Space Officials In Final Check

On-Time Launch Still Doubtful

CAPE KENNEDY UPI — Space officials took a last-minute look at the piloting of Apollo 13 astronaut John L. Swigert today before deciding whether to send him to the moon Saturday as a substitute for Thomas K. Mattingly in the closely-knit Apollo 13 team. An on-time launch was still in doubt, but a final decision was promised by mid-afternoon the unprecedented, eleventh hour switch of astronauts to keep the third moon landing mission "go" for a 2:13 p.m. EST takeoff.

A developing low pressure system in the northwest Gulf of Mexico added a new threat to launch plans. Forecasters said the zone of bad weather "will" require a constant watch for it will cause a threat of showers during at least a portion of the launch window.

The next opportunity for launch of the $375 million mission was May 9, by then, Mattingly would be over his anticipated case of German measles. Doctors recommended that he be grounded Saturday because of his exposure to the disease.

Swigert, 38, returned to a computer-run moonship trainer at 9 a.m. EST for a final rehearsal with Apollo 13 commander James A. Lovell and lunar module pilot Fred W. Haise of the most critical Apollo 13 piloting maneuvers.

Space Agency Administrator Thomas O. Paine and Deputy Administrator George M. Low are here from Washington to review results of Swigert's rehearsals Thursday and today, and to confer with flight-crew chief Donald K. Slayton and other officials before making the final decision.

Swigert's performance in the simulator Thursday buoyed official hopes that the substitution could be made.

The final countdown rolled along without a hitch and test conductor Bert L. Grenville said at midmorning: "As far as we are concerned the only question is with Swigert."

Nixon Signs Bill Forcing Rail Strike Settlement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has signed into law a bill forcing a contract settlement on four railroad unions.

The law ends more than a year of negotiations between the nation's railroads and the four maintenance and repair unions, and is the first of its kind in U.S. history.

But it was not known whether it would trigger wildcat strikes by the rail workers. Members of all four unions walked out at the Louisville & Nashville Railroad in the Louisville, Ky. area Thursday, causing cancellation of three freight trains.

The other three unions tentatively agreed to the settlement last December, but the sheet metal workers refused to accept a work rules change. Under the law they are now forced to accept the change.

The new law prohibits any rail shutdown during the remaining life of the imposed contract, which expires at the end of 1970.

Texas Senator Says Texans Didn't Want Nominee Carswell

LONGVIEW (UPI) — Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex., said Thursday night his vote against Supreme Court nominee G. Harrold Carswell was influenced by mail he received from constituents.

Yarborough attended an appreciation dinner in Longview Thursday night in his first appearance since the Senate rejected President Nixon's Supreme Court nominee.

Lloyd Benisen, Yarborough's May 2 primary opponent, arrives for a campaign appearance in Longview today.

Before the dinner began, Yarborough said his mail showed Texans were solidly against Carswell being named to replace the court seat vacated when Abe Fortas resigned. He said this led him to believe Texans were against the Carswell nomination.

"I'll find out for certain May 2," said the senator, who is seeking his third full term.

Yarborough also said criticisms against him by Benisen were "not valid" and not based on facts. Yarborough said Benisen changes his criticisms so much it is hard to keep track of them.

"When my opponent says he is the senator for the 70s, he must mean the 1870s," Yarborough said.

Yarborough said when Benisen was a congressman he voted against increased Social Security payments and for a dual veterans hospital system separated along racial lines.

Yarborough also said Nixon wrongly blamed the Congress for Carswell's defeat. He said if Nixon had named "a truly esteemed Southern conservative jurist," the nominee would have been approved with little trouble.

Dr. Robert Morris, a GOP candidate for the Senate, also reacted to Nixon's statement he would not nominate another southerner for the Supreme Court.

"I am suggesting that he be from the Southwest," Morris said. "Such an appointment would have all the advantages and none of the disadvantages at this time of another southern appointee."

And only such an appointment from the Southwest would leave the South without a feeling of resentment.

Morris said he had no "suggestions" as to who a Southwest nominee might be.

Benisen said Yarborough was partly to blame for the postal strike because the incumbent has blocked bills for postal reform.

Bentson, the president of a Houston holding company said Nixon acted too soon in asking for higher postal rates.

"It seems to me we ought to get a recent postal reform bill passed by Congress and work on efficiencies and economies instead of raising the cost to the public," Benisen said in Fort Worth.

"If postal reforms hadn't been blocked by Sen. Yarborough and others maybe the pay increase for letter carriers could have been accomplished without the need to burden the taxpayer with still another postal hike," he said.

Land Commissioner candidate Bob Armstrong said incumbent Jerry Sadler's motives for seeking re-election were "callous, self-serving and high-handed." Sadler said he was planning to retire until he was reprimanded by the legislature.

Next Nominee Won't Be Southerner

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After two successive defeats, President Nixon has ruled out the old Confederacy in his search for a justice of the Supreme Court. Some senators termed the decision both incredible and political.

In a surprise move, Nixon announced Thursday he has instructed Attorney General John N. Mitchell to find a nominee outside the South.

"I have reluctantly concluded it is not possible to get confirmation of any man who believes in the strict constitutionality of the constitution, as I do, if they happen to come from the South."

Nixon's reaction to the Senate's rejection of U.S. Circuit Court Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. of South Carolina and G. Harrold Carswell of Florida drew angry responses from two senators led the fights against the nominations.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., called Nixon's statement "an insult to the South." He said it was politically motivated and designed to advance Nixon's "Southern strategy."

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., said "I find it incredible that the President would make such a mistaken and unfortunate statement."

"Those who opposed the distinguished members from the nomination, including many South, will gladly confirm a Southerner and a strict constitutionist who is qualified."

Although a lot of things can happen between now and the November election, some observers saw Nixon's statement as a thinly veiled warning that he will take his case to the people — especially in those states where senators who voted against the nominations are up for re-election.

Nineteen Democrats who voted against Carswell will be running

Bill Moore, formerly assistant circulation manager at The Odessa American, a sister publication of The Pampa Daily News, has been named circulation manager in Pampa and will officially assume duties Monday.

He succeeds Bert Stevens, who has accepted a similar position with The Killen Herald in Killen.

A native Amarilloan, Moore was district circulation manager for the Amarillo Globe News for one year and assistant circulation manager for The Odessa American in Odessa for 2½ years.

At the end of the current school year, Moore will be joined here by his wife, Dorothy and children, Glenn, 13; Garry, 12 and Lucy, 10.

Woman Hires Press Aide For Fight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Martha Mitchell, wife of the attorney general, has hired a press aide in the midst of her latest controversy, generated by her 2 a.m. telephone call to a homelife newspaper.

She created a major stir Thursday when she telephoned the Arkansas Gazette and urged it to "crucify" Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., for his vote against the Supreme Court nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell.

Arrests Do Not Deter Narcos

DALLAS (UPI) — Arrests and convictions do not deter people from experimenting with drugs, a U. S. district judge said Thursday in a discussion during a short course on drug abuse.

Judge John W. Oliver of Kansas City, Mo., compared the risk of possessing illegal drugs with the risk of possessing contraband whiskey during prohibition.

Figures over a 30-year period show that arrests and convictions do not deter a large number of people from experimenting with drugs," he said.

Both Oliver and U. S. District Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas said tougher penalties were not the answer to curbing drug abuse.

"To stop a pusher and put him in jail is not sufficient," Oliver said. "There are too many willing to run the risk."

He said high school and junior high school students caught with marijuana need not be sent to prison because they are not hardened criminals but are "just trying it out."

Judge Hughes denied that the courts were too easy on drug users.

"I'm tired of the courts being blamed for the rising crime rate," she said. "It's more than the courts. It is policemen who don't make arrests of known criminals and communities that don't remove the causes of crimes."

Youth To Present Folk Musical About Religion

By BEN KECK, News Staff Writer

Youthful members of three area churches will add rock 'n' roll rhythm to religiously-oriented lyrics in a performance at White Deer Sunday night.

Billed as a "folk musical about God," the program is designed to appeal to youthful churchgoers.

"We believe young people will listen to the religious message if they can identify with it," said Randy Hendricks, director of the youth choir at Pampa's Central Baptist Church.

Hendricks said his church presented the program in Pampa last fall.

"For the Sunday performance," he said, "we are just going to assist the Baptist churches of White Deer and Skellytown."

Hendricks said most of the young people involved in the project are of the opinion some religious doctrines need to be changed in order to interest youth in the church.

"We don't believe the kind of music makes any difference as long as we get the message across," he said.

The youth working in the program agreed.

"We have to identify with something," said Mark Turner, 17, of 2226 Duncan, president of the choir.

"Sometimes the lyrics of popular songs have a good message and sometimes they carry a bad message," he said.

"We are trying to get what we believe to be a good message across to people."

Turner said the idea of rock music advocating drug abuse, revolution and violence may be new in some cases, but added, "you can get anything you want from any song."

He cited the old religious favorite "Amazing Grace" as an example.

"Now think about it," he said. "Think about some girl named 'Grace' and how amazing she might be."

Turner admitted the idea was a bit far-fetched, but said he was convinced too many people tend to make something out of nothing.

Hendricks said there was some opposition to the idea of using rock music to encourage religious affiliation, but for the most part church members seemed to like the idea.

Turner speculated on the idea religion is becoming too complicated, too formal, and in some cases, too political.

"I get tired of all the formalities of the church," he said.

"I'm deep in religious conviction, but if a person has the religion, why should the church keep preaching?"

In an effort to determine what persons not connected with the program thought of replacing organ music with rock, the

Pampa News conducted a telephone survey and got these results:

Thirty per cent of the persons called said they would not give an opinion on such a subject.

Fifty per cent said they had never given much thought to the idea.

The remaining twenty per cent said they thought any idea was worth trying.

In July the choir will go on a two-week tour to Arizona and California.

"That's one thing about this program," he said. "We can take religion onto the streets and get the message across to more people."

Hendricks said the youth are working-out programs to raise funds for the trip.

Sunday night's performance will begin at 8:30 in the auditorium of White Deer High School. There is no admission charge.

Congress Forgets Own Raise Postal Pay Raise Hung Up When Senate Finds Error

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Final congressional approval of a pay raise for postal workers and other government workers, retroactive to New Year's week, has been delayed beyond the weekend by a typographical error.

The hangup came when the bill—containing the 6 per cent boost — negotiated with the government after an eight-day strike of several thousand postal workers—was passed by the House Thursday and sent to the Senate with an error that would have deleted increases for aides to members of Congress.

The bill would give postal workers an average increase of about $8.50 a week, Congress sional employees would get up to $38 a week extra—all the increases dating back some 15 weeks, to Dec. 27.

The typo in the House-passed bill was corrected by the Senate but by then the House had adjourned for the weekend and will not be able to concur in the Senate correction until Monday.

The House, responding to a pay agreement reached between the Nixon administration and postal unions, rushed through the $2.6 billion bill giving all 5.9 million federal civilian and military personnel the pay increase retroactive to Dec. 27.

David Minton, the $28,470-a-year staff director of the Senate Post Office Committee, discovered the House in its haste made a typographical error that would have eliminated the raise for 10,000 legislative aides like himself and an untold number of judicial and agricultural soil conservation service workers.

Bank President Indicted For Misappropriation

FORT WORTH (UPI) — Fort Worth bank president Lee Sidney Stufflebeme has been indicted in connection with the disappearance of several hundred thousand dollars from the First National Bank of Grand Prairie, U.S. Attorney Frank McCowan said Thursday.

The indictment, which came after a lengthy FBI investigation, accuses Stufflebeme of misappropriating funds and making false entries in bank records in 1967-1968, when he was president of the bank.

The bank reportedly recovered much of the loss.

U.S. Military To Remain In Europe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Willy Brandt was given a warm welcome at the White House today by President Nixon as the West German chancellor sought assurance that the United States would continue to keep a large force of GIs in Europe.

Both Brandt and Nixon stressed the close relationship between Bonn and Washington as they participated in elaborate ceremonies on the White House lawn preceding the first of two meetings between the two leaders.

Brandt was stressing the importance of the U.S. military presence in Europe as West Germany sought to negotiate tension-easing agreements with its Communist neighbors and Russia.

Nixon told Brandt he hoped their talks about Europe would contribute to the kind of freedom without which peace is meaningless and the kind of peace we need to achieve that freedom.

The chancellor has continued to insist that the Atlantic alliance is the key to European security and that U.S. forces—totaling over 250,000—are the key to the viability of the

Mixture Of Blessings Spring Brings With It

KANSAS CITY, MO. (UPI)—The coming of spring to the midlands is a mixed blessing. Spring returns warmth and greenness to a countryside often raw from winter's bite. But it also marks the return of that midwestern menace: Tornado season.

Kansas, Western Missouri, Eastern Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and ends abruptly in Ohio.

Through a quirk of geography the plains of North America each spring become "Tornado Alley," where more twisters dance from the clouds than anywhere else on earth. The season begins in Central Texas and extends through Oklahoma, Another region, the Central Gulf States, becomes a smaller alley in early spring.

The man who directs the watching and tracking of tornadoes and severe storms through not only tornado alley, but the entire nation, is Allen Alley, where more twisters dance from the clouds than anywhere else on earth. The season begins in Central Texas and extends through Oklahoma, weather from the Gulf of Mexico moves northerly through the alley caused, very roughly, by the Gulf of Mexico. The winds strike cold air to the north, and a thunderstorm is created.

Giant Mixmaster "Once a thunderstorm becomes a big thunderstorm," Pearson says, "it acts as a gigantic pump, drawing air in to the base and then up to the top and out the anvil (cloud top)." As air rushes in, it already has a spin and may turn unstable, accelerating to great speeds as it moves in, creating a vortex, or, again roughly, a tornado.

Wind speeds in a twister are thought to average 150 to 175 miles per hour, with some reaching as high as 300 mph, Pearson said.

There are marked contrasts between a tornado and that other feared natural destroyer, the hurricane, Pearson says. Hurricanes may exist for weeks at a time. They are photographed by airplane and tracked by radar from a satellite. "One Day—Five Minutes" "In a hurricane area, you may have to inconvenience people for a day or two to make sure they're not killed or drowned," Pearson said.

take care of himself, that's all he needs. The average death toll per year in this country is 100. It shouldn't be over 20 per year. Most houses couldn't stand up to a tornado; there's nothing we can do to save property. But there's a lot we can do to save lives," Pearson said. There also are differences midwest and those of the South, Pearson noted. In the midwest, twisters generally move from southwest to northeast at big speed. In the south, they tend to go slower and move more erratically. In the midwest, tornado activity usually reaches a peak at about 6 p.m. In the south, it is early morning.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Those Income Tax Forms

Quite a few folks we know have complained that the current income tax return forms are even more complicated than the previous forms were. It seems every time the Congress "reforms" the income tax law and the Internal Revenue Service "simplifies" the return, it gets worse for the ordinary individual to figure how much tax is going to be extracted from his earnings.

Quite a few individuals are prone to say that the tax laws and return forms are made complicated for the benefit of the tax lawyers and the accounting firms which are doing a rather large business in helping people prepare the reports. But just recently the Wall Street Journal reported accountants and tax lawyers were complaining about the confusion in the new tax laws and regulations. Even the specialists were having difficulty figuring what they were supposed to do.

It is not just the complex tax forms. Sometimes the rules and regulations and instructions are so ambiguous that many people just can't figure them out. A recent issue of Psychology Today had these comments on the subject:

"Society today increasingly seeks to regulate our lives with written rules and instructions. Income tax forms, insurance and credit agreements, legal contracts, and even telephones all come with elaborate instructions. We have grown used to complex procedures, rules, and regulations that are difficult to understand. We tolerate them because they have become familiar. Language — the prime means of communication — as used by bureaucrats too often becomes a barrier to communication. Most of us lack the time or the inclination, or the ability to master the labyrinthine instructions that they have so

Sometimes It's Confusing

We are told the Nixon administration has among its goals the idea of halting inflationary spending by government and improving the balance of payments in foreign trade. That's what we are told rather regularly.

So, how is this being done? Secretary of State Rogers told reporters at a news conference that Nixon has decided to hold "in abeyance for now" Israel's request to purchase 25 additional F4 Phantoms and 100 A4 Skyhawks. If Israel is ready to purchase, for cash, those 125 planes, that nation should be permitted to do so. It would

What Next By Bombers?

Don't just stand there, capitalists — fascist America — collapse. Or at least start running scared.

That, apparently, is the expectation of the madmen (and women) responsible for the bombings of office buildings in New York and a courthouse in Cambridge, Md.

The country will not, of course, collapse or run scared. But it is no use trying to tell that to these radicals, who have convinced themselves that American society is beyond redemption except by way of total revolution.

It can only be hoped that they are rounded up before one of the bombs planted in their love — through — violence campaign results in someone being killed or maimed.

Fortunately, thanks to warnings from the bombers and their timing of the devices to go off in the wee hours of the morning, no innocent party has been hurt so far. The only casualties have been among the anarchists themselves, three of whom blew themselves up while assembling a bomb or bombs in a Greenwich Village town-house.

U.S. SOVIET CULTURAL EXCHANGE EXPANDED

The United States government has signed an expanded cultural exchange agreement with the Soviet Union. The new agreement, extending through 1971, significantly increases the number authorized in 1968.

For example, the number of major performing arts attractions to be exchanged has been raised from three to five. There will also be exchange visits by local, state and national government officials, and a technical exchange on "man and his environment." Neither of these was included in the 1968 agreement.

The environmental exchange is especially significant. It will involve visits by delegations of experts in urban transportation, air pollution, social security planning, agricultural economics, and industrial water treatment. This exchange implies that a free country can learn how to protect its environment by following the methods used by a tyrant.

The new agreement provides for a 25 percent increase in the number of students, researchers and instructors to be allowed a year's study in the Soviet Union and doubles the number of professors and university instructors to be exchanged. These exchanges were included although there has already been more than enough farleft influence on our college and university campuses.

The pact also calls for encouragement of tourist travel between our country and the Soviet Union. Dollars spent by U.S. tourists in Russia will bolster the Soviet economy, while we can be sure that the Communist government will not allow any significant number of Russian citizens to visit this country. This exchange agreement is one more example of our futile policy of "bridge-building," which can only harm our country and benefit our enemies.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functioning of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION — What is the fairest and most just way of arriving at what each worker should receive?

ANSWER — We can think of no fairer or more just way than by letting everybody establish values through the action of a free market. Then production would go up, prices would go down, and everybody could live better with the money they receive.

Of course, the government should keep out of tinkering with the money system. Paper money should be redeemable in gold and there should be a free market in gold as in everything else.

Labor unions, of course, have no way of determining what wages should be because they disregard the only principle we can think of that arrives at a fair wage. They prevent everyone from helping to establish values by limiting apprentices, limiting those who may learn, limiting membership in the union, and thus they are able to get an artificial and unfair wage — a wage more than they could get on a free market.

The countries that prosper the most are those that more nearly approach a free market. Of course, we have never had a completely free market, but to the degree that we have had a free market do we prosper, and to the degree that we approach more nearly to a free market will we be more prosperous and happier and have good will for our fellow men.

If everybody was permitted to establish values and wages, we would not be in one war after another. As Frederic Bastiat said, "where goods do not cross borders, soldiers will."

Way Of Politicians

Two opposing political candidates were debating on a street corner, while a group of spectators listened.

"There are hundreds of ways of making money," challenged one, "but only one honest way."

"And what's that?" jeered the other.

"Ah, ah!" exulted the first speaker. "I thought you wouldn't know!"

Aim Of U.S. Viet Policy Is To Give Hanoi No Comfort

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The other day this reporter ran into an instance of the curious way in which wars must be fought these days.

A friend who sits in on high departmental committees complained that officials in the White House and State Department repeatedly would modify their actions on Vietnam, on Laos and Cambodia so as not to rouse Sen. J.W. Fulbright and other senators barely critical of U.S. policies in Asia.

He gave some examples. But he warned they would have to remain off the record. They did indeed suggest that the administration has been going to ludicrous lengths to keep a small group of congressmen from complaining.

This apparent kowtowing bothered my friend. And it bothered me.

This led then to a series of interviews at the State Department.

It's true, the State Department men said. That is what we are doing.

But not for the reason you think. It's not that we worry about what the senators will say to the Congress or to the American public. Or because of how they will vote. It's because what they say is read so diligently in Hanoi.

We believe that if Hanoi is convinced the United States is united and plans to stay the course in Vietnam, there's a very good chance Ho Chi Minh's successors will cut their losses and let the war fade away.

But so long as Hanoi believes the United States is divided, we have no chance of settling this war.

(Interviews at the White House confirm that this estimate of Hanoi's psychology is widely held in the upper echelons of this administration.) Now, as these State Department and White House men put it, when Hanoi reads that certain very prominent American senators speak so strongly against our policies in Vietnam, in Laos and Cambodia, then we are afraid the North Vietnamese policymakers will come to the conclusion we are so divided we will not stick it out. The men in Hanoi remember that the French wrote off their war in 1957 because of internal political divisions.

So, said one State Department official, we do react strongly to anything that might cause these prominent senators to raise their voices. We are just doing what we can in this way to prevent Hanoi from misjudging what the United States is going to do.

We don't think that is overreacting. We think it's common sense.

Things are going beautifully. We're making progress in Vietnam. The key question we ask our people is, can you travel from this city to that safety from this city to that escort. And the answers — in more and more instances — are, yes, we can.

Talk on Vietnam has died down. It's not the issue today. People are talking about other things — inflation, the postal strike. This buys time. And time will mean more troop withdrawals.

We don't want to upset this. So we're not going to rock the boat if we can help it. So yes, we do think about what these critical senators will say. And we do react to things we think will upset them.

With Some Reservation

By INJUN WOODY

The administration is trying to put us to sleep again. In trying to push thru a really wild welfare programme, they claim to have a surplus budget of $1.3 billion. The truth is, there is a deficit in 1971 of $7.3 billion.

They are using the old accumulated trust funds trick, counting the trust's $8.7 billion as though it was revenue.

But trust funds like Social Security and unemployment taxes don't belong to the U.S. government. They are collections from employees and employers and the gov't acts only as trustee. "Under the law," these trust funds can't be spent to defray gov't operating costs.

When these trust funds are eliminated from the budget, instead of a surplus of $1.3 billion, there's the $7.3 billion deficit. The comma counters know this well enough — there is a notation conveniently overlooked that there will be a request for an increase in the national debt — between $1 billion and $10 billion — in order to finance this deficit!

The little feller tries to move a decimal point to get something back on his taxes. Congress tries to lull the American people into a false sense of security so they can keep increasing expenditures on foolish boondoggles.

They know the country is broke, but they want to keep it under their fat hats.

Wit And Whimsy

The preacher was describing the Day of Judgment.

Rev. Lane — Lightning will crackle, thunder will boom, rivers will overflow. Flames will shoot down from the heavens. The earth will quake violently, darkness will fall over the world.

Whereupon a small boy in the front pew piped up to ask his daddy, "Young Larry — Do you think they'll let school out early?"

Bien Hung — Where The Peace May Be Won

ROBERT ALLEN

BIEN HUNG, Vietnam — This Mekong Delta hamlet, now controlled by the government, is both a showcase and a test-case for pacification and the eventual Vietnamization of the war.

South Vietnam's 21st Division, under the command of 40-year-old Brigadier-General Nguyen Vinh Nghi, took the hamlet in mid-October. It had been under the control of the Vietcong since early in the war.

That minor victory in itself is significant. The 21st Division, one of South Vietnam's best, has never been reinforced by the assignment of U.S. troops. It gets air and naval support from U.S. units, but the division's successes are its own.

Bien Hung is making impressive progress under the watchful eye of the An Xuyen Province chief, Col. Le Chieuong. All-important local defense forces are being trained. A headquarters complex for the government of the Song Ong Doc district is under construction near the mouth of the canal.

Economic prospects for the hamlet are very good. The river yields a bountiful fish harvest. Rice and other crops prosper in the marshlike delta soil.

The North Vietnamese still use an infiltration route from Cambodia into the dense U Binh Forest to the north. Moving his air-mobile units frequently, however, General Nghi has been able to narrow the forest area in which the North Vietnamese can operate safely.

So it is not surprising that visitors, seeking information on pacification and Vietnamization now find their way into the operating area of the 21st Division in the southwest corner of Vietnam which was once considered a Viet Cong stronghold.

TEST TO COME — As recently as 1967 only 44 per cent of the people in the six-province operating area of the 21st Division lived in areas under government control. In 1969 the percentage reached 92.5. By the end of 1970 Nghi and his aides hope it will rise to 96 per cent.

Refugees from the war, attracted by the lush delta harvest are settling in the area. The Vietcong are now having great difficulty with their local recruiting efforts. Since the government forces took over, Bien Hung itself has had little which has certainly contributed to the advances here.

After his forces took over the hamlet in October, General Nghi assigned one regular army battalion for its protection. The test will come when that regular battalion is withdrawn for use elsewhere in the 21st Division area.

Then defense of the hamlet will rest initially with local forces — with the Hamlet's Popular Force Platoons now being trained, with nearby Regional Force companies and with the volunteers of the People's Self Defense Force who get arms and ammunition but no pay from the government.

The rainy season is approaching. Air support and air mobility will be reduced. The Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese can be expected to step up their activities in the 21st Division's operating area.

There is much hope, great confidence, but no assured security yet for Bien Hung and other hamlets like it.

LAND-TO-THE-TILLER

Even the skeptics who have despaired of pacification based on the experience of the past, concede that the Thieu government has taken a bold step with its new program of land reform. It is called the Land-to-the-Tiller program.

Currently about 80 per cent of Vietnam's rice paddies are farmed by tenant farmers. Generally they cultivate farms of less than five acres and give the landlord 35 per cent of their crop as a rental fee.

Landlords fought the bill in the Vietnamese legislature, and the Thieu government took some legislative lumps. As finally approved by the assembly, however, the program is almost exactly as President Thieu submitted it.

As many as six million people, a million farm families, will be affected by the Land-to-the-Tiller program. That is land reform on a major scale, and it will make landowners of many people who have had little contact in the past with the government in Saigon.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, who is not ignorant of such matters, recently called Land-to-the-Tiller "the most extensive and revolutionary land reform law that I am aware of."

Strictest Churches Are Ones That Grow Fastest

By PAUL HARVEY
Church of Christ grew about 9 percent. The Mormon Church, which continues to frown on drinking, smoking, dancing and or get left behind. He believed it was the inflexibility of Catholicism which supplied the "excuse" for Martin Luther's Reformation.

And thus, hopeful of reinforcing the faith and attracting young people to the Church, Pope John initiated the era of ecumenical dialogue and modernization of the Mass.

Some now blame those compromises for the subsequent trend toward marriage for priests, short dresses for nuns and the myriad manifestations of modernity.

And if a "diluted dogma" was intended to revitalize the Church, it has had the opposite effect. During the past year the membership gain in the Roman Catholic Church was less than 1 per cent; less than the population increase; the least increase in 25 years.

Similarly, major Protestant denominations which have tended toward liberalization in doctrine, liturgy and social attitudes are in the most trouble.

Lutheran churches in the United States gained only two-tenths of 1 percent in membership last year; the least ever.

United Methodist Church, which has perhaps "gone modern" with the boldest strides, suffered a decline in membership approximating 2 percent.

On the other hand, the strictest churches continue to grow fastest. The Assemblies of God, America's largest Pentecostal body, enjoyed a 9 percent increase in membership last year. John 3:16 and the firm position to "liberals."

Men's Sunday School Class Protests "X" Rated Movies

BUNKIE, La. (UPI)—A discussion in a men's Sunday school class is mushrooming into a nationwide "grassroots" campaign against the showing of "X" rated movie previews to children attending "G" or "GP" films, according to a former state legislator.

"We've had terrific response," said Ted L. Nelson, a salesman who suggested a month ago that his Sunday school class send letters and telegrams to officials of the movie industry, state and federal governments and President Nixon.

He said more than 12,000 letters plus telegrams had been sent.

Nelson said reaction has been pouring in from congressmen and state legislators and from parents in cities as far away as Scottsdale, Ariz., and Decatur, Ill., agreeing with the group's aims.

"We haven't heard from anyone who disagreed with the object of the thing. Everyone agrees it is a problem that needs attention. Our local theater manager concurred 100 percent," Nelson said.

"We object to the fact the movie industry is saying in essence, children shouldn't be allowed to see 'X' rated films, yet when the kids go see 'G' rated movies, then they take the most lurid scenes from 'X' rated films and show them to a captive audience of younger kids," he said.

Nelson said the movie industry has reacted with "a form letter, totally unacceptable."

"We're not attacking the 'X' mature rated film at all," he added. "We want to send our children to a 'G' rated movie and know their minds will not be polluted by scenes from a restricted movie."

He said discontinuation of such previews would help the movie industry because parents would be more apt to let their children attend.

Nelson said replies from lawmakers offered varied solutions, including handling the matter on the local level, going through the Justice Department and going through the movie industry.

He said he felt sure the Louisiana State Legislature would take some kind of action on the matter but "state law is not enough."

"We're reluctant to fight on a local level," he said, because children could still be subjected to such previews in other cities and states.

He said a national policy was needed.

LONG-TERM FINE

LONDON (UPI)—A high court judge Thursday ordered $26.40 a week plumber Roger Brookshaw to pay $12,900 to a fellow amateur soccer player he kicked during a game.

Brookshaw, 29, said he figures it will take him 40 years to pay it off.

Movie Filming In New Mexico

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI)—New Mexico may be the site of a movie based on a best-selling novel set in the state and written by a New Mexico author, Gov. David F. Cargo said.

Cargo, back from a conference with Hollywood producers, said Hal Wallis, Bill Gray and Paul Nathan of Universal Pictures indicated they would fly to Albuquerque next week to begin looking for a site to film "Red Sky at Morning."

The film will be based on the best-seller by New Mexico author R. Bradford. The novel is set in a small New Mexico town—a thinly disguised Santa Fe—during World War II.

"We expect these people to complete details early next week for setting up the filming," said Cargo.

Cargo was accompanied to Hollywood by a dozen members of the newly-created State Movie Commission. Members of the commission will remain in the film capital through the week

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We have been married for 11 years and have three children. My wife thinks she has done her duty, and now it's got to be Christmas or my birthday, before she will let me near her.

I kept a record. Last year I was turned down 97 times. (She gave in 14 times.) Now, don't tell me that's normal!

I keep myself clean and I am not rough or anything like that. I do route work and am in contact with women all day who look like women, then I come home to a wife who is wearing pants! She hardly ever puts a dress on anymore.

Please tell me what to do. But don't send any letters to my house. If she knew I wrote to you, there would be a fight. Thank you.

FED UP WITH NOTHING DEAR FED: I think I know who wears the pants in your family, which could be part of your problem. I can't perform any hokus pokus to magically transform that drill sergeant you're married to into a "loving wife." A normal wife doesn't "give in" — she gives because she wants to. If you can't persuade her to get some professional counseling, you had better learn to live with a sad, but not uncommon problem.

DEAR ABBY: I worked for a large company back east for 20 years. A few years ago I moved to California, near Disneyland. Some of the people I worked with never came to my house when I lived in the east, but they come out here to spend their entire vacation with me, use my home as a hotel and even expect transportation to and from the Los Angeles airport — 45 miles away.

I'm sure most of these people wouldn't be so happy to visit me if I lived on a farm in Nebraska, so I guess I owe my sudden popularity to my California location.

Abby, I like these people but not that much. There must be others who have the same problem. How can I say "no" without hurting their feelings?

TIRE D AND BROKE IN SANTA ANA

DEAR T AND B: Shake hands with your "cousins" in San Francisco, New Orleans, Florida and Honolulu! It's inconceivable that anyone would call you from the airport and say, "Come and get me," but if that's the case, you will have to screw up the courage to say, "Sorry, full house here." I see no reason under the California sun for anyone to play the role of an unwilling host.

DEAR ABBY: After six years of trying to become parents, my husband (I'll call him John) and I underwent the usual tests, and my John was found to be sterile. We consulted with adoption agencies when we learned that the Oklahoma legislature had legalized artificial insemination.

We found a doctor who was familiar with the procedure, and I became pregnant from an unknown donor. Five months ago we became the parents of a darling baby girl!

Only our lawyer, doctor and we know it was accomplished through artificial insemination. (Even John's parents and mine do not know.)

Actually carrying the baby, and delivering it makes the baby all mine, and our doctor did such a good job in selecting a donor whose description matched my husband's, that our baby looks more like John than me!

It has been a terrific ego booster to my husband as he was very dejected when he was told that he was sterile. (He has often said when looking at the baby that he thinks the tests could have been wrong and that she is really his baby after all.)

This letter is to share our secret with others who may not know about the miracle of artificial insemination.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Readers Offer Ideas To Clean Mouton Coat

DEAR POLLY — We recently gave my folks a surprise 40th wedding anniversary party and wanted them to have an immediate souvenir of the occasion. We used one of those cameras that take practically instant pictures during the party — of the wedding cake we had baked and our parents' surprised looks when the guests began to arrive. I had bought an autograph book and everyone who came signed it and then the pictures were instantly inserted. Of course, other pictures were taken but with the delay in having them developed and wondering how they came out something was lost that the other pictures supplied.

DEAR POLLY — I think Mrs. W.R. should have her mouton coat cleaned professionally. The cleaning and glazing process cleans, makes the fur shine and softens the skins or hide to keep it from splitting. This makes the coat last longer and look better. I prefer having this done every year, but even every other year will help.

DEAR POLLY — I am really in the dog house since I spilled mustard on my mother's white vinyl purse. I tried household cleaner and a cleanser but no luck. Any ideas, anyone?

DEAR POLLY — Please tell Mrs. W.R. that I purchased a mouton cleaner spray at the drugstore. My mouton coat has been sprayed with it many times and looks like new.

Retirement Creates 'Environment Trap'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Retirement should mean freedom—freedom of time, freedom of choice where to live, to do some of the things you've always wanted to do.

All too frequently, however, retirement is just the opposite—an involuntary withdrawal from society.

An editor of a publication aimed at the older among us charges that many of the nation's 20 million senior citizens (the 60-plus crowd) are in effect trapped in their environments "by virtue of low income, poor health, and the inability to adjust to radical changes in their ways of life."

"As congestion sets in and the social structure of the nation's cities turns in favor of the poor, the senior citizen finds himself virtually a prisoner of his environment," says Peter A. Dickinson. "The great mass of our older citizens just have to grin and bear it."

Youth, by contrast, with its vigor and vitality, has the opportunity to become master of its environment.

The opinions come from the editor of Harvest Years Magazine, in a special supplement on environment for retirement. Ideally, he says, the best social environment is one that helps you, the retiree, to triumph over handicap, lift your morale, make new friends, and expand your feeling of well-being. In other words, select as much "good" as you can in the life you choose.

There's psychological environment too — choosing a retirement area where your capacities can flourish. Dickinson suggests that before older

Your Horoscope

JEANE DIXON

SATURDAY, APRIL 11
Your birthday Saturday: Unplanned change is essentially normal for this year in your life. Be on the alert for developments in your career; new methods, different things to do, perhaps a switch to another line of work altogether.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Take a conservative, sensible approach to Saturday's broken-field competition. Present conditions are like a weather-squall, intense but transitory.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Accept your own quiet mood and that of others as within the range of normality.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): No magic is working Saturday — you have to do whatever is done. Old issues again come to the surface for another effort at resolution.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Conflicting factors — Saturday can be amusing or difficult, according to how sound your own development is.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Older people ask some good questions — take the time to listen, so later the follow-up will not surprise you. Major business moves are not favored Saturday.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): The main advantage now is in staying on the job, near home. People and news from distant places are of no particular help at the moment.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Short term business matters promise to be lively. Long-term contracts entered now turn out later to be limiting, inflexible. Emotional ties suffer momentary stress but should hold well.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Have the wisdom to proceed slowly with all the important moves you must make now — or wait. Allow time for people to recheck their facts, get over their moods.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Moderate your expenditure of physical energy to remain fresh for livelier occasions yet to come.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Even if you must let details go unsupervised, get busy and catch up with neglected activities or routines.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Turn your attention to your own assets, property, and achievements. Some of the things you have skipped are available now for constructive uses.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Be as tactful as you can, but exclude all those who really have no place in your view of life as you would like to live it. Your plans will work much better if you keep them confidential for now.

Headlines Capture History Of Churches

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Religion Writer

Assign a newspaper editor to teach a Sunday School class in church history, and what do you get?

If the editor is David Stolberg, you get a catchy collection of tabloid headlines which make great events of Christian history sound remarkably contemporary.

Stolberg is managing editor of the Washington Daily News. But his experiment in teaching church history through breezy headlines originated in Denver, Colo., while he was an editor of the Rocky Mountain News.

His class consisted of 25 high school students, and they approached the subject of church history with an unwavering conviction that it would be deadly dull.

"I figured I had to find some way to make history hep," Stolberg explains.

He enlisted the help of his newspaper colleagues, including regular headline writers and print shop workers. They collaborated enthusiastically in producing one hand-set headline each week, to be superimposed on the regular front page of the Rocky Mountain News. The circulation of this "special edition" was limited to members of Stolberg's class at St. Michael's Episcopal Church in Denver.

Each headline followed the newspaper's customary front-page format—an overline in small type, followed by two lines of very large capital letters.

The first one dealt with the "birthday of the church"—the day of Pentecost on which the Apostles of Christ were filled with the holy spirit. It read: "50 Days After Cross Incident 12 APOSTLES HIT BY FIRE TALK IN FOREIGN TONGUES"

A classroom discussion of the persecution of Christians in Nero's Rome was enlivened by a headline with a strikingly contemporary sound: "Jailed and Tortured CHRISTIANS DEFY GOVT., REFUSE LOYALTY PLEDGE"

Another headline sounds as though it might have been published at the time of the recent Vatican Council: "GERMAN LIBERALS SEEK COMMON LANGUAGE MASS"

It actually introduced a discussion of the Council of Trent in the mid-16th Century.

A certain sauciness is expected of a good tabloid headline, and Stolberg's treatment of Martin Luther's break with the Catholic Church meets the requirement: "MONK LUTHER DEFIES ROME'S HEAVEN SALES"

The idea isn't copyrighted, Stolberg says, and any Sunday school teacher who wants to borrow it has his blessing.

Skellytown Church Schedules Revival

SKELLYTOWN (Special) — The Community Church of Skellytown has announced plans for a revival meeting beginning Sunday and running through April 19.

Meeting time is 6:30 each night.

By United Press International WASHINGTON—Sen. Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo., expresses hope that the defeat of Supreme Court nominee G. Harrold Carswell will not persuade President Nixon to abandon his plans for reform of the court: "I hope the President does not decide against appointing a Southern strict constructionist."

OSAKA, Japan — Hiroshi Yano, 26, describes the impact of the gas explosions that devastated downtown Osaka Wednesday: "An ear-splitting explosion occurred. When I regained consciousness, I found myself on a sidewalk a bleeding child beside me."

WASHINGTON — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson, who is writing a book about his White House days, tells of the problems of authorship: "I rewrote one chapter 18 times to improve the quality."

"THE HEAVENS DECLARE THE GLORY OF GOD"

You ask me how I know it's true that there is a living God . . .

A God who rules the universe, the sky . . . the sea . . . the sod;

A God who holds all creatures in the hollow of His hand;

A God who put INFINITY in one tiny grain of sand;

A God who made the seasons . . . Winter, Summer, Fall, Spring,

And put His flawless rhythm into each created thing;

A God who hangs the sun out slowly with the break of day,

And gently takes the stars in . . . And put the night away;

A God whose mighty handiwork Defies the skill of man,

For no architect can alter God's Perfect Master Plan.

What better answers are there to prove His Holy Being Than the wonders all around us That are ours just for the seeing

Christian Church Plan Assembly

FORT WORTH, Texas — The and other items of Three resolutions aimed at expanding the traditional pattern of new church development are among 17 items of business docketed for the April 15-18 assembly here of the Christian Church in Texas.

Two resolutions filed with a common "rationale" propose that church development be expanded "beyond the establishment of new church buildings for this denomination" and "to include special ministries, cooperative ministries and ministries outside the institutional church structures."

The third resolution on church development, virtually a combination of the other two, although it was submitted separately.

Local Church News

Immanuel Temple

First Christian Church
The Rev. Shely H. Angliemyer will deliver the message at the 10:30 a.m. worship hour this Sunday. He has chosen for his sermon topic "Why The Church?" with scriptures from Matthew Chapter 15, First Corinthians 12 and Ephesians 4.

The Choir, under the direction of Miss Rosemary Lawlor and accompanied by Mrs. John Gill will present the Anthem "O Master Let Me Walk With Thee" by Steckel.

Snack Supper is held each Sunday at 5:30 p.m. with Youth Groups at 6 p.m. and the Christian Life Curriculum Sessions at 7 p.m. The third in a series of Men's Breakfast will be held Saturday from 7 to 8 a.m. Plans will be considered for further activities for the men's work. Mr. Stanley Hill is chairman of this meeting.

The Education Committee will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. Mrs. Robert LaFon, chairman, will preside. The Elders of the church will also meet Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Christian Science Church
The Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches Sunday asks the question "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?"

Answers are given from the Bible in accounts of the way Jesus healed a mentally deranged boy and a man unable to walk for thirty-eight years. His injunction, "Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils," is included in the Bible readings.

The unreality of sin, disease, and death is explained in one of the citations from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, which reads: "Since God is All, there is no room for His unlikeness. God, Spirit, alone created all, and called it good. Therefore evil, being contrary to good, is unreal, and can't be the product of God."

First Baptist Church
Dr. Roy McClung, President of Wayland Baptist College, Plainview, will be the guest speaker for both worship services in the First Baptist Church Sunday. The pastor, Dan B. Cameron, is in revival in Waynesville, North Carolina.

David Campbell, minister of music, will direct the Sanctuary Choir in the Choral Worship, "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," and will sing a solo, "The Holy City." Miss Eloise Lane, organist, will play "Communion."

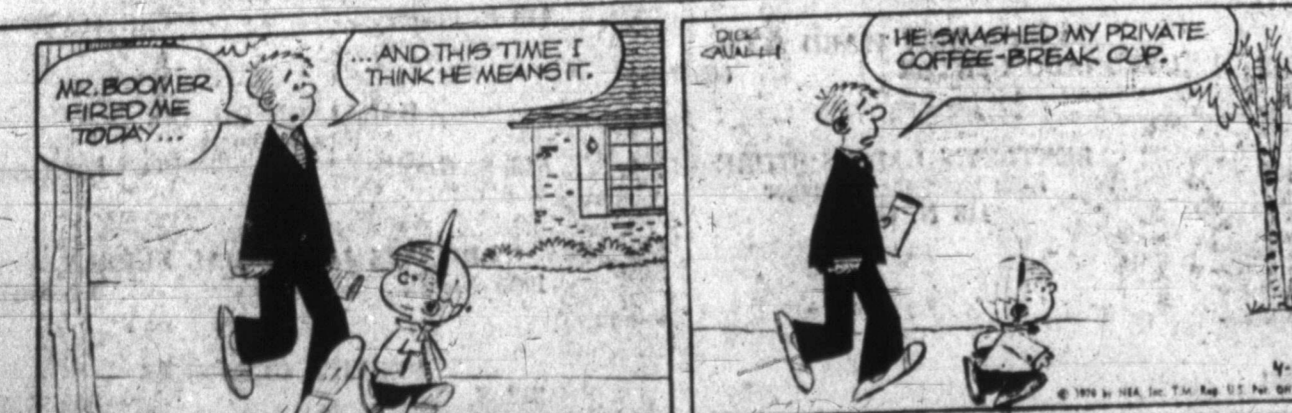

The Senior High Choir will occupy the choir loft in the 7:00 p.m. worship and will sing "Jesus Is All the World to Me" for the Choral Worship. Miss Lane has chosen "Near, Still Nearer" for the organ offertory.

The Tuesday Bible study and luncheon will not be held next week, but will be resumed the following week. Mid-week activities begin Wednesday with a fellowship supper at 5:30 p.m. and is followed by Prayer Meeting at 6:15. Roy Kornegay will be in charge of Prayer Meeting and will continue teaching the book of Matthew.

Pampa Baptist Temple

Pampa Country Club Hosts Loop Golfers

Pampa is the host team today as District 4-AAAA varsity and "B" and golf teams flood Pampa Country Club for the fourth round of loop golf competition.

Lakers Beat Suns, 129-94

By United Press International
Los Angeles won without Wilt Chamberlain during the regular season. But Lakers Coach Joe Mullaney gives the big man full credit for the club's three-game comeback over the Phoenix Suns in the Western Division semifinal playoffs of the National Basketball Association. The Lakers defeated Phoenix, 129-94, Thursday night to become the second team in NBA history to bounce back from a 3-1 playoff deficit and win. The Boston Celtics accomplished the feat in 1968.

Chamberlain, out most of the season with knee surgery, picked off 27 rebounds, blocked nearly a dozen shots and was high scorer with 30 points in the crucial seventh game. The Lakers also got help from Elgin Baylor, who bagged eight of the Lakers' first 12 points and finished with 25 plus 14 rebounds, and Jerry West, who had 19 points.

"We played much better defensively," said Mullaney. "It's a common feeling that we looked better during the regular season without Wilt but statistically this isn't true."

Jackie Gindorf, Sherwin Cox, Greg White, Joe Foster and Leslie Harris form the sixth-place Harvester varsity. Terry Washington, Bruce Brown and Dickie Bailey play in the singles event.

Monterey leads the district standings with a low total of 926 after three rounds. Plainview (936) stands in second place and Lubbock High (963) is third. The Plainsmen "B" team also leads its division with a 936 total.

Pampa's "B" golfers rank eighth at 1050.

One more round must be played before the district crown can be decided. The linksters will play the final round at Amarillo Air Force Base April 17. The top two teams will then advance into regional competition.

Asron Leads Masters Golf

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—Tommy Aaron, a nice young man who's learned how to live while folks whisper about him behind his back, leads the field into the second round of the rich Masters golf championship today in search of a victory that will hush the tongues.

"Aaron," they whisper. "There must be something wrong with him. He's finished second nine times and he wins all that money, but he's never won a major tournament."

Tall, curly-haired Aaron, who's been on the pro golf tour since 1961, showed 'em all what he can do Thursday when he powered a four-under-par 68 in the first round of the Masters for a one-stroke lead.

Right on his heels at 69 were Gene Littler of LaJolla, Calif., and Bert Yancey of Pompano Beach, Fla. And in a five-way tie at 70 were Chico Rodriguez, Charles Coody, Dan Sikes, Bob Lunn, and Dick Sikes. The only other golfers in the field of 83 to break par on opening day were tournament favorite Jack Nicklaus and Frank Beard, both at 71.

There hasn't been much rain here recently, and the usually lush Augusta-National course is even trickier than usual. The hard greens are very fast—"not quite grease fast yet," according to Nicklaus, "but very fast"—and it is very hard to get balls hit to the greens to hold.

Littler found the wind troublesome. "The wind was the toughest I've ever played in," he said. "It wasn't strong, but it swirled."

In a four-way tie at par-72 were Dave Stockton, Larry Hinson, Bruce Devlin, and Billy Casper.

Further back in the pack were defending champion George Archer and U.S. Open champion Orville Moody at 73, South African Gary Player, who was escorted by security men in the first round, at 74, Arnold Palmer at 75, and PGA champion Ray Floyd at 76.

After the second round the field will be cut to the low 40s and ties, plus anyone who is within 10 strokes of the leader.

Killebrew, Oliva Lead Twins Over Chicago

By United Press International
New Minnesota Twins' Manager Bill Rigney has started off the regular season in fine style. When Harmon Killebrew and Tony Oliva are hitting, they can make any manager a genius. Both hit their first homers of the season Thursday night as Minnesota won its second straight game by downing Chicago, 6-4.

Killebrew hit a two-run homer in the first and Oliva had three hits including a solo homer in the ninth. Frank Quilici also singled in two runs in the sixth for the Twins, who clobbered loser Joe Horlen and three other pitchers for 15 hits. Luis Tiant went 4-1-3 innings in his first start for the Twins and the win went to Stan Williams, who stymied a Cleveland rally in the fifth and pitched just two-thirds of an inning.

In the other games, Baltimore downed Montreal, 7-3. Philadelphia topped Chicago, 5-3. San Francisco blasted Houston, 7-4. Pittsburgh edged New York, 2-1. Atlanta downed San Diego, 6-4, and Cincinnati blanked Los Angeles, 3-0.

The Orioles got a two-hitter from Tom Phoebus in their third game against Cleveland. The Orioles gave Phoebus more than enough support with a 13-hit attack off loser Rich Hand and two relievers. Don Buford drove in five runs with two homers and a sacrifice fly for the Orioles.

Track Action Saturday

Track coach Ed Lehnick will enter his Harvester track team in the Bulldog Relays, a two-division meet Saturday at Borger.

The snow-shortened Amarillo Relays April 10.

Preliminaries will start at 11:30 a.m. Saturday and the finals are slated for 7:30 p.m.

Lehnick said he expects King and Lewis Davis to do well in the shot and discus events but cites lack of over-all experience to hamper the Harvester effort. Davis won the discus event at Amarillo with a heave of 149-4, and took second place in the shot with a toss of 53-3. King placed sixth in the meet in that event.

Plainview boasts the services of Randy Lightfoot, one of the fastest high school hurdlers in the state. Lightfoot will line up with Pampa's Keith Coyle.

Leading the Harvester squad will be Mike Redell in the 220. Coyle in the hurdles. Garvin McCarrell in the 220, and the mile relay team of Steve Seabrough, Mike Redell, Mike Bristler and Mike Smith.

All the above qualified for the finals at the Amarillo Relays which were called off due to snow and cold temperatures.

Baseball Harvesters Set Sights On Coronado, Plainview Contests

Six grueling games on the road await the hungry Pampa High baseball team. The Harvesters will make their first stop today at Lubbock for a battle with the Coronado Mustangs at 4 p.m. Plainview will host the squad Saturday in a 1 p.m. contest.

Pampa's 2-0 District 4-AAAA record and its share of the loop with Monterey is on the line. Coronado owns a .500 district average with a standard of 2.2. Plainview dropped its loop mark to 2-3 as the Caprock Longhorns, who were beaten by Pampa Tuesday, 11-2, gouged out a 4-2 victory in Amarillo Tuesday.

The Harvesters, who have scored 16 runs in two district games while allowing opponents only two, will start today's game with Junior Doug Thompson on the mound. Thompson owns a 3-0 record for the season and possesses an ERA of .67.

Coach Buddy Williams' club will take on Palo Duro Monday in Amarillo in a makeup game that was originally scheduled for April 3 but was postponed due to bad weather. Tuesday the Harvesters will meet Tascosa on the Rebel diamond and will journey to Lubbock again Friday and Saturday for battles against Lubbock High and Monterey, respectively.

Shaving Strokes by Frank Beard

the fairway and to replace it within six inches of the original lie—but not nearer the hole without penalty.

Early in the season most courses are not in good condition, and it will benefit the course as well as the average player to apply winter rules. I think the scratch player, the guy with a zero handicap, should play the ball as he finds it, but less accomplished players should avail themselves of any advantage they can.

The reason is that as much as anything else they need to build their confidence, and you don't build much confidence going around trying to make terrific recovery shots from ground that looks as though the Green Bay Packers just scrimmaged on it for two hours. Perfect those shots later, after you've mastered the easier ones and derived a measure of enjoyment from the game.

(NEXT: Be Conservative.)

I know there are purists among us who insist that there is only one way to play golf and that is to hit the ball as it lies regardless of the time of year or weather conditions. They don't recognize, winter rules, or local rules as they are more accurately referred to.

While I agree enthusiastically with the concept of "playing the ball as it lies," I am not didactic about it. The most commonly invoked winter rules are those permitting the golfer to lift and clean his ball on

Fuel Dragsters Will Vie Sunday

AMARILLO—The tire smoking, needle-nosed, 220-mile-per-hour Double-A fuel dragsters return to Amarillo Dragway for the first time in six months Sunday in quest of a $1,000 top prize in open competition.

Approximately 20 of the lightweight, 1,500-horsepower behemoths are expected to begin qualifying runs at 7:00 a.m. Sunday in an attempt to earn one of the eight berths in the afternoon finals.

Heading the list of cars already pre-entered is the full-bodied machine maintained by Tony Casarez and Harold Peoples of "Chacos Kids" fame and driven by Gary Bailey. That car set low elapsed time of the meet (6.7 seconds) and battled to runner-up honors two weeks ago at Laplace Dragway in New Orleans, La.

Also pre-entered is the Boyd and Brown team from Norman, Okla., and the Kelly and Reep combine from Austin.

Car owner Louis Boyd and driver Larry Brown form one of the most respected teams in the nation while Kelly and Reep will be debuting a new, full-bodied car equipped with a unique reverser which saves wear and tear on the crew following those smoky bleach burnouts.

In addition to the fuelers, a special match race also is scheduled sending "Professor" Kelly, Chadwick and his 1970 Camaro against the Candies and Hughes Barrauda, which won the Gatornationals Funny Car Championship at Gainesville, Fla.

Gates will open at 7:00 a.m. Sunday with races scheduled for 2:00 p.m.

Crazy World Of Washington

By LEON BARNETT
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Odds and ends from the nation's capital—mostly odd:

"All over the United States of America, last week," Rep. Otis G. Pike wrote his constituents, "the federal government imposed upon its unhappy families just one more burden.

"Like most enlightened heads of families, I passed this one more burden on to my wife, who, being merely a student, teacher, mother and homemaker, has very little to do. . .

"The burden, of course, was a little thing called the United States census, and, like the Spanish inquisition, it was very motivated. . .

"I detest the sound of women whimpering, and I was a little short with my wife as she gumbled about her little job: 'Why won't a blue pen do?' 'I don't know.' 'I haven't got a black pencil.' 'Get one.' 'It's none of their business.' 'Answer it.' 'Who cares how old I am?' 'It's confidential.' 'There were only about 40 questions, and grumbling, kicking and screaming, with many erasures and a few evasions, she got the job done in a few days.

"Then she told me she had had the short form. If they ever give 80 per cent of the people the long form, there will certainly be a revolution."

Take a slice and pass it on.

Meet the extra-mileage watermelon. More people will get a taste of this one than any other watermelon ever. Because this one is in a newspaper ad. And newspapers are print. And print gets delivered, read, re-read, clipped-out, pinned up, passed around. True, you may not be selling watermelons. But your product does have taste and color, and style and beauty, doesn't it? Print can show these up to their full advantage.

And, because print is so portable, people will see what you show, and read what you say, over and over again. Getting more out of it each time.

Print is advertising with the juice left in. Try some and pass it on.

The Pampa Daily News

This is the title of an offering in a list of selected publications, and the contents are summed up thus:

"This handbook describes a common usage of the term 'observation' in relation to the Defense Contract Administration Services (DCAS) quality assurance program and management information reporting system.

"Examples are provided of the use of the term 'observation' to specific products and processes where the term is applied in the accomplishment of the DCAS quality assurance program. The objective is to achieve uniform understanding and application of the term in all DCAS operating levels in the quality assurance function."

Reporting that Dulles International Airport had set a new traffic record, Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr. of Virginia said: "That is an important landmark—or perhaps one should say airmark."

HONEST PATROLMAN
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UPI)—Patrolman William Miller, an officer with a conscience, gave a woman back her $19.50 traffic fine when he discovered he had read the patrol car speedometer wrong.

When he tried to void the ticket, he found the fine had been paid. So he drove to the woman's house with a refund and an apology. The woman was not identified.

OUT FOR WEDDING

PLYMOUTH, England (UPI)
 —Patrick Nolan, 25, was released on bail from jail Thursday so he could attend his wedding. He had been jailed on charges of malicious wounding and assault as a result of a fight at his pre-wedding stag party.

Hollywood Reports

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Three veteran movie stars—Fred Astaire, Cary Grant and John Wayne—gave ABC-TV's Academy Awards program its most memorable moments Tuesday night.

The star of stars, by all odds, was the amazing, seemingly ageless, indefatigable Astaire, the most graceful performer in the history of American motion pictures, and probably Hollywood's most gracious human being as well.

It was Astaire who electrified the audience when he broke into a lively dance number upon invitation of Bob Hope. Astaire, in case you didn't know, is 70 years old. I don't know how many times he has said he won't dance in show business any more because he's getting on in years. But it has become clear that when the chance arises, and it appeals to him, he will dance on and on.

But, in addition to Astaire's dancing, there were the appearances of Grant and Wayne, Grant, who ranks right up there with Astaire as the essence of style, was given a special award for his brilliant career. Wayne, meanwhile, won the best actor award for his performance in "True Grit." And he was an excellent addition to the broadcast—from his acceptance speech, in which he was quite obviously moved, to his part-time host duties, to his presenting chores.

There was, by the way, an unintentionally hilarious ending announcement to the broadcast that indicated the state of the movie industry today. As the program began to sign off, an announcer intoned the fact that "Midnight Cowboy," which won the best-picture award, was X-rated.

ABC-TV also had two other programs billed as "specials" Tuesday night. One, "The Mad Mad, Mad Comedians," was a half-hour cartoon featuring the voices and likenesses of famous comedians as they delivered their routines, which also were fully animated. The point of such a program was never quite clear, and it succeeded well only in Flip Wilson's marvelous routine on how Columbus came to discover America.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The market is suffering from lack of a point of view, Bache & Co. says. The list appears to be said out, yet "the market seems unable to put several up sessions back-to-back and it is this inconsistency that is causing investor hesitation, it adds. An aggressive investment strategy at this time would be premature, it advises, adding that blue chip, low multiple issues are worthy of accumulation, but glamor issues require careful selection and should be bought only on dips.

Since diverging trends in major areas of the market do not usually persist for long, it is likely either that the glamor issues will pull down the blue chip segment of the current market, or the quality issues by their reluctance to give ground will cause the decline in the volatile issues to slow or come to an end. J. F. Hutton observes. If the blue chips continue to hold out, a firmer tone may set in fairly rapidly throughout the market, it adds.

Argus Research Corp. believes the stock market has already made its bottom for this cycle. Now that economic policies have become expansive, the firm says prospects of a second-half upturn in the economy are strong enough to warrant pursuit of constructive investment policy.

The current period "could well rival 1962 as the best time for trading or investment since World War II," Thomson & McKinnon Auchincloss, says. We are entering a period of moderate economic policy in which traders can make modest profits with less risk of losses than in periods which were not as closely managed, while long-term investors can anticipate a long healthy span of economic growth, the company says.

PRICE GOES UP
 LONDON (UPI)—The Daily Mail announced today its price will go up one penny to six cents Monday because of rising per this week to announce an increase. The others are the Sun, Daily Mirror and Daily Express.
