ABRAMS PRAISES TROOPS

South Viets Fight Well

SAIGON (UPI) — Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. troops in South Vietnam, praised the South Vietnamese army today and said its soldiers had come out of their latest test with Communist forces "with tremendous confidence."

Abrams said the South Vietnamese army performed well in a six-week campaign late last year in the border province of Quang Duc northeast of Saigon in defending the Green Beret Special Forces camps of Bu Prang and Duc Lap.

"I don't think there's any question but that the 23rd (South Vietnamese army) Division, the commanders, the people who are in it, have come out of this with a tremendous confidence and pride in themselves," Abrams said.

He made the comments in an interview with UPI correspondent Barney Seibert at Ban Me Thout, 137 miles northeast of Saigon, where colorful ceremonies were held to mark the successful defense of the two border camps. Communist losses in the battles were listed at more than 1,500 dead.

"It (the battles) had a fine effect, firming for them (the South Vietnamese) what they really can do," the four-star general said.

Military spokesman said today American B52 bombers blasted suspected troop concentrations in three border provinces north of Saigon late Tuesday and today in the heaviest such raids in months.

GUARDSMAN OF THE YEAR honors were conferred on Sgt. E5 Durwood Williams, left, 1112 Finley by Captain John E. Radcliff, in a ceremony conducted Tuesday night in the National Guard Armory. The Texas State Guard Company 8 502nd Battalion, Pampa Security Unit sergeant was selected on the basis of his efficiency, improvement and regular attendance of unit meetings. Captain Radcliff, commander of the unit reported that 17 guardsmen and wives attended the honorary dinner. Three officers and 13 enlisted men make up the voluntary unit which is a state organization designed to go into action in the event the local National Guard is called out of the area. (Staff Photo)

Israel Defines Military Policy

By United Press International
Israel Defense Minister Moshe Dayan says Israel's military policy against Egypt is not "hit and run" but "strike and return" and will continue that way until Egypt halts its cease-fire violations.

The hero of the 1967 Middle East War made the remarks at a meeting of the World Jewish Congress in Tel Aviv Tuesday night only hours after Israeli warplanes returned from making their closest strikes to the Egyptian capital since the war.

The jets attacked the El Khanka army base nine miles northeast of Cairo, a major supply depot for the Egyptian Air Force, and the Tel El Kabir base 25 miles northeast of Cairo, said to be Egypt's largest military installation.

Dayan described his nation's military policy as a "static" one with "dynamic tactics."

"As long as the Egyptians are revoking the cease-fire, we hit them hard and often deep in the rear," he said. "This is not hit and run but strike and return."

Discussing Israel's relations with its northern neighbor of Lebanon, the defense chief said Israel "shall assume the rights of passage" into Lebanon if the Beirut government allows the country to be turned into a "Fatahland."

Congress Gets Report On Health Hazards

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A gynecologist told Congress today widespread use of birth control pills "has given rise to health hazards on a scale previously unknown to medicine."

"Nine million American women are consuming these compounds almost automatically as chickens eating corn," unaware the pills may cause cancer, blood clots, diabetes or arteriosclerosis, said Dr. Hugh J. Davis in prepared testimony.

Davis, assistant professor of obstetrics and gynecology at Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine, Baltimore, was the first witness in seven days of hearings scheduled by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., to look into allegations contraceptive pills are hazardous.

Three other medical authorities testified of potential hazards, but not nearly so strongly as Davis.

Marvin S. Legator, a food and drug administration (FDA) research official, said "an exhaustive study such as carried out with cigarette smokers would be required to indicate a possible relationship between oral contraceptives and cancer."

Drug Firms Attacked
Legator said a "long latent period" made instant tests results impossible. He said it would take "10 or more years, and even... generations in the case of a mutagenic response" to determine whether the pills cause cancer or genetic defects.

In a statement, Nelson accused some birth control pill manufacturers of "disseminating false and misleading information."

IN MISSISSIPPI

Private Schools Not Given Tax Exemption

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—All white private schools which mushroomed with the massive desegregation of Mississippi's public schools faced a major obstacle today in a federal edict denying them tax exemptions.

A leader in the private school movement conceded the order by a three-judge federal court in Washington Tuesday "won't help" such schools.

But said Bill Simmons, a Citizens Council official, "the demand (for private schools) is so tremendous, I don't know of anything that will cripple them."

The judges also prohibited federal tax deductions for private donations to such schools until officials determine, under court-approved procedures, that the schools are not "part of a system of private schools operated on a racially segregated basis as an alternative to white students seeking to avoid desegregated public schools."

The temporary orders, effective until a final ruling is made on a 1969 lawsuit filed on behalf of five Negro families, came only nine days after 30 public school districts began implementing the "total integration" mandate of the Supreme Court. All but five of the 30 districts have resumed regular classes with no major incidents and another, the separate municipal school system in Meridian, was to start today. While attendance has held up relatively well in predominantly white districts, but was down sharply in heavily black areas.

HEW Officer Wants U.S. Senate Seat

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary Robert H. Finch of Health, Education and Welfare is the first cabinet officer in the Nixon administration to make it clear he wants another job.

Hants a U.S. Senate seat from California.

Right now, there isn't one available. But if Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., should decide not to seek re-election, "I would certainly think about it," says Finch.

Finch was the glamour guy in the administration's early days last year.

But the lines in his handsome face are more prominent these days. His shoulders sag a little.

Finch long has been disenchanted with the politics of Health, Education and Welfare. The bitter defeat he absorbed in pushing Dr. John H. Knowles of Boston as the government's top health officer was a sobering experience.

Perhaps as aggravating to him is the poor reception his crowning project—welfare reform—has received in Congress.

Finch was the family assistance plan which would assure every family of four at least $1,600 a year. It also would double federal welfare costs.

Contraceptives Now Available To Single Coeds

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Standord University physicians can issue contraceptives to single coeds, according to school health director Dr. James B. McClenahan.

He said Tuesday that the university's health service doctors now have the same relationship "with respect to student patients as all other community physicians."

Campus doctors previously provided contraceptive prescriptions only to married students or to those whose marriages were imminent. All others were referred to private physicians or community clinics.

'Austere Budget' Causes Setback In NASA's Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The space agency says budget cuts for the coming business year will force it to cut 50,000 jobs and delay for two years completion of the Apollo moon missions and the landing of a life probe on the planet Mars.

Thomas O. Paine, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), said the budget on which President Nixon is putting the finishing touches is "austere." But he said the agency can live with it and will be able to "press forward" in the right direction with the basic ingredients we need for major achievements in the 1970s and beyond.

The budget for the business year beginning July 1 is to be sent to Congress when the session opens next week. Paine did not disclose exactly how much Nixon had decided to allocate his agency.

The reductions, Paine said, will mean that the Apollo moon missions will be stretched out for another two years—until 1974. There will be two moon flights each in 1970 and 1971, none during 1972, and three more flights at six-month intervals in 1973 and 1974. After that no manned flights of any kind are scheduled.

Project Viking, designed to put two spacecraft in orbit around Mars and to land two life detection craft on the martian surface in 1973, has been postponed until 1975, Paine said.

In addition, he announced the Saturn 5 rocket project will be suspended indefinitely after the first such rocket is built.

Information Objective Of O&G

Informing the public of the Top O' Texas area about the oil and gas industry and the many problems it faces at this time will be the main objective of the Oil and Gas Committee of the Chamber of Commerce during the coming fiscal year.

The committee met in Coronado Inn this forenoon under the chairmanship of C.D. Zlomke, general manager of Cities Service oil production in the Pampa area.

Zlomke announced that the April membership meeting of the chamber will feature a speaker who will discuss how the oil and gas industry affects the economy of the local area.

Today's meeting also included preliminary plans for the committee's 1970 work program.

Hazelwood Looks Beyond Justice Candidacy

Amarillo attorney Jack Hazelwood announced today that he will not be a candidate for Associate Justice of the Seventh Court of Civil Appeals to be vacated by Judge E.O. Norheut. Hazelwood explained that he is making the announcement in response to the many inquiries from attorneys and friends in the 46-county area composing the Seventh Judicial District. He said his decision not to seek the post of Associate Justice came after many weeks of deliberation.

Hazelwood added, however, he is considering becoming a candidate for the Senate for the 31st Senatorial District.

Aid Called "Blood Money"

Soviets Block Outside Help To Feed Starving Biafrans

LAGOS (UPI)—Federal Nigeria, with the Soviet Union's encouragement, attempted to feed millions of Biafran refugees today, spurning outside humanitarian aid it called "blood money."

Gen. Yakubu Gowon, federal Nigeria's chief of state, said in an interview broadcast on Nigerian Radio Tuesday night that his country had no need for the food, medicine and equipment offered by nations and relief agencies around the world.

"Let them keep their blood money," he said. "We don't want their assistance. We don't want their help. We will do it ourselves."

While Gowon's statement scoured outside help, it did not specifically rescind an earlier Nigerian government statement saying foreign agencies could send aid through Nigerian channels in Lagos.

Six Thousand Surrender Gowon's remarks came after two days of appeals from leaders around the world for permission to aid the defeated Biafrans of the secessionist eastern region which called itself Biafra. An estimated 2 million persons in the enclave are said to be threatened with starvation.

Federal troops, who overran the last bastions of the rebels over the weekend and put to flight the rebel leader, Gen. Odumegwu Ojukwu, accepted mass surrenders from Biafran troops under amnesty conditions. The Nigerian Radio said 6,000 had surrendered through Tuesday night.

Biafra surrendered Monday afternoon after waging civil war for 31 months. Gowon accepted the surrender "in good faith" in a broadcast Monday midnight and promised amnesty to all cooperative Biafrans.

The Nigerian leader said he was considering returning to Nigeria to civilian rule soon but told his interviewer: "I want to see the rehabilitation and reconstruction of Biafra get under way."

Ojukwu Reported in Zambia Reports from the eastern region was sketchy. Some said roads into the interior were passable and vehicles carrying some of the tons of supplies already stockpiled in Nigeria were moving over them.

Reliable diplomatic sources in Lusaka, Zambia, said Ojukwu arrived by plane Tuesday night from Brazzaville in the Congo Republic. Government officials refused to confirm it but had said earlier he would be granted temporary asylum and encouraged to go to Europe.

The Soviet Union Tuesday congratulated Nigeria upon its victory and branded Western attempts to mount a humanitarian airlift as interference in Nigerian affairs.

Yablonski's Attorney Accuses Others Of Causing Slayings

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The attorney for slain unionist Joseph A. Yablonski has accused Labor Secretary George P. Shultz of contributing to his death by not heeding repeated appeals to investigate alleged corruption and fraud in the United Mine Workers (UMWA).

The Yablonski family and the Yablonski supporters believe—and I share their belief—that the failure of the Labor Department to investigate the illegalities in the UMWA election contributed to the death of Jock Yablonski," Joseph L. Rauh said in a letter to Shultz.

Yablonski, his wife and daughter were murdered Dec. 30 at their home in Clarksville, Pa.

"Your repeated failure to intervene could not but have encouraged the most lawless elements to believe that the Yablonski group was defenseless," Rauh said.

Shultz last week ordered his department to investigate the Dec. 9 UMWA presidential election, which Yablonski 58, lost to incumbent W.A. "Tony" Boyle. But Rauh said Tuesday the department is not pressing the probe with enough vigor and is still showing "indifference to the scandalous conditions inside the UMWA."

In response, the Labor Department said 200 men working in 21 teams have been assigned to the investigation. "Some of the material in Mr. Rauh's letter is relevant to the investigation to the UMWA election complaints and has been added to the file," the department said.

Rauh urged that a federal task force—encompassing the Labor and Justice Departments, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Internal Revenue Service and other agencies—be created to investigate both the election as well as other alleged corruption in the UMWA.

Rauh said he tried to present his request personally to Shultz Monday, but was told by Labor Department solicitor Lawrence Silberman to "go through normal channels."

Rauh said it was time to forget about normal channels and "get down to the hard reality of whether the UMWA is to continue to be above the law."

TRC Recedes Gas Hearing

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Texas Railroad Commission recessed a hearing Tuesday on whether Pioneer Natural Gas Co. can increase rates by 22 per cent in 61 West Texas and Panhandle cities.

The hearing will resume Jan. 26.

Lawyers for Pioneer questioned land values Tuesday made by municipal appraisers. City officials contended Monday Pioneer overestimated construction costs and expenses of acquiring right of way land.

Pioneer sells natural gas to Lubbock, Midland, Odessa, Pampa, Plainview, Big Spring and 54 other Panhandle and West Texas cities.

Pampa Man Found Guilty In Slaying

A jury of 11 men and one woman in 11st District Court returned a verdict of guilty of murder without malice aforethought against Marvin Blocher Tuesday. The 47-year-old Pampa man was charged with murder with malice aforethought in the 1965 slaying of Robert E. Simpson.

The maximum five year sentence for the charge was assessed by the jury which returned the verdict at 7 p.m. Tuesday after a three-hour deliberation.

The state had sought a murder with malice aforethought charge which carries a two year to life sentence.

Simpson died Nov. 29, 1965 some 12 hours following the shooting which occurred in front of the Peppermint Lounge after an argument with the defendant.

District Attorney Guy Hardin called the victim's sister, Naida Washington as a witness for the state along with Jim Parker and R.H. Harris, all witnesses to the shooting. Sheriff Rudy Jordan the arresting officer and Dr. Carl Lang, attending physician of the victim, also testified.

Witnesses for the defense, called by the defendant's attorney, Jim Durham, Amarillo, included the charged man and Mrs. Erna Bradshaw, Pampa.

According to his testimony, Blocher fled to Amarillo following the incident, but returned to Pampa upon learning of the death of Simpson and turned himself in to Jordan.

The prosecution attorney contended that the murder was premeditated since the defendant, according to his own testimony, left the scene of the altercation which took place outside the lounge and returned.

Lubbock Mayor Holds Office In Violation Of Constitution

AUSTIN (UPI) — Wesley D. "Dub" Rogers has served as Lubbock mayor in violation of the Texas Constitution since he became a member of the Texas Tourist Development Board, United Press International learned today.

Rogers, mayor of Lubbock since 1966, was appointed to the tourist board by Gov. Preston Smith on Nov. 13, 1969, and took the oath of office the following day.

A number of Texas Supreme Court cases are on record where the high court has ruled a person holding one paid office who takes the oath of another salaried office automatically vacates the first position.

Rogers' positions as mayor and as a member of the state agency appear to be in violation of Article 16, Section 40 of the Texas Constitution which reads: "No person shall hold or exercise at the same time, more than one civil office of emolument."

The word "emolument" is the key in this case, meaning profit or gain from station or office.

Both the office of mayor of Lubbock and a member of the Tourist Development Board provide "emolument," although the amount is somewhat insignificant in each case.

As mayor of Lubbock, Rogers is entitled according to that city's charter to "compensation... not to exceed $900 per annum, payable in monthly installments."

Rogers currently receives a "salary" of $75 per month from the city of Lubbock.

The statute creating the Texas Tourist Development Board passed last year by the Legislature provides payment of $25 a day plus actual expenses for board members when they are serving in that official capacity.

Local, county and state law officers began an investigation in Lubbock Tuesday. Two suspects were arrested early Tuesday, but police later said they probably had nothing to do with the incident.

Youngsters Use Old-Fashioned Remedy To Make 'Modern Trip'

LAKE CHARLES, La. (UPI) — Sheriff Henry A. Reid Jr. said Tuesday that several youngsters in Calcasieu Parish have ill-advisedly used an old-time asthma remedy in apparent efforts to take a trip.

Reid said five youngsters had become extremely ill by drinking the asthma remedy in soft drinks.

Dr. John M. Thorkelson, who treated some of the youngsters, said the drug was usually burned and inhaled by asthma sufferers to relieve congestion.

Thorkelson said, however, that the green drug, resembling powdered sugar, contained bella donna drying agent and stramonium, a derivative of loco weed. He said it was not intended for internal use.

When taken internally it causes severe hallucinations, dilation of the eyes, extreme dryness of the mouth and throat and several other severe reactions, the doctor said.

The reaction lasts as long as 12 days and could be fatal, Thorkelson warned.

Reid said the drug could be purchased by anyone across a drug store counter, but he withheld the brand name. The sheriff warned youngsters of extreme dangers involved in improper use and warned parents to be on the lookout for appearance of it in homes.

Reid said he did not know how the youngsters learned of the drug. Thorkelson said it was an old-time asthma remedy normally used by the aged.

New Journalism Emphasis In Crime Reporting Needed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's news media have failed to help reduce the level of violence in American society because they have emphasized the violence and not its causes, according to a new government report.

As a result, a "new kind of journalism" is needed to unfold problems to bottom and suggest solutions, according to a 514-page report released Monday by the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence.

The principal recommendations of the report have been endorsed by the 12-member violence commission headed by Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower. The task force report, entitled "Violence and The Media," is itself the views of a staff headed by Robert K. Baker and Sandra J. Ball.

It upbraided both broadcasters and the press for failure to provide "routine and peaceful access" to the public ear for people with new ideas and minorities with grievances.

But the report defended the news media against often-heard charges the media promote violence by giving its practitioners publicity. Violence is not necessary to gain the attention of the news media, and it defeats the purposes of groups that engage in it because their "message" is then lost in the preoccupation of the media with the violence itself.

For the news media to ignore or soft-pedal news of violent confrontations would be a grave dereliction of duty, the report said.

"Unless we propose to emulate the ostrich, we must expect—indeed the public has a right to demand—that the press will report the day's intelligence including that which is violent. As with other events, when there is violence, the public has a right to know it."

Lions' Governor To Visit Club

Ed Flood of Amarillo, governor of District 2-TI Lions Clubs, will meet with Pampa Lions at their Thursday luncheon in United Methodist Church.

Local club officials said today the district governor is coming to aid in launching plans for the Lions district convention in Pampa April 23, 24 and 25.

Flood, a former Pampaan, said approximately 600 Lions and their wives from 65 Lions clubs in the district are expected to attend the three-day convention here.

Pampa's two Lions Clubs, the Noon and Evening Lions, will host the convention guests from the Panhandle and South Plains areas.

New Miami School To Be Dedicated

MIAMI (Staff) — New Miami school facilities will be dedicated Sunday according to the superintendent Glis Sanders.

The new high school, auditorium and gymnasium housed in a $610,000 building replaces the portion of the school demolished in the M. 6, 1968 tornado which hit the city.

Dedicatory speaker will be Dr. Walter Juniper, academic vice president of West Texas University.

Welfare Commission Unable To Meet Food Relief Deadline

AUSTIN (UPI) — Welfare Commissioner Burton Hackney said Monday it would be "almost impossible" for his department to set up food commodity programs in 89 Texas counties in time to meet a federal court deadline.

A Dallas federal court ordered the welfare department and the U. S. Department of Agriculture Dec. 30 to have programs, in operation in 89 counties with no food programs in 60 days.

The USDA transferred $840,000 to the state for operation of the programs, but Hackney indicated at a meeting of the board the mechanics involved in initiating the programs would carry past the court's deadline.

Despite the court order, Hackney said, there will still be "some inequities" in the food distribution program.

"We have 165 counties operating the program with their own money, and now we'll have 89 counties operating it with federal funds," he said. "I don't know what the USDA might do if these 165 counties started dropping out."

Hackney will meet with officials of the 89 counties in the next two weeks to lay plans for starting the commodity programs.

He also said sharp increases in the number of families seeking state welfare benefits may force cuts in payments under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program.

The AFDC program rolls were trimmed last year, but federal court decisions have made many of the persons cut off, as well as others, eligible to return to the program, Hackney said.

During September, October and November, there were 30,786 recipients added to the rolls, bringing the total number to more than 200,000.

"Hopefully, the big bulk of the people are now back on the rolls," Hackney said. He said federal court decisions have been instrumental in swelling the state welfare lists.

"They have made a lot more people eligible, and we're finding that when we get people on the rolls, they're not getting off," he said.

King's Body Moved To New Grave

ATLANTA (UPI) — The body of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was moved quietly before dawn Tuesday from South View Cemetery to a new grave near the Ebenezer Baptist Church where he had served as pastor, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference said.

An SCLC spokesman said the move was made a few hours after the Atlanta board of aldermen approved the reinterment. Such approval is required for burial within the city limits at any site other than a cemetery.

"It is fitting and proper that a memorial to his life and works be established near his birthplace on Auburn Ave. and his beloved spiritual home, the Ebenezer Baptist Church," the aldermen said in a resolution. King, president of the SCLC, was co-pastor of Ebenezer Baptist when he was murdered in Memphis, Tenn., in April, 1968.

The AFDC program rolls were trimmed last year, but federal court decisions have made many of the persons cut off, as well as others, eligible to return to the program, Hackney said.

During September, October and November, there were 30,786 recipients added to the rolls, bringing the total number to more than 200,000.

"Hopefully, the big bulk of the people are now back on the rolls," Hackney said. He said federal court decisions have been instrumental in swelling the state welfare lists.

"They have made a lot more people eligible, and we're finding that when we get people on the rolls, they're not getting off," he said.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Probably no one will ever know just how many died from starvation alone during the war of secession in Nigeria.

The estimates run anywhere from a million in the 30 months war to a higher figure of 5,000 a day.

Nor does the surrender of the breakaway Biafran army mean an end to it, as Americans well know.

Emotional scars from the war between the states remain after 100 years. American Negroes in both North and South still fight for the emancipation of the war was supposed to accomplish.

In Black Africa where the veneer of civilization is thinner it will take longer.

Gave No Quarter

The dominant Ibo of Nigeria's eastern later to be called Biafra, fought what they believed was a war of victory or extermination.

And until the last bitter moments when the Ibo leader, Gen. Odimegwu Ojukwu flew out of the country with his family to continue, as he said, his quest for peace and the Biafran army at last surrendered, that was the way it was fought—no quarter.

The federal government of Nigeria with its capital at Lagos will have won back some geography.

But its losses will go beyond the dead whether they number one million or three million.

For Nigeria as a whole it will mean the loss of its most intelligent, industrious and educated tribesmen.

Management Class

The Ibo had spread far beyond their own tribal frontier in the east. They were a management class, holders of the highest civil offices and other Nigerians called them arrogant, as perhaps they were.

Before the war they had more than one million children in secondary and other schools, two universities, training facilities for lawyers, engineers.

Even during the war they maintained discipline in their courts and on the streets. And they improvised to meet their needs, learning how to refine gasoline from crude oil, to build rockets and mortars and to preserve a certain civilian economy.

In the final moments, panic overcame them and they clogged the roads—the halt, the lame and the blind.

It was a savage war and everyone lost.

Kidnapers Are Charged

TEXARKANA, Tex. (UPI) — Five men charged in the kidnaping of Karen Vickers, 15, reappeared in court Tuesday to plead either guilty or not guilty to the charge.

The girl was abducted from her home Thursday and held for 27 hours in a Texarkana motel. During that time police arrested three of the defendants, but let them go after they received a note saying the girl would die unless the three were released.

The three initially arrested were John Tasby, 21, of Lafayette County, Ark., Booker T. Burkhalter, 24, of Dallas, and Joe Willie Peggett, 23.

Sunday night police picked up Tasby and Burkhalter again, while the two were watching a television program about the FBI.

Hugh Malzac Smith, 26, and Paul Lawrence Bryant, 21, are also charged in the kidnaping.

The girl was released from the motel Friday after Smith persuaded her abductors to let her go.

Tasby and Burkhalter appeared in the court of U.S. Commissioner Ned Stewart Monday and told Stewart they did not have the money to hire an attorney. Stewart said he would appoint lawyers. He also named attorneys to represent Bryant and Peggett.

Bonds were set at $25,000 on each of the five.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Schoolgirl Assaulted On Grounds

WICHITA FALLS (UPI)—A father complained to the school board Monday night that his daughter had been assaulted by five other girls on the school grounds while a male teacher just stood there and watched.

The father said his daughter, a white student, had been attacked by five Negro girls after classes were dismissed for the day Dec. 13. He said his daughter was severely beaten and that had not two women intervened, "I believe they would have killed her."

The girl was taken to a local hospital for treatment, and the five girls were indefinitely suspended from school.

School board members then passed a resolution insuring school superintendent Dr. Don Waldrip to place whatever security personnel he feels necessary to maintain order in each of the city's high schools.

The board asked that the names of the father and his daughter not be released.

"Violent Chick" Charged In Killing Father With Crowbar

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A 14-year-old girl and two young men with whom she lived in a hippie colony "crashpad" have been charged with murdering her father with a crowbar. One acquaintance said the girl was "a really violent chick, the kind who could eat tin cans."

The girl, Debra "Muffin" Mattingly, was held by suburban Arlington, Va., police under $50,000 bond in the slaying of Richard L. Mattingly Sr., 63, executive secretary of the District of Columbia Board of Condemnation. Debra was adopted.

Also charged with murder were Eugene L. Comeau, 19, an unemployed dishwasher whose bond was set at $50,000, and Kenneth W. Hitner, 21, described by police as an AWOL Marine.

For the past week the three had lived in a one-room fourth floor walkup, not far from DuPont Circle, sharing it with as many as seven other young persons.

Four of the others were held under $10,000 bond as material witnesses.

Mattingly's son was told Friday his father had not reported for work. He called his father's home about 11 p.m., but a girl answered who he said would not identify herself. The son called police who went to the home but got no answer.

The next afternoon, the son went with police to the ransacked house and found his father's body in the furnace room. He had been dead since Thursday.

Debra was adopted when she was 9 months old. Court records showed that her difficulties began four months after her mother, who at the time was separated from her husband, died in January, 1957. Her brother described Debra as a chronic runaway.

In 1969 Richard Nixon was inaugurated as the nation's 37th President.

Moore County Sheriff Dies

DUMAS, Tex. (UPI)—Moore County Sheriff John M. Easley died in Memorial Hospital early today after a lengthy illness.

Easley, 57, was born in Ed Dcrao, Okla., and had been sheriff for 19 years.

He is survived by his widow, a son, a daughter, a brother and two sisters. Services were set for 2 p.m. Thursday in the First Baptist Church of Dumas with burial at North Lawn Memorial Gardens in Dumas.

In 1965 Lyndon Baines Johnson was inaugurated for his first elected term as President.

Tower Glad Bush In Senate Race

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. John G. Tower said he is "delighted" that Rep. George Bush, R-Tex., has decided to challenge Democratic Sen. Ralph Yarborough for the Senate.

Tower sent a telegram to Bush in Austin where the announcement was made today, saying, "Any time I can be of assistance, I hope you will call on me."

Bush has already received encouragement from President on for the race in this year's election for Yarborough's seat.

Yarborough has yet to announce formally, but he is expected to seek reelection.

"You have already proven yourself to be a superlative legislator," Tower wired Bush, saying Bush's time of even greater service lies ahead.

Bush Announces Candidacy For Senate

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—U.S. Rep. George Bush, R-Tex., saying President Nixon believes Texas to be one of the key states in 1970's off-year election, Tuesday announced he would run for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Democrat Ralph Yarborough.

Bush, of Houston, said national Republican leaders have selected the Texas Senate race as one of 10 such contests that are "winnable" in 1970.

The Texas Republican was elected to Congress in 1966, two years after he conducted an unsuccessful campaign to unseat Yarborough.

SPEED READING CLASSES SET FOR PAMPA

The famous Cutler Accelerated Method of speed reading, created by Dr. Wade E. Cutler, who holds a doctorate in psychology, will be taught here in both day and evening classes.

The average person today reads some 200 words per minute with about 60 percent comprehension—a rate inadequate to cope with today's reading demands in school, college, and business.

This widely acclaimed course guarantees its graduates will read at least four times their beginning rate with a definite increase in comprehension.

Many graduates of the nine-week program far exceed the guarantee and complete with rates of 2,500 and more words per minute with far better comprehension.

Concentration, recall, study and test-taking skills show a remarkable degree of improvement.

Such achievement means that a person can read books of average length in 45 minutes or less, and understand, remember, and enjoy them better than ever.

This remarkable accelerated reading and study course is offered here exclusively by Accelerated Education Schools with locations in major cities in Texas, New Mexico, Louisiana, and Oklahoma.

This professionally conducted course boasts over 10,000 successful graduates due to its common sense approach to better and faster reading, and to its staff of professionally qualified master teachers.

A series of meetings has been scheduled for those in the area who desire to know how they too may learn to read with greater speed, power, and efficiency.

At these free one-hour orientations, full details about speed reading and the unique Cutler Accelerated Method will be given to those forward-looking persons attending.

Since there is no cost or obligation by attending, you owe it to yourself to attend the time most convenient for you.

Drop in and find out how you can make 1970 a more successful year.

All meetings are open to the public, and will be conducted as follows:

Monday, January 12 at 7:30 p.m.; Tuesday, January 13 at 7:30 p.m.; Wednesday, January 14 at 7:30 p.m.; Sunday, January 18 at 2:30 p.m.; and again at 4:00 p.m.

All meetings will be conducted in the Emerald Room of the Coronado Inn, 1101 N. Hobart, in Pampa. (Adv.)

Altrusans Learn Of Jaycee Work

"The United States Jaycees commemorate 50 years of service during Jaycee Week, Jan. 18-24," Pampa Jaycee President John W. Warner told the Altrusa Club at its regular meeting yesterday. This is the first of a series of programs Jaycees will be presenting to civic clubs telling the Jaycee story.

Warner said that the Pampa Jaycees were founded in 1931 and was the first Jaycee club in the Panhandle of Texas and one of the first 15 clubs in the State. "Texas now has nearly 300 Jaycee clubs," Warner said. "Our local club runs about 100 projects each year," Warner said. Included among the list were the Pampa High School Career Clinic, Punt, Pass and Kick, Junior Tennis, Junior Champ Track Meet, hanging Christmas decorations, shopping tour for underprivileged children at Christmas and several projects involving Girlstown and the Children's Home at Panhandle.

"The key word for Jaycees is the word 'involvement,'" Warner said. "We want to be involved in all phases of community activities." The Jaycees are open to all young men from 21 to 35.

ENTERS HOSPITAL

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI)—South Africa's longest surviving heart transplant patient, Pieter Smith, entered Groote Schuur Hospital several days ago, a hospital source said Monday.

Smith, South Africa's third heart transplant, received a new heart in an operation performed by Dr. Christiaan Barnard in September, 1968. The sources gave no reason for Smith's hospitalization.

A thought for the day: Ralph Waldo Emerson said, "The highest compact we can make with our fellow man is 'Let there be truth between us forevermore.'" yielding to conventional measures of control or elimination. Inflation continues despite credit restrictions; neither military nor diplomatic pressure produces a Vietnam settlement; new birth control methods fail to halt the population explosion, etc.

But don't get discouraged. I think I can now see the light at the end of the tunnel.

New approaches to these hard core problems obviously are required, and one has just turned up that looks extremely promising. It is also almost breathtakingly simple.

What we do is abandon the various federal programs that have been created to handle the problems and deal with them through collective bargaining. In other words, if other words are needed, we make the solutions to the problems a part of the fringe benefits in labor contracts.

Credit for the basic thinking in this field goes to Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers, who has announced that he will make pollution an issue in contract negotiations this year.

If other unions now follow the UAW's lead, the major talking points in labor-management relations will be wages, pensions, working conditions and breathing.

But this, as I see it, is only the first step. The bargaining table would easily be expanded to include other social, economic and environmental hang-ups that have resisted traditional remedies.

The plumbers union, for example, might demand a 15 per cent wage increase, a $1 additional contribution to the pension fund, a 25-hour work week and the withdrawal of 100,000 more troops from Vietnam.

The electricians union, in turn, might demand higher pay, a shorter work week, extra vacation time and a 27½ per cent reduction in the crime rate.

And then the Teamsters union could strike for a lower birth rate.

As to whether American business and industry would be able to meet these demands remains to be seen. But it should make life a lot more interesting at the Federal Mediation Service.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
 HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Two of the major television networks will be competing head-on against each other with top motion pictures starting next Monday.

The networks are ABC-TV, which is switching its Wednesday night movies to Mondays, and NBC-TV, which usually fares much better in the ratings than its new competitor in the head-on showdown.

In its Monday night movie premiere, ABC-TV will offer Audrey Hepburn and Peter O'Toole in a comedy about art forgery, "How to Steal a Million."

NBC-TV, meanwhile, will counter with Dean Martin, Alain Delon and Rosemary Forsyth in a comedy western, "Texas Across the River."

The difference, however, is that while NBC-TV will begin its movie at the standard network time of 9 p.m. EST, ABC-TV will start its film at 8:30 p.m. EST, hoping to undercut its competitor's audience with the half-hour jump.

One of the probable reasons for this strategy is the success of ABC-TV's new "Movie of the Week" series against NBC-TV's motion pictures on Tuesday—another head-on challenge.

Actually, the "Movie of the Week" is simply a series of 90-minute originals made specifically for television, and does not offer major motion pictures. Nevertheless, these programs have done remarkably well in the ratings.

And here, too, ABC-TV employed the device of starting half an hour earlier than its competitor: 8:30 p.m. EST as opposed to 9 p.m. EST.

One Movieless Night Until ABC-TV decided to switch its Wednesday movies to Mondays' there was a network motion picture every night of the week. With the transfer, however, there will be no network film on one night, at least: Wednesdays.

But, of course, there will now be double feature collisions or two nights: Mondays and Tuesdays.

The networks aren't getting the ratings they used to get with motion pictures, but they still like them anyway for obvious reasons: The ratings are at least usually respectable, the product is pre-sold (and so are the stars), and all you do is buy a piece of film instead of starting from scratch, sweating over your money and hassling with actors and other production people over creative and personal problems.

Any time you don't have to get involved with people, you're ahead of the game.

By United Press International Today is Wednesday Jan. 14, the 14th day of 1970 with 361 to follow.

The moon is in its first quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:
 In 1914 Henry Ford began making automobiles by the assembly line method.
 In 1943 President Franklin D. Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill began a 10-day meeting in Morocco.
 In 1959 the firing squads of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro had executed 220 persons in two weeks.
 In 1964 more than 140 persons died in a driving snowstorm before it finally ended in the United States.
 A thought for the day: Ambrose Bierce said, "Woman could be more charming if one could fall into her arms without falling into her hands."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The worst of the bear market seems to be over, says Alexander Hamilton Institute. However, the firm expects to see the market continue to see-saw for the next few months until it has readied itself for a sustained advance. The present market offers many "bargain-counter" opportunities.

The abnormally large amount of institutional volume in 1969 has left the market unbalanced, observes the Janeway Service. Small investors were driven out, and have subsequently moved into the bond market, where yields are richer. Small investors will probably not return to stocks until tight money eases and stocks become more competitive with bonds. Janeway feels this is highly unlikely in the near future and feels the market's January levels will probably be its highest for the year.

Neither the fundamental economic background nor the market's technical condition are likely to support a major, sustained advance at this time, says Standard & Poor's. A strong bottom formation will be necessary "before a new bull leg can start," the firm says. Meanwhile, investors with substantial reserves from tax-loss selling should reinvest a part in reasonably priced stocks with favorable prospects for 1970, the firms adds.

Trend & Value doubts that the major stock market averages will challenge 1968 highs before the end of 1970. It is difficult to envisage an advance even beyond the November 1969 rally tops (Dow 863-873) during the next several months, the firm says. Overall stock price movement most likely will "trace out several intermediate-trend fluctuations this winter and spring within an almost flat trading range between, roughly, Dow 800 and 870," the firm adds.

Start with an Audit

Advertising is a serious investment... art, engraving, typography and copy are costly. All are planned carefully to attract readers who are prospects for the merchandise or service.

No business can afford to waste any part of this investment in any medium that cannot guarantee definite circulation and readership.

"Waste basket circulation" in post offices, and so called throw-aways that usually travel to the incinerator are of little or no value to the advertiser.

The Pampa Daily News is a completely Family Newspaper Delivered Daily... paid for and Welcomed!

BUYING ON THIS BASIS IS SOUND!

Careful studies made regularly by an independent organization—the Audit Bureau of Circulations—shows advertisers exactly what they get in circulation and readership for their advertising investment.

For most subscribers the PAMPA NEWS is the family shopping guide, for it carries the advertising of practically all progressive Pampa stores, markets and services.

It is the ABC's of advertising

The Audit Bureau of Circulation (ABC) is a co-advertising agency and publisher for the verification of circulation of newspaper members in operative, non-profit organization of advertisers, the United States and Canada.

SINU SUFFER Here's good news for the new "Hardcore"... RICHARD TOM BR Pampa's Business 111 N. Cuyler

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I could always figure out my own problems, but since we seem to be living in a different world from our children, I've come to the point where I can use some help.

My daughter is 22. She has a boyfriend who is going to college in another town. It's his last year, and he lives close enough so he could drive home on week-ends if he wanted to. He used to, but lately he hasn't, so my daughter thinks it is all right for her to drive down to visit him every week-end.

Maybe I'm old-fashioned, but I don't think this is right. She talks about getting married next year, and they aren't even engaged. I don't like to see her running after him. I think she is cheapening herself. I love my daughter, and I trust her, but this difference of opinion is driving us apart. What do you think?

LOVING MOM

DEAR ABBY: I have a mother who listens in on the other telephone when my sister is talking to her boyfriend. I do not go by the downstairs phone to catch her at it, but I have walked by where the phone is, and there sits Mom listening in for all she is worth.

I don't think this is a very nice thing for my mother to do, but then you don't go telling your mother what to do especially when you are a 12-year-old boy and she is a 62-year-old lady. So hurry your advice. I was thinking maybe I should tell my sister.

DEAR BOY

DEAR BOY: That would be a very brotherly thing to do.

DEAR ABBY: When my sister, Leona, was married, my parents gave her and her husband, Ross, many lovely pieces of furniture as a wedding gift. Leona died quite suddenly, one year after her marriage and Ross put the furniture in storage and moved into a smaller apartment. That was two years ago.

Now my brother is getting married, and my parents have told me that they intend to ask Ross for the furniture so they can give it to my brother and his fiancée as they feel it should be kept in "our" family. Ross is also considering marriage in the near future.

Abby, I wasn't "asked" for my opinion. My parents simply told me of their intentions. I personally feel that my parents are out of line to ask Ross for the furniture. I believe that Leona would have wanted Ross to keep whatever they shared. I also believe that my brother and his wife would feel uncomfortable accepting the furniture. Should I speak my mind? Or should I keep my mouth shut?

STILL WATER

DEAR STILL WATER: Speak your mind. I agree with you.

DEAR ABBY: Thanks a lot for not agreeing with that reader who was all for getting middle-aged men out of the bedroom and into fishing boots.

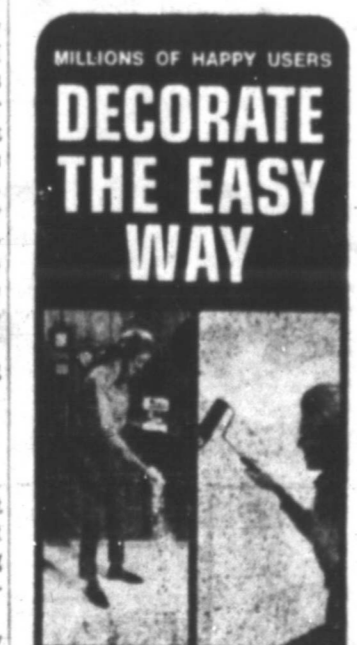

Our streams are already crowded enough as it is without filling them with more frustrated fly-fishers.

Cross System Wrong, But Closer Than Others

Now that all the Super Bowl talk has died down a bit I hate to be a "I-told-you-so" bird and while the Cross Rating System might have favored Minnesota over Kansas City by one point the system came closer to being right than a lot of others we all know about.

Right? Right. And with that little dig out of the way it is time to go over the New Year's Resolutions I always make a couple of weeks late.

Actually I make 'em earlier but hold back on 'em to see if I'm going to be able to keep them.

I will make my usual twice yearly attempt the stop smoking. I won't stop but I will draw the line, it is, however, awfully tiring removing all those cigarettes from the package and drawing a circle around them.

I will not embarrass Swede Lee and the Harvesters by saying they will win the district football championship this year, even though they probably will.

I will not make Arville Hayes mad by writing a review of a movie he is showing, unless the movie is going to run a day or two after I write about it.

I will not embarrass myself, Jim Hughes, Norm Fritzler and Puff Powell by getting so emotional about Pampa-Amarillo school football and basketball games.

I won't tell Jim Hughes about the mistakes he makes since he is nice enough not to tell me about the one I make, which in the long run are probably more. Just give the time left to play more often.

I will not argue with Fritz about Pampa stats, since it turns out we are usually both wrong anyway. From now on we'll both be right, until we're caught.

I will not bet with Chico Remeriz, Shirley Nichols or Al Bassett on football games anymore. I lost enough cups of coffee to open my own cafe.

I will not write anything nice about Jim Casey if he leads the staff football selections again. It jinxed him.

I will not mention football, basketball, baseball or any other sport to Pampa police Sgt. Gene Aufleger, but I will hope his son continues his athletic activities.

I will not kid our long-haired, bearded youths since I can't grow any on my head and my wife won't let me grow any on my face.

I will not have the knife out for basketball officials since they seem to be doing a better job this season, even James Kyle from Amarillo. This will be the toughest resolution to keep.

I will not umpire any Harvester baseball games this year since the players seem to be arguing more and they are all bigger than I am.

I will keep wondering just how good Jim Galkman will be by the time he is a senior in college and how good Mike Edgar and Richard Bunton will be by the time they are seniors in high school.

I will be just as biased and prejudiced about Pampa athletic teams and athletes as I always have been, since they are the best.

I will not tell any more Aggie jokes in front of Buddy Williams since he suffers enough from just being an Aggie.

I will introduce OU coach Chuck Fairbanks at the football banquet, if asked, which I haven't been yet.

I will quit kidding Ed Lehnick about winning the district track championship this year and Buddy Williams about winning the baseball championship, which he should.

I will miss Mike Hogan next basketball season and his help on coverage of Pampa in tournaments away from home. He has been the most dependable help anybody could ask for the last two years.

I will not write a column like this next year, instead hoping something more exciting comes along.

FOOTBALL NAMES THE APPETIZER

Wrestling May Escape Probe

NEW YORK (UPI)—There will be more names.

Bigger ones, too. Those four quarterbacks named in the wake of a series of New Year's Day raids designed to break up a national betting ring were only the appetizer. Wait until you see the main course.

Pro football isn't the only sport being asked to cooperate either. Baseball, basketball and boxing also are being looked into as well as horse racing, hockey and harness racing.

Take for example, Jerry Mays, the outstanding defensive end for the world champion Kansas City Chiefs.

Next Development The next major development in the gambling investigation will center around the business agents of ballplayers.

Some of these agents for athletes have been found to know gamblers and that makes them prime targets for investigation the way things are going now. The way they are, in fact, is causing all athletes to look over their shoulders.

The fact is virtually all professional athletes are sitting ducks for anybody who wants to come over to them in a restaurant or call them on a telephone and, seemingly innocently ask them how they feel.

"We get very nervous about some of these people, people we know only casually, I mean," Mays says. "It's so easy for people like this to get in touch with us. You lose a ball game,

Lubbock On Eight Game Losing Streak

Pampa will try to extend Lubbock's helplessness Friday night when the two teams square off here in a District AAAA basketball game in Harvester Fieldhouse at 8 p.m.

Junior Varsity's from the two schools will meet at 6 p.m. The Westerners have had trouble of late finding the winning column. They've lost eight in a row including all six district contests.

Things, in fact, seem to be getting worse instead of better. Lubbock started out in district play losing to powerful Amarillo only, 63-71, stayed close to Caprock, 62-56, but lost 75-50, 67-54, 59-41 and 96-56 to Tascosa, Palo Duro, Coronado and Borger in that order.

Lubbock returned two fulltime starters and another parttimer this season in what they thought might be a big basketball year. But thus far Lubbock is 5-14 for the season and 0-6 in league competition.

Danny Haynie and Sammy Romero, both seniors, started last season for Lubbock and are back again this year. Romero is 5'7 and Haynie is 6'1.

Senior Mike Taggart, 6'2, saw limited action last season but is the Westerners leading scorer thus far. Taggart has scored 82 points in district play for a 13.6 average.

The only other Westerner in double figures is 5'10 senior Witt Stewart, who played on the junior varsity last season. Stewart has 62 district points, a 10.3 per game average.

Taggart and Haynie play a double post with Stewart at forward and Romero and 5'8 junior letterman Bobby Hutchinson at guards. Lubbock is short on eight with Taggart the tallest man in the lineup.

For the season Lubbock has given up 1,295 points (68.1 per game) and has scored 1,063 (55.9) per game. In district play the Westerners have scored only 319 points (53.4) per game and have given up a bunch (430) an average of 71.6 per contest.

Pampa won both last season games off Lubbock, 63-48 and 70-51, the last one sending the Harvesters in a tie for the league lead.

Things will be a bit different for Pampa Friday night however with the Harvesters trying to climb close to the 500 mark in league competition.

Tascosa stopped a three game Pampa winning streak Friday by doing a great rebounding job and the Harvesters are now 2-4 in district competition and 9-7 for the season.

But Pampa has quite a big going for them with 6'6 postman Jim Galkman leading the district in scoring with a 20.5 average and a defense that is the third best in the league, allowing just 52 points per game.

Junior High Games Sweep Four Games From Opponents

Junior High basketball teams swept four games Tuesday night with Lee eighth and Pampa Junior High eighth grade teams keeping their perfect records intact for a showdown battle next week.

Pampa ninth grade ran its record to 8-1 with a 49-40 victory over Perryton while Pampa eighth romped to an easy, 42-27 victory. Lee ninth whipped the Borger Red Pups, 62-53 and Lee eighth downed Borger, 29-21.

Fred Wilbon led Pampa ninth with 19 points while Don Proctor had 12 and Ricky Van Smith added 11 and Richard McCampbell 7. In the rebounding department McCampbell had 11 and Bill Lemons 10. Don Proctor and Smith added five each.

Pampa eighth led 8-4 after one quarter and 11-7 at halftime before swarming over Perryton in the last half and ran its record to 7-0.

Ricky Smith and Steve Mathis paced the scoring with 12 points each. Kim Snell had 6 and David Nipp 4 while Bob Hendricks, Toddy Black, David Griffin and Mike rannon had two points each. Nipp with 7 and Mathis with 5, led in rebounding.

Lee ninth trailed 15-9 after one quarter, tied the game 23-23 at halftime and trailed again 41-35 after three periods before running over Borger.

Ricky Musgrave chipped in 26 points and Ricky McQuire 17 to pace the Rebel attack. Tony Farrell had 6. A.J. Brewer 5 and Steve Richardson and Rusty Edwards 4 each to round out the scoring.

Lee eighth ran its record to 7-0 with a convincing victory paced by Randy Cain's 7 points. Kryle Farrell, Gary Davis, David Clark had five points each and Ricky Beasley had 2 for Lee.

WORRY OVER ALI'S BOOK:

He Might Just Scoop Himself

NEW YORK (NEA) — Although he is committed to crammimg all the details of his first 27 years between the covers of a book, it remains questionable whether or not Muhammad Ali a-k-a Cassius Clay can keep from scooping his own biography.

He loves to talk and, for this reason, the New York publishing house which is paying him $200,000 for the right to print it, has some cause for concern.

By the time the presses start rolling, probably at the end of the year, Ali may have revealed the contents, free of charge. And who is going to pay $6.50 to read things they have already read in newspapers?

In an elaborately staged press conference on the 12th floor of the publishing house itself. Ali rambled on for 45 minutes about the contents of the book and, in the process, made it through the preface and at least two chapters. He kept telling the media people that the answers to their questions "will all be in the book."

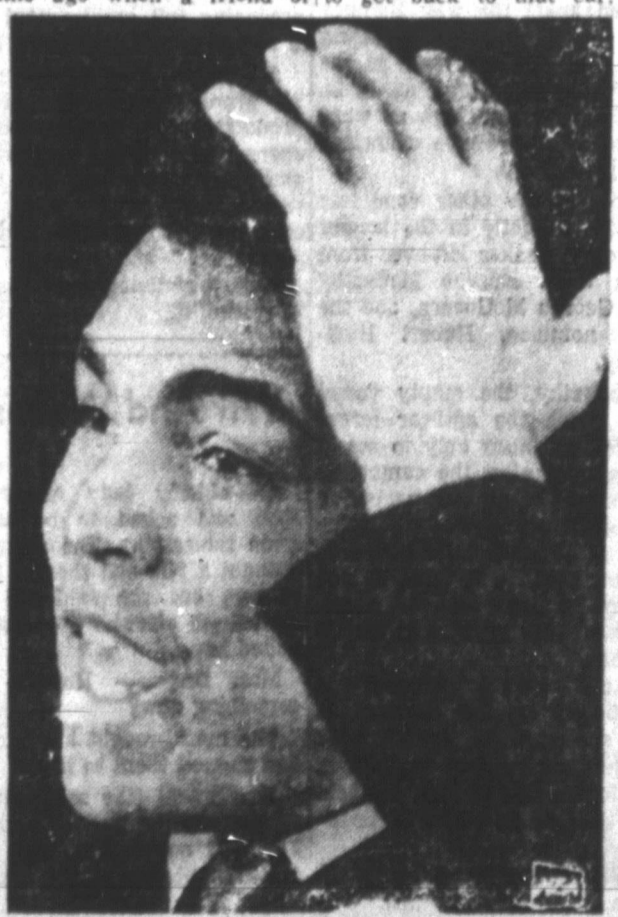

"Are you," someone asked, "going to reveal racial incidents?"

"I will tell them all," said Ali. "Like the time just eight months ago when a friend of mine — he's a Chicago police officer — and I were driving from Mississippi to Fayetteville, Ark., about 2 in the morning, I was going there to speak at a college the next day. We were on a dark, winding road, taking our time, when this car pulled alongside us and a white man yelled out, 'Hey, you niggers, Pull over.'

"Well, I told my friend to keep going and we did. But they didn't give up. They kept yelling, 'Niggers, pull over.' Finally, one of them pulled a gun and fired two shots into the air. My friend, who was driving, slammed on the brakes I said, 'You crazy, man? You wanna get us killed?' He said, 'Let me handle this.'

"The white man came over and one of them said, 'Where's that loudmouth nigger? We want him.' My friend got out of the car, reached into his coat, and said, 'I don't know about the loudmouth nigger, but you've got yourself the crazy one.' And he pulled out a .44 magnum and let loose with two shots in the air... pow!... pow!... that were so loud you could hear them echoing off the mountains. Well, those white folks fell over each other trying to get back to that car, and

"So many things have happened to me, I'm going to have to tell my life story in three books. This is just the first one. I got me the best writer in the whole world. (Chicagoan Richard Durham) working with me and we're going to sit down and put everything on tape and play them back and pick out the best parts. If he used everything, the book would be so thick nobody would be able to carry it."

"What else then," Ali was asked, "can we expect?"

H. L. Hunt Writes

THE REAL PATRIOTS

Violations of provisions for handling prisoners of war, and calling attention to the facts by courageous wives of the missing and mistreated men, have put the communist invaders of South Vietnam in a bind. It is good to see the communists squirm a little, after their run of propaganda "victories" over the years. Publicity world-wide calls attention to the two-faced evil of communism.

While Red propaganda had been having a field day over emphasizing 80,000 deserters and draft-dodgers who have gone to Sweden to avoid serving and preserving the freedom of people fighting communists, there was much good news escaping the attention of some of the media men. Just as the courage of wives of prisoners of war needs widespread publicity, this good news about men willing to fight for freedom deserves full notice. For example, 70,000 U.S. fighting men, "safe" in manning the ramparts to protect Europe from Russia, have volunteered to leave the good life in Europe and fight in Vietnam. That's patriotism.

Those 70,000 volunteers, compared with less than 100 deserters in Sweden, should be proof enough for anyone of the true ratio of patriots among young Americans. Further evidence is provided by the fact that 95 percent of U.S. servicemen never go absent without leave because of irresponsibility, much less desert because of cowardice or treason. How foolish trying to sell citizens of the Republic which destroyed Nazism that the 99 percent of soldiers who did NOT desert to Sweden are villains, and that a handful of deserters are heroes! Of course patriots won't buy such rubbish and we all need to get busy and point out the true fact to the apathetic and misguided.

With Some Reservation

By INJUN WOODY

Well, the Biffy Committee of the Public Roads Bureau has been busy. They are emphasizing the importance of lettings along stretches of the nation's highways.

Their recent survey disclosed the astounding news that four times as many people stop where there are sanitariums than those who stop where they are without. Naturally.

In fact, 78,619 motorists gave the only reason for stopping was a visit to the restroom, though not necessarily to rest. Stopping to actually rest was a far, distant second.

Shucks, I could have told them that from the experiences I have had in company with the Blouse & Skirt. She, too, has her moments along the highways. But where there were few, it now appears there will be many... Who are they kidding?

As usual, the bureaucratic process demands building of outhouses should be overdone—they recommend one outhouse for every 30 miles of highway! Even if you are eating dried apples or prunes (the fruit that won the West) for every mile, one would be hard put to make use of a facility every 30 miles.

I think more research is in order before forging ahead with the outhouse situation. For instance, would a two-holer be more economical every 60 miles than a one-holer every 30?

Traveling at 60 mi. per hour, if a wayfarer cannot hold out for at least 60 minutes, then he shouldn't be on the road at all.

I realize there may be mitigating circumstances to all travelers, such as a change in the drinking water or different food diets, but I believe if we get our teeth—we can squeeze by with one biffy spaced at 60 mi. intervals across the whole countryside. At least we can give it a try...

Democrats Seeking Pilot To '72 Political Fortunes

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The Democrats are going downhill in their quest for a 1972 presidential nominee, and prospects are not bright for an early reversal of this outlook.

Since the big jolt at Chappaquiddick last July which took Sen. Edward Kennedy out of the picture, the party has had nothing at all to cheer about on the candidate front.

At a comparable time before the 1960 election, John F. Kennedy had already emerged as a strong front-runner for the out-of-power Democrats.

In 1962 before his remarriage, New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller was far ahead. After that, Sen. Barry Goldwater quickly took a commanding position for the opposition Republicans.

Four years later, the GOP had a clear leader for the 1968 nomination in George Romney. As he began to falter, Richard Nixon swept ahead.

Strong-voiced and bull-chested, he is the very picture of the national leader who utters judgments like thunderbolts. But he has two drawbacks. He is almost unknown and he is militantly loud in the leftist vein where even soft speaking does McGovern in.

Post-Chappaquiddick, there is a natural surge toward Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine, the 1968 vice-presidential nominee. His reputation for cool-headed integrity, for a kind of low-key reasonableness, stood him in good stead as leaders looked frantically about.

But the truth in early 1970 is that there is no steam in the Muskie thing. He has had some verbal encounters on major issues which have diminished his status in the eyes of some political appraisers.

Indeed, if these private discussions had occurred against the backdrop of hard-nosed campaign events, Muskie probably would have been ripped apart the way Romney was as he fumbled endlessly with the Vietnam issue in the 1966-68 period. Even as it is, Muskie has been hurt as word of his unimpressive showings has gone about.

Most of the other candidate names presently in the hopper are even weaker left-over from 1968: Sens. Eugene McCarthy and George McGovern, and the 1968 nominee, Hubert Humphrey.

McCarthy, the empty vessel into which the antiwar forces poured so much only to see it all run out after the campaign, is thought to be still harboring notions about another try. If the war is somewhat defused well before 1972, it is hard to see where he could find the necessary credits. Inflation is hardly his bag.

McGovern simply is positioned too far leftward in the spectrum to attract wide Democratic support. No serious politicians talk of him. He gets into the lists as a kind of throw-away name.

Political common sense would seem to suggest that the defeated Humphrey, reviled by the emotional peace types in his own party last time, would not stand a chance in 1972.

Maybe he will not. The Democrats never have had any luck in modern times renominating previously beaten nominees. But one able Republican analyst, flatly forecast to this reporter the other day that "it will be Humphrey."

This man has no illusions about Humphrey's present handicaps. He needs a big win for the U.S. Senate in Minnesota this fall. Given that, he might emerge as a sort of nominee-by-default from a generally indifferent pack of prospects.

The 1970 Senate and governorship elections are unlikely to bring forth hot new Democratic numbers to stir the blood. The only sleeper at the moment is Sen. Harold Hughes of Iowa.

Strong-voiced and bull-chested, he is the very picture of the national leader who utters judgments like thunderbolts. But he has two drawbacks. He is almost unknown and he is militantly loud in the leftist vein where even soft speaking does McGovern in.

Inside Washington

Radicals Ignore Other
Black Freedom Fighters

JOHN
GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — President Nasser's bombastic roving of the pro-Soviet military rulers of the Sudan is ironically embarrassing to the un-tongued Black Panthers and their radical white partisans who are siding with the Arabs against Israel.

In establishing a "revolutionary alliance" with the Sudan regime, Nasser publicly aligned himself against millions of Sudanese blacks who have been waging a fierce struggle for independence against the predominant Moslems for more than a decade.

Involved in this little-known long and bloody civil war are some 5 million non-Moslem blacks entered in three southern provinces — Upper Nile, Equatoria and Bahrei Ghazal. Many of the blacks are Christians with religious and other ties with Ethiopia, which adjoins their section. Also bordering on it are Kenya, Uganda and the Congo.

Ruthlessly fighting to suppress the protracted revolt is the Moslem majority of upwards of 10 million located in northern Sudan which has a common border with Egypt and Libya. Nasser reputedly has Colonel Jaafar el-Nimeiry, leader of a military coup that seized power last May.

Sudanese Arabs have a centuries-old background of ferocity towards Negroes. In the 17th and 18th centuries they were leading slave traders, conducting raids into adjoining areas and then selling their black captives into slavery throughout the world — including the U.S.

The non-Moslem Sudanese blacks broke away from the Arab majority in 1955, a few months before the Sudan gained independence from Britain. The central government in Khartoum bloodily sought to smash the uprising and glory fighting has been going on ever since.

As a consequence of these successes, the rebels, for the first time in years, now control a large part of their area. No mention of the Sudanese blacks' long and desperate struggle for self-rule is ever made by the Black Panthers, some of whose ancestors came from the Sudan, by the pro-Soviet Students for a Democratic Society and other revolutionary organizations and elements.

No word of the tragic plight and costly rebellion of the Sudanese blacks ever appears in their harangues, literature and other propaganda. About these freedom fighters, the U.S. radicals, militants, activists and revolutionaries, black and white, are completely silent — while loudly acclaiming and trucking to Nasser's "Bourgeois and other pro-Soviet Arab dictators.

Psychiatrists Put Finger On Pulse Of Radical Young

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

BOSTON (NEA) — This reporter recently sat in on sessions at which psychiatrists from various parts of the United States got together to argue over why it is that many young people are in turmoil.

Like the rest of us, it turned out, they, too, did not have an all-embracing answer. But they did have some theories based on their own work: Activists lashing violently, arrogantly against society frequently seem to be young people with deep inner conflicts. The valid problems they protest — war, racial inequity, poverty or pollution — are in many cases excuses or diversions — cover-ups for personal problems from which they are running away. They frequently back off when faced with opportunities to do something personally about these problems.

In homes and communities where parents have deep beliefs in their own way of life—even when they are minorities—a strong belief in religion, for example, and a strong belief in the family and traditional family relationships, there are far fewer "activists" and fewer youngsters with psychiatric problems.

Many of these young men and women have had no way, such as work or responsibility, to test themselves and learn their own identity and worth. All they have done is go to school.

A boy on a farm, or even a youth in a factory, knew he was needed. A boy who worked with his father in the family shop, or a boy with a paper route could meet real challenges, test himself, learn "what he was" and build up real relationships. He was part of the real world — as school is not.

Some youngsters seem confused about the difference between what society and their parents say is right and life as it actually is. Again, this is because these youngsters lack experience in real life. In the classroom change is easy on the blackboard. In life change means changing people—and

Retesting Auto Drivers

Despite our love affair with the car, Americans are still something less than completely at home in perfect control of the automobile.

Proliferation and pollution are, of course, the most obvious and pressing problems that currently make autos something more, or less, than merely beautifully styled conveniences.

But even in such an apparently routine area as keeping track of vehicles and drivers, procedures developed during almost three-quarters of a century of experience still leave something to be desired.

Driver testing has long been standard operating procedure throughout the country. All states now require some type of examination for applicants for first licenses—written or oral tests, road tests, always eye checks and sometimes additional physical examination.

Variations occur from state to state in requirements and thoroughness of application, but the general pattern is one of conscientious supervision of first licenses.

It is another story, however, when it comes to renewing licenses. The pattern revealed by a National Safety Council survey is one of widely differing practices and all too often almost complete indifference to how well health and judgment continue to measure up to the requirements of safe and responsible driving.

For example, only two states (Illinois and Virginia) automatically repeat road testing for renewals. In another eight it is optional, with an examiner deciding. In 15 states a written test is repeated.

The states are somewhat more attentive to the state of driver health with 32 requiring new vision tests (but only three—California, Florida and Washington — bother to check hearing for even a first license). All 11 states and the District of Columbia recognize age as an important safety factor by requiring full retesting before renewals starting at ages ranging from 57 to 75.

Many untrustworthy over-30s can recall a more innocent and optimistic time when proof of age—and usually a very young one at that—was all that was required for a driver's license. We've come a long way since then, but still have far to go. Adequate testing is the beginning, not the end of efforts to reserve the roads for qualified drivers.

Ma-Pa Vandal Curb

School vandalism is a serious and growing problem. It is worse in some places than in others, particularly in urban schools, but no area seems to be immune from it.

The replacement of broken windows alone, not to mention the repair of more vicious and expensive vandalism, costs some school districts many, many thousands of dollars a year.

One school, however, reports that it has virtually eliminated vandalism by a simple procedure.

The antivandalism program of suburban Park Elementary

School in Alhambra, Calif., involves the frequent, random checking of the premises by parents, usually in husband-and-wife pairs, during weekends. The 20 pairs of parents who are voluntarily participating are not armed and are not authorized to make arrests. But the mere fact that checks are being made is serving as a deterrent to youngsters who consider an unbroken pane of glass to be a personal affront.

The program is costing the taxpayers nothing, although it does require the outlay of a little time and effort on the part of concerned citizens.

Passing The Bond Buck

The Treasury can't say it didn't have forewarning.

Declining public enthusiasm for U.S. savings bonds has been evident for months. The books have now been closed on sales for 1969 and they add up to a minus $724 million for the government. Citizens cashed in that much more in old bonds than they purchased in new during the year.

As inflation has moved into the economy and stayed on, the bonds have steadily lost ground to banks and loan associations as attractive investments for the little man. Interest, recently raised from 4.25 per cent to 5 per cent, has fallen short of even the annual rate of inflation.

If the public understandably feels shortchanged in such a situation, it is the government that is going to end up seriously out of pocket until the basic problem—inflation—is brought under control.

The Size Of It

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper function of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: Is the practice of seniority and of limiting apprentices by the labor unions a good way of making demand and supply of labor balance and producing full employment and a higher standard of living?

ANSWER: It certainly is not a proper way of getting production. It wastes human energy by limiting apprentices and determining who can work where there is a closed shop contract. It greatly reduces production and keeps the standard of living down instead of raising it.

QUESTION: My 10-month-old son has developed a middle-ear infection following a cold. He has been given penicillin and sulfa drugs. How long should it take to clear up the infection?

ANSWER: A middle-ear infection lasts more than five weeks. Mastoiditis should be suspected. If this has developed and appropriate antibiotics do not clear it up within two weeks, the mastoid cells should be removed surgically.

QUESTION: Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Saigon To Be Invaded By Lady Reporter, Mini Skirt And All

EDITOR'S NOTE: When you've got newspapering in your blood, you want to "go where the story is." In this respect, lady reporters are no different than the male variety. In this dispatch UPI's Margaret Kilgore, who is off to Vietnam from the more comfortable precincts of Washington, D.C., tells how she prepared for her new assignment.

By MARGARET A. KILGORE
NEW YORK (UPI) — Announce to your friends that you are going to Vietnam to write about the war and then wait for the reaction.

It comes—immediately and in strange ways.
My closer friends came right out with it. They told me I was out of my mind and should be incarcerated.

My Catholic friends promised to light candles every day until my safe return.

And I received a small stack of sympathy cards—some from persons I barely knew.

Is Not Unusual
Thus has been the reaction to my voluntary assignment by my employer, United Press International, to 18 months in Saigon as a member of the staff there.

and New Jersey and government in Washington for 12 years and I was puzzled by the reaction.

On the brighter side, somebody observed that at least I'd get to see Bob Hope's Christmas show in person.

Or the fellows tied down with the wife and three children in suburbia looked wistful and said, "Gosh. You're lucky. You'll probably love the Orient."

Receives Peace Medal
One of my friends in Washington gave me a sterling silver peace medallion on a necklace as a farewell gift. I promised to wear it on a black dress to emphasize the "field of black" for mourning.

about "wearing pretty dresses and looking feminine."
Don't fall into the trap of the prototype tough female war correspondent, he said, who feels the only way she can be successful is to wear combat fatigues, etc.
"You'll look and feel ridiculous—and besides, you'll die of the heat in outfits like that," my friend concluded. "Dress as you would in Washington or New York. After all, miniskirts are admired all over the world."

So, Saigon, here I come, miniskirts and all.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) —The Military Order of the Purple Heart, a service organization for combat wounded servicemen, is sponsoring Operation Valentine for the second year in a row. The object is to see that each wounded soldier in the 27 military hospitals and combat units in Vietnam receives "an expression of love from the American people." Those who wish to take part are asked to send a valentine, no larger than 10 by 10 inches, with return address, to G.I.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President and Mrs. Nixon will give a farewell dinner Saturday for William McChesney Martin, who is stepping down as chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.
