West German Finance Chief A Tight Man With The Buck

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst

Close-fisted Fritz Schaeffer, finance minister of the West German republic, does not want his nice budget messed up by his country's proposed 500,000-man army.

He is in favor of the army, of course, but he says that $2,142,000,000 a year is positively the most he can afford to allot to defense costs to get the army started.

Autorities of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, of which the German army is to be part, asserts that $3.3 billion would be about right.

Hence a big argument is in prospect during the next few months. Schaeffer will assert that West Germany is being plunged into the abyss of bankruptcy.

Probably Will Raise It

In the end, if he runs true to form, Schaeffer probably will raise his estimate to approximately what he figured all along he would have to pay. It probably will be less than the NATO chiefs want.

Schaeffer is the most controversial man in the West German cabinet. He has been called a pro-Nazi. He has been a constant annoyance to allied occupation authorities. He has annoyed his own people.

He was finance minister of Bavaria when the Nazis took power in 1933. He lost his job and was put under arrest for two weeks. He managed to survive the Hitler era, practicing as a lawyer in Munich, without either joining the Nazis or being listed as anti-Nazi. He served two months in Dachau concentration camp, however, as a possible accomplice in the 1944 bomb plot against Hitler.

After the war, the American army named Schaeffer as minister president of Bavaria. Not long after he took that office, people noticed that a lot of ex-Nazis were getting good jobs from him and that liberals were being frozen out.

Schaeffer lost his job again. However, Gen. George S. Patton Jr., then military governor of Bavaria, commented when asked about Schaeffer's status as a suspected pro-Nazi: "There is about as much difference between a Nazi and an anti-Nazi as there is between a Republican and a Democrat."

Another Official Job

He came back in 1949 as West German finance minister. Schaeffer is frosty-natured and acid-tongued. He is stingy both with the people's money and with his own. He has been seen to buy one cigarette when he wanted to smoke rather than put out the funds for a full pack.

But he has been such a food-finance minister that he has held his post firmly. Under his administration of the treasury the West German national income has risen from $19 billion a year to about $30 billion. West Germany is one of the most prosperous countries in Europe.

At 68, he is almost youthful compared to 78-year-old Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and he is talked of as Adenauer's political heir.

MAYBE THAT'S WHY THE AMENDMENT WAS VOTED IN

BEAUMONT — UP — Beaumont district judges recently pondered a grave question posed by the voters' adoption of a constitutional amendment requiring women to serve on juries in Texas.

Judges Owen M. Lard, Melvin Combs and W. S. Nichols pointed out that present law prohibits the overnight separation of jurors considering a criminal case.

Bosomy Actress To Leave U. S.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 12—UP— for an indefinite period. He said English actress Simone Silva, ill in her ailment was caused by either a hospital after both her romance and Hollywood film career collapsed, said Thursday she would return home to England as soon as she recovered.

The bosomy actress, who won a movie contract by stripping to the waist for a photograph with actor Robert Mitchum on the French Riviera, collapsed Wednesday and was taken to St. Joseph's hospital in nearby Burbank.

Dr. Edward Gourson said she had been too ill to eat for a week and would remain at the hospital.

THE MARQUEE BY DICK KLEINER

THE RECORD SHOP: This has been a bang-up year for trends in the record business. It started, if you remember that far back, with the calypso trend. Then came the rhythm and blues trend. Now we're up to our swaying hips in mambo. And coming, if my trend-spotter is working, is the big voice trend.

Mario Lanza was the last big voice to make a record name. Currently, all the labels are knocking themselves out to find big voices. London was the first to cash in with "Cara Mia," sung by David Whitfield. Columbia has a great new voice in Val Valente. And the others are following.

"Play it louder," said Mickey Spillane.

And he leaned back and closed his eyes, as the music grew louder. They were playing the first "Mike Hammer" record, a new Columbia album that Mickey helped write. Spillane created Hammer, the private black-eye.

He explained the record as it went along. One side has two short episodes in the Mike Hammer casebook, with Spillane cast as Hammer. The other side is original music which attempts to portray Hammer and his methods in musical terms.

"This here," said Spillane, "is Mike and a gal. Listen, he's spotted her. They go up to his place."

There was an exciting rhythm, trumpets wailing, drums thumping.

"He closes the door. He takes the key. He puts it in his pocket. Louder, wailing, stronger-thumping."

"Now they're going around the table. Now he's got her."

And Spillane smiled. I suppose his pupils dilated, just like in the books, but I wouldn't know a dilated pupil if I fell over it.

There were other themes — A song for Mike, a song for his gal friend, and more. Through them all there was a powerful rhythmic beat, exciting, almost cruel, Spillane thinks they're pretty good representations of his creations.

Spillane is a chunky man, with close-cropped hair and big hands. His tie was open and his shirt sleeves were rolled up and he sipped ginger ale from a paper container. He likes music and plays the piano.

"I used to play a pretty good trumpet," he said, "until somebody threw a bottle and it knocked out three teeth. No more trumpet."

I speculated on what happened to the bottle-thrower, but I figured discretion was the better part of reporting, so I didn't ask.

The gal singers are discovering a new way to make money — endorsing products, a field formerly limited to Hollywood glamor gals and the cream of society. Patti Page has a doll to tie in with her latest record, "The Mama Doll Song," and Sunny Gale's name soon will appear on a line of rain-

Pottsboro Gets Dial Service
DENISON, Tex., Nov. 12—UP— The Pottsboro, Tex., exchange of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. will be switched over to dial service Dec. 11 with the exchange name "STIwell," telephone company officials said Thursday. Bids will be opened Nov. 16 on construction of a dial telephone exchange for Denison, with the name "Homestead."

DICK'S PICKS: The Ames Brothers have a fine number in "The Naughty Lady of Shady Lane" (RCA) with a trick ending. Other good ones: "Mambo Italiano" (Rosemary Clooney, Columbia); "Don't Let the Kiddy Gettin' (Kitty) Kallen, Decca"; "Mambo Baby" (Georgia Gibbs, Mercury); "The Little Brown Mama" (Ralph Flanagan, RCA); "You're Nobody 'Til Somebody Loves You" (Mills Brothers, Decca); "Tara's Theme" (Le Roy Holmes, MGM); "When You're In Love" (Les Baxter, Capitol).

If you want to know what higher fidelity recording can do, listen to RCA Victor's intriguing "Hearin' Is Believin'." Impressive comparisons are drawn between the same pieces, recorded years ago, and recorded recently.

Columbia has issued two albums from the Casals Festival, with the celebrated cellist performing Beethoven's Sonatas for Cello and Piano (with pianist Rudolf Serkin) on one, and the Schumann Concerto in A-Minor for Cello and Orchestra, Op. 129, on the other. Brilliant, as expected.

Texas Soldiers Guilty In Slaying
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12—UP— Two Texas soldiers each have been sentenced to 25 years' imprisonment and a dishonorable discharge for the murder of a 22-year-old private at an enlisted man's party Aug. 30.

A Sixth Army court martial board Wednesday found Pfc. Arthur H. Desroe, Hillsboro, Tex., and David H. Pouncey, Beaumont, guilty of stabbing Pvt. Marvin Gibby, Andrews, N.C., at the party at Fort Cronkhite near San Francisco.

The board of four officers and three enlisted men convicted the soldiers, both Negroes, after hearing testimony that Desroe stabbed Gibby with a knife that Pouncey passed to him.

June Talk

By JANE KADINGO Pampa News Women's Editor

LAST WEEK I MADE a statement to the effect that I believed real beauty came from within. This week I read about famous beauty expert who agreed with me. He said that most women don't realize that beauty is an inward thing, and beauty and grooming of the outside is merely to make a frame for inward loveliness. He rapped conformity, also, saying women are too apt to follow fashion rather than stay with what best flatters them.

I ALSO READ recently about one of Hollywood's lovelier actresses who said the same thing. She says women should have more individuality in hair style and dress—embracing only fashions that make them look their best—avoiding those that aren't suitable for their type. Just thought I'd pass them on to you.

"NEW FASHIONS are fashionable only if they look well on you," says Katherine Potter, a beauty and grooming expert. "Fat little fur collars, muffling scarves, finger necklace curls, all current fashions, are not for girls with short necks. They cover the neck completely and make you look shorter. Modify new fashions to fit your features and you'll always have chic."

She also says that hair lengths for fall and winter will not be long, but "smoother and better combed." The styles will include "neatly cropped" necklines to fit to a "lightly indented way," smooth top hair with "side or inter parts" are also included in new "coiffs." She also recommends paying as much attention to the back as the front of your hair.

Twentieth Century Club Honors Cotillion Group At Session On Courtesy, Ethics

Twentieth Century Club was hostess to the Twentieth Century Cotillion Club at a recent meeting in the home of Mrs. Roy McKernan, with Mrs. E. L. Campbell as co-hostess.

For the program, "Club Courtesy," Mrs. J. E. Massa reviewed club ethics.

Club ethics are the unwritten rules which govern the social relations of club life, and they must be further than parliamentary.

Mrs. Massa pointed out the prestige of a club depends on courtesy among its members.

Other clubs of the town. The theme discussed the ethical regulations of club members, the silent, and delegates, and gave pointers on the care and treatment of speakers.

Richard Stowers gave the story of the Club Collect and outlined the life of its author, Mary Vinyard.

The Collect was written as a personal prayer without any organization in mind by Mary Steward, but later, she felt that club women with wide interests, working together for large ends, had a special meditation all their own," she explained.

"The Collect was an interpretation of each of the eight parts of the collect, given in a candle-light ceremony.

During the social period, Mrs. Vinyard presided at the table.

Attending the event were Meses. J. W. Gordon, Ray Hagan, E. Hughes, V. J. Jamieson, R. Sanford, Ralph Sidwell, H. R. Simpson, Lee Moore, Ralph McInney, Stanley Chittenden, Ray

GIRLS-TOWN ITEMS

Pampa Girl Scouts were busy Thursday afternoon sorting and packing items for Girls-Town in the Girl Scout office, City Hall. The articles were obtained through the girls' "trick or treating" Halloween. Shown at work are, left to right, Carol Dawson, Mary Helen Ayres, Idella Sue Lane and Carol Cleveland, all Intermediate Scouts. Articles collected included facial tissues, soap, wash cloths, combs, tooth paste, and anklets. (News photo)

Mrs. Myles Morgan Gives Book Review For Twentieth Century Culture Coffee

Mrs. Myles Morgan reviewed the book "Gentle House" by Anna Perrott Rose, at the recent coffee of the Twentieth Century Culture Club in the City Club Room.

The book tells the story of an 11-year-old Latvian boy whose parents are dead and who is bombed out of a Latvian orphanage. After living in several DP camps, he is brought to America where a number of foster parents are unable to handle the "emotionally scarred" child. He is finally taken in by a widowed schoolteacher who restores him to mental health and happiness.

Co-hostesses for the event were Meses. Leslie Hart, Joe Donaldson, and J. L. Chase. Mrs. L. J. Zachary presided at the coffee service.

The serving table was covered with a deep brown cloth, centered with a fall floral arrangement. Refreshments were orange slices, doughnuts and coffee.

Members present were Meses. Jeff Bearden, J. L. Chase, J. R. Donaldson, J. W. Edminister, Frank F. Fata, H. H. Hahn, L. H. Hart, Warren Hasse, E. L. Henderson, V. L. Hobbs, Rufe Jordan, Cameron Marsh, Jack D. Merchant, Myles Morgan, Doyle Osborne, E. E. Shelhamer, J. R. Stroble, Michael Wilson and L. J. Zachary.

Guests present were Meses. Gene Fatheree, Eben D. Warner, Jr., Glenn Radcliff, Carlton Nance, Garner Altom, R. L. Edmondson, R. J. Sallor, Jr., Coy Palmer, George Thompson, J. W. Lemons, Floyd Carpenter, H. H. Boynton, Buck Haggard, Ronald Hubbard, Kirk Duncan, Harold McMurray, J. R. Holloway, Albert Kemp, A. R. Nooncaster, Lee Moore, R. W. Grady, and John Campbell, all of Pampa; and Mrs. Cecil Grant of Berger.

RUTH MILLET Dress-Up Wear

A welcome addition to your dress-up wardrobe now that the holidays are not far off. A simple yet graceful dress for women that's so new.

Pattern No. 8178 is in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48. Size 38, short sleeve, 4 1/2 yards of 35-inch; 3/4 yard lace.

Instead of telling himself he is married to a gajaboot, a man who admits that it is perfectly normal for his wife to want to go out more often than he does might be a little more understanding of her need to go out occasionally even though he would be perfectly happy to sit at home night after night.

And if a woman faced the fact that her husband's preference for staying at home to going out in the evening was just normal behavior for a man, she might not be quite so frustrated by his ungracious behavior when she insists on their going out together.

The trouble comes from a wife's thinking that she is married to a lump and a husband's thinking he is married to a bird-brain who isn't happy unless she is "on the go."

It is bound to be easier for both to know that the husband is just acting like a normal man and the woman is just acting like a normal woman.

Then by each giving in a little—they can both be happy.

The wife can try to get out more in the daytime, so that she is more willing to stay at home at night.

Perryton Black HD Group Holds Party

PERRYTON—(Special)—Black Home Demonstration Club members, their families and friends held a "backyard" party recently in the community center. Shocks of feed and jack-o-lanterns decorated the room.

Mrs. Jim Haden, Mrs. Orville Crain and Mrs. C. U. Pope were hostesses. Refreshments were served to approximately 30 persons.

Navy personnel and the Navy's contractors produce more than 1,000 inventions for patent each year.

Mrs. T. M. Osborne presented the program with Mrs. L. H. Lance and Mrs. Fred Huston taking part.

Mrs. Huston had charge of the recreation period. Ten members were present.

Fort Worth Woman Honored At Session Of Club Federation

MINERAL WELLS, Tex., Nov. 11—UP—Mrs. Paul Allison of Fort Worth was chosen Tuesday night as the outstanding young woman of Texas at the 87th convention of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. E. N. Smith of Marshall made the award to Mrs. Allison at the Texas Pioneer Dinner Tuesday night. Mrs. Smith is state leadership development chairman for the federation.

Citations for outstanding club leadership were given to Mrs. Claude Riley of Victoria and Mrs. J. L. Ginnings of Pilot Point.

In a business session Tuesday, delegates voted to change their annual convention from November to spring; adopted a resolution proposing a course in driver education for Texas schools; another asking the legislature to prohibit the sale and distribution of undesirable comic books, and others on state hospitals and special schools and commitment laws concerning the mentally ill.

Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins of Eastland, Tex., chairman of the education department of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, gave the keynote speech at Tuesday night's meeting.

She spoke on "The Lamp of Learning" and appealed to Texas women to take a more active interest in educational pursuits.

The lesson on the first four chapters of Acts was read and discussed.

MEXICAN MACARONI CASSEROLE, a lively dish, is a Texas eating favorite.

Mexican Macaroni Casserole Rated Texas Eating Favorite

By GAYNOR MADDOX NEA Food and Markets Editor

Our advertising friend Duke Burgess of Dallas, Texas, is one of the best men cooks we know. His Mexican macaroni dish is just one that he cooked for us in his Dallas home, surrounded by his four children and lovely wife.

It's a lively dish, inexpensive, and has eye appeal and uses lean beef, now in superabundance. Incidentally, we served it successfully to some of our friends who attended the Newspaper Food Editors Conference in New York.

MEXICAN MACARONI CASSEROLE (Makes 4-6 servings)

One tablespoon salt, 3 quarts boiling water, 8 ounces elbow macaroni (2 cups), 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 pound ground round steak, 2 canned pimentos, chopped, 2-3 cup chopped onion, 1 medium sized green pepper, diced, 1 1/2 cups tomato juice, 1 tablespoon chili powder, salt to taste, 1/4 cup grated processed American cheese.

Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Melt butter or margarine over low heat; add meat and brown well. Add pimentos, onions and green pepper and cook over low heat until tender. Add tomato juice and chili powder; cover and cook over low heat 20 minutes. Combine meat mixture and cooked macaroni; season to taste with salt.

Latin-American cooking appeared also at the International Dinner given for the editors at the Ambassador Hotel in New York. The elaborate party began with American appetizers such as turkey on tiny biscuits, little hamburgers and Welsh rabbit on toast points. There were five different menus—Latin-American, Oriental, Eastern, Middle-Eastern and Scandinavian. Beer, which goes well with these foods, was served to those who enjoy it.

For each different international menu the tables were brilliantly decorated in national colors and china and linens and utensils were all authentic. This was a brilliant party.

ROAD TO REVIVAL

One of the most outstanding prayers recorded in the Bible is the prayer offered by Solomon at the dedication of the Temple. It is recorded in the sixth chapter of second Chronicles. In this prayer Solomon asked a question, "When the heaven is shut up, and there is no rain, because they (our people) have sinned against Thee; yet if they pray toward this place, and confess Thy name, and turn from their sin, when Thou dost afflict them—then hear Thou from heaven, and forgive the sin of Thy servants." In verses twelve, thirteen and fourteen in the seventh chapter Solomon gets the answer, "And the Lord appeared to Solomon by night, and said unto him, I have heard thy prayer, and have chosen this place to Myself for an house of sacrifice. If I shut up heaven and there be no rain, or if I command the locusts to devour the land, or if I send pestilence among My people; if My people, which are called by My name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek My face and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land."

God said He would bless His people provided they would meet His conditions. The burden always rests upon God's people! "If My people, called by My name shall . . .

- A. "Humble themselves." Humility is the first requirement. That does away with egotism, self-sufficiency and arrogance.
- B. "And pray." Prayer is the second requirement. Most of us are in too big a hurry to pray. We are so completely engrossed with the affairs of this present existence that we have little time for quiet meditation and thanksgiving.
- C. "And seek My face." That is the third condition. Not riches, not wealth, not a place of prominence or preferment, but God's face and God's will.
- D. "And turn from their wicked ways." "There is a way that seemeth right unto man but the end thereof are the ways of death." Prov. 14:2. As we turn to God we must turn from our sin and wickedness.

If we meet these conditions as Solomon and his people met them we are promised a threefold blessing:

- "I will hear from heaven."
- "Will forgive their sin."
- "Will heal their land."

I pray that any person who reads this message will join me in earnest prayer that God will enable us to meet His conditions so we may walk the road of Revival together.

air pollution from coal and oil furnaces.

For a long time, the Public Health Service has considered it highly essential that studies be made on health problems related to air pollution but the necessary money has never been granted.

Appealing for these funds, Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, Secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, wrote to the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, which was considering an air pollution amendment. "There is increasing evidence that polluted air over cities and metropolitan areas constitutes a serious hazard to their health and welfare," she pointed out.

During the last session of Congress legislation providing money for this purpose nearly passed but was knocked out in conference at the last minute.

Last May before the House Subcommittee on Appropriations Dr. Arthur Vorwald, chairman of the Department of Industrial Medicine and Hygiene at Wayne University, Detroit, Mich., urged the adoption of a broad laboratory program to study the ability of various pollutants to cause lung cancer.

He was one of the several witnesses introduced by the American Cancer Society, which was seeking adequate government funds for the National Cancer Institute.

"We know that the atmosphere that we breathe every minute frequently contains compounds which cause cancers in animals," said Vorwald. "This is enough to make us suspect that they may contribute to the rapid rise in lung cancer and perhaps some other cancers in humans."

Because cigarette smoking has been the focus of so much attention in regard to lung cancer, the tobacco industry has chipped in an initial half a million dollars for independent research.

Last January, the Tobacco Industry Research Committee was organized to foster study into all phases of tobacco use and health. In April the Committee named a Scientific Advisory Board to handle the distribution of this money impartially.

Seven outstanding educators, scientists and doctors are on the Board. It is presently issuing grants to qualified individuals and institutions who will report their own findings.

"We shall not attempt to direct the course of this research nor shall we limit or influence the investigator in charge of it," says Dr. Clarence Cook Little, Scientific Director of the Committee. "We appreciate all the work that has been done and is being done which borders on this field. We have no axes to grind and do not intend to be critical of the efforts of others."

Research On Smog Lags Far Behind

EDITOR'S NOTE: The real-life detective story of air pollution and its part in the lung cancer mystery is becoming a perplexing and alarming community problem over vast metropolitan areas of America. For this report on smog, the last of four dispatches, NEA Staff Writer Kenneth O. Gilmore went to the top authorities in the U. S., now tells the story of smog and how science is working to track down the killer in the skies.

By KENNETH O. GILMORE
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Thousands of dollars are now being spent to find out whether smoking causes lung cancer. Yet another important suspect goes virtually unheeded for lack of funds.

Air pollution has not received as much public attention as tobacco smoking, but outstanding medical authorities admit that it, too may be equally responsible for the death of last year's estimated 23,000 lung cancer victims. Few dollars are available, however, for research on this phase of the cancer problem.

"Unless and until it is proved that smoking is the only culprit, we must not neglect research on the other possible causative agents," warns Dr. Cuyler Hammond, statistical director of the American Cancer Society.

Hammond lists three different environmental factors that could be at least partly responsible for the rise in lung cancer. They are: (1) cigarette smoking; (2) exhaust fumes from automobiles; and (3)
