'Judgement Day' For Administration Texas Votes On Constitution Change

Four Statewide Races Contested

By RICHARD TAYLOR

United Press Staff Correspondent Eleven changes in Texas' constitution drew most of the attention Tuesday in a non-presidential election in which 500,000 persons were expected to vote.

There were contests in only a few races-four statewide, three in congressional districts and a scattered handful for county and local offices across the state.

The weatherman forecast cloudy weather for most of the state. Observers had said showers might Gray County cut the turnout below a half million, which would be a record vote for a non-presidential year.

DENTAL PLATE MAKER FOUND

Oklahoma authorities announced they had located the firm which made part of the nine - unit dental bridge found in the mouth of a charred, un-identified body in a burned station wag on near Davis Oct. 10. Investigators say the steel backing of the bridge, right, was made by a mid-western firm, and have asked Scotland Yard to help them find the company, either in Germany or Poland, who made the permanent, fixed bridge and stamped their serial number on it. ### CALL THIS A HOME?

Wouldn't you like to own the attractive brick residence, above, with its white shutters and well-k ot lawn? Lots of people would and they ask real estate agents if it's for same. Door-to-door sales men try to rouse the occupants and one firm even sent a letter, saying they would be glad to reproduce the house on owner's Christmas cards. All in vain, however. That's because the "dwelling" is no dwelling at all. It's a pumping station for the Mission Hills sewer district of Kansas City, Mo., under jurisdiction of Joh nson County. Inside there are neither family nor furniture - just a mass of pumping machinery and its attendants, as lower picture shows. (NEA Photo)

On Freedom

"At no time in the history of the world was there ever a crisis as far-reaching and destructive as the current struggle between communism and freedom. The current crisis includes more people. it comprehends more vital issues: it will determine whether the people of the world are to be free or slaves.

"The place of the United States among the peoples of the world makes it imperative for American education to take a long, careful look ahead. Let it be repeated again and again, that the education and training of this generation of children and youth now in our schools could determine the outcome for the freedom of mankind. The big question is: Can Aemrican schools educate and train a generation of men and women who will keep the United States the strongest nation in the world in resources and character?

"Can there be any doubt that freedom is the supreme issue of education and our increased responsibility to teach and train for strong character and well-informed trustworthy citizenship? Some things we can do better than we have been doing."

Such an approach might be suggested in another editorial appearing in this column any day for we have been saying, in season and out, that the real issue is freedom insofar as the teaching of our children is concerned. Thus it is interesting to note that the above quotation is not taken from some Pampa News editorial but is from Lee L. Caldwell, superindentent of schools in Hammond, Ind., before a convention of public school teachers.

Superintendent Caldwell then went on to say: "A better understanding and appreciation of the meaning of 'human freedom' is needed. We need to consider (a) what is freedom — for me, for you, for others? (b) What is its source? Is it God-given or only a concept of the human mind?"

That such a searching is being presented to a group of public school teachers is good evidence that even they are beginning to see the glimmering of light that will make them question the operation of government controlled schools.

As more and more Americans watch the aradual but

School Survey Shows Results Just As Could Be Expected

Mix J. Bird, Manager of External Affairs of the United States Chamber of Commerce, made some statements in a Los Angeles talk that should be startling to those who believe in tax-supported schools. They are not startling, however, to those who have made some study of the kind of education that has to be taught in schools that are subsidized by the state. Only 39 Per Cent For Profit Motive

Mr. Bird reported that in a survey of 1280 high schools made by the Opinion Research Corporation only 39 per cent of the seniors surveyed felt that keeping the profit incentive alive is necessary to a sound economy. In other words, 61 per cent did not believe that the profit motive is necessary; they must then believe in some form of a government planned economy. Another 55 per cent of those questioned think that the socialist doctrine of "from each according to his ability and to each according to his needs" is better than the current American system. Of course, that is rather a loaded question because our current American system uses so much of what Karl Marx advocated as to what the government should do that the students were naturally confused. It is because the government has interfered with an unhampered market by discriminatory labor laws and discriminatory taxation, protective tariffs and immigration quotas, and by subsidizing farmers and "educators" and government bureaucrats, and is attempting to control the value of money and credit, that we do not really have the American system. And it is due to these interferences with a free economy that we have had long periods of unemployment, one war after another and most people scared to death about their financial security, let alone military security. As a whole, the results are just as every individual who will answer questions without evasion about the school question knew would come about. It is impossible for schools based on the 10th plank of the Communist Manifesto to successfully teach the exact opposite of state socialism. It is impossible for them to teach the blessings of liberty and individual responsibility and a belief that the government is the agent of the individual and not his master.

Undoubtedly it is because most of the parents have gone to schools based on unfair competition that they believe that their children can get a moral and political and economic education under the tutor-

NEW SENATE RACE SHAPES UP-According to some observers the GOP has a good chance to keep control of the Senge in November The GOP has 33 holdovers and is reasonably assured of an additional 10 more in the coming election for a total of 43, while the Democrats have 26 holdovers and are counting on an additional 15 for a total of 41. If this is true, the GOP need only win five "key states" while the Democrats would need to win eight.

HOW OFF-YEAR ELECTION SHAPES UP-Above Newsmap shows what type of election each state in the U. S. will hold in November. Every state will elect members to the House of Repre-sentatives, 34 will elect senators and 33 will elect governors. A court case is pending in Nevada, to decide with the hold an election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Democratic Sen. Pat McCarran, who had two years left in office sure turning in America of the thinking of the people toward more and bigger government and are alarmed by this trend, more and more they are beginning to question whether the American system of government controlled schools is not selling each succeeding generation on more and more collectivism. Many are beginning to see that if we teach children over and over that they should look to the state for their education we cannot blame the youngsters when they look to the state for other "needs." And it takes no stretch of the imagination to see that it is just as important that a child be fed and housed and clothed as it is that he be "educated." More and more there are those who are finding they are unable to answer the question of why not socialized medicine and public housing if we are to have socialized and public schooling. The glaring inconsistency is constantly suggesting itself to children and of course there is no answer but to turn away from the public freedom in other fields in America.

Too Late

If Douglas R. Stringfellow, congressman, had been Douglas R. Stringfellow, writer, his fertile imagination could have made him a wealthy man. For he made up a "cloak and dagger" tale which had all the essential ingredients for a best-selling novel or movie.

The story concerned the leader of a World War II parachute mission, which captured a German scientist thought to be working on A-bombs. The mission came off successfully, but the 38 men who made it - all of them O.S.S. men - later were caught by the Nazis. They were taken to concentration camps where they underwent weeks of torture.

Only one of the agents survived - the young, heroic leader, who managed a thrilling escape.

But Stringfellow wasn't a writer. He did not put his tale on paper, but instead tried to bring to life, with himself as the fabulous hero. And finally it grew so big that it turned out to be a Frankenstein monster.

During the past nine years, he told the story again and again, and it made him a famous young man. In 1952, Republican friends in Utah ran him for U.S. Congress and he won the race in a walk. The Junior Chamber of Commerce named him as one of America's "Ten Outstanding Young Men." A high-ranking national tele-vision show re-enacted his life for many millions of viewers.

Now, as the nation knows, his lie has at last been exposed. When the hoax was challenged in print, he tried, at first to defend himself, even asking the President to prove that the tale was true by opening secret files. But the pressure became too great and Stringfellow finally cracked.

He now has confessed in public that none of the stories were true and stands withdrawn from the coming election. He simply "fell into a trap," he says, which was laid by his own "glib tongue."

According to news reports, the reaction has been tremendous, with most of it "sympathetic." Hundreds of Utah voters are said to admire Stringfellow's "courage" in admitting his falsehoods publicly.

With this, we cannot agree. A confession made volun-

How Can Labor Unions Raise Living Standards?

Few things are more important than that people better understand

Knight of California publicly anclosed shop that requires every worker to pay union dues. When he contended that labor unions had that all working men should be raise wage levels. It is admitted that if any industry and laboring group get a mo-nopoly on a necessity of life and can prevent competition that they can raise the wages of those in this group. The question that they overlook is what it does to those outside of the group. What it does to the customer or to the stockholder who has furnished the tools. It is rather easy to see that people will not furnish tools unless they get some reward for furnishing tools and there must be an incentive for saving and investing. If the price is simply raised and the consumer pays the extra cost, it is easy to see that the other consumers, who are workers, have their standard of living lowered because of these special monopoly wages.

From Rich Stockholders So the labor unions and the advocates of collective bargaining and a closed shop like to leave the impression that these extra wages that labor unions get come from the pocket of the rich stockholders - that they have more money than they need and therefore "anything goes" in reducing their share of the production. Now let's analyze three of the larger companies to see how rich the average stockholder is.

Take the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. It has over 46 million shares of stock. It has 1,293,000 stockholders. That lets each stockholder own 36 shares of stock. This stock is selling for about $170 a share, thus the average investment of American Telephone and Telegraph stock is worth $6.120

Or take U. S. Steel. It has over 26 million shares of common stock. It has 230,048 owners of common stock, thus their average holdings tarily, before there has been exposure, is worthy of great respect. But one that is made under pressure is a different matter entirely.

Outgoing Congressman Stringfellow hardly deserves "sympathy" - what he merits, instead, is "pity." For he set out to add embellishment where no embellishment was needed.

He was good-looking, young and personable. He had given his country much as an infantry soldier in France, becoming a paraplegic from a battlefield land mine explosion. With his excellent record and talents, he undoubtedly could have gone for in whatever field he entered - especially public service.

But Stringfellow chose, instead, to live out a terrible lie. By trying to be what he wasn't, all he succeeded in doing was shattering that which he was. And in this man's tragic mistake, there are clearly lessons for all.

Feminine Smoking Fad No Pipe Dream

NEW YORK - UP - A femine smoking fad which began last summer has proved more than just a pipe dream for the industry.

The pipe manufacturers say that women are buying and using the dainty, jewelled briars in white and pastel shades. And now, the accessorie manufacturers are getting in the act. You even can buy jewelled match covers for the lady who lights up.

Bernard Gould, an executive at Kaywood, the world's largest manufacturer of pipes, estimated that more than 400,000 ladies' pipes have been sold in the last few months. About 50 per cent are bought by women; the rest by men as gifts for the girls. Most popular style, said Gould, is the straight stem. The accessories people, quick to spot profit in all that smoke, have come out with a variety of side gifts for the pipe enthusiast. Several compact companies make jewelled tobacco cases and gold mesh pottches. Milady can buy a black satin cummerbund with tab to hold her pipe. One manufacturer is featuring a satin purse with a pipe slot on the outside. Jewellers have come up with earrings to match the briars. And the fanciest accessory of all is a black satin garter, with attached tobacoco pouch.

About the quickest way to get an argument around final three games of the season here, I have found, is to suggest that perhaps there is far ahead of the field of indivian absence of wisdom in Pampa's desire to play AAAA dual total offense, with defending football rather than AAA ball in which they definitely belong by virtue of enrollment.

It has ever been in cities near the size borderline lege statistics showed Wednesday that forces will operate to push the local team into a that Shaw is still well ahead with higher classification. ### BOY AND HIS DOG

Ten-year-old Joe Cooper, left, sentenceed to a state reformatory by a West Monroe, La., judge for pointing a shot gun at his school teacher and demanding release of his dog, Tippie, which the teacher had locked up, is reunited with his dog after judge changed his mind about sentence. Joe and Tippie will go to an exclusive boys school under sponsorship of ex-governor James Noe. At right are Joe's attorney, Murphy Blackwell, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Ray Foy. (NEA Telephoto)

Pampa System Is Model For Company Film

An 18-minute color film on Pam pa and its Dempster Dumpster system of trash disposal will be during the next few years.

Sid Patterson, a former Pampar who represents the company in this area, gave a private showing of the film Monday afternoon in the Pampa Chamber of Comerce office and said that 26 prints of it were being made.

The film, which was produced by Patterson and "shot" by Pampa's Earl McConnell, shows many 'shots'' of the Pampa downtown area and the working of the Dump ster system.

H. B. Bagwell is shown driving the truck. And another part of the film shows City Mgr. Fred Brook. Sanitation Supt. L. B. (Bush) Haggard and City Commissioner W. B. (A) Neel looking over one of the city's 33 containers. The "before and after" of trash disposal in Pampa is contrasted.

Two new 6's

the valve-in-head leader can build it!

You'd expect Chevrolet to out-V8 the field-and it has! Chevrolet's new "Turbo-Fire V8" puts a brand-new kind of excitement under your foot. The excitement of 162 horsepower! The excitement of an 8 to 1 ultra-high compression ratio that squeezes more pure fun out of a gallon of gas than you ever dreamed possible! The new "Turbo-Fire V8" is so wonderfully efficient that it requires only four quarts of oil instead of the usual five or more. And it has the shortest piston stroke in the low-price field, for longer engine life. But we can't even begin to give you the whole story here. Come in and let the new "Turbo-Fire V8" speak for itself. You'll like what it has to say!

With enough new advances to fill a book!

Chevrolet offers two new highstepping sixes for 1955! There's the new "Blue-Flame 136" (teamed with Powerglide as an extra-cost option) and the new "Blue-Flame 123." Both bring you new, higher-rated power-the zippy, thrifty high-compression kind. Both have new, more efficient cooling and lubrication systems . . . new engine mounts that result in almost unbelievable smoothness. And, like the new "Turbo-Fire V8," both are sparked by a new 12-volt electrical system for finer performance and faster coldweather starting. All in all, they're the liveliest, smoothest sixes Chevrolet ever put into a passenger car. As you know, that covers a lot of territory. And so will you-with either of these two new sixes!

FOR YOUR CAR - the only gasoline to which is added the super aviation fuel component Di-isopropyl.

Di-isopropyl and HF Alkylate are two fuel components so valuable to smooth motor performance that until recently they were stricted by government order for use exclusively in high performance aircraft gasoline. B ow authorities have removed the restrict. 3 and these powerful components can be used in fuel for your car.

FLITTE-FUEL brings you more power, higher anti-knock, longer mileage. You also benefit from the clean burning qualities for which Phillips 66 Gasoline is famous. Get FLITE-FUEL at stations where you see the orange and black Phillips 66 Shield.

NEW OIL CAN REDUCE WEAR 40%

Compared to ordinary motor oils, new TROP-ARTIC All-Weather Motor Oil can double engine life. It can cut oil consumption 15% to 45%. It keeps pistons cleaner. It extends gasoline mileage. Get new TROP-ARTIC Motor Oil for year around engine protection.
