

Father Kicks Son To Death

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Ronald Fouquet jumped up and down on the stomach of his 3-year-old stepson for 30 seconds, then settled down with a cold beer to watch a football game on television while the child lay dying.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Betty Lansdown Fouquet, 28, tried to give her son Jeffery artificial respiration, but Fouquet told her to "knock it off" and "give him the dignity of dying."

Mrs. Fouquet testified Monday at Fouquet's murder trial and described what she said were the details of Jeffery's death Sept. 17, 1966. She said her son underwent nearly three weeks of torture by his stepfather in what Fouquet, 31, called "discipline."

Fouquet sat in the courtroom, a smirk on his face, as his common-law wife testified.

Mrs. Fouquet and her common-law husband are awaiting trial on charges of abandoning another of her children, Jody, 3, on a Bakersfield, Calif., freeway in October.

Annulment Granted In Forced Marriage

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI)—A 23-year-old Albuquerque girl who said her former husband kidnapped her and forced her to marry him in Juarez, Mex., was granted an annulment Monday.

District Court Judge Gerald D. Fowle granted an annulment of the marriage of Sue Fischer and Jerry Wilson, 25, of Borger, Tex.

Miss Fischer said she was abducted by Wilson in Albuquerque Aug. 20, on the eve of her wedding to John Curtis, a Dallas attorney.

Wilson, a former Southern Methodist University football player, was scheduled to go to trial here April 27 on charges of kidnaping, assault and auto theft stemming from the incident. Wilson did not contest the annulment proceeding.

Wilson was freed in $5,000 bond pleading innocent to the charges.

Jury Calls Surprise Witness Into Kopechne Investigation

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (UPI)—The grand jury inquiring into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne was pushed vigorously into the investigation by calling two surprise witnesses not previously connected publicly with the case.

The Dukes County panel of 10 men and 10 women began its secret investigation Monday. Its foreman, druggist Leslie H. Leland, reportedly had his life threatened.

Expected to spend the first day on procedural matters, the grand jury opened up with a full head of steam by calling Stephen C. Gentile, an Edgartown real estate agent; and Mrs. Nina L. Trott, who lives across the street from the Shiretown Inn where Sen. Edward M. Kennedy stayed the night Miss Kopechne drowned when his car plunged off a narrow bridge into a tidal pond on Chappaquiddick island.

Gentile, who also owns the Katama Airport here and is a

Autopsy Started Into Death Cause

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—Ever since the humid July night in 1954 when his pregnant first wife was bludgeoned to death in their plush, suburban home, Dr. Sam Sheppard battled for his freedom and a chance "to live for this moment."

Sheppard's fight to be exonerated of the death of his wife, Marilyn, turned into one of the most sensational murder cases of the century. Acquitted after a second trial and 10 years behind bars, Sheppard continued his bizarre adventures—a love affair by mail, two marriages, a brief exile in Europe and a fling at professional wrestling.

He also submitted to cancer research in prison and clung to a faltering osteopathic career with the conviction there were people who needed his help.

At 46, Sheppard died Monday in his office, apparently trying to cure himself of a brief illness. His death was as shrouded with mystery.

"Maybe it's better this way," his ex-wife, Arianne Tebben-

Green Beret Suspected In Killing Wife, Daughters

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (UPI)—Green Beret Capt. Jeffrey R. MacDonald was under house arrest today as a suspect in the Feb. 17 slayings of his wife and two young daughters.

The Army said MacDonald, 38, of Patchogue, N.Y., was confined to his quarters and relieved of his duties as a doctor with the 6th Special Forces.

Until Monday Army officials had said MacDonald was not a suspect. He has not been charged in the case.

MacDonald told investigators after the murders that his family was attacked by three men and a woman. He said the woman, blonde wearing a floppy hat, repeated the phrase, "acid is groovy, kill the pigs; hit 'em again."

MacDonald telephoned an operator that morning, said he was injured and needed an ambulance. When military police arrived they found the captain half-conscious on the bedroom floor with a stab wound in his chest that had punctured his right lung.

His wife, Collette, 26, about six months pregnant, was in bed—dead of multiple stab wounds, a fractured skull and two broken arms.

The bodies of daughters Kimberly, 6, and Kristen, 2, were found in their separate bedrooms. Kimberly died from blows on the head and stab wounds in the arm and chest; Kristen was stabbed in the neck

Springtime War Launched On Stray Dogs

Pampa is getting ready to launch its Springtime war on stray dogs.

Police Chief Jim Conner said Saturday that starting Monday, April 13, two extra men and an extra truck will go into service to assist Dog Warden Don Armstrong in the annual roundup of stray pooches.

Chief Conner said the department is receiving many complaints of stray dogs in all sections of the city.

"The dog population seems to be large this year," Conner said, "and we are going to take action to eliminate the strays."

The Humane Society of the United States has just released some figures showing that there are at least 90,000,000 dogs and cats in America today and puppies and kittens are being born at the rate of a quarter-million a day, 10,000 an hour, 165 a minute.

To control the rapidly rising dog and cat population the Society recommends the humane way of spaying the females. The operation when done by a veterinarian is a simple one requiring only 15 or 20 minutes, and very few animals show any sign of even slight discomfort after the operation, the Humane Society says.

Chief Conner said that dogs running loose and not on leash will be picked up and taken to the City Dog Pound. They can be retrieved only by paying a $2 pound fee and $2 per day for each day in the pound.

When dogs are not picked up from the pound by their owners they are subject to execution in the gas chamber after three days.

"We hope to get the cooperation of dog owners," Chief Conner added. "Valuable dogs and pets should be kept in fenced enclosures or placed on a leash when taken outside. But it is our plan to clear the streets and alleys of stray dogs."

The police chief said the intensive campaign and extra effort to rid Pampa of stray dogs will continue for three or four weeks and longer, if necessary.

David To Bypass 'Grad' Exercises

WASHINGTON (UPI) — David Eisenhower, President Nixon's son-in-law, has indicated he may not attend his own graduation ceremonies June 7 at Amherst College to avoid possible embarrassment to his family by campus protesters.

David said Sunday his family is "big on graduation," especially his grandmother, Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower—"but I don't want to subject them to any trouble," he added, swallowing hard.

The 22-year-old political science major is scheduled to receive a Bachelor of Arts degree from the Massachusetts college.

The First Family plans to attend commencement exercises for David's wife, Julie, 21, at Smith College, Northampton, Mass., May 30. But David and Julie said they have asked President and Mrs. Nixon not to attend the Amherst ceremonies.

David's ties to "the establishment" have led to some campus confrontations with antiwar and antidraft students at Amherst, but he said he has "enjoyed being part of the Amherst community" and has "made many friends on the faculty."

Swinging Singles Swing On Drugs

MARINA DEL RAY, Calif. (UPI) — Twenty-seven persons who attended a "swinging singles" party received emergency hospital treatment Sunday while on unwanted hallucinogenic "trips," apparently caused when they ate potato chips seasoned with LSD.

Sixteen of the partygoers were hospitalized, including three women in serious condition for a short time and a man with a heart condition who was in a coma briefly. Five still were hospitalized today.

Most of the 27 who sought treatment experienced mild symptoms such as dizziness but others had full-blown hallucinogenic trips at the South Bay Club apartment complex in this Los Angeles suburb.

Nixon Plan Stalls Rail Strike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Labor Committee unanimously approved today President Nixon's proposal to head off a nationwide rail strike by imposing a negotiated settlement on four shopcraft unions.

Three of the unions agreed to contract terms with the railroads late last year but the railroads refused to sign with them because a fourth union, the sheetmetal workers, rejected the terms.

Unless Congress acts, a strike is threatened for Saturday at 12:01 a.m. when a 37-day congressionally imposed moratorium on a strike or lockout expires.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., the Labor Committee's ranking Republican, predicted a bill to impose a contract settlement would pass the full Senate, possibly on Wednesday. A House Committee plans to consider the same proposal Tuesday.

Nixon's proposal would write into law the contract agreed upon by negotiators last year. The unions that have accepted the contract include the machinists, the electrical workers and the boilermakers.

Javits said the Senate Committee adopted the administration plan because "another delay would only lead to wildcat strikes." Union leaders warned the committee last week that if Congress voted another postponement, rail workers would probably walk off their jobs, anyway.

LBJ Talks Things Over With Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson spent almost three hours at the White House today conferring with President Nixon and looking over the new White House press facilities.

Johnson came to Washington last week to visit his daughter, Mrs. Charles S. Robb, and to attend the wedding Saturday of Victoria White, daughter of columnist William S. White.

Five Moonwalkers Remain For Repeats Assignments

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—One man from the first two American moon landing crews has left the space program for a job elsewhere in government. The other five remain eligible for repeat moonflight assignments, and one is on the backup crew for Apollo 15 next year.

Michael Collins, command module pilot for the historic first landing performed last July by Apollo 11, left the space agency Jan. 6 to become assistant secretary of state for public affairs.

Collins orbited the moon alone while N. A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin landed on the lunar surface.

Armstrong, planting his left boot in the gray moon dust, proclaimed: "That's one small step for a man; one giant leap for mankind."

Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins made national and world tours after their flight was over. The two moonwalkers still get requests for public appearances but Armstrong "tries to limit himself as much as possible," a space agency spokesman said.

The crewmen of Apollo 12—Charles "Pete" Conrad, Richard F. Gordon and Alan L. Bean—also made a world tour after the second U.S. moon landing flight.

On the day they returned from the tour, late in March, the space agency announced that Gordon has been made backup commander for Apollo 15. He is the first member of a moon landing crew to receive a berth on a subsequent crew of backup team.

Conrad, 8, 53, 3-58.3, serves as deputy to astronaut Thomas P. Stafford who oversees activities of the astronaut office in Houston.

RESCUES SKINDIVERS

LONDON (UPI)—Derek Crisp, 45, who has undergone 17 heart operations in the past 20 years, rescued two skindivers from the English Channel Sunday. Crisp hauled one of the divers into his 24-foot sailboard and the other into a rubber boat he was towing. Crisp was admitted to a hospital later after reporting strain to his chest muscles.

Think you can't afford an Olds? Here are two reasons to think again!

Our own surveys indicate that quite a few people think an Olds costs a lot more than it really does. Result? Many people buy an ordinary car and end up with a lot less car and value for their money.

It's so unnecessary, too, because Oldsmobile has many models that are priced right down with so-called low-priced cars. See your Olds dealer. He'll prove that you're closer to Olds than you think.

Cutlass S: The sporty Olds—priced right down with the low-priced firms, included as standard equipment: Recycled waters, hidden antenna, Deluxe steering wheel, wall-to-wall carpeting, Door side-guard beams, Flo-Thru Ventilation, Rocket V-8, Bias-belted tires, Foam-padded seats.

Delta 88: The big Olds with the surprisingly modest price, included as that price: Power steering, Power front disc brakes, Regular-gas Rocket V-8, Bigger 124-inch wheelbase for smoother, quieter ride. All the room and comfort and luxury you could ever want.

Your Horoscope

JEANE DIXON

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 8.
Your birthday Wednesday. You are promised the chance to hasten your progress and prosperity in the coming year. Early rising habits are easier to cultivate and you have more energy available to pursue your productive activities.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Your mood is apt to be abrupt Wednesday — a clear expression of the natural fire of your Sun sign. Just remember how it may strike others. Put in a sound day's work, then relax with a definite change of pace, light entertainment.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Personal plans can be advanced if you sidestep needless bickering. Use your extra energy for business, exploration of new ways of earning.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Let Tuesday's experience alone; start fresh, behave as if everything has been going very well. Any critical comment has far more bite in it than you intend.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Everybody seems to have his own pet scheme Wednesday and a place in it for you to turn the wheels. Keep both your composure and a little distance — matters improve in the later hours.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Having your own way is not nearly so important as you feel now. Channel the extra energy into clearing off the most neglected of your projects. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Try to leave off actual handling of details and step back for a better perspective.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Wednesday money again comes in for an inordinate share of your attention. Resources of others for which you carry responsibility are the center of concern.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Continued tact and patience are required — and very worth the effort — particularly among longtime associates.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Tend strictly to your own work, and your own personal affairs; keep out of other people's controversy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Early emotional stresses settle down as the day progresses if you will remember that such matters are all passing phases now. News from people in distant places promises to be favorable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your plans are too detailed for most people and many include ventures not everybody is willing to share with you.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): By your own serenity you help the community. Pay no attention to gossip; walk a while for the whole story.

DEAR ABBY: I am a school teacher who has been happily married for three years. We are expecting our first child, but that's not my problem.

Last summer my husband and I joined a nudist club and spent our vacation at their camp. I went to it at first, but went to please my husband and I must admit that the people there were the friendliest I had ever met.

Well, my husband wants to go again this Summer, but I don't care to go. Why? That's my problem. I don't know why. Maybe I'm afraid the news will get back to my parents or some of our friends who think nudism is "wrong." Or maybe it's because I was brought up without ever having seen a naked adult body before I was married. (It still "bothers" me some, even now, but maybe that's a "wrong" attitude on my part.)

Should I force myself to go just to please my husband? Or should I follow my feelings and ask my husband to go somewhere else this Summer?

FEELING GUILTY
DEAR FEELING: Follow your feelings, and don't feel guilty.

DEAR ABBY: I have a terrible problem. My beautiful 2½-year-old son is spoiled rotten. He still sucks a pacifier. I have tried everything from putting hot sauce to castor oil on it to make it taste bad, but he still asks for it again and again.

I am expecting another baby soon and I would like to have my 2½-year-old off that ugly pacifier by then. He wants it mostly at night and I'm determined not to give it to him but he keeps crying until I finally give in. I think he's much too old to be sucking that thing.

What can I do, Abby? I'm at the end of my rope. Don't tell me to just suddenly take it away from him. I've tried it, but I always end up giving it to him.

Please help me. It's about to drive me nuts!

UPSET MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: First, sucking on a pacifier will do your child no harm. But denying him the pleasure, comfort and security he obviously needs and derives from it can do him a great deal of harm. Let him have his pacifier as long as he wants it. And if you doubt the soundness of this advice, ask your pediatrician.

DEAR ABBY: It has been a long time since I wrote to tell you that I was a compulsive gambler who had lost a fortune in time, money and self-respect. I want to thank you again for recommending Gambler's Anonymous. I joined them and have not gambled since — and it's been three years! I still go to meetings and give strength and hope to others who were in the same shape as I was. I've met doctors, lawyers, cab drivers, school teachers, bartenders, millionaires and bell boys who couldn't resist betting on anything from the roll of the dice to the horses.

Thanks again, Abby, and bless you in your work.

"STILL FIGHTING"
DEAR STILL: I'm not a betting woman, but I'll gamble on you! And if others want information about Gambler's Anonymous, write to their home office: P.O. Box No. 17173, Los Angeles, Cal. 90017.

Ag Department Promotes Beef

AUSTIN — The Texas Department of Agriculture has launched the most elaborate TAP sales promotion to date with the 1970 kickoff of the "Texas Grain Fed Beef" campaign this week.

Commissioner John C. White announced the beginning of this latest Texas Agricultural Products (TAP) market promotion with the comment that it is the best interests of all Texans to be better informed as to the quality and nutritive values of "Texas Grain Fed Beef."

Commissioner White said that all media of communication will be utilized in bringing the Texas beef story to the public in the next two months. The most noticeable will be over 14,000 four-color in-store posters in the retail supermarkets and grocery stores of the state featuring three delicious cuts of beef. Those to be shown are the T-Bone, Chuck Roast and Round steak cuts in full color to whet appetites and help plan Texas meals. The posters will be augmented with colorful price cards and case strips to be displayed throughout the beef sales area.

Radio and television stations around the state are receiving one minute and 30-second spot announcements that extol by film and tape virtues of beef by plainly stating that "Tenderness is Texas Grain Fed Beef."

At the same time, Department home economists and meat specialists will be appearing around the state on radio and television programs and at "Beef-A-Promos" in many areas of Texas to explain the selections of the methods of preparing a large variety of beef dishes.

One thousand outdoor billboards are going up across the state that feature a full color T-Bone steak on a yellow field. The poster proclaims to all passers by that Tenderness is Texas Grain Fed Beef.

Also over one-million billing supplements that are miniature copies of the outdoor billboards will be mailed to Texans by financial and service organizations along with their monthly statements.

Texans will see the soon to be familiar T-Bone steak on a yellow field in their favorite restaurants in the form of a small colorful table tent and small colorful table tent reminders are being distributed throughout the state through the membership of the Texas Restaurant Association.

Commissioner White stated that many beef industry and allied groups are cooperating to the success of the Texas Grain Fed Beef Promotion.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Speculative stock market response to the prime rate cut by big banks was a very limited one but this will not spare the market another test of the 1966 lows, which look increasingly shaky, says the Janeway Service.

Just as costs are keeping their decisive lead over profits, so consumption expenditures, especially on services, are "daily widening their lead over productivity," the firm says. This is bound to increase the need for money on the part of business, "instead of making for the breather in money demands for which management psychology and market stabilization have been waiting and upon which stock market recovery ultimately will depend.

The probability of rather corporate earnings comparisons is likely to keep some restraint on market action over the near term, Goodbody & Co. observes. However, the market's lows are definitely "now behind us" and a much more favorable investment environment is developing than has prevailed at any time during the past fifteen months, the firm says.

When the Dow Jones industrial average climbs through the technical resistance point of 600, the "great bear market of 1969-70" will have ended, Reynolds & Co. says. It may take some time to accomplish this, the firm cautions. Nevertheless, the investor who commits himself fully now will be in the best position to benefit from the eventual market recovery, it believes.

LADIES TOO ZEALOUS

STOCKPORT, England (UPI)—The Stockport Chamber of Trade complained in its annual report that the aggressiveness of meter maids has adversely affected business.

There have been cases where wardens chased motorists into shops and bawled them out," the group said. It urged the ladies to be a bit less zealous in carrying out their duties.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Extensive as well as intensive research is currently being performed in the hope of developing a new type of automobile engine.

The idea is to provide a substitute for the internal combustion engine, which causes pollution problems.

Thus far, alas, most of the experiments have involved steam and electric engines. Which show that the automotive engineers of today are distressingly devoid of imagination.

Steam and electric engines both were tried in the early days of motoring. They didn't work well then and there is no reason to suppose they can ever be improved enough to provide a practical means of propelling an automobile.

What is needed is a complete break with the past — an auto engine based on an entirely new concept of propulsion.

Holds Think Session
Often, the quickest way to come up with a new concept is to hold a brainstorming session. With that in mind, I recently assembled a group of deep thinkers from various fields outside the Auto industry.

Then I tossed up the question "What would make a good substitute for the internal combustion engine?" and had them bat it around.

"The most logical substitute for an internal combustion engine would be external combustion engine," one of my guests brainstormed. "If you burn the fuel externally, you do away with exhaust fumes, which are the major source of pollution."

"Right!" another guest agreed. "Instead of having exhaust fumes, you would have smoke. Smoke is easier to see than exhaust fumes and therefore would be easier to control."

"That would be a step forward," I said, "but it is not a new concept. Are there any other ideas?"

Why Not Carbonation?
"I may have something," a third guest said. "Why have any kind of combustion? Why not have carbonation instead?"

I said, "Would you mind elaborating on that a bit?"

"Be glad to. If you have ever opened a bottle of champagne, you are aware that it exerts a force capable of propelling a cork across the room where it lands in a bowl of chopped chicken livers."

"This force is a result of carbonation, which is caused by fermentation. Now if you had an engine which had a carbonator in place of a carburetor, you could exert a force capable of propelling an auto."

Well, there you have it, Detroit. And I might point out that a carbonated engine would use the most abundant fuel in the world — sour grapes.

Florida County Victim Of Space Recession

The End of the Space Boom
By AL ROSSITER JR.
UPI Space Writer

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Brevard County, Fla., was the fastest growing county in the nation 10 months ago. Today it is in the throes of recession, the victim of a space boom that has run out of fuel.

Thousands of space workers have lost their jobs and more layoffs are coming. For many, the ax fell while they celebrated the safe return of Apollo 11's moon landing pioneers last July.

Homes by the hundreds are for sale in the moonport's backyard, office buildings that once hummed with some of the most exciting work in the world are vacant, people are wondering if they will be next to go. The countywide work force has dropped from 100,800 in 1968 to 94,900. Many engineers and technicians are leaving the area for jobs in other industries and, as a result, the county's unemployment rate is 4.4 per cent — slightly higher than the national average.

School enrollment has fallen in a system that almost tripled in size during the past decade. The future hinges on Brevard's ability to diversify, and on the fate of the space program and more specifically the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's proposed, space shuttle orbital transport. Studies are underway now to see where the shuttle should be based.

If the shuttle goes somewhere else, much of Cape Kennedy and its billions of dollars worth of facilities could end up in mothballs. As a one-industry community, Brevard would be faced with an economic fate just as severe.

But the picture is not all black. Tourism is increasing with the help of the moonport's increasingly popular tours, and businessmen expect a shot in the arm from the opening of Disney World 50 miles east of here late next year.

Brevard's pleasant climate, its beaches and the availability of housing at 1965-vintage prices are drawing retired people and second-home buyers to the area.

Other industries, attracted by the skilled labor pool, available housing and office space, are exploring the possibility of moving into Brevard.

Twenty years ago, the 72-mile long, 18-mile wide coastal strip called Brevard was a sleepy farmland known primarily for its Indian River citrus. It had a population of 23,653.

In 10 frantic years the United States had developed the foundation of a space program destined to become second to none. Brevard's population exploded 414 per cent, to 111,435 in 1969.

The county now houses an estimated 248,000, most of whom depend on space in one way or another for their living. The big buildup came in the mid 1960s in the nation's drive to land men on the moon before the end of the decade.

In 1967, NASA had 25,807 people working at the Kennedy Space Center. The figure is now about 18,500 and is expected to drop to 17,500 by the end of June.

Some 20,700 people work for the Air Force which operates the eastern test range. In 1967, the number was 26,000.

"When I came here in 1964, we had 700 people," said A. M. Pitard, personnel manager here for the Boeing Co., one of the contractors hardest hit by the cutbacks. "We went up to 5,000 and I was on the hot seat to fill jobs. Now we're going back down." Boeing now has about 1,750 workers here and that number is in a "gradual decline."

For a while, some companies were able to relocate many of their workers in other plants across the nation. But the aerospace industry is in trouble almost everywhere today and job openings have dried up.

Offices Space Hurt
The cutbacks have hit office buildings particularly hard. Cocoa Beach Mayor Robert Murshe said 350,000 square feet of office space is available in Brevard, mostly in the Cocoa Beach-Cape Canaveral area where many of the space contractors are located.

The end of the boom is giving Brevard a chance to catch up with some of the unmet demands of past years. A new causeway is under construction between the mainland and the beaches and another is being four-laned.

A hospital expansion in Cocoa Beach is nearing completion. A large enclosed-mall shopping center is under construction in Merritt Island and Thomas Roberts, manager of a department store that was first to open there said business is better than expected.

Hollywood Reports

UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Joe Campanella has refined the delicate difference between being of Sicilian and Italian heritage. One is suspect, the other is not.

Campanella, who stars in "The Bold Ones" is not now nor has he ever been a member of the mob. Neither does he know any Mafiosi. He has indicated he has no desire to join their lodge.

Joe's appearance and name invariably pose a professional problem.

If a producer needed an actor to stab another actor in the back, who better than Campanella?

Stuck With Gangster Image
"I was stuck with a gangster image," said Joe. "Anyhow, the Mafia thing began in the United States and worked its way back to Sicily. Now it has spread all over the world."

"For years, thanks to my appearance, I played mid-European; Frenchmen, Russians, Jews. But things are changing a little bit now. I've even portrayed an Irish cop."

Campanella plays an attorney — not to say mouthpiece — in those segments of "The Bold Ones" which air under the title of "The Lawyers."

"Slowly television and motion pictures are losing the notion of casting according to racial types," he said.

Roles Are More Selective
"The doors are opening and the roles are more selective. Any part is open to me now. I can play a heavy or a hero."

Well and good. But what about the sandy haired blue-eyed, pale skinned actors who are bent on playing Mafia types? Are the doors open to them?

Campanella had not entertained this discrimination against the Celts, Anglo-Saxons and certain Patagonians.

Let it be remembered that fair haired, azure-eyed Burt Lancaster once played an Indian.

His background not with standing, Joe Campanella has not prejudiced anyone against him — not even the constabulary or grand juries of the sovereign state of New Jersey.

SRYMIES THEFT
KINGSTON, England (UPI) — Britain's Automobile Association is reviewing procedures followed by emergency crews on the road after a complaint from a detective's wife.

Mrs. Bryan Anderson said she returned to her car to find an association crew helping a young man, apparently intent on theft, start it. He ran away when she asked what they were doing.

BOGUS MONEY SEIZED
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Treasury Department says its agents seized $2.2 million in counterfeit money during 1969 — compared with $16.6 million in bogus bills seized the year before.

Of the $18.2 million seized last year, $15.7 was captured before it could be circulated, and $2.5 million after it had been passed to the public, the department said.
