ACKERLY — Diplomas were presented to 13 seniors in commencement ceremonies Thursday night.

Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Big Spring, brought the commencement address. Awards were presented by M. B. Maxwell Jr. and J. M. Glasscock, superintendent, presented the diplomas.

Invocation was by Roy Phemister and benediction by J. Roy Haynes. Lenelle Haynes delivered the salutatory and Nelda Tarbet the valedictory. Class history was given by May Oaks Reed, the class will be Margaret Reithmayer and the class prophecy by Melba West.

The ceremonies were held in the Ackerly High School Auditorium.

Bitter Campaign Looms In Race For Nomination For Governor

By CLAYTON HICKERSON
Associated Press Staff

Politicians were well on the way Friday to establishing some issues for the campaign for Democratic nomination for governor of Texas.

There was daily indication the campaign will be bitter and biting. Ralph Yarborough, Austin attorney making his second attempt to unseat Gov. Allan Shivers, wants party loyalty to be a major issue. Yarborough says the governor's action in leading the state party organization into the Republican fold two years ago should be enough to beat Shivers.

Shivers, however, says he is a life-long Democrat "who seeks to strengthen the Democratic party in Texas." He wants actions of what he calls "the Northern-controlled national Democratic organization," and especially the acts of National Chairman Stephen Mitchell, to be a major issue. He told Mitchell in a letter recently, "I strongly suspect... your entry into the Texas governor's race."

Wright Morrow of Houston joined the criticism of Mitchell, accusing him of being "arbitrary and arrogant" in not allowing Morrow to be seated May 5 as Texas' national committeeman.

Morrow, who like Shivers supported Eisenhower for President in 1952, was not included on the roll of national committeemen. He was ruled out of order by the chairman when he sought recognition. Mitchell told him Texas had no national committeeman.

Yarborough, in a letter soliciting funds for his summer campaign, said, "all Democrats have a stake in this campaign."

"In being a candidate," he told persons he believes are stalwart party followers, "... I am making what contribution I can to the cause of Texas democracy, but it will be necessary for all Democrats to make some contribution of time and money if integration is to be restored to the Democratic party of Texas."

"Organization work has already begun. We have a huge task and need your help if we are going to be successful."

Morrow has said little of unity but has attacked Mitchell as disincourteous and his acts as "an insult to the Texas Democrats and the Texas Democratic Committee."

Morrow submitted his resignation as national committeeman Sept. 20, 1952. The state committee, Shivers-led, refused to accept the resignation.

But Mitchell on March 26, 1953, said the resignation was effective.

Morrow said Mitchell's admission the whole committee had not acted on his resignation proved subterfuge on the chairman's part.

Spence To Attend Washington Meet

E. V. Spence, general manager for the CRMWD, will leave by train Saturday morning for Washington, D. C. and the National Rivers & Harbors Congress.

He has been made a Texas delegate by Gov. Allan Shivers. This will be the 41st convention and is slated for Monday through Wednesday.

In addition to regular matters, the Congress will look into the necessity, if any, for adoption of additional federal policies concerning water resources in general, hydro-electric power development, water pollution control, soil conservation, basin development.

Spence will be accompanied by Mrs. Spence, who will stop off at Texarkana en route home to visit with friends.

Marine Kills Tots, Self, Injures Wife

JACKSONVILLE, N. C. (AP)—A Marine Corps captain slashed his three small children to death with a hatchet last night, wounded his wife and then, police reported, took his own life by jabbing a butcher knife into his throat.

Coroner Talbert Jones of Onslow County identified the officer as Capt. Michael P. Carroll of Augusta, Ga. He was stationed at nearby Camp Lejeune.

Jones said the youngest of the three children, Michael Phillip Jr., about 4, was savagely beaten to death at the Carroll home on the outskirts of Jacksonville in an outburst of brutality that began about 9 p.m.

Two daughters, Mary Katherine, 7, and Sara Beth, about 5, died shortly afterwards at the U. S. Naval Hospital.

Mrs. Carroll, cut several times on the head, was described by hospital attendants as in a serious condition.

Jones said no motive had been established for the slayings.

Carroll attacked his family after the children had gone to bed—all were in night clothes—and apparently assaulted his wife first, the coroner reported.

A civilian neighbor, S. J. Hutchinson, said he heard Mrs. Carroll scream just before she fled into the front yard, her head bleeding from multiple wounds.

Hutchinson said he ran into the Carrolls' home and sought to restrain Carroll, whereupon the officer seized a butcher knife and stuck it into his throat. He said the captain's face had "the wildest look I had ever seen."

Class To Meet

The Great Books class meets tonight at 8 p.m. in the Howard County Junior College cafeteria. Topic for discussion will be selections from Plutarch's Lives.

Reversal Cites Three Points

The Court of Criminal Appeals cited three points of error in reversing the conviction of Ray Davis on charges of murder. Copies of the opinion were received here Thursday.

Davis was found guilty in 118th District Court last November on charges of murder filed in connection with the shotgun death of Robert A. Childers at the Wyoming Hotel in March, 1953.

The appeals court said a question asked the defendant by Special Prosecutor Davis Scarborough concerning the reason for his being in jail in New Mexico was "improper," Scarborough asked if Davis was not in jail "for choking an old man," although no felony charges were lodged against him in New Mexico.

The court also ruled that it was improper for the state to prove that Davis' wife was active in securing witnesses to refute his testimony. The opinion also cited the incident near the end of the trial when Patricia Davis, wife of the defendant, arose in the courtroom and declared, "I did," after defense attorneys objected to Scarborough's statement that Patricia had gone to the police station with a swollen jaw after leaving her husband.

The opinion reversing the conviction was written by Judge W. A. Morrison of the Court of Criminal Appeals. Davis, who is in Howard County Jail, was sentenced to 20 years imprisonment at the conclusion of his trial.

Pravda Denounces Korean War Report

LONDON (AP)—Moscow's Pravda today denounced as "pure invention and the imagination of a primitive mind" U.S. assertions that 6,000 to 12,000 Russians took part in the Communist war effort in Korea.

The information was made public by the Pentagon in Washington Saturday. It was attributed to intelligence data and analysis of information from other sources.

Keyserling Predicts No Depression But Warns Of Jobless

NEW YORK (AP)—Leon H. Keyserling, who served as top economic advisor to former President Truman, sees no depression in America but urges the present administration to take steps to curb unemployment.

Addressing a meeting for businessmen yesterday sponsored by Americans for Democratic Action (ADA), Keyserling said: "I have not thought from the beginning that we were going to have a depression, and I don't think so now. I disagree with those who have so blithely shouted the cry of pending depression. This is irresponsible in these times."

Keyserling added that unless the Eisenhower administration quickly adopts a "vigorous policy of reactivating the economy," the nation will have a "true level of unemployment of 7 1/2 million by the first quarter of next year."

Several farmers have had to plant and replant their cotton three times, but Whelan Atchison of the Courtney Community has already lost four plantings and is preparing to make the fifth.

The Courtney Community has had some of the hardest downpours of rains in West Texas and some hail.

But the Courtney farmers, like those elsewhere, say it's better to have three or four or five plantings in one season than not to have a single planting in three or four or five seasons.

Martin County Deputy Sheriff A. C. Abernathy and Stanton Chief of Police Ed McCain thought sure they were going to get a DWI late one afternoon recently.

They saw the man stagger around his car parked beside the road and then get in it. They stopped a little piece away where they could observe him and still nail him before he could get far. All they wanted was to see him move the car so they could make a DWI charge stick.

In a few minutes the man threw another beer can out of the car. Then he got out and staggered around the car again, got back in and in a few minutes threw out another beer can. The performance was repeated several times and finally the officers, because of the pressure of time, had to close in on him anyway and arrest him for just plain drunkenness.

"Why didn't you drive on off?" one of them asked.

"Couldn't," the man explained. "Didn't have no gasoline. All gone. Car wouldn't start."

The beer drinker was quite surprised to find he was in Stanton. He thought he was in Ballinger. At least he said that's where he meant to be.

That night Patrolman Walter Graves found an elderly gentleman, perfectly sober, asleep in his car with both doors locked. The car was parked right in the center of Stanton's new wide Front Street.

"I had some trouble waking him up," Graves said. "I had him get out of the car and walk around it. He was perfectly sober. He explained that he was looking for a safe place to park his car and take a nap, and that the middle of the wide street seemed to him to be the safest place he could find. I helped him find a safer place for his car, where he wouldn't be endangered with that Highway 80 traffic, he had his sleep out and went on his way."

The Clarence Fryar wheat field at the northwest corner of the intersection of State Highways 87-176 and 137 just down under the Lenora Hill, is a fine example of the power of a good West Texas rain.

Earlier this field had been grazed down until about all a traveler passing by could see was bare brown ground.

The cattle were pulled off and then came the rains. Now the field is as green as it can be and looks like it might even harvest a pretty fair yield of wheat. Some of the green stuff is probably weeds but it goes to prove what a good rain can do.

While occupying this space recently as a guest Grub Line Rider, our friend Bruce Frazier waxed very enthusiastic about the further cultivation and development and usefulness of desert plants native to our part of the country.

Since then Bruce planted some cotton. Overnight 120 acres of it was transformed into a lake with a depth of from four to seven feet of water, and still more of his cotton was covered with 20 feet of the precious moisture from Monday night's rain.

Now Bruce says that maybe he was wrong about the whole thing and that perhaps we'd better learn something about growing rice in the swampland that is West Texas. Ducks were swimming all over his cotton patch Tuesday morning, he said.

Whenever there's a rain it appears that most of Big Spring drains down Main Street and right along beside the high curb in front of the Herald Building. This flow of water presents something of a problem for some of the school kids headed for the High School or the Junior High — but not for all of them.

Tuesday the high school girls reached this wet-weather creek, they just simply kicked their shoes off, picked them up and carried them while they waded through the water, putting the shoes back on after they had reached dry-land.

And some of the Big Spring boys found a new sport Tuesday. With the water pouring over the spillway at the T&P (Cosden) Lake south of the Veterans Hospital. They were racing through this downpour up the face of the spillway.

It appeared to be a race to see who could climb to the top the quickest, over those slick rocks, and through the roughest of the water.

Once at the top they'd climb back down, through the water, and then start the climb again.

The morning following the rain we saw a pretty new car mired down in the mud right up to the axles.

Passing the same spot an hour or two later there were two cars stuck in the same mud hole.

It is anticipated that at least 100,000 acres of Glasscock County rangeland will go under the deferred grazing plan in cooperation with the lately approved, and new, conservation practices, according to Mrs. Asta Allen of the Garden City ASC office.

Wednesday we visited ranges, in three different counties, that were known to have been overgrazed. Such range is making only a very, very slow recovery as compared with ranges where grazing had not been so heavy. Not even the weeds have been encouraged by the rains to put in much of an appearance on the overgrazed range.

Other items growing out of the rain: A survey among oldtimers reveals that generally over the area the ground is wetter than it has been in more than 25 years, possibly wetter than it has been in some spots in 35 years or longer.

Here and there, over the period, the ground has probably been as wet, but the wetness has not extended over such a large area. For the last few years the farmers have had such a tremendous problem of wind erosion that too many of them overlooked the fact that it might rain again some day.

As a result many terraces were neglected and in some cases were broken by the movement of farm machinery over them. Recent rains put these terraces to the test and because of neglect or damage from the movement of equipment, some of them failed to meet the test.

There are many badly water-eroded terraces over this area.

Not Much Interest Likely In Oregon Primary Today

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A lack of interest in the Oregon primary election today in Oregon is expected to draw only about half of the state's voters into the booths.

There are only two contests for top offices to pull interest. Both involve Republicans. The Republicans have dominated elections here for years.

One is for the GOP nomination for governor. Earl Newby, secretary of state, is challenging the incumbent, Paul Patterson, who took office 17 months ago when Douglas McKay resigned to become secretary of interior.

They ran a campaign without heat, although Newby tried to liven things up the last two weeks by favoring federal construction of big power dams in this region.

The other contest finds Rep. Homer Angell facing two Republican challengers in the metropolitan Portland area. Some observers give 42-year-old Tom Lawson McCall a chance to unseat Angell, who has served in the House since 1909. The third man in the race is A. W. Lafferty.

The Democrats also have three candidates in that congressional district, but there is expected to be no contest as Mrs. Edith Green, a proven vote getter, runs against two unknowns, C. S. Johnston and H. H. Stallard.

Unopposed in the primary is Joseph K. Carson, the Democratic candidate for governor. Three of the state's four representatives, all Republicans, are without opposition.

Sen. Guy Gordon, the incumbent Republican, also is unopposed as is his fall opponent, Democrat Richard L. Neuberger, author and former state senator.

Urn With Ashes Not Welcome, Buyer Says

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Robert Shapiro is wondering what to do with an urn containing the ashes of a man who died 10 years ago.

The urn turned up in 200 boxes and trunks Shapiro bought at a storage company auction of unclaimed goods. Police and the coroner's office told Shapiro they were not concerned.

Shapiro said maybe he'll put the urn in a warehouse, forget it and let it be auctioned in, say, another 10 years.

Reporter Sees Fire Story Bit Personal

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP) — Tony Stein, a reporter-photographer for the Lynchburg Daily Advance, called fire division headquarters here yesterday to get some information on a fire from which he had just returned.

The information he got, however, was about another fire—firemen told him his car was burning. Stein raced downstairs to find it was all too true. A passer-by had noticed the flames a few minutes after Stein had returned to the office and had called firemen. The car was damaged severely.

Chickens Come Home To Roost In Clinical Types Of Advertising

A group of 200 doctors assembled in Boston this week heard Dr. Richard Overholt, noted chest surgeon, advise everybody to give up inhaling until it is proved or disproved that cigarette smoke causes certain types of lung cancer. A bit later he asked his doctor audience how many of the smokers among them would give up smoking, and not a hand was raised. Dr. Overholt ruefully allowed as he said that had been a total waste of time. The question of inhaling has long bothered smokers, even in the days before the cigarette industry started to cut its own throat by advertising rival claims that this or that brand was "less harmful" to the user. This short-sighted approach, with its far-fetched silly arguments and demonstrations, surrounded the cigarette with a clinical atmosphere it will never be able to live down. Some inhale, some do not; practically all inhale to some extent even if unconsciously. The reason for inhaling is obvious; merely puffing on a cigaret is like drinking decaffeinated coffee, sipping de-alcoholized beer, or kissing a girl through several layers of lipstick—no kick. Of course inhaling couldn't possibly be anything but harmful, even if tobacco is innocent of any cancer-disposing effects. All smokers know it. But most of them inhale just the same. So do most cigar and pipe smokers, and if cancer-producing ingredients are inherent in tobacco, it must follow that cigars and pipe tobaccos are suspect too. But devotees of the weed in these forms have not been pounded at for years to be careful of rival brands, or adjured by phony medical props not to risk their health by smoking them, but to stick to that paragon of perfection sold by the advertiser. The cigarette industry has only itself to blame for thus creating an atmosphere of fear, which naturally backfired on the industry as a whole. The chickens are coming home to roost, but the clinical type of advertising has not yet been abandoned.

Situation Normal: Only "Nyet" So Far From Geneva Conference

At Geneva, a third day of ineffective discussions opened Wednesday on a single point: Western demands that Communist forces withdraw immediately from Laos and Cambodia. (Until recently these kingdoms had been free of Red penetration, the Reds having concentrated all their efforts on Vietnam, the third member of the French Union of native states.) Up to this writing, no progress had been made on this or any other point in the closed-door talks which began last Monday. The proposed new pact would include the U. S., France, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand and The Philippines, plus Britain if Britain comes unshackled from its odd idea that the West can do business with Russia. If Britain persists in her obtuse attitude regarding Geneva, all well and good; if not, France and the U. S. have made it pretty plain they will proceed with the creation of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization—SEATO—regardless. Its purpose is to erect a barrier against further Communist penetration of Southeast Asia. If it seems to write off Indochina as already lost, that is unfortunate but probably pretty near the truth.

These Days—George Sokolsky

FDR Would Know How To Bring Order Out Of Present Dispute

Herbert Brownell Jr., Attorney General of the United States, speaks the same language as the chairman of the three Congressional Committees that are charged with investigating Communists and other subversives: "We know that one of the major objectives of the Communist Party has been to infiltrate our government. We have no intention of letting this happen." That is precisely what Senator Joe McCarthy has been saying. Why then is there so much conflict among the Republicans? Why is it impossible for them to cooperate on a common objective? The answer seems to be that the generation of Republicans who have come into office since 1952 have little understanding of the compromises, the give-and-take characteristics of free institutions. The peculiarities of the American government with three balanced branches can be foreign to those who have built their careers in other political media than the federal government. Brownell said in his speech of April 19: "The history of how the Communist underground infiltrated our national government, with the disastrous loss of atomic information and other defense data, is now familiar to all Americans. Earlier attempts to prevent this failed, partly because they were based on the belief that our government could stop the loss of government secrets to foreign agents merely by removing these government employees who were found to be disloyal to the United States..." This again is precisely what Senators McCarthy, Jenner and other anti-Communists have been saying for many years. Coming from the Attorney General of the United States, it is a confirmation of their position, namely, that the government has been infiltrated, that there has been espionage, that there was and is a pattern of association that re-

The World Today — James Marlow

Georgia's Governor Talmadge Might Find He's Overmatched In Court Fight

By JAMES MARLOW WASHINGTON (AP) — When it comes time to step into the ring with the United States Supreme Court, Herman Talmadge, dark-haired governor of Georgia, may find he's overmatched. He's itching, he says, for a knock-down-drag-out fight with the court which on Monday outlawed segregation in public schools. He says Georgia will defy the decision if it's the only Southern state which does. Georgia defied the court in President Andrew Jackson's time. Jackson winked and let Georgia get away with it. No present now-days is likely to follow suit. Defiance would put Talmadge in the position of defying the nation and even undermining it since there can be no democratic society unless its members abide by the lawful processes, including the court, which they created. Talmadge's determination to fight the court may be in direct proportion to the willingness of other Southern states to go along with him when the showdown comes. That's still months away. On Monday the court said only segregation must end. It invited the attorneys general from the states with segregation to argue here in October on terms of a decree which will fix a deadline. What the government might do is neither clear nor predictable. A few steps, however, appear obvious. Talmadge could say the ruling did not apply to Georgia because Georgia was not one of the states involved in the cases on which the court ruled, although its ruling does apply to all states. If Talmadge took this stand, nothing would happen until some time in 1955. It is a war between the white collar class and the coin vending machines in the office locker rooms where millions of white collar workers now consume the lunches they carry to work. In some offices the locker rooms resemble supermarkets, crowded with automatic dispensing gadgets that peddle everything from mystery novels to stockings. The locker room in my firm, however, is making no attempt to run the A & P out of business. This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP Born at Frankfort-on-Main, Germany on this day in 1801 was Ferdinand J. Lindheimer, first great Texas botanist and long-time newspaper editor of New Braunfels. Lindheimer left his native country for political reasons in 1833, coming first to New Orleans, the Texas Revolution brought him to the Lone Star domain, but he did not establish a home here until 1844, when he settled at New Braunfels. When the state's first German language newspaper was established there in 1852 Lindheimer became its editor, a position he held for a score of years. Often called the "father of Texas botany," Lindheimer organized the flora of Texas into a system. Many of the plants he first classified have botanical names as part of their "Lindheimeriana" as part of their botanical names. The German scholar found the Lone Star domain a rich field for botanical study, with some 4,000 different wild flowers, over 500 kinds of grasses and at least 100 varieties of cactus. His discoveries of previously unknown plants in the state won him widespread recognition in the field. Perhaps the earliest botanist to collect Texas plant life was Louis Berlandier, who made collections near Laredo, San Antonio and Gonzales in 1825.

Man Vs. Coin Vending Machine Is Big Battle

NEW YORK (AP)—There is a new kind of class warfare going on in America today. It is a war between the white collar class and the coin vending machines in the office locker rooms where millions of white collar workers now consume the lunches they carry to work. In some offices the locker rooms resemble supermarkets, crowded with automatic dispensing gadgets that peddle everything from mystery novels to stockings. The locker room in my firm, however, is making no attempt to run the A & P out of business. We have only 7 of these coin-operated mechanical salesmen, which yield 2 kinds of milk, several flavors of ice cream, 7 brands of cigarettes, 4 varieties of soft drinks, and about 20 kinds of candy bars. Joe Louis Is Told To Appear In Court

NEW YORK (AP)—Former heavyweight champion Joe Louis will be informed he will be arrested if he does not appear here by May 28 to answer six traffic tickets. Chief Magistrate John M. Murtagh signed a warrant of arrest yesterday for use against the former fight king if he doesn't show up by then. Louis' address was given as 2100 McDougal St., Detroit.

It's Surprising How Many Of Us Get Most Things We Desire

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald—Editor's Note. All of us think we want some things that we don't have, but when it comes to a test it usually turns out that we want is what we have. Or, perhaps a better way to say it is we get what we really want most of the time. This is emphasized in some recent reports about American tourists. There's nothing like tourists when it comes to spreading ideas. Those who think tourists are the best ambassadors a country can have may be on the right track. There is evidence to suggest that various people of the world would know each other much better if large numbers of tourists from each country could travel extensively in all other countries in the world. A recent report in the Wall Street Journal illustrates the point. The major report told about the Irish tourist travel from America in Europe. But a related note, or sidebar, showed something of the impact such travel is having on Europe. For example the operator of an eating joint in Rome decided to try serving American-style hamburgers because he heard that American tourists would go for them in a big way. The venture was so successful that he opened a new branch hamburger emporium in Naples. American tourists also are credited with causing France to get its first motel, and there's no telling how many new bath-rooms have been installed in hotels of Europe as a direct result of demands from travellers from the United States. These Americans who created the demand apparently thought they wanted a taste of Europe, but actually they wanted the experience seasoned a bit with familiar surroundings, or things they back in their home towns. Perhaps the late H. T. Webster, the very able cartoonist, best portrayed this trait in one of his sketches a few years ago. It was directed primarily to ardent bridge players. He told much more about American people. The scene, as we remember, showed some vacationers "roughing it" on a camping trip with such items as a radio, portable stove for cooking, plush folding chair etc., along with the inevitable card table and deck of bridge cards. —WACIL McNAIR

Houston's 'Big Rich' Present Awesome Sight For Foreigners

HOUSTON, Texas — I might as well admit at the beginning that I am in Houston, the Home of the Big Rich, only on sufferance, and am pledged to keep a civil tongue in my head. I had a very difficult time getting a visa for Houston, merely because I live in the same town, New York, as Miss Edna Ferber, author of "Giant," and there was some talk of guilt by association. Houston is the richest city per capita in the United States, or the whole world, including Texas, for that matter. It is also the only city with poor millionaires, who are sad-sack characters with more than one but less than ten millions in the bank. Middling millionaires are men with $50,000,000 or better, and the Big Rich, for which this city is noted, must have a minimum of $100,000,000 to make the grade. It is difficult for Houston to understand that wealth in such profusion is apt to stun visiting firemen from other parts of the nation. It even stuns other Texans, like the gentleman from Fort Worth who recently attended a party here at which his host pointed out to him a profusion of Big Rich. Finally, his host pointed out a man and said, "Sam, over there, is worth about two million." "On relief, I presume?" the Fort Worth citizen asked. "No," said his host, "Sam's wife is a good manager." It's this kind of story I wish to avoid today, because it makes the proper Houstonian feel he is misunderstood and that outlanders may even be having a little fun at his expense. It gives the rest of the nation the wrong impression when it reads about the Houston man who ordered the matching pair of air-conditioned Cadillacs and had them marked "His" and "Hers." The trouble is that foreigners like myself are left a little breathless by a conversation to which I was privy only an hour ago. I am quartered, by the way, in a huge swimming pool with hotel attached. As I stood waiting for an elevator to wait me to the lobby, a man and his teenage daughter, both in bathing attire, waited with me. "Daddy, my sunglasses don't match my bathing suit," the young lady said petulantly. "For Pete's sake, don't bother me about it. Get another pair!" her paw ordered impatiently. It is manifestly unfair to tell such stories about Houston, merely because people elsewhere just have to make do with any old pair of sunglasses. In all seriousness, the endless flow of oil has enabled Houston's Big Rich to be the most-generous persons in the world, giving millions to worthy causes with less thought than the average citizen shells out five dollars to the Community Chest. One result of this generosity is a medical center, now rising here, which will be one of the greatest, if not the greatest, in the world. The trouble is that impoverished visitors like myself are more apt to remember that the hush new headquarters of the rich Houston Club will provide constant baby-sitting service for its members, or be impressed with the Big Rich lady I met at a dinner party who said it was no trouble to keep her house filled with flowers. She just goes into the garden and cuts them, and then calls Mr. X who comes to the house and arranges them at $50 per hour.

Business Outlook — J. A. Livingston

Psychiatry Could Aid Industry's Accident Prone; Prove Big Boon

TOPEKA, Kansas — "Chummy, ain't he?" In any factory of office or community, you'll hear that said of somebody who frequently gets hurt. To insurance companies, the person's "accident prone." To business men, he's an added cost of operation. And to specialists in mental health—to psychiatrists at the world-famed Menninger Foundation here—he's likely to be classed as mentally ill, "emotionally unstable." Why do 30 per cent of all workers get involved in 85 per cent of the nation's industrial accidents? Are these accidents the result of physical failure in the plant, lack of skill on the part of the worker, or emotional upset? Those are questions Dr. William C. Menninger, who was chief of neuropsychiatry for the Army during the war, and an associate, Dr. Harry Levinson, are looking into. They regard emotional instability in man as an economic cost of doing business just as are machinery breakdowns. They'd like to measure these costs and see what can be done to reduce them. Causes of absenteeism, accidents, inefficiency, and antisocial behavior in industry have been analyzed before. The causes often start at the top. Bosses are tracheal, or inconsiderate. They look upon their time and convenience—they're paid more, aren't they?—as more important than workers'. Workers will be galled by toilets and dining rooms inferior to those of higher-ups. They'll be annoyed because the company provides parking space for the bosses' cars but not for theirs. Some workers will shrug these distinctions off, as part of the game. Others will brood. Aren't they as good as their bosses? This is a democracy, isn't it? They'll carry their resentment into day-dreaming on the job, errors, even self-inflicted accidents. Are they punishing themselves, or their bosses, and why? These brooders—and not the workers who throw off minor annoyances—are the Menningers' principal concern. Dr. Levinson cites a study of Paul Boynton, of Socony-Vacuum Corp., which concludes that character traits—social incompetence—were responsible for 90 per cent of the discharges among a large group of workers and for 78 per cent of the cases of nonpromotion. Numerous companies—American Cyanamid, duPont, General Motors, Allis-Chalmers, Standard Oil (New Jersey)—have used the services of psychiatrists. Allis Chalmers, says Dr. Levinson, rehabilitated 74 out of 116 problem drinkers. Consolidated Edison and Standard Oil of New Jersey have also had success with workers who nursed their egos on a bottle. Emotional problems start way back in childhood—with parents. The worker brings his problems—his anxieties—to the job. The Menninger Foundation wants to see what can be done in industry to understand these problems en masse and to ameliorate them. Should a psychiatrist, for example, be in on the hiring of workers, just as during the war the Army gave inductees psychiatric tests? Should companies maintain psychiatrists to examine workers who don't get along with others, who have frequent accidents, who constantly err? Dr. William Menninger—his brother Karl is equally well known in the field as author of "Man Against Himself"—and other books—tells the story of a promising young man who was promoted to district sales manager of a large company. Branch managers who were formerly his equals now looked to him for direction and decision. He became panicked by the responsibility. He put in long hours, became bogged down in detail. The more he worked, the less he accomplished. He had a "nervous breakdown." He had the skill for the job, says Dr. Menninger, but not the emotional fortitude. Could psychiatric advice within the company have saved this young executive from premature advancement? Can study of the human mind increase profits, efficiency, and human resources? Drs. Menninger and Levinson are certain they can. The question is, How? When they find the answer, the U. S. will be a richer, stronger, and better country, through the improvement of its greatest resource—man.

Look Around At Home

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP)—Police sent out a missing persons report and staged a wide search for a 16-year-old boy when his parents said he was missing. They found him in the Schenectady County jail. He had been unable to pay two $25 fines for traffic violations.

No TV? Play This New 'Analysis' Game

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

What interests most people most?

People, say Joan and Stuart Hoover of Rowayton, Conn., a couple of bright newwyeds who are parlaying this hunch into a big business.

Examining current modes and mores, they noted several popular trends: (1) psychoanalysis, (2) television and (3) staying home.

This, decided Joan and Stuart, was the psychological moment to invent a parlor game including elements from each. The result is a game called "Analysis" which was launched in a small way in Connecticut just before Christmas and now is selling in every state, plus Hawaii and Canada.

It's a sort of panel quiz game, in which players try to guess the identity of a person, male or female, living or dead, real or fictional, through narrowing down descriptive categories. It's a board game, with cards, and any number may play. Says Stuart, who recently quit his advertising job to devote full time to his game:

"I got the idea one night while I was dressing for a date with Joan, before we were married. I was wearing a ring from The Philippines, a coat made in Los Angeles, a tie from England, pants made in New York, and I happened to think that if I got hit by a car people would have a hard time figuring out where I lived.

"I mentioned it to Joan and we started figuring out just how a person's identity could be established, and decided there were only four categories needed to describe anybody; geographical location, profession, personality traits (that's where psychoanalysis comes in) and physical description.

"Most of my courtship of Joan was mixed up with the game. We worked out 25 descriptive words for each category. We turned out the first sets from home, getting the cards and boards printed by a local printer, and then last fall Joan and I went to nearby stores and sold them a few games apiece. "Our friends all took it up and started plugging it. We showed the game at a toy fair. All of a sudden we started getting orders from stores all over the country. Now we've taken over a little factory in Norwalk, Conn., and the going looks great."

Joan, a pretty blonde Vassar graduate who was raised in Lexington, Ky., and has an administrative job with a New York fashion school, doesn't seem to mind having spent most of her courtship and honeymoon thinking up new words to describe such characters as "a dead man from the Middle West, and wise writer." (That's Will Rogers.)

At present she works after hours and weekends on promotion for the game, while Stuart takes care of sales, shipping and other chores. Although their business is only a few months old, the young Hoovers already are building a home in Rowayton on proceeds from their brain-child.

Joan and Stuart analyze their rapid success this way:

"Everybody who watches a TV quiz always thinks he knows the answers before the panelists do. Now every man can be a quiz master in his own living room."

MRS. REVA MAXWELL
... she boosts morale at Webb's service club

WOMEN AT WEBB

Wow! Describes New Service Club Director

A simple blue and white striped seersucker uniform was probably never more attractive than when worn by Mrs. Reva Maxwell, the new service club director at Webb Air Force Base.

Mrs. Maxwell would be an asset anywhere with her brunoette chignon, dark fringe of eyelashes and brilliant smile.

Enthusiastic about her new job, she has been here just a month! Mrs. Maxwell loves people, and her previous jobs indicate that.

Before coming here she was executive secretary for the incentive program at Air Force Training Command Headquarters at Waco and she also was connected at one time with the Veterans Administration.

She says she is "strictly a Waco product." She went to Baylor there, where she studied personnel work. Her family lives there now. Texas is her home and she isn't interested in getting out of range of it.

What she likes most about this area is that you can see so much of Texas out here.

The airman at Webb are lucky because it's Mrs. Maxwell's job to plan entertainment and recreation for them at the center. This is to boost their morale. Must be at peak level now.

She's always on hand at the club on nights when something special is going on, then she says, "I'm the one who is just starting her job. She already thinks it's fun."

She and her two daughters live at 1803 Young. It would be hard to convince anyone that she could have a daughter all of 14 years old, but that is Cobby. Her other daughter is Lyn, 7. They are pretty too.

Mrs. Maxwell told us that her uniform in winter would be Air Force blue gabardine. Whoever was responsible for the Air Force's switch to blue must have had her in mind.

Pupils who were presented are: Doyleene Little, Gay Davidson, Sandy Montgomery, Deanna Watkins, Kay Mitchell, Sandra Wilkerson, Nancy Compton of Texas, Mary Ruth Ashill, Janice Costes of Big Lake, Carol ... Jo Cook, Gail McDaniel, Karla Watkins, Sue Parker, Pat Saunders, Ronnie Poole, Bud Saunders, Linda Poole, Mrs. Glenn Riley, Mrs. Clyde Reynolds and Mrs. I. L. Watkins.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Mitchell have been their daughter, Mrs. Winston Prichard of Dalhart, and Mr. Mitchell's sister, Mrs. W. G. Davis, Mr. Davis and their children of Fresno, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kitterman are expecting her sister, Mrs. C. W. Fritts, Mr. Fritts and their children from Aurora, Mo., to visit them soon.

Named Copy Editor

BELTON — Mary Anne Attaway, now completing her freshman year at Mary Hardin-Baylor College, is copy editor-elect of the college newspaper, The Bells. It was announced today by the paper's Board of directors. She is the daughter of Mrs. Ollie Attaway, 105 W. 5th, Big Spring.

THIS IS GOOD EATING

BOLOGNA AND COTTAGE CHEESE SALAD

Ingredients: 1 cup cream-style cottage cheese, 1/4 cup finely chopped dill pickle, 8 slices bologna, whole cloves, lettuce cups, radishes carrot curls.

Method: Mix cottage cheese and pickle. Place a heaping spoonful in center of each bologna slice; spread so cheese will cover center third of bologna slice. Bring edges of slice together and fasten with 2 cloves. Place 2 bologna rolls on each salad plate; arrange lettuce cup filled with radishes and carrot curls in cup. Makes 4 servings.

Note: To prepare lettuce cups, wash a head of iceberg lettuce in cold water. Cut out core and let cold water run through the head to separate leaves easily. Drain on towel. Use small lettuce-leaf cups for bologna and cottage cheese salad; store remaining lettuce in crisper or moisture-proof bags in the refrigerator. This goes well with the following lunch.

- Chicken and Noodle Soup
- Bologna and Cottage Cheese Salad
- Bread and Butter
- Cupcakes
- Beverage

TFWC Gets Ready For Convention

AUSTIN — Mrs. L. E. Dudley, Abilene, President of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs at a recent interview stated that Texas Clubwomen are very enthusiastic in their promotion of Mrs. J. W. Walker of Plainview, a former president of TFWC, as a candidate for the second vice president of general Federation of Women's Clubs subject to election June 3 at the 63rd Annual Convention of GFWC, Denver, Colo., May 31-June 1. On to Denver to vote for Texas and Mrs. Walker is the popular slogan.

The first of the special features for the Texas delegation will be a banquet, Tuesday, June 1 for the GFWC comprising Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma and Texas.

The delegates will meet for a Texas Breakfast the morning of June 2 at the Cosmopolitan Hotel. Reservations for all meal functions may be made after arrival in Denver.

Mrs. Dudley and the past presidents of TFWC will be honored at a tea on June 3 by Mrs. John L. Turpin of Denver in her home on 935 South Monroe. Mrs. Turpin is the sister of Mrs. L. S. McElroy of Balrd, TFWC board member as chairman of Antiques Division.

Mrs. Dudley is urging all delegates and visitors to consult the special travel bulletins they have received and to complete their reservations on either train or chartered pullmans (Fort Worth and Denver, Fort Worth); chartered bus (Plainview Chamber of Commerce; regular bus (Southwestern Greyhound or TWM&O agents) and plane (Branchiff). She further stated that information had been received from the Denver Housing Committee that ample hotel space is still available.

Micaiah Withstands False Prophets

THE MAN OF GOD SPEAKS BOLDLY AGAINST WAR

Scripture—1 Kings 22:1-40.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
IF IN A GROUP of people one man voted against a proposition of which 400 approved, we might be tempted to think that the one dissenting voice was that of a crank or chronic fault-finder. We might be right in thinking so, and then again events might prove that he was right and the 400 wrong. It is easy to vote with the majority, without thinking seriously of the consequences of the action to be taken.

In our lesson one man did stand bravely forth and opposed the wishes of his king and the acceptance of such wish by 400 thoughtless and subservient men whose only aspiration was to please this powerful king, regardless of circumstances. The events of the lesson took place over 100 years after the division of the kingdom. Ahab reigned over Israel and Jehoshaphat over Judah. Jehoshaphat went to pay a visit to Ahab. Now there had been peace between the kingdoms of Syria and Israel for three years, but the Syrians were threatening Israel, and had indeed taken the city Ramoth-Gilead (thought now to have been the present Mispah). Ahab asked Jehoshaphat to join with him in a war against Syria to try to recapture the town.

Jehoshaphat replied: "I am as thou art, my people as thy people, the hand of the king." Ahab was clever enough to realize that Micaiah was not speaking the truth, and said to him: "How many times shall I adjure thee that thou tell me nothing but that which is true in the name of the Lord?" Then Micaiah spoke as the Lord had told him: "I saw all Israel scattered upon the hills, as sheep that have not a shepherd, and the Lord said, These have no master; let them return every man to his house in peace." Ahab turned to Jehoshaphat, saying, "Did I not tell thee that he would prophesy no good concerning me, but evil?" Then Micaiah told the king that he had had a vision of God and that the Lord had asked who should persuade Ahab to go to war with Syria to his destruction, and a spirit stood forth and said he would, and it was this spirit who had put false words into the mouths of these false prophets.

For these words Ahab had Micaiah put into prison "until I come in peace." But Micaiah replied, "If thou return at all in peace, the Lord hath not spoken by me." Ahab, however, was really frightened by Micaiah's words, so much so that he went into battle disguised, leaving Jehoshaphat to wear the kingly robes. Ahab was hoping, no doubt that the Syrians my horses as thy horses." However, Jehoshaphat, a devout man, wanted God's approval of the war.

Ahab, however, called about 400 so-called prophets together, asked them about the matter, and they said, with one voice, "Go up; for the Lord shall deliver it into the hand of the king."

Jehoshaphat was not satisfied. He seems to have suspected that these 400 men were not true prophets of Jehovah, but mere hangers-on at the court who wanted to give Ahab anything the king desired. So Jehoshaphat said: "Is there not here a prophet of the Lord besides, that we might enquire of him?"

Ahab admitted that there was such a man and his name was Micaiah, but he hated him for he never prophesied any good for the king. However, he sent for Micaiah, and the two kings sat each on his throne, and we imagine the 400 false prophets stood about to see what Micaiah had to say, and the prophet came before them. Micaiah had told the messenger sent for him, "As the Lord saith, what the Lord saith to me that will I speak."

Ahab asked, "Micaiah, shall we go against Ramoth-Gilead to battle, or shall we forbear?" Micaiah said, "Go, and prosper; for the Lord shall deliver it into would think Jehoshaphat was king of Israel and that he would escape unrecognized.

However, the Syrian king told his men to fight only with the king of Israel.

The soldiers pursued Jehoshaphat at first, thinking he was King Ahab, but when they were told he was not the king of Israel they ceased to follow him.

A certain man (name unknown) drew a bow at a venture, and smote Ahab the king between the joints of his harness, and the king told his chariot driver to carry him out of the heat for he was wounded.

They propped the king up in his chariot that he might look as if he were alive. The battle increased and Ahab died in the evening and his blood covered the chariot. A proclamation was heard throughout the multitude when the sun went down, saying, "Every man to his city, and every man to his country."

So King Ahab died and was buried in Samaria, and one washed his chariot at a pool and horrible to relate, the wild dogs licked up his blood. So died ignominiously the wicked king of Israel who was unfaithful to God, to his neighbor and to his people, who would not listen to the words of the prophet of God.

Marchioness Wins Financial Demands

NEW YORK (U.P.)—Counsel for the Marchioness of Milford Haven says she has received a satisfactory financial settlement from the Marquess of Milford Haven, her estranged husband.

The settlement was disclosed yesterday when the attorney, Harold H. Corbin, told State Supreme Court Justice B. M. McNally in a letter that there was no further need to pursue two motions dealing with the couple's counterclaims for divorce.

Corbin declined to discuss details. Other sources have indicated the settlement included a five-figure, lump-sum payment.

The marchioness, the American-born Romayne Simpson, has been receiving $600 monthly alimony.

Religious Groups Use Surplus Foods As Aid

NEW YORK (U.P.)—Protestant, Jewish and Catholic relief services have shipped $52,226,015 worth of government surplus foods to needy areas overseas in the past year.

In a joint announcement yesterday, the services said the shipments included 155 million pounds of butter, cheese and powdered milk.

The surplus was released by the government on condition the relief agencies take over distribution. The religious groups also took care of the handling costs.

A Hymn Is Born

BY CLINT BONNER

Take My Life and Let It Be

A sick hymn writer sits up all night

On the evening of Feb. 4, 1894, a group of 19 people gathered at an English home for a going away party for one of the empire's most noted hymn writers.

During the evening the poetess took the opportunity to study each member of the gathering. She observed that the happiest of the group were those who had found their respective places in life and were using their talents accordingly. While, on the other hand, the most unhappy were those who had not discovered their talents or, in her opinion, were not using their abilities in proper channels.

Frances Ridley Havergal lived in the belief that her talents were a trust of God and were to be used only as He would have them used. Many another artisan had used his talent just as sincerely. It was, in fact, the work of a painter with his version of Christ on the cross, that inspired Miss Havergal to write her first notable hymn, "I Gave My Life for Thee."

After the guests had gone the 23-year-old poetess retired to her room. Her observations had led her to a renewed conviction that her gift of writing verses was God-given . . . and to the theme of one of her greatest hymns. As was the case most of her short life (she died at 43) Miss Havergal was ill. But she began to write, by dawn Frances Ridley Havergal had completed another of her immortal hymns which is given here in part.

Take my life, and let it be
Consecrated, Lord, to Thee;
Take my hands, and let them move
At the impulse of Thy love.

Take my love, my Lord, I pour
At Thy feet its treasure-store;
Take myself, and I will be
Thine, only, all for Thee.

Take my feet, and let them be
Swift and beautiful for Thee;
Take my voice, and let me sing
Always, only for my King.

Lord, I give my life to Thee,
Thine forever—more to be;
Lord, I give my life to Thee,
Thine forever—more to be.

Firms Urged To Help Boost Tourist Traffic In City

Operators of business establishments along the highways in Big Spring are being asked by the Chamber of Commerce to improve the city's service to the traveling public.

This week letters were written to highway businessmen to impress them with the amount of additional money they can bring to the city through simple courtesy and hospitality.

The letters were sent by H. M. Rainbolt, chairman of the tourist development committee.

"As our service and hospitality continue to improve, so will our out-of-state visitors increase," Rainbolt pointed out in the letter.

"The fact that the travel trade is the third largest source of income in the United States is reason for trying to improve our service to the traveling public."

Since Big Spring is situated on the cross roads of the two longest and most important highways in America, revenue here from tourists should be heavy, he said.

Highway 80 goes from the east to west coast, and Highway 87 extends from Alaska to Monterrey.

Intimating that Big Spring should have its fair share of state tourist money, Rainbolt said, "Information released by the Texas Highway Department shows that more than $700 million was derived by Texas last year from the tourist trade."

In his letter to filling stations, cafes, stores and other highway establishments, Rainbolt included a code of courtesy which he says will prove profitable.

This code is (1) smile and be friendly, (2) offer any information needed, (3) tell the tourist something interesting about the city, and (4) tell those passing through to come back.

If each tourist is told an interesting fact about the city, he will always remember passing through, Rainbolt wrote. If each receives a friendly welcome he is bound to stop again on the next trip or tell others to stop.

City maps were sent to all the highway establishments by the Chamber so that directions can be given tourists readily. The dealers were asked to tell tourists that the maps can be obtained at the Chamber office with other information about the city.

McRee Going To Scout Ranch

Bill McRee, executive for the Lone-Star district, will leave this weekend for the Buffalo Trail Scout Ranch.

Last week he spent several days at the ranch in preparation for the summer camping season, and this week he will be putting everything in shape for the opening of the camp on May 30. This season the camp will be operated in consecutive weekly periods through July 10. McRee is to be program director for the first half of the season.

The Scout Ranch will be available the remainder of the summer for Scout units to use on their own, operating their own program and furnishing their own facilities. A staff of 21 trained experts will supervise the six weeks of council camping.

Some of the program skills available are horse back riding, rifle and skeet shooting, archery, pioneering, handicraft, cooking, seamanship, burro pack trips, swimming, Indian lore, survival training, first aid and others.

A full time doctor will reside at the camp for the entire camping period, and Scouts will be issued health and accident insurance during the camping period.

The central dining hall has been refurnished to knotty pine and several other improvements have been made.

Troops will camp as a unit and boys will use central shower and toilet facilities.

There is a new road into the camp; a new staff cabin, handicraft lodge, new corrals, storage barns. Fee for the camp is $14 for the period. Sam McComb and his camping committee are contacting units here.

DE VALERA OUSTED

New Irish Premier To Boost Agriculture Of Emerald Isle

By TOM OCHILTREE

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—Associates of John A. Costello said today the coalition leader will give top priority to improvement and modernization of Irish agriculture when he takes over as premier.

Costello's control of the government was assured last night when final returns from Tuesday's general elections gave the group of parties headed by him a majority in the new Dail (Parliament). Outgoing Premier Eamon de Valera conceded that his Fianna Fail (Men of Destiny) party had been defeated and the opposition could form a new government.

The Dail is scheduled to convene June 2 to launch the new regime. While plans for formation of the government still were in an early stage, a friend of Costello said the Fine Gael (United Ireland) party chief believed the future of Ireland lies in developing her only major asset—12 million acres of arable land.

Through the years this most essential element of Ireland's economy has been neglected. The land now is being tilled only at 60 per cent capacity. American economic aid experts have urged the republic to do something about it.

With three seats still to be decided at a special election next week, Tuesday's voting gave the parties this representation in the 147-seat Dail:

Fianna Fail—64.

Independents—5.

Coalition parties—75. These included Fine Gael, 49; Labor, 18; Clann Na Talmhan (Farmers), 5; Clann Na Poblachta (Republicans), 3.

Fianna Fail suffered a net loss of only six seats, but it had held only a two-vote control in Parliament.

De Valera, 71 and nearly blind, has been a dominant figure in Irish politics for more than a score of years. In that time Costello has been the only man to beat him, and now Costello has done it twice.

From 1948 to 1951, Costello was premier of a coalition government that eventually was ousted by the Fianna Fail.

In conceding defeat, De Valera stated his party "faced the unpopularity of the measures necessary to set the country's finances right."

Ireland's economic ills were largely responsible for the popular old leader's downfall as government chief.

The cost of food essentials has jumped since the government withdrew the bulk of its food subsidies in 1953. Taxes have been increased in the face of opposition protests that they were stifling the country's economy. Unemployment has mounted.

Costello, a 62-year-old Dublin attorney, is a neat dresser with a full head of white hair. His years at the bar have given him a vigorous debating style. Golf is his one hobby.

He is a devoted family man, with three sons and two daughters. One son, Declan, also is a member of the Dail.

Students Appear On Kiwanis Program

Eight physical education students at Big Spring Junior High School reaped applause for their rendition of several dances at the Kiwanis Club's luncheon meeting Thursday in the Settles Hotel.

The students were introduced by Roy Thurston of the Junior High physical education department.

H. W. Smith was in charge of the program.

Area FFA Meet Schedule Is Set

Registration for the Area Future Farmers of America meeting and officer training school to be held at the Lamesa High School will start at noon, June 1, according to Lester F. Buford of Big Spring, area supervisor of vocational agriculture over a large West Texas area.

This will be a three-day program, Buford said. David Ewing and Carl Thurman have been elected delegates from the Big Spring High School Chapter of the FFA.

The first general session will be opened in the High School Auditorium at Lamesa at 1:30 p.m., immediately following the registration. This program will include an address of welcome by Mayor Bob Crawley; other short addresses and entertainment. After adjournment at 4 p.m. the delegates will be entertained with a swimming party, a barbecue sponsored by the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce and a show at the Sky-vue Drive-In.

Morning and afternoon sessions June 2 will also be held in the Auditorium with all three meals served in the school cafeteria. That evening they will be guests at an FFA-and-FHA dance at the Country Club. The Thursday meeting will be adjourned at 10:30 a.m. to allow those delegates living in the Trans-Pecos country to reach home before night. New area officers will be installed Thursday morning.

Among the vocational agriculture instructors who will assist with the program will be A. H. Smith of Ackery; Wayne White of Coahoma; E. D. Steele of Stanton; R. E. Baumhardt of Big Spring; Marlon Barber of Garden City and L. M. Hargrave of the Department of Agriculture at Texas Tech.

True Love Even Among Burglars

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Even though his wife left him for another burglar, John Formby pleaded with the court to be lenient with her, and she got a county jail sentence instead of a state prison term.

Mrs. Dee Formby was charged with robbery and burglary after her arrest with the other man, John Pattison, 27, who already is in prison.

Formby, 28, of Bellflower, told Superior Judge Mildred Lillie yesterday: "I love her and I'll wait for her and make a home for her, judge."

Formby didn't say how or when. He is due in Long Beach Superior Court next Thursday himself—for sentence on a burglary charge.

"Milk wool" with samples of cloth made from such material.

In our modern age, chemists are doing countless things to add to knowledge. Their work helps to promote a better life for everyone.

Chemists have played a big part in developing the "wonder drugs," as well as vitamins. By finding better ways to produce drugs and vitamins of standard quality, they have kept the prices from being too high for common use.

In addition, the chemists have provided all manner of plastics. Celluloid is classed as the "first important plastic." It was produced more than 80 years ago by John H. Hyatt. By combining alcohol, camphor and cellulose nitrate, and using heat, he made celluloid. Little was done to follow up Hyatt's work until the present century. Now we have hundreds of kinds of plastics, including safety glass, bakelite, plastic dishes, plastic lenses and several kinds of plastic cloth.

Who would have supposed that milk could be turned into buttons or cloth? Scientists have found ways to do both of these things. A material known as "milk wool" is made from skim milk, and can be woven into cloth.

The casing of milk can be turned into buttons. Another use for casein is in making cold-water paints and waterproof glue. Some so-called "felt" hats are made from casein, also many piano keys.

Soybeans are a big food crop of Asia, and the plants have been brought to North America. In the United States enough soybeans are grown to supply about two bushels for every person in the country. Soybean flour goes into the making of some loaves of bread, also into crackers.

Soybean meal is used in making many plastic objects. The objects include toys and billiard balls, also parts of some automobile hood. When you take a seat in a chair of a certain type, you may be resting, in a sense, on soybeans! Tomorrow: More About a Sud-

DATE DATA

Situation Calls For Fortright Decision

By BEVERLY BRANDOW

Bob Andrews is on the spot. Maybe he knows it and maybe he doesn't. We hope he knows it because the next few minutes are going to tell how much of a man he is, as well as how much of a gentleman.

Rick Mason and Gloria Sneed, the other half of his double date, have decided that "canned music" and a high school gym make pretty dumb atmosphere for a party. They're looking down their noses at the whole thing and talking big.

"Let's clear out of here and go somewhere we can have some fun," Rick says. "Some place with some mood about it." Gloria interrupts, "like the La Swank Bar downtown." Rick grabs the conversation again and the pressure is on.

When Bob telephoned Barbara last Tuesday he asked to take her to the school party. When she said yes, she was saying yes to the school party, and so were her parents when they issued their approval. The La Swank Bar is not the high school gym!

Maybe the adventure sounds manly and Bob would like to taste this new atmosphere, but remember, Bob, your first duty as a man and a gentleman is to your date.

You may be in an awkward situation with your friends thinking you are a baby if you refuse to go with them and your girl friend ruing the day she made this date, if you do accept their challenge, but consider her side of it. She made an agreement with you. Without warning, you are changing the rules of that agreement and trapping her into something unexpected either by not consulting her about the matter or so putting her on the spot that she almost has to go along if she wants to keep from looking like a square.

You're not going to be very popular with her hereafter if you are the cause of making her do something she personally disapproves of and would be ashamed to tell her parents about.

Unless Barbara joins the cheering section with Rick and Gloria in favor of the La Swank Bar, it's your duty as a man and a gentleman to veto the idea. You must do it alone and with valor without using Barbara as an excuse and thus putting the monkey on her back.

If Bob is driving, he holds the influence; what he says goes. Is he a man or a mouse to be lulled into being a traitor to his date?

When the other couple is in the driver's seat, Bob can tell them to go if they like, but he and Barbara will stay at the party. Street-cars, buses and taxis still run, you know. His reward? The stars in Barbara's eyes as she thinks of boys who would have given her a rough time of it instead of being so gallant.

Three cheers.

Armadillos No Boon In Crowded Gotham

RIVERHEAD, N. Y. (AP)—Sidney Schwartz brought two armadillos from Comfort, Tex., in order to write a thesis on their birth habits for a New York University doctorate.

The armadillos, both females, gave birth to seven offspring, which makes nine armadillos.

Armadillos sleep during the daytime and like to whoop it up at night. And they eat like mad.

For the sake of quiet and economy, Schwartz tried to get rid of at least the mama armadillos. But nobody seems to want them, including zoos and animal dealers.

"I can't turn them loose, that would be cruel," Schwartz said yesterday. "There must be somebody who likes armadillos."

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

De Winger of Oklahoma carted off the biggest purse and Ed Hopkins and Ernie Voulter emerged as the leading amateurs in the recent Abilene Open Golf Tournament but, for nine holes, Big Spring's Bobby Wright was the hottest linkster present.

Wright, probably the best amateur golfer here at the present time and a lad who could be among the very best in a golf-minded state if he had the time to devote to the game some of the others do, blistered the Abilene Country Club with a six-under-par 30. His hot round materialized the second day of the meet.

He birdied the first five holes, parred the next four and finished with a birdie.

Big Spring's other amateur in the tournament, John Pipes, lacked one stroke of qualifying for the final day of play. He had matching 75's the first two days, whereas it took a score of 149 to get in under the wire. Pipes is another who can't begin to realize his potential because he simply can't play enough.

Wright wound up with a 54-hole score of 218. He had a 76 the first day, came in with a 68 the same time around and finished with a 74.

C. A. DeWees, pro of the local Country Club, played consistent if not great golf at Abilene. He had 73-73-73 for a 221 total.

Foy Fanning, the former Murrey pro who now has a similar job at Abilene, told friends—with tongue in cheek—he felt like quitting the game after rounds of 75-75-74 for a 224 aggregate.

The irrigation system at the Big Spring Country Club, which had to be improved after club directors decided to water the fairways, recently was used for the first time.

The recent rains helped to give the course more vegetation than it had at any time last year and the irrigation system should help to put the course in top shape by the time the club stages its Fourth of July Club meet and its annual invitational in September.

It's probable work will begin shortly on the club's new swimming pool, too.

Johnny Tayoan, who rejoined the San Angelo Colts recently, quit a good job in the oil fields to return to baseball.

Archie Peel, one of the better baseball players around Texon for a number of years, now resides in Fortran.

Richard Bravo, the Big Spring Bronco's new shortstop, and popular Bertie Baez are brothers-in-law.

Hillis Layne, San Angelo's field foreman, may be having his troubles as manager of the Colts but he is perhaps the best glove man in the league, Scooter Hughes not excepted.

Sore leg and all, Layne knows what he's going to do with the ball before it ever gets to him and doesn't count the seams on it once he does get it.

He's a good sticker, too. He'll be up around the top in betting before the season is over.

Dallas Skids To 5th Place

By The Associated Press

Resurging Shreveport was in third place Friday, just three games out of first, and skidding Dallas had dropped into a fifth-place tie with Tulsa in the tumultuous Texas League pennant fight.

Arnie Atkins' pitching won for Shreveport, Thursday night, 3-1, over the last-place Beaumont Exporters. Tulsa, lightly regarded when the season opened, whipped the Fort Worth Cats in both ends of a day-night doubleheader, 3-2 and 6-4. Dallas lost another 4-3 decision to Oklahoma City. And San Antonio sacked Houston, 6-1.

The teams changed opponents Friday and Dallas and Beaumont hoped their luck would change with the shift.

Atkins struck out nine Exporters at Shreveport, walked three men and was in trouble only in the fourth inning when the Shippers scored their lone run. It was his second win in seven decisions. But the Sport leathers helped Atkins but little. Both of the tie-breaking runs were unearned.

Al Pappal let the Dallas Eagles down with four hits and his Oklahoma City mates coupled it with a night of wild Eagle fielding to take the series, three games to one. Dallas' Howie Anderson, making his first start in three weeks, pitched strong ball while absorbing his fourth loss of the season.

The leading San Antonio Missions scored five runs in the fourth inning to go ahead for the night, after Fritz Marolewski homered to the third to put Houston ahead briefly. Charlie Locke held the Buffs scoreless after the third, pitching seven-hit ball over the full route.

A juggled grounder and an error which let Danny Lynch score from third after two were out in the eighth, let Tulsa whip Fort Worth in the day game although Rudy Fayrich, who made the fatal error, pitched five-hit ball. In the night game, Gene Halton smashed a three-run homer in the seventh to bring the Oilers from behind a two-run deficit.

Big Purse Awaits Speedway Winners

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The glitter of a quarter-million-dollar purse and a record cracking pace in last weekend's trials will shoot a double stimulant into about 40 drivers Saturday and Sunday in final 10-mile time trials for the 500-mile auto race May 31.

It could be dangerous on a track that has killed 44 people.

Sixteen drivers qualified last weekend at an average speed of 138.369 miles an hour, almost 2 miles faster than last year's field. Only 17 starting spots remain for the 47 unqualified cars in the speedway garages.

After the 33-car lineup is filled, a driver still can squeeze in by qualifying faster than the slowest car in the field, which then is eliminated. Such "bumping" probably will be the main order of business Sunday.

DILLARD SADDLES TWO WINNERS IN CHICAGO

Big Spring trainer, Johnny Ray Dillard scored a perfect two for two in Wednesday's closing day program at Chicago's Sportsman Park.

Dillard saddled two winners in two starts for the day. They were Flying Bry, owned by Claude Kelley, Jayton and Court E, owned by Clyde Jennings, Corpus Christi.

Dillard had taken over training activities of the Jennings horses last week.

Flying Bry, who paid a hefty $54 in winning her first race there earlier in the meet, saw action Monday, running second to Run Red Run. A track record was set in his winning the fast five furlong sprint.

Wednesday, Flying Bry was lengthened to the 7 furlong distance of the "Broomstick Purse" and breaking from the No. 6 gate,

Coahoma Is Upset By Webb Dusters

Three YMCA City Softball League games were unveiled here Thursday night, one of them at Webb Air Base.

In a major upset, WAFB's Dusters shocked Coahoma, 4-0, behind the sterling three-hit pitching of Mel Haveman.

Only DeVaney, Ray and Ward touched Haveman for base hits as the Webb ace struck out 11 over the seven-inning stretch.

Webb got its first two runs in the first and two more in the second.

Ward, on the mound for Coahoma, fanned four and gave up six hits.

At the City Park, AACS lost to Service Center, 11-2; while Motor Vehicle Squadron nosed out Field Maintenance, 7-6.

The latter contest was played under protest. The executive committee of the league may be called into session over a rule interpretation which Chief Umpire Rex Pinkham said the rule book did not make clear.

On Monday night, Field Maintenance shelled Bell Telephone, 12-4, before the rains started.

There was no action on Tuesday and Wednesday, due to wet grounds.

Tonight, Bell Telephone tangles with Piggy Wiggy at the City Park.

Langlois Tries Joey Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Joey Giardello's reaction to the Bobo Olson-Rocky Castellani title fight announcement is the key to his middleweight bout with Pierre Langlois tonight at Madison Square Garden.

If Giardello, the No. 1 contender, decides to take out his disappointment on Langlois, the Frenchman could be his fourth straight knock-out victim. If Joey still is deeply disturbed about being bypassed by the champ, he may not be in the mood for a top effort.

Although Giardello has been promised an October shot at the champ, there are two big "ifs": 1. Olson must not lose to Castellani; 2. Giardello must not lose to anybody.

Giardello is a solid 1-to-3 favorite in the 10-round match, scheduled for 8 p.m. CST with network radio (ABC) and television (NBC).

Layne's Offer To Quit Vetoed

SAN ANGELO (SC) — Hillis Layne's offer to resign as manager of the San Angelo Colts was turned down by club directors here Thursday.

Instead, the ex-Washington Senator was given a solid vote of confidence by his employers.

Layne told the directors he thought the Colts needed an entirely new infield and pitching help.

Preakness May Be Wide Open Race

BALTIMORE (AP) — "Saturday doubtful" said the forecaster about the weather and it applied very well to tomorrow's Preakness, in which 11 young horses will whirl around old Pimlico for $140,150 in prize money.

Although the supposedly well informed lean heavily toward either Robert S. Lytle's Correlation or Hasty House Farm's Hasty Road as the likely winner, this is a year so far in which it's a wide-open race for the best 3-year-old.

It began when such highly touted prospects as Turn To and Portehouse were put out of action with injuries early. Then Determine came along to win the May 1 Kentucky Derby, first of the triple-crown classics which bear heavily on selection of the 3-year-old champ. Determine's owner, Andy Crevalin, has left the door open now by keeping him out of the Preakness, saying he didn't want "to press his luck."

Bryant Has A Big Job Ahead

By HUGH FULLERTON JR. COLLEGE STATION, Texas, May 21 (AP)—As a football coach, 60-year-old Paul "Bear" Bryant has managed to get around to a good many places. Most of the spots have been tough, but "Bear" achieved success and popularity in every one.

For that reason he isn't afraid of moving into a rather difficult position at Texas A&M. He's professionally pessimistic, however, about his team's chances next fall in the rugged Southwest Conference — probably with good reason. Nobody is rating the Aggies very highly, though few agree with Bryant's statements that he doesn't "figure" to win a game.

Texas A&M, which compares favorably in size with most other Southwest Conference colleges, has had more than its share of troubles and less than its share of good players in recent years.

Bryant's first big job is to get the kind of material he needs for a winning team. Of this he says: "Texas high school football is the greatest anywhere. There's plenty of material. Never in my career have I been so close to so many fine prospects, and at the same time had so much competition in getting them. There's six Southwest Conference schools in the state, plus a dozen other schools, competing for the boys."

Because of this competition and because A&M is an all-male military college that doesn't particularly appeal to pampered athletes, nobody blamed Ray George too much when his teams managed to win only one conference game a year. There were some rumors of a change bouncing around before George quit in January "to enter private business." But many observers figured Ray was too popular to fire, and that athletes just couldn't be persuaded to enter a school with strict regulations and "treat 'em rough" traditions.

Such factors don't bother a guy who was tough enough to wrestle a bear back home in Arkansas. That's how Bryant got his nickname, "Bear" just moved in with a staff of assistants from Kentucky and went out to look over a few prospective students.

"As far as this being a military school, we think that's an asset," Bryant says. "In our opinion, there are lots of boys who like this kind of school and we think an education comes first. The military training a boy receives here is much more valuable than he would receive in any ROTC school."

"This school has more spirit and traditions than a dozen others. That's one of the things that impressed us so when Kentucky played here two years ago. The boys carried my boys off the field after Kentucky had beaten A&M. The twelfth man they call it. You can't see it but you surely can feel it."

CLUB WINNING, THO

St. Louis Mound Corps Is Shaky

By BEN PHLEGAR AP Sports Writer Can the St. Louis Cardinals keep up their tremendous hitting long enough for Eddie Stanky to find out if he finally has solved his pitching problems?

If they can, the skin-tight National League pennant race may soon start coming apart at the seams. The Cardinals arrived home from the East today, a game and a half in front of the nearest of the closely bunched contenders.

Of even more importance to the Cards was the blossoming of Tom Poholsky as a starting pitcher. The big right-hander was used twice on the trip. He lost a 1-0 heartbreaker in Brooklyn, where he allowed only three hits. And he went the distance again last night against the last-place Pirates.

St. Louis pitching, the club's biggest question mark from the very start of spring training, has left a lot to be desired. Manager Stanky has been using Harvey Haddix, Gerry Staley and Vic Raschi. Then he closes his eyes, pulls a name out of the hat and hopes.

At one time or another everybody except Raschi, the $75,000 acquisition from the New York Yankees, has been blasted. Seven times the Cardinals' rivals have scored 10 or more runs.

No wonder Poholsky, fresh from two years in the Army, looks good. While the pitching has been shaky, the hitting has been amazing. The team batting average is .295 and five of the regulars are over .300, topped by Ray Jablonski at .374 and Stan Musial at .367, top men in the league.

Even Poholsky got into the hitting act last night. He singled three times in three official times at bat, sacrificed once and drove in four runs. Musial drove in four with his 13th home run and a triple.

The Cardinals scored six runs in the first inning, one in the fourth, seven in the seventh and three in the eighth for their high total of the season.

Even though they lead the league by a game and a half, the Cardinals are all even in the "games lost" column with the seventh-place Chicago Cubs. The Cubs have lost 14 of 28, the Cardinals 14 of 33.

Jammed in between are Brooklyn and Philadelphia, tied for second; Milwaukee in fourth; New York, fifth; and Cincinnati, sixth.

No other games were played in the majors yesterday. The Giants were scheduled in Philadelphia but were rained out.

The Friday action, as usual is almost entirely at night. The only day game matches Milwaukee against the Cubs in Chicago, St. Louis entertaining Cincinnati, New York is at Philadelphia and the Pirates limp into Brooklyn.

In the American League the Yankees play their first home night game, with Boston furnishing the opposition. Baltimore goes to Cleveland, Chicago to Detroit and Philadelphia to Washington.

WT-NM Batters Go On Rampage

By The Associated Press It was just one of those nights in the West Texas-New Mexico League last night: 4 games, 78 runs, 97 hits, 25 pitchers and 22 errors.

The Albuquerque Dukes took over second place on a 15-9 victory over Plainview, which had shared the spot going into the game. Totals: 26 hits, 8 pitchers and 6 errors.

The Berger Gassers outlasted Lubbock Hubbers in the battle for last place, 16-15. Totals: 36 hits, 11 pitchers and 6 errors.

League-leading Clovis defeated Abilene, 9-3, in the tightest game. Totals: 17 hits, 3 pitchers, 8 errors.

The Amarillo Gold Sox jumped over Pampa into fourth place, 11-0. Totals: 18 hits, 3 pitchers, 2 errors.

The teams switch around tonight with Albuquerque moving to Plainview, Clovis to Lubbock, Berger to Pampa and Amarillo to Abilene.

At Albuquerque, George Socha took his second straight victory over the Ponies. He hurled 4 1-3 innings in relief, the third and final Duke pitcher. The loser was Ed Arthur, first of the Plainview quintet.

Big gun for the Dukes was Manager Tom Jordan who hit a homer and two doubles to drive in seven runs.

The wildest scramble of the night was at Berger with the climax coming in the ninth when Hubber manager Red Lynn was thrown out of the game for arguing. The fifth Gasser hurler, Lynn also was the loser.

The victory went to John Flowers, fifth Gasser pitcher. The host club pushed over the winning run with two out in the ninth following the disputed play at third which led to Lynn's exit.

Hank Paskiewicz and Pete Trabucco hit homers to drive in five runs and lead Clovis to its victory. It was the fourth straight victory for the league leaders and their 10th in the last 12 games.

The winner was Red Dial who gave only eight hits. John Shaw was the loser.

Tugerson Nears Pascual Mark

ARTESIA (SC) — Still hanging on to fifth place in Longhorn League standings despite a 4-0 reversal suffered at the hands of Artesia here Thursday night, the Big Spring Broncs seek to end their two-game losing skid here tonight.

On Saturday, the Steeds return to Texas, moving to Sweetwater for a two-game series with the Spudders. It will be his first visit of the year to Sweetwater. The Broncs return home Monday, at which time they test Midland.

Big Jim Tugerson, up from the Mountain States League, where he won 23 games last year, had the Big Springers eating out of the palm of his hand Thursday night.

The Negro rightshander came within one inning of Potso Pascual's record for scoreless innings. Thursday night's goose eggs brought him to 41 straight. Pascual set his mark of 42 in 1950.

Artesia got the run that proved to be the winner in the third frame. Paul Dobkowski drew a pass off loser Aramis Arcecebia and was sacrificed to second by Dean Smith. Floyd Economides singled Dobkowski home.

In the fifth, Ruben Smart and John Goodell singled and Bob Herron whacked a double to center to score Smart.

An RBI two-bagger by Tugerson and error accounted for the final pair of Artesia runs in the sixth. Paul Dobkowski drew a pass off loser Aramis Arcecebia and was sacrificed to second by Dean Smith. Floyd Economides singled Dobkowski home.

Tugerson has now won seven games and lost one to lead the loop losers.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Individual duels and team rivalries will abound in the Coliseum Relays tonight, not the least of which will involve fun-loving Fortune Gordien of discus throwing fame.

A host of internationally known stars will compete in this 14th annual track and field carnival, and a crowd of 30,000 or more is expected to witness the 2-hour show starting at 9:30 p.m. (CST).

Standout events include competition between high jumpers Ernie Shelton of Southern California and Chuck Holding of East Texas State; Mal Whitfield of Los Angeles and Ingvar Ericsson of Sweden in the mile run; The Rev. Bob Richards and Don Laz in the pole vault, and the major relay races.

Add to these discus contest, Gordien, a gifted magician, dramatic actor and holder of the world record 194 feet 6 inches, will be seeking a measure of revenge from another young giant of shot putting fame, Parry O'Brien, his teammate with the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

Southern California's 440-yard relay team has a "mad cat" at the University of Texas foursome, which beat the Trojans in Dallas recently. The Longhorns have been sensational all spring, however, in the sprint relays—a best time of 40.3 in the 440-yard relay is a standout, although it may never go as a new world record.

The distance relay races are jammed with talent. Teams are entered from Michigan, Morgan State, Occidental, USC, Arizona State at Tempe, Illinois, Fordham, California, Athlete Christian and Southern Methodist.

Well Represented HUNTSVILLE (AP)—Sam Houston State, which won the Lone Star Conference baseball crown, placed seven men on the all-conference team picked by coaches.

Demaret Will Not Play In Colonial FORT WORTH (AP)—The field for the $25,000 National Colonial Invitation Golf Tournament was set today with all the name players except Sam Snead and Jimmie Demaret ready to go after the $5,000 first money.

Snead wasn't invited because he said he didn't want to play here and Demaret had to withdraw yesterday because of illness.

Major League Attendance Shows Sizeable Increase

NEW YORK (AP)—Major league baseball attendance, after hitting the skids the past few years, is taking a turn for the better this season.

An Associated Press survey disclosed today that the 1954 turnstile count is up more than 400,000 over last season with nine clubs benefiting.

Major league teams have played before an over-all total of 3,001,324 fans as compared to 2,595,235 in a like number of home games a year ago.

Thanks to its new Baltimore entry, which already has surpassed the total paid admissions for the St. Louis Browns in 1953, the American League shows a gain of more than 350,000. The Orioles, with a draw of 318,679 at home, are running 218,524 customers ahead of the defunct Browns.

The National League's gain is negligible — 57,439 — but five of its teams are on the upgrade. They are St. Louis, 54,479; Brooklyn, 45,210; New York, 25,213; Cincinnati, 7,227 and Chicago 2,696.

Surprisingly, Milwaukee, which established a National League attendance record last season, is one of the three senior loop clubs running behind its 1953 figures. The Braves show a deficit of 11,217. The Phillies and Pirates also are under their '53 gate totals.

The spirited play of the Detroit Tigers is reflected in an almost 150,000 improvement in attendance over last season. Chicago (45,022) and Philadelphia (17,301) also have attracted more American League fans at home.

The Red Sox, Indians, Senators and Yankees all are trailing, with the Yankees the biggest losers, 31,572.

Burke Is Second In Eastern Open

BALTIMORE (AP)—Bob Toki, a little shaver from Livingston, N.J., was the biggest target of a strong pursuing field today as the 850,000 Eastern Open Tournament went into the second round at muddy Mt. Pleasant golf course here.

The 127-pound Toki admitted he surprised even himself by clipping 6 strokes off par 72 during an abominably cold, steady rain over the 6,895-yard layout.

His sparkling 66 was good enough for a 2-stroke lead over handsome Jack Burke Jr., the Texas registered from Kalmesh Lake, N.Y.

Harland Station Provides Top Auto Service

Imagine, if you will, all the gasoline-burning vehicles in this community converging upon the service stations, numerous as they are, at one time for re-fueling. Traffic jams would result. The police would probably be tearing their hair and the motorists would be faced with long waits.

Refilling a gas tank takes a relative short time, time that usually can be spared by the owner of the vehicle.

In order to provide that type of speedy service, the average service station man must spend long hours on the job, usually from the early hours of the morning until after the sun goes down, in order to cater to the public.

One such concern offering the best of automotive service is the Harland Magnolia Service Station at 1000 Lamesa Highway, Big Spring.

The station, owned and operated by Grady Harland, long-time Big Spring and Howard County resident, is conveniently located in Big Spring. It is close enough to downtown Big Spring to maintain a regular clientele and, situated as it is on one of the principal arteries in Big Spring, catches much of the tourist traffic traveling north and south.

The servicing jobs offered by the Harland station, from the changing of crank case oil and washing and greasing, is of a type never surpassed and rarely equaled.

Certain types of automobile accessories is also sold by the establishment, which is open seven days a week.

Place For Cartons

Although ready-to-serve foods have saved the day for many a housewife at mealtime, the cartons, bags and boxes create a disposal problem. It can be solved by a steel bin now on the market which hooks right on to the sink. The bin has ample storage space and is easy to remove.

NEW LIQUID KILLS ROACHES AND ANTS. Scientists recommend that you control roaches and ants the modern way — with Johnston's N.O.-R.O.A.C.H. Brushes just where you want it. (not a messy spray) the colorless, odorless coating kills these pests. It's effective for months, sanitary, and so easy to use. 8 oz. pint, quart. Available at Safeway, Furr Food Stores, Piggly Wiggly, Red & White, Cunningham & Phillips, Collins Bros., & your local drug store.

Distinctive Furniture

Lee Gist, manager of Town & Country Home Furnishings, looks over a display of new Drexel furniture, now distributed through the local store. Superior craftsmanship is assured by the Drexel seal. Town & Country is exclusive dealer for the furniture in this area.

Gilliland Household Repair Has New Plan For Patrons

Marvin Gilliland, owner of Gilliland's Household Repair, has announced a new installment plan whereby customers may have all their furniture completely re-done without the expense falling on their shoulders all at one time. Gilliland stated that any amount of work from $50 to $500 can be performed immediately with no down payment and the customer may have from four to 24 months in which to pay. Gilliland's Household Repair is located at 111 Utah Road in Big Spring. For free estimates on the cost of any furniture repair or refinishing work, or for additional information on any of the Gilliland services, residents should dial No. 3-2338.

Gilliland specializes in every phase of furniture work, including refinishing, repair, upholstery. In addition, the firm performs cabinet work and floor covering. Furniture can be completely renovated. Any repair work which may be needed is done first, before the refinishing or re-upholstery work is started. Gilliland points out that unsuspected repairs may be needed when old upholstery is stripped from the furniture. He and his workmen never re-upholster or refinish an item without first making a thorough examination to detect any hidden flaws. When a defect is found, it is permanently repaired—always at a minimum of cost. Refinish work includes the removal of the old finish, scratches, etc. The new finish is then applied. New upholstery is installed in the same manner. "I have a wide variety of upholstery samples from which the customer may choose," Gilliland said. "I will be happy to call at any home to show these and make free estimates of the cost of any job. There is no obligation entailed." For estimates or any of the Gilliland services, residents may telephone No. 3-2338 or drop by the Gilliland shops.

'Smooth' Iron Tip

Here's how to clean starch from a hot iron without waiting for it to cool. Rub a damp cloth with soap, place this over several layers of papers, and run the iron back and forth over it. If this doesn't remove the coating of starch immediately, repeat with a fresh section of the cloth, newly soaped. Then press over a clean, damp cloth.

Town And Country Adds Drexel Products

Lee Gist, manager of Town & Country Home Furnishings, 205 Runnels, has announced the addition of the distinctive Drexel line of home furnishings to the other lines of popular furniture available through his firm.

Town & Country is the exclusive dealer in Big Spring for the Drexel line.

The new furniture—for every room in the home—is now on display in the store.

Drexel is one of the most distinctive brands of fine furniture available anywhere and Gist said it is with pride that Town & Country now makes the full line available to residents of Big Spring and the trade area.

In the manufacture of fine furniture, many operations are performed by hand. At Drexel, where the best of modern machines are used, there still are more than 300 individual hand operations in use.

Nearly all of the 18 final steps that produce the color, depth and glow of Drexel finishes are performed by hand.

Although the use of the finest furniture-making machines is part of the Drexel aim to bring beautiful furniture within the price range of the average homemaker, and while the scientific precision of these machines—many of which have been perfected by Drexel craftsmen—save considerable time and expense, the machines are used only when they can do a better job than is possible by hand. In other instances, Drexel continues to use the unexcelled hand processes. An example is in the finishing process.

No machine can reproduce the fine hand touch that brings the distinctive satin-smooth finish of Drexel masterpieces. Consequently, discriminating homemakers know that the "by Drexel" seal assures them of superior craftsmanship.

Town & Country stocks several other famous lines of furniture, as well as a carpet department. A complete appliance department is a part of the store, also.

Chapman Reveals Changes In Farm Agency Operation

Measures to speed up and further improve Farmers Home Administration services to farmers and ranchers have recently been developed in Washington under the direction of Secretary of Agriculture Benson. It has been announced here by Carlton J. Chapman, in charge of the Big Spring FHA office.

Chapman said that T. T. Perkins, state director of the FHA, who just recently returned from a conference at Oklahoma City where the new steps to decentralize the agency and make it more effective were explained by members of Benson's staff.

The Big Spring office manager said that in keeping with Benson's policy of placing more control of agricultural programs in local hands, many of the decisions formerly made in state offices, county supervisors, such as Chapman for example, will have final approval on a larger number of loans and will have more authority in working with other creditors and in taking steps to help borrowers solve their financial and farming problems.

"Greater use will also be made of state and county committees," Chapman explained. "New state committees, to be appointed in the near future, will be called upon more frequently to review agency operations and to make sure that these are efficiently serving local needs. County committees will be relied upon to an even greater extent than in the past to help adapt national policies to local needs."

Chapman said the new program of the FHA also includes wider use of other cooperating agencies. As an example of this, he stated, county home demonstration agents will be called upon to help farm families solve living problems. To expedite real estate loans making the engineering and appraisal services of the agency will be placed in the county offices, closer to the farmers to be served. Engineer-appraisers were formerly stationed in state offices. Practically all property insurance matters have been transferred from state to county offices.

Measures already taken by the FHA, Chapman pointed out, to enable it to render better service, at less expense, include the reorganization of the national area finance and state offices which has already resulted in a saving of $1.5 million. A duplicate set of files on 60,000 real estate loans had been

8th Graders At Forsan Move Up

FORSAN—Eighteen members of the eighth grade class were promoted to high school here Thursday evening.

There were speeches from Muri Bailey, valedictorian, and Ida Lou Camp, salutatorian, and special citizenship awards given by C. C. Bruntton, Forsan Service Club immediate past president, to Loretta Overton and Frank Tate Jr.

Presentation of awards was made by Glenn Whittenberg, principal, and Cliff Ferguson presented the promotion class for their diplomas. Joe Pickle, managing editor of the Big Spring Herald, spoke briefly to the class.

Mrs. Bill Conger played the professional and recessional; the Rev. R. L. Bowman led the invocation and Eddy Everett pronounced the benediction. A chorus of young girls favored with a vocal selection, "All Through the Night."

Members of the class were Tony Starr, Carolyn Everett, Loy Dean Pike, Jimmy Anderson, Ida Lou Camp, Willie Mae Sany Lamb, Travis Schafer, Frank Tate Jr., Betty Majors, Jimmy Crumley, Jimmy Ledford, Pete Jones, Muri Bailey Jr., Nedelene Pitcock, Gary Don Starr, Opal Boyd and Thomas Boyd.

Exercises were held in the Forsan school auditorium.

Midland Men Hurt In Oilfield Mishap

In Malone & Hogan Hospital with multiple injuries suffered in an oilfield accident Thursday is J. T. Butler of Midland.

Butler received fractures of his leg and back and dislocations of a leg and shoulder. It was reported that he was struck by a piece of falling pipe.

He was brought to the hospital from the Moore Field, southwest of Big Spring in a Nalley ambulance. Butler is an employee of the B&L Construction Company.

Motorcycle Field Meet Here Sunday

A motorcycle field meet will be held west of Big Spring at 2 p.m. Sunday. It will be sponsored by the Whitehawk Motorcycle Club, and entries are expected from seven West Texas cities.

The meet will consist of ten events, club members announced. Trophies will be given to the first, second and third place winners.

The meet will be held 1/2 mile west of the city on Highway 50, and the public is invited to attend. There will be no admission charge.

Agreed Judgment Entered In Suit

An agreed judgment for $300 was entered in 118th District Court Thursday in the case of Marita Marquez et al vs Sunset Motor Lines, involving a suit for damages.

The suit resulted from the injury May 7 of two-year-old Joe Marquez who received acid burns when he came in contact with a quantity of sulphuric acid on the courthouse floor. Plaintiff alleged that T. J. Proctor, agent for Sunset Motor Lines, was negligent in spilling acid on the floor and in not posting warning or some other precaution.

School Transfer Deadline Is Near

Walker Bailey, county school superintendent, reminded school patrons today that June 1 is deadline for transferring pupils to schools outside their resident district.

The rule applies to high school pupils transferring from a common school district.

Forms for making the transfers are available at the superintendent's office in the courthouse.

Insurance Law Probe

AUSTIN UP—A grand jury investigation into possible violations of Texas insurance laws got under way here today with Atty. Gen. John Ben Sheppard supplying exhibits from two previous court cases.

Weaver Speaks To Graduates Of Rural Schools

"Don't give up in the face of adversity, graduates of the five common schools in Howard County were advised by County Judge H. H. Weaver last night.

Judge Weaver was speaker at commencement exercises conducted in the Howard County Junior College auditorium. Walker Bailey, county school superintendent, presided at the ceremonies and presented diplomas and other awards.

Drustilla Cutright, Midway student, was honored as "high girl" on the public school achievement tests. Marcus Stanley, Gay Hill, was the boy making the highest score on the tests. Each received a gift for the accomplishment.

Judge Weaver urged graduates to "never become a casualty." He said they never should give up because of a failure—in the home, church, school or elsewhere.

The speaker cited the record of baseball's homerun king, Babe Ruth, as proof that failure often accompanies success. Ruth struck out more times than he hit home runs, Weaver pointed out.

Music for the program was provided by a girls' ensemble from the Midway school. The vocalists were Drustilla Cutright, Veta Lou Richters, Vada Raye Ball, Doris Earnest, Linda Johnston, Leta Smith, Betty Sue Green. They were accompanied by Mrs. Robert T. Mason of Big Spring.

Invocation was by M. B. McFall of Midway. Assisting with the presentation of diplomas and other awards was Mrs. Helen Acuff.

Introduced as the "high girl" on the achievement tests were Miss Cutright, Stanley, Jean Burchett of Gay Hill, Joe Fields of Elbow, Hugh Lee Newsum of Elbow, Hugh Covey of Midway, Carol Ann Self of Gay Hill, Dave Montgomery of Center Point, Veta Lou Richters of Midway, and Karen Ann McKee of Center Point.

The 25 graduates of the five schools were Larry Peterson and Natalie Newsum of Vealmoor; Joe Fields, Roy Lee Newsum, Barbara Ann Morris, Edwison H. Feyer and Ronald White, all of Elbow; Jean Burchett, Marcus Stanley, Carol Ann Self, Loy Underwood, Betty P. Hogan, and Roger Sam Bass, all of Gay Hill; Dave Montgomery, Karen Ann McKee, John Ross and Carol Hanson, of Center Point; and Drustilla Cutright, Hugh Covey, Veta Lou Richters, Vada Raye Ball, Doris Earnest, Linda Johnston, Leta Smith and Betty Sue Green, all of Midway.

Eighth-grade teachers present for the exercises were Clyde I. Dial of Gay Hill, C. S. Ross of Center Point, M. B. McFall of Midway, Jess F. Blair of Elbow, and M. G. Kilgore, Vealmoor.

All of the schools except Vealmoor are closing this week. Vealmoor will finish the spring term Tuesday.

Delegates Are Due For Laymen's Meet

Joe Brown, Grand Deaf, Kan., arrived here Friday morning for the district No. 4 encampment of laymen from Christian churches in 11 area cities.

Delegates will begin to arrive here at 4 p.m. for the three day retreat which will be held at the Baptist Encampment grounds on U. S. 87 immediately south of town.

Brown, who is national advisory representative for laymen's activities for the Disciples of Christ, will speak at the various worship and devotional services of the camp. Jack Cooper, San Angelo, district chairman, will officiate. Local arrangements have been in charge of H. L. Bohannon, Big Spring district vice chairman.

Bids Are Sought On Web Project

Proposals for installing asphalt shingle siding and rolled roofing on two buildings at Webb AFB will be received until 2 p.m. June 3.

The buildings are T-43, the ground and power equipment structure, and T-45, the 3561st Maintenance Squadron (flight line) engineering office. Bids should be submitted to the purchasing and contracting office, where details on the work may be had.

T&P Council To Erect New Sign

The T&P Ladies Safety Council will soon erect a "welcome" sign just east of the city on Highway 50 similar to the one recently placed on West Highway 80.

The sign, in scotch-bleed, will read, "Welcome To Big Spring, We Expect Our Officers To Enforce The Traffic Laws." The sign on the west approach was donated by the Odd Fellows Lodge.

$50 Fine Levied Here On DWI Count

Fine of $50 was assessed against Marvin Edward Henderson in County Court this morning when he pleaded guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated.

George Young pleaded not guilty to a similar charge and was released on $500 bond.

Charges of theft were filed against Jimmy Whitley, who is not in custody. It is alleged that he took a watch belonging to William R. Smith.

ASIAN PACT

Understandings may be there have been reached by American and French officials now holding preliminary talks at Paris.

The British government has decided it will not make commitments of any kind on the Southeast Asia-Indochina situation until after negotiations at Geneva conclusively show whether there is to be an end to the fighting. This country is unwilling to wait that long.

President Eisenhower told a news conference Wednesday he thought a workable defense might be constructed if New Zealand and Australia—both members of the British Commonwealth—and the proper Asian nations were willing to cooperate. This could be taken to mean that without New Zealand's cooperation the project would not succeed.

Webb, who leaves today, told newsmen that in general he felt there was "a substantial identity of views" between him and Dulles.

City Service No. 1-B Brown, C SE SE, 11-M-ELARR survey, pumped 98 barrels of oil and 102 barrels of water in 24 hours. Total depth is 7,730 feet in time.

Seaboard No. 1 Dean, C SW NW, 3-2-TRR survey, is pulling tool on a drillstem test which was taken in the Lower Spraberry between 7,490 and 7,540 feet. The tool was open two hours, and there was a fair blow throughout. Total depth is 17,540 feet.

Man Charged In Kidnaping Case
CHICAGO (AP)—A 34-year-old man was summoned before a U. S. commissioner today on a charge of kidnaping a 7-year-old girl and a 3-year-old brother in Beloit, Wis., 10 days ago and taking them to Illinois.

Hotel Executive Is Changing Positions
Fred Brown, widely known Mineral Wells hotel executive who has been with the Baker Hotel there for 15 years, is changing stations.

Feed Grain Export Set
WASHINGTON (AP)—The government made a bid today for broad-based export markets for livestock feed grains in an effort to reduce its 6-1/2-billion-dollar pile of farm surpluses.

Shultz Service Is Set For Saturday
Final rites will be said at 5 p.m. Saturday at the Nalley Chapel for J. B. Shultz, 57, T&P engineer who died in his sleep Wednesday night.

At Dallas Market
Mrs. Lina Frewellen of M-Lady's Accessories and Mrs. Grace Miller of the Little Shop were among the more than 5,000 buyers who attended the American Fashion Association's Fall and Back-to-School market in Dallas this week. More than 1,500 lines of women's and children's apparel were displayed at the Adolphus, Baker and Dallas Hotels. One of the features was a breakfast clinic style show.

THE WEATHER
NORTH CENTRAL TEXAS: Partly cloudy and mild, scattered showers and thunderstorms Saturday and in west portion through afternoon.

WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy and mild, scattered showers and thunderstorms Saturday through Sunday.

Man Hurt Slightly As Truck Overturns
Denver Gerald Hart, 911 W. 5th, escaped without serious injury Thursday afternoon when his truck overturned on Highway 87 just south of Big Spring.

Robert Parks In Boston For Surgery
Robert Parks, veteran T&P trainman, withstood his trip to Boston in reasonably good condition and is being prepared for surgery. He was rushed there two days ago after suffering a hemorrhage at the base of the brain. A noted Boston brain surgeon told Parks' physician here that he made the trip better than was expected and that his chances were such that hope now is held for his recovery.

Collision Reported
James Holden of Odessa and L. R. Saunders, 1189 East 12th, in operation of vehicles involved in a collision at 10:34 p.m. Thursday in the 300 block of Rumlens. Holden was driving a truck, and Saunders was operating a station wagon. Officers said there apparently were no injuries.

Ticket Sales Increasing For Horace Heidt Program

Tempo of ticket sales was increasing Friday for the Horace Heidt Show here next Wednesday evening.

Meanwhile, results of a talent elimination held last Wednesday in the HCJC auditorium were announced by a representative from the Heidt organization.

Heidt is on a coast-to-coast tour with his "American Way" show. He has about 40 in his company, including the renowned Musical Knights.

This is 30th anniversary of Heidt as an orchestra leader and in show business and he has assembled a special production for the occasion.

Burglary Suspect Is Held By Police

Police this morning arrested a man in connection with a burglary at 119 Nolan Street last night.

Acting Police Chief M. L. Kirby said the man is accused of taking some items from the room of Frank Maimone, Webb AFB, vocalist. These three will be spotted.

Banister said McElroy lured the girl and her brother into his pickup truck on May 11 by offering them chewing gum. The FBI agent said McElroy stopped the truck several times en route from Beloit to Rockford, Ill., and molested the girl sexually.

The children, who were not identified by Banister, were freed early the next morning in Rockford and were returned to their parents.

Beloit police said the girl had told them she and her brother were playing in a parking lot about half a block from their home when a man approached her and asked if they wanted to go for a ride and the block. The FBI said the children got into the truck and were driven to Rockford, 20 miles away.

Banister said McElroy has admitted being in Beloit May 11 and seeing the children. However, the FBI agent said, he has denied kidnaping the children.

McElroy had obtained employment at a farm near Elwood on Wednesday. On the same day a police officer at Plainfield, near Elwood, telephoned the FBI in Chicago to report seeing a truck which fitted the description of the one driven by the kidnaper at Beloit.

Hotel Executive Is Changing Positions

Fred Brown, widely known Mineral Wells hotel executive who has been with the Baker Hotel there for 15 years, is changing stations.

Leo F. Corrigan, president of the Cray Hotel at Mineral Wells, said Brown would become manager of that resort hotel on Monday.

Brown has served as director of public relations, sales and advertising at the Baker.

At the age of 8, Brown suffered from rheumatoid arthritis and it was largely because of the trouble that he moved to Mineral Wells. This led him into hotel work. Over the years he has been active in civic work. Twice headed his city's Chamber of Commerce, is on his church board, the Brazos Authority board, and state Demo committee.

Collision Reported

James Holden of Odessa and L. R. Saunders, 1189 East 12th, in operation of vehicles involved in a collision at 10:34 p.m. Thursday in the 300 block of Rumlens. Holden was driving a truck, and Saunders was operating a station wagon. Officers said there apparently were no injuries.

HEARING

tion to block any subcommittee efforts to force Cohn and Carr to testify, while holding himself free to testify or not as he might choose. Neither Cohn nor Carr has given any indication or a refusal to testify.

There is no firm agreement as to whether the subcommittee has power to force McCarthy himself to take the witness chair. If it came to a test, the consensus was that the full Senate might be called upon to decide the issue.

Adams, the Army counselor, has testified that at a Jan. 21 conference with Atty. Gen. Brownell and other administration figures, he was advised by Sherman Adams, chief White House aide, to prepare a written chronology of his relations with McCarthy and Cohn. Such an account later served as the basis of the Army charges.

The New York Daily Mirror said McCarthy will move formally to subpoena the top-level administration officials who were at the Jan. 21 meeting. The dispatch did not identify the source of his information.

A one-week's recess of the hearings was voted by the subcommittee Monday to explore whether Eisenhower might desire to change or withdraw his order. The President announced Wednesday he would stand unchanged. Secretary Stevens accepted full responsibility for the Army charges, and the subcommittee started up machinery to get the hearings running again.

Man Returns To Jet Runway On Takeoff

A T-33 trainer settled in the runway after a takeoff at Webb Air Base about 2:30 p.m. Thursday, with wheels retracted.

Though the craft slid off the south end of the jet runway, no one was injured and the plane did not catch fire. In the plane were 1st Lt. Donald L. Elston, pilot, and Air Cadet Elmer L. Slavy.

At Demonstration

City Manager H. W. Whitney and City Engineer Clinton Bellamy were in Beeper today for a sanitary disposal demonstration.

Officials from cities throughout West Texas were on hand to learn the sanitary landfill method of eliminating open dumps. The demonstration was sponsored by the State Health Department in cooperation with equipment manufacturers.

Eisenhower Averts Battle Over Tariffs

By CHARLES F. BARRETT
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower appeared today to have averted a threatened election-year clash with some key congressmen in his own party over the tender topic of tariff walls.

He did so by putting off—until next year—his request for a three-year renewal of the Reciprocity Trade Act with power to lower tariffs an additional 5 per cent each year.

In a letter released late yesterday, Eisenhower said he still regarded this hotly controversial program as "indispensable" in the national interest. But he suggested that Congress only hold thorough hearings on it this year, and take it up for action early in 1955.

Meanwhile, he said, Congress could renew the act as it stands for one more year. The present law expires June 12.

Several high-ranking Republicans in Congress who have been ready to fight for higher instead of lower tariffs indicated they would be happy to postpone the threatened battle for another year and simply renew the present act.

An as-is renewal of the statute is regarded as little more than a free trade gesture from a foreign policy standpoint, since most of the present law's authority to cut tariffs in exchange for cuts from other nations has been used up.

But neither administration officials, party leaders nor GOP congressional chieftains had any apparent relish for a bruising intra-party battle over the tariff issue this year. In view of the crowded agenda for the remaining weeks of Congress, administration officials apparently felt they would have to postpone some of Eisenhower's programs and tariff cutting was a good one to delay.

IT HAPPENED

Birds Best Monkey

ATLANTA (AP)—Joe and the Jay birds battled it out for five hours and Joe lost.

Joe, a golden haired South American monkey, slipped from his cage at the home of Mrs. Mae McGuyrt yesterday and swung up into a nearby tree.

The tree was loaded with bird nests—and blue jays.

Mrs. McGuyrt tried to coax her pet down. Joe wouldn't come. It looked like he was getting something out of the nests.

A series of attacks by the birds forced Joe out on a limb. He tried to get back for hours but each time the screeching jays dive-bombed him. A crowd gathered.

The birds finally knocked the ### monkey out of the tree and the fall killed him.

Policeman's Perils

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Patrolman S. B. Romero cited Mrs. Jack Redman for making an illegal left turn Wednesday.

Mrs. Redman called her husband, a physician. He called police headquarters.

He wasn't complaining. He just wanted to tell police that the two Redman children in the back seat of the car had mumps and the patrolman had been exposed.

Romero has an appointment to take mumps prevention shots from Dr. Redman today.

Curves A'Plenty

LOS ANGELES (AP)—There were curves aplenty in the second annual cheesecake classic baseball game at the University of Southern California's Bovard Field yesterday.

Embattled were two sorority nines, for the benefit of underprivileged children sent to Troy camp in the San Bernardino mountains.

Pi Beta Phi's smooth sockers were pretty flashy in green jersey blouses, white shorts and green trim. The Delta Gammas wore blue and gold. The Pi Phis won the five-inning game 6-4.

How You Look At It

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—A 7-year-old first-grader here confided to his teacher that his parents were expecting a b-a-b-y.

"What is that?" he asked. Teacher told him.

"And Daddy told me," the lad exclaimed, "it was just another brat."

That's The Story

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Franklin Kaiser, 11-year-old fifth-grader who edits and publishes his own community newspaper, summed up the vacation story in his latest edition this way:

"School's out June 4. Kids can't wait. Teachers can't wait. But the mothers can."

Prisoner Released, In Prison 55 Years

CHESTER, Ill. (AP)—Lyman W. Hall, at 81 the oldest prisoner in the state of Illinois, is free to fulfill his wish to "die on the outside."

Hall, sentenced to life imprisonment for killing a constable in 1897, was released from Menard State Prison here on parole yesterday after serving more than 55 years in three state prisons.

He has a job working with the Salvation Army in Chicago.

During his half century of imprisonment, Hall said, the type of men entering prison has changed. Prisons now, he said, are filling with "young punks."

Texas Firms Bid Low On Perrin Base Plans

TULSA (AP)—Texas companies were apparent low bidders yesterday on projects at Perrin Air Force Base in Grayson County, Tex.

Milo J. Choate and Co., Tyler, bid $138,736 to construct a cold storage and meat-cutting plant.

Homer A. Parks Construction Co., Dallas, bid $112,220 on a sewage plant project.

U. S. Agrees To Aid Honduras Militarily

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—The United States has agreed to give military assistance to Honduras as part of the program for the defense of the Western Hemisphere.

A military agreement was signed yesterday by Dr. J. Edgardo Valenzuela, foreign minister of Honduras, and U.S. Ambassador W. A. Willauer.

A similar agreement was signed recently by the United States and Nicaragua. Both Honduras and Nicaragua are between Red-tipped Guatemala and the Panama Canal.

Shivers On Way To South Korea

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Three governors left today by air on a 16-day trip to find out what Americans can do to help rebuild South Korea.

Govs. Dan Thornton of Colorado and John S. Fine of Pennsylvania, Republicans, and Democrat Allan Shivers of Texas are making the trip at the suggestion of President Eisenhower.

Thornton said the group would concentrate on ways of helping Korea with food, medical supplies, technical and educational assistance. "but we will be alert to any situation, military or otherwise."

Shivers said he's anxious to see South Korea rebuilt so it will be able to withstand Red infiltration attempts.

Thornton said states such as Colorado and Texas have "tremendous food surpluses and it might be possible to work out something on a barter basis."

Wheat Farmer's Tax Tale To Get Full Airing In Court

DALLAS (AP)—An Amarillo wheat farmer's story that he was misled by his own attorney and the U.S. district attorney's office will get a "full airing" on orders of a federal judge.

Judge T. Whitfield Davidson ordered the inquiry yesterday after an attorney for Bernard B. Carter entered a motion to withdraw the tax evasion guilty plea.

Carter alleges the government did not have the evidence on which it could successfully prosecute him but that both government attorneys and his own counsel knew this and advised his guilty plea.

U.S. Dist. Atty. Heard Flores called the motion made on behalf of Carter "completely unwarranted." He called it an attack on the integrity of the district attorney's office and the character of reputable members of the bar.

Judge Davidson fined Carter $10,000 after a guilty plea to income tax evasion in 1951. Carter says he made a mistake in pleading guilty and asks a refund of the fine.

Carter's present attorney, Wentworth Durant, said Carter was a "confused, uneducated man who was unaware of the charges against him and unrepresented by counsel when he 'mistakenly entered' his guilty plea.

The attorney continued, "He was advised that he would be fined $5,000 and there would be no publicity in connection with the case if he pleaded guilty.

"There must be a full hearing to clear this man's name," Flores told the court Carter had been fully advised of his legal rights and any advice given him by his counsel was "sound, professional advice."

Davidson ruled, however, that "since charges of fraud have been made this case must be fully aired to either vindicate the lawyers who are mentioned or to justify the defendant's stand."

Pennsylvania Lad Top U. S. Speller

WASHINGTON (AP)—William Cashore, 14, of Center Square, Pa., who says he brushed up on spelling whenever he could find the time, is the 1954 National Spelling Bee winner.

To win the title, plus $500 and a trophy, Cashore spelled down 56 other school children from throughout the nation in the 27th annual spelling bee yesterday.

Runner-up was William Kelley, 11, of Deering, Mo. He tripped on "uncinated," spelling it with an "e" instead of a "c." The word means hooked, or bent at the end.

Cashore spelled that word correctly and to clinch the title spelled correctly one more, "transept." That is a term used in church architecture.

Johnson Speech Set

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—U.S. Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) is to address a San Antonio Junior Chamber of Commerce banquet May 28.
