Request for pay raise touches off heated county debate

By CATHY SPAULDING Staff Writer

A district attorney's secretary who had her anticipated 10 percent raise reduced last week, still didn't get the salary increase Friday despite the heated pleas of her boss, Guy Hardin.

Earlier this month, commissioners took the 10 percent pay raise they originally budgeted for Debbie Ruttman and dropped it to five percent, the same as other county employees.

Hardin fought the reduction then. And he continued his fight at Friday's commission meeting as he and County Judge Carl Kennedy argued about how much work is done at the DA's office.

'We've seen you two times this year,'' Kennedy claimed. "You have an A-1 assistant who does the job for you.

The assistant, David Hamilton, and DA investigator Michael Hartsock each received a 10 percent raise Hardin countered by asking the judge and commissioners to come by his office in the Hughes building and see how much work is done in his office.

He reminded the commissioners that his office serves five counties

Commissioner Jim McCracken, who said at an earlier meeting that "she's not worth the $300 more" per month, said he has called the DA's office and got Ruttman said she stays in the office when she's not running errands. Asked if the office had some sort of answering service, she answered that it was not

"It does take two attorneys to do five counties," she said, adding that before Hardin took office, DA Harold Comer took Gray County Cases while Penny Burt, now an attorney in Georgetown, took cases in the other counties.

"I know my workload has increased in the other four counties," Ruttman said. "Lipscomb County increased and Canadian and Wheeler have both increased. The attorney has made a difference in my workload. I was working 12 hours a day

She added that she can handle the workload, "but I feel I deserve to have the raise.

'A lot of people here feel they do too," said one commissioner. "You can be replaced by people who would jump at the opportunity to make that money. "I doubt it," Hardin responded. "Serving five counties is part of the job for the secretary. "We pay our fifth (Gray County's share of the five county salary) if that's what you want," Kennedy

Hardin said that one way the county can afford to give the secretary a raise is to find reduce rent. One way to do that would be to move the office back to the county courthouse, he said.

No action was taken on the pay raise request. Commissioners approved a bid of $9,287.57 from Culberson - Stowers Chevrolet on a 1985 Chevy half-ton pickup truck. They sold a 1970 model pickup to C.L. Douthit for $514 and a 1969 model to Jack

State rests in murder trial

BY JEFF LANGLEY Senior Staff Writer

The state rested its case at 2:45 p.m. Friday in the murder trial of Richard Lee Schreckhise, 20, and presiding Judge Grainger McIlhany cut off a defense lawyer's opening statement in mid sentence, saying a suggestion to the jury was "improper.

Schreckhise is accused of the April 15 shooting death of Pampan Aaron Wade Lewis, 22.

After the state ended its case, attorney John Warner asked the judge for an instructed verdict of not guilty. With the jury removed, the lawyer said there wasn't enough evidence to convict his client on a charge of murder.

Judge McIlhany listened to brief arguments on the motion, then immediately denied it and called the jury back.

Warner launched his opening statement, telling the jurors that the only evidence had come from the lips of members of the "drug community.

The lawyer moved to a large paper tablet on an easel near the jury box. With a felt marker, Warner wrote what he said was the appropriate "title" for the case: The Drug Community versus Richard Lee Schreckhise.

'That's improper, Mr. Warner, take that sheet down," the judge ordered. "That has nothing to do with this case. This case has a title and a cause number. It's called the State of Texas versus the defendant.

McIlhanv again instructed the jurors to leave the court room

After a conference at the bench. the judge decided Warner's title for the case was all right, if jurors understood that it was just a "fanciful" name for the lawyer's presentation

The defense lawyer then made a motion for a mistrial, saying the judge's remarks before the jurors 'indicate the judge's disbelief in the defendant's case

McIlhany immediately denied that defense motion, leaving Warner so upset that he had to briefly excuse himself from the room The jury was seated about five minutes later, and the defense lawyer restarted the aborted remarks

He said the case, if it were a "Perry Mason thriller," would be named "The Drug Community versus Richard Lee Schreckhise.

"You can reach into the drug community and get almost any information you seek," Warner said, asking jurors not to judge the case until they heard the defense witnesses

He asked why the state presented no testimony about hearing gunshots from the defendant's See DEFENSE, Page three

Soviets plan long-ranging

Defense Ministry announced Saturday that it is putting new long-range cruise missiles in strategic bombers and submarines, saying the program would "correspond" in scope to U.S. deployment of air- and sea-launched cruise missiles.

The announcement, distributed by the official news agency Tass, also reiterated Soviet statements that the military is continuing 'successful tests' ground-launched cruise missiles

'At present, the armed forces of the U.S.S.R. have begun to deploy long-range cruise missiles on strategic bombers and submarines," the statement said. "By their scale, these measures correspond to the growing threat to the security of the U.S.S.R. and other countries of the socialist community from the United

The Soviets deployed an early version of the cruise missile in submarines in the 1960s, but these missiles were believed to have been removed later, according to West European diplomatic sources in Moscow

U.S. Defense Department reports have predicted the Soviets would deploy long-range cruise missiles launched from air and sea sometime this year or next.

The Tass announcement, which was read over the main television news program Saturday night, accused the United States of trying to carve out an edge in nuclear firepower by deploying its own cruise missiles on bombers, submarines and surface ships. It defended the Soviet move as a defensive measure

"Trying to achieve military superiority over the Soviet Union, the United States continues a crash fulfillment of large-scale programs for developing and deploying new nuclear arms," the announcement said.

"It attaches special significance to carrying out a massive deployment of long-range cruise missiles of all basing modes. Along with siting ground-launched cruise missiles in Western Europe, the United States is mounting long-range cruise missiles on strategic bombers

"From the middle of this year, it has been installing such missiles also on surface ships and submarines of the U.S. Navy," said the announcement.

The Defense Ministry, echoing previous Kremlin statements on the arms race, said the "Soviet Union has warned on more than one occasion that it will not allow the existing equilibrium to be upset and will adopt adequate countermeasures.

"As has already been reported by the U.S.S.R. Defense Ministry, the Soviet Union is holding successful tests of long-range, ground-launched cruise missiles. the announcement said, before adding that sea- and air-launched cruise missiles are already being deployed.

In May, Defense Ministe': Dimitri F. Ustinov said the Soviet Union has increased the number of nuclear-armed submarines off the U.S. coasts in terms of "yield, accuracy, the ability to reach targets on the territory of the United States and the flight time to

It was not clear if the cruise deployment announced Saturday was related to the program mentioned by Ustinov, but a U.S. military publication indicated that it could be

Shuttle swoops to perfect landing

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) - Heralded by twin sonic booms snapping across beaches and orange groves, shuttle Challenger swooped out of a cloudless sky Saturday and came home to its launch site after a 3.5 million-mile survey of Earth.

Commander Robert L. Crippen guided the 101-ton spacecraft through a 13,000-mile glide across Alaska, the heart of Canada and the U.S. Midwest and Southeast to a precise centerline landing on the Kennedy Space Center runway. Only a few hundred people were on hand when Challenger touched down, in vivid contrast to the huge crowds that have greeted shuttle arrivals at Edwards Air Force Base in California. The crowd applauded and cheered.

The largest crew in the history of space flight is home," said Mission Control. The flight, ending at 12:27 p.m. EDT, had lasted eight days, five hours and 24 minutes from liftoff on Oct. 5.

After a day of worry about winds. the air was so calm at touchdown that a machine, basically a huge propeller, had to be used to blow away any dangerous gases that might vent from the space plane.

The five men and two women spent the mission surveying the atmosphere, the oceans and Earth itself. The flight, the 13th for a shuttle, made history with the first space walk by an American woman. It also marked the first flight of a Canadian astronaut.

The landing ended a personal frustration for Crippen. He had been scheduled twice before to put Challenger down at Kennedy Space Center, only to be waved off because of weather and forced to land at Edwards.

Mission Control greeted him with an updated version of a long-running joke. On his first wave-off, Crippen was greeted with the words: "The good news is that you've landed at Edwards; the bad news is that the beer's at KSC."

On Saturday, Mission Control

said: "You outfoxed us again. You landed at KSC, but the beer's at Edwards.

Crippen assured the controllers that he had had beer stashed in both places during the flight.

The other astronauts were Jon McBride, the pilot; Kathy Sullivan and David Leestma, who took a space walk for a refueling test; Sally Ride, who was in charge of the often-used mechanical arm; Paul Scully-Power, an Australia-born oceanographer; and Marc Garneau, the Canadian, who conducted a series of science and technology experiments.

Only once before had a shuttle landed on the three-mile runwa

Rains bring relief to

AUSTIN (AP) - Heavy rains during the past week over Central Texas have brought welcome relief — and hope — to drought-stricken ranchers, but area lakes are still

Pampa's 'McGruff' to be busy during Crime Prevention Month

Staff Writer

Don't be surprised to see a dog riding around in one of the Pampa Police Department's patrol cars this month. It's only McGruff, the Crime

Dog.
Police Chief J. J. Ryzman said the police office has already received several calls from residents asking, "What's that dog doing riding around in a police car? McGruff is making appearances throughout the city this month in observance of Crime Prevention Month, handing out crime prevention literature and discussing crime prevention and safety tips

So far he has visited several schools and walked around various shopping areas in the city, including Coronado Shopping Center, the Pampa Mail, the downtown business area and other shopping places, Chief Ryzman reported.

The six-foot plus tall dog also has been giving out autographed pictures during his visits. A smaller "pup" version (a stuffed toy) has also been taken to some of the schools.

But McGruff doesn't give his "Take a bite out of crime" message just to children. The Crime Dog will be at the Pampa Chamber of Commerce's annual banquet meeting reception at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at the M. K. Brown Auditorium to shake hands and visit with the adults in attendance

In other scheduled appearances, McGruff will be at the Pampa Mall Saturday, Oct. 20, for several hours and at the local McDonald's Restaurant from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 27, to discuss Halloween safety tips. McGruff's local appearances have been arranged through the courtesy of police officer Mark King, school liason officer.

In other activities for Crime Prevention Month, the police department and the Chamber's Fire Prevention and Safety Committee have provided crime prevention mailouts to be sent out with statements from local banks and savings institutions, the chief

The McGruff symbol also is being used in the monthly crime prevention newsletter mailed to local Neighborhood Watch organizations.

Chief Ryzman said the Neighborhood Watch program "has been moving pretty good here. Of course, we'd like to get more" participants in the program.

About 50 groups are in operation now, involving about 2,500 Pampa residents. So far, none of those in the watch programs have had their houses burglarized since they've been on the program, the chief

Persons interested in forming Neighborhood Watch associations can contact the police department for information, the chief said.

Police officials also have been putting up posters and providing handouts to various clubs and organizations in the city stressing crime prevention tips. Programs on child molestation, crime prevention and other aspects are being purchased for use by

Store located in rural area, but you can't call it country

Bonnie Davidson does not own what would be called a "country

Sure, it's located seven miles east of Wheeler and a half mile north on a sand-spitting dirt road. But any similarities between Bonnie's Sportswear shop and a the country dry goods and staple store of yore end there.

Davidson has owned the country clothing store on her family ranch for three years. She said she still sees good business far away from the mails, department stores and downtown merchants.

"Of course, I'm not open every day," she said, adding that her store is open Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays. She also opens the store by appointment and special orders some clothing.

While other store clerks want to keep work far from their home life, Davidson doesn't mind having her store so close to home.

"As long as I am out here, I can look after the kids," said the Wheeler County native. "And it's something I can do part-time."

neighbors. He asked what happened to hair and fiber samples taken by authorities but not mentioned in the state's case.

Warner said he will call witnesses who will say they heard gunshots from the house on April 22, a week after the state charges the murder occurred and a date the lawyer says his client was in Arkansas. He said another witness will say the victim's car was parked in front of Schreckhise's home a full week after the vehicle was reportedly abandoned in a dry river bed with the victim in the

Finally, Warner said Friday, a defense witness would testify about the suspect's listing a forwarding address when he left Pampa on April 17.

'Folks, killers don't leave forwarding addresses," he said.

However, Mary Vick of Pampa, the first of two defense witnesses who testified Friday, refuted the defense claim.

Vick said she herself gave the address card for Schreckhise. She said she ordered his mail sent "general delivery," in care of the defendant's father in Ozone, Ark. The defendant, she said, never told her that he was leaving.

Vick and her daughter, Bonnie Calder, testified that they cleaned Schreckhise's 916 S. Nelson residence over three days at the end of April.

The women said a layer of "scum" and grease covered the floor and walls throughout the two bedroom home. Until shortly before the murder, Schreckhise, four other adults and three children lived in the home, according to earlier testimony.

Both women said they saw no bloodstains on the floor of the home. They added that it didn't appear the floor had been wiped up or cleaned previously.

A close relative of the women is married to the defendant's sister, according to their testimony

Lewis was shot once in the head and once in the chest with a 22 caliber gun. The murder weapon hasn't been found.

Law enforcement officers stified earlier in the trial that they found two .22 - caliber shell casings and one live round in

One of the state's final witnesses Friday said he had sold a pistol to the defendant. Virgil "Pete" Gabriel, 60, a co - worker of both the suspect and victim at Wagner Well Service Co., still had the box for the gun when he gave it to authorities after the murder.

The top of the box was entered into evidence and revealed that the gun reportedly sold to Schreckhise was an FIE - brand, "Buffalo Scout," 22 - caliber revolver.

Four state's witnesses have testified that Schreckhise confessed the murder to them. One said the defendant asked him to help dispose of the body; another said he actually volunteered and performed the chore.

Many of the witnesses have said Schreckhise stated three reasons for killing the man: Lewis's reported failure to deliver a purchased waterbed, a suspicion that the victim was "narcing" to police about drug cases and jealousy over a woman, "Neena." The object of the men's mutual affection, Neena Glendenning, 19, of Pampa, also testified Friday.

Glendenning said she lived with Lewis for about a month until about a month before his death. She said she also experienced a relationship with Schreckhise, creating mutual jealousy among the men.

She was asked whether she feels guilty" for what happened. "Yes, I do...If I hadn't had anything to do with either one of them, maybe this wouldn't have happened," Glendenning said. Lucinda Mann, 23, of Pampa, probably gave the most dramatic estimony Friday Warner has raised the issue of the victim's time of death. He said a count of the generations of maggots on the badly - decomposed corpse indicated that the murder occurred when his client was in

Arkansas. On April 27, Lewis's body was found stuffed in the trunk of his car, which had been abandoned in a dry river bed on the Frank Carter Ranch, about 10 miles southeast of Mann, who said she had known the victim since they attended the Pampa Middle School, told of seeing Lewis in a grocery store on April 15. She said she had talked at oth to Lewis at the recalled for the jury the clothes he wore on what was reportedly the last day of his life.

Mann was asked to look at a photograph of the car and victim in the trunk. She identified the clothing and her long - time friend. "That's Aaron," she gasped, and loudly wept on the stand. Tina Kirby, 20, of Pampa, was Lewis's live - in girlfriend for about a month at the time of his death, she testified. She said Schreckhise had come over to the couple's 124 N. Nelson residence on the afternoon of April 15. The defendant showed up with two other men in an orange pickup truck, she said. Schreckhise wanted his waterbed, Kirby said. Lewis left in the pickup with the men but returned about 15 minutes later. Kirby said she and Lewis were together until about 6 p.m. that evening, when she reported for work at Godfather's pizza parlor. It was the last time she saw her boyfriend alive. Kirby said. Judge McIlhany ordered the trial

...And the bills keep rising

Did you ever notice how the utility companies are always going

Seems about every year or so, the phone, gas and electric companies start whining about how much money they're losing. The monopolized moaners claim that they're going belly - up any minute, unless the authorities, which set up the monopolies, approve another whopping rate increase. The powerless "rate payer" (customer or gougee) can't take his business elsewhere - the authorities and utilities that make the rules have seen to that. The partners in crime (highway robbery) do a cute little dance when it comes time to stick us again. Our "best interests" are protected by "independent" government entities that review the higher rate requests to decide whether the companies are "entitled" to reap the higher payments.

The companies are legally "entitled" to a profit, say a net return of nine percent; and if they can juggle the books enough to show that they aren't getting the return, then the higher rates are mandatory.

The con game works like this: Utility Y says its costs have gone up by X amount. The company needs X amount more money to produce its guaranteed profit, the monopoly then complains to the "impartial" authority. If the utility doesn't get every dime requested, it can't earn the authorized profit and surely will go bust,

The authority makes an expensive, detailed study and looks long and hard at the rate request. It then approves about half of the requested increase

The utility grudgingly agrees to take what it can get and somehow make do. The company says that since it didn't get the entire amount requested, it will have to ask for more the next time and sooner than

But at the end of the year, inside the annual report, it's always discovered that the utility made the expected profit, even on the lower - than - requested rate.

It's never seriously considered that the utilities should operate like any other company that expects to make a profit. Whether management pulled a few boners in the past months isn't considered. Bloated payrolls and inefficient operations are just part of the company's "costs" of doing business, according to the scheme.

Meanwhile, we all dig deeper to pay the bills for utilities, something we can't live without. We try to keep up with the higher rates through conservation. We cut out the long - distance calls, lower the thermostat and shiver and grope around in the dark.

Demand for the utilities drops in response to the higher rates. Naturally, the declining consumption, a drop in gross sales, is used to justify the next rate increase.

THE FREEDOM-GIVING TRUTH

Jesus therefore said to those Jews that had believed him, If ye abide in my word, then are ye truly my disci-ples; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." (John 8:31-32.) The truth Jesus is speaking of here is the word of God (John 17:17.) The freedom is freedom from sin (John 8:34.) John tells us that sin is "law-lessness" or "transgression" (I John 3:4.) The law of God we live under today is the gospel of Christ (I Corinthians 9:19-21.) Therefore every action of the company of the compan countable person who transgresses the law of Christ, which is the law of God, is guilty of sin and therefore, in

We know that everyone who is guilty of sin needs to be freed from sin. But Jesus qualifies His statement of "the truth shall make you free." First, one has to abide in His word to be classified as His disciple (John 8:31.) Second, one has to "know" the truth in order to be made free by it. Since only those who "obey" the gospel will be saved (Hebrews 5:9; 2 Thessalonians 1:8-9), then we understand Jesus to mean by "know" to understand and

There are doubtless many people in the world today who "know" the truth in the sense that they understand what they must do in order to be saved, who, nevertheless, are still in bondage to sin. The reason being that they never have obeyed that which they know to be the truth. The Jews to whom Jesus was speaking were made aware of their sins on various occasions, yet only three thousand of them obeyed the gospel on the day of Pentecost (Acts 2:41) Multitudes followed Jesus from time to time and listened to His wonderful, words of life, yet many turned back and followed Him no more when He began to tell them what they must do (John 6:60-66.)

And so, the wonderful promise of our Lord is freedom from sin if we are willing to hear, believe and obey His truth, which is His word. It is the same word that was preached nearly two thousand years ago and still has the same power to save those who be-lieve it and obey it (Romans 1:16.)

EVER STRIVING FOR TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. Only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government, and that men have the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property for themselves and others.

Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is, thus, consistent with the coveting commandment.

Our opinion

Reagan and Bush hurt themselves

It is difficult to understand some of the things President Reagan and Vice President Bush are saying in debates and campaign speeches. If you listen closely, you might get the impression they are attempting to refute some of the positions that got them elected in the first place.

In the debate the other night, Vice President Bush appeared shocked at the Mondale-Ferraro charges that the Reagan administration has cut social welfare spending. Bush, in fact, even boasted that spending for food stamps and Aid to Families with Dependent Children has increased since Mr. Reagan took office.

The president for several weeks now has been going about the country trying to convince everyone that he has been most concilatory toward the Soviet Union during his first term and that it is the Russians who are antagonistic toward the United States.

Those types of statements, as political strategy, amaze us. Doesn't the vice president understand that one of the main reasons he and Mr. Reagan was elected is BECAUSE they promosed to reduce spending on programs such as food stamps and AFDC? Doesn't the president understand that his promises to get tough with the Soviet Union led many citizens of this country to vote

Why in the world would they now deny that they have done as they promised in those two areas?

The answer very probably lies with the kind of advice they are receiving from political aides such as Jim Baker. As Mondale and Ferraro go about the country charging the Reagan Administration with slashing funds for the poor and destitute, those aides have likely advised the Republican candidates to refute those changes and show that they have not reduced social spending. With peace activitists throughout the country clamoring that the U.S. and Soviet Union are closer to war than before because of Mr. Reagan's belligerent attitude. those same advisors have probably determined that the activists must be appeased with a much softer stance toward the Russians.

The problem with all this is that the aides are wrong. They are continuing to misread the mood of the country and this is causing them to give the president bad political advice.

The president's campaign would have been much better off politically if Mr. Bush had said something like: "It's not true that cut spending on these social programs, even though we've tried to do it by kicking some of the deadbeats off the welfare rolls. But we have been successful in slowing their rates of growth and we intend to keep cutting in our second term.

The president could have said: "You're doggone right I've talked tough to the Russians and peace is more secure now because they know I mean what I say." He could then point out that no nation has been taken over by Communism during his term. That would likely earn him more votes than saying he's tried to be nice to the

The president has had bad political advice before. He listened to an advisor named John Sears at the start of his bid for the GOP nomination in 1980. Sears told him to lay off the heavy conservative stuff and take on a more moderate appearance. When he followed that advice, George Bush clobbered Mr. Reagan in the Iowa caucuses. Reagan fired Sears, resumed his firebrand conservative rhetoric and went on to demolish Bush in the New Hampshire primary and won the nomination handily

Ronald Reagan was elected president because, rightly or wrongly, the American people perceived him to be an enemy of big government and transfer-the-wealth schemes, and as a champion of a strong United States. If he and Vice President Bush continue to try to convince the public they're really not as conservative as Mondale tries to paint them, a lot of conservatives may decide it's not worth the trouble to go to the polls on election day. The Republicans cannot lose this election by being too conservative. They could lose it by not being conservative enough.

Walter Williams

Inflation helps politicians

This writer recently had the opportunity to visit England. And during a lively conversation with a member of the House of Lords the British lawmaker asked where in America I live. "Near Valley Forge in Pennsylvania," I replied, adding, "That's where George Washington regrouped to defeat the British."

The lord quipped back, "Yes, you fought over taxation without representation. But are you any better off having taxation WITH representation?" Chalk one up for the lord.

Since Walter Mondale said the deficit is our number one domestic problem and more taxation is part of the solution, let's discuss taxes. The most incredible confession of this campaign is the admission that inflation is a means of raising revenue. Those politicians who want to repeal the tax indexation, slated to go into effect in 1985, are admitting just that. Reagan proposed indexation so inflation wouldn't push Americans into higher and higher tax brackets, a process called "bracket creep." The fact that politicians are finally admitting inflation is a means of raising taxes is an encouraging sign. But we have to wonder why reporters haven't asked "Tip" O'Neill and others why they raise revenue this Part of Mondale's deficit strategy calls for increased taxes on corporation. This is the "tax business, not people" ploy. The fact is corporations are legally fictitious and do not pay taxes. They COLLECT taxes. Taxes levied on a corporation are passed on in the form of reduced dividends, lower wages, and higher prices on finished products. In each case it's PEOPLE stockholders, workers, and customers - who pay

Mondale also proposed a 10 - percent tax surcharge on married couples earning more than $100,000 a year and single individuals earning more than $70,000. That's the number - one mistake of politicians. They assume people will behave the same way after a tax is assessed as before. But we know they will merely report less income by seeking tax shelters, evading taxes, or reducing their work effort. With the worldwide competition facing us, we don't need more laws that reduce productivity.

The funniest, perhaps most ludicrous, aspect of Mondale's deficit - reduction plan is that he would institute "pay - as - you - go" budgeting, which would require identification of revenue sources before spending increases could be proposed. Given our pay - as - you - go Social Security nightmare, one wonders where any politician gets the nerve to use such terminology. The deficit, while an important problem, is not real in the economic sense. If the value of what we produce this year - gross national product (GNP) - is $37 trillion and the federal government spends $925 billion of it, of necessity Americans spend $925 - billion LESS privately. In this real sense the federal budget is always in balance. Thus the federal deficit is in reality a hidden tax. The key is not deficit reduction; it's spending reduction. Another part of Mondale's proposal is to close tax loopholes. However, the economy can't tell the difference between closing a loophole and increasing taxes. All the economy knows is people have less to spend for goods and sevices.

So far as taxes are concerned one really has to wonder about what that British lord said to me, and whether the Declaration of Independence was worth it after all.

Six months ago, Jack Weehunt was approached on a downtown street by a man selling watches.

This is nothing unusual. It is difficult to walk down any street in the heart of Atlanta without somebody trying to sell you a watch. Frankly, I don't understand how jewelry stores stay in

The watch the man wanted to sell Jack Weehunt was a bit different, however. On the face of it was the picture of a bulldog.

On the back was inscribed, "Frank Ros - 1980." Jack Weehunt paid the man $15 for the watch and took it home with him and showed it to his brother - in - law, Jackie Chapman.

"Do you know what kind of watch this is?" Jack Chapman, an avid Georgia football fan, asked upon seing it Jack Weehunt doesn't follow football. He simply thought it was a nice watch with a picture of a buildog on the front.

His brother - in - law filled him in. The watch had been given to linebacker Frank Ros, captain of Georgia's 1980 team, by head coach Vince Dooley. Dooley gave all his seniors watches that year after the team had defeated Notre Dame in the Sugar Bowl for the national championship

Jack Weehunt gave the watch to Jackie Chapman as a souvenir. Chapman showed it to his next - door neighbor, who immediately wanted to buy it.

Jackie Chapman talked it over with his wife and they decided the watch belonged to Frank Ros and he deserved to have it back.

After several long - distance phone calls, Chapman's wife, Darlene, finally located Ros, who was living in New York. "He was so excited when I told him I had his bulldog watch," she said. No wonder. Before Ros had left Athens and school, his apartment had been robbed, literally cleaned out The thief, or thieves, not only took his watch, they took all his clothes and all the memorabilia he had saved from his years on the team.

The Chapman's immediately packed up the watch and mailed it to Ros, who was in the process of moving to Greenville, S.C., where he is in business with his father.

The happy day finally arrived. The mailman was at the door with a package. The watch, Frank Ros thought, it's finally here

"I noticed right away the package had been tampered with," said Ros. "I told the mailman to wait until I could get it open. I looked inside, Sure enough, somebody had stolen my watch again. I guess," Frank Ros went on, "I wasn't meant to have it." There was a slight consolation for the former Bulldog. The Chapmans had insured the package for $50, and Ros got his check recently. "I hope somebody between Atlanta and

Greenville hears about this," said Darlene Chapman, "and returns it to its rightful owner. He was so happy to get it back, and now some rotten so and so has gone and stolen it again. It's not likely Frank Ros, who played a major role in giving Georgia its ultimate shining moment, will get his original watch back but maybe somebody will step forward and give him a new one. You never know government spreading Resistance to

BY LEONARD P. LIGGIO Autumn of 1984 marks the 20th anniversary of the Berkeley Free Speech Movement. That movement became the model for a decade of political demonstrations not only on American college campuses, but on campuses around the

The Berkeley Free Speech Movement was triggered by both immediate and long term issues. The Republican National Convention that summer in neighboring San Francisco had nominated Barry Goldwater, who was portrayed by his Democratic opponent, Lyndon Johnson, as a warmonger. Thus the immediate issues of war and especially the American involvement in Vietnam had a strong influence on Berkeley students. Additionally, some of the students had earlier that year participated in the "Mississippi Summer" civil rights activities sponsored by the Congress of Racial Equality and the Student Non - Violent Coordinating Committee.

However the underlying, long term issue that helped to spark the Berkeley Free Speech Movement was dissatisfaction with the educational system. Berkeley had attracted not only top students from California but the highest quality students from other parts of the country, such as from New York's best schools. They arrived to find undergraduate and even graduate education a far cry from the intellectual experience they had expected. There were huge classes in which the leading professors were not only at a distance, but otherwise unavailable as they maximized their time on research and minimized their contact with students. Ordinary tudents prefer minimum contact with faculty. Quality students need and desire maximum contact with faculty in smaller classes, seminars.

The Berkeley Free Speech Movement attacked

the national system of channelling students for government objectives. The Berkeley students felt they were being processed in a factory system in which their intellectual growth was subordianted to the government's plan to produce physicists, chemists, and engineers for space programs, for war technology, and for public housing and transportation. They wished to pursue their particular educational interests in college to develop their lives along individually chosen paths, free from government direction and

The fundamental educational issues raised by the Berkely Free Speech Movement were lost when Johnson's defeat of Goldwater permitted the former's intervention in Vietnam. Indeed, the "Cals" for Goldwater were prime mentors of the Berkeley Free Speech Movement. They questioned the premise of Johnson's foreign policy; they opposed compulsory educational and military systems; and they called for the relinquishing of government planning and

The original student leaders in Berkeley were in the traditional American mold of Thomas Jefferson, Tom Paine, and William Lloyd Garrison. They were radicals in the sense of the Jeffersonians and Jacksonians, who opposed government controls over the citizens through a central bank, a government school system, and government subsidies to companies through protective tarriffs.

The original student leaders favored the American traditions of individualism, educational quality and freedom, and independence from government. They loved the America that was being replaced by centralized power, the government - business - union alliance and the economic dislocation created by war preparations, and the subsidy of industries that served the military.

Unfortunately as U.S. intervention in Vietnam dragged on, Marxist students came to the fore of the Berkeley Free Speech Movement. They believed that American traditions of individualism were as evil as Johnson's welfare warfare state. These newer leaders saw the Third World as a wonderful utopia which America was injuring and which America should copy. The greatness of America - unlimited equal freedom and unlimited economic growth - became evil. Totalitarianism a la Third World - Cuba, China, Cambodia, Tanzania, Ghana - became the fashion among the student-rebels.

The American public naturally recoiled from this Third World utopianism. They realized that government controls meant less economic progress and they responded in California in November, 1966 to the rhetoric of the Berkeley student rebels by electing Ronald Reagan as governor Thus the original question posed was unanswered and remains pertinent today, namely: is the American tradition of individualism being replaced by government channelling and planning in the educational system and in society at large? Today, resistance to government enroachment is no longer limited to college students. Americans in general are fighting the growth of government control over their incomes and lives more and

Ironically, Barry Goldwater best articulated, at the Republican National Convention, the ideals which had motivated the original student rebels of 20 years ago

Have we forgotten Carter-Mondale?

Have people forgotten?

The "Windfall Profits Tax" bill enacted by Carter-Mondale imposed a high tax on oil, crippling the oil business and related industries, creating high unemployment.

When Carter-Mondale left office the interest rate was 21 percent, inflation 13 percent and national growth zero percent, resulting in a housing and business slump and more unemployment.

In the last two years, seven million new jobs have been created, more people are working than anytime in history and the national unemployment is six percent.

The laws making changes in Social Security benefits were passed during the Carter-Mondale administration to become effective at a later date. Mondale accuses the president of cutting benefits, but of course never mentions he is carrying out the Carter-Mondale laws.

In July President Reagan requested Congress to remove the cost-of-living restrictions on Social Security rasies. In January every recipient will receive an increase.

In 1980, Carter-Mondale increased the military budget 18 percent. They planned a military build-up to extend over a period of years. In 1981, President Reagan spent $1 billion less than their proposed budget. In 1984, he spent $15 billion less than their proposed budget.

Mondale has evidently changed his mind about defense. Geraldine Ferraro opposed the Carter-Mondale MX missile and voted in Congress to scrap the MX, the Pershing II, the Trident and the B-1 bomber with a 20 percent cut in Army forces and one-third cut in nuclear carriers.

Without U.S. preparedness, the Soviets would take over Germany, other European countries, the U.S. and the world.

President Reagan inherited the largest national debt in history. The National deficit automatically increases billions of dollars every year, over which the president has no control; interest on the debt, government officials retirement pensions, secret service security for present officials and past presidents, their families and grandchildren, funding for election campaigns, government employees salaries, etc. Spending bills are passed by Congress, much of the money going to enrich their homes states. Despite this, the economic recovery under President Reagan will reduce the deficit $35 billion this year.

In October 1970 Mondale voted "against" the Senate resolution to prohibit obscenity and pornography. Homosexuals, obscenity and pornography are making a mockery of decency and ruining our

If we do the work, they should pay

I would like to address the very serious problem of Mr. Allyn Moore. He is becoming hazardous to our pocketbooks. He tears up our property, then tells us that it is the city's property, then tells us we will have to fix it—with our own money.

It seems that the city not only considers the streets and alleys as their property, but they also consider the stretch of property between the sidewalks and the curb as city property also. Yet is is left up to the individual citizens to mow this stretch of grass and clean the gutters and, in the winter, shovel the sidewalks. According to Mr. Moore, all these locations belong to the city, but we must pay for the care and upkeep of said property with our own money

When we asked what would happen if we stopped caring for this property, we were bluntly told that if this happened we would be fined by the city for not caring for city property. This is someting like the employees paying the employers money so the employee can work hard for no compensation whatsoever. This sort of bizarre arrangement does not appeal to my business sense. It always occurred to me that if I work for someone, that persons should pay me, not vice versa.

Something must be done about Mr. Moore's bizarre sense of

I think that the city should pay us for our work, or they should do it themselves. Personally, I would like to see Mr. Moore out there mowing all the land he says is the city's, cleaning out all the gutters, and, in the winter, shoveling all the snow off of all the sidewalks in town. Maybe if he were kep busy enough doing this, the citizens of Pampa wouldn't have to worry about this man thinking up any more preposterous plans to make Pampa his own private Utopia

If you think something must be done, then make your feeling known. Harrass your commissioners about this man. Or better yet, call Mr. Moore at the city hall and tell him what you think of him. Nothing can be done unless you take the first step.

Courthouse renovation is needed

On Oct. 8 I sat, for hours, as a jury panelist in the District Court room in the Gray County Courthouse. On the right of the "bench" was a Texas flag, on the left was the United States flag. Both of these flags are severely faded and coated with dust and grime. These flags are a disgrace to the USA and Texas.

As anyone who goes into this building can readily see, this building is in a sad state of disrepair. However, there is no excuse for not having clean fresh flags in the courthouse. What with the surplus funds from the sale of the old county hospital and with Revenue Sharing funds received each year, it is my opinion there are funds available to renovate the courthouse, including an elevator to provide access to all citizens, whether handicapped or not, to all floors of this building from ground level. At the present time, handicapped persons are restricted from serving on jury trials, access to the County Clerk's office or access to the Sheriff's office.

What are the plans for renovating the courthouse? What is the time

City hiring practices are not fair

This letter is to inform you and the citizens of Pampa of another situation I find deplorable, and I believe you will agree. There are unfair hiring practices by the Pampa Police Department Following are the facts and one more reason I feel the time has come for a change in our city government.

A friend of mine was informed by his father that there was an opening at the Pampa Police Department for a dispatcher. My friend was in another state working and because he wanted to make his home here in Pampa and work for the city, he guit his job in the other state and came back to Pampa after confirming that he would be considered for the job and the interview.

My friend came back to Pampa and talked with one of the girls in the police department and was informed by her that his application would be considered. My friend spend two nights observing the job he had applied for and believed that he could do a very good job for the

He checked back with Capt. Denham and was informed that he would not be considered for the job because his father worked for the police department as dispatcher and Capt. Denham felt there would be some sort of conflict.

This sounds good not to have two members of the same family working for the same department. However, in the police department there are several persons of the same family working in that department. Officer Wopperer and his wife who sometimes work the same shift, him on patrol and her dispatching. Officer Lockridge and his wife, him on patrol and her relieving the dispatcher. Then we've got Officer Hopson and his brother, who is a dog cathcer, and both work for the city of Pampa.

Therefore, taking the above information along with the dispute over the drainage pipes that some persons have had to remove from their driveways, I urge you to take a look at our city officials and their records and remember them when it comes time for

President labels Mondale lemon

President Reagan on Saturday denounced challenger Walter F. Mondale's tax and economic proposals as "the lemon you got rid of four years ago."

Reagan, delivering his weekly radio address, declared that economic growth in his administration is "not a pipedream." And he said of Mondale, the Democratic

"We must ask ourselves one question: What has he ever done or said to suggest, let alone convince us, that his vision can do anything but fail?" Reagan asked.

Mondale, meanwhile, took a break from a quiet Saturday at his Minnesota home to call on Reagan to have Vice President George Bush apologize for what he called a "vicious" statement during his debate with Geraldine Ferraro on Thursday.

Mondale told reporters that the president daily grows "more responsible" for Bush's refusal to apologize for his statement that the Democratic opposition had suggested the Marines killed in the terrorist bombing in Beirut last month "died in shame.

"If I had done something like this I shouldn't be president or dog catcher," Mondale said of the charge

Bush, who has refused to apologize for the remark, spent the day in Washington, making no public apperances. He was flying to Detroit on Sunday to attend the fourth game of the World Series before beginning a six-day campaign swing in the Mondale also said there have been several incidents recently that suggest the vice president "is trying to avoid taking Geraldine Ferraro seriously as a candidate for vice president. She's earned her right to be taken seriously.'

Bush said on Friday, in what was intended to be a private remark but was picked up by a kick a little ass" in his debate with Ms. Ferraro. He has not apologized for that remark, either, and insisted later that "it's going to help" his campaign.

Ms. Ferraro was campaigning in Illinois, where she was confronted for the second day in a row by anti-abortion hecklers.

"OK, ladies. Hold it," she told the protesters in Niles, Ill. "The other night, on national television. I answered that question about the unborn. I also spoke about the constitution of the United States and how I supported the various freedoms in that constitution. One is freedom of speech.

Later in Davenport, Iowa, Ms. Ferraro cited President Reagan's joke two months ago during a microphone check about bombing the Soviet Union as "a serious mistake." Citing reports the Soviet army went on a brief. partial alert after the president's joke, she said, "Our president's reckless comment jeopardized our safety.'

In his radio address, Reagan boasted of policies he said have led to 22 consecutive months of economic expansion without inflation and "challenge the limits of growth."

And he said of the tax reductions he sought at the beginning of his term, "it's no coincidence that once those tax cuts took hold the American economy woke up with a roar from years of economic slumber."

"Our vision is not a pipedream but a living accomplishment, Reagan asserted, taking credit for reduced inflation, economic expansion and the creation of six million new jobs.

"My opponent has a very different vision, a gloomy vision of weakness that doesn't look to you with confidence, challenge you to dream great dreams, but that places its trust in bigger government," Reagan said.

But Mondale 'comes alive'

Reagan lead still looks like landslide

WASHINGTON (AP) President Reagan maintains a landslide-sized lead over Walter F. Mondale three weeks before Election Day, according to a nationwide Associated Press survey, but the Democratic challenger has "come alive" in many states after his strong showing in campaign debate.

"The spread has narrowed considerably," said Pennsylvania Democratic chairman Edward Mezvinsky. The debate "really puts us in the ballgame," he added, in a state where a GOP poll found Reagan with a double-digit lead before the first presidential debate "The campaign has come alive since Sunday," echoed California Democatic chairman Peter Kelly. 'The debate has made it a much closer race" in the nation's largest Mondale "demonstrated a good grasp of the facts in contrast to Reagan, who fumbled from time to said Kate Litvack, a top official in the New Jersey Democratic party. "And most importantly, he began to dispel what has been referred to as the wimp factor" - the perception that he is not a strong leader.

Republicans in many states conceded that Mondale breathed new life into his campaign in last Sunday's debate but insist it means only a modest boost. They said Reagan can easily recover his losses in a follow-up debate on foreign policy on Oct. 21.

"Reagan has to prove next time that it was just an off-night," said GOP chairman Allan Levey of Maryland, a traditionally Democratic state where early polls have given the president a double-digit edge over Mondale.

Mondale's aides insist the debate will be seen as a turning point in his uphill challenge for the White House, and the AP survey indicated it created some Democrat's campaign in many

AP correspondents in all 50 states assessed avaliable poll data and talked with political experts to evaluate the campaign.
Presidential elections are decided not by the nationwide vote totals, but in separate elections in the states and the District of Columbia, the results of which determine the winner in the Electoral College.

Reagan and Vice President George Bush are ahead in 43 states with 450 electoral votes, far more than the 270 needed to win a second term, the latest survey indicated.

Mondale and running mate Geraldine Ferraro are clearly ahead only in the District of additional interest in the Columbia, with three electoral votes.

Seven states with 85 electoral votes were rated as toss-ups — Hawaii; Maryland; Massachusetts; New York; Oregon; Rhode Island; Wisconsin.

But elsewhere — in Pennsylvania, Illinois, New Jersey and Iowa, for example — political leaders and some polls indicate Mondale has made inroads into Reagan's lead.

Even so, an Eagleton Institute poll taken in New Jersey after the debate said showed how far behind Mondale has been. The president held a lead of 52 percent to 36 percent in the poll results released on Friday, and that represented a seven-point gain for Mondale.

98th Congress fades away leaving little to remember

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 98th Congress that convened Jan. 3, 1983, spent two years stumbling from one partisan pitfall to another, delaying decisions and doing little more than necessary to keep the government running.

After a characteristic final round of trying to score political points, it faded into history Friday after the Senate, on its second try, passed emergency legislation extending the government's authority to borrow money

"It has been not the most productive session of Congress that I have participated in," said House Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Texas.

"There are periods of great creativity and bursts of creative energy," Wright said, "then there are periods of retrenching."

In practice, that has meant Congress has spent two years biding its time and waiting to see what next month's presidential and congressional elections produce. Will President Reagan win a new mandate? Will Democrats or Republicans gain a clear advantage in the House and

"We've been in a period in which we haven't been trying to create a lot of new programs," Wright said. The Congress began last year with a stronger Democratic majority in the House, allowing Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass, to reassert control over a chamber in which a coalition of Republicans and conservative Democrats pushed through Reagan's economic program in the previous two years. While that situation produced stalemate on a range of issues, it also forced compromises on various politically delicate subjects. By the time Congress recessed for its Easter break in March 1983. it had agreed on landmark legislation changing benefits, coverage and taxes to assure the continued solvency of the Social Security returement system. Also passed was a $4.6 billion anti-recession jobs program. But the spirit of cooperation virtually ended with those bills and the House and Senate bogged down in a confusing series of inconclusive arguments over foreign policy, defense and what actions were needed to shrink bulging budget deficits

In addition, restlessness by junior members of both parties in each chamber complicated efforts to settle sensitive issues

Rep. Leon E. Panetta, D-Calif., observed: "The House knows that a lot of what it passes won't pass the Senate. The Senate knows a lot of what it does won't be signed by the president. And the president is just appointing commissions." On the domestic front in 1983, Congress ignored its own edict and failed to live up to a three-year deficit-reduction plan that called for $73 billion in new taxes and $12.3 billion in spending cuts.

Reagan's refusal to endorse tax increases and the usual reluctance of legislators to raise taxes as an election approaches outweighed almost $200 billion deficits.

'We make speeches on the floor of the Senate, and we make speeches back home to our constituents about what a terrible thing the deficit is, and yet ... when it comes to taking concrete steps to deal with the deficit, we are reduced to a catatonic state. We are immobile. We are unable to Sen. John C. Danforth, R-Mo., lamented to his colleagues.

As for international affairs, Congress was rocked during the last third of 1983 by a stunning series of world events: On Sept. 1 the Soviet Union shot down a Korean airliner killing all 269 people aboard, including Rep. Larry McDonald, D-Ga.; on Oct. 23, the Marine barracks in Beirut, Lebanon, was bombed by terrorists with the loss of 241 servicemen; on Oct 25, U.S. troops invaded the tiny Caribbean island of Grenada

In general, Congress lined up behind Reagan, including acceptance of a compromise measure allowing him to keep U.S. peacekeeping forces in Lebanon for up to 18 months.

Also in 1983, Congress gave Reagan a green light for production of the MX missile and rejected a proposal calling for a freeze on nuclear weapons.

Left for 1984 were measures to reform immigration laws, decontrol natural gas, make revise the Clean Air and Clean Water acts.

Of those, only a crime package was approved this year.

Written into legislation that passed were provisions calling for votes next year on U.S. aid to rebels fighting the government in Nicaragua and whether to continue production of the MX missile.

This year, Congress found it more difficult than usual to even do the most basic of its tasks. It was not until last Thursday, 11 days into the new fiscal year, that Congress settled on a compromise omnibus spending bill to keep the government solvent for the next 12 months. The catch-all measure was necessary because the House and Senate had enacted only five of the 13 annual appropriations bills necessary to support government operations and agencies.

Villagers eat sacred cows

NEW DELHI, India (AP) Some Hindu villagers in India's drought-stricken Andhra Pradesh state are killing sacred cows for food and others are walking long distances in search of a living, the United News of India reported today.

While large areas of northern and northeastern India are flooded by the monsoon, more than 50 million citizens in the south have been affected by a prolonged drought that has parched land and dried rivers. Lakes have turned into mudflats.

The drought in Andhra Pradesh and neighboring Maharashtra state has been described by press reports as one of the worst this century.

"I worshipped the cow," UNI quoted an Andhra Pradesh villager, Kumara Yengamma, as saying. But he said he couldn't watch his neighbor's family starve, so he hacked a cow into pieces and cooked a meal, the agency said.

(AP) — Less than two days before drugs killed him, a tearful David Kennedy told a woman he had just met he could "never find peace inside" and was "full of pain" from the 1968 murder of his father, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, documents said

Details of the last, agonizing days of the 28-year-old Kennedy's life were revealed Friday after a judge ruled the material gathered during an official investigation of Kennedy's death was covered by the state's open records law.

Kennedy, found dead of a fatal drug combination April 25 at a Palm Beach hotel, spent his final days drinking and snorting cocaine while complaining about life, the records show.

A German immigrant, Marion Niemann, 42, said she met Kennedy at a popular Palm Beach nightspot April 22, and saw him again the next day at his hotel suite.

The conversation turned to the June 1968 slaying of Sen. Kennedy at a California political rally, an incident that David, then 13, watched over and over on television at the family's hotel inside, I've been full of pain, Ms. Niemann said Kennedy told her, "And I say, 'You need help, David.' And he say, 'Yes, I am crying for help.''

At one point, she said, they cried together.

Other interviews also chronicled the agony Kennedy suffered before the fatal drug ingestion. Experts said he died of a combination of cocaine, a tranquilizer and a painkiller.

Two former bellhops at the hotel, David Linwood Dorr and Peter Andrew Marchant, were arrested in mid-May on two cocaine counts. But authorities cannot tell if the drugs they are accused of supplying to Kennedy contributed to his death.

Dorr, 30, of West Yarmouth, Mass., told police he had no knowledge concerning Kennedy's drug use or how Kennedy obtained drugs during the last days of his life.

The records show Marchant, 24, of Warwick, R.I., told authorities that Kennedy asked him to buy cocaine at least twice. When questioned further, he requested an attorney be present. No trial date has been set for and remained quiet for four days. The options range from probation to confinement in a state youth facility.

A jury ruled on Friday that shy softspoken Patricia Dempsey did not intentionally kill 11-year-old Kerry Thomas on Sept. 8. But the jury ruled the child acted 'recklessly' and, in essence, convicted her of involuntary manslaughter.

Jurors determined that her actions surrounding the killing constituted "delinquent conduct" and that she therefore is accountable under juvenile statutes.

"What does that mean?" Patricia asked defense attorneys Harold Ray and B.J. Warren when the verdict was announced. "Can I go home?"

They told her no. Patricia has been confined in a juvenile detention center since shortly after Kerry's body was found and will remain there at least until Judge Scott Moore issues his decision on Monday.

The judge has a number of options, including probation, and could order her sent either to a children's home or to a more restrictive Texas Youth Commission facility.

Prosecutor Dave Purcell insisted Patricia intentionally killed her longtime friend in a fit of jealousy and that she demonstrated intent when she hid the body in the backyard of the Dempsey's suburban Benbrook home.
The youngster eventually broke down and told her story to investigators after a neighbor found the decomposed body four days after the shooting.

Bomb likely meant for prime minister

BRIGHTON, England (AP) -IRA guerrillas bent on assassinating Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher may have planted the bomb in her hotel weeks ago, wrapping it in cellophane and hiding it under floorboards to fool police dogs, Scotland Yard said Saturday.

As firemen searched for a fourth body in the Grand Hotel's blasted and crumbling upper stories, Britain debated how better to protect its leaders without sealing them off from the people.

"If ministers cower behind the castle walls ... (the) battle within will have been lost," said The Times of London in an editorial.

But The Daily Mirror denounced "criminally complacent" security that nearly cost the lives of the prime minister and her Cabinet and called for stringent new

Mrs. Thatcher was in her room at the Grand Hotel, polishing a kevnote address to her Conservative Party's annual conference, when the bomb detonated at 2:54 a.m. Friday, killing four people and injuring 32.
The dead included member of Parliament Sir Anthony Berry, a former Conservative whip whose first wife is Princess Diana's aunt; Eric Taylor, chairman of the party's northwest England cnapter; and Roberta Wakeham. wife of chief House of Commons whip John Wakeham

Wakeham was rescued after six hours pinned in the rubble. Mrs. Thatcher's trade secretary, Norman Tebbit, was buried for four hours. They were among 10 victims still hospitalized Saturday

The explosion blasted away part of the hotel's top three floors, rained tons of debris onto the lower-story rooms of ministers and let loose a slice of the structure into the prime minister's bathroom two minutes after she left it. Had she lingered in the bathroom, Mrs. Thatcher would have been killed or seriously injured, said Cmdr. William Hucklesby, chief of Scotland Yard's anti-terrorist branch.

Instead, she emerged unscathed. Hucklesby told a news conference that the bomb, made from 20 pounds of explosives, was planted in a seventh-floor room

A wild weekend in Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Horns blared, people shouted and police paced back and forth as the traditional Oklahoma-Texas rivalry gained fever pitch on the eve of the annual football clash between the Oklahoma Sooners and the Texas Longhorns.

"Oklahomans go home," one group shouted, arms raised and forefingers and pinkies cocked in the traditional salute signifying the Longhorns of Texas. "Down with Texas," countered the rival group, arms raised and hands positioned in a reverted salute.

Crowd estimates were uncertain. Sgt. Jody Thomas called it "huge." "There are about 20,000 people down there, but it's really hard to estimate," she said.

"This is the biggest pep rally in the United States," said Linda Nichols, who with her husband and son had driven from their home near Austin for the 15th straight year to attend the rally and game. The Nichols wore matching orange T-shirts emblazoned with "TEXAS" on the front.

"It's all just a lot of fun," added Wilbur Nichols, a Texas alumnus. "I remember a time when things were more serious. It got really wild and there was a lot of violence. This is calm tonight. There's a lot of hollering but it's all in fun."

Police agreed.
"It was loud and spirited, but it wasn't mean," said Dallas police spokesman Bob Shaw.

Only 32 arrests were made, including 16 for public intoxication, and others for disorderly conduct, theft, and other offenses, said investigator Hollis Edwards of the Dallas Police Department.

Doggett gets surprise gift

AUSTIN (AP) — Much to his surprise, Democratic U.S. Senate candidate Lloyd Doggett received a $151,000 boost in his senate race against Republican challenger Phil Gramm.

U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, telephoned Doggett at 6:50 p.m. Friday from Washington D.C. to tell him the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee is giving Doggett's campaign an additional $151,000 to fight Gramm. Bentsen, who chairs the Doggett said he was surprised by the news. "I wasn't expecting the money and was very pleased. It was a result of the good work done by Sen. Bentsen," Doggett said.

"They made the maximum contribution allowed by law to my campaign. It is four-and-a-half times as much money as any of the other Democrats received," he said.

The Doggett campaign has received a total of $901,000 from the Senatorial Campaign Committee, Doggett campaign aides said. Doggett said his campaign has raised $4 million so far, but he said

Gramm has more money.
"Gramm is still outspending our campaign by 2-1 or 3-1," Doggett

While the Doggett and Gramm campaigns continued full pace, Texas Republicans and Democrats continued to debate over who won the vice presidential debate

Thursday night.

herself and proved she could handle the job. "She definitely won the stability

"She definitely won the stability part of the contest. There was no question about which one was the calmer, the least frenzied, and which one tried to be more substantive in responding to questions," Holman said. Heavy voter registration muddles political races

AUSTIN (AP) — A late, unexpectedly heavy registration of voters has created even more questions about the results of the November general election in Texas, but President Reagan continues to hold a substantial lead in the state, party leaders and political analysts say.

Secretary of State Myra McDaniel has predicted that 7.5 million Texans, about 700,000 more than were able to vote on March 1. registered before the Oct. 7 deadline. That would be about 68 percent registered out of 10.7 million eligible.

Texas Democrats and Republicans disagree in their claims on the new voters. Democrats say 480,000 should vote Democratic, while Republicans claim 400,000 from "targeted precincts."

"Nobody can get a handle on the new voter registration," said George Christian, former White House press secretary who is now a political consultant in Austin.

"There seemed to be huge interest in registration and if all this holds (until Nov. 6), we could have a massive voter turnout in Texas, which could help the Democrats," he said.

However, Christian said he believes Reagan has such a strong lead that it would take a "miracle" for Democratic challenger Walter Mondale to succeed in Texas.

"I still feel like we are going to carry Texas in the end," said state Democratic Party Chairman Bob Slagle, who admits that Reagan still holds a statewide lead. Slagle has claimed the Democratic drive will not peak until the final three weeks.

"Our voter registration drive is twice what we thought it would be," said state Republican Chairman George Strake, "but some of that may be offset by the big drive put on by the

Slagle and others - both Democratic and Republican - think Mondale's showing in the first presidential campaign helped his forces in Texas.

"I thought it was a big asset in pumping our people up," Slagle said. "Reagan is still ahead but not as much as he was. We have cut into it."

"I've got a gut feeling that Mondale did better in the debate," said Ken Towery, former state campaign manager for retiring U.S. Sen. John Tower and now a political consultant in Austin. "I think he rejuvenated his troops, but I haven't seen any indication of any falling off in support for Reagan.'

"I think Mondale did well in the debate," said Strake, "but the bottom line of what he said was 'taxes, taxes and taxes,' and we are going to be reminding him of that.

Strake said U.S. Rep. Phill Gramm remains ahead of state Sen. Lloyd Doggett in the U.S. Senate race, "but not quite as much as Reagan is ahead."

'The Gramm-Doggett race is much closer at this point," said Slagle. "I think we are going to take the state for Mondale and when we do, there's no way

Doggett wouldn't win too.' Christian said Gramm is ahead in the Senate race "but it's not a big lead. I think Doggett has a good shot at it. Doggett is going to get more votes in Texas than Mondale

For Horticulture

By JOE VanZANDT

County Extension Agent One of the activities that our Extension Horticulture committee decided to undertake is to develop a list of nice, specimen trees and shrubs growing around our area. Committee members are soliciting the help of area garden clubs in developing lists of landscape specimens of trees. Several committee members mentioned that there are a few older trees of many varieties that have grown to a large size. Yet very few people see them and even fewer people know where to go and see how a particular tree or shrub looks that is maybe 20 to 50 years old. The committee will help in making the list and hopefully getting pictures slides made of these. The general public can also help us by submitting locations of outstanding trees to the County Extension Office. If you know of a nice mature size of tree, call the office -669 - 7429 - and give the owners name and address.

A lot of newcomers move here and would like to see what a particular kind of young tree will look like in 20 years or so.

THE COMPOST PILE - THE ORIGINAL RECYCLING CENTER

Gardeners can get - back - to basics and save money too by developing an old stand - by - the compost pile. And with fall here, plenty of leaves will soon be available for composting. With transportation costs pushing the price of peat moss and other bulky types of organic matter higher, the backyard compost pile or compost bin is becoming more and more important. With our soils lacking in organic matter, composting is an excellent way to add humus to the soil while at the same time disposing of unwanted plant material from the yard and garden. Leaves, straw, lawn clippings, sawdust, garden debris and even shredded newspapers can be converted into usable humus through the decomposting process. These composted materials will make both clay and sandy soils vegetables and ornamentals. It is usually best to have three compost bins - one being filled, one in the process of decomposing, and another ready for use. The most workable size for most gardners is a 4 feet by 6 feet bin, with one side hinged or removable for easy access. Gardeners should select a convenient site near a source of water, yet out of sight of the outdoor living area.

Start the compost pile by spreading a 6 - to - 8 inch layer of debris. Top this with a 1 - to - 2 inch layer of soil or finished compost. Sprinkle about two cups of a complete fertilizer over each layer of soil and organic mater to encourage bacterial action and hasten decomposition. Manure or blood meal may be used instead of fertilizer. Water thoroughly; then add the next layer as material becomes available.

Repeat the layering processs until the pile is 4 to 5 inches high. Keep the center slightly lower than the sides to aid in retaining water. Keep the pile moist for rapid decomposition; however, avoid saturation or bad odors may

To speed up decomposition and insure that wastes on the outer edge of the bin have a chance to break down, turn or mix and restack the pile every 60 tp 90 days. Do not add new material once the pile is turned; rather start a new pile in a nearby location. For better aeration and faster decomposition, spread fresh lawn clippings and shredded green materials into thin layers. When adding dry leaves to the compost pile, wet them thoroughly before adding soil. A shredder will convert twigs and small branches into smaller particles for faster decomposition

KALANCHOE: A Durable Flowering Plant

No matter how you pronounce it, the kalanchoe is among the most durable floricultural products on the market today. The kalanchoe comes in several colors ranging from deep red to yellow and is generally available in 4 - inch or 6 inch pots. Because the kalanchoe is a succulent plant, it has excellent keeping quality in the home or office.

When buying a kalanchoe select one with only ½ to ¾ of its flowers fully open. A kalanchoe with less than half of its flowers open will not develop properly in its new environment. Also avoid plants which appear to be wilted or dry to the touch. Look for those with strong stems and thick, green, fleshy leaves.

After purchase, a kalanchoe can easily remain colorful for more than a month if given some basic

1. Remove or punch holes through any decorative foil or wrapping on the pot. Although it may be attractive, foil wrapping impedes drainage and holds water.

the plant to deteriorate quickly.

2. Keep the plant out of hot or cold drafts. Excessively hot, dry air from heating ducts or appliances will reduce the keeping quality of the plant.

3. The kalanchoe cannot tolerate cold or rapidly changing temperatures. Keep the plant where temperatures remain above 60 degrees F, between 70 and 75 degrees is ideal.

4. Place the plant in good light, but not direct sun.

5. The kalanchoe uses a moderate amount of water and should be checked daily. Allow the soil to dry out between waterings. and be careful not to keep the medium too wet. When adding water, allow some to run through the root mass and out of the pot.

To be sure you receive a quality kalanchoe, ask for a Texas product. It's your assurance of a locally grown plant at its peak of

Family waiting for news of missing son

By LAURA STONE

Odessa American
ANDREWS, Texas (AP) — Judy
Harvey sat in her comfortable living room flipping through the pages of a green spiral notebook.

The pages, filled with handwritten names and dates, outlined the steps Mrs. Harvey and her husband, Jim, have taken since their only son, Chris, disappeared July 11 from the family's summer home near Pagosa Springs, Colo.

Despite the ordeal, Mrs. Harvey said she wants to present the family's plight in a positive manner — possibly helping other parents who may someday be in a similar situation.

"We've had an enormous amount of people who care," she said.

The Harveys' search has taken them not only into the Colorado mountains, but into a congressman's office. And their ordeal has placed them in contact with people around the country.

Two weeks ago, the Andrews couple believed they had met with success, only to learn that the beaten young man they thought was their 15-year-old is the 18-year-old son of a New York minister and his wife.

"Parents have to be actively involved in trying to find their child. It can't just be left to the authorities," Mrs. Harvey said.

The Harveys' travail began July 11, when Chris didn't return to the summer home. A check with neighbors in the small mobile home park where they were staying showed Chris had visited a friend about 3 p.m. to talk about a band camp he planned to attend later in the summer.

By 11 p.m., the Harveys had called the Archuleta County Sheriff's Office.

Although their summer home is in Hinsdale County, that county has an agreement with neighboring Archuleta County to provide law enforcement services, Hinsdale County Sheriff Burt Smith says.

Mrs. Harvey said the Archuleta County Sheriff's Department began its search about noon the following day — a Thursday — and continued until 4 p.m. Friday.

The next weekend, Archuleta County organized a search involving five rescue teams, helicopters and dogs, Smith said. After using $150,000 in manpower and equipment, searchers finally concluded that there was a 95 percent probability that Chris was not in the county, the sheriff said.

In the meantime, the Harveys, with the help of family and friends, had begun to distribute posters of their son across the state.

At the encouragement of friends, they also began to make other inquiries. One of their first calls went to Rep. Kent Hance, D-Lubbock

"His office has been extremely supportive," Mrs. Harvey said.

Aides in Hance's office encouraged the family to call the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children. The private organization, which has received federal funding, was only starting its work to deal with the safety and protection of children at that time.

The Harveys were assigned a technical adviser, who has remained in touch with the family during the search. In addition, the family began listing Chris with other organizations that deal with missing children.

Last month, law enforcement officers in Colorado called the Harveys — who had returned to Andrews, where they both teach school — to say they thought Chris had been located.

A badly beaten boy had been found by the roadside in Eagle County, Colo., and was taken to a hospital in Grand Junction, Colo., where he had undergone surgery.

The boy's physical characteristics matched Chris'. His face was partially hidden with a respirator and bandages.

A day after the Harvevs arrived at the hospital, doctors co. . . cked the young man's teeth during surgery and found they didn't match Chris's records. Instead, the young man was identified as Scott Yoos, who was hitchhiking across the country taking photographs.

His parents, the Rev. Fred and Lorrie Yoos, flew to Grand Junction, where they met the Harveys — a relationship Mrs. Harvey said is a special one.

"We needed someone, and so did he," she said.

Yoos calls the Harveys daily with reports on his son, who recently started walking again.

For the Harveys, who returned to Andrews about 10 days ago, it was back to square one. Mrs. Harvey said they have continued spreading the word about their missing son.

"One of the things that have been a problem for the law enforcement is that there have been no clues," she said, noting that he disappeared with only the clothes he was wearing. The family doesn't know if he was abducted, ran away or met another fate. "I can tell you 100 different theories."

PAMPA FIELD GOAL - This 27-yard field goal by Tyrone Evans in the second quarter turned out to be the winning margin as Pampa defeated Levelland, 9-7, Friday night. after five losses, but more importantly, gave them a 1-1 record in District 1-4A play to keep their hopes alive for a playoff

Levelland is now 1-4 and 0-1 after winning its first game, 33-0, over Hobbs, N.M. two weeks ago. With Kendall as head coach, Pampa's last two outings with Levelland have been close, hard-fought games The two teams tied, 8-8, in 1982 and

Pampa won, 3-0, last season. This year's game was no exception. Trailing 7-3 at halftime, the Harvesters scored the winning touchdown on their first possession of the second half with David Carter having a two-way role in the situation.

Levelland was facing a punting situation from its own 46 when the snap from center got past punter Brady Bates. Bates chased the ball down at the Levelland 25 where he was tackled by Carter, the defensive end. After running back Gary Jernigan was stopped at the line of scrimmage, Pampa quarterback Jimmy Bridges threw to end Wade Howard for a 20-yard gain to the five. On the next play, Carter now at fullback, slipped through the middle for the score with 9:19 left in the third quarter.

Both teams had offensive drives killed by penalties the rest of the way, but Pampa's defense did a job on Levelland the second half, holding the Lobos to only 34 yards

Levelland tried a desperation 56-yard field goal with one second left on the clock, but Bates' try fell Brian Kotara posting his third 15 yards short.

Pampa defensive end Wiley Kennedy had two quarterback sacks while tackle Dean Birkes also came up with a sack. Bill Hopkins had a fumble recovery and David Ellison an interception.

Levelland's first-quarter touchdown was set up by a turnover when Ellison dropped a Lobos punt and Mike Davis recovered it on the Harvester 6. Three plays later, Michael Sheppard dived over from the one and Bates booted the PAT to make it 7-0 with 4:46 to go in the quarter.

Pampa also took advantage of a Levelland turnover in the second quarter to make it 7-3 on a 27-yard field goal by Tyrone Evans. With Levelland on Pampa's 45, Ron Arrington fumbled a handoff and Hopkins recovered on Levelland's

Pampa drove the Lobo two in six plays where the drive stalled when David Esch tackled Carter for a two-yard loss. Faced with a fourth and four, Kendall elected to go for a field goal and Evans obliged with a perfect boot through the crossbars. That three-pointer turned out to be the difference in the game since Pampa's PAT on the third-quarter touchdown was blocked.

Pampa rolled up 217 yards in total offense with running back

WHEELER - Junior running back Toby Collins scored three touchdowns, and the Mustang defense completed its fifth straight shutout as Wheeler rolled over Follett 35 - 0 in Friday's match between the two undefeated teams.

The Mustangs, ranked No. 4 going into the game, probably moved up a notch on the state 1A charts with the victory over their previously - unbeaten district rivals.

Wheeler ran up 400 yards total offense in the game, while holding Follett to just 184 total steps.

The game would have been even more lopsided, if the Mustangs hadn't twice fumbled away golden scoring opportunities at the goal.

The Mustangs blew one chance to score when Salyer, who had chewed up big yards to get there. fumbled the ball five yards from the Follett end zone. The Panthers recovered and killed the threat. Time was about gone in the half, with Follett moving the ball in its own territory. But on second down and with just 18 seconds left, Kunka fumbled. Wheeler recovered on the Follett 35. An incomplete Mustang pass ran the clock down to six seconds, time for one more play

Snapp took the snap, dropped back, and completed a short pass to Collins. With time expired, the Mustang back ran away from the stunned visitors and into the end zone. Wheeler kicked the point after and went to the locker room with a 14 - 0 lead.

The third quarter was a scoreless duel. Wheeler once made it into the end zone, but not before a loose ball got there first. Workhorse Collins and the speedy Salyer brought the Mustangs to the goal, but the outstanding sophomore once again coughed up the ball.

Follett recovered behind the line and took the ball on the 20. Since they had given at the office twice, however, the Mustangs stopped the charity in the fourth quarter and scored three times. In the team's first possession of the period, the Wheeler backs ran over and around the Panther defenders, marching the ball to the three. Collins churned out the final steps. Wheeler kicked the extra point and grabbed a 21 - 0 lead with 10:12 left in the contest.

The Mustangs crushed their district opponent with two more scores in the period, the pass to Jones and Collins's third score, a 30 yard romp. Wheeler took sole possession of the top spot in District 1-1A. The Mustangs improved their season record to 6 - 0 and district mark to 4

A NEW KIND OF

BIRTH CONTROL PILL

Many women, a few years ago, switched to oral contraceptives with low concentrations of estrogen and side effects as missed periods and to aid the body in adjusting to the new hormonal levels. The triphasic pill is placekicker Jeff Ward drilled a 32-yard field goal at the final gun Saturday and the top-ranked Longhorns managed a 15-15 tie with the No. 3-rated Oklahoma Sooners in a wild, rain-soaked clash of two previously unblemished teams.

The Sooners apparently had knocked down the Longhorns after a brilliant goal-line stand at the Sooner 1 late in the game.

Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer decided to take an intentional safety to make the score 15-12 and Oklahoma punted with 2:04 left in the game and Texas out of time outs.

A pass interference call and an offsides helped the Longhorns and quarterback Todd Dodge completed a 15-yard pass and an 11-yard pass to the Oklahoma 10-yard line.

Dodge threw one more pass into the end zone, which Oklahoma thought Keith Stanberry had intercepted but the officials said he had both feet out of bounds.

Then on the next play, with only five seconds to go, Ward kicked his field goal and both teams left the Cotton Bowl with their fans shouting, "We're number 1. We're number 1.

Oklahoma's Steve Sewell scored on runs of 5 and 11 yards in the third quarter as the Sooners overcame a 10-0 halftime deficit. The 'Horns, now 3-0-1, had scored

On third and nine, Dodge winged a 25 yard pass to a wide open Bill Boy Bryant behind Stanberry for the touchdown.

The punting of Texas' John Teltschik kept Oklahoma backed up in the second quarter until tailback Spencer Tillman, playing in his first game of the season, fumbled a pitchout at the Sooner 26. All-America safety Jerry Gray recoverd and four plays later Ward kicked a 40-yard field goal.

Oklahoma only had 52 yards offense in the first half and missed its best chance on an opening drive that carried to the Texas 26.

On fourth and one, right guard Jeff Pickett moved and the illegal procedure penalty led to an Oklahoma punt.

Terry Orr fumbled and Stanberry recovered at the Texas 6 to set up a 5-yard touchdown run by Sewell to start the second half.

A safety made it 10-9 and then the Sooners charged 71 yards after the free kick with Sewell catching two crucial third-down passes, then sloshing 11 yards for Oklahoma's go-ahead touchdown. A pass for two points failed.

Mustangs edge Baylor 1978. The Bears are 1-2 in the SWC.

WACO, Texas (AP) -Quarterback Don King ran for one touchdown and passed for another with just over two minutes left in the game Saturday as seventh-ranked Southern Methodist edged Baylor 24-20.

The scores came after 84- and 80-yard drives into the wind and rain, and SMU coach Bobby Collins said, "Games like this make the difference between a great and an average year. Wins like these are not by design.

SMU raised its season record to 4-0, and is 2-0 in the Southwest Conference.

"In a hundred years, I don't believe this would ever happen again," said Baylor quarterback Tom Muecke.

"I feel like a shot deer," said Baylor coach Grant Teaff, whose 1-4 team is off to its worst start since it lost its first five games in

Two penalties cost Baylor the possible winning points, and an injury to defensive end Derek Turner hurt the Baylor pass rush on SMU's two late touchdown

King ran 3 yards with 3:01 left in the game to make the score 20-17, and threw a short pass to flanker Ron Morris, who completed a 27-yard scoring play with 49 seconds remaining for the winning touchdown

A holding penalty erased a 13-yard pass completion to the SMU 14 in the third quarter and Baylor's Ben Perry missed a field

Midway through the fourth quarter, another penalty wiped out 9-yard run to the SMU 3, and Baylor got only a field goal.

"I'm not sure (what happened)- I think it was not having enough players on the line," said Teaff.

Green increases lead in Southern golf open

Veteran Hubert Green, seeking his first triumph in three years, banged out a 3-under-par 67 Saturday to increase his lead to three shots after the third round of the $300,000 Southern Open Golf Tournament

Green, a winner of 17 tour events, including the 1977 U.S. Open, but a non-winner since the 1981 Hartford Open, had a 54-hole total of a 198, 12-under-par over the hilly, narrow 6,791-yard, par-70 Green Island Country Club course.

Scott Hoch was alone in second at 201 in the battle for the first prize of $54,000. He had a 68 Saturday while defending champion Ronnie Black ripped out a 66 for a 202, good for Rookies Willie Wood and Corey Pavin were at 203. Wood, the first-round leader, had a 69 Saturday and Pavin a 68.

At 204 were Gary Hallberg and Andy Bean. Hallberg faltered with a 72 after trailing Green by only a stroke entering Saturday's play. Bean, meanwhile, had a 65 to get into contention, five shots off the

Tim Simpson and Mike Sullivan were another shot back at 205 along with Peter Oosterhuis and Rex Caldwell. On Saturday, Simpson

a 69 and Sullivan had a 72.

Jack Nicklaus, making his first appearance ever in this tournament, was at 208 after a third-round 70.

Green, who held a one-shot lead over Hallberg entering play Saturday, bogeyed the second hole to briefly lose the lead to Hoch.

He got back on the track with a 10-foot birdie on No. 4 and then took the lead for good with birdies on Nos. 10 and 11 on putts of 12 and 25 feet before finishing with another on No. 17 from 12 feet.

"I've got to be feeling a lot better than some other folks," Green said. "I'd like to have gotten more today so they would be thinking about second place but I'm not l'igers win again!

DETROIT (AP) - The Detroit Tigers take a 3-1 lead into Game Five of the World Series on Sunday and both the ballplayers and the city are primed for the biggest celebration Motown has seen since

"This is what we want," said Tiger infielder Darrell Evans after Detroit's 4-2 victory over the San Diego Padres on Saturday. "We really want to get this one. This is the biggest ballgame we'll ever play.
"We've hungered for it from the start of spring training. The Tigers, who beat the St. Louis Cardinals in seven games in the 1968 World Series, are making only their only first postseason appearance since winning the American League East in 1972. The Tiger victory Saturday was sparked by second baseman Lou Whitaker and shortstop Alan Trammell — the one-two batters in the Detroit order. Whitaker had two hits in four at-bats and scored a pair of runs, both on homers by Trammell, who was 3-for-4 with

"We know we need production and we try to get on base and get runs," Whitaker said. "We're winning. We just don't slack off. We won't relax on Sunday, either.

Trammell, who now is hitting .563 and making a serious bid for Series MVP honors, said he finds it easier to hit with Whitaker on base.

The performance of Trammell Whitaker almost overshadowed the brilliant five-hit pitching of Jack Morris who earned his second World Series win and his third triumph in postseason play.

"When we jump out to an early lead like that, I think it gives our "Bhow L 0-1 Drawecky" Lefferts pitchers more confidence," catcher Lance Parrish said. "We've been like that all season. We hope we do it again tomorrow."

"We are just hoping not to go back to San Diego." If the Padres win Sunday, the Series will return to San Diego for the final two games, which are scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday Detroit Manager Sparky Anderson, while not making any predictions, said he always prepares for the Series to go the total seven games. "I hope it don't," the white-haired manager said. "Now, I wish we hadn't had that one bad bounce in San Diego - or it would be over." Anderson was referring to a hard shot by Terry Kennedy in San Diego during the fifth inning of Game Two. The ball hit the hard-clay Padres' infield and bounced 10 feet over Whitaker's head, helping to set the table for Kurt Bevacqua's three-run homer and lifting the Padres to a 5-3 win.

Most important, 7-foot-4 Ralph Sampson and 7-foot Akeem Olajuwon represent the Houston Rockets' future.

"It's going to take them a while to get adjusted, but when they do that team is going to be awfully, awfully tough," says Red Auerbach, the architect of the Boston Celtics' 15 National Basketball Association championships

Sampson, the NBA's rookie of the year last season, and Olajuwon, who hopes to keep the rookie award in Houston in the 1984-85 campaign, flashed some of their potential Friday night before a packed crowd of 14,890 at Boston Garden.

They helped Houston battle back from a 56-45 halftime deficit. Then they fouled out in the fourth period and watched as the Rockets outduelled the Celtics down the stretch for a 118-113 exhibition

Sampson scored 12 points and 8 rebounds in 32 minutes of action before fouling out at 1:38 of the finale. Olajuwon had 17 points and 7 rebounds before he joined Sampson on the bench with 3:59 left and the Rockets ahead 102-101.

Veteran Lionel Hollins came off the bench and took charge in leading the Rockets to their first victory in three preseason starts.

Hollins, a 6-3 guard, scored 8 of his 10 points down the stretch and Major Jones, subbing for Olajuwon, chipped in with a 3-point play as Houston pulled away and avenged a 124-105 loss to Boston's defending NBA champs Friday

Padres hope for a miracle

DETROIT (AP) - For the first time in weeks, the San Diego Padres sound like a beaten team. "We just can't keep coming back after giving up early runs, reserve Champ Summers said Saturday after the Padres were beaten by Detroit 4-2 in Game 4 of the World Series. "We've only got so many miracles in the bag.

For the fourth consecutive game, the Padres collapsed under the weight of faulty starting pitching, this time when Eric Show surrendered two two-run homers to Alan Trammell before the third inning was complete. Only in Game Two, played in San Diego, were the Padres able to come back and

"Usually our starters give us at least five innings," said Tony Gwynn. "But this week the pitching just hasn't been there. I hope we can come back, but the truth is, we're just not playing well." San Diego put itself in a similar position against Chicago in the National League Championship Series, losing the first two games of the best-of-five playoffs. They came back to win three straight at home and advanced to the Series for the first time in the 16-year history of the franchise.

What we said when we came back from Chicago was that we had to win three straight, and that's what we did," said reliever Craig Lefferts. "We're a come-from-behind team, we're a clutch team and the fact that we've done it before gives us

Byers cites NCAA abuses

NEW YORK (AP) - Claiming his group is losing ground in trying to check athletic abuses, Walter Byers, executive director of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, has called for a convention of university presidents to explore the possibility of a tougher violations code.

Acknowledging the size of payments to athletes for the first time - payments he estimates to be up to $20,000 or more a year -Byers said in an interview in The New York Times that illegal payments and other improprieties are so widspread that stronger policing measures are needed.

"We're not keeping up with the chase," Byers said in the story in the Times' Saturday editions. "I've talked with our representatives and people I respect and the problem is much worse than I thought."

Byers would not identify schools or athletes involved in receiving payments. David Berst, the NCAA director of enforcement, was quoted by the Times as saying, "Mr. Byers is bound by the written policies and procedures that require us to keep that information confidential."

Byers said the violators are using "sophisticated techniques" to get the payments to the athletes. He also said that most violations occur in football and basketball.

Among the penalties Byers said he would like to see for the most serious cases are more routine curtailment of scholarships, dismissals of coaching staffs and suspensions of team schedules for one year or more. Byers, interviewed at the NCAA offices at Shawnee Mission, Kan., said: "I have the belief that an overwhelming number of people the presidents, athletic directors, faculty and coaches - want a better world in intercollegiate athletics. I think they will embrace a new order." Dr. John Ryan, the president of Indiana University and chairman of the Presidents Commission which was formed to look into problems facing intercollegiate athletics — said Friday the feeling among the commission members is to accept Byers' assessment of the situation. He also said the commission is agreeable to holding a convention, although no date has

Cowboys, Redskins clash for lead

WASHINGTON (AP) - A battle for first place and John Riggins' quest to join pro football's most exclusive club combine to make the Dallas Cowboys-Washington Redskins matchup the game of the week in the National Football League.

The Cowboys and Redskins are tied for first in the National Conference's Eastern Division with 4-2 records. The Redskins, however, have won four in a row and are 2-0 in the division, while the Cowboys, who are coming off an unsettling 31-20 loss at home to St. Louis are 1-2 in divisional play.

"We are coming off a big loss and if we want to do anything as a team this year we have to do something on Sunday," said Dallas quarterback

Gary Hogeboom.

First place in the division is not enough for these two titans of the game, whose success can only be recorded on a higer plain.

"There isn't so much a talent gaps as a success gap between us of late," admitted Cowboy coach Tom Landry. "They have been in two Super Bowls in the last two years and we haven't been there in

Together the two teams have played in 11 of the past 14 conference championship games

"Everybody's counted the numbers and knows what's at stake," noted Redskin Coach Joe Gibbs. "It's always a life and death struggle between us."

They are also counting the numbers for Riggins, the veteran running back who needs just 24 yards to become the fifth back in the history of the NFL to gain 10,000 yards in a career. At age 35, Riggins show no signs of slowing down as he is more than half way to his fifth 1,000-yard season and leads the NFC with eight touchdowns

"I don't necessarily think he is harder to tackle than other backs. He's good but not a great runner," said Dallas cornerback Emerson Walls, who can expect an argument from the 54,000-plus fans who will sellout Robert F. Kennedy Stadium today. "The problem is that offensive line of his keeps people off him. No one touches him for the first four yards. And when he gets up a head of steam it's tough.

A key element to the game will be the Cowboys (ranked 25th in the league defending against the run) ability to contain the league's No.2 rated rushing team.

The Cowboy running attack is keyed by Tony Dorsett. A steady but unspectacular performer of late, Dorsett has failed to gain 100 yards in his last nine games, a streak that has seen the Cowboys lose an unfamiliar five of their last nine dating back to the end of last year.

"I can't fault Tony for our play. The rest of the team has been inconsistent," concluded Landry.
Hogeboom, who was lifted in the second half last week in favor of Danny White is returning to the stadium where he built his reputation as the quarterback of the future for Dallas. Coming off the bench in the 1982 NFC Championship game, Hogeboom threw two second-half touchdowns as the Cowboys fell just short of a dramatic come-from-behind victory.

Hogeboom will start against Washington but Landry makes no guarantee he will be there at the

"I play to win football games. If I feel it is good to make a change I will," Landry said.

Whoever is throwing for Dallas, the passing game looks to improve with the scheduled return of Tony Hill. On the sidelines for the past five weeks with an injury, Hill's return could spell trouble for the Washington secondary. Last year, in the Cowboys' 31-30 victory over the Redskins here, he caught touchdown passes of 75 and 51 yards.

Washington quarteback Joe Theismann's favorite receiver this season is Art Monk. The NFC's leading receiver has hauled in 39 catches for 590 yards including four touchdowns.

Defensively, the Redskin pass rush figures to suffer with the loss of defensive end Dexter Manley. Manley, who leads the team with five and half sacks, is nursing a badly sprained ankle suffered in last week's 31-7 victory over Indianapolis. Tom Beasley and Charles Mann will alternate on running and passing downs in Manley's place.

All top schoolboy teams score wins

By CHARLES RICHARDS

Associated Press Writer Midland Lee scored two quick touchdowns against top-ranked Odessa Permian in the first quarter of their District 4-5A clash Friday night and was threatening again in the opening moments of the second quarter.

But on fourth and one at the Permian 12, Permian's Gary Payne sacked Lee quarterback Dick Bergoon for a 3-yard loss, and the momentum suddenly switched. Permian exploded for 28 unanswered points for a 28-13 victory that likely will keep the school atop The Associated Press rankings for Class 5A in Texas high school football.

The Rebels, who took the state's No. 4 ranking into the shootout, beat Permian twice last season and made it to the state finals before losing to champion Converse Judson. But Mojo coach John Wilkins said his team didn't have vengeance on its mind. "This means we're in first place in district. We weren't looking for revenge or anything like that," Wilkins said.

In another important 5-A clash, No. 3 Houston Madison bested No. 2 Houston Yates 21-17, handing the Lions their first loss to a Houston team in five years. Yates had been averaging 450 yards a game, but managed only 93 yards rushing against Madison.

None of the No. 1 teams lost Friday, but Pilot Point, the Class 2A kingpin, had a scare. The Bearcats spotted Coppell a first-quarter touchdown, but scored twice in the second quarter and twice more in the fourth quarter for a 26-7 victory.

The other top-ranked Texas schoolboy teams easily brushed aside their opposition.

Bay City, the No. 1 team in 4A, destroyed West Columbia 50-6; Daingerfield, the top team of 3A, crushed DeKalb 53-6; and Paradise, the top-ranked team in Class A, devastated Santo 35-0. Neither Bay City nor Daingerfield has lost a game in the past two seasons. Both won state champion ships in 1983.

A long punt return to the Permian 13 set the stage for a one-yard plunge by Midland Lee's Walter Jones for an early 7-0 lead. Minutes later, Lee's Chris Embry intercepted Permian quarterback Alton Holloway at the Permian 47, and it took the Rebels only seven plays to pad their lead to 13-0, with Jones going the final seven yards. "It looked for awhile like we were really going to take a beating,"

But Holloway connected with Brian Lauterbach for a 36-yard touchdown with 3:06 left in the second quarter. After the kickoff, Permian allowed Lee nothing, and took over at midfield with 1:12 remaining before halftime. With 20 seconds remaining and the ball at the Lee 25, Wilkins went to his bag of tricks. Holloway threw an overhand lateral to split end Greg Anderson, who whirled and threw to a wide-open Royce Lightfoot for a touchdown that gave Permian a 14-13 halftime lead.

Shortly after lightning was hitting Midland Lee, lightning also hit a utility pole near the stadium in Odessa. The estimated 22,000 fans at the game were thrown into darkness as the rain poured down, and the start of the second half was delayed for 20 minutes until the lights

About 4½ minutes into the fourth quarter, Anderson took a short Holloway pass on the right sideline and evaded three Lee defenders, high-stepping into the end zone for a 40-yard TD. Reserve tailback Rich Fletcher added an insurance touchdown with a six-yard run on the soggy Astroturf field with only 65 seconds left in the game.

In other 5A games, No. 5 Plano beat Plano East 23-3, No. 6 Spring Klein defeated Jersey Village 27-6, No. 7 Bryan edged Temple 10-0, No. 8 Longview nipped Nacogdoches 15-14, No. 9 Lewisville was tied by Richardson Lake Highlands 7-7, and No. 10 LaPorte thumped

In 4A, second-ranked Gregory-Portland shoved aside Tuloso-Midway 42-12. Third-ranked Huntsville didn't get to play Galena Park; the game was called off when game officials failed to show. Fourth-ranked Beeville lost its first game, falling to Corpus Christi King 16-14, and No. 5 Tomball humiliated Conroe Oak Ridge

Sixth-ranked Jasper beat Lumberton 35-0, seventh-ranked New Braunfels was idle, No. 8 Schertz Clemens manhandled San Antonio Edgewood 61-7, No. 9 Monahans got past Lamesa 24-12, and No. 10 Coriscana defeated DeSoto 20-13.

Littlefield, the No. 2 team in 3A, was impressive in beating Dimmitt 41-0. No. 3 Sweeny beat Hitchcock 44-0, No. 4 Port Isabel beat Hidalgo 55-0 and No. 5 Kermit beat Carlsbad, N.M. 35-7. Sixth-ranked Gilmer disposed of Spring Hill 37-0, Seventh-ranked Vernon beat Springtown 33-0, No. 8 Gladewater beat West Rusk 49-0, No. 9 Navasota edged Bellville 14-8, and No. 10 Bandera routed San Antonio Southside 63-0.

In games involving ranked 2A teams, East Bernard blanked Brazos 26-0, Grand Saline held off Quitman 14-10, Universal City Randolph popped Stockdale 44-0, and Electra knocked off Seymour 38-7. No. 6 Hamlin nipped Haskell 15-14, Farmersville humbled Royse City 75-0, Abernathy beat Hart 21-0, Alto tumbled Lovelady 40-8, and Franklin defeated Teague 31-14.

In Class A, No. 2 Wink was idle, but the next three teams registered shutouts. Munday beat Windthorst 41-0, Overton defeated Carlisle 16-0, and Granger held off Salado 15-0. No. 6 Valley View stunned Collinsville 47-6, Nazareth outscored Happy 33-20, Roscoe shut out Sands 36-0, Wheeler whitewashed Follett 35-0, and Meridian defeated Bruceville-Eddy 47-6.

Pryor leaves another team

KINGSVILLE, Texas (AP) -Running back Chris Pryor has quit the Texas A&I football team, but he still may be able to play next year, the coach says

Pryor, who earlier this year enrolled at Texas Tech and then transferred to A&I, quit the team Wednesday, Coach Ron Harms

"I left the door open for next spring," Harms said, adding Pryor would not be allowed to play for the Javelinas this fall even if he changed his mind.

Pryor still is enrolled at A&I. "It came as quite a surprise," Harms said of Pryor's departure from the team. " He had not talked about it. He did not give me a reason. He had been working OK in practice." Pryor had enrolled at the Kingsville-based school a month ago after leaving Tech, where he previously had enrolled. Pryor did not graduate with his high school class but finished course work this summer. Because he did not get his diploma with the rest of his class. he could not play football this fall

He was, however, eligible to play football for A&I this fall.

The Pampa News carriers help keep the flame alive

Our carriers do some fancy footwork day in and day out. Regardless of the weather — rain or shine, hot or cold, a dedicated Pampa News carrier delivers the world's news to your home by hand.

But the footwork doesn't stop there. As young merchants, they conduct day by day their very own husinesses. They have newspapers wholesale and sell-businesses. They buy newspapers wholesale and sell retail, learning the system of free enterprise by being a part of it. They practice business management, public relations, and salesmanship while learning the real values of responsibility, while learning the real values of responsibility, dependability, and integrity.

Overall, we think our carriers perform some extraordinary feats! And today we are paying tribute to our carriers. To all our carriers who deliver The Pampa News each day, we say "Thanks Gang," for a job well done! Please join us in applauding our carriers!

And we'd like to pay special tribute today to our Carrier of the Year, Kevin Jacoby, 16, of 1913 N. Christy. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jacoby.

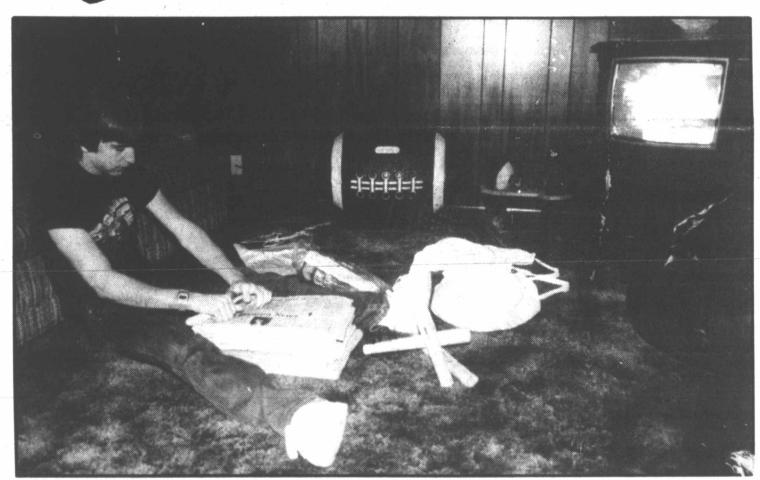

Jacoby was chosen by circulation head Gary

Jacoby was chosen by circulation head Gary James from approximately 70 carriers now under contract to The Pampa News. He was picked for the honor because of his longstanding association with the paper (five years), for the concientious and hard work he has put forth in handling from one to three routes at a time during those five years.
In recognition of his achievements, Jacoby was presented with a $100 check by The Pampa News publisher Louise Fletcher. Congratulations, Kevin!

Kids get 'Head Start' on life

By DEE DEE LARAMORE
Lifestyles Editor
Head Start does exactly what it says it does. It gives four year old children a head start in life and in the public school program by teaching them many basic skills that they might not be able to learn in their homes.

"It's learning through play," explains Jeneane Thornburg who for 15 years has taught one of the Head Start classes at Baker Elementary School. Ruby Morgan has taught the other Head Start class there for a little longer.

Head Start students learn about health, cleanliness, how to tie their shoes, how to cut a straight line with scissors, how to listen, how to remember and much more - all basic concepts a child entering kindergarten should know.

Their mental abilities are tested twice a year, and they receive regular health checkups with medical and dental care included. This, in addition to being served two square meals and one nutritious snack each day. The children also encounter a variety of foods that they might not see in their home life.

Head Start is a federally funded program provided for children from low - income families. It has been effect in the Panhandle for 19

The first Head Start class met for six weeks in the summer of 1965. Nearly 750 children in Amarillo. Lubbock, Brownfield, Hereford and Borger were in classes taught by the Panhandle and South Plains District Venture, a part of the Catholic Diocese. The group received $75,000 for the six - week program. It became a nine - month program in 1966.

Pampa's Head Start program currently has 42 children enrolled, Thornburg said. The program began with from 15 to 16 children. Volunteers from the community and from parents whose children are in Head Start contribute to the success of the program, Thornburg said. Mothers prepare the snack for the children each afternoon as well as helping out as teacher's

The three "elements" of learning Thornburg and Morgan concentrate on are language, gross motor and learning centers. Thornburg said she and Morgan change their learning centers each week to reflect other areas they are studying. For example, this week is Fire Prevention week so they played with fire trucks and built a house that could be a fire station and performed other activities that have to do with fire prevention.

Improving health and maintaining good health of the children is another important part of the Head Start program, Thornburg said. However, the program's limited federal funds don't begin to cover the health needs of the children in the program, she said.

"We already have a bill at one of the dentists that will completely take care of our government allowance," Thornburg said. Both Thornburg and Morgan said they have several children in their classes that need extensive dental work - caps, fillings and removal of rotten teeth. Two of the students have no teeth at all in front, they

To supplement the Head Start medical and dental funds, the parents of the children will begin selling candy bars tomorrow, Oct. Baker Elementary's kindergarten class will also be selling the candy, Thornburg said.

Celebrate apple month

County Extension Agent For the 79th year, National Apple Month is being celebrated this October to honor one of America's favorite fruits - the apple. This year's theme - Pick Apples, America - encourages everyone to "pick apples" in their many healthy forms. That includes munching a fresh piece of fruit, adding apple desserts to your menu, enjoying a glass of chilled apple juice, or sipping a mug of hot

Why not crunch apples for a healthy bite? Apples are a natural source of vitamins A, B1, B2, C, niacin, and the minerals calcium, phosphorus, iron, iodine, potassium, and sodium. Since they contain very little sodium and no cholesterol - apples are a guilt free crunch for those special diets.

Dietary fiber and pectin are found in apples. Some researchers believe fiber and pectin aid digestion and may also help limit the absorption of cholesterol in the body. Apples help clean teeth and massage gums earning the nickname, 'nature's toothbrush." Perfect for snacks, average size apples contain only 80 calories. They are filling but not fattening due to their high fiber and water content.

How can you tell if an apple is ripe? The only sure test for the proper ripeness of apples is a 'taste test!'' There are, however, some visual indicators which are helpful in judging for maturity and

The color of an apple should be bright and appropriate for the variety you are selecting. Apples come in all shades and combinations of reds, yellows, and only as a guide to maturity and quality. The surface should be smooth and firm and free from bruises, blemishes, and skin breaks. Surface russeting - brownish blemished areas on the skin, generally caused by weather may somewhat mar the appearance, but does not affect the quality or flavor.

Apples should be firm, with a bright color and a smooth, bruise free surface. For red and two toned red and green varieties, the "ground color" or underlying green color, should have a soft light green undercase, if properly mature. Immature apples will have a bright dark green "ground color;" over mature apples will have a dull yellowish green ground color. Full red varieties showing a "tired," dull appearance are apt to be overripe and certainly reflect poor handling. Yellow varieties which show a full yellow and dull finish are apt to be overripe. Green varieties which show a dull yellow green color are apt to be overripe.

If purchased by the bushel, apples will keep well in a cool cellar, garage or porch. To help prevent moisture loss, line the container with plastic and cover the fruit with a moist towel. If the temperature drops below 32 degrees F. protect the apples with a blanket or corrugated box.

For smaller numbers of apples, store refrigerated in a blastic bag or in the crisper drawer to help retain moisture. Apples ripen up to 10 times faster at room temperature than when refrigerated. Cool air helps maintain quality, juiciness, and crispness. Apples tore best at 32-40 degrees F. They can be ruined if frozen by being kept to near your freezer compartment. Remember - one bad apple can spoil the whole batch! Sort and use apples with defects immediately, and store only those free of bruises

A crunchy favorite with kids of all ages are "Fudgy Apple Snacks" the great combination of tart, crisp apples with creamy chocolate is irresistible. Try it!

FUDGY APPLE SNACKS

6-8 apples 2-3rd c. brown sugar 1-3rd c. unsweetened cocoa powder Dash salt

1 can (5.3 oz.) evaporated milk 1-3rd c. light corn syrup 1 T. butter or margarine 1/2 t. vanilla extract Chopped nuts

In medium saucepan, combine brown sugar, cocoa and salt; blend in evaporated milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil. Cook gently 3-4 minutes until mixture thickens, stirring frequently. Remove from heat; stir in butter and vanilla.

Core apples and remove a small section of peel from around the top of each apple; place each apple on small plate. Spoon two tablespoons warm sauce over each apple; garnish with chopped nuts. Apples are eaten with knife and of Mike Talman, a conspirator. Randy works for Schlumberger Well Services. This is to be his first appearance on stage and, though working rehearsal into a 24 - hour call job schedule has been difficult, he says the experience and challenge are worth the effort.

Jim Guest, an independent agent for Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, is to play Harry Roat "Jr. and Sr." Harry is a conspirator with a streak of pure meanness. This role is proving a real test of ability for the easy going and gentle - natured Guest. He has also appeared in "Witness for the Prosecution" as Scotland Yard Inspector Hearne.

Bud Bahannon plays the third conspirator, Sargeant Carlino. He has participated in many of Act I's shows both on and off stage. He last played the court clerk in "Witness for the Prosecution.". Bahannon is employed by Cabot Corporation. Gloria, the little girl from upstairs, will be played by a different young actress at each of the three performances. These actresses will be announced later, as will the players cast in the roles of police officers.

spanic woman comes of age in ceremony

By JULIA COPELAND

Denton Record-Chronicle DENTON, Texas (AP) young woman passed down the aisle of the church, stepping solemnly to the music in her lacy white dress, complete with hooped skirt. She bent her head to go through an archway, formed by 13 dames holding batons, and their escorts, holding ribbons that streamed from the batons. As she arrived at the altar, she gave the sign of the cross.

It wasn't a wedding, but an event

almost as important to a Hispanic girl in the Catholic Church, a quinceanera

The word translates loosely to "sweet 15 anniversary," but it is more than a birthday celebration. It is a recognition of a girl coming of age in the Catholic Church, of the passage from girlhood to womanhood Sylvia Ann Serna of Denton took that step recently at Immaculate Conception Catholic Church.

Sylvia's mother, Connie Sosa, explained the quinceanera is part of a process that begins with the baby's baptism and continues with first Holy Communion at age 7.

"At a quinceanera, you take the sacrament, and when you get to the age to be married by the church, that's another vow you take," she

Sylvia took classes to learn the meaning of the quinceanera and the sacraments and doctrines of the Catholic church. A few weeks before the event, though, she was still lukewarm about its importance, telling her mother she planned to wear blue jeans under her dress.

"I told her to wear the dress instead of me," Sylvia said. But her mother said the ceremony should have special importance to her only daughter pointing out a streak of grey in the girl's dark hair. The grey marks the place where Sylvia had a brain tumor removed when she was a child and now has a plastic plate in place of the bone. Although Sylvia has been healthy for years, Mrs. Sosa said no one knows when problems might occur again.

"If God takes you away, at least you'll have this, and I have it to remember for the rest of my life," she said. "I'm trying to make these kids understand the meaning of the quinceanera - it's something you will treasure the rest of your life and wish everybody will have the way you did.

During the ceremony, the significance seemed clear to Sylvia. Although some of her dames and escorts stifled giggles as they came down the aisle, she looked thoughtful throughout.

The ceremony began with music in both English and Spanish, and the Mass was bilingual as well. Sylvia, her white dress trimmed in deep purple to distinguish it from a wedding dress, took her seat alone on a front pew near the altar. Her mother; her escort, Tony Juarez; and the dames and other escorts sat behind her, dressed in lavender lace dresses and grey tuxedos accented with lavender.

The quinceanera was performed during a regular Mass at Immaculate Conception, and the Rev. John Mitchell explained the ceremony for those unfamiliar

"In Mexico, and many other countries, when a girl becomes 15 it's a sort of coming of age, something like a bar mitzvah in the Jewish religion," he explained. 'Sometimes, it's done for both a boy and a girl if they are twins. We consider it a change from a little girl, or a nina, to mujere, a woman.

In the Mass, she says she wants the Lord to guide the development of her personality and her emotional development and spiritual development.

Popo Gonalez came before the congregation to explain the four symbols of the quinceanera: the medal, the ring, the flowers and the

"The medal is the religious expression of faith," he said. "The ring symbolizes her responsibility to her community and to God Flowers represent newness in any ceremony, and here they represent the newness of her commitment and responsibility to the community. The crown represents the victory the young lady has won in trying to lead a Christian life in the midst of all the problems and challenges of her environment.'

As he spoke, Sylvia's godparents presented her the four gifts: the necklace with the medal came from Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Serna and Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Juarez; the flowers and crown were from Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Padron

Sylvia continued facing the altar to recite a brief statement about her commitment to the church, and then was the first to take the wafer and wine during communion.

The scene after the ceremony was much like the scene after a wedding: a happy mother flitting among formally dressed young men and women outside the church, people lining up for pictures and arranging rides to the dance. Sylvia danced the first dance at the Civic Center with her escort, then danced with her uncle. who replaced her pure glass crown with a simple crown for dancing. The party went on until midnight.

A quinceanera is an expensive proposition, but Mrs. Sosa said Sylvia had more than 100 sponsors who contributed for her dress, shoes, jewelry, jewelry box and other essentials such as the cup she drank from at the dance, the pillow she knelt on during the ceremony, her rosary and Bible, the cake for the reception and photographs of the ceremony and dance.

Mrs. Sosa said she began planning for the ceremony for more than a year. When I was growing up, we

At Wits End

By ERMA BOMBECK

The private bastions for men and women are crumbling.

There isn't a day goes by that another volley does not blast a hole in the "FOR MEN ONLY" sanctuary or an invasion of men isn't noted in an area that used to be exclusive for women.

It began with the unisex bar stool and progressed to locker rooms. beauty shops, home ec classes, health spas, altars, delivery rooms and service clubs. The sex barriers came tumbling down one by one.

Someone observed there is no place left anymore where a man can go to be alone or a woman can find solace away from men. Au contraire. I don't know where men go for privacy, but I can name a lot of places where women can find more peace and solitude than anyone has a right to have.

One of them is in the kitchen after a big meal when all the food has been eaten and a favorite television show is about to begin. You can hear a pin drop as you go about preparing to wash all those dirty dishes and the only way you'll know anyone else is in the house is when you hear, "Give us a break! Wait until the commercial to run that garbage disposal, will you?'

And how about the living room when it has just been painted and the drop cloths are all around and the paint cans are open and your husband says, "Well, that does it. Don't forget to use masking tape on the windows when you do the panes and on the floor when you do the woodwork. And watch that ladder when you put it away; it's a little rickety

You don't know isolation until your husband returns from a fishing trip and dumps 20 pounds of slime in the sink uncleaned and unscaled while he goes to shower.

And no matter how hectic holidays are, I know that the family is going to give me that quiet time alone where not only men, but children wouldn't dream of entering ... right after Christmas when there is nothing left but a Christmas tree to undecorate and the only gifts left under the tree are the ones to be returned without sales slips.

A lot of people fear an egalitarian society. They say if women can infiltrate a Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting, or a man can have a manicure next to a woman under a hair dryer, we will sacrifice that great "difference" that has typified the sexes throughout the years.

Not to worry. I would venture a guess that even with unisex bathrooms, only women will be admitted into that exclusive club of all times: the bathroom scrubbers of America who must have the skill to change a toilet tissue spindle, flush, scour, pick up towels and wax without fear of male invasion. Heaven knows, we've paid our

Lecherous professor hides behind his cap and gown

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a male college professor. Thank you for taking the position that women who receive unwanted sexual attention should report it to the proper authorities.

A few years ago, a young female student came to me and told me that another professor was exchanging high grades for sexual favors. She said he seduced her in his office when she went there to make up an

I met with the professor, told him what I had heard and let him know in no uncertain terms that I thought his behavior was inexcusable.

During the next two years, the amorous professor did everything in his power to get me fired, and he nearly succeeded.

The young lady? When I urged her to report the offending professor to the proper authorities, she refused, saying she didn't want to cause any trouble. She wouldn't even confirm the fact that she had reported his unethical conduct to me.

The professor? He's doing fine. As far as I know, he's probably still exchanging grades for sexual favors. Me? I learned a lesson. I no longer permit female students to speak to me confidentially about anything. My advice to females: If you are raped or sexually assaulted, report it promptly to the proper authorities, and don't burden anyone else with your problems.

PROFESSOR FROM MONTANA

DEAR PROFESSOR: Women who have been raped and sexually assaulted are usually so traumatized, guilt-ridden and intimidated they're not strong enough for a confrontation. They desperately need professional counseling to assure them that they are victims.

Meanwhile, scoundrels like your colleague get off scot-free while their victims carry the scars of guilt and shame forever.

DEAR ABBY: I am in need of some advice. I am still in high school. I have this very special teacher I like a lot. She is nice to me at school, but I would like to have a better relationship with her outside of school. Am I asking too much? If not, how do I approach her with my feelings toward her? I am a 15-year-

TEACHER'S PET

DEAR PET: Don't approach her. You will only set yourself up for a disappointment, and make her uncomfortable.

DEAR ABBY: What's the big hassle about whether teen-agers should be allowed to entertain their friends in their bedrooms?

Of course they shouldn't!

When we were teen-agers, our folks fixed up the basement, and that's where we entertained our friends. (We called it the rumpus

We had a couple of couches, some chairs, a Ping-Pong table and a record player. Also, an old piano. Our parents didn't have to worry

DEAR ABBY: Now that school will soon resume, as a teacher in an elementary school, I am submitting some dos and don'ts for parents. hope you think they're important enough to publish.

Do sign and promptly return all notes from your child's teacher. Do make every effort to attend all conferences and back-to-school

Do not forget to ask your child if he/she has any homework; then check to see if it is done. Do not throw out any of your child's papers without his/her permission.

Do let the teacher know about any home situation that might affect your child's behavior or classwork. Do send your child to school with clean clothes, face, hands, fingernails and hair.

Do give your child chores at home to develop a sense of responsibility. And most of all, do support, praise and love your child.

COMPRESSOR OIL HEADQUARTERS

We have 24 hr. service-Service is what you need: Service is what we have built a 30-year reputation on.

WE HAVE OILS TO MEET YOUR COMPRESSOR REQUIREMENTS

ARCO OSAGE SUPREME GAS ENGINE OIL For natural gas and LPG engines.

OSAGE SUPREME line combines an ashless additive system with highly refined base oils so the products can be use for extended drain intervals. This means LESS downtime for port cleaning and MORE productive on-line time. Packaged 20W40 viscosity for year-round performance for cold weather starting. Also packaged in 30W and 40W Viscosity.

ARCO OSAGE SUPER D and WOILS - Designed primarily to satisfy operating requirements which are peculiar to LPG and natural gas engines.

OSAGE SUPER D OILS - Recommended for Turbo-charged or high-compression small or large engines calling for a low ash oil, two or four stroke engines and engines operating with high temperatures in jackets and crankcases. Pack aged 20W40 viscosity for year-round performance for cold weather starting. Also packaged in 30W and 40W Viscosity.

OSAGE SUPER W OILS - Recommended for the WHITE SUPERIOR TURBO-CHARGED engines and WAUKESHA CLASS B engines.

CHEVRON HDAX GAS ENGINE OIL - The first completely ashless heavy duty lubricating oil developed specifically for gas-fueled engine service. HDAX complies fully with Caterpillar Tractor Company's latest recommendations on preferred lubricants for their line of natural gas engines. HDAX is designed for virtually both two and four stroke cycle engines.

Federal lawsuit filed against five railroads

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — Executives of two of five railroads named in a $2.8 billion federal lawsuit deny they conspired to defeat a coal slurry pipeline project that lobbyists say would have put the railroads out of business.

Investors canceled the project in July, citing difficulties in obtaining financing and rights of way.

In the suit filed Wednesday here, Burlington Northern, Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific, Kansas City Southern and Chicago North Western railroads were charged with conspiring to defeat the project

But Burlington Northern spokesman Mike Wenninger says
the charges are "baseless."

"Our railroad company is certain that everything we did regarding any of the slurry pipeline projects was all done properly and above-board," he said.

The pipeline project, planned by Energy Transportation Systems Inc., would have transported coal slurry from the coal-rich Powder River Basin in Wyoming and Montana to Texas and other Midwest states — a route currently served only by the railroads.

The Texas Railroad Association publicly opposed the pipeline in 1976, when the Texas Legislature considered a bill that would have given pipeline developers the power of eminent domain.

power of eminent domain.

Lobbyists said pipelines would mean economic ruin for railroads, which earn more than 25 percent of their revenues by transporting coal, and would cause environmental hazards because of leaks and spills.

"Although we have not had an opportunity to study the ETSI complaint, we are generally familiar with ETSI's claim of unlawful anti-competitive action by western railroads," said Joe McCartney, a spokesman for Union Pacific, which includes Missouri Pacific. "We are confident that the anti-trust suit against the Union Pacific System will not be sucessful."

Spokesmen for other railroads could not be reached for comment

Thursday.

The suit contends the railroads conspired in violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act to refuse permits for the pipeline to cross the railroads' rights of way, encouraged land owners not to grant rights of way and threatened rate increases to rail customers who negotiated with the pipeline company.

"Railroads entered into an agreement to delay and destroy the substantial competitive threat presented by ETSI's coal slurry pipeline project," the suit charged.

Rains renew the hopes of some farmers and ranchers

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Scattered rains the past week brought some relief from dry conditions over parts of Texas, but drought conditions persisted in some locations, says Dr. Zerle L. Carpenter, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The rains brought renewed hope to farmers and ranchers in some locations while others continued to look for relief from the drought, Carpenter said in his weekly report on the state's agriculture. The rains should boost small grain crops, but additional moisture will be needed for continued growth, he

Good rains fell over parts of West Central Texas (San Ángelo area) as well as in some central and coastal sections. Up to 8 inches fell in Groesbeck in Limestone County, College Station had better than 2 inches, Austin and San Antonio recorded 1 to 2 inches, and parts of the Coastal Bend had 4 to 5 inches.

Scattered rains also dotted the plains and combined with cooler temperatures to slow cotton maturity, Carpenter said. In fact, some cotton in northern counties of the South Plains was damaged by frost a week ago which also hurt some late grain sorghum.

Cotton harvesting remained active the past week in Southwest Texas (Uvalde area) and in Northeast and West Central Texas. Harvesting is about to start in the Rolling Plains and Far West

Harvesting of corn and sugar frost a week ago. Harvesting of beets continued in the Panhandle corn, sugar beets, cucumbers, bell and South Plains although scattered rains caused some delays. Grain sorghum harvesting also is getting under way in those

Pecan harvesting has started in southern counties, and pecans are in the shuck split stage in central and eastern counties. This year's crop will be short due to the season-long drought and the fact that a good crop was harvested last year, Carpenter said.

Auction markets are continuing to handle large volumes of cattle as producers are culling herds sharply due to the lacks'f forage and stock water. Livestock numbers in many counties are down 40 to 50 percent of normal, and producers are having to feed animals on hand late grain sorghum was damaged by freezing temperatures a week ago and will be harvested for hay. Early cotton is starting to open. Carrots and cabbage continue to be harvested in Deaf Smith County.

SOUTH PLAINS: Cool, wet conditions continue to hurt the cotton crop although early fields are opening rapidly. Some cotton in northern counties was damaged by peppers and carrots continues and grain sorghum harvesting has started

ROLLING PLAINS: Scattered rains will help small grain plantings, but additional moisture will be needed in some counties to get the crops up and growing. Cotton farmers are continuing to get ready to start harvest operations. Final alfalfa cuttings are under way in Wichita County. Ranchers continue to cull cattle herds heavily as forage and stock water remain short.

NORTH CENTRAL: Harvesting of dryland peanuts has started; a short crop is expected due to the season-long drought. Farmers are planting wheat although rain will be needed to get the crop up in many counties. Early varieties of pecans are starting to fall. Cattle marketing and feeding continue.

NORTHEAST: Scattered rains have helped the planting of wheat and oats, but more moisture is needed to boost growth. Cotton and sweet potato harvesting continues. A little hay is still being made: yields are only half of normal. Cattle marketings remain heavy, with prices low.

FAR WEST: Cotton is maturing rapidly and harvesting will start soon. Pink bollworms are infesting top bolls on cotton plants. Ranges are improving rapidly due to recent scattered rains. The pecan crop continues to make good progress.

WEST CENTRAL: Good rains of 1-2 to 5 inches fell over most of the region and should boost ranges and small grain plantings. Cotton harvesting will resume with open weather; this year's crop is extremely short due to the season-long drought. The pecan outlook is below normal. CENTRAL: Some peanut harvesting continues, with yields generally short. Pecan shucks are starting to split; a short crop is expected. Cattlemen are continuing to cull their herds and to feed animals on hand. Small grain plantings have increased with scattered showers.

EAST: A short corn crop has been harvested and a short peanut harvest is under way. Sweet potato harvesting continues. Hay making is generally complete, with yields about 40 percent of normal. Producers are planting winter pastures but need rain to get them up. Pecans are starting to fall.

UPPER COAST: Fall hav making is active although yields are below normal. Soybeans are maturing; a good harvest is expected. Recent rains have boosted pastures and fall gardens. Pecans are falling; the crop will be

SOUTH CENTRAL: Peanuts are in stress from lack of moisture as they move toward maturity; recent rains in some counties may help. The rains should also boost winter pastures although more moisture is needed for sustained growth. This year's pecan crop will be short due to the season-long

SOUTHWEST: Rains of 1 to 2 inches fell in the San Antonio area but the rest of the region remains dry. Cotton and peanut harvesting continue in full swing, with excellent yields on irrigated land. The pecan harvest is under way. with yields below average. Farmers continue to wait for rain to plant small grains. Livestock feeding is active; livestock numbers are about 40 percent of

COASTAL BEND: Scattered rains of 4 to 5 inches will give a boost to small grain plantings and help fall grazing, but some counties remain dry. San Patricio County has been declared a disaster area due to the drought. Cattle are suffering from drought stress despite heavy supplemental feeding; many continue to go to market. Pecans are falling; the crop will be short.

SOUTH: Excess moisture in the Rio Grande Valley has slowed harvest operations, damaged some soybeans and vegetables, and led to heavy mosquito infestations. A few cucumbers are being harvested and hay production is light. Grazing conditions are improving in some locations although northern and western counties remain dry.

Fertilize for

You may be looking for ways to cut costs. Who isn't? But one thing all agronomists tell us is: "Don't cut back in areas that cause yields to decrease!"

They are talking about fertilizer. They encourage the wheat farmer to select varieties and apply fertilizer for optimum vields - that's your most profitable yield.

Yes, your cost per acre will increase as you move up toward your optimum yield. But your cost per bushel will be reduced.

You not only get more bushels per acre, you get more profit from every bushel you raise!

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite some shrink in yields, farmers are on their way to harvesting a bumper corn crop this fall, according to the latest Agriculture Department forecast

The huge crop will be a step toward easing livestock feeding costs in the coming year. Officials said a number of other key crops, including soybeans, cotton and wheat, also have rebounded from last year's production ebb.

Based on surveys made on Oct. 1, corn production is expected to total nearly 7.5 billion bushels, down less harvest, this year's corn crop is 80 percent larger, ranking fourth in USDA's all-time harvest list.

In 1983, as a result of drought and the government's acreage programs, U.S. corn production dropped to 4.17 billion bushels less than half of the record 1982

"A killing frost occurred over much of the Corn Belt on Sept. 24," little damage is expected."

The harvest in major corn states was 13 percent complete on Sept. 30. compared with a normal progress of 14 percent. A year ago, farmers had harvested 22 percent of their drought-riddled crop by the end of September.

Soybean production, estimated at 1.97 billion bushels, is up 21 percent from last year. However, that was down 3 percent from the September forecast of 2.03 billion bushels. The record was 2.27 billion upward revision in the size of the 1983 soybean crop to almost 1.64 billion bushels from less than 1.57 billion bushels indicated in previous reports. That was a change of about 69 million bushels.

The wheat harvest, which has been completed this year, was estimated at 2.57 billion bushels, virtually unchanged from last month and 6 percent larger than the 1983 crop. It was the final wheat estimate of the year.

Wheat production rose to a record of 2.81 billion bushels in

The cotton estimate was unchanged from last month at 13.3 million bales, up 71 percent from last year's small harvest. It would be the largest crop since 1981's 15.6

Despite the slight deterioration in some areas, the corn harvest still is expected to be the fourth largest in U.S. history.

Rock 'n' roller is now serving God

NEW YORK (AP) — Little Richard, who rocked and shocked the '50s and '60s with his mile-high pompadour, sequined suits and pancake makeup, may be a full-time evangelist, but he'd like to reclaim his throne as king of rock

'n' roll. Though he swears he'll never again get up on stage and screech his calling-card, "Ooh, my soul," Little Richard is nevertheless anxious for the world to remember him as the man who broke the racial barrier in radio music and who stunned audiences by performing in drag.

"That's over. I won't do that again," he said in a telephone interview from his home in Riverside, Calif. "It's not that there's something bad about rock 'n' roll. The reason I don't want to sing is I'm 51 years old now and I just want to dedicate my years to the service of God.'

In his new biography, "The Life and Times of Little Richard: The Quasar of Rock" (Harmony Books, $15.95), he talks about his beginnings in Macon, Ga.

He was born Richard Penniman and left home at 14 to sell "snake oil" with Dr. Hudson's Medicine Show. He soon became involved with various road bands in the South and toured with them until he formed his own group, Little Richard and the Upsetters. He landed his first record contract in 1951.

Little Richard shattered the white airwaves with "Tutti Frutti" - radio was segregated at that time with stations that played only so-called black music and stations that only played so-called white music — until 1977, the year he quit performing.

Charlton Heston plays white hunter

By JERRY BUCK AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Oddly enough, Charlton Heston, a man seemingly born to wear a floppy Africa hunter's hat and safari acket and carry an elephant gun, has never before played a white hunter.

Heston finally plays the part in the CBS movie "Nairobi Affair," which was filmed entirely on location in Kenya. sgit was Heston's fourth film in Africa and first in Kenya. Previously, he did The Ten Commandments, Khartoum' and 'The Awakening" in Egypt.

Heston, like Stewart Granger in the 1950 version of "King Solomon's Mines," the best of the white-hunter adventure films, has that steely gaze and set of mouth. His eyes search the horizon for game - or trouble

In "Nairobi Affair," which CWSA will telecast on Wednesday, a ban on hunting because of poaching has turned him into the owner of a photographic safari camp. He had left his wife years ago and his son, John Savage, has never forgiven him. Father and son, long estranged, meet again at her funeral.

Maud Adams also stars as Savage's former wife, who is now romantically involved with Heston.

'We shot it mostly in the bush,' says Heston. "That's why I'm of the opinion that 'Nairobi Affair' is not the correct title. We only filmed a few scenes in Nairobi. Mostly, we were in the Masai Mara, a game reserve on one hand and the heart of the Masai people on the other.'

Heston says that in the movie, the ban on hunting was imposed in an effort to conserve the game population. "But the poaching has actually increased because you don't have the hunters and the safaris patrolling the area," he

"My son is dealing with the poaching problem. Maud Adams plays an anthropologist. In the original draft of the script they had her a night club singer. I said, 'My God, can't we have something a little more related to the story.

"Part of the picture deals with the generational conflict with my son. That provides the emotional content. But the spine of the story is really the problem with ivory poaching." When Savage is ambushed by four poachers. Heston joins him in tracking them down in the bush.

Heston, who returned to television last year after a long absence with a role in the CBS miniseries "Chiefs," says he was so pleased with the way "Chiefs" turned out that he wanted to do more television.

heavy registration of voters has created even more questions about the results of the November general election in Texas, but President Reagan continues to hold a substantial lead in the state, party leaders and political analysts say.

Secretary of State Myra McDaniel has predicted that 7.5 million Texans, about 700,000 more than were able to vote on March 1, registered before the Oct. 7 deadline. That would be about 68 percent registered out of 10.7 million eligible.

Texas Democrats and Republicans disagree in their claims on the new voters. Democrats say 480,000 should vote Democratic, while Republicans claim 400,000 from "targeted precincts."

"Nobody can get a handle on the new voter registration," said George Christian, former White House press secretary who is now a political consultant in Austin.

"There seemed to be huge interest in registration and if all this holds (until Nov. 6), we could have a massive voter turnout in Texas, which could help the Democrats," he

However, Christian said he believes Reagan has such a strong lead that it would take a "miracle" for Democratic challenger Walter Mondale to succeed in Texas.

"I still feel like we are going to carry Texas in the end," said state Democratic Party Chairman Bob Slagle, who admits that Reagan still holds a statewide lead. Slagle has claimed the Democratic drive will not peak until the final three weeks.

"Our voter registration drive is twice what we thought it would be," said state Republican Chairman George Strake, "but some of that may be offset by the big drive put on by the Democrats."

Slagle and others - both Democratic and Republican - think Mondale's showing in the first presidential campaign helped his forces in Texas.

"I thought it was a big asset in pumping our people up," Slagle said. "Reagan is still ahead but not as much as he was. We have

"I've got a gut feeling that Mondale did better in the debate," said Ken Towery, former state campaign manager for retiring U.S. Sen. John Tower and now a political consultant in Austin. "I think he rejuvenated his troops, but I haven't seen any indication of any falling off in support

Lloyd Doggett in the U.S. Senate race, "but not quite as much as Reagan is ahead."

"The Gramm-Doggett race is much closer at this point," said Slagle. "I think we are going to take the state for Mondale and when we do, there's no way Doggett wouldn't win

Christian said Gramm is ahead in the Senate race "but it's not a big lead. I think K-47 Doggett has a good shot at it. Doggett is going to get more votes in Texas than Mondale will."

Most of those surveyed thought Geraldine Ferraro's position as Mondale's running mate was getting little attention in Texas. 'She's probably held in a little better esteem now than earlier, but I don't think that has changed a whole lot," said Towery . "I don't believe the Bush-Ferraro race has much to do with the outcome of the election in Texas." Christian said. "Most people are looking at the top spots on the
