 'out and broken in which he doesn't dine at Sardi's or the Colony, now in Delaware's case, it is not being cruel for me to reveal that she can't crack an egg or make toast. And Henry, who loves home-cooked meals, fell for her. That's his fate or something."

"We wind up with the wrong guys for our accomplishments?"

"So?"

"Inside four days Henry was asking it clear that he would like to have dinner at Dolores' home some evening. Thankfully, he is a gentleman; he included Joe and me. Joe was happy that day and couldn't keep his eye on me. So I got up early and Dolores and I planned the dinner. We went marching together and I spent the afternoon preparing things. Dolores cleaned the rest of the house while I scraped, peeled, parboiled, washed lettuce and did all the other things. The boys came at 8 and dinner was ready within the 30 minutes needed for a cocktail. We worked that out, too; if I needed to check on something I used a code word and Dolores would say: 'I'd just better look at the potatoes.' And she would get up and go to her kitchen and I'd get up and look at Joe and say: 'To be it all Greek to me, maybe I'd better watch and learn something.' But I don't want for I'll see it. And he'd say: 'That's a girl,' and it was all perfect a counterfeit and a lot of fun. Anyway, it's been that way for a weeks now and those charming dopes haven't waked up yet."

"But what happens if you're wrong?" I said.

"Oh, that will work out all right," they said in a close-fought with female williams — a girl. "We think we can make up for the deception in other ways."

Answer to Previous Puzzle

On any nation potentially "exist" with Communism? Well, since 1939, a number of independent peoples and nations have been absorbed by the Soviet system. In that time, the Communists have taken over 12,500,000 square miles of territory and 282,500,000 human beings. It's like trying to co-exist with an alligator with a tapeworm.

IF THE OILERS CAN PLAY .500 BALL rest of the season they'll virtually clinch second place in the West Texas-New Mexico League final standings.

The Oilers, going into last night's game, had 18 games remaining on their regular slate while Amarillo had 16 left.

Should the Oilers break even in their final 18 games, Amarillo would have to win 13 of its remaining 16 games to edge the Oilers out for runner-up honors.

Then, of course, anything over .500 ball by the Oilers the rest of the way would make it even more difficult for the Gold Sox to catch up. Should the Oilers compile a 70-8 record the rest of the way, Amarillo would have to win 14 out of 16.

If the Oilers win 12 of their last 18, Amarillo would have to win all its remaining 16 games to nip the Oilers for second place.

Don't get the idea we're counting the Oilers out of the running for first place honors. We're not.

Stranahan And Ward In U.S. Amateur Finals

GROSSE POINTE, Mich., Aug. 25—UP—It was old stuff to Stranahan Ward Jr. and Frank Stranahan as they teed off against each other Wednesday in the third round of the U. S. Amateur golf tournament at the Country Club of Detroit.

Those two veterans of the fairways, among a handful of the more prominent amateurs left after two days of shooting in the rugged match play event, have met five times in the past with Ward coming out on top on three occasions.

Ward, a 29-year-old San Francisco car salesman, and Stranahan, 22-year-old son of the Toledo, Ohio, spark plug millionaire, won second round matches Tuesday to advance with such "name" players as Billy Joe Patton, Dale Morey, Hobart Manley Jr. and crooner Don Cherry.

But the second round took its toll of the stars, although not to such an extent as the opening round.

Among those eliminated Tuesday were Willie Turnesa, the 1938 and 1948 champion and the last former title around the country club; Lt. Joe Conrad, U. S. American cup team member; Gene Andrews, the 1954 Public Links king; and Bruce Cudd, recent Western Amateur winner.

"Ward and I should have quite a match," quipped Stranahan after ramming in a five-foot birdie putt on the 18th green for a 1-up victory over Ray Watson Jr. of Kansas City. "We have a habit of not going very far in this tournament."

And Ward, who posted a 2 and 1 decision over James Vickers, Wichita, Kan., agreed.

Fighting back from a two-hole deficit at the turn, 1953 runner-up Dale Morey of Indianapolis scored a 2-up triumph over Ron Wenzler of Memphis, Tenn.

The thin-thatched Cherry, a night club singer from Wichita Falls, Tex., and former Canadian Amateur champion, walked to a 3 and 2 win over John Cree of Buffalo, N.Y.

Conrad, an Air Force officer on leave from his bag at San Antonio, fell 2 and 1 to the one under-par effort of Robert Moncrief of Houston.

The Holy Souls, although it had qualified for the playoffs the past four years, chalked up its first playoff championship last night.

The Holy Souls was forced to come from behind twice to win last night's tilt. First Baptist held a 9-6 lead going into the sixth inning when Holy Souls erupted with an 8-run rally to capture the decision.

First Baptist took a 4-0 lead in the early innings before Holy Souls tied it up at 4-4 in the fourth. Then Ken Hinkle put the Baptists ahead again with a grand slam homer to climax a five-run rally that gave the Baptists nine a 9-4 lead.

Holy Souls scored twice in the fifth and then won the game in the sixth with its big eight-run inning.

It was Holy Souls' 18th win in 19 starts this season.

St. Paul scored in every inning the Junior Boys finals with a 25-15 win over Central Baptist in the semi-finals last night.

St. Paul scored in every inning in breezing to their 17th win of the year.

Franklin Snow and Robert Warner, both of the losing Central Baptist nine, hit home runs.

In the Junior Girls, Harrah Methodist upset Central Baptist in a scoring duel, 24-20.

The score was 16-16 going into the final inning when Harrah rallied for eight runs in the top half of the inning. Central rallied for four in the bottom half but fell four-runs shy of catching up.

In games Tuesday night the Columbus, Tenn., Monsanto Maulers defeated the Richmond, Va., Glendales 8 to 5 in the nearest thing to an upset in the tourney so far.

Oilers Win To Creep Up On Pioneers

Gaines To Face Hubbers In Finals

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

Tommy Gaines has been given the nod to hurl for the Oilers tonight as the locals will attempt to make it a clean series sweep over the vastly improved Lubbock Hubbers at Otter Park.

Gaines will be seeking his 4th win of the campaign against five defeats.

The Oilers captured the series opener last night as Vibert Clarke registered his 14th victory of the year, 3-5. Clarke gave up 10 hits, all singles, and walked 10 as the Oilers gained a full game on the league-leading Clovis Pioneers who lost to Albuquerque last night, 10-3.

The Oilers now trail Clovis by 1 1/2 games in the battle for first place. Last night's win also strengthened the Oilers' hold on second place as they boosted their margin over the idle third place Amarillo Gold Sox to 5 1/2 games.

Sharing starring roles with Clarke in last night's Oiler win were I. B. Palmer, Curtis Hardaway and Doug Lewis.

Palmer led the 16-hit Oiler attack off two Lubbock hitters with four-for-five, including his 24th home run of the year. Palmer's circuit blast came in the first inning with Hardaway on base to pull the Oilers up even with the Hubbers who tallied a pair in top of the fifth frame.

Hardaway smashed his 32nd round-tripper of the season in the sixth inning.

Lewis, after going hitless his first three trips to the plate, made the going easier for Clarke in the late stages when he slammed a run-scoring double off the center-field wall in the sixth and then followed up with a two-run single in the eighth that climaxed the Oiler scoring for the night and put the game virtually out of the reach of the Hubbers.

Every Oiler getting into the ball game last night hit safely at least once with exception of leadoff man Rudy Tanner. Tanner managed only a walk in five trips to the plate but he scored the only time he became a base runner.

Clarke had things his own way after surviving a rugged first inning. Lubbock got off its 10-hit total off Clarke in the first inning that produced only two runs. A double play, Hardaway-to-Felder-to Lewis, got Clarke out of the early jam.

After the first frame, Clarke settled down to pitch five-hit ball rest of the way with the Hubbers putting two hits together for their final run in the seventh.

Take Lead In 2nd
The Oilers went ahead for good in the second inning when Slick Johnson doubled and later scored on Clarke's single, giving the Oilers a 3-2 lead.

Moses Ward Rated Over Portuguez In Tonight's Go

NEW YORK, Aug. 25—UP—Substitute Moses Ward of Detroit is favored at 2 to 1 to beat Tuzo (Kid) Portuguez, middleweight champion of Central America, Wednesday night at Madison Square Garden.

Ward, 22, is the betting choice for the nationally televised bout because he is considered a somewhat smarter boxer than the slugger from Costa Rica. But Ward, too, depends more upon punch than skill.

Last Wednesday, the Detroit Negro was drafted for the match because Holy Mims of Washington, the original opponent, suffered acute indigestion.

Mims, third-ranking middleweight contender, was favored at 4 to 1. Neither Portuguez nor substitute Ward is rated among the top 10.

Wagering would be close Wednesday night were it not for Ward's impressive upset victory in his last fight over highly touted Yolande Pompee of Trinidad at Chicago, July 21. His previous campaign this year had been dismal.

Ward's record is 19-5-2, including 11 knockouts. He was stopped by Willie Froy, George Johnson and George Benton.

The more experienced Portuguez, 26, has a 53-17-4 record that includes 27 knockouts. He was stopped five times. In two bouts this year, he knocked out one Julio Cesar (7) and lost a decision to Walter Cartier.

Holy Souls Wins Senior Loop Title

By RAUL (Rabbit) RAMIREZ
Holy Souls became the first City Softball Champion last night with an uphill 14-9 decision over First Baptist in the Senior League finals at Kiwanis Park.

The Holy Souls, although it had qualified for the playoffs the past four years, chalked up its first playoff championship last night.

The Holy Souls was forced to come from behind twice to win last night's tilt. First Baptist held a 9-6 lead going into the sixth inning when Holy Souls erupted with an 8-run rally to capture the decision.

First Baptist took a 4-0 lead in the early innings before Holy Souls tied it up at 4-4 in the fourth. Then Ken Hinkle put the Baptists ahead again with a grand slam homer to climax a five-run rally that gave the Baptists nine a 9-4 lead.

Holy Souls scored twice in the fifth and then won the game in the sixth with its big eight-run inning.

It was Holy Souls' 18th win in 19 starts this season.

St. Paul scored in every inning the Junior Boys finals with a 25-15 win over Central Baptist in the semi-finals last night.

St. Paul scored in every inning in breezing to their 17th win of the year.

Franklin Snow and Robert Warner, both of the losing Central Baptist nine, hit home runs.

In the Junior Girls, Harrah Methodist upset Central Baptist in a scoring duel, 24-20.

The score was 16-16 going into the final inning when Harrah rallied for eight runs in the top half of the inning. Central rallied for four in the bottom half but fell four-runs shy of catching up.

Six New Teams Open Play Tonight In Baseball Meet

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 25—UP—Six of the seven entries which haven't yet seen action in the 20th annual National Baseball Congress tournament will get their feet wet Wednesday night on a three-game program.

Headlining the action will be a meeting of the Casa Grande, Ariz., Cotton Kings and the Orleans, Mass., Sparklers.

Other teams making debuts are the Dubuque, Iowa, Star Brewers who meet the Louisville, Ala., Tigers and the Columbus, Ohio, Beulah Park Jockey Club in a meeting with the New Orleans Holsum Sunbeams. The Atwater, Calif., Pepis will be the 30th and final entry to open play on Friday.

Casa Grande is coming back to the national after finishing out of the money last August for the first time in recent years, with the 20-year-old son of an ex-Chicago White Sox pitcher hurling for it. He is Donnie Lee, son of Thornton Lee who spent some 10-odd years in the majors before World War II.

Fourth Place Battle Rages

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

The lamb's share of the World Series money is nothing like the lions' share, but it's enough to cause six clubs in both leagues to push, sweat and strain now in an all-out effort to finish fourth.

Detroit, Boston and Washington don't give a collective hoot who wins the American League pennant, they're too busy battling for fourth place.

Likewise, Philadelphia, Cincinnati and St. Louis are engaged in a National League battle royal for possession of the last berth in the first division.

Strip Trees OMAHA, Neb. — UP — Vandala stripped the branches of several trees here, but police agreed they were not about it. The broken branches and leaves were raked up in a neat pile under the stripped trees.

Rain Starts Fire MIDDLEBURY, Conn. — UP — A fire that ruined the interior of a clubhouse was blamed indirectly on rain. A storm drove five campers inside, and one of their lanterns, which they used instead of electric lights for atmosphere, tipped over, touching off the blaze.

Ike Schedules Round Of Golf With Ex-Coach

DENVER, Aug. 25 — President Eisenhower took a busy afternoon of relaxation. The President had some 300 congressional bills passed by the 83rd Congress awaiting his attention at his summer White House office at the Lowry Air Force Base. His appointment schedule began early.

The first caller Wednesday was Mrs. T. A. Stockton Jr., Republican national committeewoman for Colorado. Then Mrs. Betty Harrington, Hawaii's new congressional delegate, meets the President to discuss plans for Hawaiian statehood legislation for 1955.

The third caller is Frank Leahy, former football coach at Notre Dame University and an old presidential golfing companion. Leahy probably will play golf with Mr. Eisenhower in the afternoon. Since arriving here for a working vacation Mr. Eisenhower has signed 154 bills and vetoed two. Key bills already handled by the President included the Communist Control Act of 1954, which he signed into law Tuesday, and the pay raise bill for certain federal employees which he vetoed.

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

By ESKINE JOHNSON NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Exclusively Yours: Eddie Fisher has the ring — a seven-carat $9000 sparkler ordered from a New York jeweler — and if best girl friend Debbie Reynolds says "Yes," they'll be looking for a preacher.

Aldo Ray "Premieres" bride-to-be Jeff Donnell for his family of nine in Crockett, Calif., Aug. 15. Bob Mitchum will star in "Blood Alley," a Korean war story, for Wayne-Fellows Prod. His suspension at RKO is holding up the announcement.

There's hot movie interest in Lillian Roth's feminine "lost weekend," as told in her book, "I'll Cry Tomorrow." But her AA membership isn't keeping her out of plush saloons — as an entertainer.

Neatest trick in movie history: Esther Williams dives off the rocks of Catalina Island in MGM's "Jupiter's Darling," and comes up in Silver Springs, Fla.

WHEN KIRK DOUGLAS made his singing debut in Walt Disney's "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea," he shared the lyrics with a trained seal, who was supposed to bark in accompaniment. Wounded from endless repetitions, Kirk's voice got husky and huskier. In the final take, he barked out one line of the song in a tone that was startlingly similar to that of the seal.

Deadpanned Director Richard Fleischer to the seal's trainer: "Be careful which seal you throw the fish to." Margaret O'Brien and Rudy Vallee will co-star in "Jenny Kissed Me" at a New Jersey summer theater this month. Gene Tierney is making sure daughter Tina doesn't forget her French. She's hired a UCLA student coach. Dennis Morgan's forming his own film company to star himself in a musical, "Manhattan Round-Up."

Slack-performance dept.: Spencer Tracy's emoting in "Broken Lance." Cary Cooper's told his agents to find him a Broadway play. Fox is figuring on two films teaming Jane Russell and Jimmy Stewart following their stint in "Jewel of Bengal."

IT'S SEVEN BIG dancing numbers for Bob Hope as the vaudeville star in "Eddie Foy and the Seven Little Foys" and Bob's promising: "And the steps won't be the familiar Hope shuffle, either."

After three hectic days of dance rehearsals, Hope was leaving the Paramount lot when a friend asked where he was headed: "To the hospital," replied Bob, "where else?"

Store clerks who sell Stewart Granger and Rita Moreno shirts with buttons are optimists. Neither ever buttons 'em. It's the "glamor boy" treatment for an Hefflin for the first time in "Black Widow" at Fox. Ginger Rogers, a glamor girl all her life, plays the heavy.

Current status of "The Sophie Tucker Story": Mervyn LeRoy has the yarn, plus all of her song recordings, in his Warner office. "And that's where it stands." Soph told me at Ciro's. "I'm hoping that Mervyn will like me and Betty Hutton enough to want to do the picture."

Jimmy Nelson's description of a summer resort: "A place on a lake with a girl on the make."

SUCCESS STORY: Handsome Ronald Greene, the 19-year-old Adonis just signed by MGM, was discovered by Linda Christian. He worked in a gas station a few months ago and borrowed a couple of suits from Ty Power when he made his screen test.

Sidney Chaplin currently in Warners' "Land of the Pharaohs," will wed Kay Kendall, who is a look-alike to Ann Miller.

Audrey Dalton has applied for permanent residence in the U.S. The Irish beauty is also planning to become a citizen.

Former movie beauty Jane Weeks, now the spouse of wealthy John Martin of Hartford, Conn., is visiting in Hollywood. She recently recovered from a major operation. Penny Singleton's daughter was among those who tested for TV's "Corliss Archer." Ann Baker won the role.

It's "Tony Curtis Meets Miss Universe," a just-filmed U-I short. Miriam Stevenson and 15 other dolls in the beauty contest provide the scenery.

Jane's Gaylor and Adrian purchased a home outside Rio de Janeiro where they will live six months of the year while Adrian paints.
