LIBERALS HYPOCRITICAL

Southern Senator Says North Unfair

WASHINGTON (UPI)—For months, Sen. John C. Stennis of Mississippi has dared his Northern colleagues to deliver the same kind of school desegregation in their states as they have tried to force on the South.

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn. took the dare Monday. He gave his full support to a Stennis effort to outlaw in the North de facto school segregation—that caused by neighborhood patterns. And he thanked his Southern colleague for trying to "make honest men of us Northern liberals."

Ribicoff's fellow Northern liberals to a man failed to support him on the Senate floor. Some said he had been taken in by a Southern effort to dilute integration in Dixie by spreading the emphasis across the country.

Stennis called Ribicoff's support a "landmark."

The thrust of Ribicoff's speech was an admission the North is just as guilty as the South when it comes to keeping blacks and whites apart. The North, he said, "is guilty of monumental hypocrisy in its treatment of the black man."

Silent Reaction From North

After Ribicoff spoke, no Northern senator rose to support him. His aides said none had volunteered. Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., praised Ribicoff for having "the courage and nobility to stand up before the Senate to tell the truth." But he said later he was undecided whether he would take a similar stand.

The issue is a proposed amendment to a four-year, $35 billion school aid authorization bill. It is one of about 10 such amendments put forth by Southerners. It would make civil rights laws apply specifically to both segregation that is instituted by law—"de jure"—and that which is de facto, or the result of the way schools and neighborhoods have developed.

"Massive school segregation does not exist because we have segregated our schools but because we have segregated our society and our neighborhoods," Ribicoff said.

WHAT GOES UP stays up in Vietnam where an Air Force "Jolly Green Giant" helicopter comes in for a badly needed drink of fuel. These rescue 'copters, which are responsible for the recovery of downed pilots and crewmen in combat areas, are refueled in the air during operations far from the base.

Nation's Air, Water Under Close Scrutiny

WASHINGTON (UPI)— President Nixon called today for "a total mobilization" of all Americans in a concentrated campaign to clean the air and purify the nation's polluted waters.

In a special message to Congress following up his State of the Union pledge to make cleaning the environment the primary effort of the 70s, Nixon outlined a lengthy plan for "the rescue of our natural habitat."

The program includes a $10 billion project for cleaning up waters and calls for rigid regulations to deal with air and water polluters.

"The time has come when we can wait no longer to repair the damage already done and to establish new criteria to guide in the future," Nixon said.

"The task of cleaning up our environment calls for a total mobilization by all of us. It involves government at every level; it requires the help of every citizen."

Asks $4 Billion

The main feature of the so-called Environmental Quality Program proposes a clean waters act through which $4 billion would be authorized to help state and local communities build sewage treatment facilities.

The $4 billion would have to be matched by $6 billion in contributions from state and local governments. A special federal group called the Environmental Financing Authority would be set up to help hard-pressed municipalities raise the money to meet their share of the cost.

The President said that would be sufficient to construct about 1,500 new treatment facilities and to expand and upgrade 2,500 other plants.

He asked for a $4 billion authorization over a four-year period—at a rate of $1 billion per year—starting in the year beginning July 1. A reassessment would be made in 1973 to determine future needs.

The President's message called for establishment of federal water and air quality standards, with fines of up to $100,000 day for violations.

Swift Court Action

Federal enforcement procedures would be revised to permit swifter court action against violators and the

OFF TO FAST START

Congress Comes To Halt For First 1970 Holiday

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress, off to its quickest start in years, stops tonight for its first holiday of 1970. Still hanging, however, is the Labor-HEW appropriations bill for the fiscal year coming closer and closer to a close.

The first recess of the session (three working days, five including the weekend) begins after adjournment today and ends at noon Monday.

The Lincoln's Birthday recess is designed to give Republican legislators a chance to go home and give political speeches. It is a reciprocal arrangement with the Democrats, who use the Jefferson Day recess later this spring for the same purpose.

Senate Accomplishments

In the first three weeks the senate has approved a 10-point package to help fight organized crime; a reform of the drug law that would cut penalties and gives police "no-knock" authority in raids; an antitrust exemption for failing newspapers and a $3.1 billion program to help rescue the cities' transit systems. There is an outside chance the Senate will pass today a $35 billion, four-year expansion of the elementary and secondary education program.

The House, so far, has sustained President Nixon's veto of the $19.7 billion Labor-HEW appropriation bill but is stuck fashioning a new one. The Senate Appropriations Committee expects to bring out a new bill the day Congress returns. The fiscal year ends June 30.

The House also has passed legislation permitting the President to operate a screening board—which he does now under executive order—to investigate present and potential workers in plans declared sensitive by the Defense Department.

Hurled Concrete Hurts Hirt

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Trumpeter Al Hirt, his world famed lip layer open by a piece of concrete thrown at his carnival float, was up and around today, sounding optimistic about his future as a musician.

"The doctors say my lip may be all right," Hirt told newsmen just after midnight today after viewing a Mardi Gras Eve parade.

Hirt's upper lip, which required 16 stitches Sunday night, was swollen, but the bearded jazzman said he felt well.

He was riding a float in the Bacchus Parade when someone threw the concrete, hitting his upper lip to "bleed buckets," as he described it.

"The scary thing is that this could mean the whole ball game, my career," Hirt said Monday. "We just won't know until the doctors take a closer look."

He said the three-inch concrete chunk split his embouchure, the upper lip callous developed by trumpet players.

"Forty years I've been working to develop this muscle," Hirt said, giving a gingerly pat to his damaged lip.

"I think I'm fortunate," he said, "because if this thing had hit me in the temple, I'd be a dead man."

With thousands of spectators massed around the Bacchus floats, police were unable to find the person who threw the concrete. It was doubtful that the missile was intended specifically for Hirt, since he was un-

New Insurance Law Would Set Up Government Czar

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, said today lobbying by the insurance industry explains why "in recent weeks the Congress has been flooded with mail" opposing a bill intended to protect people from losses if their insurance company goes bankrupt.

Moss produced a letter from the Kemper Insurance Co. addressed "to our staff" asking that letters be sent to home state Senators in opposition to the bill. The Kemper letter said the legislation "would set up a federal czar with regulatory power over virtually every aspect of the insurance business."

Another letter was sent by a trade group, the American Mutual Insurance Alliance, to mutual insurance companies and associations. It warns of "the imminent threat to your interests contained in Senate bill 2236."

"In my opinion," Moss said, "citizens should be encouraged to communicate their views to their representatives in Washington. D.C. But those representatives should know that companies or corporations have directed their employees to undertake letter writing campaigns based on the companies' view of the facts."

Moss said the letters misrepresented what the bill would do. Its purpose is to impose a tax of one-eighth of 1 per cent of premiums to create a fund to protect against losses arising out of insurance company insolvencies.

Welfare Department Orders Cutback In Family Payments

AUSTIN (UPI)—The State Welfare Department has ordered an average 12 per cent cut in payments to families with dependent children and another 20 per cent in medical assistance aid to all needy persons.

A department spokesman blamed the cuts on the swelling welfare rolls caused by recent court decisions. Two more federal suits, pending before the courts, could add more persons to the state's welfare rolls.

"We have no alternative," said W. Kendall Baker of Houston, acting chairman of the Welfare Board.

The order becomes effective April 1.

The cuts ordered Monday will mean an average family of four which now received $120 a month in state assistance will receive only $106 a month after April 1.

The Medicaid cuts were even more severe. The 20 per cent overall reduction means the average medical payment which now goes to needy persons in rest homes will be cut by $7 a month.

The welfare board was told Monday 50,000 persons were added in the last five months to the list of persons which receive aid to dependent children.

The recent court decisions outlawed all state residency requirements and changed other rules that stated who was eligible to receive state aid.

Another suit, pending in Dallas, seeks to abolish a rule under which the welfare department counts the income of a stepfather in its formula for figuring aid to dependent children.

The second suit, filed in Austin, challenges the current maximum of $44 allowances per family for rent and utilities set by the welfare board.

Miss Flipper Title Goes To Amarillo Girl

LIBERAL, Kan. (UPI)—Miss Geraldine Sayle, 21, of Amarillo, Tex., won the annual Miss Flipper beauty pageant here Monday night. The contest is held each year in connection with the Shrove Tuesday pancake race between the women of Liberal and the women of Oney, England.

Miss Sayle, a 5-foot-5½ brunette weighing 114 pounds, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Sayle. She attends West Texas State in Canyon.

A 16-year-old Guymon, Okla., high school junior won runnerup honors as pancake princess. She is Carol Craig.

Attendees were Joni Wallace, 17, of Perryton, Tex., and Jane Mayer, also 17, of Hardesty, Okla.

WHO IS THAT MASKED MAN? It's Apollo 13 Commander James Lovell trying on a quarantine mask during egress training. The Apollo 13 moon shot is scheduled for April 11 and also will include astronauts Fred Haise and Thomas Mattingly.

Germs Complaining About Disease Spiro's Opinion Of Demo Rebuttal

Lincoln, Neb. (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says the Democrats' televised rebuttal to President Nixon's State of the Union message "was like listening to germs complain about disease."

In a speech Monday night at a fund-raising dinner for Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann, Agnew spoke about the Democrats' hour of criticism on national television Sunday.

"To hear the publishers of the Great Society and the New Frontier complain of overpadding was like listening to germs complain about disease," Agnew said. "It was such a fantasy."

As the vice president spoke to 2,500 persons attending the $50-a-plate dinner, about 600 antiwar protesters distributed leaflets and chanted, "Feed more, stop the war" outside the building.

Agnew was whisked in and out of the auditorium through side entrances and did not encounter the demonstrators.

Agnew said of the Democrat show. "It was a fabulous presentation—pure unadorned fabric. It is hard to clean a floor when a group of muddy-footed Congressmen keep tracking through the kitchen looking for the cookie jar."

He said the blame for the nation's crime problem must rest with the Democratic-controlled Congress because the President's anticrime bills "lie fallow on Capitol Hill untouched by human hands."

Go Ahead Given On Park Beautification

The go-ahead for carrying out a city park beautification plan was given by city commissioners today when they authorized advertising for bids on the purchase of trees and shrubbery to be planted in park areas.

A park consultant from Lubbock, scheduled to file a report on the park plan today, was unable to attend the meeting.

City Manager Charles Hill told councilmen approximately $13,000 has been budgeted for the planned park improvements.

A resolution was adopted setting a public hearing for 8:30 a.m. Feb. 24 requesting the owner of unoccupied property at 418-420 N. West St. to show cause why it should not be removed.

City Manager Hill stated the city had received a petition from property owners in the neighborhood labeling the property a hazard to health and safety. The city manager said transcripts some times use the property and have caused fire hazards.

A recommendation was accepted from the City Traffic Commission to establish no parking between 7 a.m. and 9 a.m. on E. Kingmill and E. Foster between Marie and Warren Sts.

Further study is to be made of a proposal to consolidate names of certain contiguous city streets which carry more than one name.

CONCERT SERIES Vienna Academy Chorus Slated

The Vienna Academy Chorus will appear on the Pampa Junior High School auditorium stage Saturday night as the third presentation of the Pampa Community Concert Association's winter concert series.

The internationally famous chorus has returned to the United States for the seventh time during the 1969-70 season.

A mixed vocal ensemble, comprising 24 vocally and instrumentally trained students who are graduates of the Vienna Academy of Music, the chorus was founded in 1946 by the renowned choral director and voice teacher, Professor Grossman.

The extensive repertoire of the Vienna Academy Chorus ranges from the oldest to the most modern of international choral literature with particular emphasis on Austrian music.

Dr. Xavier Meyer, the distinguished young Vienna-born conductor of the chorus, was chosen as their musical director in 1961. He had previously been conductor of the famed Vienna Boys' Choir and as such had traveled with them to the U.S., Japan, Australia, and New Zealand as well as throughout Europe.

Dr. Meyer will be with the chorus when it appears in Pampa.

Rural Postal Routes To Be Extended

AUSTIN (UPI) — U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., said Monday a new postal service program will expand deliveries to an additional four million Americans in small communities—including 77,866 families in Texas.

Yarborough said he was advised of the program by Postmaster General Winton M. Blount.

Under the plan, persons living more than one-fourth of a mile, but less than half a mile from the 18,700 post offices that do not have city delivery are now eligible to receive their mail at home.

Yarborough said the only requirement is that the persons must now request home delivery.

The expansion of service is to be achieved through such steps as extending shorter rural mail routes and adding delivery stops to some rural routes. In some areas, it may be necessary to establish new routes, he said.

The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI)—New findings that cigarette smoking apparently causes cancer in dogs have produced fresh demands in Congress for strong warnings in labeling and advertising.

Some senators want a label that reads: "Caution: Smoking may be harmful to your beagle."

Idealistically speaking, there shouldn't be any need for legislation of that type. If we lived in a more responsible society, the entire advertising trade would voluntarily conform to the so-called "Godfrey principle."

As you may be aware, Arthur Godfrey has threatened to stop appearing in television commercials for a certain laundry detergent unless he is allowed to mention that it contributes to water pollution.

Could Lead To Changes
I would adore to see other performers take a similar stand. It could lead to major changes in advertising techniques. Take a familiar soft drink jingle, for example. The lyrics might be revised as follows:

"Buppy-Cola hits the spot,
"But the sugar syrup causes teeth to rot."
And there's the new chewing gum jingle:

"Doubles your pleasure, doubles your fun,
"Doubles the dental bills for your daughter and son."

I also foresee a new kind of automobile commercial. It opens with a shot of a story-faced actor in evening dress. He has a large mallet with which he is beating the front grille of a shiny new Monoxide 8.

"Not a dent," he gasps as he puts the mallet down.
He then walks along the side of the car, lovingly patting its hood, doors and trunk.

Catches Breath
"And the Monoxide 8 has that same solid construction all over its beautiful body," he croons, having caught his breath.

But when he reaches the rear of the car, he stops and grimaces, which is his only change of expression.

"The only thing wrong with this baby are those twin exhaust pipes," he confides.

"Man, the fumes pouring out of those things would asphyxiate a billy goat at 100 paces. No wonder we have air pollution in this country."

The final application of the "Godfrey principle" that I envision would be the field of beer commercials:

"Litter beer is especially brewed for the man who is having more than one, and who then throws the empty cans into your front yard as he weaves by in his auto en route to a collision with a school bus."

Television In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—I don't think you will see a better television performance this season than the one given by Uta Hagen in Tuesday's scheduled "CBS Playhouse" production, "The Day Before Sunday."

Miss Hagen, who was the original Martha in "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" on Broadway, fleshes out a video character created by writer Robert Cress in a way that performers rarely do on the home screen.

You will not soon forget this Tulsa career woman—a successful, middle-aged, outwardly hip department store buyer who cannot help trying to dominate others (including men), who mothers her relatives financially and emotionally because of her own needs, and who is letting her own life slip by in the guise of helping others.

Anchored by the depth of dimension in Miss Hagen's performance—sad, funny, warm, confused, tragic, authoritative and intensely human—"The Day Before Sunday," produced and directed with a sure control by Paul Bogart, is a very fine piece of work. There is really very little in the way of a plot. It is a character study of a person in stress—the essence of genuine drama—and in Miss Hagen's hands it is so natural that it just seems to happen. There is no age limit on real happenings.

In the 90-minute tele, Miss Hagen gets a desperate phone call from the niece she loves and spoils, and whom she is putting through an expensive private school in Connecticut because the girl's parents can't afford it. The girl needs $1,000 and asks Miss Hagen to bring it to her graduation.

On the plane east, Miss Hagen, gabby and charming, is attracted to a man (Martin Balsam) who, by coincidence, has a son graduating from the same school. Divorced, he has learned to be honest with himself and to look at the world—and people—with no delusions.

Throughout her tribulations at the school, Balsam tries subtly to indicate to Miss Hagen how she is suffocating her own life. Their mutual attraction brings on one refreshingly shocking scene—a love scene, no less, between these two middle-aged people. Not only is it dramatically valid, but how splendid it is of Mr. Cress and Mr. Bogart to show—and not merely indicate—that middle-aged people still make love just as avidly and absurdly as their more-publicized juniors.

House Speaker Isn't About To Give Up

WASHINGTON (UPI)—At 78, Speaker John W. McCormack is leaner and grayer, and doesn't hear quite so well as he once did.

And though he is on the job early and late, it is his age that is most often cited by those House Democrats who think he should turn in his gravel.

The speaker considers keeping up communications with youth one of the most important parts of his job. College kids are forever turning up at his office and few, if they are willing to wait an hour or so, are denied a chat.

But youthful members like Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz.; Richard Bolling, D-Mo.; and Jerome R. Waldie, D-Calif., say communication with students is not really the problem. They contend McCormack has lost touch with the House.

They are among the few who say openly, along with a larger number who talk off the record, that it is past time for McCormack to step aside in favor of some younger House leader.

March 1, sources say, was to have been a special day in the life of Speaker McCormack. That was the date he had picked, his friends understand, to announce he would not run again for speaker next year. He was getting along in years, he would say, had held the speaker's job since 1962, had served the Congress, his district, his state and the country since 1928 and was ready to pass on the nation's second most powerful post to a younger man.

Then in October, although the ceiling didn't fall in, the crystal chandelier rocked in McCormack's ornate Capitol office. His top assistant and a man he had considered a friend were accused of having traded on his position and name. They have since been indicted by a grand jury in New York.

McCormack called a news conference to say he was shocked, to avow his own innocence of any wrongdoing and—inevitably for a man raised in the rough and tumble of Massachusetts politics—to announce that he would run next January for another two-year term as House speaker.

Udall, Bolling, Waldie and others to the contrary, McCormack's men say they've already counted the votes, and have plenty to spare.

NO DISTRESS

BIRKHAM, England (UPI)—Pilot boat skipper Arthur Curnow thought the East German coaster Argonaut had signalled distress and he went to its aid.

He was greeted instead with phosphorous distress rockets and told the crew was having a party.

Pancake Derby Champ Out To Better Time

OLNEY, England (U.P.I.)—Sylvia Winstanley, the defending champion, will be at the starting line with skillet in hand again today for the 21st annual running of the Pancake Derby against the housewives of Liberal, Kan.

Miss Winstanley, 18 and single, said her goal this year is not only to win but also to improve on her 1969 winning time of one minute, 4.2 seconds.

Olney leads, 11-9, in the series that began in 1950 on a challenge from the housewives of Liberal. Winning times in each town are compared by transatlantic telephone call after the Liberal half of the race, which begins six hours after the race has been completed here.

Participants in both towns cover a 415-yard course, each of them flipping a pancake in a skillet as they run.

The vicar of Olney, Canon Ronald Collins, supervises the race here that dates back to 1445.

Because of heavy amounts of rain recently as well as the cold weather, Olney's entrants have had little opportunity to train for the race.

"They'll just turn up and give it all they've got," said Collins.

The race here is open to any woman who wants to compete and, since there are no entry forms, Collins said he has no idea how many runners will be on the course Tuesday.

The race in Olney is along the cobblestone main street, beginning in front of the Bull Inn and ending at the gates of St. Peter and Paul Church.

Collins said he would not be dismayed if Liberal wins the race this year and cuts Olney's edge in the races to 11-10.

Bess Wallace Truman Will Note Birthday Quietly

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI)—Bess Wallace Truman will mark her 85th birthday Friday, devoting most of that day, like all others, to her husband.

No party is planned, but Mrs. Truman "never was overfond of big celebrations anyway," as one friend put it.

There probably will be a call from daughter Margaret, now Mrs. Clifton Daniel of New York City, and there certainly will be flowers. Otherwise, friends said, the birthday anniversary will stick to the increasingly slower-paced but happy routine that former President Harry S. Truman, also 85, has followed for several years.

Birthday Visitors

There may be birthday visitors to the beloved Victorian mansion that has been home to Mrs. Truman since girlhood.

EMBARRASSING SITUATION

HONOLULU (UPI)—A motorist was cited for inattention to driving Sunday after his car collided head-on with another vehicle in full view of spectators watching a safe-driving "Rodeo."

Police said the motorist had his eyes on the rodeo, instead of the road.

FIVE WIN GRANTS

LONDON (UPI)—Five British garbage men have won Sir Winston Churchill memorial trust grants of $3,000 to travel abroad and see how other countries collect and dispose of their refuse.

and to her family for more than a century. Friends say Bess and Harry Truman need no close companionship except each other.

"Bess never was the kind who ran over to your house unannounced for a cup of coffee or expected you at hers," one said, "but she's the sort who is right there when you need her, with some little gift in time of trouble when she can't come herself."

Since Truman fell several years ago while his wife was away from home briefly, she never leaves him in the evening and even her daytime hours are spent largely in smoothing his path.

Both get up early. Often Truman is first downstairs and has retrieved the morning newspaper from the front yard by the time his wife comes down to fix breakfast. Mrs. Truman also prepares their light lunch.

Morning Stroll

In the early afternoon the "hired girl" arrives to tidy up and to prepare the evening meal. Heavier chores in the 17-room house, built in 1867 by Mrs. Truman's grandfather, are performed by other part-time help, also responsible for mowing the lawn, trimming the shrubbery and weeding the flowers Mrs. Truman loves.

If his wife's birthday follows normal routine and weather is pleasant, Truman may take a morning stroll with his companion, sometime chauffeur and longtime friend, Mike Westwood of the Independence Police Department.

Mrs. Truman visits the library about once a week to return an armload of books and check out another batch. In the afternoon there may be an automobile ride for both, with Westwood or a Secret Service agent driving.

Excellent Health

Mrs. Truman gave up driving recently, partly because of the arthritis in her hands. Her general health is excellent, however.

Nights after dinner, the Trumans customarily go together into the library, a small room. Fellow townsfolk bound homeward at day's end see Mrs. Truman "regularly as the calendar," reading beside a window in the light of a table lamp.

Friends passing the Truman home see a light go on in an upstairs bedroom about 7 p.m. There the Trumans read for an interval before dropping off to sleep, he with a volume of history or one of the out-of-town papers to which he still subscribes; she with one of her mystery novels, some other book, or a magazine.

Secret Service agents, based in the Truman library, stand constant vigil within the shadow of the house from dusk to dawn.

The fabric fur coat (left) is imitation Broday colt with authentic markings. It's contoured to the body shape, highlighted by three rows of longer-haired fur trim matching again on the cuffs and high turtle collar. Why put a tiger in your tank when it can look so pretty on? The feminine tigress (at right) is detailed with leather buttons and slanted side pockets, the wide belt in back falling loosely over its smart paneling, forms side pleats. The male tiger gets a lion's share of warmth in his three-quarter-length, double-breasted tiger skin.

Fake Furs Are Fun Even For Animals

NEW YORK (NEA) — When mama thought fur, she thought mink. Nothing gave a woman security like mink around the shoulders. When and if she got her mink, she wore it long and hard—after all, it was her one and only.

But fashion times are a changing, and nothing has changed as radically as the fur scene. Prestige lies in quantity, not quality. Your leopard doesn't have to be—Somali as long as it feels lush and plush. The object is to make fur fun, and the only way most women can play is to make it inexpensive. Now, instead of bagging furs for wraps, they're made synthetically. Fake fur is alive and well and thriving in America.

Today, not only mama, but papa and the kiddies can afford to have a fur wardrobe made of acrylic pile, Dynel or whatever. The coats are warm and cuddly without being weighty, and come in every style, from maxi to mini to easybody line coats and bathrobe styles with belts that cinch the waist.

Some have belted backs or three-quarter belts that arrive almost at center waist. Still others are double-breasted, while another group has pockets placed below the hips. And for the gal who enjoys the slacks and jacket combination — fun fur is making the jacket scene, too.

Edwardian collars, leather trims, interesting hardware and genuine fur trims lend important touches to the fake fur look.

You can wrap yourself in style and co-ordinate your fur coats with fun fur skirts, jumpers, vests, hats and scarves.

The ladies and gents can choose from mirror images of leopard, jaguar, cheetah, tiger, otter, Indian and Persian lambs.

This season, be mad, be gay and above all, be furry.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Everyone has a problem, and now all of a sudden I have one. I am in my sixties and have been widowed for several years. Now there is a widower who lives in a town near here. He is in my age bracket. Ever since his wife died a year ago he has showered me with expensive presents.

His sister is a good friend of mine and she lives near me. I have asked her on several occasions to please write to her brother and tell him to quit sending me presents, but either she has not done it, or her brother doesn't mind her, because the presents continue to come.

I am not considering remarriage — at least not to him.

What shall I do?
NOT INTERESTED
DEAR NOT: Communicate directly with the generous gentleman, and don't rely on his sister to be your carrier pigeon. Tell him in a nice way that if it's marriage he's after, he has the right technique—but the wrong woman.

DEAR ABBY: We live very close to my husband's family, which includes his widowed mother and several brothers and sisters. They are one of those "all-for-one and one-for-all" type families, although there is always a lot of fighting and arguing among them.

My mother-in-law is always crying about something. She also has a habit of "dropping in" all the time, and no matter what we are doing, she stays. She is still a young woman and she could get married again, but she refuses to date men and she won't join any groups to try to make a life for herself. She says she will be happy to spend the rest of her life just visiting her children.

I have pleaded with my husband to move just a few miles away so I can be closer to my own mother, but he won't budge. Abby, a girl needs to be near her own mother, especially when she has small children (and I have) and besides it's a toll call to my mother's house so I can't even call her very often.

Please, Abby, explain to my husband that it wouldn't harm our husband-wife relationship if he moved away from his mother and nearer to mine. I can't feel close to his mother because she is so wrapped up in self-pity and she could care less about me and my problems. What can I do to get closer to my mother?

DEAR STUCK: The way I have your husband and his family pegged, the only way you'll get closer to your mother is to get her to move closer to you.

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter sent to you by a woman whose husband treats their 10 and 12-year-old sons like "pals." That family is headed for trouble. When these boys end up in juvenile court the father will say, "I can't understand it. We always had such a good relationship."

In my eight years as a probation officer, almost every case had a background of either no father in the home, or a very weak father figure from whom the child received very little or no discipline. Youngsters need love. But they also need consistent discipline. They need to know what their limits are. This is security!

Cigar Wins 'Status' As 1970 Accessory

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gals, you stick the newest Spring fashion accessory in your mouth, light up the other end and puff away. It is a cigar.

Cigar-puffing females will have status in the Easter Parade—if a trend developing at the New York Couture Business Council's fashion press week blossoms.

For the first time the Cigar Institute of America had a booth at the fashion event, attended by reporters and editors from across the land.

And, baby, it's what's happening—or where it's at. At least, it's the "now" thing for the really beautiful people. See? Judy Lynn Prince, who manned the cigar-puffing booth in the couture press room at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, passed out several hundred to first-time users.

To get editors off on the right puff, she operated three lighters at one time the day the booth opened.

"They kept coming back for seconds and thirds," she said. "Many are signing up for a supply of free cigars to be sent to their homes or offices."

Ted Cott, executive director of the institute, said: "We figured now was the time to encourage the fashion reporters to take up cigars, if they wished. One hundred thousand American women regularly smoke cigars—and the figure doubled in the last five years."

"No restaurant that I know of bans women smoking cigars." In fact, some of the editors were puffing on cigars after dinner in the Persian Room at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

The cigars are dainty and thin. Some have mouthpieces. So far, no one's observed any fashion writer turning green from the experience.

For the female palates, there are flavors—rum, honey, menthol. For the feminine proboscis, a range of aromatics.

Women Gain Points In Language Lessons

NEW YORK (UPI)—Females have a reputation for being able to talk longer than males, louder than males, and on a greater variety of topics—including some they know very little about.

This gift of gab isn't the only female superiority. Women also have a natural ability to learn foreign languages more quickly than men.

The language expert who says so, Albert-Josef Schardl, credits the female's keener hearing.

"Women can hear certain sounds at certain frequencies that men don't hear... or hear as well," he said. "Since so much of learning to speak a language depends on how well you hear it, the woman has a certain built-in advantage there also."

On the negative side for females, however, the president of Schardl Linguistic System noted that women generally don't learn as accurately as men.

"Men have a tendency to be much more methodical in their approach and pay attention to details," he said.

Schardl speaks six languages in addition to English. They are: French, German, Russian, Hungarian, Spanish and Italian. He also can get by in another seven spoken languages and can translate written works from a few more.

Knowledge of all these languages comes in handy for his change of moods.

"When I'm depressed," he said, "I speak Russian. It has five words to one in English for the word 'depression.' For example, if you are in the dumps, you really can wallow in Russian."

"Spanish is the gay, the happy language. There are six ways of saying 'I love you' in Spanish."

"French is the precise, the delicate language. It's the superior language. Europeans insist on using French for their legal contracts. That's because it's so exact."

German? The language expert described it as a language full of rich words to describe feeling. "That's why it's best for psychiatry, as he sees it."

"The Japanese language reflects the sensitivity of its people," Schardl said. "For example, it has five or six words for the color red and that's before you get into the shadings."

Most humorous of all languages is English. "No other language can express humor so well as English," he said.

Controversy Rages Over Demolition Of Old Clock

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Controversy raged Monday over whether to tear down the clock tower on the old Post Office Building along historic Pennsylvania Avenue. It is the District of Columbia's third tallest structure, after the Washington Monument and the Capitol.

The Fine Arts Commission has voted twice to demolish the TOWER. It says the Romanesque tower is "incongruous" and "unacceptable" to the Greco-Roman classic style of other buildings in the federal triangle.

Nathaniel A. Owings, chairman of the Pennsylvania Avenue Commission, has urged preservation of the tower. "I don't think we should destroy the heritage of the past just to make way for new buildings," Owings said. "Let's not destroy the only piece that's left on the south side of the avenue."

The General Service Administration (GSA) wants to clear away the Post Office Building but save the clock tower and incorporate it into an extension of the Internal Revenue Service Building.

The National Capitol Planning Commission voted this week to accept a compromise resolution requesting government architects to get more information on preservation designs.

The 315-foot tower was built in 1899 as the first federal building on Pennsylvania Avenue between the Capitol and the White House.

Harris Says He's Weary Of Democrat Brickbats

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Fred R. Harris' sudden decision to resign the Democratic National Committee chairmanship was made because he was weary of dodging bricks thrown by prominent members of his own party, his associates said Monday.

They also said he announced his decision without even informing Hubert H. Humphrey, 1968 presidential nominee, who picked him for the assignment 13 months ago.

Both were at a fund-raising affair at Miami Beach, Fla., Thursday night.

No clues were available yet about who might be chosen to succeed Harris at the Democratic National Committee meeting March 5, just eight months before the 1970 state and congressional elections.

Humphrey issued a statement praising Harris and saying that he would consult him and other party leaders in the search for a successor. Despite the former vice president's tributes, there have been recent reports of conflict between him and Harris.

At a news conference Friday, Harris said he had done his duty during the transition year since the 1968 campaign and he wanted to be free of restraint to speak out on national issues.

portunities for try-outs, the 1970 company will be chosen.

Kopeczne Records Impounded

BOSTON (UPI)—The chief justice of the Massachusetts Superior Court Monday ordered all transcripts and records of the secret inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopeczne in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's car impounded in Boston.

Justice G. Joseph Tuoro directed the clerk of Superior Court in Edgartown on Martha's Vineyard—where District Judge James A. Boyle will file his findings on the inquest—to immediately transfer all records, transcripts and other data to the criminal clerk of Suffolk County in Boston for impounding.

Boyle conducted a four-day inquest behind closed doors early last month into Miss Kopeczne's death last July when a car driven by Kennedy plunged off a bridge on Chappaquiddick Island and overturned in a tidal pond.

All testimony from the inquest has been—and will be kept private until officials either determine no trial is needed in Miss Kopeczne's death or, if a trial is called for, until that trial is completed.

Robbery Attempt Nets Victims $30,000 Suit

EDDYVILLE, Iowa (UPI)—In the summer of 1967, Marvin Katko was shot and seriously injured in the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Briney.

Katko was hit in the ankle and one leg is 2 1/2 inches shorter than the other. He sued the Brineys and won $30,000 in damages.

The incident would not have made ripples beyond Eddyville if it had not been for the way in which Katko entered the Brineys' home. He broke in, allegedly to steal.

Katko, now 30, was injured by a shotgun blast from a booby trap Edward Briney had set up. Katko first was charged with breaking and entering, a felony, but he pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of larceny in the nighttime, a misdemeanor. He was fined $50 and released.

Then he sued the Brineys for $60,000.

In November, an all-woman Mahaska County District Court jury awarded Katko $30,000—$20,000 in compensatory damages and $10,000 in punitive damages.

The word "punitive" sticks in the craw of many people in this town of 1,000—especially since the Brineys had to sell 80 acres of a 120-acre farm estate belonging to Bertha Briney, 49, wife of Ed Briney, 53. The property was sold for $10,000 at a forced auction. On it stands the vacant farm home in which Katko was shot.

The property was bought by a three-member committee of Briney's neighbors. The committee is holding it in trust until the Iowa Supreme Court rules on the Brineys' appeal. The Brineys are able to farm the 80 acres, along with the 40 other acres and 320 acres owned by Briney and his father.

Some say Katko—a 6-3 1/2, 220-pounder who works at his father's gas station—would have deserved it if he had been killed. Others say Briney went too far—indeed, was malicious—in setting up a shotgun booby trap in his home. The issue has reached the Iowa Legislature, where three bills dealing with the matter have been introduced.

One of the measures, commonly referred to as "the Briney bill" would allow a person to use "any means necessary" to defend his life, family and property, or to go to the aid of another without being placed in legal jeopardy.

It was sent to the floor of the Iowa House Thursday after a bitter debate over an amendment which would have eliminated the provisions for defense of property. The amendment was defeated 17-16 by the House Law Enforcement Committee.

THE INVISIBLE MAJORITY

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI)—When governors sign bills, the sponsors usually clamor to get their pictures taken with the chief executive.

It was different Monday when Gov. William T. Cahill signed a new piece of legislation.

There were no legislators in the room as Cahill affixed his signature to the bill increasing the state sales tax from 3 to 5 per cent.

Cahill told spectators at the ceremony the bill was the "foundation on which the Cahill administration can be built. Without it, there could be no progressive programs."

Cahill praised the missing legislators for their "political courage" and for "acting most responsibly."

Runaway "Wife" Given To Father

AUSTIN (UPI)—A 14-year-old girl classified as a runaway by her mother and as a wife by her common law husband has been released from a juvenile detention home to the custody of her father.

The girl, Sandra Walker Sellers, requested the release, as did her father, Elco Walker of Johnson City, juvenile officer Bill Anderson said Monday.

The girl had been living with her mother and stepfather in Wiggins, Miss., before she came to Texas and filed an informal declaration of marriage with Eugene Franklin Sellers, an 18-year-old unemployed electrician.

An Austin trial court Friday refused to rule on a habeas corpus petition filed by the young couple's attorney in the first test of a new Texas law that permits juveniles to record common law marriages.

The attorney, Thomas Edmondson, had said he would attempt to get a hearing before juvenile court on proceedings brought against the girl after her mother reported her as a runaway. He said he would argue she is "innocent until proven guilty and married until proven not."

But Anderson said today "I'm not sure there will be any hearing."

"We have released the girl to her father in Johnson City at her request and his. I'm not sure what action will be taken, but I presume the juvenile proceedings may be dropped, depending on how she does with her father."

Edmondson had gone to the Austin court of civil appeals Friday in an attempt to get the girl released, but the court refused to hear arguments on his plea.

The girl and sellers have been living together since Jan. 3, and filed the declaration of informal marriage with the Travis County clerk's office Jan. 23.

Release of the girl to her father apparently dodges what Anderson had previously called the "basic question" in the case.

He said Friday the basic question was whether the girl is "a runaway child and should be returned to her mother (in Mississippi) or whether she is a married woman."

Budget For Business Extremely Thin

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Council of State Chambers of Commerce has predicted that the $1.3 billion surplus in President Nixon's budget for the next business year will not survive added spending proposals by Congress.

"This is an extremely thin surplus when related to the fact that about $3 billion of expenditure reductions in the budget are very much in the 'iffy' class," said Eugene F. Rinta, research director for the council.

New Housekeeper Hired For Capitol

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Pat Nixon apparently has found a new housekeeper for the White House but her identity was withheld today.

The First Lady's press director, Helen Smith, said the new housekeeper would be announced soon—after security clearance.

It was learned that the woman applied by letter for the job, which has been vacant several months.

Washington State Loses Close One To No. 1 Ranked Bruins

By United Press International
It took sophomore Henry Bibby's steel nerves to offset an ironman performance by Washington State that threatened No. 1 UCLA's unbeaten string.

Washington State used just five men throughout the game and held the upper hand until 2:43 remained before bowing to UCLA, 72-70, Monday night. Bibby's two free throws with 10 seconds left proved the decisive points.

The Cougars were ahead, 36-30, at halftime and at one point in the second half mounted a nine-point lead. But Bibby ended State's bid to snip UCLA's 17-game winning streak when his jumper lifted the Bruins to a 69-65 lead with less than three minutes remaining.

Bibby's two free throws in the closing seconds were all the more meaningful because Rick Erickson scored for the Cougars at the buzzer.

The talented Bibby was UCLA's high scorer with 22 points. Erickson led Washington State with 28 and Gary Elliot tallied 21.

Second-ranked South Carolina extended its winning streak to 17 by ripping Wake Forest, 81-84; No. 3 Kentucky routed Mississippi State, 86-57; fifth-ranked New Mexico State won its 19th of the year, 97-73, over Montana State, sixth-ranked North Carolina State edged eighth-ranked North Carolina, 85-86, and Pete Maravich netted 40 points as Louisiana State beat Tulane for the 100th time, 127-114.

So. Carolina Cruised
John Roche and Tom Owens, part of South Carolina's New York City subway under-graduate class, each scored 24 points against Wake Forest. Roche hit on his first three outside shots and South Carolina never trailed. Charlie Davis led the losing Deacons with 22 points.

Even with starting guard Dick McGowan and reserve center Randy Poole out of the lineup for disciplinary reasons, Kentucky managed to make a shambles of the Mississippi State defense. Coach Adolf Rupp said the suspended players would not suit up again. Mike Pratt paced the Wildcats with 26 points and center Dan Isel contributed 17. John Guyton led State with 21 points. Jimmy Collins scored 10 consecutive points just before intermission for New Mexico State's 45-33 halftime lead and continued the attack in the final 20 minutes to score a game high 31 points against Montana State. Sam Lacy added 20 points and grabbed 20 rebounds for the Aggies as Montana State suffered its 16th loss in 17 games this season.

Low Leads Bucks Into Second Place In East

NEW YORK (UPI)—Low Alcindor is getting closer to the top.

Alcindor, who has guided the Milwaukee Bucks into second place this season in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division, moved into second place this week in the scoring standings.

The 7-foot-2 center now has a 26.9 average with 1,611 points in 56 games for a slight lead over third-place Elvin Hayes of San Diego, who has averaged 26.8 points a game.

Jerry West of Los Angeles continued to lead the NBA with a 31.7 average with 1,710 points in 54 games.

Billy Cunningham of Philadelphia is fourth with a 26.4 average and Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati rounds out the top five with a 25.5 average.

In the free throw department, Flynn Robinson of Milwaukee went 14-14 last week to increase his percentage to .904. Robinson hasn't missed an attempt so far in February. His last stop came on Jan. 31 when he hit on five of six against Phoenix.

Johnny Green of Cincinnati has the best field goal percentage in the league—.560. Wes Unseld of Baltimore is second at .543. Unseld and Hayes both are averaging 16.2 rebounds a game.

Len Wilkens of Seattle leads the league in assists with an average of 9.3 a game. Walt Frazier of New York is second at 8.6.

Shaving Strokes 10-Mind Over Matter

By FRANK BEARD
It is unfortunate but true. You probably won't be able to play golf as well in cold weather as you do in warm weather. Too many elements, so to speak, are against it.

For us on the tour, the Bing Crosby Open in late January generally causes a problem because it usually comes up chilly, the wind up the ocean cutting through you. If you're not careful, it can affect your concentration.

It is all very well for someone to say, "Concentrate on the ball and forget the cold (wind, snow, frost, blizzard, etc.)," but rarely do such powers of concentration surface.

Probably the best method is to make yourself as comfortable as possible between shots; enjoy a warming beverage; and admit to yourself that you are not going to play as well as you did last summer. You might do better than you think you will.

window at Chapel Hill as North Carolina clawed its way to victory over North Carolina State behind Charlie Scott's 33 points and 13 rebounds. The Tar Heels ripped off a 10-0 tear to tie the score at 74-all in the second half and then went ahead on Scott's five key points. Van Willford led the Wolfpack with 23 points.

Maravich brought his career total to 3,206 points as he hit on 18 of 45 field goal attempts and netted 13 of 15 free throws against Tulane. He scored 60 points last Saturday against Alabama.

In other games, Ashland, the nation's No. 2 small college, rolled passed Hillsdale, 67-51, behind Wayne Sokolowski's 20 points. Marquette rallied to defeat the Air Force, 79-74, as Dean Meminger scored 21 points for the Warriors; Alabama dropped Georgia from a first place tie in the Southeastern Conference with a 94-86 upset of the Bulldogs that included Jimmy Hollon's 34 points and Dave Robisch netted 31 points for Kansas as the Jayhawks topped Oklahoma State, 69-58.

Kentucky, Florida State, Ohio University and Illinois.

Penn. Iowa Move Up
Pennsylvania and Iowa made the biggest gains in this week's ratings.

Penn., which leads the Ivy League with an 8-0 record and has an overall 19-1 slate, moved from 14th to ninth place while Iowa, which tops the big 10 with a 6-0 mark and is 11-4 overall, moved from a single 10th-place vote a week ago into a tie for 11th place with Davidson.

In the close race for the No. 2 spot this week, South Carolina received 19 second-place votes, 11 third-place votes and five fourth-place votes. In addition to its one first-place vote, Kentucky received 13 for No. 2, 12 for No. 3, six for No. 4 and one each for Nos. 5 and 8.

The UPI board of coaches is made up by five vice coaches from each of the seven geographical sections of the country. The coaches vote each week during the season with points awarded on the basis of 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 for votes from first through 10th places.

When It Comes To Scoring In Hockey, Say Walt, Dave And Bill

NEW YORK (UPI)—If you ever care to speak to them, it'd be best to simply call them Walt, Dave and Bill.

Those are nice, easy names, the kind that roll off your tongue without a hitch. Try to be more formal and you're almost certain to make a mistake.

For although Walt Tkaczuk, Dave Baion and Bill Fairbairn form the highest scoring line in the National Hockey League this season, their names are continually mispronounced even by those people who know better.

"Ka-chook," "Not 'Tay-chuk'" Take Tkaczuk, for example, a second-year center who is third in the NHL scoring race with 24 goals and 63 points. He may break the New York Rangers scoring record of 88 points this season, and if he does people will be giving credit to someone named "Tay-chuk."

"It should be pronounced 'Ka-chook,' like when somebody sneezes," said the usually taciturn 22-year-old, who was born in Germany of Ukrainian parents. "But I'm used to just about anything."

Baion may be a little jealous of the attention his linemate is receiving because of his name. During another session Monday he complained that a lot of people get his name wrong too. It should be "Ba-lone."

Fairbairn, befitting his position as a rookie, is the quietest member of the silent three. He also has had his troubles, since "Fair-bayrn" isn't the easiest of words when you're in a hurry.

"Bulldogs' Btle Hard" Called the "Bulldog line" by Ranger General Manager-Coach Emile Francis ("They can bite," he explains), the trio has produced 164 points in 50 games. Baion, referred to by Tkaczuk as "the father of our line," in deference to his 31 years, is only one goal shy of his career high of 24 and Fairbairn has 17 goals.

All three players are remarkably aggressive and have a passion for digging in the corners. Tkaczuk, called by Minnesota General Manager Wren Blair "the next superstar in the NHL," is physically stronger than his 185 pounds would indicate and is solid as a stone in front of the enemy net.

"The key to this line is their short passing," explained Francis. "You don't see them attempting 20 or 30-foot passes. They move up and down the ice together with always two guys on top of the puck. One of the secrets to their success is their ability to forecheck. In addition to being the best scoring line in the league, they've also allowed fewer goals than any of our other lines."

Austin Keeps Winning Pace Showdown With Payne Saturday

By United Press International
No. 1 ranked small college team Stephen F. Austin, playing one of its best games of the season, trounced Sul Ross by 30 points before a homecoming crowd Saturday night and then prepared for its showdown with seventh rated Howard Payne.

The only trouble was the Lumberjacks had one more game to play before this Saturday's confrontation.

Angelo State came to Nacogdoches Monday and almost caught the Lumberjacks asleep. Angelo State attempted only 44 shots from the field, made a good number of them, but fell before SFA 73-60.

SFA coach Marshall Brown admitted the "boys already were looking ahead to the Howard Payne game Saturday night. They've been talking about that game since Saturday."

Resounding Victory
When the Lumberjacks (20-0) played Sul Ross, they hit on 69 per cent of their shots on route to a 125-86 win.

But against Angelo "I felt like we were real flat and uninspired," Brown said. "We let them control the game more than we should have."

Angelo realized it could not match SFA's speed and played a deliberate control game working the ball in consistently and taking only the sure shots.

Howard Payne (22-2) kept pace in the Lone Star Conference race by clipping Southwest Texas 74-67. Fred Davis scored 35 points, 20 in the second half, as the Yellowjackets stayed two games behind the Lumberjacks.

Other Games Listed
Calvin Walker set a new team scoring record of 52 points that helped East Texas State (9-12) to a 97-92 Lone Star Conference win over Tarleton (4-18).

Sam Houston (16-6) remained three games behind SFA as freshman James Lister poured in 35 points to help defeat Sul Ross (6-17) 108-85.

Texas A&I (8-14) behind Greg Akromis' 20 points, narrowly defeated McMurry (8-13), 88-87. John Belcher of Arkansas State (10-8) broke a Southland Conference single game rebounding record when he pulled down 26.

But it was not enough as Texas-Arlington (6-12), pulled a mild upset at Jonesboro, Ark., and won 71-69.

Southwestern Louisiana (13-6) collected its eighth straight victory as Marvin Winkler scored 37 points and downed Trinity (13-5), the No. 2 team in the Southland Conference, 102-85.

DOBY SCOUT FOR EXPOS
MONTREAL (UPI)—Former Cleveland slugger Larry Doby, 45, was named batting instructor and special assignment representative by the Montreal Expos Monday.

Doby previously was a scout for the Expos. He twice led the American League in homers for Cleveland and he also played with the White Sox and the Tigers.

LADIES' TENNIS ACTION
NEW YORK (UPI)—Margaret Smith Court of Australia slammed past Francoise Durr of France, 6-1, 6-0, in 35 minutes Monday night in the $5,000 Ladies Invitational Tennis Tournament at the Vanderbilt Club.

Pampa Faces Caprock Road Game Tonight

By JIM BURNHAM
News Sports Correspondent
The Harvesters will try to break an eight game losing streak tonight in Amarillo in their contest with the Caprock Longhorns at 8 o'clock.

The probable starting team will be Jim Gallman, Randy Marsh, Mike Edgar, Mike Jordan, and Richard Bunton.

Caprock has seen a bad season this year in basketball as well as in football. With a 0-10 season in football, the Longhorns have fared slightly better on the basketball court, sporting a 5-19 season and a 1-3 second half.

Pampa beat Caprock earlier this year by de-horning them 51-29. In that game, the Longhorns hit 10 of 36 field goals for 28 per cent. Gallman led the attack against the Longhorns scoring 19 points.

Larry McKinney led Caprock with 12.

Friday Pampa met its doom in the form of the Golden Sandstorm of Amarillo High in a close 60-58 contest.

Amarillo's Kyle Pipkin, who is the high scorer in the district with a 23.5 average, led the Sandies with 23 points. Gallman tallied 22 for Pampa.

The Harvesters have not won a game since the last Caprock contest, Jan. 6.

American League, Owners Decide Fate Of Seattle Pilots Today

CHICAGO (UPI)—Prospective purchasers of the Seattle Pilots aiming to keep the team in its present location should get the official word today from American League owners.

The owners will attend a special session called by League President Joe Cronin solely to deal with what happens to the Pilots, and it was certain there'd be some onlookers on hand from Milwaukee and Dallas-Fort Worth, hoping to grab the franchise if Seattle can't hang on to it.

But prospects looked good for hotel magnate Edward Carlson, who has become the strong man in local groups seeking to keep the Pilots franchise in Seattle. Reportedly Carlson and his associates have completed arrangements to finance the club.

They have to come up with $8 million to buy out the current owners, William Daley of Cleveland and Dewey Soriano of Seattle, and to assure the other owners of their continued financial solvency.

It was understood that one of the problems, a loan of $3.5 million from the Bank of California to the current franchise, had been solved by arrangements to renegotiate. The loan was understood to be part of the $8 million.

Carlson said that his efforts for local backing had topped $6 million, indicating that the financial situation could be straightened out.

Miami, Briscoe Girls Meet Tonight In Playoffs

District 3-B Basketball playoffs between the Miami Girls and the Briscoe Girls will be held tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the Pampa gym.

The two teams are tied for the round-robin. Briscoe is the winner of the District tournament.

If Briscoe wins the playoff game, they will be district champions. If Miami wins tonight, there will have to be another game to determine the district champs.
