Pigs And Calves Are Tops

By DEL CONNER
News Staff Writer

It's doubtful if 12-year-old Frank Morrison's "little" pig squealed all the way home Monday from the Top O' Texas Junior livestock show. But it is for sure that it will go to market.

Morrison's 216-pound Poland China was picked as Grand Champion pig by Judge L.M. Hargrave out of a total of 211 swine. Sam Montgomery had the Reserve Grand Champion, a Duroc Jersey weighing 192.

Judge Hargrave had some good words about the Junior Livestock show event. He stated there was marked improvement this year in the Poland China and Chester Whites. He added, "There isn't too much change in the Durocs, but I would say they compared favorably with last year's."

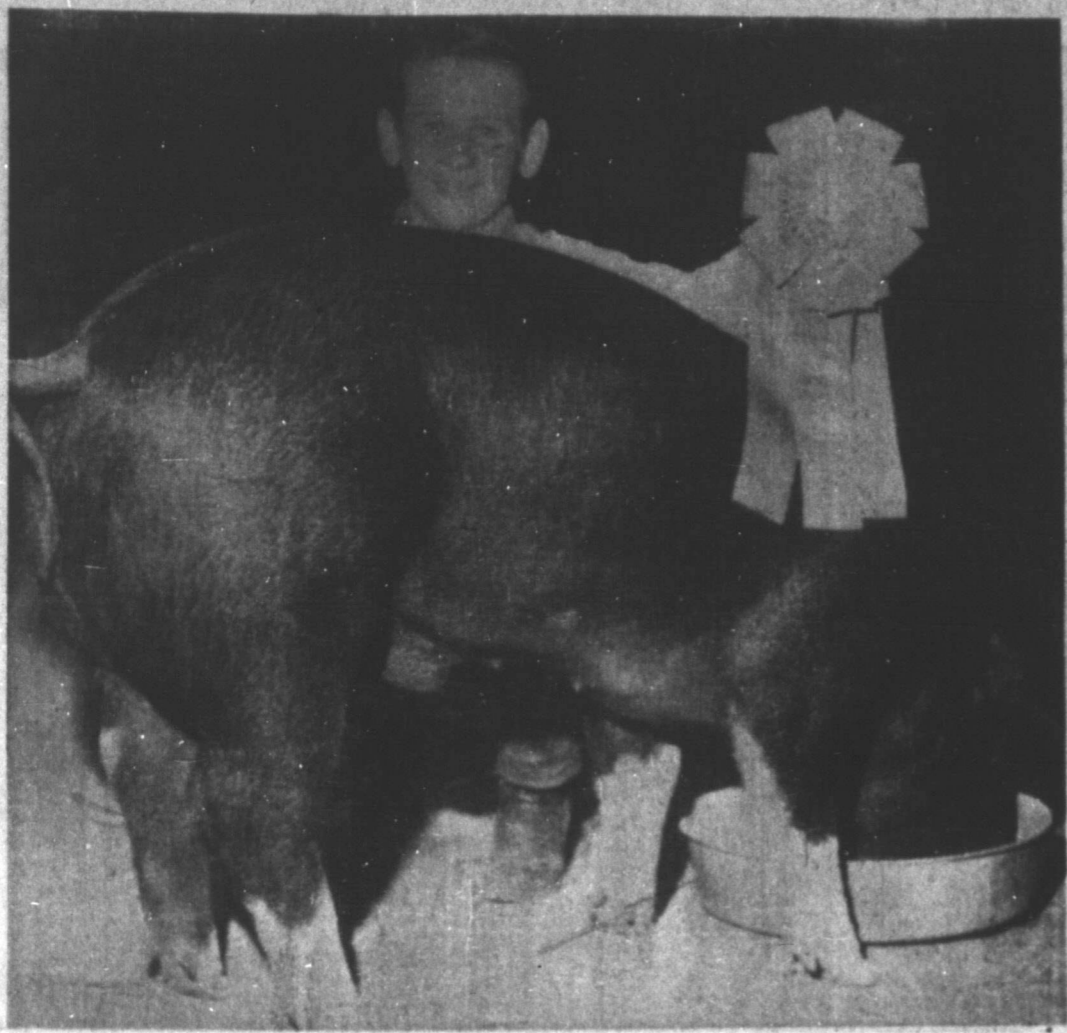

Total results for the swine competition of the Junior Show Monday is as follows:

- Poland China
  - 1—Frank Morrison, Gray 4-Jr. Grand Champion 2—Fredrick Romines, Pampa FFA (Reserve Breed Champion) 3—Roger Gibson, Pampa FFA
- Light Duroc Jersey
  - 1—Sam Montgomery, Wheeler FFA (Breed & Reserve Grand Champion) 2—Rick Hefley, Wheeler FFA (Reserve Breed Champion) 3—Fredrick Fussell, Pampa FFA
- Heavy Duroc Jersey
  - 1—David Barrett, Pampa FFA; 2—Roger Cole, Pampa FFA; 3—Don Dyer, Perryton FFA

- Light Hampshire
  - 1—C. E. Williams, Panhandle FFA (Breed Champion); 2—Bo Dign, Mobeile FFA; 3—Larry Sutterfield, Perryton FFA
- Heavy Hampshire
  - 1—Joan Graves, Ochiltree 4-H (Reserve Breed Champion); 2—John Couts, Pampa FFA; 3—Mickey Richardson, Gray 4-H

- Light Other Pure Breeds
  - 1—Scott Luttrell, Wheeler FFA (Breed Champion); 2—Jerry Ray, Pampa FFA (Reserve Breed Champion); 3—Jim Hall, McLean FFA
- Heavy Other Pure Breeds
  - 1—Bob, Dickenson, Hemphill 4-H; 2—Dale Carr, Hemphill 4-H; 3—Ronnie Barton, Wheeler 4-H

- Light Cross Breeds and Other Breeds
  - 1—James Mosker, Panhandle FFA (Breed Champion); 2—Jay Watkins, Pampa FFA; 3—Johnny Britten, Groom FFA
- Heavy Cross Breeds and Other Breeds
  - 1—Danny Dalton, McLean FFA (Reserve Breed Champion); (See SHOW, Page 2)

MOVE APPLAUDED

USA Closes Doors On Consulate In Rhodesia

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States, in a move applauded by Black African leaders as well as the British government, is closing its consulate in Rhodesia.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers announced Monday the consulate would be shut March 17. He explained the action was being taken because premier Ian Smith's breakaway regime had promulgated a constitution, named a president and thus broken its last link with Britain.

The United States, as well as Britain, had considered Smith's white minority government illegal since it declared its unilateral independence in 1965. The U.S. Consulate, however, had been kept open on the grounds it was accredited to Queen Elizabeth's government, which it considered the rightful authority in Rhodesia.

The consulate could have been maintained indefinitely, because its presence did not imply diplomatic recognition. Prime Minister Harold Wilson, however, during his recent Washington visit, urged President Nixon to shut it.

Rogers, in his recent tour of six Black African nations, found their leaders strongly opposed to continuation of the U.S. Mission in Rhodesia. Their argument was that even if it did not constitute diplomatic recognition, it gave that impression and weakened Black Africans in their struggle to change a situation in which a minority of whites ruled an overwhelming majority of Blacks in the heart of Africa. Rogers told President Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia and other African leaders in Rhodesia, United States would make no decision on removing the consulate until Rhodesia broke all ties with Great Britain.

Currently, the state department said, more than 1,000 Americans are in Rhodesia, most of them missionaries. The U.S. Counsel General in Salisbury, Paul O'Neill, said Monday he would close the consulate, occupying the top three floors of a Salisbury office building, at the end of the business day next Tuesday.

He said his staff of three diplomatic and consulate representatives and four secretaries would remain in Salisbury a few days longer to clean up personal business.

A spokesman for the British Foreign Office said, "We welcome this move to close down the consulate."

British Press Applauds
British newspapers said the decision came after the U.S. Ambassador to Britain, Walter Annenberg, was summoned to the Foreign Office last month and handed a stern diplomatic note on the matter.

In an editorial titled "America Does Her Duty," the Guardian said, "Decency has overcome expediency in the decision by the United States to close its consulate in Salisbury."

Never Recognized
The regime headed by Premier Ian Smith proclaimed its independence from Britain in 1965 but the United States retained its consulate in Salisbury.

Fast Paced Action Goes On At Barns

This morning was devoted to the Top O' Texas FFA Livestock Judging Contest, featuring some 45 teams from the Texas Panhandle north of the city of Lubbock.

Awards for the contest will be made tonight at a dinner for the contestants in Pampa Senior High School cafeteria which is sponsored by the First National Bank and Trust Co.

Judging of registered Hereford cattle was to be underway at 1 p.m. today, with Jim Conkwright of Hereford placing the sale order.

The Junior Heifer Show was scheduled for this afternoon. Judging was to be by Conkwright, with a J.P. Callahan prize heifer awarded to the winner of the event.

DUE MORE ACTION

Councilmen Turn Down Offer Of Compromise In Tax Suit

By TEX DEWEESE
News Staff Writer

An offer to compromise in a delinquent tax suit was turned down by Pampa city commissioners this forenoon and the case was remanded to justice of the peace court for further action.

F. Traylor, formerly of Pampa and now residing in White Deer, is contesting a suit filed by the city in Justice Nat Lunsford's court seeking to collect $71.51 in delinquent tax on personal property unpaid since 1957.

Traylor told the commission this morning the assessment was in error and he was ready to compromise.

City Atty. Bob Gordon said it was not within the city body's province to make a compromise settlement. The commission, he added, could only adjust an error if conclusive evidence was presented to show there was one. Traylor said he merely wanted to make a compromise settlement.

The commission, after questioning City Tax Collector Aubrey Jones, decided no error had been made. The case will be resumed before Justice Lunsford next Monday.

Although authorization was given to advertise for bids to purchase a logging machine to fight mosquitos this summer, the city may get one "for free."

City Commissioner George Cree Jr. said he had one on his ranch he would give to the city if officials decide it is satisfactory. City manager Charles Hill was quick to take up the offer.

Approval was given on second reading to an ordinance establishing parking control in the vicinity of Kingsmill and Foster Streets between Marie and Warren. The new regulations will become effective in two weeks.

Authorization was given to reimburse the city water department in the amount of $62.95 for six uncollectable checks.

Approval was given for a one-year extension of the city's contract with Tri-City Data Processing Co. at a cost of approximately $14,000.

City bills for February totaling $41,151.20 were approved for payment.

City Manager Hill stated the city needs to replace four police patrol cars. Authorization was given to advertise for bids.

At the conclusion of today's meeting the city manager said that for the first time in years the city went through February without the loss of a single city employe.

"I believe it's a reflection from the commission's recent action in raising city salaries," Hill said.

At the close of the regular session, the commission went into executive session to discuss a land deal in connection with an easement across property owned by Western Beef, Inc., recent purchasers of the Panhandle Packing Co.

UMW Prexy Denies Link To Murder
WASHINGTON (UPI)—W. A. "Tony" Boyle has sworn before Almighty God his re-election in December as president of the United Mine Workers (UMW) was fair and square and that he had nothing to do with the murder of his opponent.

Striking back at his attackers in a rare news conference, Boyle told reporters Monday he had been the victim of "dastardly charges" by union opponents, vilification by the press, collusion between the Labor Department and his enemies and unfair treatment by a Senate subcommittee which heard his critics but has not called him to testify.

"For more than a month, I have desired a proper judicial forum to respond to the outrageous charges in the press and before the subcommittee," Boyle said. "I am here today to set the record straight."

DON NELSON
... to Chile

Pampa Teacher To Participate In Study Group

Don Nelson, secondary curriculum coordinator of Pampa schools, will participate in a two-month Group Study Exchange in central and southern Chile this summer.

Sponsored by Rotary International District 573, the exchange includes five other business and professional men who will live and work with Rotarians and natives of Chile in a program to promote international understanding.

Rotary Foundation's Exchange Program is designed to offer opportunities to study the people, institutions and customs of Chile in an organized program which will start May 9.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Evidence that the economy is rapidly slowing down normally would be considered bad news, but under present stock market conditions it can be considered as favorable, Spear & Staff said. Wall Street expects such evidence to "bring closer the day when interest rates can ease further and more credit will be made available." The firm believes wholesale and consumer price indexes are important indicators for the investor to watch.

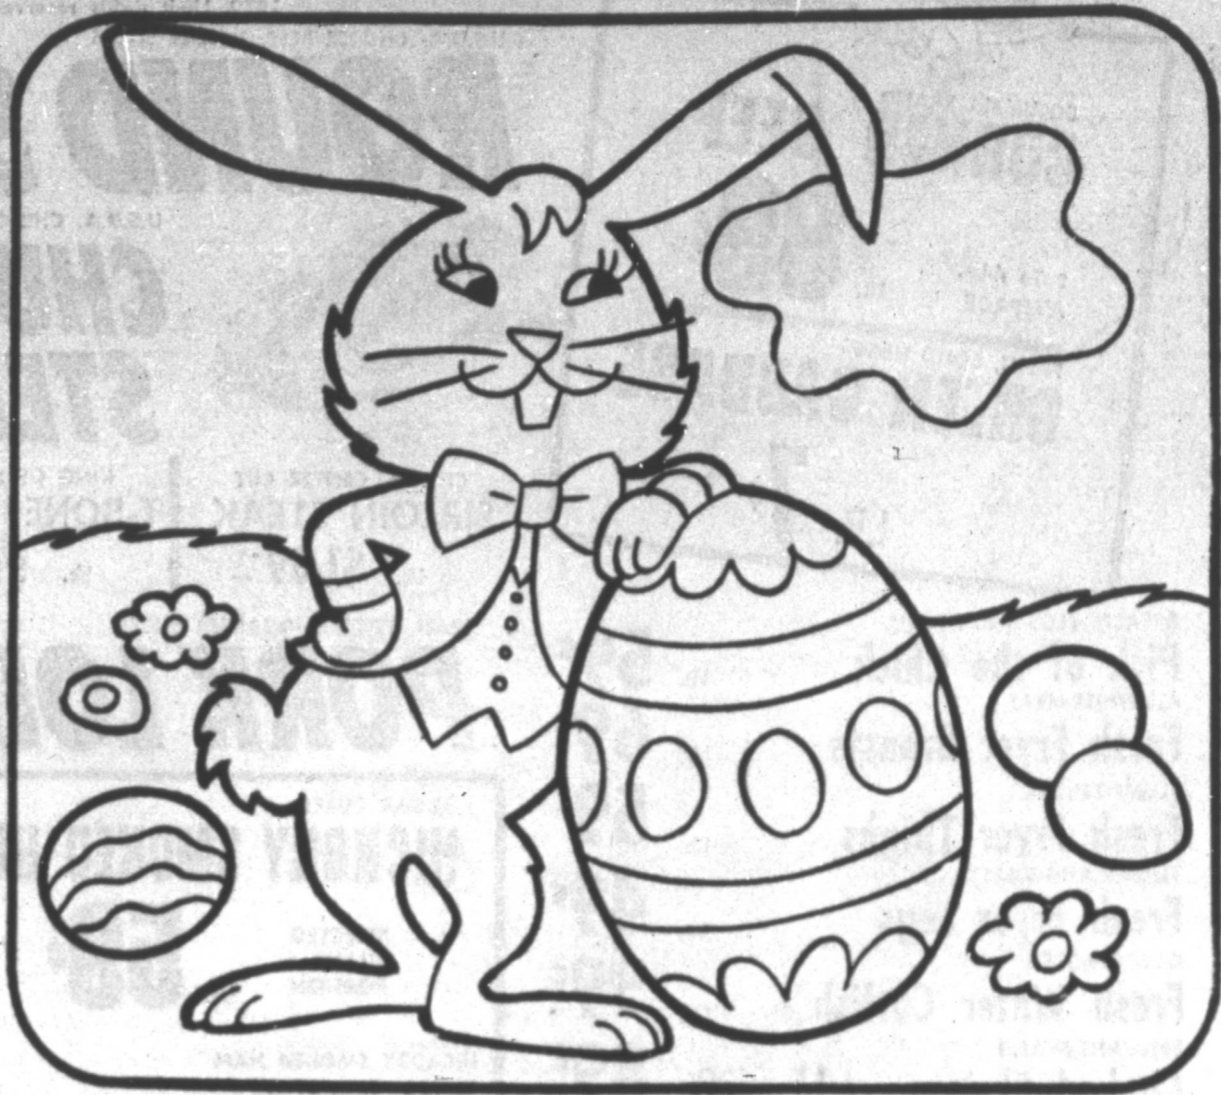

The current intermediate uptrend seems to have created sufficient momentum to carry the Dow Jones Industrials to a fairly close test of the early-January recovery highs (11-819), Abraham & Co. says. A subsequent reaction probably would terminate in the high 700's. Then, if the bear market is really over, a "spring rally" could test the November highs.

The Almanac

By United Press International Today is Tuesday, March 10, the 69th day of the year with 296 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and the first quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1862 the United States issued paper money for the first time. The denominations ranged from $5 to $1,000.

In 1945 United States B29 bombers began incendiary raids on Japan.

In 1964 Queen Elizabeth II gave birth to her fourth child, Edward, third in line for the British throne.

In 1969 James Earl Ray pleaded guilty to the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King and was sentenced to 99 years in prison.

A thought for the day: British novelist Thomas Hardy said, "Patience is that blending of moral courage with physical timidity."

World War II food rationing ended Nov. 23, 1945, but sugar was excepted.

Charles Dickens' last work was "The Mystery of Edwin Drood," which he left unfinished at his death.

Of all the states of the Union, New Jersey compares most nearly in size with Israel.

Christmas cards originated in England in 1843.

Dougherty, T. C. Tosh, L. B. Studebaker, T. E. Morrison, P. E. Baucum, R. J. Walker, C. L. Jenkins, and W. A. Norris; Back Row: Cecil E. Malcolm, E. J. Borders, C. J. Trusty, R. E. Williams and J. B. Darland. Also receiving awards, but not pictured, were V. A. Ridley and H. B. Taylor.

L. B. Studebaker, mechanic-repairman, and T. C. Tosh, pumper, all of Skellytown. C. L. Jenkins, head roustabout, Electra, and R. J. Walker, head roustabout, Snyder.

The awardees with 40 years of service were given appropriate pins or tie tacs with four diamonds and ruby. Those with 35 years were given appropriate pins or tie tacs with two diamonds and a ruby. Those with 30 years of service were given their choice of Bulova Watches or Almos Clocks. Those with 25 years of service were given pins or tie tacs adorned with one diamond and two golden sapphires. Total accumulated service of 690 years with Texaco was represented by this group.

Indians, Actress Storm Ft. Lawton

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Eighty-four Indians and actress Jane Fonda were arrested Sunday in an unsuccessful attempt to take over Ft. Lawton, an Army reserve post, for use as a native cultural center.

"We haven't given up and we do intend to occupy the fort," said John Vigil, Pueblo Indian and spokesman for the nearly 200 Indians who took part in the "attack."

The Army arrested 72 persons at Ft. Lawton, where about 100 Indians and Miss Fonda swarmed through the main gates and over fences. The actress and 12 more Indians were taken into custody later at Ft. Lewis, where they said they were protesting the treatment of Indian soldiers in the Army.

All 85 arrested at the two forts were given letters of expulsion and escorted off military property.

The protest was patterned after a similar invasion of Alcatraz island in San Francisco Bay in November. Authorities have made no effort to remove an estimated 100 Indians from that former federal prison, now abandoned.

Sunday night the Indians charged they were badly roughed up by the military police at Ft. Lawton, but an Army spokesman said "no force, no gas, no nothing was used."

He added that the only time any military person touched anyone was to "help them off the fort."

Included in those arrested at Ft. Lawton was Grace Thorpe, daughter of the famous Indian athlete, Jim Thorpe.

The Indian attack on the fort came about 10:30 a.m. when some groups approached the main gates while others went by a beach route along Puget Sound at the west side of the city.

Miss Fonda was among those gently turned away from the west gate.

Ft. Lawton is mainly a center for weekend Army reserve duty and few active Army members are stationed there.

Senior Center Corner

By MRS. L. WILKERSON

Fifty-seven Senior Citizens played games and visited during the afternoon of March 8th, in the Lovett Memorial Library. This being the March birthday party, the Altrusa Club of Pampa was hostess.

Mrs. Katherine Sullivan is official hostess for this quarter with Jay Flanagan as committee chairman. Mrs. Sullivan, assisted by Miss Flanagan, distributed birthday gifts to Mrs. E. G. Frasher, Fern Hogsett, C.W. Lawrence, Ruby Stovall, Miss Lucy Herlachner and Messrs. Frank Carter, E.B. Jones and Matt Swan.

The Seniors were grieved to hear of the death of the sister-in-law of Mrs. C.C. Fritgerald, president of Altrusa Club of Pampa.

So many of our members were reported ill, among them being Mrs. Lola Olney and Mrs. Linnie Chandler. Mrs. Marial Kingery is in Room 310 Worley Hospital for treatment and tests.

Miss Lucy Herlachner, who celebrated her birthday Friday, was met here for the celebration by her sister, Mrs. Tarbox and her daughter, Mrs. Lin Fields of Groom.

Mrs. Katie Vinson was visited by her son Jack, recently. Mrs. B. A. Tucker, Oakley, Calif., played games with the Seniors Thursday afternoon. Mrs. F. L. L. is visiting with her mother, Mrs. M.M. Brunson.

Mr. and Mrs. W.R. Emmons are home after having been to Wichita Falls and Hubbard. Mrs. Emmons' brother, who lived in Hubbard died Feb. 12 after a long illness. In Wichita Falls they visited with Mr.

Emmons' sisters and with his brothers at Iowa Park. Elmer W. Melton reports he is being very busy these days acting as "mid-wife" for a bunch of baby calves who are arriving daily.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Arndt visited with Mrs. Arndt's mother, Mrs. Eunice Garland. The Arndts live in Odessa.

The J.C. Mosley's had company last week from Portales, N.M. They were Mrs. Mosley's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Pruet.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Cornelson spent an evening recently with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Handerson for a game party.

Mrs. Ruby Stovall was in Amarillo recently visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Malcoldate.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Balch entertained recently to honor their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. David Balch, who recently returned from Germany after a three-year visit. Present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. E.G. Frasher, grandparents of David Balch, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Cook, Mrs. Gordon and Bobby of Amarillo.

J.E. Adair has been dismissed from the hospital and is now recuperating at his home.

Mrs. Ruth Sewell, one of the Altrusa Club members at the weekly parties, is visiting in Coleman and San Angelo.

Mrs. Fern Hogsett, who is celebrating a birthday this month, received a Happy Birthday Greeting from her daughter via telephone. The daughter lives in New York. The grandchildren sang "Happy Birthday."

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: John and I have been married for 17 years. We have three children. Three years ago John became involved with Lynn, my best friend, but I didn't find out about it until two months ago when Lynn's husband caught them. He left her and filed for divorce so she may get my husband yet.

This isn't John's first affair, but I have always forgiven him and taken him back. He has moved in with Lynn, and now he tells me he is too involved to break up. He says he never dreamed she would give up her husband and children for him. (What "give up?" Her husband caught her, moved out and took their three children to his mother's.)

Now John says he will have to do what will bother his conscience less. He says Lynn threatens to do away with herself if he leaves her because now she has nothing to live for. John says I am a stronger woman and wouldn't do anything foolish, but Lynn might. In the meantime John is living with her. Lynn has my husband, and I am trying to raise two teen-aged children without a father. Am I nuts to go along with this?

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: Nuts? No, Gullible, yes.

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column, a lady complained because at the home of her gentleman friend, toothpicks were passed around the table after dinner.

Believe it or not, this is a very old European custom. I remember that in my parents' home, after a formal dinner, the maid would pass a tray containing finger bowls and toothpicks. However, the proper way to use a toothpick was to pick the teeth with one hand, using the other hand to "shield" the mouth so that the actual act of teeth-picking was not exposed to view.

BORN IN GERMANY
DEAR BORN: Thank you for your informative letter. The finger bowls may stay, but the toothpicks have got to go!

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a young woman who has worn eyeglasses ever since I've known her. I never thought they detracted from her appearance. In fact, I thought her glasses were rather handsome.

Suddenly, my girl appeared without her glasses! I was shocked, but not particularly pleased, as I had become accustomed to seeing her in glasses, and she didn't look like herself without them.

She told me she had been fitted for contact lenses, and she seemed so thrilled about it. I told her quite frankly that if she had discussed it with me first I would have told her to stay with her glasses.

Now I am wondering, for whom is she wearing contact lenses? Surely not for me! Should I put her to the test, and ask her to choose between me and the contact lenses?

PREFERS SPECS
DEAR PREFERS: Perhaps

she is pleasing only herself, which is her privilege. Having told her that you prefer eyeglasses to contact lenses, drop it. If you insist that she make a choice between you and the contact lenses, she will need neither contact lenses nor glasses to see the handwriting on the wall.

DEAR ABBY: What's wrong with a girl calling a boy on the telephone? My mother says it's wrong, but she can't give me a good reason. If you want to know about a homework assignment or something like that, what is wrong with it?

NANCI
DEAR NANCI: Girls shouldn't call boys because the boy might get the idea that she is chasing him, which is the last thing a girl wants a boy to think — especially if she is. If a girl wants to know about a homework assignment or something like that, she'd be wise to call another girl.

City Council Has PTA Elections

Parent Teacher Association City Council members, meeting in Carver Educational Services Center, elected new officers and were presented a program by the Baker Elementary School fifth and sixth grade choir.

Officers elected were Mrs. Alvie French, president; Mrs. Mack Courtney, vice president; Mrs. James Frazier, secretary; and Mrs. Charles Terrell, treasurer.

Mrs. Doris Friend, coordinator of special education, discussed the "Special Program for the Special Child" and displayed several tools and methods of teaching special education. She also discussed field trips the children have made and stressed the goal of special education is to "encourage every child to fill his cup, no matter what size, with education."

Others participating in the meeting were Mrs. Ossie Stewart, who gave the devotional on "What About Easter, 1970?" Floyd Sackett, Baker Elementary School principal, presented the choral program which was directed by Mrs. Claudie Gallmar on "America the Land I Love."

It was announced the Spring conference is in Perryton April 20-21.

Quivira Council Develops Plan To Purchase Bus

With the slogan "Help Stamp Out Footloose Girl Scouts," Quivira Girl Scout Council has launched a trading stamp drive to purchase a bus for council use, according to Mrs. W. J. Felter, drive chairman.

Those assisting with drive organization are Mrs. Richard Stowers, council president, and Mrs. J. B. Maguire Jr., district II chairman.

"We have a goal of two books of trading stamps per Girl Scout in the council, or money donated in place of stamps. The bus we plan to purchase is a 54 passenger vehicle, or a 36 passenger bus, which would be used by individual troops for trips or camping," Mrs. Felter said.

Books of stamps are to be given to Girl Scout leaders during Girl Scout week, which ends Saturday. A permanent honor roll will be formed from troops contributing two or more books per girl or per adult leader. The honor roll includes individuals who contribute $50 or more. Leaders are to give their stamps to neighborhood chairmen, field directors or to Mrs. Felter.

"Either loose stamps or books of trading stamps may be contributed by the public. Stamp containers are placed in stores and service stations in the 10-county Quivira Council, which serves 1,600 Girl Scouts, she said.

Pampa Does Its Bit To Set Reputation For "Gabbing"

Pampa residents are helping make the United States the tablist nation in the world. According to George Newberry, manager for Southwestern Bell, the average number of calls made by Pampa telephone users outnumbers the combined average calls of their counterparts in Ireland, France, Argentina and Switzerland. Newberry said the average Pampa resident makes 701 calls a year.

Newberry said one reason for all the talking in Pampa is the number of telephones in the town. He pointed out that Pampa has more telephones than the entire country of Paraguay.

Pampa has more than 14,000 telephones as compared with the 14,400 total telephones of Paraguay. Newberry stated that Texas with 4,480,000 telephones has more phones than the country of Sweden with 4,110,000 telephones.

These figures are based on 1968 statistics presented in the American Telephone and Telegraph booklet, "The World's Telephones." They are the most recent statistics available since it takes about a year to collect all the information from all countries of the world.

Newberry pointed out that nearly half of the world's 237 million telephones are in North America. The world's communications network was increased by some 15 million telephones in 1968 with more than six million of these added in the United States. Texas contributed 325,983 additional telephones to the total.

In the five Southwestern Bell areas — Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas and Texas — there were more telephones in 1968 than in Mexico and the U.S.S.R. combined.

Mexico had some 1.2 million telephones and Russia some 9.9 million, while there were over 11.4 million telephones in Southwestern Bell territory.

The United States can also boast having more telephones per person than any other country. For every 100 persons in the United States there are 54 telephones.

This compared to 51 for every 100 people in Sweden, the second place country. Volta, Africa, is the least developed telephone country. There are four telephones for each 10,000 persons.

FLORA GLICK is one of many professionals who can handle those tough cleaning problems.

Alibis Are Not Theme At Vogue

It is not known whether Eve laundered the fig leaves for her and Adam, or sent them out.

Had those garments had any difficult spots on them, chances are strong in those days, the local cleaner would not have been equipped to remove apple stains, berry juice, lipstick, or blood from the wild chicken that Adam brought home for lunch.

He would probably have pinned a note to the garments which read, "All that could safely be done to clean your garment was accomplished, but the papaya juice cannot be removed without risk to the garment."

Such stories do not please customers, and may be familiar to Pampanos.

But according to Fred Malone, operator of Vogue Cleaners, 1542 N. Hobart, his establishment is not so quick with the alibi.

It is known in the industry there is a tendency among some cleaners to look for the easy way out when some of those difficult stain problems crop up.

These cleaners often avoid any risk which might be involved in processing a garment.

This reluctance may be due, in large part, to lack of trained personnel and adequate knowledge in the often difficult cleaning process.

Hence the alibi notes.

Commentators Named For Huntley's Spot

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Broadcasting Co. has selected news correspondents John Chancellor and Frank McGee to replace Chet Huntley on the network's Huntley-Brinkley Report.

Huntley will leave NBC Aug. 1 to become chairman of a new development corporation in Montana.

In the news program's, Chancellor and McGee will report from New York while David Brinkley continues in Washington.

McGee currently acts as anchor man for NBC's 6 p.m. news program in New York. Chancellor, who served as director of the Voice of America from 1965 to 1967, is an NBC national affairs correspondent.

Ski Resort Robbed Of Half-Million $

DODGE RIDGE, Calif. (UPI)—A ski resort in the Sierra Mountains was robbed of up to $500,000 early Monday by a gang of armed, masked men who tied up two guards, cut phone lines and escaped with a 500-pound safe.

Sheriff's Lt. Orv Childess said Dodge Ridge resort officials told him they usually take in $100,000 to $250,000 on a weekend. The robbers escaped with a full week's receipts, they said.

Night desk man Earl Henze said he was asleep when one of the robbers smashed a window with his pistol. One inside, the bandits slashed the phone lines and used an acetylene torch from a storage shed to break into one safe. They took another floor safe with them.

A sheriff's spokesman said the men—numbering about a half dozen—wore false face masks and one talked with an accomplice in the parking lot over a walkie-talkie.

More Than Four Million Voters In State Of Texas This Year

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—The State Democratic Executive Committee was told today that registered voters in Texas this year will surpass 4 million for the first time in a non presidential election year.

The voter registration subcommittee reported that the final count of registered voters had been completed in 207 of the state's 254 counties.

In these counties total registration was 2,846,083 voters, or 99.7 per cent of the total registration in the 1968 — the year 4,072,359 registered and a presidential year.

There are 47 unreported counties. If this 99.7 per cent is projected it gives a total registration of 4,061,439, the elections subcommittee reported.

In January, Democratic leaders were urging voters to get out and register. Other factors being equal, a big voter registration and turnout at the polls

Vogue cleaners maintains a staff of specialists who are thoroughly competent in the business of wet and dry cleaning, spotting, and finishing.

As new fabrics are developed, some causing new cleaning and stain problems, Malone makes sure that he and his staff are updated on any new techniques that may be required to maintain good service to customers.

Malone admits that occasionally a particular stain, on a particular type of fabric will pose the impossible, but he maintains that if there is a solution his establishment knows about it.

Scientists Become Addicted To Chasing Solar Eclipses

ABOARD AIR FORCE 369 (UPI) — To chase the darkness-at-noon of a total eclipse of the sun, this four-engine Air Force jet barreled across the arctic tundra on a $75 million mission.

Inside the darkened craft teams of scientists went to work in a cathedral-like hush studying the mysterious corona of the sun, in a cathedral-like hush. They had a little more than five minutes in which to make their precise measurements, recordings, photographs.

Then, abruptly, the sun was reborn out of the shadow of the moon and the mission was finished.

"Now you know why I said eclipses are addicting," said Dr. Robert Brownlee, an astronomer from the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratories. "If you've chased one of them, you want to do it again and again."

Brownlee and many of the others huddled into the belly of his flying laboratory had been captured by the eerie attraction of an eclipse many years before.

For Donald H. Liebenberg it was the seventh time he had witnessed a rare total eclipse of the sun, and it raised to 22 minutes the time he had spent in the mid-1950s chasing totality.

The scientists poured all their attention into five minutes and 30 seconds of observation time. Only after the light returned did they break into excited chatter, comparing notes and observations on their way back to Kelly Air Force Base in San Antonio.

The sun's corona, the object of the study, is normally invisible, so completely is it obscured by the face of the sun itself.

Only when that face is obscured during eclipse can scientists observe the ring of flaming gases, or hotter than the sun's surface, that surrounds the solar fire millions of miles into space.

By flying seven miles high the scientists were able to get above 30 per cent of the earth's atmosphere and conduct experiments impossible on the ground.

Tom Jones New Downtown Zales Store Manager

Tom Jones, 2601 Navajo, has been promoted to manager of the downtown Zales' jewelry store. He has been a manager trainee with Zales' in Amarillo since February of 1969.

Jones, 26, and his wife Marsha have a 2½ year old son, Tommy Jr., and he says that "we sure like it here in Pampa, much better than back east."

The Jones' came to Amarillo from Pittsburgh, Pa., where Tom was employed by Kay Jewelers.

Barry Endorses Low Vote Age

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., today strongly advocated granting 18-year-olds the right to vote.

The 1964 Republican presidential nominee testified at a Senate hearing that television had given to the public a picture of young people as "an unclean, vile-tongued, rock-throwing, campus-storming, street-rioting bunch of hoodlums and misfits."

He said he knew from his own experience that this was "distorted, stupid and absolutely wrong."

Goldwater supported a proposed constitutional amendment to extend the vote to those 18 and over but argued it could be accomplished—and faster—by a simple act of Congress. This has been the contention of another leading advocate of lowering the voting age—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

SNIPER KILLS SELF

MUREAUX, France (UPI)—Michel Wullaert, 32, fired at passing automobiles from a window of his apartment Sunday, killing one policeman and wounding two others before taking his own life.

Wullaert's wife took her five children to a neighbor's home when Wullaert began his sniping with a hunting rifle. Police said Wullaert had a drinking problem.

Maravich Leads UPI's All American Team With Scoring

All-America
By STEVE SMILANICH
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Pete Maravich, greatest scorer in major college basketball history, and Bob Lanier, rated the best big man in the collegiate ranks this season, were the top vote-getters in the 1969-70 America squad balloting announced today.

Maravich, the Louisiana State University standout who led the Tigers to their best season in 16 years while becoming the most prolific scorer in major college history with a three-year career total of 3,590 points and a 46.6

average this season, was named on 549 of the record 556 ballots received from UPI subscribers.

With scoring two points for a first place vote and one for a second place, Maravich tallied 1,063 points.

Cal Murphy Picked
Lanier, the 6 feet, 11 inch giant for St. Bonaventure, received 1,003 points. The Buffalo, N.Y., senior led the Bonnies into the NCAA playoff with a 30 point average.

Other spots on the first team went to Dan Issel of tournament-bound Kentucky, Rick Mount, the nation's No. 3 scorer from Purdue and little Calvin Murphy of Niagara.

Issel, a 6-8 senior from Batavia, Ill., received 921 points. A 6-4 senior from Lebanon, Ind., and the big 10 conference's top scorer, had 733 points in the balloting.

Murphy, smallest man on the All-America squad at 5-10, got 658 points. The senior from Norwalk, Conn., averaged 30 points a game in leading the Purple Eagles into the NCAA playoffs.

The second team consisted of Notre Dame's Austin Carr, the No. 2 scorer this season; Charlie Gillmore of Jacksonville; John Roche of South Carolina and Rudy Tomjanovich of Michigan.

On the third team were UCLA teammates Sidney Wicks and John Vallely, Mike Maloy of Davidson, John Johnson of Iowa and Rich Yunkus of Georgia Tech.

honorably mention list were Jim McMillan of Columbia and Howard Porter of Villanova.

Maravich pumped in 1,304 points this season in surpassing Oscar Robertson's 2,973 total in becoming the most prolific scorer the game has ever known.

But the ability to shoot isn't the only talent of the young man whose father, Press Maravich, is the LSU coach.

Many pro scouts have said Maravich will make it in the pros on his ballhandling, passing and court wizardry.

The 6-5 senior who thinks shooting is sometimes boring, could land more than a million dollars when he joins the pros.

Lanier led St. Bonaventure to a 23-1 record and hit a season single-game high of 50 in the Holiday Festival Tournament in New York. The 265-pound center is known for his ability to go for the basket.

Issel was the big gun in Kentucky's balanced attack as the top-ranked Wildcats posted a 25-1 mark in winning the Southeastern Conference title and another trip to the NCAA playoffs. He averaged 37 points a game.

Mount was considered one of the top outside shooters to come from the big 10. The skinny boiler-maker player guided Purdue to an 18-6 record and second place in conference play. He averaged 35.4 points a game.

Murphy gunned in 30 points a game as Niagara finished with a 22-5 regular season mark and gained its first NCAA playoff berth.

Kentucky Is King Again In UPI Basketball Poll

Major College Basketball Ratings
By United Press International

Kentucky is king again in college basketball.

Coach Adolph Rupp's Wildcats were named UPI's national basketball champion Monday for a record fourth time.

Kentucky wound up with 304 points, 14 more than UCLA, the season-long leader which saw its chances for repeating as national champion fade when it was upset by Southern California last week.

Kentucky was named No. 1 on 19 of the 33 ballots cast by the 35-member UPI board of coaches. Two coaches did not participate in the balloting.

UCLA received 11 first place votes. Jacksonville had two and Notre Dame one.

St. Bonaventure moved up to third in the final ratings as South Carolina dropped to sixth after its loss to North Carolina State in the finals of the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament.

New Mexico state finished fourth and Jacksonville fifth.

Iowa, the big ten champion, came in seventh followed by Notre Dame, Drake and Marquette to complete the top 10.

Two Sports
Notre Dame and UCLA were the only major colleges to have both their football and basketball teams finish in the top ten in the nation in the final ratings.

Houston ranked 11th, followed by North Carolina State and Pennsylvania.

Florida State took 14th with Villanova and Long Beach state tied for 15th. Three teams—Niagara, Utah State and Western Kentucky—tied for 17th while Cincinnati and Texas-El Paso finished in a dead heat for 20th.

Kentucky won the first two UPI titles in 1961 and 1962 and repeated in 1966. It finished this season with a 25-1 record while UCLA wound up at 24-2.

UCLA Drops To Second In UPI Poll

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI)—Golf pro Gary Player says he has made his first and last comment about the apartheid racial policies of his native South Africa.

"One of my greatest regrets in life is that politics has become so involved with sports," Player said during an exhibition round at Longboat Key near here Monday. "I wish there were some way in which people all over the world could persuade politicians and protesters that sports should be above politics."

Commenting that he fears there will be some demonstrations at tournaments he heters in this country because of South Africa's policies, Player said, "I deplore unfortunate incidents like the refusal of a visa to Mr. Arthur Ashe and the refusal to allow Mr. Papwa Sewgool to play in the South Africa open."

The South African government recently refused to issue a visa to Ashe, an American Negro tennis player, and 9 Sewgool was barred from the open. He is a black New Zealand golfer.

"One thing I do want to make clear," he added, "is that I am a loyal and proud South African."

"Meanwhile, I'm most grateful to be back in the United States to follow my profession," Player said. "I can offer no further political comment."

Player planned to go to Pensacola today to get ready for the Monsanto open.

FORM CHARTS

9—Kansas City, AL West

By MARTY RALBOVSKY
NEA Sports Writer

PROSPECTUS: — New manager Charlie Metro has a team that could be very good, or very bad. Too many youngsters makes optimism risky. But, if nothing else, foundation is being put down for the future. This club has some of baseball's best young players, but still needs more time. With good start, Royals might play significant role in Western scramble.

PITCHING — Wally Bunker (12-11, 3.23 ERA) is best of staff. Had trouble getting runs last year. Behind him are Dick Drago (11-13) and Bill Butler (9-10). Roger Nelson (7-13, 3.31) showed flashes of brilliance last year, also flashes of mediocrity. Jim Rooker will help, too. He was 4-16, but lost eight by one run. Bulpfen has Moe Drabowski (11-9, 2.94 ERA) and Steve Jones (2-3). Relief help needed. Rating — C.

CATCHING — Buck Martinez, the incumbent, and Ellie Rodriguez will settle No. 1 spot in spring training. Rookies Dennis Paepke and Fran Healy will also get looks. Rating — C MINUS.

INFIELD — Mike Flore hit 12 HRs and batted .274 to win first base job last year. Second could go to Jerry Adair (250) or rookie Luis Alcaraz, who hit 301 at Omaha last season. Jack Hernandez has good glove at short, but weak bat (222). Third wide open. Paepke will get a shot, also Paul Schall, who still hasn't returned to prebeaming form of a few years BACK. Rating — C MINUS.

OUTFIELD — Strong part of club. Lou Pinella, AL's Rookie of Year, is back in left. He hit .282, clubbed 11 HRs. Center will go to Amos Otis, a .327 hitter at Tidewater in the Mets' chain last year. Right is tossup between Pat Kelly (264, 8 HRs, 40 stolen bases) and Ed Kirkpatrick (.257 with 14 HRs). One may wind up at third. Rating — B.

TOP ROOKIES — Alcaraz and Otis given best chances, not only of sticking, but starting. Bob Johnson, up from Memphis in bullpen. And Paepke will stay in the Mets' system, may help somewhere.

Predition: 3rd in AL West

Pepitone Looking Better As He Defeats Red Sox's

Exhibition Baseball Roundup
By United Press International

"Hair" is already a hit on Broadway but now Joe Pepitone is going to try to make it popular in Texas.

Pepitone, who was once being groomed by the Yankees as a successor to Mickey Mantle, wound up a perennial disappointment in New York and became noted more for his long flowing locks than for his hitting.

When the Yanks finally gave up on him and shipped him to Houston in a deal for Curt Blefary, Pepitone said he was thrilled with the deal and was happy to get a fresh start where there was no pressure on him. But some skeptics wondered how Pepitone's long hair and his hair dryer would be greeted in Texas—where long hair isn't as common as it is in his hometown.

Mod Trend
But the mod first baseman may start a fashion trend there if he keeps hitting the way he did Monday when he betted a grand slam homer in the eighth inning to beat the Boston Red Sox 9-5. The Sox had taken a 5-4 lead in the seventh before Pepitone won the game to climax a five-run inning. He also singled in a run in the fourth.

"I'm enjoying it here," Pepitone claims. "I'm just another player here. They're not expecting me to be a star the way they did in New York and putting extra pressure on me."

Other Action
In the other games Monday, Philadelphia drubbed the Mets 13-3, Cleveland edged San Diego 7-5, Cincinnati whipped Kansas City 12-4, Montreal topped Atlanta 9-2, Detroit beat Pittsburgh 8-3, the Yankees blanked Minnesota 3-0, the White Sox drubbed St. Louis 8-4, San Francisco blasted Oakland 14-4 and the Cubs downed Seattle 7-3.

Besides Pepitone, the hitting standouts in Monday's exhibition games were Billy Williams of the Cubs, Hal Lanier of San Francisco, Tommie McCraw and Bobby Knopf of the White Sox, Jimmy Stewart of Kansas City and Adolfo Phillips and Coco Laboy of Montreal.

Williams hit a three-run homer for his third extra base hit in four games as the Cubs beat Seattle and Lanier hit an inside-the-park homer to pace San Francisco past Oakland.

McCraw and Knopf homered in the White Sox' victory over the Cardinals, Carlos May, who lost most of his thumb last August in a military training camp incident, played the outfield for the first time. He handled four chances in left field but his throwing—which is considered his major problem—wasn't seriously tested.

Phillips and Laboy hit solo homers and Bob Bailey added a two-run triple as Montreal beat Atlanta.

Stewart had a triple and three singles in the Royals' rout of Atlanta.

76ers Top San Diego In Houston

NBA Roundup
By United Press International

Officials of the new Houston franchise in the National Basketball Association couldn't have liked what they saw Monday night.

The officials attended the game between Philadelphia and San Diego at Houston and despite the presence of hometown hero Elvin Hayes of the Rockets, a crowd of only 2,286 witnessed the contest won by the 76ers, 131-112.

The triumph moved Philadelphia within one victory of locking up the fourth and final playoff spot in the East Division and sent the hapless Rockets, currently in last place in the West, down to their fifth straight loss. Hal Greer scored 38 points for the 76ers and Billy Cunningham added 33 to offset Hayes' performance of 32 points and 25 rebounds.

In the only other NBA game, Milwaukee, behind Lew Alcindor's 25 points, routed Seattle, 124-106, to move within five games of first place New York in the East.

The Bucks sped to a 41-24 lead after the first quarter and were never threatened, upping their advantage to 105-71 going into the fourth quarter during which time they used only their reserves. Flynn Robinson tallied 21 points and Jon McGlocklin chipped in with 20 for Milwaukee while Bob Rule led the Sonics with 19.

Iowa, the big ten champion, came in seventh followed by Notre Dame, Drake and Marquette to complete the top 10.

Two Sports
Notre Dame and UCLA were the only major colleges to have both their football and basketball teams finish in the top ten in the nation in the final ratings.

Houston ranked 11th, followed by North Carolina State and Pennsylvania.

Florida State took 14th with Villanova and Long Beach state tied for 15th. Three teams—Niagara, Utah State and Western Kentucky—tied for 17th while Cincinnati and Texas-El Paso finished in a dead heat for 20th.

Kentucky won the first two UPI titles in 1961 and 1962 and repeated in 1966. It finished this season with a 25-1 record while UCLA wound up at 24-2.

UCLA Drops To Second In UPI Poll

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI)—Golf pro Gary Player says he has made his first and last comment about the apartheid racial policies of his native South Africa.

"One of my greatest regrets in life is that politics has become so involved with sports," Player said during an exhibition round at Longboat Key near here Monday. "I wish there were some way in which people all over the world could persuade politicians and protesters that sports should be above politics."

Commenting that he fears there will be some demonstrations at tournaments he heters in this country because of South Africa's policies, Player said, "I deplore unfortunate incidents like the refusal of a visa to Mr. Arthur Ashe and the refusal to allow Mr. Papwa Sewgool to play in the South Africa open."

The South African government recently refused to issue a visa to Ashe, an American Negro tennis player, and 9 Sewgool was barred from the open. He is a black New Zealand golfer.

"One thing I do want to make clear," he added, "is that I am a loyal and proud South African."

"Meanwhile, I'm most grateful to be back in the United States to follow my profession," Player said. "I can offer no further political comment."

Player planned to go to Pensacola today to get ready for the Monsanto open.

Adolfo Phillips Likes Everyone But Bleeding Ulcers Helped Some

By United Press International
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Adolfo Phillips was thinking of the best way he could describe his old buddy, Leo Durocher.

"He's the kind of guy you have to give 150 per cent to make him believe," said the Panamanian-born outfielder who used to be with the Cubs and is now with the Montreal Expos.

"I gave him 100 per cent," Phillips added. "I couldn't give him anymore."

Durocher believed differently. He felt Phillips wasn't giving all he could. That led to complications between them, but that's all over and done with now. The turning point could have been last Sept. 19. That was the day Adolfo Phillips underwent surgery for bleeding ulcers. Before that operation Adolfo Phillips had a notoriously low boiling point and there were times he seemed mad at the whole world.

Everybody Loves Somebody
Not anymore. Adolfo Phillips likes everybody now. Leo Durocher included, and that's almost the same kind of about-face as Nasser donating blood to the Israeli Air Force.

When the Cubs got Phillips from the Phillies in 1966, Durocher fell in love with him. He made him his regular centerfielder and Phillips did all right that year and the one after that. But he talled off in 1968 and one day early last season Leo got up before a gathering in Chicago and said he'd love to get rid of Adolfo but nobody would take him. Right then and there Leo Durocher lost any chance he ever had of being voted Adolfo Phillips' favorite manager.

When Durocher dealt Phillips and said okay. That was the new Adolfo Phillips, who feels he knows what gave the old one bleeding ulcers.

No More Mean Guy
"I think it was because I used to be mean," Phillips says. "I was a mean guy. If people said something about me, I got mad. Right after the operation I said to myself, no more."

The transformation has been rather remarkable.

Gene Mauch, the Montreal manager who had him in Philadelphia, is among those who have noticed the difference in the 27-year-old Phillips.

"Few realize he had a double trauma last year," Mauch says. "Not only was he having trouble in Chicago, but here he was being traded back to me. That was no fun. I hadn't been especially kind to him in Philadelphia. I didn't play him there. He probably felt I didn't think too kindly of him because I traded him to Chicago. The only reason I did was to get a pitcher like Larry Jackson. We needed him badly."

Phillips trotted in from the outfield to hit as Mauch was talking about him. The Montreal manager watched him pick out a bat.

"I've known him since 1963 and have never seen him in a happier frame of mind," Mauch said.

A new season is about to begin and in some quarters people still are teeing off on Durocher for some of the things he did last year. Not Adolfo Phillips though.

"What was, was," he says. "It's all over now."

Sports Parade

to Montreal last June; he went over to him in the Cubs' clubhouse and tried to shake hands. Phillips walked away from him.

The surgery in September changed everything though. Most of all it changed Adolfo Phillips.

A couple of weeks after the operation, he made a trip to Wrigley Field before the season ended to say goodbye to his ex-teammates and pick up some autographed baseballs.

Leo was deep in his own troubles at the time. Remember a team called the Mets? And what they did to the Cubs? Anyway, Leo saw Phillips in the Cubs' clubhouse this particular day and when he offered his hand again Adolfo accepted it. He told Phillips that trades are part of baseball and that maybe a man can make a mistake by trading away a player sometimes.

Baltimore Acting Like Last Year Did Not Happen

By JOHN G. GRIFFIN
UPI Sports Editor

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI)—The Baltimore Orioles think and act as if their crushing defeat by the New York Mets in last year's World Series never happened.

Oh, they know it did—from Manager Earl Weaver on down to the batboy, they've got the emotional and financial scars to remember it. But they are not letting it disturb their confidence that they can win the American League championship again, maybe as easily as they did in 1969.

"It will take a lot of injuries or a lot of bad luck for this club to lose," Weaver says as he surveys his talent-rich squad in a workout at Miami Stadium.

And Weaver, realizing he's violating the first rule of the "managers' union" by being optimistic, is also the first to admit that the Orioles' being such heavy favorites to repeat puts him squarely on a spot.

Torpedoed by Mets
The Orioles were on the verge of being hailed as one of the great teams in modern baseball when they were suddenly torpedoed by the Mets. They had won the American League East Division by a whopping 19 games, and then crushed the West champions, the Minnesota Twins, in three straight games in the AL playoffs.

During the winter, the Orioles' front office stood pat on the roster, making only one trading attempt, for a pitcher, and that fell through.

And, as these "guys" tune up for the campaign, it's easy to see why they are 2 to 1 favorites in their division again. Name it and the Orioles have got it—hitting, pitching, defense, depth.

In the infield, it's Boog Powell (.304 with 37 homers and 121 RBIs) at first base, Dave Johnson (.280) at second, Mark Belanger (.287) at short, and the incomparable Brooks Robinson (.234) at third.

Outfield Is Set
The outfield remains set with Don Buford (.291) in left, Paul Blair (.284 and 26 homers) in center, and Frank Robinson (.306 with 32 homers and 100 RBIs) in right.

Backing them up are Curt Motton (.303) and Merv Rettenmund (.247). Weaver will carry six outfielders and the No. 6 job is the only one where a rookie might find a place on the squad. It's up for grabs among Dave May (.242) and rookies Terry Crowley and Tom Shopay (drafted from the Yankees).

For catching, Weaver says he will generally platoon left-right again with Elbie Hendricks and Andy Etchebarren "unless one of them is hot." Clay Darymple is No. 3.

The same terrific pitching is back. Mike Cuellar (.23-11), Dave McNally (.20-7) and Jim Palmer (.16-4) are the top three.

Mount Signs With ABA Indiana Pacers

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Rick Mount, holder of every big ten scoring record for a single season, single game and career, signed a contract Monday with the Indiana Pacers of the American Basketball Association for an estimated $500,000 to $750,000.

Mount, of Lebanon, Ind. was one of the most important victories for the ABA over the rival National Basketball Association.

Only Saturday Mount concluded his collegiate career with Purdue University by scoring 23 of the Boilermakers' 48 points. Three year total points of 1,461 shattered the previous conference career record of 1,451 set by Indiana's Don Schlundt for four years.

Mike Storen, vice president and general manager of the eastern division leaders, said Mount was "truly one of the greatest basketball players ever produced by the state of Indiana."

"This is a big step for the ABA to sign one of the brightest stars in college basketball history today," Storen said.

Mount is considered one of the game's greatest outside shooters, for his quick release of the ball, and hitting off balance.

In Big Ten competition, he averaged 34.4 points in three years. For his entire Purdue career, he scored 2,322 points in 72 games, and average of 32.2.

Who Is To Be Believed?

It's getting so one hardly knows what to believe! A few months ago, there was a great deal of excitement over the use of cyclamates as artificial sweeteners in diet products. The Food and Drug Administration at first said they could not be used; then backed up when the word got out that it was basing its order on totally incompetent material, and now says cyclamates may be used with a warning label.

Dr. William J. Darby of Vanderbilt University, who sharply criticized the government warnings on cyclamates. The director of the nutrition division at the university's college of medicine, said he has seen no evidence that man has been harmed by cyclamates. "The risk to a person who might take cyclamates in moderation could be much less than the risk of obesity," he told a group of dietitians. "In considered instances I see no reason not to use some cyclamates." He said he believes the public has been "unduly alarmed and frightened" by what he charged were "inappropriate statements" concerning actual effects of the product.

But at the same time, he said DDT "is something else." Currently there is more of a furor over DDT than there was over cyclamates, and some governmental agencies are banning use of the product in agriculture. Dr. Darby said there are environmental effects which led to the conclusion that DDT should be phased out in favor of other insecticides.

Meantime, there is another side to the DDT picture, which has not been widely publicized. The Wall Street Journal recently pointed out that officials in some countries considered DDT as "the most important lifesaver known to man. If it is banned, millions of impoverished people will die from crippling disease — if they don't starve to death first."

And then there's Dr. J. Gordon Edwards, professor of entomology in the department of biological sciences at California's San Jose State College. He recently wrote a lengthy article in the Portland Oregonian in which he called much of the anti-DDT "untruthful and misleading." He recently wrote a lengthy article in the Portland Oregonian in which he called much of the anti-DDT propaganda "remarkably untruthful and misleading." He cited evidence to substantiate his charge.

In a letter to "concerned persons," Dr. Edwards wrote in part:

"I am deeply disturbed and sadly disillusioned by the actions of numerous educators. For years they have almost made a fetish of the 'scientific method' of investigation, and have stressed that method of analysis in their classes and their writings. I had presumed that they also followed their own advice, but it is now obvious that often they do not. Despite dozens of scientific studies proving that DDT is broken down rather quickly by the environment, many so-called 'ecologists' are heard telling the public that exactly the opposite is true! Why do they do this, when it is certain that they will later be exposed as being either ignorant of the facts or being deliberately untruthful? Perhaps the reason is simply that they are either ignorant of the facts or untruthful!"

"I submit that professional biologists do not have the right to be deliberately untruthful when speaking to classes or through public communications media, and I very strongly resent their misstatements because I am sure the public will ultimately paint us all with the same brush. Perhaps equally reprehensible are the biologists who make erroneous public statements because they have not even bothered to read the scientific literature about DDT, but have relied only on newspaper articles and strongly biased non-scientific publications to shape their views. I dread the time, not too far in the future, when an informed public reacts against these teachers and scientists. They may well deride our future statements, withhold financial support, and condemn us heartily. . . . When our younger citizens realize that this highly-publicized controversy about DDT and its alleged ill-effects has been such a phony issue, what might be their reaction? We could hardly blame them if they then question the truth of statements about air pollution, water pollution, public health, malnutrition and over-population. . . . and I feel that such loss of faith would be disastrous."

Campaign That Failed

Frequently critics of American free enterprise come out with the unsubstantiated charge that people are so glib that they will believe nearly anything the "Madison Avenue hawksters" tell them in advertising.

We are told that people really do not choose what they wear but are conned into buying such things as deodorants, aftershave lotions and too-high-powered automobiles by the image makers of the advertising business.

But Don Oakley of Newspaper Enterprise Association comes up with evidence that "While there is no denying the influence of advertising, for both good and ill, like most critiques of American manners and mores the charge is overstated. We are far from being putty in the hands of those who control or have access to the information media."

He reports what Marketing-Communications magazine calls "advertising's biggest flop" — the total failure of a $51 million campaign to convince people to use seat belts when they drive. "Before the campaign began early in 1968, some 63 per cent of car owners had seat belts installed and a study showed that 35 per cent of them claimed to be using them 'all or most of the time.'"

By last July — 18 months and countless television "spots," billboards, bus poster and newspaper ads later — 65 per cent of car owners had seat belts but only 34 per cent were using them all or most of the time.

During this same period, those who used their belts "hardly ever or not at all" increased from 39 per cent to 43 per cent. The percentage is even worse with regard to shoulder belts, which have been required on all cars built since Jan. 1, 1968. Less than 5 per cent of those who have them wear them.

Apparently the American people are not about to be told what to do, even though most of them may agree it's good for them.

Betty (his wife screamed) — To dinner tonight! You idiot. You know that the cook just left. I've got a cold. The baby's cutting his teeth. The furnace has broken down and there's no heat. And the grocery won't give us any more credit until we pay up.

Bob — That's why I want to bring him. The poor fool's thinking of getting married.

Sensing The News

By THURMAN SENSING

The Ignoble Experiment Even as Prohibition was termed the "noble experiment" — while it lasted, we have now reached its point in our experience when forced integration may be termed the "ignoble experiment." Almost 16 years after the U.S. Supreme Court rulings in the school cases, it is clear that the judicial policies set by the court are not working and actually are damaging to all Americans regardless of race, creed or color.

The social theorists who developed the notion of compulsory association didn't take account of what is practical in human affairs. The fact is that, today, black Americans increasingly insist on freedom to associate with their own group.

The nation should have known from the beginning that forced association would not work and would prove unacceptable to both major racial groups in the country. The Presidents of this country, from Thomas Jefferson to Harry Truman, especially including Abraham Lincoln, have made strong statements to this effect over the years.

The net result of the crusade for forced association has been to worsen race relations in many areas, to disrupt or breakdown the educational process, and to slow down the progress of the people most in need of it. In the 1960s, the federal government demonstrated its power to compel the states to alter their laws and educational systems. But the government failed miserably at constructive efforts involving education. Had forced association not been placed ahead of educational values, real learning would have been advanced at a rapid rate among people with a low level of educational attainment.

The error of forced association was not recognized while court orders requiring it were confined to the Southern States. But once the problem of forced association became national in scope, then the public began to recognize the folly of court decisions requiring racial balancing and similar measures.

So now, at long last, the nation begins to take a new look at the whole question of association in a free country. In the North and the West, for example, there is a fresh awareness of the importance of preserving or restoring the neighborhood school and the error of transporting students hither and yon in order that classrooms have a precise racial composition. Before long, the U.S. Supreme Court may be compelled to reexamine its central thesis on the psychological effects of racial separation in education, if for no other reason than that many black Americans want their children to attend schools in their home neighborhood where surroundings are familiar and fellow students have the same background.

Indeed it seems clear that if the nation seriously wants to improve educational opportunity and upgrade unskilled people for better employment it will have to dispense with the concepts of compulsion that only irritate and upset people and don't add to their real knowledge or capabilities.

Forced association, of course, is derived from the general socialistic philosophy of compulsion — the idea that people must be made to do what social theorists think is good for them. The idea of government selecting a person's associates, of course, is ridiculous and should have been so regarded years ago. Had compulsion been seen as the greatest social evil, the country would have been spared the internal agonies and high costs that have resulted from the 1954 Supreme Court decisions.

Progress in a republic should come through voluntary association and through partnership. Progress can't come from edicts regarding association. Certainly, public education has not been improved by the fact that the Supreme Court has acted as the ultimate school board superintendent for the nation.

Both white and black Americans want a happier era than the country has had in the last 15 years. They want a calmer atmosphere in the public schools and better instruction in the elementary that lead to higher education and peaceful skills. They want peaceful neighborhoods. And they want the federal government to stop writing the rules for association

Shook By Pressure, O'Brien Finally 'Gives In' To Draft

By BRUCE SIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Only minutes before the final telephone call he took just past 1 p.m. on March 3 from two hard-pressing members of the Democratic National Committee, Lawrence O'Brien still hung in agonizing indecision on whether or not to take the chairmanship again.

When that call came from Col. Jacob Arvey of Illinois and Robert Strauss of Texas, O'Brien read them the one-sentence statement — which had been urged upon him by a chief aide-saying he would accept a draft by the full committee for another term as chairman.

Thus ended one of the most incredible ordeals in the much-sought-after O'Brien's crowded political life. Some of the events in that 24-hour period are badly tangled, and one or two aspects known to me can't yet be divulged.

The significant thing is that in this ordeal O'Brien got from many key Democrats around the nation the kind of deeply committed support which he felt was lacking when, at midday Feb. 25, he first notified Hubert Humphrey from California he was turning down the former vice president's offer of the chairmanship.

Phase Two began for O'Brien about 1:20 p.m. on March 2 as he was walking out of his office in New York to go to lunch. A secretary summoned him back to take a three-way call from Arvey, Strauss and Stephen Reinhardt of California — all members of the DNC's executive committee.

They and seven others on that committee had spent a grueling morning trying to agree on a chairman in place of O'Brien, hashing over the party's terrible financial state, getting nowhere.

Public word of the executive committee's vote for O'Brien opened the flood gates in New York. Between mid-afternoon March 2 and the time on March 3 when he said he would accept a draft, some 200 calls and countless telegrams poured into his office.

Many were from Democrats who had not called him in his pre-February 25 review of the Humphrey offer. Some who spoke he had not heard from in more than a year. A handful of calls came from important money-raisers who had been strangely silent in the earlier review.

None of these Monday calls, which were shut off at 1 a.m., was taken by O'Brien himself. But the morning of March 3 he personally talked to several important callers and was still doing this when Arvey and Strauss began their final series of three or four high-pressure calls demanding his decision. At one point, O'Brien said to Arvey: "I'm shook."

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANDSTADT

Tranquilizer May Help Case of Anxiety Neurosis

Q — What is meant by anxiety neurosis? What causes it? Is it serious? Can anything be done for it?

A — A person with an anxiety neurosis is unable to control his fears. They become the dominant element in his life and prevent normal functioning. In most cases, the cause is some half-forgotten childhood experience associated with a death or a family crisis. It is serious only insofar as it interferes with normal living. Some victims refuse to go out of the house. Others won't enter an elevator or a vehicle.

For the milder cases, a course of tranquilizer may be helpful. A new drug, doxepine (Sinequan), has been used successfully in carefully selected cases. Severe cases may need the services of a psychiatrist.

Q — What can be done for a psychosomatic illness? My mother gets sick headaches. I have palpitation and my son has frequent abdominal pains. Whenever any of us is under stress, the symptoms are worse. The doctor says there is nothing wrong with us. How can he be sure it isn't something serious?

A — The combination of emotional and organic elements in any disease is referred to as psychosomatic. It accounts for the difference in reaction to a bad case of laryngitis, for example, in an opera singer and a bricklayer. Your mother's sick headaches may be migraine; your palpitation may be a cardiac neurosis, and your son's abdominal pain may be due to mucous colitis. Emotional stress is likely to aggravate any of these symptoms.

If your doctor has ruled out brain tumor and brain abscess in your mother, heart disease in you and appendicitis and gall bladder disease in your son, he is justified in saying that there is nothing serious or life-threatening in your illnesses. The treatment of emotional disorders is admittedly difficult but the outlook is not hopeless.

Q — The veins on my nose are dilated and my nose is very red. This started with the menopause. What can I do for it?

A — A red nose may be associated with cirrhosis of the liver or it may be a hereditary trait. The only treatment for it is the use of masking cosmetics. Although alcohol is not necessarily the cause, it often aggravates the complaint and should be avoided.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Rush for Early Adjournment Impeding Congress' Life Style

JOHN GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Mindful of the embarrassing legislative delays which tarnished the congressional image last year, Democratic leaders are determined to avoid a repeat performance in this election year.

Leaders in the House and Senate have met privately to iron out some of last year's problems. They are quite serious about meeting the target of adjournment by Labor Day — add without any post-election return to the Capitol.

Republican leaders have participated in a number of the speed-up meetings and have joined in the early-adjournment drive. Even if the Labor Day goal proves to be a bit elusive, there is still a good chance that Congress will be able to close up shop in the early autumn.

The leadership conferences special attention has been given to expeditious handling of the annual appropriations bills. (One of those, left over from last year, is still in the legislative mill.)

In that connection, Speaker John W. McCormack and Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropriations Committee, have told Senate Leaders that they will put on the heat to get all the money bills approved and to the Senate by early June.

House and Senate Leaders in both parties have also agreed to prod chairmen of the regular legislative committees so that approved authorization bills will be available in time to serve as guides for the appropriation process.

DEFENSE HURDLE — The speed-up campaign was very much in evidence last week when Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird testified behind closed doors for combined Senate Armed Services and Appropriations committees.

Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., announced that the Armed Services Committee plans to act as quickly as possible on the defense authorization bill. Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chimed in with a pledge of expeditious handling for the subsequent defense money bill.

Those bills — and especially the authorization bill — are among the main hurdles for Congress in its speed-up drive. Last year the Senate dawdled for a couple of months before approving the authorization for Pentagon procurement, research and development.

Senate leaders expect a replay of that defense debate this year. They hope that it will not be so time-consuming but they expect that renewed at

'Civilization' Of The U.S.

By PAUL HARVEY

The most exciting accomplishment of the Nixon Administration — if the President can carry it off — will be the "civilization" of our nation. The idea of minding our own business dates back to the farewell address of George Washington in which he admonished us to "avoid entangling alliances."

Trying to reorder the rest of the world in the American image, by force where necessary, is a comparatively recent concept. Now, disengagement from the affairs of other nations will allow the U.S. to husband her human and economic resources, curtail inflation, end the draft and enjoy a wide variety of related fringe benefits.

When President Nixon entered the White House he inherited an armed force of 34 million men. By next July he will have reduced that total by nearly 300,000. Within another year he intends to trim another 200,000.

The long-range goal is to reduce our military establishment by a million men, back to what it was before the Vietnamese buildup began. This will mean fewer Army divisions, fewer Navy ships, fewer Air Force squadrons. . . .

If military spending has sometimes in the past been used to warm up our economy, military economizing will now help cool it off.

Defense Secretary Melvin Laird has already announced closings and cutbacks at 280 attempts will be made to trim authorizations for carriers, manned bombers, and the like, as well as the Safeguard antimissile system (ABM).

Some participants in last year's debates are saying that the eight could be even more complex this time, what with the administration shifting its justification for ABM expenditures to a concern for the strategic threat of Communist China. That shift has already cost Mr. Nixon some support in the Senate, where the ABM prevailed last year by a single vote.

CLUB JOLTED — Statistics reflect the legislative speed-up. In the first three weeks of the present congressional session the Senate had 35 "yes" and "no" votes. Last year it took nearly six months to reach that roll call total.

The accelerated pace is having its effect on the quality of life — especially in the traditionally club-like Senate. Existence is not quite as leisurely as before.

Chairman Gordon Allott, R-Colo., complained recently to newsmen, in all seriousness, that roll call votes had interrupted the Tuesday luncheons of the Senate Republican Policy Committee twice in as many weeks. . . . He suggested that Democrats, who do the scheduling, should make allowance for the luncheons, to which all GOP senators have been invited each Tuesday for a dozen years.

Things even got so bad, said Allott, that Sen. Morris Cotton, R-N.H., was unable to make a scheduled report to his colleagues on that left-over appropriations bill, because of three roll calls during one luncheon.

Cotton is something of an authority on the change in congressional pace. In the current issue of his often-sprightly report to constituents, the senator explains it all, with a dig at Democratic leaders.

"The Democrat majority controls the committees and the calendar," Cotton reports. "Last year they sat on legislation from January until Christmas and let the President whistle."

"But this year the shoe is on the other foot. Twenty-five Democrat Senate seats will be contested this fall as against only ten Republican. Therefore, the majority is determined to wind up the session and get home for the campaign."

"I predict your senator will be breathing the unpolluted air of New Hampshire by Labor Day."

'Civilization' Of The U.S.

By PAUL HARVEY

stateside military bases; you may expect others. Half a million civilian defense workers will have to find other work within the next 15 months.

Vietnam has cost us 40,000 lives and $100 billion but it has taught us a priceless lesson — how sharply limited is the American ability to control foreign events.

Elsewhere, even in Biafra, some have said that our good intentions, however limited were misplaced; that feeding the starving, we prolonged that war and increased the suffering. Now, if we intend to stay home and mind our own business and keep any major menace at arms' length technologically, how soon can we end the dreadfully disruptive draft and restore our nation to its historic civilian tradition?

One comprehensive study now on the President's desk says we can and should do it now.

Secretary Laird believes that to maintain an all-volunteer force we would have to cut our armed forces to 2 million men and make up the difference by strengthening our National Guard and Reserve.

He is uncertain whether Congress would be willing to spend the money necessary to maintain an adequate reserve. In an election year, with the proposed budget presently under consideration by campaigning members of Congress, is the best of all possible times for you to communicate your wishes to yours.

The Light Side

popularity of the Carol & Ted & Alice, spawned a spate of columns, columns, columns, etc., on the mate-swapping.

Because this is so widely discussed, people probably have the impression that the mate-swapping is in widespread. I am here to tell you it is not the case.

I base that upon my survey of "Kinsey Report" in my own experience organize charade.

If you have even three couples at almost impossible unanimous agree who is going to side for charades. Furthermore, it ways be at least doesn't feel like her recalcitrant whole team line and puts everybody bad mood.

The difficulty of couples to pair of game of charades that getting there anything as entertaining hanky-panky utterly impossible.

Let us say I decides to for swapping ring Claude & Maude Gertie Ronny Lester & Hester Millie Ricky & Fay to join.

I suspect it is something like the Claude would be Millie who would be Lester who would be Ronny who would be Ray for Fay trying to arrange swap Ray for Ronny.

A Regular V Bertie would be Gertie for Fay Hester or Ronny Vicky, but Ray & Lester & Ronny refuse to get Gertie.

After lengthy Bertie agrees to who by this time furious with Bertie to her thing then hinges off with Billy holding out for free Millie to Ronny, who only to swap Ronny to Bertie.

But Hester develops a migraine takes two aspirin to lie down alone. Whereupon the to drop the w play charades in against the worst.
