"Trigger Happy" Troops Accused

HIGHEST IN YEAR

Seventy-Five Americans Dead In Cambodia Push

SAIGON (UPI)—The offensive into Cambodia and Communist reprisal attacks in Vietnam have raised American casualties to their highest point in about a year. U.S. military sources said today.

Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops launched more retaliatory attacks in Vietnam overnight, killing 12 Vietnamese and wounding 21 in shelling Hue, wounding 17 Americans in bombing a theater, and killing six U.S. soldiers in attacking a paratroop base.

The new attacks brought to 85 the number of Americans reported dead this week in Vietnam. Another 35 have been killed in the eight-day-old Cambodian offensive, most of them this week.

Military sources said this week, to be reported next Thursday, would be the highest in about a year. Today's casualty report for last week said 123 Americans were killed and 997 wounded.

Light fighting was reported from the Cambodian offensive today, with the Communist death toll said to have passed 3,200 in the six-front campaign along 250 miles of frontier. Besides the 35 Americans dead, 300 were listed as wounded, with South Vietnamese losses put at 180 dead and 840 wounded.

South Vietnam announced it was pulling 6,000 of its men out of the offensive because their mission, to destroy a Communist base area, had been accomplished successfully. This will leave 45,000 U.S. and government troops in the operation with more expected to be committed.

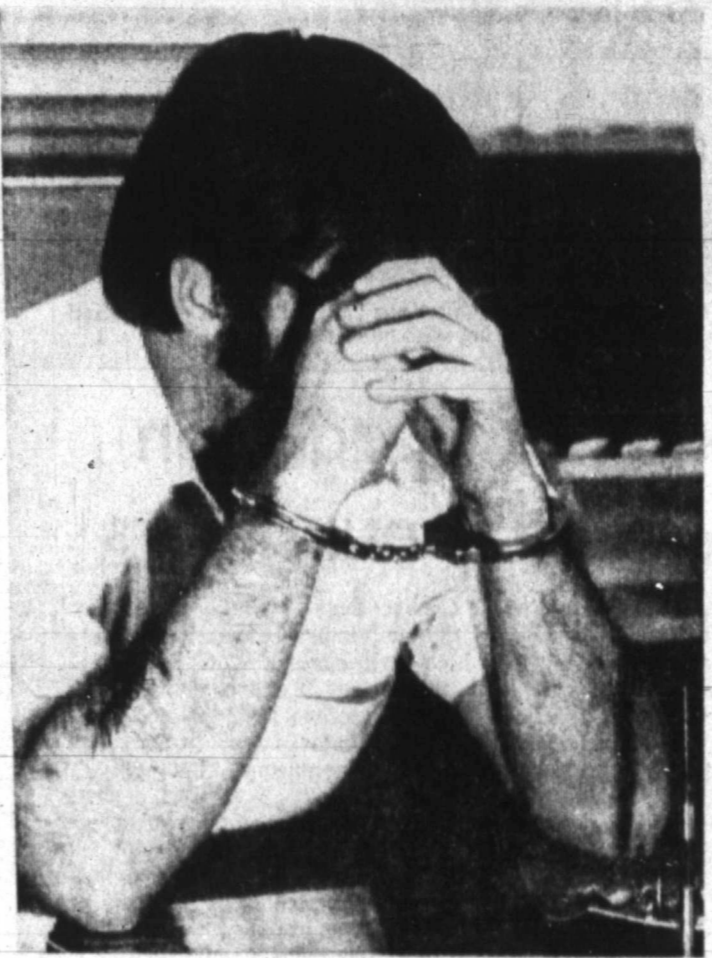

Headquarters announced the losses of four helicopters in Cambodia and four in Vietnam since Tuesday. A total of 17

Americans was killed, five wounded and five missing in the crashes.

The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese reprisal attacks in Vietnam included a six-round rocket barrage into Hue, the first shelling of the nation's third largest city in three months. Eleven of the 12 Vietnamese dead were killed when one of the missiles hit a military hospital.

Terrorists exploded a pair of bombs simultaneously late Wednesday in a theater on the American Division's base camp at Chu Lai, 335 miles north-northeast of Saigon. Spokesmen said 17 GIs were wounded.

The attack on the paratrooper base, killing six Americans, and wounding nine, occurred 19 miles west-southwest of Hue. It followed a similar attack farther north the previous night that killed 29 U.S. troops. Includes previous

NG Claims Self Defense In Kent State Deaths

KENT, Ohio (UPI)—The National Guard says the fatal shooting of four Kent State University students was an act of self-defense. A veteran member of the Senate Armed Services Committee calls it the work of "trigger happy" troops who "just lost their heads."

Brig. Gen. Robert Canterbury, commander of the National Guard force on the Kent State campus, sticks to his original claim the troops were fired on first, though he now concedes "we have not confirmed that there was any evidence of a sniper."

Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, said he has "the facts." The first shot, Young says, was fired, accidentally, by a guard.

There was no official reaction from the guard to Young's assertion, but John McElroy, executive assistant to Gov. James A. Rhodes, promised the guard would reply today.

Young said the first shot was fired when "some young student hurled back a partially empty tear gas canister."

Canister Strike Guardsman

"It struck one of the guardsmen in the front line on the shoulder or arm and his gun discharged. Young said, "Immediately the front rank knelt and fired into the crowd."

Individual guardsmen were ordered to respond with a "no comment" to newsmen's questions about the shootings, but some who did talk expressed their regrets.

"I joined the guard to beat the draft—why else," said a sergeant from Akron, not a member of the unit which did the shooting. He said his first reaction on learning of the four deaths was "I thought someone's in big trouble."

"No, I don't feel responsible," he said. "but I'm glad I didn't pull the trigger."

In Washington, where Young made his statements Wednesday, he declined to give the source of his information.

Calls For Investigation

"I wanted to get the facts," he said. "I have them. There should be a congressional investigation of this."

There were other calls for investigations, some of which already have started.

President Nixon met for more than an hour with six Kent State students at the White House Wednesday, then announced he had instructed domestic affairs aide John Ehrlichman to prepare a report on the cause of the tragedy and how to avoid others.

There still was no word from the university when classes for the 20,000 students would resume. The school will remain closed at least until Monday.

ARTILLERY BLASTING WAY

Communist Forces Closing On Cambodian Provincial Capitals

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—The government disclosed today that Viet Cong forces had penetrated to within 28 miles of the capital but said they had been thrown back and that Cambodian armor and artillery were trying to dislodge them from the Mekong River crossing point at Neak Luong.

Khmer (Cambodian) mercenaries who fought in Vietnam for the Americans and volunteered to fight in Cambodia are taking part in the drive, government sources said. So far there has been little opposition but heavier fighting was expected later.

The Communists seized Neak Luong on the eastern side of the Mekong Sunday, cutting communications between Phnom Penh and the eastern provinces of Cambodia. Today it was disclosed they had advanced two miles and taken the village of Koki Thom.

The number of Cambodian tanks or armored cars involved in the operation was not known but Cambodians called it their first armored offensive of the war. Cambodian artillery was shelling the Neak Luong area but no direct troop contact was reported.

Military spokesmen said Kra-tie, 100 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, and Senmonorom, 50 miles east of Kratie, both fell to North Vietnamese and Viet Cong attackers Wednesday. Kratie is the capital of Kratie province and Senmonorom is the capital of Mondul Kiri province.

There were no details on casualties. A military spokesman said Kratie fell after "violent contact" with the attackers, who he said were repulsed in their first attack but renewed the offensive and seized the town and its vital airfield.

WAR HERO HELD

Accused Held In County Jail

BORGER, Tex. (UPI)—A Vietnam war veteran with four purple hearts turned himself in to police Wednesday for the shooting death of a bearded rock singer.

Truman Smith, 24, was charged with "murder with malice" in the killing of Allen Dell Greer, 35. Smith and his brother appeared at Borger police headquarters and handed over a .22 caliber revolver. Nine cartridges had been fired from the pistol.

Police found Greer's body with seven bullet holes, lying on a Hutchinson County Airport runway north of town.

Greer sang with a rock group called "Pryde," which performed in Albuquerque, N. M. last weekend and was to appear in Phoenix, Ariz., this weekend. He was formerly program director for Borger radio station KBBB.

Investigators said before Greer was killed he and Smith had visited Greer's estranged wife, Darla, who filed for divorce March 19. The sheriff's office said it was checking to see if that meeting had anything to do with the shooting.

Smith waived preliminary hearing and bond was set at $25,000. Authorities refused to say if he made a statement.

Hutchinson County Sheriff Hugh Anderson said Greer appeared to have been shot seven times. According to the sheriff, two bullet holes were found in the right cheek, one in the right shoulder, one in the left eye, one behind the right ear and two in the rib cage on the right side.

Officers found the victim sprawled on his back on the runway asphalt.

Investigators said evidence at the scene indicated the body had been dragged from the runway to a grassy area and then back onto the asphalt.

Rifle Fire At KSU Re-Echos On Campuses Across Nation

The echo of Monday's National Guard rifle fire at Kent State University reverberated at hundreds of colleges and universities across the nation today.

Police and National Guardsmen pumped tear gas through a dormitory at the University of Wisconsin in Madison Wednesday to flush out demonstrators. Police used tear gas several times to disperse bands of protesters after a rally by 2,000 students. Twenty persons were arrested.

District of Columbia police fired dozens of tear gas canisters at rock-and-bottle-throwing demonstrators at American University in Washington. One student suffered a broken leg, two policemen were injured and at least 14 other students were injured.

Texas Rangers guarding the state Capitol at Austin against threatened attacks from University of Texas militants were issued new supplies of tear gas. They used up old supplies Wednesday.

California's 121 state colleges, universities and junior college campuses shut down until Monday at the request of Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Seven students were arrested and a curfew was imposed at the University of Kentucky in Lexington after the second day of demonstrations by 1,000 students.

Ohio State University President Novice Fawcett ordered the school closed "until further notice" and told its 45,000 students to be off the campus by noon today "because of the immediate danger of further disorders and violence."

Illinois Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie mobilized 5,000 National Guardsmen around the state following disturbances at the University of Illinois.

A newly organized National Strike Center at Brandeis University in Waltham, Mass., reported strikes were under way at 258 colleges Wednesday. Half the schools affected were in New England and New York state.

About 1,500 faculty members from the University of Massachusetts, and Amherst, Smith, Mount Holyoke and Hampshire colleges signed a petition calling for the impeachment of President Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Memorial Slated For KS Students

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—The president of Texas Tech University said Wednesday it is not proper to lower the American flag in memory of four students killed at Kent State.

One hundred students twice asked Dr. Grover E. Murray to lower flag to half mast in tribute to the Kent State students, Murray said he would meet with student leaders today to plan some sort of memorial to the dead Ohio students.

"Only under the order of the President, or for special dignitaries or officials of the university is the American flag lowered to half staff," Murray said. "I do not believe this would be a proper time or circumstance to lower the U.S. flag."

Security police watched every move of the 100 students. There were no incidents.

The demonstrators asked Dr. Murray to order the chimes be rung on campus every hour today in memory of the dead students, Murray said every hour was "too much."

The demonstrators lowered the American flag once in the morning and then destroyed the flag's rope. The Lubbock Fire Department put the flag back atop its pole.

The students then marched to the military science building. It was locked.

Murray said he would not interfere with the protests "as long as it remains orderly."

Congress Okays Orbiting Space Station With Shuttling Ships

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Shrugging off a blunt accusation of pork barreling, Congress has supported the first steps in a "new epoch" of U.S. manned space flight estimated to cost $14 billion during the 1970's.

The Senate Wednesday rejected 56 to 29 an amendment to eliminate $110 million from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's (NASA) 1971 budget.

The money would go for development of an orbiting space station with shuttle rocket ships. An earlier attempt to eliminate the same item narrowly was defeated in the House.

The Senate then passed 69 to 15 a $1.3 billion NASA budget including money for two more Apollo moon flights. The total was $400 million less than NASA got this year, $17 million less than requested by the Nixon administration and $285 million less than voted by the House. A conference committee must resolve differences between the House and Senate versions.

Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., called the space station and shuttle project "the best investment of public money the Congress has ever made." and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, said it would "contribute to every segment of society."

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said "the space program's costs are 'out of all proportion' to its usefulness to a country in great distress."

In a tack rarely taken during Senate debate, Fulbright protested that "the reason the space program has such fanatical defenders is that so many senators have space agency installations and contractors in their home states—the practice known as 'pork barreling'."

Fulbright did not single anyone out. Defenders of the space shuttle project included Sens. Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., and Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla.

Cape Kennedy is in Florida, and NASA announced April 30 it was awarding a $6 million contract to a West Palm Beach, Fla., firm, Pratt and Whitney Division of United Aircraft Corp., to develop a propulsion system for the space shuttle. Neither Holland nor Gurney mentioned the contract during debate.

South Viets Pulling Out Of Cambodia

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnam said today it was pulling 6,000 of its troops from Cambodia because their mission had been "successfully completed." Communist rockets killed 12 Vietnamese and wounded 21 in Hue, the nation's third largest city.

The six Allied task forces now operating in Cambodia reported light fighting. They will be left with 45,000 men after the initial government withdrawal is completed from the Parrot's Beak, 35 miles west of Saigon.

The men being pulled out in the first reported Allied withdrawal in Cambodia went in Saturday and were said to have helped overrun the Viet Cong's Ba Thu training center, a complex of 500 huts and warehouses covering several dozen square miles four miles across the border.

Yarborough Bitter About Defeat

DENVER (UPI)—Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, loser of a bitter Democratic primary in Texas, Wednesday accused conservatives of a $6.5 million "blitz smear" campaign—unlike any he had ever experienced—to send him down to defeat.

"The chief explanation for my defeat is that the big financial interests—in Texas and elsewhere—just don't like my votes for the people, for working people generally," Yarborough said.

"And not liking my votes, they raised first a millionaire conservative candidate and second, $6.5 million to achieve my defeat."

Yarborough, defeated in the primary by Houston millionaire Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr., blamed

Texas Students Told Students' Deaths Swayed Public Opinion

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Harvard economist John Kenneth Galbraith told a rally of 3,000 students at the University of Texas developments in Cambodia and the death of four students at Kent State has swayed public opinion.

Galbraith, members of the Texas faculty and radical students at the university urged the crowd to remain calm. The students remained on the campus Wednesday in marked contrast to the day before when they swarmed over the eight blocks between the university and the state capitol.

Police had to use their entire supply of tear gas to disperse the students Tuesday. They received a fresh supply Wednesday.

Gov. Preston Smith evacuated the capitol building as a precautionary measure, however, and an armed guard spent the night around the capitol and the governor's mansion across the street.

University President Norman Hackerman said he could not close the school in memory of the Kent State students "out of deference for those who would rather attend classes. But Hackerman recommended classes be dismissed Friday and said he would not teach his Friday class.

"This recent outrage in Cambodia and the tragedy at Kent have turned public opinion strongly to our side," Galbraith told the students. "For God's sake don't blow that by mock heroics."

"Our power doesn't consist in mock heroics of challenging the guardsmen," Galbraith said. "Our strength lies in our capacity for peaceful persuasion."

The 3,000 students sat for more than five hours in the warm afternoon sun listening to dozens of speakers. A number of them burned their draft cards.

"I am completely and unalterably opposed to the war in Vietnam and its extension into Cambodia," said Dr. Stanley Danner, professor of radio and television. "But if you want to use violent acts then I cannot join you because the violence we opposed in Vietnam could take place in the streets of Austin if you follow that course of action."

Dilled Potatoes Make Tasty Change

May, along with June, is the big time for new potatoes. So enjoy them while they are plentiful. They are tender, small and easy to prepare. Many people prefer them boiled in their jackets and spread with butter and salt. Others like them sauteed gently in butter until slightly browned and served with roast meats. And we think you'll like this recipe for dilled potatoes. It's a pleasant change to serve with Mom's Day dinner.

DILLED POTATOES
3 pounds new potatoes
1/4 cup butter

A survey of telephone books from 10 major U.S. cities reveals that the proper surname, "Chocolate," appears in only two—Chicago and Los Angeles.

2 tablespoons fresh minced onion
(or to taste)
1/4 cup flour
2 1/2 cups milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
1/2 cup snipped fresh dill

Pare around center of potato. Cook, covered, in a small amount of boiling salted water until just tender; drain. If necessary, melt butter; saute onion in butter until tender. Blend in flour. Stir in milk, salt and pepper. Cook, stirring constantly, over medium heat until mixture thickens and boils. Stir in lemon juice and dill. Pour over potatoes. Six servings.

Thinking Ahead Prevents Youngsters' Menu Worries

Youngsters who want to give mother a treat on Her Day will save last-minute agonies with a dry run of preparing a breakfast the night before.

A little adult guidance from Dad in preplanning sessions helps the "surprise" come off well.

If this is a first for a child perhaps a pretty-patterned paperware is an answer to many problems, especially the early morning droopiness. There are attractive sectionalized plates with places to put each item and these are easier to carry on a tray than china and glassware.

On the night before, a youngster can prepare the fruit. If strawberries, hull these and wash and store in a covered dish in the refrigerator. When checking the recipe, he will know (with suggestions) what baking pan or skillet to put out.

and what ingredients he will need. The tea or coffee can be instant.

An especially young helper may need assistance measuring coffee for a fresh brew and using a fry pan. But for a really pleased smile from the youthful cook, let him do most of the work while an adult stands by with a few hints and for safety reasons.

FRENCH TOAST

1 egg
2 tablespoons milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 slices enriched bread, crusts removed
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Maple and cane blended syrup
Pineapple cubes

Place egg, milk, salt and vanilla in a shallow pie pan. Beat with a fork until all ingredients are completely mixed. Dip bread into egg mixture and let stand about 1 minute on each side. Melt butter in a 10-inch skillet over medium heat. Place bread in skillet and let brown about 2 minutes on each side. Place on a plastic-covered paper plate. Pour syrup over French toast. Garnish with pineapple cubes on a toothpick. One serving.

Reverse Tradition For Mother's Day

Why not turn tradition around and invite your Mother to come to your house for a very special dinner on her day? With Spring in full swing, a light and airy menu is most appropriate. Center the meal with a young turkey sure to be tender and moist because it is deep basted during processing.

Make it fancy with an easy flaky biscuit cover-up placed across the turkey and centered with a Spring flower and shaped from a biscuit dough. The casserole of potatoes goes into the oven with the turkey. For variety, replace the conventional salad with a refreshing sherbet topped with mandarin oranges and served with the turkey.

New addition to the roster of unusual chocolate devotees: A French poodle, who not only answers to the name of Cocoa, but also enjoys drinking it. Cocoa's mistress, a fledgling young New York television actress.

A suggested menu might be Asparagus Bisque, or a string-bean and bacon dish, roasted turkey, mandarin oranges on sherbet, Au Gratin potatoes, relishes, hot rolls, and cream-topped strawberries.

Prepare turkey breast for baking according to directions. Remove turkey from oven 15 minutes before end of roasting time. Turn oven to 375 degrees. Remove refrigerated crescent rolls from package and roll to flatten.

Place wide end of dough at center of turkey breast to form seam and extend points down over sides of turkey breast. Trim wide ends before seaming. If necessary to make triangles fit. Cut flower petals and stem from remain dough to decorate.

Brush surface of dough with milk. Return turkey to oven and bake an additional 12 or 15 minutes or until dough is lightly brown. Let stand 10 to 15 minutes before carving. Lift off crisp covers. Carve and arrange slices of turkey on the biscuits.

ON OUTDOOR GRILL

To Observe Mother's Day, Dad Cooks Family Lunch

For Mother's Day, Dad may decide to move to his own cooking domain, the outdoor grill. He naturally plans a menu that he likes and which he can turn out with assured success. What could be better than corned beef for oven roasting cooked out under the trees.

Only corned beef labeled "for oven roasting" becomes satisfactorily tender when cooked either in an open pan in the oven or on the grill.

To cook the corned beef on the outdoor grill, the roast should be wrapped in heavy duty foil to protect it from the direct and intense heat. The wrapped meat must be turned two or three times during the first 2 hours of cooking.

The foil can be removed the last 30 or 40 minutes to brown the outside of the meat. A smoky barbecue sauce spooned over the surface the last 15 minutes gives the roast a nice glaze and the outdoor chef a certain feeling of accomplishment.

At one period in the history of chocolate, cocoa beans were called "happy money" because unlike silver and gold, they were easily obtainable. Also, because they are perishable, man could not hoard them.

ishment. The roast is done when it is fork tender.

While the corned beef cooks, baking apples can be cored but not pared. Slash each apple part way down to form wedges but do not cut apart at the base.

For four apples blend together 4 teaspoons brown sugar, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon and 4 teaspoons margarine.

Place each apple on a 6-inch square of foil. Fill each with the brown sugar mixture.

Add a drop or two of red food coloring and a twist of lemon to each apple. Wrap the foil tightly around each apple and place over the hot coals for 25 to 30 minutes. The potatoes can be steamed in foil also.

Serve with tossed green salad strawberries with ice cream and pound cake.

Cultrual Organizations Give Cosmopolitan Air

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the fourth in a series of articles pointing up the Chamber of Commerce "Pride in Pampa" theme which pinpoints Pampa as the industrial, business, recreational, educational, religious and cultural hub of the Top O' Texas area. Today's article reflects Pampa's cultural image.

Gas Rate Plea Set For May 20

West Texas and Panhandle cities, including Pampa, have until May 20 to file final arguments against the Pioneer Gas Company's request for a 22 per cent-gate rate increase for gas.

Pioneer last fall filed a request with the Texas Railroad Commission to increase the gate rate from 23 cents to 34 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

Walter G. Wendlandt, director of the gas utilities division of the Railroad Commission, set the May 20 date in an announcement from Austin late yesterday.

Some 61 cities in West Texas and the Panhandle are opposing the rate hike.

Both sides submitted testimony in hearings conducted by the commission last November, December and January.

Final briefs were submitted April 30.

Wendlandt said it would take a couple of weeks following the May 20 deadline to analyze the briefs and testimony for presentation to the railroad commission.

A decision in the case will come following a complete study and examination of all records, testimony and briefs, Wendlandt stated.

Court Upholds Robbery Sentence

AUSTIN (UPI) — The Court of Criminal Appeals today upheld the 15-year robbery sentence given Darlene Yevone Wallace for her part in the "Bonnie and Clyde" robbery and beating of a San Angelo man who picked them up as they hitchhiked near Ballinger.

The 21-year-old woman and a male companion flagged down Lawrence Cadenhead, and at the point of a screwdriver, robbed him of two rings. They later stripped Cadenhead, tied him to a tree, and hit him with a wrench before taking his credit cards, court records show.

"Testimony in the case shows the girl asked Cadenhead if he had ever heard of Bonnie and Clyde. When he answered "yes," she told him "we are them and a lot meaner."

One of Pampa's greatest sources of pride is found in its cultural facilities. They are among the best in the Top O' Texas area.

Pampa has grown from a population of less than 1,000 in the 1920s to the modern, diversified stature it enjoys today.

Its cultural life has played an important role in that consistent growth by keeping pace of the times.

The city's growth in this direction has been unusual because Pampa's population is made up of a cosmopolitan citizenry whose people have come from all parts of the nation and even the world.

This has been due to the far-reaching aspects of major industries with nationwide and world-wide contacts.

Pampans long ago were taken out of the "small town" category because so many of its residents are widely-traveled, educated and just as accustomed to the best in culture, art, music and entertainment as any resident of the great metropolitan centers.

The Pampa Community Concert Association is an organization of cultural-minded citizens who for more than a quarter of a century have been bringing to Pampa the best in concert entertainment. These include big names of the musical and stage world:

The association has just recently completed another highly successful membership campaign and booked four top attractions for the 1970-71 concert season.

The Pampa Fine Arts Association falls into this same category. It is responsible for stage productions, concert choirs, musical attractions, children's theatre, cultural and art exhibits.

The Pampa Art Club, Music Teachers Association and Twentieth Century Culture Clubs all contribute their share to the city's cultural life.

There are dance and music schools for the young to get an early start in training for the finer things of life.

Pampa has one of the largest membership Kluge & Fork Clubs in Texas. Its officers and program committees bring to Pampa some of the most outstanding speakers obtainable.

No small factors in Pampa's music and cultural life are the exceptionally high-calibre bands and choirs turned out in Pampa's high and junior high schools.

The Pampa High School Band and Concert Choir have won nationwide acclaim and have performed from coast to coast.

There has just been launched by the M.K. Brown Foundation a plan to build one of the finest community auditoriums in the Southwest.

The Pampa city commission gave the go-ahead signal only last week.

To sum up, Pampans are proud to have a city with culture, outranked by no other city of comparable size in Texas. It has the cosmopolitan air and the cultural groups and organizations that afford an opportunity to be a part of the ever-expanding world around it.

Pampa To Participate In Tourist Promotion

Fourteen Panhandle communities and their Chambers of Commerce, including Pampa, are participating in the third year of the "Land of Coronado" tourist promotion designed to attract new tourist dollars to the region and to promote longer tourist stays.

The "Land of Coronado" promotion is built around 30 highway advertising signs located on U.S. Highways 54, 60, 87, 287 and Interstate Highway 40.

The attractive boards, featuring a Coronado theme, highlight area attractions such as Lake Meredith, Palo Duro Canyon, Boys' Ranch, and the drama "Texas". In addition, each participating community will have space on the boards highlighting a local attraction.

"We're running a wide range of local attractions, including some very unusual local museums, such as Pampa's M.K. Brown museum. Several communities are highlighting their cattle-feeding installations. It takes good sense to feature out-of-the-ordinary attractions, and we are confident they will draw interested out-of-state visitors," Elvin Schofield, of the Area Development Department of Southwestern Public Service Co., said.

Southwestern Public Service Co. originated the "Land of Coronado" tourist promotion, and its Area Development Department assists the participating communities in preparation of materials.

In addition to the highway advertising, there will be posters highlighting each of the communities in the program and the highways serving the area and a general description of area attractions. A tent card for use in tourist accommodations will provide more detail on the participating communities and the various area things to see and do.

The "Land of Coronado" promotion will be on display during the height of the tourist season from May through September.

"Area development produces three kinds of dollars, those which come from natural resources, those which come from adding value and the so-called 'new' dollar, which comes from educational institutions, government military installations and tourism; as examples. We are developing a good balance of area development dollars in this region through the efforts of the several communities to gain industries and through added emphasis on 'new' dollars such as the tourist dollar," Schofield said.

Schofield went on to point out that when a community can get nine tourist cars a day to stay overnight during a travel season, it is the equivalent of adding an industry with an annual payroll of $100,000.

There are about 4,000,000 tourist cars annually on the highways covered by the "Land of Coronado" promotion.

Pampa, Amarillo, Canyon, Claude, Panhandle and Stratford kicked off the first "Land of Coronado" promotion in 1968 and are still participating. They have been joined in this year's program by Adrian, Dalhart, Dumas, Friona, Groom, Hereford, McLean, and Vega.

GANG WAR

MANILA (UPI) — Two rival gangs using improvised weapons clashed Wednesday inside the Philippines national penitentiary at Muntinlupa near Manila. Prison officials said two convicts were killed and a guard and two other convicts wounded before the gangs were separated.

TANKER GROUNDED

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI) — The oil tanker, British Statesman, ran aground Wednesday in the Elbe River approach to Hamburg Harbor. Port officials said some of the 40,000 tons of crude oil aboard the ship was being unloaded to enable the ship to be freed by tug boats at the next high tide.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Hollywood Reports

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — This year the Emmy Awards, like the Oscars, are more attuned to the proletariat than in bygone seasons.

Video behoved itself in the past to lay Emmys on classy shows with intellectual pretensions or at least programs with significant social comment.

Meanwhile, viewers — if the polls and ratings were any gauge — wanted escapism in the form of situation comedies, detective thrillers and horse operas.

It appears the television academy has solved its dilemma.

The public can be appeased with awards for weekly series, and the academy's own striving for significant programming is assuaged with awards for specials, movies-for-television and the like.

Nominates 168 Shows
Thus, the academy has nominated no fewer than 168 shows and/or individuals for the 1969-70 season.

Not a single Western won as many as two nominations, thereby eliminating two of television's most watched shows, "Gunsmoke" and "Bonanza" and all their performers.

Only "Mannix, among detective thrillers was in the running with its outstanding star, Mike Connors, winning a nomination.

Situation comedies took a beating among the blue ribbon panels which selected the contenders. The voters favored such shows as "Mission: Impossible," "Room 222," "The Mod Squad," "Ironside and "Love, American Style."

As it has in the past, the academy varied the number of performers vying for awards in individual categories.

Four Best Actor Nominees
There were four nominees for best actor in a dramatic series: Raymond Burr, Mike Connors, Robert Wagner and Robert Young.

But there were only three actresses nominated for a leading role in a dramatic series: Joan Blondell, Susan Hampshire and Peggy Lipton.

The male comedy nominees provided three new contenders: Bill Cosby, Lloyd Haynes and William Windom. Actresses nominated for leading roles in comedy have been in the running before: Hope Lange, Mario Thomas.

It is worth nothing that academy panelsists were inclined to bestow nominations on shows with excessive violence as the industry continues to cut down on senseless brutality and killings.

No Tax Breaks On Trading Stamps

AUSTIN (UPI) — The state Supreme Court Wednesday turned down the appeal of a Dallas grocery store chain seeking tax breaks on trading stamps.

A. W. Cullum and Company, Inc., and the Tom Thumb review lower court decisions ordering 24,190 in back taxes paid on retail sales from the grocery stores.

The grocers argued they were entitled to deduct the cost of giving trading stamps to customers before figuring the amount of sales tax — they owed the state.

The high court today refused to review the decision of the Austin Court of Civil Appeals upholding State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert.

In its decision the civil appeals court pointed out that the retail merchant collected the sales tax from customers regard less of whether the customers took the trading stamps.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Michael Wadleigh, of all people, was the director of photography for Tuesday night's NBC-TV hour special "Once Before I Die," about seven amateur climbers who scaled an Afghan mountain.

Very recently, Wadleigh has gained fame for his three-hour documentary movie "Woodstock," about the massive rock festival and communion that attracted some 400,000 persons.

But Tuesday night's television outing was a most different kind of trip.

Or was it?

Well, in content, surely. But in theme, there was a bond—the seeking of persons who want something more in life, something perhaps more memorable, than they find in their everyday existence.

There was something curiously pathetic about the seven American mountain climbers—most middleaged, some younger. And at the same time, there was also something widely heroic, almost absurdly so. For these were persons with not much money to spend, who felt they had to complete their expedition in time to take advantage of a 28-day excursion plane fare.

At times they disagreed over how to proceed because of their pressing personal commitments back home. And this sometimes gave a sadly amusing tone to the hour. But, from Wadleigh's and the viewer's points of interest, it also gave an added human dimension that many similar video documentaries have not had.

In addition to the professional camera team, the seven climbers were a lawyer and his twin brother, a judge, both from Stockton, Calif.; the son of the lawyer, a graduate college student; an electronics engineer from San Jose, Calif.; a court reporter from Stockton and two California ski patrolmen. When they reached the summit, they were exhilarated. Fresh air is good for everybody.

Also Tuesday night, CBS-TV offered a half-hour entitled "California Impressions" by Henri Cartier-Bresson, directed by the great French still photographer. It ranged from a family commune to a senior citizens' community, from surfers to Waitts to a Pasadena Christmas luncheon, from an anti-war demonstration to an encounter group at Esalen Institute in Big Sur. It was beautifully shot and had its moments, but it tended to emphasize the exotic and occult, and therefore the obvious, and could hardly be considered as representative as it was artistic.

Hollywood In Review

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—At last the truth is out about beauty pageants: Falsies disqualify a contestant.

Jackie Loughery, the first Miss USA in the Miss Universe Pageant held in Long Beach, Calif., in 1953, said padding false fronts was a violation of the rules and investigated just before swim suit judging.

"Each girl in the contest had to go into a room where one of the chaperones sat behind a desk," the blonde and still very beautiful Miss Loughery said.

A Guarantee

"We were asked to lower our bathing suits to the waist to guarantee that no one was cheating.

"One girl was embarrassed when she wore the inflatable kind of barriere built into her swim suit and it punctured during the contest."

Jackie will be looking for such oddments come May 12 when she will act as guest of honor at the Miss USA Pageant in Miami where this year's beauties will vie to represent the United States in the Miss Universe Pageant somewhat later.

Both events will be telecast—excepting, of course, the chaperone inspection of non-regulation inflation.

"Since I was in the pageant there have been big changes," Jackie recalled. "Winners were promised a wardrobe which was never received, a watch, for which we did a commercial, and a $100-a-week contract at Universal Studios.

"Today the winner of the Miss USA contest is given $5,000 cash, a $5,000 service contract for personal appearances, a $5,000 mink coat, clothes, merchandise and travel on behalf of the sponsors."

Economic Inflation

Jackie favors the economic inflation of the pageant.

Still, she considers a beauty title a detriment to an acting career. Before becoming Miss USA, she had won a dozen or more lesser contests in New York (Miss Christmas Seal, Queen of the Cover Girls, etc.)

"Winning a contest helps you keep working as a model," said Jackie who continues to earn a handsome living as a model.

"But producers and directors react negatively. They think pageant winners are just pretty girls with good figures who can't act, or can't be taught to act."

"I did several pictures, but Universal made me a cheese-cake queen posing in sexy outfits for publicity."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—These could be "super bargain days" in Wall Street with stock prices where they are, according to Flor, Bullard & Smyth. The company notes that few stocks in recent years were selling at 10 or 12 times earnings while today "you can find a multitude of growth stocks selling below these ratios." It adds: "Right now we are seeing tremendous excesses on the downside. Investors are literally throwing stocks away, and this includes institutions, too. The panic button has been pushed, and nothing seems to matter except the pressing urge to sell."

Recent fiscal and monetary developments do not "persuade" the Francis I. DuPont Co. that "a new and early demand boom" is in the offing. The company notes that "lagged effects" of past restraints have not run their course, and that the expansion now underway operates with a lag of up to 18 months in its effect on the economy. In addition, the company observes, the Treasury probably will run a budget deficit "is going to be a consequence of recession rather than a cause of boom."

Traders should be "alert" if any indication of "clim" selling around the 700 area (the Dow Jones industrial average) for possible buy opportunities. Tpo Inc. advises "The analyst said that barring 'panic selling wave,' a period of stability is necessary support the next significant rally."

Frantic Girl's Problem Gone ... But She 'Cried Like Hell'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following story is not family reading, but it is important reading. In the past three years, 13 states have repealed or rewritten old laws concerning abortions, and on April 23 a bill legalizing abortion anywhere in the United States was introduced in Congress.)

By TOM TIEDE
 WASHINGTON (NEA) —

Tall, solemn Norma Black is a pitiful statistic. A few months ago she was among the several million women in the nation who annually need or want an abortion. A few weeks ago she became one of the estimated one million who, out of sheer desperation, got one illegally. It took half a day. It cost $500. It hurt a little. And Norma chokes, even now, remembering. Black is not the girl's real name. Norma is. She refuses to be identified because of the risk of prosecution or persecution. Abortion is still against the law in most places. Even where it isn't, she says, "There are good Christians who would be willing to holla me in."

Norma is 23. Until recently, a secretary. And unmarried. "I don't know who the father is," she said. "That sounds bad, I know, but not really. I've only dated a couple of guys seriously. Both of them offered to marry me, after I told them — but I couldn't do it. It was as much my fault as either of theirs. And I didn't love either one. So it was my problem."

At first, Norma Black wanted to see the problem through, as routinely as circumstances permitted. She would not be the only unwed mother in history. There are hundreds of thousands of others each year. In her crowd, a fatherless child would be sympathetically accepted.

But then came complications. "I had always had gall bladder trouble," she related. "But I never thought much about it until the doctor said it would cause real worries in pregnancy. I forgot the exact reasons. He did say something about permanent damage and that sort of thing and it scared hell out of me. He wasn't too kind, anyway, because he thought I was just some tramp, and he just mumbled he'd do everything he could."

"After that I had to tell my parents. They're divorced. My dad didn't say much and offered to help in any way. But my mother went out of her head. I told her by phone and she hung up. Then she called back and hung up again. Finally, she insisted, screaming into the phone, that I get a quick abortion."

By then, Norma Black was nine weeks pregnant, and two or three weeks unerved by confusion, strain and fear. She asked her doctor about the possibility of abortion—"and for while I thought he'd toss me out of his office." She asked another doctor about it—"and he said it was completely impossible." She asked a third—"and like God was punishing me, he turned out to be a Catholic."

One evening, in her apartment, talking with a friend, Norma Black became hysterical. She says she doesn't really know why. "I'm not panicky or dumb. I've got three years of college and I've been around city life for a long time—but I don't know. At that time I would have tried anything."

The girl succeeded in convincing herself she must never have the baby. "I didn't hate it; I just didn't want it any more." She got the name and location of a well-known abortion consultation agency in New York City, and through it and other friends arranged for a speedy operation.

It happened in New York City, Manhattan. That's the only address Norma Black will give. She flew up by shuttle airplane for a 9:30 a.m. appointment. She says the doctor's building was drab, but the office wasn't too bad. She feels the surgeon was reliable. She was told he was one of hundreds who do abortions as an illegal but, in their eyes, humanitarian adjunct to regular practice.

She filled out some forms, using her real name. "In case anything happened to me, I guess," she said. She was put in bed. Given a sedative. And went to sleep.

That's the story, said Norma Black.

Except:

"The doctor said it wouldn't hurt, but it did, afterwards. I slept for a few hours, and in the afternoon they asked if I wanted to stay the night. I didn't. I could not. I left and got a hotel room. That's about it, I guess. I came home the next day to nobody and nothing. And I cried like hell. That's about all you can do after something like that — just cry like hell."

'Female' Robs Houston Bank

HOUSTON (UPI) — The MacGregor Park National Bank was robbed Wednesday of about $4,100 by a female impersonator. The bandit, wearing white capri pants, shoulder-length hair and carrying a woman's handbag "never did show a gun, but claimed he had one," said Carl Hetherington, Federal Bureau of Investigation agent.

"He...she...was wearing women's clothing, but we think it is a male," Hetherington said.

J. D. Allen, city robbery detective, said two suspects were arrested without incidence (at Southmore and Alameda) in a car fitting the description and "They did not have on women's clothes, but one of them had makeup on," Allen said.

The suspects, age 24 and 32, "have long local records," police said. "Witnesses have identified the bandit from pictures, and a showup will be held this afternoon," Allen said.

Homemade 'Pot' Found in Pots

UNIVERSAL CITY, Tex. (UPI) — Police raided an Air Force sergeant's home Tuesday, found bags and jars of marijuana, two bags of seeds, a cube of hashish and seven marijuana plants growing in a makeshift greenhouse.

The 23-year-old Randolph AFB man and his 22-year-old wife were charged with possession of marijuana.

Boy Rescued by Helicopter

SABINE, Tex. (UPI) — A 15-year-old boy, rescued by a helicopter after 48 hours in the Gulf of Mexico, was reported still in shock today and unable to tell what happened to the two men who had been with him.

An Atlantic Production Co. helicopter accidentally found the boy, Zachery Rogers of Port Arthur, on a vacated oilhead five miles off the Sabine Jetties.

Young Rogers was taken to the intensive care unit of Jefferson County Hospital in shock. Authorities said they would question him as soon as his condition allows.

Matthew David Martin of Port Acres and James Hawkins of Port Arthur, who went fishing with young Rogers Sunday, were still missing.

VOLCANO ERUPTS

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (UPI) — The Hekla volcano erupted Tuesday night for the first time in 23 years, raining ash and small stones on villages as far as 125 miles from the volcanic peak in northern Iceland. There were no casualties reported.

SYMPATHY SIT-IN

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI) — A group of about 50 German students staged a sit-in demonstration at the America Haus cultural center Wednesday, protesting the slaying of four students at Kent State University in Ohio during a demonstration there earlier in the week.

Passenger Trains Now Corporated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate approved 78-13, Wednesday, a bill to take passenger train service away from the railroads and turn it over to a newly created corporation.

The measure now goes to the House. The Senate passed it after adopting an amendment by Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., to allow regional transportation authorities to contract for service within their areas.

Also approved was a second Pell amendment to stipulate that government financial support for the new enterprise could be used to modernize roadbeds as well as trains. Pell said most U.S. railroad beds are so antiquated the passengers are "shaken up like a martini cocktail."

The only votes cast against the bill on final passage were by Sens. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., James B. Allen, D-Ala., and John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

CHURCH MEETING

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — A group of officials of the Roman Catholic Church will meet May 24 in Malta to discuss means of achieving better distribution of clergy throughout the world, the Vatican announced Wednesday.

Mrs. Eisenhower returned home this morning.

Julie Hospitalized

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (UPI) — President Nixon's younger daughter Julie spent Tuesday night in Cooley Dickinson Hospital, it was learned today.

Julie, 21, wife of David Eisenhower, was taken by Secret Service agents from the couple's apartment to the hospital, where officials described her ailment as "a minor medical problem."

Barnes' Divorce Decree Final

COMANCHE, Tex. (UPI) — The divorce of Lt. Gov. and Mrs. Ben Barnes has been made final to end the couple's 13-year marriage.

The divorce was granted unannounced April 17 by District Judge Truman Roberts of Hamilton, who won the Democratic nomination to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals in Saturday's elections.

Barnes, who also won nomination to a second term Saturday, agreed to pay his ex-wife $350 monthly child support until 1979, when that amount will drop to $175 per month.

The couple has two children, Greg 12 and Amy 8.

The divorce was filed by Mrs. Barnes Jan. 1 on grounds of incompatibility. It was not contested and was granted without a hearing under Texas' new family code which permits "no-fault" divorces.

There was no property settlement clause attached to the document.

Please, A Simpler Syn-Tax

By RAY DE CRANE
 Randolph W. Thorwer, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Washington, D.C.
 Dear Commissioner:

Some time in the next few months you and your staff of experts will start discussions on the design of the new income tax forms for next year. May I respectfully make a suggestion?

Please, sir, don't do it to us again next year. This year's form is one of the most confusing and complex that has ever been imposed on the American public.

You call it the building-block technique. It is heralded as a model of simplicity. The taxpayer is supposed to use only the forms that apply to his particular situation. If one or two forms serve his purpose that's fine. Those are all that are expected of him.

You and I know that. But what about the millions of honest taxpayers who struggle with a tax form only once a year?

You have a mailed each of them a full set of the complicated forms together with page after page of instructions.

If he takes the time to read all the instructions and study all the forms, I agree he should not have too much trouble understanding them. But few people have the time or the inclination to do all that studying these days — even concerning something as important to them as their income tax return.

This is why I make an appeal for simplicity next year. Certified public accountants and tax attorneys claim the new forms are great. But even they, upon further questioning, admit they struggled over the first few returns with which they worked.

There is plenty of time to prepare for next year's forms. This is a fervent plea for simplicity. Don't do it to us again.

Respectfully,
 Ray De Crane,
 Tax Writer,
 Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our son, a very handsome and charming young man left a lovely wife and three small children for another woman. He took this woman away from her husband, a very fine (and wealthy) man who now is considered one of most eligible bachelors in Texas.

Even though we love our son, we feel some guilt about having raised him to be a very spoiled and selfish person. He is also no good, as now he has been seeing other girls every chance he gets.

We wonder if we shouldn't tell his second wife that our son will probably leave her for another woman, and perhaps it's not too late for her to try to get her "ex" back. They had a wonderful marriage before our son came on the scene and broke it up. Please advise.

TEXAS MOM
DEAR MOM: When a woman leaves a "fine" husband for a man who has left "a lovely wife and three small children," she knows what kind of husband she's getting. Don't meddle, Mom.

DEAR ABBY: Is it possible to love a man and hate him at the same time? I think so. You see, Abby, my husband is really two different people.

He never goes out without me. He is very affectionate, and I couldn't ask for a better father for my children. He always compliments me on my looks and my cooking, and he never forgets to say "I love you" at the right times.

So what's my problem? He hits me. He expects me to do whatever he says without asking any questions, and if I ask, he hits me. Then he says the next time I will obey him without asking any questions. After he's through beating on me, he kisses me and says, "Now, let's forget it."

Abby, I can't forget it. I love him. Please help me. Thanks for listening. I feel better already.

HEART (AND NOSE) BROKEN
DEAR BROKEN: His instant mood changes and irrational behavior could be a symptom of an emotional disturbance. If you love him, you will insist that he get professional help. Otherwise, prepare to have your bridge work rearranged periodically.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are the parents of an only child, and we are a very happy family. For years we have been annoyed by people who ask us why we have only one child. Then they proceed to tell us how "unfair it is to raise a child alone, blah, blah..." We hardly even know some of these people. Are they too stupid to realize that there is usually a good reason why a couple has only one child? Ours happens to be a personal one which we don't care to share with the world.

It is cruel for anyone to say to an only child who is too young to understand, "Tell Mommy and Daddy to get you a baby brother or sister."

I know that your column is widely read, so please tell these so-called, well-meaning people to keep their advice to themselves and to keep their big mouths shut!

Club Sets Date For Flower Show

Pampa Garden Club, meeting in Mrs. Jerry Shackelford's home, discussed the Iris Flower Show planned for May 15 and scheduled the officers' installation.

Mrs. H.H. Boynton, president, announced the Iris Flower Show is planned from 2 to 6 p.m. May 15 in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Co. Building.

Program coordinator, Ruth Hogan, directed the exchange of labeled plants by members. Members also reported attending a meeting at the Amarillo Garden Center with Mrs. Thelma Bray and Mrs. Maxine Dorman as coordinators.

During the social hour, refreshments were served from a table decorated with an arrangement of carnations, daisies and iris to show the "Spring Beauty" theme.

Members have planned the officers' installation luncheon for 1 p.m. May 19 at the Pampa Country Club.

Twentieth Century Forum Has Guest Speaker

Twentieth Century Forum Study Club met in the home of Mrs. Carlton Downing with Mrs. Julian Key as guest speaker.

Mrs. Key, speaking on The American Field Service Program, used as a format a physician's approach to a medical case. The case history, a report on AFS history and duties of the local chapter in the overall plan of AFS International, was given by Mrs.

Aubrey Steele, former president of the local chapter.

Mrs. Key gave her personal observations as a mother to two AFS students, Cathy Papathanassopoulou of Greece and Nobuhiro Ichiryu of Japan, and discussed the privileges and responsibilities in this relationship.

Mrs. M. McDaniel gave her family's evaluation of the experience of having Peter Kaddoum of Brazil as their other son for a school year.

In the "consultation period," a question and answer period between the panel and club members, the prognosis included the news that Mrs. W.A. Morgan, incoming president of Pampa's AFS Chapter, expects to report soon Pampa will have an American Field Service Student for the school year 1970-71.

Refreshments were served to two visitors Mrs. Daisy Foster of Dallas, Mrs. Key, and members, Meses. Home Johnson, Frank Stols, Robert Catter, Russell Holloway, McHenry Lane, David Hol, William Corman, Earne Wilkinson, Charles Zomka, Ho Barber, McField McDaniel, Aubrey Steele and Larry Cross.

Nothing New About Feminist Movement

By HELEN THOMAS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — There is nothing new about the women's liberation movement. To hear the Smithsonian Institution in Washington tell it, feminist mobilization dates back to Abigail Adams and longer. The Smithsonian opened an exhibit this week titled "Women in Politics" that traces the struggle for women's rights, still unfulfilled. The display, which lasts until July, also commemorates 1970 as the 50th anniversary of women's suffrage. The items in the show range from needlework (women's place is in the home) as well as copies of "The Revolution," a radical periodical on the women's movement begun in 1968. Much of the show is devoted to portraits and memorabilia of the women who led the fight. Colonial Feminist Many of them wound up in jail.

A feminist in the colonial era, Mrs. John Adams wrote to her husband while he was serving in the Continental Congress, that "in the new code of laws which I suppose it will be necessary for you to make; I desire you would remember the ladies and be more generous and favorable to them than your ancestors. Do not put such unlimited power in the hands of the husbands.—Remember all men would be tyrants if they could. If particular care is not paid to the ladies, we are determined to foment a rebellion, and will not hold ourselves bound by any laws in which we have no voice or representation." And while some may tell women today, "you've come a long way baby," the feminists hardly think so. On Capitol Hill

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — I wonder if other motorists were as amazed as I was by the findings of the Tire Industry Safety Council. The council, as you may know, has been doing some research on the causes of tire troubles, and its recent report was a real eye-opener. Among other things, it discovered that tires with the treads worn off "are up to 50 times more likely to have flats than new tires." I read that over three or four times to make certain it said what I thought it said. Which it did. But I was still dubious so I called up a tire salesman I know for confirmation. "Is it true that the chances of having a flat are greater with worn out tires than with new tires?" I asked. "It's Hard To Believe" "That's right," he assured me. "I know it's hard to believe, but the Tire Industry Safety Council has the figures to prove it." Whereupon I closed my eyes and tried to visualize how this revelation might have come about. The scene is one of those test tracks like you see in television commercials. A group of engineers wearing identical white coveralls are standing around a couple of identical automobiles—identical, that is, except for one thing.

this week, women leaders are pushing for the "equal rights for women" amendment which has been introduced in every session of Congress for the last 46 years. The opposition has always contended women would lose special privileges and benefits guaranteed under the law if the amendment is adopted. Ask "Fair Play" But feminist leaders—among other, Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y.—say women are ready to sacrifice these so-called benefits for equality. Men and women need "fair play, protection and job security" equally, she says.

Pre-dating Mrs. Chisholm and the women's lib are the Smithsonian profiles on two women who aspired to the presidency, Victoria Woodhull and Belva A. Lockwood, the first female to practice before the Supreme Court. The exhibit concludes that gains have not kept pace with "after more than a century of agitation the situation of the American woman remains ambiguous. She has made great strides in achieving an education, obtaining job opportunities and receiving reasonable treatment under the law."

POLICE KEEP WATCH
LONDON (UPI)—Police kept a 24-hour watch on the home of Prime Minister Harold Wilson's 88-year-old father today following an anonymous telephoned kidnap threat. "We have got to treat it as a genuine kidnap threat," said a senior police officer in Cornwall, in Southern England. The elder Wilson lives at Biscovey, Cornwall.

Supremes Face Life Diane-Less

By ROGER DOUGHTY
FREEPORT, Grand Bahama Island (NEA) — When Berry Gordy Jr. picked Freeport as the locale for chapter one of "The Selling of the Supremes, 1970," he knew what he was doing. He always does. Freeport isn't the kind of place where you'd expect to run into anything very Supreme, let alone the Supremes, since the only things really Supreme about the island are the conch chowder (Bahamian soul food) and the golf courses, of which there are many. Naturally, the Supremes were a big attraction when they showed up. There are those who say that "The Selling of the Supremes, 1970," should be subtitled "How to Avoid Probate While Letting Diana Ross Do Her Own Thing," but Gordy, the black Horatio Alger of the record business (he owns Motown, four other labels and a lot of other things) disagrees. "The girls are booked solid for the next three or four years," he says, so you figure there's not much chance they'll cause any embarrassment to Labor Secretary Shultz (or Gordy) when he figures out the unemployment statistics. "What you have to remember," Gordy was saying, toying with a putter and taking an occasional swipe at an imaginary golf ball, "is that most of these bookings were lined up before Diana split the group. Now we have to start working on the three or four years that come after that." The scene of all this sparkling dialogue was a villa at the King's Inn where the Dianaless Supremes were breaking in their new act, which just happens to sound a lot like their old act. Jean Terrell, Diana's replacement, was sitting there, right in the middle of things, with M. Wilson, the only original Supreme still around, on her right and Cindy Birdsong split wide to the left, sort of hiding behind a big bowl of flowers. Even at high noon, in slacks, they looked pretty great. Jean used to sing with her brother, Ernie Terrell, who alternated between picking his guitar and punching people in the prize ring as a heavyweight championship contender. She seems very sure of herself. "Mary and Cindy have a lot to do with my confidence," she claimed. "They don't have any in me, so I have to make up for it by having enough for three people." "With Jean in the group," smiled Gordy (in addition to the smile, he was wearing swim trunks and a beard) "we have something unique going for us. If you write anything bad about the girls, Ernie comes around and beats up on you."

Sneakily I shifted over to Mary, who seemed less likely to slug me, and asked her if she might be thinking about going the solo route. "Never," she almost shouted. "The Supremes are a legend. When Florence Ballard left the group, we knew Cindy had that Supreme quality, so she was chosen to join us. When Diana left, we knew Jean had that Supreme quality, so here she is. But me? I ain't leaving." "What is that Supreme quality? Mary couldn't define it, Gordy could. "There are winners and there are losers," he observed.

THE ONCE AND FUTURE SUPREMES: Cindy Birdsong, Mary Wilson, Jeanne Terrell and Diana Ross.
