Thousands Show Pride In American Heritage

Patriots Rally At Capitol Footsteps

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America celebrated her 194th birthday Saturday amid assurances that the most of her children still think she's great.

That the U.S.A., despite its faults, is a country to be proud of was the theme of "Honor American Day" ceremonies here and in thousands of other communities from Maine to California.

Evangelist Billy Graham and comedian Bob Hope starred in the biggest Fourth of July celebration ever staged in the nation's capital.

The observance began with an interfaith religious service at the Lincoln Memorial, attended by about 30,000 people. The vast majority came to wave flags and listen attentively while Graham listed reasons for taking pride in America's heritage.

But the crowd also included about 300 persons in hippie garb who chanted obscenities through some of the prayers, splashed around noisily in the reflecting pool that faces the memorial and clashed with police.

At mid-afternoon, some of the youthful demonstrators rolled two huge searchlights downhill into the reflecting pool. Park police mounted on horses rode into the demonstrators. Most of them jumped into the pool some removing all their clothing as they did so.

Others threw firecrackers at the police horses and shouted "pig, pig" as police made arrests. Police said 15 persons were taken into custody.

The presence of the hippies was underscored by Graham's heavily applauded remark that the "overwhelming majority" of Americans are fed up with "a relatively small extremist element (who) had knocked our flag, desecrated our flag, disrupted our educational system, laughed at our religious heritage, and threatened to burn down our cities."

Today we call upon all Americans to stop this polarization before it is too late," Graham said. "We are here today to say with loud voices that in spite of their faults and failures, we believe in the principles and institutions that have made America great."

It was 90 in the shade, and many degrees hotter in the broiling sun which beat down upon the marble steps of the memorial. But the crowd, except for the little band of hecklers, was polite, orderly and quick to applaud any appeal to patriotic sentiment.

Kate Smith got a standing ovation, with whistles, when she belted out "God Bless America" as only she can do.

"Susan" Huskisson, a mini-skirted young blonde from Knoxville, Tenn., also drew cheers with a recitation entitled, "I Am An American," which called the roll of battles in which American troops have died and ended with the challenge, "Show me a country greater than our country."

Graham, the principal speaker, drew scattered applause when he said, "much remains to be done" to fulfill the American dream and to eliminate such blots on national honor as racism, poverty and pollution.

He got a huge hand when he said most Americans, while respecting the right of constructive dissent, "strongly reject violence and the erosion of our liberties under the guise of a dissent that promises everything and delivers only chaos."

Vietnam was not mentioned once during the hour-long religious service. The only indirect reference to the war was astronaut Frank Borman's request that the crowd join in one minute of silent prayer that peace will be restored to this troubled world."

War talk—and all talk of serious or divisive subjects—also was banned from a "evening entertainment program" at the Washington Monument emceed by Hope and featuring a galaxy of movie and television performers ranging from such grand old-timers as Jack Benny and Louis Armstrong to current idols such as James Brown and Glen Campbell.

Graham's religious service and Hope's star-spangled variety show were telecast to the nation. "Between these high lights, celebrants watched a parade down Constitution Avenue; went on tours of the White House; planted thousand of tiny U.S. flags on the White House Ellipse to create a sea of red, white and blue; wandered through a festival of America folk arts staged by the Smithsonian Institution on the Mall, and held family picnic under the shade of spreadin elms in the capital's man parks.

Millions about on the fringes of the alienated young who had neckled Graham's service proclaimed their dissent by carrying Viet Cong flags, wearing U.S. flags on shirts, shouting epithets and passing out marijuana cigarettes wrapped in red white and blue tissue.

Texans Note Fourth With Rhetoric

By United Press International

Bills rang, hot dogs were eaten, beer was drunk, parade marched and flags were flown across Texas Saturday in celebration of Independence Day-1970.

But most of all there was rhetoric.

Former Postmaster General W. Mark Watson stood on flag-draped platform under the hot East Texas sun and told the crowd gathered on the Cold Spring fairgrounds:

"You demonstrate today the basic signs of a people not defeated, but rather a people who are unbeatable."

State officials traveled through the state urging Texans to take pride in their country.

"It is time," Attorney General Crawford Martin told a crowd in Houston, "that the majority—and that means you and me—make themselves felt and heard throughout the land. I believe we need a new spirit of '76 in 1970."

Gov. Preston Smith met a group of Explorer Scouts who had hiked 225 miles from Sherman to the capitol steps and accepted an American flag that flew over the capitol the rest of the day.

IT WAS well-worth the honor of being named "the grad with the least hair" at the Pampa High School reunion of '52, '53 and '54 classes or at least it was to Harold Courson (Class of '52) of Perryton as he was bussed by class of '53 member Delores Blymiller (Mrs. Jack) Edwards, 2131 N. Sumner who had the most children, left and Jeanne Bowers (Mrs. Stanley) Stein (Class of '53), of Quito, Ecuador, South America, who had traveled the farthest distance for the reunion. (Staff Photo)

AT REUNION

PHS Classes Weather Old Father Time Well

By DORIS E. WILSON

"You're still just as beautiful as ever," called the tall male "grad" of '53 as he leaned up against a shade tree in Hobart Street Park.

"Yes, and you're still the same flatterer," answered the brunette, who was carrying a plate of food and looking for a place to sit down and eat

From over in another reunion area, an excited voice shrieked, "I don't believe it! You're not . . . oh, but you are!" said the non-believer as she lifted the dark sunglasses from the nose of a former classmate.

In the background, the strains of "Charmaine," "Sentimental Journey," "In The Mood,"

"Moonlight Serenade" poured forth from a record player on a sound truck.

These were the songs that had turned the early 50s generation on.

And they were the songs that would be requested over and over at the class reunion dance held Saturday night in the National Guard Armory.

Lots of hard work and months of preparation had gone into the class reunion day. It was paying off in a good time and renewing of old acquaintances.

The cars circling the park area were late models and sleek. The majority of the feminine grads had retained slim figures; were neat and trim in shorts and slim jims. They had smartly coiffed hairdos.

And for the most part, the male grads had weathered the 16, 17 and 18 years lapse of time well.

More than 650 graduates of the three classes had responded enthusiastically to the reunion invitations and were making the most of their day together.

While their parents were reminded of their school days through class wills and prophecies by master of ceremonies Sam Anderson, their children were directed in games by class of '56 graduate Jack Edwards.

And there were, fun prizes, too. To Class of '53 Jeannene Bowers (Mrs. Stanley) Stein of Quito, Ecuador, South America, went a pair of worn-out tennis shoes as the classmate who had

A Peeping Tom Talks

Disorderly conduct charges were filed early Saturday morning against a man who tore a screen from the window of a house, raised the window, and began a conversation with a lady who was sleeping in the room.

According to police reports, a 20-year-old Pampa man was arrested at his home after officers received a complaint someone was attempting to break into a home.

Reports said the complainant's wife was asleep when she heard a voice talking to her. She looked toward the window and saw a head peering through at her.

The woman screamed. The husband went outside to check the intruder. Outside the house he found a man whom he identified to police.

The intruder reportedly claimed he was looking for his sunglasses. Police said the two men exchanged a few words and the intruder went into his apartment, around the corner.

When officers arrived, they arrested the talking-peeping-tom on the disorderly conduct charges filed by the husband. He was in city jail late Saturday in lieu of $100 Corporation Court bond.

Other police activity Saturday included the investigation of $108 worth of wire reportedly stolen from Vandover Feed Mill, 541 S. Cuyler, Friday.

Officers said someone had taken 115 feet of the wire from a roll outside the mill.

Hat Hijacker Leads Police Merry Chase

If a broadcast heard on the police radio monitor gives any indication of the importance of a crime and the pursuit that sometimes follows a crime, Pampa had what may go down in history as the greatest Hat Thief Chase ever recorded Friday.

About 1:50 p.m., police received a call from a downtown department store stating a man had just shoplifted a hat and that store personnel were giving chase.

Officers were assigned to give pursuit to the 66-year-old hijacker of hats.

He was chased through a bar or two, down the streets, between the bus station and a hotel, down more streets, and finally arrested in the men's room of another bar.

Back at the police station, everyone seemed to have a change of heart about the whole situation.

The hat thief agreed to pay $8 for the hat; the manager of the store agreed not to file charges; and the police, agreeing or not, went back to work.

The case was recorded on an incident record and sent to the records section where it will be filed and left to turn old and yellow, as many records of great events are left to turn old and yellow.

HORSEMANSHIP, showmanship, and appearance earned for 10-year-old Kelly Freeman of Pampa the title Junior Rodeo Queen at the Canadian Junior Rodeo Thursday. Kelly, who has been riding alone since she was 2½-year-old and before that double-in-the-saddle with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Freeman, 2212 N. Dwight. The fifth grade Travis Elementary School student was presented with a pair of spurs, a bouquet of red roses, a tiara, which she is wearing in the brim of her cowgirl hat and a $25 check. ### Limits Of Legitimate Dissent Challenged By Attorney General

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Americans will be forced to decide between anarchy and repression if they don't define limits of legitimate dissent, Attorney General Crawford Martin said Friday.

"One of the challenges presented to us in our time is to determine how far we are going to let them go," Martin told members of the Texas Bar Association. "What steps can we take within our democracy to keep 'dissent from destroying us?'"

He said it was time for "the men of the law to reclaim the law; to define the law for those who wish to overturn it."

Texas' top prosecutor said he believes the law has been bent too often to accommodate those who defy it.

"Universities have been too reluctant to use the greatest power at their disposal—the power to expulsion—against those who foment violence on the campus," Martin said.

Our entire system of high education might be jeopardized and race relations might be set

CHEROKEE HERITAGE

Indian Ways Are Dear To White Deer Citizen

By MRS. C.E. SELLERS
 News Correspondent

WHITE DEER (Sp1) — William Wildcat of White Deer is a full-blooded Cherokee Indian and the proud descendant of the only Indian tribe in America to have its own written alphabet and once a constitution similar to that of the United States.

William and his wife, Iva Jean, who is not an Indian, are rearing their children Deena Renee, 9; Dodie Renneta, 5 and Damon Ray, 7, to be proud Cherokees.

Damon, whose Indian name is "Horse Fly," recently was awarded a prize at the SIO Indian Organization's Pow Wow in Pampa; for his handmade beaded costume.

"Sunrise" is the name given to William Wildcat at birth by his grandmother. He was born near Gore, Okla. in Sequoia County, one of 13 children born to his parents, Coleston and Mamie Wildcat.

In speaking of his heritage, William Wildcat said, "The Cherokee nation is not native to Oklahoma. Once its home was the forest land of North Carolina.

"In the 1830s, 15 to 16 thousand Cherokees agreed to accept payment for their lands and goods and were sent to a reservation in Oklahoma. Only four to five thousand Cherokees survived the journey, which was made in mid-winter.

"The trip is called 'The Trail of Tears' by the Cherokee," William recalled.

His grandfather was one of those who survived the trip. William's father was born and reared on the reservation to which the tribe was brought.

A highly-prized possession of the Wildcat family is a bronze Spanish spur, for the left foot, which belonged to Coleston Wildcat. The right foot spur is now on display in the Cowboy Hall of Fame, near Oklahoma City.

It was not particularly easy for an Indian child to retain his Indian heritage in a white man's world. When William started to school, he could speak no English, which made schoolwork difficult. His mother, who still resides in Cherokee still, his father, now deceased, adopted many of the white man's ways, however.

William recalls being forbidden to attend the "stomp dances" because of the liquor consumed there. He was told they were "unsafe" for a young boy.

US marshals were sent to the dances to keep order. Finally, Indian organizations took over the dances again and they became, once again, the religious ceremonies they were intended to be.

William Wildcat learned some of the dances as he grew up, as well as the art of beadwork, which trims his authentic costumes.

Many hours of work goes into the beadwork on his Indian costumes, which are replicas of ones worn by his ancestors.

William states firmly, "I wear only what I make. I would be ashamed to appear at a dance or Pow Wow in anything other than my own work."

A war bonnet, which represented many hours of tedious work was recently destroyed by a family pet, who thought he had found a turkey.

"War bonnets," Williams said, "were once made of eagle feathers. The eagles, symbols of Indian freedom, were captured and raised for their feathers and the eagles released."

"Today," he continued, "turkey feathers are used instead. War bonnets were worn only by the chiefs, because each feather represented an act of bravery. The feathers were earned and each told a story."

Attending camp church services were also an early-day part of the Indian youth's life. "All the family would go together. They were held only once a month, every fourth Sunday.

"Camps would be set up and employed as a layout man in Cabot's fab department, still hopes to regain the land for his people. Only then can he and his children truly inherit the ways of the Cherokee Indian.

She had beat out Betty Kiff Mrs. (Eddie) Isaacs, class of '52, from Seabrook, New York and James Lamb of Rising Sun, Maryland, class of '53.

Delores Blymiller (Mrs. Jack) Edwards, class of '53, was named the most prolific graduate for her family of seven children, Jack Jr., 17, Susan, 14, Steven, 13, David, 12, Diane, 10, Jeanne, 9 and Sammy, 7. She was presented with a bottle of "medicine."

Yvonne for the "grad" with the least hair had several contenders, but by popular acclaim Harold-Courson of Perryton won by a hairsbreadth. He was presented with a guaranteed hair-growing formula.

The day was made for this writer, who attended as an onlooker, reveling in the enthusiasm and remembering a similar class reunion several years ago. It was "made" when Edwards, who is neither a politician nor was making a teevee commercial, but has a marvelous sense of humor, passed by and called out to this writer. "Hi, oh, I thought you were from the class of '53!"

When are they going to have another one?

"Well," answered Gary Baker, general reunion chairman, "just when anyone wants one."

The 1979 reunion of '52, '53, '54 classes was that successful

Man Killed In One-Car Wreck Near White Deer

A one-car accident approximately five miles west of White Deer about 2 a.m. Saturday claimed the life of a 22-year-old Lubbock man.

According to Highway Patrolmen investigating the accident, Floyd Jennings of Lubbock was traveling west on U.S. Highway 60 when his car went out of control and went into a culvert.

Patrolmen said Jennings apparently fell asleep at the wheel. He was pinned in the wreckage for almost an hour.

Jennings was reported to have been working for a Pampa construction company and as a part-time musician at a local night club.

He was reportedly on his way to Amarillo after playing at the club Friday night.

An ambulance from Pampa's Duenkel Funeral Home brought the body to Pampa, pending notification of relatives.

Mrs. Bass used to leave the wood door behind the screen door open so visitors could see there was nothing behind the screen.

So many people pushed and poked on the screen that she feared the image would be damaged. So she had a chain link fence put up to protect it. She later had the fence taken down and now there are only saw horses in front of the door to keep visitors from getting too close.

Letter From Vietnam

Both the Basses and Neal are intrigued by a letter that arrived from Vietnam July 19, 1969, a little more than a month after Mrs. Bass first saw the image. The letter said:

"To whom it may concern: The name written on the envelope does not apply to you. It was used since I don't know your name or don't even know if this address exists.

"Getting to the point which is this — I had a dream and in this dream I saw something which I cannot identify. This something had this address: 816 Avenue C, Port Neches, Texas.

"Does my dream mean anything? If this letter is returned unopened, then my question will be answered. Lionel Coy, Staff Sgt., Vietnam."

The address, of course, is the Basses'. Mrs. Bass wrote to Sgt. Coy, explaining about the door and sending a bundle of pictures, but he never replied.

Grass fires kept firemen busy Friday night and Saturday, with five reports of burning grass being turned in between late Friday night and late Saturday afternoon.

Firemen were called to 805 N. Christy about 9:10 p.m. Friday to extinguish a grass fire caused by a firecracker. No damages were reported.

Another grass fire was reported one mile north of Pampa on the Perryton highway at 10:20 p.m. Friday. Firemen said this blaze was also caused by firecrackers. No damages were reported.

Burning grass at 1408 S. Barnes at 10:30 a.m. Saturday caused no damages. Firemen said the cause of the fire was unknown.

Unknown causes were also listed for a grass fire three miles north of the city on Highway 70 about 2:40 p.m. Saturday. No damages were reported.

About 4:20 p.m. Saturday, firemen were called to a vacant lot at Venus and Harvester streets to extinguish another grass fire caused by fireworks. No damages were reported.

Vastness Of Panhandle Impresses Swedish Guests

By BEN KECK
 News Staff Writer

Two Swedish girls are visiting Pampa as part of Lions International's Youth Exchange Program.

Helena Fagerberg, 18, from the village of Erikslund, and Lillian Lundeberg, 18, from Boras, arrived in Pampa Tuesday.

They will be the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Joe Donaldson, 2530 Duncan, for the next two weeks, and the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Anderson, 1916 Lynn during the last two weeks of their visit.

Helena and Lillian said the vast emptiness of the Texas Panhandle interests them.

"You can look for miles here and not see a mountain or even a tree," Helena said.

Lillian said the south part of Sweden is relatively flat, "but not like this."

"Not such big areas are flat," she said.

"America is like Sweden in many ways," Helena said. "The houses and the people are very similar."

Helena and Lillian talked about some of the customs of Swedish youth.

"When we date," Helena said, "we go to discotheques and dance. Boys seldom call and ask for a date. We just meet."

The girls said that discotheques were the most popular dating spots in Sweden. "We seldom go to the movies," Lillian said. "They show a lot of American movies with Swedish translations, but young people just aren't interested in them."

Helena said the last movie she saw was "The Graduate," about a year ago. Lillian couldn't remember the last movie she saw.

"Education in Sweden is basically the same as in America. Before going to a university, there are 12 years of study and the grades are separated.

The first six grades are in one school, the next three in another, and the last three in yet another.

White Cap ceremonies, comparable to high school graduation, are held each spring. Music plays and there are flowers, dinner, dancing, and champagne to top off the celebration.

Helena will begin her first year at the University of Upsala next fall. She said she wants to study psychology.

"After seven and one-half years of study, I can practice psychology," she said.

Lillian is still in high school and has not yet decided what she wants to study.

On their way to Pampa, the girls stayed three days in New York — America's largest city. They compared it with Sweden's largest city and capital, Stockholm.

"New York is much larger — and much dirtier," Helena said.

Paper, wood, iron, and textiles are Sweden's largest industries. There are large farming districts in South Sweden, with factories and industry being concentrated in the middle of the country.

Christmas in Sweden is very similar to American Christmas. There's food, gifts, and even Santa Claus.

"Our main thing at Christmas is the bringing together of our families," Helena said.

The girls said they preferred not to talk about politics, but they did say American political activity is watched very closely in Sweden.

"We saw your moon flights, too," Helena said. "They were transmitted by satellite to Sweden."

English is taught as a basic language in Sweden.

"We begin to learn English when we are about ten years old," Helena said. "It isn't American English though," she said.

From what little of America they have seen, both Helena and Lillian said it is interesting.

They said they are not homesick, but when they said American tourists in Sweden were just like in the cartoons — Bermuda shorts, flowery shirts, sneakers, and cameras around their necks — they left the impression they might have had pre-conceived ideas about Americans.

They also left the impression that they were relieved that Americans don't go around acting like tourists at home.

NOT MANY grandmothers have the privilege ... but it may become a trend ... when Mrs. Mary Brown of Midland visited her son and family, the Paul Browns, 1606 Fir, she was piloted home to Midland by her grandson, Paul Jr., in his private plane.

THE ISLAND of Hawaii may never be the same ... and come to think of it the natives might not either, after the June visit of that frolicsome foursome, Ethel Clay ... Barbara Zigler ... Louise Dunn ... and Pat Gillis of Abilene ... during their 11-day stay on the Island of Palms and Pineapple

... they went everywhere ... met everyone ... and well before their plane left Love Field in Dallas, they had discarded their previously rehearsed rendition of "Sweet Lelani" ... and quickly learned the lyrics and tune to "Tiny Bubbles."

HEAR THAT Bobbye McLennan is going back to school this summer ... but not as a student ... she'll be a housemother at one of the dorm's on campus of West Texas State University.

THOSE TWO artistic gals, Jane Reynolds and Kitty Veale, will soon have a pretty good thing going for them ... They have compiled a book of patterns for tile painting ... and it will soon be on the market ... one day last week, they put all their colorful tiles on display and invited friends out to Jane's home to view them informally ... this week they are in Dallas attending the Arts and Crafts Showing ... and where they, too, will have a display ... hear the two have dreamed up some wildly colorful and exciting patterns for others to copy.

SUMMER HAPPENINGS: Alice Warner entertained with a Coffee last Saturday morning in her home on Christine ... honoring bride-elect Karen Sidwell, who will repeat wedding vows with Glenn Russell Wimberly of Midland on August 19 in the First Presbyterian Church ... Lora Barber is having a bangup fourth what with her son and his wife, Sam and Ruth Ann, and a granddaughter of Midland visiting ... and when Bob and Albertine Trippiehorn return from Wyoming they'll have some pretty fancy fish stories to tell their friends ... they're taking a Float Trip ... which means they'll be fishing by day as they float down the river ... camping by the stream and cooking up their catch at night.

IT WON'T be long before part of Lake Tanglewood ... near Amarillo ... will be known as "Little Pampa" ... H.C. and Maria, Abernathy are the newest additions to the lake-side community ... as are George and Pauline Quibble, who have just recently bought a lake home ... and they'll have Chris and Crawford Atkinson ... Frank and Mildred Smith

... Luke and Aline McClelland ... Evelyn and Ralph Sidwell ... for their neighbors ... Evelyn and Ralph were one of the first to buy a home in the fashionable summertime community ... and in nearby Sunday Canyon, the Aubrey Steeles and the Dr. Raymond Laycocks have a summer place that provides scenic views ... good boating and fishing ... with all the comforts of home.

Funds Cut Ordered For Nacogdochas

WASHINGTON (UPI) —HEW Secretary Elliott L. Richardson, after only nine days in office, has ordered federal funds cut off to the Nacogdochas, Tex., Independent School District and two other southern districts for failing to desegregate their schools.

The former secretary had been accused by some HEW civil rights officials of neglecting desegregation enforcement.

"This is a very decisive action on the part of Mr. Richardson," said one HEW civil rights official, elated over the decision.

Of the 14 cutoffs under Finch, 12 districts have had their funds restored, although one is under a court order to desegregate and could yet lose its federal funds for failure to do so, a HEW spokesman said.

But other HEW sources denied that the move indicated the department was shifting emphasis back to fund cutoffs from court action to achieve school desegregation.

The petition asks the defendants to be ordered to remove all obstructions that interfere with the public's use of the beaches and they be enjoined from illegally encroaching on public beaches in the future.

Richardson, who promised at a news conference June 25 that he would use in "appropriate" cases the cutoff procedure widely used during the Johnson administration, said Thursday that he would maintain communications with the three southern districts in hopes of bringing them into compliance.

The three districts were the Nacogdochas district, the Hendry County Board of Public Instruction in Labelle, Fla., and Chester County schools in Chester, S. C.

The HEW action was announced on the same day that Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., accused the Nixon administration of "statistical gimmickry" in claiming that one million black school children in the South will be enrolled in integrated school systems in September.

Martin announced the filing of the suit Monday. It names Mitchell-Dobbins Land Corporation and 144 other developers as principal defendants.

Mondale chairman of a select Senate Committee on Equal Educational Opportunities, said in a statement that the administration failed to say how many schools are desegregated in each district classified as desegregated or whether schools classified as integrated "are something less than 99 per cent black."

Capp changed his registration from Democrat to Republican sometime in the past few months. Hence, he cannot meet the requirement that a candidate be a registered party member for at least a year.

Until Thursday's fund cutoff was announced, HEW had used the procedure only once since the administration announced in July, 1969 that it would rely mainly on court suits to force desegregation instead of cutoffs.

Capp said Thursday he had asked several experts to examine the state laws and was satisfied he cannot oppose Kennedy's bid for re-election despite encouragement, some reportedly from the White House, that he do so.

Richardson's predecessor, Robert H. Finch, now a presidential counselor, cut off funds to 14 school districts in 1969 and to a small Texas district May 11.

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS

Gov. Preston Smith gave the dedication speech on June 19 for the unveiling of the DeCordova Bend Dam on the Brazos River.

The first work was done on the project by Jacob DeCordova. The equipment he ordered to begin work on the day still lies rusting away on the Gulf Coast where it was unloaded for movement to the Brazos. DeCordova died in 1868, just three years after the end of the Civil War. His death ended the plans for the dam.

In the middle 1930's plans for the dam at the same site were revived. Work on the plans have been going on intermittently since then.

In his speech dedicating the dam the governor reminded his audience of the great length of time consumed in making the plan a reality. The governor stated, "we know from experience that this is not unusual. Even a federally-financed water resource development project takes an average of about 15 years or more from the start of preliminary studies until the project goes into operation. The amount of time that it takes to plan, finance and build our water resources development projects is a concern to all of us. We cannot afford to continue taking so much time in running out."

"We must move ahead rapidly, aggressively, and positively with projects necessary for the proper control and development of our state's water resources."

Let me make clear what I mean. Last year the Texas Water Development Board published a statewide water plan. It was the result of a tremendous amount of work in a relatively short period of time. This plan presented a vast amount of detailed information.

What really attracted attention was a proposal to move water from areas of water-plenty to areas of present or future water-needs.

The proposal included exploring the possibility of moving water from as far east as the Mississippi River. This was only a proposal for future study and investigation. It stirred up a great many people, however, and not all of them were Texans.

"Unfortunately it also obscured other elements of the plan, which are just as important, although less spectacular. In fact, they are more important. These elements provide for orderly development of the water resources of the state necessary to meet the present and future water needs throughout Texas. These are the plans we must move ahead with. We must proceed immediately with building the projects needed to enable us to effectively control and develop our State's water resources."

"There are a lot of questions and a great deal of controversy about how and where and for what purposes the water is going to be used. These questions must be resolved and they will be resolved. However, we cannot delay development of our water resources while we try to resolve them. If we do, it won't do us any good to resolve the questions. It won't make any difference where and how we decide to put the water to us if we don't have any water to use."

"We must move ahead now with the construction of dams and reservoirs to bring our water resources under control and have them available to meet our future needs. If we have the water available, we can move it and distribute it to meet Texas' needs as they develop."

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY

In spite of a higher unemployment rate, falling profits in business and a general uncertainty about the nation's economy, cattle prices are continuing to show slight improvement. The August futures, which were selling in the twenty-nine dollar bracket a few short weeks ago, are now bumping thirty-two.

Average weights of slaughtered animals have continued to drop as each weekly report is made. This suggests that heavy cattle have gone to market and the three percent more cattle on feed as of May 1, 1970 have found their way to the Consumer.

Receipts at the major markets have dropped because the numbers of fat cattle are just not in the woods.

If our economy was on one of its more recent economic sprees, you would be seeing thirty-five dollar cattle in Chicago and the Panhandle of Texas. Earlier in the year we mentioned that cattle prices would be determined a great deal more by the general economic picture than by the statistics on cattle. We still maintain the same position.

Should there be a fast upward turn on the general economic picture, I believe cattle would feel the very first effect.

We also maintain you will see fat cattle prices make a slow but determined rise in price through August. I can't see cattle rising much above the $32 level. Beef is the most sensitive item to price change of any of the housewife's wants. Drop the price ten cents per pound and she will buy more beef. Add ten cents to the price and she backs away from the beef part of the meat counter.

In the past few years you saw finished cattle prices high centered at twenty-five dollars per CWT. With the inflationary trend, housewives will now buy beef that had an original price on foot around thirty dollars. It will take time and continued wage increases for the head of the household, but we think our next step is for cattle to sell in the thirty-five dollar bracket for finished cattle.

The cattle feeder will remain in exactly the same bind he has always been in. Replacement cattle, in his opinion, will be way too high in relation to fat cattle.

Back to the thirty-five dollar cattle you will not see this until after another inflationary spiral.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—On the deadline day of the scheduled withdrawal of American forces from Cambodia, CBS-TV Tuesday offered a prime-time hour about the effects of sending the troops in for two months. Charles Collingwood was host of the balanced documentary, "Where We Stand in Indochina," which in a sense served as a partial primer for tonight's three-network, one-hour conversation on foreign policy between President Nixon and a trio of newsmen.

Tuesday night's hour had the usual pro and con spokesmen about the U.S. military incursion. And the point was made several times that only time will tell whether the Communists are able to fill the vacuum again, as they did before, and what that might mean in terms of future American action.

57 Per Cent Agree
A poll taken by CBS-TV of 1,100 persons 18 years old and over, found that 57 per cent agreed with Nixon's decision to send troops into Cambodia. Sixty per cent felt the move was a military success. And 54 per cent said they would approve if the President sent forces back in to hit sanctuaries.

There were, of course, film clips of the caches of supplies captured by U.S. troops, and comments on the administration's feeling that the Cambodian operation was a great success.

Most provocative, perhaps, was a segment asserting how Cambodia has been overwhelmed by the war, and how relatively minor military force has become very difficult. In an interview, the Cambodian foreign minister said he wanted American troops to stay until the end of the war. In another film clip from two months ago, he was saying that his government desired no foreign soldiers.

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL
Executive Secretary ARC

The first session of the swim program at the city pool is over. Watch for names of those who passed their classes next week. The Red Cross has patches to sell for the boys and girls who pass their Beginner, Advanced Beginner and Intermediate classes. The patches are 25 cents and should be worn on the bathing suit. This is the first year that we have had patches for the other classes than the Swimmer Class. The second session will begin Monday July 6 at 9 a.m. with Mrs. Don Stafford teaching the Swimmer and Intermediate Classes, Mrs. Ralph Esson teaching the Advanced Beginner Classes and Jean Snell teaching the Beginners. The Adult Beginners Advanced Beginners and the Intermediate Class will be held beginning July 6-7 at 6-7 p.m. at the city pool. Both men and women are urged to take these classes.

Jerry Lansford and his wife will soon be moving to Greenville, S.C. We hate to lose Jerry as one of our First Aid Instructors. Jerry has been carrying a Mobile Unit in his car. We hope that they will continue working with Red Cross in their new home town.

There'll be a Standard First Aid Class held at the Flame Room at the Pioneer Natural Gas Co. beginning July 21 at 7 p.m. and lasting for five Tuesday evenings. Aubrey Pennington and Jim Miser will be the instructors for this class. The community is invited to attend.

Gilbert Gribble, representative for Safety Services on the national staff, will be in Pampa Monday July 6 to council with our water safety instructors on work with children this summer. Mr. Gribble was in charge of the Aquatic School at Ardmore this summer.

The following received certificates from Mrs. Wynell Carter, WSI, who instructed at the Country Club Pool during the month of June: Beginners were Camille Norton, Penny Summers, Sherry McVicker, Christi Youngblood, Erin O'Conner, Lisa Howard. Intermediates were Chris Norton and Russell Norton.

Ruth Carter, WSI, who taught at the Pampa Youth Center gave the following Beginner certificates: Betty Ladin, James Schaub, Steven Schaub, Jennifer Wise, Debbie Lewis, Oran Carter, Gary Mayes, Dennis Mayes, Floyd Baxter, Teresa Baxter, Keith French, Ray Cardwell and Renessa Cardwell.

New Books

THE LONG RECONNAISSANCE — John Murphy; a Major on detached duty with a taste for other people's lives and wives.

HELL'S ANGELS — Hunter S. Thompson; the strange and terrible saga of the outlaw motorcycle gangs.

JIGSAW — Ed McBain; a unique plot which revolves around a homemade jigsaw puzzle—as Detectives Brown and Carella fit the pieces of a photograph together, they get closer and closer to $750,000 and the murderer of four.

ONE STEP FROM EARTH — Harry Harrison; from the tale of the first adventurer transmitted to Mars in 1993 through eight other stories about earthlings, and their strange fates on other planets and in the galaxy.

HOT WAR ON THE CONSUMER — Ralph Nader and others; forcefully and sometimes shockingly, these men speak out on such subjects as food, drugs, insurance, consumer protection in the ghettos.

AN ORDINARY MAN — Mel Arrighi; a personal, suspenseful story of two men and their women, struggling with their conscience as tanks roll down

CHINA AS I SEE IT — Pearl Buck; using the writings of Europeans who can still go to China, and Chinese-Americans in secret correspondence with their relatives in China; Pearl S. Buck has written a concluding chapter in her efforts to help American people understand the Chinese better.

KING OIL — Max Catto; Frank Dibbler, a tough ambitious and dominating Texan who seeks to create an empire of his own in the arid plains north of Amarillo. A dramatic and powerful story of masculine strength pitted against feminine pride, — a recreation of the heroic myth of the West, and a portrait of Texas in the making.

OUR VIOLENT SOCIETY — David Abrahamson, M.D.; a compelling and detailed analysis of the causes of violence in the United States today.

Unemployment Rate Falls As Jobless List Increases

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's unemployment rate fell last month for the first time this year, despite the addition of some 1.3 million workers to the jobless list.

This seeming paradox is because of the seasonal adjustments the Labor Department applies to the unemployment rate each month to account for deviations caused by such factors as harvest time, vacation periods and winter weather.

The biggest seasonal jolts to the unemployment rate come in September and June with the opening and closing of the school year. That's mainly why the seasonally adjusted jobless rate went down last month from 5 per cent to 4.7 per cent even though actual unemployment shot up from 3.4 million to 4.7 million.

Teen-agers getting out of school accounted for about 1 million of the 1.3 million persons added to the unemployment list.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the seasonally adjusted rate of unemployment went down for the first time since last November because unemployment normally goes up 1.5 million in June — 200,000 more than it actually did. Applying seasonal adjustments, the BLS said unemployment declined from 4.1 million in May to 3.9 million June.

Assistant Commissioner Harold Goldstein said adult women accounted for most of the decline in the seasonally adjusted rate. Their rate of unemployment dropped from 5.1 per cent to 4.5 per cent last month, after rising in May from 4.4 per cent in April.

On the gloomy side, Goldstein said total nonfarm payroll employment fell in June for the third straight month. He said this had "considerable economic significance."

The BLS report said there were virtually no changes in the seasonally adjusted rates of unemployment for adult men, married men and teen-agers.

"All of the over-the-month decline in unemployment (based on seasonal adjustment) took place among white workers," it said. "The white jobless rate, which had been rising steadily since December, fell from 4.6 per cent to 4.2 per cent in June."

As Packard Sees It... Country Club Will Host Junior Golf Qualifying

By DAN PACKARD
Sports Editor

PAMPA COUNTRY CLUB, along with 14 other state courses, will host a qualifying round for the 44th Texas Junior Championship Golf Tournament which is scheduled Aug. 18-21 at San Antonio's Brackenridge Park.

Professional Hart Warren will direct the 18-hole qualifying test at his course Friday, July 31. The number of qualifiers from this area will depend upon the number of combined entries at the 15 sites.

The field at San Antonio will be limited to 200 young golfers 17 years of age or under. The championship, won last year by Ben Crenshaw of Austin, will be determined over 72 holes of stroke play.

Other qualifying sites will be Longview, Fort Worth, Wichita Falls, McAllen, Houston, Waco, Big Spring, Austin, Lubbock, Victoria, Dallas, Corpus Christi and San Antonio.

Originated by the San Antonio

Light in 1927, the tournament now has the Texas PGA and the Texas Golf Association as co-sponsors. Entry fee is $1 for the qualifying round.

HOUSTON SPORTS WRITERS are probably printing kinder remarks about Joe Pepitone these days.

Pepitone switched his vote to break a 12-12 tie and allow Houston baseball writers to ride the Astros' team bus again.

DICK KASTEIN of Pampa scored the first hole-in-one in the history of Sunset Hill Golf Club in Waupun, Wis. Kastein got the ace on the 170-yard, par-three, No. 4 hole while visiting his parents in Waupun.

PAMPA HIGH SCHOOL grads of '52, '53 and '54 had plenty of athletic stories to spin at their reunion Saturday.

The class of 1953 took second place in District I-AAA football and basketball but what's even more important, the '53 grads posted the Harvesters' last winning football season with an 8-2 record and took the state championship in basketball.

The 1954 class went 5-5 on the gridiron and repeated as state cage kings.

Clifton McNeely guided the Harvesters to their two state basketball crowns.

WHILE READING my second-favorite magazine the other day I noticed where Texas League President Bobby Bragan may have come up with the perfect umpire while searching for a replacement for Nick Emeterio who was injured in a fray with Dallas-Fort Worth pitcher Greg Arnold.

Bragan hired Ed Oliver, a veteran semi-pro and amateur ump, who happens to be a deaf mute.

The TL boss was quoted by The Sporting News as saying, "If anyone wants to protest to him, he'll have to bring along a pencil and paper."

SIX SOUTHWEST CONFERENCE football fields are now covered with AstroTurf. Rice, SMU, Texas A&M and Texas Tech will play on the "mod sod" during the 1970 season. Texas and Arkansas already had the turf.

Kansas State will have the artificial turf in time for the '70 campaign, thanks to a bunch of Wildcat backers who bought individual chunks with private donations. Kansas State's move will bring the number of AstroTurf fields in the Big 8 to two. Nebraska owns the other carpet.

LEON VAN ALSTINE, head football and track coach, at Lee Junior High School, is moving on to bigger and better things. The Van Alstine family will soon leave for Pittsburgh where the hefty coach will take a position as head track mentor and football aide at the high school.

More about that later.

DODGERS TOP GIANTS, 7-2

Cubs, Pirates Split

By United Press International

Billy Williams, collecting his third homer of the day, and Jim Hickman slugged back-to-back homers in a four-run sixth inning Saturday as the Chicago Cubs salvaged a 7-2 victory after Roberto Clemente's two homers led the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 10-6 opening game victory.

Williams two homers in the first game were wasted as the Pirates collected 19 hits, 14 off loser Ken Holtzman who allowed seven runs in six innings.

In the second game, Milt Pappas and Bob Veale were locked in a 1-1 duel in the sixth when Paul Popovich tripled and Williams belted his 24th homer of the year and fourth in the last three games. Hickman followed with his 19th homer, and after Ernie Banks was retired, Ron Santo singled to knock out Veale.

Cleo James greeted reliever Bruce Dal Canton with a double

Allison Powers Ford To Firecracker Win

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Donnie Allison, who was unsure Friday night whether he would run in the race, powered his 1969 Ford to victory Saturday in the final 20 miles of the 12th annual Firecracker 400.

Allison, running on new engine borrowed from LeRoy Yarborough's crew chief, Junior Johnson, grabbed the lead when hard-luck David Pearson blew a tire on his 1969 Ford with seven laps left.

Allison, rookie of the year after a fourth place finish in the Indianapolis 500 this year, finished 15 seconds ahead of Buddy Baker's 1969 Dodge on the sunbaked 2.5-mile tri-oval before a crowd of 55,700.

The win was worth $20,975 for and after an intentional walk, Pappas hit a run-scoring single to put the Cubs ahead, 5-1.

Pappas allowed 10 hits in 8 1/3 innings to pick up his first victory in a Cub uniform since being obtained from Atlanta last Saturday. Pappas was knocked out by Maury Alou's run-scoring single in the ninth and Larry Gura finished up.

In the first game, Clemente hit two homers for the second straight day and Gene Alley added his third in two days. Clemente and Alley hit back-to-back homers in the third inning and Clemente capped a three-run eighth inning with his eighth homer of the year.

Al Oliver, who collected three doubles, drove in two runs in the fifth to put the Pirates ahead to stay, 4-2.

Steve Blass, who allowed nine hits before being knocked out in the seventh, got the victory to boost his record to 6-9.

Bill Sudakis drove in three runs with a single and a sacrifice fly and Alan Foster allowed only seven hits as the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the San Francisco Giants, 7-2.

The Dodgers defeated ace righthander Gaylord Perry as they rolled their 13th victory in 17 games. Tom Haller drove in a pair of runs for the Dodgers with a single and a double while Ken Henderson and Dick Dietz accounted for the Giants' runs with homers.

In National League night games, New York was at Philadelphia, St. Louis at Montreal, San Diego at Atlanta and Houston at Cincinnati.

Bettenhausen Takes Race

CAMBRIDGE JUNCTION, Mich. (UPI)—Gary Bettenhausen dued with Gordon Johncock for 91 laps before taking the lead and the victory in the USAC 200-mile race for championship Indy "500" cars at Michigan International Speedway Saturday afternoon.

It was the first of a pair of 200-mile USAC sanctioned races at MIS Saturday. A.J. Foyt and Bobby Unser were in the front row for the start of the 200-mile race for late-model stock cars that capped the twinbill.

Johncock, who led from the second into the 91st lap, lost a hub on a rear wheel of his McLaren-Offy, hit the retaining

Newcombe Takes Wimbledon Prize

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—Australian John Newcombe spoiled fellow Aussie Ken Rosewall's third bid for his first Wimbledon title Saturday, trouncing back the tired little left-hander, 5-7, 6-3, 6-2, 3-6, 6-1, in the men's singles final of the 84th All-England Lawn Tennis Championships.

Newcombe, winning his second Wimbledon title, used his big serve to overcome '35-year-old Rosewall, who was appearing in his first Wimbledon finals in 14 years. Rosewall was also ousted in the finals of the 1954 tournament.

Victory for 26-year-old Newcombe was worth $7,200 and gave Australia both major titles in the Wimbledon championships. On Friday, Mrs. Margaret Court took the women's singles title by stopping Mrs. Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., 14-12, 11-9.

Following the two-hour and 43-minute men's singles final,

Princess Margaret descended from the royal box to present the winner's trophy to the new king of the courts, who last won the Wimbledon crown in 1967 by beating West Germany's Wilhelm Bungert.

Rosewall, who may have made his last fling at a Wimbledon title, received $3,600 as runnerup.

The 15,000 capacity crowd, which also included Viscount Montgomery, was with Rosewall all the time but there was little he could do against the raw power of his opponent, the last amateur winner of the title.

Newcombe entered the match at 4-7 on favorite, with Rosewall 5-4 against and the odds were about right. Each time Rosewall looked like breaking ahead, Newcombe would pull out his big service to get out of trouble. He also volleyed deep and with venom, and was ice cool overhead.

With Rosewall's soft service falling—he served 11 double faults—he did not give himself a chance to bring his backhand into play.

It was a surprise the match went into the fifth set because Rosewall looked tired and dispirited in the third. It looked all over for him when he lost his opening service in the fourth set, but suddenly Newcombe made unforced errors and Rosewall became a changed man as he broke service twice in succession.

MANN TAILSPINS TO 4TH PLACE

Caponi Puts Field 4 Shots Back In Women's Open Golf Tourney

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (UPI)—Defending champion Donna Caponi Saturday broke a two-day deadlock with Carol Mann with a cool even par 71 to take a four-stroke lead after three rounds in the U.S. Women's Open Golf Tournament.

"Last year I had a feeling on the first tee that I was going to win," Miss Caponi said, "I have the same feeling now."

Miss Mann started the July Fourth round tied with Miss Caponi, but watched her game blow up like a freckle. She soared to a six-over 77 and wound up three over for the tournament at 216 and in fourth place.

Miss Caponi, nursing her leading total of 210, said caution is the by-word for the final round Sunday.

"I'm just going to go out and play par golf. If I make some birdies, fine. It's what I've been doing all week," she said.

Siebert Hurls 2-Hitter For Bosox

By United Press International

Jake Gibbs tripled in two runs in the seventh inning and scored on Thurman Munson's sacrifice fly Saturday to give the New York Yankees a 4-2 victory over the Washington Senators.

Ron Klimkowski gave up two hits in five innings of relief pitching for his first major league victory.

Sonny Siebert pitched a two-hitter and Mike Andrews, Reggie Smith and Tony Conigli-aro homered in the seventh inning to give the Boston Red Sox a 5-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians. Billy Conigliaro also homered in the fourth for the Red Sox as they pinned the loss on Cleveland's Steve Dunning. Siebert, who notched his seventh victory, gave up his first hit in the sixth when Ray Fosse cracked his 14th homer.

A wild throw by loser Dick Woodson on Luis Aparicio's grounder enabled the Chicago White Sox to score two unearned runs in the 12th inning to beat Minnesota 5-3 and snap the Twins five-game winning streak.

Sanders, Marr Pass Qualifying

BARRY, Scotland (UPI)—Doug Sanders and Dave Marr were among the qualifiers Saturday for next week's British Open Golf championship.

Sanders, the runnerup in the 1966 British Open behind Jack Nicklaus shot a 74 for a two-day total of 141, at Panmure. Marr, the 1965 PGA champ, just made it with a two-round total of 144. Marr shot a 72 each day on the Monifieth Course.

Tadashi Kitta of Japan, South African Indian Sewsunker Sewgolum and Valentin Barrios of Spain were the leading qualifiers.

Kitta, who stands just 5-foot-6, shot a 69 on the wind-swept Panmure course for a 136 total. He led 25 qualifiers at Panmure.

Sewgolum smashed the Monifieth course record by one stroke with a seven-under-par 64 to take the top spot with a 133 and finish ahead of 21 qualifiers.

Barrios led the 24 Carnoustie qualifiers with a two-round total of 142 after shooting a two-under 72 Saturday.

Among the other Americans to qualify were Bob Sweeney, the 1937 British Amateur champion, B. Barbaros G. Bellino, E. George and M. Darnell.

COWBOYS TO TRAIN IN CALIFORNIA

Pro Grid Clubs To Open Camps In Preparation For '70 Season

NEW YORK (UPI)—The new 26-team National Football League begins field operations next weekend, kicking off a long hot summer in which young rookies battle for starting positions and older players fight to get in shape and keep their jobs.

From Thousand Oaks, Calif., to North Miami, Fla., and points between, the far-flung merged pro football organization starts preparations for the 1970 campaign.

The Dallas Cowboys' open training camp July 10 at Thousand Oaks while the defending world champion Kansas City Chiefs start camp July 11 at Liberty, Mo. Other teams will follow in a day or two with rookies reporting a week earlier than veterans.

Under the realignment format approved last winter the NFL will operate as a 26-team league split into the National Conference and the American Conference.

The structure follows almost exactly the original blueprint drawn up in the joint merger announcement of June 8, 1966, ending the "war" between the National and American Football Leagues.

Training camp opens with two coaching changes in the American Conference. Don Shula moved from Baltimore to Miami and Don McCafferty replaced Shula with the Colts.

Kansas City opens training camp with basically the same club that captured the Super Bowl championship. Most promising newcomer to the Chiefs' camp is Sid Smith, former Southern California tackle who was the team's No. 1 draft choice.

Coach Hank Stram, noting that "football is a game of now," says "to repeat in 1970 will be an even greater challenge to our squad."

Minnesota, the club the Chiefs beat in the Super Bowl, will also rely heavily on holdover personnel. John Ward, a 265-pound defensive tackle from Oklahoma State, is the team's top prospect. The key to the Vikings' season may be the Sept. 20 date Minnesota has with Kansas City.

Coach Tom Landry, who began re-evaluating his Dallas club after last season's loss to Cleveland in the Eastern Conference title game, expects to make a series of small changes which include shifting all-NFL tackle Ralph Neely to right guard and all-NFL safety Mel Renfro to right cornerback.

Maris Really Quite Happy Out Of Baseball

Happy To Be Away From Boos, Happy For Quiet Life

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (NEA)—Roger Maris holds a special place in American sports. He performed the unprecedented feat of hitting 61 home runs in a single big-league season, and has never been forgiven for it.

To many persons in this quiet college town, Roger Maris is now just another beer salesman. But to many sports fans across the country, Maris is at best an enigma, at worst an object of scorn and, in fact, an iconoclast of sorts.

He retired from baseball two years ago, at the relatively youthful age of 33, and became, with his brother Rudy, the full-time Budweiser beer distributor in Gainesville and nearby Ocala. He weighs, 225 pounds, about 20 pounds more than he did in 1961 when he broke the revered Babe Ruth's legendary record of 60 homers, and which inflicted upon Maris as much pain as it brought pleasure.

"If I ever had to have good memories about my baseball career," he said recently, "they probably had to be before 1961." Few men have had to withstand the withering pressure of publicity than Maris did in 1961 and after, and few men were as ill-suited to endure it.

"It would've been a heck of a lot more fun to play the game under one mask, and then leave the park wearing another mask. Some guys loved the life of celebrity, like Pepi (Joe Repton). Some of 'em would have walked down Fifth Avenue in their Yankee uniforms if they could have. But all it brought me was headaches. You can't eat glamor."

Maris now seems content, relaxed and happy. His hair is still cropped in a crewcut, his pale eyes are candid and kindly, his dark tie is unfashionably thin, his socks are unfashionably white, his belly is ample, and his neck and forearms are still as thick as a slugger's.

"I don't read the papers much," he said, "too busy. Rudy and I drive to the brewery in Jacksonville, we go into the taverns and supermarkets and other outlets to see how our Bud stock is, how it's placed on the shelves. I'm usually out of the house by 8:00 in the morning, and sometimes I don't get home until 1:00 in the morning."

"My customers don't talk baseball much. They used to. But now they'll ask how I think the Cardinals will do or something, but that's all. I never look at the standings at all."

He was asked what he thought of the Yankees' recent winning surge.

"The Yankees?" he asked, smiling. "Did I ever play for the Yankees?" Then, seriously, he asked what division they're in. He did not know.

He has little fond recall for his seven years (1960-66) as a Yankee.

Although he says it is all in the past, "finished and done," his voice betrays a resentment to what he refers to as the "Yankee organization." For one thing, he felt the Yankees did not want him to break Babe Ruth's record. (For much of '61, Maris stayed just a couple of homers ahead of Mickey Mantle as both pursued the ghost of Babe Ruth.)

"They favored Mickey to break it," said Maris. "I was never the fair-haired boy over there. When I'd get hurt, they thought I could still play. When Mickey or Tom Tresh or someone got hurt, they'd let 'em rest."

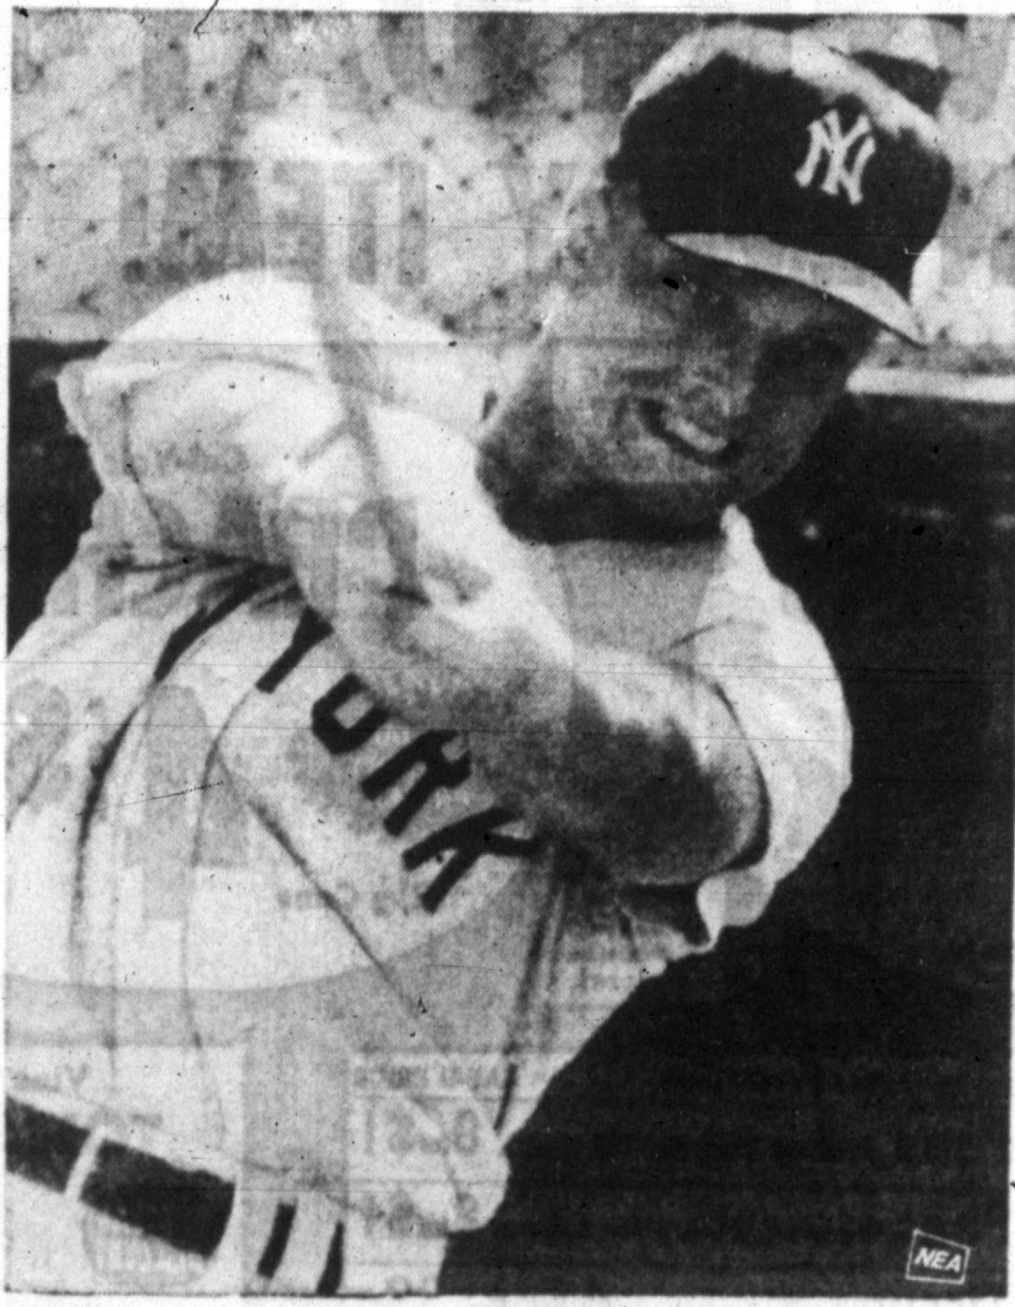

"I'll never forget the 1965 season. I injured my right hand on about May 18. Ralph Houk, the general manager then, said I should keep trying to play. Finally, with about two weeks left in the season, I went up to his office and told him I wanted permission to go home to take care of my hand, and I said if he didn't give me the O.K., then I'd go anyway."

"Then he said to me, and I'll never forget it, Houk said, 'Rog, I might as well level with you, you need an operation on that hand.' Now what do you think?"

Maris also felt that many writers did not want him to break the record. "They tried to make me into the mold of Babe Ruth, and I didn't want to fit anyone's mold. I'm Roger Maris. And a lot of the older writers didn't think anyone should break Babe Ruth's record. Some of the younger writers felt they could make a reputation at my expense. So I was called surly. Yet I'd stay and answer their questions, sometimes the same questions as new writers came over to my locker, for two or three hours after a game. If I had that to do all over again, I wouldn't say a word until all the writers were there. Then I'd talk for 15 minutes, and quit."

The controversial and infamous asterisk was placed by then baseball commissioner Ford Frick alongside Roger Maris' name in the record book after the 1961 season. Maris had hit 61 homers in a 162-game schedule. Babe Ruth had hit 60 in a 154-game schedule.

"I didn't make the schedule," Maris said. "And do you know any other records that have been broken since the 162-game schedule that have an asterisk? I don't. Frick should have said that all records made during the new schedule would have an asterisk, and he should have said it before the season—if he should have said it at all. But he decided on the asterisk when I had about 50 homers, and it looked like I'd break the record. 'But I understand—and this is only what sportswriters have told me—that when Frick was a New York sportswriter, he was a big drinking buddy of Babe Ruth's.

"But when they say 154 games, which 154 games are they talking about? The first 154, the middle 154, the last 154? If it's the first 154, then I'd still have tied Ruth, because I didn't hit my first homer until the 11th game. If it was the last 154 games or the middle 154, then I'd have broken the record anyway."

If he had it all to do over again, would he have wanted to break the record again?

"I was a professional baseball player," he said, "and when I was out on the field I gave everything I had. No one ever worked harder than me. Baseball was my life then. If there was a record in the way of my doing my best, then the record had to fall. So what's to regret? The fact is, no one ever had as good a season as I did in 1961."

Is there anything he would have done differently during his baseball career?

"Yes," he said. "I would have been more careful not to jeopardize my health. Every day, my body tells me I used to be a baseball player. I can't sleep on my stomach because my rib cage is so tender. It got that way because of how I'd bust up double plays. But that's the way I was taught to play baseball, in the minors, by Jo-Jo White."

"And my knees hurt if I just brush against them. That's from banging into outfield walls. And I still don't have any feel in the ring finger and little finger of my right hand, from when I broke my hand in '65."

Maris announced plans to retire from baseball after the 1966 season. Then the Yankees traded him to the St. Louis Cardinals. He played two more years for them. (It was Cardinal owner August Busch who helped establish Maris in his present business.)

"With the Yankees," said Maris, "I was booted for 81 games at home, and for 81 games on the road. You say it doesn't affect you, but it does, finally. All that stopped when I went to the National League. Oh, I got booted the first series at Shea Stadium against the Mets, but the booting stopped after that."

"I knew it would be different in St. Louis on Opening Day in '67. The team was paraded around the field in open convertibles. My name was announced and the people cheered. After those seven years in New York, I felt that, heck, there is some good left around here yet."

MARIS AS A Cardinal: Did I ever play for the Yankees?"

But no longer was he a long-ball pull-hitter, because of his injured hand. "I couldn't tell anyone because then the pitchers would know—and they found out soon enough. But I became a guy who tried to punch the ball over the third baseman's head.

"Finally, I couldn't stand to play any more. I'd had my fill of it. The game itself was enjoyable, but the traveling was the big factor. It's not the kind of life for a family man... it's all in what you like."

Maris now has six children, ranging in age from four to 12.

Roger Jr., 11, and Kevin, 9, play in the local Little League. "I haven't encouraged them to play, and I haven't stopped them," he said. "They haven't asked for my help, and so I haven't done nothin' with either one. Better they play the way they want to."

Would he want to return to baseball, as a coach or manager?

"I don't say I'd never want to, but right now I like it down here in this small town and I'd let the other guys do it up there. It's fun to sit back and watch

"You know, but I was happy my first year in New York, in 1960, before the writers stuck the poison pen up my tail. But now, when I think about the good times, I think that I was just as happy my first year in the big leagues in 1957 with Cleveland, as I ever was."

"I remember we played the White Sox, and Billy Pierce was pitching against us. They beat us 2-1. I think. But I got most of our hits. I went three-for-five. We only got five hits altogether."

"I remember that a couple days later I got my first major league homer, up in Detroit. It was with the bases loaded. I don't think many guys can say that their first big-league homer was with the bases loaded. But don't print that, it might sound like bragging."

"But the 61 homers? I don't think much about that. It's in the past. And I'm too busy now, anyway. Maybe it'll become important to me when I'm 65 or 70. Maybe then I'll think about it, and enjoy it."

Fish Tagged At Greenbelt

CLARENDON — Merchants of Clarendon and Greenbelt Lake have contributed more than $800 to tag fish in Greenbelt Lake as a highlight to the annual Fish Rodeo.

The fish, which are worth $10 through $100, were caught and tagged and released by the State Fish and Game Department.

Fish weighing up to 9 pounds were tagged. Among the species awaiting the lucky anglers are bass, channel cat, crappie and hybrid perch.

A complete list of tagged fish is posted at Mooring Place at Greenbelt Lake.

The rodeo will end Sept. 7.

PRIMEAU SIGNED

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — The Oakland Athletics have signed Dennis Primeau, a shortstop, from St. Clair Community College in Livonia, Mich., as a free agent. He was the third choice of the A's in the free agent draft and was assigned to Burlington, Iowa, of the Midwest League.

A NEW FACE on Highland General Hospital greets passers by on Hobart Street. An emergency drive-way, is just one of the new improvements made in the $1.4 million project. Completion date for all construction is Nov. 25. Bonds and federal funds have financed the construction project.

PAST HALF-WAY MARK

Hospital Project Continues

NEW SWITCHBOARD installed at Highland General Hospital keeps the communications organized. Mrs. Isabel Keith, Amarillo, left, a business service instructor for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., instructs hospital operator, Mrs. Bun Hill, 1216 Garland, in the proper operation of the switchboard.

A new coat of paint to replace the old green that made Pampano sick of the thought of getting sick is only a part of the $1,442,119 construction and improvement project going on at Highland General Hospital. Wes Langham, hospital administrator, said the project is about 50 per cent complete, with administrative offices, ambulance entrance, receptionist's area, laboratory, X-Ray facilities, pharmacy, housekeeping and central supply units already completed.

Central supply, housekeeping, and pharmacy are located in the basement of the hospital. The supply unit stocks medical and surgical supplies for distribution to various areas of the hospital and sterilizes reusable medical and surgical supplies.

A pharmacy, which stocks more than 3,000 medicinal items, provides patients with up-to-date prescription items.

The housekeeping department houses uniforms and cleaning supplies and takes care of cleaning chores for the hospital.

On the first floor, a new laboratory uses modern equipment to test blood and skin samples for disease. Equipment such as the Coulter Counter separates and counts red and white blood cells.

The X-ray lab uses modern equipment to help in diagnosing the patients' illness. A fluoroscope machine has a television monitoring system to allow doctors to video-tape the results of tests for future reference.

After charts are made, the tapes can be erased and reused.

A new switchboard, located near the new main entrance on the northwest side of the hospital, helps operators keep more effective communications between hospital departments and outside callers.

Administrative offices are also located near the main entrance.

A circular emergency drive on the west side of the building allows emergency vehicles to enter near a five room emergency unit which is scheduled for completion in about 90 days.

Under construction on the second floor of the hospital is a coronary and intensive care unit. Modern equipment will be used in treatment of heart patients and those with injuries or illnesses requiring almost constant care.

Kitchen facilities at the hospital have been moved into temporary quarters while the old kitchen is being remodeled to include new serving equipment and dietician's offices.

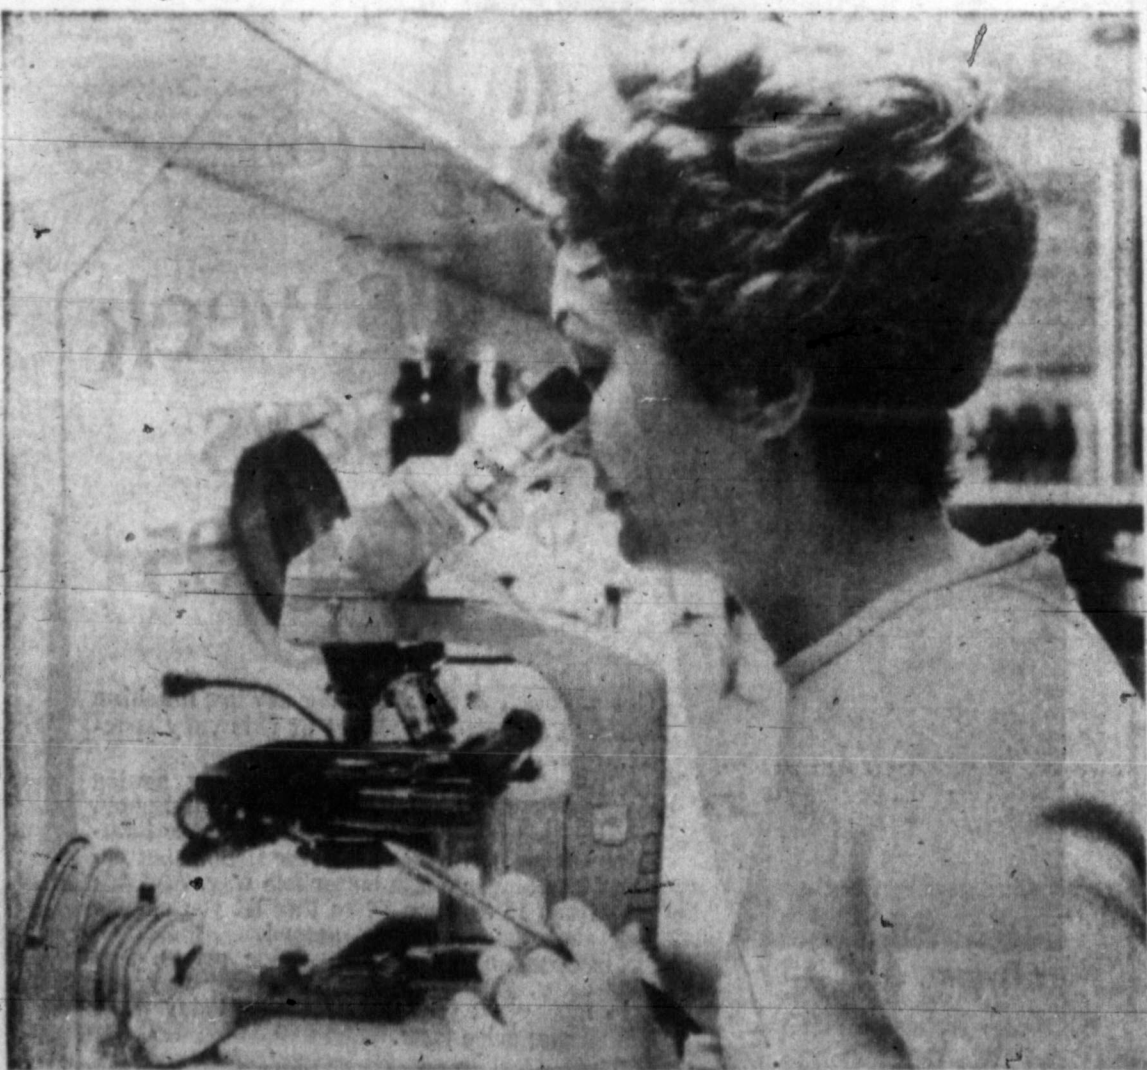

The construction work under contract to Reid Strickland Construction Co. of Amarillo, began Aug. 25, 1968, and is scheduled for completion Nov. 25.

The project is being financed by $850,000 in bonds approved by voters of Gray County in November of 1967 and by $592,119 in federal funds, $418,693 of which has already been received by the county.

FILLING REQUISITIONS for supplies for various departments of the hospital is Mrs. Myrtle Brock, LVN, 910 S. Banks. The Central Supply unit of the hospital stocks and sterilizes medical and surgical supplies.

HEMATOLOGY of blood cells is being performed by Joy Bivins, 1037 Cinderella in the new laboratory at Highland General Hospital. The lab employs modern equipment to perform pathological tests on patients.

X-RAY ROOM demonstration is given by X-Ray technician Dick Kastem, 710 N. Russell. Assisting Kastem in demonstrating the new X-Ray equipment is Jo Ann Greer, 325 Miami, an X-Ray department helper.

Couple Pledges Vows In Catholic Church

Elizabeth Kay Falkenstein repeated nuptial vows with Phillip Arthur Frischmuth in a double-ring marriage service June 28 in St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church. The Rev. W. V. Brennan C.M., officiated for the 3 p.m. services.

Dr. R. D. Falkenstein of Pampa. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Frischmuth, Hermiston, Ore.

with cap sleeves, an empire waist and scoop neckline. The bodice and center front of her skirt were appliqued in heavy white lace. The back was buttoned with tiny covered buttons.

Her short veil of white illusion was centered with tiered bows covered with lace appliques and pearls. The bride's bouquet was fashioned of phaeonopsis orchids and English ivy.

Other bridal attendants were Kathy Kistner, Sunnyvale, Calif., and the bride's sisters, Mrs. Patricia Brittain, Atlanta, Ga., Mrs. Patrick Flood, Quantico, Va., and Mrs. Barbara Nation, Pampa. They were all dressed in yellow shantung empire gowns and carried nosegays of yellow and white daisies.

Patrick Frischmuth of Spokane, Wash., assisted his brother as best man. Groomsmen and ushers were Mark Falkenstein, Lt. Gary Heller, Chicago, Ill., Lt. Richard Lambert, Perry, Okla., and David Ruesser, Milwaukee, Ore.

Acolytes were Mark Hudson, Matthew Hudson, and Michael Falkenstein. Twin daughters of Maj. and Mrs. Patrick Flood, Karen and Kerry Flood, were flower girls.

Tracy D. Cary, organist, played the "Romeo and Juliette" theme and also sang the "Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Jack Edwards.

Spiral candelabra entwined with salal foliage flanked the altar. Urns of white snapdragons and majestic daisies completed the background. Pews of honor were noted with white satin bows, killian daisies and salal foliage.

The bridegroom's mother was Lee Ann Timmons pledged wedding vows with Ted Cochran in an evening candlelighted service June 26 in the Fellowship Baptist Church. The Rev. Elbert Gilliam, of Oklahoma City, Okla., an uncle of the bride, officiated for the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Timmons, of Lefors. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Cochran, Pampa.

The church was decorated with a fern-covered archway and an arrangement of white mums and gladiolas. Spiral candle holders and a kneeling bench were placed near the altar. The Bible given to the bride by her maid of honor was placed on the register table and opened to Matthew 19:6.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was dressed in a formal floor-length wedding gown of peau de soie designed with a scoop neckline and empire waistline with an A-line silhouette and long sleeves tapered into a point at the wrists.

Inserts of Alencon lace with tiny seed pearls enhanced the bodice and front of her gown. An attached chapel train complimented the gown. Her

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I was walking along the street with a woman I know casually when I saw a folded $3 bill on the sidewalk. I picked it up. The woman quickly said, "Ackie"—which is a word children used years ago in order to lay claim to something.

This woman said she was entitled to half because she had said, "Ackie." I was stunned to see a grown woman behave that way, but without thinking, I said I'd give her half.

I then changed my mind after telling several people about the incident and they immediately told me she wasn't entitled to anything.

I called this woman and told her that I had given the $3 to charity.

The following day I encountered this woman's husband. I said "hello" to him and his reply was, "I don't want to talk to you—you are a pig!"

Please advise me whether I was right in not giving her half?

NEW YORKER

DEAR NEW YORKER: You should have given the woman

ENGAGED

Margaret Walker

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Daniel Walker, Arvada, Colo., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Margaret Willene Walker, to Paul David Parry Jr., Garden Grove, Calif. Miss Walker and her parents are former Pampa residents. Mrs. Walker is the former Lois Richey, a Pampa High School graduate. Her husband is a White Deer High School graduate. Miss Walker and her fiancé will pledge marriage vows at 7 p.m. July 10 at Calvary Temple in Denver, Colo. She attended the University of Colorado and is a bridal consultant in Denver. Her fiancé is a June, 1970 graduate of Pasadena College, Pasadena, Calif., and has accepted an associate pastorate with Christian and Missionary Alliance Church of Glendale, Calif.

half—not because she said "Ackie" (in my day, we said "Dibs"), but because you said you would. I agree: it's a childish stunt, but that's beside the point. As for her husband, it's easy to see what those two saw in each other. They're both juvenile.

DEAR ABBY: I heard you speak last Thursday for the Pasadena Mental Health Association, and while driving home I was reminded of this little rhyme entitled "Washout," by Sibyl Krausz:

"I know what every woman needs
As she performs, grows older;
A true and understanding friend
To lend a wetproof shoulder.
And who, when they shall meet again,
Forgets the things she told her?
That's the way I feel about you."

Sincerely,
HELEN

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 years old and in the seventh grade. My parents make me go to bed at 8:30 on school nights. This is very embarrassing to me when someone at school asks me if I saw the good movie on TV last night and I have to say no.

All the other kids in my class can stay up until 10 p.m. or 10:30. I'm sick of it!

There is a girl who knows me real well and she's spread it all over the whole school that I go to bed at 8:30. What time do you think I should go to bed, Abby? I have heard that dumb old saying, "Early to bed, early to rise, makes a person healthy, wealthy, and wise," but it hasn't done much for me, and besides, they didn't have television then.

TO BED
with THE CHICKENS

DEAR TO BED:—Of all the reasons for wanting to do something, "because everybody else does" is the weakest. Every family has its own life style, and your bedtime should be when your parents say it is. (P.S. Cheer up—Summer vacation is here!)

CONFIDENTIAL TO: "Hav It" in Tulsa:—You could be right. At a symposium on "The Future of Cities," Margaret Mead, the famed anthropologist, put it this way. "At least 50 per cent of the human race doesn't want their mother-in-law within walking distance."

Candlelighted Wedding, Vows Unite Charis Monroe, Frank Brangan Jr.

Baskets of white stock daisies and gladiolas decorated the Holy Cross Catholic Church in Bay City as the Rev. Joe Vrana read double-ring candlelighted marriage vows for Charis Lynn Monroe and Frank Brangan Jr.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Jean Monroe of Bay City. Former Pampans, the bride also attended school here through the ninth grade. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F.J. Brangan of Bay City.

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her uncle, A.L. Northcutt of Bay City, the bride wore an original gown of peau de soie, complimented by seed pearls and lace motifs. A chapel length train was attached from the shoulders and was appliqued with lace outlined by seed pearls.

The square neckline was highlighted with lace appliques adorned with seed pearls. The long bell sleeves of chiffon and peau de soie were accented with lace motifs. The veil of silk illusion was fastened to a cluster of peau de soie French roses. The bride carried a cascade of English ivy, French carnations, and stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

ATTENDANTS

Bridal attendants were Mrs. Myra Galle of Bay City, the matron of honor; and Marie Naiser of El Campo, the maid of-honor. Other attendants for the bride were Mrs. Kaye Weeks, of Wharton, Evelyn Hennig of Houston, Susie Brangan and Mickie Brangan, both sisters of the bridegroom.

All were dressed in hot pink empire dresses with Juliette sleeves accented with braid and carried cascade bouquets of mixed Spring flowers entwined with miniature English ivy.

Leonard Glass of La Porte was best man, assisted by Richard Bricker, Jimmy Brangan, and Chris Brangan, all brothers of the bridegroom. Bobby Schuriger of San Antonio and Donnie Brangan of San Antonio, Jack Drapela and Audie Northcutt Jr. seated wedding guests.

Organist Karen Hoppe played the traditional wedding march and accompanied vocalists, the novices of Villa de Mater Convent of Houston who sang several selections throughout the folk mass wedding.

RECEPTION

For the reception in the church cafeteria, the six-tiered wedding cake was decorated with pink and white roses. Paula Arnold and Linda Svetlik served cake as Mrs. James R. Clough registered guests.

Others assisting with the reception were Mrs. Thomas Hill and Mrs. Phillip Huvor who assisted at the bridegroom's table, and Mrs. Gary Yates and Mrs. Ray Zottarelle.

For her traveling costume, the bride selected a three-piece suit with an orchid corsage.

The bride graduated from Bay City High School and has attended Wharton County Junior College. The bridegroom graduated from Bay City High School and is serving with the United States Navy. The couple plan to live in Long Beach, Calif., where the bridegroom is stationed.

A rehearsal dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. F.J. Brangan at the Bay City Country Club.

Out-of-town guests attended from Houston, Deer Park, LaPorte, Tomball, Hitchcock, Refugio, Victoria, Tilden, Corpus Christi, Bay Town, San Antonio, El Campo and Port Lavaca.

Linda Ruth Johnson Weds David Mack

MR. AND MRS. DAVID RICHARD MACK
near Linda Ruth Johnson

Linda Ruth Johnson became the bride of David Richard Mack in an evening ceremony in Central Baptist Church. Jerry Bryan, pastor of Bereah Bible Church of Amarillo, read the marriage service as the couple exchanged rings.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert D. Johnson, 934 E. Francis. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. E.H. Mack, Cherry Hill, N.J.

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a formal, floor-length wedding gown of bridal satin designed with sabrina neckline, A-line silhouette and long puffed sleeves. Inserts of Alencon lace enhanced the neckline, bodice and front of her gown, which was fashioned with sleeves of Angel Skin peau de soie. An attached chapel train complimented her gown.

The veil of imported illusion fell from a coil. She carried a double cymbidium orchid with split carnation cascade arrangement atop a white Bible.

ATTENDANTS

The bride's attendant was her sister, Mary Ellen Johnson, who wore a blue floor-length formal and carried a colonial arrangement of blue and white gladiolus flowers in a lace holder. David Richard Mack Sr. assisted his son as best man. The bridegroom's brothers, Bruce Mack, Glenn Mack and Steve Mack seated the guests with Glen Mack and Bruce Mack as candle lighters.

Jerry Kelly was organist for vocalist Mrs. Joyce Bryan. Organ selections were "This Guy's In Love With You," and the "Romeo and Juliet" theme. Mrs. Bryan sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Snapdragons and fugi mums in urns were placed on white columns near a pair of 15-branched gold spiral candelabras centered with palms.

RECEPTION

During the reception in the Fellowship Hall, the serving table was accented with a blue floral centerpiece and bridal bouquet. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with wedding bells and Lily of the Valley with blue roses.

Mrs. Wayne Burton and Mrs. Gary Jones assisted at the punch and coffee service as Mrs. T.R. Kelly and Mrs. W.W. Cotts served cake. Patricia Johnson, the bride's sister, registered guests. Others assisting with the reception were Ladele Price, Mrs. Austin Ruddick and Mrs. J.B. Fife.

For the honeymoon trip to Erie, Pa., the bride traveled in a three-piece pink suit with an orchid corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a 1966 graduate of Pampa High School and graduated from Bob Jones University in 1970, and plans to teach second grade. The bridegroom will complete his college training in Cherry Hill, N.J., and plans to attend Westminster Theological Seminary in Philadelphia, Pa.

A pre-nuptial courtesy extended the bride was a bridal shower in Mrs. Linden Sanders' home, 1308 W. Crawford.

Out-of-town guests were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Stella Everett, Winter Garden, Fla., and Barbara Mack, Carolyn Mack, the bridegroom's sisters of Cherry Hill, N.J.

The bridegroom's mother wore a pink suit with white accessories and white carnations corsage. The bride's mother was dressed in a green suit with beige accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

Outdoor Structures For Mobile Homes

Mobile homes are often permanently sited now, and owners seek the same amenities as owners of conventional housing.

First priorities are usually carports, outdoor storage, and outdoor living areas complete with decks and privacy fencing.

Wedding Ceremony Unites Area Couple

WHEELER (Sp) — Donna Gayle Grimes and Johnny Dorise Hutchinson were married Saturday evening at Stamford.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will H. Grimes of O'Donnell. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dorise Hutchinson of Wheeler.

The Rev. Jack Southerland performed the marriage vows. Mrs. James Self was organist. The music was presented by Marilee Million, soloist, and the bride's father, who played a violin solo.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Richard Purcell of Lake Jackson, sister of the bride. Maids of honor were Vickie Teichelman of Sagerton and Linda Nehrina of Stamford. Bridesmaids were Cynthia Hanks of Abilene and Barbara Scatterwhite of Kingsville. Flower girl was Lisa Rene Jones-niece of the bridegroom. Ring bearer was Matthew Purcell, nephew of the bride. Larry Hampton of Wheeler was best man. Groomsman were Aubrey Griffin of Stamford, Van Grimes of O'Donnell, Steve Hampton of Wheeler and Jerry Jones of Grand Prairie, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

Ernest Park of Abilene, Ted Dement of Clyde and Richard Purcell of Lake Jackson, brother-in-law of the bride, seated the guests.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a bouffant silhouette gown of white organza and lace with a basque bodice, Sabrina neckline and bishop sleeves. The front skirt was five-tiered with broad lace trim. A detachable wateau train extended to the shoulders.

A solidly pearled toque held her fingertip veil of candlelight silk illusion. She carried a cascade of white orchids with white roses, ivy leaves and satin streamers with white pearls.

The bride's attendants wore gowns of white chiffon with white bodices on yellow controlled skirts. Dull satin bands of mimosa encircled empire waists. The necklines and sleeves were trimmed with ruching trim. Headdresses were made of white daisies on satin ribbons. They carried nosegays of white and yellow daisies.

The bride is a graduate of Stamford High School and attended McMurry College. The bridegroom is a graduate of Wheeler High School and is a senior finance major at McMurry. They will reside in Abilene.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at the Cliff House in Stamford.

Diana Costleberry

WHEELER (Sp) — Mrs. Florine Jackson Costleberry announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Diana, to Weldon Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Colie Parker of Briscoe. An August wedding is planned.

Phyllis Brashears, Dennis Clay Repeat Evening Nuptial Vows

WHEELER (Sp) — Wedding vows were exchanged in a candlelight ceremony Friday evening by Miss Phyllis Brashears and Dennis Leroy Clay in the First Christian Church of Shamrock at 8 p.m. Shirley Curry, minister of the Church of Christ of Seagraves, formerly of Shamrock, officiated in the double-ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Brashears of Shamrock. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elvyn Clay of Richardson.

Decorations featured a tall basket-arrangement of yellow gladioli, centering the altar, flanked by brass candelabra holding votive candles forming half-circles of light. The prayer bench completed the setting. Pews were marked with tall single candelabra entwined in greenery and tied with yellow satin bows.

Miss Candy Dodgen played a prelude including "More", "Love Theme" from "Romeo and Juliet", "Liebestraum", "Melody of Love" and "Traumeri".

The organist accompanied Miss Sharon Wells as she sang "Somewhere" and "Today". As the couple knelt at the altar, she played "One Hand, One Heart". Traditional wedding marches were played for the processional and recessional.

Mrs. Wendell LeBlanc, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Kay Brashears, sister of the bride, and Miss Debbie Clay, of Richardson, sister of the bridegroom were bridesmaids. Miss Sudie Brashears, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

The attendants wore floor-length gowns of yellow organza fashioned with empire waistlines, a high collar and puffed sleeves. Their veils were of yellow illusion held by cluster of yellow roses. They carried white baskets of yellow pom-poms and English ivy, with avocado green velvet bows and tulle.

Darwin Vinyard, cousin of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Mark Young of Lubbock and Kelley Williams. Groomsman were Mike Moore of Stillwater, Okla., Charles Long of Albuquerque, N.M., and Paul Brashears, brother of the bride.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her brother, Truman Brashears.

She was attired in a formal gown of candlelight peau satin, styled with a lace yoke and high neckline formed with a frill of lace. She wore a red ingote with long traditional sleeves terminating in petal points over the wrists.

Her long veil of English illusion, edged in English lace, fell from a satin circle and swept into a chapel length. She carried a cascade bouquet centered with a white orchid and encircled with white feathered carnations, accented with pearls and showered with yellow forget-me-nots and tulle.

The mother of bride selected a dress in a shade of aqua, with matching hat and white accessories. The mother of the bridegroom chose a pink dress with a matching hat and white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of gardenias tied with gold ribbon.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the bride's home. In the receiving line were the parents of the couple, the bride and bridegroom and her attendants. They stood before a wall candelabra and tall baskets of yellow mums and pom-poms.

The bride's table was covered with a cloth of white linen and lace centered with a tall silver candelabra and the matron of honor's basket of flowers. The wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and the punch bowl completed the arrangement. Alternating at the serving were Miss Greta Taylor, Miss Vickie Gregg and Mrs. Kenneth Abernathy.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Shamrock High School. Mr. Clay is a sophomore student at Kilgore Junior College in Kilgore.

For travel the bride wore an A-line dress of blue linen complimented with white accessories. She wore the white orchid corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Following a wedding trip to points in Texas, the couple will be at home in Shamrock this (See BRASHEARS, Page 16)

Your Horoscope

JEANE DIXON

SUNDAY, JULY 5
YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: Your strongly emotional nature supplies your drive to more meaningful friendships all through the year. Where romantic ventures are already started, they come on strongly, perhaps to crisis; where you have none going, several possibilities arise. Your life runs fairly steadily despite many noisy changes, particularly in September and October. Today's natives tend to be easy-going but steady workers with a thirst for knowledge.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Unusual conditions are par for this Sunday. Your creative activity promises an abrupt breakthrough. Romance arrives suddenly where least expected.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Home life comes on with a luxurious overtone. Devise new angles in your hobbies. Health measures are more readily undertaken. Invite friends to share your evening.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Close relatives have all sorts of news. Introductions now lead perhaps to lasting cooperation. You learn more by using fewer but more searching questions.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Skip some of the public routines and favor your home affairs. Relax, yet make a long and productive day of it, including plans for the future.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You are fairly free to do as you please. Think of some creative business in which you can develop a new idea. Short journeys, time with relatives bring satisfaction.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Seek pursuits which require little energy and where you have been remiss lately. Charitable work, religious activity are strongly favored.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You are an escapist this Sunday—so use your imagination. Social contacts turn out to be exceptionally interesting.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Aside from some probable minor surprises, this Sunday will give you no special problem. Get an early start and indulge in your usual weekend activities.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): The temptation is to share the whole day in pleasant pastimes with friends. Take some time out for reflection.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Serious details now almost certainly require change of direction. There is a financial angle to be followed up. The evening is for planning and research.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Anything you do today needs a novel approach. It all promises to be quite interesting. Serious study, prayer fit well into the evening.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): New insights into the reasons your friends and neighbors do things can make your life more rewarding. Find time in the evening for meditation.

MONDAY, JULY 6
YOUR BIRTHDAY MONDAY: You now begin a search for better expression of your talents. A natural tendency toward doing more than talking is offset by self-training in dramatizing issues. Your skills in public improve. Life takes on a more poignant quality. It is a period of positive growth. Monday's natives make faithful agents and custodians. They have great energy and strong feelings.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Open the week with normal routines and a definite plan for your work. Beginning early is helpful as things probably don't start out smoothly.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Monday may see an important meeting of minds; try to communicate clearly. Family and neighborhood issues distract you from your work.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Chance conversations bring helpful information, an idea for new earnings. Your problem Monday is most likely your attitude and approach to old issues.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): From a slow start the day works out well in financial matters. Put in full time with consistent efforts on established plans. Rest early.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Bearing in mind that some people are reluctant to boast, and others have serious doubts, proceed full speed ahead with faith that it will come out right.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Try to mend matters and make peace. Petitions to important people are favored now. In private matters, discretion is essential.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Something new can be done to open the way for you Monday. Start your job early. Older people and their troubles can be quite expensive for the moment.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Business contacts work out smoothly, while personal matters tend to be hindered. Your career needs your complete concentration. Catch up with record-keeping.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Aside from your practice with chores the day is productive. The later hours specially favor bids for advancement, sentimental ventures.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Your attitudes are important to people around you, so let your feelings show. Children, yours or others, require your personal attention.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You get your way more easily by letting people figure it out for themselves. Family progress is better than you think. Let well enough alone in the evening.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): There is somebody in your path for whom you must wait for work around. Considerably more help is at hand if you will give people time to react. Keep at it!

MRS. LARRY KENT GARMON
nee Connie Sue Winegeart

Couple Says Vows In Pampa Church

Baskets of white mums and gold spiral candelabra placed before the altar in Calvary Baptist Church formed the setting for the wedding ceremony of Connie Sue Winegeart and Larry Kent Garmon. The Rev. E. W. Boyle, pastor of the church, read the couple's double-ring marriage vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Winegeart, 1116 Darby. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Garmon, 930 E. Campbell.

BRIDE
 Given in marriage by her father, with the "her Mother and I" avowal, the bride was dressed in a long white wedding gown of Venice lace and otoman which was trimmed on the short sleeves and sabinra neckline with Venice lace. The A-line skirt of ottoman fabric fell from a bodice of Venice lace.

Her chapel-length train was cut into the body of her gown which was edged in Venice lace daisies. She wore a sixpence in her shoe and a blue garter given to her by Mrs. G. W. Hunt. Her three-tiered, silk illusion veil was attached to a coil of Venice lace embroidered with seed pearls and crystals. She carried a cascade bouquet arrangement of white catalpa with white lace mums and natural ivy streamers.

ATTENDANTS
 Mrs. Larry Davis, Tucson, Ariz., assisted her twin sister as matron of honor and wore an empire A-line dress of light mint accented with a back pleat and floor-length bow. She carried a colonial arrangement of white pom poms with natural greenery.

Donna Bowen, Pampa, served as maid of honor and was dressed in a light mint A-line empire waist dress fashioned with a white lace top. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow pom poms with natural greenery.

Other bridal attendants were Mrs. Doss Dupuis, Amarillo, and Janie Winegeart, the bride's sisters, and Mrs. Larry Taylor, all of Pampa; Mrs. Carl Houston, a cousin of the bride from Joppa, Md.; and Mrs. Tommy Crawford, of Pampa. All were dressed similarly to the maid of honor.

Jesse Whitson, Pampa, assisted the bridegroom as best man. Groomsman were Troy Garmon of Oklahoma City, Jerry Garmon, and David Garmon, all brothers of the bridegroom, and Terry Chennault of Oklahoma City, Burt Morrison and Philip Elsheimer. Morrison and Elsheimer also seated wedding guests.

Michelle Dupuis, a niece of the bride, and Kim Garmon, the bridegroom's sister, were flower girls. Candelighters, Betty Winegeart and Judy Parker, the bride's cousins, wore solid mint empire A-line dresses.

Mrs. A. C. Malone, organist, played "Traumerli," "Whither Thou Goest," "Bless This House," "A Time For Us," and "O Promise Me," and accompanied Terry Scoggin, vocalist, as he sang "True Love," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer." Honored guests and family members were seated in pews marked with bows.

RECEPTION
 An arrangement of yellow roses accented the light green cloth for the reception in the church's Fellowship Hall. A three-tiered cake with three mint green bells on top was served by Mrs. Troy Garmon of Oklahoma City. Mrs. Barton Selman registered guests as Mrs. Jerry Garmon assisted at the punch service. Timmy and Pam Garmon distributed rice bags after the reception.

The bridegroom's mother was dressed in a two-piece lilac suit with white accessories. The bride's mother wore a two-piece

Miss Stackhouse, Richard E. Guynes Exchange Vows

WHEELER (Sp.)—Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Guynes are at home in San Diego, Calif., following their recent wedding in the First Methodist Church in Borger.

The bride is the former Miss Susan Diane Stackhouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren G. Stackhouse. Mr. Guynes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde R. Guynes of Phillips. Grandparents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Dick Guynes and Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Weaterly of Wheeler.

Officiant for the double-ring ceremony was the Rev. John C. Denton.

Miss Linda Wilkerson was maid of honor. Best man was Mickey Guynes, brother of the bridegroom.

Reception guests were received in the Garden Room of the church following the nuptial service.

BETROTHED

Beckey Bichsel, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bichsel, White Deer, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Beckey Bichsel, to Arnold E. Baten, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Baten, 940 E. Francis. Marriage vows will be pledged July 11 in Sacred Heart Catholic Church in White Deer. Miss Bichsel is employed in Pampa; her fiance graduated from Pampa High School in 1964 after serving two years in the military service, including one year's duty in Vietnam. Since returning to Pampa, he has been employed at an automobile parts store.

attended Pampa schools and is employed as assistant manager at a Pampa grocery.

Pre-nuptial events included a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Tommy Crawford, Mrs. Larry Taylor and Donna Bowen in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Building, and a miscellaneous shower sponsored by members of Calvary Baptist Church, Mrs. Graham Reeves, Mrs. J. W. Jennings, Mrs. Robert Reddell, Mrs. Myrel Looper and Mrs. Leon Holmes.

Paint a small rock, and presto!—you have a new paperweight or doorstop. An article in an issue of a family magazine suggests washing your rock selection, and examining it closely. If it's relatively smooth, use acrylic paints—available in jars or tubes at most art-supply stores. Paints come in regular or fluorescent colors. If your rock actually feels glassy, try adding a decal.

Phyllis Cole

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cole, 1818 N. Nelson, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Phyllis Ann Cole, to Henry Contreras, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Contreras, Amarillo. A mid-August wedding is planned.

LITTLE GEMS:

What Do You Do To Escape Summer Heat?

Terry Westman, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Leibel, Eu. Nev.

"I try not to engage in strenuous endeavors... like mowing lawns or making any important decisions."

Coby Root Newman, two-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Newman, 1807 Faulkner.

"Oh! I just run around in my topless diapers."

Yamara Dawn Newman, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Newman, 1807 Faulkner.

"I picture a shady cove, damp sand, and ocean spray on my face with a handsome lifeguard standing nearby."

Ewin Coufrie, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Goehrie, Independence, Mo., visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Coufrie.

"I just add a few more ice cubes to my double figger of soda pop and sip it in the shade."

Center Wrap-Up

George Smith, Director, Pampa Youth and Community Center

An activity especially designed for the teen taste is our teen dance. These are held each Friday night during the summer from 9-12 p.m. All teens are invited to attend these affairs. All dances are well-chaperoned by adults, mostly parents who are interested in giving them a wholesome place for recreation. If you have not been asked to act as a chaperone, why not give us a call and volunteer.

The Center is always scheduling the best bands available in the Panhandle area. These include Tyme, Euphoria, Cords, Motifs, Beaver Express, Company's Cornin', Wolfgang and Nirvana. If you have a favorite band, give us a call and we will try to schedule them.

JUDO:

An activity which has not received much publicity in the USA is judo. Not many people know that this sport will be scheduled in the next Olympics. To help the USA to further this sport and to get it before the people, we have been sponsoring judo lessons. We have had our own Center judo club for the past two years. This sport is the manly art of self-defense and is very interesting to participate in.

Our instructors for the club are Paul and Sam Moot. Paul is at present in Japan studying and learning more from the experts on this sport. His father is conducting the classes this summer. If you are a male, 8 years of age and older including adults, you are invited to join. You need only be a Center member to participate. This incidentally, only requires your paying your dues. Why not come out on a Monday or Thursday night from 7-8:30 p.m. and learn more about our club. You will be very welcome.

SWIM LESSONS:

Although most of our classes for swim lessons are already full, we have listed the lessons below. We are still taking alternates to this program and you could have a chance to take someone else's place. Just give us a call and check our schedule.

All of the classes meet for one hour during the mornings for 10 meeting days. These days are Monday through Friday from 9-12. Each class is conducted by a qualified Red Cross Water Safety Instructor the highest caliber and assisted by Red Cross aides. Classes are-under the direct supervision of Mrs. Jackie Marlar with instructors being Beverly Nelms, Ruth Carter, Mary Nell Phillips, Ann Williams and Judy Everett. The Classes are:

July 13-24
9:00—Intermediates
10:00—Swimmers
11:00—Beginners.

HEALTH FACILITY:

The Center has had a new addition since October of '69 in the form of a healthy facility. This is the large building South of the driveway and houses a fully equipped health room which features a Finnish sauna, sun lamp, exercise machines, individual showers—2 handball courts plus other features to make it one of the finest health facilities in the area.

All of this equipment is at your finger tips; leg press machine, calf machine, leg extension machine, thigh extension, treadmill, bicycles, vibrators, abdominal boards, barrel rollers, incline bench, flat bench, supine bench, barbells, dumbbells, Swiss Contour facial machine, exercow, motorized exercisers, and a jungle pulley machine. Attendants are always on duty to serve and pamper you.

The membership rates for this unlimited membership is very reasonable. For an individual six months membership the cost is only $65 or for a year $118.

We do allow you to pay the six months membership out on a contract basis which requires a down payment of $15.50 and 5 monthly payments of $10.50. A husband-wife combination membership sells for $90—or $166. Paid out this would be $23.87 down and 5 payments of $13.87. The women use the facility each morning and Tues. and Thurs. nights; the men during the afternoons and nights.

Mainly About Wheeler

By RENA SIVAGE

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Richardson spent the weekend in Amarillo with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Helton and children Mr. and Mrs. White and son. They came back by White Deer and visited with Mr. and Mrs. Rondel Richardson and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sivage and Miss Cindy Smith returned home Sunday after a week's visit at Platt National Park at Sulphur Okla. They were met there by Mr. and Mrs. George Dalton, Mrs. Lena Langley and Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Odil of Princeton. The families camped there for the week and reported a very enjoyable time.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Abernathy of Tucson, Ariz., are the parents of a daughter, she arrived Saturday June 20, weighing 9 lbs. and 3 ounces, and was given the name of Karla Renee. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Garland Abernathy of Kelton, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Pond of Stinnett, and the great-grandmother is Mrs. Nannie Abernathy of Kelton.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Johnson of Kelton visited Sunday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hunt. Dave Britt, who was injured in a car wreck recently, is reported out of intensive care now and improving some at this time. He is in room 245 Anthony's Hospital and would appreciate cards and letters from his friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Verbon Smith and Cindy left Wednesday for Sacramento, Calif., to visit with Mr. Smith's brother who lives there. They will meet their son Pvt. Joe Lee Smith who is stationed at Fort Ord, Calif., and visit him while in California.

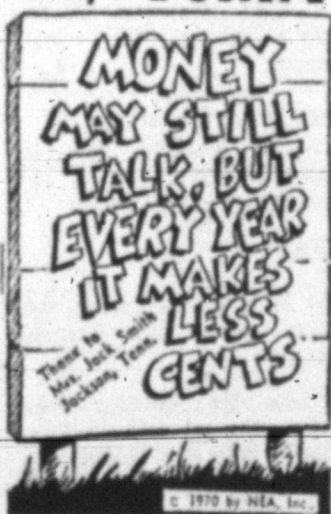

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Moore left June 12th for a visit in Washington, D.C., with their son, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Moore and family. Bobby has just recently undergone serious back surgery and is doing real well at this time. They also went on to Lynchburg, Va., where they visited with their daughter Mr. and Mrs. Doug Williams and sons, returning to Amarillo a week later. They, and the twins who had spent the week in Amarillo, with their sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hubbard returned home on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. David Treadwell of Hereford announce the arrival of a new daughter. She arrived on June 8th and weighed 7 pounds and 14 ounces. She was given the name of Korina Marie. Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Treadwell are the grandparents.

Mrs. Patsy Britting of Amarillo, who is attending school in Denton, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Ramsey Sunday afternoon. She drove on to Denton where she will resume classes on Monday.

Your house should be as good -

□ ADEQUATE WIRING

Somebody once figured out that the average automobile has more wiring than the average house, for its size. Your car is adequately wired to serve the many purposes needed. And, so should your house.

□ LIGHTING

The same person figured out, too, that the average car has more special purpose lights for convenience, safety, and beauty than a house. But, for the same reasons, shouldn't your house have the right kind of lighting, too?

□ COMFORTS

And, how about comforts...heaters, radios, air conditioners, convenience switches, power steering, power brakes, tape recorders, electric windows, and lots more. Does your home measure up to your automobile? It should, because you probably spend more time there.

When you're building a house...make it a home... make it as good as your automobile...make it a total electric, gold medalion!

Total ELECTRIC Living

P.S. Lots of electric power in our area. No worry about shortages. Use it...enjoy it!

More Sanction To Plunder

History demonstrates this over and over. The change to mob rule seems to be beginning in this country now.

Nearly 400 years ago Professor Alexander Fraser Tytler in England wrote: "A democracy cannot exist as a permanent form of government. It can exist only until the voters discover that they can vote themselves larges out of the public treasury. From that moment on the majority always votes for the candidate promising the most benefits from the public treasury."

Every extension of political power simply hastens the death day. Young folks may feel they are gaining a chance to have a say about whether they will be sent off to war in Southeast Asia or in the Middle East, or that they have a choice of action — by ballot rather than by rioting. But they are actually given a chance only to vote on which slavemaster will have control over their lives. Since it is the youth who will have to live through the days of democracy's suicide, giving them the vote really does "them no big favor."

Voting, in a political context, is simply a method of initiating force by the winners against the losers without resorting to actual physical force.

That being the case, we can see no good at all in extending the power to initiate force by extending the voting age. This is only an attempt by the politicians to gain the votes of those in that age group, who will, presumably, be grateful for the "favor." It's against the interests of everyone except the politicians. It increases the number who can initiate force against their neighbors via the ballot, and it enlarges the sanction for the politicians to plunder.

The universal franchise has turned this country from a republic, which at least attempted to limit political power, toward a democracy, which ultimately becomes mob rule, which in turn invites the tyrant.

End Postal Subsidies Now

If ever there was demonstrated a need for true reform of the Post Office Department, it was in the recent passage by the House of Representatives of the pseudo postal reform bill. Presumably, the bill is supposed to put the government monopoly of the mails on a self-sustaining basis by 1978. Meantime the government subsidies go on.

The House has approved the "reform" bill but has refused to do anything about the deficit which mounts higher because of the 8 per cent retroactive increase in pay for postal workers.

The cost of the 8 per cent increase is expected to amount to $538.2 million in the next fiscal year and an additional $107 million because the pay boost is made retroactive to April 18. It is now estimated that the total deficit for 1970-71 fiscal year will be $2.5 billion, which is a rather sizable subsidy for the users of the mails.

But politics got in the way. The congressmen were quick to grant the higher pay in an election year. But, also because it is election year, there was no willingness to increase the charge to help pay the cost. It was ever thus in politics.

The so-called reform program — so we are told — will take some of the politics out of the post office. However, the political president will appoint those who head the monopoly, a post office, and there are few who doubt that politics will play a major part in deciding who will be appointed. As we have said several times, the best thing that could happen would be for Congress to repeal all laws which prohibit private concerns from competing with the post office. Then if any person or corporation — or groups of companies — chose to serve the public and seek a profit, it could be done. And the competition might make the government postal service better.

In the meantime, Congress should take action immediately to end all subsidies of mail service, and the deficits of the Post Office Department.

Every class of service should pay the full cost of handling. That includes first-class and air mail; second-class service for newspapers and magazines; third-class for advertising and other bulk mail; fourth-class for packages and books. It also includes the special below-cost mailing rates for government agencies and for non-profit organizations.

We do not know what the rates should be. But, we believe it is possible to determine what it is costing the postal department to handle the various classes of mail, and levy the charges accordingly.

There is no reason why the tax payer should be required to pay a subsidy for any user of the mails, whether it be a newspaper or magazine, a congressman or a foundation. The user should pay for the services he wants.

Irrepressible Spiro

(Boston Record American)

Whatever else Spiro T. Agnew may be, he is an original. The United States has not had so colorful a vice president since Alben Barkley, Harry S. Truman's Veep, in 1949-53, and none so controversial since Henry Wallace back in the New Deal days of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Mr. Agnew, with his strong convictions and language to match, struck many people as funny when he first erupted as a distinct novelty on the national scene. Totally undaunted, he persisted in saying what comes naturally to him. People began to listen more and laugh less.

We think this is a fine thing — more power to Spiro T. Agnew. Furthermore, if President Nixon is actively encouraging him to say some of the things that have needed saying with a punch, well good for Mr. Nixon. It's high time somebody else started getting headlines besides the peaceniks and beatniks, the hippies and the yuppies, the bomb-throwers and the disruptive critics, of every traditional American value.

The vice president admittedly overstates his cases, but there is invariably basic truth in what he says. There really is a kind of intellectual snobbery and an effete weakness of character in many of the anti-war demonstrators. And there are very good reasons for believing that television and its commentators in general are more inclined to play up attacks on the President Nixon is actively encouraging him to say some

H. L. Hunt Writes

REDUCING THE SIZE OF GOVERNMENT

Last year Delaware Congressman William Roth completed a two-year study of federal assistance programs. His study highlighted once again the massive waste and duplication in the bureaucracy and the need for substantial reductions in its size and cost.

As of September 1969, there were 1,315 federal assistance programs disbursing federal funds to states, cities and towns, schools and colleges, community groups, and other recipients. Congressman Roth found that many separate agencies dealt with similar problems and that often one agency was not fully informed of the grants made in the same field by another agency.

Congressman Roth discovered 51 business and economic development programs in 14 agencies, 62 pollution and national resources programs in 9 agencies, 33 water resources and conservation programs in 8 agencies, and 453 programs to aid education in 27 different agencies.

After completing his studies, Congressman Roth stated: "The amount of good that should come from billions of taxpayers' dollars has been drained off into exorbitant administrative costs and wasteful procedures, with too few dollars finally reaching those they were meant to help."

In view of the amount of waste and duplication in these federal programs, the recent announcement that the Administration was reducing or ending 57 obsolete federal programs should be regarded as only a first small step. These reductions, according to the White House, would save a total of $2.5 billion in fiscal 1971. Yet in the past decade, the cost of non-defense domestic programs has increased at an average of $6.8 billion each year. Clearly many more federal assistance programs should be reduced or eliminated.

With Some Reservation

By INJUN WOODY

Yesterday was another 4th of July.

I remember when the whole town looked forward to a celebration. It was a gala affair, with everybody and his brother turning out for the city picnic.

Every family would pack huge baskets of home-made pickles and cakes and go to the park across the river. It wasn't really a park, just a grassy place where some of the trees had been cleared away by volunteers and with a sizable river hole for swimming nearby.

They would erect a platform for the politicians to get up on, big enough for the six piece band to sit on, but shaky enough to keep a windbag from talking too long.

I remember one time a mayor jumped up on the platform to make the speech honoring 1776. For effect, he whipped out a World War I grenade, waved it around his head, and shot his mouth off.

Those picnics were great affairs, though, with games and prizes. One time I walked off with a prize in the pie-eating contest. People those days would stay all afternoon, some would nap on the grass occasionally, and the dance would begin at sundown.

Long after dark the people would wander home. I have wondered why the 4th picnic died out. But then, nobody was afraid of muggers, rapists, sadists, or hop-heads attacking them on the way home. As I recall, even the doors to the houses were never locked.

I guess it's the situation of the times that killed off the July 4th picnic, along with the spirit.

VIEWPOINT

Network Liberals Keeping Television News That Way

By JESSE HELMS

A few years back, the top executive of the news department of one of the major television networks stopped for a brief visit. He was new on the job, and he discussed with considerable frankness his dismay at conditions he discovered when he took over. He expressed a confident dedication to "changing things."

His whole network news operation, he said, was infested with what he called "ultra-liberals." In fact, just the week before, he had removed several network employees on the West Coast whom he had found to be card-carrying communists back in the days when communists carried cards. At one point, he declared: "I just told the Boss (meaning the network president) that it was them or me."

Not surprisingly, he didn't last long. He was kicked upstairs, and today holds a perfunctory title with the network. Such duties as he may perform seem obscure. It should be added that prior to his going into television, he was a top reporter for The New York Times, and a widely-respected one. But that was in the "old days" of The New York Times.

Then, just recently, a talented young journalism graduate of a major university was in town — and he, too came by for a visit. He has a good job in New York — but he confessed that he found it necessary, as he put it, "to play a constant game" in order to maintain his chances for advancement. "I quickly learned," he said, "that the news business belongs to the liberals. If you're going to make it," he said, "you have to make it THEIR way."

Putting all the pieces together raises an interesting question: How did the news business get into such a rut? And another: Why don't the stockholders of the networks, the large newspapers of the country and the other media do something about it?

Recently, students at Campbell College heard an address by a reporter for The New York Times a relatively young native of North Carolina who has enjoyed a rather spectacular success as a presumed authority on just about everything connected with government and politics. The young man's name is Tom Wicker. Not many years ago, he was publicity man for the State Welfare Department. Needless to say, Mr. Wicker's speech at Campbell College was a 24-carat espousal of the liberal doctrine. No doubt, he made an impression upon the students who heard him. After all, who is to question the all-encompassing declarations of a "spokesman" for The New York Times?

It is not difficult to understand Vice President Agnew's comments about the leftwing bias of the major news media of America. To become a part of the country's major news mechanisms, it has been imperative that young journalists be political and philosophical "liberals" — and none others need apply.

The deadly by-product, of course, is that too many politicians are inclined to make their decisions solely in the hope that they will be praised by the news media. And the only politicians who are praised are the "liberals."

Just watch it for a few days, and see for yourself.

LOOK AT BOOK

It Pays To Do It Right

By DR. BOB JONES

Amaziah, King of Judah, was a "practical" man. He hired a hundred thousand mercenary soldiers from Israel, paying them one hundred talents of silver. These men were to join with his own armies in the wars of conquest which he planned, but God was opposed to the deal. He wanted Judah to be dependent upon Him and not upon hired soldiers. He sent a prophet to Amaziah who said, "Let not the army of Israel go with thee, for the Lord is not with Israel" (II Chronicles 25:7). Amaziah heard the prophet speak the words of the Lord and then replied, "But what shall we do for the hundred talents which I have given to the army of Israel?" (II Chronicles 25:9). God had spoken. The king's only concern should have been to do that which God commanded, but he was worried about his hundred talents.

There are many people like that today. They know what God wants them to do. They are perfectly aware of what is the right thing to do, but instead of doing it they weigh the consequences and ask themselves: How much is it going to cost them. Businessmen say, "I know that this is the right thing to do, but I can't afford to do it. It will hurt my business." Politicians say, "This is the right side of this issue. I should vote this way, but I cannot afford to. I have to stand in with my constituents. It will cost me votes." There are even some preachers who are unwilling to speak the truth because it may irritate someone who is a prominent member of the church or who helps with his financial support.

Amaziah was not the first man to raise the question about the cost of doing God's will, and he certainly was not the last. The prophet had an answer from God to Amaziah's question — "The Lord is able to give thee much more than this." It is an answer which the man who is tempted to compromise for fear of the cost might take to himself today. It pays to do right; but men should do right because it is right, even if it did not pay.

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANDSTADT

Modern Drugs Useful In Treatment of Psos

Q—What is the cause of a psos abscess? What is the best treatment?

A—A psos abscess is a "cold" (slowly forming, non-inflammatory) abscess arising from a disease, usually tuberculosis of the lumbar vertebrae. The pus formed descends into the sheath of the psos muscle, which is attached to the involved vertebra. A combination of surgery and modern antituberculosis drugs is used in its treatment.

Q—My son-in-law has tuberculosis of the kidneys. Is it catching? Can it be cured? What drugs are used in treating it? Is surgery ever necessary?

A—Tuberculosis of the kidney is not catching. It is treated with the same drugs used for pulmonary tuberculosis. Surgical removal of the diseased kidney is rarely necessary.

Q—If a person works in a tuberculosis hospital and his tests are negative, can he still be a carrier of the disease?

A—No.

Q—Is it true that radio and television give off harmful radiations?

A—Radio does not but color television sets do when viewed too closely. If the viewer sits at least six feet from the screen, there is no danger. You should avoid exposure to the sides and rear of the set when it is turned on. Manufacturers are constantly improving the safety of their sets.

Q—Will watching color television hurt the eyes?

A—Not if the room is well-lighted. Some persons with glaucoma develop ocular discomfort with prolonged viewing. At the first sign of such discomfort, they should stop looking.

Q—What happens to a person if his thymus is removed?

A—The thymus helps a child to develop the ability to combat infections. This function is completed before he reaches puberty, after which the gland shrinks and becomes less important. It may be removed from an adult because of a tumor of the gland or because one has myasthenia gravis. In either case, the health is improved.

Q—I hear there is a need for blood donors. Where can I go to volunteer?

A—Contact your local Red Cross unit.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

The Rearview Mirror

By TEX DEWEESE
Editor

THE PROPONENTS of redistricting to equalize population in Gray County's four precincts lost another round in their battle last Wednesday.

The proposal went down to a 3 to 2 defeat. Commissioners voting against it were from precincts 1, 3 and 4—representing 14 per cent of the county population.

The losers were the Pct. 2 commissioner, representing 86 per cent of the county population, and the county judge.

The judge long has been a staunch supporter of redistricting in an effort, he has stated, to live up to the Supreme Court ruling that county precincts be represented according to population instead of the geographic plan now used in Gray County.

The county judge lost his first attempt at redistricting last October.

It would appear that the battle is now at stalemate stage on sort of a rural versus urban impasse. As far as we can determine, it would seem someone is violating the Supreme Court edict. We always have been advised that the law is the law and is supposed to be followed whether you like it or not.

One would suspect, then, that down the line somewhere at sometime not too far off, there will be some sort of legal development to see that the Supreme Court ruling is carried out. So, stand by for further returns on the redistricting recount.

HOW MUCH retirement income does a couple need to live in reasonable comfort?

It's a debatable question and, we suppose, the answer would depend a lot on what kind of living standard is required by the retirees.

If you will recall, the subject was the target of hearings last year before the Senate subcommittee on Consumer Interests of the Elderly.

Nothing very definite ever came out of the hearings, but the Bureau of Labor Statistics has come up with a budget for a retired couple, designed to provide a "moderate" standard of living. The BLS budget—taking inflation into account—is now around $400 a month or $4,800 a year.

That, says BLS, would provide for "maintenance of health, social well-being and participation in community activities."

And there have been a lot of challenges to conventional thinking like that.

PAUL HARVEY NEWS

Arizona Lowers The Boom

By PAUL HARVEY

Sen. Barry Goldwater calls it "smug." He says what we see in Arizona skies is a combination of smoke and dust—"smug." But anybody who was in Arizona during the protracted copper strike knows it's more smelter smoke than anything else.

I am powerfully proud of that state which as of right now is the first in the nation to order an industrial diminution of air pollution; in effect the industries were told to "stop smoking or shut down."

The Arizona board of health did not wait until we have all the answers about pollution prevention. It simply decreed "You must limit pollution to such-and-such a minimal amount, and you figure out how."

Copper smelters must remove 90 per cent of the sulfur that goes into the smelting process and normally would be hurled into the air as sulfur dioxide.

Particulate emissions from power plants and such are regulated on a sliding scale—more control for larger installations.

The coal-fired 2.3 million kilowatt Navajo Project in Page, Arizona, will be required to remove 99.42 percent of the fine coal ash that otherwise would escape into the atmosphere over Lake Powell.

Other states remain timid when it comes to confronting industry with pollution-reduction deadlines. A threat by a big taxpaying industry to "move elsewhere" is generally enough to cause any crusading politicians to back off.

What Arizona has done is to pass a state air-pollution law requiring all affected industries to obtain operating permits from state health officials.

An industry is less inclined to challenge an order from state health officials.

Fuel-burning end smelter regulations were adopted unanimously by the Health Board, Chairman Joseph Stear-

One economic expert, who differs with the BLS budget, says $6,000 a year in 1970 prices would be a more realistic retirement minimum.

All of which is designed to preface our speed-reading of a free booklet on "Managing Your Money for Retirement." We picked it up from Aubrey Steele, the head man over at Security Federal Savings and Loan.

YOU ARE, of course, never too old to plan for retirement. But, if you are young — for goodness sake start planning now. And this booklet is one of the most helpful things in its category that we've ever found. It is jam-packed with authoritative information to help you make the most of your retirement money — and it is full of helpful hints on how to go about it.

This is no sales pitch for Security Federal, but the booklet, which is free for the asking, is so down-to-earth on this retirement planning thing that we wanted to pass the information along. Believe me, it will help you.

The only trouble is—the booklets are in limited supply, but they will go for free as long as they last, Steele said. If you can find one on the newsstand or in a book store, it will cost you 95 cents.

Personally, we wish we had run across it 100 years ago.

IT'S BUDGET time at City Hall. That's the time when city department heads figure out what they need to run their departments for the next fiscal year.

It is also the time the city manager meets with them and figures out what they DON'T need. This will go on all of the current week starting Tuesday.

Then late in September it becomes the duty of the mayor and city commission to give careful scrutiny to the formal budget requests and see if they can find any other places to cut expenses.

At least there will be no tax rate increase this year. The city manager has already stated that will not be one of his recommendations.

This is understandable. After the voters okayed the city sales tax, it is likely any tax rate hike would cause them to run down to City Hall and whop somebody over the head with that $65,000 bag of sales tax pennies that was delivered to the city finance director a week or so ago.

called a public hearing the first day of May and nobody appeared in opposition to the fuel-burning regulations.

Three Arizona power companies, which had been fighting the coal ash limitation appeared to support it.

The smelter regulation was less easily sold. Mining company spokesmen insist that 90 per cent control is not feasible. No other state has set emission standards for sulfur dioxide output from copper smelters. They protest that they "don't know how."

But Chairman Stearls says "We believe in American ingenuity." So it's up to them to figure out "how."

Board Chairman Ben Dibble said this is the way to stimulate the necessary research to develop new technology; make it mandatory; clean up or shut down.

Next the Arizona health board will consider emission standards for automobiles. By midsummer they may present an ultimatum for requiring installation of devices presently being tested for cars. Then, depollute it or park it.

Arizona, with the incomparable sterile air being polluted by progress, believes it can have both; believe we can be both prosperous and healthy.

But is the first state to dare to decree "health first."
