Some Patients Would Fare Better At Home

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate investigators, opening a look into the high cost of hospital care, were told today that one-third of the patients admitted could be treated as well, perhaps better, outside of hospitals.

Commentator Vows Newsmen Killing Nixon

RADNOR, Pa. (UPI)—Television news commentator Howard K. Smith said Monday Lyndon B. Johnson was "politically assassinated" by the negative attitude of liberal newsmen and the same attempt is being made on President Nixon.

Smith said in a TV Guide magazine interview he agreed with Vice President Spiro T. Agnew that the news business was dominated by liberals and newsmen were not always objective in their reporting.

The American Broadcasting Co. commentator said liberals have become "dogmatic" and liberal newsmen display a "negative reflex action" in several areas of the news, including the presidency.

"The negative attitude which destroys Lyndon Johnson is now waiting to be applied to Richard Nixon," he said.

FOR 3 TO 5 YEARS City Approves Selling Water

By TEX DEWEESSE News Staff Writer A plan to sell Canadian River water to Cities Service Oil Co. was agreed upon today by Pampa city commissioners.

The contract will provide that the oil company pay 15 cents per 1,000 gallons of water in amounts not less than 150,000 gallons nor more than 300,000 gallons every 24 hours.

At minimum consumption this would amount to $675 a month or $8,100 a year and $1,350 a month or $16,200.00 a year in revenue if the maximum amount of water is used.

City utilities director B. M. Wofford said the water costs Pampa approximately 13 1/2 cents per 1,000 gallons.

Under the contract Cities Service would lay a 2 1/2-mile long six-inch pipe line to tie in with the Pampa main line from Berger. The company also would pay for setting the meter.

The contract will cover a period not to exceed five years. In a public hearing preceding today's meeting, commissioners

British Boycott Arab Airlines In London

LONDON (UPI)—Employees of the British Overseas Airways Corp. (BOAC) announced today a work stoppage against all eight Arab airlines with operations in London, a move that could cut the lines' service to Great Britain completely.

The decision was the direct result of two in-flight bombing incidents suspected to be the work of Arab guerrillas. One caused a 47-death Swissair crash, the other blew a hole in an Austrian airliner over Germany. It made a safe landing.

BOAC employees handle most of the maintenance work, refueling, engineering tasks and ground traffic jobs for foreign airlines with operations in London. By boycotting an airline, they can almost shut it down here.

Pompidou, Nixon Tete-A-Tete

WASHINGTON (UPI)—French President Georges Pompidou today began what the White House considers the most important visit by a foreign chief of state since President Nixon took office.

Both U.S. and French officials stress Pompidou's visit is primarily an exercise in good will and that no negotiations are involved and no diplomatic agreements will be completed.

While in Washington, Pompidou will confer twice with Nixon—the second time Thursday—on many international problems, including the Vietnam War.

One Candidate To Date Files For School Post

With nine days left before the midnight, March 5 deadline to file for the 1970 school trustee election, only one candidate, Bob Wilhelm, has filed for one of the two terms available.

Terms of John Spearman, board president, and John Gikas, are up this year, but neither has indicated if he will file for re-election.

Wilhelm, the first candidate, filed for the post Feb. 11, a week before trustees had officially called the election for April 4 in Pampa Junior High School gymnasium.

Absentee voting times are 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. March 16-31 in Homer Craig's office in Pampa Junior High School.

Jimmy Thompson, appointed in January, 1968, to fill the unexpired term of Gene Steel, who had resigned, was elected to the board in April, 1968, with Warren Hasse. Both men have one more year to serve.

Rehearsals are in progress each Monday, Tuesday and Friday heading for an "on-the-road" show March 7 in McLean and March 13-14 in Pampa.

Charge Oil Tariff Plan Political Club

HOUSTON (UPI)—The oil tariff proposal is a "political club" which President Nixon is holding over the heads of the oil and gas industry until the November elections, according to senatorial candidate Lloyd Bentsen.

Bentsen also charged his opponent in the Democratic primary, U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, has been "asleep at the switch and hasn't done anything to oppose the oil tariff proposal."

Rehearsals are in progress each Monday, Tuesday and Friday heading for an "on-the-road" show March 7 in McLean and March 13-14 in Pampa.

Minister director Max Presnell said rehearsals are going well and "I'm just really pleased with the way the cast is going after it."

Most of the key roles have been cast with Pinsky Shultz back again as interlocutor feeding the punch lines to End Men Henry Gruben, Red Cox, Paul Brown, Otto Mangold, Jean Martindale, and Bob Rogers.

"We have a really good chorus and we'll stage 60 voices," Presnell said. "Red Wedgworth will be there with his Dixieland Band. Juanita Haynes of Miami is our pianist."

RAFTERS RINGING

Minstrels Mirthfully Moving Right Along

The rafters in the Pampa Junior High School are resounding with Dixieland music these pre-Spring nights as those irrepressible Lions put together their 1970 version of music and laughter titled "Dixieland USA."

Rehearsals are in progress each Monday, Tuesday and Friday heading for an "on-the-road" show March 7 in McLean and March 13-14 in Pampa.

"That gal is really something," Presnell said. "The way she can accompany! She's the mainstay of our minstrel. I told the cast I could break a leg or there could be almost any other catastrophe, but as long as Juanita was there to accompany the show can go on!"

Require $1.5 Billion To Stay In War Game

WASHINGTON (UPI) The Nixon administration, undying what was described as a month of quiet but vigorous infighting, went to Congress today with details of its plan to buy another $1.5 billion installment of the Safeguard anti-ballistic missile system.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird was to outline the plan to a joint meeting of the Senate Appropriations and Armed Services committees at 10 a.m. EST.

Congressional sources said it was obvious Laird and other policy planners, as well as key supporters in the Senate, had been locked in a debate over whether the ABM should be turned into an anti-Chinese system until it's troublesome radars are engineered to cope with a Soviet strike.

These sources said the argument has raged ever since President Nixon's news conference in January in which he stressed the threat of a Chinese missile capability in the late 1970s and practically ignored the Soviet first strike potential.

Sens. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., and Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., were among members who have resisted attempts to downgrade the ABM's anti-Soviet purposes and have implied they would not support a solely anti-Chinese defense.

But Laird himself acknowledged last week the "eyes" of the ABM system—its radar units that spot incoming missiles and guide interceptors to their targets—were not yet ready to cope with any full Soviet effort to knock out U.S. missile sites.

What Nixon finally chose was uncertain. But congressional sources said they would be surprised if he tried to buck Jackson and Russell, whose opposition would nullify any chances of getting the ABM through the Senate this year.

Further complicating the picture were the forthcoming strategic arms limitation talks with the Soviet Union. Some members have detected a willingness on both sides to confine their ABM systems to an anti-Chinese shield. But Nixon is being pressured to go on building the system as an anti-Soviet defense until an ironclad agreement is reached.

Legal Transfer Of Funds To Welfare Debated AUSTIN (UPI)—State Comptroller Robert E. Calvert Monday joined those who question the legality of Gov. Preston Smith's emergency transfer of medical school funds to meet the state's welfare crisis.

Calvert said he tentatively approved Smith's plan to transfer $13.5 million from medical school building funds to allow the Welfare Department to maintain its present level of payments to dependent children and medical aid to the elderly.

"I don't think they can spend more than the legislature appropriated to them," Calvert said. "It was my understanding this would not increase the amount appropriated."

Smith did not ask Attorney General Crawford Martin to officially rule on the plan before he put it into effect, so the constitutionality of the funds transfer remains debatable.

Sen. Barbara Jordan of Houston, a member of the Welfare Reform Committee, said she thinks the transfer is unconstitutional.

The welfare emergency resulted from a miscalculation of how many persons would be on welfare rolls during the present biennium. Recent court decision have swelled those rolls.

State Sen. Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas, said Monday he doubted that the $13.5 million would be enough to meet the crisis. "I don't see how we can expect the $13.5 million that Gov. Smith found to do the job," he said.

Advocate Repeal Of All Sex Laws

BOSTON (UPI)—William Baird, a militant birth control advocate, urged the Joint Judiciary Committee Monday to repeal all laws regulating sexual conduct between consenting adults.

A two-page statement from Baird, who is serving 90 days in the Charles Street jail for violation of the state's birth control laws, was read for him by Susan Vogel, his secretary and a spokesman for the Parent's Aid Society.

"No government, no group of legislators, no religious group or anyone else has the right to invade the privacy and sacredness of a couple's bedroom to rule by law what their sexual behavior should be," he said.

Rogers had made it clear he believes private investment and regional economic cooperation are the two answers to Africa's problems. He is convinced the wealth of natural resources makes such African countries as Zambia good risks for private loans.

Rogers does not want to see the United States hand out any large sums of money there as gifts.

Rogers' visit was the first by an American secretary of state to black Africa.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers, back from a 15-day tour of 19 African nations, today was expected to tell President Nixon the countries he visited are mostly under strong leadership and are ready for cooperative help from the United States.

Cow Elk To Work With Space Center

JACKSON, Wyo. (UPI)—Keeping track of Monique is turning into more of a task than space scientists estimated. Minique, a 500-pound cow elk, was cast as the lead character in a plan to allow the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) to track an elk in the wilds of northwestern Wyoming, using the orbiting Nimbus III satellite in the process.

Scientists said Monday a 23-pound instrument package contained in a collar worn by Monique is malfunctioning. A watch in the collar is supposed to turn on the instruments only when Nimbus III is overhead.

Mrs. Romney Will Run Anyhow

LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—Mrs. George Romney said Saturday she would run for the U.S. Senate "only if I'm drafted."

Michigan's Republicans then, to her surprise, refused to give her the draft she had sought.

Monday she announced her candidacy anyhow.

Mrs. Romney, wife of the former Michigan governor who is now secretary of housing and urban development, not only declared herself a candidate but announced it through the office of Gov. William Milliken.

The governor promptly threw her his "full support," giving her the party backing she had been denied over the weekend.

The winner of the GOP primary will face Democratic Sen. Philip Hart in November.

If Mrs. Romney wins the consensus designation she will face primary opposition from at least one opponent—state Sen. Robert Huber of Troy, a maverick who had promised a "bloody" campaign against any consensus candidate.

More Witnesses To Testify In Political Pressure Hearing

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—Ten additional witnesses have been called to testify before the second session of a grand jury convening today investigating possible political pressure applied against opponents of Rep. W. S. "Bill" Healey, D-Paducah.

Eight witnesses appeared at the grand jury's first session two weeks ago and U. S. District Attorney Seagal Wheatley said 10 more would appear during the second session.

Among those subpoenaed was Morris Index, publisher of the Childrens Index. Higley said the same marshal who delivered his subpoena also presented one to A. L. Gailley, director of the First National Bank of Memphis, Tex.

Higley said he was asked to bring all his records pertaining to contributions to Healey, Higley and Healey are longtime friends.

"I cannot remember ever giving any money to any of his campaigns," Higley said, adding "a lot of advertising" for Healey appeared in Higley's newspaper. "But that was all paid for."

Leon Williams of Quanah, Tex., is seeking Healey's House seat in the Democratic primary. Zack Fischer of Memphis is running for the same spot in the Republican primary.

Both complained pressure was exerted on them not to make the race. If the allegations are true, it could violate the 1968 Civil Rights Act.

Lost His Job
Williams said he lost his job as director of the Quanah Chamber of Commerce the day after he announced his plans to run. He said his wife, a home demonstration agent for the Texas A&M Extension Service, also was in danger of losing her job.

Fischer said Barker Jack I. Davis asked him to withdraw his accounts and sever all business connections with the Memphis bank when he decided to run on the GOP ticket.

When the grand jury first convened to investigate the allegations of political pressure, Fischer indicated he was offered money not to run against Healey.

The stabbings and beaten bodies of John Franklin Hood, 24, Oxnard, Calif., who was discharged from the Army last month; and Sandra Garcia, 20, were found under a green blanket Sunday by early arrivals at East Beach.

The knife, which had a saw blade and a regular blade, was found buried beneath the fully clothed bodies. Both victims had been beaten and stabbed repeatedly.

"We are actively attempting to find out something about the person who had this knife," a police detective said. "We don't know whose it is, but we know it didn't belong to the victims."

Luang Prabang, 60 miles north of Muong Suoi, would be the next logical target after that, according to military analysts in Vientiane. The government army has had little success in stopping the Communist advance.

Daylight Dawns On Twilight War

VIENTIANE (UPI)—The government stronghold and airfield at Muong Suoi fell this morning to North Vietnamese troops expanding their control of Laotian territory from the Plain of Jars.

An army spokesman said a battalion of about 600 Communist troops attacked the town, 30 miles west of the plain, Monday night and had taken it from the estimated 200 government defenders by dawn.

No casualty reports were available.

The announcement said the defenders had destroyed all their military installations before yielding to the North Vietnamese attackers. Muong Suoi was the site of an airfield used by Laotian T28 warplanes.

Military sources said U.S. fighter-bombers tried but failed to beat back the attack and used some of their own bombs to help destroy the Laotian installations so they would not fall into guerrilla hands.

Despite intensive U.S. bombing raids by both fighter-bombers and B52s, the Communists launched their own counterdrive Feb. 11, captured the plain three days ago and now have moved 30 miles farther west.

The government spokesman predicted the North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao might now turn to the government position at Phu Khun, 20 miles west of Muong Suoi, to cut off national Highway 13 between Vientiane and the royal capital at Luang Prabang.

Luang Prabang, 60 miles north of Muong Suoi, would be the next logical target after that, according to military analysts in Vientiane. The government army has had little success in stopping the Communist advance.

Truck Nearly Causes Fire

An unidentified oil field maintenance truck was responsible for a fire which occurred near a warehouse behind Wing's T.V. Service, 101 N. Hobart, shortly after 2 p.m. Monday according to Pampa firemen.

Witnesses at the scene said the truck tore several power lines loose when it entered Rham St. from an alley behind Wing's.

The damaged wires immediately began to spark and burn after the accident. Mrs. Wing, a proprietor, said she heard a sound "like an explosion."

Some wires fell on a passing city sanitation truck driven by Johnny Ray Davis, 200 1/2 N. Naida. Although he was unharmed, Davis said electrical arcs were flashing all over his truck before he was able to stop the vehicle.

The Wings stated damage to their property was negligible but their son Steve, 17, exclaimed, "Dang My new ladder got burned."

Polish Sausage Supper Plans Set

The Pampa Knights of Columbus, 18th Polish Sausage Dinner and Supper, will be March 8, according to Grand Knight Dwain Urbanczyk.

Chuck Albus has been appointed general chairman and Curtis Griffin will serve as co-chairman of the annual event. More than 20 chairmen have been appointed, ranging from purchasing the polish sausage to serving the meals on Sunday, March 8.

At a committee meeting this week, Chairman Albus announced plans were completed to prepare 1,500 pounds of barbecued and steamed polish sausage, which will be served with potato salad, cole slaw, apricots and beans. To complete the meal, home-made pie will be served along with iced tea and coffee.

Tickets are now being sold by members of Frank Keim Council. Prices for the tickets are adults $2; children $1 and children under six years of age are admitted free.

The dinner and supper will be served by the members of Frank Keim Council No. 2767 from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. and from 4:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. at the Columbus Club Hall, Ward and Buckler.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Civic leaders from every state are meeting here today and Tuesday to review the progress made in big cities and small towns to improve their communities.

The program of 1970 congress on beautification will be devoted to specific problems faced by the municipalities. Sponsored annually by the national clean-up-paint-up-fix up bureau, it is aimed at unifying the efforts of private citizens, government, community improvement.

The work of almost 50 million people in more than 400 cities will be on display at the awards were:

MOON PHILOSOPHY

CINCINNATI (UPI)—William B. Woermann, celebrating his 100th birthday today, never gave much thought to landing man on the moon, but says everyone sees things differently.

"World of Carl Sandburg" To Be Enacted

Almost a century of poetry, songs and stories in the life of one of America's greatest when the Alpha-Omega Players present "The World of Carl Sandburg" Wednesday at Robert E. Lee Jr. High.

Sandburg, a one-time hobo, milk man, soldier, waiter, laborer, wheat picker, bricklayer, house painter and newspaperman, has penned for posterity his earthy observations which encompass his 89 years of living, and for which he won two Pulitzer Prizes.

"The World of Carl Sandburg" is an evening filled with joy and sorrow, nostalgia and humor, aimed for the entire family. Though Sandburg was in the vanguard of free verse writers, he is never bitter or critical, and he makes his observations with no political comment.

He describes America which he knew and loved up to his death several years ago, and even on his 80th birthday he said, "Age is relative. I've got a younger heart than most of the poets. Three-fourths of the poets we have nowadays were born old."

The performance, fully staged and not a dramatic reading, is sponsored by Pampa Fine Arts Association and will begin at 8 p.m.

Shadow Due To Fall Across Sun's Face

WASHINGTON (UPI) — On March 7 a shadow will fall across the face of the sun.

For brief periods the sun will be blotted from earthly view along a path extending 7,000 miles from below the equator in the South Pacific to west of Ireland in the North Atlantic.

It will, says the National Science Foundation (NSF), be "the most shot-at" total eclipse of the sun since ancient times.

Hundreds of scientists will "shoot the sun" in a variety of wavelengths — radio, infrared, optical, ultraviolet, and X-ray.

They will shoot from scores of temporary and permanent ground observatories. They also will hurl 66 rockets and 12 gun-launched probes into the sky to test new knowledge of the sun and its influence upon earth.

A high-orbiting satellite is being shifted to a new position which will enable it to do its special bit toward studying effects of the eclipse.

Two fast-flying jet airplanes, loaded with instruments, will chase the eclipse shadow which will be moving across the earth at more than 1,500 miles an hour.

It is not a necessarily evil thing, as the ancients thought, that will be blacking out the sun come March 7. It is our little old moon.

"In an eclipse," says the NSF, "the 2,160-mile diameter moon just covers the 864,000-mile diameter sun—an accident of size and distance that permits scientists to observe solar features otherwise masked by the brilliance of the sky."

Eclipse is a Boon

So for scientists an eclipse is a boon. For laymen, it they heed warnings not to look at it directly, it is an exciting opportunity to witness one of nature's spectaculars.

For animals and plants, however, it is a kind of hoax. Birds, thinking night has fallen, go to roost, daytime animals bed down, flowers fold.

The earliest recorded solar eclipse occurred Oct. 22, 2137 B.C. Unhappily for them, the Chinese royal astronomers, Hi and Ho, were drunk on wine and failed to perform their duty of shooting arrows and beating drums to drive off the dragon that was devouring the sun.

This so vexed the emperor, Chung K'ang, that he had Hi and Ho beheaded.

John C. White, Agriculture Commissioner, has set March 6 for a hearing in Robstown to consider quarantine measures against St. Augustine decline, a virus grass disease which has been found in several Texas areas.

NAMED CHIEF COUNSEL

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A former assistant U.S. attorney for New York, Paul L. Perito, has been named chief counsel of the House Crime Committee which is investigating organized crime. Perito will succeed Richard W. Kurrus, who returned to private practice in Washington. He was an assistant to former U.S. Attorney Robert M. Morgenthau who was removed by President Nixon.

Texas Aeronautics Commission approved a $15,000 grant for Stephenville and a $16,000 grant for Beeville to build airport taxiways and aprons.

Racing Commission Turns Down Offer For Ruidoso

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) — An application by Newco Inc. to purchase the Ruidoso Downs Race Track has been turned down in a 3-2 vote by the New Mexico Racing Commission.

The vote followed testimony by a U.S. Representative who alleged that a firm that had loaned money to Newco had links with the Cosa Nostra.

which is seeking to buy Ruidoso Downs, had received a $600,000 loan from Emprise Inc. Steiger said Emprise had members which were "known Cosa Nostra figures" identified by a U.S. Senate Committee. On cross examination, however, Steiger would not reveal the source of his information saying only that it was from a federal agency.

Kentucky Assures Itself Of Bid By Beating Alabama 98-89

By United Press International
Feb. 24 is one of those red letter days in the life of a college basketball coach because that's when the bids go out for the National Collegiate Athletic Association and National Invitation Tournaments.

Ten independents and 15 conference champions fill the NCAA tournament, and the NIT get to choose from everybody that left. NCAA bids to out 60 minutes before the NIT's.

Second-ranked Kentucky clinched the Southeastern Conference title and the NCAA berth that goes with it Monday night by beating Alabama, 98-89, on a 47-point performance by senior center Dan Issel.

Kentucky was assured of the Third-ranked South Carolina also won Monday night, beating Wake Forest, 67-51, but the victory has no effect on determining which tournament will wind up with the Gamecocks. The Atlantic Coast Conference has a championship tournament at the end of each season to determine the NCAA participant, and the runnerup traditionally goes to the NIT.

The independents, however, were scrambling to make favorable last-minute impressions on the tournament selectors since bids don't automatically come to them like conference champions.

Among the ranking independents, No. 5 New Mexico State rallied for 60 points in the second half to crush Boise State, 105-79, as Jimmy Collins hit 25 points and Sam Lacey added 20. All-America candidate Austin Carr scored 50 points to pace No. 15 Notre Dame to a 121-114 victory over Butler; and No. 10 Marquette, paced by guard Jeff Sewell's 29 points, overcame stubborn Xavier, 81-73.

Several other top independents in line for tournament, play also scored victories with Cyril Baptiste hitting for 24 points, including two foul shots in the final 43 seconds, to lift Creighton over Providence, 66-64; Georgia Tech trouncing Tulane, 84-75; and Nate Williams tossing in a free throw with one second remaining to give Utah State an 80-78 triumph over the Air Force Academy.

Ohio Valley Conference champion Western Kentucky, tied for 16th in the ratings, got 24 points from Jim McDaniels to beat Dayton, 76-63.

Tennis Groups Fail To Reach Agreement

DALLAS (UPI)—Tennis' top professional names—men like Rod Laver, Tony Roche and John Newcombe—probably will not participate in any more American open tournaments.

The directors of the two professional tennis stables said Monday discussions between their organizations and the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association have been discontinued and an agreement on open tournaments was not reached.

THESE FOUR will end their high school basketball careers tonight as the Pampa Harvesters close out their 1968-69 season. The four seniors from left to right are Chris Brandon, Jim Gallman, Jerry Brumfield and Randy Marsh. Both Gallman and Marsh will start in tonight's game. The Shockers will take to the Borger court at 6 p.m. and the Harvesters will start at 8 p.m. (Staff Photo)

Four Harvesters End Careers In Season Final At Borger

Tonight will end the high school basketball career for four Pampa Harvesters as Pampa takes on Borger in their final game of the 1968-69 season.

Chris Brandon, Jerry Brumfield, Jim Gallman and Randy Marsh will take to the court for the final time for Pampa as the Harvesters will play the part of spotters in trying to upset the Bulldogs hopes to continue in district action.

The Borger team is tied with Amarillo High for the second season lead and if Pampa can come up with a win it will knock the Bulldogs out of district contention unless Amarillo also happens to lose their last game.

Gallman and Marsh are both starters for the Harvesters and Gallman is Pampa's leading scorer averaging 19.3 points per game. Gallman was also the only returning letterman from last season on the squad.

Richard Bunton, Mike Edgar, Gallman, Mike Jordan and Marsh are expected to start for the Harvesters and Jerry Brumfield and Doug Thompson should see some action.

The Pampa Shockers will also close out their season against Borger tonight.

Pampa Ends Season With Borger Tonight

By JIM BURNHAM
News Sports Correspondent

The Harvesters will wrap up the season tonight in Borger against the Bulldogs with hopefully a win.

Pampa is 12-15 for the season and 3-5 for the second half of district play. Last year, with a better record, the Harvesters pounded the Bulldogs at the close of the season to win the second half title.

The Harvesters are out of the race this year, but Borger is very much in it, tied for first with Amarillo, sporting a 7-1 second half record. With a 25-5 season so far, Borger is tied with the Sandies and the Plainsmen of Monterey for fourteenth in state.

In the first half of action, Borger mowed the Harvesters 83-69 Jan. 23. Sophomore Richard Bunton paved the way for Pampa with 23 points and Jim Gallman, second in district with a 19.3 points per contest average, added 21 to the scoreboard.

Borger has four players who average in double figures. Richard Coffey, Carl Taylor, Earl O'Steen and Kenny Harper rally the Bulldogs' offensive moves.

Last Friday, Pampa saw the end of a three-game winning streak when Coronado latched past Pampa 51-49. Coronado squeezed past the Borger-Bulldogs last Tuesday 61-60. Judging by these results, Borger should be at least one point better than the Green-and-Gold.

'Super Flake' Came To Baseball Like A Fireball

FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UPI)—The three faces which Denny McLain has displayed to the sports world are those of a fireball, a flake and a fool.

In this first of three articles on baseball's No. 1 bad boy, the Detroit Tiger pitcher's meteoric rise to stardom will be traced. The personality which caused his teammates to nickname him "Super Flake" will be explored in the second article and the weaknesses which brought about his suspension by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn will be analyzed in the third article.

McLain's career on the field has been an unqualified success story. Few athletes have risen so far so fast. At the age of 25 and with only six major league seasons behind him he has achieved goals which stamp him as a likely Hall of Famer.

Denny has been a 20-game winner three times and is the only major league pitcher in the last 35 years to win 30 games in a season. He has won the American League's Most Valuable Player award once. He has won one Cy Young Award as the league's No. 1 pitcher and shared the award another time. He shares the league record for most consecutive strikeouts in a game. He has played in a World Series and won a game. His composite 55-15 won-lost record for the last two seasons is one of the best in baseball history.

McLain's rise to stardom began at Mt. Carmel High School in Chicago where he compiled a 38-7 won-lost record which brought him to the attention of major league scouts. He was signed off the high school campus by the Chicago White Sox for a $17,000 bonus in 1962 and assigned to their Harlan, Ky., farm club. Three years later he was a star for the Detroit Tigers.

And what a star! He was 16-6 in 1965, 20-14 in 1966 and 17-16 in 1967. He finished the 1967 season under something of a cloud—a cloud which now threatens to haunt him for the rest of his life—because he failed to win a game after Aug. 2 and the tigers lost the pennant by one game to the Boston Red Sox. It was during this period that he was side-lined with the foot injury which has become a major issue in the charges now swirling about him.

Whatever his failures may have been in 1967, Denny made the baseball world forget 'em in 1968.

The big moment for Denny came in a nationally-televised game with the Oakland Athletics on Sept. 14. Dizzy Dean, the last previous 30-game winner in 1934, was on hand at Tiger Stadium. McLain's attempt to reach 30 that day seemed thwarted when Reggie Jackson's second homer of the game gave the Athletics a 4-3 lead in the sixth inning. But the Tigers rallied for two runs to win the game, 5-4, in the ninth inning and give Denny No. 30. He scored one more victory five days later to round out the season with a 31-6 record and one of the great pitching achievements of modern times.

Denny's brilliant feat was dimmed somewhat in the World Series, during which he lost two of three decisions including a much-awaited first-game confrontation with St. Louis Cardinal ace Bob Gibson, but there was no denying his remarkable season.

There were a few critics who wondered whether McLain's great season was a fluke but he answered them all in 1969.

Although the Tigers "came up stale" and never made a strong challenge for the pennant, McLain turned in a second consecutive brilliant season. He compiled a 24-9 record, worked in 325 innings, pitched nine shutouts and had a 2.80 earned run average. This time he shared the Cy Young award as pitcher of the year in the AL with 23-game winner Mike Cuellar of the Baltimore Orioles.

No other game places as high a value on statistical achievement as baseball and Denny now had the kind of statistics which lead a player into the game's Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y. With 104 victories at the age of 25, Denny was well on his way toward 250 to 300 career victories and almost automatic entrance to the shrine.

That's one face of Denny McLain—the fireball.

But there are two other faces—the flake and the fool. (Next: Denny McLain the Flake)

Starting for the Shockers will be Dale Ammons, Don Cain, Marsh Gamblin, Gary Haynes and Mickey Sims.

Game time at Borger will be 8 p.m. for the Harvesters and 6 p.m. for the Shockers.

Baseball Gets Underway As Talk Turns To Money

By United Press International
In spring a baseball player's fancy turns to thoughts of money—like a million dollars, or $25,000, or $60,000.

The million-dollar pitch was made Monday by Horace Clarke of the Yankees, who thinks it would be splendid, if CBS, which owns the club, could help him swing a million-dollar loan for an apartment house venture in the Virgin Islands. Clarke would like to have a couple of contracts with the New York team—one if he gets the loan, the other if he doesn't. This far the club has offered Clarke $30,000—without the million-dollar rider.

Juan Marichal realistically accepted a mere $125,000 from the San Francisco Giants and promptly took a two-hour drill with the club. Juan delighted the Giants by being on hand earlier than at any time in the last five years.

While Clarke and Marichal were involved in their financial dealings, the Cincinnati Reds were preparing to go to the mat with pitcher Jim Maloney. The Reds want him to sign a conditional contract this season, because the club is rked by its perennial arm injuries.

The baseball commissioner has some possible money worries too. Bowie Kuhn said he expected the Curt Flood rule to be made in the near future. Kuhn commented that the Phillies might wind up with a replacement for Flood in their trade with St. Louis after the verdict and that "if it becomes necessary, I think the two clubs can work something out."

As for Denny McLain, Kuhn said for the possibly three hundredth time that he had nothing to say on McLain.

On the conditioning and weather fronts, the Cleveland Indians pale at the thought of a daily three-mile run in the Arizona sun, and Danny Murtaugh of the Pirates is trying to be worried about the beautiful weather in Bradenton, Fla.

"Our problem," said Denny, "is to make sure our guys don't try to get ready too fast. There's a temptation to do that when the conditions are this good."

At Campans, general manager of the Dodgers, sounded smug at Vero Beach, where half the Dodger pitching staff and catching corps are still unsigned. "They know that by holding out all they're really doing is hurting themselves."

And the managerial spring training quota of the day comes from Alvin Dark of Cleveland who says: "If we can put together good years with the fellas we now have, we can be right in contention."

San Antonio Tournament Officials Want Changes

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Despite the worst weather on the winter golfing tour this year and a financial deficit at the gate, sponsors of the San Antonio Open Golf tournament said today they can get the "big names" of golf back to the event next year if "certain changes" are approved.

Foremost among these changes apparently is moving the date of the tournament to Jan. 7-11—the first week of the winter tour.

Gilbert Brown, president of the sponsoring San Antonio Golf Association, said the wind, rain and sleet which raked the Pecan Valley Country Club course on three of the tournament's four days cost the sponsors $10,000 in gate receipts—enough to have easily wiped out the deficit realized at the end of the event. "We've just tried this year to make everyone want to come back," Brown said. "That means more than how we did financially."

Brown refused to confirm the sponsors are eyeing a change in the date for the tournament. But he said such a move "could be" under consideration.

Lee Trevino, the popular "Merry Mexican" who consistently draws large galleries in Mexican-oriented San Antonio, is a strong advocate of the earlier date.

Trevino said the January date would assure a stronger field for the 1971 tournament.

Weldon, Cuellar To Meet March 3

HOUSTON (UPI)—Texas Featherweight Champion Arturo Cuellar of Corpus Christi and No. 1 challenger Kenny Weldon of Galena Park, will meet in a 10-round match at the Sam Houston Coliseum March 3. Texas boxing enterprises promoter Earl Gilliam said Monday.

Weldon, 13-1-1, and fresh from a knockout over veteran Nat "Killer" Jackson on Jan. 20, officially will be going after Cuellar's title.

The main event on the card matches Mexico's top ranking welterweights, Crispin "Cris" Benitez of Michoacan and Jesse "Chuco" Garcia of Reynosa in a 10-rounder.

Weldon claimed the championship in the 126-pound class last year, defeating Augustine Moreno of Beaumont.

IONEER NATURAL GAS COMPANY

The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It was in 1964, as I recall, that President Lyndon B. Johnson committed the federal government to a massive "war on poverty." And everyone knows what happened.

Poverty was wiped out virtually overnight.

President Nixon came into office in 1969 pledging to subdue crime and inflation.

And now that those problems have been solved, Nixon is leading a governmental campaign against environmental pollution.

Citizens who are unversed in political science may wonder how the government manages to solve problems like these so quickly. The answer is that it programs them to death.

Ratio is 16-1.

The usual ratio is 16-1 — 16 programs for every 1 problem. (This formula also makes a pretty good dry martini, incidentally.)

Citizens who are unversed in political science may wonder why the government takes a multi-program approach to national problems rather than operate on a 1-1 basis.

The answer to that is that multi-program approach provides more opportunity for saving money.

Plucking a figure out of the smoggy air, let us say that it would cost $48 billion to eradicate pollution. Does the president then send Congress a $48 billion antipollution program?

Not if he wants to stay on good terms with Congress, he doesn't.

He knows that the main function of Congress is saving money on federal programs. And the opportunities for saving money on a single antipollution program are woefully limited.

Congress would simply cut it to $24 billion, and then it wouldn't have anything to do for the rest of the day but sort of mope around.

Will Send in 16 Programs

A smart president, recognizing the importance of keeping Congress occupied, will send it 16 $3 billion antipollution programs, thus greatly expanding the opportunities for saving money.

Either way, Congress ends up appropriating $24 billion, which is half of what is needed.

Citizens who are unversed in political science may wonder why the president doesn't initially ask for $96 billion, which would enhance his chances of finally obtaining the needed $48 billion.

The answer is that if he asked for $96 billion, it would throw his budget out of balance.

Solving a problem by programming it to death may not sound very efficient, but I can assure you that it will work as well against pollution as it has against poverty, crime and inflation.

Order Shuts Down Oil Wells

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Orders from the Interior Department kept 22 Chevron Oil Co. platforms shut down in the Gulf of Mexico today as federal inspectors checked out pollution abatement facilities in the area where a platform fire has blazed for 13 days.

Interior Secretary Walter Hickel issued an order Friday shutting down all drilling and production on the 22 platforms in the area of the fire. The order involves 191 wells producing 67,000 barrels of oil and one billion cubic feet of natural gas daily.

Hickel said he feared pollution that might result when the fire was extinguished. He said federal inspectors would be dispatched to examine every one of the Chevron platforms, and the shutdown would last until they were finished, whenever that might be.

An apparent response to the Hickel order came Saturday night in the form of a news release from Chevron. The company said it had been amply prepared from the first to handle any pollution that might occur.

The company said it had a 300-man antipollution team and tons of equipment on hand to take care of oil spills that could occur between the time the fire is put out and the leaking wells are capped.

"We have all we need, ready and on location, to contain even a large spill," the company said. "If the situation requires it, we can call on the resources of the entire Chevron organization, on contract labor, and if necessary on others in the industry who have volunteered their services."

Hollywood In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Chances are you have not heard of Donald Sutherland.

You will.

He is an astonishingly good actor.

A native of Canada, Sutherland is the gangling 6-foot, 4-inch, 185-pound star of "M-A-S-H," which should do for him what "The Graduate" did for Dustin Hoffman.

Like Hoffman, Sutherland is a member of the new genre of actor better suited to character roles than leading man.

Twenty years ago he might have been a prospect to fill the void left by the passing of Slim Summerville. While he is more handsome than the late Summerville, Sutherland will not make the world forget Tyrone Power.

Is No Beauty

Sutherland has watery blue eyes, a prominent nose, variegated blond shoulder-length hair and a somewhat preoccupied attitude.

Today, wearing a scraggy beard and mustache, he could pose for religious pictures.

But Sutherland also is an accomplished, convincing actor who—along with Hoffman, Jon Voight and Elliot Gould—will be starring in motion pictures for years to come.

"I can walk around totally unrecognized except in New York," the actor said, stating a fact. "Even in New York I'm not well known."

"I went back there for the premiere of M-A-S-H and a limousine met me at the airport to attend the New York Critics Awards. When I got out of the car a crowd dashed up asking, please, Mr. Nicholson, give us your autograph."

"They mistook me for Jack Nicholson in Easy Rider."

It is unlikely similar incidents will recur.

Impresses Producers

Sutherland appeared in 16 movies, mainly in bit parts. His most important role was as a dying English lord in "Joanna."

He also impressed producers with a small role in "The Dirty Dozen."

Sutherland is affably indifferent to his surroundings—he lives in Beverly Hills with his wife and three children—and is given to staring into the middle distance while lapsing into a Canadian accent.

He is devoted to American poetry and dotes on acting.

"I'm confident of my abilities," he said. "If the character is a man, I can play him. I follow the theory that an actor must observe and compare and work on the distinctions."

"I played 26 roles in the Spoon River Anthology at the Royal Court Theatre in England. Once I even played an old witch."

Sutherland stroked his beard and contemplated the sky.

Americans Killed In Arab Fire

TEL AVIV (UPI)—Arab guerrillas machinegunned a busload of 37 American tourists on the northern outskirts of Biblical Hebron Monday, killing one American woman.

Two other American women and an Israeli male guide were wounded.

The identity of the dead woman was not immediately disclosed.

The spokesman for Jerusalem's Hadassah Hospital, to which the injured were airlifted by Israeli army helicopter, identified the wounded as Lucille Draper, 53, of Buffalo, N.Y., Tabeta M. Damico of Atlantic City, N.J., and Zvi Greenberg, the tour guide.

He said Miss Draper, the sister of the tour leader, and Rev. Draper, underwent surgery for removal of shrapnel and was in good condition.

Miss Damico suffered only superficial injuries, as did Greenberg, the hospital spokesman said.

An Israeli tourism ministry official said the Americans were among 37 American tourists who arrived in Israel on a cruise ship Sunday for a one-day tour of the Holy Land.

He said their bus, the second of two tourist buses heading for Jerusalem, was ambushed as it passed through the Arab village of Halhoul on Hebron's northern outskirts at 3 p.m.

The last Arab guerrilla attack on tourists occurred Dec. 27 just south of Hebron. Guerrillas machinegunned a bus carrying 40 Americans, killing Leon Holz, 48, a Brooklyn, N.Y., textile manufacturer.

Crazy World Of Washington

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Oddities and ends from the nation's capital—mostly odd:

It's easy, in adding through news releases, to conclude that every pursuit in which Americans engage has its own trade association lobbying away in Washington.

There's the Fertilizer Institute, the American Land Title Association, the National Camera Association (whose members complained about being served, at a recent banquet, food that had been frozen by their competition), and on and on.

It seemed at first glance that even the moonshiners had set up such an operation.

But no, those long-time nonconformists are nonconformist still. The Corn Refiners Association, Inc., represents people who squander that grain by converting it into strictly nonalcoholic products.

President Nixon had a small group in at the White House for a brief advance briefing of the voluminous foreign policy message he sent Congress on Wednesday.

At the outset, he checked with adviser Henry W. Kissinger whether he had given the title correctly, which it turned out he had.

In conclusion, the President told his guests: "I do say that I commend the report to your reading. It is worth reading. I have read it myself."

Wayard words:

Rep. Richard L. Ottinger, D-N.Y., talking about the sludgy situation off the coast of his state, said:

"We are told big ship captains park there to rid their bottoms of barnacles."

Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa,

PROPOSES EXEMPTIONS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—With hopes of encouraging smaller families, Sen. Robert W. Packwood, R-Ore., has proposed a bill that would grant income tax exemptions only for families with three or fewer children.

Packwood said Monday his legislation would let families deduct $1,000 for the first child $750 for the second and $500 for the third. Children born before Jan. 1, 1973, would continue to rate the present $600 deduction, Packwood said.

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Eighty California youths flew to Havana Monday night to help Fidel Castro's Cuba harvest sugar cane.

The group was made up mostly of students of the University of California at Berkeley. They arrived by plane from San Francisco and waited more than 10 hours for departure of a Cubana Airlines flight to Havana.

Washington Report

BOB PRICE Senior Correspondent

The year's first meeting of the Science and Astronautics Committee was held last week. Dr. Thomas Paine, Administrator of National Aeronautics and Space Administration, outlined the agency's recommended plans for the 1971 fiscal year budget beginning on July 1.

NASA is one of the government departments that will have a decreased budget in 1971 as a part of President Nixon's anti-inflation drive.

Dr. Paine informed the Committee, NASA is requesting $3.33 billion, which is $522 million below the 1970 level, and almost one-half the amount spent in the peak year of 1966.

He noted that this will mean a reduction of approximately 45,000 government employees by the end of 1971.

Specifically to 1971 budget provides for:

Seven more moon landings beginning with Apollo 13 on April 11.

Launching an earth orbiting space station in late 1972 which will allow research in space.

Beginning efforts to perfect a reusable rocket plane type of vehicle to take men and supplies to and from earth orbit, by the late 1970's.

Continuing work toward fly-by's of Mars and Venus, by the year 1972.

Launching satellites to obtain data for use in farming, forestry, fisheries, pollution, and other areas; and Continuing development of a nuclear powered rocket for deep space probes in the future.

Dr. Paine pointed out that the austerity of the budget is indicated by the fact that the U.S. Astronauts will fly in space between the last Apollo flight in 1974 and the time the space shuttle becomes operative in the late 1970's.

He also noted some of the practical successes of the space program including weather satellites, communications satellites, new wing designs for jet aircraft, and military uses such as observation satellites.

I'm generally pleased with this budget which allows us to continue the space program at a level that is fiscally responsible.

Anyone interested in attending one of the Apollo launches should contact my office, and I will attempt to obtain a pass for them.

Sincerely,
Bob Price

Astros May Find Lunar Crust

HOUSTON (UPI) — Apollo 13 astronauts, who will go to the moon's highlands for the first time, will probably find evidence of a lunar "crust," a noted astronomer said today.

Dr. Anthony Turkovich of the University of Chicago, addressing the 159th annual meeting of the American Chemical Society, said the surface of the highlands contains material of much less density than the sea-like plains of the moon which have already been visited by man.

"The density of the rocks inferred from the chemical composition is less than that of the moon as a whole," Turkovich said. "This suggests, he said, that at an early stage a significant portion of the moon was molten enough to allow the separation of lighter material with a high melting point to rise to a surface and form a crust."

Turkovich likened the moon's highlands to the earth's continents or to iceberg like objects floating on a more dense sea of deeper rocks.

The lighter density means the highlands reflect more light than the denser areas, he said.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—There has been much speculation that next season's announced CBS-TV schedule indicates the network is changing to more urban-oriented programming after great success with provincial shows.

The thinking behind this speculation is that CBS-TV, long powerful in the national Nielsen Ratings which emphasize grass-roots tastes, has come to realize the modern concentration of people and attitudes in urban areas is the new, pivotal selling factor.

This is a nice, logical kind of speculation, and perhaps partly true. It does not, however, seem entirely fair to CBS-TV or to all the facts, and even if partly true—is hardly an earthshaking development in view of past CBS-TV programming as well as current.

For example, the only outright hillbilly-type series that the network has canceled for next season is "Petticoat Junction." Returning are "The Beverly Hillbillies," "Green Acres," "Hee Haw," the Jim Nabors (Gomer Pyle) variety hour and "Mayberry R.F.D."

As another example, although CBS-TV has indeed scheduled some new city-dramatic series, it has also done this

Foreign News Commentary

The "twilight war" in Laos gradually is coming into full daylight, attracting more discussion about the U.S. commitment there, what it's costing, who is running it and who is fighting it.

The fact that in four out of five recent days U.S. B52s were diverted from other assignments to support Laotian forces retreating from the Plain of Jars suggests the U.S. commitment in the air is about total.

Then comes a shadowland of American advisers of unknown numbers directing the war from a secret headquarters and from "spook" airlines under direction of the Central Intelligence Agency air-dropping food and military supplies.

It is not a situation designed to make the Nixon administration happy but it is defended as an operation necessary to prevent Laos from falling totally into Communist hands.

A transcript of a secret session of the U.S. Senate released in late January suggested U.S. military and economic aid to Laos this year will come to about $190 million — $90 million for the regular Laotian army, $50 million for economic aid and another $50 million for secret operations not identified.

Most of the latter money, it was assumed, would go to support an army known appropriately enough as the Armees Clandestine.

It is an army of 40,000 full and part-time fighters drawn from the Meo hill people living in the Laotian northeast.

Their commander is Maj. Gen. Vang Pao, a small, wiry flamboyant man who is himself a Meo and rated one of the most effective and honest Laotian generals.

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice of Proposed Compromise to Consumers of Certain Broad Spectrum Antibiotics

There are pending in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York ("the Court") a number of class actions (the "actions") against Chas. Pfizer & Co., Inc., American Cyanamid Company, Bristol-Myers Company, Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation, Squibb Beech-Nut, Inc. and The Upjohn Company, alleging that those companies violated the antitrust laws in the sale of certain of their broad spectrum antibiotic products. It is further alleged that as a result purchasers of such products have paid prices higher than they otherwise would have paid. Early last year, the defendants, while denying liability, offered $100 million in settlement of all claims by three groups of purchasers, one group including individual consumers.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a hearing will be held before the Court beginning on March 24, 1970, at 10 o'clock in the morning in Room 110 of the United States Court House, Foley Square, New York, New York. The purpose of the hearing is to determine whether a proposed compromise and settlement of all the actions should be approved by the Court under Rule 23(e) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. If so approved, all the settled actions will be dismissed on the merits as against all defendants with prejudice.

The terms of the proposed compromise and settlement are contained (1) in a proposal of the defendants (dated February 6, 1969, as modified May 9, 1969); (2) in a "proposed Plan of Allocation" filed by the State of Alabama and many other states (the "Alabama Plan") submitted to the Court in chambers and to defendants in August 1969, and filed with the Clerk, certain pages having been substituted, on January 20, 1970; (3) in an "Excrow Agreement" approved by order of the Court (filed on October 20, 1969); (4) in a document entitled "Election by Defendants to Proceed with a Modified Plan of Allocation" (filed on October 20, 1969); and (5) in an "Addendum" (filed on January 20, 1970), to the "Election" document just described. Copies of these five papers are on file with the Court and copies are available for examination in Room 508 of the Court House, Room 508 being a part of the Clerk's office. Plans of allocation were also filed by the State of Connecticut and others, by the County of Los Angeles, by the City of Philadelphia and others, by the City and County of San Francisco, by the Committee of Counsel in the consolidated wholesaler-retailer class action, and by the State of Vermont. Copies of these plans are also available for examination in Room 508 of the Court House.

The payments in compromise of the actions, as set forth in Exhibit B to "Election by Defendants to Proceed with a Modified Plan of Allocation" (the paper described in clause (4) in the paragraph next above), are subject to reduction for further administrative expenses and for fees and expenses (as later allowed by the Court) of counsel for plaintiffs in the actions. These amounts must be divided with the Court's approval among all the claims represented in the actions including those of individual consumers.

According to notices already given with the Court's approval, each state and other governmental entity participating in the settlement is authorized to use for the benefit of its citizens in such manner as directed by the Court whatever money is recovered on account of claims of consumers represented in its action who failed to file an individual claim by August 16, 1969.

At the hearing on March 24, 1970, any member of any class represented in the actions may appear and present any proper argument and evidence, but no person not a named party will be heard and no papers will be received unless notice of intention to appear and copies of such papers are filed with the Clerk of the Court on or before March 19, 1970.

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 25
Your birthday, Wednesday, you will have to watch everything relating to money and its uses just to stay ahead in this coming year of increasing competition and confusions. Ventures inspired by sentiment bring great satisfaction; materialistic enterprises started now more often than not run into inexplicable misfortune.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Impulsive moves are unlikely to work out well. When all the uproar is over, you can say you learned a lot from Wednesday, since now you know of impending confusion and misunderstanding.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Hold your temper and your comment. Let others mix things up while you stand ready to help pick up the pieces afterwards. Mechanical malfunctions are normal for Wednesday's influences.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Take a placating, receptive attitude. Avoid committing your group or your own services to anything beyond the present day. Promises are easily offered and accepted, but unlikely to be fulfilled.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Your future credit depends on getting accounts settled quickly. Pressure brought on relatives or associates brings a prompt explosion—this is no day for confrontation. If quarrels beset you, pray for guidance past crisis.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): It is a moot point whether you are cross with the world or the world is cross with you. What matters is your awareness that things can be resolved Thursday, after everybody shouts Wednesday. Seek personal serenity.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Wednesday's hunches are unsound. Madcap schemes abound but lead to no real result. Disregard adverse criticism or provocation. Focus on perfecting non-material patterns of thinking.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Nobody quite cooperates. Energy goes to waste on emotional turmoil over trivia or misunderstandings. Save your strength for Thursday and its chores of recovery.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Even forewarned, details of Wednesday are apt to be dismaying. Let pieces fall where they may while you passively defend the main issues.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): It does little good to volunteer help or take action on behalf of another. That isn't our what is wanted.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): The more desperately money and its equivalent are pursued Wednesday, the more expensive life becomes and the less result achieved.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): compromise will do little good, as agreements reached Wednesday mean little Thursday. Detach and wait for things to turn around for the better.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Impulsive friends land themselves and perhaps you as well in a predicament. Opinions on both sides of all issues run loud and vociferous.

Pampering Your Ears Can Make Fashion Assets For Spring '70

With the new sleek small head and the swept back "rich girl" look a fashion feature, ears are coming out into the open despite any low temperature which may prevail in some parts of the U.S.

Delicate, shell-like and provocative ears can be—in varied backdrops for a whole array of fashion plays. But good sense dictates a bit of scrutiny and some careful analysis for maximum earpower.

Take a good look. The shape of the ear itself, the way they fit to the head, their size and even their texture are all-important considerations in deciding how they should be featured.

If you have ears which stick out to the point where they make you miserable, consider a consultation with a first-rate plastic surgeon. He will give you sound advice on a possible correction.

If you've developed a more philosophical approach, let your hairdo come to the rescue. The "Status Pull" which catches the hair at the nape with bright scarf or ribbon is ideal for problem ears. The pullback part of the hairdo restrains projections, lets lobes peek out underneath.

Even if you've been blessed with flat, symmetrical, and perfectly enchanting ears, a few words of caution are in order. Although they are spectacularly on view now, ears are often a sorely neglected part of our anatomy. For perfectly bequilling ears, set up a beauty routine.

After bathing be sure to dry thoroughly. Gently dry all ear-areas with a soft cotton swab. Dryness and a flakiness result when this is neglected.

Although it is a classic area for perfume application, delicate behind-the-ear tissue can be irritated by repeated swipes with the perfume atomizer.

We had another meeting in the Columbus Club Building with 63 members present. Twentieth Century Cotillion Club members served as hostesses serving refreshments after the games program.

Mmes. Jim Campbell, Jim Hughes, Charlie Walsh and Bob Rogers were present to direct the program.

Special guests for the afternoon were Miss Lou Ella Patterson of Canyon, a former Altrusa Club member, Mrs. Jessie Rance of Pampa, and Mr. and Mrs. B.A. Tucker of California.

Miss Patterson has been instrumental in organizing a Senior Citizens' Club in Canyon, with the First United Methodist Church as co-sponsor. Forty-four members from all denominations of the city meet twice each week for games and entertainment.

Mrs. Mollie Heathcock has been ill and could not attend the meeting, but she was able to be with us again last Thursday. Her guest recently for a day was Mrs. Jessie Van Huss.

Mr. and Mrs. R.D. Nice Jr., of Pasadena, Tex., are guests in the home of Mrs. Jessie Van Huss this week. Mrs. Nice is the former Naomi Van Huss. Mr. and Mrs. Nice also visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R.D. Nice Sr.

Those receiving door prizes this week were Frank Carter and Mrs. Fred Cullum. Maj. and Mrs. Larry Johnson of South Carolina visited relatives and friends in Pampa this week.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am nearly 15 years old and my parents are all the time giving me big long lectures on what to do and not to do with my boyfriend. I know enough not to get into any trouble, but what bugs me is when my mother says I shouldn't give a boy a "serious kiss" because it's unsanitary!

I say, "How about you and Dad? You kiss, don't you?" Then she says, "Yes, but we are immune to each other."

Well, they haven't always been immune, have they?

Please answer this in your column. My Mom thinks I am a dumb kid.

NOT SO DUMB
DEAR NOT: There are better reasons for avoiding the "mouth-to-mouth resuscitation-type" kiss at your age. I think your Mom is giving you a kindergarten lecture when a baccalaureate sermon would be more appropriate.

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure this will sound like one of your more strange letters, but I'm true. I wish my husband and his girl friend would make up.

Agent Organizes Program, Tour On Carpet Choice

Gray County Extension Service Family Living Committee is sponsoring an educational program on "Carpet and Rug Selection" at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, at the Agricultural Office Building.

Mrs. Jane Berry, area extension housing and home furnishings specialist, Texas A&M University, will be the guest speaker. Her topic will include cost of carpet, evaluating for quality, construction, and care. A trip will be made to local stores to see what is available locally.

According to Jimmie Lou Waincott, Gray County home demonstration agent, this program is a part of a series of programs on housing that will be sponsored by the Family Living Committee. She also stated anyone interested in this program may attend this meeting.

between them and now he is so miserable, he's practically sick. In turn, he is making me and our children miserable, as well.

When my husband is happy with her, he is happy at home and is so much easier to get along with. I suppose he treats me and the children better out of a guilty conscience, but at least we're treated with consideration and generosity, so it doesn't matter why.

Don't get me wrong. I most certainly do not approve of my husband's having a girl friend, but after all these years, there is nothing I can do about it, and I do not intend to give up all we have accumulated together and let her reap the rewards.

I love him in spite of her. He is all I've ever had and ever want, but somehow he must need her, too. I don't know what's in store for all of us, her husband included, the poor boob. He can't seem to put a stop to it either.

In the meantime, Abby, it's silly, isn't it? Wanting your husband to make up with his girlfriend. What can I do?

UNDERSTANDING WIFE
DEAR WIFE: It strikes me that perhaps you're being a little too "understanding." But you know your husband better than I do, so if you are willing to settle for half a loaf, then hide your time, pray for the breaks, and wait for the weather to change. And I'm a luck.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were invited to the home of a relative for supper. Just before leaving our house, she called and asked if we would please stop at the store and pick up a "few items."

We said we would be glad to, and we did. The items cost us $7. All we had was $11 to last until payday, which was a week away, and that person knew we were short on funds when she asked us.

We didn't want to embarrass anybody, so we didn't say anything. How would you have handled the situation?

BROKE
DEAR BROKE: Simple. As I handed over the "items," I would have presented the receipt, with a request for my money.

PAMPA CABLE TV located at 1421 N. Hobart offers better picture and a wider range of viewing choice to subscribers.

Pampa Cable TV Gives Advantage To The Future

Pampa Cable TV is a member of National Cable Television Association, Inc., which has released information concerning "Wired City" proposals which open new vistas for CATV.

A national system of wired city television inexpensively interconnected, is the avenue proposed. Television would then have the capacity and incentive to educate, inform, and entertain specialized interests as well as general interests and mass tastes.

The proposal, delivered slightly over a year ago, changed the status of Cable TV from smalltown phenomenon to a major force in telecommunication planning for the future.

All of this suggests that cable TV subscribers are sitting in on an exciting prelude to the promised "communications revolution," and will have front seats for the next act.

They could be into the field of widely diversified service including, in the future, "high speed electrostatic printing presses" which could be attached to TV sets so the viewer need only press a button and wait a minute before tearing off an electrostatic newspaper to read at breakfast.

These are all ideas of the future, but not unreal in concept.

Present TV cable subscribers can enjoy a wider selection of clear viewing in the Pampa area.

Al Williams, Pampa Cable TV manager, oversees the fast growing business here. The shop at 1421 N. Hobart is equipped with the most modern equipment available and affords cable subscribers with 24 hour weather conditions etc.

Highly trained technicians service the cable equipment and offer advice affording better televiewing for area residents.

Cable eliminates the need and upkeep of an antenna. An insurance adjustment is inevitable when the hazard of damage caused by falling antennas is removed from subscribers insurance cost.

Call Pampa Cable TV and let a member of the trained personnel explain to you the advantages of early subscription to cable service. The cable can be tied into your television by means of an outlet, eliminating the need for lead-in wires, rabbit-ears and other apparatus necessary in the past.

Charge Unethical Practices In County Land Condemnation

AUSTIN (UPI) — District Judge David H. Brown of Sherman charged Attorney General Crawford Martin with unethical practices today by helping landowners collect $344,930.36 above the state appraised value in 15 land condemnation cases in Hill County.

Brown is opposing Martin's bid for re-election to a third term the May Democratic primary.

The Sherman judge accused Martin was secretary of state under Gov. John Connally.

Martin said that "these are the same charges made by my opponent in the 1966 race for attorney general. Many newspapers went into the matter then and found no evidence of wrongdoing."

"I was elected and re-elected without opposition in 1968—long after these charges had been given a full public airing. Mr. Brown is flogging the same dead horse, except that he uses more slanderous language against me, the courts and other individuals," Martin said in a prepared statement.

"If anyone should be disqualified from public office, it should be this man who irresponsibly distorts the facts, libels innocent people, and uses to press to spread untruths to further his own political ambitions. I am amazed that a district judge would resort to such tactics and hope he will consult with his conscience before continuing on this course," Martin added.

In his written statement of charges, Brown said that "the records show that after Crawford C. Martin took the oath of office as attorney general he

Unemployment Rate May Make "Strong Measures Necessary"

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—President Nixon told labor leaders today he would take "strong measures" if the unemployment rate shot up too high.

The President's message was delivered to the AFL-CIO Executive Council by Labor Secretary George P. Shultz, who told the council he disagreed with the prediction by AFL-CIO President George Meany that the jobless rate might go as high as six per cent.

The January unemployment rate fell from 3.4 per cent to 3.9 per cent of the labor force.

Shultz expressed "strong measures" if unemployment gets too high. Shultz said in reporting on a conversation he had with Nixon last Thursday.

Shultz said Nixon did not list any specific actions he might take to reduce unemployment, but the labor secretary said an example might be to lift the 7 1/2 per cent cutback in federal construction contracts the administration planned on last year as part of its anti-inflation drive.

Shultz said the key to halting a rise in unemployment was "the budget and the way it is managed," and said the Federal Reserve Board's monetary policies also were important.

Shultz and Meany were expected to get together later today to discuss the Negro hiring plan for building contractors which Shultz says will be extended to 18 other cities.

Would Limit Exemptions To Three Children

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Robert W. Packwood, R-Ore., proposed today limiting personal tax exemptions to a maximum of three children.

Packwood said he would introduce legislation to allow a $1,000 exemption for the first child, a $750 exemption for the second child, and a $500 exemption for the third child.

The legislation would apply only to children born after Jan. 1, 1973. A family already having three or more children would receive the regular allowance—now $600 for each child.

"Our growth rate must be slowed," Packwood said in a statement. "This legislation encourages families, but it encourages smaller families."

"With smaller families, we have a chance to save our environment. Without them, we are lost."

FILES CLAIMS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Internal Revenue Service has filed claims totaling $57,221 against the Smothers Brothers comedy team for back income taxes. The claims, filed in U.S. Tax Court Friday, allege that the brothers showed a loss in 1966 of $136,567 from their partnership in an apartment development called Empire West, when they were entitled to claim only a loss of $36,919.

Family Beaten For $4,000 Gambling Debt

BUTLER, Ala. (UPI)—Two "beatnik type" men tied up a woman and kidnaped her two young nieces from a trailer home Monday, telling the woman that the girls' father owed a $4,000 gambling debt.

Choctaw County Sheriff Leon Clark said Tina Cain, 3, and Tiffany Cain, 2, were snatched by two men, one wearing a goatee and both sporting long sideburns. Clark described them as "beatnik types."

The sheriff said to two men broke into the trailer home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Rozzell, to girls' aunt and uncle, and took the children after tying Mrs. Rozzell up.

The sheriff's department, highway patrol and FBI launched a manhunt in Alabama's second kidnaping in less than a week. Last Thursday tiny Shaun Yvette McLeroy was kidnaped from her mother's car at an Ozark, Ala. grocery. The baby was found safe the next day.

Mrs. Rozzell told authorities that the two kidnapers mentioned that the girls' father had run up a $4,000 gambling debt in Florida. She said the men left in a cream colored, 1963 car bearing Texas license plates.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—There has been a gradual rising trend in the number of individual new highs in the stock market and a declining trend in the number of new lows over the past few weeks, E.F. Hutton & Co. observes. That this is occurring when the averages are still so close to their recent lows suggests growing internal strength likely to be reflected soon in a better overall market, the firm says.
practically limitless amounts of money chasing limited amounts of stock may ultimately be discarded on the heap of forgotten folklore," the firm adds.
Until tangible signs appear that the Federal Reserve System is yielding to the growing evidence that it has succeeded in curtailing inflation, investor confidence probably will be short lived and a sustained rally unlikely, Shearson, Hammill & Co. says. However, the duration and degree of the decline already experienced suggest the downside risk for stocks is limited and that fundamentally attractive stocks are available which could lead a market turn.

Our Changing Morality

Among the multiplicity of vogue terms coined in the 1960s and one of the few still around as we enter the '70s is something called the "New Morality," according to Don Oakley, of Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Narrowly defined, it means that instead of being weighed against certain changeless, eternal standards, the permissibility of any given act is flexible, relative. Instead of the Ten Commandments, clergymen and philosophers talk about "situational ethics." Instead of "Thou shalt not," the guiding rule should be "You may — so long as what you do harms no one else."

Nothing very new here, or even very startling. All of us in this fast-changing modern world find it necessary to apply this kind of practical approach in our everyday lives on some occasions and to some degree. The "New Morality" simply says we should not feel guilty about it.

The new commandment is not an infallible and universal guide. It is all too easy to rationalize away the consequences of doing what one wants to do, or is told to do by some superior authority.

As understood by most people, however, the "New Morality" in capital letters conjures up visions of all manner of licentious and hedonistic behavior among young people who, thanks to the Pill, parental indulgence and unprecedented affluence, have cast off all the constraints of an implied "old morality."

For some reason, in most cultures, morality has always been synonymous with sexual morality, and sin has meant sexual sin.

But a close examination of the alleged sexual revolution reveals that this, too, is neither so new nor so startling.

A just-completed study by the Institute for Sex Research at Indiana University, begun in 1967 and involving interviews with 1,300 randomly selected college students, has found that there is indeed increasing liberalism in sexual practices. But the changes have been gradual and are apparently a Want To Learn? You Can!

Remember back in 1966 when Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara announced a plan to salvage some of the 600,000 men who were being rejected every year by the draft because of physical or mental unfitness?

The armed forces would accept 100,000 of these annual castoffs and attempt to remedy their educational and physical deficiencies and give at least some of them the basic education they did not get in school.

"Project 100,000" is now more than three years old and has involved more than 250,000 men in all branches of the services, about equally divided between draftees and volunteers.

The Council for Basic Education, a private, Washington, D.C.-based organization, decided to take a look at how successful the military has been in its effort to "pick up the pieces."

It found that 45 per cent of the men accepted into the services under "project 100,000" are high school graduates, but only 20 per cent tested at 8th grade or above in reading, and only 7 per cent tested at 8th grade or above in arithmetic. (Which says something about the value of a high school diploma in terms of actual accomplishment.)

The Army is now giving about 20 per cent of these "project 100,000" men a literacy course; another 10 per cent are receiving such training in the Air Force and Navy.

Eighty per cent of the men satisfactorily finished a crash reading course of up to eight weeks. The average improvement in reading ability is almost two grade levels.

Fort Dix, N.J., one of six Army basic training camps where the reading program is given, is a typical example. There, new groups start each Monday. The course is intensive, with six hours a day spent on reading, one hour on arithmetic and two hours on regular military training.

Most of the instructors are civilians. There is a combination of class and reading-laboratory work. The men are encouraged to read, read, read and are provided books, magazines and newspapers.

The attitudes of the instructors and the general atmosphere were excellent, reports the council. Each man seemed to be regarded sympathetically as an individual without, however, any sentimentality.

In 20 months of the program at Fort Dix, over 1,400 men had entered the course (90 per cent of them with a third-grade or lower reading level) and about 78 per cent of them had successfully completed it.

"We were favorably impressed with the Fort Dix program," says the council, "and with 'Project 100,000' as a whole. . . It seems to us that there are some lessons here for the public schools. Most persons in the right atmosphere, want to learn and can learn."

Russia Holds Key To The U.S. Budget

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA)

Although it is not mentioned publicly, the success of President Nixon's domestic program in fiscal 1971 and the years beyond depends in large measure on reaching understandings with the Soviet Union on a number of difficult international issues.

The issues include strategic arms limitation, Berlin, the Middle East and Southeast Asia. Of course, this does not mean that the President believes the Soviet Union has undergone some miraculous change into a benevolent, peace-loving society. It does mean he believes that without agreements based on mutual self-interest of the two superpowers, he will be unable to carry out domestic programs he believes vital to the success of his presidency.

The clues are in the economic projections made in the 1971 budget and in the report of Mr. Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers.

These figures indicate that if the U.S. standard of living is to continue improving at its past rate and if government programs at federal, state and local levels are to continue their "inbuilt growth," something has got to give in the next five years.

In effect, the President is postulating that any new, important programs which become necessary by 1975 can be carried out only by sacrificing our accustomed standard of living gains or by giving up major programs now believed essential.

Pruning can be done on an assortment of domestic projects. Some can be eliminated. Nixon's 1971 budget attempts to eliminate or curtail 56 programs totaling $2.1 billion. But it is in the defense area where Nixon's men see the real savings.

The President and Defense Secretary Melvin Laird believe several billions in waste and post-Vietnam retrenchment can be squeezed from military spending in the next several years. That's on top of the $10 billion outback already announced.

But that won't be enough. Administration analysts are convinced that only drastically fewer men in uniform will give the President the dollars he requires.

In some small measure this can be achieved by cutbacks in U.S. forces in Europe, Korea and Vietnam. But these will not solve the problem so long as Russia and China are free to start trouble, directly or indirectly, at so little cost to themselves and so long as U.S. treaty obligations remain as extensive as they are.

Under these conditions many of the men brought home from Germany, Korea and Vietnam will be needed here for use as ready-to-move strike forces.

We can't eliminate treaties with a flip of the wrist. It is questionable, in any event, that it would be desirable to change many of them except very gradually over many years.

The only way out, then, as Nixon men see it, is to insure that our allies will never need to invoke these treaties. Or if they do need to invoke them, that they will require less help from the United States.

This means an agreement with the Soviet Union that would limit her ability (and the ability of her allies) to subvert or seriously threaten free nations — or at least to make such threats or subversion very costly indeed.

To accomplish this is quite a challenge.

What the President has going for him is the fact that the Soviet Union has even greater internal economic pressures than does the United States. This could mean the Kremlin may be willing, however reluctantly, to agree to a curtailment of Russian military strength in return for the U.S. cutback.

Democrats' New Left Says: Has To Be Our Way Or Else

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA)

A party suffering such disarray as now afflicts the Democrats is like a mosaic wall pattern with broken and missing pieces. What you see is incomplete, distorted and sometimes comical.

If driving vocal energy could make a party, the activists of the Democratic New Left would have to be accepted as the hopeful unifiers for 1970 and beyond. But are they?

When the party's big council met in Washington to develop positions on the major issues, old Averell Harriman and veteran economist Gardner Ackley found themselves sharing the floor with youthful types like Curtis Gans, onetime aide to Sen. Eugene McCarthy, and Gloria Steinem, a New Left activist who calls herself a reporter.

Forward-looking party professionals thought that was fine, up to a point. Maybe it signaled the future, opening up the party, giving full house to the young.

Yet, even as they spoke of that prospect hopefully, some of those professionals indicated concern at the rigidities of viewpoint so thoroughly embedded in the New Left establishment.

It is hardly news to anyone that these types do not welcome opposing viewpoints. One of the sillier events of recent times was the little occlusion in Miss Steinem's New York apartment, where there was talk of purging some incumbent Democratic lawmakers. The complaint: The departure of these incumbents from the purity of New Left positions.

Some of the militant Democratic leftists would like opposite numbers of the rightist John Birchers the country used to worry about a few years back. They have their little list and if you don't score 100 in their book you are out.

Back in 1963-64, countless conservative militants (only a handful of them Birch Society members) played it this way as they pressed the presidential candidacy of Sen. Barry Goldwater.

There was evidently one notable difference. The Goldwaterites had among their number not only energetic field workers willing to give it one hard try, but some persistent types who gained local and state political power and built upon it. Here and there, some still have it.

The young Democratic leftists seem, for the most part, singularly disinterested in building anything but fiery English sentences.

Their fabled field work (part fact, part myth) in McCarthy's behalf in 1968 did not produce a strong follow-through. For instance, in Minneapolis and St. Paul districts that year, they crushed the regulars as they captured national convention delegates and thereby gained post-1968 control of the areas.

Have they since organized this not insignificant halibut either for their own or the party's benefit? They have not. It is a big fat vacuum.

Busy proclaiming the unassailable rightness of their views in various party forums and drawing room conferences, many of the New Left celebrities are disdainful of the persistent field workers needed to win.

"I don't think they care about winning," says one top Democrat in a comment that rings the memory bells from the days when hot-eyed Young Republican stalwarts shouted they would rather lose than compromise.

No political professional with any sense thinks either the Democrats or Republicans can develop as parties for the 1970s without making wide room for the young and for new ideas.

This means the adult party elements, older, sometimes conservative, sometimes simply less militantly liberal, must open the gates and must accommodate.

But accommodation is a two-way road. Several key Democrats ardently receptive to widened youth participation think it will work only if the enlisted young see reasonable value in accumulated adult party wisdom and experience. When the purge-minded and intolerant take over, any party faces a long, cold, winless winter.

With Some Reservation

By INJUN WOODY

Wonderful things are in store for the '70s in America. The underworld is now on top of the world. The citizen who tries to protect his own property is a culprit, and judges welcome the criminal with open arms and smiles like he was a long lost brother. . .

Out in Iowa, one of our poor little fellers had a 80 acre farm. He set up a "trappan" in his bedroom in July a prowler was wounded in the ankle by the trappan, was charged with larceny in the nighttime and fined $50 and released.

Now the plot thickens. In fact, its downright dirty. The burglar sued the farmer for $30,000. The judge awarded it to him, plus $5,000 court costs. The poor little feller had to put up his farm for sale. It was sold for $10,000 to make partial payment to the burglar.

This is what the courts of this country today call "justice." A citizen has no rights, even in his own home, when it comes to protecting his life or his possessions.

The moral here is, if you own a home and want to keep it, do not offend any intruder. Instead, give him anything he wants with your blessings. The only exception to this will be when a thief starts jacking up your house to take it with him. Only then, offer resistance, because you'll lose house and all anyway should a burglar want to take you before a judge.

Demo Problems In Party Jumpers?

JOHN GOLDSMITH

"ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — All but the unnoticed, Rep. John O. Marsh Jr., D-Va., has given a new jolt to the leaderless and all but leaderless Democratic Party.

Marsh represents the Seventh Congressional District in Virginia's Shenandoah Valley. During four terms in the House he has compiled a conservative voting record, often siding with the Republicans against his fellow Democrats on key issues.

Last weekend Marsh announced to his constituents that he had decided not to seek re-election as a Democrat. He added that he was not seeking the nomination of "any other party."

In his announcement, Marsh made it clear that he was not turning his back on political life and said: "I do not rule out the possibility that I may offer again for elective office."

On its face, the congressman's announcement was simple enough, and it seemed to have no broad national significance. Asked whether he planned to switch parties, Marsh replied: "There have been no offers, no deals."

Then Marsh's friends began explaining to party leaders the wide range of alternatives which Marsh had left open for himself. While he was not seeking the GOP nomination, it was pointed out, Marsh was free to accept it if offered.

Considered more likely however, was an independent candidacy by the 43-year-old congressman. Such a candidacy would carry the implication that Marsh could vote with the Republicans or with the Democrats in organizing the new Congress next January.

"This prospect was opened for party leaders of a number of Marshes — a group of conservative Democrats, announced and elected as independents influential in the November elections produce a closely divided House of Representatives."

BYRD ON SPOT — It quickly became apparent that there were other implications of Marsh's announcement. Outside his valley constituency, in the first place it offered another opportunity for the GOP in once Democratic Virginia where Republicans now hold the governorship and five of ten House seats.

The announcement also served to magnify the problems of Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., D-

Va. Byrd, whose father was the dominant figure among Virginia Democrats for 30 years, lives in the congressional district represented by Marsh.

"YOUNG" Harry is up for re-election this fall. He has been wooed by Republicans in Virginia who would like to see him switch parties. There have also been rumors that Byrd might seek re-election as an independent.

Marsh is known to have informed Byrd, along with his other congressional colleagues, in advance of his surprise announcement. So the rumors of an independent candidacy by Byrd have been revived.

More importantly, the question is now raised in long conservative, newly Republican Virginia: "If Jack Marsh can no longer describe himself as a Democrat, can Byrd?"

NUTS AND BOLTS MAN — None of this feedback from the Marsh announcement would jolt a strong and aggressive party leadership, but it is clear that the Democrats do not have that sort of organization. Marsh made his announcement on the same day that Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., stepped down as national chairman leaving the party with a $7 million campaign debt.

Harris gave up the chairmanship to free himself of the "constraints" that apply to the job, and it is clear that some party leaders want to continue and even to tighten those constraints. There is sentiment for a "nuts and bolts" professional as chairman who would apply himself to party mechanics and leave policy making to others.

The idea would be to give the Democrats the kind of leadership which technician Ray Bliss supplied for the Republican National Committee before the GOP won the White House in 1968. Bliss addressed himself to the party machinery and paid little attention to national issues.

A national chairman of that sort would be popular with Democratic Party leaders in Congress who fancy themselves as the party's policy makers and official spokesman now that the White House is held by the Republicans.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., is quite candid in saying that the party chairman should not try to take a strong stand on controversial national issues.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: — In 1963, prayer, by government law, was removed from schools. Why does our government have a chaplain to open every session of the Senate and Congress with prayer? If it is beneficial to them, why do they deny the youth of the country?

ANSWER: The prayer ruling was a decision of the U.S. Supreme Court, which in effect said that the state may not decree prayers which must be said in the classroom. It did not say children may not pray but that specific prayers decreed by the school board, an agency of the state, are prohibited. We suppose the opening of certain governmental sessions, including those in the House and Senate, are construed as voluntary.

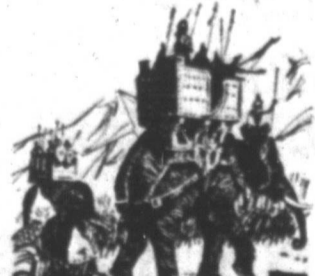

As we have pointed out before, the political school system is only to be expected to eliminate anything which has to do with religion. After the civil war, A.A. Hodge, Princeton theologian (a protestant) gave the following warning:

"I am as sure as I am of the fact of Christ's reign that a comprehensive and centralized system of national education, separated from religion, as is now commonly proposed, will prove the most appalling engine for the propagation of anti-Christian and atheistic unbelief, and of anti-social nihilistic ethics, individual, social, and political, which this sin-rent world has ever seen."

"It is — capable of exact demonstration that if every party in the State has the right of excluding from the public schools whatever he does not believe to be true, then he that believes most must give way to him that believes least, and then he that believes least must give way to him that believes absolutely nothing, no matter in how small a minority the atheists or the agnostics may be. It is self-evident that on this scheme, if it is consistently and persistently carried out in all parts of the country, the United States' system of national popular education will be the most efficient and wide instrument for the propagation of atheism which the world has ever seen."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Hannibal, a Carthaginian general, led an army against the Romans in 218 B.C. He successfully marched his army, including about 40 elephants, from Africa across the Alps. The World Almanac says Hannibal reached Rome after 16 years of fighting but was called home after Publius Scipio invaded Carthage. Reluctantly Hannibal left Italy and was defeated by Scipio at Zama.

Events Force Nixon Into New Foreign Policy Strategy

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Nixon has been forced into a new foreign strategy for the 1970s. Events left him no choice.

As the President's White House advisers explain it, these factors lie behind the change:

- 1) Vietnam took the bloom off massive intervention.
- 2) The Sino-Soviet split with its border fighting has diminished the threat China and Russia will launch simultaneous attacks in Asia and Europe.
- 3) The age of the superpowers which produced an uneasy stability for a generation is ending. With its death, the basis of world order also dies.

The effect of these events can be seen in dozens of ways.

Power no longer translates automatically into influence. No country dares use nuclear arms. North Korea, a fifth-rate

Chana, a tiny African country, defies Moscow and brings the crew of a Russian ship to trial.

As traditional uses of power have become less feasible, new forms of pressure have emerged.

Countries with a capacity for fomenting domestic instability can achieve international influence. Their lack of traditional power may be counterbalanced by the possession of guerrilla training centers, for many nations now relatively safe from traditional military pressures are extraordinarily susceptible to domestic subversion.

The larger nations more often protect their interests or seek their goals through indirection. The sale of Soviet arms to Egypt can undermine the West's position to a degree unachievable by direct Soviet action.

Today, nations worldwide are searching for moral leadership. But Marxism is accepted only where it does not exist. Its philosophy has failed to inspire the young even in Communist countries. The United States can take little comfort from the failure.

Our principal alliances in Southeast Asia and the Middle East have grown moribund. Outside of Europe, too many of our allies have neither the resources nor the will to render mutual support against a common enemy. Some are more interested in fighting each other—with U.S. weapons—than in preparing against outside danger.

But if the world now offers new dangers from those the United States has faced in the 25 years since World War II, it also offers new opportunities. The Nixon administration hopes to seize those opportunities by keeping in mind three basic concepts:

Washington Window

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Republican committees operating at the national level are budgeting more money for the 1970 campaign than the Democrats need to pay off their troublesome debts.

The Democrats characteristically will spend whatever they can raise. Unless their new national chairman to be elected March 5 is a fund-raising wizard, liquidation or even reduction of their $9 million debt will be deferred until 1971.

Republican National Chairman Rogers C. B. Morton has announced that the party's national headquarters has a budget of about $4 million for 1970.

Chairman Bob Wilson of the GOP Congressional Campaign Committee has reported that $4.1 million has been budgeted for his operation, which tries to elect Republicans to the House.

No budget has been announced for the Republican Senatorial Committee, but it takes the first $750,000 from the $1,000-a-plate GOP Washington dinner March 11 and expects to get more than $250,000 from the party's boosters' club.

The goal for the March 11 dinner is to gross $2 million, less than the net from a similar dinner last year when there was not so much competition from individual candidates raising money for state or congressional campaigns.

For their three major national ventures, the GOP has budgeted more than $9 million. Mindful of all the talk about the Democrats' poverty, Morton has said that the GOP owes some bills, too, and that it still must raise the money for its 1970 budget.

To operate the Democratic national headquarters, the party spends about $1.4 million a year. The Democratic Congressional and Senatorial committees will raise most of their military power, can force the United States to say it is guilty after a U.S. navy vessel is captured on the high seas.

money at a Washington dinner in May.

Federal law sets a $3 million annual ceiling on the spending of any national political committee but does not limit the number of committees. The GOP National Committee has a separately budgeted finance committee, which supervises all Republican fund-raising activities and channels money to various committees.

Neither the Democratic nor Republican National Committee contributes directly to candidates. Contributions are made to nominees by the House and Senate Campaign committees.

For candidates in major contests, however, contributions from these committees are little more than seed money to put them in position for a fast start.

SHORN BEATLE John Lennon gave his hair away as part of his campaign for peace. His locks, which set a style copied worldwide, were contributed to a London auction for peace.

First, we will have no permanent enemies. We will judge other countries on the basis of their actions, not on the basis of their domestic ideology. To quote one White House adviser: The visit to Romania demonstrated symbolically we are prepared to have normal relations with countries on the basis of the foreign policy they conduct toward us. We did not even hint that Romania loosen whatever relationship it may have with the Soviet Union.

Second, domestic economic strength and a domestic consensus will be major prelude to new foreign strategy or action. A start has been made in the 1971 budget at cutting military spending money at a Washington dinner in May.

Backstairs At The Whitehouse

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Backstairs at the White House: President Nixon, assuredly without wanting to, is beginning to suffer from an ailment which plagued his predecessor, Lyndon B. Johnson—credibility gap.

There are, however, some new angles. For one thing, Nixon's credibility or lack thereof has yet to be given a truly adhesive label. Another angle is that having discovered the appointments, perquisites and equipment of a President, Nixon now tends to move more swiftly and without quite the advance notice he gave during early 1969.

and to their way of thinking, the establishment is a living, racist lie.

Still An Issue

Case in point: Vietnam. A large number of American peace militants, plus some not so militant, believe firmly Nixon is not doing all he can to end the war. Withdrawing troops at a rather steady rate without waiting for an unlikely peace package to come from Paris or Hanoi is not enough. The militants say "get out now," clear out entirely. The impossibility of total, complete withdrawal is either ignored by or lost on these people.

The press cannot be blamed for deeply ingrained emotions except that such feelings and demonstration thereof are reported duly.

All the commentators, columnists and instant analysts together, however, could not convince most housewives there are better days ahead as far as consumer prices are concerned. A super-market customer is an avid student of economics on his level and he knows no matter what the President may say or hope, that every week his tab for groceries seems to inch up a bit.

The super-market basket-pusher does not give a fig for statistics and forecasts indicating that late this year, the rate of price increase should slow down somewhat. All he knows within his narrow frame of reference is that prices continue to rise.

What can a President do about it? Not an awful lot, except to be consistent in what he says and does—and wait for time.

Perhaps, Nixon's greatest obstacle when it comes to credibility is the press, itself—newspapers, magazines, radio and television. And, of course, the general public. This large group has been conditioned for some years to look behind a presidential statement or utterance in his behalf by members of his administration.

Case in point: Civil rights. Nixon and his family could move out of the White House into the worst ghetto flap in town and wear nothing but tattered blue denim for the rest of their presidential years and a great number of black militants still would not believe him when he says he is for equal opportunity and non-segregation in schools, housing and jobs. In fact, this type of activist would not believe any President simply because he represents the establishment.
