Question Of The Week

Will US Debt Limit Hike Kill Tax Cut?

By T. D. ELLIS Quizzing Cameraman

"Do you think the recent increase in the national debt limit will kill President Eisenhower's promised individual income tax cut?" This week your Quizzing Cameraman posed this question to ten persons, picked at random, on Pampa streets. Their answers were varied, but the consensus seemed to be that the debt-limit hike will kill all hopes of an income tax reduction in the near future.

LULA MAE MOTLEY "Ike keeps promises."

LESTER URSCHEL "I think it will."

Cool Front Due In Area By Tonight

A Pacific cool front hurried the Rockies Friday and headed for Texas and forecasters said it was dropping temperatures as much as 20 degrees behind it. It was due to hit the Texas Panhandle late Friday. If it continues to advance at its present rate, the weather bureau reported, it will reach Central Texas by Saturday forenoon. There was a possibility of some rain. The weather bureau said the front was pushing scattered thundershowers before it. East Texas has the best chance of getting some much-needed moisture. Forecasters said the front would collide there with moisture-laden southerly winds off the Gulf and create an atmosphere favorable to showers. If it comes from a hardware store we have it. NATO To Probe Explosion

Missile Fuel Dump Blast Kills Thirty

BITBURG, Ger., Sept. 24 -UP- The North Atlantic Treaty Organization assigned investigators Friday to determine whether an explosion at a U. S. guided missile base means the Allies must revamp safety factors in their Europe-wide pipeline and fuel storage system. NATO council headquarters in Paris said pipeline experts would go to Germany to assist on-the-spot investigators to find out why a safety test Thursday backfired in to West Germany's second biggest postwar explosion disaster. Thirty persons died in the blast that ripped the U. S. Matador guided missile base here. Five to 10 persons were missing and German authorities said "about 30" were hospitalized, 10 in critical condition. NATO council headquarters in Paris said pipeline experts would go to Germany to assist on-the-spot investigators to find out why a safety test Thursday backfired in to West Germany's second biggest postwar explosion disaster.

All of the dead were French and German. U. S. Authorities said none of the casualties was American. A NATO spokesman in Paris said the 14-nation defense organization was concerned about the explosion because of the network of pipelines and fuel dumps stretching along NATO's 4,000 mile perimeter from the North Sea to Turkey's frontier with Russia. "Any recommendation or safety measures evolved from this investigation will be adopted at our other bases," he said. The blast came at 4 p.m. (8 a.m. est) Thursday in an underground jet fuel "tank farm" south of the big U. S. Air Force and pilotless bomber base near the Luxembourg and Belgian borders. One of the tanks containing 1 million gallons of jet fuel exploded in a great geyser of flaming fuel, after gasoline had been ignited intentionally as part of the experiment.

Foreign Minister Katsuo Okazaki said the cabinet agreed that this was the amount which the United States should pay to the widow and three children of 40-year-old Akiichi Kuboyama, who died Thursday. The amount is about 10 times as much as Japan expects the United States to pay 22 other fishermen who were burned by radio-active dust which fell on the tuna fishing boat Fortunate Dragon from the March 1 Bikini H-bomb test. Okazaki said the Tokyo government was "discussed" with U. S. officials the possibility of shifting the U. S. H-bomb tests away from the Bikini - Eniwetok proving grounds, but he indicated it was not a formal request. He added that it did not appear as if there was any other appropriate site for the test blasts. Japanese officials have charged that the test explosions have poisoned the Pacific ocean and its fish, one of Japan's most valuable sources of food and income. Meanwhile, U. S. Ambassador John Allison sent a check for 1 million yen (about $2,270) to Kuboyama's widow. "While no sum of money can compensate for your loss," Allison said in a short letter, "it is the desire of the government of the United States that something be done to make life easier, for you and your children in the future." Allison added that he wanted her "to know the deep sorrow and regret felt by the government and the people of the United States and personally by me over the death of your husband." The gift, which an embassy source said came from "public funds," represents about two years' income for the average Japanese fisherman.

Hospital Has First Deficit Of The Year

Chet Lander, Highland General Hospital administrator, Thursday night had to "pay" for reporting a small deficit for August. Hospital board members made him take them to the Pampa Clovis ball game, after they finished a quick board meeting. The deficit, first of the year, was $541, Lander said this morning. But it is not considered abnormal for a "light" month like August. The board approved bills amounting to $16,980, discussed and postponed action on an ice-making machine and adjourned. Lander also reported some statistics. In August, there were 432 admissions, 2,176 patient-days, 57 major operations, 27 minor operations, 62 births and nine deaths. A year ago, in August, those figures were 398, 1,862, 41, 31, 68 and 1.

Agas Khan Recovers CANNES, France, Sept. 24 -UP- The Aga Khan, who recently had been reported seriously ill, now is "definitely out of danger," his doctors said Friday. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles made the proposal to the UN General Assembly late Thursday in a broad outline of the plan which Mr. Eisenhower made public in a UN speech last December. Dulles called for creation of an international agency to start work "as early as next year" and said all nations "interested in participating and willing to take on the responsibilities of membership" will be welcome to join.

'Atoms For Peace' Talks Raise Hopes

In a speech which was received enthusiastically from diplomats of almost all nations except the Soviet Union and its satellites, Dulles also made these major proposals: 1. The calling of an international scientific conference next spring under the auspices of the United Nations to "consider this whole vast subject." 2. Opening early next year in the United States of a reactor training school where students from abroad "may learn the working principles of atomic energy with specific regard to its peacetime uses." 3. Invitation of a "substantial number" of foreign medical and surgical experts to participate in the work of U. S. cancer hospitals, where atomic energy techniques are helpful.

CHANCE TO SPY ON BOSS WON'T KEEP JANITORS OUT OF UNIONS

FORT DODGE, Iowa - UP - The National Labor Relations Board Wednesday denied a request by management that janitors be barred from joining a union because of their ability to read. Management argued that janitors "have the opportunity to read... confidential information that may be left on the desks of management representatives or in personal files which may occasionally be left unlocked."

Japs Demand U.S. Pay Off In H-Death

TOKYO, Sept. 24 -UP- The Japanese cabinet demanded Friday that the United States pay 3 million yen (about $13,850) to the family of a fisherman who died from the effects of an American hydrogen bomb. Foreign Minister Katsuo Okazaki said the cabinet agreed that this was the amount which the United States should pay to the widow and three children of 40-year-old Akiichi Kuboyama, who died Thursday. The amount is about 10 times as much as Japan expects the United States to pay 22 other fishermen who were burned by radio-active dust which fell on the tuna fishing boat Fortunate Dragon from the March 1 Bikini H-bomb test. Bicycles To Replace Autos In Saturday Safety Parade

Cuyler Street Saturday morning will be the scene of bicycles, in place of the usual automobiles. The first annual bicycle parade, sponsored by the Pampa Citizens Safety Commission, is scheduled to get underway at 9 a.m., Saturday at the Plains Creamery, according to Jack Vaughn, general chairman. Eligible are all bike owners who are not yet in the 10th grade of school. All owners will present their registration forms, properly filled out, when reporting for the parade. If the owner cannot enter the parade and the contest, he should give his registration to his teacher who will pass it on to the police department. First prize will be -- of all things -- a bicycle, from the Pampa Optimist Club. Plains Creamery will give the participating youngsters ice cream and Friendly Men's Wear will foot the bill for a free show at the LaNora Theater. Current plans call for the parade to go north on Cuyler to the Pampa Junior High School, where Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce members will put on Scotch, lite tape. Judging will be done there while the contestants are in the show.

M'Carthy Cancels Speech Schedule

CHICAGO, Sept. 24 -UP- Midwest Republican leaders were caught flat-footed Friday by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's cancellation of the three speaking dates he had scheduled. The Wisconsin Republican had been scheduled to speak Saturday at Omaha, Neb., Sunday at Naperville, Ill., and the following Sunday at Bloomington, Ill. Sponsors of the speeches expressed disappointment over the cancellations. Current plans call for the parade to go north on Cuyler to the Pampa Junior High School, where Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce members will put on Scotch, lite tape. Judging will be done there while the contestants are in the show.

Cost Of Living Dips 2 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 -UP- The cost of living declined 2 per cent last month to the level of a year ago, mainly because of lower food prices, the government reported Friday. The decline was not enough to affect the pay of almost 1 million railroad workers whose wages are tied to the Bureau of Labor Statistics' consumer price index. The BLS reported that in mid-August the price index stood at 115 per cent of average 1947-49 prices. This is the same as August, 1953, but 13 per cent above the level of June, 1950.

Eisenhower Addresses 'Cold' AFL Audience

Union Leaders Sharply Critical Of GOP Policies

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24 -UP- President Eisenhower appeared before the American Federation of Labor national convention Friday with the prior statement that he did not expect the labor leaders to give him a friendly reception. Before going to the AFL convention, the chief executive, after a warm reception at a breakfast meeting of about 400 Republicans, said: "I assure you that in just about a half hour or so I am to appear before another audience who are not going to be nearly as friendly." AFL leaders have been sharply critical of Eisenhower policies as they convened here. Mr. Eisenhower with a noticeably heavy voice which seemed to indicate a trace of a cold, also at the party breakfast denounced "widespread so-called intellectuals" cruising the country criticizing all who do not agree with their concepts of government. In this connection, the President offered this definition of an intellectual: "A man who takes more words than necessary to tell more than he knows." In addressing the GOP breakfast rally, the President dealt extensively with the need in government of men with integrity and "flexibility of brains" who are dedicated to the improvement of the national welfare rather than personal gain. At his first appearance here Thursday night, the President said he wants a Republican victory in the coming congressional elections to save the government from "deterioration, stagnation and inaction." Speaking before 15,000 party workers in the Hollywood Bowl Thursday night, Eisenhower said a Democratic congress and a Republican White House would result in an "endless round of political maneuvering." He urged the GOP campaigners to "go to work" to guarantee the administration a friendly congress. The chief executive was scheduled to speak briefly Friday before the American Federation of Labor convention -- an admittedly hostile audience. The AFL has denounced the administration for "many crimes of omission and commission." Eisenhower denounced anti-administration "peddlers" of "false fears" and predicted the Republicans will "ride forward over their gloom-filled talk and their cynical doubt." In a fighting mood, the President sought to whip up enthusiasm for the Republican cause among the party faithful. "We are determined to fulfill every commitment that we have made to the American people," he said. "For a political party to be held clearly accountable to the people for its political philosophy to guide the course of our government, it is essential that the party control both the executive and the legislative branches of the government."

Germans Set Conditions For Joining West

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 -UP- West Germany has secretly given the western powers a preview of its conditions for joining the European defense system, informed sources reported Friday. The German views are said to have been circulated here and in other Allied capitals within the last few days in preparation for the nine-power conference on Germany many opening in London Tuesday. Diplomats are understood to be hopeful that the conditions will help speed a solution to the German rearmament problem at London and a meeting of the 14 North Atlantic Treaty nations next month. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles returned to Washington Thursday night to prepare for his flight to London Saturday. He is still bitter about French defeat of the European Defense Community plan which provided for controlled German arms partnership with the West. But he is said by aides to be anxiously searching for a European-built substitute plan the United States can support. The State Department refused comment on the receipt of the German rearmament views. But diplomats said they generally parallel the EDC plan with "some appropriate modifications."

Area Worker Lack Noted

A shortage of workers in the Top o' Texas area has been announced by the Texas Employment Commission in a farm labor bulletin from Lubbock. The bulletin reported that cotton is opening a week earlier than had previously been reported, and urged workers to report immediately to the area. The Pampa area was reported 30 workers short, with workers asked to report to McLean Gin in McLean, J. M. Tindell Gin in Twilly and to any gin at Shamrock or Wheeler. Train Rips Shantytown RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 24 -UP- One person was killed and nine were injured Thursday when two railway coaches jumped the track in suburban Madureira and ploughed into a trackside shantytown, police said Friday.

Local Club Speaker Is Ex-UN President

He is the chairman of the Philippine delegation to the United Nations and was president of the Fourth U. N. Assembly (1949-50). He was graduated from the University of the Philippines in 1918, received his Master of Arts degree from Columbia University in 1921 and has 12 honorary degrees from U.S. colleges and universities. The general will be introduced to club members by Jimmy Thompson, Pampa attorney, and the invocation will be given by Rev. Porter Brooks, vicar of St. Matthews Episcopal Church.

Chuckle Corner

By HAL COCHRAN A college freshman is perfectly safe -- if he's locked in his dorm room. With some men, it's intoxicated with love and then, after marriage, punch drunk. A pastor says that a pleasant smile goes a long ways. And the best part is that it usually comes back. Why is it that so many college students think running out of allowance is something to write home about? A doctor says the average life of women has jumped -- maybe because, in crossing the street, the women do.

Griffith announced Harris' resignation after a long distance telephone conference with the one-time "boy wonder" who will bow out in a four game series against the Boston Red Sox.

Justus Guilty In Murder Case

TUCUMCARI, N.M., Sept. 24.—UP—Milton Carl Justus of Pawhuska, Okla., who killed Pfc. Edward Meyer of Washington, D.C., with a bottle to end a silly argument, was convicted of first degree murder by a jury Thursday night.

The jury, after deliberating for more than six hours, recommended that Justus be imprisoned for life.

Meyer was driving from Fort Benning, Ga., to Monterey, Calif., when he picked up Justus on U.S. 66 last Jan. 9, and they stopped at a Tucumcari motel for the night.

Sheriffs Clyde Risley of Canadian, Tex., and Claude Moncus of Tucumcari told the jury that after his arrest, Justus admitted he and Meyer fell to arguing about whether World War II or the Korean conflict was tougher. Justus admitted that he cracked a bottle on the young soldier's head during the altercation, then put him in the car and drove east toward Oklahoma.

But at Canadian, Justus took his fatally-injured companion to a hospital, where Meyer died on Jan. 10. Justus was arrested and returned to Tucumcari, where authorities found the motel room a bloody shambles.

The defense offered no witnesses after the prosecution closed its case Thursday, and the case went to the jury in the early afternoon.

The first degree murder verdict was brought in at 9 p.m. (inst).

Among the college set seen at home last week end were Dale Glasz, Jerry Guyton, and Gayle Plummer. All are students at West Texas State College at Canyon.

United Fund Agency This Fund Strictly For Needy Children

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth in a series of articles on the agencies included in the Pampa community United Fund which will hold its annual drive Oct. 5. The Pampa Milk Fund, subject of this article, has been allotted $2,200 of the $45,150 drive goal.)

The Pampa Milk Fund provides milk for needy children, "children who would not have milk but for this service."

"Race, color, or creed, or parents, or lack of parents have no bearing on what child receives milk," according to Ivy Duncan, fund chairman.

Any person, club or organization can bring to the attention of the Salvation Army, the Red Cross, or Duncan himself the need of milk for any child or children. It may be the parents of such a needy child, a Sunday School class, a service club, a ladies club, the Salvation Army or the Red Cross which notifies the proper authorities.

In any event, Duncan points out, the Salvation Army or the Red Cross is consulted and an investigation is made. If it is decided to give out the milk, a pint per day per child, Duncan calls one of the two Pampa dairies or creameries and orders such milk to be delivered.

At the end of the month, the dairy itemizes the bill in duplicate, sending one to Mrs. Leora Ross in the First National Bank, and one to Duncan, Mrs. Rose writes the dairy a check on the Milk Fund for the milk delivered.

"There is no expense for distributing the milk fund," Duncan emphasizes.

Truett Ross, a Pampa High School mathematics instructor, will be the featured speaker a week from today in the first fall session of the Pampa Lions Club Americanization course.

Get-together is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Oct. 1 in the Sam Houston School, according to Homer Craig, course director. It will be held at the early hour while the Pampa Harvesters play Friday night.

Ross' subject will be the preamble to the U. S. Constitution, Craig said. J. C. Patillo, math instructor in Pampa Junior High School, will speak to the class Oct. 8. And Mrs. H. H. Hahn, president of the Pampa League of Women Voters, will be guest speaker Oct. 15.

There will be eight holdovers in the class from last spring, Craig said. Those holdovers have some 14 weeks to go before three or four of them take their citizenship exams, sometime in February.

Mrs. Pat Biessell is class president. Craig invites all residents of the Pampa area who would like to become American citizens to be on hand for the first fall meeting of the citizenship class.

LAST WEEK I INTERVIEWED a beautician on skin care and the application of make-up. This week I interviewed a representative of a cosmetic company on the latest kinds of make-up and what effect they create.

IT SEEMS now you can look like almost anything you want — with a little make-up. The latest is the feline look — or the "innocent type," advised Miss Bee Whitaker of New York, located in Perkins Drug Store this week. To achieve this effect, you use a pale make-up, emphasize the lips (make them fuller) and lift up the eyebrows at the ends.

There is also a scientific wash-off cleanser, a "once-a-day cleansing agent" for those who like to use a lot of soap and water on their face. It is best applied at night.

The new normalizing cream takes its name from what it does — "normalizes" the texture and condition of the skin," Miss Whitaker pointed out. Another is a penetrating balm, a liquid that "normalizes" the functioning of the skin.

That was sort of a sideline item. What we really talked about was new cosmetic items — short cuts that take little time to apply yet give good results. One of these is a new penetrating cleanser, which cleans deep into the pores and softens the skin. It is really a "day-time quickie" but can be used at night for those who do not like to use soap and water on their face.

HOUSTON'S PREACHING POLICEMAN, Sgt. Lonnie V. Strebek, reads from his Bible to one of his favorite audiences — underprivileged children. He also preaches a Sunday night sermon on radio.

Bible-Carrying Sergeant Preaches Traffic Safety

By RALPH MONCRIEF
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOUSTON, Tex. — (NEA) — Softly, the beautiful melody of "Count Your Blessings" drifted from radio speakers in countless homes in Houston and across the Southwest.

A tenor voice was praying, "Lord we do thank you for your blessings, and we pray we will always give you the praise and thanks due you for them. Amen." The voice continued:

"Wouldn't it be wonderful if you picked up the morning paper and the headlines read, 'PEACE!' No one killed, no child struck down by a drunken, angered driver? No family having to go into mourning because of the carelessness of some wild driver who had killed a loved one."

The people in those homes were listening to a Sunday evening non-denominational religious program sponsored by the Traffic Division of the Houston Police Department. It is led, not by a minister of the gospel, but by a layman, Sgt. Lonnie V. Strebek. It is fast becoming one of Houston's most popular religious programs.

Strebek, who carries his Bible with him in his squad car, claims no credit for the program, originating from the studios of KLEBS.

"Anything and everything about his program should be credited to God. I am just being used of Him," he declares emphatically. "I know it comes from Him, because I have said things on this program about the gamblers and the liquor people that would have me off the air in nothing flat anywhere else. There has never been one word deleted from my script since the program was begun; it is undoubtedly a miracle of God."

The six-foot, 200-pound veteran police officer adds: "Like many people professing Christianity, I discovered during World War II that I was just a lukewarm Christian. The kind God detests. Oh, I went to Sunday school and church and was respected in my community, but I wasn't really living all-out-for-God."

"Then and there I promised God if he would give me the courage I would start witnessing for Him and living the way He wanted me to live."

Returning to the Houston police force after the war, Strebek began carrying his Bible with him everywhere he went. His fellow officers gradually began to realize that he really meant it, and they began to respect him for his stand.

"There were many mean and nasty things said to, and about me in those days," Sgt. Strebek recalled, "but that bridge has now been crossed and I won the victory."

When the traffic division decided on a religious radio approach in an effort to cut the alarming increase in traffic deaths and injuries, Sgt. Strebek was the man chosen to lead the program, called "Be Thy Brother's Keeper."

The program is designed to awaken the people of Houston to a realization of the horror of traffic accidents. Most of the illustrations on the program are from Sgt. Strebek's and other officers' own observations and investigations, of accidents.

A typical illustration goes something like this:

"A husband and son stood by the side of a dying woman in a local hospital. She appeared to become weaker by the hour. Then, suddenly, there came a change and she began to get better. Realizing after a time that her husband had been there hour upon hour without rest, she encouraged him to take their son and return home for some sleep. Her last words to him were, 'Don't go to sleep behind the wheel!'"

Comics Ban Hits Snag In Houston

HOUSTON, Sept. 24 — Houston's new city ordinance banning crime and horror comic books which becomes law Sunday has run into its first legal snag.

James W. Malone, a newspaper operator, filed suit asking declaratory judgment and a temporary injunction against enforcement of the new law.

Malone said the suit was a "class action" on behalf of retailers of magazines, books, pamphlets and other publications. He said the new ordinance is unconstitutional and discriminatory.

Defendants in the suit are the city and Police Chief Jack Heard. Malone said the dealers fear they will violate the law if they sell comic books such as "Hamlet," "Roy Rogers" and "Mickey Mouse" unless the scope of the law is defined.

"Whenever there's a villain, there is crime," Malone said. "The law prohibits books 'prominently featuring an account of crime.' That takes in a lot of territory."

Malone accompanied his suit with a bulky collection of current newspaper comic strips and copies of the best known comic books now in circulation.

The cause of both crashes was under investigation.

P-TA Congress Sets Meet Date

AUSTIN, Sept. 24 — UP — Members of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers will hold their 48th annual convention Corpus Christi Nov. 17-19, it was announced Thursday.

Highlights of the three-day session will include addresses by Dr. Kenneth McFarland, Topeka, Kan., educator and lecturer, and Dr. John Carroll, Lubbock, chairman of the department of education, Texas Technological College, and chairman of rural service of the national congress of the P.T.A. Mrs. Leon S. Price, Dallas, is state president.

Choir practice is held at 7 p.m. each Thursday in the church. And preparation for Holy Communion begins at 7:30 p.m. Saturdays.

Rev. Porter Brooks is in the church study from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. every day but Monday. The church secretary is in the office Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 9 a.m. to noon and Thursdays from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

How understanding of the spiritual nature of reality brings enduring health, harmony, and progress will be set forth at CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES Sunday.

The lesson-sermon, entitled "Reality," includes the following from I Peter (2:24, 25): "For all flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower thereof falleth away; but the word of the Lord endureth for ever. And this is the word which by the gospel is preached unto you."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, the following correlative passage will be read (335:27-29): "Reality is spiritual, harmonious, immutable, immortal, divine, eternal. Nothing unspiritual can be real; nothing unspiritual is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower thereof falleth away; but the word of the Lord endureth for ever. And this is the word which by the gospel is preached unto you."

Dr. W. A. Welsh, minister of East Dallas Christian Church, will preach for the Sunday morning service of the FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH. He will also preach at 7:30 p.m. each evening Monday through Friday. Singing will be led at the weekly services by Bunmy Shultz and special music is planned for each evening.

New members will be received at the close of Sunday evening's preaching service.

The church will be host to the district cabinet meeting at 4 p.m. Tuesday.

A board meeting will be held Tuesday at the close of the evening service to discuss the mission church project. Rev. ## Thoughts

Backbiters, haters of God, deplorable, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents. . . —Romans 1:30.

Let guilty men remember their black deeds do lean on crutches made of slender reeds. — John Webster.

And the king said unto him, Turn aside, and stand here. And he turned aside, and stood still. — II Samuel 18:30.

No principle is more noble as there is none more holy, than that of a true obedience. — Henry Giles.

But this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another. — John 13:35.

Our doctrine of equality and liberty and humanity comes from our belief in the brotherhood of man and the fatherhood of God. — Calvin Coolidge.

The great temptations which thine eyes have seen, the signs and those great miracles:—Deut. 29:3.

No degree of temptation justifies any degree of sin. — Nathaniel Parker Willis.

They abhor me, they flee far from me, and spare not to spit in my face. — Job 30:10.

There is no faculty of the human soul so persistent and universal as that of hatred. — Henry Ward Beecher.

By faith Joseph, when he died, made mention of the departing of the children of Israel; and gave commandment concerning his bones. — Hebrews 11:22.

Christian faith is nothing else but the soul's venture. It ventures to Christ in opposition to all legal terms. It ventures to Christ in opposition to our guiltiness. It ventures for Christ in opposition to all difficulties and discouragements. — W. Bridges.

Prayer: crown God with the honor and glory due to His name, and God crowns prayer with assurance and comfort. The most praying souls are the most assured souls. — Brooks.

Lt. Mickey Rafferty, former Little Harvester editor, was reported flying a P-38 in the Italian Theater of War.

Park Dedication To Be Postponed

ALPINE, Tex., Sept. 24 — UP — Big Bend National Park probably will not be dedicated this fall, James Francois, president of the Alpine Chamber of Commerce, said Thursday.

"It appears unlikely that President Eisenhower will be able to accept our invitation to dedicate the park while good weather in the mountains can be assured," Francois said.

The park was opened 10 years ago. Francois said a new date for the dedication will be set later.

Close-Up Look

You'll get a close-up, behind-the-scenes peek at your telephone system at the open house in the telephone building. You can watch operators at work . . . see cables being spliced . . . hear your own telephone voice.

Every 100th person attending will be given a demonstration long distance call.

Last chance today, 1 to 3 and 8 to 8 p.m. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Former Football Star Cites Need For Return To The Church

"We're trying to help Pampa live for Christ."

"The one hope of the nation is the revival of Christ."

Evangelist Joe Boyd, former All-American football player at Texas A&M, Thursday noon spoke to the Pampa Lions Club on the need for that revival.

Spicing his talk with accounts of his football days (1937-39), Boyd said, "We need some new motives in this world," just like in football. The allusion to football concerned a game with Villanova where the Texas A&M team had taken one look at the stucky Pennsylvanians and had given up hope — till one of the A&Mers cracked a joke about "them Yankees a-shootin' my grandpa." Loosened up, the A&M team won, 33-7.

"Christ can change America," Boyd said, "He can bring us back to the faith of our forefathers. America is in perilous condition, there are too many not living in maximum Christianity."

"God will give us a great revival," he concluded optimistically. He was introduced by Rev. Carl Roy Ray, pastor of the Central Baptist Church, near where Boyd is conducting a tent revival this week and next.

Martin Spell, gospel singer who is appearing with Boyd, sang two numbers: "Precious Lord, Take My Hand" and "Down Deep in the Sea."

Two new members of the club were introduced. They were Head Harvester Football Coach Aubra Nonemaster and P. O. Gau.

There were 26 guests on hand, 18 of them club members' wives whose birthdays fall in September. Also present were Miss Carol Foster, September "sweetheart," and Miss Carol Paxton, club pianist. The husbands sang "Happy Birthday" to their wives.

Rufe Jordan, a club director, presided in the place of Boss Leon Aaron Sturgeon.

Stupid Are We?

A few days ago a man named William A. Kimbel, a public relations director for a South Carolina firm, returned home from a Geneva meeting of the United Nations Economic and Social Council and pontificated that Americans criticize the UN because they neither understand it nor know how much it is accomplishing.

The only interpretation that can be placed on Mr. Kimbel's remarks is that the American citizen does not understand the English language and is completely barren of historical knowledge.

Let us briefly daily with Mr. Kimbel and his remarks since they echo arguments you will hear from almost any advocate of UN.

What is the meaning of the UN's Declaration of Human Rights which in one article sets forth: "Everyone has the right to a standard of living adequate for the health and well-being of his family... and the right to security..." that we don't understand?

"Everyone" in this article doesn't mean every citizen of the United States. It means, at the very least, everyone in the nations affiliated with the UN. So we are confronted with the contention that the objective of the UN is to guarantee a healthy standard of living to practically everyone in the world regardless of personal habits or individual intelligence and initiative. And the guarantee is not qualified to the point that "everyone" should be free to seek such a standard of living. It sets forth plainly enough that everyone has the "right" to it.

As a practical measure that means if "one" is not ingenious enough individually to achieve this standard it must be provided somehow. And that in turn means that the margin of difference must be taken from someone else.

The American citizen knows what that means. He knows that he has been living himself in a welfare state for many years and that roughly one-third of his production is now being taken by the government in taxes for distribution among others — for public charity at home and abroad, for defense of his own and foreign lands and for operation of functions which he may or may not approve.

Now it is granted that the American citizen is a citizen of one of the few lands in the world where the individual can and will produce enough to provide his own healthy standard of living and to still pay levies for the help of others. In other lands most of the citizenry manages to produce barely enough for their own needs and never enough to give any away.

So it would appear that the UN asserted "right" of an "adequate" standard of living and security would place its heaviest burden upon the children of Uncle Sam and even there resting would be an absurdity unless we are to abandon our own living standards.

So we think that we know at least one purpose of the UN... and that is to IMPOVERISH the United States.

Mr. Kimbel denies that there is any intent in UN philosophy to create world government. Our present American system of taxation is now running point blank against resistance from those taxed and theoretically at least our level of taxation is for our own "public good." How would Mr. Kimbel et al persuade the American taxpayer to distribute the results of his production further except by force and how else could that force be exerted except by an agency superseding our own elected representatives who as silly as they sometimes are draw a pretty fine line on how far they can go in levying taxes which is the only method ever yet devised by man to "guarantee" payments for such services as the UN proposes.

Furthermore, Mr. Kimbel hangs himself on the basis of historical precedent with his comparison of the UN's work with developments in the United States. He sets forth that in the early days of the United States there was no centralized government "to integrate overlapping interests."

A good many of us contend there was an adequate federal government in this land to serve all necessary purposes. What we had to do was to create a strong central bureaucracy — primarily through the income tax amendment — in order to destroy the principle of State's rights which was one of the foundation stones of individual freedom. By this activation of strong federal powers and by the carrying weakening of local government, we have step by step sacrificed personal liberty and have been paid off in an all-pervasive interference with our affairs in commerce, agriculture, industry, education and philanthropy.

By continued devotion to and membership in the United Nations we are inviting a centralization of government not in Washington but in some world capital where in the governing halls our 160,000,000 population wouldn't carry enough influence to obtain a pension for Harry Truman. As a nation we would be as important in the selection of world "leaders" as Gray County is in the election of American presidents.

We contend we know darn well what the objectives and purposes of the UN are — and we shudder at the future outlook if they are ever accomplished.

Senator Jenner Tells How UN Hampered Us

I want to quote from a speech made by Senator William E. Jenner of Indiana on August 13 before the U.S. Senate. I am quoting from a part of this speech reported by the Economic Council Letter of September 1st and written by Edwin K. Hart, president of the National Economic Council, Inc. Hart observes:

"Senator Jenner's speech goes to the fundamentals of why, having gloriously won World War II, America has suffered unending diplomatic defeats, which have brought humiliation at the hands of Soviet Russia, complete loss of face in Asia, and indifference and distrust among our European allies."

"Today most of Southeastern Asia is as good as gone. France and Italy may go any day. West Germany may be forced to consolidate with East Germany under the Soviet yoke."

"After that, how long Britain, Spain, Portugal and the Middle East could last would be open questions. With a continuance of the diplomatic disasters of the past ten years, America would presently end up as one more Soviet Republic."

"Evil forces have been at work back of the scenes. But until Senator Jenner spoke, no one in high office has dared so openly to try to penetrate the fog or even suggest what those sinister forces may be."

Then Mr. Hart quotes Senator Jenner as saying: "There is only one thing which the American people need from their government... the truth... The American people will find their way over any obstacles, through any fog, against any foe, foreign or domestic, if they have the truth. I do not believe our people can ever find the answers to their present problems if their officials feed them a diet of lies."

"That is about what Louis Bromfield says in his new book 'A New Pattern for a Tired World.'" Senator Jenner contends in his speech:

"The Geneva agreement is not a local defeat in Indo-China. It is a defeat in grand strategy, in our ability to plan and execute a defense and counter attack against the new barbarian invasion..."

"The United States has been out-thought, out-traded, and out-generated... The damage goes deeper than that. Under-Secretary Bedell Smith says we have agreed not to upset the Geneva agreement by force. What does that mean? It means, Mr. President, that we have agreed to give no military help to the rest of Indo-China. The Red Chinese have told Laos and Cambodia that they may have French military advisers or British military advisers. But American military advisers? 'Oh, no,' says Chou En-lai. And we say nothing."

"Under UN, we can give no military help to Thailand which might upset the Geneva agreement."

"We are bound, hand and foot, to put no military aid into the states on the Communist frontier in Southeast Asia. Mr. President, we cannot lift a finger to give military help to the little countries the Communists plan to devour next."

"Let us be honest with ourselves. That means the United States is guaranteeing Communist conquests, whatever double-talk we may hear... We are already committed to guarantee of the 'status quo' with the 'status quo' fixed wherever the Communists decide to put it..."

"There is no competent person in Asia, in Europe, in the Americas, no one within the Soviet orbit, who does not know that the United States was the self-appointed leader of the plan to give the free nations of Asia the means to defend themselves, and that the United States has suffered overwhelming defeat."

"After World War II, our promised help to Free China was neutralized by the power of a small clique within the American government and in the press, which engaged us in a series of futile negotiations to establish 'peaceful co-existence' between the Nationalist government and the Red armies in China."

"During the Korean War, the military strength of the United States was neutralized because the State Department and the press, bogged us down in futile negotiations over terms for 'peaceful co-existence' between Free Korea and Red China."

Then Hart points out that in January, 1953 there was a change in administration. Then he quotes Jenner as saying:

"A new administration took over, pledged to put an end to the rule of this small clique which had so successfully neutralized the military power of the United States in Asia as in Europe, and had twice thrown away costly victories won by our fighting men..."

Jenner Committee Probes Currie Citizenship Move

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The Senate Security Committee, headed by Senator William E. Jenner of Indiana, has made quiet inquiries in fairly authentic reports that Lauchlin Currie, former White House Assistant, plans to renounce his United States citizenship and seek permanent residence in South America.

Currie is now the most important witness in the Congressional investigation of means by which so many Communists and fellow-travelers infiltrated into high government posts during the Roosevelt-Truman regime. He was Harry Dexter White's closest cronies when former dominated key appointments at Treasury, and filled them with Russian dupes or agents.

Elizabeth Bentley has testified that Currie, as a Presidential aide, ranked with White in using his influence to appoint and shift her contacts into the most sensitive agencies at Washington during and after the war.

Currie was responsible for promoting Owen Lattimore as principal advisor on Chinese affairs, over the protest of Stanley K. Hornbeck, then head of the State Department's Far Eastern Bureau.

The Jenner Committee, in a previous report, linked Currie with Alger Hiss, Lattimore, Frederick Vanderbilt Field, John Carter Vinson, Edward C. Carter and others as responsible for the policy that helped to turn China over to the Reds. It said:

"Through their influence in the White House, by reports from U.S. Foreign Service Officers, and through the mission of Vice-President Wallace to China, they sought to bring pressure to bear on the Chinese Government (Chiang Kai-shek's), and to exalt the status of the Chinese Communist Party — first, to that of a recognized force, and then to that of a Coalition Government."

It was this group which prepared the program under which General George C. Marshall demanded the Red to be given 50 per cent participation in the Chinese Government, thus paving the way for Chiang's downfall.

Oddly enough, despite Currie's dismissal from his White House post in 1945, he was selected by the Colombian Government to be its economic adviser. It has never been learned what official recommended that he was qualified for such a key assignment in a country lying so near the Panama Canal.

The Jenner committee has expressed its desire to question the missing figure on numerous occasions. It feels that it cannot obtain the full story of the Communist conspiracy at Washington, which operated from 1933 until 1945, until it places Currie on the stand. But he has never seen fit to return to the U.S. in response to these requests. Currie cannot be extradited because he has never been indicted, along with so many of his associates. But the Jenner group may ask Secretary John Foster Dulles to use his influence with Columbia to force his return.

His revelations might prove embarrassing to many former high-place officials, but they would also furnish safeguards against a repetition of the still untold effort to weaken the U. S. vis-a-vis Moscow.

THE TRUTH ABOUT U.M.T.

(By The Christian Committee For Freedom)

The American Legion at its national convention undertook as its number one project the legalizing of Universal Military Training. A battle is to shape up on the issue soon and it will be settled in 1955 when Congress will undoubtedly vote on it. It was roundly defeated the last time it came up before Congress and it can be defeated again if its opponents will begin working now.

The first thing to be said about U.M.T. — the practical drafting of every American male when he reaches 18 — is that it is flatly in violation of the Declaration of Independence principle. It is a violation of the spirit, if not the letter of Amendment 13, U. S. Constitution. This Amendment reads:

"Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States or any place subject to its jurisdiction."

Slavery and involuntary servitude shall not exist in this country. The meaning is clear. Being forced to render a service — or involuntary servitude — is as un-American as anything could be. It is an absolute denial of the rights and dignity of the individual. The moment a citizen is forced into service, those doing the forcing have violated the very thing they pretend to be upholding — Freedom.

How long shall this involuntary, forced servitude be inflicted upon the victim? Perhaps two years, perhaps six. Why not for life? Once the precedent is set that some people can force other people into slavery, it doesn't matter whether the period of slavery is two years or life. Slavery is slavery, no matter how long or short its duration. The moment a citizen is forced into servitude he has lost his liberty, his right to self-determination.

The Speech Ike Should Make At The AF Of L Convention

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — Any president who would debate the office which he entrusted to him by appearing before the American Federation of Labor except to call it the foulest of our history is disloyal to that trust.

I have much more respect for the presidency than Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower have shown. If I had been Roosevelt I would have repudiated the rapacious activities of my wife and kids, except Johnny, out of respect for the office early in the first administration. If I had been Truman I would have resigned right after Potsdam with a public confession that I had proved unworthy when I surrendered to the Soviet enemy the victory for which God only knows how many young Americans gave their lives. And if I were Eisenhower, I would not flatter the AF of L, but would have up at its own convention and speak as follows:

"Hear me! You have the gall to call yourselves the representatives of American Labor. Your president here is George Meany, who has been for many years hand-in-glove with Joe Fay, a thieving traitor to the cause of labor, and with Joe Ryan, of the longshoremen, whom he has himself condemned as a union racketeer. Don't get me wrong, I absolutely loathe the AF of L on simple moral grounds. If I didn't I wouldn't deserve the millions of votes that were cast for me for president. I declare to you that if you pledge me your political support I will repudiate you on the instant."

"Do you think I don't know that Meany, here, went sneaking up to Sing Sing with a New York State Representative named Bill Condon, a Republican, at that, God help us, who had received a lot of money from the Fay's filthy Westchester racketeers as campaign contributions, so he says, to pay a call on Fay? You know it, and you know I know it because you know I have carte blanche to the files of the FBI."

"Why did Meany, the president of the AF of L, go to Sing Sing to visit his old friend, that head-kicking goon, that low-lived underworld gangster who robbed the public treasury in time of war and extorted millions from workers and contractors? Why don't you put a proposition to this convention right now to throw Meany out of the presidency, and bar him from the mere membership in any local as long as he lives? You know why. But the public may not know so I will tell you and thus dramatize the awful truth so loudly that at least the people will realize that a corruption of this union racket is. You can't get such a resolution before the convention because Meany and the executive council control the resolutions committee which is not going to present a resolution to get rid of their own man."

"So Joe Ryan was unfit to run the New York waterfront and the stevedores on down to the Gulf, was he? And when did that damn Meany and the rest of you? I ask the question because Meany was Ryan's pal for 25 years and the corruption on the New York waterfront was no worse when you tried to make Ryan the goal for a lifetime of rottenness under the AF of L and ratted on a pal. I am not here to vindicate Ryan altho' he is a far more decent man than most of you fakera who throw him down to save your racket. I hate a rat!

"Is William E. Maloney Here? Maloney of the operating engineers' union, stand up! Look him over, people of the United States. That was Joe Fay's boss, Maloney had a racing stable. He had a mansion on Miami Beach when John Edgar Hoover called it the hibernating place of the criminal scum. Dan Tobin had one, too, furnished by the executive council of the union, including the pious Dave Beck who succeeded the old fat-head when Tobin retired on a pension greater than the gross income of a couple of dozen of the best working teamsters in the country. And Frank Nitti had one, too, until he killed himself. Nitti was another great labor leader of the AF of L. An old Capone hoodlum, he muscled into the building service workers with George Scallies, another Capone rat, and into the theatrical, movie and state employees' union. And Meany here, and Tobin, sat in the national executive council of the AF of L picked to run the movie and theatrical rackets for the Capone mob."

"They knew all about Browne, Bill Green knew it all. And Joe Padway, the general counsel of the AF of L, was counsel for Scallies' racket and Browne's. Padway cleaned up a fortune in legal fees protecting these wrocks mobs and the street-walkers' bargaining agent, Willie Bloff."

"A sad thing happened in Chicago. A poor working stiff named Ziegler went to the U. S. Internal revenue and told Arthur Madden, the agent in charge, and Clarence Converse, a field agent, about the finances of one of Maloney's big locals. Soon after that, Ziegler telephoned Converse in great fear and told him two boss bums from the union office had chased him down La Salle Street and had yelled 'we'll get you yet!' As he lost them in the rush-hour traffic. A few nights later some street lights just happened to be out near Ziegler's home and he was shot dead on his stoop, leaving ten children, some of whom went to the war."

"Maloney has a big farm with a palatial home, just outside Chicago. Court records show that this union conspirator with contractors to big prices. FBI tells me Maloney bought into the Stevens Hotel in Chicago soon after the war with a subway contractor named Healy who had refused to go to New York to testify against Fay. There he stands. And whenever he holds one of his phony conventions in Chicago, Maloney can rely on plenty of clergymen to come and bless the proceedings."

"Meany, I am looking at you. I know your plumbers' union. I picked your Marty Durkin, the plumbers' national president, for secretary of labor."

Writers are often asked "Where do you get your ideas?" I suppose other people are asked this question, too. Inventors, Motorcyclists, Blonds. I can't answer for them, but I have these stock replies. 1: I don't know. 2: Well, er... 3: What ideas? When these three illuminating explanations don't get me off the hook, I break down and confess the truth; my best ideas come to me in dreams. Unfortunately, when I wake up I can't remember them.

This used to baffle me until one day I read a fascinating book of exotic wisdom. It said, "Make a careful record of all your dreams and you will find they include your past, present and a shrewd forecast of your future." The man even told how to go about it. Have a pad of paper and a pencil handy and the minute you dream of something wake yourself up and write it down.

Writer Has Three Answers To Where Ideas Come From

By J. P. McEVROY (For Henry McLemore)

Writers are often asked "Where do you get your ideas?" I suppose other people are asked this question, too. Inventors, Motorcyclists, Blonds. I can't answer for them, but I have these stock replies. 1: I don't know. 2: Well, er... 3: What ideas? When these three illuminating explanations don't get me off the hook, I break down and confess the truth; my best ideas come to me in dreams. Unfortunately, when I wake up I can't remember them.

This used to baffle me until one day I read a fascinating book of exotic wisdom. It said, "Make a careful record of all your dreams and you will find they include your past, present and a shrewd forecast of your future." The man even told how to go about it. Have a pad of paper and a pencil handy and the minute you dream of something wake yourself up and write it down.

Ever try it? I did, and after a few nights I was a blithering nervous wreck. Finally I asked my wife to take over while I caught up with my sleep. After a few days she proudly produced a piece of paper on which she had written an idea which had roused her from deep slumber. She explained she didn't want to wake up entirely so she reached over and scribbled down in the dark this flash of wisdom from her submerged subconscious:

"KWARK — A SPERM." "They were magazine articles," she explained to me, "They were just as vivid and, well, any way..." Her voice trailed off into silence as she studied the paper. "There must have been more to it."

Knowing women I easily recognized this as a superb sample of feminine intuition, and assured her that some day I would surely write a thrilling series of articles called "Kwark."

See how writers get ideas? Sometimes we are told it's easy for us because we are trained to observe things that escape other people. That, of course, is complete nonsense.

There are tricks to all trades, except writing. A shoemaker walking down the street sees shoes, a hat salesman sees hats or the absence thereof. Last night an old dentist acquaintance came over to our table at the Stock Club in New York. We were giving our young daughter a whirl before we locked her up for the winter in a convent school. The dentist had not seen her for ten years and his first remark was, "I see you've had your lower teeth straightened."

Oilers Bring WT-NM Flag Back To Pampa

Clinch Title By Nipping Clovis 3-2

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

It was all over but the shouting for the Pampa Oilers today after the locals eked out a 3-2 decision over the Clovis Pioneers last night at Oiler Park to nail down the 1954 West Texas-New Mexico Shaughnessy Playoff title.

The playoff title gave the Oilers a complete sweep of the WT-NM crowns for the year as the Pampanos also won the straightaway flag.

Jonas Gaines was the "man of the hour" for the Oilers in last night's triumph. The crafty southpaw turned in another of his fine pitching performances, scattering seven hits over the route—all of which were singles.

Gaines also delivered the winning punch for the Oilers at the plate with a two-out double in the fourth inning to drive in Gene Hauradou from first base with what proved to be the winning run.

Gaines hit the Oilers a 3-1 lead at the time but the Pioneers cut the difference to a mere one run in the fifth and that's the way it stood rest of the way.

Lewis Leads Attack
Waiting honors, however, went to the popular Oiler first sacker, Doug Lewis. Lewis drove in the other two Oiler runs with a home run and a double.

Lewis' double came in the first inning and drove in Slick Johnson, who was on via a hit-by-pitcher, from first base with the first run of the ball game.

Lewis then hit a long drive over the centerfield wall on his next trip to the plate in the third inning for a solo homerun which snapped a 1-1 tie. The Oilers were never headed thereafter.

The Oilers thus won their second playoff title since coming into the league. And it was the first time in history that the Oilers won both the straight-season pennant and the playoff title the same year.

The first Oiler playoff title came in 1946 when they finished second in the straight-season race. This year's straight season winner was the third for the Oilers. Previously the Oilers finished first over the regular season in 1940 and 1950.

Pitching Duel
The crowd of approximately 2,000 fans was treated to one of the finest pitching exhibitions of the year at Oiler Park last night.

The Oilers managed only six hits off two Clovis hurlers, starter Ernie Sadler and reliever Ruben Phillips, but the locals got maximum mileage out of their base raps.

Four of the Oiler hits were for extra bases, one homer, two doubles and a triple.

Both doubles drove in a run for the winning Oiler nine. The triple, by I. B. Palmer in the third, was wasted as it came with two away and Sadler got the following man, Dick Hairston, on a deep fly ball to centerfield for the third out.

Clovis never threatened after the fifth when they scored their second and final run. Gaines didn't allow a Pioneer runner to advance beyond first base from the fifth inning on.

Gaines struck out 11 and walked only two. One of the two runs off Gaines was of the unearned variety.

Shockers Drop 1st Home Tilt, 20-6

The Pampa B Team shockers opened their home slate last night by dropping a 20-6 decision to the Clarendon Broncos of District 1-A at Harvester Park.

The Shockers got off to a slow start last night as the visiting Broncos moved ahead by a 12-0 count in the first half.

The Shockers finally found their scoring punch in the third quarter when Bobby Dehls skipped over from the Clarendon six to climax an extended drive.

A 20-yard pass play from Jerry Don Hopkins to end Gerald Smith featured the Shockers scoring drive. Hopkins also connected with Dehls on another pass completion that covered nine yards. The try for point was no good.

Clarendon touchdowns were equally divided between Bobby Philly, Ray Noblett and Bobby Johnson.

The passing of Jerry Don Hopkins and the running of Bobby Dehls and DeWayne Lovinggood stood out for the Shockers.

Standing out for the Shockers in the line were Doug Simmons, Jerry Bonnal, and Billy Green. It was the third loss for the Shockers and the third win for the Broncos in as many starts.

Reapers Drop Opener To Austin Team

Stephen F. Austin of Amarillo spoiled the season opener for the Pampa Junior High Reapers yesterday when they overpowered the locals, 45-8, in a Panhandle Junior High Conference game at Harvester Park.

The Reapers got off to a rousing start by drawing first "blood" in the first quarter but the visitors opened up late in the same period to start their scoring machine to clicking and they kept up the onslaught rest of the way.

The Reapers drove 88 yards for their initial tally in the opening minutes of play. Robert Langford clinched the drive by plowing his way over from the Austin two-yard line.

Biggest gain of the Reaper scoring drive was a 13-yard run by Buster Baird.

Amarillo went ahead late in the first period when Keith La Jon scored a 35-yard run. The try for point was good and visitors went ahead to stay, 7-8. The quarter ended on the first Austin scoring play.

Austin, with La Jon leading the way, went on to a 26-6 halftime lead and then turned the game into a rout in the final two periods.

Buster Baird and Robert Langford did most of the Reaper ground gaining through the afternoon.

The Reapers will go to Amarillo next week to meet Horace Mann in another conference game.

Atlanta Wins 1st From Buffs

HOUSTON, Sept. 24—UP—The Atlanta Crackers were back in contention with the Houston Buffs for the baseball championship of Dixie with a crucial fourth game of the best-of-seven series coming up Friday night.

Dick Kelly, who won six games against four losses during the season, will pitch for the Southern Association champions against Hugh Sooter (14-13) of the Texas League playoff list.

The Crackers stormed past the Buffs, 7 to 4, Thursday night before 11,592 fans as the teams continued debunking the idea of a home field advantage. Houston won the first two games, both played at Atlanta, and the Crackers came back to take the first of three to be played in the Texas city.

Fighting Harvesters Invade Lions' Den

PHS Will Be Outweighed Again Tonite

The Fighting Harvesters left this morning by bus for Vernon where tonight they'll take on the Vernon Lions in a non-district clash.

It will be the second outing of the season for both the Harvesters and Lions. The Harvesters took the measure of the Austin High Panthers of El Paso in their only start to date. The Lions came out on the short end of a 9-0 score against the Wichita Falls Coyotes in their first start.

No more injuries cropped up in the Harvester ranks in their first pre-game workout yesterday afternoon. The Green and Golders will still be without the services of three players who were previously injured.

Tackles Ben Sturgeon and Jerry McNaughton and halfback Carl Blomkvist will not see action against the Lions.

End Jesse Ring, another Harvester injury, has just about recovered but he has been placed on the B team. Ring is only a sophomore and as he is far behind the other boys in the Harvester ranks on conditioning, he was put on the B team to gain more experience.

The Harvester line will give away about 10 pounds per man to the Lions for tonight's clash. The Vernon line averages 177 pounds per man to 167 for the Harvesters. In the backfield, the Lion secondary averages 166 to 156 for the Harvesters.

Thirty-eight boys made the jump to Vernon. They are:

Ends — Bill Culpeper, Jim Green, George Collett, Martin Stone, Odus White, Jon Cantrell and Don Babcock.

Tackles — Jerry McNaughton, Ed Strickland, Burt Kirbie, Damon Runyon, Ben Sturgeon and Tommy Richardson.

Guards — John Claunch, J. R. Cross, Ray Bonsal, Gene Devers, David Mullins and Jerry Neef.

Centers — Rex Fenton, John Watson, Cecil Reynolds, and Tommy Rhoten.

Quarterbacks — Buddy Sharp, Robert Fleming, Dos Hinton and Jimmy Avey.

Halfbacks — Bill Fullenwider, Billy Thornton, Bobby Marlar, Carl Blomkvist, Ben Hollis, Dickie Mauldin and Gene Emerson.

Fullbacks — Harold Lewis, Harlan Boyle and Joe Cook.

Tonight's game will start at 8. The game will be broadcast by both radio stations.

Press Box Views

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

THERE WAS A LOT OF HOOTIN' and hollering in the Oilers dressing room following last night's thrill-packed 3-2 decision by the Oilers over Clovis that wrapped up the playoff title for the locals.

And well it might be, as the locals played hard all the way through the regular season race and the playoffs and they certainly were deserving of the honor that came their way in winning both the straight-season flag and the playoffs.

Even Hershel Martin, who arrived on the scene unexpectedly from Abilene where he had been in the hospital recovering from injuries received in the Oiler bus accident 30 days ago, joined in on the club house celebration last night.

Martin, although he was just barely able to get around, made the rounds and congratulated each member of the Oilers for their fine play, not only last night but for the season.

It was certainly fitting that Martin could be on hand for the playoff clincher.

We asked him how he felt, to which he replied: "Pretty fair, but that victory tonight certainly made me feel a lot better."

Martin is still feeling the effects of the five broken ribs suffered in the bus crash.

He wasn't expected to be able to come to Pampa until Saturday but Hersh convinced the Doc that he was alright and that there was a ball game in Pampa Thursday night that he would like very much to see.

Jonas Gaines, the lad who pitched the Oilers to victory, was all smiles, of course, following last night's action packed victory.

Gaines, you know, had been the hard luck member of the Oilers during the playoffs. He had pitched two good games before in the playoffs but lost them both.

Gaines, however, won the two "biggest" games of the season for the Oilers. You'll recall that the crafty southpaw won the last game of the regular season for the Oilers that enabled the Pampanos to take out the straight-season flag for the Oilers by one-half game over Clovis. And he was pitching with only one day's rest then.

And last night Gaines came through again with the playoff title clincher with only two days rest.

The series with Clovis was certainly a good one all the way through. With exception of one game, there was never more than two runs difference in any one game. The only top-sided affair was Clovis 8-0 win Tuesday night.

Oiler victories were by 6-5 in 11 innings; 5-3, 4-2 and 3-2. The other Clovis win was by a 3-1 margin.

WONDER WHAT HANK BROWN of KGNC-TV has to say now about our "unbalanced" ball club.

Fight Enthusias Mexico
MEXICO CITY, Sept. 24—UP—Enthusiasm ran high Friday for Sunday's "fight of the century" between the U.S. champ, Nate Brooks, and the Mexican bantamweight champion, Raul (the Mouse) Macias. Around 10,000 fans rushed and pushed to get tickets for the fight when ticket windows opened Thursday. Odds shortened to even money, meanwhile, when it was learned that Mexico City's high altitude was beginning to take its toll on Brooks.

THEY THINK WE CAN'T COOK OUR OWN SUPPER

I LOVE BEANS

YEH-ESPECIALLY WHEN THEY'RE COLD

Alley Oop

AND NOW THAT WE ALL UNDERSTAND EACH OTHER, LET'S GET BUSY WITH THE TASK AT HAND!

OSCAR, I'M SENDING YOU BACK INTO THE THIRD CENTURY TO BRING BACK THIS WARRIOR MAID.

OH, NO! NOT ME! NOBIE!

DON'T LOOK AT ME EITHER!

DON'T GET ME WRONG, DOC. I'VE NOTHING IN THE WORLD AGAINST THE LADY... SHE'S PROBABLY A PERFECTLY CHARMING, WONDERFUL PERSON, BUT...

...IN A CASE OF THIS KIND, YOU'D BETTER GO AFTER HER YOURSELF!

Bo

WHAT D'YU MEAN YOU CAN'T LEAVE HERE? WHAT'RE YOU WAITING FOR?

YOU LOOK MEAN! YOU MEAN YOU CAN'T LEAVE HERE? WHAT'RE YOU WAITING FOR?

I'VE BEEN WAITING HERE SEVERAL DAYS AND HAVEN'T HAD ANYTHING TO EAT IN ALL THAT TIME!

I'M WAITING FOR MY OWNER TO COME BACK AND GET ME. HE MIGHT COME. I'M GONNA LOOKING FOR FOOD!

I WOULDN'T DO THAT FOR ANYBODY. I'M GETT'ING SOAKED! LET'S GO!

I KNOW HOW HE FEELS-WE CAN'T JUST LEAVE HIM, TRIX!

Buzz Sawyer

SEE HERE, BUZZ. THIS STORM'S MOVED 30 MILES SINCE THIS MORNING. NOW HIS THAT GADGET STAYED IN THE EYE! WHY DIDN'T THE HURRICANE OVERRUN IT?

SMILE, CHIC.

IT'S GOT AN ANGLED RUDDER AND A SAIL. WHEN THE WIND HITS THE SAIL, THE RUDDER TURNS THE GADGET BACK INTO THE EYE. IT TRAVELS WITH THE EYE OF THE STORM.

COULD THERE BE ANY CONNECTION BETWEEN IT AND THAT STRANGE WRECKAGE WASHED UP IN A RECENT STORM?

SMART BOY, CHIC! WASHINGTON EVALUATED THE WRECKAGE AS NON U.S. IN OTHER WORDS, PART OF AN UNKNOWN ENEMY DEVICE.

GREAT GHOST! MAYBE THAT GADGET DOWN THERE IS THE SAME THING!

Martha Wayne

...AND AS IT STRIKES THE PICTURE, SOMETHING IS LOOSENED FROM THE PAINTED NECKLACE...

Mutt & Jeff

I DON'T SEE WHAT'S SO SPECIAL ABOUT DEEP SEA FISHING!

ARE YOU KIDDIN'?

THERE ARE BIGGER FISH, BIGGER THRILLS, BIGGER EVERYTHING! IT'S A ROUGH, TOUGH SPORT!

I'D RATHER FISH FOR MINNOWS!

THAT'S IT! YOU THINK SMALL YOU FISH SMALL! ME-I THINK BIG AND I FISH BIG!

BUT YOU SURE DON'T KETCH BIG!

Legs Bunny

I DESIRE TO PURCHASE TWO OF YOUR DELICIOUS DOUGHNUTS... ON CREDIT OF COURSE!

HANDS OFF, BUM!

CASH OR NO DEAL... I GOT DELIVERIES 'T MAKE!

YIPE!

BUGS BELLER DOUGHNUTS

Susie Q. Smith

OH, IF ONLY MY CHILDREN WOULD TAKE THEIR TIME AT LUNCH, LIKE YOURS DO!

I WISH I KNEW YOUR SECRET!

IT'S VERY SIMPLE.

FIRST ONE DONE DOES THE DISHES!

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

OWOOH! DON'T RUN ME THRU THEM CHIPS IN ME SOCK FEET, YOU ROWDIES!

LOOK! HE SOLES HIS SHOES WITH OLD OILY LEATHER BELTIN' THEN STINKS UP OUR HULL NEIGHBORHOOD GRINDIN' 'EM DOWN ON 'TH EMERY WHEEL! LOOK AT TH' SURPLUS ON THEM THINGS!

WELL, HOOPLE, HAVEN'T SEEN YOU SINCE YOU MARCHED IN FOR A 1954 CALENDAR - WHAT NOW? TRYING TO BORROW 'S FINANCE SOME STEAM-HEATED AIR-DRAGE?

INDEED NO, BANKER BROWN. I JUST NOTICED YOUR DEBITS TOTAL ONLY $2,000,000 - FELT SO SORRY FOR YOU I'M PUTTING IN THIS $1,000 CHECK TO GIVE YOU A NICE START-ON A THIRD MILLION - HAR RUMPH! CAPITAL JOKE, CH?

I'LL BET THAT'S THE FIRST SMILE HE HAS CRACKED SINCE THE COOLIDGE BOOM - I'VE HAD A BIG-LEAD PLAY A FANFARE!

CAPITAL JOKE, EH? WELL?

Steve Canyon

WE NAILED SOME SLATS ACROSS THE WINDOW IN THE ROOM WHERE CANYON IS LOCKED UP...

HELL, KEEP 'EM OFF THE BOSS GETS HERE... WHERE'S YOU GYS, (MIZZOU)?

GONE TO BED...

IT'S CLEAR THAT THE BOSS WANTED THIS CANYON PLECKED UP BECAUSE HE KNEW THE FLY BOY WAS HERE TO SNEAK OUT THE DELAY IN BUILDING THE RADAR STATION...

CANYON WAS PROBABLY CLOSE TO LEARNING THAT THERE'S OIL UNDER THE RADAR SITE, SO THE BOSS WANTS HIM SILENCED... IT WOULD MAKE US LOOK GOOD IF WE WORKED OUT A WAY TO DO IT AND LEAVE NO TRACE FOR THE FEDS TO PIN ON US...

Vic Flint

INSPECTOR GROWL, MEET GINGER, A GAL WHO'S DONE EVERYTHING BUT CARRY BOMBS TO THE COURTHOUSE IN HER EFFORTS TO OBEY THE BELLE WILDE TRIAL.

IF SHE'S THE BARE RESPONSIBLE FOR TOM STRONG'S LUMPS, WE'LL HAVE LOTS TO TALK ABOUT!

AN HOUR LATER...

FLINT, YOU'RE ABOUT TO SEE JUST HOW SWIFTLY THE WHEELS OF JUSTICE CAN ROLL!

BRADY, PUT OUT A PICK-UP FOR WAGEL JACKSON, AND I WANT B. B. EVANS BROUGHT IN. HE RUNS THE SUNSWATH SHOP ON MAPLE...

ONE THING BOTHERS ME, GROWL. I'LL LISTEN.

Little Doc

ORVILLE IS SUCH A BRIGHT CHILD! REALLY?

TELL LITTLE DOC HOW MUCH TWO AND TWO MAKE

FIVE!

THERE! ONLY MISSED BY ONE!

Wash Tubbs

AS EASY AS TRYING TO PLY OPEN ONE OF THE BOXES...

SO SENOR POTTER WAS RIGHT! YOU CANNOT MIND YOUR OWN BUSINESS!

BRING 'EM DOWN TO THE WATER, BOYS! THEY GO WEST WITH US ON A LITTLE TRIP!

AND IN RESPONSE TO SANCHO'S SIGNAL, A BOAT MOVES IN QUICKLY TO SHORE...

Boots

DORY PUG JUST DANCED IN ON TOP OF THE WORLD!

YES! I ASKED HER IF SHE HAD A BIG DATE COOMIN' AND SHE SAID NO!

SAID SHE DIDN'T HAVE NO TIME FOR SUCH!

WELL-THAT WOULD MOST CERTAINLY SEEM TO WASH OUT THE LOVE ANGLE!

YES, BUT -

Mickey Finn

WELL, IT'S A GOOD THING WE DECIDED TO HAVE YOU GO WITH PHIL, MICKY!

WHY?

SCHULTZ AND MCGINTY ARE GOING CLANCY. JUST CALLED HIM!

OH, MY GOSH! THE WHOLE TRIP? NEW ORLEANS, TOO?

NO, FORTUNATELY! THEY'RE JUST GOING TO MEET HIM AT DONNYBROOK! HE'S CALLING HILDA NOW - TO HAVE HER GET THEM A ROOM!

AND WHAT ABOUT HEADACHE, HILDA? ARE YOU SURE HE'S READY FOR A BIG RACE LIKE THAT? I WOULDN'T WANT THE BOYS TO GO WAY DOWN THERE IF...

DON'T WORRY, PHIL! HE'S READY AND WILLING! THEY WON'T HAVE ANY REGRETS!

Freckles

FOR HEAVEN'S SAKE, LAD, CAN'T YOU LIFT YOUR FEET? YOU'RE GETTING TO BE AS CLUMSY AS A COW!

HI, PAL! I COME BEARING THE LATEST BOP SPINNERS!

WELCOME, DOLL!

AND I SAID HE WAS CLUMSY!

Susie Q. Smith

WHY WAS SUSIE SILLY ENOUGH TO LET HERSELF GET APOED INTO BEING HALL MONITOR???

OK, BREAK IT UP! MOVE ALONG! NO LOITERING IN THE HALL!!!

WELL... THAT'S A POWER QUESTION!

Death Of Italian Party Girl Stirs Up Crisis In Cabinet

By CHARLES M. McCANN
UP—A 51-year-old Grapevine farmer, armed with a high-powered rifle, held off three Tarrant county sheriff's deputies, for almost four hours Wednesday night before they routed him from his home with tear gas.

Deputy Jim Barker said the farmer, Carl C. Cummings, shouted, "nobody is going to take me alive," when deputies arrived at his home three miles west of here. He finally surrendered with tears streaming down his face after Deputy R. N. Gilley fired five gas shells into the home.

Barker, Gilley and Deputy Bud Burdick went to the home with a warrant for Cummings' arrest on an assault charge.

"Cummings was standing on the porch when we arrived," Barker related. "He ran into the house, grabbed a rifle and declared he wouldn't be taken alive."

The deputies camped outside more than three hours in the hope Cummings would change his mind and give up peacefully.

Then Gilley shot four tear gas shells through windows and another through a back screen door. Cummings shouted that he was ready to surrender.

Barker said the assault charge was filed in justice court here by a brother of Cummings. He said Cummings struck him and threatened to kill him," the deputy said.

Poisonous Zoo Reptiles Put To Death

FORT WORTH, Sept. 24—UP—All poisonous snakes in the Forest Park zoo reptile exhibit here had been killed Thursday, although Harry Jackson, owner of the collection, said he felt certain no other snake could make a clean getaway as did Pete the python.

No word still had been received from Pete, whose escape was discovered last Saturday morning.

The snake cages have been checked and double checked and are as snake-proof as human ingenuity can make them, Jackson said.

Only harmless snakes now are left in the zoo. Jackson killed three poisonous snakes after the city council questioned security of the exhibit pens.

Paying with their lives for the council's qualms were two moccasins and one sidewinder rattlesnake.

Meanwhile the search for Pete was as a status quo, with mostly only ambitious amateurs prowling Forest and Trinity Parks, seeking a glimpse of the missing reptile.

A 10-foot imitation of the python, made of inner tubes, stuffed with paper and attached to a wire, deceived James L. Walden a thrill late Wednesday before he detected the hoax.

So tired he seemed nearly ready to drop, Jackson today kept up his vigil. He hasn't been to his Burleson home since Pete's loss was discovered.

In the first days of the hunt he headed the foot by foot search of the two large city parks. He is staying close to the zoo telephone, hoping for a worthwhile tip as to Pete's whereabouts.

Hamilton Hittson, park director, went back to his duties on the Tarrant county grand jury this morning. He got excused for the first days of the python hunt.

Man Intent On Killing Entire Family

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23—UP—Authorities guarded a six-year-old girl and her grandparents Thursday to protect them from an ex-convict who threatened to kill the "whole family."

Already two of the family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Forbes, have been slain and the district attorney's office issued a murder complaint against James Merkuris, 40, former husband of the dead woman.

Homicide detectives here said Pueblo, Colo., officers offered a clue to the whereabouts of Merkuris when they reported finding his wrecked car. The car had been sought after residents of the area where the Forbes were shot to death reported seeing it near the site of the crime. The license was traced to Detroit where the owner admitted having given it to Merkuris.

Law Of Supply And Demand Doesn't Hold For Coffee

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—UP—Federal Trade Commission report of July 29 that said that supply and demand did not figure in the price booms. The FTC said the recent sharp coffee price increases resulted from coffee market speculation and "abnormal buying for inventory."

The Agriculture Department agreed. Its report said the world coffee crop for the 1953-54 season totaled 41.4 million bags, compared with the 40.4 million bags consumed by the world's coffee drinkers.

It said the frost which hit Brazil's coffee plantations in July 1953, and which was widely cited as the reason for last spring's hike in green coffee prices, actually did not cause any significant decline in total coffee production.

The department also reported that coffee supplies should improve over the next few years as new plantations start to produce. However, it ventured no predictions on the trend of coffee prices in U.S. grocery stores.

The FTC conducted a seven-month investigation of coffee price hikes earlier this year, under orders from President Eisenhower. It said the only remedy appeared to be legislation imposing strict government controls on coffee trading.

Suburb Spends Jittery 3 Hours

HOUSTON, Sept. 24—UP—A ditch-digging machine chopped through a butane gas pipeline Wednesday night to give South Houston residents a jittery three hours because of the danger of explosion.

A 300-home housing project was directly opposite the point where the broken pipeline was spewing out inflammable gas. Police blocked off the entire area and detoured traffic while deputies with loudspeaker trucks toured the housing project to warn residents to turn off all pilot lights.

Heavy concentrations of the heavier-than-air gas gathered in low "pocket" areas and Assistant Fire Chief W. O. Hunter said the odor of gas was strong "several miles from the scene."

The break finally was repaired and most of the escaped gas cleared away by 21 p.m.
