More GOP Candidates For Governor Expected

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Top state Republican leaders promised today there will be several candidates for governor and all would get an even break from party leadership.

Sen. Henry Grover, Houston, is the only announced candidate so far, although half a dozen possible candidates have been listed in the past.

"There are several more walking around with filing applications in their pockets,"

Kissinger To Disclose Secret Trips

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Kissinger's nearly 100,000 miles of clandestine international travel for private Vietnam peace talks has proven again that President Nixon and his closest aides can keep a secret.

Kissinger, Nixon's assistant for national security affairs, was to face newsmen at the White House today to tell how he made 13 separate trips to Paris during the past 30 months without so much as stirring a rumor in this rumor-happy capital.

Initial indications were that several of the Kissinger trips were made in government jets not part of the blue-and-white presidential fleet, and that the talks with the North Vietnamese were conducted on the outskirts of Paris away from the glare of the city's diplomatic scene.

The stocky, graying Kissinger, who speaks with the accent of his native Germany, sandwiched his Paris trips around another journey. That one produced the bombshell announcement last summer that Nixon will travel to China, a visit arranged by Kissinger when he secretly conferred in Peking with Chinese leaders.

As with his China announcement, Nixon and his spokesmen had subtly telegraphed the scope of the secret Vietnam talks which the chief executive disclosed in his national televised speech Tuesday night.

A broad indication had come when Nixon, in a nationally televised CBS interview Jan. 2, said:

"We have pursued every negotiating channel... we have made a number of offers in various channels... When the total record is published, and it will be published in due time and at an appropriate time... others will realize that we have gone the extra mile as far as POWs are concerned. I do not want to disclose any further details because negotiations are under way."

White House aides wouldn't publicly discuss details of Kissinger's Paris trips which, according to air-mileage charts, would total 98,528 miles. But they privately expressed delight Monday night that the journeys were accomplished without leaks.

In Paris, observers at the peace conference often had suspected but could never prove—that secret talks were taking place.

Nixon indicated high-level French officials were in on the secret. He said in his speech that "I would like to take this opportunity to thank President (Georges) Pompidou for his personal assistance in helping to make arrangements for these talks."

said state GOP chairman George Willeford.

Willeford and Peter O'Donnell, national committeeman for Texas, refused to give any other names as possible candidates.

"We have talked to a number of possible candidates in confidence and feel it is their function to announce if they are going to be a candidate," O'Donnell said.

There have been reports recently that Grover was unhappy with the cooperation he has received from state party leaders although he has been an announced candidate for several months.

"We need to get name identification for our Republican candidates," said Willeford. "That is why we need to have a contested primary. This will help any GOP candidate who wins and goes on to meet a Democrat."

Willeford and O'Donnell said, in answering reporters' questions, that they did not believe Paul Eggers, who made two unsuccessful GOP races for governor: U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations George Bush, and Rep. Fred Agnich, Dallas, who is running for reelection, were possible candidates. The three had been listed previously as possibilities.

Willeford said he understood Byron Fullerton, Austin, who lost a race for lieutenant governor last year, and Rudy Judeman, Odessa, were still interested in the governor's race.

Willeford, O'Donnell, Mrs. Tobin Armstrong, co-chairman of the national GOP committee and national committeewoman for Texas, and Mrs. Malcolm Milburn, Austin, state vice chairman, all promised they would not take sides with any gubernatorial candidate in the primary and all would back the general election candidate.

Willeford said the federal court decision knocking out Texas political fees as means of financing party primaries would not seriously affect the GOP primaries this year.

"We have always operated with volunteer workers and we can pay for our printing and such with donations," Willeford said. "It's no big problem."

Next Tuesday Deadline On City Tax Roll

A reminder was issued today by City Tax Assessor-Collector Aubrey Jones that 1971 city taxes will become delinquent next Tuesday, Feb. 1.

Money collected so far on the $880,856 tax roll for 1971 amounted to $675,840 as of Monday, Jones stated.

That leaves $205,015 still due. Tax payments can be made without penalty and interest through next Monday.

Penalty and interest for payments made beginning Feb. 1 will be 2 1/2 per cent, increasing to 5 per cent March 1, 7 1/2 per cent April 1, 10 per cent May 1 and one-half of one per cent monthly thereafter, the tax collector explained.

Total taxes due include those levied on both real estate and personal property.

Mothers March Collects $3,090

With some 20 volunteers yet to report, Monday night's Mothers March for the National Foundation-March of Dimes has garnered $3,090 to date.

With the virtual elimination of polio as a threat, the foundation turned its attention to birth defects and some of the other cripples of children and supporters both locally and across the nation have remained loyal both financially and in doing the volunteer work needed to conduct the program.

The campaign is not concluded. There is still to be the "Bucket Brigade" and the final reports from all the volunteers. Leaders in the effort feel both the city of Pampa and the county will equal if not exceed anything done in the past.

Nixon's Pullout Plan Draws Cool Reception From Hanoi

8-Point Peace Offer Wins Little Favor From Critics

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's newly unveiled eight-point Vietnam peace offer drew a cool reception from North Vietnam today and found little favor with his critics at home.

The President, in a surprise announcement, disclosed a proposal made secretly eight months ago for a U.S. pullout in exchange for a prisoner release, and his broader eight-point offer made last October. The latter proposes that South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu step down pending a new election.

Radio Hanoi indicated today that President Nixon's Vietnam peace proposals are not acceptable because they do not abandon the Vietnamization program and do not withdraw all support from President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Although the North Vietnamese radio did not reject the eight-point plan which Nixon said was submitted to the Communists in Paris three months ago, it said they contained "nothing new." Hanoi called again for the United States to accept the seven-point Viet Cong plan submitted to the Paris peace talks last July.

"When analyzed," Radio Hanoi said in a Vietnamese language broadcast, "it becomes clear that the basic U.S. plot and the U.S. stand have not changed in any way."

It said Nixon's proposals are not the way to end the war, and until the war is ended there will be no release of American prisoners of war in North Vietnam.

Asserting that continued support of the Vietnamization program and of the Saigon government constitutes "continuation of the illegal U.S. war of aggression," the North Vietnamese radio declared:

"If Nixon does not want to end that war of aggression, then the U.S. military men captured while committing crimes can not go home to be reunited with their families. Instead the list of those captured will grow longer and longer."

In a radio-television address Tuesday night Nixon disclosed he had dispatched his national security adviser, Henry A. Kissinger, to Paris a dozen times since Aug. 4, 1969, for hushhush negotiations with top North Vietnamese envoys.

Hanoi negotiators rejected a U.S. offer last May for a pullout deadline in return for prisoner release and a ceasefire, he said. Nixon said the eight-point plan "has not been rejected, but it has been ignored."

A White House official said the first enemy response "is likely to be negative" when U.S. negotiator William Porter presents the plan publicly at Thursday's weekly Paris peacetalks meeting. The

Smith, Mutscher Denounce Report

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith and an attorney for House Speaker Gus Mutscher today both denounced a report that Mutscher had threatened to bring impeachment proceedings against Smith if the governor calls a special legislative session before Mutscher's bribery trial is finished.

Smith said in Austin that the report was a "total, unadulterated fabrication—a fantastic fiction."

In Corpus Christi Mutscher's lawyer, Frank Maloney of Austin, said the report was erroneous. He termed it "rot."

The initial report came from Rosser McDonald, state capitol reporter in Austin for television station WFAA of Dallas.

"IT'S TRUE"—Garner Altom, assistant administrator, Gray County hospitals, tells co-worker Reba Percy he is leaving to become chief administrator of a neighboring hospital district. Altom ends some five years service with the Highland General-McLean hospital complex. (Staff Photo)

Local Hospital Official To Take Wellington Job

Garner Altom, for some five years as assistant administrator of Highland General Hospital and the satellite unit at McLean, has accepted the post of administrator for Collingsworth Memorial Hospital and hospital district at Wellington.

Altom came to the Gray County operations following 20 years of service with Humble Pipe Line Division. He succeeded Wes Langham who became administrator in 1968.

Altom's hospital training and experience began during his military service. In addition to this, he brought to his current hospital career considerable training and experience in accounting and employe relations.

"Naturally, we hate to leave Pampa and our friends of many years," Altom explained. "By the same token, I hate to leave the hospital job here just when Bill Robertson is returning because I had felt an association with him because of his experience and personality, could further my knowledge in this field.

"However, the Wellington position is a challenging one—a promotion, definitely—and being active in my church life, I have to believe Divine Providence played no little part in the opening of this particular door."

Mrs. Altom shares her husband's life in the medical world having served a number of years as personal nurse to Dr. Frank Kelley. The couple have two sons, one a minister and one employed by a Dallas publishing firm.

In addition to his various positions of leadership at First Baptist Church, he has been active in the civic life of Pampa, particularly Kiwanis Club.

Altom assumes his new duties Feb. 25 at Wellington.

Pay Board OK's Raise For Railmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bitterly divided Pay Board again has ignored its own wage guidelines, this time conditionally approving a 10-per-cent pay raise this year for 140,000 railroad trainmen.

But it is uncertain whether the AFL-CIO United Transportation Union will honor the long-delayed pact, which contains streamlined work rules the railroad industry says will speed service and eventually save money.

The UTU had demanded full approval of the pact before putting the new work rules into effect. UTU President A.H. Chesser refused to comment on Tuesday's almost-total approval until he receives official notification of it.

The full UTU contract contains raises of 42 per cent over 3 1/2 years, retroactive more than two years to Jan. 1, 1970. The board cleared the agreement until the present, and said it intends to approve two raises totaling 10 per cent this year if the work rules are put into effect. That leaves uncertain the fate of two raises totaling 5 per cent next year.

The approval motion, which passed 8 to 5 with five labor members and three business members in the majority, in effect grants yet another exception to the board's general rule that wages in new contracts can't go up more than 5.5 per cent a year, or 7 per cent in special circumstances.

The board has yet to apply its 5.5-per-cent guideline strictly to any of the powerful unions whose agreements it has reviewed so far. It rejected a 12-per-cent raise for aerospace workers, but then said it would approve the entire raise if part of it is moved to the second year of a three-year pact.

Tuesday's motion approving the bulk of the UTU contract was sponsored by business member Benjamin F. Biaggini, a railroad executive who sources say strongly wants to see the new work rules put into effect, whatever the price in wages.

Although the board's official spokesmen declined to give details of Tuesday's voting.

Sources said that after approval of the trainmen's contract, UAW Vice President Pat Greathouse moved to reinstate the rejected 12 per cent aerospace raise. This move was defeated 9 to 5 with labor in the minority.

Resident Killed, Another Hurt In 2-Car Collision

One Pampa man was killed and another is in the Veteran's Hospital in Oklahoma City, Okla., following a two-car accident about 4 p.m. Tuesday at the intersection of highways 33 and 74, west of Guthrie, Okla., and north of Oklahoma City.

Killed was Mrs. Cynthia Taylor, 1015 E. Gordon, and injured was her brother, Fred Broadnax, also of 1015 E. Gordon. Broadnax is reported to have suffered a broken leg, with the extent of any other injuries still unknown.

Of the two persons in the second car, one was killed and the other not seriously injured.

Traveling ahead of the car in which Broadnax and Mrs. Taylor were riding was their brother-in-law, R.S. Bennett of Lantoni, Mo., a former Pampa man, who went 15 miles for help following the accident. All were returning to Pampa from Salem, Ark., for the funeral of Bennett's wife.

and the sister of Broadnax and Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Pansy Bennett, who died in Salem Monday.

Funeral arrangements are pending with Carmichael-Whitley Funeral Directors for both Mrs. Pansy Bennett and Mrs. Cynthia Taylor.

Mrs. Bennett is survived by her husband, R.S. of Lantoni, Mo., and one brother, Fred Broadnax of Pampa.

Mrs. Taylor is survived by one son, Jerry Criner of Australia; and one brother, Fred Broadnax.

Employment Bill Faces Vote Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ruling out any compromise, Senate opponents in a swaying battle over enforcement of equal-employment legislation girded today for a decisive vote.

"This will be the showdown on the whole bill," Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said Tuesday, although there are other issues in the bill to be settled.

Javits leads a bloc of senators who favor giving the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission power to back its own findings of job discrimination with cease-and-desist orders.

Bentsen Asks Justice Powell Jr. To Block Ruling On Redistricting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., says the plan approved Saturday by a three-judge panel in Dallas would "gravely and irreversibly disrupt the political structure of Texas with respect to its representation in the Congress."

Bentsen backed other Texas officials Tuesday in asking Justice Lewis Powell Jr. to block the court-ordered redistricting in Texas' congressional districts.

The senator also asked Gov. Preston Smith to call a special session but Smith remained adamant that he will not call such a session with redistricting in mind.

The plan is to supplant one drawn up last year by the Texas legislature. The three judges, Joe Ingraham, William M. Taylor Sr. and Robert M. Hill, declared it in violation of the one-man, one-vote rule.

The legislature's plan would have placed 4.1 per cent more people in the largest congressional district than in the smallest. The Supreme Court has held that congressional districts must be equal in population and that even the smallest variance from equality is illegal if not justified.

He said redistricting is a job for the legislature, the body elected by the people, and he noted that the court in its decision had stated that the legislature had made a good-faith effort to redistrict.

"The court can rightfully set up acceptable parameters for districting but certainly adoption of such a changed plan was usurpation of legislative powers," Bentsen said.

Six Texas congressmen pitted against each other in the court-ordered redistricting plan are irritated with Texas Gov. Preston Smith for spurning their pleas to call the legislature into session to draft an alternate bill.

On Monday, Texas officials filed a motion in the Supreme Court for a stay. They asked Powell, who has jurisdiction over suits from Texas, to block the district court's plan.

Bentsen, through Yale Law Prof. Charles L. Black Jr., supported the Texas officials as "friend of the court." He said the Dallas panel's judgment "is wrong, not being warranted by the Constitution or by the precedents of this court."

The senator said the granting of a stay could produce some harm—"Mainly, the holding of an election under the legislature's plan, with only seven small variations from exact mathematical equality."

But, he added, this "is by several orders of magnitude less than the multiple and gravely disruptive harms that would result from the utterly drastic decree of the district court, embodying as it does a very large number of major political judgments antithetical to those made by the state's elected representatives."

In a statement Bentsen issued after meeting with some of the affected congressmen, he said he was upset with the federal district court's "activist role in such matters."

Rep. Bob Eckhardt, Houston Democrat whose district was not substantially affected, has been acting as constitutional expert and strategist for the six: Reps. Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls, Omar Burleson of Anson, O.C. Fisher of San Angelo, Ray Roberts of McKinney, Jim Wright of Fort Worth and Abraham Kazen of Laredo.

Fisher was in Texas, but the others met with Eckhardt Monday in Wright's office to discuss their plight.

In an interview later, Eckhardt said it would be "reprehensible" for Smith not to call the legislature together when the federal court invited him to do so. He said the court has accepted a plan with glaring discriminations against minorities and opposed to the principle that certain homogeneous interests should be kept intact. The legislature should be allowed to correct these defects, he said.

If Smith refuses, Eckhardt said, he is delegating state policy "to a bunch of plaintiffs—to a bunch of Republicans who drew up this plan. Republicans may be fine people, but they are sometimes biased. And they are a damn sight less representative than the legislature."

Eckhardt said there are precedents, especially in redistricting cases, for the Supreme Court to leave in effect a plan declared unconstitutional by a lower court until it can hear the arguments and rule on the case.

But Eckhardt said "the cleanness way would be for the legislature to adjust some of these larger districts" to meet court approval.

The state argues that registration slips already have been sent to voters telling them in which district they will vote but that elections might not be possible under the court's plan.

'72 Housing May Set New Record

HOUSTON (AP) — Secretary of Housing and Urban Development George Romney said today the number of new housing starts this year could range from a record 2.1 million to 2.3 million.

The housing industry had a record 2,080,500 starts last year.

Romney told the 28th convention of the National Association of Home Builders 1972 construction quality will determine whether the HUD record will be broken.

"The willingness of builders to meet government enforced quality control standards will determine whether HUD approves as many as 550,000 or as few as 350,000 government subsidized units," he said.

"We are pledged to bring about fulfillment through quality rather than quantity of the Congressional intent of a decent home and suitable living environment for every American."

Romney said there will be expanded consumer protection and education programs. He indicated this has become necessary in that production goals for housing in the central cities were met but only through the use of untested programs and relaxed requirements.

U. S. Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., and U. S. Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., said both the major political parties will be working to improve the economy.

LBJ Hopes His Paper Can Settle Arguments Among U.S. Historians

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson says he hopes his presidential papers will settle a lot of arguments among historians.

"Historians don't always agree," Johnson said Tuesday in releasing 250,000 documents on education matters during his 1963-1969 administration to scholars and researchers for the first time.

"They don't always see things the same way... I hope these papers will aid in bringing them together."

Johnson gave the word for the first release of his presidential papers from the LBJ Library at the end of a two-day symposium on education problems.

The former president also made a surprise announcement that his papers on civil rights matters, would be the second release from the 31 million documents in his presidential papers on April 27. Library officials said the second release probably would follow another big symposium of national leaders and former Johnson administration chiefs, this time on civil rights.

There was no formal ceremony in opening the education papers to the public. Library cards were issued to half a dozen reporters so they could look through some of the 280 bright red boxes that contain the educational material.

"These are the real material of history... These papers reflect it all... these papers show how it really was," Johnson said.

However, Dr. Daniel Reed, assistant U.S. archivist for presidential Libraries, said later that about 5 per cent of Johnson's education papers were not available to the public. "It is the same reason as in all presidential libraries, for the protection of private individuals who might be mentioned," he said. Reed said the papers still under cover were selected by the library staff, not the former president.

Julie Praises Father's Efforts To Provide Equal Opportunities

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Just an hour after her father addressed the nation on a new Vietnam peace proposal, Julie Nixon Eisenhower made a speech of her own—to a Girl Scout group.

But Julie made no mention of her father's speech in her remarks here Tuesday night.

She chose, instead, to praise him for his efforts to assure equal opportunities for all Americans.

"Equal opportunity is a goal that my father says he intends to pursue 'con gusto,'" she told a crowd of nearly 1,000, including many Mexican-Americans.

Addressing the annual dinner meeting of the San Antonio Area Council of Girl Scouts, she noted President Nixon has established programs aimed at aiding the Spanish-surnamed and has appointed Spanish-speaking persons to high posts in his administration.

Mrs. Eisenhower was whisked away before any comments on her father's speech could be obtained. But she did say at a news conference earlier Tuesday that she knew what he planned to announce—although she wouldn't reveal it.

"I'm not in a position to speak for him," she said.

Julie made good use of Spanish phrases in the speech to the Girl Scouts and during a tour of bilingual education classes at a local elementary school Tuesday afternoon.

"Ustedes trabajan mucho! (You all work a lot!)" she told a group of three-year-olds in an early childhood bilingual education class. The tots answered with shy smiles.

She told another class in Spanish: "I know all of you speak more and better English than I speak Spanish." Then she added, in English: "I speak it all mixed up."

Spokesmen said Mrs. Eisenhower visited the school, located in a predominantly Mexican-American area, because she was interested in seeing bilingual education in action.

Jewelry Trial Case Centers On Color Of Sen. Bates' Car

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Defense witnesses tried Tuesday to knock down the contention of a Rosenberg jeweler that Sen. Jim Bates visited him to get appraised some stolen diamonds which the official is accused of receiving.

Witnesses told the court that Bates, from Edinburg, owned a gold-colored 1968 Oldsmobile—not a green car as the state witness had described.

The defense also sought through character witnesses to establish Bates' good standing in his community.

The state finished presenting its case Tuesday morning and defense lawyer Frank Maloney failed in a move for an instructed verdict of innocence from District Court Judge Vernon Harville.

Maloney claimed the prosecution had not proved its case against the Lower Rio Grande Valley legislator.

Bates is being tried on a charge of receiving a diamond which Adrian Lambert said he stole in 1969 from the home of Corpus Christi lawyer Edmond J. Ford.

Defense witnesses testified that Bates bought a gold-colored 1968 Oldsmobile Aug. 16 of that year.

Former Edinburg car dealer Ralph Belue testified he sold the car to Bates.

Delue, who said he now sells used cars at San Antonio, said the car was still gold in color when Bates sold it back to him May 11, 1970.

Belue said the car bore the license plate JKN 748 on it.

Two prosecution witnesses testified earlier that Bates was driving a green 1968 Oldsmobile with that license number May 6, 1969, when he went to Rosenberg to get some diamonds appraised. John Herfort and Lorraine Olson said that was the license of the green Oldsmobile that Bates drove away after showing Herfort the diamonds. Herfort identified a large five-carat diamond as one shown in a sketch representing the Ford diamonds.

Other witnesses called by the defense included former McAllen mayor Paul G. Veale, Mrs. Bert Ogden, wife of an Edinburg car dealer, McAllen lawyer Arthur Gallucci, former state Rep. William Coughran, McAllen car dealer Teodoro Gonzales, Isidoro Ortiz of Mission, Highway Patrol Sgt. S.M. Moxley of McAllen and Jim Bates Jr., the defendant's son.

Local Delegation To Attend Meet In Amarillo

Pampa will send a delegation to the Regional II meeting of the Texas Municipal League at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Civic Auditorium in Amarillo.

City officials from various Panhandle cities and towns comprise the membership.

Pampa City Manager Mack Wofford said today the meetings are held for discussion of solutions to problems common to member cities.

Advisory Body Of Auditorium Schedules Meet

A meeting of Pampa's civic auditorium advisory committee is scheduled for 2 p.m. Friday in the City Commission room at City Hall.

City Manager Mack Wofford said the meeting has been called to brief committee members on the auditorium and problems that will need solutions.

"We expect to get some valuable assistance in the conduct of auditorium business affairs," Wofford said.

The city manager explained, however, that the committee will serve only in an advisory capacity.

Members of the committee are E. L. Green, chairman; Mrs. George B. Cree Jr., William Loving and Tex DeWeese.

Billionaire Reported To Have Received Checks From Author

Interviewed by newsmen at his home on Ibiza Tuesday, the 41-year-old novelist said he was also going to answer a New York court order in another case.

Irving says he compiled an autobiography of Hughes in a series of interviews with the industrialist over a period of months. McGraw-Hill Book Co. issued three checks to Hughes totaling $650,000 for the book, and Irving said Tuesday he delivered the checks personally to Hughes.

The first one, he said, was for $50,000 and was handed

Six Texas Congressmen Turn To Supreme Court For Help

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six Texas congressmen pitted against each other in a court-ordered redistricting plan are irritated with Texas Gov. Preston Smith for spurning their pleas to call the legislature into session to draft an alternate bill.

But, in light of Smith's adamant refusal Monday to gather the lawmakers, the congressmen are looking to the Supreme Court for some breathing room.

They hope Supreme Court Justice Lewis F. Powell will grant the state's request to block the court's plan and also hope that, if the entire court agrees to hear the case, Powell will keep in effect the legislature's redistricting plan declared unconstitutional last Saturday by a three-judge federal panel in Dallas.

This could enable elections to proceed as usual, since a full-court hearing on the case may not be squeezed in until next fall's session. The filing deadline is Feb. 7 and a lineup of candidates is not completed.

Rep. Bob Eckhardt, Houston Democrat whose district was not substantially affected, has been acting as constitutional expert and strategist for the six: Reps. Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls, Omar Burleson of Anson, O. C. Fisher of San Angelo, Ray Roberts of McKinney, Jim Wright of Fort Worth and Abraham Kazen of Laredo.

Fisher in Texas, but the others met with Eckhardt Monday in Wright's office to discuss their plight.

In an interview later, Eckhardt said it would be "reprehensible" for Smith not to call the legislature together when the federal court invited him to do so. He said the court has accepted a plan with glaring discriminations against minorities and opposed to the principle that certain homogeneous interests should be kept intact. The legislature should be allowed to correct these defects, he said.

If Smith refuses, Eckhardt said, he is delegating state policy "to a bunch of plaintiffs—to a bunch of Republicans who drew up this plan. Republicans may be fine people, but they are sometimes biased. And they are a damn sight less representative than the legislature."

Eckhardt said there are precedents, especially in redistricting cases, for the Supreme Court to leave in effect a plan declared unconstitutional by a lower court until it can hear the arguments and rule on the case.

But Eckhardt said "the cleanest way would be for the legislature to adjust some of these larger districts" to meet court approval.

Smith was due in town today for a Senate Finance Committee hearing, but it appeared doubtful whether he would meet with the irritated congressmen.

"He hadn't even let any of us know he was coming," said Burleson.

"I think the legislature did a good job last summer. I think we had a good arrangement. The variance of population was as close or closer than in any other state," Burleson said.

Texas asked Supreme Court Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. Monday to block the federal district court order which substituted a plan drawn up by a Dallas Mathematician for the one passed by the legislature last summer.

The state said registration slips already have been sent to voters telling them in which district they will vote but that elections might not be possible under the court's plan.

Biggest Mail Fraud Case Discovered

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A federal grand jury has indicted 22 persons from coast-to-coast in what the government says was the biggest mail fraud conspiracy in history.

The indictments were returned Monday night as police in cities ranging from Fort Lauderdale to Los Angeles waited to serve warrants on those named.

Losses totaling approximately $150 million were suffered by hundreds of corporations and individuals, according to Asst. U.S. Atty. Arthur Tifford and Richard Kirchner, in what they said was a scheme involving payments of advance fees for obtaining permanent loan commitments for business purposes.

In addition to individuals, including 11 Fort Lauderdale residents, the Trans-Continental Casualty Insurance Company, Ltd., was named a defendant. The governor claims TCI is a "shell" company without assets whose address is a post office box in Nassau.

According to the government's attorneys, the defendants participated in a scheme under which individuals or companies seeking business loans were assured they could get commitments from TCI upon payment of a premium from 10 to 15 percent of interest to TCI in advance.

The indictment said the scheme had been going on since September 1968.

Some Naval Cadets Don't Like Coeds

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Citing tradition and practicalities, several members of the 4,000-man brigade of midshipmen at the U.S. Naval Academy say they don't want their school to go coeducational.

"It's completely impractical," said Robert Hardy, 21, a senior from Columbus, Miss. "The idea of this place is to train shipboard officers, but there's nowhere women can serve in the fleet yet."

The prospect of women joining the brigade has become more than the campus joke it once was. Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Rep. John McDonald, R-Mich., have nominated teen-age girls for appointment to Annapolis.

To a man, the future Navy officers interviewed at the academy said they do not think the mission of the school and its physical layout—one dormitory—are geared for women.

"I'd probably be in favor of it from the standpoint of making this place nicer to go to, but from the standpoint of training I don't think this place is set up for women," said Lloyd Holz, a 22-year-old senior from Schuylburg, Tex.

Mike Candalor, 21, a senior from Johnsonburg, Pa., said he felt it would be difficult to integrate coeds into such non-classroom programs as summer sea training and intramural athletics.

"Would girls box like we have to?" Candalor wondered. "I got my nose bloodied doing it, but would a girl?"

Robert Musselman said he doesn't take the nominations seriously. "It's not much more than politicians trying to get their names in the newspaper," said the 21-year-old senior from Atlanta, Ga.

He suggested that if the Navy decided women could benefit from the educational facilities at the academy, girls could be permitted to attend classes without formally joining the brigade.

subway is providing a variety of services. And it appears to be headed for greater things.

By MIKE COCHRAN Associated Press Writer FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — As subways go, the tiny M&O is nothing a New Yorker would write home about. The system is neither super sleek nor lightning fast.

By metropolitan comparison, it is a toy, the fanciful creation of restless Texas businessmen, the world's only known privately-owned subway.

Its underground route stretches but 1,400 feet, linking the downtown Leonard's Department Store with a semi-free riverside parking lot on the western fringe of the city.

Top speed seldom exceeds 30 miles per hour and never are there more than five cars, each with a maximum of 120 passengers, rumbling along the tracks simultaneously.

The silver and blue cars, although custom designed by Leonard's, are castoffs from the trolley car days in Washington, D.C. They are comfortable but not opulent.

When built in the early 1960s, the subway was only a portion of a Leonard's expansion project that included a new store covering a city block. The entire project cost little more than $2 million.

The idea was conceived by the Leonard brothers, Marvin and Opie, for whom the M&O was named. The goal was to hypo business, which it did.

More importantly, the spinoff benefits spilled over into the business district, which, like cities across the country, was under siege by suburban shopping centers.

"The subway has kept that end of downtown alive," contends David Farrington, city planning director. "The north end of downtown Fort Worth would have folded long ago if it weren't for the subway."

Besides easing a chronic parking problem, use of the 5,000-car parking lot and subway sharply reduced traffic congestion within the business area.

According to city figures, 25,000 passengers ride the M&O daily on an average. During peak shopping periods, such as Christmas, the figure more than doubles.

The system links five subway terminals, four on the parking lot and the fifth at the subterranean entrance to Leonards. The trip takes about three minutes. The downtown terminal provides an exit also for passengers to reach the street during hours when the store is not open. Thus, the subway can be used by people working downtown.

The morning run begins some two hours before the 9:30 a.m. store opening. Before 9:15, motorists pay 50 cents to park in the Leonard's lot, after 9:15, parking is free. The evening run ends 30 minutes after store closing.

"It's fast, comfortable, convenient and free," says Charles Ringler, public relations director at Leonard's. "It has increased business... alleviated a helluva lot of traffic congestion... provided more downtown parking... and offered a free service to people employed in the downtown area."

"It serves a multitude of purposes, and at the same time has even helped our competitors."

Just how much it has helped competition, or even Leonard's, is not known.

"It is difficult to establish a dollar value," Ringler said. "There is no way to weigh packages in and out. But we've seen the help it's been to us in serving our customers... and it has increased business."

Since October 1967, Leonard's had been a division of Tandy Corp., a Fort Worth-based national organization whose own expansion plans extend far beyond this city. Multimillionaire Charles B. Tandy has indicated a willingness to turn the subway system over to the city to form the nucleus of a new transportation complex.

Such a complex, planning director Farrington said, could eventually connect the downtown areas of Dallas and Fort Worth with the $500 million regional airport rising between the two North Texas cities, which are 30 miles apart.

Farrington said planning is under way now to extend the subway beyond Leonard's to the east, adding three terminals and additional fringe parking for 3,000 cars.

"It appears that it's going to cost somewhere in excess of $40 million," he said. "We will be applying this spring for a federal grant for two-thirds of the cost."

"We've been negotiating with Tandy to turn over the subway facilities to us but there's still a lot of negotiating to be done both there and with the federal government."

"We've got the only privately owned subway in the world. To be able to obtain it at practically no cost and then to extend it is going to be of tremendous impact to the downtown area," he said.

"It will be a big stimulant to downtown development... and a blessing in many respects."

U.N. Security Council Moving To Africa For One-Week Meet

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations begins moving its decision center to Ethiopia today for a week of Security Council meetings on African issues.

Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim, his aides, the ambassadors of the United States, the Soviet Union, China, Britain and France, the 10 other Security Council members and a Secretariat staff of 125 depart on a charter flight and commercial planes.

After an overnight stop in Madrid, the chartered jet will land the Secretariat personnel plus newsmen and a few diplomats in Addis Ababa Thursday afternoon.

Most of the 15 nations on the council are sending three or four members from their delegations on later commercial flights. Waldheim leaves Tuesday night and will stop over in Rome.

The meetings will begin Friday and must be completed by the following Friday, Feb. 4. They will be held in Africa Hall, seat of the U.N.

Economic Commission for Africa.

It is the first time the Security Council has met away from U.N. headquarters in 20 years and the first time ever for it alone to convene away from headquarters. The council met in 1951-52 in Paris, when the General Assembly was meeting there.

At the request of the Organization of African Unity, the General Assembly last December recommended that the council consider meeting in Africa.

The council approved the idea at the nudging of its African president, Abdulrahman Abby Farah of Somalia. The Western powers agreed, but had reservations about the cost to the financially strapped world organization and the wisdom of taking up hot African issues near the scene.

The cost to the United Nations is estimated at $130,500. The Ethiopian government agreed to pay the cost of hotel rooms for U.N. staff and provide messengers, security personnel and local transportation.

Addis Ababa apparently was chosen because resident U.N. staff and facilities were available, reducing the cost. Estimates of the price to hold the sessions in other African capitals ranged as high as $500,000.

Soviet Recognition Of Bangladesh May Spur Nations To Follow Suit

DACCA (AP) — Soviet recognition of Bangladesh is expected to spur other nations to join the lineup, and officials of the young nation expressed great pleasure today at Moscow's move.

The Soviet consul-general to Dacca conveyed his government's decision to Prime Minister Mujibur Rahman in Tangail, where he was attending a ceremony. President Nikolai V. Podgorny and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin telegraphed Sheik Mujib: "We convey to you and to the people of Bangladesh friendly wishes of peace, well-being and success in consolidating the state sovereignty of your country, in building a peaceful democratic republic."

"It is quite natural that the Soviet Union has come out with this great decision to accord us due recognition," Foreign Minister A. S. Azad told newsmen. He added that he hoped recognition from Washington would come "sooner than expected." But the most recent word from officials in the U.S. capital was that recognition was not even under consideration.

The United States backed Pakistan in the two-week war with India in December and the Soviet Union backed India, which entered the fight to establish the independence of Bangladesh.

Mujib was in Tangail, 50 miles northwest of Dacca, to accept the arms surrender Monday of Bangladesh's most flamboyant guerrilla leader in a ceremony dramatizing government control over the countryside. It was Mujib's first trip outside Dacca since he returned Jan. 10 from 9½ months in Pakistani prisons.

Nearly 3,000 weapons were stacked for Mujib's inspection by Abdul Kader Siddique, also known as the Tiger of Tangail. But no arrangements for collecting the arms were in evidence, and the government apparently relied on Siddique's good will not to give them back to his men.

On Jan. 17, Mujib gave all guerrillas 10 days to lay down their arms and join a new national militia. The deadline has since been extended until the end of this month.

Mujib told the gathering he wants a "Nuernberg type trial" for Pakistanis responsible for mass murder in Bangladesh since last March. And Radio Bangladesh announced today that President Syed Nazrul Islam has ordered a special tribunal to try collaborators who aided the Pakistani army in "committing genocide." Mujib estimates 3 million Bengalis were killed.

Meanwhile, Pakistani President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto arrived in Ankara for two days of talks with Turkish leaders during which he hoped to convince them to withhold recognition of Bangladesh to give him more time to attempt reconciliation with what was once Pakistan's eastern half. Sources said that before Bhutto flew to Ankara, the Soviet ambassador in Karachi told him of Moscow's recognition of Bangladesh and invited him to visit Moscow.

He told 200 cheering industrialists at the Karachi airport to see him off that he wanted to "give another chance to the industrial community to prove their bona fides."

As evidence of his softer line, Bhutto released three magistrates who were put under house arrest soon after he came to power.

Bhutto had set Jan. 15 as the deadline for the return of $400 million which he claimed Pakistan's wealthy families had transferred abroad. But with only $24 million in assets reported declared, there have been indications that he was backing away from the tough measures he had threatened.

Rush Named As 2nd Man Of Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced today he will nominate his one-time Duke University law professor Kenneth Rush, a former ambassador to West Germany, to be deputy secretary of Defense.

Rush, 62, who lives in Rye, N.Y., will replace David Packard. The Pentagon post pays $42,500 a year.

Rush has been prominent in speculation in recent weeks as the successor to Packard, who resigned Dec. 13 to return to his private firm in California, Hewlett-Packard Co., which has been a big Defense Department contractor.

At the same time Nixon said he would nominate Eberhardt Reichtin of Rockville, Md., to a newly created $36,000-a-year Pentagon post as assistant secretary of Defense for telecommunications.

Reichtin, 46, a native of Orange, N.J., has held posts with the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at the California Institute of Technology, has been director of the Advanced Research Projects Agency and principal deputy director of the Office of Defense Research and Engineering.

Rush, a native of Walla Walla, Wash., served as ambassador to the Federal Republic of Germany as a Nixon appointee since July 8, 1969, and has been instrumental in the negotiations over the new Berlin pact.

1st Black Congresswoman Seeks Demo Presidential Nomination

Rep. Shirley Chisholm of New York, who has been informally seeking the Democratic presidential nomination through much of her freshman term as the nation's first black congresswoman, makes it official today.

The fiery former schoolteacher from the Bedford-Stuyvesant slums scheduled a news conference at the Concord Baptist church in Brooklyn to announce her candidacy.

Mrs. Chisholm, 47, who went to Congress after serving four years in the state legislature, has made no bones about her intentions in numerous campaign speeches around the country for the past several months.

On Jan. 2, she told a Broadway theater audience during an invitation appearance: "I dare to run for the presidency," she added. "The hour has come in America when we can't be passive recipients."

She was equally frank about her intentions at Jacksonville, Fla., a few days later when she described herself as the only "unique candidate" in the Democratic race and vowed she wouldn't drop out of the competition she hadn't yet officially entered.

Saying she had been urged to drop out to avoid splitting the liberal vote with New York Mayor John V. Lindsay and

Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, Mrs. Chisholm told a Florida college rally:

"I'm black and I'm a woman. I can go into New Mexico and Texas and talk to the Chicanos in their own language. Why not ask Lindsay and McGovern to drop out?"

In addition to Lindsay and McGovern, others already in the race for the Democratic nomination are Sens. Vance Hartke of Indiana, Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, Henry M. Jackson of Washington, and Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles and Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama.

In other political developments: JACKSON — The Washington senator told a crowd of about 500 at a reception in Memphis, Tenn., that he opposes "massive school busing for the sake of achieving some sort of racial balance. He drew applause from blacks and whites when he said, "It isn't the bus ride, but what is at the end of the bus ride that counts." He campaigns today in Memphis and Jackson, Tenn.

WALLACE — Speaking at Tampa, Fla., the Alabama governor charged that some of his Democratic rivals "are telling it like it ain't. Everyone of them has been giving your money away." He announced his campaign slogan: "Big government, go home where you belong." His audience, less than 8,000 to 10,000 his aides had predicted, gave him standing ovations several times.

YORTY — One of his aides said in Tallahassee, Fla., that the Los Angeles mayor will hire a lawyer this week in an effort to get his name off the March 14 Florida presidential primary ballot. Yorty's name was entered against his wishes. The aide, Sam Bretzenfeld, said Yorty wants to pick his own primaries.

HARTKE — The Indiana senator told a civic club in Jacksonville, Fla., that President Nixon instituted wage and price controls out of panic after 2½ years of economic gymnastics. He said, "I think President Nixon is a 100 per cent failure as president."

MUSKIE — Boston's Mayor Kevin H. White announced his support for the Maine senator. And former Ohio Gov. Michael V. DeSalle announced he would be a Muskie-pledged candidate in his state's primary election May 2.

LINDSAY — Addressing the Women's National Democratic Club in Washington, D.C., the New York mayor said Nixon's fiscal 1973 budget provides "more for death abroad and less for life here at home." He said, "Incredibly, with the union in the state it is, the President proposes more money for guns, bombs and planes and less for the domestic needs of the nation."

MCCARTHY — He said at a news conference in Madison, Wis., that many young people who backed his 1968 try for the White House may keep to the sidelines.

MCCLOSKEY — Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, the Californian who is challenging Nixon for the GOP nomination, said that if he can go to the Republican National Convention with 300 delegates his supporters will have enough power "to present alternative leadership in the Republican party."

LAPWAL, Idaho (AP) — For many moons the Nez Perce Indians have held war dances in late February in honor of George Washington.

Recent historical disclosures, however, have convinced the tribal war dance committee that a more fitting name for the dances Feb. 24-26 would be E-Peh-Tes War Dance Championships.

"It has come to our attention there is no reason to celebrate the first president's birthday," said Leroy Sun, club president, "due to the fact he once offered a bounty of $1 to $2 per head for Indians."

"E-Peh-Tes" is an Indian word for a men's club.

U.S. Gives Its Cold Shoulder To UN Request For Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has made its cool attitude toward the United Nations even more evident by its lack of response to Secretary General Kurt Waldheim's effort to raise some quick money for the debt-ridden organization.

Waldheim, in office only a month, spent all of Monday with President Nixon, Secretary of State William P. Rogers and congressional leaders, going over the U.N.'s financial suffering.

Although Waldheim told newsmen the response to his position was positive from the President on down, U.S. officials indicated the Austrian diplomat may have been wearing rose-colored glasses.

"The United States isn't interested in bailing the U.N. out of its hole this time," one government official said. "We're going to wait for the people who dug the hole."

In more diplomatic tones State Department spokesman Charles Bray made the same point Monday when he told newsmen it is too early to characterize the U.S. response to Waldheim's request that U.N. members advance $20 million in contributions to tide the world body over this year.

The administration first "would like to have the opportunity to see the response from other members" before deciding its own course of action, Bray said.

He added that the large U.N. debt is more the responsibility of other members, particularly those he indicated were to blame for the world crises that led to expensive U.N. peacekeeping missions.

The debt, estimated variously at $65 million by Waldheim and $150 million by Bray, is largely the result of failure by the Soviet Union, several East European nations and France to pay their share of the peacekeeping costs.

Waldheim said he is seeking support for his plan from all other members and only came to Washington first because the United States is the host nation to the U.N.

Although the Nixon administration is aloof to the $20-million request, it is sympathetic to Waldheim's general effort to bring some financial order to the U.N., which is near self-proclaimed insolvency.

He said the world body has lost esteem throughout the world and a start to regaining global confidence is to achieve fiscal reform. "Something has to be done ...," Waldheim told reporters, "to regain confidence ... that we are keeping our house in order."

Dear Abby

Out-of-touch Friday Shocked by 'routine'

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have just returned from an interview for a secretarial position. The boss himself interviewed me, and I must say, I was surprised at some of the questions he asked me.

He wanted to know if I was on "the Pill." (I had already told him I was recently divorced.)

Then he asked, "Do you drink?" I told him I didn't. Then he smiled and added, "Not even a little social drinking once in a while?" I said "No. I just don't care for it." Then he looked at me like I was some kind of oddball.

He also asked me if I ever "turned on" with drugs. By that time I had had it, and replied, "Good grief, no!"

I doubt if that interview will result in a job offer. But if it does, I shall turn it down.

Not having sought employment for 10 years, perhaps I am out of touch with today's scene. But I'd like to know if these questions are routine in an interview today? Or did this particular man have something else in mind?

SHOCKED IN MANHATTAN

DEAR SHOCKED: The questions you were asked were not routine, and I suspect the man who interviewed you had fringe benefits in mind. For HIM—not you.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a long distance truck driver. I told him a few weeks ago that I worried a lot about his driving at night because I was afraid he might doze off, and he told me I shouldn't worry because one of the other drivers gave him some "stay awake" pills.

I begged him not to take any pills unless he knows what is in them, and suggested that he go to our family doctor if he felt he needed something to help him stay awake.

He said I was "dumb" to worry, but I love him, and I'm afraid he might get hooked on drugs. Is this possible, and what can I do?
 SO WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Yes, it's possible. Keep after him until he goes to his family doctor. It is dangerous for anyone to take pills which have not been prescribed especially for him.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please say something to inconsiderate "children" who are now married and have their own families, but who pile up bills and then ask their parents to "loan" them money to pay these bills, but who never repay the loan? These bills, I want to say, are not for necessities, but for luxuries and extras.

When our children were small, we scrimped and saved. Why should we have to do it all over again in our old age? Please, Abby, say something to add a little maturity and responsibility to these selfish children. We love them and do not wish to alienate them by being too blunt. Thank you.
 HONDO, TEXAS

DEAR HONDO: Nothing I say can add maturity and responsibility to your grown children. But you can protect your savings and perhaps train your children to either do without, or save in advance, by refusing to pay their bills. And don't worry about "alienating" them. Let THEM worry about alienating YOU!

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LIKES THE LADIES" IN CHILICOTHE, OHIO: In the long haul, charming women win over the beauties. A very wise man once remarked, "The beautiful women are the ones I notice. But the charming women are the ones who notice ME."

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69766, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69766, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Mrs. Kenney Reviews Book

Texas Delta Alpha chapter of Phi Sigma Alpha met for dinner in the Coronado Inn. For the program, Mrs. Lennie R. Kenney reviewed the book, "The Double Helix," by Nobel Prize winner James D. Watson. The book concerns events leading to the discovery of the structure of DNA, or deoxy ribonucleic acid, by Watson and his associates Francis Crick and Maurice Wilkins. Mrs. Kenney explained. These three men were given the Nobel prize for biology for this discovery in 1962, she said.

Mrs. Kenney pointed out that Dr. Watson's purpose in writing the book was to stress the human interactions involved in a major scientific breakthrough.

"The characters in his book are not ivory tower scientists, but very human people subject to the full range of human emotions," she reported.

The program moderator was Mrs. Harry Cook. Mrs. Fred Symonds, president, led the business session. Mrs. Bernard Organ, area representative, read correspondence from international headquarters.

Other members attending were Mrs. Tom Dunn, Hugh Peoples, Marvin Silliman, Felton Webb, B. F. Dorman and Carl Griffin.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

THURSDAY, JAN. 27

Your birthday today: Promises a moderate, standard year of experience along the lines you've set, or let yourself settle into. Technical skills are more readily mastered during this period if systematically pursued. Emotional orientations swing to become more sensitive, outgoing. Today's natives are seldom willing to take a middle course, prefer extremes.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Stall for time, temporize, when unexpectedly heavy demands come upon you. Over-optimistic experiments falter, and you may have to help resolve chaos in partner's situation.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Be wary of time-wasters, other people who lack concern for your welfare. Stay by home and those you care about rather than adventuring about.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Pursue career advancement with caution; somebody's mind needs making up yet. Responsibility for a loved one may limit your scope of action for the time being.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): On personal projects you can't compromise or settle for less than the truth—even if it goes against pride. Change appointments thoroughly to avert misunderstanding.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Investments in keeping ahead of social rivals are not favored. You could be further ahead by just being yourself and doing a good job.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Be prudent in how you select clothing, equipment. An impulse at generosity goes almost too far. Hold on a bit to be sure that it is needed.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Tendencies are toward more thoroughly detailed, more costly arrangements. Controversy should be avoided in career issues. Working conditions include subtle new factors.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Seemingly all those near you have ideas of their own today, including how money is to be spent. You may as well state your views calmly and come to agreement by eventide.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Orthodox, conservative approaches work out better now. Relax, let others come to you as you restrain an urge to splurge.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Keeping facts straight is more than worthy of the effort—appointments, schedules encounter delays. Divert yourself and loved ones with some simple entertainment.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Compiling a list of flaws and faults comes naturally. Abstain from doing anything premature about them, while striving not to add any of your own to the record.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Share your favorite pastimes, expect vigorous competition, some generally impatient moods all around you. A pause for meditation helps bring serenity.

Worry Clinic

By George F. Crane, Ph. D., D. D.

David's case shows that the new voters under 21, may shock the wily politicians! For these smart young voters can easily puncture the "Common Fallacies" that have fooled older voters. So be sure teen-agers get the booklet below!

CASE S-81: David B., age 17, is the son of an attorney. "Dr. Crane," his father began, "my son is on the high school debating team. "Its coach has presented each debater with a copy of your newspaper booklet titled "Common Fallacies in Logic."

"David, now figuratively 'eats it up' for he has a rather analytical slant on life, anyway."

"And he has memorized your 10 Common Fallacies, which he applies to the family in our dinner table arguments."

"So why don't you outline some of those fallacies for the sake of the general public and especially all the new 18-year-old voters?"

Fallacies in Logic: When I was Captain of a Northwestern University debate team, I relished such forensic fighting.

"For that's what our debates really were."

"But I also enjoyed my Liberal Arts course in Logic wherein we studied such fallacies."

"Alas, most college graduates today have never been exposed to such a course, yet it is vital to precise thinking."

"So I prepared the booklet named below to help debaters (as well as irate taxpayers) see through the verbal tricks worked upon us by many of our clever politicians. Here are the names of those 10 Common Fallacies:

(1) Ad Hominem Fallacy, wherein a person's logic is sidetracked by mud slinging, whispering campaigns and emotional attacks on his personality to avoid meeting his logical reasons.

(2) Guilt by Association. (3) Kowtowing to Supposed Kings or "Sacred Cows." (4) The Either-Or Fallacy. (5) Fallacy of Self-Evident Truths.

(6) Fallacy of "Everybody's Doing It." (7) Hasty Generalization Fallacy.

(8) Ad Populum Fallacy or the "Appeal to the Crowd." (9) Fallacy of Irrelevant Correlation or Conclusion.

(10) Fallacy of Parental Protest (also called "Anti-Papa").

Space limitations will not permit full illustration of those "Common Fallacies," so be sure your high school and college youth have the booklet below.

For it is widely adopted by English teachers and Debate Coaches.

But all of you housewives should likewise employ it to immunize yourself against illogical sales arguments.

So send for that booklet "Common Fallacies in Logic," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

Always write to Dr. Crane, Hopkins Bldg., Mellett, Indiana 47958, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Presidential Candidates To Get Secret Agents

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secret Service agents are expected to begin guarding presidential candidates early next month, with at least eight of the 1972 entries likely to be offered federal bodyguards.

A panel assigned to decide which candidates are entitled to get protection is scheduled to meet Thursday.

The law provides for protection of major candidates for president and vice president unless they decline it.

The commission must figure out how to determine who in the crowded 1972 field are the major candidates.

At preliminary sessions, aides to commission members have agreed generally that the national public-opinion polls should be the basis for initial selection of candidates to protect.

The problem is to set a minimum standing in those polls as the criterion for major candidacy, and that is expected to be a major topic Thursday.

The commission members are Sens. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Hugh Scott, R-Pa., the majority and minority leaders; Speaker of the House Carl Albert, Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford, and former Sen. Thomas Kuchel of California, a public member chosen by the other panelists.

The goal of the panel is to begin coverage by Feb. 1 or Feb. 7. The first presidential primary election is in New Hampshire on March 7.

One source said a standard almost certainly would be set to cover such entries as Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, who has been campaigning for more than a year but still is near the bottom of the Democratic ranking in public opinion polls.

In addition, it was understood, there will be a more general category to cover entries who are not counted by such polls, but obviously are major candidates, such as Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

This category also would cover Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, who ranks high in the polls but insists he will not be a 1972 candidate.

In addition, the commission will have to decide whether the two Republicans challenging President Nixon in the presidential primaries, Reps. John M. Ashbrook of Ohio and Paul N. McCloskey of California, should receive coverage.

Sens. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota are certain to be offered protection, whatever standard is set.

Today In History

By Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 26, the 26th day of 1972. There are 340 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1942, the First American Expeditionary Force arrived in Europe in World War II.

The troops were put ashore in northern Ireland.

On this date: In 1788, Sydney, Australia, was founded as a British penal colony.

In 1837, Michigan became the 26th state of the Union.

In 1861, Louisiana seceded from the Union.

In 1880, Douglas MacArthur was born in Little Rock, Ark.

In 1944, the World War II battle for the Anzio beachhead was raging in Italy.

In 1952, the famous Shepherd's Hotel in Cairo was burned during riots by mobs demanding that the British withdraw from the Suez.

Ten years ago: An American spacecraft designed to land scientific instruments on the moon for the first time was launched from Florida.

Five years ago: A snow and ice storm paralyzed much of the Middle West.

Sheik Khalid Assassinated

SHARJAH (AP) — The ruler of the little Persian Gulf emirate of Sharjah, Sheik Khalid, was stabbed to death early today in an attempted coup led by a cousin.

The police clamped a curfew on the sheikdom. No traffic moved, and communications with the outside world were limited.

Sheik Khalid's cousin, a former ruler named Sheik Sakr bin Sultan, drove into the palace grounds Monday with two carloads of Bedouins, occupied the palace and took Sheik Khalid hostage.

Led by the ruler's brother, Sheik Sakr bin Mohammed, police and troops of the Union of Arab Emirates surrounded the blue and white building, and after an exchange of shots rushed it today. They found the ruler dead.

The president of the Union of Arab Emirates, Sheik Zaid bin Sultan of Abu Dhabi, announced that Sheik Sakr bin Sultan and those associated with him had surrendered. The president also reported that four other persons, who were not identified, were killed with Sheik Khalid.

Television And Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — The manatee, or sea cow, of the Florida waters was the subject of another Jacques Cousteau undersea adventure on ABC Monday night. The huge, ugly creatures, totally interested in munching water hyacinths, are reputed to be the basis for the legend of mermaids—difficult to understand unless sailors of another age were extremely near-sighted.

With the undersea photography of Cousteau's team, the story of the placid manatee—imperturbed by encroaching civilization, power boat propellers and spear hunters—was another delightful hour of television. The divers filmed the mannequins feeding their young and taking siestas on the bottom of shallow, warm waterways.

The second half of the program was devoted to efforts of Cousteau and his men to return one manatee, a resident of a Florida marine museum, to his natural habitat. He had been caught in a Miami sewer and nicknamed "Sewer Sam." The 1,200-pound animal was flown to another part of the state and gradually returned to the wild. It made some needed albeit phony, suspense.

NBC, secure with the hit status of its "Mystery Movie," will use it to test a new detective hero who may make it next season with a series.

The pilot segment, to be broadcast Wednesday night, is "Cutter," the name of a black private detective, a television first. The 30-minute program was filmed on location in Chicago.

Peter Deanda who plays the title role concedes "Cutter" is getting a chance largely because a recent theatrical film, "Shaft," is a box-office success.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va. (AP) — John D. Rockefeller IV, nephew of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas, is bidding to become governor of West Virginia.

A former Republican who shifted from the party of his uncles after he came to West Virginia as an antiparty worker, the 34-year-old oil empire heir has been secretary of state since 1969.

He announced Monday at a news conference that he will seek the Democratic nomination to run for governor in this fall's election. Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. is expected to seek re-election on the Republican ticket.

Accompanied by his wife Sharon, daughter of Sen. Charles A. Percy, R-Ill., Rockefeller promised that if elected he would "bring West Virginia one standard of government, one government that listens to the people, and works for the people, all of the time."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans is expected to resign soon to repeat his 1968 role as an active fund raiser in President Nixon's election campaign.

Asked Monday when the resignation of Stans would be announced, Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said it could be expected in the next few days.

TEL AVIV (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II of Britain, President Nixon and President Zalm Shazar of Israel will receive the first three completed volumes of the "Encyclopaedia Judaica," it was announced Monday at the official ceremony marking publication.

A Howell movement was played Sunday afternoon in the Coronado Inn. Winners were: Dorothy Mac Murtry and Verdale Cooper first; Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Hampton second.

Tascosa Upsets Harvesters

SUCH IS THE DEDICATION of Bobby Fischer, left, that he even takes his chess board into swimming pools. He's practicing here with another American chess expert, Larry Evans.

Armageddon Of Chess: Fischer Vs. Russians

NEW YORK (NEA) — "The Russians have been committing international crimes for so long—spreading lies and political propaganda all over the world, cheating at sports—someone has to stop them. I've been chosen," said Bobby Fischer.

"I intend to teach them a little humility."

The 28-year-old U.S. chess champion, Fischer, a high school dropout, will meet the world champion, Boris Spassky of the Soviet Union, for the title sometime before June 30. The match will continue for 24 games spread over about two months. Ten cities have put in bids, the top ones coming from Yugoslavia (offering a total prize of $152,000) and from Argentina ($150,000). He and Spassky must agree on the site, if there is an impasse, the international federation will decide.

"The Russians didn't put in a bid," said Fischer. "They knew I'd never go there to play. I know they'd be waking me up at six in the morning to tell me my laundry was ready."

It was not 2 in the afternoon, and in a midtown Italian restaurant, Fischer talked about the Russians over breakfast (he stays up very late going over chess moves in his hotel room). Now and then, he lifted large forkfuls of stringy spaghetti into his mouth.

"I just read an attack on me by Botvinnik, the ex-world champion, in a Russian magazine," continued Fischer. "He said he was writing it in the interest of truth. He said I was capricious, conceited, paranoid, that I lacked principles and was not sufficient as a human being. He said he would substantiate the charges. 'But what would be gained?' he said. I'm sick of their hypocrisy."

"Like when I beat Petrosian. There was just this little squib. There was just this little quib in their papers about it. But there was a local championship that they put in headlines. If Petrosian had beaten me, then there would have been headlines."

Fischer's bitter attitude toward the Russians is made up of three parts: money, recognition and fair play.

He believes that, since the Russian government pays its chess players, he had been systematically excluded from earning money in world tournaments and exhibitions; that the Russians influenced unfavorable world opinion of him, and that was the object of Russian cheating conspiracies in past tournaments. (Yet, his outspokenness, perhaps even more than his supreme skill, has made him the only recognized chess name to most Americans.)

"They would send top Russian players globe-trotting to play free in places where I was asking for thousands of dollars," said Fischer. "Well, I've finally broken through this. But for about a year and eight months in 1969 and 1970, I was pretty discouraged. I refused to play the Russians—and they have most of the best players in the world. For a time I was thinking of quitting international chess. But then I thought, what else can I do? The answer was, nothing."

Fischer entered two other world championship tournaments. The first, he quit when he accused the Russian players of rigging games between them—to give one of their own points with ties to beat Fischer's total. Another time he walked out when he accused them of rigging the schedule.

Fischer is angry because, he says, he has been the world's best chess player since he was 15, and has had little recognition and, especially, has not become wealthy as befits a champion, as, in fact, befits the world's greatest all-time player, according to a rating system of the international chess federation.

"I was even put down in my own country," said Fischer. "Americans really don't know much about chess. So they listened to other people."

"The United States is not a cultural country. The people here want to be entertained. They don't want any mental strain, and chess is a high intellectual form. Americans want to plunk in front of a TV, and not have to open a book."

"But now, President Nixon just sent me a letter saying that America is backing me. The United States is getting kicked around in the world. I'm representing us, the entire free world, in fact, in a kind of grudge match against the Communists."

Shockers Defeat Tascosa

The Pampa Shockers came home last night with a second district win under their belt after defeating the Tascosa Junior Varsity squad 69 to 52 on the Rebel's home courts.

The Shockers placed four men in double figures with tall Damon DeWitt leading the way with 15 points. The young cager hit the Amarillo school the hardest of the four double figured Pampans as Randy Warner came up with 14 points, Richard Stowers with eleven and A. J. Brewer had 10.

Brewer, small for a basketball player, makes up in desire for what he lacks in height. His defensive moves strike terror into the hearts of the opponents and last night his scoring started to hit the mark.

Danny Nickleberry pushed through nine points for the young Pampa team and kept the pressure on throughout the evening.

Warner could be given the blue ribbon for rebounding last night as he pulled in 14 off the boards against the Tascosa group.

High point man for the Amarillo cagers was Jeff Hamilton with 14 points.

The Shockers opened the game with a first period 16 to 8 edge and went to the showers at halftime with a 35 to 19 lead.

The third period the Shockers kept the ball moving well as they entered the final minutes of play with a 51 to 36 edge.

The Shockers are entered in the Phillips Junior Varsity Invitational Basketball tournament this Thursday and Saturday and will be meeting Childress at 5:30 p.m. The Pampa Sophomores are also entered in the clash with their first game against the Phillips Sophomores at 8:30 p.m. Thursday night.

shots. About the only place the Pampans could hit from was the charity line and before the evening was over this too was to sour for the champions.

The upset stunned all of the fans as well as the manner the Rebs went about it. The full court press and man to man both went to perfection for the Rebel team while Pampa couldn't seem to keep ahold of the ball.

The Harvesters seemed to be preoccupied throughout the game not showing the usual hustle until the final minutes of the fourth quarter of play. Mike Edgar and Richard Burton led the team with 20 points apiece but the best sometimes lose.

Tascosa jumped to an early lead in the first period seven to four before dropping back to a 13 to 9 deficit. The Harvesters couldn't hold on to their edge however as Mark Ortbai guided his team to a 19 to 17 lead going into the second period.

Rebel Craig Shulkin, while not the high-point man for the Rebels, was a key figure in the stunning upset. He continuously came up with steals to set up Rebel scores and drove deep into the Harvesters defense to pick up the big play.

With 5:47 left in the first half the Rebels had a 25 to 19 lead and utilized their stall. The Harvesters were helpless against the quick passing and calls made by the Amarillo hopefuls. The stall and great defense enabled the Tascosa team to lead 29 to 20 with 2:06 before the half.

Throughout the evening several calls made by the officials were questionable. In the fourth period this came to a climax when an official called a technical foul against the Pampa bench. The News was seated directly behind the bench and still can figure out why the call was made. Coach McPherson took this opportunity to talk to the official but he, like the rest of the team, could do no right in the referee's eyes.

The technical came immediately after an Amarillo player had crossed mid-court for the second time (without being called). A change of heart by the ref, or perhaps remorse at being caught in a mistake, gave the Tascosa team a field goal that didn't count because of the shooters' (Shulkin) foot crossing the charity line. (Again the News failed to see the declared violation.)

All in all, when game films are reviewed and the season ends, I hope this is the worst example of calling a game by an U.I.L. official. (It would be hard to find a worse example.)

The Harvesters will be meeting the district leaders this Friday night in Harvester Fieldhouse at 8 p.m. The Palo Duro Dons captured the post position after defeating Borger 70 to 59 Tuesday night in Borger.

Cage Clash Contains Big Basketball Brawl

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Wayne Duke, Big Ten commissioner, ordered Minnesota and Ohio State officials to confer with him today on a brawl that stopped a basketball game between the schools Tuesday night, leaving two players hospitalized.

The game was halted with 36 seconds to play, and Ohio State was awarded a 50-44 victory that gave the sixth-ranked Buckeyes first place in the Big Ten race with a 4-0 record and dropped 16th-ranked Minnesota to 4-1.

Three Ohio State basketball players were taken to University of Minnesota hospital after the game—starters Luke Witte and Mark Miner and reserve Mark Wagar.

The 7-foot Witte and Wagar were held overnight for observation. Witte suffered lacerations over his chin and eyebrows. Wagar also had a cut over his eye. X-rays showed there were no serious injuries.

Taylor and Coach Bill Musselman of Minnesota had differing views on what triggered the fight before a crowd of 17,775 at Williams Arena.

"Three Minnesota players were bad mouthing our boys at the half," said Taylor.

Musselman said Witte hit Minnesota guard Bob Nix, 6-3, on the head as the half ended.

"We went up eight points as the game was ending," said Taylor.

This, Taylor felt, frustrated the Gophers.

Just before the fight broke out, Nix hit a long jump shot to pull the Gophers to 50-44. The fight erupted 11 seconds later, under the Ohio State basket.

Witte was going in for a shot when Clyde Turner fouled him, and officials ejected Turner from the game.

Minnesota's Corky Taylor said Witte spit at him when he went over to help the Buckeye player up off the floor.

At this point, witnesses said, Taylor kneed Witte in the groin. Within seconds, nearly every player from both teams was out on the floor throwing punches.

Police swarmed onto the floor as the fight broke out, pulling players apart and stopping some fans who stormed onto the court.

Duke said he regretted that "the situation marred an otherwise fine Big Ten contest. After consultation with both coaches, it was decided in the best interest of safety for the players and fans to terminate the game at that point."

In other major college games Tuesday night, Villanova defeated St. Bonaventure 87-72; Michigan topped Iowa 90-86; Texas Tech beat Texas 79-68; Alabama whipped Georgia Tech 90-68; Southern Methodist downed Arkansas 85-51; Boston University edged Connecticut 70-67.

It was also Louisiana Tech over Southern Mississippi 91-63; Texas A&M topping Texas Christian 81-74; William & Mary beating Virginia Military 76-59; Tulane stopping Loyola if New Orleans 73-69; and Oral Roberts downing Lamar 10-95.

In the West Weber State defeated Northern Arizona 86-68; Denver beat Regis 86-65; California at Santa Barbara shipped by Los Angeles Loyola 78-75; San Diego State topped San Diego University 87-69; and San Jose State downed San Francisco 69-65.

NHL Roundup

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The National Hockey League's board of governors took the easy way out of its realignment hassle and now Long Island and Atlanta, the two newest member clubs, know what they're up against.

After kicking around various suggestions to divide the 16 clubs into four divisions of four teams each, the governors chose the simple solution of assigning the new teams to the already existing East and West Divisions.

Long Island got the short end of the straw by being sentenced to the east where it will compete with five pre-expansion established teams along with Buffalo and Vancouver. Atlanta was

NFL Slate Announced By Oilers

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers of the National Football League announced their 1972 pre-season schedule today with four of the six games set for the Astrodome.

The Oilers will play four National Conference teams, opening up Aug. 5 with the Dallas Cowboys at the Cowboy's Irving stadium.

On Aug. 10, a Thursday, the Oilers host the Chicago Bears in the Astrodome and on Aug. 19, a Saturday, again are at home against the Green Bay Packers.

On Aug. 24, a Thursday, the St. Louis Cardinals play in the Astrodome, on Sept. 4, a Monday, the Oilers go to Bloomington, Minn., for an exhibition game with the Minnesota Vikings and on Sept. 10, a Sunday, the Oilers end their exhibition schedule in the Astrodome hosting the New Orleans Saints.

Kickoff times for the Astrodome games will be at 7:30 p.m. with the exception of the game with the Saints which will be played at 1 p.m. assigned to the west—an all expansion division except for the Chicago Black Hawks.

"I consider that this constitutes a commitment for two seasons through 1974-75 when we will add two more teams," said Clarence Campbell, president of the NHL. "I'm quite satisfied with the arrangement. My personal preference was the other way but remember, it's not my dollars at stake. I understand why they weren't for it."

Campbell said all but one of the 14 member clubs had agreed on a proposed realignment into four divisions of four teams each last November when Long Island and Atlanta were first granted franchises. But unanimous approval is needed to put any realignment into effect.

"Some clubs changed their minds," said Campbell. "I think as many as six were opposed to the four division concept. And two clubs were most assertive in their opposition."

Long Island and Atlanta were permitted to sit in on the governors' meeting as non-voting but most interested spectators. Their opinions were not solicited.

"They were not asked," said Campbell, "they were assigned."

The league president said he thought some of the opposition to the realignment into four divisions would have meant in two years when the NHL adds two more teams, another shuffle dividing 18 clubs would have to be faced.

Monopoly Ruling Strikes ABA-NBA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Basketball Association knows of complaints that a team owner may be connected to organized crime and is investigating the situation, Commissioner Walter Kennedy says.

Kennedy made the statement Tuesday in an exchange with Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., whose Senate subcommittee on antitrust and monopoly, is studying a bill to exempt antitrust laws and permit the leagues to merge.

The panel postponed further testimony until Feb. 22. Ervin questioned Kennedy after an assertion by another congressman, Rep. Sam Steiger, R-Ariz., that Cincinnati Royals' owner Jerry Jacobs had organized crime links through a holding company called Emprise Corp.

Replying to Ervin's query about what action, if any was being taken on the matter, Kennedy said:

"I deeply resent the inference that the office of the commissioner of the NBA is totally unaware of what is going on and not doing anything about it."

"We're not turning our back on it," Kennedy told Ervin.

Steiger, a surprise witness, said Emprise operates a number of subsidiaries known as "Sportservices."

"Their history," Steiger said of Jacobs and his brother, Max, operating head of the Royals, "is replete with reports of business associations with underworld and organized crime figures."

Also testifying on the merger bill was American Basketball Commissioner Jack Dolph who said pro basketball's troubles had moved into the critical stage.

Citing the heavy deficits that ABA owners were incurring in the battle for high priced college stars, Dolph said "to lose sight of the main issue at hand, the merits of the merger, can sound the death knell of professional league basketball as we know it today, as surely as if relief were denied."

Olympic Games Troubled Knicks Wondering About Their Loss

TOKYO (AP) — Avery Brundage is in favor of one Olympics, pure uncommercialized, but it is a dream that the crusty old millionaire will not realize before his announced retirement later this year.

"They're all saying wait 'til Brundage is out of the way and we can have our way," the 85-year-old president of the International Olympic Committee said.

"They want to turn the games over to equipment manufacturers and merchandisers. The games would be just a competition of trained seals representing the business interests."

Brundage was interviewed by The Associated Press early today in his 14th floor apartment at the Imperial Hotel in teeming downtown Tokyo.

It was 8:30 a.m. local time. The energetic octogenarian already had eaten breakfast and had been at work two hours. He sat, in his shirt sleeves, at a small table, scribbling notes.

"You're up early," a visitor suggested.

"Not early—we never sleep," a Japanese secretary replied.

"Be with you in a moment," Brundage said in his deep voice, not even looking up from his work.

At 85, Brundage is a strapping six-footer, retaining the athletic figure of his own Olympic days, quick-moving, full of vitality. They say he is an indefatigable worker.

Brundage currently is battling what he calls the hypocrisy and corruption of the Alpine and Nordic skiing which he contends is threatening the future of the Winter Olympic games.

"They have to eat. To eat, they have to be paid," says Brundage of the skiers. "So commercialism takes over. The skiers become the pawns of the ski interests, particularly those in France and Austria."

NEW YORK (AP) — "How could we blow a lead like that?" wondered Dave DeBusschere of the New York Knicks.

"They (the Boston Celtics) must be saying that, too," said his teammate, Eddie Mast, after the Knicks had blown a 20-point second-quarter lead, fallen behind by 11 points in the final period, then rallied for a 109-106 National Basketball Association victory Tuesday night.

It was DeBusschere's 18-foot jump shot from the left side with 12 seconds remaining that finally settled the see-saw contest. The rugged forward, set up by an unexpected pass from Bill Bradley, fired his decisive shot just before the 24-second buzzer.

"I didn't want the fans to leave early," he kidded.

"It was a quick, hurried shot, not a good one," he explained more seriously. "It was sort of a desperation shot. I knew it was going to be pretty close," he said.

Uncertain he would be able to get off the shot before the 24-second buzzer.

DeBusschere, who finished the game with 16 points, a team-leading 18 rebounds and two bloody scratches on his left hand, was wide open for his winning shot. Seconds before, Bradley had started toward the hoop and it appeared he would take the shot. But he got "pinched in" by the converging Boston defense and flipped the ball back to DeBusschere.

The victory was the Knicks' fourth in the last five games and pulled them within four games of first-place Boston in the Atlantic Division. The loss ended the Celtics' five-game winning streak.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Milwaukee walloped Seattle 123-91. Golden State downed Cleveland 117-111. Atlanta beat Buffalo 123-110. Houston trimmed Portland 118-104, and Los Angeles took Phoenix 128-119.

In the American Basketball Association, it was:

Pittsburgh 123, New York 116, in overtime; Memphis 107, Kentucky 99; Indiana 113, Floridians 107; Dallas 117, Carolina 97, and Utah 136, Virginia 135 in overtime.

The Knicks took advantage of Boston's poor shooting early in the game and spurred to a 47-27 lead with 4:54 remaining in the second period. They still led 53-41 at halftime, but the Celtics rallied and went ahead for the first time 75-74 on a three-point play by Don Chaney with 2:47 remaining in the third quarter.

Tech In First

Texas Tech captured undisputed first place in the South-west Conference basketball race with a crushing 79-68 defeat of Texas Tuesday night and here's a tip for the fans of future Red Raider opponents: Don't boo 'em—it just makes 'em play harder.

Tech guard Greg Lowery, who hit 11 of 14 shots from the field for 28 points.

A turnaway crowd of 8,000 fans in Gregory Gymnasium cheered the hometown Longhorns and tried to panic the Raiders with their hoots.

Patterson Cares About His Future

NEW YORK (AP) — Floyd Patterson appreciates the concern of people who want him to quit fighting. But now the only concern of the 37-year-old, former two-time heavyweight champion is getting a shot at Joe Frazier's world title.

Patterson said Tuesday he used to be annoyed by people who told him he should quit the ring but no longer.

"They're actually friends of mine," said the man who was the youngest ever to win the heavyweight title—he was 21 when he did it in 1956—and the only man ever to win it twice.

"They feel that are trying to help me. That's concern. I appreciate that."

Patterson made his remarks at a press luncheon for his scheduled 10-round fight with Oscar Bonavena Feb. 11 in Madison Square Garden, a fight Patterson feels could put him in line for a shot at Frazier.

"No matter what you hear," said Garden matchmaker Teddy Brenner, "if Floyd wins, I'm sure we can sit down and put together a match between Floyd and Joe Frazier."

This will be the fifth attempt to hold the fight, which was first scheduled for Jan. 17, 1971, and Patterson said he has bypassed fights with other contenders to wait for the Argentine "because I think fighting him would be more beneficial than fighting anyone else."

"He's the only man who fought Frazier twice and went the distance both times and he also practically went the distance with Muhammad Ali."

But would Patterson quit if he loses?

"That depends on how I look," he said. "I expect a very tough fight. I've prepared myself both mentally and physically. I'm not in condition and if I felt that Father Time had caught up with me I wouldn't be fighting Oscar Bonavena."

"I like everything about fighting, the tenseness, the hard work, the sacrifices."

Monte Carlo Rally Filled With Danger

MONTE CARLO (AP) — The Monte Carlo Auto Rally lived up to its reputation at last today—strenuous weather decimating the competitors and confusion surrounding the top placings.

Unofficial reports filtering back to Rally headquarters here from the Southern French mountains indicated that during a night of blizzards, Swede Ove Andersson, in an Alpine Renault, had fought back from a poor start to take the lead. Andersson won last year's Rally.

But he was only seconds ahead of Italian Sandro Munari in a Lancia Fulvia with two more Alpines driven by Frenchmen Jean-Claude Andruet and Bernard Darniche close behind.

For the pre-Rally favorite German Porsche the 24-hour mountain circuit was a near disaster. They took a strong early lead, plunged in the standings when the snow hit them, because of tire problems, but fought back during the night.

Then Bjorn Waldegaard crashed off the road on the last of the eight racing stages. He and his co-driver, Hans Thorselius struggled the car back on the road but lost 85 minutes which officials here said automatically eliminated them.

The second Porsche driven by Frenchman Gerard Larrousse was running only about 10th.

Eastern All-Stars Down Western Picks

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Don't tell the East players that the National Hockey League All-Star game isn't a rough one.

Defenseman Brad Park took a three-stitch cut above his right eye. Phil Esposito was shaken up in a scramble in front of the goal and defenseman Bobby Orr took a Bobby Hull slap shot in his midsection.

But while the East All-Stars got most of the bumps Tuesday night before a crowd of 15,658 at Minnesota's Metropolitan Sports Center, they also got most of the goals and skated off with a 3-2 victory in the Silver Anniversary of the game.

Esposito and Orr, Boston's high scoring super stars teamed up for the winning goal at 1:09 of the third period for their first All-Star points.

Park, the New York Ranger defenseman, was cut as Chicago's Bobby Hull followed through on a shot against the East goal and grazed Park's head with his stick.

Park left the game for stitches, returned shortly and fed a breakaway pass to Johnny McKenzie of Boston for the tying goal at 18:45 of the second period.

"You don't want to sit in this game," said Park. "You don't want to get too cold. You want to get back in and play."

Solar eater heaters are in use in Florida and California.

Tennessee has a split open turkey season for 1972. The dates are March 25 through April 1 and April 22 through May 7.

The rest of the American Basketball Association had a tough time keeping up with the Jones Tuesday night. Pro Jones, with 1:28 left put Memphis in front for good as the Pros ended Kentucky's 10-game winning streak 107-99.

—James Jones' free throw with three seconds remaining in overtime, after he missed the first of two shots, lifted the Utah Stars over Virginia 136-135.

—Rich Jones scored 16 points and teammate Steve Jones 15—Donnie Freeman was high, though, with 36—in a 117-97 triumph for the Dallas Chaparrals over Carolina.

Elsewhere, Indiana downed the Floridians 113-107 and Pittsburgh turned back New York 123-116 in overtime.

Despite Wilbert Jones' key shot and 21 points, he was only fourth high man for the Pros, trailing Loyd King with 24 points, Johnny Neumann with 23 and Randy Denton with 22.

Utah's James Jones also had 21 points and also was outscored by three teammates. Glen Combs paced the Stars with 32 points, Willie Wise had 26 and Red Robbins 26. Virginia's Charlie Scott poured in 36 points.

Dallas blew most of a 14-point lead but a 16-5 burst in the third period put the Chaps comfortably in front of Carolina again and they went on to their fourth straight victory Jim McDaniel led the Cougars with 23 points.

Roger Brown's three-point basket with 53 seconds left put Indiana on top of the Floridians 107-103 and he added four free throws in the final six seconds to sew it up. Brown and Mack Calvin of the losers shared scoring honors with 24 points while Mel Daniels had 23 and George McGinnis 22 for the Pacers.

Pittsburgh trailed New York by seven points entering the final period but the Condors caught up with just over a minute remaining in regulation time and ran off nine straight points early in the overtime session.

George Thompson scored eight of the Condors' 17 overtime points. New York's Rick Barry was high man with 38 points while John Brisker had 36 for the winners.

Autopsy Ordered

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — An autopsy was scheduled today for the body of Daniel H. Meyer, president of the Salt Lake club of the Western Hockey League.

Meyer, 45, fell 19 stories to his death Tuesday from a room in the Radisson South Hotel in suburban Bloomington to the rooftop of the hotel swimming pool, authorities said.

Police said they were investigating.

Crime Upon Crime

If there are any remaining doubts about the destructive nature of political governments, legislation now being proposed at the federal level should dispel them once and for all.

According to a recent news report, a bipartisan-backed bill is being readied for Senate action "that would pay pay federal cash" (there is no "federal cash," there is only taxpayer cash plundered out of the earnings of helpless citizens) "to victims of violent crime."

The bill, entitled "Victims of Crime Act of 1972," is being introduced by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) with the sponsorship of Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) and Sen. Roman L. Hruska (D-Nebr.).

The legislation, as proposed would set up a "three-man federal board to compensate innocent victims of violent crimes, or their survivors, with up to $50,000" (of taxpayer money) "for medical bills, loss of earning power and funeral expenses." The amount of compensation, according to the wording of the bill will depend on "financial need."

Nothing is mentioned about the "needs" of the plundered taxpayers who will be called upon and compelled to finance the bill.

Although designed, primarily, to reimburse victims of crimes committed in Washington, D.C., in national parks and forests, Indian reservations, and on airplanes and ships, the bill will go far beyond that. For example, the legislation contains provisions under which the federal government will pay (with taxpayer money) 75 percent of the cost of compensation programs established by the standards. This is designed to "spur all states to enact such programs within five or six years. Seven states already have."

There is more to the bill, but the foregoing should be enough to give the reader a grasp of the nature of our political government which, in plain words, is now head-over-heels in the business of subsidizing crime.

Results of the bill, if enacted, are not difficult to predict.

First and foremost, the effect of the legislation will be to pile legal crime on top of illegal crime. For every illegal crime committed, the government will match it with legal crimes against taxpayers in order to obtain the funds with which to pay the "compensations." In short, crime, overall, will rise in geometric progression.

Secondly, with the government taking on the "responsibility" of compensating victims of illegal crime, it is inevitable that it will but into the business of tax-paying insurance companies; which, in turn, will increase the burdens the remaining taxpayers will be forced to carry.

Thirdly, with the states having to comply with federal "standards" in order to be eligible for the "federal funds," more and more power will be transferred from local and state levels to the socialistic monolith in Washington, D.C.

And finally, with the government, itself, setting the example of criminal activity, illegal crime can be expected to soar to new heights. With the criminal mentality reasoning that it will not be the victim who has to stand the loss, but the government, why shouldn't it?

But there is an admission in the proposed legislation, too, which plundered taxpayers should not miss; the admission, by the government, that it is incapable of profiting the promised protection against criminals. So, having plundered the taxpayers, once, for "protection" it has not provided, the government now proposed to rob them again to "compensate" the victims of its own failure.

This is the image of political government coming through, cruel, pitiless, cynical and hard.

Seeking Concessions

British official records just released show that project Franklin D. Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston S. Churchill badly misjudged their ability to win concessions from Josef V. Stalin, the Russian dictator. Both thought they could work with "Good old Joe" as Harry Truman called him, and found out that they had been badly fooled.

Aside from that fact that some folks in the U.S.A. and Britain are able to say "we told you so," it gives cause to wonder if there's any lesson to be learned by the current occupant of the White House as he prepares to dash off to Peking and Moscow to try to win concessions from the current communist dictators?

BRUCE BIOSSAT Pollution to Get Worse, Cure AISO

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The threat of pollution to this and other industrial societies is getting worse. Yet only a few notes of hard realism are being struck in the fight against it.

To give you an idea what is being funneled into the air and what is going to be, consider this:

In 1970, the United States consumed the energy equivalent of 2.2 billion metric tons of coal, a very sizable part of the world's 1970 consumption of 7.5 billion metric tons.

That works out to around 11 tons a person per year for America, and two tons a person for the world. In the underdeveloped lands, the annual average energy consumption per capita has been a mere 220 pounds of coal.

But the big, affluent polluters are going to befool the air a lot more as their populations and their economies expand. Thirty years from now, the United States will have nearly tripled its annual energy consumption—to the equivalent of six billion metric tons. of coal. And the world?

Its total then is expected to reach 32 billion tons!

So what do we do about it? Abandon technology? Put stiff limits on industrial production?

Some economists say that as man's numbers double (which they are now doing every few decades), his material demands and output triple. And his wastes, a terrible water pollution problem, also triple.

With the poor nations clamoring for entry into the affluent club, with their unemployment spinning to staggering heights, with the poor in already affluent nations looking for a better break, does anyone seriously imagine we are going to smother technology and hold down industrial output?

We obviously are not going down that route. No advanced modern society will accept mounting joblessness and poverty as the price of freedom from the suffocations of pollution.

That's not all of it, either. Real action against pollutants also requires enormous applications of imaginative technology.

Writing in Harper's magazine, social scientist Peter Drucker says environmental controls will demand technology "at a level at least as high as the technology whose misuse it is designed to correct."

There can be no making of things, even anti-pollution devices, without use of energy. So the whole drive for a cleaner environment compels great energy output.

Drucker says that it has to be electrical energy. That means more power plants, which are themselves polluters. Environmentalists would like it if no one ever built another standard power plant. They talk of a turn to solar energy. But using the sun's power is not yet a well-advanced art. Much time and experimental money is needed.

In Drucker's view, it is sheer hypocrisy to contend, as some environmentalists appear to do, that the techniques and the great cost of an anti-pollution attack can be managed without an expanding economy. He writes:

"If there is no expansion of output equal to the additional cost of cleaning up the environment, the cost burden will—indeed, must—be met by cutting the funds available for education, health care, or the inner city, thus depriving the poor."

He argues that even severe cuts in defense spending would not, free the kind of financial resources needed for the environment fight.

None of this means the battle can't be or shouldn't be fought. It's just going to take far more money, time, imagination and hard, hard work than most of the crusaders seem to understand.

Your Health

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I'm always gripped when you doctors treat symptoms and neglect the cause. If you treat a child who is crying and he no longer cries then you say, "Ah, all is well, he is not crying any more," but the pin sticking in the kid's stomach is still there!

You hinted that the cause of leg trouble might be aggravated by smoking, then pass on to surgery (the profitable part of your profession, of course) without amplifying what causes leg trouble and how this comes about. Or don't you know? Are you afraid if you explain how to avoid the causes of disease you'll lose too much business and lose your column? O. K. I'll betcha my next pension check, if you devote your column (of course, the AMA won't let you) exclusively to causes of disease and amelioration that your column won't last very long.

Dear Reader—My, my, and you sign your letter as a minister. I am not a surgeon and do not do surgery. As most of the readers of this column know, a great deal of space is devoted to explaining disease and how to help yourself or, even better, how to prevent disease through diet, exercise and good living patterns.

Your choice of leg cramps is an unfortunate one for your argument since I solicited from the readers their own experience and was gratified to receive hundreds of letters which pointed up the value of keeping the feet and legs warm. Some readers wore warm socks, others used blankets or heated blankets and by so doing had prevented painful leg cramps. Examples of the letters were published and I hope it helps a lot of people.

I include your letter in the column because it demonstrates what really mistaken ideas people can get about medicine. I have never once had or heard of the American Medical Assn. interfering with a doctor helping people to prevent disease. In fact, the AMA has an outstanding record in relieving human suffering and maintaining high standards for medical practice. No other single organization has done so much to protect the public from unscrupulous faith healers or even poor medicine by physicians.

Now, neither the medical profession nor the AMA is perfect. Many doctors have disagreed with the AMA on how best to provide medical care and other policies. I don't always agree with the AMA either. But I do know that the goal of the AMA is to help provide good quality medical care for the public. The debate is about how this is best accomplished. Since doctors are human some are good and some are not so good, just as occurs with ministers. May I suggest, Reverend, that you look to your faith and see if you can find a little more charity in your heart.

Young Socialists: In Deadly Earnest

By ROBERTS ALLEN

WASHINGTON — That recent national convention of the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) in Houston warranted a lot more public attention than it got—which unfortunately was virtually none.

The more than 1,200 attending young Trotskyist Communists (including a number from foreign countries) didn't meet for fun and games. They were deadly serious—as their highly organized and tightly conducted deliberations forebodingly demonstrated.

Graphically illustrative are the following two policies "unanimously" agreed on:

—A nationwide drive to "radicalize high school students"—centering special efforts on black students. Declared one speaker, "Many of these youngsters will become college students, and the time to radicalize them is while they are still in high school."

—Simultaneous with this drive to establish in high schools and colleges chapters of the Student Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam (SMC). Like the Young Socialist Alliance, SMC is controlled by the Trotskyist Socialist Workers Party (SWP), and has been active in staging anti-Vietnam demonstrations and other agitational affairs on campuses.

Also decided at the Houston meeting was to use this year's election campaign of the Socialist Workers Party's Presidential slate to "recruit" students into the YSA. It was stressed that "once students become interested in the SWP campaign, they can be more easily 'captured' by YSA."

Incidentally, if you weren't aware of it, SWP does have a Presidential slate—Linda Jenness for President; Andrew Pulley for Vice President.

On the afternoon of the final day of the three-day gathering, two movies were shown. One was a 1932 film of Leon Trotsky making a speech in France. The other a YSA picture titled "How to Make a Revolution in the United States." This film lasted 30 minutes and included considerable footage taken during the April 1971 anti-war demonstration in Washington—organized and conducted by SWP and YSA.

What's YSA? According to a report at the convention, YSA now has 56 chapters on campuses throughout the U.S.

Carefully not disclosed is their location. It was also claimed that 345 new members had been signed up since the start of this school term; again no hint as to where.

The Young Socialist Alliance, affiliate of the Trotskyist Socialist Workers

Party, is the largest, best organized and most aggressive radical youth group in the U.S. Its youthful members are thoroughly indoctrinated and dedicated Marxists. They function under rigid regimentation—and seem to like it that way.

Many of them have surreptitiously gone to Cuba as participants in the so-called "Venceremos Brigade"—presumably to cut sugar cane for dictator Castro, but actually to be trained in guerrilla warfare and making revolutions.

The YSA policy to "radicalize" high school students, particularly blacks, is not exactly new. What is new is the public avowal of such a plan.

Forcefully advised one speaker, an SWP official, "Go into the black high schools to organize and propagandize. Contact the black teachers in these schools to assist you in talking to the students in the classrooms. That's the best place to talk to them; that's where you make the strongest impact."

Distributed at the Houston meeting was an issue of the YSA publication, "The Organizer," with a lead article titled "How to Get Media Coverage." It detailed how to inveigle the press and other media into putting out YSA propaganda. Following are revealing highlights:

"The potential for getting publicity for YSA in every conceivable kind of news media is almost unlimited this year....Talk shows are a form of publicity that is opening up more and more to our movement, primarily as a result of SWP election campaigns....Concentrate on FM rock stations because they are relatively easy to get on and because the audiences they attract are predominately youth."

"Press packets should be sent to all local black, Raza and women's newspapers with a cover letter highlighting the documents that relate to their struggles....In many areas, YSA has developed friendly relations with reporters through our activities and the SWP campaigns, so make the most of these contacts....Interviews are usually more easily obtained if they are arranged for out-of-town YSAers—someone on national tour or one of the regional exchange tour speakers."

"Don't overlook the local underground papers, friendly campus press, black, Chicano, Puerto Rican and Asian American newspapers."

WIT AND WHIMSY:
The problem these days is not how to get off a high cholesterol diet; it's how to get up enough dough to get ON one.

Crossroad Report

Dear Editor:

The pro-abortionists keep preaching that taking unborn babies off the production line before they see light is righteous, moral and proper in many cases. Like when the approaching child will have to live in an unsuitable family situation or will be a nuisance to its mama who didn't think about this early enough. Same argument, naturally, would apply to mercifully disposing of already-born tots who show signs of growing conservatives or some other type of social misfit.

I see where Sen Robert Taft, Jr., is working on a project to pardon draft dodgers who chickened off to Canada or some place, so as to give them a second chance. This would be the humane and big-hearted thing to do, of course. Everybody had ought to get a second chance. Like boys who had to go to Vietnam because the dodgers ran away. Some of them got killed over there and some nobler Senator should get a law passed to dig them up and give them a second chance.

NOT YOUR ORDINARY pussycat, this pet of John Royal of Miami, Fla., is the star of the cat show. Of a very rare breed called Sphinx, it is technically a bald cat. A mutation developed in France, the little hair it has at birth soon falls away, leaving a peachlike skin.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Test fields of marijuana will be grown in three states this year so the federal government can test a device to detect the plant, an official says.

Dr. Robert Miller of the U.S. Department of Agriculture told a news conference Monday that the test fields in Texas, Arizona and Florida will be under lock and key, and constantly monitored.

Miller said aircraft using color infrared film in high resolution cameras will be flown over the fields at various stages in the crop development and under several weather conditions so identifying characteristics can be established.

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP) — Toyota is recalling about 110,000 1971 Corolla cars in the United States to inspect evaporative emission control systems.

The firm's U.S. headquarters said Monday the cars were manufactured before May 1971 with engines of both 1,200 and 1,600 cubic centimeters displacement.

The company said a combination of unusual driving conditions may cause engine malfunction because of fuel starvation or deformation of the car's fuel tank in extreme cases. It said the recall was made on its initiative.

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Denmark's army, navy and air force have selected the men to be honor guards at King Frederik IX's lying-in-state and funeral, and this order was issued. Long hair must be kept out of sight.

The late monarch was supreme commander of Denmark's armed forces and one known to frown at such military permissiveness as long hair and big beards, especially in the navy, to which the sailor king felt particularly attached.

King Frederik will lie in state at parliament's church for five days beginning Wednesday.
