IN LOUISIANA
Blasts Rocks Senate

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Twenty to 30 sticks of dynamite planted near the front of State Senate chamber exploded Sunday night peeling marble slabs from the ornate rooms, shattering all its windows and splintering lawmaker's desks.

Moments before the explosion ripped through the 34-story state Capitol Building another blast caused heavy damage at a plush country club.

Investigators checked the possibility dynamite was used in the early explosion, which blew the side off the central air conditioning unit at the Baton Rouge Country Club on the outskirts of town.

No one was injured in either explosion.

Investigators sifted through the rubble of the Senate chamber today, but said they found no clues.

"To tell the truth, it looks like such a mess in there it'll take a while before we can find out anything at all," said Sargent Pitcher, district attorney for the parish county.

The U.S. Post Office branch office just below the Senate chamber was also damaged and lighting fixtures in the press room two floors beneath the chamber were jarred loose.

Gov. John McKeithen said the damage to the building could run as high as $380,000.

Secret Inquest Notes Still In Controversy

BOSTON (UPI)—The secret Mary Jo Kopechne inquest transcript could be released within 72 hours under two proposals made to Attorney General Robert H. Quinn, it was learned.

The proposals were made within the last 10 days by the attorney for a court stenographer who is fighting to win distribution rights to the transcript.

Quinn may take some action on the Kopechne case today.

Jerome P. Facher revealed the existence of the proposals in response to questions during an interview.

He said "one of the suggestions would completely terminate the entire controversy on a fair basis to parties and the public."

Facher said he would not give details of the proposals because they remained open for action by the attorney general.

The transcript contains the secret testimony of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and 26 other witnesses at the closed-door inquest into Miss Kopechne's death. The 28-year-old blonde secretary died last summer when a car driven by the sole surviving Kennedy son went off a bridge into a tidal pond on Chappaquiddick Island.

Facher represents Sidney R. Lipman, one of two court stenographers who transcribed the inquest. Lipman claims he has the exclusive right to reproduce and sell copies of the 764-page transcript.

Suffolk Superior Court Clerk Edward V. Keating, however, who has been custodian of the document since it was impounded two months ago, maintains the court's authority to handle distribution.

The attorney general stepped into the controversy last Friday and announced he may file legislation today to remove the danger of a damage suit against Keating in case he went ahead and distributed the transcript.

Police Officer Assaulted In Local Lounge

Police arrested a 26-year-old Pampa man Saturday and charged him with aggravated assault on a police officer.

According to reports, Patrolman James Samples was dispatched to a lounge on W. Brown, to break up a fight shortly after midnight Saturday.

When Samples arrived, he attempted to place handcuffs on one of the men involved in the fight. According to the officer, another man told him he wasn't going to arrest the suspect.

When Samples told the man not to interfere, the policeman was hit across the face and knocked to the floor.

In his report, the officer said two other men grabbed him and dragged him into a store room. He kicked one of the assailants off when two customers of the lounge came to his aid.

Samples said he placed the assailant, Doy Victor Hutchison, 613 Doucette, under arrest. He then attempted to arrest two other suspects, but when several men threatened him, Samples said he went to his patrol car and called for help.

By the time help arrived, the suspects had left the scene.

Hutchison was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Ed Anderson who set bond at $1,000. The suspect was released on bond Sunday.

Police Chief Jim Conner said the incident is still under investigation.

In other weekend police activity, officers are still investigating the theft of an automobile Sunday morning.

According to reports, S.A. Laughlin, 1114 S. Faulkner, told officers he picked up a man south of Pampa early Sunday morning.

Laughlin said he had beer in his car and he offered the man a drink. He said he later had to leave the car, and when he did, the man hit him over the head with a bottle and took his car.

Police reports describe the automobile as being a white 1961 Chevrolet bearing 1970 Texas tags, BRK 687.

Officers also are investigating theft of a tape player and seven tapes stolen from a car owned by Columbus Morgan, 317 Oklahoma St.

Morgan said the equipment was taken sometime Friday night. He valued the articles at $185.

In a burglary at Speed Queen Laundromat, 601 Sloan St., police said the intruders broke into a soft drink and gum machines. Taken from the soft drink machines was $2 in nickles and several bottles of assorted flavor drinks. An undetermined amount of gum was also taken.

AT WEATHERFORD
Agnew Defends US Space Program

WEATHERFORD, Okla. (UPI)—Vice President Spiro Agnew and astronaut Thomas Stafford joined Sunday in defending the U.S. space program.

Agnew was principal speaker at ceremonies dedicating Weatherford's new Thomas P. Stafford Airport. Stafford is a Weatherford native.

A crowd of more than 10,000, including 100 antiwar demonstrators, was on hand for the activities.

The protesters broke into song as soon as Agnew stepped out of his jetstar aircraft. They sang several lines of "God Bless America."

Even though we find some people that are critical of the tremendous expense," Agnew said of space program critics, "we cannot stand still."

After the ceremonies, Agnew walked along the wooden fence which held back the crowd.

In the airport style of presidential candidates, Agnew spent several minutes shaking hands and chatting with the spectators.

"Nothing has served to bring mankind so closely together as the lunar landing," Stafford told the crowd.

Stafford described "attacks on the nation's space program" as "short-sighted." He compared the critics with those "who derided the efforts of Columbus."

"I am grateful that in this country there are men of vision who see the benefits of aviation and space," Stafford continued.

"Regardless of how bleak some news reports may seem today," he added, "I say to you that this is a great time to be alive."

Stafford, commander of the moon-orbiting Apollo 10 spacecraft and veteran of two Gemini missions, drew enthusiastic applause when he criticized protesters.

He said progress will be made "not by protesting but by programming, not by criticizing but by offering solutions, not by violence but by voting."

Hope Urges Americans To "Wake Up"

BOSTON (UPI)—A fourth of July atmosphere pervaded Boston's new City Hall Plaza Sunday as 20,000 persons gathered to hear Bob Hope and other celebrities urge them to "wake up America."

The well-dressed, clean shaven crowd waved American flags and listened to patriotic music from brass bands and five-and-drum corps as they expressed their faith and hope in the country's values and traditions.

Bob Hope, the comedian billed as America's ambassador to the world, told the crowd: "This is what the kids in Vietnam are fighting for — our privilege to do this."

Only a handful of dissidents could be heard, and they too were good-natured. Hope responded to their occasional heckling by quipping, "That's quite an echo I'm getting."

"Ninety eight per cent of the people think the way you all do," Hope told the crowd whose ranks were swelled because of beautiful sunny weather with temperatures in the 70s.

He was answered by sporadic shouts of "Hurray" and "Tell 'em Bob."

Hope was joined on the rostrum by cartoonist Al Capp, fullback Jim Nance of the Boston Patriots and Navy football great Joe Bellino.

The comedian called a moratorium on his usual jibes at political leaders. "Spiro Agnew said a lot of things that have to be said," he told the crowd. "A lot of our people are disillusioned."

Absentee Balloting Ends Tuesday

County Clerk Charlie Thut announced today that 5 p.m. Tuesday is the deadline for casting absentee ballots for the May 2 primary election.

Since balloting began April 13, Thut said all ballots mailed 101 votes have been cast.

Nancy Doesn't Slip On "Linoleum"

Nancy Palmer, representing Gray County in the Golden Spread Spelling Bee in Amarillo Saturday, won the Regional Championship and a trip to Washington, D.C. for the national finals.

Nancy, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Palmer, 2232 N. Sumner, represented Gray County for the fourth straight year. She won the contest by correctly spelling "linoleum."

Nancy was one of 45 area students entered in the contest. Her closest competitor misspelled "corduroy" and Nancy eased on to the championship.

She, along with her mother, will go to Washington June 1. They will stay in the capitol one week for sightseeing, entertainment and the spelling competition.

Eight persons representing Texas will compete in the spelling contest. The winner will get a $1,000 college scholarship and a trip to New York to appear on the Ed Sullivan Show.

In Amarillo, Nancy was presented a plaque for winning the Gray County Championship. Her brother, Tim, was presented a trophy for winning the county's Junior Championship.

Progress On Price Front By 1971

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The battle against inflation is being won and the public will know about it through "major progress of the price front" by the end of this year, according to President Nixon's top economic adviser.

Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, said those who claim the battle is being lost because prices have not come down, despite a mid-winter slowdown, are only displaying ignorance of basic economic theory. McCracken told UPI in an interview:

"As an economy starts to cool off, you are inevitable going to have a period when the price level continues to sail along as basic economic conditions seem to become less inflationary."

"To look at these two seemingly contradictory things and say that something has gone wrong is to display an ignorance of how these things always tend to work."

The nation's output of goods and services declined at an annual rate of 1.5 per cent in the first quarter of this year, the sharpest economic downturn in a decade, but despite the slowdown, the cost of living continued to rise at an annual rate of about 6 per cent — highest since the Korean war.

The administration has been warning for more than a year that there would be a "time lag" between the cooling of the general economy and control of inflation. But there is now some evidence that economic growth may be resuming without producing any noticeable improvement in inflation. McCracken agreed output may increase in the present quarter which ends June 30.

Output fell for one quarter in 1967 but growth resumed in the following quarter and inflation continued unabated through it.

Would Scrap Voting Bill And Start Over

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon plans to tell the House this week to scrap legislation, already passed by the Senate, that would lower the voting age to 18.

Nixon favors a lower voting age, aides said, but he wants it accomplished through a constitutional amendment. The attempt to set the age at 18 by passing a law has been challenged by some who say it would be unconstitutional.

If the courts ruled such a law unconstitutional after an election had been held, the race might have to be rerun or recounted to eliminate the ineligible voters.

The Constitution does not specify a voting age, and states have made their own, and differing, laws on the subject. The attempt to set 18 as the nationwide voting age passed the Senate in the form of a rider to an extension of the Voting Rights Act of 1965.

A constitutional amendment would have to be passed by both houses and ratified by three-fourths of the states.

Politicians Are In Homestretch

By United Press International
Lloyd Bentsen said he is for the prayers. Robert Morris said Sen. John G. Tower is trying to hurt the Republican party.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough said his opponent had as much chance of winning the primary as a Santa Gertrudis bull has of winning the Kentucky Derby.

Recognize the symptoms. It's the final week of campaigning. Fasten your seatbelts. Prepare to have your favorite television shows pre-empted by political announcements. It's the homestretch. It's pulling-out-the-stops time. It's now or never because Saturday it's all decided in the voting booths.

Some examples of the type of statements to be prepared for in the coming week flowed from three candidates for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Yarborough. They came from Jeane Dixon, his opponent in the Democratic Primary. Bentsen and Morris who is trying to take the Republican nomination from Rep. George Bush, R-Tex.

Foundation Trustees Spell Out Auditorium Funds Offer

Trustees of the M.K. Brown Foundation released a statement during the weekend aimed at clarifying a couple of points in the foundation's original offer to provide funds for the building of a civic auditorium in Pampa.

The clarification relates to provisions in the offer stating that construction plans and site, along with selection of a contractor would be subject to approval by the trustees.

In a letter addressed to the mayor and city commission, the trustees stated that, in substance, whatever would be agreeable to the general M.K. Brown Memorial Auditorium Committee which has been working on the project for several years would likewise be acceptable to the foundation group.

The commission is scheduled to consider the auditorium offer when it meets in regular session

Tuesday morning at City Hall. In their most recent letter to the commission the trustees stated in part: "We want something that will be a suitable monument to the memory of M.K. Brown of a character that is reasonably consistent with the money available for that purpose."

"By acceptable contractor we would want any contractor who had a good reputation and whose work would be supported by reasonable bond."

"In connection with the memorial, it will be satisfactory with the trustees, as we believe, it would have been with Brown himself, for other pioneers to be memorialized in the building — how that would be handled we leave to the discretion of the City, the Chamber of Commerce, the general committee or to whomsoever the City wishes to delegate in the matter."

"The Foundation is primarily interested in getting the auditorium erected and in operation. The Foundation is not interested in making unreasonable requirements to delay the matter."

The trustees' original offer sets up $400,000 immediately available to start construction of the auditorium plus a pledge to retire bonds or warrants issued by the city necessary to complete the structure and furnish it.

William Jarrel Smith, foundation secretary-treasurer, stated he had scheduled a meeting with U.S. Treasury Department officials this week to discuss legal angles of the foundation's proposal. No real difficulty is expected, Smith stated.

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa. (UPI) —Terence J. Bowers, 11, was stabbed to death Sunday while on a Boy Scout camping trip near here on the grounds of St. Basil's Roman Catholic Church. His killer remained at large.

JIMMY GILLAM, left, and Olen Anderson, of Olen's Tune Up Service, 310 N. Ward, give auto-going-over in preparation for summer vacation.

Summer Car Care A Specialty At Olen's Tune Up Service

Summer vacation time is fast approaching and many Pampans will be taking their families on cross country motor trips. Now is the time to make sure the family car is in good shape for those trips.

Olen Anderson, owner and manager of Olen's Tune Up Service, 310 N. Ward, says he and his staff of car care experts can put cars in tip-top shape for the summer months.

Jimmy Gillam, Olen's top notch mechanic, can tune a car up so well, even the car will enjoy taking those long vacations and weekend jaunts to area lakes.

Olen says guess work is O.K. for games, but when it comes to serious business like auto care, only accurate and dependable diagnosis of the problem will do.

For that reason, the experts at Olen's use electronic equipment in testing the clients' cars and diagnosing the problems.

"Tell the people," Olen said, "that they can be assured of a trouble free vacation if they have their car checked out and prepared for the summer ahead."

SHELBY RUFF Furniture stocks the highest quality in household goods. In the above photograph, Shelby is pointing out the quality features in its name brand chairs.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Chicago fire destroyed property valued at $196 million in 1871. The fire is reputed to have started at about 8:00 p.m. on Oct. 8, when a cow kicked over a lantern in a barn behind the house of Timothy and Catherine O'Leary. The World Almanac notes that though the conflagration destroyed more than 17,000 buildings, the O'Leary home amazingly escaped destruction.

PAMPA, TEXAS 53rd Year Monday, April 27, 1959 PAMPA DAILY NEWS 5

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been a widower for some time, and for the last year have been taking a divorcee to nice places for dinner, to good shows, and to some nice parties.

Recently, I invited her to a large formal affair. She told me she would go if I would buy her a new formal dress with shoes and purse to match, and agree to pay to have her hair done.

Is that the way it's being done these days?

DEAR CONFUSED: Only by those who are willing to go for it. If the lady didn't have a presentable dress for the occasion, she'd have been ahead to borrow one. Alas, another ambitious chick who may have killed the goose that laid the golden eggs!

DEAR ABBY: The woman whose husband came to the table bare-chested prompted me to write you.

Bob and I had been married about two years when he developed the habit of coming home from the office, stripping, except for his undershorts, and coming to the dinner table in that state of undress.

I begged him to at least wear a robe, but he refused. Then I decided to cure him once and for all.

I took a large mixing bowl and combined flour, eggs, honey, leftover baked beans, molasses—anything I happened to have around. When my husband sat down for dinner, I told him I had a "surprise" for him. Then I let him have it! I dumped this mixture down on his bare chest.

He didn't talk to me for two days (that's how long it took him to get the honey and molasses out of the hair on his chest).

I know it was a hateful thing to do, but he never came to the table without a shirt and pants on again.

BOB'S WIFE: DEAR WIFE: That must have been an enormous sacrifice. No man makes a habit of displaying the body beautiful unless he's convinced that he looks great that way.

DEAR ABBY: I suggest that "Bothered." Whose husband comes to the dinner table bare-chested. Try what I did to mine 19 years ago.

When we were first married, my husband started coming to the table bare from the waist up. I asked him to please put a shirt on for dinner but he said, "I always did this at home and I don't intend to change."

So I said, "Well, if you can eat half naked, so can I," and I then proceeded to peel off my blouse, slip, and bra.

He just sat there for a while and finally said, "Okay, if you'll put your clothes back on, so will I." And so we did. And to this day he has never again come to the table without a shirt. We get a good laugh now when we remember how I broke him of a very repulsive habit.

STOPPING BY A DUTCH WINDMILL on their Holland tour of decorations for the Pampa High School Senior Class banquet, were four Pampa children, David Tinney, 6, Mitchell Tinney, Steven Busse, 8, and his sister, Terri Busse, 3. The First Baptist Church WMU's decorations for the church's annual Senior banquet Friday night took guests on a "Ports O'Call" to four countries, Holland, Japan, Spain and France, but hostesses and guests never left the church's Educational Building and Fellowship Hall. Before the banquet, several visitors toured the hall to see decorations made by the church's WMU. Parents of the four children are Mr. and Mrs. Don Tinney and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Busse.

PHS Seniors Tour Four Countries At Church's Annual Class Banquet

By WANDA MAE HUFF
Women's News Editor

Pampa High School Seniors walked the gangplank to four Ports O'Call Friday night as they embarked on the First Baptist Church WMU's annual Senior Class Banquet at the church Fellowship Hall.

Using themes from Japan, Holland, France and Spain, the WMU members directed costumed students in the Junior Class as they served the Seniors in four "miniature countries."

Seniors who dropped anchor in Japan were seated on cushions on the floor and ate their dinner before a paper wall mural of a black pagoda, Japanese figures and slithering red dragon, breathing fire of white angel hair. Black and red canisters with lighted candles lined the wall beneath the mural. Hand made favos of painted paper fans were on low serving table placed beneath Japanese paper lanterns.

From Japan, guests crossed into Holland and were served from tables accented with windmill centerpieces bordered in green paper grass, white picket fences and tiny, multi-colored tulips. Small handmade ceramic Dutch shoes were covered with tulip flowers. In the handpainted mural, a Dutch girl standing across a river from a windmill was painted between two window box scenes with paper tulips growing out of the window boxes. Turning in a corner was a Dutch windmill on a platform of green paper grass and bordered with multi-colored tulips and a white picket fence.

Diners in France ate from red and white checked tablecloths, set sidewalk cafe style with red roses, and bottles dripping with multi-colored candles. Simulated red brick formed a screen across with a Parisian flower cart. Flower baskets hung from the ceiling, with one wall covered in a mural of a Parisian street scene with its Leaning Tower of Pisa.

Hanging Spanish lanterns lighted tables in Spain, which were centered with wooden sailing ships in full mast. Crossed silver swords on black backgrounds accented the walls. Handmade ceramic black bulls were guests' favors.

Students were served from the captains table which was placed beneath hanging black paper chains and anchors. We've been planning this since January, having committee meetings since February, and working all day, every day here to decorate for the past two weeks," Mrs. James F. Malone, general chairman, said.

Chairmen for each country were Mrs. Raymond Conner, France; Miss Claudia Everly, Spain; Mrs. Floyd Watson, Japan; and Mrs. E.E. Shelhamer and Mrs. Louis Tarpley, Holland.

Your Horoscope

JEANE DIXON

TUESDAY, APRIL 28
Your birthday Tuesday.

Strive to consolidate your gains of recent years. Your needs can probably all be met within a fairly close range if you have the luck to be in the right place. Where you must reach too far for some of them, relocation or a dramatic improvement of the local scene may be in order now.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Your good ideas find a very narrow market — perhaps just one among the people you know who have any authority carrying weight.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Tuesday continues the heavier going of Monday, with the difference that now you do get somewhere, and soundly, with reasonable effort.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Older people get in the way. Conditions left over from long ago are still bothering you and others.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Due care with group efforts should bring reasonably good results Tuesday.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Spend the day settling issues and ending bothersome uncertainties on all sides. After these matters are out of the road you are free to have a good time with those you care about.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Any expression of annoyance you permit yourself Tuesday will plague you later.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Speculation and the advice of others are faulty. Rely on your own work and intuition rather than anybody else's.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Domestic affairs provide just enough nuisance, just enough concern to provoke you into doing a rather full review of all current programs.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your work piles up into something more serious. Past performance brings a brief commendation but then is relegated to normal volume.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Trading, buying, selling all have rough going now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Nothing goes easily Tuesday, but it's all worth the effort of pushing forward on all fronts.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Whatever you can do that takes a minimum of close cooperation is likely the better course Tues. Collect yourself and your energy and try to organize your affairs in compact forms for easy control.

SCOUTING SCOOPS

By MRS. JACK MILLER

All girls and adult workers in Quivira Girl Scout Council congratulate Mrs. Dot Stowers for being chosen Beta Sigma Phi's Woman of the Year for Pampa. She has given generously of her time and talents to Pampa's scouting program and has been a great example to girls of the qualities an ideal woman should have.

Junior Troop 75, with Mrs. Charles Walsh as leader for the 25 girls, visited White Deer Land Museum and studied Pampa area history. They have completed work on an Advanced Cooking Badge and have learned to prepare several foreign dishes.

Junior Troop 28, Myrt Leigh, leader, took internationally dressed rag dolls to the Day Center. The girls are also working on the Troop Dramatics Badge.

As their contribution to National Earth Day, Junior Troop 13, Mrs. Helen Sharpe, leader, planted petunias in flower beds at the Presbyterian Church Educational Building. The 10 girls of Troop 13 meet weekly at the church.

Senior Girl Scouts will call on individual troops this week to deliver Camp Books for distribution. Leaders are requested to urge their girls to attend Day Camp and Established Camp to practice skills they learned this year.

The stamp book drive to obtain a council bus will end April 30. All books must be turned into the Scout Office by then.

Help For Parkinsons With L-DOPA

For a long time there was little that could be done to help people suffering with Parkinson's Disease. Stemming from a chronic disorder of the central nervous system, its symptoms are a shaking palsy, slowness of movement, weakness and stiffening of the muscles.

Now a drug with the funny sounding name of L-DOPA appears to be helping people with Parkinson's to improve greatly. Although still being tested, it has been recommended that the drug be released for use by physicians as it should be available around the middle of this year. Your doctor knows about this.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for service and charge accounts.

Beard Wins By 7

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (UPI) — Frank Beard looks like the nearest thing in creation to a golfing machine but a guy who goes off to the church to give thanks for winning $30,000 must have an emotional nature under that hard exterior.

Beard, who will be 31 May 1, ran away from the field Sunday in the final round of the 72-hole, $150,000 Tournament of Champions when he shot a one-under-par 71 for a total of 273.15 under.

"I knew I was ahead and I shot for the middle of the green," he said.

Beard's rounds were 70-64-69-71-273 — good for $30,000. Up until this tournament, he had won only $23,000 in 1970 although last year he was the leading pro with $175,000.

Seven strokes back at 280 there was a three-way tie — Tony Jacklin, the British Open king only two shots back after three rounds who skied to a final 76; defending champion Gary Player, who took a 71; and Billy Casper, the Masters champion who had a 72.

"It looked like Beard was playing a different course," Casper said.

Casper had to sink a 30-foot birdie putt on the final green to get into the three-way tie for second, worth $11,633.

Arnold Palmer played strong, steady but unsensational golf all the way, shooting 70-72-69-70-281, seven under par. That was good for fifth place and $7,400.

Three shots back of Palmer in sixth with the U.S. Open King Orville Moody with a final 70 and a 284 total. He earned $6,400.

There was a three-way tie for seventh at 286 among Jack Nicklaus, who shot 74; Bruce Crampton, with a 76; and Dale Douglass, with a 74. They each won $4,766.

Beard and his wife, Pat, who was on hand here, have three youngsters and are expecting another. Old Moneybags and his wife went off to a Catholic Church near here after he got through with post-tournament ceremonies.

Instead of heading for Texas with most other pros for the Byron Nelson Classic at Dallas, Beard will take the week off and go home to Louisville, Ky. He plans to attend the Kentucky Derby — his first.

My Dad George Picked To Win Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The top contenders for next Saturday's Kentucky Derby had the preliminaries behind them today following a weekend of activity at Churchill Downs with the possibility that blinkers as well as speed and heart could determine the winner.

My Dad George had the heart, Silent Screen and Terlago have the speed and Personality the blinkers.

"He's a competitor. He will run hard. We're going to try you," said Silent Screen's trainer Eowes Bond of My Dad George and the colt's victory, in the Stepping Stone — purse $200,000.

It was the third straight victory for My Dad George, who won the Flamingo Stakes and the Florida Derby. By outgaming Terlago, the Santa Anita Derby winner, in the Stepping Stone, the son of 1953 Kentucky Derby winner Dark Star established himself as the Rose Run favorite.

Cards, Gibson Trip Reds, 4-1; Braves, Mets, Cubs Victorious

By United Press International

Bob Gibson only thinks it's "too bad I can't pitch like that every day."

Gibson pitched a five-hitter and struck out 15 batters Sunday in his first complete game of the season to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 4-1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

"I've never had my slider working that well," Gibson said after the game, "and I wanted to take advantage of it. This is the best control I've had all year, and I used my slider on almost every man."

Cincinnati's Jim McGlothlin got into trouble with his control in the third inning when he walked Richie Allen. Joe Torre was safe on a fielder's choice and rookie Leron Lee walked to load the bases. McGlothlin then walked Joe Hague to force in the first run.

Lou Brock scored the Cardinals' second run when he singled in the fourth and came home on Jose Cardenal's double. The Cardinals added their third run in the sixth after Ray Washburn walked Gibson, gave up a single to Brock and walked Cardenal and Torre.

The victory was Gibson's second against one loss.

Elsewhere in the National League, the San Francisco Giants beat Montreal, 11-1, in the opening game of a doubleheader and the Expos took the second, 3-2. The Atlanta Braves shut out the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-0. The New York Mets defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers, 3-1. The Chicago Cubs beat the Houston Astros, 6-3, and the Philadelphia Phillies edged the San Diego Padres, 3-2.

In the American League, Chicago shut out Cleveland, 2-0. California beat Washington, 3-2. Milwaukee defeated Boston, 5-3. New York whipped Oakland, 8-

3. Baltimore edged Kansas City, 10-9, and Minnesota shut out Detroit, 6-0.

Ron Santo, who had driven in only four runs for the entire year, snapped out of his batting slump with the fourth grand slam homer of his career to lead the Cubs over Houston for their 10th consecutive victory. The other Cub runs also came on homers by Jim Hickman and Billy Williams, and Ferguson Jenkins picked up his second win despite giving up 10 hits.

Tom Seaver, last year's Cy Young Award winner, retired the first 11 batters he faced to stretch his streak of consecutive outs to 27, gave up six hits and struck out six as the Mets beat Los Angeles. In the fifth inning, Mike Jorgensen hit his first major league homer and Bud Harrelson singled, stole second, advanced on an infield out and then stole home. Donn Clendenen scored New York's first run with a homer to break a 300-inning scoreless streak for the Mets.

Phil Niekro, bombed out in four previous starts this season, allowed only two hits for his first victory and Tommie Aaron drove in both runs with a double and a homer for Atlanta's win over the Pirates. Niekro held the Pirates hitless until Manny Sanguillen bounced a single to left field with two out in the seventh.

Grand slam homers by Willie McCovey and Dick Dietz and Mike McCormick's three-hitter carried San Francisco over the Expos. The second game gave Montreal their third win in 14 times out this season.

Buford's Game-Winning Homer Puts Orioles 1st In AL East

By FRED DOWN UPI Sports Writer

Take it from All-Star outfielder Paul Blair of the Baltimore Orioles: that teammate Don Buford is the most underrated player in the American League.

"Don is the guy who starts most of our rallies," says Blair. When Don hits, the Orioles win.

Buford reversed the usual procedure Sunday when he completed a rally — rather than starting one — with a three-run eighth-inning homer which gave the Orioles a 10-9 victory over the Kansas City Royals. It was the Orioles' 14th straight triumph over the Royals and boosted them into first place in the American League's Eastern Division.

Buford's game-winning homer Sunday came after Clay Dalrymple had walked and pinch-hitter Terry Crowley had singled. It offset a three-run sixth-inning homer by Bob Oliver which had given the Royals the lead.

Brooks Robinson drove in four runs with a double and two singles and Dave Johnson also homered for the Orioles. Dick Hall was the winner with Pele Richert picking up the save.

The Minnesota twins topped the Detroit Tigers, 6-0. The New York Yankees defeated the Oakland Athletics, 8-3. The Milwaukee Brewers beat the Boston Red Sox, 5-3. The California Angels shaded the Washington Senators, 3-2, and the Chicago White Sox blanked the Cleveland Indians, 2-0.

The Twins Luis Tiant pitched a three-hitter, collected three hits himself, drove in a run and stole a base. Mickey Lolich suffered his second loss against four victories from the Tigers.

Jerry Kenney homered in the fifth inning and capped a four-run sixth-inning rally with a two-run single as Mel Stottlemyre gained his first victory for the Yankees. Jack Aker pitched the last three innings and gained credit for his third save. Bobby Murcer homered for the Yankees and Don Mincher connected for the Athletics.

Max Alvis drove in two runs and scored another in the Brewers' victory over the Red Sox. Gene Brabender went 8 2/3 innings for the Brewers to pick up the victory while Ray Culp suffered the defeat.

Sandy Alomar broke out of an 0-for-20 slump with a double and a single, drove in a run and scored another, as Tom Murphy went 7 1/3 innings for his third win. Mike Epstein had a homer and a double for the Senators as Casey Fegan dropped his first game after three wins.

Joe Horlen and Wilbur Wood combined in a four-hitter and Luis Aparicio scored the 1,000th run of his career in the White Sox' victory over the Indians. Horlen went seven innings and allowed three hits with Wood shutting out the Indians through the last two innings.

Stars Edge Dallas To Clinch Playoff

By United Press International

Craig Raymond was a star in the truest sense of the word Sunday night.

The 7-foot center scored the winning basket with 43 seconds left to play for Los Angeles as the Stars beat Dallas, 124-123, and clinched their Western Division semifinal playoff, four games to two. Raymond followed up his winning two pointer by blocking a Dallas bid for the go-ahead basket with only eight seconds left as the winner of the Washington-Denver series for the American Basketball Association's Western championship.

The Washington-Denver series stands 3-3, and will be decided Tuesday night at Denver while in the only division-semifinal series still unresolved, New York leads Kentucky, 3-2, with the sixth game scheduled for Tuesday night in New York. The Nets moved within one game of advancing to the Eastern Division finals against Indiana by whipping the Colopels Sunday, 127-112. Indiana had advanced earlier by sweeping Carolina in four straight.

Mack Calvin paced Los Angeles with 27 points and George Stone had 23 while Manny Leaks led Dallas with 32 in addition to pulling down 20 rebounds.

NBA Playoffs Saga Of Crippled Centers

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Basketball Association championship series which resumes here tonight between the New York Knicks and Los Angeles Lakers is turning out to be the saga of the crippled centers — Willis Reed and Wilt Chamberlain.

Reed hurt his left shoulder as the Knicks took the opener of the best-of-seven series, 124-112, Friday night, and the condition of the league's Most Valuable Player is the big question mark for New York.

However, Los Angeles also is having center problems with Chamberlain, who has been far below his top form since making a speedy recovery from a knee injury so he could play in the playoffs. Chamberlain's mobility was hampered in the opening game against the Knicks as Reed popped in 37 points; many of them from outside.

Phil Niekro, bombed out in four previous starts this season, allowed only two hits for his first victory and Tommie Aaron drove in both runs with a double and a homer for Atlanta's win over the Pirates. Niekro held the Pirates hitless until Manny Sanguillen bounced a single to left field with two out in the seventh.

Grand slam homers by Willie McCovey and Dick Dietz and Mike McCormick's three-hitter carried San Francisco over the Expos. The second game gave Montreal their third win in 14 times out this season.

Economics And Ph.D.s

Conservative writers have been decrying the tendency of people in the school business seeking Ph.D. degrees frequently only for the honor and high pay and not necessarily becoming qualified as teachers.

Several have noted that the doctorates are being cheapened, both in quality and quantity. It has been pointed out that the law of economics works in doctorates also, and that the market was being flooded with proud possessors of Ph.D. degrees. The warning was issued that there would be little demand for the advanced degree holders. Yet the trend continues to this day.

However, the warnings are being proved accurate. It seems the market is glutted now. Today's Education, the National Education Association Journal, for April reports in part:

"Young Ph.D.s are finding that degrees outnumber jobs. Record numbers of would-be college teachers flooded the faculty employment registries at the conventions of the Modern Language Association and the American Historical Association this past winter. More than 2,000 Ph.D.s and doctoral candidates sought interviews for 402 positions at 197 colleges during the AHA meeting, an increase of 1,000 over last year. The MLA convention drew 1,700 hopeful English and foreign language Ph.D.s. They found that 315 chairmen were interviewing applicants, about half the number of chairmen who were seeking applicants in 1968."

It just might be that there's a buyer's market for Ph.D.s, and that the critics were right in their warnings.

Battle Of Mini-Maxi-Midi

It's no secret that the fair sex of our land is in a great uproar over the radically changing fashions. And, although men generally keep diplomatically silent about such things, in this instance there has been no little protest from the male gender, too.

It seems that Mrs. Pompidou started it all when she wore those long "midi" fashions from Paris to show American women the latest styles. SOS signals went out from coast to coast: "Stop Allowing Paris To Dictate Our Fashions!" — "The Mini Is Here To Stay!" — "Go Home, Mrs. Pompidou!"

Things weren't helped at all when the Marquesa de Merly del Val of Spain stopped off in New York with her husband en route to Tokyo. Her skirt, everyone in society noticed, was a long 3 1/2 inches below her knee. Women wined — and so did the men.

The problem is no less complicated by the fact that while some fashion designers have stretched the mini all the way down to the maxi, which hides the ankle and gathers dust from the street, the mini seems to have headed in the other direction.

For the fashion-minded female, the problem of "what to wear" has indeed been multiplied. And budget-minded husbands have already learned, to their dismay, that the length of the skirts seems to have little relationship to cost.

But if you think these problems are bad, think of the confused dress and skirt manufacturer. He has to guess, in advance, what women will wear. What if he is guided by the noisy protests, which seem to favor the mini over the midi, and maxi — and then the girls exercise their well-known "woman's prerogative"?

When all is said and done, however, it seems to us that the precise length of the hemline is not the all-determining factor. Some of the prettiest girls in Hollywood once wore what would be a midi today without losing any of their glamour. Most important, women are admired — not because of their cheesecake, or their ability to stay with the latest trends, but because of their elegance and charm as a woman. The rule is: the female who wants to be treated like a lady will dress like one.

Attention Inventors!

America is known for the genius of its inventors. Our history is filled with accounts of the lonely men in their laboratories or tool shops, working around the clock by flickering candle-light or spattering lamp to develop the world's first breakthroughs in power, illumination, and communication. Today, of course, the inventor is much more likely to be working in spotlessly clean, brilliantly lit, and elaborately furnished quarters equipped with highly sophisticated instruments of course, the independent, inventive individual still plays a role, but for the most part the inventor of today is usually part of a well-organized team.

Nevertheless, the challenge is still there — and as long as there are unknown areas to probe, there will be the inventor and scientific researcher, no less dedicated than his forbears. Indeed, the need for new methods, new techniques, new knowledge, new and better "hardware" is greater than ever.

We were intrigued by a recent call for an invention from Attorney General of the U.S., John Mitchell — who is offering upwards of $100,000 for the answer. Mr. Mitchell wants somebody to invent a scientific "sniffer" to seek out hidden heroin. The Attorney General points out that an increasing number of crimes can be blamed on narcotics addicts. Heroin is easy to hide (and smuggle) and therefore difficult to find.

Mr. Mitchell has suggested two avenues of approach; a chemical means, and a biological means of detection. Research in the first area will be conducted by the Aberdeen (Army) Proving Grounds; the second will be in charge of the New York Police Department.

Both methods are based upon the fact that all substances, including solids, "evaporate" to some extent. Therefore, they leave minute traces in the air around them. The problem, insofar as the heroin is concerned, will be to detect the tiny traces which may exist in only a few parts per billion parts of air.

Now, there's a project to tax the imagination of even the most eager of inventors!

The Scrap Heap Bonanza

That's gold in them hills — or mountains, rather — of trash Americans create every year. Literally.

According to Chemical Engineering News, military electronic scrap averages about 5.5 ounces of gold per ton, which is immensely higher than the gold content of ocean water and a lot more practical to recover.

one million tons of other metals if all municipal incinerators utilized the devices and techniques that now exist, or are being developed, to separate salvageable materials from mixed wastes.

It will be exceedingly expensive to equip every community in the country with the technology to "mine" our man-made mountains. Eventually it will be too expensive to do.

The Manion Forum

By MARILYN MANION

NO END TO BREAD AND CIRCUSES

Nine years ago, roughly 4½ percent of the population of New York City was on relief. Today, that figure has more than doubled: over 12½ percent of city residents are on the dole. This alarming increase has taken place within an otherwise prosperous era, and the poor, meanwhile, have received hundreds of thousands of dollars of taxpayers' money. (The taxpayers have been moving out of town as fast as possible, but lately you have to be a millionaire in order to finance the buying of a suburban house. So they stay, and they eat hamburger, and they continue to finance the people on relief.)

Where did all the money go? Why didn't it improve things? What went wrong? One study of the subject argues that "the poor, by family splitting and refusal to take unskilled and semi-skilled jobs, are utilizing welfare exclusively." The study, written by Dr. Blanche Bernstein for the Center for New York City Affairs, goes on to say that:

"The evidence appears to indicate that a significant fraction of the AFDC (Aid to Families with Dependent Children category) women could find work but are disinclined to take the jobs available to them because the monetary gain does not outweigh the inconvenience of working."

The same report showed how welfare can promote family breakups, either genuine or pretended. A case in point is a man, with a wife and two children, who earns $3,700 per year. He is not eligible for welfare. But if he leaves his family, or pretends to do so, then his wife can collect $3,000. This could bring the family income up to a tidy 6,700 annually.

The average American will read such figures with a smug expression on his face, and thank his lucky stars he doesn't live anywhere near New York. But what is happening in New York City is relevant to the rest of the Nation's business, especially in light of the fact that the Nixon plan to reform welfare is very likely to become law.

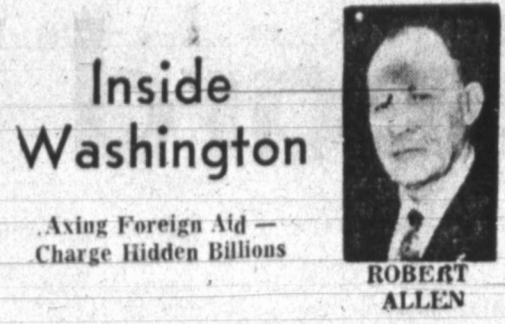

The Nixon system will hope-fully put an end to the welfare incentives which make it profitable for men to desert their families, and so the fellow making $3,700 can get very little in addition from the government. What he gets, he can get without leaving home. But we can't believe that the much-touted "workfare" requirements will be all that effective. They tried that in New York, too, and the results were not very encouraging. Out of 200,000 families on ADC, 8,000 heads of families went to work. After two years, 235 of them had worked themselves up and off the relief rolls — were able to support themselves.

We salute these 235 people, for they have broken the chain of generation-to-generation welfare. But what a hopelessly small percentage of success they represent — particularly when one imagines how many of those 200,000 families increased and multiplied themselves during that same two-year period! Maybe there is no answer, but something is wrong somewhere when, despite the outlay of millions of dollars, there are more, not fewer, people on the dole. Good luck, Mr. President. —American Way Features

SENSING THE NEWS

Views Of Justice Douglas

By THURMAN SENSING

Once again there is serious talk in Congress of impeachment proceedings against Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas. This time, such proceedings may carry. In 1963, impeachment proceedings were started because of Douglas' role in staying execution of atomic spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, but the attempt died in committee.

Now, many members of Congress — not to speak of the general public — are gravely concerned about Justice Douglas' endorsement of the "Points Of Rebellion." He said in this volume that "violence may be the only effective response in dealing with the establishment."

Such a statement would not be remarkable for a Black Panther or some New Left kook marching on the Berkeley campus of the University of California. But it is shocking and scandalous for violence against our free society to receive endorsement from a member of the U.S. Supreme Court. This endorsement may well be regarded as coming under the constitutional grounds for impeachment.

The procedure is for the House of Representatives to propose impeachment and for the Senate to serve as jury. Demands for impeachment proceedings have circulated since 1969 when investigative reporting turned up the fact that Douglas was employed by a charitable foundation with links to Las Vegas gambling casinos. Many Americans also were outraged in 1969 when they learned that Douglas had written an article for a magazine whose publisher had been convicted of violating federal obscenity laws.

Whatever the fate of the moves in the Congress, the country has ample reason to be appalled at the way a member of the high court has abused the constitutional system and free society of the United States. One of the most telling chastisements he has received came in mid-April from Dr. Sidney Hook, a retired professor of philosophy at New York University and a liberal. Dr. Hook, who has expressed alarm at the anarchist influences on many campuses, took Justice Douglas to task for gross irresponsibility. He declared in a Brooklyn Law School symposium that Douglas' book was a "sheer caricature" of the situation in the country today, saying it reflected a "profoundly disquieting confusion between legitimate dissent and violence, which showed a willingness on the Justice's part to sacrifice democratic due process" even though that might mean "opening the doors to anarchy."

The professor warned: "Those who resort to violence or write apologies for rebellion are preparing the way for the very police state they fear. Exaggeration, they name is Justice Douglas'."

Perhaps the most disturbing aspect of the Douglas situation is that he wasn't removed from the Supreme Court years ago. Here is a man who opposes everything the United States stands for, who expresses contempt for its way of life, who abuses those who wear the uniform of the country, if our standards of belief and conduct had not been so terribly eroded by years of liberal permissiveness, Douglas would have been impeached long ago and stripped of his pension. It is shocking to think that a man who endorses violence against the institutions of American life is still sitting on the nation's highest court, still casting votes on vital constitutional and legislative matters. Douglas is in a position to interpret the Constitution which he regards as unjust. The shame of having Douglas on the Supreme Court is deepened when one realizes this is a jurist who, as Senator Strom Thurmond pointed out a year ago, was involved "in a mobster operation" in his former association with Las Vegas Casino interests.

One of the most devastating indictments of Justice Douglas was made by Rep. William Scherle (R-Iowa), an influential member of the House Education and Labor Committee. "As a member of the highest tribunal of the land," he said, "his (Douglas') sworn duty is to uphold obedience of law. Instead, he openly advocates the flouting and breaking of law." Calling Douglas the "self-appointed messiah of the hippies and yuppies," Congressman Scherle declared, "this is the kind of mentality and morality that is now sitting on the highest court of the land handing down decrees momentarily affecting the lives and affairs of tens of millions of citizens throughout the land."

Clearly, the time has come to remove a stain from the nation's court by impeaching Justice Douglas. This important task is long overdue.

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANDSTADT

Several Causes Possible For Rectal Bleeding

Q — What could cause bleeding from the rectum? My doctor could not find any hemorrhoids.

A — In addition to hemorrhoids, local causes include fissures, polyps and cancer. Such other causes as a meibic dysentery and ulcerative colitis must also be considered.

About two years ago my mother, 55, had a proctoscopic examination. The doctor said she had small areas of lymphoid hyperplasia in the rectum. He said nothing could be done for it. Is this a form of cancer?

A — No. This is merely an abnormal increase in lymphoid tissue. Since it is not a disease, no treatment is needed.

Q — What is the difference between a proctoscope of the rectum and a rectal barium examination? Which is better?

A — A proctoscope is a metal tube containing a light. When it is passed into the rectum, it enables your doctor to examine the rectal wall for ulcers, polyps, tumors and bleeding points. A barium enema is given in an X-ray room. It enables the X-ray specialist to see the outlines of the entire colon which would not show up without the radiopaque barium. This is helpful in finding a partial obstruction or other abnormal configuration. Both examinations have their own merits and many patients have both as a part of a diagnostic workup.

Q — Is proctitis a form of cancer? What treatment do you recommend?

A — This is an inflammation of the rectum due to an infection. It is not a form of cancer. The treatment would depend on the causative organism. Usually one of the antibiotics is prescribed.

Q — My mother died with cancer of the colon. Each year I have a Pap test but I have never had a rectal examination. In the absence of any rectal symptoms, should such an examination be done?

A — A rectal examination with a gloved finger should be a part of any routine examination on a man or woman who is over 40.

Q — How serious is a rectocoele? What treatment do you recommend?

A — This is a protrusion of the rectum into the vagina a form of hernia. It is an annoyance rather than a threat to life. Surgical repair is the only treatment.

When and what will be done about this official law flouting was not indicated. According to the spokesman "conversations" are underway with Somalia to put an end to the illegal shipping. He claims that was halted last year after vigorous U.S. protest.

Sen. Byrd points out the Foreign Aid Act expressly forbids the granting of aid to countries trading with North Vietnam and Cuba. Also, since 1967, while Somalia has received $247 million in U.S. aid, ships flying the Somalia flag have entered North Vietnamese ports on 20 occasions and the same number of times Cuban ports.

To extend even one dollar of aid to this country contradicts the mandate of Congress," says Byrd. "The language is clear and unambiguous. But more than money is involved. Of even greater concern is the complete disregard of a congressional mandate."

Byrd also points out that last year, 204 ships flying the flags of free world countries carried cargoes to Cuba. Of that number, 50 were British ships and 117 Cyprian.

"The U.S. has suffered 350,000 casualties in Vietnam during the past years," says Byrd. "Yet we find one of America's oldest allies, Great Britain, continuing to permit ships to fly her flag to carry cargoes into Haiphong for North Vietnam."

Rep. Passman lists 27 separate items in his contention that the actual total of proposals for foreign aid spending is $12,133 billion.

Each of the items, he asserts, is to be found in the President's overall budget. Passman dug them out after a detailed study of the voluminous document.

"It is an old stratagem of the bureaucrats," declared Passman, "to fragment foreign aid programs by scattering

Principal bases of Passman's drive to hack $1 billion from the foreign aid budget are three telling arguments: That the actual overall total for "new requests for foreign assistance" in the fiscal year starting July 1 is a stupendous $12,133 billion — and not merely $2.2 billion. The latter is only one item in a long list of proposed foreign aid expenditures scattered through the President's full budget.

Approximately $20 billion "in unaccounted unexpended funds voted by Congress in prior years" is piled up in the various government agencies engaged in foreign aid spending.

Some 50 percent of the $375 billion national debt represents money borrowed from the Treasury to be dispersed abroad in grants and loans. Overall cost of foreign aid from 1946 through fiscal 1970 is in excess of $190 billion — including the interest on the borrowed funds.

The interest on our staggering federal debt for this fiscal year is $15,958 billion," says Passman. "One-half of this immense amount is due to our foreign aid expenditures plus interest. During this worldwide spending spree, our gold holdings have been reduced from nearly $23 billion to less than $11 billion. Further, our balance-of-payments situation has become serious."

We have sent to the foreign nations of the world $36,896 billion more than they have returned to us. While our national debt has soared to $375 billion, the debt of all the other nations of the world is only around $305 billion. The U.S. cannot survive as a strong nation if we continue dissipating our resources and giving our wealth away all over the world."
