Gun-Toting Youth Caught With Drugs

ARRESTED AND charged with possession of marijuana, David R. Heinson of Meade, Kan., is escorted to his cell after being arraigned Friday night. Behind the prisoner, but not shown, is Police Sgt. Dan Honevutt, Assistant Chief of Police George Wallace is in background. (Staff Photo)

An 18-year-old Meade, Kansas youth was in Gray County jail late Saturday in lieu of $16,500 bond set by Justice of the Peace Nat Lunsford on charges of possession of marijuana and unlawfully carrying a prohibited weapon.

Police said David R. Heinson was arrested Friday night in the 400 block of Maple Street. Patrolman Stan Brown said he noticed the suspect in front of a cafe "acting suspicious."

Brown said he called to the youth and told him to have a seat in the patrol car. According to the officer, the suspect stumbled when entering the police car. Brown said he got out of the car, went around to the passenger side, and saw a .22 caliber pistol under the vehicle.

The officer said he then advised the suspect of his rights and placed him under arrest for carrying a prohibited weapon. The youth was taken to city jail and booked.

Upon further investigation, police said they discovered the youth to be on one-to-seven years parole in Kansas for possession of marijuana. After a few legal technicalities were cleared up, officers searched Heinson's car and found nine "blids" and a matchbox of marijuana.

Police said a "blid" is a little over one ounce of marijuana and sells for $25. Officers estimated the total value of the narcotic at $250.

Police said they also found $55 in cash with the marijuana. Officers would not speculate whether or not the money was obtained from the sale of the narcotic in Pampa.

After the discovery of the marijuana, police returned to city hall where Heinson, who was being held on a $1,500 bond on the weapon charge, reappeared before Lunsford. Bond was set at $15,000 on the marijuana charge.

Police Chief Jim Conner said his department was asking the help of the Pampa public in assisting police in curbing narcotic traffic.

"We want to hear any rumor," Conner said. "Many of them will amount to nothing, but we will check them all."

Conner said the names of persons providing information to the police would be kept confidential.

Military Implications Cause Wide Concern

HONG KONG (UPI) Communist China today announced the launching of its first space satellite and said the 380-pound vehicle was broadcasting Peking's revolutionary anthem "The East is Red" as it spun around a world wondering about the military implications.

The Chinese, who invented the rocket almost 1,000 years ago and began testing nuclear bombs in 1964, thus became the fifth nation to create space satellites through their own technology, joining the United States, Soviet Union, France and Japan in the space race. Britain has launched satellites but American rockets have been used.

The United States reacted quickly to the Peking announcement, and said the progress of the satellite was being watched closely.

Dr. Thomas O. Paine, the head of the U.S. space agency, said the launching was a "dramatic demonstration" of the determination of Chinese leaders to push ahead with scientific achievements despite the country's many problems.

Elsewhere in Washington, there was apprehension that Red China might be nearing the point where it could pose a military threat to the United States.

Diplomatic analysts in Hong Kong, without downgrading the military implications of the feat, said its biggest effect will be psychological and political.

These observers said it may do much to improve Red China's image as a major power abroad, and should help the leadership in Peking regain its domestic position, still weakened by the turmoil of the Cultural Revolution—or purge—which swept the mainland more than two years ago.

Radio Peking said the satellite launched Friday night weighed 172 kilograms or about 380 pounds. The news was obviously withheld until it was determined that the satellite was successfully spinning around the earth in its looping orbit.

The U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration confirmed that a new satellite was orbiting the earth. A spokesman said American equipment was tracking the vehicle.

The first U.S. satellite was launched in January, 1958. It was about the size of a grapefruit and weighed a little over 30 pounds.

The Soviet Union was the first nation to successfully orbit a satellite, putting a Sputnik into earth orbit in October, 1957. It weighed 184 pounds.

Radio Peking said the apogee of the Chinese satellite—the point at which it is the farthest from earth—was about 1,365 miles. The perigee, or closest point was given as 271.5 miles.

So far as was known in Hong Kong, it was China's first attempt at launching a satellite. It came about 4 1/2 years after the Chinese set off their first successful nuclear explosion—on Oct. 16, 1964.

City To Look At Auditorium Offer

By TEX DEWESE
News Staff Writer

Acceptance in principle of a proposal by the M.K. Brown Foundation for construction of a municipal auditorium in Pampa is expected when the city commission meets in regular session Tuesday morning in City Hall.

Another major item on the Tuesday agenda will be discussion of a disaster warning system that would be failure-proof and adequate to alert the entire city.

Members of the city staff will meet tomorrow with Civil Defense officials in City Manager Charles Hill's office for preliminary talks on alert equipment. Results of this discussion will be presented to the mayor and city commissioners Tuesday.

On the city auditorium proposal, commissioners will take a close look at the recent offer made to the city by the Brown Foundation trustees.

The proposition, in brief, is an offer by the Foundation to provide around $400,000 as a down payment on the auditorium and a pledge to use Foundation income to retire bonds or warrants issued by the city.

'Pride In Pampa' Starts Monday

A "Pride in Pampa" program, sponsored by the Retail Trade Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce got underway Thursday.

Phase 1 of the program begins Monday with merchants in the city cooperating in a paint-up, fix-up, clean-up program.

The program theme, "Fresh Azza Daisy," will be evident as merchants and their employees wear lapel badges promoting the program.

The campaign will continue through two separate phases until May 16. Phase 2 will begin May 4 with daily news stories in the Pampa News promoting educational, religious, cultural, industrial and business activities at the Top O' Texas.

Phase 3 of the program will feature promote Pampa as the Shopping Hub of the Top O' Texas area. Activities will end May 14, 15, and 16 with merchants sponsoring "Vacation Value Days" featuring top merchandise values.

Assassination Try On Son Of Kai-Shek

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI)—National Chinese Vice Premier Chiang Ching-kuo, traveling under tight security, since an assassination attempt in New York, arrived Saturday for a tour of the U.S. Air Force Academy.

Chiang, son and heir apparent of Chiang Kai-shek, was also scheduled to visit the headquarters of the North American Air Defense Command (NORAD).

Petitions Protest Former Police Lieutenant's Axing

Petitions are in circulation in the Pampa area concerning the March-12 dismissal of former police lieutenant Jesse B. Goad from the Pampa Police Department.

The petition alleges Goad was deprived of his constitutional rights under a civil statute pertaining to Law Enforcement officers that states "all complaints against officers or city employees... must be made in writing and signed by complainant and presented to the officer or employee within a reasonable amount of time and before any disciplinary action may be taken against the affected employee."

It is the petition's premise that this was not done, that Goad was dismissed the same day oral complaints were reportedly made against him. Goad was dismissed by City Manager Charles Hill on charges of "insubordination, inability to perform duties satisfactorily; use of profane and abusive language toward fellow employees."

Hill said late Saturday he is familiar with the civil statute. "The action taken is still believed to be warranted," Hill said.

Former police night dispatcher Guy Bowers, who resigned from the department around the first of the year, is heading the circulation of the petition.

Bowers said between 450-500 signatures have been obtained. Bowers also stated Pampa attorney John Warner had been asked to seek Texas Attorney General Crawford Martin's opinion in the issue. Bowers said it is not the petitioners' intention to embarrass any city official, but only to make them aware there is some interest in Goad's dismissal.

Goad joined the local force in 1952 and resigned from the position of police lieutenant in 1962 to join the Carson County sheriff's department as deputy. He rejoined the local department in late 1963; was promoted to sergeant in 1967 and remained in that position until promoted to lieutenant in June, 1968.

Work Begins To Rebuild Annex

County Commissioners held a special meeting Friday to call for the new barn to be discussed rebuilding plans for the Precinct 2 barn and the County includes electric and gas fixtures and three overhead heaters.

Lenning said the contract for the new barn to be built on the site of the old Precinct 2 barn and did not advertise for bids.

"We felt justified in doing this," he said. "We need immediate facilities for the equipment out there and we wanted to keep the work in the county."

Lenning said Precinct 2 Commissioner Vernon Watkins negotiated a $19,000 contract with Pam-Tex Construction Co. of Pampa.

The commission agreed the price and work to be done in the reconstruction project was better than expected. Watkins was authorized to go ahead with arrangements for work to begin Monday.

Indian Men Here To Look At Installation

City officials from Gary, Ind., were in Pampa Friday afternoon to inspect a new method of storm sewer installation being used by the State Highway Department in its U.S. Hwy 60 improvement through the city.

Tom Kelly, resident highway engineer, said the Indiana officials were interested in the project with a view to using the same type construction in Gary.

The current highway project in Pampa is the first on which the state is using what is called "casting-in-place" installation rather than the pre-casting method of concrete joints.

The method which has been used successfully in Lubbock city construction is said to afford better construction as well as being more economical to install.

Time Change

Unless you set your clock ahead before you retired, you are already an hour late. Daylight Saving Time began its annual six-month run at 2 a.m. today.

Only Michigan, Arizona, and Hawaii exempted themselves from provisions of the Uniform Time Act of 1966, which requires that Daylight Saving Time be observed from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October, when clocks are turned back one hour.

The time alteration, which was first put into effect during World War I to conserve fuel, may have been suggested first by Benjamin Franklin, in a half-serious essay he wrote in 1784.

Lack Of Warning Cause Of Deaths

EDINBURG, Tex. (UPI)—Lack of adequate tornado warnings was partially to blame for the toll of dead and injured left by twisters bearing through 11 Texas towns this weekend, a self-laugh Texas tornado authority says.

Former newspaper man Dudley Lynch, 29, Houston, has just completed writing a non-technical book on Texas tornadoes which took three years to research, required interviews of more than 200 persons and sent him traveling all over the state. He warned that unless a more efficient warning system is found, "we will face this type of mayhem 150-200 times a year in Texas."

"Getting a warning to people—and then getting them to act on it—is particularly difficult at night," Lynch said. "That was demonstrated at Clarendon, where the tornado hit at 3:30 a.m., when no one was listening to radio or watching TV. I think the telephone company maybe the answer, with some form of warning system that would sound an alarm in the home."

Satellite Launch No Surprise

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department said today the launching of a satellite by Communist China comes as no surprise.

Assistant Defense Secretary Daniel Z. Henkin noted that Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, in his defense report to Congress last February, predicted the Peking regime would soon attempt to launch its first intercontinental ballistic missile or space booster.

"This launch obviously reflects the significant technological progress which has been achieved in that country," Henkin said.

Public Speaking Contest Set By Knights Of Pythias Lodge

Pampa Lodge 480, Knights of Pythias, will sponsor a public speaking contest for high school students at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Lodge Hall, 315 N. Nelson.

The local contest is a buildup to regional and national contests sponsored by the organization.

Floyd Sackett, youth committee chairman for the local Lodge, said eight students have entered in the contest.

Sackett said the contest is open to students in the ninth through the 12th grades. Several area high schools have been invited to send entries to the local contest. Sackett said the contest is its ninth year locally and 120th year for the international competition.

Date and place of the regional contest have not been set, but the international competition is scheduled for sometime in August in Raleigh, N.C.

Winners of local and regional contests are awarded college scholarships.

The topic for all speeches is "Warnings from the past."

IF THE reaction to the languette look from Lady Lions at the Fashion Tea Friday afternoon in the Pampa Country Club is any indication, it will be a long time before that "look" catches on here. "ughs" were audible as a black and white "After Five" frock was modeled. The dress reached mid-calf, but when model Ruth Osborne daintily lifted the hemline to the current fashion, guests reacted more favorably. It was a lovely dress. BUT too long!

THE FASHION TEA was just one of several events planned for Lionesses during their two-day stay in Pampa. It was the type affair ladies love...dainty food in a beautiful atmosphere as gorgeous clothes were shown...a seated tea with delightful refreshments served from a table attractively appointed with majestic Daisies and Purple Iris arranged in a silver pedestal epergne under an April Showers umbrella...all capably arranged by Kathryn Steele...aided and abetted by Viola Jordan...who narrated the Show...Mrs. Stella Gaylor...Mrs. Frank Anderson...and Mrs. Max Pressnell.

STEALING THE show in the Bob Rogers home...we were wondering what Jean Martindale was doing at a Ladies Fashion Tea until he whipped out a movie camera when his very young son walked pass the tables with Sherry on his arm.

CATCHING the fancy of fashion-conscious guests was a provocative white lace "see-through" evening pants dress prettily modeled by Peggy Bonner...and an equally stunning black peau-de-soie pants suit accented with rhinestones shown by Sue Higdon, who also provided music for modelling by Judy Fraser's jump-suit for lounging in Hot Pink created quite a bit of comment with its hand-rolled roses

GUESTS WERE GREETED at the door by Kathryn Steele...Mrs. Ed Flood, of Amarillo wife of Lions District 2T-1 governor...Mrs. Herman West of Searcy, Ark...wife of Lions International director...Mrs. Jack Riley of McLean, wife of the new governor as well as wives of the two Pampa Lions presidents, Mrs. Max Pressnell and Mrs. Frank Anderson.

DUFFY'S TAVERN Thursday night in the Starlight Room was something else...and got the two-day convention off to a swinging start...creating a Gay Nineties atmosphere by wearing costumes of that era...but with a strictly MOD sense of hospitality!

LIONESSES were entertained again on Saturday morning with a charming Art Coffee in Las Pampas Art Galleries with Doris Johnson as hostesses...interspersed with all the fun and frolic were serious business meetings, which is how the Lions do things...they reported on their worthwhile projects...such as the Hi-Plains Eye Bank...their crippled Children's Camp at Kerrville...elected new a district governor...named new district directors...and elected a pretty new queen, news of which is carried elsewhere in this edition.

BY NOW, the Lions Club convention is officially over...it will be quiet around the old hometown today...within the short span of two weeks...news-wise, we've had stories of imperiled spacemen...a tornado...Lions Club and Odd-fellows-Rebekah conventions in town...walk-in politician candidates...don't know about you, but we're ready for normalcy...but then there's the Altrusa Love-In Spool setup for Monday night in the Coronado Inn's Starlight Room...where does a News Editor go to recuperate? See you around? d.e.w.

McLean Schoolman, WD Coed Take Top Spots For Lions

... new district governor

A McLean schoolman was named district governor and White Deer high school coed was named district queen in Lions Club convention proceedings Saturday. Superintendent of Schools Jack Riley of McLean was named governor of Lions District 2T-1 in an election held in the Coronado Inn. He will officially take over duties pertaining to the district's 75 clubs in 58 Panhandle cities on July 1st. Riley, who has been associated with McLean schools for the past 14 years, has served as a deputy district governor and this past year was chairman of the Leo Club, which is an organization for boys and girls sponsored by Lions Clubs.

In its initial year, Riley organized five clubs and has five more lined up for organization, which will make District 2T-1 a leader in the nation in the number of Leo Clubs.

District 2T-1 accepted Burger Lions' invitation to hold the 1971 district convention there.

Elected to three year terms as directors of the Hi-Plains Eye Bank were Al Harder; Amarillo; Royce K. Jones, Canadian; Cecil Maddox; Friona; Lee Welch, Kress; and Jack Higgins, Dawn.

Elected as President of the Cripple Children's Camp was Milton Laurie, of Kress.

A 17 year old White Deer high school senior was crowned District 2T-1 Lions Club Queen at Robert E. Lee Junior High Saturday.

Brenda Faye Willson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Willson, White Deer, was chosen Queen over 47 high school girls entered in the contest.

Selected as first runner-up in the contest was Cathy Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy L. Jones of Silverton. Miss Jones is a senior at Silverton High School.

Second runner-up in the contest was Karen Ollinger, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Ollinger of Groom. She is a senior at Groom High School.

BRENDA WILLSON

Judges selected seven finalists before deciding upon the Queen and runners-up. Kay White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. White, 2101 N. Nelson, was the only Pampa selected as a finalist. She is a senior at Pampa High School.

Other finalists were Rose Marie Elkins, daughter of Mr. Olen Elkins of Tulia; Peggy Cornelison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin E. Cornelison of Skellytown; and Jody Hobby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Hobby of Canadian.

Kiwianians Learn About Vast Telephone Network System

Picture telephones and three dimensional television by 1980 were predicted by Roy Wickerham of San Antonio as he addressed the Downtown Kiwanis Club Friday noon.

Wickerham is a public relations representative of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's communications division.

The speaker used legdemoin to illustrate several points in his description of Southwestern Bell's long distance network of today and its projection into a next decade.

He stated that with a computer system of switching phone calls it is possible to have as many as 72 trillion connections at one time.

The picture phone, he said, now is being used by Westinghouse and by 1980 is expected to be in general use along with the laser beam which, he said, would vastly increase the number of picture and voice transmissions that could be handled.

The Downtown Kiwanis Club has started its annual lawn fertilizer sales. Pampans in need of fertilizer are asked to contact club members for delivery.

Mayor Milo Carlson spoke briefly on Pampa's upcoming United Fund drive and urged support. A ten per cent failure to reach the goal, the mayor said, would mean a cut in the activities carried out by the participating agencies.

The mayor also presented the Pacesetter Award to a dozen Kiwanians for their assistance with last year's UF campaign.

Mrs. Lois Belote spoke briefly urging Kiwanis support in the City PTA Council's traffic safety campaign by placing "Be Alert—Stay Alive" stickers on automobile bumpers.

Burglars Take Merchants For $1200 In Loot

Police Saturday were investigating two burglaries that netted the culprits an estimated $1200 in merchandise.

One burglary occurred sometime Friday night at Mitchell's Grocery, 638 S. Cuyler. Police said the burglar's took an estimated $350 worth of wrist watches, cigarettes, and trading stamps.

The second breakin also Friday night, took place at Rogers-Fina Service, 415 E. Frederic. Police said tires, oil, tools, a camera and film valued at more than $800 was taken.

Chamber Luncheon

Reservations for Monday's Chamber of Commerce membership luncheon in Coronado Inn will be taken until 10 a.m. tomorrow at the chamber office. George W. Sall, executive manager of the American Petroleum Association of America, will speak on the future of the oil and gas industry.

The program will be in charge of C.D. Zlomke, chairman of the chamber's Oil and Gas Committee. The meeting is open to the public.

Entertainment will be by the Vocational Education Department of Pampa High School.

Chamber of Commerce directors will meet at 11 a.m. prior to the luncheon.

Lions Hear Reports On Two Projects; Eyes And Children

By BEN KECK
News Staff Writer

Lions Club members meeting in Pampa for the District 2T-1 convention Friday and Saturday were treated to luncheons, banquets, dances, and entertainment. They were also given reports on facilities supported by their clubs.

Two organizations sponsored by the Lions are the Hi-Plains Eye Bank in Amarillo and the Cripple Children's Camp in Kerrville. The Eye Bank, sponsored by District 2T-1, provides eye tissue and transplants for persons suffering from eye disorders.

Virgil Ballengee, of Amarillo, vice-president of the Eye Bank, said the organization provides the eyes without charge to the recipient. Ballengee said the eyes are taken from donors immediately after death and transplants are made within 48 hours after the eyes are removed from the donor.

"Six persons can benefit from one pair of eyes," Ballengee said. "Two corneal transplants can be given; two sclera can be used for ruptures and the vitreous fluid in the eye can be used for two vitreous implants."

Ballengee said the eyes are available in emergencies anywhere in the United States. A group of ham radio operators, known as the "Eye-Ball Network" are on the air twice daily to monitor requests for eyes.

At a luncheon Friday, Ballengee presented plaques to two of the operators from Amarillo. He said C.D. Seely and Herb Boring monitored the air waves each morning and evening and reported requests to the Eye Bank.

Ballengee said it was not possible to buy or sell the eyes. He said donors contact the eye bank and make arrangements to leave their eyes after death.

"When we have a request for eyes," he said, "we ship them immediately by air."

Ballengee also said the Eye Bank is supported by a part of each district club members dues. Another organization, sponsored by Lions from the entire state, is the Cripple Children's Camp located in the Texas Hill Country at Kerrville.

Milton Laurie of Kress is president of the camp. Laurie said each club throughout the state pays a certain part of its dues to maintain the camp.

"We have five two week sessions each summer," he said. "Each club can sponsor as many children as it can afford to send to the camp. The kids pay nothing."

Laurie said each prospective camper must have some type of crippling defect to be eligible. Children from seven to 16 years of age can attend the camp, according to Laurie.

"Attendance fluctuates," he said. "We have more than 1,000 clubs in the state and they sometimes send one to three children each."

Laurie said trained counselors and therapists are employed by the camp. Activities range from camping out to swimming and hiking.

"They always have a good time," he said. Laurie said parents wanting their children to attend the camp may contact local Lions Clubs for application blanks.

Determination of who attends is based upon how many children the club can afford to sponsor.

tournament to be held on Sat., May 23. Pupils of our club should check with our instructor, Paul Moot.

Judo in the Panhandle of Texas is picking up momentum and there is a good possibility that in the near future our Judo Club will have a chance to tournament every month. This keeps the competitive interest of the Judokas up and greatly shortens time in learning some of the more advanced throws and techniques.

If you are a male, 8 years of age and up, you might be interested in this interesting sport. A Center membership and a short interview with the instructor Paul Moot on a Monday or Friday night at 7:00 p.m. can put you in business in taking this course. Come and observe a class or two, you are always welcome. Possibly you might like to visit with some of the parents of children taking judo instructions and find out their views on this activity. Whatever you want to do, we are interested in having you in our classes.

MEMBERSHIPS With the new health facility addition the Center now has two types of memberships, the limited and unlimited. The limited membership is for those who like to play in the gym, swim, or use the recreation hall, but does not want to use the health facilities. This membership is $5 for six months or $8 per year for an individual. A family limited-membership sells for $12 for six months or $20 per year.

For those of you who would like to use the new health facilities which includes use of all the exercise equipment, handball courts and the sauna, we have the unlimited membership. The unlimited membership entitles you to full use of all the facilities and sells for an individual only $65 for six months or $118 per year. For a husband-wife combination the cost is only $90 for six months or $160 per yr.

Dalhart...A Community With Pride

By MIKE WESTER
DALHART, Tex. (UPI)—Community pride, a growth-minded attitude and a little chance is bringing new life into the far Panhandle city of Dalhart—the biggest town in Texas on U. S. 54.

Dalhart for years was recognized as headquarters for the famed XIT Ranch. But since the last roundup years ago, the city's growth has more or less been coasting.

A new city hall and the paving of 104 city blocks heads the downtown improvements, while smaller projects are popping up all around the town. Probably the biggest growth is coming two miles west of Dalhart on U.S. 54 at the Dalhart Municipal Airport.

"The airport is built on several acres of pavement placed on the level Panhandle land," said Cecil Ingram, airport manager. "The pavement was placed here before World War II, and used as a training base for glider pilots. The facilities were abandoned shortly after the conclusion of the war."

Suitable for Jets
Three runways of 9,000 feet were among items acquired by the city when the federal government abandoned the area. Voters in a recent bond election decided to resurface one the runways and make it suitable for jets—small jets holding up to 12 passengers.

"I've leased more land and hope to expand my own operations," said Ingram, who also owns the Ingram Flying Service located at the airport, sells small planes and rents hangar space.

"The runway is long enough for the 747 jet if it wanted to land here," said Ingram. "We've recently completed installation a jet fueling system which permits planes to land and be refueled and ready for takeoff again within 20 minutes."

Gary Coleman, manager of the Dalhart Chamber of Commerce, said one of the more promising things about the small airport was that planes "can land, refuel and be gone before they can get to a pump in a major airport."

merce, said one of the more promising things about the small airport was that planes "can land, refuel and be gone before they can get to a pump in a major airport."

Three Other Firms
Also operating from the old glider field are a firm which manufactures irrigation sprinkler systems, a pickup camper manufacturing firm and a manufacturer of small hose trailers.

"You would definitely have to say we have good development in the area now," said Albert Law, editor of the Dalhart Texan. "We also have a new lumber yard downtown, a new fertilizer plant and an ultra-modern feedlot that when complete will have a capacity of 30,000 head—and eventually will be able to accommodate 70,000 head."

ber yard downtown, a new fertilizer plant and an ultra-modern feedlot that when complete will have a capacity of 30,000 head—and eventually will be able to accommodate 70,000 head."

Coleman said the chamber of commerce offices, now located several blocks from city hall will be moved into the new building when completed. He said the present city hall would be remodeled to provide additional space for the police and fire departments.

A state project is paving the mile-long road from U. S. 54 to the airport.

Adults Need Sex Education

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Adults need sex education as much as children do, according to a guest editorialist writing in the Magazine of the Texas Medical Association.

The author, Gerald Sanctuary of New York, said many patients who go to doctors with marital problems have had inadequate sex education and are unsure of their maleness or femaleness.

"It is not only school children who need sex education; we all need it, in different ways," he said. "Sanctuary said. He recommended more sex instruction programs especially for doctors, divorce lawyers, social workers and ministers."

The editorial acknowledged arguments made by opponents of sex education, who say it "puts ideas into the heads" of school children, leads to some experimentation and makes some children "anxious at an age when they have no need to be so."

"But our society throws sex at all of us, irrespective of our age or maturity," he said. "In the press, on radio and on television young children, teenagers and adults are exposed continually to a barrage of sexual messages."

He said responsible, effective sex education is needed to "combat this attack. This does not mean merely reproductive education, it means education for the sane use of our sexuality, for the realization of what it means to be a man or a woman, and to be in close and loving relationships with one another," the editorial said.

Perot Dropped From Billionaire To Millionaire

NEW YORK (UPI)—Texas Financier H. Ross Perot dropped from billionaire to millionaire Thursday as a two-day "bear raid" slashed more than half a billion dollars from the market value of his firm, Electronic Data Systems Corporation (EDS).

Perot, who owns 81 per cent of the 11.7 million shares of EDS outstanding, was a billionaire Tuesday based on the market value of his stock, then quoted in over-the-counter market at $150 a share.

Quotations for the stock dropped 40 points Wednesday and they plunged another 40 Thursday. The stock recovered slightly late Thursday and closed at $105 per share for a net loss of $527 million.

However Perot, who has been in the news recently due to his efforts to obtain the release of American prisoners of war in North Vietnam, suffered most of his personal $400 million loss on paper.

His stock cannot be sold publicly, is unregistered and can be sold at the rate of no more than one per cent a year. A spokesman for Perot said the financier had not dumped any of his stock.

A spokesman for a mutual fund organization close to the situation described the drop as a typical "bear raid," caused by fear that the stock, at 250 times per share earnings, was "top heavy and bound to collapse in the current unstable market."

The spokesman said the drop was caused not by the dealings of actual stockholders but by "short sellers" — traders who borrow shares to sell hoping for a price drop so they can purchase it later for repayment at a lower price.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The consumer holds the key to the business curve over the next year and much depends upon what he does in the next several weeks, Argus Research Corp. says. If the consumer goes on a shopping spree, it may scare the Federal Reserve but if he spends cautiously, an orderly economic adjustment—accompanied by a substantial decline in interest rates—could become more certain, the firm adds.

Hayden Stone Co. credits generally unfavorable first quarter profits reports and the drain on investment funds from AT&T's huge financing program, for much of the easiness in the current market. The firm advises a policy of caution and selectivity until a bullish stimulus appears.

Congress Considering Liberalized Abortion Laws

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A bill that would allow a woman to have a legal abortion anywhere in the United States if a licensed doctor performed the operation was introduced Thursday by Sen. Robert W. Packwood, R-Ore.

"The decision to terminate a pregnancy must properly be left to the woman and her private conscience," Packwood told the Senate.

While conceding his proposal stood little chance of passage in this, a congressional election year, the senator said he introduced the legislation in "an attempt to bring some order and logic into an area of law which in its confusion, vagueness and inequality of enforcement has been cruel and discriminatory."

Packwood's bill would be far more liberal than abortion reform laws approved recently in various states. It would make a woman solely responsible for the decision, at any similar abortion bill that would point-in her pregnancy, and her only trouble would be in finding a physician willing to perform the operation.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., a Roman Catholic, immediately opposed Packwood's proposal.

"I wonder how far you can stretch the interstate clause, even if it's considered in its broadest sense," Kennedy said. He referred to a clause in the Constitution covering interstate commerce that has been used in the past to justify federal pre-emption of state laws.

Packwood, 37 and the father of one son, said there was a precedent, under the 14th Amendment to the Constitution which guarantees equal protection under law, for imposing a federal law such as his proposal on the states. He said the Supreme Court already had upheld this view in a ruling on a voting rights case.

Packwood has introduced a similar abortion bill that would affect only the District of Columbia, whose affairs Congress oversees.

Ask Charges Be Dropped

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI)—Albuquerque Asst. Dist. Atty. James Brandenburg said Saturday he would ask charges be dropped against a former Southern Methodist University football star accused of kidnaping and assault in the alleged abduction of his former wife last summer.

Brandenburg said the planned motion for dismissal of charges against Jerry Wilson, of Borger, Tex., was sparked by a request of Wilson's former wife, Suzanne Fischer, that she did not wish to press prosecution.

He said he would seek dismissal of one count of kidnaping and two counts of aggravated assault before Dist. Judge John B. McManus.

The charges against Wilson, 25, stemmed from an alleged abduction of his former wife last Aug. 20. He remarried her in Juarez, Mexico, the following day. Miss Fischer told authorities the marriage was not voluntary on her part.

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL
 Executive Secretary

The tornado certainly was a reality! It was so very hard for people of Pampa to realize that we had been hit by a tornado or by tornadoes but the results are here for us to see and we now say, "it can happen here."

Thanks to the many people who have called to assist us with the work of the Red Cross and for the clothing, furniture and the many other things that have been given to the Red Cross to help rehabilitate those victims of the tornado. Boys and girls of the Mary Ellen at Harvester Church of Christ will clean up debris for the Bond family Saturday, and the congregation gave a financial help to a family affected by the tornado as well as clothing and furniture for the victims.

The Red Cross National Staff will be in Pampa Monday of the coming week and persons who wish to apply for rehabilitation should come in to our office, basement of the City Hall.

Mrs. Marilyn Williams, instructor Trainer for Water Safety program completed the course in WSI Tuesday evening at the Pampa Youth Center Pool. The following received cards and WSI emblem and will teach swimming in Pampa during the coming year: Mrs. Beverly Ann Nelms, Judith Rose Everett, Virginia W. Carter, Ruth Carter, Ann Williams, Miss Jen Snell, Dana Martin, Jackie Stephens, Everett Leon Gray, Mark Workman, and Barry George.

The registration for the swim classes at the city pool will be held May 18 at 1 p.m. in the patio of the First Methodist Church. The fee for the members taking swimming this year will be $1 and this goes to the city for the use of the pool.

Watch for more on the registration for the city pool. Registration for the Youth Center Pool will be held at the Youth Center and persons interested in taking at this pool should contact the manager, George Smith regarding arrangements.

The children of Austin School filled 18 ditty bags for the school children of Vietnam this past week. These bags contain school supplies and health articles as well as a toy, for the child. We believe that goodwill will be made by the school children in this manner.

Bill Jean, Red Cross field representative and Mrs. Nell Burton, on the National Disaster Staff have been taking applications for disaster rehabilitation. They will be in Pampa next week to work with people who need Red Cross assistance. The Red Cross is chartered by congress to assist families in case of disaster. If you have a need, won't you come to our Red Cross office and let us interview you. All work is confidential.

If you want to assist Red Cross, write a check to the Red Cross and it will be used for our Disaster victims in Pampa.

Hollywood In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—pilgrims streaming to Mecca movie buffs around the world are converging on MGM studios to buy a bit of film lore at the studio auction May 3 through May 20.

Scores of individuals from Europe, Asia, South America and as far away as Australia have made the trek, some hunting for bargain antiques, others for a hat worn by Jeanette MacDonald.

The David Weiz Auction Company will put more items under the gavel in 32 sessions than it can count.

There are 350,000 costumes alone, some worn by the greatest stars: Gable, Tracy, Lombard, Cooper, Garbo, Garland, Stanwyck, Garson, Lanza.

Thousands of Letters
 Since announcement of the auction thousands of letters of inquiry have come into the studio. The most sought-after items are props or wardrobes associated with Clark Gable and Judy Garland.

One item up for sale is Johnny Weismuller's original loincloth from his first "Tarzan" picture.

Wardrobe is only the beginning of the story. There are, for instance, thousands of African spears, ancient muskets, Roman breastplates and helmets, shields, daggers, bayonets, knives, swords and weaponry enough to arm NATO.

Panhandle Water

By FELI W. RYALS
 The Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District was voted into existence on January 23, 1956. The Texas Legislature gave it a number of legal tasks to perform. One of those legal tasks falls in the field of education. The district was instructed to develop comprehensive plans for the efficient use of underground water, to collect and preserve information regarding the use of underground water, to publish such plans and information for the education of the water users. The water user would include everyone since everyone is a water user. Some are water users.

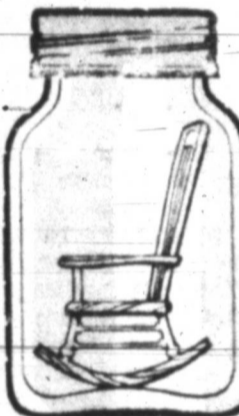

DISTRICT SPONSORS ESSAY CONTEST
 For fourteen years the Panhandle Water Conservation has sponsored an essay contest on the "Importance of Water Conservation." The contest is open to any high school senior who resides within the boundaries of the district. One county agricultural agent and one county home demonstration agent have come from the ranks of the essay winners. The scholarships to the winners are in cash and requires the recipient to attend college. This writer has had the privilege of reading all the essays written by high school seniors. My faith in the youth of our area is renewed with the reading of each. My hope for the future of the area is also renewed.

Water is an absolute necessity for life. Without it all life dies. Too much of it can cause death, as in the case of floods. Water is a mysterious substance made up of two elements. These two elements are hydrogen and oxygen. Pure oxygen will burn and hydrogen will explode with great violence. Free oxygen and free hydrogen are two gases. Combine the two and water is the result. There is only a certain amount of water in existence.

A study made for the United States Department of the Interior by the Geological Survey tells us that some 102,000 cubic miles of water passes into the atmosphere annually. Of this amount approximately 78,000 cubic miles falls directly back into the ocean. Streams and rivers collect and return to the oceans some 9,000 cubic miles of water, including a large quantity of water which has soaked down into the ground, and moved slowly to natural outlets in the beds and banks of streams. The remaining 15,000 cubic miles of water maintain life processes principally as soil moisture which provides water necessary to vegetation. This water reaches the atmosphere again by the process of evapotranspiration. How much water is in an iceberg one mile wide, one mile long and one mile deep? An iceberg with that set of measurements is a cubic mile of ice. Have you ever wondered how much fresh water is stored in the soil of the earth? The USGS tells us that more than 2 million miles of fresh water are stored in the earth. Almost half of this amount is located within one-half mile of the surface. This in every-day language is 880 yards or 2640 feet.

James Street Is So Much Like Bobby Layne, 'It's Scary'

By ROLAND LINDSEY
AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—James Street may glance into the mirror one of these days and see the grin of Bobby Layne. Street, the quarterback who led the University of Texas to 20 straight football victories and a national championship, is now performing similar feats in baseball.

He is so much like Layne that he says "it's scary."

Layne was the golden boy who quarterbacked Texas in the 1940's, and was the last Texas baseball pitcher to hurl a no-hitter until Street came along.

Now Street has pitched two—including a perfect game against Texas Tech this month,—to tie Layne in that category.

That no-hitter against Tech was the first in the Southwest Conference since Layne blanked Texas A&M in 1946.

But the similarities between Street and Layne don't end at the record books. People who know them both say they were poured from the same mold.

"It's ironic, almost scary they're so much alike," said Rooster Andrews, the kicker-water boy who roomed with Layne while he was setting records for the Longhorns. Andrews now operates a sporting goods business in Austin, and is closely associated with university athletics—and Street.

"I've never seen any two people who thought more alike and whose competitive attitude and will to win were more alike than James Street and Bobby Layne," Andrews said.

"They both have that good curve ball. The way they think on the mound, the way they handle themselves are all alike," Andrews said. "The little things that irritate them

It is the competitive attitude of both men that most impressed Andrews. Street's come-from-behind antics that sparked Texas to victories over Arkansas and Notre Dame last season are almost legendary in football circles.

And Lane once spent two hours at a coin-operated batting cage practicing his left-handed hitting to take advantage of a short right field fence in a crucial series with Texas A&M. In that series, Layne pitched one of his no-hitters and belted a home run over that short fence.

"They both have a strong desire to hit," Andrews said. "And the reason is that they hear everybody say pitchers are not only not supposed to hit, but they cannot hit the ball."

"That's just like telling a kid there's a candy jar and he can't get in it. When you tell James Street and Bobby Layne they can't hit, they'll stay up all night to show you they can."

Street, incidentally, got two hits in his perfect game against Texas Tech this year.

Between the two of them, Layne and Street hold a major share of the Texas baseball pitching records.

Both have hurled two no-hitters. They tied with 12 victories each from the most wins in a year by a Texas hurler. Layne ranks second and Street third in the most strikeouts in a season. Layne compiled the most victories in his four-year career on the mound for the Longhorns, and Street is among the school leaders in earned run average.

Layne went on to a professional football career and is now retired from active athletics and living in Lubbock. His son, Robb, is Street's football teammate at Texas.

Pro prospects for Street are less certain. He wasn't drafted by the National Football League. As one fan put it, he can't pass good enough for the pros—all he can do is win.

Street was the first choice in the Continental Football League, picked by the Dallas Rockets. But his best chance with the pros may be in baseball.

Captain Reed Scores 37 Points As Knicks Rip Lakers, 124-112

NEW YORK (UPI)—Wilt Chamberlain is almost as big as a mountain and Friday night he was about as agile as one.

As the 7-foot-2 giant with the ailing knee stood stationary under the basket, captain Willis Reed fired away from the outside and scored 37 points as the New York Knicks beat the Los Angeles Lakers, 124-112, in the first game of the championship playoff series of the National Basketball Association.

"I'm not satisfied that Wilt moved enough in this game," Laker coach Joe Mullaney admitted after the game. "He has to go out and play Reed to 15 feet out."

Whether Chamberlain's ailing knee will permit him that much movement is another question.

But it could be that when the series resumes on Monday night for the second game, Reed won't be so much of a threat because he revealed he injured his left shoulder making a dunk shot in the first half.

"I can feel it's starting to stiffen up," he said after the game, but he had no idea how it would affect his play the rest of the series.

The Knicks dominated the first 20 minutes. They took a 21-11 lead as Reed scored 11 points, maintained it at 35-25 at the end of the first period and boosted it to 50-30 with 7:21 left in the second period.

The Lakers then started a rally. They narrowed the deficit to 65-54 at halftime and surged ahead, 86-84, with 1:33 left in the third period on Jerry West's three-point play. West and Elgin Baylor combined for 26 points in the third period at Los Angeles led, 92-89, at the end of the period and 94-89 early in the fourth period.

But then the Knicks put the Pampa evened its District 4-AAAA baseball record at 6-6 with a pair of lopsided victories Friday and Saturday.

The Harvesters blasted Palo Duro, 9-1, Friday at Optimist Park behind a 10-strikeout performance by Doug Thompson (4-3) and stormed into Borger Saturday to collect a 9-1 triumph.

Sammy Heasley notched his fourth victory against two setbacks in setting down Borger on six hits and eight strikeouts.

Both sides were scoreless until the fifth when Pampa took a 2-0 advantage when Dan Hood's double drove in Vernon Johnston from third to score the first Harvesters run. Johnston opened the inning with a double and Heasley sacrificed him to third on a bouncer to the pitcher.

Wyatt Earp, who came in to catch for starter Dale Ammons in the fourth when Ammons was injured in a play at the plate, drove in Hood with a two-base hit off the left field fence.

Greg Schulz advanced Earp to third with a tap to the pitcher, John Jenkins was hit by a pitch and Tommy Hawkins walked to load the bases before shortstop Ross Holman flied out to center, ending the inning.

Steve Scott, centerfielder, opened the sixth with a double. Johnston struck out, and Heasley advanced the runner to third with a ground ball to short. Hood then stepped to the plate and drove the second pitch up the middle for a single to plate Scott and give the Harvesters a 3-0 advantage.

Pampa's big inning came in the seventh, as the Harvesters brought in four big runs.

Schulz led off with a single and Jenkins followed with a run-scoring triple. Hawkins whiffed and Holman walked to put runners on first and third. Hood scored on a bad throw from the pitcher to second base as Holman was stealing. Holman wound up on third when the ball went sailing into right center.

Scott singled Holman home, stole second and reached third on Jenkins sacrifice, second to first. A wild pitch allowed Scott to come in from third to finish the Harvesters scoring.

Heasley was relieved in the seventh by Mike Edgar after walking the first two hitters.

Borger's Glenn Graves was tabbed with loss which dropped the Bulldogs to 6-7 in district play.

The Bulldogs had runners in scoring position in the first, second, sixth and seventh innings but couldn't bring them around.

Pampa struck quickly against Palo Duro Friday, taking a 1-0 lead in the first inning, adding five in the third and three in the sixth.

Dale Ammons lared a double and Gregg Schulz rapped two singles to lead the Harvesters hitting. Ammons went two for two Saturday before spraining an ankle while putting out Borger's Larry Williams at the plate. Schulz also added two singles Saturday in three tries.

Other Harvesters with two hits in Saturday's victory were Hood and Scott.

The Harvesters, riding the fortunes of a three game winning streak, will take to the road Monday to battle Amarillo High and will return to Amarillo Tuesday to meet Caprock.

In other games Friday, Monterey edged Caprock, 3-2; Tascosa beat Lubbock, 8-6; Borger nipped Plainview, 7-5, and Coronado downed Amarillo, 5-3.

Tascosa moved to within two games of league-leading Monterey Saturday with a 6-4 victory over the Plainsmen in Amarillo. Lubbock swept a pair from Caprock, 5-4, and 18-5 and Amarillo tripped Plainview, 6-4.

PGA Tour To Hit State

DALLAS (UPI)—The PGA golf tour opens a three-week, $350,000 swing through Texas this week with a field of more than 250 players entered in the $115,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic at Preston Trail Golf Club.

From Dallas, the golfing nomads will move on to Houston for the $115,000 Champions International at Champions Golf Club May 7-10 and then to Fort Worth for the silver anniversary Colonial National Invitation, a $125,000 affair May 14-17.

With 102 exempt entries already in the fold, the remainder of the field will be vying for 42 places in Dallas Monday when qualifying play is held at neighboring Northwood Club.

At least two of golf's so-called "big three," Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, will be in the 252-player Nelson Classic field.

Also on hand will be the last two U. S. Open champions, Texans Lee Trevino and Orville Moody, and the winners of both previous Nelson Classics at Preston Trail—Bruce Devlin and Miller Barber. Barber, also a Texan, only a week ago won a playoff for the Greater New Orleans Open title.

LA Takes 3-2 Edge Over Dallas, 146-139

DALLAS (UPI)—The Los Angeles Stars took a 146-139 win Friday and a decisive 3-2 edge in the first round best-of-seven playoff series with the Dallas Chaparrals.

With the sixth game scheduled for Anaheim, Calif., Sunday night the Chaps stand on the brink of elimination in a series they were predicted to dominate.

The Stars capitalized on a third quarter Dallas slump to turn the tide.

Dallas set a blistering pace in the first half, piling up a 15-point lead at one point in the second quarter and holding a 70-60 halftime edge.

But the Chaps suddenly folded with the tipoff for the third quarter. The Stars popped in 15 points during the first four minutes of the quarter while Dallas managed only one.

Trailing 99-91 going into the fourth quarter, Dallas scored a huge 48 points in the final 12 minutes, but the Stars cancelled the effort with 47 of their own.

Mack Calvin led the Stars' attack while piling up 38 points to lead all scorers. Craig Raymond with 20 points and George Stone with 31 added to the Stars' attack.

Merv Jackson was a key performer for the victors during the second half, hitting six of 10 two-pointers and two straight three-pointers. He racked up 22 second-half points and 24 overall.

Glen Combs led the Chaps with 32 points and Cincy Powell had 23.

If the Stars wrap up the play-off with a fourth win today, they will not have to return to Dallas for the seventh game that would be played Tuesday.

Banks Slams 498th In 11-5 Cub Victory

CHICAGO (UPI)—Ernie Banks slammed his 498th career home run, a three-run shot, and Glenn Beckert collected four hits Saturday to lead Chicago to an 11-5 victory over the Houston Astros for the Cubs' ninth consecutive triumph.

Banks' homer, his first of the year, capped a four-run third inning for the Cubs off loser Jim Bouton, who had been given a 3-1 lead after his teammates scored once in the second and twice in the third.

Banks also doubled in a run during a two-run Cub eighth inning to give him four RBIs for the day and a career total of 1,596—12th on the all-time list.

Cubs' starter Bill Hands, who staggered to his third straight win, gave up 11 hits before being lifted for a pinch-hitter in the seventh.

Billy Williams continued his strong hitting with two hits in four at-bats to give him 17 hits in his last 34 times at bat for a .500 batting average.

The loss was the fifth straight for the Astros and the second in three decisions for Bouton.

Jimmy Wynn opened the scoring with his sixth homer of the year in the first inning, but the Cubs got it back in the second on a double by Don Kessinger and Beckert's first of three singles.

After Houston scored twice in the second, the Cubs rallied for four runs in the third. Kessinger, Beckert and Williams singled for the first run and after Bouton retired the next two batters Banks hit his homer.

In the Cubs' eighth, Williams hit his fifth homer of the year and Callison and Banks doubled for another run.

Pacers Down Cougars, 110-106

By United Press International

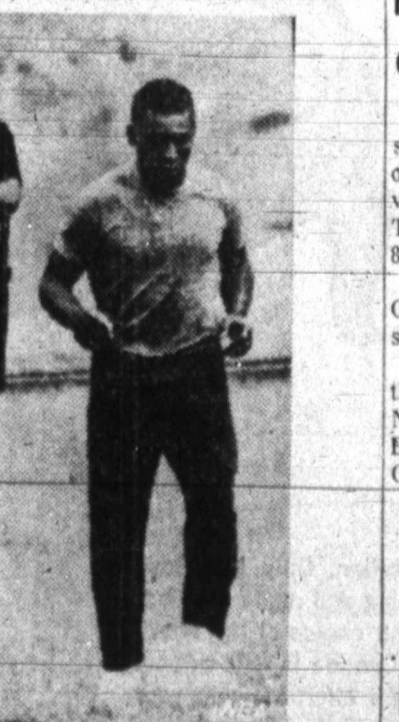

The Indiana Pacers needed only four games to advance to the Eastern Division finals in the American Basketball Association.

The Pacers beat the Carolina Cougars for the fourth straight time Friday night, 110-106, as Fred Lewis and Roger Brown each scored three free throws in the last two minutes to break a 104-104 tie.

Lewis was the high scorer for Indiana with 31 points and Bob Netolicky had 30, while Bib Varga scored 30 for Carolina. Indiana led, 57-56, at the half and, 87-85, after three quarters of the see-saw game.

Indiana now meets the Calvin led Los Angeles with 38 points, and George Stone added 31.

The Denver Rockets tried to wrap up the other Western semifinal series Saturday night with a game against the Washington Caps at Washington. Denver leads the best-of-seven series, 3-2.

Pampan Receives Golf Invitation

Richard Ellis of Pampa, senior at Texas A&M, is one of four amateurs in Texas invited to play in the Houston Tournament of Champions, May 8-10.

Ellis won the Top O' Texas Golf Tournament here last summer.

The three other amateurs in the field are Steve Melnick, National Amateur champion, Bruce Ashworth and Dean Overture.

Davis Places 4th At Regional Meet

Pampa's Lewis Davis took fourth place in the shot put Saturday at the Region 1 track and field meet at Odessa with a toss of 53-1½.

Plainview's David Wooley won the event with a 47-4½ effort.

Yanks Don't Dance To Mets' Tune

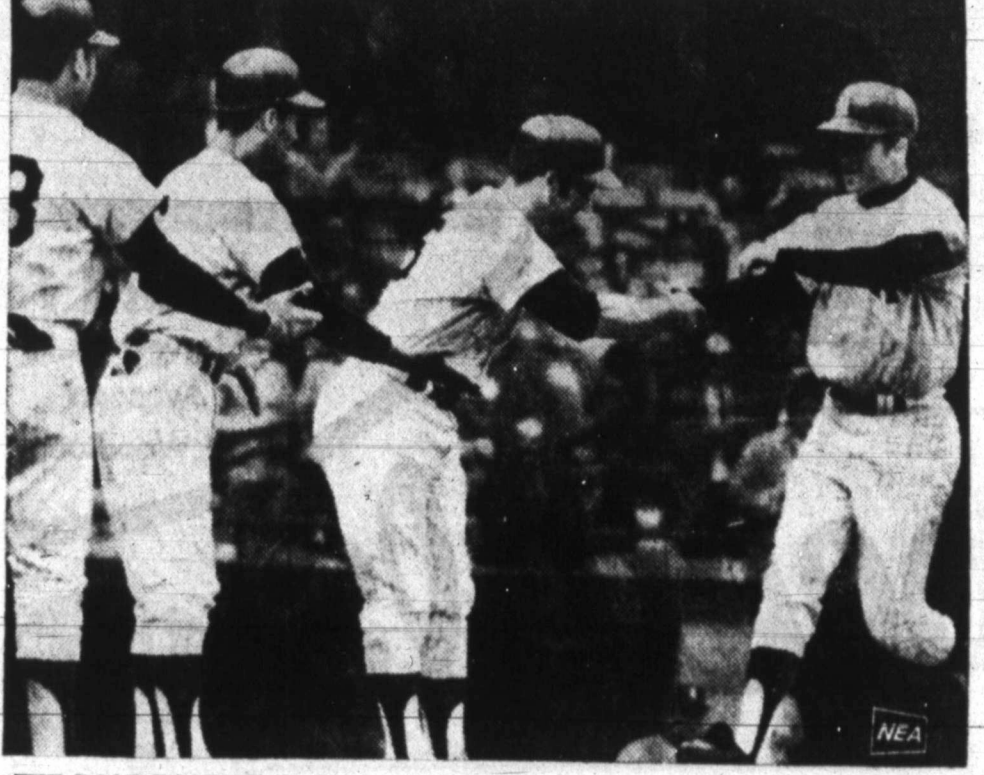

By MARTY RALBOVSKY
NEW YORK (NEA) — Stan Bahnsen started reaching for a bottle of hair cream on the shelf of his locker when a reporter mentioned the Mets. Bahnsen stopped reaching in mid-air, swung his 6-foot-2, 196-pound body around and looked the reporter in the eye.

Mets are no better a team right now than we are." For Bahnsen, and several other Yankees who spent the off-season in the metropolitan area, living with the Mets. success made the banquet circuit less palatable than ever before. At Elks Clubs and in American Legion Halls, the roast beef and mashed potatoes were automatically followed by questions of Met prowess. At one affair, a Yankee regular was asked if he thought he was good enough to make the Mets. He laughed, on the surface. "Personally, I laughed at a lot of jokes that were supposed to be funny," said Roy White, who wintered in New Jersey. "But after awhile I hated it. Every ball player has pride and who wants to be the butt of jokes all the time? I am aware that the Mets are champions now but, to tell you the truth, I'm not so sure the Mets are the best team in New York. I'd love to be playing them today, tomorrow, any time." Relief pitcher Ron Klimkowski, a restaurateur on Long Island, added: "The success of the Mets last year might even be helping us. There is a new spirit on this team, a determined spirit, that wasn't here before. I can see it plain as day. Nobody on this team wants to play second-fiddle to the Mets. We're talking pennant already, and we really mean it." Although the players are most visibly affected, other facets of the Yankee organization have been altered somewhat now that the team is sharing its city with the world champions. Yankee Stadium ushers, who once led the league in brusqueness, were actually smiling as they lead patrons to their seats. Bedsheet banners, once considered an affront to the reverence of the Bronx ballyard, now hang from the upper decks with tradition-be-damned gaiety. Even the hawkers in the stands are projecting humaneness. One opening day, a fan flipped a quarter to a popcorn vendor in the second deck and the vendor missed it. As the coin rolled down the stairs, the vendor laughed softly. "Opening-game jitters," he said.

THE ROAD BACK? If the Yankees are ever going to replace the Mets again in the hearts of New Yorkers, they'll have to have more scenes like this. Bobby Murcer crosses the plate after a home run and Curt Blefary, Roy White and Thurmon Munson, left to right, greet him.

Although Stan Bahnsen did not reveal whether or not the New York Yankees still find the Mets amusing, the terseness of his voice indicated the subject was hardly the most appropriate one to bring up in the Yankee locker room after a losing game. The other spike has clearly dropped in New York and, since last October when the Mets became world champions, the Yankees have been silently squirming in their pinstripes. Being a Yankee, at this point in baseball history, involves living with an image that is both bold and beaten. The pay is still good, and so are the hours, but who among Yankees is comfortable playing in the shadows of a Bud Harrelson? "Thing that gets me," continued Bahnsen, "is that the Mets are not a great team. Nobody can tell me the Mets are a super team like the old Yankees and even the St. Louis Cardinals of a few years ago. I'm not going to say the Mets were lucky last year, but I will say this: The

Hamilton: Nothing More Satisfying Than Winning

By IRA BERKOW
NEW YORK (NEA) — The stock car Pete Hamilton drives is not the classic, souped-up rattletrap with metal sun visor, haughty hind end and plume of steam arising from the radiator. His is a 1970 Plymouth Road Runner Superbird, highly precisioned, one of the swiftest racing cars in the world and an instrument from which when he climbs in, he knows may not climb out.

and grit and paper are kicked up and almost engulf the cars. It's a thrilling thing. I've seen people in the crowd shudder and turn their faces away." Hamilton, 27, light-boned and light-browed, won the Daytona 500 this February in a tuck-and-nip finish the last few laps with veteran driver David Pearson. Hamilton, 1968 NASCAR Rookie of the Year, was driving his first factory car and the first prepared by the prestigious Petty family. At Daytona last year, a young man named Don MacTavish, one of Hamilton's best friends among drivers, was killed in a preliminary race. "Everything is fine when you win," said Hamilton. "Winning is the only thing that makes up for a lot of bad times, and you — everyone — lose more than you win. What happened to Don could happen to me. It really could. But the risk is worth taking. I mean, there's nothing, nothing more satisfying than winning a race. "It's also important to know there are only 30 guys in the whole country capable of doing something like that, winning a big race in which you average 185 to 187 miles an hour over about five hours. Well, maybe not capable but let me say in the desire, or the opportunity." Hamilton hit upon what he thought might first be a coincidence, later felt was probably an insight into racing drivers. "We all enjoy gambling," he said. "We play poker a lot. Every top driver knows how to play and is good at it. None of us play bridge. Too sophisticated. The guys who drive are pretty much flat-out individuals." Stock-car racing resembles, at times, the national pastime of the South. Hamilton, then, came to it from the tail-gate section of the nation — New England (Newton, Mass.) His father was a dean at Northeastern University and Pete was a mechanical engineering major at the University of Maine until he was 19 and "kinda got this feeling in my gut that I wanted to race." Before this, he was the drummer in his own band and a drag-stripper at other times.

In a jalopy in his first race in 1963, he went three laps before ending up on the roof on the backstretch and, he recalls, "hanging from a passenger car seat belt and wondering if all those cars behind me were going to miss me." A race car driver must have great concentration because he passes through the same scenery hundreds of times in a race. It is not advisable to day-dream when going nearly 200 miles an hour and running the accelerator flat on the floor for hours. A stiff muscle, a cramp in the neck, a second's loss of fixed concentration could end in disaster. And after every race Hamilton climbs out of the car and knows he has been lucky. "I don't want to say you're cheating The Man," said Hamilton, "but it's not easy to run at those speeds."

Magazine Names City Firm Fishing Station

Sports Afield, one of the world's leading outdoor magazines, has announced the appointment of Pampa, Texas & Aving Co. as an Official State Fishing Awards Station. The Texas and Oklahoma States Fishing Awards Program is not a contest to see who can catch the biggest fish. Rather, it is a program to commemorate memorable moments in fishing by citing meritorious catches in two ways: (1) The immediate awarding of a parchment certificate to each angler catching a qualifying fish; (2) The awarding of a special certificate, and a sterling silver Sports Afield Sportfish Pin to the "Best in State" of each species, annually.

The eligible species of fishes and their qualifying weights have been chosen by Texas and Oklahoma fish and game department. Entry blanks listing these fish are available at Pampa Tent & Aving Co. Fishermen can qualify for these awards by entering their catches within 60 days after catching. Fish must be caught on sporting tackle in this state's public waters. There is no charge for entering. Recipient of the top awards will be listed each year in Sports Afield, and kept in a national register for record purposes in the years ahead.

Funny Cars Will Compete

AMARILLO — The Coke Funny Car Cavalcade of Stars returns to Amarillo Dragway today, promising at least as many heart-stopping moments as it provided during its 1969 debut. Eight of the nation's finest supercharged, double-A funny cars, including the Chevy Camaro of defending champion Kelly Chadwick, are entered in the one-day event, the first stop on a nation wide tour for the Coke cars. With two exceptions, this year's lineup is identical to that which won the fancy of 12,000 race fans last season at the Amarillo track. Chadwick will be joined by four veterans: Jess Tyree ("Mr. Pontiac"; Firebird); Stone, Woods and Cooke (Mustang); Marv Eldridge (Fiberglass Trends Javelin); Fred Goeske (Plymouth Duster); and Dick Bourgeois (Doug's Headers Javelin). The two newcomers are likely to provide most of the fireworks. Gates will open at 7 a.m. today for time trials in all stock, pure stock and Sports eliminator classes with the first round of funny car competition set for a 2:30 p.m. start.

Elizabeth Ilene Ensey, Guy W. McKissick Pledge Marriage Vows In Baptist Church

Elizabeth Ilene Ensey became the bride of Guy Wesley McKissick in a double-ring ceremony recently in Highland Baptist Church, with the Rev. Jim Standridge, pastor of Highland Baptist Church, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Ensey, 116 S. Faulkner. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy McKissick, Skellytown.

All bridal attendants' gowns carried out a rainbow of color theme and were fashioned in Victorian style, with gathered sleeves. Each girl wore ribbons in her hair the color of lace on her dress.

Michael Killough, the bridegroom's nephew, was ring-bearer. Flower girl was Dana Baum, the bride's cousin, who was dressed in a bright yellow dress.

Candlelighter was Darla Baum—the bride's cousin, who was dressed in a yellow and lace similar to the bridesmaids' dresses.

Ted Swinford, the bride's brother-in-law, was best man. Ted McKissick, the bridegroom's brother, was a groomsmen with Gary Ensey and Terry Ensey, the bride's brothers as ushers.

Doris Goad, organist, accompanied Ann Wingear as she sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

The church was decorated with baskets of white gladiolas on both sides of the altar with two dandelabras holding seven lighted white tapers and lemon leaves.

The bride's mother wore deep purple coat dress with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a green knit dress with white accessories. Both wore white carnation corsages, presented by the bridegroom.

Joy Ann Shultz, Billy Burl Williams Repeat Marriage Vows In Candlelight Church Service

Joy Ann Shultz was united in marriage with Billy Burl Williams in an afternoon ceremony in the First Christian Church April 18. The Rev. Shelly H. Anglemeyer, interim pastor, officiated for the exchange of double-ring vows.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Shultz, 1000 Fisher, was given in marriage by her father. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Burl D. Williams, McCamey.

BRIDE

The bride chose a two-piece street-length costume suit of white silk. The semi-fitted sleeveless dress was fashioned with matching gold rim blazon tabs at the side-waist. The matching coat was styled with a round collar, half cuffs and tabbed at the center back with a button closing top.

Her headpiece was a straw silk miniature hat covered with veil of illusion fastened with a tiny bow of velvet ribbon tied in a love knot. Her bouquet was of white roses and stephanotis, fashioned into a nosegay. The bride wore a diamond pendant, a gift from the bridegroom, and carried out the tradition of something old, new borrowed and blue.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Gary Shultz, Fort Worth, sister-in-law of the bride, attended as matron of honor. She

Xi Beta Chi Has Art Club Program

Xi Beta Chi met recently in the home of Mrs. C. P. Pursley, 1701 Marv Ellen, with Mrs. Mary Baten, president, conducting the business meeting.

Reports were given by different committees. Woman of the Year Tea and Founders Day were discussed.

Program was given by the members of the Pampa Art Club, with members of Xi Beta Chi participating. Flowers were made, and different types of painting, oils, china painting, toile painting, pallet knife, stationery, and ceramics were shown.

Guests were Meses. Loyd R. McCrary, Ernie Wilkerson, Vernon Hall, John Parker, Gordon Lyons, C. P. Pursley, H. D. Lawrence, and Wanda Carter.

Members were Meses. Don Huffaker, James Lee, Benny Stout, David Hutto, Bill Greer, Bill Eaton, Don Carpenter, Bona Cornutt, DeWey Cudney, Wayne Dollar, T. L. Garner, Homer Hollars, Clarence Kirby, George Massie, Doug McBride, Cletus Mitchell, Wendell Maloney, Don Stafford, James Trusty, Jack Vaughn, Chuck Ziomke and Miss Norma Briden.

Hostesses were Dopa Cornutt and Mrs. Bill Baten.

wore a two-piece suit of yellow linen featuring a flair skirt and sleeveless over-jacket. She carried a bouquet of white marguerite daisies.

Gary Shultz, Fort Worth, brother of the bride, served as best man and assisted with the ring. Ronald Miller and Max Miller, uncles of the bride, seated wedding guests.

Mrs. John Gill, organist, provided wedding music, including the "Wedding March" and recessional. Burl D. Williams, father of the bridegroom, sang "The Lord's Prayer," as the couple knelt, at the altar in front of the open Bible.

Judy Russell, Boulder, Colo., sister of the bridegroom, presided at the guest register.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Shultz selected a mystic blue crepe dress. The bridegroom's mother chose an ensemble of Dior blue chiffon and dacron. Corsages for both mothers were pink cymbidium orchids.

Vows were repeated in a setting of candleabra entwined with salal foliage, and floor-baskets of white gladiolas, yellow majestic daisies and pom mums.

RECEPTION

A reception was held in the church parlor immediately after the ceremony. The bride's table was decorated with tall candleabra with an arrangement of white stock, yellow killian daisies and white marguerite daisies. A garland of smilax cascaded down the table.

Mrs. Robert Hudman, Lub-beck, served the three-tiered wedding cake with Mrs. Marshall Crossland presiding at the silver punch service. Other members of the house-party were Meses. Cindy Presnell and Cassandra Sweet, Meses. Richard Sledge, William Henry, B. R. Shultz, Max Presnell, Glenn Maxey, Vernon Langley and John Zuerker.

Misses Cindy Ray and Melinda Ray gave the wedding guests small tulle rice bags from baskets decorated in the bride's colors of yellow and white.

For a wedding trip to Graystone, the bride traveled in her wedding suit with white accessories and wore a corsage of white sweetheart roses.

The bride is a graduate of Texas Technological University with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Education. The bridegroom is a graduate of Sul Ross State College with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Education. Both are employed by the Sheldon Independent School District of Houston and will reside at 7933 Long Point No. 2, Houston.

Twentieth Century Allegro Group Attends Program On Iceland Theme

Twentieth Century Allegro Club met recently at the home of Mrs. T. H. Patton, 2511 Christine, as Mrs. Ron Lawrence chose "Iceland" as her "Foreign Panorama" program.

"Iceland is a large island almost in the middle of the North Atlantic, poised between Europe and America, so near Greenland that in the Summer they run day excursions there," she began. "About the size of Kentucky, Iceland is so like the moon that the American astronauts were taken there to give them a foretaste of moonfall."

"The island is not as cold as it looks or sounds," she continued. "However, it is a violent country, with volcanoes, ferocious winds and huge glaciers. Summer or Winter the weather is startlingly changeable. One moment the sky is blue, and girls are sunning themselves on park benches; the next a mad wind is driving sleet through the streets. Farmers often have to feed their animals on all fours themselves, unable to stand upright in a blizzard," Mrs. Lawrence said.

There are hot springs in the middle of Reykjavik, the capitol, and citizens bathe in open-air pools and heat their homes with the steam. Perhaps it's the only unpolluted capitol in the world today because it doesn't have a single chimney, she said.

"Since most of Iceland is uninhabited desert, the population is centered on the coast. The Icelanders depend entirely on the sea for their livelihood," she said.

"The Icelanders are part Norwegian and part Celtic. The first Icelanders were hermits and were succeeded by the Norwegian Vikings. Since the 14th Century when the Danes became rulers no new blood has joined the Icelandic stream until allied soldiers were there during the second World War," Mrs. Lawrence said.

Sating that they are great drinkers and even greater lovers, she said, "Love is approved of in Iceland. In the old days when the fisherman's life was short and dangerous, there were always more women than men, and free love was a social

Teachers' Group Selects Officers, Sets Installation

Theta Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, teachers' honorary society, recently elected officers for the next two-year term and named Gene Murray, Panhandle, as president; Exie Vantine, Pampa, first vice president; Marjorie Ewing, Panhandle, second vice president; Ramona Gruben, recording secretary, and Janie Sadler, Panhandle, corresponding secretary.

The new officers will be installed at the next meeting May 2 in Panhandle at the Heritage Room of the First National Bank. This will be a luncheon with the business meeting at 11 a.m.

Mrs. Clementine Morgan, Panhandle, presided over the election meeting held in the Flame Room at the Pioneer Gas Company in Pampa. Hostesses were Mary Dean Dooler, Claudia Everly, Lelia Clifford, Jean Tatum, all of Pampa.

After the business session, the Research Committee, Rachel Jones, Pampa; Nanette Padgett, Panhandle; and Edith Morris, White Deer, presented a program on The Black Keys, Negro musicians and The Other Face, Negroes in different parts of American History. A book review of a drama, Phyllis about the Negro poet, Phyllis Wheatley, was given by Edith Morris, White Deer.

Rachel Jones played and reviewed the record, "Adventures in American History." Ruby Ruddick lived among the Black Keys Johnny Mathis, Lou Rawls, Nat King Cole, Harry Bella Fonta, Lena Horne, Pearl Bailey, Charlie Pride, Mills Brothers, and Marian Anderson.

DEAR ABBY: I am turning you with a situation which as gone on for years, but now 's become unbearable. My mother's hobby is junking. For years she's sunted thrift shops, stores here sales are going on, and so antique shops. She has uml some items which she has stored and resold, which is me, as kept her busy and he's even made it pay. Now the problem is this. She keeps bringing me stuff I cannot use and do not want, or instance, partial sets of dishes, beat up pots and pans, and today she brought me a uideo orange knit dress which was apparently somebody's first tempt at knitting. My father tells me that she low goes to the grocery stores where sales are advertised and the lugs home large quantities of groceries. He says their basement is lined with 20-pound sacks of sugar. What would you lo? Thanks.

EXHAUSTED DEAR EXHAUSTED: I would get her to a doctor for a complete examination, after having alerted the doctor to

ENGAGED

Patsy Ann Glover
Mr. and Mrs. Herman F. Glover, 1720 Fir, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Patsy Ann Glover, to Harold Dee Hyman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold O. Hyman, Clovis, N.M. Marriage vows will be pledged May 23 in Central Baptist Church. Miss Glover is a senior accounting major at Texas Tech University and plans to receive her Bachelor of Business Administration Degree in May. Her fiance is a Texas Tech University senior, majoring in mechanical engineering.

what you've told me. Her behavior is symptomatic of a mental disturbance. And hurry, before her collection starts to collect rodents.

DEAR ABBY: Parents complain because their kids are bull-headed, won't listen, and refuse to profit from somebody else's experience. Well, here's a switcheroo for you. One of the parents died after a long and happy marriage, and the remaining parent is now getting himself into a mess like you wouldn't believe. It's sickening to watch. And nobody can tell him anything either. Kids at least have the excuse that they are young. But what's the parents' excuse?

DISGUSTED DEAR DISGUSTED: Second childhood, maybe? Or the same excuse the kids have — lack of experience.

DEAR ABBY: I am 49 and Henry (made up name) is 52. We've been married for 33 years.

A year ago Wilma, a friend and fellow worker of Henry's, lost her husband, so Henry has been driving a mile out of his way each morning and evening to take her to and from work. Wilma doesn't drive. She is well-groomed, attractive, always smiling and very friendly.

For some time now I have had the feeling that Henry has been enjoying Wilma's company too much. On his day off he seems restless and bored, and is constantly thinking up excuses to go to her house. (She has the same day off.)

When I ask him if there is anything between them he denies it, but he looks gully.

She is 65, but looks much younger. How can I get him to forget her? Should I ignore it, or try to get to the bottom of it?

JEALOUS DEAR JEALOUS: Ignore it. If she's 65, she should be retiring soon and the rides to and from work will cease. Out of sight, out of mind.

The low cut neckline that came in during the 1960's didn't last. Bridal shops report some requests, but the low cuts do not hold a candle to the demand for the prim, Victorian high necklines.

Smart Brides Delegate Wedding Responsibilities

DES PLAINES, ILL. — If the next bride-to-be you meet does not seem to have a fully-developed case of butterflies in the stomach, don't bug her.

She's perfectly normal not having a case of "nerves" as brides are supposed to have.

One survey shows that the brides increasingly farm out some of the fretsome chores. They hire professional photographers, caterers, florists and bridal consultants to work out time-consuming wedding details.

There is a good reason behind this trend, reports Kermit Buntrock, chairman of the Portrait Division of the Professional Photographers of America Inc.

"Speaking for one group of professionals," says Buntrock, "we save the bride and her family countless hours and dollars, trying to track down the best prices, and interviewing the various services arrangements. Photographers are used to working hand in hand with, say, the florist and the bridal consultant. They coordinate their efforts and the result is total harmony — visually and physically — for the wedding party."

Another specialist in bridal photography, Joseph Matthews, of Joliet, says that "Most photographers are used to handling the emergencies that crop up at weddings. I feel it's part of my job to instruct the ushers on how the guests should be escorted to their seats."

Monte Zucker, of Silver Springs, Md., who specializes in candid wedding photographs, said, "Couples no longer have to take time from festivities to pose for the photographer."

"We explain in advance that we help arrange the wedding schedule. Posed pictures are taken when the bride and bridegroom are away from the crowd ... usually prior to the ceremony. Instead of a nervous bride being pushed through a series of trite candids just before rushing down the aisle, we get together several hours before the ceremony."

Other off-handled details of the professionals include contacting the clergy regarding religious customs and checking the lighting of the room where the ceremony is to be conducted.

For the novices, Buntrock offered the following pre-marital tips: —As soon as the wedding date is set, the bride should meet with the professional helpers she has selected.

—Arrangements should be made with the photographer on the type of bridal and candid photos she wishes taken.

Couple Schedules Summer Wedding
Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hines, LeFors, announce the marriage of their daughter, Peggy Sue Godfrey, to Danny Dale Lane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey L. Lane, Skellytown. Nuptials will be repeated May 30 in the Christian Church of Boise City, Okla.

Miss Godfrey is a 1967 graduate of Dimmick High School and attended Panhandle State College, in Goodwell, Okla., one year. Her fiance is a 1966 graduate of White Deer High School, and attended Panhandle State College and West Texas State University.

Hostesses Fete Bride At Shower
GROOM (Spl) — Mrs. Ben Peek, nee Lynell Witt, was honored with a wedding-shower recently at the Hospitality Room of the State National Bank Building.

An emerald green and white color scheme was carried out. The table was covered with a white brocaded cloth, set with a silver punch service, and a centerpiece of green tinted carnations.

Mrs. Robert Clayton registered guests and Mrs. Roben Hanes poured punch.

Hostesses were Mmes. Roben Hanes, Roy Clark, Henry Merrick, David Levy, M.E. Bolden, Kenneth Hunt, Clarence Merrick, Paul Homer, Robert Clayton, Richard Hall, Leo Britten, John Reed, Lucille West, Burniece Johnson and George H. Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. Peek are at home at 8126 Barbaree, Dallas.

Bible Class Has Meeting At Church
SKELLYTOWN (Spl) — The Ladies Afternoon Bible Class of the Church of Christ met at the church recently, with an invocation by Mrs. F.C. Horner.

The lesson "Our Children" was taught by Mrs. Jean Douglas. The benediction was given by Mrs. Sadie Lane.

Attending were Mmes. Flora Harbin, Sadie Lane, Eil Martin, Roy McKissick, Grace Smith, Mamma Varnon, Bennie Woodward, and F.C. Horner.

A STAIRCASE OF OFFICERS was recently elected for The Pampa Jaycee-Ettes in a meeting in the Southwestern Public Service Reddy-Room. Officers selected were Mrs. Buz Shelton, president; Mrs. Dwight Turner, vice president; Mrs. Nathan Lancaster, recording secretary; Mrs. Joe Sutton, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Don Williamson, treasurer; Mrs. Gene Hinds, historian; Mrs. Bonnie Vaughn, internal director; Mrs. Danny Strawn, external director; Mrs. Bobbie Green, inter-club director. Hostesses for the meeting were Mmes. Shelton and Hinds, for the 17 members and one guest, Mrs. Tim Lease. Mrs. Shelton was named outstanding Jaycee-Ette and Hopping Hen, and Mrs. Green, outstanding officer. (Staff Photo)

Your Horoscope

JEANE DIXON

SUNDAY, APRIL 26

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): — Do all you have planned as soon as possible, then resume some of Sunday's mood and pastimes.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): — Glamor is to be seen everywhere Monday. The real thing still exists underneath it, but you must look for more than the brilliant surfaces.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): — Early teamwork succeeds but fades in the latter half of the day.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): — You now find somebody who is as persuasive a talker as yourself. Check the whole story out, let it set overnight, and see how it goes.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): — Business duties get in the way of home life and produce very little return, as well. Be patient, appeal to reason, and work through it. Romance interests are not favored now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): — Nothing is quite what it seems at the moment, so cheer up on general principles. You should tone down your story in the evening, lest people take it for a much stronger tale than it is.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): — There really isn't much action except for details of closing deals early in the morning.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): — Nothing new should be started. Wind up routine, odds and ends left over from the week-end past or last week.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): — Personal plans enjoy an early morning boom, then whole day tends to droop in a temporary let-down, as if the world is unwilling to pick up the start of a week.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): — Take advantage of any chance to escape from public view. Get routines and preparatory work done.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): — Material affairs begin well, then falter. Social activity is confusing as the day goes on, so that you do not know what to believe.

Don't "bunch" silver in storage and don't use steel wool or soap pads to clean it. Keep seldom used pieces of silver in tightly closed chest or the tarnish-free cloths on the market.

With daily use, an overall cleaning with silver-polish every month or so should be sufficient for silver. To polish, use lengthwise strokes on flatware, follow the contours of holloware.

Gifts of silver holloware should be chosen in a pattern that harmonizes with the bride's flatware pattern.

The bride can be as Mod in dress as she pleases until the Big Day — then she goes traditional, say manufacturers of bridal gowns. And the traditional fabrics are white or ivory peau de soie, satin and silk organza. Few manufacturers mention the all-lace gown.

MONDAY, APRIL 27

ARIES (March 21-April 19): — The early hours of the day contain the only time for effective decisions on material matters.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): — Your birthday today: Adjustment in irregular spurts to meet passing moments of crisis characterizes your coming year of essentially normal and profitable career effort. Savings can be greatly increased during this year and next but are partially offset by occasional increased spending for sudden needs.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): — Excitement and novelty enter your round of Sunday activity. Really little is new beyond the moods of people.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): — Put your immediate past out of mind and take a fresh perspective this pleasant, normal Sunday.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): — The day is a full round of cheerful social activities, from an early start to fairly late in the evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): — Your Sunday turns out to be more active than you had thought would be the case.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): — Make today a general celebration by calling in your best friends to help stir things up.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): — Don't turn this Sunday into a commercial activity. However, if you will do your best to make it a success for the community and your way of life, some material benefit in the near future may result without your seeking it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): — Now your plans come alive suddenly for an unforeseen advance. Things fall into place almost too easily. Share it with all your friends.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): — The temptation is to try to figure out your work and the puzzles surrounding it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): — People you meet today are of interest and may arouse emotions beyond what is usual for you.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): — Friends and family urge you on to express yourself more firmly and fully.

Twentieth Century Culture Club Sponsors Annual Guest Day Tea

The Twentieth Century Culture Club held its Annual Guest Day Tea recently in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas Company, with Mrs. Dan Cameron, vice president, presiding.

The Flame Room and refreshment table were decorated with Spanish motif. Among the decorations were several mementoes belonging to the speaker, Mrs. Waldon Moore. Hostesses for the tea were Mrs. E.L. Henderson, E.E. Shelhamer, V.L. Hobbs and Warren Hasse.

Mrs. Cameron introduced the speaker, Mrs. Moore, who showed colored slides of Spain. The Moores lived in Spain for eight months and learned what everyday living in Spain is like. "We found the Spanish people friendly, very honest and most eager to help in every way. The Spanish people were most patient with us when we tried to communicate with them in our limited Spanish."

The slides included: views of the Bay of Biscay, Basque farms, Basque people, San Sebastian, fishing villages, fishing boats, the Cathedral of Lourdes in France, open markets, ancient public washing places where women still wash their clothes in the cold mountain water while kneeling on concrete slabs, and the typical Spanish town of Santillana which dates back to the 11th Century. Also included were views of bull fights, Fiesta day in Burgos, Burgos Cathedral, Burgos Monastery which dates back to the 12th Century.

Via the slides members visited cemeteries with many life-sized marble statues, ancient and modern towns located on mountains overlooking the ocean, the replica of Columbus' ship The Santa Maria, the royal palace of Madrid which contains 1,800 rooms and was the home of all the kings of Spain; the city of Toledo which is a walled city that dates back to a couple of centuries before Christ and many old castles and cathedrals.

"We became acquainted with the Spanish people. We learned that they still farm with old methods such as using oxen for pulling wooden carts and women still lead their donkeys through the streets selling fresh vegetables from baskets on the donkeys," Mrs. Moore said.

Costs For Vows Require Couples To Share Bills

NEW YORK (UPI) — The sharing of the financial obligations involved in a modern wedding goes like this: The bride pays for trousseau, wedding ring for bridegroom, wedding gift for the bridegroom, presents for attendants, accommodations for her attendants, personal stationery and calling cards, and her medical exam.

The bridegroom pays for the bride's engagement and wedding rings, the marriage license, his medical exam, the bride's bouquet and going-away corsage, boutonnières for the men of the wedding party, flowers for the two mothers, and gloves, ascots or ties for the males in the party.

He also pays for gifts for his ushers and best man, accommodations for ushers and best man, fee for clergyman, the wedding trip, flowers to the bride's mother after the wedding.

The bride's family picks up the bills for — wedding invitations and enclosure cards, announcements, engagement and wedding pictures, rental for the church, fees for organist and sexton, aisle carpet, flowers for church, bridesmaids' bouquets and flower headdress, gratuity for traffic policemen, transportation for bridal party from house to church and to the reception, bridesmaids' luncheon, entire cost of reception.

The bridegroom's family pays for clothes they wear to the wedding, any traveling expenses and hotel bills, wedding gift for the bride and bridegroom.

The dinner preceding or following the wedding rehearsal can be given either by the bride or bridegroom's family.

Upsilon Members Schedule Dinner For Founder's Day

Upsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met recently in the Hospitality Room of Citizens Bank and Trust. The business meeting was called to order by Mrs. Kenneth Freeman, president. Mrs. A. D. Hills and Pat Copeland were welcomed and introduced as guests.

Mrs. Price Smith gave the City Council report and reminded members of the Founder's Day Banquet to be held April 30 at 7 p.m. at the Country Club, reservations are to be in April 28.

Upsilon members will honor their mothers May 10 at a Mother's Day Breakfast. Mrs. Richard Hadley will chairwoman this activity.

Mrs. Dean Wilson was responsible for the program, "Sculpture and Painting" and had as her guest speaker, Mrs. A.D. Hills. Mrs. Hills stressed "Art is an expression of one's self and a personal thing."

Hostesses were Mrs. Richard Hadley and Mrs. Dick York.

Upsilon officers recently elected are president, Mrs. Price Smith; vice president, Mrs. Robert Broggin; recording secretary, Mrs. Dean Wilson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Gene Pitmon; treasurer, Mrs. Darrell Danner; extension officer, Mrs. James Ownsby; city council Rep. Mrs. Rodney Winborne and Mrs. Glen Dowdy; and alternate Representative, Mrs. Mike Case.

Members attending were Mrs. Robert Broggin, Mike Case, Darrell Danner, Glen Dowdy, Kenneth Freeman, Richard Hadley, David Hutto, James Ownsby, Price Smith, Dean Wilson, Dick York, Dale Roth and Rodney Winborne.

Moving May Dangle Security Of Child

CHICAGO (UPI) — Caution! Moving may be dangerous to your child's health.

A group of psychologists has concluded, however, that the child's parents and school can take steps to curb successfully harmful psychological effects when a family changes addresses.

A fourth-grade boy in Cleveland suddenly began misbehaving when he found out his family was planning to move.

Dr. Ralph Ojemann, director of child-educational psychology at the Educational Research Council of America, said the child's misbehavior was brought on by feelings of insecurity and frustration at the thought of making new friends at a strange school.

"After the parents consulted with the school's principal, the boy's behavior improved markedly," Dr. Ojemann said. "The teacher and the boy wrote to his new school. They also sent data to the new school about the boy's accomplishments and he was told of this."

Dr. Dale Harris, of Penn State University, said that in the last two generations Americans have become increasingly mobile.

Moving firm figures show that approximately 20 percent of the people in this country change addresses in any one year period. Most changes occur in the 18-to-29 age bracket — the ages when most people are raising children.

As a result, Dr. Harris said, a major change has occurred in what is most important to a child's sense of security. Unlike in the past, when traditions tied to history and place were important, children are placing greater emphasis on social skills, status, and roles.

Dr. Harris explained that family rituals which can be moved with the family, such as Christmas or birthday celebrations, help to create a sense of continuity.

A positive attitude on the part of the parents also is helpful, says Dr. Frances Dwyer, a Syracuse, N.Y., psychologist. Parents can comment favorably on the move and make the child a part of the moving process, Dr. Dwyer said.

Dr. Joachim Wohlwill, Clark University, said taking along familiar objects — such as a child's possession can reduce the involvement in moving and the family has arrived in new home.

Contrary to popular belief moving during the school can make it easier for a child to make new friends in a new school. School can be the place for him to meet people according to Dr. D. Bireland, of the University of Chicago School of Social Service Administration.

At the same time, several good effects were cited as results of making a family move.

"When there is change variety, there is room for curiosity, excitement and with things there is possibility of learning, growth and social development," Austin Des Lauriers, University of Michigan psychology professor, said.

Cotillion Club Members Attend Program On History Of Pottery

Twentieth Century Cotillion Club met in the home of Mrs. Charles Walch, 2233 Evergreen, with 13 members attending.

The program on Historical Staffordshire China and Pottery was presented by Mrs. Charles Walch.

"Commonly called 'old blue,' this ware is known also in black, brown, green, pink, mulberry, and several lighter shades of blue, in addition to that rich indigo that marks the best loved examples," she said. "The term historic is well deserved by this ware. On the china and pottery made mostly between 1818 and 1848, we find pictured places and events, circumstances, symbols, and signs, all having to do with the United States.

The historian of this china, Elouise Baker Larson, has tabulated 688 separate subjects. "Historical Staffordshire China and Pottery have their social aspects and their political

FOR NUPTIAL VOWS

Countdown Advice Organizes Planning

NEW YORK (UPI)—Make way for the bride-saving schedule from the Jewelry Industry Council.

Three months before the big day: decide upon the type of wedding—formal or informal; consult with the clergy man to arrange details; make up guest list and consult with the bridegroom's family; make arrangements for reception and catering and music.

Also, choose your bridal party; order gown and plan what bridesmaids will wear; select silver and china and crystal patterns—registering your choices with your jewelry or other store. And, in the free moments, decide on decor and furnishings for your new home or apartment.

Two months before the wedding day: order your invitations, announcements and personal stationery, buy now what you will need and use for your trousseau. Set a date for the wedding rehearsal and arrange for rehearsal supper.

One month to go—address and mail invitations. Buy gifts for attendants and bridegroom, and make plans for the luncheon for attendants.

Try to have your friends plan showers now, and then finish your shopping for lingerie, linens and household furnishings. Check on outfits for the bridal party, and have fittings on your wedding gown. Arrange for photographer to be present at final fitting.

Buy bridegroom's wedding ring if it's to be a double ring ceremony and remind him to get yours. Go together to apply for a marriage license with the necessary pre-marital medical examinations.

Remind the bridegroom to order boutonnieres and flowers for wedding party and for two Mothers. Consult with caterer aspects. It reflects the growth of our nation. The very act of our ancestors buying it in the great quantities they did is proof that we, as a nation, loved to see our self esteem reflected in our dinnerware," she said.

"This pottery and china did more for the relations between the United States and Britain than any 10 diplomats, statesman, and politicians. It was the court plaster that healed the sores left by the War of 1812.

"After 1860 new issues of this ware appeared, but collectors disregarded this production as modern and preferred the ware made from 1818 to 1830. These are characterized by the deep, almost royal blue. There is hardly a district or region of America, hardly an important city, town, or country that cannot boast a view or view reproduced on this ware.

"According to Mrs. Larson, the borders on Historic Staffordshire are the keynote to fast identification. Some used borders of mixed flowers; some used scroll and flowers; some used acorns and oak leaves; some used birds, roses and scrolls; some used leaves and vines," she said.

"In any present day appraisal of historic Staffordshire we should not forget that this ware was made for everyone. It was not rich, rare, or even expensive. It was staple and sold without frills," she said.

Mrs. Walch displayed several pieces to illustrate the different scenes and manufacturers.

Food Buying Guide

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Consumer and Marketing Service reports food shoppers will find only a limited number of meat and fresh produce items featured at food stores and supermarkets this weekend.

Beef roasts and steaks and pork chops are listed again this week at the meat counter. In fish, look for canned tuna, fish sticks and portions, and Maine sardines.

Again this week featured vegetable items are limited mostly to carrots, lettuce, and potatoes, with lettuce expected to continue plentiful during coming weeks. At the fruit counter look for apples, grapefruit, oranges. Applesauce and apple juice as well as raisins are featured.

Items on plentiful foods list for the month of April are honey, canned and frozen corn, canned peaches and tomato products, dry beans, peanuts and peanut products, and eggs.

A favorite style for 1970's brides is also traditional—the high-rising Empire waistline. Penny Clark, showroom manager for one of the volume manufacturers, Alfred Angelo, says brides cling to high necklines still, with long, soft sleeves, and a chapel length train. The floor-sweeping cathedral length is not as popular as it was a few years ago.

MD Chapter Has Officer Election

The Greater Plains Chapter of Muscular Dystrophy held the annual meeting April 21, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Thomas of Skellytown and named new officers.

After a short business meeting, officers for the coming year elected were President, Mrs. Irvin Hungerford; Vice President, Mrs. Robert Rose; Secretary Mrs. Bob Yost; and Treasurer, Mrs. Horace Henley.

The Greater Plains Chapter includes 11 Texas and two Oklahoma Counties.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will attend the regional conference for Muscular Dystrophy June 5 and 6 in Houston.

Those attending were: District Director Howard Wright, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. L. Cannon, Skellytown; Mrs. Milton Jones, Mrs. Tommy Sells, Mrs. Glenn McConnell, Mrs. Irvin Hungerford, Mrs. Robert Rose, Mrs. Bob Yost, Mrs. Horace Henley, all of Pampa, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas.

TO WED

Lea Ann Timmons

Mr. and Mrs. Tony L. Timmons announce the engagement and approaching wedding of their daughter, Lea Ann Timmons to Ted Cochran, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Cochran, 1241 Finley. Marriage vows will be pledged June 26 in Fellowship Baptist Church. Miss Timmons is a 1970 graduate of Lefors High School. Her fiancé is employed at a well servicing company in Pampa.

Learning Food Buying Tips Saves Budget, Keeps Bride From Going Into A Tizzy

NEW YORK — Perhaps nothing in the food budget throws a bride into a tizzy faster than what to choose from the meat counter. Filet mignon every night sounds wonderful, but plays havoc with the budget. Solution — learn how to buy from the ads, and you can have a steak-chop-roast menu on a stew and ground meat budget.

Guidelines set down by the American Meat Institute enable newlyweds and other two-member households to benefit from a shopping method based on advertised specials of larger cuts such as roasts, whole and half hams and legs of lamb.

If a pork loin roast is sale-priced but too large to make a single meal for your family, ask the meat man to cut chops from half of it. This leaves you with a one-meal roast and fresh chops for a second meal instead of cooked leftovers.

If you buy the untrimmed half of a pork loin, you can get a third fresh meat meal by asking the meat man to saw through the ribs high enough to leave a 1-inch layer of meat on the backbones. The backbones, chopped by the meat man into serving size pieces, can be barbecued or cooked with sauerkraut.

Not all such economics require the cooperation of your meat dealer. You don't need a meat saw to divide a whole fresh pork shoulder butt — which generally weighs five to seven pounds and is nearly boneless — into the basis for three meals.

With a sharp knife, make a small roast by cutting off the large boneless section close to and parallel to the round bone. Slice 1/2-inch thick pork steaks from the boneless section and cut the remaining boneless part into cubes of even size for stew.

Use the cubes and steaks first — the smaller the cut of meat, the shorter its safe storage time even at refrigerator temperature. The recommended refrigerator storage for chops and steaks is two to three days, for stew and ground meats and variety meats, two days. Roasts can be kept slightly longer than steaks and chops, smoked hams and bacon should be used within a week.

A thick-cut round-bone chuck roast also qualifies for do-it-yourself cutting. With a sharp knife, cut a boneless piece of meat from the round end of the roast and cube it for stew. Cut a boneless piece from the opposite end to use for swiss steak and reserve the bone-in center section for a one-meal pot-roast.

Three other large cuts to divide economically are a rib roast, a leg of lamb and a shank half of ham. For these, you'll need either a meat saw or your meat man's services.

If the short ribs haven't been removed from the rib roast, have them sawed into individual servings. With a large enough roast, you also can have one or two steaks cut off and still have a piece large enough for roasting.

Any size leg of lamb can be pre-cut into meat for three meals, but a large one weighing 7 to 9 pounds is an especially good buy. Have steaks cut from the thick, loin end, a roast from the easy-to-carve center section and leave the shank end whole. The shank can be roasted or the meat cubed by you at home to use for shish kebab, stew or curry. Do not cube until you're ready to cook it — the whole piece keeps better than a lot of small ones.

Shank end of ham generally is lower priced to begin with than the butt half. It's more versatile — because it can be divided into four meals. Have a large enough portion of the shank sawed off for use in a boiled dinner or split pea soup.

The betrothal or pledge ring has its origin in part from the pledge of the bridegroom's good intentions — made in the days when a bride was purchased.

Man appears to have claimed his bride from earliest times with a ring. It may have been a rope tied around her waist — a more direct means of wooing his favorite — but the sentiment to claim and then to protect and guard always has been there.

Some brides are getting away from the white or ivory wedding. H.N. Polansky, president of Brides Showcase International, says some color is creeping in. Color shows in light blankets, some of the synthetics pastels, or color accents on call for machine washing some white bands or underlying of the fabrics call for dry-cleaning.

The Bride's Tableware

Once that diamond is on her finger, the newly engaged girl begins considering the silver, china and crystal she'll use in her future home.

She's well advised to make sterling silver her first choice, for this is the basic and permanent part of the table setting. Before deciding on her pattern, she should, if possible, see her choices in sterling along with patterns of china and crystal which she's also considering.

Brides and gift-givers alike find the bridal gift registry an invaluable aid. In the case of her flatware, for instance, the bride-to-be can list the serving and place pieces in sterling which she most needs. When friends and relatives choose from these pieces, they're assured that their gift is not only much wanted, but will not be duplicated.

Bridal Registry Suggests Gift Ideas For Weddings

NEW YORK (UPI) - The jeweler's bridal registry is the straightforward way a bride can make known her preferences in silver, china and crystal.

She puts down her choices and friends and relatives go to the registry to get ideas about gifts for the newlyweds.

Some ideas: -Silver holloware for the table there are trays, color lined bowls and covered dishes, goblets, bread and butter plates, salt and pepper shakers, butter dish, candlesticks, crystal salad bowl with sterling trim, trivets, water pitcher.

For hosting there are chip 'n' dip server, three-tier buffet server, nut dishes, bon bon dishes, cocktail shaker, glasses with sterling trim, compotes, and silver coffee or tea service.

Silver also can shine through the new house as picture frames of various sizes, as dresser accessories, paper weight, a silver trimmed mirror that can be hung on the wall or used as centerpiece.

China and crystal. Besides the china and crystal pieces the bride wants in her chosen patterns, there are gift possibilities in china figurines, crystal vases, china serving pieces, crystal centerpieces, decorative china boxes and a charming crystal candlelight cocktail set for two.

Pampa Pound Pirates reported KOPS members had a loss of three pounds, with the fruit basket awarded to Fran White. TOPS members had a 15 lb. loss with the fruit basket awarded to Hazel Coffin. Jean Steadum won the door-prize. One new member, Mrs. Jean Elkins, and 14 other members attended the meeting at the Lutheran Church.

Progressive HD Studies Poetry

Progressive Home Demonstration Club members, meeting with Mrs. John Murry, 601 Jupiter, discussed plans for serving Senior Citizens at Lovett Memorial Library.

Because of the tornado destroying the County Annex and her offices, Jimmie Lou Waincott, HD agent, was unable to present her program on furniture arrangement. Mrs. Fred Symonds and Mrs. G.B. Hogan presented a program on poetry.

Members attending were Mmes. B.F. Durman, Hogan, Irene Humberson, E.A. Revard, John Murry, Fred Symonds, E. L. Trumm and H. E. Peoples.

Members will meet again at 1:30 p.m. May 5 in the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room with Mrs. Symonds as hostess.

Ousting Douglas Tall Order

If the movement to impeach Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, led by Republican floor leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, gets as far as a vote, and if a majority of the House of Representatives concurs, it would be the first time such a thing has happened in 166 years, according to Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Should two-thirds of the Senate subsequently vote to convict Douglas on the Articles of Impeachment brought against him by the House, it would be the first time in the nation's entire history that a Supreme Court justice was removed from office.

The uniqueness of this possible event demands that whatever charges may be brought against Douglas be the most serious nature. Anything less will simply not do.

The Constitution is, as usual, both specific and vague on the matter. Judges shall hold office "during good behavior" and, like all other civil officers of the United States, "shall be removed from office on impeachment for and conviction of treason, bribery or other high crimes and misdemeanors."

More than a century and a half of procedure and tradition are any guide, "misdemeanors" does not include a rabid indictment involving the personal philosophy, public decisions or private life style of a judge which some congressmen may find distasteful.

Before 1904-05 and the impeachment and trial of Supreme Court Justice Samuel Chase, the independence and near inviolability of the judicial branch was far from accepted. Democratic-Republican Sen. William Branch Giles of Virginia put it plainly to the court, which then consisted of only six justices:

"We want your offices, for the purpose of giving them to men who fill them better."

Removal by impeachment, argued Giles, was nothing more than a declaration by Congress that these impeached held "dangerous opinions." If justices of the Supreme Court offended Congress by their decisions, it was the undoubted right of Congress to impeach and remove them.

Giles was referring not only to Justice Chase but four other justices, all of whom were Federalists appointed by people are the government, as they have been so often told, they could possibly cheat on tax returns being submitted to themselves.

3. More and more tax payers, individuals and businesses, the two government officials complained, have been completing and submitting their tax returns on time but neglecting to attach a check for the amount due. Kennedy, attempting to explain this developing phenomenon, suggested that tax payers making use of the ploy were merely using their unpaid taxes as a loan. The penalties for late payment, he elaborated, add up to just about what a bank would charge for the same amount for a 90-day loan. We wonder if it has occurred to the secretary that the reason more and more tax payers are failing to forward the required check might be that they just don't have the wherewithal and that the government, in its insensate greed, has pushed the system of legal plunder past the point of diminishing returns?

In the beginning we said that our immediate reaction, upon learning of the IRS's plight, was that "it couldn't happen to a nicer agency." On second thought, that's our second and final reaction, too.

Viet Facts Belie Views Of Fulbright

By BRUCE BLOSSAT Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON (NEA)

Shockingly little notice was given the real heart of the April 2 speech by Senate Foreign Relations Chairman J.W. Fulbright. It was one of the most disreputable utterances by any American in the last four decades.

Even as he derided the "old power politics bromides" including "Spheres of influence," he told us North Vietnam is the "paramount power" in Indochina, that it has proved its capacity to dominate the whole of it, that we and other outsiders have no business "contesting somebody else's" sphere of influence. He meant Hanoi's, of course.

The senator was careful to say he does not advocate a Communist-dominated Indochina but added, "I merely propose to accept it, if it arises from the local power situation, as something unwelcome but tolerable..."

It is not new that Fulbright, like many another American, thinks neither South Vietnam nor any other part of Indochina has any strategic importance for the United States. But on April 2 he went beyond:

"Nor does it matter all that terribly to the inhabitants. At the risk of being accused of every sin from racism to communism, I stress the irrelevance of ideology to poor and backward populations... what earthly difference does it make to nomadic tribes or uneducated subsistence farmers in Vietnam or Laos or the north of Thailand whether they have a military dictator, a royal prince or a socialist commissar in some distant capital that they have never seen and may never even have heard of?"

What these people really need, he said, are governments which will offer medical services, education, fertilizer, high-yield seeds and instruction in how to use them.

Now, is that really how it is? Since our major entry into the war in April, 1965, war critics repeatedly have stressed the high South Vietnamese army desertion rate and the enduring strength of the indigenous Viet Cong.

Yet it is also a fact that as of March 31, 1970, the official count of South Vietnam's military dead was 103,980.

It cannot be credible anywhere that these men have died in battle or elsewhere only because they were driven to fight by a series of wicked Saigon governments (some very shaky) — or an overbearing U.S. presence. Real, widespread opposition to Hanoi's dominance is undeniable.

About 7 million of the nation's 17-18 million people reside, incidentally, in the cities. A bare 5 per cent are "nomadic tribes" though they occupy 60 per cent of the country's soil.

Most of the remaining millions are rice farmers, but these tend to be concentrated in the rich delta below Saigon, linked to that rich market by roads and an incredible complex of canals, anything but out of touch — particularly since the spread of the transistor radio.

Hanoi's endless appeals for wider support have fallen mostly on deaf ears. Can anyone truly believe that, weary as they are, the South Vietnamese citizenry and army could not topple the Saigon government in a flood of unrest if they are as indifferent to their rulers as Fulbright says — and want to end the long drain of blood?

And who, by the way, is responsible for the lack of medical service, farm training and education of which Fulbright complains? Hanoi and the VC have in a decade assassinated some 25,000 teachers, health and farm specialists, village chiefs. They are still at it.

Fulbright's view — that Hanoi is uncrushable — may be dead right. But where, in the acceptance of Red dominance, is the idealism over "Vietnamese liberation" which fired antiwar U.S. youth?

No one has made so strong a plea for bowing to "paramount power" since 1938, when aviator Charles Lindbergh told frightened westerners that Europe had better make terms with a Nazi Germany whose "superior" air force could — if tested — do irreparable harm to European lands.

How We Get Very Little Out Of Our AID Dollars

By RAY CROMLEY Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON (NEA)

A source in Laos has recently written a letter about the problems of the people in the village of Sihanatay.

Here U.S. aid sponsors a small pumping project to help the village rice farmers. It is around just such villages as this the battles in Laos have been fought in the past few weeks.

The Lao battle losses — both the young man. They do not disturb him half as much as our agricultural failures in Sihanatay.

"This is one letter from one young man in a small village. But it helps to explain why our aid money in Laos and elsewhere frequently seems to produce less-than-expected results despite the large amounts we spend.

This is important in Laos for in the kind of war now being fought in that country, battles may be less important than what happens in the villages. In this, theories of Mao Tse-tung and the U.S. government now agree.

So let us look at how this youth describes what we have done: "...when the Sihanatay pumping project was begun, the main concerns in the planners' minds were whether the project would be economically feasible, given the present knowledge of rice production and pumping costs, and how the canal system should be built to fit the available topography...

"Little or no planning was directed toward determining if the farmers would be able to administer the system..."

"Likewise, the political lies between High Royal Lao government officials and various villagers in Sihanatay were ignored if, in fact, anyone was ever aware of their existence..."

"No attention was paid to the lack of... trust among the farmers..."

"No attention was paid to the difficulties of including farmers to work together on a long-term project that requires continuing co-operation for it to be successful; the farmers themselves never were brought to realize there was more to growing a second crop than helping with the canal, then sitting back and waiting for the water to come. No attention was paid to the problem of developing competent leaders who (could) direct a large group of farmers without continuously resorting to force..."

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANDSTADT

Pregnancy Can Occur Without Hymen Break

Q—Is it necessary for the hymen to be broken for pregnancy to occur? What determines whether pregnancy occurs after intercourse?

A—The hymen need not be broken for pregnancy to occur if sperm are discharged near the opening through which menstrual blood flows. For pregnancy to occur, active sperm reaching the vagina must enter the uterus and unite with an ovum. The ovum, discharged about midway between menstrual periods, passes through the uterine tube, uterus and, if not fertilized, through the vagina in two or three days, after which no pregnancy can occur until ovulation takes place again.

Even if a sperm and ovum unite, pregnancy will not occur if anything interferes with the implantation of the fertilized ovum in the wall of the uterus.

Q—Is it possible to have a menstrual period and still be pregnant?

A—In rare instances, a scanty menstrual period may occur once after the onset of pregnancy. Any further bleeding should be regarded as a complication requiring prompt treatment.

Q—Can an unborn child breathe inside the mother? How does the baby use the mother's blood?

A—A fetus does not breathe because, if he did, his lungs would fill up with amniotic fluid. The lungs do not function until after delivery. The exchange of oxygen for carbon dioxide that is accomplished in the lungs after birth is done for the fetus by the mother's blood.

Q—How often does a fetus move in the uterus?

A—The first signs of movement by the fetus (quickening) occur between the 18th and 20th week of pregnancy. Once these movements have started, they occur many times a day but are not always felt by the mother.

Q—Is it true that, when a man is more than 10 years older than his wife, there is no possibility of having children? Is it true that a man born under Virgo cannot produce sperm?

A—So long as a man is not impotent and his sperm are active, age has no bearing on his ability to become a father. Virgo is too far away to influence the development of sperm in a man born under any sign.

The Rearview Mirror

By TEX DEWESE Editor

IT BEGINS to look at long last as if Pampa is clearly on the way to getting that new civic auditorium, thanks to the trustees of the M.K. Brown Foundation.

Atty. William Jarrell Smith, foundation secretary-treasurer, has made the City of Pampa an offer that would be difficult to turn down.

It's an offer that merely asks the city's procedural assistance and one in which the Foundation provides a $400,000 nest-egg for the auditorium and then pledges Foundation income funds down through the years to pay off bonds or warrants issued for the remainder of the cost. Probably another $400,000.

We published the Foundation's proposition in The News last Sunday and Monday. City officials took a look at it during the weekend and apparently liked it.

Mayor Milo Carlson stated that since it entails no additional burden on taxpayers, he doesn't see how anyone could object to the proposal.

City commissioners will get their first perusal of the offer at next Tuesday morning's meeting in City Hall. Like the mayor said, there doesn't seem to be any room for objection.

DID YOU forget it this morning? Well, if you didn't turn your clocks and watches ahead one hour before you went to bed last night, it's later than you think and you'll be an hour late for church. Daylight Savings Time became official at 2 a.m. today when it actually became 3 a.m. One suspects time changes will always be accompanied by confusion.

We know one fellow who planned to turn his clock back an hour. If he did, he's really in trouble. He'll be two hours late on the job Monday morning. The time rule is very simple. In April you push the hands ahead. In October you push them back. In the meantime, if you don't know what time it is—dial 665-5701.

IT'S AMAZING what force is packed by a tornado. Some strange things happen when a tornado strikes. Practically all of them are unexplainable.

In the storm that struck southeast Pampa a week ago yesterday morning some of those strange things happened.

At the Sportsman Club, south of town, where the Pampa Shrine Association maintains its headquarters, a foot tall stack of ashtrays, placed one on top of the other, had been set on a counter in front of a huge mirror. When the tornadic winds struck and destroyed the whole building, the stack of ashtrays were left exactly where they had been placed and the mirror wasn't even cracked. Everything else in the room was smashed and tossed about into a pile of debris.

Over on the Lefors highway that outdoor movie screen, directly in the path of the tornado as it tore through, was left standing while all around it and on either side there was total destruction.

Arville Hayes, manager of the Pampa theaters, said not a penny's damage was done to the screen and it wasn't moved even a fraction of an inch.

Would you believe the force of a tornadic wind can drive a straw several inches into a tree trunk and has been known to strip a man of all his clothing, leaving him naked and uninjured?

IF ANYTHING good can come out of a tornado, it is the compassion people showed for friends and neighbors who became storm victims. So many reports of assistance and offers to help in any way have come in that there is a lack of space to list them all. For instance, there was the man who called to tell about the group of Pampa High School teenagers who went out into the Bowers City district with a truck and helped several farmers clear away debris, others who took in homeless persons and housed and fed them for several days, the scores of men who turned up in the stricken area with pickup trucks to help salvage wreckage and haul away debris, and so on and so on.

WE HAD several other calls during the week from persons who had storm cellars in which they took refuge during the tornado alert. Theirs was not so much a complaint as it was an appeal. One in particular told of neighbors running to reach safety in a small storm cellar built to accommodate not more than four persons.

It became crowded with as many as ten or 12 and reached a point, the man said, where the oxygen supply was about to run out.

This could be extremely dangerous. The man said he thought more people should give thought to building a tornado hideaway of their own. He has a point. You never can tell when you're going to need one.

A Change In Chinatown

By PAUL HARVEY

With our nation's crime rate pyramid, I heard that no American of Chinese extraction had ever turned "delinquent."

To try to figure out why I went first to San Francisco's Chinatown in 1966. I found it true.

I went back in 1965. It was still true. No Chinese-American ever convicted for rape, burglary, bank robbery, desertion — not even juvenile delinquency.

I went back a few weeks ago. It's not true any more. What awful thing has happened in Chinatown?

Of New York City's 10,000 Chinese-American teenagers, until five years ago not one had ever been brought into court for degradation, narcotics, speeding, burglary, vandalism, stickup, purse-snatching or mugging. Not even speeding!

In a half-century in Chicago's Chinatown, population, 5,000, there had been only one Chinese arrested for breaking-and-entering.

San Francisco's Chinatown epitomized grinding poverty. Behind the facade of gold-leaf dragons, upstairs over the exotic restaurants are dingy, overcrowded apartments.

For the child of Chinatown, life was mostly rice and salt fish and long hours of hard work at low pay.

Then a few weeks ago I returned to Grant Avenue and found that much has changed.

Restive young Chinese have formed their own "Red Guard" and "Wah Ching" street gangs. One of these gangs of toughs has allied itself with the Black Panthers and radical students at San Francisco State College.

The respected "Six Companies" of elders still constitute the "establishment" in San Francisco's Chinatown, but its executive director, Kenneth Lee, says "the younger generation refuses to take advice from the elders."

Recently young "Wah Ching" hooligans smashed beer bottles on the front of the Six Companies' temple.

During a confrontation with school officials, Chinese pupils threw cherry bombs and spattered an assistant principal with eggs.

What's happened to the happy filial relationship which so frequently characterized and apparently disciplined these young Chinese-Americans?

The elders blame recent immigrants. Since the U.S. flung open its door to the East, ending the quota system two years ago, up to 8,000 additional Chinese per year have flooded San Francisco's Chinatown.

These are not content, as were previous immigrants, to wash dishes or operate sewing machines. These see Western opulence through TV eyes; they want "instant improvement."

It was a sad reunion with old friends on the steep streets that now appear all downhill.

When we had a chance to emulate them, we hesitated. Now the new-breed-of-Chinese American has tended to become like us. What a sad loss for us both.

Clearing House

Got something you would like to "get off your chest"? That's what the "Clearing House" is for. It has been suggested there should be more letters to the Editor, that people should speak their mind, go in the public interest, write to the Editor and "get it off your chest."

Editor:

Southeast Texas' Big Thicket is a little-known, unique American forest. Once it covered 3.5 million acres. Today the nine percent which remains lies hidden from highways and is almost totally owned by timber companies. Over 50 acres disappear daily as truckloads of huge pine logs are hauled out of these dwindling virgin stands.

Here, overlapping ecological zones provide for density, size and diversity of plants and wildlife. Treetops tower 13 stories high. Piney woods intermingle with numerous broad-leaves: oak, beech, hickory, sycamore. Giant magnolia thrive a thousand years; tropical palmetto fan over ten feet amid the dim, grotesque interior. Black bear are occasionally sighted, as is the near-extinct, giant ivory-bill woodpecker.

Senator Ralph Yarborough spearheaded thicket protection in 1966. His present congressional bill, S.4, would establish a 100,000 acre Big Thicket National Park. It will preserve representative samples of the forests, wildlife habitats and riverbottom areas for future generations of Americans.

Jazz Artists Perform Rites

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) - The New Orleans rite of spring—the third annual Jazz Festival—got down to its indigenous best today with a display of hometown talent that made it big elsewhere and hometown talent, that never left.

PIPELINE PEOPLE

Buried underground near natural gas pipelines is sensitive electronic equipment. Its task: sidetrack metal-corroding currents found in soil and render them harmless to the pipelines.

The GOURMET featuring David Wade, internationally known connoisseur of fine food. Wade, who is recognized by the American Culinary Arts Society as America's leading food demonstrator...

DOUBLY Welcome These Eventful Days! THESE are days when the arrival of your smiling, hustling carrier-boy is one of the most welcome sights in the world.

Carswell's Senate Race Raises Republican Ire

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sweat streaming down his ruddy face, the Republican national chairman was an angry giant, growing angrier.

Chairman Rogers C. B. Morton, who stands 6 feet 6, was giving newsmen his opinion of what he termed the "smoke filled room" tactics used to draw Judge G. Harold Carswell into the Florida Senate race.

"It is unconscionable," Morton said.

Gov. Claude Kirk, a flamboyant showman, had corralled Carswell as his "dream candidate" to oppose Rep. William C. Cramer, R-Fla., in the state's GOP primary.

Carswell Makes Points

Carswell made points with some Florida voters when the Senate rebuffed his nomination to the Supreme Court. But Kirk's coup deepened his feud with Cramer and ensnared the White House in the wrangle.

But what really upset Morton were Kirk's tactics in boosting Carswell. Kirk first persuaded his initial choice for the Senate seat, Lt. Gov. Ray Osborne, to withdraw. He later announced Carswell's candidacy and publicly urged Cramer to withdraw.

Aerporters arriving at a small Washington reception Wednesday evening found Morton posing for a photographer with his arm around Cramer. The GOP chairman then started discussing the Carswell matter, getting more and more angry as he went along.

"I am surprised and shocked that this thing went as far as it did without consulting Cra-

DETROIT (UPI)—The cost of a haircut in metropolitan Detroit may shoot up to $3.50 because of layoffs in the automobile industry.

"When people are out of work, one of the first things they cut down on are haircuts," Frank Salomone, secretary-treasurer of the Wayne County Barbers Local 552, said Thursday.

Salomone is seeking permission from the local membership to reopen contract talks with barbershop owners and ask for the 50-cent hike. He said he's been talking to barbers "all over the area and there's no doubt that they are losing business."

BETS CAUSE POLLUTION.

CHICAGO (UPI)—Daniel P. Bartoli, 52, faces a charge of polluting the air.

Bartoli was arrested in his North Side apartment Thursday as he threw hundreds of pieces of paper from his window.

The pieces of paper were records of horse bets, police said. Bartoli was charged with being the keeper of bets and violating the city's air pollution ordinance.

School Official Resigns In Rift Over Superintendent

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (UPI)—School Board president Ikard Smith resigned "in the interest of unity" Thursday in the latest installment of a rift over the board's firing of Superintendent Donald Waldrip Tuesday night.

"There has been strong difference of opinion concerning direction and complete operation of our school system," Smith said. "Therefore, my resignation will give the board the opportunity of selecting a new member who will help cement relations and bring the board back together."

Smith was one of three board members to vote against the firing of Superintendent Donald Waldrip Tuesday night. Waldrip's dismissal, by a 4-3 vote, in a closed board meeting, followed the board's rejection of a Department of Health, Education and Welfare integration plan.

Wichita National Bank, where much of the school district's funds are kept, with signs reading: "Keep Dr. Waldrip and end racism in Wichita Falls schools."

The Wichita Falls Human Relations Commission said it was asking to meet with the board to present complaints aired by parents and teachers at a commission meeting.

A number of parents and teachers protested the dismissal. Pickets appeared at the First of parents would be held in the city's auditorium tonight to protest Waldrip's firing.

Smith said he hoped his resignation from the board would lead to the election of someone who could unify the board.

"In the interest of unity among board trustees, which I feel is important," he said, "and in order that decisions might be made to proceed with education and overcome future problems, I hereby resign from the board of trustees of the Wichita Falls Independent School System."

At a closed meeting two hours later Dr. Joseph Steed was unanimously elected by the board as its new president.

Steed said Waldrip was "an outstanding educator" but that the district needed "an experienced administrator who could draw all segments of the community together."

Waldrip was paid $27,906 for the remainder of his contract which was to run until July 1, 1971. He had been superintendent for a little over a year.
