Asks USA To Show Concern

By KYLE THOMPSON
PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (UPI) — Members of World War II's "Lost Battalion" Saturday called on President Nixon "to create a state of national and world indignation" over the treatment of U.S. prisoners held by the North Vietnamese.

The action was taken at the annual convention of the "Lost Battalion," a group of Texas National Guardsmen and survivors of heavy cruiser USS Houston who were captured early in World War II and spent 42 months as Japanese prisoners of war.

The petition to Nixon was investigated by Roy Stensland, a former officer now living a Helotes, Tex.

Stensland said the convention had received several telegrams and letters from wives of men believed to be prisoners held by the North Vietnamese asking for the veterans' help in getting their husbands released.

One telegram was from Joy Jeffries, Bonnie Singleton and Shirley Johnson of Dallas, who have traveled to Paris to call worldwide attention to their requests about their husbands being ignored by the North Vietnamese.

Stensland told the former prisoners that "I am mad as hell at these stupid people we elect and send to Washington. Two of them recently went to Vietnam and raised Cain about some criminals being held by the South Vietnamese."

"But they didn't say a single word about the plight of our own prisoners."

Stensland also said the veterans group was irritated that several military men from Vietnam are being accused of murder in connection with some incidents in that war.

The letter to Nixon called for "an all-out effort to create a strong national and world indignation over the inhuman treatment of American prisoners and their families by the North Vietnamese."

"We feel that our experience qualifies us and our families as experts and we urge immediate and drastic official action designed to alleviate the physical and mental torture these Americans and their families are suffering at the hands of the government of North Vietnam."

This year's reunion celebrated the silver anniversary of the end of World War II. Twenty-five years ago on Aug. 14, the Japanese unconditionally surrendered to the Allies.

One of the honored guests attending the meeting was Dr. Henry Heeking, a Dutch doctor who spent nearly three years in the confinement in Burma and Thailand treating the American, British and Australian prisoners.

Heeking is a Dutch Army physician now serving as a senior advisor in a military hospital in the Hague.

Charles Pryor of Dallas, one of the survivors of the sinking of the USS Houston, conducted a memorial service in honor of all men who died overseas.

Pryor said while the adversary in World War II was an external and well-known, "the adversary of today is internal and unknown. He is found around the country, often on our campuses and has brought 'disension' to our people."

He said he was referring to misguided students, "self-proposed intellectuals, the hippies and yuppies who espouse revolution and the senators who preach peace without honor."

The group re-elected Vicent "Zip" Zummo, of Port Arthur, as president and voted to hold its 1971 convention in Port Arthur.

Militant Commie Accused

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UPI) — Angela Davis, a black militant and Communist ousted from the UCLA faculty, as accused Saturday of murder and kidnaping in the courthouse shootout which killed a judge, two escaping convicts and their teen-aged accomplice.

Marin County authorities asked the FBI to join the search for Miss Davis, 26, after a police raid in nearby San Francisco failed to find her.

District Attorney Bruce Bales filed charges of first degree murder in the shooting of Judge Harold Haley against both Miss Davis and Ruchell Magee, 31, a San Quentin convict wounded in the escape attempt Aug. 7 at Marin Civic Center.

Bales declined to comment on speculation Miss Davis was suspected of being the mastermind behind the attempt to free three San Quentin convicts by taking the judge, a prosecutor and three women jurors as hostages.

He also refused to confirm a report by the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner Saturday that the ousted philosophy instructor had bought the shotgun used to kill Haley in San Francisco just two days before the shootout.

Authorities have confirmed previous newspaper reports that Miss Davis bought three other guns involved in the escape attempt. Two of them were carried into the courtroom by Jonathan P. Jackson, 17, her "bodyguard-companion" who launched the kidnaping at gunpoint.

Bales was asked if purchase of the guns was enough to warrant the charges, but he again refused to comment. He said he received "information leading to the complaints" late Friday, but would not disclose its nature.

Tank Explosion Sends Flaming Fuel Into Town

MELVERN, Kan. (UPI) — One of two tank cars which exploded sending fireballs of flaming fuel showering over a four-block area was burning Saturday but officials said the danger was over for this small eastern Kansas community.

Mayor W. A. Kasting went to the scene to direct cleanup of the mountain of debris left when 27 cars of a 113-car Santa Fe freight train derailed Friday night.

Two tank cars filled with liquefied propane gas exploded, setting fire to trees, houses and buildings in the area. At least a dozen persons were injured although only seven remained hospitalized Saturday at Topeka, 38 miles north, and at nearby Forbes Air Force Base.

Officials let the fire blaze in the one tank car until it burned itself out.

After estimating damage at $200,000, Kasting said the town would pull together to rebuild.

"In a small town like this, we bicker between ourselves, but when something like this happens, we all pull together," he said.

CROSS EXAMINED FOUR HOURS Green Beret Doctor Questioned In Deaths Of Wife, Daughters

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (UPI) — Capt. Jeffrey MacDonald, a Green Beret doctor accused of killing his pregnant wife and two daughters, testified at his military hearing Saturday that drug users he had treated threatened his life, his attorney said.

Questioned by Col. Warren V. Rock, the hearing examiner who joined prosecution attorneys in four hours of cross examination, MacDonald said that drug patients commonly showed paranoid tendencies that manifested themselves in threats.

MacDonald has maintained his family was attacked by three men and a blonde woman, who he said may have been on drugs. He said the woman repeatedly chanted, "Acid is groovy." The Army originally described the incident as an apparent "ritual killing" before it charged MacDonald.

Attorney Bernard Segal, the only source of information for newsmen who are barred from the proceedings, said MacDonald illustrated three types of threats he had received.

He said MacDonald related patients would say, "I'm going to kill you, I'll get you, you'll be sorry for doing that."

Rock, who must determine whether MacDonald faces a court-martial for the February slayings, recessed the hearing at the conclusion of Saturday's cross-examination to allow prosecution attorneys time to prepare rebuttal testimony. He set Aug. 25 as the tentative resumption date.

Segal said Rock participated for about 45 minutes in the questioning. His final question, according to Segal, was, "Did you murder your wife and children?"

The question choked the doctor, but he replied, "No." The prosecution laid out the alleged murder weapons before MacDonald—two paring knives, an ice pick and an 18-inch-long board about two inches thick. He said he had never seen any of them before.

MacDonald also said he did not recognize two pictures the prosecution showed. One was of a male with a thin mustache, similar to a sketch drawn by artist under direction of MacDonald, and the second a picture of a girl with long black hair.

Smooching At State Capitol

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The head of the Capitol Security Service says the state capitol is being used by weekend smoochers who like the darkened doorways and long empty halls.

Chief James Smith said Friday his office has received numerous complaints about young girls in the halls but he has no proof they are acting as prostitutes.

Still the sight of young girls hanging around and an occasional kissing couple has offended some.

"It's getting where men can't bring their families to their capitol offices," he said. "We have caught them (the girls) on every floor."

One veteran security officer said he has seen the same group of girls come to the capitol on weekends.

Courts, Nature Hold Up Dumping Rockets

SOUTHPORT, N.C. (UPI) — A half dozen guards and several cages of uninterbred rabbits kept a lonely watch Saturday on a shipload of deadly nerve gas, destined for the bottom of the sea as quickly as the weather and courts will permit.

In place of the clatter of cranes and the shouts of stevedores only the footfall of the guards could be heard on the south wharf of the Sunay Point Ocean Terminal, where the last of the demilitating nerve gas rockets were hoisted aboard a derelict Liberty ship late Friday night.

Coast Guard vessels patrolled surrounding sea areas Saturday, keeping other shipping a safe distance from the rusting hulk and its lethal cargo.

A tropical disturbance centered about 600 miles southeast of Southport kicked up 15 foot seas and the higher tribunal in the proposed dumping area Saturday, but posed no real threat to the disposal operation.

The storm was not expected to get anywhere near the Southport area, and the high seas it is causing likely will be gone by the time the courts rule whether the military should be permitted to dump the gas in 16,000 feet of water 282 miles off Cape Kennedy.

A federal judge in Washington Friday refused to issue an injunction sought by Florida Gov. Claude Kirk and the Environmental Defense Fund of New York seeking to block the dumping. The judge, however, did suggest that the concrete vaults containing the gas rockets be dropped in shallower water so water pressure would not collapse the vaults and free all of the gas at once.

Kirk and the Environmental Defense Fund immediately took their suit to the U.S. Court of Appeals, and the higher tribunal is to hold further hearings in the case Monday.

Navy Capt. Arthur G. Hamilton Jr., officer in charge of the sea phase of the disposal operation, said he foresaw "no problem at all" in keeping the ship tied up at its berth here for several additional days.

The Army has said it has to get rid of the rockets because some of them had started to leak. It was for this reason they were sealed in concrete.

Officials stressed, however, that none of the rockets was leaking at present, and said there was no immediate danger.

Caged rabbits, serving as a warning system in case any leaks do occur, have been kept with the rockets ever since they were removed from Army arsenals at Anniston, Ala., and Richmond, Ky., and shipped here by train for disposal.

NSA Delegates Reject Plan For Protesting At Pentagon

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — Delegates to the National Student Association congress Saturday rejected a motion calling for "nonviolent civil disobedience" in Washington, D.C. as a protest against the war in Indochina.

The plan, defeated by a 150-124 vote early Saturday, called for a massive demonstration at the Pentagon, using various methods to keep employees from reporting to work in order to "close the nation's capital from bureaucrats."

The resolution, suggested by Chicago Seven defendant Renee Davis, called for the demonstration to begin May 1, 1971, and continue until the war ended.

Delegates opposed to the NSA sponsored protest which was hotly debated Thursday and Friday, argued that such a demonstration might cause violence to erupt.

Some speakers argued such a demonstration would not end the war but would polarize opinion even further. Others contended that a Washington action would only harm the black residents of the nation's capital.

Some delegates from minority groups maintained that helping the poor was more important than ending the war.

NSA President Charles Palmer said after the vote that the delegates would probably adopt "some sense of direction, some course of action" concerning the Indochina War. Palmer had supported the resolution for the Washington demonstration.

Most of the delegates who participated in debate over the resolution voiced opposition to the war, but they differed on strategies of demonstrating their opposition.

The resolution was defeated on a second ballot Saturday. It had received a tie vote after three hours of debate Friday. Then, according to NSA rules, a five minute recess of frantic campaigning preceded the second ballot.

ing three persons, including a 12-year-old boy. One was injured critically.

The dead were Robert Gooch, 48, driver of the truck, and two passengers in the car. They were Allan Weatherly, 12, and Mrs. Faye Weatherly, 60, the boy's grandmother, both of Amarillo. The boy's mother, Mrs. Isabel Weatherly was driving the car. She was injured critically.

Gooch's son, Paul, was thrown from the truck, which burned after the impact.

The accident happened one mile northeast of Amarillo, where Gooch was dead at the scene, and the woman and boy were dead on arrival at an Amarillo hospital.

Neighbor Will Help Neighbor To Build New Cemetery Road

Jericho, Texas, a town almost forgotten, will have a new road passing through the old town going to the 76-year-old cemetery that has 67 graves at this time. And it will get that new road, thanks to neighbors pitching in to help a neighbor without federal government intervention.

"The need of 1.2 miles of all-weather road is being made possible by people who want to help other people," said Curtis Schaffer, who has spearheaded the plan to get a travelable road for those who want to visit the graves of loved ones.

Schaffer said two counties are volunteering their equipment: Gray County's Precinct 3 and Donley County. Farmers and businessmen are sending trucks to help with the hauling of caliche. Banks, merchants, and neighbors from Groom, Clarendon, Pampa, White Deer, Gruver, Bushland and other communities have donated cash to help pay for gasoline to be used in the trucks.

Work will begin on the cemetery road Monday. Road material will be donated from private land owned by Claude Schaffer of Groom. Schaffer estimates approximately 750 truckloads will be needed to construct and repair the new road.

And the ladies, bless 'em, they'll be helping too. They'll be serving lunch at noontime at the truckloading site.

California Edges Out New York

WASHINGTON (UPI)—For the first time since 1810, New York is not the most populous state in the nation. That title went to California in the 1970 census. Preliminary figures from the 1970 count show the population of California was 19,696,840 on April 1. This was an increase of almost 4 million since the last census in 1960.

While the exact figures for New York have not yet been calculated, the state's estimated 1969 population was 18.3 million, and census officials said it was unlikely New York had gained in one year the 1.4 million persons needed to match California. Congressional leaders have estimated California will gain four seats in the House of Representatives as a result of its rapid increase in population. Virginia was the most populous state in the country during the late 18th and early 19th centuries. But in 1810, New York took the title and held it during every census count until now.

Twenty-Five Years Ago Saturday There Was Riotous Celebration

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—It was 25 years ago Saturday that sophisticated San Francisco erupted into celebration unmatched since the Gold Rush days. The newspaper headlines said it all: "Japs Quit!" Shortly after President Harry S. Truman announced the end of World War II with the unconditional surrender of Japan, San Francisco led the nation in a spree which lasted well into the wee hours. Market Street, now the scene of BART construction, was a scene of wall-to-wall people. Soldiers, sailors and marines grabbed the nearest girls to kiss, bonfires burned and liquor store windows were shattered for the liquid assets on display. From the city's taller buildings rained ticker tape, toilet tissue and calendar leaves. Autos were shunted to side streets and streetcars were halted for hours.

To compound the noisy celebration, air raid sirens wailed and auto horns blared. By evening, all available police were called to duty and the Navy sent 250 extra shore patrolmen to join the 600 Army MPs on duty. Police finally cleared Market Street, but before the night was over, the record showed seven deaths and many rapes. The city's emergency hospitals treated 240 persons. Property damage ran into the millions, but, finally, peace had come.

Car Totally Wrecked In One-Vehicle Crash

Charges of speeding and traveling to left of center were lodged against 27-year-old Doy Victor Hutchison, 613 Doucette, following a one-car collision with two Elm trees shortly after 7:30 p.m., according to city police, Friday in the 700 block of East Francis. A passenger in the Hutchison vehicle, Richard L. Howard, 24, was taken to Highland General Hospital, where he was treated and released. Hutchison received only minor injuries. Police said the vehicle, driven by Hutchison traveling at an excessive speed of approximately 60 mph, failed to negotiate curves in the street and veered off the roadway striking two Elm trees before coming to a stop approximately 288 feet from the first veering point. The Hutchison vehicle was totally demolished. Two "small children," Sheri Jones, 17-months-old and 20-month-old Kelli Sue Moody, escaped serious injury when the car in which they were passengers went out of control about 9 1/2 miles west of Pampa shortly before 7 p.m. Saturday. Mrs. Vivian Sanders Jones, 2020 Alcock, said she lost control of her car due to a wheel failure mechanism and swerved to miss an oncoming car. She went off the south side of the highway and then back on heading in the opposite direction of her original plan of travel toward Skellytown. Sheri was thrown from the car, but was not seriously injured. Kelli received treatment for lacerations at Highland General Hospital.

Rodeo Dances Slated For Tornado Repair

Two rodeo benefit dances will be staged in the National Guard Armory Friday and Saturday with proceeds used to help repair tornado damages to the rodeo facilities not covered by insurance. Dancing to the music of Emil Schattle and his "playboys" will be from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. nightly. Door charge is $2. "We are going to need a lot more money than we can expect to make from the dances," said Holly Gray, president of the Top O' Texas Rodeo Association. The April 17 tornado damaged rodeo bleachers, the ticket office, some of the buildings and fences necessitating the cancellation of the annual Top O' Texas Rodeo and the annual Fourth O' July Fireworks celebration.

Polio Outbreak Spurs Mass Inoculation

McALLEN, Tex. (UPI)—The 13th suspected case of polio in the Lower Rio Grande Valley since April was discovered Friday in a small boy from San Juan, Tex. "One additional case of suspected polio has been identified in Hidalgo County," said Dr. Tom Fashinell, polio-immunization campaign coordinator. "A 5-month-old boy from San Juan is currently under medical care in a McAllen hospital." Four of the 13 youngsters involved have died of the disease. Ten of the suspected cases are in Hidalgo County and three were in Cameron County. The outbreak has spurred a campaign for polio inoculation. About 15,000 persons were to be immunized Friday.

Japanese Emperor Prays For Peace

TOKYO (UPI)—Emperor Hirohito prayed for peace Saturday at a ceremony for war victims on the 25th anniversary of Japan's defeat in World War II. Clad in striped trousers and swallow-tailed morning coat, Hirohito joined 5,000 persons at memorial rites in Budokan Hall for an estimated three million Japanese military and civilian victims who died in the war. The monarch, 69, walked slowly to the specially built dais and silently prayed for one minute at noon. It was the precise time that the emperor, who was regarded as a living god until his country lost the war, went on the air for the first time 25 years ago to tell his country of unconditional surrender to the Allied powers.

LANDMARK FOR PIONEERS, this 130-year-old, 94.2 foot tall cottonwood tree guided buffalo hunters, Cavalry soldiers and stage line drivers as they carved their trails westward in the late 1800's. Elmer Sparks, chairman of Hemphill County Historical Society, checks on the tree's condition. The tree is still growing and is located in the Lake Marvin Recreation Area near Canadian. (Staff Photo)

Ancient Landmark Tree Still Offers Shade For Canadians

By WANDA MAE HUFF News Staff Writer Centuries before concrete and steel interstate highways crisscrossed the Texas Panhandle, buffalo hunters, Cavalry soldiers, stage line drivers and wagon train guides sighted on the Landmark Tree near Canadian to find the best trails westward. The oldest cottonwood in the Texas Panhandle, the Landmark tree is over a century old and has grown 94.2 feet high with a limb spread of 112 feet. Three feet from the ground, it measures 18 feet nine inches in circumference, and nine feet from the ground it's 21 feet in circumference. Elmer Sparks, chairman of Hemphill County Historical Society, said. "That's a record size for a cottonwood tree, as far as I know. When it was first used as a marker it was about 30 years old, and I figure about 25 feet high. I talked to an old buffalo hunter several years ago who said they used it as a marker across the Canadian River. He said it was a lone tree, easy to see, and that they stayed to the right of it going north." Sparks said. "Because its water source is near the surface and constant, the tree was saved from the numerous prairie fires of the 1800's," he said. From 1870 to 1890, mail and stage line drivers used the Landmark Tree as a marker on the Military Trail from Canadian to Fort Elliott as they hauled freight for soldiers and settlers in Hemphill County. Texas State Historical markers for the tree and for Military Trail and Stage Line are both located in the Lake Marvin Recreation Area in the Panhandle National Grasslands near Canadian.

In the 1870's and 1880's as the Panhandle was opened to civilization, the Canadian River became known as Rio Canadino for the Spanish for "box-like or shut-up" by its precipitous walls. The river was notorious for its treacherous quicksand currents which claimed so many pioneers' lives, horses and supply wagons," Sparks stated. The Military Trail and Stage Line was one of the five Canadian River Trails which pioneers of the 1800's carved on the Panhandle Plains. The first was Dr. Josiah Gregg's trail in 1840, which was followed by the Marcy Trail in 1849, the Charles Rath Trail and Ed Jones and Joe Plummer Trails in 1876, he said. The first recorded westward trail through Hemphill County was the route Dr. Gregg and 34 Missouri men blazed on their way to trade in Santa Fe. Nine years later, in 1849, an Army Captain B.B. Marcy led an expedition across the Texas Panhandle and back through central West Texas. His overland route parallels State Highway 33 and U.S. highway 60 and was best known as the California Gold Trail.

"In 1853, this section of the Marcy Trail was planned as part of the first transcontinental railroad in America, but the Civil War shifted sentiment to the northern route. Its importance declined until after the railroad came across the country in 1887, Sparks said. A state marker for two historic trails 6.5 miles south of Canadian at the junction of Highway 83 and 60 states: "During the mass slaughter of buffaloes in the Panhandle, two trails arose to meet the needs of hunters and their ever-hungry markets for buffalo hides, shoes, boots and robes. Both trails started about 1876 and moved vast convoys across the plains. Charles Rath freighted buffalo hides, gun powder, lead, tobacco, whiskey and food staples from Dodge City to the Double Mountains. The best buffalo hunting was over two years later, and the route fled into disuse. Ed Jones and Joe Plummer forged a trail from Kansas to Fort Elliott near Old Mobeetie. Their route became a freight road and finally a cattle trail for the early Texas ranchers." Ruts formed in these trails by thousands of heavily laden freight wagons, stages, and cattle drives can still be seen in and within a 12 mile radius of Canadian, one of the first pioneer towns on the Texas High Plains.

Cyclamate Ban Extends To All Drugs And Diabetic Foods

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Any food stuffs or drugs containing artificial cyclamate sweeteners can be seized from all market shelves in two weeks and classified as "adulterated foods." The federal government announced the action Friday, saying it has expanded the ban on cyclamates to all drugs and diabetic foods because enough cyclamates to serve such purposes are potentially harmful. The food and Drug Administration (FDA) levied a partial ban on the sweetener in January after laboratory tests disclosed that cyclamates induced cancer in rats. It allowed use of cyclamates to treat obesity and juvenile diabetes. Because of newly disclosed evidence, the FDA said, it is levying a total ban on cyclamates effective Sept. 1. It emphasized, however, that there is no new evidence available to show whether cyclamates cause cancer in humans. The FDA had planned to reclassify many diet foods after Sept. 1 as drugs to be sold on a nonprescription basis. Forty-six firms had applied for permission to use cyclamates in some of their products under that limitation. But the FDA said that under its new ruling, "none (of the applications) have been approved and all will be rejected."

Slagle Gets Six Months Probation

James Douglas Slagle, 17, 2243 N. Russell, was found guilty of aggravated assault on a police officer by a four-man jury in Gray County Court Friday afternoon. Slagle assaulted a former police officer, Jess Gaud, during a dance at the Pampa Youth Center Jan. 30. Slagle, who elected to let the jury set his punishment, received a six month probation sentence and must report to a probation officer twice a month for the next six months.

Cabot Lays Off 30 More Workers

Another in a series of layoffs at Cabot Machinery Division has been announced by administrative manager, Hal Lilla. Approximately 30 productive workers, most of them in the fabrication shop, were released Friday. According to Lilla, this is necessary because of the slowdown in contract work performed at the division for Harnischfeger Corp. Lilla said both large construction equipment manufacturing and steel producing operations at the division had been affected by the national economic climate.

Thirty-Six To Be Called For Exam

September quota for physical examinations for Local Board No. 52 is 36 men to be drawn from Gray, Wheeler, Donley and Roberts Counties. Local Board 52 was not required to furnish any men for induction for September. The September draft call for Texas is 704, and no man will be selected and ordered for induction with a random sequence number higher than 195. It appears that the ceiling will go no higher than 195 for the remainder of 1970, Colonel Charles M. Duncan, deputy state Selective Service director, said Monday. Colonel Duncan explained an influx of new manpower, mostly formerly deferred students, has helped to keep the ceiling on sequence numbers at 195. The September quota is up from 560 in August, which is also being filled with men having random sequence numbers no higher than 195. The state quota for pre-induction physical and mental examinations in September is 7,171, up from 1,490 in August. Men sent for these examinations will be limited to those with random sequence numbers 1 through 215 from the drawing in December 1969 and men born in 1951, numbers 1 through 100, from the July 1970 drawing. Colonel Duncan said that approximately 6,100 men of the 1951 age group will be examined along with 1,071 older men. Deferred or exempt men, such as teachers, college students, and vocational or trade school students with random sequence numbers 1 through 215 may be forwarded for these examinations if they are likely to lose their deferred or exempt status during the next five months, Colonel Duncan said. All volunteers at the draft boards must be inducted ahead of the non-volunteers selected and ordered to report for induction by random sequence number. The Texas induction quota of 704 for September is the state's share of a national call for 12,000 men, all for the army.

PAMPA'S NEW Year's 1970 baby, Kimberly Ann Havenhill has never seen her daddy... but she is going to any time after Aug. 21... that's when her pop, Capt. Larry Havenhill, who's been stationed in Vietnam for the past year is expected home.

Of course, she's not the only one counting the days. There's Kimberly's brother Timothy, who's two, and her mother, the former Judy Gordon. When Capt. Havenhill returns to the United States, he will be stationed at Fort Hood, until his discharge in January, 1971. And that's how Kimberly will probably celebrate her first birthday.

CATHY COCHRAN finally got home from her three weeks' visit in London, England, as the houseguest of Joyce McCausland and Carol Ownsby parents. And though, she's bubbling over with her British Adventures, she's glad to be home. She saw the traditional changing of the guard at White Hall, which is the queen's palace... even though most of the days were fog-shrouded. "And it rained almost every day," she said.

Cathy, who is a hairstylist herself, had her "hair done" while in London. "And it only cost 54 cents," she enthused. "But, of course, 54 cents to a Britisher is the equivalent to the amount an American beauty shop patron pays. And they wear their hairstyles pretty much the way we do."

One English delicacy that caused Cathy to wrinkle up her pretty nose, was raw ool. She said, "they flop those old things out on a table, chop them up right before your eyes, and you go by and pick up the piece you want. Something like we do in selecting steaks to be grilled."

THERE WAS a slight accident along the Hike and Bike Trail one evening this week. When a Hiker and a Biker were in collision, sending the Hiker to the hospital for a few stitches in her leg. The Hiker was Mellie Bird Richey, whom we hope is on the mend now.

SWIM CLUB:

There has been some interest toward forming our swim club again. This club is for the purpose of practicing for competitive swimming. We had the Dolphin Swim Club up until a couple of years ago, but the boys and girls dropped out so much that we had to discontinue this project. We are in favor of starting this club again if enough boys and girls would be interested in joining.

If the club was formed, the team would workout each day that we are open from 6-7 p.m. Monday through Friday and possibly some Saturday mornings. Boys and girls from 6-18 years of age who can swim would be invited to join. We do not give swim lessons in this club. This is a club for swimmers only.

If you find yourself interested in joining a swim club after reading this information, please call the Center at 665-2012 and give us your name. If we have enough then we will call a meeting of the swimmers and their parents to organize.

VOLLEYBALL LEAGUES:
The Center will again sponsor the fall volleyball leagues this year. Three different leagues will be offered as last year including men, women and mixed. A mixed team consists of 3 women and 3 men. Each league must have a minimum of 4 teams to enter before it will be finalized.

An organizational meeting will be held on Thurs., Sept. 10 at 8 p.m. in the Center TV room. Teams wishing to enter should have a representative present at this meeting. Entry fee for each team is $20.

In addition each player must be a member of the Pampa Youth and Community Center or pay a players fee of 50 cents each game. Memberships for individuals cost only $5 for six months or a family is $12.

SCHOOL SCHEDULE:

With school scheduled to open during the last week of August our schedule will change with it. During school days our hours are from 4-10 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Saturdays hours are from 1-5 and Sunday from 2-5 p.m. Swimming is from 7-9:30 weekdays, 1-4:30 on Saturday and 2-4:30 on Sunday.

The gym and recreation hall is open at 4:00 and may be used freely—usually up until around 7:00 when our organized activities such as judo, volleyball and basketball take up the gym and sometimes the recreation hall. Persons should always check our daily schedule which appears each day in this paper.

Committee Opposes State Water Plans

MCCALLEN, Tex. (UPI)—The Lower Rio Grande Water Committee told the Texas Water Resources Study Committee today it opposed state water plans to divert Rio Grande water for irrigation in Maverick and Webb counties.

It also complained the plans called for prohibitive water costs to the Valley.

The statement was presented by attorney Harry L. Hall as the Texas Water Resources Study Committee opened a hearing here on the proposal.

Committee members attending today's session included chairman and state Rep. John Allen, state Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake, Sen. Tom Creigh-

Consolidated Edison Cuts Voltage

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Consolidated Edison Co. ordered its second voltage cut in two days today as rising temperatures increased the demand for electricity to power air conditioners and fans.

The utility, crippled by the loss of two large generators earlier this summer, cut voltage by 3 per cent shortly before 10 a.m. and appealed to consumers to use electricity only where essential.

Students To Grade Teachers At Pan American

EDINBURG, Tex. (UPI) — Students at Pan American College in Edinburg won't be the only ones with queasy stomachs at grade time next semester.

For the first time, the students will also be grading their professors in a reversal of roles suggested by the faculty members themselves.

The Faculty Senate has accepted and approved a rating sheet covering 19 areas ranging from teacher preparation to dress.

"It is a volunteer rating and certainly not compulsory," said professor Porter Stratton. "If the faculty member wants his students to rate him he calls the Faculty Senate and tells them how many evaluation forms he needs and hands them out at the end of the semester to his students."

Professor Stratton said he believed most faculty members would participate, out of curiosity if for no other reason.

Each of the 19 evaluation areas has nine possible ratings with small numbers the best and high numbers, up to nine, the worst. Among rating categories are course organization, class preparation, assignments, value of lectures, class discussion and questions, tolerance of student ideas, sense of humor, speech, poise and self-confidence, range of interests, mannerisms, fairness in grading, knowledge of subject, general estimate of the course, general estimate of the teacher, personal appearance and relationship to students.

A bonus question lets the student tell what grade he thinks he should receive in the course, his classification, sex and approximate grade point average.

School Lunch Swap—Cookies For Carrots

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A school lunch with cookies and potato chips substituting for spinach and carrots?

Food scientists disclosed this week they are working on just such a menu. They are being encouraged by the Department of Agriculture, which traditionally has equated nutrition with fresh foods.

The scientists, attending the 3rd International Congress of Food Science and Technology, said the school lunch of the future may consist of nutritionally fortified versions of foods that children like.

"Spinach for school lunch sounds good," said Dr. G. Robert DiMarco, chairman, Department of Food Science, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J. "But you should see all the green in the garbage can at the end of the line."

DiMarco, appearing with six food industry scientists at a news conference, said the fortified foods will be more nutritious.

Assumption is Fallacy
"We assumed for years that nature's foods were best for us—the God-given foods," he said. "Science has shown us this is a fallacy."

A school lunch, he said, "should be based on nutrition, not the old idea of something red, something green, something yellow and a glass of milk."

An Agriculture Department spokesman confirmed that the department is working with DiMarco and other scientists on fortified foods.

The fortified foods are not just for school lunch. Leading scientists for General Foods Corp., the Pillsbury Co. and Borden, Inc., said they already are fortifying such processed staples as cake mixes and Kool Aid.

The concept of government guidance on food nutritional content is as new to the Agriculture Department as it is to industry, the scientists said.

Caution Still Trend In Wall Street Business

NEW YORK (UPI)—Government statistics indicate the nation's business lag may be ending, but caution is still the word on Wall Street.

The government reported Thursday the Gross National Product had been revised upwards to 0.06 per cent from 0.03 per cent for the second quarter. Also, the government reported industrial production and personal income climbed in July. Some economists cite these figures as evidence the business downturn may have ended.

Wall Street investors remained cautious on Thursday, however, and is hurting some so-called blue chip stocks in light trading.

IBM, for the second consecutive day, lost 7 1/2 points and finished at 223 after being off as much as 12 points in early trading. It was the day's third most active issue. At one point, it hit its lowest level since 1967.

The Dow Jones industrial average of blue chips finished down 3.29 at 707.35 as trading continued light. The New York Stock Exchange common share price lost 26 cents. Volume on the NYSE was 8.64 million shares, up from Wednesday's 7.44 million.

Smoking Halts Longevity In Western Men

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—The average middle-aged man can't expect to live much longer than his father because of cigarette smoking, a University of California population expert said Thursday.

Samuel H. Preston, assistant professor of demography, said smoking has abruptly halted the trend toward longer and longer life expectancy among older men in many Western countries.

He said the life expectancy of a newborn child has doubled in the past 150 years, but the expected life ahead for an American man of 40 has increased by less than two years' between 1920 and 1966.

Preston, who reached his conclusions after studying death statistics in 17 countries and comparing them with a number of factors, said cigarette consumption is "by far the strongest" reason for the slowdown in longevity for older men.

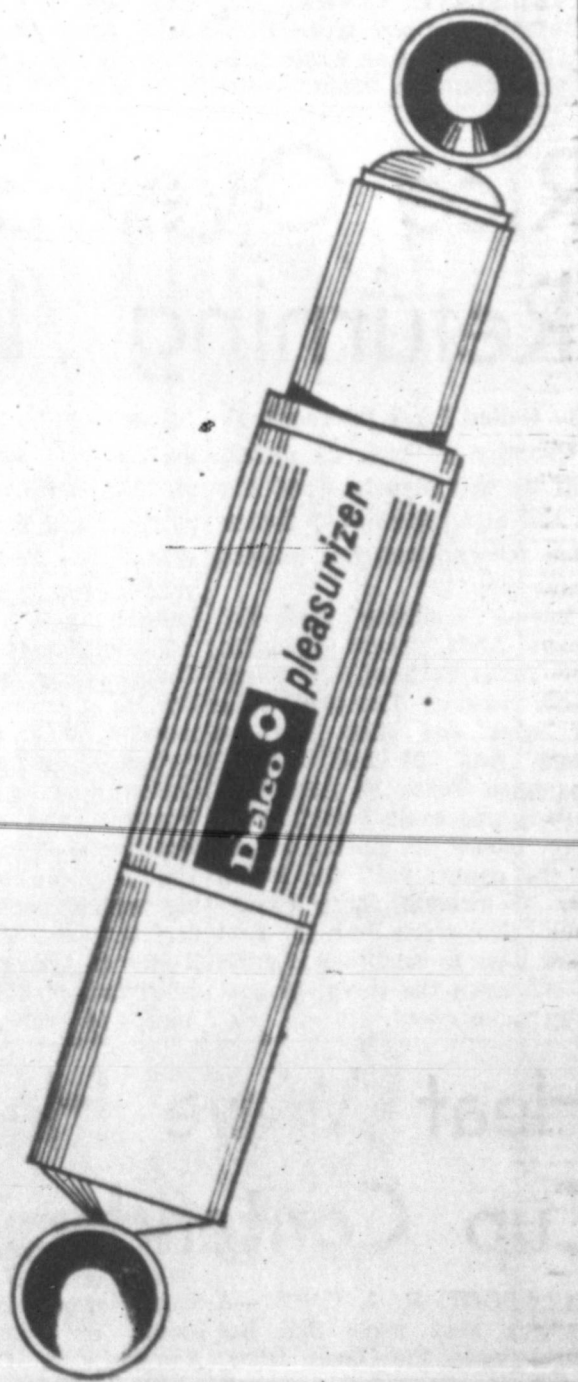

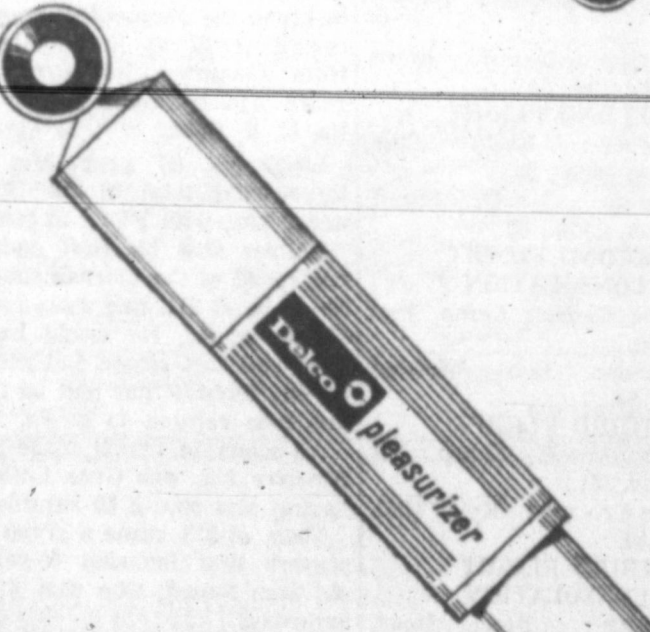

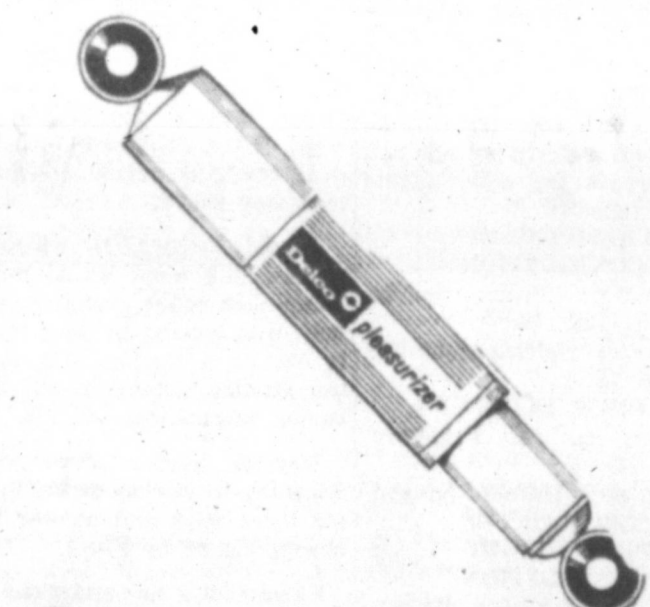

The nations that smoke the most have suffered the largest setback, he said, with Scotland, England and Wales, and the United States setting the grim pace.

Arkansas Shuts Out NO 1-0

Billy Burleson sprinkled four hits over seven innings last night against New Orleans to lead Pine Bluff to a 1-0 victory.

The win gave Arkansas the championship of the Babe Ruth Baseball Regional Tournament and the right to travel to Brawley, Calif. for the Babe Ruth World Series action.

Billy Burleson was named the "Outstanding Player of the Tournament" immediately following his winning performance by pitching Arkansas to a 1-0 shutout over the New Orleans All-Stars.

All the scoring action for Arkansas came in the second inning. Catcher Dean Chambliss lead off the inning with a ball hit straight to pitcher Terry Beaver. Beaver threw Chambliss out at first. Beaver then gave up a walk to right fielder Terry Haywood. First baseman Vincent Smith hit the first pitch as a long out to right fielder Keith Miller to record the second out of the inning.

With a two-strike count on Mike Demoss, the centerfielder smashed a hit over the shortstop's head. The ball rolled to the centerfield fence, 350 feet away. Haywood came in to score, and Demoss went into second with a standup double. Beaver walked third baseman Al McCullough. With two men on, two men out and one run across, shortstop Prentiss Wallace came up. But Beaver found Demoss too far from second and not close enough to third and Demoss was run down by third baseman Roy Lepage to end the inning.

With two out in the bottom of the second inning, New Orleans proceeded to load the bases. Hardoun got on first by a fielder's choice, followed by Auzcut drawing a walk. Lepage drew a base on balls after reaching a full count.

When Ezelle came to the plate, Arkansas had no place to put him. Ezelle drilled the second pitch back to the pitcher's box and Burleson threw him out at first to end the inning and Louisiana's last threat.

The score read 1-0 at the bottom of the second and it stood up the rest of the game.

Louisiana was knocking on the door a second time during the sixth inning. Keith Miller, New Orleans' right fielder, doubled to open the inning. Irving drew a walk. Michael Marange then went down on a third called strike and Rudolphe Hardoun, shortstop, hit a high pop-up to the pitcher.

David Schultz went in for a pinch hitter and was struck by a pitch. Lepage then struck out to end the inning and Louisiana's last threat.

Lepage, Ezelle and Beaver all struck out for the New Orleans All-Stars to end the seventh inning and the ball game.

Burleson allowed four hits (two for extra bases), hit one batter, gave up six walks and struck out seven for the Arkansas Regional Champions.

"I'm so excited I can't even breathe," said Benny Reed, Pine Bluff, Arkansas manager. But the elated manager was quick to add "the kids deserve it all."

Beaver allowed four hits (two for extra bases), walked three and struck out nine for New Orleans.

Both pitchers went the entire game.

Arkansas had left five men stranded on the base pads during the 1 hour and 55 minute contest.

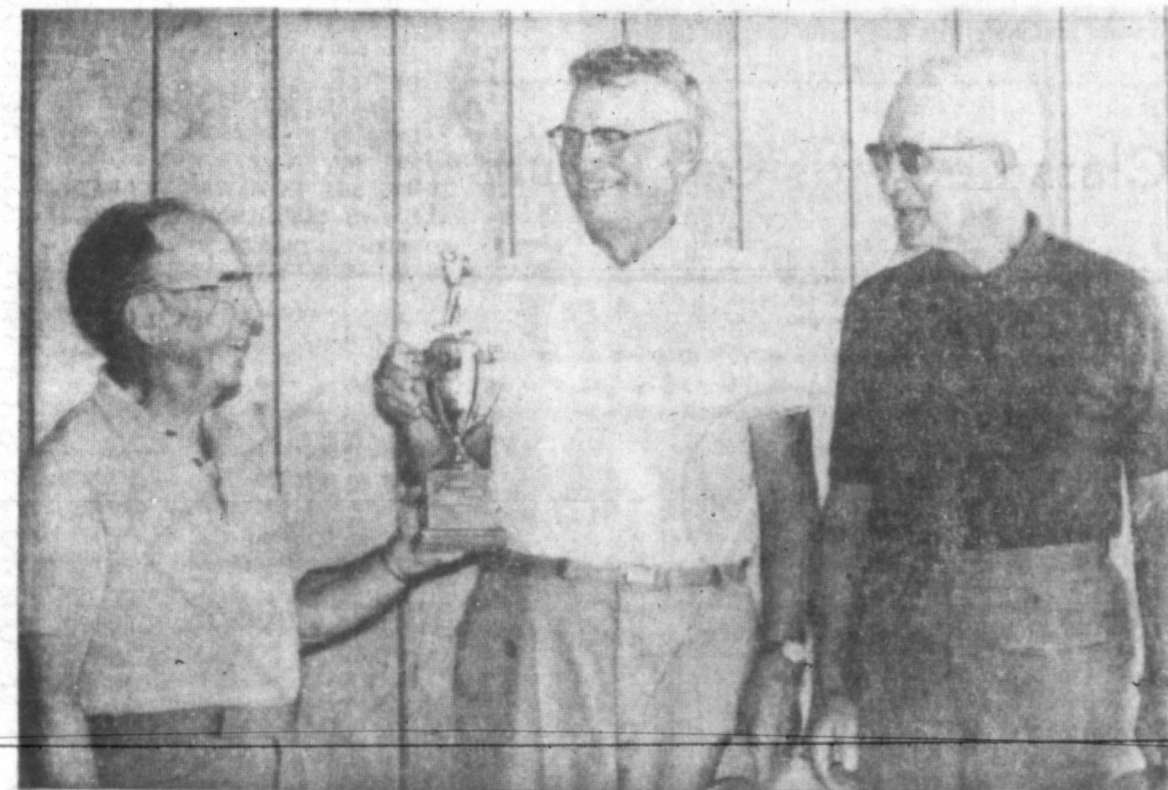

Louisiana left ten men on the base pads and was never really out of it until the last strike was called.

Stockton Shoots 4 Under To Take 3-Stroke Lead

By MIKE RABUN
TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Dave Stockton, fighting for his biggest tournament win of his career, fired a four-under-par 66 Saturday and took a three-stroke lead at the end of 54 holes of the PGA championship over charging defending champion Ray Floyd.

Arnold Palmer, to whom a victory this week would mean completion of the grand slam of golf, was lurking in third place to set up a classic duel down the stretch Sunday in the last major tournament of 1970.

Stockton birdied seven holes Saturday to run his string to 16 for three days and answer the charge put on by Floyd.

Floyd shot a five-under-par 65 to break the competitive course record of 67 at the Southern Hills Country Club fired 12 years ago by Gene Littler in the U. S. Open.

Stockton's 66 gave him a three-round total of 206, four under par, with Floyd at 209.

Palmer shot his first under-par round of the tournament—a 69—to be at 211, five shots back of the leader. He would have been one shot closer had not a curling five-foot par putt on the last hole refused to go in.

Alt alone in fourth place, at two-over 212, was Gene Littler, having also shot a 69 Saturday.

Then, at 213, came a group of players that included 58-year-old Sam Snead, who shot a 68 Saturday.

Stockton, 28, from Westlake, Calif., now has shot 11 straight rounds of 71 or better dating back to the Westchester Classic.

He began the day at even par 140 tied with Larry Hinson, and promptly birdied the first and bogeyed the second. From there he was untouchable.

Stockton rolled in birdie putts on the third, the sixth and the ninth to go out in 3, and then came back with birdies on the tenth, the 16th and the 17th to offset a bogey on the short 14th.

His late charge offset Floyd's efforts, which the defending champion credited to a putting tip from Snead.

Floyd declined to give away the secret, except to say that it is "mental—nothing to do with the grip or stance or anything."

Floyd sank birdie putts of 10, 2, 8, 1, 25 and 6 feet, and also dropped par-saving putts of 15 and 12 feet.

"I told myself, damn it, I'm going to putt good," he said. "I've putted good before and there is no reason I can't start again."

PIRATE PITCHERS:

Have More Than Aces Up Sleeve

By United Press International
Manager Danny Murtaugh of the Pittsburgh Pirates is rather smug when the subject of pitching crops up these days.

With Steve Blass back in the Pittsburgh rotation and Luke Walker still around to quell any emergency that might arise, Murtaugh has good reason to be smug—especially with a three-game lead over the second-place New York Mets in the National League's Eastern pennant race.

Blass, making his first appearance since going on the disabled list July 13, combined Orlando Pena with a four-hitter in then Walker followed by pitching a six-hitter and driving in three runs with a pair of singles to give Pittsburgh a doubleheader sweep over the San Diego Padres, 2-1 and 10-1. Afterwards, Murtaugh took the performances in stride.

Murtaugh Is Confident
"We've done it all year and now all we need is to do it for six more weeks," the manager exclaimed. "I don't know how many victories it's gonna take to win this thing, but I just like to win enough."

Murtaugh was cheered even more Friday night when the Mets split a doubleheader with the Atlanta Braves, losing the first game 10-2 and winning the second 4-2. And after the games, New York manager Gil Hodges expressed some concern about his team's pitching, which was the Mets' strength last season when they won the World Series.

The Mets staff has been giving up long hits too frequently lately, and Hodges said, "We've had some pitching problems but we hope we'll be able to work them out for the stretch run. We're still in better position than last year."

Wayne Garrett's three-run homer in the seventh inning provided the Mets and starter Jerry Koosman, who scattered six hits in six innings, with the victory in the nightcap. Hal King's grand slam homer, which tied the record set last year with a total of 40 in the National League, was the big hit in Atlanta's first game rout.

Other Games
Elsewhere in the National League, Los Angeles crushed Chicago 13-9. Philadelphia edged Cincinnati 5-4, Montreal whipped Houston 10-2, and the St. Louis Cardinals beat San Francisco 2-1 in 10 innings before the Giants took the second game 5-4 in 13 innings.

In the American League, Boston beat Minnesota 8-1. New York defeated Kansas City 3-2 in 10 innings, Washington edged Chicago 6-5 in 10 innings, Milwaukee defeated Milwaukee 4-3 in 11 innings, Oakland blanked Baltimore 4-0 and California whipped Detroit 7-3.

Billy Grabarkewitz had two home runs and a triple as Los Angeles pounded out 17 hits to wipe out a five-run, first-inning Chicago lead and run the Dodgers' winning streak to five games.

Philadelphia took advantage of a throwing error by catcher Johnny Bench and the wildness of rookie pitcher Mel Behney to beat the Reds. With the bases loaded in the fourth inning, Bench threw wild trying to pick Johnny Griggs off third, enabling two runners to score.

Bobby Bonds doubled home the winning run in the 10th inning to give the San Francisco Giants a 5-4 victory after St. Louis took the opening game in 13 innings on a throwing error by catcher Dick Dietz.

Rusty Staub hit two homers and John Balemam doubled to start a three-run rally in the second inning and lead the Montreal Expos to victory.

Rice Over SMU, 35-22 Returning Letterman

By United Press International
Quantity as well as quality will be the keynote when five of the eight Southwest Conference schools open fall training Thursday.

Baylor, Southern Methodist, Texas A&M, Texas Christian and Texas Tech will get things under way on Thursday while Arkansas and Rice join the group Aug. 24 and national champion Texas on Aug. 25.

Pads and contact work, however, cannot be started in any of the camps until the fourth day of training under conference rules which limit the first three days to conditioning drills to cut down the threat of heat prostration cases.

There will be 237 lettermen in the camps, ranging from a low of 22 at SMU to a high of 35 at Rice, and 10 of the 22 consensus all-league teams of a year ago will be back in the fold.

These include wide receiver Chuck Dicus and tailback Bill Burnett at Arkansas; Gary Hammond in pass receptions and yardage; SMU's Pat Curry in interceptions; Arkansas' Burnett in rushing, random offense and scoring, and Baylor's Ed Marsh in punting.

The experience rundown, by schools:

Texas Tech (10-0) — 3 lettermen, including six offensive and five defensive starters. Three of four defensive backs will be first-time starters.

Arkansas (9-1) — 30 lettermen, including seven offensive and seven defensive starters, but only two interior linemen on offense. Entire front four on defense returns.

Texas Tech (5-5) — 31 lettermen, including nine offensive and six defensive starters. League's only new coach, Jim Carlen, can call on six of seven starting offensive linemen.

TCU Least Experienced
TCU (4-6) — 28 lettermen, but four starters on offense and two on defense makes Frogs least experienced team in conference. Could start lettermen nearly every spot, but seven sophs likely to start.

Texas A&M (3-7) — 29 lettermen, including three offensive and six defensive starters. Only four senior lettermen and may start four sophs each on offense and defense.

Rice (3-7) — 35 lettermen, including eight offensive and 10 defensive starters.

SMU (3-7) — 22 lettermen, including five offensive and four defensive starters. May start three sophs each on offense and defense.

Baylor (1-10) — 29 lettermen, including five offensive and six defensive starters and counting three quarterbacks who divided starting jobs.

Baylor will open the season first, on Sept. 11 in St. Louis against Missouri, while the following night Arkansas and Stanford kick off the national television schedule at Little Rock, Oklahoma is at SMU, Wichita at Texas A&M, Texas-Arlington at Texas A&M, Texas-Arlington at TCU and Tulane at Texas Tech.

Eight of the 10 individual champions of 1969 also return — Chuck Hixson of SMU in passing and total offense; SMU's Hammond in pass receptions and yardage; SMU's Pat Curry in interceptions; Arkansas' Burnett in rushing, random offense and scoring, and Baylor's Ed Marsh in punting.

Bragan Talks Up Five Day Baseball Week

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (UPI)—Texas Baseball League directors, meeting here Monday a day ahead of the loop's annual all-star game, are going to consider, among other things, President Bobby Bragan's idea that the league become the first to go on a five-day week.

"I don't think it will come to a vote Monday," Bragan said Saturday, "but we're going to kick the idea around a bit. Some of the major league farm directors won't be at the meeting, so we probably won't take any definite action until the winter sessions."

New Orleans Nail Down Play Off Spot, 14-6

Racking up total of 10 runs in the third and fourth innings, New Orleans downed Albuquerque 14-6 Friday night in the Regional Babe Ruth League Tournament in Optimist Park Friday night.

The Louisiana team got an early start in the game that sent them into the final battle with Pine Bluff Arkansas Saturday.

In the bottom of the first inning the second batter, second baseman Eddie Ezelle hit a homerun over the left field wall.

The next batter, first baseman Terry Beaver smashed another long homer over the right field wall to start Louisiana on their road to victory.

Holding Albuquerque scoreless through the top of the third inning, New Orleans tracked on another five points before giving Albuquerque the bat again.

It was Ezelle, again, who scored the first run in the bottom of the third when right-fielder Randy Miller made it to first on an error.

Catcher Frank Steele crossed the plate on an error by Albuquerque second baseman Pierre Amestoy. Miller crossed when Rudy Hardouin got to first on a shortstop error. Hardouin scored on a double by Maronge. And Maronge in turn scored on a single by catcher Lloyd Auzout.

Albuquerque still couldn't break its scoring ice in the top of the fourth, and Louisiana used the remainder of the inning to add another five runs for an insurmountable lead of 12-0.

Ezelle-Beaver Inc. were the first to score again both making the loop on Beaver's second home run of the night.

After that Randy Miller scored his second run on a Hardouin hit, and Ronnie Irving, left-fielder, and Hardouin crossed the plate on a double by Maronge.

New Mexico still had neither a run or even a hit by the bottom of the fifth when Frank Maggio and Miller scored across the plate on a double single by Byron Bonck.

Albuquerque did make a slight comeback in the fifth to the tune of four runs by shortstop Mike Garcia, left-fielder Tim Riekeman, catcher Terry Landrum and pitcher Ricky Kerr.

Garcia and Riekeman scored again in the top of the seventh but it wasn't enough as Louisiana routed the New Mexico team 14-6.

Colts Make Chiefs Bite Dust, 17-3

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Tom Maxwell broke a mid-summer quarterbacks' nightmare Friday night with a 28-yard return of a pass interception for a touchdown, pushing the Baltimore Colts to a 17-3 exhibition football victory over the Kansas City Chiefs.

Maxwell's interception, with 12:01 to play, was one of eight in the game, five by the Colts and three by the Chiefs.

Kansas City's No. 2 signal-caller, Mike Livingston, was the victim, trying to lob a throw into the hands of Goster Richardson in the flat.

The play, said Maxwell, a second-year pro from Texas A&M, "is always in the back of your mind. And they'd used it a few times, too."

The 195-pounder raced into the end zone untouched after picking off the pass.

Veteran running back Tom

Matte increased the score with two seconds to play when he crossed the goal line on a 28-yard sweep, eluding several tacklers.

Lou Michaels kicked a 17-yard field goal in the first quarter and the Chiefs' Jan Stenerud booted a 26-yarder in the second period to set the stage for Maxwell's decisive play.

In the only other exhibition game Friday night, the Detroit Lions behind the kicking of Errol Mann and the running of Mel Farr, defeated the Buffalo Bills, 22-6. Mann booted five field goals from 24, 34, 19, 29 and 31 yards while Farr scored on a four-yard touchdown run. O.J. Simpson scored for the Bills from one yard out.

Pampa Youth Earns Second In Tourney

Donnie Loerwald, 13-year-old Pampa golfer, added a runner-up trophy from the prestigious Texas-Oklahoma Junior Tournament to a successful summer on the greens.

Loerwald, competing in the championship flight of the 12-13 year-old age bracket of the tournament, finished Friday with an 80-one stroke behind winner Robert Hawkins of Dallas who had a 79.

He began the week Monday by qualifying for the championship flight which was comprised of 64 contestants.

In the first two matches at the Weeks Park course in Wichita Falls, Loerwald defeated Robb Sanders of Wichita Falls, 8-6, and Phillip Carper of Graham, 4-3, in match play, to put him in the final foursome for medal play.

About 420 youths from Oklahoma and Texas entered the open competition—a record number for the tournament.

Youths competed in four age brackets from 10 to 18 years old.

The runner-up award follows a successful summer which saw the young linkster nab first place at Dumas, Phillips and Pampa and second at the Huber course during the West Texas PGA Junior Tour.

SINGER HURT AGAIN
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Ailing Los Angeles Dodger ace Bill Singer, who pitched a no-hitter earlier this year against the Philadelphia Phillies, was placed on the disabled list Friday for the second time this season after suffering a fractured right index finger Wednesday night in Pittsburgh.

Sandy Vance, who was Singer's replacement when he went on the disabled list the first time with hepatitis, was called up from the Dodgers' Spokane farm club of the Pacific Coast League.

That Was The Week That Was For Minnesota Twins

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

This has been a lost week for the Minnesota Twins.

Just last Saturday the Twins beat Oakland for the second straight game to move nine games ahead of the California Angels and 10 ahead of the A's in the Western Division race.

It was starting to look like a runaway until the Twins lost a doubleheader to Oakland Sunday and were beaten by the A's again Monday. Three straight losses to the Washington Senators on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday stretched the losing streak to six.

The streak was extended to seven Friday night when the Twins took an 8-1 lambasting at the hands of the Boston Red Sox. The Twins have a day-night doubleheader set with the Red Sox today and thus a shot at the unenviable feat of losing nine games in one week.

Meanwhile, in just six days, the nine-game lead is down to four. Oakland beat Baltimore 4-0 to move within four games of the Twins Friday while California downed Detroit 7-3 to get within 4½ of the staggering leaders.

In the other games, New York nipped Kansas City 3-2 in 10½ innings, Washington beat Chicago 6-5 in 10 innings and Milwaukee downed Cleveland 4-3 in 11 innings.

In the National League, Pittsburgh swept two from San Diego 2-1 and 10-1, Atlanta topped New York 10-2 but lost the second game 4-2, Los Angeles routed Chicago 13-9, St. Louis nipped San Francisco 2-1 in 13 innings and lost the second game 5-4 in 10 innings, Montreal topped Houston 10-2 and Philadelphia-edged Cincinnati 5-4.

Minnesota couldn't get Carl Yastrzemski out while losing to the Red Sox. He walked three times, hit a two-run homer and a run-scoring single to boost his league-leading average to .331. Rico Petrocelli added a solo homer. Ray Colp pitched a nine-inning shutout to get the win as he stranded 10 Twins.

Rick Monday drove in two sacrifice fly as Oakland beat Baltimore. Bert Campaneris added three hits, scored two runs and drove in one. Chuck Dobson went 7 1-3 innings to gain his eighth straight win and 15th of the year.

A three-run homer by winning pitcher Clyde Wright and a two-run homer by Tommie Reynolds carried California past Detroit. Wright gained his 16th victory.

Jake Gibbs hit his third homer of the week and sixth of the season leading off the 10th to hand New York the victory over Kansas City. Gibbs, who lost his starting job to Thurman Munson this season, has been filling in while Munson has been seeing Army duty.

Some Congressmen, Senators Think Driving Cut-Rate Lease Cars All Right

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Is it any more acceptable for a U.S. senator or representative to profit from the prestige of his office than it is for him to sell or trade his vote or his influence?

That is the essential question raised by a UPI investigation that revealed more than a score of influential members of Congress were accepting luxury automobiles from major manufacturers at specially low lease rates.

Several Democratic committee chairmen and ranking Republican members are driving Lincoln Continentals and Chrysler Imperials, furnished by the manufacturers, at lease costs of $750 to $900 a year.

It would cost the ordinary driver four or five times that much to rent or lease a similar car.

Both Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Leasing Corp said they gave the cut rate lease prices to the lawmakers for the prestige value of having them drive their automobiles.

Perhaps so. From the viewpoint of the manufacturer, it may well be that the man in the street would notice if his senator or representative drove into town in a Lincoln Continental or a Chrysler Imperial. And it might follow that he would conclude that if the honorable member of Congress drive such-and-such a limousine that he himself might buy a lesser model for himself from the same manufacturer.

Almost to a man, the congressmen accepting the largesse of the automakers' rationalized the automakers' rationale for extending the deal.

"If they think it lends prestige to their product and they think it's a good deal for them, then it's a good deal for me," said Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., in a typical comment.

It may be noted in passing that Long is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, which handles the corporation taxes, tariffs and export-import legislation—all vital to the motor industry.

But back to the prestige question.

Whatever prestige attaches to the senator or representative, it would appear that in most cases it attaches because of the office he holds. No matter what his attainments prior to election, he rates the title "honorable" only after election. Such prestige, then, is bestowed by the voters. But it's a badge of office, not of the man holding the office at a particular time.

Should he then use that prestige for personal gain?

Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., is ranking member on the Commerce Committee, which writes legislation governing safety, pollution and other matters affecting the auto industry. He leases a Continental for $750 a year. Says Cotton: "It's ridiculous to think the influence of a U.S. senator could be bought for the price of a car lease."

But if the lawmakers are scrupulous about not selling their influence, at least some apparently are somewhat less scrupulous about trading away the prestige of their office.

Youth Survives On Berries, Water And Prayer

NORTH CONWAY, N.H. (UPI)—Twelve-year-old Daniel Crowley was able to survive his week-long ordeal on windswept Mt. Passaconaway by eating berries, drinking a lot of water and praying every night.

The youth was found in good condition Thursday about a mile from the summit of the 4,060 foot peak and a mile from the spot where he was last seen Aug. 6 when he became separated from companions from Camp Hale on nearby Squam Lake.

He was reported resting comfortably today at Memorial Hospital where he was taken after two searchers heard him whimper nearby as they climbed the Oliverian Brook trail.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Denise Crowley of Boston's Dorchester section, was at his bedside most of Thursday night, hospital officials said.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Navy oceanographer told a federal judge Friday that he could see no danger to either human or marine life from dumping of nerve gas "coffins" in the Atlantic east of Cape Kennedy, Fla.

The witness at a hearing before U.S. District Court Judge June L. Green on a legal move to block the disposal was Dr. Conrad Hugo Cheek, head of the chemical oceanography branch of the Naval Research Laboratory.

Testifying in support of the Army's plan to dump the 418 gas "coffins" in three-mile-deep water, Cheek described the area 282 miles east of the Florida coast as "quite safe, except for any organisms in the immediate vicinity of the point of release of the gas." He said the marine population there was very small.

A point that clearly disturbed Judge Green Thursday—the possible danger if the gas rockets exploding from the deep sea pressure when they reached bottom—was raised with Cheek. He responded:

"There is no danger occurring at the bottom, and a bubble rising to the top," he said.

He added, "I doubt that any bubble (from an explosion) would last more than a fraction of a second." He explained that he felt water pressure would stifle any bubble quickly.

If the vaults exploded or were crushed by the water pressure, Cheek testified, the action of the salt water would render the gas harmless. One of the 418 "coffins" contains a type known as VX gas, even more lethal than the other—known as GB. It would take somewhat longer for the VX to be dissipated, Cheek said.

"Within two weeks, we wouldn't have to worry about the GB at all," he said. "It would all be gone."

"What about the VX?" Judge Green asked him.

"If you release it slowly enough, it will not have any measurable ecological effect," Cheek replied. "If there is an explosion, I would prefer it at 16,000 feet, because the amount of water to be affected would be less, and the biological population smaller."

The Army attorney told the judge he sensed a concern on her part over selection of the disposal site. "That is correct," the silver-haired jurist commented. The lawyer then asked Cheek if he felt there was any danger to human beings at the site when the gas was dumped.

"Not that I can see," he said, adding that any bubble would rise very little before being stifled from the pressure.

Cheek said he had been an

Your Horoscope

FOR SUNDAY, AUG. 16
Your birthday today: Impulsive moves this coming year will bring you into confrontations in which you learn new limits, facts, new ways of looking at your own life. The directions you go may seem temporary, but are actually not. Complete earlier plans. Romantic ventures are part of the appealing distractions. Today's natives usually have predispositions to money-making, extravagance, and the need to balance these factors.

ARIES (March 21-Apr. 19): — You can get into difficulties quite readily today. Almost any careless behavior will do. Avoid extremes; remember what you want to achieve.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): — Older people tend to impatience and you may forget to tell them something. Your family seems determined on matters not planned. Your own serenity is important.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): — Think first, and let others do the fidgeting. Channel your energy into mental work, lining up facts and figures. Work alone if you can.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): — Money comes into question. Your own seems to have wings. Optimism, enthusiasm are the order of the day; use the expansive mood for constructive purposes.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): — Whatever disagreement you have incurred recently promises to come back today. Any difference of opinion may grow into a power struggle. Expect short tempers all around, your own as well.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): — The emphasis today should be on home and family. Strangers, seldom visited, people are sensitive and hard to deal with. Care with tools and appliances is recommended.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): — With a casual word you can unwittingly trigger a moment of tension. It might be well to leave a little distance between yourself and friends or neighbors.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): — You may have difficulty finding time for everything that is important. Spend much of it at home. Family matters require diplomacy — and real honesty.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): — There are snags, so prepare to meet situations involving people you don't know, delays, and everybody running out of patience. A sense of humor can be helpful.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): — Try letting well enough alone today. Influential people are in no mood to help. Disagreements over money are specifically to be avoided.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): — Be ready to assist others through moments of confusion. Older people require more from you. Much depends on your healthy response.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): — Whatever you do today is likely to be inconvenient.

uphill, but very much worth your trouble. Expect delays and interruptions. You'll be glad you saw it through.

FOR MONDAY, AUG. 17
Your birthday Monday

The busy year coming up will leave you little time for loafing. You have obstacles to overcome and the extra effort gives you momentum and additional resources. Personal relations are often strongly emotional. Monday's natives are rather prudent people who manage to do things where others fail. The men do better in large-scale projects; the women are socially fluent and generous.

ARIES (March 21-Apr. 19): — (See HOROSCOPE, Page 14)

POLLY'S POINTERS
Photo Decoupages
Are Easy To Make

DEAR POLLY — I want to tell Linda B that photographs in either color or black and white decoupage very well. First, seal the photo with a "spray" or "paint-on" plastic sealer made especially for this work. Several light coats at 30-minute intervals are better than one heavy one.

When prints are dry, glue to a plaque that has been painted or stained. Allow the glue to dry thoroughly so no water is trapped beneath the next coat. Proceed to build up 10 to 15 coats of a decoupage finish at the rate of one or two coats a day. Keep free of dust and lint while drying. After last coat is applied, wait a week or 10 days, then apply a coat of paste wax and buff to a luster. I am an occupational therapist working with psychiatric patients and can say that amateurs can do beautiful decoupage. Any ladies doing volunteer work in hospitals and nursing homes should consider it.

—M.C.

DEAR POLLY and Linda B. — My sister made a lovely decoupage with my children's pictures. She used white construction paper for the background, tore light and dark blue tissue paper into pieces of different sizes and pasted them on the construction paper in a random pattern. She tore the edges of the pictures and used only the centers with the children. There are nine pictures on it and this was all put in an 8x10-inch frame. The secret is to have rough edges. Lay it all out on the paper before gluing to be sure you have the best arrangement.

—KATHRYN

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — My clothes and my body are clean but still I have a problem with polyester clothes picking up odors. I hope someone will tell me if there is something I can wash these dresses in to remove this odor.

Horoscope . . .

Quick decisions Monday are not sound. A search for new information is promising. You can be of great help to your group or community.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): — The early hours tend to be noisy. Later everything builds into rather good results if you can go with the rhythm of day. Assistance is easier to obtain.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): — Your associates and neighbors turn out to be cooperative. Career matters are subject to favorable change. Relax and enjoy the evening.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): — Self-improvement efforts prosper after some early maneuvering. The later hours open up interesting possibilities. Make plans, ask questions on pertinent points.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): — Just remain calm during the first half of the day, then smooth out any differences when you've had time to think. Also consider insurance coverage, long-range security.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 2): — Check your resources, make lists of things to do. Join forces with others working on similar matters, for better results.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): — Let the discussions of the morning work out to the same plans you had yesterday — wait until others see things your way, then proceed. You may increase your earnings.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): — A moment's thought in the morning saves a great deal of lost motion later. Add to your savings account. Attend to the affairs of young people.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): — Once past the fleeting tensions of the morning, you can get something done. Stick to earlier plans and proceed discreetly. Much cooperation is to be had in the afternoon.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): — Let things go for a while just to see where they lead — then you can get your plans established and a competitive advantage over those who set the morning details.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): — New contacts bring fresh information; pursue your regular routines, however. You now have an opportunity to enter into the public life of your community.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): — Your perspective concerning yourself is off a bit — beware wishful thinking, check with people who care about you. Decisions left until later in the day are better.

Magellan Helps School Children

CHICAGO — Children and others who make mistakes — in or out of school — should hail a man named Magellan. He may be the father of the pencil eraser.

Encyclopaedia Britannica says that the proceedings of the French Academy for the year 1752 reported that "a man named Magellan" proposed the use of caoutchouc as a replacement for bread crumbs in erasing black lead marks.

Caoutchouc is rubber and was given the name 200 years ago by Sir Joseph Priestly. Caoutchouc was used to rub out marks.

Priestly wrote: "I have seen a substance excellently adapted to the purpose of wiping from paper the mark of a black lead pencil."

Every teacher and every mother would agree with Priestly and Magellan that it is better than bread crumbs.

Mrs. David Joslyn Feted With Shower

Dear Abby

By August Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What's wrong with me? I'm in love with a guy who treats me like dirt. The worse he treats me, the more I love him. I've walked away from him a hundred times, vowing never to see him again, but I always call him up and ask him to forgive me for blowing my stack, when he's the one who should apologize to me.

I'm a good looking girl with a good figure, and could have lots of men who would treat me a lot better, but I always go back to this guy who gives me nothing but heartaches. I am 26 and he is 29 and this has been going on for nearly three years. How can I kill a love that is killing me?

CARMEN
DEAR CARMEN: What you call "love" is a physical attraction, passion and a compulsion to punish yourself — all tightly bound together. Unless you want a life of misery, walk out for good next time he has it coming. And pray for the strength to never again "love" a man you cannot like.

DEAR ABBY: What does a wife do about a husband who never writes to his mother? She is an ailing widow, and if I didn't write to her, she'd never hear from him. This goes for acknowledging her Christmas gifts, birthday gifts, etc. Naturally, I'm the one who buys and sends all our gifts to her. This has gone on ever since we were married — 20 years ago!

I honestly didn't give it too much thought until recently when I realized from her letters how hurt she'd been.

We live a long distance from her. Over the years I've begged him to write a personal note to his mother, but he's always had a dozen excuses and my pleas have been ignored. My husband says it's a wife's "duty" to take care of the letters and gifts. What do you say?

DEAR WIFE: Attention to Mother — though the results of prodding affords as much pleasure as the sincere and spontaneous kind — if the prodding doesn't show, that is. It's sad when a wife must beg her husband to show his mother a little consideration, but if that's the only way to accomplish it, better that way than not at all.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Rock Musicians Offer Solutions To Drug Problem

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)— A school approach to the drug problem uses a preventive package to which teen-agers can relate.

The package was developed by Do It Now, a non-profit organization staffed largely by former addicts who speak the language of youth. Their message: speed kills. Their medium: rock music.

The Beatles, Donovan and the Jefferson Airplane are among the popular rock musicians included in the unusual package. But in addition to music, the foundation also donates anti-drug spot tapes to local radio stations that teenagers tune in.

The organization provides the school systems with a 24-hour hot line service for drug emergencies and counseling; pamphlets on amphetamines and barbiturates; a "drug IQ test" to determine how much students, teachers and parents know about drugs; a drug counselor training program; and a "school administrators' packet," which is a description of the school-community drug education program developed for the Paramount, Calif. School system.

Do It Now staffers spent nine weeks at Paramount helping set up a drug program and trained the districts' staff to run it. Included were films, assemblies, encounter groups, testing and training for students, teachers and parents and large and small group counseling.

BSA Bans Computer From Payroll Task

BIRMINGHAM, England (UPI)—On stockpiling handlebars and brakes, the computer was great.

On money, it was awful.

The BSA motorcycle factory has banned its computer from payroll task because the whiz on nuts and bolts was hopeless when it came to handling pounds, shillings and pence.

The factory's 4,000 workers became angrier each time they scrutinized their paychecks prepared by the computer. With just cause, a company spokesman admitted Friday.

"Some found they had been shortchanged on vacation pay," he said. "Others discovered too much tax was being withheld. There were numerous complaints of wages varying from week to week when they should have been stable."

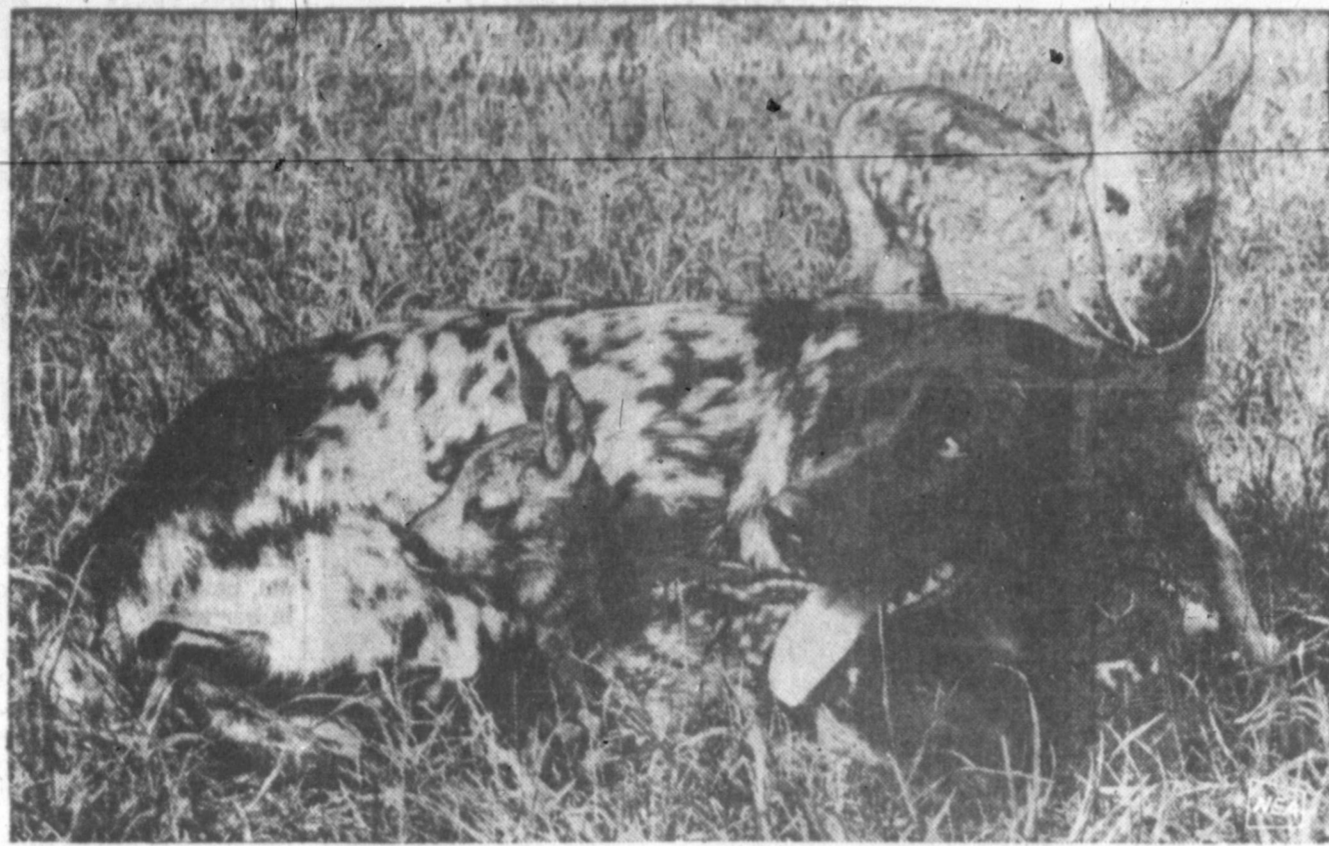

House Approves Weapons Measure

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Commerce Committee approved a bill today that would give the Nixon administration new weapons in its campaign against the growing drug problem, including a "no-knock" provision assailed by some committee members as unconstitutional.

Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., a committee member, said it was "the broadest and most significant bill on drug abuse ever presented to the Congress."

The Senate has passed a similar bill, which also contains a "no knock" provision.

The House bill would provide stiffer penalties for drug pushers, including possible life imprisonment for those defined as hardened criminals, and put greater emphasis on rehabilitation of drug users. It also would authorize the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs to hire 300 more agents and would require licensing of bonafide drug handlers including manufacturers, distributors, doctors and researchers.

New Postal Service Motto: Treat People Like Customers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Since its establishment 181 years ago, the U.S. postal service has prided itself on a dogged determination that the mail must go through, despite snow, rain, heat or gloom of night.

That commitment has not been abandoned, but it is undergoing certain modifications these days. The new policy of the post office is to "treat people like customers," adjusting service to their demands.

In some cases, this means more and better mail service. In others, it means a cutback in pickups, deliveries or house of operation.

Assistant Postmaster General Frank J. Nunlist told UPI in an interview his goal is to put postal service on an efficient, businesslike basis rather than cling to traditions for their own sake.

The transition will be speeded by the new law converting the post office into an independent agency, but the changes already are being put into practice.

No More Plodding

"To hell with the nice old postman who plods through the night I want a guy on a fast horse," declared Nunlist, chief of the Bureau of Operations which largely runs the $10 billion-a-year U.S. mail system.

For example, he said, post offices in some rural areas, have begun staying open later on Friday nights to accommodate farmers who like to come to town then.

On the other hand, Saturday deliveries and pickups are being curtailed in some suburban areas where the bulk of weekend mail consists of circulars instead of first class mail.

"The five-day work week is leaving downtown post offices empty on Saturdays in many big cities. Henceforth, they will either close or cut back sharply on Saturday staffs."

"This is not a country where any organization, including the post office, can be handled by any one edict. There can be no national program. The key to a lot of our thinking is treating people like customers," Nunlist said.

"It's a Marketing Approach"

"It's a marketing approach. Interrelate service with need." Postmaster General Winton M. Blount told a reporter. "Changes in postal service are being brought about all the

Officials Say Plague Will Leave With Hot Weather

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI)—The recent rash of bubonic plague cases in New Mexico probably will continue until cool weather forces flea-carrying rodents back into the state's forests, health officials say. The fifth case of the once fatal disease was confirmed Thursday in a 21-year-old Santa Fe woman. A 41-month-old Shiprock, N.M., child is undergoing tests in Denver, Colo. to determine if he has the disease. Residents have been warned to stay away from wild animals and deflea their pets.

People Most Important Military Asset, Defense Secretary Says

GROTON, Conn. (UPI)—The nuclear attack submarine is the most important asset of the U.S. Navy, Defense Secretary Melvin Laird said Friday. Laird said that although technology has advanced the capabilities of naval warfare, people remained the most important asset in keeping America strong.

In remarks prepared for commissioning ceremonies for the USS Trepan at the Groton Naval Submarine Base, Laird said, "We know that modern weapons systems to keep our country strong are important. But we also know that people are our most important assets, and that as technology progresses, they become even more important."

The Trepan, christened by Laird's wife last September is the 35th nuclear submarine to be delivered to the Navy by General Dynamics' Electric Boat Division.

"Historically and traditionally, the domain of the attack submarine has been the forward sea," Laird said. "But with the deployment of ballistic missile submarines."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — It takes time to build a solid base for the market after the "quick-harris, Upham & Co. says. The necessary adjustments are being made, however, the firm believes. The speculative sections have been toned down and the market is carefully weighing the many good and bad features of the economy.

The supply and cost of money and credit are the most conclusive factors in controlling security prices, Wright Investors' Service says. The 1969-70 decline in market values was directly caused by a severe, deliberate shrinkage in the supply of money and credit, it adds. An expansionary policy and upward price trend, however, has been in progress for the past two and one-half months and should continue for the next several years, the firm says.

Hoppin Bros. & Co. finds August "the kookiest month" with a notable reputation for providing non-significant and misleading stock market trends. It is dangerous to forecast future trends from August because that is "the time of the year when the moguls are away soaking up sunshine and the market is left to the ribbon clerks," the firm says.

August is a dull month and unusually dull this year because of "abnormal activity" by the funds who, while holding about 70 per cent of the stocks aren't doing that much trading, W. E. Hutton & Co. says. Beyond the seasonal factors is the fact there simply is no incentive to trade. There is no urgency and little incentive to buy, the firm says.

Feeders Support Research

Across the High Plains this summer you may see drilling rigs boring into the earth's surface, but the objective is not the production of water, oil or gas, but rather research. This research project is directed toward obtaining information for a comprehensive underground picture of the Texas High Plains cattle feeding industry.

The Texas Cattle Feeders Association and individual cattle feeder are making a major contribution to this project in an effort to have the facts regarding the condition of the underground water supply.

Dr. William D. Miller, a groundwater geologist with the Geosciences Department of Texas Tech University, heads a team of eight involved in the project. The objective is to determine the significance of any subsurface distribution of nitrates from feedlots to the underground water zone of the High Plains, and to learn what type of subsurface materials best guard against infiltration of nitrates to the groundwater zone.

Miller is directing test hole drilling and/oring in a program involving 80 feedlots in the Texas Panhandle and South Plains area. Both long established and new feedlots are being tested during the study.

In addition to the Texas Cattle Feeders Association and Texas Tech University, others supporting the project include the Federal Water Quality Administration, Texas Water Development Board and the North Plains Water District.

Boys Ranch To Stage Rodeo

One of the most unusual events in the nation will take place at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch over the Labor Day weekend, when the 350 residents of the Ranch put on their 26th annual rodeo.

Professional rodeo stock and hard-riding, determined boys will combine to fill the arena with an unforgettable rodeo. Boys from 4 to 18 will compete for honors during the two performances, Sunday, Sept. 6 and Monday, Sept. 7. There will be bronco bull riding, bareback bronc and trick-riding, and the youngest boys will capture the hearts of the audience in the special stickhorse races.

Comfortable reserved box seats are available in advance at regular prices from the Boys Ranch office at 600 W. 11th Street in Amarillo, for $2.50. General admission is $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children and servicemen in uniform.

The performances will begin at 2 p.m. both Sunday and Monday. Delicious barbecue beef sandwiches with all the trimmings will be prepared by the boys and sold to the rodeo visitors for only $1.

Every boy at the Ranch will have some part in the rodeo, either as a contestant or working at the many behind-the-scenes jobs that make the rodeo a big success each year. The traditional rodeo is also an annual homecoming for the more than 2,500 boys who have lived at the Ranch since its founding by Cal Farley in 1939.

Texas No. 1 Exporter

AUSTIN — Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has announced that not only is Texas No. 1 in exports of breeding cattle but now is also No. 1 in exports of breeding swine.

Figures released by the U.S. Department of Agriculture confirm that Texas leads the nation in exporting breeding swine, the Texas Department of Agriculture chief said.

The figures show that 48 per cent of U.S. breeding swine exports were provided by Texas producers. Total U.S. exports were 23,724 and Texas provided 11,399 of those. Indiana ranked second with exports of 1,540 head of hogs.

Stocks Move Higher Friday

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices moved higher on increased activity early Friday but the market's response to favorable economic indicators showed signs of restraint through the second hour.

The Dow Jones industrial average of 30 selected blue chips, was up 2.67 at 710.02 around noon but down from its rise of more than 3 earlier. Advances led declines 499 to 415 among the 1,228 issues traded, with declines slowly narrowing the gap.

"The rally is coming up against Friday and seasonal factors," one analyst said. "If this were a normal period we might get something going because investors have been waiting for good word on the economy."

By FELIX W. RYALS Last week this column carried the statement that windmill wells (domestic) were being redrilled all over the Water Conservation District in increasing numbers. Enquiries also came from areas adjoining the district.

Declining Water Table Explained People connected with water studies in West Texas invariably use the term ogallala formation in speaking of the underground water throughout the High Plains area. Anyone who has studied the soil formation in Texas and in particular the soil formation of West Texas could never be an atheist. To them there had to be a Master Planner. When one studies the soil formation in the High Plains of West Texas and discovers water is stored in a red clay bowl that is impervious there comes the inescapable conclusion that there was a Master Plan and a Master Planner.

In most areas of West Texas, the red clay bowl is two layers thick. These two layers of red clay have various thicknesses in different areas of West Texas. Most of us in Gray and Carson Counties have come to believe that we have primarily one red clay layer at the base of our underground ogallala formation. This layer of red clay throughout most of Gray and Carson counties is called the Permian Red Beds. The Permian Red Beds are sometimes up to 5000 feet in thickness. The top part of this clay layer is commonly called the quartermaster formation. One may see this formation exposed along the banks of the Palo Duro Canyon and the Canadian River Valley.

The Triassic Red Clay beds spoken of as the Dockum Group is found in the southwest corner of Carson County and on through the Amarillo area and to the New Mexico border on the West and on down South through Hereford and to the Lubbock Area. The Triassic red clay beds overlay permian red clay beds. These two layers of red clay protect the fresh water in the ogallala formation from the salt water below the red clay beds. The oil and gas deposits are found below the red clay beds and contains great amounts of salt water. The bottom of the fresh water formation or irregular shaped bowl or reservoir is shallow along the edges. As the water table declines the water is pulled away from the shallow edges of the bowl. Immense quantities of water have been pumped out of the center portion of the bowl by agriculture, industry and cities. This has caused the underground water to recede or pull from the edges of the underground reservoir (bowl). The next result is the windmill failing to produce water. James B. McCray of Panhandle, who farms and irrigates extensively in Carson County, recently reported the failure of a windmill well on one of his farms.

TOO MANY ERRORS BIRMINGHAM, England (UPI) — The Birmingham Small Arms Co. factory said Thursday it will get rid of its computer lest its 4,000 workers strike because of the machine's continuous mistakes.

The factory spokesman said it will return to a manual method of figuring wages. The workers had threatened a walkout over the situation.

Bush Speaks Out On Farming Issues

Congressman George Bush, who is running for senate, has begun a series of issue-oriented broadcasts. The remarks he made on Agriculture in his fifth broadcast, on Aug. 11, are as follows:

"The farmers and ranchers of Texas want their fair share of the growth of our economy. They're not getting it, and frankly, I believe they deserve it. While the government continues various price support and land retirement programs that in effect pay farmers for limiting production, I would much prefer to see farm programs that emphasize market growth.

"Our farmers are hard-working; they are fantastically productive. No country in the world can match their record, and yet we concede to other countries much of the growth in the export market. In my view, the answer lies in helping farmers to serve new and expanding markets here and overseas. That policy would be fair to the farmers, the needy and the taxpayers.

"All of us, regardless of where we live, benefit from growth and progress in our rural areas. Without available jobs, rural people simply flock to the already overcrowded cities. Problems of pollution, congestion, crime and skyrocketing welfare result from too much growth — too quickly in our cities. We need a policy that balances growth in the city and the countryside and that means encouraging rural areas to catch up in terms of industry, jobs, education and health facilities.

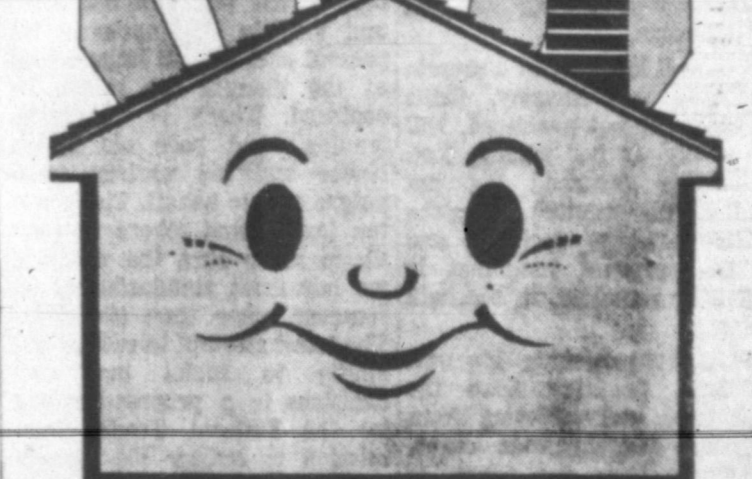

"In July, 1968, I first introduced the Rural Job Development Act which provides tax incentives to industry locating in rural areas with limited employment opportunities. This act would permit such communities to make carefully controlled use of tax exempt revenue development bonds to attract firms and create jobs I have introduced this legislation again in the present Congress.

"Today seventy percent of the American people are crowded together in less than two percent of the nation's land area. If this trend continues, there may not be any open land left near people who want to use it. The question ultimately becomes: 'Do we all want to live herded together?'

"This is why legislation such as the Rural Job Development Act is so important to our future. This is why we need a policy of balanced growth, a policy that brings industry and jobs to the rural areas where people want to live if they can earn a satisfactory income."

SHAKEN AT FACE VALUE CLEVELAND (UPI) — Staff members of the Cleveland clinic lost their professional aplomb Friday when they learned Richard Burton and his wife, Elizabeth, would register for checkups next month. But the excitement waned when it was announced the patients are Dr. Richard Burton and his wife, Elizabeth.
