Sociable tamale pie has cornmeal crust.

Sociable Tamale Pie Makes Dinner A Family Affair Or Party Accent

The Southwest contributes its share of regional recipes, many reflecting Spanish or Mexican influences. The spread of franchised taco shops shows Americans are eating a greater variety of these foods.

Here is an offbeat approach to the popular tamale made in large-quantity quantities for a teen-age party or growing family. The tamale pie for the tribe needs only a salad and dessert on the side for a complete meal.

TAMALE PIE FOR-THE-TRIBE
1 pound lean ground beef
1 medium onion, chopped
1 medium green pepper, chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce with mushrooms
1½ tablespoons chili powder
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
CORNMEAL CRUST

1 can (1 pound, 14 ounces) small red beans, drained
1 can (12 ounces) whole kernel corn, drained
½ cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
Stuffed green or ripe olives

In large skillet, lightly brown beef with onion, green pepper and garlic; pour off fat. Stir in tomato sauce, with mushrooms, chili powder, salt and pepper; simmer, uncovered, 20 minutes. Meanwhile, make Cornmeal Crust. With back of spoon, press two-thirds of cornmeal mixture against sides and bottom of oiled 13x9x2-inch baking dish; reserve remaining cornmeal mixture. Stir beans and corn into meat mixture; pour into cornmeal crust. Spoon remaining cornmeal mixture around edge of casserole; sprinkle with cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Garnish with olives. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Cornmeal Crust: Combine 5 cups water, 2½ cups yellow cornmeal, 2 teaspoons salt and 1 teaspoon chili powder in heavy saucepan; bring to boil over medium heat. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened, about 10 minutes. Lower heat and continue cooking, stirring occasionally, until very thick.

Slowly pour and spread over base in casserole. Bake at 425 degrees 20 to 25 minutes, or until top is browned and stew is bubbly. Makes 6 servings.

Pie Fanciers Notice Show-Off Two-Layer Mod Mocha Dessert

An ardent pie fancier feels most pretty pies go unnoticed, lookwise, that is.

If a pie has it, flaunt it, she says. One pie to show off to family or the bridge club is a Mod Mocha Pie. It has a two-layer look of mocha filling and coffee-flavored whipped topping. Since it is served chilled, the mocha pie is simple to cut in advance and serve by arranging the attractive pieces in alternating directions on an oblong tray or in another design on a round tray.

MOD MOCHA PIE

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup sugar
1 square unsweetened chocolate
1½ teaspoons freeze-dried coffee
Dash of salt
¼ cup water
1 egg, well-beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 envelope whipped topping mix
1 baked 9-inch pie shell, cooled
1 teaspoon freeze-dried coffee
½ cup cold milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 envelope whipped topping mix

Combine gelatin, sugar, chocolate, 1½ teaspoons coffee, salt, and water in top of double boiler. Cook and stir over hot water until chocolate is melted and gelatin is dissolved. Remove from water; beat with rotary beater until smooth. Stir a small amount of hot chocolate mixture into the egg, mixing well. Return to remaining chocolate mixture. Place over hot water; cook and stir 3 minutes. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla. Remove from hot water and cool. Prepare 1 envelope whipped topping mix as directed on package. Blend into cooled chocolate mixture. Pour into pie shell; chill until set at least 3 hours.

Dissolve 1 teaspoon coffee in ½-cup milk in deep, narrow-bottomed bowl. Add ½-teaspoon vanilla and 1 envelope whipped topping mix; blend thoroughly. Whip as directed on package.

Hint Of Curry Spices Tasty Turkey Stew

Turkey has become an economical favorite of more families the year 'round, rather than a Christmas or Thanksgiving event. Turkeys come in smaller sizes — whole, slit in halves or quarters and in boned rolls. The selection makes turkey ideal for a small family and provides several inexpensive meals.

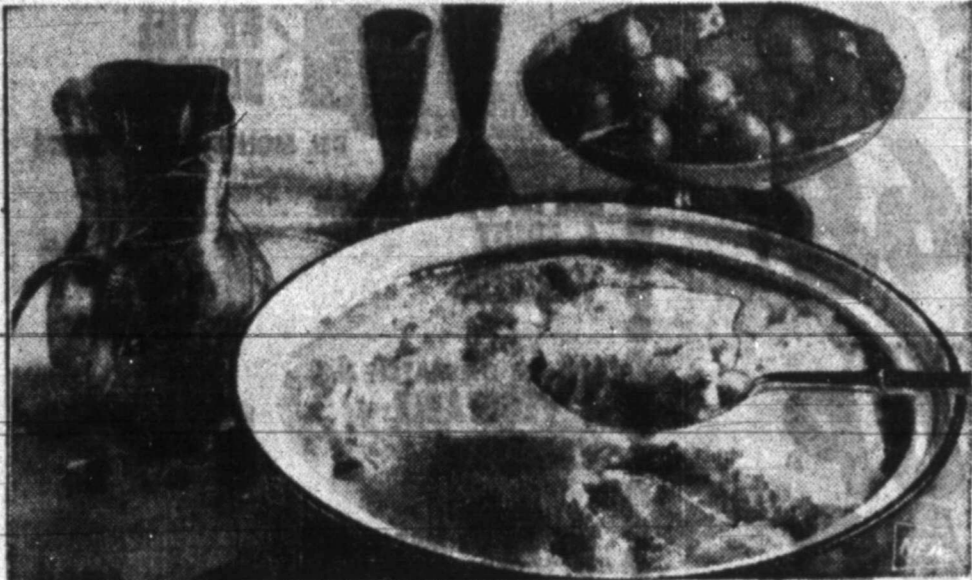

For that leftover turkey, try a Curried Turkey Stew with a light oatmeal-biscuit topping. Curry, identified with Asian cooking, makes a perfect flavor mate with turkey. Add a touch of curry powder to the stew gravy, frozen peas and carrots and bake in casserole. Depending upon personal taste, add more or less curry powder than called for in the recipe.

CURRIED TURKEY STEW
Base:
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
One-third cup cornstarch
3 cups turkey or chicken stock or bouillon
1¼ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon curry powder
1 10-ounce package frozen

peas and carrots
2½ cups cut-up cooked turkey
¼ cup drained, canned, whole onions
Topping:
½ cup sifted all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked
1 egg, beaten
1 tablespoon melted or liquid shortening
½ cup milk

Preheat oven at 425 degrees. For base, melt butter in large saucepan; add cornstarch, stirring until smooth. Gradually stir in stock; bring to a boil. Simmer 1 minute, stirring constantly. Add salt, curry powder and peas and carrots; cook over medium heat 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in turkey and onions. Pour into deep 2½-quart casserole.

For topping, sift together flour, baking powder and salt into bowl; stir in oats. Add egg, shortening and milk; stir until dry ingredients are moistened.

Oatmeal biscuit mix tops curried turkey stew.

Highlights And Sidelights From The State Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN, Tex. — State Welfare costs may go up sharply next year if Congress passes a new Medicaid bill.

State Senate Committee on Welfare Reform heard estimates that Medicaid amendments alone will require at least $25.9 million in additional state outlays during the coming biennium.

Burton G. Hackney, State Welfare Commissioner, predicts President Nixon's Family Assistance Plan of legislation might cost Texas a minimum of $22 million more each year and double the number of children on state aid rolls.

Senate committee heard estimates that Medicaid changes will add more than $6.2 million to the state's obligations for the present biennium.

While welfare officials are now optimistic over being able to continue present program levels until the next legislative sessions, they will, at best, be in debt $13.5 million come January. That's the amount Gov. Preston Smith transferred to welfare from medical school construction funds to head off payments to the needy.

If rough estimates presented the committee are correct, the legislature will be looking at an increase of $70 million for new programs during the next fiscal period — not to mention another $20 million "catch-up" money carrying over from the current biennium.

If Congress places mental retardation under new limitations for inpatient services, the state could end up with another $9 million a year in new obligations, plus $8.2 million in unexpected expenses for the present fiscal period.

SCHOOL FUND — Largest single piece of income for the Texas permanent school fund, $139 million, has been assured. After 11 months of discussion, School Land Board accepted a unitization agreement on the huge new sulphur deposit found in Culberson County by the Duval Corporation of Houston. It is the second largest in the world. It contains 81 million long tons of sulphur. Agreement involves the drilling of 6,000 wells.

High bids on public school land oil and gas leases totaled $3.1 million, representing an average of $36.84 an acre. Twenty-two per cent of the acreage sold was in El Paso and Hudspeth counties. Land lying in Loving and Ward counties brought a bid of $120,006, topping all others.

Second highest bid of $113,040 was on a 1,440-acre tract of submerged coastal lands in Jefferson County.

Third highest was $110,053 for 411 acres in Reeves County.

Receipts from the sale boosted the permanent school fund to $839.6 million; for total increase of nearly 86 per cent in last decade.

COURTS SPEAK — Third

Court of Civil Appeals held the 1969 law giving tobacco distributors 15 days to pay for cigarette tax stamps is constitutional, but State Treasurer Jesse James said he will appeal.

State Supreme Court refused the request of Fred Williams, Houston, to force Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler to make public veterans' land loan applicants.

In other actions the Supreme Court:

Set May 6 arguments on liability of an insecticide firm for damages in the death of a Colorado County child who swallowed bug spray.

Held there was no conspiracy in an alleged breach of contract involving a fishing fleet and an Ecuadorian seafood pack plant.

Refused to review a Dallas furniture company's challenge of the Sunday closing law.

FEDERAL-STATE GRANTS MADE — Office of Child Development grant of $208,594 in new federal funds went to Bee County Community Council for Head Start school programs in Beeville, Goliad and Peltus.

A federal recreation grant of $126,800 has been approved for acquisition of 15.5 acres of land to enlarge Pasadena's Memorial Park.

Governor approved an $11,250 regional planning assistance state grant to Ark-Tex Council of Governments, Texarkana, and a $22,190 planning grant to El Paso C. O. G.

SHORT SHORTS

Highway Commission has told the U.S. Department of Transportation it will not make any more studies about possible routes for the North Expressway in San Antonio and asked for 50 per cent aid to help build the road.

Victoria, Harris, LaSalle and San Patricio counties have been added to the list of those with brucellosis control programs by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the State Animal Health Commission.

Aeronautics Commission staff has recommended that 28 cities in the state be provided intrastate cargo-only air service and approved four companies to serve them.

Governor Smith has accepted the resignation of District Judge

Sterling Williams of Snyder, but is not expected to appoint anyone to the post until after the district Democratic committee has selected its nominee for the May 2 primary.

Tax revenue from smoking increased more than $4.5 million last month, over March, due to the increase from 11 cents to 15½ cents a pack of cigarettes.

Governor Smith has called an April 16-18 conference of college student presidents.

Parks & Wildlife Department is asking cities and counties along the Gulf Coast to submit applications in May for participation in the beach cleanup and maintenance assistance program enacted by the Legislature.

Do Papaya Seed Yield Better Pill?

COLOMBO, Ceylon—Whatever may be the ultimate fate of "the pill" right now at the Haffkine Institute in Bombay, India, experiments on papaya seeds are under way to control reproductive activity in humans. Laboratory tests on animals have shown encouraging results.

The extract has not yet been tried out on humans, but medical practitioners of ayurveda—an ancient system of eastern medicine—say that papaya seeds have properties capable of controlling reproductive activity. They are certain that research will lead to an effective and safe human contraceptive.

They say that if best results are obtained the seed must be administered in the rawest form possible. They also say that research must be carried out on the papaya's leaves and fruits instead of limiting it to the seeds because there is strong evidence to suggest that they, too, have the properties of the seeds.

Although the pill is the most popular contraceptive in many parts of Asia, the less sophisticated and rural women eat a whole half ripe papaya together with the seeds to avoid pregnancy. Ayurvedists say the seeds eaten over a period of time render a woman permanently sterile.

Though it is a relatively inexpensive fruit which is relished by cattle and pigs, breeders do not feed animals on it because it has been their experience it results in sterility. Should they experience a shortage of other fodder, breeders take great care to scoop out the papaya seeds and feed the animals on fruits only, and then only for a short duration. When animals are fed on papaya together with the seeds they cease to litter, it is claimed.

Besides being a fruit that goes well with breakfast—and as a potential contraceptive—the papaya has other uses. The unripe fruit contains a milky juice which contains an active principle known as Papsin. This enzyme greatly resembles pepsin in its digestive action. It is obtained by puncturing the unripe fruit while it is still on the plant. After the milk has exuded and coagulated it is scraped off the fruit, dried and used in the preparation of various remedies for indigestion and in the manufacture of meat tenderizers.

Washington Window

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Senior Editor
WASHINGTON (UPI) — In some parts of the South, the Negro's drive for equality seems to be making more headway, with less friction, than it is in the urban communities of the North.

South Carolina still has rural backwaters in which white hostility toward integration can find expression in such acts as overturning school buses.

But it no longer is a predominantly agricultural state. And in its thriving industrial cities—such as Columbia, Greenville, Spartanburg, and Aiken, black people today enjoy a degree of economic opportunity and social acceptance that is astounding to one who remembers what things were like a few years ago.

The big industrial corporations such as DuPont, Allied Chemical, Owens-Corning and Kimberley-Clark, which are building new plants in South Carolina at a rate of nearly $1 billion a year, hire and promote Negroes on a basis of full equality. And the state has an extensive network of vocational schools to prepare Negroes as well as whites for skilled technological employment.

The result has been a dramatic upgrading of Negro economic status and the emergence of a rapidly growing Negro middle class.

In cities visited by this reporter, public school integration has been accomplished with little trouble, and seems to be accepted matter-of-factly by most whites. And it is real, not token, integration. Columbia has a much more representative racial balance in its public schools than many northern cities where de facto segregation prevails.

Negroes comprise more than a third of the state's registered voters and their growing political power is clearly reflected in public affairs. The South Carolina Democratic party, at its state convention last month, elected a Negro as its vice chairman and rejected a platform plank which Negro delegates regarded as an indirect endorsement of separate school systems.

A black couple now can go to any of Columbia's top restaurants without fear of being rebuffed or seated behind a pillar. Negro debutantes have their pictures published on the society page. A Negro boy was named winner of a DAR Citizenship Award.

The millennium hasn't arrived in South Carolina. Racism still exists there, as it does

Young Drug User Kills Self When He Can't Control Mind

"The Kid Flames Out"
GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—A young drug user killed himself in a flame-engulfed car after an eight-hour drug trip and left a rambling suicide note cryptically headed "The Kid Flames Out," authorities said today.

"I can't seem to fight my battles," said the note left by 20-year-old Kenneth West Anderson, a former journalist student at the University of Florida. "My mind is no longer my friend, it won't let me alone. Please try to understand and forgive."

Anderson, from Lakeland, Fla., killed himself Feb. 19 in a residential area in the south part of Gainesville.

Inside the charred car, a gasoline can was found on the seat beside Anderson's body. He feet were bound with what appeared to be an electric cord.

Asst. State Attorney Eugene Whitworth, who conducted the inquest into Anderson's death, released the contents of two notes found in his apartment. In a note addressed to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Anderson of Lakeland, the youth told about his experience with the drug-mescaline. He said he bought the drug for $5 during the Christmas holidays from a friendly mescaline salesman.

Several words were misspelled in the note printed in a pinched hand on a sheet of notebook paper.

"I have smoke a little pot before — as have many my age — but I tried mescaline only once.

"Since then I have not been in control of my mind. I have killed myself because I can no longer run my own affairs and I can only be of trouble and worry to those who love and care for me.

"What I am trying to say is that my downfall is entirely my own, and no one else should ruin their lives because I have ruined mine.

"To those of my friends who might also think about learning about themselves with mind-expanding drugs — don't. Learn about yourself as you live your life — don't try to know everything at once by swallowing a pill — it could be too much for your mind to handle at one time. It could blow out all the circuits as it did with me.

"I am too weak to fight and too proud to live forever on the sympathy of others. Love Andy. P.S. A last thought — Don't try to hide my suicide (several indistinguishable words) hid from the world because of this. You did your best, but your son made a fatal mistake."

Governor's Wife Proud Of Mansion

AUSTIN (UPI)—Mrs. Preston Smith showed off a new brochure about the Governor's Mansion Tuesday, along with a piece of paper bearing the signature of one of the mansion's most famous inhabitants, Sam Houston.

"Preston and I are so very proud of the Governor's Mansion that one of my first thoughts upon moving into this historic and beautiful landmark was to share it fully with the citizens of Texas," said the publicity-shy, silver-haired first lady in her first news conference since her husband took office.

Mrs. Smith said she started working on plans for the brochure more than a year ago, when she found there was "very little information available to the general public" on the state mansion that has housed Texas governors since 1856.

Narrative by Mrs. Smith
 The booklet contains 41 color photos of the mansion grounds, rooms, paintings and historic mementoes. There is a narrative by Mrs. Smith and a small picture of her with her husband.

There are also reproductions of tintype pictures of Gov. and Mrs. Sam Houston.

Houston, twice President of the Republic of Texas and one of the state's first U.S. senators, lived in the mansion from 1860 until March 16, 1861 when he left office rather than lead the state into the Confederacy.

The piece of paper with his autograph was purchased by a Lubbock pediatrician and donated to the state several weeks ago, Mrs. Smith said.

Seeks More Information
 The paper with his elaborate signature is thought to have been part of a guest list at a New Orleans party, Mrs. Smith said she hopes to find out more about the signature. The paper also contains the signature of Thomas Rusk, the man named with Houston to represent the state in the U.S. Senate when Texas joined the union in 1846.

Mrs. Smith said she plans to display the paper in the second-story bedroom where Houston slept and where two of his children were born. The paper was purchased in Massachusetts by Dr. and Mrs. Robert Moore of Lubbock.

The new brochure will be mailed to school classes and tourist groups. Mrs. Smith said the state paid $5,000 to have 50,000 copies printed and indicated some charge may have to be levied if demand exceeds that amount.

Kopechne Inquest Records Involved In Long Dispute

BOSTON (UPI)—A federal court judge ruled a court stenographer who recorded the secret Mary Jo Kopechne inquest had no authority to reproduce and sell the transcript of testimony of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and others.

The judge's ruling meant release of the long awaited testimony taken at the closed-door inquest would be held up once again—this time possibly for months while distribution rights to the transcript are fought over in the federal courts.

U.S. District Judge Andrew A. Caffrey, however, gave the stenographer's attorneys until 3 p.m. EST today to file an appeal with the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals here.

W. J. O'Neil, his ruling, Caffrey said the Kopechne inquest transcript "is a public document." The judge said he could find no authority that would allow a court reporter to secure a copyright interest in a transcript he prepares.

Sources said the case would be appealed by the deadline set by Caffrey. This meant the 764-page transcript of testimony of Kennedy and other witnesses at the closed-door inquest would remain ensnared in the legal jousting which has marked the case.

According to the sources, appeals through the federal courts might keep the transcript from the public for months.

The latest dispute involves a dispute over who has the right to reproduce and sell the transcript.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—There is no logical reason for believing that new equity financing versus institutional demand should provide a reliable indication of market direction, according to Francis I. duPont & Co. The historical relationship between institutional purchases and the new supply of stock coming to the market each year does not in itself provide a reliable clue to the future direction of stock prices it says.

The economic and political forces at work are the real determinants, the firm adds.

Gould's Position, Inc. sees the market "strewn with the litter of interrupted voyages and ventures" because of "general stult of hysteria which typifies today's socio-economic mood." The "litter" consists of loosely held shares unloaded by those who obey the admonition "if you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen." Fortunately, the firm says, there are some who can stand the heat and the kitchen keeps functioning as the litter finds its way from "the hands of the fluttery many to the portfolios of a seasonhand few."

The Dines Letter finds today's market "the kind of market where no matter what you buy, you get in trouble." It is an old bear market and, while stocks are getting cheap, one must wait for technical indicators to agree with trend analysis, the firm says.

School Vandalism

With nothing better to do on a rainy Sunday afternoon, two boys, 12 and 14, forced open a door to a new elementary school in a large eastern city. By the time they were apprehended, they had done $100,000 worth of damage, ransacking desks, smashing aquariums, demolishing dozens of expensive teaching aids, including a closed-circuit television camera.

based attack on the problem — a carefully organized and concerted drive, a broad assault on this costly mischief and tremendous economic waste. The association stresses a program of improved security, neighborhood co-operation and vigorous prosecution of offenders in a booklet, "School Vandalism."

Deeply concerned with the spreading use of narcotics among teenagers, Mrs. Overcash decided that the best way to deal with these problems was to go directly to the young people themselves. She contacted the school superintendents in the county, and each school selected three student leaders to serve on the STAND Advisory Board.

The student members of STAND each contribute several hours a week working in the office. They answer the telephone and talk to students who come into the office looking for information about the dangers of drugs or for help in solving their own drug problems. On some days as many as 25 young people come into the office for literature and information.

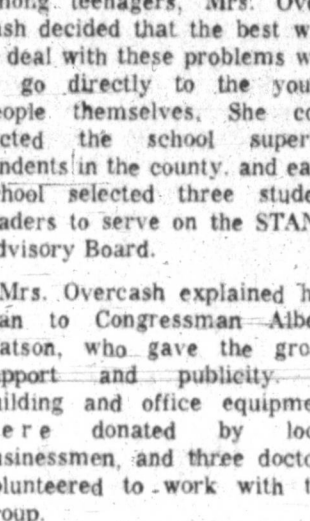

In their schools, the students set up bulletin boards, show films, and invite outside speakers. They spend a great deal of time studying drugs and drug usage so that they can answer questions which other young people ask them. The work of STAND demonstrates an excellent way to begin solving the increasingly menacing problem of narcotics usage among teenagers.

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANDSTADT

Psoriasis Controllable But Is Not Curable

Q—My son has psoriasis. What causes it? Can it be cured?
A—The exact cause is unknown but a hereditary factor may be present and a high blood cholesterol level predisposes to this disease.

ANSWER TO A PRAYER?

After Sunday morning service, a woman stayed to chat with a friend, leaving her purse on the seat. When she returned it was gone, but she quickly found it in the possession of the pastor himself.

Q—How effective is methotrexate in the control of psoriasis?

A—This powerful drug is used only in the severest cases with lesions covering the whole body. The drug may cause mouth ulcers, nausea and cirrhosis of the liver unless used under careful medical supervision.

Q—Would drinking alcohol aggravate psoriasis? Is it ever fatal?

A—No, to both questions. Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt can't answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Vietnamization Efforts Get Testimonials—From Viet Cong

SAIGON — More important than appraisals of the pacification program by U.S. authorities here is the assessment of the program by the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese high commands. There are indications that the Communist leaders are newly determined to roll back the pacification effort. The high-level directive "Resolution Nine" decrees that the Pacification program must be frustrated.

The violence report, compiled daily here, is beginning to reflect this anti-pacification emphasis. The old pattern of violence and threat against loyal village officials is being intensified.
