WASHINGTON (UPI)—The five largest electric utilities companies in Texas made profits in the neighborhood of 20 per cent or more in 1968, according to a Federal Power Commission report released Tuesday.

Sen. Lee Metcalf, D - Mont., asked the FPC to compile profit figures of the nation's largest utilities. He said electric companies are seeking $2 billion-in rate increases this year despite record profits.

The FPC figures showed that 18 firms had profits of 20 per cent or more. Texas Power and Light Co. led Texas companies with a 22.7 per cent profit.

The figures were based on the percentage relationship of net income to gross utility operating revenues during 1968.

The Citizens-Utility Company of Arizona had the highest percentage, 50.7 per cent.

Other Texas electric companies listed were: El Paso Electric, 21.8 per cent profit; West Texas Electric, 20.9 per cent; Texas Electric Service, 20.3 per cent, and Gulf States Utilities, 19.5 per cent.

Texas Central Power & Light Co., 19.8; Community Public Service Co., 9.2; Houston Lighting & Power Co., 18.2; Southwestern Electric Power Co., 17.8; Southwestern Electric Service Co., 11.5; Southwestern Public Service Co., 19.7, and Dallas Power & Light Co., 17.1.

Two Rocket Barrages Hit Jordan Frontier

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Two barrages of long-range rockets slammed into Beisan on the Jordan frontier today, scoring direct hits on a school and killing two children. Ten other youngsters and six adults were wounded.

It was the second attack of its kind against the settlement this week. A 9-year-old girl was killed and eight persons—five children and three adults—were hurt Monday in a 10-round salvo that hit the town of 12,000 in a one-minute span beginning at 8 a.m.

Military spokesmen said the first barrage this morning at 7:30 killed a 9-year-old girl while wounding three other girls and a woman.

The second salvo two hours later scored a direct hit on the Tomar School, killing a 7-year-old girl and wounding 12 other persons, seven of them children. The school was destroyed by fire.

Israeli army headquarters said other rockets fell on the nearby Maoz Hayyim settlement but no one was hurt.

Israeli artillerymen fired back at the suspected rocket-firing positions in Jordan, triggering cross-frontier duels that lasted all morning.

Beisan is five miles from Jordan and military sources said the missiles probably were fired by Arab guerrillas across the frontier. Israeli warplanes hit back into Jordan after Monday's rocket attacks along with more air raids Tuesday night against Egypt's Suez Canal line. The air strikes brought to 40 the number of hours Israeli planes have spent hitting the Egyptian front in the past four days.

Other rocket rounds hit the settlement of Kiryat Shmona on the Lebanese frontier during the night, the first such attack against the village since shelling attacks against it brought a reprisal Israeli raid into Lebanon May 12. No casualties were reported.

Officials in the Lebanese capital said 50,000 persons have now left Southern Lebanon following the Israeli attack and subsequent Israeli patrols against Arab guerrilla outposts in the area.

Carter Takes Lead In NM Primaries

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI)—Anderson Carter, a Democrat-turned-Republican, took an early lead over Gov. David F. Cargo Tuesday in the GOP senatorial primary election.

In the Democrat Senate race, incumbent Joseph M. Montoya held a wide edge over political newcomer Richard E. Edwards.

With 67 of the state's 908 precincts reporting, Carter polled 1,426 votes compared to 791 for Cargo and 220 for State Auditor Harold Thompson. In the Democrat race, Montoya drew 4,815 votes compared to Edwards' 2,312.

Cargo, a two-term governor, was expected to pick up strength in returns from the heavily Spanish-American northern counties. Most of Carter's early vote total came from the conservative southern areas of the state.

In the governor's race, Democrat Jack Daniels held a slight edge over former House Speaker Bruce King. However, the early vote was mainly from Daniels' stronghold in the southern part of the state, Albuquerque District Attorney Alexander Sceresse was third in the race with 1,150 votes.

In the jumbled GOP gubernatorial race former Albuquerque City Commission Chairman Pete Domenici held a narrow lead over House Minority Leader Stephen Helbing.

Voting was reported light across the state despite excellent weather and a surplus of issues, including student violence at the University of New Mexico.

Rogers Tells Dobrynin US View Of Russia's Mideast Involvement

By STEWART HENSLEY, UPI Diplomatic Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers has told Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin the United States takes a grave view of the increasing Soviet military involvement in the Middle East.

Rogers, in a 40-minute session with the Soviet envoy Tuesday, also emphasized the U.S. view of the urgent necessity to work toward an Arab-Israeli peace settlement.

There was no indication from either side Dobrynin gave for Rogers any satisfactory explanation regarding Moscow's motives in its Middle East military buildup. State Department spokesmen said last week previous U.S. requests on this point had elicited responses that were "unsatisfactory and imprecise."

In the background, though not specifically discussed, was one of the basic reasons for Tuesday's meeting: The pending decision whether the United States should sell Israel the 125 additional supersonic and subsonic jet warplanes it has asked for.

Aramburu Reported Killed

Armed Robbery Attempt Ends With One Dead

WELLINGTON, Tex. (UPI)—A high speed chase and gun battle between two armed robbery suspects and Oklahoma and Texas highway patrolmen ended Tuesday night in a smash-up and the death of one suspect.

The dead man may have shot himself when he saw he could not get away.

The other suspect crawled from the wreckage and fled. An unidentified Negro was arrested in an Amarillo motel early today and questioned to see whether he was the man who got away.

At the same time, officers searched a shelter belt east of Wellington.

The man removed dead from the wreckage of an automobile was Garland Garsede, 35, of California.

A TEACHER'S-EYE VIEW of a 7 a.m. Drivers' Education class, which is included in the summer school session, which got underway Tuesday in Pampa High School. Of the 609 students enrolled for academic and drivers' education training, 435 are enrolled in the latter. Pictured at this morning's early-hour class lecture is Tom Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Parker, 1923 Grape, whose expression indicates "yes, but when do we get to drive."

Argentine Leader Slain By Guerillas

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—The Argentine military government responded to the reported slaying of kidnapped former President Pedro Eugenio Aramburu with a presidential decree today ordering death by firing squad for kidnapers who seriously hurt or kill their victims.

President Juan Carlos Onganía went on national radio and television promising "to guarantee peace and order whatever the price" amid fears of civil strife following a terrorist group's claim Tuesday that it had executed the former president.

Onganía said the nation received with "stupor" the announcement from the Juan Jose Valle commando group, an organization that supports exiled former dictator Juan D. Peron. He accused the group of carrying out "an inhumane sentence that outrages the Argentine people."

Onganía's speech early today left little doubt the government believed the commando claim Aramburu was dead. Aramburu's former police chief, Aldo Luis Molinari, said "I think Onganía's speech and the death penalty law don't give us another interpretation."

The president appealed for national unity, saying "the most clear homage" that could be paid Aramburu was law and order. Aramburu supporters had promised to take to the streets against peronists if he was slain.

The new antiterrorist law authorizes the execution of kidnapers, airline hijackers and persons who attack military camps, in addition to establishing lesser penalties for such crimes as wearing a military uniform without authorization.

Four men, two of them dressed in army uniforms, kidnapped Aramburu, 67, from his home Friday. The Juan Jose Valle group claimed credit for the kidnap and said Aramburu would be executed for ordering the executions of 35 persons, including Gen. Juan Jose Valle, in 1956.

Another note found Tuesday said the sentence on Aramburu had been carried out at 7 a.m. It said Aramburu would be given a Christian burial but his body would not be returned until the body of Eva Peron was "returned to the people."

Both Peronist and anti-Peronist groups called news conferences Tuesday and appealed to their supporters to remain calm. The Peronists said they had nothing to do with the kidnaping. Anti-Peronists, including government officials, attributed the kidnap to "foreign extremists."

Wallace Wins Demo Nomination For Another Term As Governor

United Press International

George Corley Wallace won the Democratic nomination for another term as governor of Alabama Tuesday and gained a forum for another third-party campaign for the presidency.

"Alabama still keeps her place in the sun and will be heard all over the country," he told a victory celebration.

Wallace, governor from 1963 to 1967 and American Independent party candidate for the presidency in 1968, defeated Gov. Albert P. Brewer in a runoff primary by exploiting the white backlash vote in a racially sensitive Southern state.

Competing with Alabama for national attention was California, where the Vietnam War and student unrest overshadowed state issues, particularly among Democrats, in primary contests.

Jess Unruh, assemblyman and former speaker backed by foes of the Vietnam War, claimed the California Democratic nomination for governor on the basis of early returns. His opponent was Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles, who supported Nixon's war policies.

But in the Democratic senatorial primary, Rep. John V. Tunney held a narrow lead over Rep. George E. Brown Jr., who had more organized support in the peace movement.

Gov. Ronald Reagan of California was renominated in the Republican party without opposition. Sen. George Murphy won the Republican renomination against industrialist Norton Simon, who conceded defeat with only a fraction of the votes counted.

In other states: Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield easily won renomination over two minor opponents in Montana. Harold Wallace, Missoula sporting goods dealer, was unopposed for the GOP senatorial nomination.

New Jersey Democrats renominated Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr. over state Sen. Frank J. Guarini, candidate of the powerful Hudson County (Jersey City) Democratic organization. Former Republican state Chairman Nelson G. Gross easily won the GOP Senate nomination.

In New Mexico, Gov. David

Cargo lost the Republican senatorial nomination to Anderson Carter, a conservative former Democrat. Sen. Joseph M. Montoya easily won renomination in the Democratic primary.

Iowa Democrats chose former Lt. Gov. Robert Fulton over state Rep. William Gannon to run against Gov. Robert D. Ray, who was unopposed for Republican renomination.

Gov. Frank L. Farrar of South Dakota was renominated over state Sen. Frank E. Henderson in the Republican primary.

The Democratic candidate for governor of South Dakota is state Sen. Richard Kneip, a bulk dairy equipment dealer from Salem, Kelp, 37, did not run in the primary because he was the only Democrat to file for governor.

In Mississippi, Sen. John C. Stennis and all five of the state's House members were unopposed for renomination in the Democratic primary. Dr. Ray Lee was the apparent winner in the only Republican congressional contest—for the nomination to oppose Rep. Charles H. Griffin.

Chamber Sets Date For Summer Fete

Pampa's annual Style Show and Beauty Pageant has been set for 8 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 1, in Robert E. Lee Junior High School auditorium under Chamber of Commerce sponsorship.

John Gattis and Dick Klein, co-chairmen of the chamber's Retail Trade Committee, announced today all Pampa stores and business firms are invited to participate.

An entry fee of $10 will enable each sponsor to enter fashion models in the style show and sponsor a contestant in the Top O' Texas Beauty Pageant.

Mary Beth Johnson, last year's Miss Top O' Texas, will crown the 1970 queen.

The 1969 show and pageant had 25 participating firms and chamber officials said it is possible the number of entries will be limited this year. Entries should be made early, they stated.

Entry blanks may be obtained at the Chamber of Commerce in the Hughes Bldg or by calling 669-3241.

Deaths In Peru Earthquake Now Estimated At 30,000

LIMA (UPI)—The Public Health Ministry said floods triggered by Peru's devastating earthquake may have killed more than 17,000 persons in the Andes city of Yungay, where survivors huddled today in a cemetery awaiting rescue.

"The population—practically has disappeared," said Ministry spokesman Jose Garaichochea. "There are only 2,500 survivors in a population estimated at 20,000 in Yungay."

The presidential press office has estimated as many as 30,000 persons may have been killed in the quake Sunday as subsequent floods that ravaged northern Peru from the desert to the Amazon jungle.

Paratroopers worked to clear an airstrip at Huaraz so supplies could be flown in to the stricken inhabitants of Yungay and other cities in the Callejon de Huaylas Valley.

The cities of Yungay and Caraz in the valley in the Andes 250 miles northeast of Lima were swept away by floods when the quake caused Llan-ganuco Lake to burst its dams. The government reported.

Dozens of foreign countries sent aid, ranging from frozen chickens to sophisticated water filter equipment and hospital units, but the big problem was still how to deliver it.

cracks opened by the quake blocked road. Bad weather limited air drops Tuesday. Some cities were invisible from the air, masked by an 18,000-foot thick cloud of dust.

One of the first persons to fly over the area, Don Mathis of the U.S. Information Service in Lima, said there were few signs of life in the valley.

Mathis was aboard a U.S. Air Force C130 Hercules cargo plane that made reconnaissance flight over the area Tuesday afternoon to give 24 Air Force rescue experts a chance to survey the damage.

Soviet Cosmonauts Get Medical Check

MOSCOW (UPI)—The two cosmonauts aboard Soyuz 9 underwent a brief medical check today on the second day of what is expected to be a lengthy mission to test the effects of prolonged space travel on man.

Soviet scientists have announced plans to build an orbital space platform and medical sources in Moscow said they were concerned about the effects of protracted weightlessness and artificial atmosphere on human beings.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the crewmen made a course correction on their 17th orbit, relayed the medical data to earth and then retired for a rest.

Tass said after 22 orbits that both men "feel well and retain fully their capacity for work."

Soyuz 9, commanded by veteran cosmonaut Col. Andrian Nikolayev with Vitaly Sevastianov as flight engineer, was launched Monday night while U.S. astronaut Neil A. Armstrong was being entertained at the cosmonauts' "Star City" compound on the edge of Moscow.

The cosmonauts received a message Tuesday from Armstrong offering "best wishes on fulfilling your assignment and best of luck on your return."

They radioed their thanks.

Armstrong, the first man on the moon, presented Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin with samples of lunar soil Tuesday and Kosygin told him "the Soviet peoples are second to none in admiring your courage and knowledge."

Predictions by some Western space experts that a second Soyuz would be launched Tuesday night to rendezvous or dock with Soyuz 9 were not fulfilled.

Tass had said in its original announcement that the spacecraft was on "a solitary orbital flight."

The Soviets have hinted in various published articles at the possibility of using the cosmonauts' physiological changes for automatic control of the atmosphere mixture, artificial gravity and other conditions in spacecraft.

Tass said the crew carried out various surveys of geological and geographical features of earth Tuesday and shifted their initial orbit to a more elliptical one ranging from 132 to 165 miles above the earth.

War Opponents Gain Legislative Victory

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The move to limit U.S. military operations in Cambodia survived a critical Senate test today as opponents of the war in Southeast Asia gained a legislative victory for the first time since the conflict began.

Backers of stiff legislation to cut off funds for the Cambodian venture after June 30 defeated an amendment they said would have crippled their proposal.

The amendment, sponsored by Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kans., would have allowed President Nixon to continue U.S. combat operations in Cambodia as long as a single American was held prisoner or was missing in action there.

The vote was the first test of the antiwar measure brought to the floor three weeks ago by Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky.

The vote came in advance of President Nixon's televised statement on the Cambodian situation at 9 p.m. EDT.

It was also the first time since the war began that Senate "doves" have been able to muster a majority in the face of White House opposition. The Senate has not had a real test of strength on the war since it approved the Gulf of Tonkin resolution on Aug. 7, 1964.

Justice Douglas Continues To Center In Controversy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Controversy has swirled around his craggy head for decades. Supreme Court Justice William Orville Douglas tends to meet it head on. While House investigators went to California to visit the Parvin Foundation and the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions in connection with impeachment proceedings against him, Douglas had his say in strong, forthright language. "Federal judges are entitled, like other people to the full freedom of the First Amendment," Douglas said this week. "If they break a law, they can be prosecuted," he wrote. "If they become corrupt or sit in cases in which they have a personal or family stake, they can be impeached by Congress."

Five Of Eight Correspondents Reported Captured Alive By VC

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Five of eight missing television newsmen were reported today to have been captured alive by the Viet Cong but the Columbia Broadcasting System in New York said that CBS correspondent George Svetsen was believed dead. The drivers, Chay You Leng, 33, who was driving the NBC crew, said that the three NBC men and two CBS cameramen were led away from the building where the Viet Cong was holding them last Sunday at about 6 p.m. after the evening meal and that he did not see them after that. Leng said he escaped from the building where he was being held. There was no sign of life in the burned out jeep in which Svetsen, Miller and Lehl were believed riding. A CBS spokesman in New York said that CBS Saigon bureau manager David Miller believed he had found Svetsen's body but could not make positive identification. The body was found in a fresh grave. CBS said that the clothing appeared to be Svetsen's. The body was not burned although the jeep had been badly damaged by fire. Svetsen, a native of New York City, began his journalism career with the Middletown (N.Y.) Times-Herald in 1957 and then worked with the Associated Press in New York, Warsaw and Moscow before joining CBS in 1966. Both the CBS and NBC crews were driving south on Highway 3 on Sunday when they disappeared. Their abandoned vehicles were later spotted alongside the road. They included National Broadcasting Company correspondent Welles Hagen, an American, and a Japanese and a French member of his crew and two Japanese members of the CBS crew. Committee Approves Bill Restricting Sex Education

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Opponents of sex education lined up six deep in a house committee Tuesday night to speak out in favor of a bill banning the subject from Louisiana classrooms. After the two hour hearing, the committee gave a 9-3 stamp of approval to a far ranging bill which would prohibit sex education instruction for anyone under 17 without parental consent. The bill would ban sex education everywhere, not just in public and private schools. Another bill, recommended by a legislative study committee after a year's investigation, also was approved by the committee after being amended to remove exemptions for courses in biology, home economics, religion, health and physical education. Led by Rep. Frederic Hayes of Lafayette, opponents of sex education paraded more than 20 witnesses before the committee in rapid succession. The stream of witnesses followed a 20-minute opening statement by Dr. Evers Curtis, a Clouster, Mass., physician who flew in especially for the committee hearing. After telling the committee she has personal knowledge that sex education leads to promiscuity, alcoholism, drug use, illegitimacy and suicides, Dr. Curtis appealed to the committee to approve the bill as a stand against attacks on the minds of youth. "Through sex education, promiscuity and drugs, we are going to produce a generation of people who are not going to have enough responsibility to say no to anything that looks like it might be out of step with the crowd," she said. Warning to her subject amid scattered amens from a Baptist preacher in the audience, Dr. Curtis criticized sociologists who condone trial marriages.

EEOC Says Houston Hiring Practices Worst In Country

HOUSTON (UPI)—Houston has the worst equal employment practices in the country, according to William H. Brown III, chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. "Houston is very sick," Brown said Tuesday following the first day of EEO hearings. "But I'm an optimist. I think the patient will recover. That's one reason we are here. To let the patient know just how sick he really is." He said the commission evaluated 46 cities and found Houston to be the worst. "No matter what standards of measurement we employed, Houston always came out 45th or 46th," Brown said. It was for this reason the commission chose to hold hearings here. The commission summoned representatives from 37 of the area's leading industries. Twelve responded affirmatively and appeared at the hearings. None of seven representatives of Houston labor unions answered summonses to appear. "They (the unions) will not be forgotten," Brown said. "We plan to investigate all of them." He said company branch offices in Houston have been far less successful in reforming

Forth Worth Falls Short In Growth

By United Press International
 Fort Worth, Texas' fourth largest city, failed to show the growth expected of it in preliminary 1970 census figures, but it boasted some of the fastest mushrooming suburbs in the state.

While the population of the Tarrant County metropolis grew only 8.97 per cent to 388,242, the suburb of Euless jumped 340.3 per cent, Bedford grew 268.7 per cent, Hurst 164.5 per cent, Arlington 97.4 per cent and North Richland Hills 89 per cent.

This suburban growth swelled Tarrant county's total to 711,386, a 32.1 per cent gain of 172,891 over the 1960 figure of 538,495.

Catholic Priest Claims Insanity

CHICAGO (UPI)—A Roman Catholic priest stood before the federal judge and claimed insanity. He said anyone who professed his political beliefs must be insane under the law.

Father N.J. Riddell, 40, a Carmelite priest from Milwaukee, Wis., and 10 other persons are on trial for ransacking a South Side Selective Service Office last year and fueling a bonfire with the draft records of thousands of young men.

Father Riddell did not stop with declaring himself mentally ill. Three of the other defendants are as insane as he, he testified.

Take Linda Quint, 23, Chicago. She shows "mentally deviant behavior," Father Riddell testified, because she wears an old Army shirt, plain skirt and an old pair of shoes, and thinks the American system is racist.

Or William Durkin, 20, Milwaukee. He is "mentally deviant" because he has no money and sleeps on the floor of an agency where he works with the indigent in a Skid-Row area of Milwaukee, the priest said.

His testimony was part of a legal ploy—believed to be the first of its kind—intended to back up the plea of innocent by reason of insanity for those accused of illegal acts of protest.

US Involved In Cambodia More Than Year

NEW YORK (UPI)—The United States was involved in a delicate intelligence operation in Cambodia more than a year before American troops moved into that country, according to Robert F. Marasco, the former Army Special Forces captain who was charged with murdering one of his Vietnamese spies.

The spy mission was unknown even to top generals in the Army's South Vietnam Command, Marasco said.

Marasco and eight other Green Beret officers spent two months in jail last fall before the Army dropped charges against them.

Two Legislative Committees To Hold Pollution Investigation

AUSTIN (UPI) — Two legislative committees critical of the effectiveness of state pollution control will hold a public investigation Wednesday on recent oil spills in the Gulf of Mexico.

The Legislature and the people of Texas have a right to know who is destroying their beaches," said Sen. A. R.

Schwartz, D-Galveston. "This is the twentieth century, when people can go to the moon, but when oil starts toward the shore on the State of Texas can do is get some kids to spread some straw on the beach. We need sure enforcement of those standards, and a plan for dealing with an emergency."

Schwartz and D. Roy Harrington, D-Port Arthur, chairman of the Beach and Pipeline Study Committees, announced Monday their panels would hear testimony Wednesday from all state agencies concerned with the offshore drilling industry.

Harrington said earlier testimony before his committee indicated state agencies had not coordinated their efforts to stop oil pollution in the Gulf.

"Three state agencies keep records on oil leaks and none of them agree," Harrington said. "Fines are rarely collected for oil pollution, even though more oil has been leaked into Texas waters through negligence in the last five years than was accumulated during the Santa Barbara disaster in California last year."

John Shanahan, special assistant to Gov. Preston Smith, will tell the committees of the governor's efforts to coordinate state action in combating pollution. Shanahan has headed a team looking into recent oil spills in the Gulf.

A staff report to the Pipeline Committee released to newsmen earlier was critical of the General Land Office and Commissioner Jerry Sadler for having what the report called only partial maps of offshore pipelines. But land commission spokesmen denied that report.

Schwartz and Harrington said Monday their committees decided upon a joint public hearing after hearing Shanahan's statements that studies are underway to determine the source of pollution which has threatened Texas beaches.

Schwartz said oil companies should pay the cost of cleaning up oil they spill. "In the future we should require oil companies to post bond before giving them a lease on state-owned land," he said.

Television In Review

(This is the second of five articles about television cassettes and the far-reaching effects they are expected to have on home entertainment and leisure time.)

Television In Review By RICK DU BROW HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — For years, prophets have been saying your television set will evolve into a remarkable home entertainment and information center that will deliver material to networks.

The possibilities are endless. One reason is the explosive growth of local cable television accompanied by the increasing numbers of small video stations now able to be tuned in on your set.

Nothing, however, has made the future seem more immediate than the development of television cassettes and the units that will enable them to be played through home video sets. It is the hottest development in years in show business and information dissemination.

The primary target this decade is, of course, the mass. And the awesome financial reward from home viewers, who will be supplied with everything from movies to books to classes on cassettes, is so obvious that the current major sales hurdles are bound to be dealt with as soon as possible. These are the hurdles:

—The price of cassette-playing units must be brought down. For instance, CBS' unit, which is set to debut this summer and initially is aimed at institutional buyers, sells for about $800.

—The prices of cassettes themselves—whether film or tape—must come down too. They now are prohibitive for average-income buyers.

—Fees are existing entertainment and other material transferred to cassettes will have to be renegotiated.

—Above all, manufacturers with competing units and cassette types will have to make them more compatible—that is, work interchangeably on each other's machines—or home viewers won't bite in a massive way.

As of now, units and cassettes by such manufacturers as CBS, RCA and Sony are not compatible with each other. Sony uses standard, erasable magnetic tape. CBS uses film. RCA, which is several years from production, uses a cellophane-like tape employing holography—a form of photography made possible by laser light beams.

But the potential is there. Already, Darryl Zanuck, boss of 20th Century-Fox, wants to put his company's entire movie library on CBS' film cassettes five years after initial theatrical release, for rentals at moderate prices for average families. That's the tipoff.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST WASHINGTON (UPI) — Contrary to the impression most laymen probably have formed, some psychologists believe sexual interest among young people is declining.

If that be true, then President Nixon probably has hit upon the explanation for it. In comments attributed to him in a recent magazine article, the President suggested that longer dresses are more interesting than miniskirts.

"To a man, there's a mystery in what's hidden," he said.

If I may elaborate on this theme a bit, man is the only creature on earth that has any illusions about sex. Which is the primary reason why he has been able to gain supremacy over the other creatures.

Lack Imagination

Ants and marmosets, to mention a couple of other creatures, regard sex matter-of-factly. As a result, they have and lacking imagination, they also lack the power of inventions, which is essential to progress.

(It has been centuries since an ant or a marmoset has invented anything worthwhile.)

Man, by contrast, has always had a vivid imagination where sex is concerned, and as a result has kept the Patent Office busy. These illusions, however, are rapidly being shattered by such phenomena as miniskirts and Swedish movies, which take away much of the mystery of sex.

Today the average 9-year-old boy knows more about the female body than the average 38-year-old gynecologist knew 30 years ago.

Evaporative cooling with no musty odors! RP Coolpad EVAPORATIVE COOLER MEDIA

Bring Us Your Frames for Repacking — No Extra Charge Builders Plumbing Supply Co. 535 S. Cuyler 865-3711

And now, on top of sexual disillusionment, a New York computer service is trying to take the mystery out of car-buying. For a $5 fee, it will provide you with a detailed cost analysis of the make and model you have in mind.

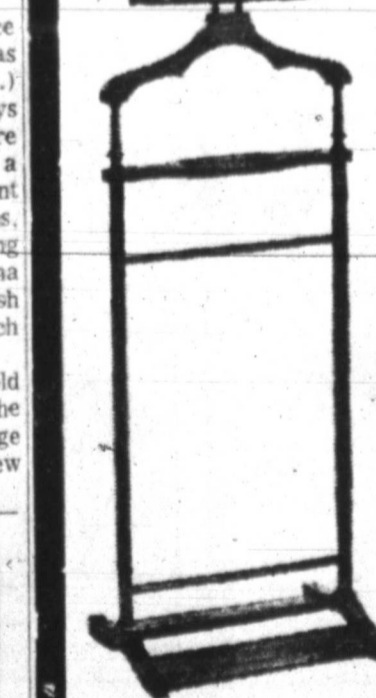

Can Calculate Price

From this, you can calculate how far below the "stocker price" a dealer may be willing to go.

Well, now. If anything over the years has been more mystifying than sex, it is car prices. Thanks to the imagination and power of invention of car salesmen, motorists are filled with illusions.

That computer service I have just mentioned will destroy those illusions just as surely as miniskirts and Swedish movies have demystified sex. And I predict that it will cause man to lose interest in cars.

And if man loses interest in both sex and cars, it is only a question of time before the ants and the marmosets take over.

Allergy 'Aids' Customs Official

HOUSTON (UPI) — Whenever customs inspector Bill Farrar gets near marijuana his eyes turn red and start itching and tears pour down his cheeks.

"I told the boss we didn't need a marijuana sniffing dog as long as I was around, but he just gave me a dirty look," Farrar said.

"The thing is more of a nuisance than a blessing," he said. "I hope to get over it soon. I'm taking treatment for it now."

Farrar's sensitive nose is seldom needed, since marijuana is so easy to recognize on sight. "On the few occasions we weren't sure it came in handy, but at my expense," he said.

Last week he came in contact with hashish. His eyes got redder than usual and he cried. Farrar calls himself the "most allergic man in Houston."

In addition to marijuana he reacts to cats, trees and even certain kinds of grass. He had to have his front yard dug up and planted with a different kind of grass so he could walk down his sidewalk without sneezing.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The dramatic upturn at the end of last week was a "spontaneous combustion of technical forces" (and) could mark a bottom of more than passing significance," according to Standard & Poor's Corp. However, the company doubts that "a runaway bull market" will develop in the near future. Instead, it sees the "explosive phase" running out of steam followed by "erratic movements... while a staging area is built for an orderly advance."

Last week's rally was, in the opinion of Spear and Staff Inc., "simply the reverse side of the emotional coin that forced the massive six-session dumping spree" preceding the record upturn. Noting that the forces affecting stocks near major lows defy analysis, the company cautions that for the long run "the road ahead is not smooth."

Long-range recovery will be irregular and gradual, not of the sizzling variety that characterized the 1966-67 and 1968 comebacks.

The Dines Letter cautions

investors to be wary of the "pyrotechnics and screaming headlines about how the market is back up (because) it has been too easy to get stung in this market by traps and phony rallies." Since the rally was so rapid, the newsletter believes, it could have been merely a "technical rally" or an "intermediate bottom." It insists that "the trend is not yet sufficiently clear to forecast with confidence."

Mass buying or selling rushes generated by actions or attitudes of the President should be opposed by the working stock-market professional, according to Gould's Position. The present rally, it believes, is not "an exception to the rule."

Summer has come to White Deer, with graduating students home from college, Bible School classes, swimming pool open, and almost daily storm warnings. Hail damage has been reported heavy on many farms in the area, and citizens are making sure that the cellars are cleaned out and ready for use. Racing Driver Killed

GOODWOOD, England (UPI)—Bruce McLaren, a successful driver who turned to building race cars, died in the flaming wreckage of an auto he designed and was testing for this year's Canadian-American Challenge Cup series.

McLaren, a New Zealander who learned about cars as a helper in his father's Auckland service station, was killed Tuesday when his car exploded and rammed a concrete marshal's post during tests on the little-used Goodwood Circuit.

The 32-year-old McLaren was found 20 feet from the disintegrated remains of the car he was testing. Police said his face was burned and concluded his engine must have exploded as he tore down the fast straightaway, hurling the car into the reinforced bank.

The quiet, well-liked New Zealander was one of the world's fastest drivers both in sports cars and Formula One. He also was a top designer. His cars brought him the Can-Am championship in 1967 and 1969, while in the year between, fellow New Zealander Denny Hulme piloted one to victory.

The joint managing director of McLaren's company, Ted Mayer, said the cause of the accident was not yet known.

GETTING READY for the season opener Monday, pitcher Sammy Heasley throws batting practice for Doug Thompson Tuesday during tryouts for Pampa's American Legion baseball team. Tryouts will continue today and Thursday at 6:30 p.m.

Former Giants Manager Concedes He's Sensitive

By MILTON RICHMAN
NEW YORK (UPI)—Clyde King concedes he's a sensitive man.

He's sensitive enough to be moved by some of the little things people do.

The day after he was bounced by the San Francisco Giants he came out of Candlestick Park to pick up his gear before going back home to Goldsboro, N.C., and when he did Clyde King saw and heard a few things that moved him.

Among the things he saw were some of the Giants office help with tears in their eyes when he came in to say thanks and goodbye to them. One of the ladies in the office, caught up in the emotion of the moment, suddenly blurted out:

"You're just too good for this organization!"

Clyde King was a little embarrassed by what the woman said. But he was also moved.

When the Giants blew an eight-run lead to San Diego and lost, 17-16, in 15 innings at Candlestick Park, owner Horace Stoneham was waiting for King in the clubhouse after the ball game. Stoneham doesn't come to the clubhouse often so King didn't know what to think. He thought the Giants' owner had come to tell him about a trade. Horace Stoneham hadn't come to tell Clyde King about any trade.

"I have bad news," he said. "We've decided to make a change. Charlie Fox is the new manager."

"You're kidding, Horace," said King.

"No," Stoneham assured him. "We feel if we make this change it might help the club."

Clyde King is taking things easy in Goldsboro. He plays golf and already has turned down two attractive offers in private industry because he plans to get back into baseball.

Before he even left Candlestick Park on May 23, the day he was fired, King got a telephone call from major league club asking him not to take any job before talking with them first. When he came back to clean out his locker the following day there was a second call from another club.

"I told them both Mr. Stoneham had asked me to remain in the organization," King says. "He said I should go home, rest for a week or 10 days, and then we'd talk about something permanent in the organization. I'm going to call him in another day or so and see what he has in mind."

MAST SIGNED
NEW YORK (UPI)—Eddie Mast, former Temple University star who led the Owls to the National Invitation Tournament championship in 1969 and later earned Rookie of the Year honors in the Eastern League, was signed Tuesday by the National Basketball Association champion New York Knickerbockers for the 1970-71 season.

Cards Ax Giants

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer
Richie Allen is giving the St. Louis Cardinals the kind of home-run power they haven't had since before Stan Musial.

Allen drove in seven runs with his 17th and 18th homers of the season and a single Tuesday night to lead the Cardinals to a 12-1 romp over the San Francisco Giants. The big night enabled Steve Carlton to coast to his third victory against six losses.

"Every time Allen hits a homer you've got to be impressed," commented Cardinal General Manager Bing Devine, who engineered the deal. "There's just no substitute for that kind of sheer power."

Carlton, a 17-game winner last season, pitched a four-hitter, walked three and struck out five.

The Cincinnati Reds defeated the Philadelphia Phillies, 7-2, the Atlanta Braves beat the New York Mets, 4-1, the Houston Astros downed the Montreal Expos, 6-4, and the San Diego Padres topped the Pittsburgh Pirates, 14-8, in other National League games. Los Angeles at Chicago was rained out.

In the American League, it was Cleveland over Milwaukee, 4-1 and 9-5, Washington 4 Chicago 3, New York 3 Kansas City 2, Boston 5 Minnesota 1, Baltimore 5 Oakland 1 and California 3 Detroit 2.

Johnny Bench hit two homers and drove in four runs and Tony Perez hit his 19th homer of the season as the Reds stretched their winning streak to five games in a game halted by rain in the top of the eighth. Wayne Simpson, the Reds' 21-year-old rookie right-hander, pitched a six-hitter, walked two and struck out six in raising his record to 7-1.

Phil Niekro pitched a four-hitter to square his record at 6-6 and Hank Aaron hit his 17th homer for the Braves, who dealt Gary Gentry his third defeat. Tommie Agee homered for the Mets' run.

John Edwards, who started the game with a .167 average, drove in two runs with a single and a triple and scored two runs for the Astros, who stretched the Expos' losing streak to nine games. Jim Ray allowed seven hits and two runs in 6 1-3 innings of relief to square his record at 2-2.

Steve Huntz and Tommy Bean had four hits each to lead a 19-hit attack which carried the Padres to their victory over the Pirates' Bob Veale. Clarence Gaston homered for the Padres and Willie Stargell connected for the Pirates.

McDowell's Bid For No-Hitter Foiled By 8th-Inning Double

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer
How can a pitcher look so good at times and still manage to lose 14 or more games in each of the last three seasons?

The Cleveland Indians' hard-throwing lefthander, Sam McDowell, who has seven one-hitters to his credit, was brilliant again Tuesday night when he had no-hitter for seven innings and wound up with a two-hitter and a 4-1 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers in the first game of a doubleheader. The Indians won the second game, 9-5, to complete the sweep.

Danny Walton broke up McDowell's bid for a no-hitter when he doubled in the eighth. Walton moved to third on Roberto Pena's single and scored on Phil Roof's ground-out.

Graig Nettles hit a homer in the first game and added two more in the second as the Indians breezed to the sweep. Duke Sims added two homers for the Indians.

In other games, Washington edged Chicago, 4-3, New York nipped Kansas City, 3-2, Boston beat Minnesota, 5-1, California nipped Detroit, 3-2, in 10 innings and Baltimore beat Oakland, 5-1.

In the National League San Diego routed Pittsburgh, 14-8, St. Louis blasted San Francisco, 12-1, Atlanta topped New York, 4-1, Houston beat Montreal, 6-4, and Cincinnati beat Philadelphia, 7-2, in a game called by rain in the eighth inning. The Los Angeles-Chicago game was rained out.

Jim Palmer pitched a five-hitter as Baltimore beat Oakland. Palmer and Boog Powell each had three singles. Merv Rettenmund doubled in the final two runs in the seventh.

Billy Conigliaro homered and Mike Andrews collected four hits as the Red Sox beat the Twins. Ray Culp pitched at eight-hitter for Boston while Jim Perry took the loss.

Ed Stroud touched off a two-run tie-breaking rally in the eighth inning with his fourth straight hit as Washington beat Chicago. Horatio Pina got the win in relief.

Curt Blefary hit his first homer of the season and a sacrifice fly as the Yanks beat the Royals. Fritz Peterson staggered to his eighth win as he gave up 10 hits in 8 2-3 innings before Lindy McDaniel got the final out.

Jim Fregosi's sacrifice fly with one out in the 10th gave California its victory over Detroit. Jay Johnstone tripled off loser Joe Niekro to lead off the 10th. Niekro retired one batter and then walked two batters intentionally to bring up Fregosi, who lifted a shallow fly to Jim Northrup in right.

Johnstone beat Northrup's throw to win the game and give reliever Paul Doyle the victory.

Today's English Derby Features Small Field Of Only 12 Horses

EPSOM, England (UPI)—Quality has replaced quantity in today's English Derby.

Only 12 horses will go to the post for the one and a half mile classic on the Rolling Downs south of London—the smallest field in 63 years.

Nijinsky, the Irish-trained colt unbeaten in seven outings, was a strong favorite to give champion jockey Lester Piggott his fifth Derby win. Charles Englehard of New York, is the colt's owner.

Piggott was hoping for a double on Nijinsky since the pair won the 2,000 Guineas April 29.

Three other runners were the only serious contenders for the $227,920 race as far as the oddsmakers were concerned. With Nijinsky the overwhelming favorite at 5-4 against, the French challengers Stintno and Gyr, stood at 9-2 and England's hope, Approval, at 5-1.

Other odds quoted were 25-1 Meadowville, 50-1 Mon Plaisir and The Swell, 60-1 Cry Baby, 100-1 Long Till, 200-1 Eucalyptus and Great Wall and 500-1 Tambourine Man.

Death Of Goalie Will Be Probed By Grand Jury

NEW YORK (UPI)—A grand jury will be called to look into the death of New York Ranger goalie, Terry Sawchuk, who died Sunday from injuries apparently resulting from "horseplay" with a fellow Ranger.

Nassau County District Attorney William Cahn, in making the announcement Tuesday said that after the investigation, the jury could hand up a manslaughter indictment against Ranger right winger Ron Stewart.

According to unofficial testimony by a witness to the backyard "horseplay" between the Rangers, restaurant manager Benjamin Weiner, of Long Beach, L.I., the fight resulted from a minor scuffle in a local bar.

Weiner said he drove to the Atlantic Beach, L.I., home shared by Sawchuk and Stewart, after the two separately left the bar. He followed them and found them brawling in the backyard until Sawchuk screamed, "Oh, Jesus, I've been hurt! I've got a terrible pain."

Sawchuk was hospitalized and underwent three operations within a one month period before dying Sunday at the age of 40.

"I think the interests of justice would best be served if the matter is presented to the grand jury as soon as possible," Cahn said.

Nicholas Castellano, who was retained by the Rangers to represent Stewart, 37, said his client had asked permission to testify. Cahn said the request would be granted "so long as Stewart signs a waiver of immunity."

Mayfield Censures Pot Users

ODESSA, Tex. (UPI)—One of the state's most successful high school football coaches said Tuesday more and more Texas schoolboy athletes are using drugs.

Gene Mayfield said he had censured a dozen Odessa Permian High School athletes this spring for smoking marijuana, but emphasized that "the situation at Permian is no worse than at most other high schools around the state."

Mayfield told United Press International that all of the athletes involved were seniors and had completed their eligibility at the time of the incidents, but that it still had affected the athletic program.

The coach talked to UPI less than 24 hours after he had been one of 16 witnesses appearing before an Ector County grand jury investigating the drug problem in the city and county.

But his remarks were in answer to questions rather than a retelling of his grand jury School Coaches Association in Austin, told UPI the association testimony. Such testimony is not privileged.

He said the censuring affected football, basketball and track athletes and that it had interfered with spring football practice because "there were not enough senior football players to stage our annual spring game against an all-senior team."

Mayfield said he had learned that the senior athletes had experimented with the drug, but that none of them had smoked more than three marijuana cigarettes.

He said he knew "from talking to other coaches" the Permian situation was no worse than at most other Texas schools.

In fact, he said, it was "not nearly as bad as the problem in some schools in the large metropolitan areas."

L.W. McConachie, executive vice-president of the Texas High School Coaches Association in members to watch for signs of drug use and to work with their administrators on it," he said. "It is an administrative job, but we want the coaches to be a part of the team."

"Drug use by high school athletes still isn't a major problem in Texas, but we have had reports of some instances of it."

The Sacrificial Animals

Professor Oscar W. Cooley, in a recent newspaper column, suggested that the youngsters participating in violent and destructive acts of protest against the draft and the war in Southeast Asia are permitting themselves to be used as the unwitting tools of ideological zealots who know exactly what they are doing and what they are trying to bring about. We believe that Doctor Cooley knows what he is talking about.

Suppose, for instance, any one of the youngsters were asked this question: "Do you believe that you are, properly, a sacrificial animal to be drafted and sent off to fight and perhaps be crippled or killed on the orders of others?" There can be little doubt of what the answer would be. It would be an emphatic "No!" And, understandably so.

Certainly, the draft and the fighting of a war with drafted human beings are acts of barbarism and evidence that the government imposing them is already far down the road leading to a totalitarian way of life.

Thus far, we are with the kids. In protesting the drafting of their bodies, their energies, and their lives like sacrificial animals, they are on firm, unassailable moral grounds.

But, let us now ask also, how many of them have realized that, in permitting themselves to be used as agents of violence, often against the persons and property of innocent individuals, by their ideological leaders, they are accepting the standards and making use of the totalitarian methods of the very system they are protesting against. Warfare, reduced to its simplest terms, is the resort to coercion and force in human relations. If it is wrong in one instance, it is wrong in every instance.

So much for the moral question. Let us pass, then, to a consideration of the problem from a strictly practical basis. Here,

How One Youth Spoke Out

Back in 1917 a determined man made his lone way to Castle church in Wittenberg, Germany. There he deliberately tacked onto the heavy wooden door his list of The Ninety-Five Theses. He had developed them out of love and concern for the truth as an invitation to public discussion of the controversy over a abuses of indulgences offered by the church. The posted theses were signed by the reverend father, Martin Luther, Augustinian Master of Arts and Sacred Theology.

Now, a short time ago, on Oct. 15, 1969, these were once again posted. Entitled "The Ninety-Five Theses of the Vietnam War," and signed Martin Luther II, the list and 33 copies of it were posted in prominent spots — teachers' mailboxes, in the cafeteria, on the stairs and bulletin boards — at the school with the unusual name of Irondequoit High.

Some young people can be pushed just so far, and no farther. And 14-year-old Richard Erpkovich was one. He had had enough of "educating" by the Moratorium-makers and proceeded to do something about it. National Review reported "The Story of the Posting of the Theses" and how one young man, spoke out against the Moratoriumists with their mimeograph machines, particularly against the leaflet they distributed that week.

Each of his theses commenced I PROTEST. Each I PROTEST against that leaflet as a thinly veiled invitation to students to boycott school on Moratorium Day.

"I PROTEST against the idea that a student, because of his conscience, may refuse to attend school. This idea is conducive to hypocrisy and is plainly illegal."

"I PROTEST against the entire Moratorium itself, which will give moral aid and comfort to the enemies of South Vietnam."

"I PROTEST against the idea that only a person who opposes the war in Vietnam may have a conscience."

There was more. He objected to a "dove as the symbol of left-wing anti-war members, claiming that a bluejay would be more accurate "a bird which is both raucous and shrill." And in his conclusion he stated that "even in its most ideal form, Communism is based on the subordination of the individual to the State, an idea which is repulsive to all free men."

Both students and teachers read his posters. And he had given voice to what he believed. The young Eagle Scout whose fascination with politics commenced in 1964 is reported ambitious to write under his own name, not just using such effective signatures as Martin Luther II. He authored the readable article in National Review, has one book under way and plans for five more. He is living proof that not all young people are floating in a dream world on pot and pills but that some do care and are willing to speak out and work for what they believe to be right.

H. L. Hunt Writes

REDUCING FOREIGN AID

Last fiscal year Congress appropriated $1.755 billion for foreign aid, the lowest amount in the history of the program and approximately $1 billion less than requested by President Johnson. For the current fiscal year, President Johnson proposed $2.73 billion to be spent on foreign aid. President Nixon lowered the request to $2.58 billion when he took office.

Congressman H.R. Gross of Iowa, long a foe of foreign aid, proposed amendments to eliminate some items, such as $400 million to help some foreign governments balance their budgets, saying: "It doesn't make sense for us to go deeper into debt at high interest rates to provide money for other countries to balance their budgets when we can't balance our own."

Organized opposition from the grass roots helped persuade Congress to reduce the foreign aid authorization. The House, before the Christmas adjournment, approved appropriations of $1.6 billion, after authorizing $2.2 billion back in November. The Senate, in December, feeling the heat from home, voted to authorize only $1.9 billion, but later balked on approving the $1.6 billion appropriation, approved by the House.

In conference, the Senate and House agreed on a $2.5 billion appropriation, but this was higher than the $1.9 billion authorization and the conference version failed to get final Senate approval.

The desirability of foreign aid has been taken for granted by some for too long. Letter-to-the-Editor writers should begin crusades, causing members of Congress, through the press, to further reduce the currently proposed program. The entire foreign aid budget should be sharply scrutinized, with the ultimate goal of eliminating the whole program while U.S. taxpayers are struggling.

Question Box

QUESTION: — Should our several laws be in harmony with the survival of the fittest or the least fit? It so, why?

ANSWER: Our laws certainly should be in harmony with "the survival of the fittest" if we want to improve the race and be able to defend ourselves against other nations. "Survival of the fittest" is not a manmade law, it is nature's way of protecting the species.

Survival of the fittest, however, does not mean the fittest has any right to use aggression against those who are less fit. It means the individual who is best qualified and most willing to take peaceful action to better himself will have a better chance to survive in the competitive world.

When men are free, each man has the ability to develop and improve himself so that he can become better fit and better able to survive.

When men pass laws that interfere with a man developing his moral, spiritual and physical faculties, this injures everyone. As Bastiat says, "the gain of one is the gain of all," and any law that interferes with anybody's development is harmful to everybody.

Heat Being Put On Nixon To Bolster Up The Economy

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — This reporter is convinced that in the next several months President Nixon will be forced to take strong steps to improve the unhappy economic situation.

There are six compelling reasons for this conclusion: Nixon personally is certain that President Eisenhower's failure to take the necessary steps to ease tight money in 1960 was a major factor in Nixon losing his bid for the presidency that year.

Top Nixon political advisers have already warned him the domestic economy — not Vietnam or Cambodia — will be the central issue in November's elections.

Nixon desperately needs more backers in the Senate and House next year if he is to get some of his major domestic and foreign programs through Congress and get some easing of congressional criticism of the war and his overall foreign policy.

A failure here would jeopardize his own re-election chances in 1972.

Yet Republican gains are difficult at best in an off-year election, when a president's party traditionally loses. Republican Senate and House gains would be next to impossible if this nation is still in the economic doldrums in early November.

The major thrust in Nixon's attack on the problems of the nation's blacks is aimed at employment. Yet when national unemployment rises and men and women are laid off in sizable numbers, it is inevitably the blacks who suffer most — especially the young blacks.

Nixon's domestic advisers have told him that sharply rising unemployment among Negro youths could lead to a recurrence of "frustration rioting" in the big-city slums. One thing Nixon does not want now, or any time during his administration, is a recurrence of big-city riots.

A major part of Nixon's political backing lies in the middle class. And today's middle class owns stocks. Not large amounts of stock, but enough to make these men and women actively unhappy when the Dow-Jones averages sink to low levels. It is not only

OUT OUR WAY

SENSING THE NEWS

Just What Is Happening?

By THURMAN SENSING
Southern States Industrial Council

The American citizen, trying to make sense of the turmoil on college and university campuses and in the streets of some cities, understandably finds it hard to fathom what's going on. They read about mobs of protesters converging on the nation's capital and learn of institutions of learning being closed down as students and professors go on strike. The confusion is compounded by the fact that influential television commentators and slick news magazines published in New York City hold up demonstrators as "idealists" and the wave of the future.

The beginning of wisdom concerning the nation's current predicament is understanding that there's nothing idealistic about the protest movement convulsing America.

There's nothing idealistic about U.S. Senators demanding that America cut and run and let the communists turn Southeast Asia into a bloodbath.

There's nothing idealistic about university administrators abandoning their responsibility to parents and the public by allowing radicalized faculties to leave their classrooms and parade in the street.

There's nothing idealistic about militant students — the criminal Left referred to by Vice President Agnew — ransacking college buildings, praising Black Panthers, and setting fires.

There's nothing idealistic about promoting drug addiction and urging the legalization of marijuana, a mind-distorting agent.

There's nothing idealistic about political leaders such as Senators Albert Gore (d-Tenn) and Edward Kennedy (d-Mass) trying to halt America's defense research and development — the key to security of this nation.

There's nothing idealistic about hippie types who revel in dirt and moral degradation and jump naked into the pool behind the White House.

There's nothing idealistic about talking "peace" when the real intention is defeat of the United States in a deadly cold war struggle with communism.

There's nothing idealistic about shouting "academic freedom" when that freedom is used to shatter young citizens' belief in their country, its constitutional principles and free enterprise system.

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANDSTADT

Tapeworms Can Infest A Person of Any Age

Q — What are the symptoms of tapeworm. I have loud gurgling sounds in my stomach. Could that be worms? At what age can one get a tapeworm? What about other kinds of worms?

A — Tapeworms often cause no symptoms but they may cause abdominal discomfort, diarrhea, loss of weight and a feeling of hunger. The gurgling sound is caused by a mixture of fluid and gas and is not a sign of tapeworm. Worms can infest a person of any age — all you have to do (unwittingly as a rule) is to swallow their eggs.

Q — I recently passed a tapeworm. How did I get it? How can I be sure I don't have any more?

A — Tapeworm eggs of three different species may be swallowed with uncooked beef, pork or fish. Following treatment to eliminate the worm a careful examination of the stool by a doctor must be made. Even though you pass several inches of segmented worm you will have a recurrence unless the tiny head was passed.

Q — Will X rays show whether I have a tapeworm? Is it possible to have a tapeworm in the brain, heart or liver?

A — X rays will not reveal the presence of a tapeworm. The beef and fish tapeworms do not infest any part of the body except the intestines but the pork tapeworm eggs may invade any organ. For this reason prompt thorough treatment should be instituted as soon as the diagnosis is made. The best treatment is prevention — eat only wellcooked pork products.

Q — I have Stokes-Adams disease. What causes it? How much exercise can I take? What treatment do you advise?

A — Stokes-Adams syndrome is a form of heart block accompanied by sudden attacks of unconsciousness. The cause is most cases is coronary heart disease. Exercise is beneficial for your heart but should stop short of fatigue or chest pains. The amount you take and how fast you can increase it must be determined by your doctor. The drug of choice is isoproterenol.

Q — In the early 1800s many immigrants died of "ship fever." What kind of fever was that?

A — Epidemic or louseborne typhus.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

King Of Road Is No King

By PAUL HARVEY
There has been a quiet revolution in scientific ecotone where anthropology and psychology overlap. Where Sigmund Freud thought sex was the all-important motivation, the new scientific consensus attaches more importance to "territoriality."

With animals and men, the urge to possess a private little corner of the world is the predominant urge.

This knowledge is helping us to a better understanding of why a United Nations or a United States will not unite.

And why the ghetto dweller, with no "territory" to call his own grows frustrated, frantic, violent.

And why the footloose are not really free-free.

So before you try to run away let's see what happens to those who do.

The United States always has had some bums, gypsies, assorted itinerants. Today we have proportionately many more. They are conspicuous in public parks, along the highways and byways, but we don't call bums bums any more.

Today the rootless, jobless vagrant is more likely to dramatize his meandering as "experiencing the world," more inclined to see himself in a narcotic dream as a "free soul" unrestrained by convention, uninhibited by crass commercialism.

But the king of the road is not king.

The National Institute of Mental Health, in co-operation with the Travelers Aid Society, has studied a typical thousand of these modern-day nomads.

This three-year study establishes that most wanderers are individuals seeking escape from psychological problems which, of course, almost inevitably, they take with them wherever they go.

The young ones are likely to be loners, aggressive, impulsive. Many have suffered mental illness, have been prematurely released from mental hospitals.

About two-thirds suffer severe personality disorders.

Many refuse to face the challenge of a job because they fear failure.

Travelers Aid Society's 80 offices throughout the United States handled 15,300 cases of "people-flight" last year. Most all were running from themselves.

And, as Joe Louis said to Billy Conn, "You can run but you can't hide."

Now, it's much easier to say "tsk, tsk" and dismiss these vagabonds as vagabonds than to face the root causes of epidemic restiveness.

In crowded tenements, crowded, impersonal classrooms and crowded impersonal hospital psychoses are spawned and stimulated.

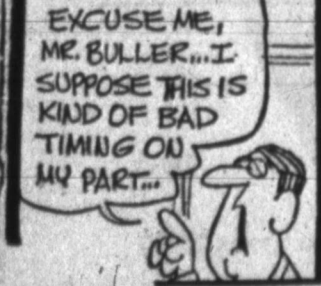

The mass mental sickness — of which running away is but a single symptom — will increase in magnitude and intensity.

It's the most ominous manifestation of the too-many-people problem. Without a place to call his own, one searches endlessly.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Frederick Douglass, a freed slave, received one vote for the presidential nomination at the 1888 Republican national convention in Chicago. The World Almanac says. He was the first person of Negro blood to be so honored. Later he became U.S. minister to Haiti.

Hollywood In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—There is a breed of actor best described as show-savers or insurance performers. They are the character actors whose familiar faces shore up weak scripts, faltering ratings and timorous producers. They came into prominence decades ago in movies and included such names as William Demarest, Una Merkle, C. Aubrey Smith, Hugh Herbert, Glenda Farrell, Spring Byington and a hundred others. Walter Brennan is one of those insurance policies who bailed many a movie out of trouble and is now coming to the aid of a faltering television series, "To Rome with Love." The situation comedy, suffering anemic Nielsen ratings, will feature Brennan as a crafty grandfather in the show. If Brennan can't save the show, no one can.

Has Three Oscars
The 75-year-old veteran has three Oscars for best supporting actor, 114 movies to his credit and three television series: "The Real McCoys," 225 episodes; "The Tycoon," 32 episodes; and "The Guns of Will Sonnett," 50 episodes. "I'm going back to work because I have no hobbies and I won't retire," Brennan said.

A millionaire who lives on an 11-acre grapefruit grove some 50 miles from Hollywood, Brennan's chauffeur will drive him to and from the CBS Studios four days a week. "I tell my wife, Ruth, I only work to keep her from being a waitress," he said.

"Truth is we've been married for 50 years and I love her more now than the day we were married. We have three children, 15 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren."

Asked To Join Cast
Confronted with the notion that he is being brought into "To Rome with Love" to beef up its viewer power, Brennan said:

"John Forsythe asked producer Don Fedderson if I could join the cast, and I've never met Forsythe in my life. I wasn't interested at first, but I watched the show a couple of times.

"I liked the character of a retired Iowa farmer living in Rome, and the series has style and class.

After Brennan complete's the season's series, he will star in another movie, "One Day in Eden."

Work is keeping him young and energetic. It also fends off the possibility of Mrs. Brennan becoming a waitress.
