

Phase One Of '70 Elections Saturday

By BEN KECK
News Staff Writer

Voters are expected to turn out in force across the state Saturday to cast votes in primary elections.

In Gray County, area candidates for state and county offices were seen on the streets, in businesses and public buildings last week making last minute bids for votes and influence.

Candidates from the Republican and Democratic parties are vying for their names on the ballot in the November election.

In the Gray County area, only two Republican candidates are running for the same post.

Jack H. Hart, of Gruver and Bill Nix of Canadian are running for State Representative of the 79th Legislative District.

Seeking the position on the Democratic ballot are Ray Trosper of Higgins, Phil Cates from Lefors, Jim Graves of Perryton, and W. H. "Web" Willoughby of Gruver.

The seat is being vacated by Rep. Malouf Abraham of Canadian. Abraham is seeking the post of State Senator from the 31st District.

He is running unopposed on the Republican ballot, but will face one of four Democratic candidates in the November general election.

Democrats seeking a place on the general election ballot for the same seat are Mrs. Nancy Moyer, Walter L. Knapp, Max Sherman and Jack Hazlewood, all of Amarillo. The seat is being vacated by Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Canyon.

Incumbent 31st District Judge Grainger McIlhenny is running unopposed in the primary and will face Republican Bruce Parker in November. McIlhenny is seeking his second four-year term.

District clerk Helen Sprinkle is opposed in neither the Democratic primary nor by a Republican opponent in November. Mrs. Sprinkle has held the post since 1953.

Seeking a second term as Gray County Judge is incumbent Sherman Lenning Jr. Lenning, a Republican, will face former County Attorney Don Cain in the general election. Both men are unopposed in the primaries.

Two seats are being sought on the Gray County commissioner's court.

Seeking his first elected term as Precinct 2 commissioner is Republican Vernon Watkins of Pampa. Watkins was appointed to the post last December, when the late H.V. Wilks resigned.

Opposing Watkins on the Democratic ticket are Don Hinton, W.C. Epperson, George W. Thompson, and Clyde Carruth, all of Pampa.

Precinct 4 commissioner Tritt Johnson of McLean is seeking reelection in the Democratic primary.

There are no Republican candidates for the post, but Johnson has six opponents on the Democratic ticket. They are John E. Dwyer, Chester L. Bohlar, Joe D. Billingsley, Ted Simmons, and Hershel McCarty, all of McLean. Also on the ballot is H.E. (Red) Easton of Alabread.

Democrat Wanda Carter, chief deputy clerk in the county clerk's office, is seeking the position of county clerk. Mrs. Carter has no primary opponents, but will face Ted Mastin in the general election. Both candidates are from Pampa.

The present county clerk, Charlie Thut, is retiring.

Also retiring from public life is Mrs. Ola Gregory Covey, who has served as county treasurer for 24 years. Seeking the post on the Democratic ticket is Mrs. Jean Scott, who has been deputy treasurer for ten years. Mrs. Scott is opposed by Republican Jerry W. Carver.

In a contested race for Precinct 2, Place 2 Justice of the Peace, Democratic incumbent Ed Anderson is being opposed by Republican Frank Converse.

In other Justice of the Peace contests, Democrat Margie Prestige of Lefors is attempting to unseat incumbent Mrs. Jess Graves, also a Democrat, in Precinct 1.

W.E. Beck is running unopposed for reelection to the post of Precinct 5 Justice of the Peace in McLean.

Running unopposed for other county offices are L.B. Penick, candidate for county superintendent of schools, and Gene Barber, candidate for county surveyor.

Pencils And Ballots Ready For Voters

Polls will open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday as voters in both the Republican and Democratic parties turn out to select candidates for the 1970 general election.

The Republican party has combined several of the precincts, according to county chairman Ben Sturgeon.

Republican voters in Precincts 1, 2, 12, and 6 will vote at the South Fire Station. The election judge is Bill Watson.

Precincts 4 and 5 are combined at McLean Grade School. Leonard Glass is the judge.

Other Republican precinct polling places are: Precincts 8 and 13, North Fire Station, Dr. Julian Key, judge; Precinct 9, Woodrow Wilson School, Ken Peoples, judge; Precinct 10, Pampa Junior High Gymnasium, Johnny Watson, judge; Precincts 7 and 14, 1421 N. Hobart, Tom Gray, judge; and Precinct 11, the rural residence of Cleone Stone, Durant Brock, judge.

Democratic county chairman Harold Comer said, polling places and election judges are: Precinct 1, Lefors Community Center, Walter Elliott, judge; Precinct 2, Baker School, Mrs.

Leon Brown, judge; Precinct 3, Grandview School, John Johnson, judge; Precinct 4, Alabread School, Marvin Hall, judge; Precinct 5, McLean City Hall, Jake Hess, judge; Precinct 6, Laketon Farm Supply, Mrs. Fred Gordon, judge; Precinct 7, Horace Mann School, Ott Shoemaker, judge; Precinct 8, Stephen F. Austin School, Georgia Mack, judge; Precinct 9, Woodrow Wilson School, Mrs. J.E. Beard, judge; Precinct 10, Courthouse, Theima Bray, judge; Precinct 11, Phillips Camp, Mrs. Tom Florence, judge; Precinct 12, Lamar School, Mrs. R.W. McPhillips, judge; Precinct 13, Milliron Engineering, Mrs. Margaret Brown, judge; Precinct 14, William B. Travis School, Jimmie Enloe, judge.

Voters are advised to check upper right hand corner of registration slip for precinct number.

Both Republicans and Democrats have scheduled precinct conventions at 7:30 p.m. Saturday following the close of balloting.

County conventions are set for May 9.

State Candidates In Final Rounds

By United Press International

Lloyd Bentsen Jr. makes shotgun appearances in 11 Houston area cities today as he ends his campaign to unseat veteran campaigner and Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough.

The incumbent made his last campaign appearance Thursday.

It marks the end of one of the most bitter campaigns in Texas history and will be decided Saturday when Texans vote in the two primaries. An overwhelming majority of the voters will cast their ballots in the Democratic primary. But less than half of the eligible voters are predicted to go to the polls.

Yarborough spent all of Thursday in San Antonio and ended his formal campaign with a rally at Mission County Park Thursday night.

Bentsen Still Campaigning

Bentsen, on the other hand, whirled through Dallas, Midland, Odessa, San Angelo, San Antonio and Houston. He planned to helicopter today to Galveston, Texas City, Clear Lake, Baytown, Humble, Liberty, Huntsville, Conroe, Tomball and Hempstead.

An estimated 1.7 million Texans—out of more than 4 million eligible—are expected to vote in Saturday's Democratic and Republican primaries to nominate candidates for the November general election.

Bentsen advocated reforms Thursday in the welfare and postal systems, and said improvements are needed to strengthen federal anticrime and narcotics control laws.

"My opponent has a record as a stand-pat senator on all programs such as welfare reform and the post office," Bentsen said. "His answer to all problems is to spend more money. I don't think the answers are as easy as that."

Yarborough charged Bentsen with having his hands "on the purse strings of thousands of Texans."

"By controlling a giant insurance company and several Texas banks, my opponent runs an empire of lending institutions which are making the loans at these high interest rates," Yarborough said.

Performing Arts To Have Priority In Auditorium

The M.K. Brown Memorial Auditorium Committee today voted unanimously in favor of giving first priority to the performing arts in the planning of a civic auditorium for Pampa.

The committee will put its recommendation in writing and send copies to the mayor and city commission and to foundation trustees.

It was the consensus of committee members that a theater auditorium of 1,400 to 1,800 seats should be built first with provisions in the architectural planning for convention and other facilities to be added later.

The general auditoriums committee, headed by E.L. Green Jr., also pledged its cooperation to work with the city in any manner in carrying out plans.

The Brown Foundation has made available $400,000 in cash for starting the building plus the pledge of the trustees to provide Foundation income of around $60,000 a year to retire revenue bonds issued by the city for its completion.

PRISON ROMANCE

RAGUSA, Sicily (UPI)—Paolo Casaroli, 44, one of Italy's most notorious bank robbers, got married Thursday in prison. He wed Giulia Gigliola Pasineti, 36, who wrote him after reading a magazine article of his exploits. Casaroli is serving life for murder.

ANOTHER EARTHQUAKE

MANILA (UPI)—An earthquake rocked Manila and its environs today, swaying tall buildings and sending people fleeing their homes. There were no reports of injury or damage.

The weather bureau's geophysical division said the tremor registered four on the Rossi-Forel Scale of nine.

US Troops Ordered To Crush Viet Cong

War Takes On Look Of WWII Invasion

SHIRLEY NICHOLS, chief deputy in the Gray County Sheriff's office, spent most of Thursday afternoon delivering ballot boxes and voting supplies to Democratic precinct judges; for which the county committee pays a fee. SAIGON (UPI) — At least 4,500 American troops pushed into Cambodia today with orders from President Nixon to crush Viet Cong and North Vietnamese sanctuaries in what took on the appearance of a classical World War II-type invasion.

The soldiers met light resistance. Field reports said 77 guerrilla troops were killed, all of them by helicopter gunships supporting the push, another 108 Viet Cong were captured. One American was reported wounded.

Wave upon wave of B52 bombers dropped 1,000 tons of bombs on the Communist positions, up to 20 miles inside Cambodia. 150 fighters-bombers swooped in low on bomb runs and dozens of Long Tom guns blazed away across the border to soften up the target of the tank-led troop advance.

An equal number of South Vietnamese troops accompanied the Americans of the 1st Air Cavalry Division and the 11th Armored Cavalry into Cambodia in what was described as a "hammer and anvil" operation designed to smash the guerrillas caught in the middle.

The Allies crossed the border at two points on the fishhook, a curved portion of Cambodia jutting into Vietnam 50 to 67 miles north of Saigon. White House sources said the move would take them as deep as 20 miles into Cambodia.

This first involvement of U.S. combat units in Cambodia followed by two days an American-supported South Vietnamese push farther south into a Cambodian area known as the parrot's beak which reaches to within 35 miles of Saigon.

The South Vietnamese drive into the parrot's beak had penetrated 35 miles into Cambodia by this morning, stopping on the outskirts of Svay Rieng, a province capital believed held by the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

Fighting was reported light after two days of combat left nearly 500 guerrillas and 46 government troops dead.

"Our purpose is not to occupy the areas," President Nixon said in explaining the move to the American public. "Once enemy forces are driven out of these sanctuaries and their military supplies destroyed, we will withdraw."

Lt. Gen. Do Cao Tri, commander of the South Vietnamese pincers operation in the parrot's beak, said government forces were attempting to encircle the guerrillas and then destroy them in search operations.

Tri said he men Thursday killed a man believed to be a Communist Chinese adviser to the Communist troops. The body by this morning, stopping on the outskirts of Svay Rieng, intelligence specialists.

Commissioners Name Board For Annex-Barn Rebuilding

By BEN KECK
News Staff Writer

Gray County commissioners today appointed county engineer Gene Barber to head a building committee to discuss and draw up plans for rebuilding the county annex building.

Commissioners voted to advertise for bids to rebuild the county annex building. Offices located in the building are now in a rented building at 800 N. Sumner.

Barber was told to appoint his committee and report back to the commission on May 13.

Judge Sherman Lenning Jr. said he was asking any interested party to contact him concerning removal of debris from the old building location.

Lenning said there is a lot of good wood and cinder blocks in the debris and he is interested in someone who will clear the property for what can be salvaged.

Former county commissioner Bill Jarvis appeared before the commission to commend the commission for its work in getting contracts to rebuild the Precinct 2 barn.

Commissioner Vernon Watkins said he asked for several bids on rebuilding the structure and the lowest submitted was from Pam-Tex Construction Co.

Watkins rejected earlier reports that he negotiated only with Pam-Tex. He said the company submitted a sealed-bid of $18,873 and presented plans to add 10 feet to the width of the building plus electrical and gas fixtures.

Among construction firms contacted by Watkins were Shaw Construction Co. and Hogan Construction Co.

The commission did not advertise for bids and justified the action by the emergency need of a new maintenance barn.

In other action, the commission approved to amend a motion made at the last regular meeting to raise the fee paid by crop dusting operations from $200 to $250 per year. The county will get $200 of the fee, and the airport manager will receive the additional $50.

Commissioners discussed and approved a $1,000 expenditure for testing the northwest to southeast diagonal runway at Perry Lefors Field.

In commenting on improvements for the airport, commissioners were in agreement that an airport is vital if new industry is to be brought into the area.

People Counter Contest

A People Counter Contest is being launched today under the auspices of The Pampa Daily News and sponsored by First National Bank, Gibson's Discount Center and J.C. Penney's.

A preliminary head count figure will be available soon, but before it is, citizens of Gray, Carson, Ochiltree, Lipscomb, Roberts, Hemphill and Wheeler counties are invited to make a guess as to the population total of all seven counties. In case of a tie the nearest estimate to Gray County's population.

On Page Two of this edition is a coupon contestants are invited to complete and then mail or bring to the Contest Editor at the Pampa Daily News. Newspaper and sponsor employees are not eligible.

"For the closest guess, First National Bank will award a $25 Savings Account; for first place. Second place will earn $15 in merchandise from Gibson's Discount Center. J.C. Penney's will present third place winner with $10 in merchandise.

Deadline for guesses is 6 p.m. Wednesday, May 6, or postmarked May 6th.

All residents in all seven counties are eligible. Come on in, the guessing's fun.

Missing Persons Sought By Census Enumerators

Persons missed by census takers are the subjects of a "Were You Counted?" campaign, according to R.L. Butler, manager of the district census office in Amarillo.

Butler said the campaign is designed to insure that no resident of the area has been overlooked.

Butler said preliminary figures giving the total population of incorporated places of 10,000 or more population would be released by his office as soon as he is convinced a complete count has been made.

Butler said final figures will be released by the federal government later in the year.

In Pampa, Mrs. Dorothy Miller, crew leader for area census takers said the count for Pampa has been completed and the results will be forwarded to the district office soon.

Highlights Of Nixon's Talk

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Highlights of President Nixon's address Thursday night on Cambodia:

American troop involvement:

"There is one area... where I have concluded that a combined American and South Vietnamese operation is necessary. Tonight, American and South Vietnamese units will attack the headquarters of the entire Communist military operation in South Vietnam... This is not an invasion of Cambodia... Once enemy forces are driven out of these sanctuaries and their military supplies destroyed, we will withdraw."

Arms assistance:

"With other nations, we shall do our best to provide the small arms and other equipment which the Cambodian army needs and can use now for its defense. The aid we will provide will be limited to the purpose of enabling Cambodia to defend its neutrality—not for the purpose of making it an active belligerent on one side or the other."

Negotiations:

"The time came long ago to end this war through peaceful negotiations. We stand ready for those negotiations... but if the enemy response to our most conciliatory offers for peaceful negotiation continues to be to increase its attacks and humiliate and defeat us we shall react accordingly."

Political implications:

"I have rejected all political considerations in making this decision... whether I may be a one-term president is insignificant compared to whether by our failure to act in this crisis, the United States proves itself to be unworthy to lead the forces of freedom in this

K&F Clubbers Get 'Fair Deal'

By DORIS E. WILSON
News Staff Writer

After last night's Knife and Fork Club dinner meeting, the odds are scarce a card shark could make it in Pampa, Texas.

Michael MacDougall, renowned card detective and guest speaker, exposed almost every trick a cheating hand guided by a cheating heart has in a game of cards.

MacDougall, who claims he can "feel" aces, kings, queens, demonstrated that ability with agility by the fast shuffle, the no-shuffle, how to deal with dexterity from the top, bottom and center of a deck.

He acquainted K&Fers how to spot a "mechanic's grip" that allows full control of the cards at all times; warned to beware of dealers who wear polished signet rings; or a bandaged finger with a concealed thumb tack.

He, also, warned how costly it is for a novice to agree to play the "Mississippi System" of bidding that permits doubling, re-doubling and re-doubling-doubling that can run the take in a Bridge game from a tenth of a cent a point up to $100 per point.

Using two Knife and Fork Club members, E.E. Shelhamer and Quentin Williams as Bridge opponents, MacDougall showed how easy it is for a "cheat" to deal himself and his partner Little and Grand Slams by stacking the deck and tricky dealing right under the noses of his opponents.

And after last night, local card players will probably be eyeing any opponent suspiciously if one of them scoops up a trick with an ace, so that it lands on the bottom of the stack... or asks to see what has been played so the ace can be maneuvered to the bottom of the stack.

MacDougall, who writes a newspaper column, is one of the nation's foremost card detectives and is often called in for undercover work by gambling casinos, who have reason to believe THEY are being cheated. He says, "It doesn't take me long to spot a cheat."

When asked by a club member at the close of the program, why he exposed card cheats instead of trying to make a "bunriddle" for himself, MacDougall answered, "I like to be able to face myself in the mirror every morning."

The guest speaker was introduced by McHenry Lane, Sue Higdon played dinner music.

At the conclusion of the dinner meeting, outgoing president Les Hart introduced officers, who will take over the 1975-76 winter dinner meetings: Harold Barrett, president; Bill Ledbetter, vice president; Ray Duncan, Hugh People and John Rankin, directors who will serve with holdover directors, Kay Fancher, Dona Cornutt, W.A. Wagoner and Dr. Harbord Cox. They will select next season's guest speaker.

Nixon's Cambodian Edict Evokes New Dissension

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew predicts the decision to send U.S. troops into Cambodia will evoke a new wave of dissent in the United States—some of it by self-seekers and enemies of the republic who will act "in the most criminal and reprehensible manner."

Agnew gave his assessment minutes after President Nixon finished his nationwide address Thursday night, as the first dissent began descending on the White House. Most of the immediate reaction came from Capitol Hill, and it was packaged in some of the strongest language uttered since Nixon assumed the presidency.

"Unbelievable," said Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore. "A tragic mistake," added Sen. William D. Proxmire, D-Wis. "Ghastly," said Sen. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y.

"This is nothing less than a massive escalation of the war," added Sen. Walter Mondale, D-Minn.

Agnew told a dinner meeting after the speech some critics will respond "constructively from their honest judgment, that he (Nixon) erred." But these critics, he added, have neither the information that President has, nor his responsibility for foreign policy.

"And then there are those," Agnew said, "who will dissent in the most criminal and reprehensible fashion. This element will feed on the distaste for war to further its own desire for power through revolution."

There was little immediate reaction of the militant variety. About 800 persons, mostly college students, marched on Independence Hall in Philadelphia after the speech. One student antiwar leader in Washington claimed Nixon's actions in Cambodia have "galvanized" the antiwar protest movement.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania called on Americans to withhold their "emotional fire and to trust the President who alone has all the facts." He stressed that the entire Cambodian campaign is "temporary."

House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford called Nixon's move "an act of great statesmanship" and said it "may be a great opportunity to shorten the war."

World Reacts To Cambodian Decision

By United Press International

North Vietnam led the Communist world's condemnation of President Nixon's Cambodian decision today, saying the United States was sending in troops to try to save the Phnom Penh regime. U.S. Vietnam allies backed Nixon.

"The Soviets accused the United States of 'new aggression'."

"Nixon's decision is to continue to a dangerous point a series of systematic interferences and aggressions in Cambodia," the North Vietnamese Communist newspaper Nhan Dan said in an editorial broadcast by Hanoi Radio and heard in Saigon.

"Their main objective is to save (Prime Minister) Lon Nol... from collapse. Their arguments that this is a measure to save Allied lives only shows that they are foolhardy and ignore public opinion."

Tass said "The attempts of the American military and its allies in aggression in Vietnam to push Cambodia from the path of peace and neutrality... to transfer the flame of war to the territory of this country, caused justified alarm."

The Italian Communist party, biggest in the Western world, appealed to the government to condemn the Cambodian action. "Imperialist aggression has taken a new and tragic step on the Indochinese Peninsula," the party said. "Tremendous danger threatens the peace of the world."

The Indonesian government called for withdrawal of all foreign troops from Cambodia. "We are greatly distressed at this further escalation of conflict and the additional induction of foreign forces in Cambodian territory," it said.

Cambodian officials declined any official comment but some said privately they were relieved. "I am glad to see we are not being left completely on our own," one official in Phnom Penh said.

Japanese Foreign Minister Kiichi Aichi was among the first to express approval of the Nixon decision. "It must have been an unavoidable decision for the United States to make at this time," he said.

South Korean Foreign Minister Choi Kyu-han said "We believe this decision will contribute not only to the security of Allied forces...

They are encircling the capital of Phnom Penh."

Pledge:

"During my campaign for the presidency, I pledged to bring Americans home from Vietnam. They are coming home... I promised to end the war... I shall keep that promise... I promised to win a just peace... I shall keep that promise... We shall avoid a wider war. But we are also determined to put an end to this war."

Hemphill County Candidates Up For Balloting

CANADIAN (Sp) — Hemphill County residents will go to the polls Saturday to select county judge, county and district clerk, treasurer; two county commissioners; and a justice of the peace.

Incumbent B.F. (Bonnie) Conyers is seeking re-election for county judge and is opposed by Ray Risley, a Hemphill County farmer and Sanford F. Cole, a former county judge.

Jerry Vaniver (Mrs. J.D.) and Clark Reagan are vying for the county and district clerk's job.

Celia Roe is seeking re-election to the office of treasurer.

Both Norman Burton and Edward Detrixhe are seeking re-election to County Commissioner Precinct 2 and Precinct 4, respectively.

Bob Gober has his name on the ballot for the spot of justice of the peace.

Pampa To Host VFW Convention

Pampa will host the Ninth District Convention of Veterans of Foreign Wars Saturday and Sunday at the VFW hall, 523 W. Brown St.

Bill Earls, commander of Pampa Post 1657, said registration will begin at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Earls said about 250 veterans from 13 Panhandle posts are expected to attend the convention.

Highlights of the convention include a beauty contest, a social hour, and a dance Saturday. Sunday activities include business meetings and a banquet.

District officers expected to attend the convention are A.D. Ford, commander, from Borger; Harold Garrett, senior vice commander, from Amarillo; Harris Russell, junior vice commander from Perryton; Bill Montrose, quartermaster; Dumas; Harry Nelson, chaplain; Pampa; Jones Seitz, judge advocate; Pampa; Ted Clawitter, surgeon; Amarillo; and trustees Buck Osborne and Cecil Rhodes, both of Amarillo.

VFW Auxiliary district officers planning to attend are Irene Knapp of Fritch, president and Billie Rhoades of Amarillo, secretary-treasurer.

Pet Owners Advised Of Vaccinations

Pampa veterinarians requested today all pet owners bring their animals to veterinary offices Saturday through May 9 for the annual rabies vaccinations.

Local veterinarians have posted a reduced price of $2 for rabies vaccinations during this week.

Republicans Will Have To Answer For Arms Cut Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A key Republican congressman promised today the House would have to stand up and be counted next week on a $1 billion package of proposed cuts in the defense budget.

But Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., a critic of military spending who wants such a record vote, indicated he was suspicious of what Rep. Alvin E. O'Konski, R-Wis., said he intends to do.

O'Konski, No. 2 Republican on the House Armed Services Committee, told a reporter that next Wednesday, when the House resumes debate on a $20.2 billion weapons authorization bill, he would offer a

RC Office Open For Disaster Aid Requests

Red Cross disaster office in City Hall will remain open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. New applications for disaster aid will be accepted through Monday, according to Mrs. Nell Burton, national Red Cross officer.

"Cases of families who have applied for help will be processed, and all their disaster needs will be met. We have had five families in Pampa who have applied for assistance to replace food, clothing, shelter, medical needs and help repair their homes damaged in the tornado," Mrs. Burton said.

Mrs. Burton works from the midwestern area Red Cross office in St. Louis, Mo., but is from the national office, headquartered in Washington, D.C.

recommittal motion listing proposed reductions totaling just over $1 billion.

House Republican leaders wanted him to use the recommittal to offer a motion simply to kill the bill, which even most critics don't want to happen.

"But I couldn't square that with my conscience so they left it pretty much up to me," said O'Konski.

O'Konski, a television executive from Rhinelander, Wis., said he would propose reductions of $550 million in research and development, $100 million for a new manned bomber, $200 million for the Air Force C-5A transport, $25 million to begin acquiring real estate for five more antiballistic missile sites and $152 million for starting work on a nuclear-powered aircraft carrier.

But Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., frequent critic of Pentagon procurement practices, said he questioned whether a recommittal motion would be meaningful if it included proposed cuts no one had suggested in committee or on the floor, such as in the carrier funds.

Pike said he and his allies would have to "wait and see" whether they would go along with the O'Konski move or try through a difficult parliamentary process to amend it.

Military spending opponents feel the House would register a much more substantial vote against Pentagon budgets if congressmen were required to go on record for or against important amendments that would inflict significant cuts. Under House rules, it is extremely difficult to get a record vote during the amending process.

Wheeler Voters To Make Choices

WHEELER (SpI) — Wheeler County politics are causing quite a bit of interest in this community.

Saturday voters will go to the polls to name either Garland C. Abernathy or incumbent G.W. Hefley or Paul T. Macina as their choice for county judge in the November general elections.

Other posts for voters' choice include Harry Wofford for County clerk; Paul Topper for District clerk; Palmer Savage for county treasurer; Wendall Morgan for superintendent of schools; A.B. Crimp for county chairman; Ernest Henderson for County Commissioner No. 4; O.W. Pendleton for County Commissioner No. 2.

Dick Guynor is running for justice of peace Pcts. 1 and 2. O.F. "Pappy" Holt is a candidate for constable for Pcts. 1 and 2.

MOVE HIGHWAY

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government has decided to move the planned route of an interstate highway in Florida 300 feet to the side, so the road won't disturb a bald eagle nesting atop a 500-foot pine tree.

The tree is located near Bradenton, about 40 miles southeast of Tampa. Federal highway officials believe motorists using I-75 when it is opened between Tampa and Miami will be able to see the nest as they drive by.

Stunning Movie Blonde Dies Of Barbiturate Overdose

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Inger Stevens, the stunning blue-eyed blonde who appeared in scores of television roles including the beguiling housekeeper of "The Farmer's Daughter," died Thursday at 35 of an overdose of barbiturates.

Tests were being conducted today by the coroner's office to determine how the pills came to be taken and whether the death was accidental or a suicide.

Miss Stevens' death Thursday was officially attributed to "acute barbiturate intoxication." She died on the way to a hospital after she was found semiconscious in her home clad in a negligee. Police said there were no signs of violence.

In 1959, the Stockholm-born actress was found unconscious in her New York apartment. A partly empty ammonia bottle was found nearby and doctors said she had swallowed a caustic solution. Police said there were no indications she attempted suicide.

Miss Stevens, whose real name was Inger Steneland, was found lying on her kitchen floor by her secretary, Lola McNally.

Miss Stevens came to the United States with her family at the age of 13 and began working in television several years later after a summer playing stock roles on the stage. She later appeared in leading roles on television series and dramatic specials.

Included in her movie credits were "Man on Fire," "Cry Terror," "The Flesh and The Devil," and her last film, "Dream of Kings."

Miss Stevens' death was the sixth in the Hollywood community in the past two weeks. Others were Gypsy Rose Lee, Anita Louise, Arthur Shields, Ed Begley and columnist Florabel Muir.

National Judge Reviews Talent Of Area Pianists

James L. Duncan, Pueblo, Colo., is adjudicator this week for the annual National Piano Auditions being held at the Assembly of God Church. About 65 piano students of area teachers are participating in the 1970 auditions, which end Saturday.

Teachers whose students are participating are Mrs. Fidelia Yoder, Pampa Piano Teachers Guild chairman; Bill Haley and Tracy Cary, all of Pampa; Mrs. Willie Boyett, McLean; Mrs. J.L. Naylor, Panhandle and Mrs. H.C. Brannon, Shamrock. Mrs. Ramon Wilson, 1221 Williston, is monitor.

Students earn certificates and pins for participation in the program. For two or three selections, they earn local certificates; for four to six pieces, district; for seven to nine, state; for 10 to 14, national, and 15 to 20 numbers, international.

The judge, who is head of the department of music at Southern State College in Pueblo, will present each student a musical report card with an evaluation of his performance.

Kingdom For A Tulip

The world's first tulips were grown in Persia and Turkey, but it's no wonder that Holland is considered the home of the tulip today.

When the first tulips were introduced into Holland, the reaction of the Dutch was passionate to say the least. The desire for unusual tulips that seized the Dutch drove the price of the bulbs up and at one point a single tulip bulb sold for $1,500.

Rare varieties were in such demand that ordinarily cautious Dutch citizens mortgaged their business, farms and sold even their beds to get possession of the blooms. In fact, the period of "Tulipomania" from 1634-37 nearly caused Holland's economic ruin until the courts controlled the trading and brought the era of flower fever to an end.

Your Horoscope

JEANE DIXON

FOR SATURDAY, MAY 2: Your birthday Saturday: The year ahead challenges your initiative. Everything depends on how you get started and keep going on first one project then another. Your influence in your field of work develops according to the nature of specialization you achieve. Definite choices must be made early, and pursued industriously.

ARIES (March 21-Apr. 19): Give thought, this morning to what you can achieve with the weekend. Take the time and trouble to explain any point which baffles or annoys your mate.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Interruptions and distractions are normal for your working conditions. Accept them in good spirit; try not to break your pace. A long steady day of determined effort will produce many desired results.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): New contacts Saturday can lead to whole circles of good friends later. Stay informed for change and movement.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Family affairs interfere with career matters if you let them. With a little finesse much progress may be achieved in both. Confidential deals carry strong potentials for later development.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Your personal state of affairs and status improve. Friends turn out to be surprisingly helpful.

VIRGO (Ag. 23-Sept. 22): The choices you make about money matters are hard to decide. You take too long on fine details so that you end up with too little time for broad policy choices.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You encounter just enough resistance to encourage you to check your facts and make a strong presentation. Unusual contacts produce interesting results, potential openings.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Unsettled conditions require you to be constantly on the alert. There are changes to notice and work around.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Saturday has an abrupt quality requiring definite action or complete silence. Creative projects take a great deal of attention, and merit more.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Put your main energy into activities of real importance to you. Your work has many fascinating features, and all too many distractions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Bright new ideas occur in the midst of routines well-done. Travel is rather disappointing. Fresh and interesting facets of relationship-experience offer much food for thought.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Unexpected opportunity is at hand, briefly, for those alert and ready to react. Family situations change suddenly, probably for the better in the long run.

Pound Pirates Report Progress In Weight Loss

Pampa Pirates met recently with 23 members present. T.O.P.S. had a loss of 32 lbs. with Charlotte Walker winning the fruit basket. K.O.P.S. had a loss of 4 1/2 lbs. Their fruit basket went to Dean Steadman.

Four women had gained and were required to sit in a pig pen during the meeting. The door prize was won by Pat Ragsdale.

Fashionable Swimmers Cover Summer Suits With Sweaters

NEW YORK (NEA) — Few basic ideas have had as far-reaching influence on fashion as the sweater. Unless it's the shirt.

You have both to thank for the sweater, sweatshirt, shirtdress and shirtcoat, not to mention the endless variations of the shirt and sweater on their own. It just goes to show that there's nothing completely new in the world of dress.

The sweater gets one of its freshest go-rounds in a new brand of beach-dressing. Sweater tops are everywhere in swimwear from long pullovers to the shortest little shrug. One designer does the latter in a sweated-knit of Acrylic acrylic — much newer than the standard swimwear top.

But the swimsuit is only part of beach-dressing. What goes over the suit has become almost more important and that's where the sweater really goes to all lengths. Hip-length and stretchy, the pullover is just about the most logical thing to pull over a suit following a swim. And when it's in absorbent stretch terry — then all the better.

The overgrown baby sweater, buttoned all the way to the ankle, is the ultimate beach cover. In white rib knit, it's just about the sleekest thing around.

Beach sweaters also get into the pants act in a big way — as sweater-y jumpsuits, snug through the body, flared at the ankle and very '30s in feeling. Jane Irwill designs a great sweaterjumps in Acrylic boucle rib knit, its neckline laced up from a low plunge. Great for those who prefer a romp along the shore to a dip in the surf.

The sweater girl didn't die with the '40s. She has never been more in evidence than she is today.

Texas Governor Proclaims May As ABWA Month

A proclamation has been issued by Gov. Preston Smith, naming May as American Business Women's Association Scholarship Month. The proclamation honoring ABWA is in recognition of the association's work in education.

This organization, founded in 1949 in Kansas City, Mo., has sponsored scholarships on local and national levels. Last year alone, over $225,000 in scholarships were awarded by chapters, and an additional $75,000 from SEMEF, the national educational fund of the association, according to Mrs. George Shelton, local chapter president.

ABWA, an educational association, is devoted to better employer-employee relations. It has over 50,000 active members throughout all 50 states, with more than 850 chapters. The Pampa chapter is stressing the scholarship program this year by sponsoring scholarships for Pam Thomas, West Texas State University student and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thomas, 1909 Williston, and Mrs. Colleen Dunn, who attends the Vocational School of Nursing, Highland General Hospital.

"This is but one part of ABWA's effort toward education. The extension of its own members' knowledge of business techniques and practices is another program of the association," Mrs. Shelton said.

Unit Starts Camp For MD Patients

West Texas children, previously denied the privilege of attending Summer camp due to their physical condition, will now have the chance for that all-American youth past-time, according to Mrs. Jerri Jones, Greater Plains Chapter, public health education director.

The opportunity is being provided through a new camp program sponsored by the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America and made possible through funds from a special grant by the Moody Foundation at Galveston, announced Lee Thomas, president of the Greater Plains MDAA Chapter.

MD patients from seven to 17 years of age are eligible to attend, according to Howard Wright, district director of the health agency for West Texas.

The camp will be conducted June 7 through 13 at the Baptist Assembly Camp near Floydada. About 50 youngsters are expected to attend this first year.

"Existing camps for the handicapped have not been able to accept most dystrophic due to the degree of individual attention required by these children. The MDAA sponsored project will provide teenage volunteer attendants between 16 and 19 years of age, matched individually to each dystrophic camper," Mrs. Jones said.

Activities will include most of the events found at the conventional camp, but they will be tailored to meet the minimal strengths of the special campers. For instance, beach balls will be substituted for volleyball and arrows for the javelin throw.

"Horseback rides will be accomplished with a quartet of assistants: one to ride double with the patient, one on either side of the horse and one leading.

Waterfront activities are particularly suited to dystrophic patients who are often able to use their muscles in the same manner as when they were normal," she said.

Muscular Dystrophy is a baffling disease which gradually robs its victims of their muscular strengths, Mrs. Jones said.

Pampans Attend Annual Council Of Episcopalians

The 12th annual Council of the Episcopal Diocese of Northwest Texas was held April 24-26, and 27, at Holy Trinity Church, Midland, with eight from Pampa attending.

The Women of the Diocese met concurrently with the council. Mrs. Harvey Herd, president of the Diocesan Churchwoman presided.

Special guest and speaker to the women at their morning meeting was the Rt. Rev. Frederick J. Warnock, Bishop of Bethlehem, Pa. Also speaking to the Women was Bill Morgan, a student at Seminary of the Southwest in Austin.

Officers elected to serve the Women of the Diocese were Vice-President, Mrs. Lee Williamson, Church of the Heavenly Rest, Abilene; Christian Education, Mrs. Rodney McDaniel, St. Peter's, Borger; Parliamentarian, Mrs. Robert Brummal, St. Paul's, Lubbock; and United Thank Offering, Mrs. J.B. McFarland, St. Andrews, Amarillo.

More than 125 women in attendance including, Meses, Bill Arrington, Joe Daniel, Sam Hulsey, George McCarroll, Bill Nix, Tom Patton, Jack Reeve and Bill Tuke from St. Matthews Episcopal Church in Pampa.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please write something in your column about people (usually women) who are trying to lose weight. It's their business what they eat in their own homes, but when they are at a friend's house for dinner or lunch, don't you think it's rude of them to pick at their food and to say, "I'm sorry, I'm on a diet and can't eat very much." Or even flatly refuse to taste your dessert!

When the hostess goes to a lot of trouble to make food attractive and tasty shouldn't the guest, out of courtesy to her, eat and enjoy it?

People should diet at home. It's like a slap in the face when these picky dieters come to your table and spurn good food. INDIGNANT

DEAR INDIGNANT: Lucky you! Apparently you don't know how hard it is to lose a few pounds. When a dieter is invited out, she should let her hostess know that she is watching her calories. I would not feel "insulted" if a guest tried to stick to his diet at my table. I would help him instead, by serving fruit and cheese for dessert; and I wouldn't coax him to eat more than he wanted.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for two years to a wonderful man, but something has come up which threatens our marriage.

I have three children by a previous marriage. The children's father has been sending support checks regularly since our divorce. He's never complained, but I know it has been a terrible hardship on him because he is now married to a woman whose husband deserted her and her three children, so he adopted her three, and is now supporting six children.

My children and their father have always had an excellent relationship. Now my children see their father's stepchildren at school and church, and they notice the disparity between their standards of living and that of their father's adopted children, whom they like very much.

Abby, my present husband is very well to do, and he doesn't need that support money from my "ex," but he says he is not about to let him off the hook.

It seems so wrong for us to continue to accept support checks from my "ex" who is struggling hard to make ends meet, when my children don't need it, and his adopted family does.

My children and I have talked it over and want to put a stop to the support checks, but my husband is determined to keep collecting until the children are all of age. What can I do, Abby?

WALKING A TIGHT ROPE, DEAR WALKING: Nothing. Your present husband for reasons of insecurity, probably resents your "ex" and is determined to keep him on the hook for child support. Or he could be, frankly money-hungry. Both are regrettable, but there is nothing you can do about either, unless through persistent hammering you can finally get through to him. Keep trying.

DEAR ABBY: That designing female who set up a candlelight and wine dinner to find out if that new muscle man in the office was as good a lover as he appeared to be sure got what was coming to her. Nothing! Poor guy was probably emasculated previously by another female before he was old enough to protect himself. His mother.

To Patch Trousers

By POLLY CRAMER
Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY—I put my best flowered sheets in the washer, added detergent, set the dial and went about my business. When I removed the sheets I nearly fainted. They were a rusty brown. The pipes chose that particular time to belch rusty water on my beautiful linens. If they were solid white I could use color remover, but with the flower designs, what can I do to remove this rust?—GERDA

DEAR POLLY—Mrs. H. G. wrote that the inner thigh part of her son's trousers wear out so quickly. I suggest that BEFORE the trousers are ever worn she puts patches that iron on over the trouble spots. I have done this for many years and it works beautifully. I might add that the same procedure works well at the knees of play pants.—MRS. J.W.

DEAR POLLY—want to tell Mrs. H. G. that I cut a wedge-shaped piece out of the worn part of trousers and replace it with a new piece. This can be done several times if you have the matching fabric. The seams are not noticeable as they are on the inner thigh part. If pants need to be shortened, save the pieces cut off or use the cuffs for such replacements.—BESSIE

DEAR POLLY—I am in military service and travel by car a great deal. I find it convenient to include a plastic bag (suspended from the car radio knob) which contains a clean roll of deodorant bottle filled with one-half liquid soap and one-half water. This is useful in gas stations that rarely have any soap. Another such bottle holds hand lotion. In a plastic pill box I carry quarters, dimes and nickels to have handy for tolls. FIRST FREE WILL BAPTIST

REV. EARL JENSON, EVANGELIST FROM ALLEN, OKLA.

EVERYONE WELCOME

Local Church News

First Baptist Church

The pastor, Dan B. Cameron, will be in the pulpit for both services of worship Sunday in the First Baptist Church. In the 11 a.m. worship he will preach on the subject, "Happiness Is." David Campbell, minister of music, will give direction to the music which includes an anthem sung by the Sanctuary Choir.

"The God Who Waits" is the topic the pastor has chosen for his 7 p.m. sermon topic. The Crusader Choir will occupy the choir loft and sing two numbers, "Sweet Is the Name of Jesus" and "God of Love I Love Thee." The Wednesday evening prayer meeting will begin at 6:15 and is to be preceded by a fellowship supper at 5:30. The book of Matthew will be taught, and this week's lesson will be taken from Chapter 5. The young people of the church are meeting on Wednesday evenings during the prayer meeting hour for Bible study. This group will be taught by David Campbell.

Immanuel Temple

The Immanuel Temple Church, 801 East Campbell St. will hold revival services May 6 through 10.

Rev. Bob Palmer, from Webb City, Missouri, will be the evangelist for the services. Rev. Palmer has been a missionary to Alaska for 17 years. He is a former superintendent of the Midwest Bible Institute. Rev. Palmer is now pastoring in Keelville, Kansas. Revival services will begin each night at 7:30.

Jehovah's Witnesses

Guest speaker for the local congregation of Jehovah's witnesses Sunday will be Tom Murry of Perryton, Texas. His subject will be "The Harmony of The Gospels." The speaker will by comparison show the harmony of the four Gospels, Mathew, Mark, Luke, and John, and how they do not contradict each other in telling of the life and ministry of Jesus Christ but rather how they supplement each other.

The different approaches and purposes of each account will be explained by Murry in his discussion of the subject, at 10:00 a.m. Sunday at Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses, 1701 Coffee.

First Christian Church

The Rev. Shely H. Anglemeyer will deliver the Morning Message for the Worship Hour for the First Christian Church this Sunday. He has chosen for his Sermon Topic "The Upper Room" with Scripture selections from Luke 22:7-23. The choir, under the direction of Miss Rosemary Lawlor, and accompanied by Mrs. John Gill will present the Anthem, "The Abundant God." Sunday afternoon the Congregation will attend a "Zone A Rally" at Borger. The Pampa Choir has been invited to perform. Dr. John Stewart, Professor Old Testament, Brite Divinity School and Don Dean, President for the Hi-Plains Area will be the speakers.

Registration will begin at 2:30 p.m. In order that the entire church may attend this meeting, the snack supper, youth groups and Christian Life Curriculum Sessions have been canceled for this week. The Functional Committees of the church will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. followed by the Official Board at 8:30 p.m.

The Mid-Western Gospel Church, 1541 Hamilton St. at church, said the Quartet recently completed a successful tour of the southern United States.

Rev. J.F. Beebe, pastor of the church, said the Quartet recently completed a successful tour of the southern United States.

Pampa Church of Christ

The Pampa Church of Christ will begin a series of meetings Sunday featuring Earl Cantwell as the guest speaker.

Cantwell will speak at the 10:30 a.m. service. In an earlier meeting at 9:30, the congregation will study Romans, chapter 10.

ARBORSAL ARDOR

HOUSTON (UPI)—One mother tried to coax her son down from a tree with a bullhorn.

"Arthur, when are you coming down?" she asked. "Arthur, if you come down we will buy you a malt."

Arthur, 60 feet up in the tree, did not answer.

"Arthur, are you coming down?" she asked again.

"No," Arthur said.

"Well, your father's gonna drive your pickup truck home."

But finally Arthur and another 25 or 30 persons from the University of Houston Community who climbed the trees in a vain effort to stop the destruction of "Peoples Park II" did come down.

So did the trees.

At 7 a.m. Wednesday the bulldozers moved in and ripped up the huge oaks and tall pines to clear the site for the construction of a $3.8 million fine arts center for the school. The students wanted the grove preserved and the center built someplace else.

PEACE

We take this opportunity to think together about peace. We are concerned about the peace of God, peace in the world, peace between us, peace within each one of us everywhere.

Not possible? Very possible in God's Kingdom. Difficult? Very difficult. Perhaps it will help to clarify some understandings of true peace... especially when we know so much personal conflict, even when there is the real possibility of further United States involvement in Southeast Asia.

There are some of us delighted to be called "doves" or "peaceniks", when the word "peace" is defined properly. Like most words we use we need to be surer of what we mean by the word peace.

We are interested in the peace of God, peace that if true is growing union with Him, a peace that does "pass understanding" because one delves into deeper relationship with Him as His ever more devoted servant. God's peace is not placidity; rather it keeps one face up to reality, it is real, vital, alive, strong, definite, courageous. And, perhaps most excitingly, it can include diversity and difference of opinion. It includes no promises for an easy, superficial life in this world. We agree with the hymnwriter who said, "The peace of God, it is no peace."

At the same time we, like St. Francis, can be instruments of peace — as father or mother, as husband or wife, as child, as brother or sister, as neighbor or friend, as employer or employee, as a citizen, as an organized churchman — simply as a person, as a member of God's human family which is in need of His most available peace.

Dallas Survey Reveals Heavy Users

DALLAS (UPI)—A detailed study of Dallas high school and junior high school students showed today that 28 per cent admit at least one experience with an illicit drug and 4-8 per cent consider themselves heavy users.

The illicit drugs referred to in a survey of 57,000 students last October are marijuana, nonprescription stimulants, glue, amphetamines, solvents and heroin.

The students answered questionnaires, with "catch" questions to detect falsehoods, about drug use. Reported use of alcohol went as high as 71 per cent among high school students, with 35 per cent having used it 10 or more times.

Forty-four per cent said they had used tobacco and 21 per cent had used it at least 10 times.

Three per cent of both high school and junior high school students admitted having used heroin at least once but less than 1 per cent admitted they had used it 10 or more times.

PNG Earnings Up In 1970

AMARILLO — Earnings for Pioneer Natural Gas Co. and subsidiaries were up 4 cents per share the first quarter of 1970, compared with the same period in 1969, according to an announcement by Burton P. Smith, company president.

Earnings per share for the first quarter amounted to 35 cents on 7,409,677 average shares outstanding during this period. This compares with 31 cents per share on the 7,394,514 average shares outstanding during the same period last year.

Consolidated net income of Pioneer and subsidiaries for the quarter ended March 31, 1970, amounted to $2,590,327, compared with $2,287,202 for the first quarter of 1969.

The first quarterly report to the stockholders will be mailed about May 15, Smith said.

Carson County Launches Measles Immunization

Carson is among the first counties in Texas to launch a county wide Rubella immunization campaign aimed at eradicating the disease in Texas and the entire nation.

Health officials and the boards of education urge parents of children ages one through 10 to take advantage of the availability of this vaccine, according to Dorothy C. McMunray, White Deer school nurse.

"Parents are reminded the vaccine is for Rubella, com-

Morris Looks To American Party For Aid

By United Press International
Republican senate hopeful Dr. Robert Morris has predicted support from the American party will provide his margin of victory Saturday over Rep. George Bush, R-Tex.

But state Republican Chairman William Steeger said Republicans were not looking or asking for support from the party founded two years ago by third party presidential candidate George C. Wallace of Alabama.

The seemingly conflicting remarks increased the division between Morris and the higher echelon of the Republican party of Texas. State GOP officials have made it clear Bush is their candidate and Morris criticized Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., from openly endorsing Bush.

Morris said Tower's action violated the open primary idea. Morris said Wednesday he is running ahead of Bush among Republican regulars and American party members voting in the GOP primary were almost solidly backing his candidacy.

Someone asked Steeger in Amarillo if the Republican party wanted the support of the American party. Steeger said: "We have never wanted people who could be labeled as interlopers or who try to come into a primary without fully subscribing to the views of the party."

Despite Morris' prediction, political observers feel Bush should win Saturday's primary handily over Morris.

only called German or three day measles, and should not be confused with the vaccine for regular red measles that was given last year. Red measles vaccine does not protect against Rubella. Also since many childhood diseases look and act like three day measles, it is impossible to be sure that the child has had the disease without a special blood test. So it is recommended that all children ages one through 10 be given the vaccine even though it is believed that a child has had the disease," she said.

Using the painless "Jet Injector" the vaccine will be given in the schools to school children and pre-school children having signed permission from a parent or guardian. Parents of children at least one year of age or older, but yet in school are urged to bring their children to any one of the schools at the time scheduled.

In White Deer, vaccinations are at 8:15 a.m.; Skellytown, 9:15 a.m.; Panhandle, 11 a.m., and Groom, 2 p.m. May 6.

The vaccine will be furnished free by the Texas State Department of Health to children from ages six through 10. There will be a minimum charge for the vaccine for ages one through five. Local civic clubs will pay for the vaccinations for children whose parents are unable to pay for them, she said.

Echos Of 'Gold Strike' Resound In Georgia Hills

DAHLONEGA, Ga. (UPI)—E. Crisson's heartache was a gleaming yellow dream that was always an untapped, untouchable reality.

He dreamed of a rich vein of gold, 50 feet down in soft, sandy clay in the Georgia mountains—a rolling rocky country cut through by the Midas touch.

Crisson, who owned 40 acres of this country 60 years ago, tunneled several hundred feet on an angle from the side of a ridge and sliced into the vein, only to have the earth collapse on top of his strike and bury his dream under tons of dirt.

For more than half a century, Crisson dreamed of this land and passed his dreams onto his son Reese, and Reese's sons, Leroy, R. L. and Johnny.

Fever Catches Up
The fever finally caught up the sons of Reese Crisson. The brothers pooled their resources, abandoned for the most part their jobs, and sank their lives and futures in their grandfather's flooded mine shaft. Less than a week ago, the ill-kept secret became a cry that has launched more than a dozen gold rushes here alone in the past 150 years.

"Gold! The Crisson's struck it rich."

Whether they actually struck it rich depends on the final verdict from the assayer, who recently took samples from throughout the Crisson property.

acknowledged Jesse Auvil, head of the Georgia Department of Mines, Mining and Geology, "but we won't know how valuable it is until our reports are complete" in about 10 days.

Crissons Buoyed Up
But the Crissons, aged 42, 39 and 29, are buoyed up by their find.

"There is some gold there,"

Mainly About Canadians

By MRS. OTHELLO MILLER (Canadian)

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Williams and family from Montana were recent Canadian visitors. Mr. Williams is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Williams.

Mrs. E.R. Cloyd was hostess for the April meeting of the Altar Society of the Sacred Heart Church.

Marine Gunnery Sergeant Arthur D. Moore is now serving at the Marine Corps Supply Center at Barstow, Calif. His wife, Jerry, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.F. Slaten of 729 S. Sixth Street in Canadian. While Moore served overseas, Mrs. Moore was employed here in the office of the city secretary.

The First National Bank in Canadian has been named a Recorded Texas Historic Landmark. A 12x16 inch Building Medallion Plate with the following wording will be attached to the structure. Wording on the plate will be as follows: First National Bank of Canadian. Successor to the first bank in the Panhandle: The Traders Bank at Canadian, organized by Henry Hamburg and Robert Moody on Aug. 1, 1887. In 1892 Moody and his son-in-law, D.J. Young, established the Canadian Valley Bank. The two men converted it into the First National Bank of Canadian in 1903. Moody was an official at all three banks. The present structure was built in 1920. Architect was J.C. Berry. Recorded Texas Historic Landmark—1970.

The employees of the Mobil Oil Company are proud of their safety record. They were recently given an Awards Dinner in the Harvester Dining Room at Pampa. The Mobil Safety motif was used in the decorations and the Mobil colors of blue and red were used in the floral arrangements.

Pampa guests were Mr. and Mrs. G.C. Rutherford and Mrs. Ruth Campbell and children, Karen and Mike. Mr. Rutherford is district superintendent of the organization and Mrs. Campbell an office employee.

Attending from Canadian were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin East and Johnny, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Slaton, Mr. and Mrs.

Houston Hardy, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schaefer and Tammy and Todd, Mr. and Mrs. Herman A. Hanks, Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Collins and Mike, and Mr. and Mrs. D.J.W. Stephens. Only one reportable accident has occurred on the job in Canadian under area foreman Herman Hanks and assistant area foreman Edwin East, since 1962.

Francis R. Carpenter, Canadian, is one of the Indiana University Bloomington campus undergraduate students to be singled out for special scholastic recognition at the University's annual Founders Day ceremonies May 6.

Navy Petty Officer Second Class Johnny O. Ford has returned to Long Beach, Calif., after a six-month deployment in the Western Pacific aboard the destroyer USS Alfred A. Cunningham. His wife, Nancy, who is staying here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Garrison, reports he may get to come home on leave in May. He has been chosen one of the navy's 574 men to receive a college education while in the service. In June he will be sent to a preparatory school. Upon graduation in August he will be sent to one of the participating colleges and may get to go to Austin or Norman, Okla.

Work is progressing nicely on the new Motor Bank being built in connection with the First National Bank here. In spite of the fact that postal patrons here have been getting their mail in the new post office for more than a week now, many people forget and stop at the old office. Two of the oldest business buildings in Canadian, The Wood Furniture store, operated by the late Hez Wood and his wife, and the Studer building, will soon be torn down and the lots cleared by the Chamber of Commerce in an effort to improve the look of the city. The Studer building housed a number of businesses founded by the late J.C. Studer and later operated by his son the late Carl Studer. They included a meat market, bakery and grocery store. The building stands on the former location of the old Studer blacksmith shop and livery stable.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The market will turn around when there is "increased investment liquidity," according to Wright Investors' Service. This can develop through more vigorous Federal Reserve Board open-market operations designed to provide liquid funds "fast" reductions in stock margin requirements and the F.R.E. discount rate, it adds.

It is already "too late" for stock market by some grandstand gesture," Hoppin Bros. & Co. observes. But, the analyst adds, the government "can" make it clear that it would like to relate to us investors and join in a new program to teach America to smile again."

Dean Witter & Co. says this country apparently is undergoing a recession comparable to that of 1960-61, but the company's opinion is that it will end by the middle of the year. The firm adds that the "various structural problems" in the economy indicate the stock market will continue to "adjust to a new equilibrium to reflect shifts in the outlook for different (economic) sectors." Shifts such as the company anticipates will result in unusual investment opportunities, Dean Witter says.

The stock market list apparently will remain under pressure for another three to five weeks with poor acting issues making new lows while stronger performers "consolidate erratically sideways," TPO Incorporated observes. It adds: "In view of the near term unfavorable outlook, further selling of questionable issues is recommended for the purpose of purchasing better performers at prices under the market."

Suspected Black Panthers Are Taken In Ghetto Roundup

BALTIMORE (UPI)—At least 10 suspected Black Panthers, including two women, were arrested Thursday in a ghetto roundup involving 150 heavily-armed policemen. Police Commissioner Donald Pomerleau said some of the arrested men and five others still being sought were wanted for the torture murder of a member of the black militant group last summer.

He identified the victim as Eugene Leroy Anderson. Anderson's mutilated body was found in a West Baltimore park last July 12. Pomerleau said Anderson was tortured at Black Panther headquarters in East Baltimore.

One of those arrested today as an accessory before the fact in the Anderson killing, Marshall Conway, was being held without bail for the ambush murder of Patrolman Donald Sager last Friday.

Four others arrested were not named in connection with the Anderson case but were seized in a car loaded with eight guns, including rifles and shotguns.

One of this group was identified by police as John Clark, captain of the local Panther chapter.

Among the premises raided were Panther headquarters and a school where the group conducts a breakfast program for ghetto children.

Lloyd Bentsen—a leading Texas businessman, prominent Democrat and former Congressman—is willing to put his ability and experience on the line for the people of Texas. Why?

He believes we must have a change...that we can't afford another six years of the policies of our present Democratic Senator. Lloyd Bentsen does not believe his opponent's roven record of "old politics," partisanship and divisiveness is the answer to our problems.

Big change for the better. Bentsen.

Lloyd Bentsen believes the people of Texas want a United States Senator with fresh ideas and fresh approaches to the problems we face. Like you, he wants to do something constructive about inflation, high interest rates; the rising cost of living, big federal budgets and big federal debt. He wants to support rather than obstruct efforts to end the war. Like you, he wants to bring reform to outmoded federal programs rather than compounding old problems. He believes Texas is ready to turn a new page...to send a new man to Washington.

If you believe as he does, help Lloyd Bentsen help Texas. He's a youthful, energetic leader. He offers depth of experience in government, finance and business that prepares him well to serve in the U.S. Senate.

Vote for new leadership in the May 2nd Democratic Primary.

Washington Window

By ARNOLD B. SAWISLAK
WASHINGTON (UPI) — If there are any established truths to be stated about the leading men of Congress, one would have to be that Wilbur Mills wears no man's collar.

Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, has immense influence — partly because of high competence and partly because he can and has defied presidents of the United States whom he thinks are wrong. Lyndon Johnson, for one, found that out in 1967 when he had to accept a limitation on federal spending to a surtax out of Mills' committee. The contest took more than a year.

But two weeks ago there was the low-keyed Arkansas Democrat on the House floor selling President Nixon's welfare reform bill. Six months ago, it was a good bet that the "family assistance plan" would gather dust in Mills' committee at least until after the 1970 elections.

Good, Long Look

Mills had indicated that he wanted to take a good, long look at the proposal, including the guaranteed annual income concept imbedded in it, that was taken to mean the bill would wait months or even years, as did Medicare.

College Prexy Eyes Senate

By United Press International
Dr. Robert Morris, a native of New Jersey, says one of the main reasons he entered the Republican primary as a candidate for the U.S. Senate is that something must be done to help 50 million people in this country who have reading and related problems.

Nothing is now being done to help these people solve their problems, the founder and president of Plano University says.

Morris came to Texas in 1960 to become president of the University of Dallas. In 1964, he moved to the town of Plano, 18 miles north of Dallas, and founded the University of Plano.

Morris made his first bid for political office also in 1964. He ran in the Republican primary that time for the same office and against the same man he is opposing this year — George Bush of Houston. Bush easily defeated Morris that year, but lost that time to the man they are both trying to replace again in 1970 — Democratic Sen. Ralph Yarborough.

Solid Conservative
A solid conservative, Morris openly courted the support of George Wallace's American party this year. He said his campaign office was "inundated" with offers of help from Wallace supporters.

Morris' campaign platform included strengthening the national military program, morality and spirituality in public life, an end to tight credit and high interest rates, support of legislation against "new treason" caused by "revolutionaries" within this country, and the Vietnamization of the Southeast Asian war.

The family assistance plan is at least as precedent-breaking and controversial as Medicare, but it took Mills only about six months to come around. It happened so fast that some observers felt Mills must have changed his mind on political grounds — that is, to approve the bill, good or bad, and return the welfare "hot potato" to the White House.

A Washington veteran well-acquainted with Mills believes there might have been some politics in the decision, but it was too simple to say the whole purpose was to put Nixon on the spot.

According to this man, who was not talking for attribution, Mills is far more pragmatic than political. And in the current state of public welfare, pragmatism required the conclusion that changes had to be made.

For example, in the same 1960-70 decade that the number of persons below the poverty income line decreased from 40 million to about 22 million, the welfare rolls nearly doubled to 10.4 million and payments (exclusive of administrative costs) increased from $3.2 billion to $6.4 billion. That kind of a trend could not go on long without political trouble for everyone involved.

Not To Be Ignored

Mills could not simply ignore the situation after the President called for reform.

Mills had two alternatives to the Nixon request. First, he could have gone for tougher administration of welfare with a strong emphasis on requiring that recipients go to work. But so many persons on welfare are unable to work, that the improvement, if any, probably would be slight and the outcry from social workers and political liberals would be thunderous.

Mills second option was to design a better welfare reform program than Nixon sent to Congress — with, for example, benefits for the unmarried and childless poor, who would get nothing from the Nixon plan. But simply adding these 800,000 poor people would cost several billion dollars, and Mills does not relish the label of budget-buster.

So Mills decided to go along with Nixon for lack of some other good alternative. If the plan works well, Mills can claim part of the credit. If it flops, the finger will point mainly at Nixon.

Safety Seminar Slated

A "Safer '70 Seminar" has been announced by Jerry Lunsford of Pampa, secretary-treasurer of the Panhandle Chapter, American Society of Safety Engineers.

Lunsford said, "Every businessman who has a business operating machinery, motor vehicles or even office equipment should attend or be represented at this seminar to be held Wednesday, May 6, and Thursday, May 7, at the Holiday Inn West in Amarillo."

"Our 1969 one-day meeting was so successful that this year's seminar has been expanded to 'a full two days', said Lunsford.

Featured in this year's program will be Edward N. Deck, national president of the American Society of Safety Engineers from New York, speaking at the banquet Wednesday evening, May 6. Sharing the spotlight during the day will be Robert Currie, Assistant to the General Manager of the National Safety Council from Chicago.

Deck will speak on the subject, "Safety and Its Place in Your Business", while Currie will talk about "Federal Safety Regulations and Pending Legislation".

Other subjects to be covered by nationally recognized experts will be: Medical Services for Business and Industry, Proper Accident Investigation, The Business Manager's Approach to Safety, Cargo Handling in the Transportation Industry, Industrial Employes and Alcoholism, Traffic Safety, Principles of Machine Guarding, Safety Meetings and How to Conduct Them, and a Simulated Trial of a Damage Suit from a Work-Connected Injury.

Registration fee for the 2-day seminar is $8.50 and pre-registration blanks may be obtained from Lunsford, Celanese Chemical Co., P.O. Box 937, Pampa, Texas 79065, or register at the Seminar.

"I infer a reasonable and probable explanation of the totality of the above facts is that Kennedy and Kopechne did not intend to return to Edgartown at that time; that Kennedy did not intend to drive to the ferry slip and his turn onto Dike Road was intentional.

STUDY POSSIBILITY

PARIS (UPI)—Six European countries decided Tuesday to study the possibility of building a "space tug" that would transport equipment between space stations.

Britain, France, West Germany, Belgium, Italy and the Netherlands adopted a resolution when it meets in June to participate in the program. The resolution, adopted at the close of a two-day meeting of the European Organization for the Construction of Space Rockets, was the first response to proposals made by the United States to enlist European countries in space programs.

Bentsen, Yarborough File Complaints With FCPC

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., and Lloyd Bentsen have both filed complaints to the Fair Campaign Practices Committee, accusing each other of dirty politicking in their heated senatorial Democratic primary fight.

The FCPC, a non-partisan group dedicated to elevating "the standards of ethics and morality in political campaigns," received Bentsen's charges Wednesday.

Yarborough earlier filed a complaint about Bentsen's television commercials, which the senator said distorted and falsified "the facts of my publicly announced position on the candidacy for president; of Sen. Eugene McCarthy (D-Minn.) and on the (Nov. 15 antiwar) moratorium." The commercials showed films of street fighting between police and demonstrators, while Bentsen's voice told of Yarborough's endorsement of McCarthy and the moratorium.

The Fair Campaign Practices Committee is an independent group with no powers. "All we can do is act as an intermediary and see that both sides are told so hopefully the voters can make up their own minds," a committee spokesman said today.

Businessmen, Industrialists

By United Press International
Lloyd M. Bentsen, Jr., 49, split the Democratic party in Texas during the 12 years he has held his Senate post and "has done nothing but widen the split" in recent months.

Other than himself, the one person who probably influenced Bentsen to run against Yarborough is former Gov. John Connally, now also a Houston resident. Connally has been a bitter political enemy of Yarborough's for years, and would like nothing better than to see his old foe ousted from office.

Bentsen conducted a vigorous campaign, both in person through the broadcast and in news media, from the moment he got in the race until election eve.

He hit hard at Yarborough's record, saying time and time again that the senior senator from Texas does not represent the views of a majority of Texans. Bentsen criticized over and over Yarborough's support of the antiwar moratorium in and his support of liberals Sens. Eugene McCarthy.

American Cancer Society's Fact Mobile . . . illustrates dangers of smoking.

School Children To Look At 'Smoke Facts

The newest "cancer-fighter" in town has arrived for the citizens of Pampa to visit this week, Sam A. Begert, education chairman of the Gray County Unit of the American Cancer Society announced today.

The Cancer Mobile Exhibit Van has arrived to display the relationship of cigarette smoking to cancer.

The truck will be located at Pampa schools from May 4 to May 15 and will be open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Volunteers of the American Cancer Society who will be manning the unit include: Mrs. Ruth Steger, elementary school nurse; Mrs. O.C. Penn, head school nurse; Jimmy Crossman, Key Club cancer representative; Sam Begert, Horace Mann School principal.

The following is the scheduled dates for various schools: Woodrow Wilson, May 4; B.M. Baker, May 5; Horace Mann, May 6; Stephen F. Austin, May 7; Sam Houston, May 8; Robert E. Lee Junior High, May 11; William B. Travis, May 12; Pampa High School, May 13; Lamar, May 14; and Pampa Junior High School, May 15.

The exhibit is one of a fleet now on Texas roads, being displayed at shopping centers, fair grounds, near schools, conventions and factories. Each truck contains a two minute slide presentation called "To Smoke or Not to Smoke," which is particularly addressed to non-smokers.

The truck also features a series of color reproductions of photo-micrographs made by a pathologist, showing cancer cells in various stages of growth. A continuous tape transcription explains the photos, comparing cancerous tissue to normal tissue and pointing out the relationship of cancer's warning signals to growths in various parts of the body.

Cigarette smoking constitutes one of the most urgent health hazards in America today, it is believed by ACS scientists.

Begert said since over 4,500 teenagers a day become regular smokers — and since 140 people a day are dying of lung cancer (10 times the rate of only 30 years ago), the epidemic of lung cancer must be faced squarely through hard-hitting public education. The new fleet of mobile exhibits is the latest effort by the Texas Division, American Cancer Society, to reach Texans with the facts.

Already an average of 4,000 persons per location of the trucks have visited the exhibits, taking home the free literature and studying the many panels. Begert said, "This unique American Cancer Society exhibit is an attempt to better inform the people of our area about the hazards of smoking and the importance of the annual health check-up."

"I hope everyone will take time to visit the display during its time here."

Senate Committee Concerned Over US Involvement In War

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee expressed "deep concern" Thursday over U.S. involvement in Cambodia.

The committee issued a statement warning that "the deepening American involvement in Cambodia is a grave development."

The statement, said to have been approved unanimously at a committee meeting, said:

"American participation in South Vietnamese operations in Cambodia raises important questions concerning United States policy in the widening war in Indochina."

The committee postponed any action on proposed legislation to bar sending American arms or advisers to Cambodia pending President Nixon's address to the nation tonight.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., commented to reporters: "I don't think there is any immediate, practical way in the near future we can order the President not to send troops into Cambodia. He has the power to do it."

U.S. involvement in Cambodia was shaping up quickly as a 1972 election issue.

Even before Nixon's report to the nation tonight on the crisis, there were these developments:

The Democratic Policy Council's Committee on National Priorities, headed by Joseph A. Califano Jr., who was a top aide to President Lyndon B. Johnson, issued a statement that any U.S. military involvement in Cambodia would "further blight our domestic life and embitter our people."

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield urged swift Senate action to declare opposition to any expansion of the Vietnam War into Cambodia. Senate Republican Whip Robert Griffin, said he would oppose any rush action on any Cambodian resolution.

Debate flared in the House. Rep. Sonny G. V. Montgomery, D-Miss., praised Nixon's action, declaring: "History will record this operation . . . as a brilliant maneuver." But Rep. Clarence Long, D-Md., charged the administration "has broken both its promises and its constitutional obligation" to consult Congress.

CALLS FOR BOMBING

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Bob Price, R-Tex., has asked President Nixon to destroy North Vietnam's military bases, industry, communications and Hanoi's harbors with steady day and night bombings. Price introduced a resolution in the House Wednesday calling for the measures.

Giant May Day Rally Calls For Fair Trial For BP Leader

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)—The vanguard of an expected 35,000 demonstrators began arriving in this tense city today for a giant May Day rally initially called to demand a fair trial for Black Panther leader Bobby G. Seale and eight other Panthers charged with murder.

But growing fears that the demonstration may become violent led the Yale Strike Steering Committee to hold a news conference to stress that the weekend demonstration was not initiated or planned by the Yale community.

At the same time the Yale Student-Faculty Monitoring Committee said the possibility of disorder seems "significantly greater" than at previous demonstrations.

"Reports of the existence of white vigilante groups and white radical extremists are too persistent to be ignored," the committee said.

It also warned that children and high school students should not attend the giant rally. "Any other persons unaccustomed to turbulence and potentially disorderly crowd conditions should also not attend," it said.

Yale undergraduates have been on a strike since April 21 to show their concern for the need for a fair trial for Seale and his codefendants.

William Farley, a leader of the strike committee, told newsmen Wednesday that any "provocateurs" coming to New Haven to disrupt the protest demonstration would be answerable to the groups sponsoring it but then stressed that the rally was not initiated or planned by anybody at Yale.

The redefining of the strike committee's position appeared to be necessitated by the changing complexion of the underlying theme of the rally itself.

Originally it was to stress concern for a fair trial for Seale and the others charged with slaying Alex Rackley, an alleged police informer. Wednesday, however, Elbert "Big Man" Howard, the head of the Black Panther defense committee, revealed for the first time that the motive of the demonstration was to force abandonment of the trial rather than insure a fair one.

Howard, while stressing that the rally be nonviolent, said its purpose will be to exert enough pressure to get the charges against the Panthers dropped.

As a precautionary measure, at least one National Guard unit is on standby alert in case the rally should get out of hand. New Haven police will go on double shifts beginning Friday, and stations have been set up and some businessmen have boarded up their establishments to prevent breakage and possible looting.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Fashion designers of the world are in a terrible bind because of the peculiarity of the American market.

Hemlines in this country traditionally rise and fall with the economy. Milady shortens her skirts during periods of national prosperity and lengthens them during a slump.

But what does milady do when the economy is going up and down at the same time as now appears to be the case?

Consumer prices and certain other economic indicators show that we are having inflation while stock prices and certain other economic indicators show we are having a recession. Which leaves fashion designers impaled on the horns of a dilemma.

Fashion designers are nothing if not resourceful, however, so I am confident they will dehorn the dilemma upon which they are hooked. Perhaps along these lines:

PARIS. Cristine Porta, the famous French fashion designer, announced today that she had dehorned the dilemma caused by the American economy.

At a showing of her new creations in the Salon de Bizarre, Mile. Portal unveiled a sensational "spyglass" dress which has a skirt that expands and contracts in length like a telescope.

It can be worn as a micro-mini, a mini, or a midi, or a maxi, depending on the latest economic indicator.

Mile. Portal explained that the skirt consists of four panels of varying circumferences. The micro-mini panel fits inside the mini panel, which fits inside the midi panel, which fits inside the maxi panel.

The panels slide up and down like the sections of a telescope and can be adjusted from "affluent" to "dead broke" in a matter of seconds.

ROME. Emily Poochy, the famous Italian fashion designer, announced today that she had dehorned the dilemma caused by the American economy.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Joe Levine is a squat, tough-minded movie tycoon shaped like a football who makes pictures, distributes them and gives the younger generation hell.

Joseph E. Levine, as he prefers to be known, has 15 completed films ready for release, a dozen of them the product of his Avco Embassy Pictures.

Some are sentimental love stories, others sex oriented and a few are strong on brutality. "I'm making movies for audiences of all ages and persuasions," said Levine, adjusting his heavy, black-rimmed spectacles and puffing on a cigar. "We've got $50 million invested in negatives, and you can't aim at a single audience with that kind of money tied up."

Refuses to Pander
 Levine refuses to subscribe to the general pandering among movie-makers to the under-30 set who groove along with "Easy Rider" carbon copies. "I dig kids and they like me," Levine said. "I speak at colleges and listen to the kids tell me time and again that half the population of the world is under 25 years old. 'I gotta keep reminding them that 50 per cent of that number are less than 10 years old!'"

When he addressed the Yale Drama School there were rumbles that a 65-year-old man might be out of touch with the "now generation." Levine also reminded them he was responsible for "The Graduate." "The Producers" and "The Lion in Winter."

"The point is, the kids don't know all the facts. The biggest grossing picture last year was 'The Love Bug' from Disney. And this year 'Airport' is cleaning up everything in sight. It took courage for Universal to make that picture."

Cannot Afford One Goal
 "Neither the 'Love Bug' or 'Airport' is anti-establishment, so producers just can't afford to set their goals on youngsters."

Levine suggests that motion pictures are on the brink of a new era with young directors, producers, writers and actors giving new life and zest to a foundering art.

"My outlook is very optimistic," he said, "especially after visiting various colleges and universities."

"Right now there's a shortage of films. But in the next two or three years more movies will be made than ever before."

Levine appeared confident he would be contributing his share.

WASHINGTON The House Appropriations Committee, in a report on last August's Hurricane Camille which left 255 dead and $1.4 billion in property loss:

"The true feeling of this office is that the warnings by the Hurricane Center, which up to the final hours on Sunday called for a recurtature to the northeast, lulled the civil populace into a false sense of security."

—SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. headquarters Thursday reported 94 Americans killed in Vietnam war action last week, lowest seven-day toll in a month. But the number of wounded—1,291—was the highest for a single week since last September.

The American toll of 94 men slain was the lowest since the week ended March 28 when 79 U.S. personnel were killed. The U.S. toll for the week before last was 101 killed and 698 wounded.

The number of Americans wounded last week was the highest since the week ended Sept. 27, 1969, when 1,315 men were hit by enemy fire.

SOME POINTS FOR CONSIDERATION . . . .

- I think it is absurd that many murders and other lawbreakers are constantly getting off on bond, receiving short prison terms, or getting suspended sentences and then are allowed to roam our streets again. I am against this, and I favor strengthening our court system and changing our laws which presently allow this to occur.
- I believe that the greatest threat to America is Communism. I recommend legislation to prevent Communists from speaking on our college campuses. I also believe our public education system should keep a loyalty oath to prevent Communists and Socialists from teaching anti-American propaganda in our schools and universities.
- I believe that children should be allowed to pray in public schools.
- I am against going head-first into costly government programs which are initiated and then are either forgotten about or are abandoned, wasting huge sums of our tax money. Thus, I would support legislation which would allow for maximum economy in state government and I would see that every citizen received a dollar's worth of benefit for every tax dollar which is spent.
- I oppose bussing school students to foreign school districts. If a family lives in a location which is conveniently located near a school of their choice, I don't see why their children should be forced to attend a school of the other side of town or on the other side of the country.
- I am against gun control by the federal government.
- I believe that responsible people can handle their own local affairs without interference from people in the federal government, who do not really understand the problems in our rural towns and communities.

An Alternative

(EDITOR'S NOTE: — Please see today's QUESTION BOX.)

The questioner, as made evident in her opening statement, and despite an admission of having been "brainwashed," sees very clearly the wrong of some people forcibly imposing their ideas with respect to taxes, the draft, and compulsory school attendance upon other people.

Moreover, and as further evidence that she hasn't been as "brainwashed" as she might suppose, she glimpses the fact that a democracy, cloaked in the myth of "self-government," can hide a tyranny as cruel and merciless as the most totalitarian form of government ever known. The classical examples, perhaps, are: the Roman Empire which, although conceived as a republic, degenerated into mob rule in the days of its decline; France, following the revolution and fall of the monarchy, when "Madame Guillotine" claimed the heads of all who dared to disagree with the prevailing democratic idea of the day; and our own country, under its republican-democratic form of government and ever-increasing voting franchise, as the voting masses progressively make greater use of the power of the ballot to put their hands into each others' pockets while, at the same time, placing more and more power over their lives and fortunes in the hands of the entrenched bureaucracy, the real, ruling, power elite.

But, what our questioner does not seem to grasp clearly — although she appears to sense it subconsciously when she admits to being unable to "visualize a perfect form of government" — is that ANY political government, irrespective of form or written or unwritten constitution, is, by necessity, and by its very nature, a system by which SOME people immorally impose their ideas, convictions, and values upon OTHER people. That is all political government, in all its various forms, ever was, is, or ever will be.

What, then, do we have to offer in the way of an alternative? In a word, we offer an idea: the idea that force in human relations is not only immoral but, in addition, both unproductive and self-defeating. Most people who question us along these lines, although sensing that there is something basically amiss with the idea of political government, and with the record of all history attesting to the validity of their sense of uneasiness, nevertheless, seem to be wanting us to suggest a variation of the same old thing. Their thinking seems to go something like this: Give us your idea of MAKING people behave themselves, initiate the necessary petitions, activate the propaganda drums, herd the people to the polls, elect the "good" men to office who will overthrow the old regime and set up the new, and peace.

How About Us?

It was 31 years ago this year that Uncle Sam very confidently set a price tag on our kids. Uncle said $600, and since 1939 that has been the figure established by the Internal Revenue Code. That is what the government allows us for each dependent child, as a deduction on our income tax.

There are across this land several million man and wife taxpayers who were not yet born in 1939. Yet they are feeding, clothing and educating children under that ridiculous and antiquated $600 deduction per dependent.

When Uncle Sam installed programs more modern than the income tax he chose to be freedom and prosperity will occur just like that.

They won't. And sorry, but we can't oblige. For what such people fail to realize is that such means of getting from where we are to where we want to go, although possibly cloaked in new words and new dress, are but dreary repetitions of what has transpired in the past and, as such, doomed to failure.

If man acts on the basis of what he believes, as we are convinced is the case, then what is needed is not a new "form" of government designed to MAKE people be good by imposing SOME people's ideas of what is "good" upon OTHER people, but an intellectual movement which will convince people, individual by individual, that logic and reason are superior to aggression, that voluntary cooperation is superior to forced participation, and that voluntary exchange, on a value-for-value basis, is superior to theft and robbery, illegal or otherwise.

Individuals so convinced, we further believe, will not concern themselves with changing or overthrowing the present form of political criminality, either via overt violence or the covert violence of the voting booth, but, abandoning the use of force in their human relationships, will refuse to make use of the coercive power of government to impose their ideas on their fellowmen. To the extent that individuals accept and follow this peaceful way of life, the coercive and enslaving power of political government will shrink; to the extent they don't, it will grow.

We realize, of course, that to most people such an approach will seem impossible, even agonizingly slow. But, when it is finally realized that there just isn't any other route out of man's age-old dilemma, the question of rational choice resolves itself.

Critics of the Freedom Philosophy, most of whom have never tried to really understand it, are quick to point out that the philosophy leaves unsolved the problem of dealing with those, some of whom undoubtedly will always be with us, who will resort to fraud, theft, coercion and violence. And, although the idea of non-coercively dealing with the criminally inclined is an area that is still largely unexplored, one has to admit that they have a valid point. However, what they fail to realize is that the political government "cure" is far worse than the disease. One would indeed have to stretch his imagination to the snapping point to visualize individual criminals, or any combination thereof, looting and enslaving mankind to the extent that political governments have.

Readers desiring to pursue the idea we have but touched upon here will find it profitable to order "The Nature of Man and His Government" by Robert LeFevre, $1. Rampart College, First Western Bank Bldg., Fourth and Main Streets, Santa Ana, Calif.

By INJUN WOODY

I would like to say something to the young folks about marijuana. Not the one's who are using it — the one's who haven't started.....

Drugs are harmful, no matter what they say. But if marijuana wasn't a bit harmful ain't the point. The real point is this, of what benefit is it? Everyone seems to put the cart before the horse and are hollering like a stuck pig that it does no harm. Well, does it do any good? That is what they should ask.

Users themselves admit it makes them dull, listless, sleazy and with a loss of appetite. Is this good?

In 1969 the social users spent 340 million dollars on pot. The habitual users spent still more. But let's talk about these social users.....

If you kids want to know, smoking pot is for kooks — the social users are no longer just the school teenager, but grown up inhuman beings which are throwing parties in their homes. Do you want to join these kooks?

What you should do is point out to your fellow classmates and friends that smoking pot is not for the "in" bunch anymore, it is for the mouldy grubbs. Just because it seems to give you a real grin once doesn't mean it won't put you out of your Clyde.

So switch to a Mover and fill in the bubble — gummers. You won't be considered Yick anymore.....

I guess that Equal Employment Opportunities Commission ain't got much to do. Now they have gone into the joke business. Of course, they always was, more or less.....

But now they are striking at specific jokes to outlaw. Their latest brain-storm is a ruling that Polish jokes are a violation of an individual's rights.....

That Rep. Pucinski of Illinois says, "This may finally put an end to those scurrilous ethnic jokes about America — the insidious practice of harassing Americans because of their ethnic origin."

O' har-de-har. Now there's a joke if I ever heard one..... It seems that Pucinski is more concerned with his ethnic pride than he is with the First Amendment.

Not only that — now that he has the ball rolling he surely can't stop there. He will have to try getting all jokes outlawed, those concerning British, Jewish, Irish, Negro, etc.

If you have a favorite joke about any of these, there is only one alternative — change the word to Injun. They'll never pass a law against us Injuns telling jokes about ourselves, or you telling them either — I hope.

I've heard a lot of Injun jokes and I like 'em. Tell me more.....

South Africa has been barred from Davis Cup tennis. That's quite an honor. Davis Cup tennis, and "amateur" tennis in general, is one of the most sickeningly dishonest activities in a sickeningly dishonest world. Led by GRATE Britain, most of the hypocrites of the world voted to bar South Africa because the American Negro, Arthur Ashe, was not allowed to compete in South Africa.

South Africa believes in separation. Britain believes in MIXING — for everybody but Britain. Britain has barred further immigration by blacks. The British are bloody hypocrites.

The University of Pennsylvania has hauled down the American flag and put it into storage. The officials "feared a confrontation with student war protesters." The flag is red, white and blue and the officials are yellow.

The Federal Government is now spending $6.116 a second. Getting your money's worth?

U.S. News and World Report says that one Senator, who feels that members of Congress should make full disclosure of their personal wealth, is having his own survey made in support of his contention that "there are 51 millionaires in the Senate."

It is irrelevant how many millionaires are in the Senate. What is relevant is how many millionaire Senators were millionaires BEFORE they became Senators?

Every political office holder should have to make full disclosure of his personal wealth. Some Wag, or Wages, sent this "news" item to FORBES magazine:

Wit And Whimsy

Jones — Has your son's college education been of any value?
Smith — Oh, yes, it cured his mother of bragging about him.

You'll notice that every time there is a drastic change in dress style for women that there is a sudden epidemic of ulcers in men.

Wife — Now, don't get me anything expensive for my birthday. I'd rather have something you made yourself.
Husband — Such as what?
Wife — Money.

A middle-aged woman, a society dowager type, walked into a hatshop on Fifth Avenue. She pointed to a hat in the window.

Mrs. Briggs — That green hat with the feathers, would you be kind enough to take it out of the window for me?
Mr. Brown (the salesman) — Certainly, Madam. I'd be happy to.

Mrs. Briggs (walking toward the exit) — That's very good of you. That awful thing bothers me every time I pass.

Avoid Hemochromatosis By Limiting Iron Intake
Some persons who complain of dizziness, headache, loss of weight, shortness of breath and easy fatigability suffer from iron overloading — hemochromatosis. In victims of this disease, increased amounts of iron are absorbed from the digestive tract and deposited in the tissues. The disease is seen more often in men than in women and usually has its onset between the ages of 40 and 60.

Hereditarily appears to be a factor in some cases but in others the cause is a high intake of iron, especially in persons who drink large quantities of imported wine or who are addicted to certain iron tonics taken without a physician's advice. The daily dietary requirement for iron is 10 to 20 milligrams.

As the disease progresses, iron deposits give the skin a coppery hue and there is an associated diabetes, sometimes called bronze diabetes. Fortunately, this once-fatal disease can now be controlled by periodic bleeding and by giving such prescription drugs as diethylene triamine pentacetate acid (DTPA) or deferoxamine (Desferal). These drugs form an insoluble iron compound in the digestive tract and allow the iron to pass out of the system without being absorbed into the blood.

Q — What is the best treatment for a torn cartilage in the rib cage? Ultrasound treatments and an injection of cortisone didn't help.
A — This injury is notoriously slow to heal — more so than a fracture. Immobilization of the chest in a cast or by tight bandaging for 11 or 12 weeks is a wearisome business but it sometimes relieves the pain while the tear heals.

Q — I have taken Prolixin for five years. Does this drug affect the neck or eyes?
A — This tranquilizer should not be taken by anyone who is subject to convulsions or has a liver disease. Its side effects include uncontrollable circular movements of the eyes and arching backward of the neck.

Q — What is the best way to get rid of chapped lips?
A — Apply a thin layer of cold cream or petroleum jelly two or three times a day and avoid licking or biting your lips.

Inside Washington

One War—or Two— In 'Neutral' Laos?

WASHINGTON — Many of the refugees who have been flooding into camps in northern Laos — a wholly disproportionate number of them — are women, children and old men. Able-bodied young men are scarce in the refugee camps. Authorities report that many of them had been recruited, or pressed into service, by the Pathet Lao or North Vietnamese before their families began looking for a safe haven.

That was the word during a recent visit to camps for refugees in the vicinity of Paksane in Borikhanne Province. About 28,000 refugees were already in that area by mid-March, and many more have been arriving recently from the north and east.

The absence of young men makes for a doubly difficult situation in the camps. It is hard for the families without breadwinners because the initial assistance provided in some of the camps is confined to a pile of bamboo and thatch from which the refugees are expected to construct new homes.

Thereafter, the long-term resettlement hopes of refugee families are pinned to wringing subsistence from a new countryside and a new environment by farming or fishing. While the trend is to relocate whole communities in the refugee camps, it is not an easy transition, with or without the able-bodied males.

There are difficulties for camp authorities too. In areas where Pathet Lao violence is by no means infrequent, it is disquieting for camp officials to know that the intense family loyalties of many of the refugees tie them to men who have cast their lot with the Pathet Lao.

TWO WARS? — Refugees in the northern camps have fled their homes to escape the military commitments of subcommittee calls the "second" war in Laos. That is the war against the North Vietnamese in the northern part of Laos, far from the Ho Chi Minh Trail.

In releasing the long controversial transcript of its censored hearings on Laos, the Missouri Democrat and his aides drew a distinction between U.S. bombing of the trail (which they described as closely related to the war in Vietnam) and the "second" war in the north for which they found no such justification.

That is a nice distinction for a subcommittee of the United States Senate here in Washington. It tends to break down in the field, however, as witness the young North Vietnamese soldier recently interviewed in the Laotian government's prison camp outside Vientiane.

He told newsmen he had been recruited to fight aggression and U.S. imperialism in Hanoi, where he had witnessed attacks by U.S. planes. After training, he said, his unit had been ordered down the Ho Chi Minh trail to fight the U.S. aggressors in South Vietnam.

One of the Laotian prison officials quickly commented that the captured prisoner had been "youthful in an engagement north of Vientiane, far from the trail's infiltration routes into South Vietnam. The North Vietnamese prisoner the said unit had been diverted to help the Pathet Lao in their patriotic struggle against oppression.

For Hanoi, if not for Symington and company, there is a war — one war — in Vietnam, Laos, and now Cambodia. That is what was meant by La Duan, first secretary of the North Vietnamese Communist party, when he spoke in Moscow last week of a united front against the United States.

NEUTRALITY? — Though some of its transcript is still secret, the Symington subcommittee has been instrumental in dispelling much of the secrecy surrounding U.S. support of the Laotian government in the north and on the Ho Chi Minh trail. Such secrecy is, as Symington has said, abhorrent in an open society.

The secrecy also has a different look, however, when viewed from the perspective of Laos, a tiny land-locked nation in Indo-China which has fewer than three million people and a future which must be reckoned as highly uncertain.

Meeting earlier this month with newsmen who accompanied Texas billionaire H. Ross Perot on his inspection of prison camps, the Laotian prime minister, Prince Souvanna Phouma, restated his hope that Laos could be a neutral nation. He said he hoped it could be like Switzerland in that regard.

PAUL HARVEY NEWS

Minutes Of Next Meeting

By PAUL HARVEY
When President Nixon created an Environmental Quality Council the public reaction was "ho-hum."

Now, however, with a silent and almost unnoticed stroke of his pen the President has converted this study group into an active federal agency with the authority to issue orders and the muscle to enforce them.

Why are so many so suddenly uptight about this "environment" thing?
Combine and total the populations of Rhode Island and Delaware and Idaho and Nevada and Montana; that number of additional people will be added to our United States population THIS YEAR!

Every eight seconds a new American is born. He enters the world screaming. And he is every eight seconds a new American is born. He enters the world screaming. And he is going to continue screaming for 70 years — for 56 million gallons of water, 21,000 gallons of gasoline, 10,000 pounds of meat, 28,000 pounds of milk and cream, 9,000 pounds of wheat — plus great storehouses full of other food and drink.

He will need $8,000 worth of school, $6,000 worth of clothing, $7,000 worth of furniture plus inestimable quantities of paper, steel, zinc, magnesium, copper, aluminum and tin.

For generations, generals have applauded the births of more and more boy babies, merchants have celebrated the births of additional consumers. For 200 years in the U.S. the diaper has been flying from the flagstaff.

Suddenly and recently, the U.S. awakened to the realization that our population increase (not birth rate) is now higher than that of India.

Now a planet which is not adequately feeding 3 billion people is breeding twice that number.

Dr. Earl Butz of Purdue says, "The world's man-food ratio has been in decline for six years." Swedish economist Gunnar Myrdal predicts "acute world famine within five to 10 years."

Dr. Albert Szent-Gyorgyi of the Marine Biological Laboratory at Woods Hole, Mass., says, "The situation may become such that men will have to kill and eat each other."

Now you are perhaps better able to understand the acute anxiety in scientific circles which, however, tardily, is awakening an awareness among more enlightened citizenry.

Modern medical science interfered just enough with the natural processes of nature to cut down greatly on deaths, but so far has done nothing to cut down on births.

Medical men, better than most, have known that all uncontrolled growths kill the host. That's what cancer is: uncontrolled cellular growth. But it was not until the overuse of our air and water and land was hurtful to humans that they began to realize what a monstrous thing human fertility has become.

These are the minutes of the next meeting:
Unless population increase is curtailed, however necessary and whoever objects, between here and starvation our own nation will see more and more of the mental sickness, emotional restiveness, cultural stagnation and hostile confrontation which characterize any society of animals or men when too many of them are confined in too little space.

Howard Hits Lead Homer

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

Frank Howard, who won the American League homer title in 1968 and was the runnerup in two of the last three seasons, is on one of his rampages. He hammered his third in the last three games and his eighth of the season to take over the league lead Thursday night as the Senators routed the Milwaukee Brewers, 12-2. Howard now has six homers in his last eight games.

But Brant Alyea, who was peddled by the Senators to the Minnesota Twins in a spring trade for pitcher Joe Grzenda, is continuing to make the Senators regret that deal. He hit his fifth of the season to move into a three-way tie for fourth place as the Twins beat the Cleveland Indians, 4-1.

Howard drove in five runs for the Senators in the rout of Milwaukee with two singles besides the homer. The homer was a three-run blast in a seven-run third inning. Bernie Allen also helped out with another three-run blast in that inning.

Alyea's homer against Cleveland snapped a 1-1 tie in the fourth. The two-run homer came after Harmon Killebrew homered to tie the game and Rich Reese singled. Leo Cardenas homered for the other Twin run in the game.

In the other American League games, Boston edged Oakland, 8-7. Chicago beat Baltimore, 6-3. New York blanked California, 1-0, and Kansas City edged Detroit, 3-2, in 10 innings.

Rico Petrocelli, George Scott and Billy Conigliaro homered to give Boston the win over Oakland. Felipe Alou, Joe Rudi and Frank Fernandez homered for the A's in the free-zing contest. Gary Peters, knocked out in the eighth inning, got the win for the Red Sox.

Stan Bahnsen pitched his first complete game of the season for the Yankees to beat California. Bahnsen tossed a three-hit shutout and Roy White's third-inning sacrifice fly scored the only run of the game to beat Rudy May.

Silent Screen 'Improving,' Says Trainer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Silent Screen, champion two-year old a year ago, almost was a forgotten horse today among the 18 scheduled to start Saturday in the $171,300 Kentucky Derby.

But if the colt can avoid anticipated traffic jams in the largest field since 1951, trainer Bowes Bond feels that Silent Screen may atone for three straight defeats.

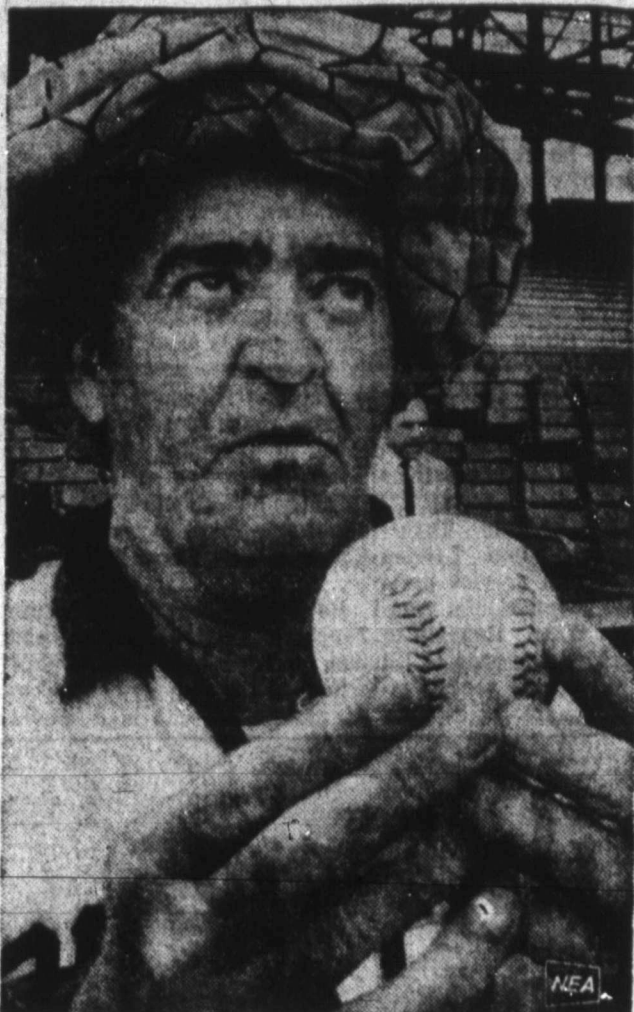

"I think he's on the way back," he said of his colt. "I don't say he's as good as when he was a 2-year-old but he's improving. There is nothing added."

"Traffic is a problem," said trainer Phil Johnson who had some bad luck in getting Naska to the post for the Kentucky Derby. "Pressure is another thing. Not only are owners and trainers under pressure but the jockeys are too and that is where it could count," Johnson said.

Johnson has had to skip two $100,000 races already with Naska, the Flamingo Stakes when the colt came down with a virus and the Florida Derby when he ran an unexplained fever. Then, in the Blue Grass Stakes Naska threw a shoe.

"It took a little off the inside of the hoof but we were lucky. The blacksmith would have had to trim that part away in reshoeing him anyway. I told him that if he couldn't set all the nails, had to skip one hole. Naska would not start in the Kentucky Derby. And if any heat develops in that foot between now and post time, he'll come out. It's nice and cool right now," Johnson said.

Silent Screen and Naska have been overshadowed in public favor by Terlago, My Dad George, Corn Off the Cob, and the entry of Personality and High Echelon. George Lewis was rated about even with him.

DANNY MURTAUGH'S CRYSTAL BALL is nothing more than horseshit. He has visions of a high Pittsburgh Pirate finish this season now that he's back as the field manager.

Jammed Thumb May Put West Out Of Lineup

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—A jammed left thumb may cost the Los Angeles Lakers the services of Jerry West in the fourth game of the National Basketball Association playoff finals against the New York Knicks tonight.

The Knicks, the Eastern Division champions who won, 111-108, in overtime here Wednesday night, lead the best-of-seven game series 2-1.

If West cannot play, the Lakers will be overwhelming underdogs since the 10-year veteran has been the key to the club's offense.

West, the NBA's regular season scoring champion who is averaging 31.6 points against New York, injured his thumb in the opening half of Wednesday night's game but went the entire 53 minutes.

X-rays taken by Dr. Robert Kerlan Thursday were negative, meaning there were no broken bones. However, the thumb was extremely sore and Kerlan said West was "doubtful for tonight's contest."

After game No. 3, West played down his injury. "Nothing," he mumbled, "It's nothing."

Willis Reed, who beat out West for the league's Most Valuable Player Award, has been brilliant against the Lakers. The six-year pro from Grambling is the top scorer in the series with 104 points; decisions. Jim Hickman connected for the Cubs as Ferguson Jenkins lost his third game of the year.

Showers Postpone Nelson Golf Start

DALLAS (UPI)—The rains apparently have gone, but the after effects are sure to be key factors when the $115,000 Byron Nelson golf classic's opening round leaves the tee today 24 hours behind schedule.

A pair of brief, but torrential, downpours two hours apart Thursday morning washed out the original first round plans, marking the third time in five years for the tournament to revise its playing schedule because of spring storms.

The 1966 and 1967 Dallas Opens, predecessors to the Nelson Classic, were plagued by rainouts. The 1966 affair wasn't wrapped up until a Tuesday, the 1967 tourney finale was delayed until Monday.

Carty Sparks Braves To Rout Of Cubs, 9-2

By GARY KALE
UPI Sports Writer

Rico Carty is still trying to cram two years of baseball into a single season to make up for the siege of tuberculosis that kept him out in 1968.

The Dominican dynamo went 0 for 4 at Atlanta's first game this year and has been unstoppable since the opener. Carty extended his hitting streak to 29 consecutive games Thursday night with a pair of homers and a single as the Braves routed Chicago, 9-2.

"I'm just a lucky hitter, that's all," Carty comments modestly. "I just got up there and look for something I can hit. I don't study the pitchers."

New York beat San Francisco, 4-1, and Los Angeles edged Montreal, 2-1, in the only other National League action. The Houston at St. Louis game was rained out.

In addition to Carty's cannon-ading, Hank Aaron smacked his 562nd career homer for Atlanta and Braves rookie catcher Hal King walloped his first as southpaw George Stone picked up his third victory in four

City To Host Junior High Meet Saturday

Harvester Stadium, with its new all-weather track, will host the Panhandle Junior High Athletic League track and field meet Saturday.

Preliminaries and field events will begin at 9 a.m. with finals in the running events slated for 2 p.m.

Consisting of Pampa Junior High, Pampa Lee, Dumas, Borger and Perryton, the league will present awards in three divisions; seventh, eighth and ninth grades.

Only four teams will enter the seventh grade competition, however, as Pampa Junior High and Pampa Lee do not carry seventh-grade teams.

According to Lee coach Leon Van Alstein, "Perryton was the strongest ninth-grade team at the first of the season, but Dumas has come on strong and should be favored now."

Pampa coach E.C. Jenkins added, "Dumas and Perryton both have a lot of depth. They have an advantage over the two Pampa schools because all the talent is at one school."

Lee should make its strongest showing in the eighth-grade division and Pampa should do well in the ninth-grade meet.

Lee eighth graders could possibly break three district records. David Clark vaulted 10-6 this season, well over the mark of 9-9 and the 4-0 and 8-0 relay teams clipped the records in those events. The record in the 4-0 relay is 48.2. Lee runners were clocked in 47.5. The 8-0 relay squad turned in a time of 1:40.1, faster than the district standard of 1:40.1.

Pampa Junior High's ninth graders will be led by shot putter Richard McCampbell, dashmen Don Proctor and Rick King and broad jumper Esteven Mathis.

McCampbell threw the shot a distance of 55-5 this season and also sprinted the 100 in 10.3.

Proctor ran the 220 in 24.5 and King was timed in 24.8. Mathis' best effort in the broad jump this season was 17-5.

"This should be a real good meet, and the people would like to come out and watch," said Van Alstein.

Each team is allowed to enter three individuals in each event and three heats will be run during the preliminaries.

Bush Gave Up Lucrative Oil Business For Politics

By United Press International
Houston Congressman George Bush, the brightest light in the Texas Republican lineup of young political hopefuls, gave up a lucrative oil business to get into politics in 1963, and this year gave up a sure-thing House seat to try the second time for the U.S. Senate.

Bush, 45, has been the odds-on favorite for the Republican Senate nomination since the campaign began, and most observers predicted early in the campaign he would give the Democratic nominee a much closer race than he gave U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough in 1964, when Yarborough won by 330,000 votes.

His most obvious assets are a pleasing public appearance and an openly honest manner in discussing political issues. Questions which some politicians would sidestep or refuse to answer, Bush makes sincere efforts to answer even when his answers may not be politically astute.

Solid Support

Party leaders — from President Nixon on down — have lined up behind Bush in his Senate race, gauging the Texas contest as one which is "winnable" for the Republicans in November.

Born in Massachusetts and educated at Yale, Bush moved to Texas in 1948, and has lived in Houston since 1959. He helped form Zapata Petroleum Corporation in Midland in 1953, and became president of Zapata Off-Shore when it was sold by the parent company in 1959.

Bush has lined up solidly behind Nixon's policies, and says he believes the President's popularity in Texas will help the GOP nominee in the general election.

Code of Ethics

One of his major planks has been his work for a congressional code of ethics, which would require all members of Congress to make a full financial disclosure of their assets and liabilities.

Like other candidates in the party primaries, he has talked constantly about what he calls the "need for new leadership" in Congress. He has advocated welfare reform, federal revenue sharing, pollution control and has endorsed Nixon's plans to handle the Vietnam and inflation problems.

After losing to Yarborough in 1964, Bush ran for the U. S. House of Representatives and was elected in 1966. He was re-elected in 1968 without opposition.

A WEIGHTY GAMBLE

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—If the Churchill Downs track isn't muddy Saturday, Diane Crump could be the first woman ever to ride in the Kentucky Derby. "It's a weighty gamble, a long-shot gamble, but I'd like to give the girl a chance," W. L. Lyons Brown, owner of Fathom, told newsmen late Wednesday.

Earlier, Brown had said he wouldn't race Fathom in Saturday's first leg of the triple crown after the horse had finished seventh in Tuesday's Derby trial. But he reconsidered and decided he would allow Diane her chance.

"She's a good girl and she grew up with this horse," Brown said. "She's a much better rider now than she was a year ago."

Rifle Butts Mark OSU Clash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—National Guardsmen and police and militant students battled Thursday with tear gas, rifle butts, bricks and bottles in the second day of violence on the Ohio State University campus.

The latest clashes broke out when about 1,500 students refused to disperse after gathering to protest law-enforcement tactics during Wednesday night's violence in which seven persons were shot and wounded.

The National Guardsmen and police, wearing gas masks and carrying rifles with fixed bayonets and clubs, threw several canisters of tear gas into the crowd.

Some students, chanting "stop the pigs and pigs off campus," tossed back the canisters and threw homemade gas bombs. Many students were clubbed to the ground with rifle butts as the guard backed by armored personnel carriers, moved through the campus area, dispersing groups of students.

The students retaliated by hurling bricks and bottles at the guardsmen and police.

Police said 92 students were arrested today.

The rally in the Oval was called by the Student Assembly to protest activities of authorities during Wednesday's disturbances in which the seven were shot, more than 200 arrested and 73 injured.

The demonstrations were started by students to protest rejection of a list of demands presented to officials last week.

AMBULANCE RAPPED

HOUSTON (UPI)—A state Health Department official said Wednesday about one fourth of Texas' ambulance firms "are deficient and delinquent." Dr. Harvey Yoe said 700 persons in car crashes last year "might have survived with proper emergency ambulance service and medical care."
