Crucial Series in Big State Loop Set Today

(By The Associated Press) Greenville and Texarkana open a three-game series tonight that may determine the pennant winner of the Big State League.

Texarkana, on top by two games, turned up for its journey to second place Greenville's home park with a 6-5 win over Wichita Falls last night. Greenville kept pace by edging Waco, 7-6.

In other games, Austin squeezed by Sherman-Denham, 8-7, and Paris downed Gainesville, 7-2. Greenville came from behind with three runs in the last of the ninth to nose out the Dons, while Texarkana weathered a late Wichita Falls rally.

Jim Matthews—with two home runs—and Mills Schroppe combined to collect seven of 13 Wichita Falls hits, with Matthews driving in all of the Spudders' runs.

Buck Frelson hit his 47th home run of the year for Sherman-Denham, and John McPartland and Bear Bell came through with circuit clouts for Austin.

The said drivers from eight southern states would compete for places in the National A. P. A. regatta on Lake Brownwood Sept. 20-22.

Cats Take Twin Victories Off Buffs, 5-4, 5-3

By WILBUE MARTIN Associated Press Staff

Fort Worth's Cats last night appreciated Houston just as much as the 11,922 fans who turned out to honor the Buffs. They won a doubleheader, 5-4, 5-3.

The "Appreciation Night" crowd saw Fort Worth jump to a four-run first inning start in the opener, then take the nightcap with a pair of runs in the 12th inning.

Other results saw Dallas stretch its lead over fourth place Tulsa to two games and Shreveport climb to within two of Tulsa on an 8-7 decision over Oklahoma City. Dallas defeated San Antonio, 5-4.

Tulsa and Beaumont had the day off before starting a series in the Sooner state tonight.

Willard Ramsdell notched his 18th win of the season in the Houston nightcap, tossing 11 innings and yielding six hits before bowing out for a pinchhitter. Bob Austin whiffed the last three Houston batters.

Dallas piled up its five runs in the first two innings, then held the Mustangs in check after Charlie Grant had homered with the bases loaded in the fourth inning.

Oklahoma City enjoyed a six-run outburst in the sixth inning, with Shreveport having the same pleasure in its half of the inning. The Sports pushed over the winning run in the eighth.

The same opponents vie tonight, but switch sites. San Antonio moves to Dallas, Houston to Fort Worth, Shreveport to Oklahoma City and Beaumont to Tulsa.

Redbirds Come Back To Whip Brooks 11-3

By The Associated Press

The ability of the St. Louis Cardinals to come off the floor has highlighted their play in the past and apparently the 1947 season will be no exception.

Sent reeling six-and-one-half games back of the Brooklyn Dodgers Monday by two crushing defeats at the hands of the league leaders, the Red Birds served notice yesterday that they are still not out by coming back and slaughtering the Brooks 11-3 at Ebbets Field.

Today, Manager Eddie Dyer picked gamster Murry Dickson to face the Dodgers in an attempt to square their four-game series and shorten the Dodgers' margin to four-and-one-half games. Ralph Branca, a 17-game winner, was nominated by Manager Burt Shotton to oppose Dickson.

While the Cards were socking extra base hits all over the lot, Southpaw Al Brazle held the Dodgers bay on eight, until he wilted in the ninth when the Dodgers scored their final two runs.

With the limelight centered on the Cards-Dodgers, the Boston Braves continued to close quietly in the duo. They moved to within seven games of the pace by coming from behind to nip the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-5 in a night game at Boston. Bob Elliott, former Pirate, turned defeat into victory with a three-run homer with two out in the ninth off Al Lyons, third Pirate pitcher.

The win enabled the Braves to increase their margin over the place New York Giants to four games. The Giants bowed, 9-1 to the Cincinnati Reds in a night tussle at the Polo Grounds. It was the New Yorkers' eighth straight loss.

The Chicago Cubs dropped both ends of a twin bill at the Philadelphia Phillies, 8-1 and 8-2. Ken Heintzelman and Schoolboy Rowe stopped the Cubs in that order.

In the game between the Calvary Baptist Juniors and the First Methodist Boys, the outcome was never in doubt as the Baptists secured a circuit wallop for the first time in 11 years.

The previously undefeated Presbyterian Senior Boys fell victims to a vicious sixth inning attack by the Central Baptist Seniors and lost their first game of the second half. 16-9 Ronnie Maxwell, Central Baptist hurler, worked himself into a hole on several occasions but he always managed to pull out of it without too much damage.

Howard was charged with the Presbyterian loss, but he was never in really serious trouble until the sixth inning when the Baptists broke the Braves deadlock and scored 7 runs. Jack McPeak and Paul Husey rounded the bases on home runs for the Baptists while Harold Cox and Hansel Kennedy got four baggers for the Methodists.

In the game between the Calvary Baptist Juniors and the First Methodist Boys, the outcome was never in doubt as the Baptists secured a circuit wallop for the first time in 11 years.

The loss of the Yankees' margin over the second place Boston Red Sox who crushed the Browns, 9-5 in a night game at St. Louis, to 1 1/2 games.

Rapping out 31 hits, the Cleveland Indians trounced the Washington Senators, 13-2 and 9-1 in the American League.

At Chicago, Joe Haynes halted a four game Philadelphia winning streak by blanking the Athletics, 4-0 on nine hits. Tafe Wright accounted for two of the White Sox' runs with a sixth inning four bagger.

Sports Round-Up

By BILL BECKER (For Hugh Fullerton, Jr.) LOS ANGELES — (AP) — June in January is taken for granted in Los Angeles, but December in August is a new switch.

In short, the football virus is with us earlier than ever. Three major pro grid clubs have been selecting their workouts in this sector for nearly a month and the colleges break out the mole skins in about 10 days.

So grab a blonde or a pennant, whichever's your handiest, and take a whirl on it.

The Football Merry Go-Round: The Los Angeles Rams, bolstered with new talent to help the peerless passing combine of Waterfield-Benton plus a new head man, Bob Snyder, figure to be one of football's crowd-pleasingest teams.

Snyder has lots of new running attack ideas to spring loose an improved Tom Harmon, Fred Gehke, Les Horvath, et al.

But Snyder pooh-poos Jimmy Conzelman's remark that the Rams have "the best roster in pro football—ever more talent than the 1941 Chicago Bears." Says Snyder: "Jimmy doesn't have to look beyond his own cards for top talent—any more than ours. The Cards are the team to beat in the Western Division (NFL)."

Davis Cup Team Captains Set to Release Lineups

BROOKLINE, Mass. — (AP) — Even with all the eligible players on the scene there was little speculation and nothing resembling tennis today as Alrick H. Man, Jr., and Roy Cowling, non-playing captains of the United States and Australian Davis Cup teams, awaited the hour to announce their four-man line-ups.

They will exchange such lists here at Longwood early this afternoon before the survivors in the National Doubles Tennis Tourney go out for the third-round play.

"It is most unlikely," Man replied when asked if he had any surprises in store for the tennis world.

That indicated he intended to string along with National Champion Jack Kramer of Los Angeles, and Ted Schroeder of Glendale, Calif., for the four singles matches that will be played during the challenge tie at Forest Hills, N. Y., starting Aug. 30 and Gardner Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., and Frank Parker of Los Angeles, for the one international doubles match.

NEW YORK — (AP) — The four Davis Cuppers who brought back the trophy from Australia last December—Jack Kramer, Ted Schroeder, Frank Parker and Gardner Mulloy—today were named to defend the cup against the challenge of the Australian team at Forest Hills on Labor Day weekend.

Announcement of the selections was made by Jones W. Mersereau, chairman of the U. S. Davis Cup selection committee, and the names were to be handed to the captain of the Australian team at Boston today by Alrick H. Man, Jr., non-playing captain of the American team.

Each country, by Davis Cup regulations, is required to name its four-man team today, but the doubles combination does not have to be announced until 24 hours before the event.

The probability is that the quartet will meet in the final at Brookline, Mass., this week, and thus spare Man and the selection committee necessity of making a decision on the doubles pair.

All four were members of the team that lifted the international trophy from the Australians at Melbourne last December. Mulloy and Parker, playing together here for only the third time, made a deep impression on Man Sunday when they won the Newport Casino team honors from Kramer and Schroeder in four sets.

Cowling has had even less to say about the Australian team's makeup. He has refused to comment about reports that he has considered dropping Dinky Pails, who was beaten by Jaroslav Drobný during last week's successful interzone tie against the Czechoslovakians at Montreal, for Geoff Brown, who has sparked here at Longwood.

The Australians, however, seem deeply concerned over the fact that both of their doubles teams competing here are in the lower half of the draw and, if they survive their third round engagements, will be called upon to kill off each other in the semi-finals.

Midland still gaining in Longhorn Loop Play (By The Associated Press) Midland's Indians have less than two weeks to catch Longhorn League leader Bix Spring, but the tribe was in a good position today to do just that.

Opening a three-game series with the Brones last night, Midland came out on the on end of a 11-8 score—leaving it just one and one-half games out of the lead.

Home runs in the third inning by Hank Ramsdell, Jim Prince and John Alvis helped the Indians to win.

In other games, Ballinger defeated Odesa, 8-5, and cones away winner in the ninth enabled Vernet to pile up a 7-4 victory over Sweetwater.

Wild Trapshoot Scoring Continues

VANDALIA, Ill. — (AP) — The greatest scoring spree the Grand American Trapshoot has ever experienced was due to continue today.

Records, and rain, fell all over the place yesterday as 925 shooters battled it out in the 200-target 16-yard North American clay target race—the toughest of them all to win—but a downpour upset the schedule and 850 of the marksmen were to shoot the final 100 days today.

Forty-two of the 925 starters—38 amateurs and four professionals—broke the first 100 targets of the long grind; 96 others had scores of 69, and 113 had 98, making about 28 percent of the big field, with the average of 98 or better. Nothing like that has ever happened around the "roaring grand" before.

On the top of that two women—Mrs. Lola Hall Frank of Shreveport, La., and Helen O'Dell of LaGrange, Calif.—broke 197 of 200 each in the Women's North American race, a target ahead of the record of 196, and they still had a chance to finish second as two other feminine stars, Miss Florence Moss of Wichita, Kas., and chubby Ruth Cuthbert of Winchester, Va., scored 99 of 100 on the last round and had another 100 to go today.

Rounding out the record-crashing performances was a five-man squad which shattered everything in the books by cracking 496 of 1,000 clays to better the old record by four, and 499 of 500 on the last lap to beat the Grand American record by three targets and to tie the best that has ever been done anywhere.

The inspired squad, with the individual scores: Ralph Smith, Vandalia, O., 100-100-200 A. Morrell Felts, Washington, Miss., 99-99-199; W. Cecil Morris, Houston, Texas, 98-100-193; Cliff Doughman, Morrow, O., 100-100-200, and professional D. Leo Braun, Dallas, Texas, 100-100-200.

Tyler Still Fighting For Spot in Playoffs

(By The Associated Press)

Tyler's Trojans were still fighting for a spot in the Lone Star League playoffs, using an 11-3 decision over Jacksonville last night to cut Lufkin's fourth place margin to three and one-half games.

The red-hot Trojans have 18 days remaining of the season to squeeze into the playoffs.

Frank Martin gave up just nine hits in both ends of a double bill against Marshall, his Longview mates coming through with a total of 29 and 10-3, 12-3 victories.

Other results saw Bryan nip Fred Smith's bid for his 20th victory with a 3-1 decision over Lufkin, and Kilgore downed Henderson, 8-5.

"It's going to ruin our pool and upset our appraiser," he continued, asking that the number of producing days be cut back to 25 1/2.

The Avoca Pool, also in that area, should be cut from 27 to 20 days, at 1,601 barrels per day, he added.

Thompson assured him the Commission would take prompt action.

A memorandum to operators in District 8, West Texas, issued at the hearing, gave notice that permits for disposal of residue oil after cleaning-up operations will be required hereafter.

Texas Parents Urged To Let Their Children Continue Education

AUSTIN—(AP)—Texas parents today were urged by the State Child Labor Supervisor to let children continue their education rather than quit school to work.

"Personal needs may require some boys and girls to work during the coming year and some work experience may have significant educational value for some young people. Schools, however, provide the greatest opportunity for development, and we urge you to place school first," Polly Harvey, Child Labor Supervisor, advised parents.

She called attention to the state law requiring children under 15 years of age to secure work permits from county judges in order to work after Sept. 1.

Employers are subject to fines of $25 to $200 for violation of certain conditions of work prescribed for child labor.

Tobey, pale and angry, declared, "The child is born by mal practice" and asserted that a "sinister group" is trying to block the housing inquiry.

He declined to be more specific. But when a reporter asked whether he believed the "real estate lobby" was behind a move to keep him from the chairmanship, Tobey replied:

"Ask Harry Truman about that." President Truman recently urged Congress to investigate what he termed the real estate lobby. The Chief Executive said members of this lobby were "openly proud of their success in blocking a compre-

Circus Performer Faces Murder Charge

RIMOUSKI, Que.—(AP)—A Palestine, Texas, circus performer faced a murder charge here today in the death of Edouard Doiron, 26, an electrician from St. Florence, Que.

He was Jimmy Hazlitt, who was found by a coroner's jury to be criminally responsible for Doiron's death Sunday.

Witnesses said the Canadian was struck and kicked in the face in a scuffle which began after Doiron asked the Texan's wife if he could take her picture.

Hazlitt, 32, will be given a preliminary hearing Aug. 25.

Position open for man to take over men's and women's Shoe Department. Excellent starting salary for the right person — and wonderful chance for advancement.

British Officers Slain in Aritsar

LAHORE, Pakistan.—(AP)—An official announcement said today that two young British Army officers had been slain during communal rioting in Aritsar—the first European victims of the bloody warfare between India's religious sects which has been raging intermittently since August, 1946.

The officers, whose names were withheld pending notification of relatives, were said to have been shot to death Monday night, and first reports indicated they might have been ambushed.

The United States has approximately 330 morning and 1400 evening daily papers.

Among the members of the rose family are apples, peaches, quinces, plums, strawberries, raspberries, and blackberries.

We, The Women

By RUTH MILLETT

Most parents dread the day when their children start driving the family car.

They may have less reason to in the future if New York University's Center for Safety Education succeeds in its plan to put auto driving courses for high schools on a nationwide basis.

Wisconsin, which has already tried the Center's plan of having high school students taught driving, reports that accidents involving juveniles have decreased by 85 percent.

The school should have better luck teaching Sis and Junior to be careful and skillful drivers than parents usually have.

To begin with, Dad may not be such a good driver himself. It's almost a cliché he isn't going to have the patience with Sis or Junior that a teacher trained especially for such work has.

JUNIOR KNOWS BEST?

And then there's something about youngsters that makes them certain they know more about almost anything than their parents, including the handling of a car.

But children are impressed with the knowledge they bring home from school. It would be quite a different thing for Junior to come home from a driving class to say importantly, "Do you know how hard it takes you to get a car that is going 60 miles an hour?" than for Dad to try to get the same idea across by constantly warning, "You can take the car—but don't drive fast."

Signs of the times:
Two years ago when Japan surrendered, the United States went wild. Last week when victory day rolled around, the Hillsboro Mirror conducted a survey, found that only four of 13 persons remembered that Aug. 14 was victory day.

One of those who remembered wasn't sure whether it was Germany or Japan which had surrendered.

It's almost as cheap to beat your wife in Jacksonville as it is to curse. Police records show that one man was fined $10 for using profane language, another $12 for whipping his wife.

DEATH of a DOLL

By Hilda Lawrence
© by Hilda Lawrence, Distributed by NEA SERVICE, INC.

MISS BRADY didn't answer his knock. He gave her a minute before he opened the door and went in. She was clearing out her desk, tearing sheets of paper and dropping the fragments to the floor.

He said, "This afternoon we got the background. A story, a name, and a psychiatrist's report. It's an old report, but it's as good today as it ever was."

He told her about the telephone number, and repeated Norman Crawford's conversation as Foy had repeated it to him. "So you see how it adds up," he said. "The girl who killed Ruth Miller was born wanting things. She was ambitious, devious, lazy. A psychiatrist said that five years ago when she was up for shoplifting. Ambitious, devious, lazy, although she did take jobs when they were offered her while. She could fit herself into any sort of job if her particular pot of gold was at the end of it. Nobody ever checked on her, she was too good for that. She could be, and act, anything."

"Yes," Miss Brady said.

"And there's another thing about her that worries Foy. She's a bad loser. If she can't have what she wants, nobody can."

"Foy's wrong."

He got up and went to the door. He'd said enough. "I'm going now. Would you rather—I mean do you want to go down with me?"

He shut the door behind him.

MISS SMALL was still at her desk when Miss Brady walked in. All Miss Brady said was, "Changed my mind. Couldn't sleep after all."

Miss Small said, "I know. I couldn't either. . . . Monny, I'm frightened. The place is crawling with policemen! Why, Monny, why?"

"Don't ask me why," Miss Brady

LEaves From a Correspondent's Life Note Book

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(P)—The hardest part of the little girl's day was the interval between the time when she finished school and the hour when her mother came home.

Since daddy had left there wasn't much to come home to except the exciting arrival of her mother.

Each afternoon she dreamed it all over again. There would be the long period of dullness with the maid, broken only by her solitary evening meal.

Then mother would suddenly swoop in with her wonderful aroma of strange perfume and her repressed feeling of excitement that she always tried to hide. But it came through her to the daughter as a kind of unwilling but helpless osmosis—a maternal storm which the mother couldn't spare her offspring.

That was the emotional lodestar to which her tiny daughter was attracted.

"Child, go play your music box," said the weary maid. "I just got to get these dishes done before your many comes home."

Restless, impetuous and imperious, she wandered into the nursery. It was a room that had become a dull refuge to her years before her parted parents realized the speed of her quickened mind.

"Silly old thing," she said, kicking the favorite teddy bear she still cried over on the nights when her mother didn't come until she was fast asleep in bed.

"I want to go to the window and watch for mommy."

"You know where she is," said the maid. "And she better not be late. I just got to get home on time tonight."

The little girl went to the front window. She couldn't see the place beneath her where mommy was but she could see its neon flash in the store window across the street: "Bar . . . bar . . . bar . . ."

In the window reflection she saw first a man come out from the place below . . . then a man and a woman . . . then the legs of a wobbly woman alone, who half-fell and braced herself against the steps.

"Goody," said the little girl with a voice tender mother love, "here comes mommy!"

The maid went on silently drying the dishes.

Roberta shivered. "Bad."

He went on, quoting fragments of his first interview with Plummer. "Miss Plummer unconsciously gave us the answer when she told Brady that Small went down to the kitchen when the chef was hurt. That didn't say anything to me, but it said a lot to Brady. I saw how she looked at Plummer. She looked like somebody getting a preview of hell. You see, she knew Small hadn't gone. She'd been there herself, the whole time, so she knew. . . . A few hours later everything broke and Norman Crawford and Clara mopped it up."

"Mark, has anyone said anything about suspecting her?"

"Not in words. But when Foy and I left, we met Kitty Brice in the lobby and she didn't look crushed. . . . It was a made-to-order job from the start. When Small went to Hope House as a boarder, she couldn't face the character investigation they required. So she turned on the charm and the grave, sweet talk about private rights and the un-American way. Brady was enchanted. Right off the bat she gave our girl a job, and the reference rule was tossed out. Our girl climbed up and up. When Ruth Miller came on the scene, she was pretty close to the top of her world, and she wasn't climbing down. So Ruth had to go. Ruth's fear was too obvious, the story was bound to come out eventually."

Roberta said gently, "Poor Ruth."

Mark saw the woman he had left only a short time before, slumped in a chair, looking at the drift of torn paper on the floor. Letters, notes, travel folders—

He answered Roberta, but to himself. He said, "Poor Monny."

WE CAN'T GO ALONG WITH THE COMMISSIONERS COURT

When voters of Gray County go to the polls Saturday, they will be voting on a proposal by the County Commissioners Court which is at variance with the recommendations of a group of business men who have been successful in their own private businesses.

While the Pampa Daily News is not opposed to reallocation of the tax revenues of this county—and at this time sees a need for a certain reallocation—it cannot go along with the allocation figures set forth by the Commissioners.

For instance, during recent years, the county has not built more and permanent roads with the tax dollars. The best that has been achieved in the past on these dollars is to keep the roads up, and that has not been too good a job. Better than $200,000 is diverted to that project each year from all resources—like sending a tracer of good dollars after bad ones, or like pouring water down a rat-hole.

In re-shuffling the dollar allocation, the Commission has increased the road and bridge fund from 15 to 21 cents. The law already provides a 15-cent special allocation for that fund. That would make a total of 36 cents devoted to the road and bridge fund. Instead of sending more money into the road and bridge fund, which is conceivably more or less a fund where opportunity for patronage exists, it seems to us that it should be placed in the permanent fund and in the general fund where it could be used in connection with the proposed hospital, if and when it is ever built, or on other improvements of a lasting nature.

In lieu of the malpractice of pouring more tax dollars into a fund that is merely keeping up bad roads, or providing employment for certain constituents, we would propose the issuance of bonds to build roads that will be permanent in nature. Such investment under this plan would insure the county against the perennial task of repairing the old roads as the maintenance would be taken over by the state. It would give way for the investment of funds in more roads, and permanent ones.

Proponents of the reallocation contend that by passing the reallocation election it would enable the levying of the full 80 cents permitted by statutory limitation rather than the 68 cents now being levied and an increase in county valuations could be averted. They further state that for every million dollars in increased valuation, Gray County must send an additional $7,200 to the state coffers. In all fairness, it must be said this latter statement is absolutely true.

Nevertheless, we think, as did the businessmen who said they would neither support nor actively oppose the election, that the money could be more profitably allocated from the standpoint of progress for this county.

This is the message we leave with the voters, who are urged to cast their ballot next Saturday regardless whether they believe as we do or not.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

Make more goods and prices will tumble. That's what happened in aluminum. The Kaiser Company alone makes as much sheet aluminum as all companies did before the war. It could get only 8,000 tons. So we went ahead and less than five months built a plant of our own. Now we are making enough soda ash to sell to others.

When I started producing aluminum there were five manufacturers of soda ash making four million tons. I could get only 8,000 tons. So we went ahead and less than five months built a plant of our own. Now we are making enough soda ash to sell to others.

STEEL—Eugene Grace of Bethlehem Steel says (Kaiser made a free face) that steel-making capacity is more than adequate for normal domestic and export requirements. What a thing to say when West Coast manufacturers and others are crying for steel? Big steel will sell to hardly anyone who wasn't in business in 1941. It's killing off new enterprises and smaller businesses!

Our auto plant is not the only one suffering. Packard can't get enough steel. General Motors can't get it. The names of the interlocking directors in both steel and G. M. I think the real reason why Grace and his crowd talk this way is that they're afraid they'll have more productive capacity than they can sell eight years hence. I am not afraid.

SHAFTS—First wisecracker prophesied, "Kaiser'll never make a car." Then it'll never run. They twisted the phrase Willow Run to "Will it run?"

But despite the rages we're the fourth largest producer of cars. We bought a stove company, so we could get its foundry. We added a pig iron plant and a sinter plant, and we're in last-minute critical parts by airplane.

There's always a way to do anything. When we went into the aircraft carrier business, to beat the German subs out of the top admirals blew up. "Hell's bells, man," he roared. "You can't get crankshafts. The Navy has all the crankshaft companies tied up."

I looked around and found an Erie plant on Navy crankshaft contracts that was using only one shift. So I took the other two shifts and got my crankshafts. There's always a way to do anything.

Just like now, Big Steel under-estimated American steel capacity

CAPACITY—The pessimists don't appreciate the dynamic capacity of America. With six percent of the world's population we make 25 percent of the world's goods. We've only begun to show what we can do.

We're grievously short of plants and equipment. I had five-hour talk with Professor Sumner Schlichter, the Harvard economist. He agrees with that statement. He says there's less plant and equipment per worker in private industry today than in 1929. The country's short more than 70 billion dollars of capital for investment.

I CAN'T TELL YOU HOW TO GET THERE BUT I KNOW THE WAY BY SIGHT!

O.K. TELL ME AS WE GO!

NOW YOU DRIVE STRAIGHT UP THIS ROAD UNTIL YOU COME TO A FORK IN THE ROAD, THEN TURN LEFT!

Fruits of Public Education
I want to reproduce a letter written by an Army officer to the Cosmopolitan Magazine on the subject of compulsory education or "Our Vanishing Schoolteachers." How can we expect public educators to teach freedom when they ask for a law compelling people to buy their products. The letter speaks for itself.

Cosmopolitan Magazine
Dear Editor:

In the April issue of Reader's Digest, we read a condensation of an article originally printed in your magazine, "Our Vanishing Schoolteachers" by Cretia Palmey. The question raised in this article is, "what is your town doing to bring back the schoolteachers?" We have no quarrel with the article. But we do not believe it has struck at the root of the matter.

My wife and I have a 15 year old son, in second year High School. During the three years I was in the Navy I was fortunate in being able, at some expense, to keep the family with me. He went to school first in New York City, then in Washington, D. C., then in Denver, then in San Francisco, then in Virginia Beach (near Norfolk) Virginia (where he did not pass English) and finally back in New York City. We feel we, and he, have experienced a fair sample of U. S. educational practice.

He is not ab or sub normal. My wife taught him to read at 3 1/2 in order to get some time to draw; she is a commercial artist. I have tried to answer his questions, which are mostly about the business of living. We think he is quite normal, and if we are correct, then the young mind is much more capable of abstract and philosophical thought than seems imagined by educators who do nothing to meet this need. We have, therefore, some criticisms and some recommendations to offer.

First, we should like to see open the whole idea of compulsory education. It does not occur to us to (1) ask for a law to compel people to buy what we have to offer and (2) to ask for a law to establish a price for our services. Both of these things the teaching profession has and wants. We feel there is an inherent weakness in compulsion—where compulsion exists, competition is reduced and the struggle to excel becomes the effort to conform. The fact that private schools exist (and we have tried them) does not alter the situation since the private school must follow the minimum curriculum established by the educational "authorities."

Second, the curricula. Our boy has had innumerable "courses." All he really knows he has learned by following some hobby. He takes French. But we have to interpret the menu in the restaurants where it is still possible to find a decent meal. He takes algebra and geometry. But he cannot follow a simple balance sheet. He has as yet, had no history whatsoever. He will go to college, but what about the many who have tried. They will vote just as he will. Is it any wonder that it is found easy to pass such "social" legislation as "social security" a compulsory tax masquerading under a form of insurance that all insurance companies who have tried it have found ends in bankruptcy? Can it be our educational system has promulgated a curricula designed to create a huge bureaucracy rather than to teach the young? Could there be a political tinge to this system? Have you read any standard textbooks lately? This is more than a query regarding education. I find it very difficult to recognize our present form of government in the same way I could understand that of 25 years ago. Somehow the word "democracy" has crept in. Does no one read the Constitution any longer? Nor the Federalist Papers. Have we forgot what principles underlay the first working republic?

Mixed up in this question of education is the whole idea of our political system and the way it has become twisted into something that is far to behold—no one of every 10 understands the government payroll. Does not anyone see that these strikes and stoppages, these efforts to "printing press" our way into prosperity is directly the result of the kind of thinking that ends in the simple question, "How can we get our schoolteachers back?"

The proposed solution is a law. It would never occur to my wife and I to ask for a law to preserve us. Are we alone in this world? All the questions my son asks us resolve into "what is the meaning of meaning? There are people better able to answer that than we are. Would an increased salary enable the present teacher to answer this when they weren't able before?

I taught six or seven thousand High School graduates how to operate a Radar, that is I tried to, with plenty of help. Many of these lost their lives because it couldn't be taught in three weeks without a minimum background. It was absurdly simple, just a sense of the relation of time to velocity and some knowledge of simple proportion. But the background wasn't there. They couldn't even express themselves so that we had to resort to the kind of tests where a choice of three or four possible answers is indicated by a check. Even then we rewrote and rewrote the tests until a majority could pass them.

We should like to see an educational system based not upon the accumulation of a set of (quite dubious) facts but upon a sound ability to deal with abstraction. If you will, instead of a system culminating in the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, let it begin there: let factual knowledge succeed "generalized" thinking ability. The average unspooled young mentality is more able than is credited. Must we forever give rise to 14 year old average mentalities among a population because educators, nurtured on manna from Heaven and relieved from the struggle to exist, have so little knowledge of the acts of life? Must all our great learn at the fireside or in the baggage car or attic?

To those who say, "what will the millions do who cannot afford private and surprise educations," get me ask, would there be so many such millions if we had not made dependence an asset?

Very truly yours

In the war, our shipyards would get a load of steel for decks and none for bottoms. We were told that a steel plant wouldn't go in California. But we built one. When we had a mill the Government came along and asked if we couldn't turn out sheet, too. We were soon making more than our competitor who had a year's start.

At that moment Kaiser wanted a set of statistics. He pressed one of several buttons found on the desks of super-executives. No secretary responded. He pressed again. Same result. Then he grinned and ran his thumb up and down the row of buttons. Doors opened and in sped assistants. "There's always a way to do anything," he chuckled.

Gracie Reports

By GRACIE ALLEN

I see that the Nursery Schools Association of England has condemned the story of Little Red Riding Hood because it's cruel and might give the kiddies fear complexes. Personal. I don't agree when they hear because our family was brought up on the story and loved to act it out. The only harm it did was when my sister Hazel got a little confused and bit her grandmother.

How could it frighten modern children who are allowed to listen to all the news? Like a little boy who came to a party we gave for the children and ate and ate and ate. I told him he'd better stop but he said he wouldn't when you hear an atom bomb and he wanted to explode.

I'm sure Red Riding Hood seems pretty tame to the average youngster of today. It's hard to get excited about the story when your older sister bragging that one just took her to a dance.

22 Indictments Are Returned at Carson

PANHANDLE, (Special)—Twenty-two indictments were returned by the grand jury of 10th District Court in session here last week.

Six of the defendants pleaded guilty and were sentenced by Judge Luther Gribble. Sentenced were the leaders in the recent jailbreak from the Carson County Jail.

The jury composed of the following men has been dismissed until August 25: J. R. Wrinkle, Porter Holmes, John T. Broadway, Glenn D. Harrell, George Coffey, Bob Andis, Sam Kotara, Marvin Callahan, Elton Vance, George Burum, R. L. Curtis and Biggs Horn, foreman.

So They Say

The Russians are embarking on a scientific program larger than any contemplated by any other government, and . . . they may well forge ahead at a faster rate than we shall.

—Dr. Irving Langmuir

We shall do well to remember that those who see a certain solidity in the present boom are those who insisted in 1929 that we could not be deluged from prosperity road.

—Henry A. Wallace

Americans today live in a richer, more productive economy, and are enjoying its benefits more equitably, than ever before in peacetime history.

—President Truman

The people of Western Europe see what's happening in the east and are fearful that they will be next. Little Russia is taking the can of war and a father—Eric Johnston, resident Motion Picture Association.

scattered leaders were resistant and dealings among the slowest of the year.
Aside from a brief selling flurry after midday, sluggishness ruled throughout. Wild bidding and short covering reduced most extreme losses running to a point or more in the final hour and there was a smattering of advances for pivots at the close. Transfers dwindled to about 600,000 shares for the full proceedings.
Celanese touched a 1947 high (on a pleasing income statement) along with General Refractories and Standard Oil of Ohio. Plus signs were registered for Colorado Fuel (on a raised dividend), International Nickel, Phelps Dodge and Anaconda.
Stumblers included Eastern Air Lines, in the wake of an earnings recession; United Air Lines (at a low for the year), U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Goodrich, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Dore, Glenn Martin, American Smelting, Du Pont, J. C. Penney, U. S. Gypsum, Standard Oil (N.J.), Norfolk & Western and Southern Pacific.
Market sentiment was a bit chilled by the government's anti-trust and price-fixing charges against the steel rubber industries.
Bonds were quiet and a shade uneven.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, Aug. 19—(AP)—Sustained rallies were lacking in the grain futures pits at the Board of Trade today, following a sharp opening break. Grains recovered somewhat from early lows, wheat showing greatest strength. Corn broke at the start on reports of rain to be followed by cooler weather, and carried all grain downward.

MACKENZIE'S Column
By GLENN BABB
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
(Subbing for Mackenzie)

The United Nations has come to an ominous dead end in its efforts to halt the menacing march of events in the Balkans. Once again the Soviet veto has been invoked to nullify the will of the majority of civilized mankind. The comparatively mild and inoffensive Australian and American proposals—they amounted only to an appeal to the Soviet satellite to cease and desist in their campaign against Greece—were thrown out although only Russia and Poland of the 11 Security Council members opposed them.

The atmosphere at Lake Success last night after this breakdown of the peace machinery was charged with gloom. The Security Council admitted its inability to go further. The United States delegate already had said that this country would not stand idly by even if the United Nations were unable to act. But even the assurance of American determination to help Greece had an ominous significance for advocates of the United Nations and world peace machinery. If it is carried into effect it means that once more the United States and its friends, in order to get effective action, must bypass, work outside, perhaps eventually even abandon, the organization that was created so hopefully in San Francisco as victory was being won on the battlefields.

How America and her friends reaching and terrible. But the can move to prevent the engulfment of Greece in the totalitarian tide that has swept over most of Southeastern Europe remains to be indicated. Any effective course must be plotted with the utmost care, for the consequences may be far-reaching and terrible. But the course of those who have worked courage of those who have worked to prevent a unified effort to keep the peace in the Balkans is becoming clearer.

The indications are strong that the now familiar device of the puppet state is to be invoked as the next major step. It is hard to escape any other conclusion concerning Friday night's announcement by "Gen. Markos" Vlahades, leader of the guerrillas defying the Greek government in the north, that he had undertaken to administer a "democratic government" until "provisional government" could be formed. News of the fighting indicates the Markos forces are consolidating a foothold from which it may be difficult for the present Greek army to oust them. And behind them are friendly territories into which they may retire when too hard pressed and from which help will be expected.

The Greek government has been predicting such a development for some weeks: First formation of a guerrilla government; second, its recognition as the legitimate Greek government by the states which are blocking United Nations action; third, direct and undisguised aid and support to such a regime by those states. They would argue that such aid was as legitimate as any given the Athens government by the United States or any other power. And then the battle lines really would be drawn.
